The SDN Column

Several Snyder residents are gathering up copies of a cartoon in Monday's issue of The Dallas Morning News in which Bill McClanahan, the paper's staff cartoonist, presented a scene which he said quoted prices from a Snyder cafe menu in 1933-34.

The bill of fare on the wall of the eat..., depicted in the cartoon lists hamburgers at five cents each, or six for a quarter, hot dogs at the same price, milk shakes a nickel apiece and ice cream sodas at six cents each. You could get a T-bone steak with salad and French fries for 35 cents and the weekend special posted on the wall was a nine-cent banana split.

Brud Boren, chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, says that McClanahan, the cartoonist, undoubtedly was in a cafe here called "The Tavern" back in the early thirties. It was on the southeast corner of the square, where Thompson's Shoe Store is now located, and was operated by Robert E. (Bob) Gray Jr., Boren recalls.

"Bob had a good business there during the depths of the depression and he was a resourceful operator," said Boren.

Boren recalls that Gray saved up enough money to buy a new Chevrolet and he and Gray took a trip to the northwest, going as far as Vancouver, B. C., and back via California.

The cafe was a favorite gathering place in those days.

Incidentally, Boren and his committee are making plans for observance of History Appreciation Week here April 19-25. Several events are being planned, but one of the biggest had to be delayed. They had hoped to obtain some railroad passenger cars and bring them here for exhibition and for school pupils and others interested to inspect. It was not possible to swing this deal at this time, but it still is on the calendar for future reference.

"Very few youngsters under 20 years old ever saw the inside of a railraod passenger coach," Boren reminded.

Other memories of the past were fanned at the coliseum Tuesday when Jerry Rogers, director of the Ranch Headquarters Museum at Texas Tech, brought a 1928-model motion picture film of ranch activity here for the Ranch Headquarters program in connection with the Cowboy Hall of Fame art show.

The old film shows cattle being rounded up, branded and loaded into box cars on the Santa Fe. It was discovered several months ago among items from the old Slaughter U Lazy S Ranch. The film was so deteriorated that a Chicago firm which had been commissioned to restore it, finally re-shot each frame. The result was remarkable.—WACIL McNAIR

TESTIFIES BEFORE HOUSE

Gus Cites Loss On Stock

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher went before the House today and asserted there was never any connection between alleged quick-profit stock deals and passage of two banking bills in 1969.

"I want to assure you that at no time during my six terms in this house have I ever aided or abbetted in the passage of any legislation for a financial consideration—directly or indirectly," Mutscher said.

The speaker left his raised podium and stood before the House at the lower speaking platform normally used in House debates.

His wife, Donna, a former Miss Maerica who bore Mutscher's first child March 22, sat at one side of the House chamber as Mutscher read his six-page statement.

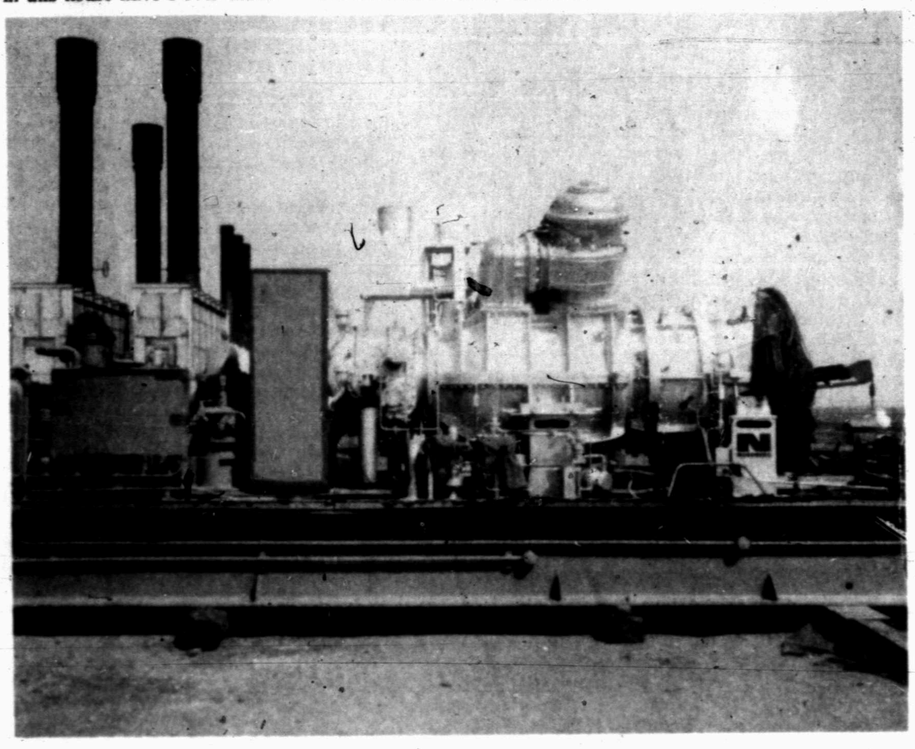
House members applauded the speaker when he finished his remarks.

Mutscher told the House he brought 10,000 shares of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock at $13 a share on July 23, 1969, and sold 7,500 shares at $20 a share on Sept. 11, 1969. He said the shares were sold to the Jesuit Fathers, who, Mutscher declared, sold 30,000 shares of the stock less than two months later at $25.20 a share.

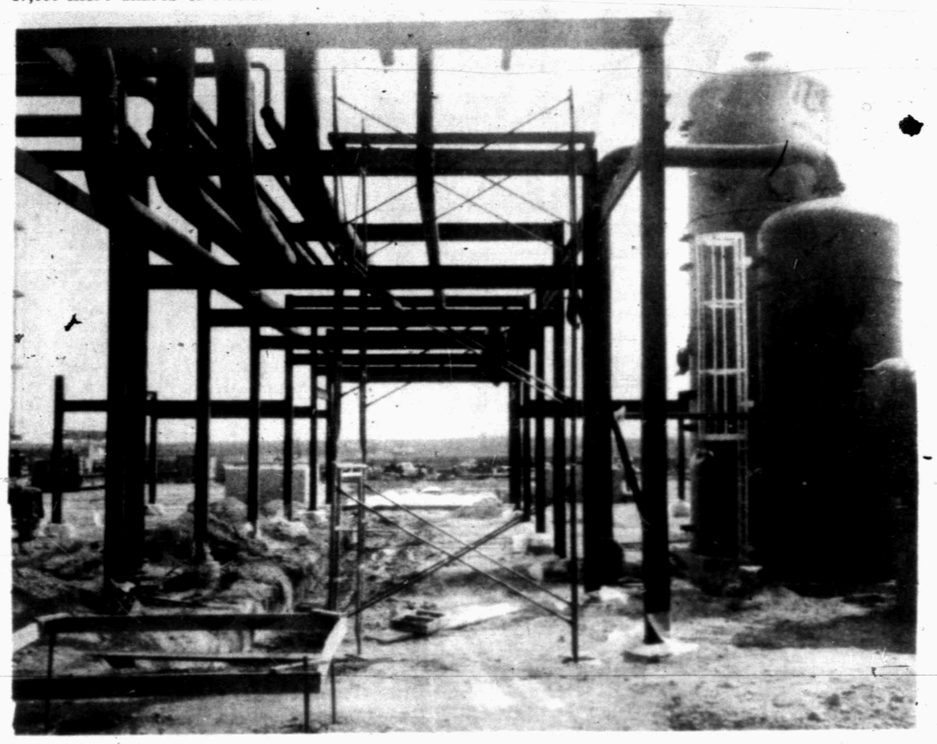
He said he paid off his note to the Sharpstown State Bank of Houston, now defunct, and realized a "net profit" of less than $20,000. On Oct. 8, 1969, Mutscher went on, he bought 17,000 more shares of National Bankers' Life at $20.50 a share. This, he noted, took place nine days after Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the two bank deposit insurance bills.

"Had there been any connection between the bills and the company, I certainly would not have bought a large amount of additional stock after the veto," he asserted.

"The stock was as high as $28.50 per share later in 1969, but is virtually worthless today. It takes no mathematician to readily see that I have sustained a net loss in excess of $250,000, considering all transactions of any matter involving any of the companies or parties in the SEC suit. There has been no profit in my case," Mutscher said.



NEW TURBINE—Sun Oil Company's Snyder Gasoline Plant is getting two new 5,000 horse power, gas-fired turbines for drying refrigeration compressors. This is one of them.



REFRIGERATION AREA—Construction on new refrigeration equipment at Sun Oil Company's Snyder Gasoline plant is underway. This is a picture of auxiliary equipment for refrigeration.

$12 Million Being Spent To Expand Gasoline Plant

Sun Oil Company is undertaking a $12 million program to expand the capacity of its Snyder Natural Gasoline Plant, located five miles northwest of Snyder.

Sun operates the plant for itself and 61 other owners. Some 50 Sun personnel are employed in Scurry County.

The changes will increase the plant's gas handling ability from 90 million cubic feet per day to 160 million cubic feet per day.

Associated with the capacity increase will be a new recovery process designed to extract 70 per cent of the ethane and nearly 100 per cent of heavier components contained in the gas at an inlet gas rate of 150 million cubic feet per day.

Total liquid recovery at design inlet volume will be approximately 43,900 barrels daily. From the standpoint of liquid recovery, this will be one of the larger gas processing plants in the world.

Residue gas will be sold to El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Lone Star Gas Co. Liquids recovered from the gas will be delivered by products pipelines, trucks and rail facilities.

TO DISCUSS JOBLESS ENGINEERS

Nixon Meeting Hodgson

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon meets today with Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson, science adviser Edward David and 16 others on the problem of unemployed engineers and scientists—many from the ailing aerospace industries.

Representatives of aerospace-defense firms, academic leaders and heads of professional engineering societies were to take part in the conference at the Western White House.

By Labor Department estimate, some 65,000 engineers and scientists were unemployed prior to the vote by Congress to halt funding for the supersonic transport—an action almost certain to increase the number of jobless.

The administration already has tapped some funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to retain some of the unemployed for work in public service projects.

Prior to the conference, Nixon expressed hope that more could be done.

The chief executive, here for a 10-day-stay, has been putting heavy emphasis on West Coast problems.

Earlier, he had saluted indirectly the stricken California movie industry by conferring the Medal of Freedom—the nation's highest civilian award—on producer Samuel Goldwyn. Then Wednesday he announced that six miles of Pacific beachfront within sight of his luxurious home here was being transferred from the Camp Pendleton Marine Base to the state, which will dedicate part of it Saturday as a public park.

Nixon described it as "the best beach in the world." Rocky reefs lying offshore make the beach one of the best surfing spots in California.

Nixon's schedule for the balance of his stay—he will return to Washington Monday—apparently will include a weekend foray away from the Western White House, where by all reports he has been maintaining a full work schedule.

Ecuador Revolt Is Ended

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Without firing a shot, the government ended today a military revolt against President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra's regime, the Defense Ministry announced.

Gen. Francisco Guzman, the rebel leader, surrendered to the army commander-in-chief.

Earlier, the rebels were reported gaining support in their revolt, aimed not at the president but at his nephew, the defense minister.

N-Viets Hit Three Fire Bases

SAIGON (AP) — A North Vietnamese regiment crossed from Laos into South Vietnam's central highlands and in a furious assault drove Saigon's troops out of a frontier fire base, the South Vietnamese Command reported today.

Continuing an upsurge of offensive action that began Sunday, apparently in retaliation for the UTOS, the North Vietnamese also unleashed a barrage of 500 rockets against two other artillery bases close to the Laotian border.

Meanwhile, a South Vietnamese commando force returned from an overnight raid on a North Vietnamese base on the Ho Chi Minh trail six miles inside Laos, the 26-hour operation apparently produced only minor results, with the South Vietnamese destroying some ammunition and fuel but failing to engage the North Vietnamese.

In another development, the U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary said 58 Americans were killed in action last weekend and 158 were wounded. It was the highest death toll in a month and the largest number of wounded in six months.

Nation Strongly Protests Verdict

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Telegrams to President Nixon were running about 100 to 1 against the court-martial conviction and life sentence of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. as the groundswell protest over the case continued to grow today.

Presidentail Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday that about 5,000 telegrams had already been received and an estimated backlog of some 20,000 was waiting to be transmitted. He said virtually all favored clemency for Calley, found guilty of slaying at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai three years ago.

Other protests took the form of legislative resolutons, draft board resignations, vigils, petition campaigns, flag flying and a plan for a ransom fund.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was quoted as saying that some persons believe that anyone involved in an action such as at My Lai "is guilty of a war crime." He termed that viewpoint "oversimplified extremism."

In an interview with the Chicago Tribune, Agnew declined to comment specifically on the Calley case but said conditions during a military operation "are not subject to Monday morning quarterback judgments."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., commenting on the case before a speech in Tuscaloosa, Ala., said that beyond Calley what is perhaps of great significance is what this is doing in terms of our own thinking ... about the war."

"Perhaps for the first time," Kennedy said, "Americans are really questioning what others have questioned for some time, and that is the whole question of the morality of our involvement in Southeast Asia."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said his state may refuse to draft any more men for military service until Calley is set free.

There were protest resignations from draft boards Wednesday in Elizabethton, Tenn., Nance County, Neb., and Tucumcari, N.M.

The House and Senate in Oklahoma adopted resolutons urging Nixon to grant clemency but the South Carolina House rejected such a measure.

Similar resolutions were pending or to be introduced in state legislatures in Colorado, North Carolina, Kansas, Alabama and Michigan.

A Mobile, Ala., businessman submitted to an Army recruiting office a letter of surrender for what he said were war crimes he committed during World War II.

"I ... did on bombing raids to Germany cause innocent noncombatants and civilians to be killed," wrote Dan O'Connor. "I hereby surrender to the authorities for court-martial in connection with the above conduct."

A Coos Bay, Ore., mother of 13, Judy Wheeler, and her husband each mailed $1 in a letter to President Nixon and proposed that others do the same to raise $1 million to ransom Calley.

"Money," she said, "is the one thing the government seems to understand."

She's all for shotgun weddings

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I read your column faithfully and think you hand out some good advice, however I disagree with you on one very important issue: You don't think a boy or man should have to marry a girl if he is the cause of her pregnancy.

It takes two to tango, and it takes two to cause a pregnancy. If my unmarried daughter became pregnant, there would be either a willing bridegroom or a shotgun wedding.

The most important thing would be to make sure the child had a name. Then afterwards, if the parents decided they didn't want to stay married, let them get a divorce. It is not as much a blot on the child as being labeled "illegitimate."

I will be watching the paper to see if you print this. —PITY THE BABES

DEAR PITY: No one can force a man to marry against his will, but the law can insist that a man support his illegitimate child. Besides, an unwilling bridegroom makes a poor husband and a miserable father.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a seemingly charming woman, and on parting I casually invited her to come and see me "sometime." I meant for her to come and visit with me for an hour or so.

She telephoned me the very next day and stated that she AND HER HUSBAND would like to come to my home for lunch on Saturday! This shocked me as I certainly did not intend for her to bring her husband. Also, I have been brought up to never invite myself anywhere. I told her that Saturday was not convenient for me, so she has been calling me daily to set up a date.

If she is this nervy at the beginning of a friendship what can I expect if we become better friends? Knowing how presumptuous this woman is, I would rather not get involved with her at all. How can this be handled tactfully? —SPOKE TOO SOON

DEAR SPOKE: Continue to find each suggested date "inconvenient" and don't feel guilty. She is obviously not as "charming" as you thought she was.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jackson Official Noncandidate

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson calls himself an "official noncandidate" for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. No separate office. No extra staff.

But the Washington senator's speaking schedule includes Florida, California, Oregon and Massachusetts—all with presidential primaries. Last week he made the meeting of the Association of Democratic State Chairmen.

And in the midst of his unsuccessful fight to save the supersonic transport plane for Boeing Corp., his home state's employer Jackson made a politically significant pilgrimage to the Texas ranch of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"There was absolutely no indication whom he would support for the nomination," Jackson said conceding politics was discussed during the social call. Then, significantly: "But he feels very deeply about maintaining the historic position of the Democratic party's national security policy."

That policy, as the 58-year-old Jackson has been pointing out in recent speeches, comprises a strong national defense, support of the nation's international commitments and awareness of and opposition to Soviet expansion, in the Middle East and the Far East.

"The Nixon administration is in deep trouble on the domestic front," Jackson, a New Deal-New Frontier-Great Society liberal on home-front issues, said in an interview last week.

"But the Democrats could lose the election if they find themselves advocating policies of national weakness at a time we are confronted with deep dangers."

The advocates of "national weakness" are never spelled out by name. But Jackson's definition covers senators advocating prompt U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and less defense spending.

This includes most of those running tacitly or openly for the Democratic presidential nomination: Sens. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Harold Hughes of Iowa, Birch E. Bayh of Indiana and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, widely regarded as the front-runner.

For the moment Jackson's stated aim is to influence his party's policies. His success has been less than notable. The Democratic Policy Council, which he declined to join, voted unanimously last week to call for total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam this year.

If Jackson should find an active candidacy is the best way to influence party policies, a decision he'll have to make later this year, he could find his strongest support coming from the South, despite a strong pro-civil rights record.

Southern-state Democratic chairmen interviewed last week said Muskie and Jackson are the only two candidates who definitely could defeat President Nixon in the South.

Besides the South, attracted primarily by his national-security stance, Jackson could win support of a potent coalition.

U. S. Army Bids Polk Farewell

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has given a full honors farewell salute and a Distinguished Service Medal to General James H. Polk, denounced by a black congressman as a bigot who should be [illegible].

Ending [illegible] military career, Polk was decorated Wednesday for his services as Army commander-in-chief in Europe.

Last week, Rep. William Clay, D-Mo., accused Polk of lip service and token compliance with Pentagon directives aimed at eliminating housing discrimination against black soldiers in Germany.

Clay contended in the Congressional Record that if Polk had used "the powers he had, he could have eliminated many of the problems that existed, thus lessening the animosities and hostilities between black and white troops and between black soldiers and biased German businessmen."

A Defense Department team visited Europe last fall and reported later to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird that it found "a new high level of black frustration and anger."

The group spoke of "the failure in too many instances of command leadership to exercise its authority and responsibility" in dealing with race relations, but named no names.

Defense sources reported at the time Polk and Frank W. Render, the Pentagon's black civil rights chief, had heated exchanges during the team's tour of the European command.

Suggesting that Polk retired under pressure, Clay said "the Army should have publicized the real reason . . . making it loud and clear to all other bigots within the armed services that such practices will not be tolerated.

"I strongly recommend a general court martial," Clay said.

An Army spokesman disputed Clay's assertion that Polk was pressed to retire early. "Nobody twisted his arm," the spokesman said. "He retired at his own request."

The Army gave Polk the same kind of ceremonial send-off it customarily provides for all top retiring generals, complete with a 17-gun salute, "Ruffles and Flourishes" and troop review.

The medal was presented by Undersecretary of the Army Thaddeus R. Beal rather than Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor, who had been scheduled to do the honors. Resor was on vacation, a spokesman said.

GASOLINE PLANT

on a tour of the plant Wednesday by Roy Miller, plant superintendent; G. E. Gore, gas engineer; Walter M. Sanford, public relations representative of Sun Oil Company; and C. A. McCown, senior clerk.

The tour of the plant is one in a series of tours being arranged by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of informing the public of new developments in the oil industry and how it affects the local economy. Several local businesses are doing subcontracting work at the Sun Oil Company plant, including E. D. Walton Construction, Holder Construction, Southern Electric, Arrow Construction, Tri-State and Armor Cote Corp.

The total $12,000,000 improvement figure includes $8,500,000 for an ethane process, $1,500,000 for pipe line expansion, and $2,000,000 for compressor expansion.

Methane will be the new product of a de-methanized mixed product. At present, Sunray produces four main products—propane, iso-butane, normal butane and natural gasoline.

Present production of the plant is about 600,000 gallons per day. When the new facilities are completed, total production will be boosted to between 1,500,000 gallons and 2,000,000 gallons per day.

When new facilities are completed, the production of the various products will be as follows: de-methanized mixed product (including methane), about 1,000,000 to 1,400,000 gallons per day; propane, about 300,000 gallons per day; iso-butane, about 50,000 gallons per day; normal butane, about 150,000 gallons per day; and, natural gas, about 160, million cubic feet per day.

Addition of the methane recovery means the Snyder plant will be the world's biggest producer of low pressure liquid gas products.

Increased recovery of liquids by the plant will mean more monetary returns for royalty owners.

A contract has been let to Olsen Engineering Corp. of Houston to design and install new product recovery and delivery facilities. Work on this phase is in progress and will be completed in July 1971. Peak employment will reach 140 by May. There are 75 workers at the site now.

New equipment raising the gas compression capabilities by 8,000 horsepower already has been installed. A total increase of 16,000 horsepower is planned.

In order to handle the increased gas volume, the associated gas gathering system is being enlarged by the addition of parallel lines where necessary to reduce pressure drop. This phase of the expansion program will be completed during April 1971.

The Snyder Plant will process 71 per cent of all gas produced by the SACROC Unit at the Kelly-Snyder Field. This represents approximately 97 per cent of the total inlet gas. The remaining three per cent of the gas to be processed at the plant will come from other sources.

Upon completion of the expansion program, the expected life of the plant is in excess of 25 years.

The anticipated increased volume of gas to be processed by the Snyder Plant will result considerably from a recently inaugurated carbon dioxide gas (CO_2) injection project in the SACROC Unit.

Actual gas injection will begin during the first quarter of 1972.

Employing relatively new technology, this secondary recovery program will be operated by Chevron Oil Company for itself and partners.

The CO_2 gas will be gathered from three principal plants in the Val Verde Basin area of West Texas, some 220 miles southwest of Snyder.

Transportation of the CO_2 gas will be by Canyon Reef Carriers, Inc., through a 12-inch and then 16-inch pipeline. This company was established by 14 of the largest owners of the SACROC Unit. Chevron will be the operator.

The CO_2 gas will provide a high, sustained level of production. It will be injected under pressure at the rate of 200 million cubic feet per day. This is expected to increase the potential oil recovery from the SACROC Unit by 150 to 200 million barrels.

Doctor Sees End Of Diseases

BOSTON (AP) — A leading British medical officer predicts communicable diseases will disappear within 30 years.

Dr. Henry Yellowlees, deputy chief medical officer of the British Department of Health and Social Security, made the forecast in a talk before the 50th New England Hospital Assembly.

Dr. Yellowlees predicted that by the 1980s bacterial infections will no longer be a danger, vaccines will control viral infections, heart disease will increasingly yield to prevention and medication, and cancer research will find ways to curb cell dysfunction.

Lady Wanted Bones For Soup

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman passer-by offered to help Gerome Grossman, 26, a truck driver for a local dog food company, to unsnarl the traffic jam he had created.

The woman offered to take some of the 7,000 pounds of beef bones that had spilled from the truck.

She told workers trying to clean up the pavement that she wanted the bones for soup.

"Lady," Grossman explained, "you can have them all!"

ASUers Angered About Verdict

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Indignation over the Lt. William Calley case has surfaced with a petition circulating at Angelo State.

An unidentified person or persons used a stencil and black paint to place "Free Calley" signs on several buildings.

"Anger," was the word used by a student, Tim McPeters, to describe the attitude Wednesday about the Calley verdict.

At the end of one day, several hundred names were on 15 petitions.

In addition to the petitions, San Angelo residents display their displeasure by painting "Free Calley" on sidewalks, steps, and cars throughout the city.

Among the places feeling the bite of spray paint were the city's newspaper, city hall and the county courthouse.

House Rejects Draft Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drive by Indochina war critics to abolish the draft has been overwhelmingly rejected by the House. A move to limit its extension to only one year fell two votes short.

With the draft-scrapping effort lost, war foes had more success in trying to outlaw sending draftees, if not all U.S. troops, to Indochina after the end of the year.

The House is considering a draft bill with a $2.7-billion-pay-boost incentive for President Nixon's volunteer army; authority for the President to abolish student draft deferments, and extending the non-military service requirement for conscientious objectors from two to three years.

The one-year draft extension proposed by Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio—who said it would pressure the administration to create the volunteer army in one year instead of two—was rejected Wednesday 200 to 198.

Volunteer-army backers and advocates of more frequent congressional review of draft laws joined war foes in voting the one-year extension.

At the same time, the House approved 114 to 29 draft deferments for divinity students.

An effort to cut off manpower for the Indochina war by halting the draft when it expires next June 30 was defeated 330 to 62. The attempt to abolish the entire draft system lost 73 to 11.

Dismantling the draft system, said Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., who proposed it, should be "merely the first step to ending that ignominious war in Indochina."

Rep. Warren J. Mitchell, D-Md., called the draft system "the mechanism by which we feed more young men into Southeast Asia to be brutalized, maimed and slaughtered."

But Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif. said scrapping U.S. military manpower would only "increase the possibility of nuclear war" by turning full U.S. war-deterrent reliance to nuclear weapons.

Divinity student draft deferments were approved with a score of congressmen arguing such exemptions protect America's moral and religious climate and its traditional separation of church and state.

But Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., said some young men use the deferments solely to avoid the draft.

"Sure divinity students are worthy," said Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., "but so are biologists, chemists and teachers."

Government Reaffirms Stand On Methadone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting requests for major liberalization, the government today reaffirmed its stand that the controversial drug methadone still is an unproven long-term treatment for narcotics addiction.

But two government agencies sanctioned dispension of the drug, used as a substitute for heroin, by individual doctors, a step some major medical advisory groups frown on.

The Food and Drug Administration and the Justice Department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs set guidelines that must be followed to gain government approval for administering maintenance doses of methadone to addicts.

The rules were slightly relaxed from initial ones proposed last June, but retained safeguards some medical groups say are unnecessary and unduly restrictive of scientific investigation.

By contrast, the two agencies' sanction of methadone—dispension by individual physicians—was at variance with drug committees of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Medical Association.

They said only clinics or groups of physicians are capable of keeping necessary tabs on methadone programs.

Methadone is a synthetic narcotic that proponents say eliminates the craving for heroin while allowing addicts to function productively in society. Methadone overdoses, however, can be fatal. The government has approved about 275 maintenance programs.

Washington is a major test area for Methadone use. About 2,700 heroin addicts are being treated with the drug under one program, and many claim it has led to their successful rehabilitation away from crime.

But several deaths from methadone overdoses have been recorded, some involving persons who were not heroin addicts.

The government agencies' new guidelines modified an initial proposal to allow methadone maintenance administration, with certain safeguards, to addicts who are pregnant, psychotic, under age 18 or suffering from serious physical disease.

They also raised the maximum permissible daily dosage and allowed physical examination of patients once a year, rather than every six months.

But, despite objections, the government retained a rule that investigators provide detailed, patient records without guarantees they would be confidential.

The government also rejected suggestions that federal approval not be required for methadone projects; that patients receive more than a three-day supply of the drug; and that weekly urine checks for heroin traces were unnecessary.

Sub Threatens Florida Coast

By RAY BELL
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A modern Flying Dutchman—a sunken German submarine which apparently has drifted under water for nearly 30 years and 400 miles—reportedly is threatening the Florida coast with a deadly cargo of mercury and munitions, federal officials say.

The vessel is believed to contain nearly 200 tons of mercury, a potent contaminant, and explosives including TNT, torpedoes and other armaments.

Howard Zeller, Southeastern chief of water quality standards for the Environmental Protection Agency—EPA—said he was ordered to investigate the situation after a commercial salvage operator reported finding the sub in 25 to 50 feet of water near Tampa Bay on Florida's West Coast.

The salvage operator was identified only by the last name of Gaddy from the Bahama Islands.

Zeller said he notified the government that the sunken hulk bore the number U166.

Another federal official said military records indicate that a U-boat of that number, reportedly a model 1XC, was sunk off New Orleans in 1942.

"It's apparently the same submarine," the official said. "The only explanation we have is that it, like the legendary Flying Dutchman, just drifted aimlessly with the ocean currents."

The Flying Dutchman, a traditional sea story, involves a captain doomed to sail a ghost ship eternally.

Zeller said the EPA concern stems from the fact that the model 1XC submarine, built in the late 1930s, reportedly carried some 200 tons of mercury as ballast.

The Food and Drug Administration has recognized a mercury concentration of .5 parts per million as the danger level in fish and seafood. A federal spokesman said however, the government, had "no way to estimate the effect if 200 tons of mercury were suddenly dumped into the Gulf of Mexico."

"All I can say is that it's damn dangerous stuff," an official said.

Another federal official offered an explanation for the secrecy about the sub.

"In the 1930s," he said, "mercury was dirt cheap because there was a glut on the market. Today, well, it's not quite like gold—but it's still nice stuff to have."

He said the submarine "is probably still in one major piece and would contain enough air weight to make the salvage operation quite easy and profitable."

Mercury was selling at New York Wednesday for $337 per 76-pound flask. Two hundred tons at that price would be worth about $90,000.

Agnew Speaks To VAVS

WASHINGTON AP — Vice President Spiro Agnew accused Indochina war critics today of demoralizing American soldiers in the front lines and scorning those who return home.

Agnew, speaking to the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service, said American soldiers in [illegible] other war "have had to fight the lonely fight of the Vietnam veterans."

"They have been told almost daily—if they read or listen to the news from home—that they are fighting in a 'worthless' and 'immoral' cause and that we ought to abandon the South Vietnamese to their enemy," he said.

"This encouragement has come to them—not from Hanoi Hannah, but from some of the leading members of the United States Senate, prestigious columnists and news commentators, academic figures, some church organizations as well as assorted radicals, draft card burners and street demonstrators."

Agnew said the great majority of American "do no share the mashochist, guilt-ridden view that they are being exploited in Southeast Asia ..."

The vice president said veterans sometimes find hostility to the war is transferred to them when they return home.

"Incredibly, they may even find themselves stereotyped — and falsely stereotyped, let me emphasize—as drug addicts and cold-blooded criminals because of the negative propaganda by critics of this war," he said.

"Finally, the Vietnam veterans face an additional burden of an anti-military attitude that is being encouraged every day in this country."

Agnew told the volunteers their "record of service to hospitalized veterans" assures that no such feeling exists in their hearts.

"It is incumbent upon all of us," he said, "to go out of our way to assure our Vietnam veterans that we do welcome them home and do appreciate their service to this country. Even those who may have disagreed with United States policy in Southeast Asia owe that much to young nen who have answered their country's call to service."

Pollution Bill Heard

AUSTIN (AP) — A division of Texas A&M would set air and water pollution standards under a bill heard by the House State Affairs Committee.

The bill was referred to a subcommittee Wednesday night.

Rep. Cordell Hull said he got the idea for the bill in House Appropriations Committee hearings.

The Texas Water Quality Board and the Texas Air Control Board both asked the Appropriations Committee for more money for technical staff and research facilities, Hull said.

Later, the Appropriations Committee heard Texas A&M representatives describe how the Texas Engineering Experiment Station (TEES) has conducted research for many years on air and water pollution.

"I thought this was a reasonable approach, to use the experience they have," Hull said.

The Fort Worth lawmaker called one witness in support of his bill, Dr. Fred J. Benson, director of the station, who promptly shot down the primary aim of the bill.

Benson said the station would be happy to act as technical adviser to the two state agencies but that they should retain the authority to set standards.

Benson said he had 15-20 engineers working in these fields.

C. O. Patterson, representing the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, spoke against the bill.

Patterson said he was glad Benson welcomed the chance to "work with" the state agencies, but taking the rule-making power from them "complicates, slows and probably dilutes" the fight against pollution.

Smith Ask Federal Aid For Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has asked President Nixon for federal help in 60 Texas counties which have generally received less than 1.5 inches of rainfall in the past six months.

More counties could be added to the list later, the governor said Wednesday.

Smith's letter to the president asked for an initial allocation of $5 million.

The governor said Texas has already spent $3.5 million for disaster relief in Texas during the past 12 months.

The counties include: Armstrong, Aransas, Atascosa, Bandera, Bee, Bexar, Blanco, Brooks, Burnet, Caldwell, Cameron, Carson, Childress, Coke, Comal, Cottle, Dewitt, Dickens, Duval, Uvalde.

Also, El Paso, Frio, Garza, Gillespie, Goliad, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Hidalgo, Hutchinson, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kendall, Kenedy, Kent, Kerr, Kimble, King, Kleberg, Dimmitt.

Also, La Salle, Lipscomb, Live Oak, McMullen, Medina, Nueces, Oldham, Potter, Refugio, San Patricio, Schleicher, Starr, Stonewall, Swisher, Val Verde, Webb, Willacy, Wilson, Zapata, and Zavala.

Poe Named Port Engineer

GALVESTON (AP) — Gene Poe, 43, has become engineer of the Port of Galveston, Port Director C.S. Devoy announced.

A native of Dallas, Poe studied at the University of Texas at Arlington and is a licensed professional engineer.

He has been a structural engineer on the staff of the Port of Houston for the past 10 years and prior to that was chief engineer of the Lofland Co. Houston plant.

Poe succeeds Howard Kornbert, who resigned.

DALLAS (AP) — Three women were indicted by the Dallas County grand jury Wednesday as the first in what is expected to be a series of prosecutions alleging fraudulent use of state welfare funds.

Felony indictments were returned against Ernestine Miles, 28, Shirley E. Mason, 34, and Bertha Whitfield, 20, all of Dallas, charged with stealing over $50 by making false claims to benefits.

People Asking Pardon For Mrs. Sofia Bassi

By JOHN PLATERO
Associated Press Writer

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — "Ten lives wouldn't be enough to pay for the love I've received," said Mrs. Sofia Bassi as she relaxed in her cell in the municipal jail.

Mrs. Bassi was referring to what she called an increasing movement in many countries petitioning Mexican authorities to pardon her from her 11-year sentence for murder.

She was convicted of the Jan. 3, 1968, shooting death of her son-in-law, Count Cesar D'Acquarone of Verona, Italy. He was shot five times. She said the pistol went off accidentally.

Normally dressed in white slacks and a plain blouse her black hair is neatly coiffured in an Italian cut and she wears little makeup. An air-conditioned room is her cell.

Mrs. Bassi has never been haunted by dreams of that fatal day.

"Accidents happen to people innocently-that's what makes such things an accident," she said. "Once in a while I dream of the bright lights when photographers were shooting so many pictures after my arrest," she admitted.

Petitions with over three million names have made their way to the Guerrero State governor's office asking for Mrs. Bassi's release, she said.

The man on the street in Acapulco, who, perhaps, has never met Mrs. Bassi, speaks of her with affection and respect to a reporter.

Perhaps this stems from her social work before she became a painter seven years ago. Or because of the behind-the-scene help she has given to poor people in the Acapulco jail. Many have gained their freedom from prison by having their fines paid anonymously by Mrs. Bassi while others have been provided with needed clothing or food by the former international socialite.

"Please don't mention my helping others," she asked. "Some people may think I've done this to help my cause. I've always been concerned with poor people and I love my country and its people and I want to help."

An appeal by Mrs. Bassi's attorneys to the State Supreme Court was turned down. She still can go to the Federal Supreme Court to try to gain her freedom although she would run the risk of her sentence being lengthened.

"I feel strongly that I could take my appeal to the Supreme Court and gain my freedom quickly," she said, "but the people have gone to the governor to seek my pardon. I have a moral duty to these people and will wait until the governor makes a decision one way or the other.

"If he rejects the pardon then I'll feel free to go to the high court," the 52-year-old grandmother explained.

"But I hate the word 'pardon.' I have done nothing to be punished for. An accident can happen to anybody," she emphasized.

"I have faith I'll get out soon," she said. "I can't go on like this."

'Oklahomans' Wins Contest

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A contest to select the name by which the people of Oklahoma wish to be called has been won by a Midland, Tex., woman.

The prize winning entry?

"Oklahomans."

Mrs. Walter Cremin, who was born and raised in Oklahoma will be given $60 for her suggestion in the contest sponsored by the Chouteau Pioneer Committee.

C.E. Chouteau, chairman of the committee, said 17,152 entries were received. Of those 8,643 suggested "Oklahomans."

Mrs. Cremin won because of the reasons she gave to support her entry.

"Unlike some names we see," she wrote, "Oklahoman does not apply to some particular area of the state, predominant activity, of illegal or questionable attitude, or in a disparaging sense."

Retail Milk Price Hike Is Likely

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail milk prices, already at their highest level in two years, are likely to go up even more because of government dairy price supports going into effect today.

Government economists say the increased price supports also could boost prices of hamburger and other inexpensive types of beef.

This new increase in the government's guaranteed price to farmers for milk used in butter, cheese and other products is just under 6 per cent. A 9 per cent boost was approved last year.

The latest increase came on the heels of a White House meeting between President Nixon and dairymen urging higher prices. The Agriculture Department initially resisted the increase.

Agriculture Department economists decline to estimate how much the latest price support increase will raise retail prices.

Last year's dairy price support boost resulted in retail price increases of 2 per cent for table milk and 2.8 per cent for butter, five and seven times the rise in general food prices during the same period.

Farm economists said the dairy support boost might encourage farmers to hold off butchering older or marginal dairy cows. That could reduce the supply of canned and ground meats and drive up prices.

Support prices are not the only factor affecting milk and meat prices, the economists emphasize.

The price boost followed disagreement between agriculture and dairy state congressmen.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin originally announced March 12 there would be no dairy price support increase this year.

Four days later Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and 27 other senators introduced a bill to overturn Hardin's decision. Rep. W. R. "Bob" Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, scheduled hearings on a similar bill.

Nelson said farmers have to pay more for feed, labor and replacement stock. An Agriculture Department report noted the cost increases but concluded that record high prices and a greater labor supply would still permit a net gain in dairy income.

Two days after the White House meeting, Hardin raised dairy support prices, noting that feed costs had risen.

Under the dairy price support program, the government puts a floor under milk prices by promising to pay any farmer $4.93 per hundred pounds of raw milk. Farmers turn to the government if they can't get at least $4.93 on the open market.

Carrara Gives Opera Singers Helping Hand

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — If you're singing at La Scala opera house in Milan, Tonino Carrara can give you a helping hand. Perhaps even save you from the turnips and tomatoes, as he did once for Maria Callas.

Carrara, 46, leads the claque at Italy's greatest opera house. He is one of the foremost exponents of an old and honored profession in this country where the people take their bel canto seriously and every opera house has its claque of paid applauders.

Carrara has been on the job in La Scala for 16 years. He's rotund, double-chinned and big-handed.

But the noise one makes is not the only requisite for the job, Carrara says proudly. "I studied bel canto for five years with maestro Adriano 'occhio, the one who launched Giuseppe di bstefano, the famed tenor," he boasts.

"I have memorized virtually all librettos. I patiently sit through rehearsals. You can't lead a claque if you are not an opera fan yourself."

Carrara is also an expert of La Scala's acoustics. He fans out his aides, mostly students, according to his own strategy.

The leading handclappers are salaried by the theaters. The aides are usually rewarded with a free ticket.

Carrara uses anywhere from 10 to 100 assistant clappers.

Sometimes the claque is no more than a balance to a gang of "booers."

"You need a lot of assistants when you face threats by unknown persons who blackmail the singers by threatening to boo their performances," Carrara says. "We know how to outclap them."

Carrara likes to recall when timely applause by his claque spared embarrassment for Miss Callas.

"It was in the '50s," he reminisces. "The opera was over and Callas was bowing on stage after her usual triumph—when someone threw a bunch of turnips at her.

"It was a matter of seconds. Already giggles were coming from the front rows. Then the claque drowned them out with wild shouts of "brava," "bis" (encore), and "divina." Since then at La Scala she has been La "Divina."

Handclappers develop a rare affection for their work.

Francesco Spizzica, who has been the leading claquer in Naples for 40 years, loves the San Carlo Theater as "my true home."

Among opera buffs, he is almost as popular as the singers. But Spizzica notes sadly that his profession has grown harder with the years.

"Believe me," he says, "it is not true that the singers were better in the past. It is the public that has changed. It has grown sophisticated. It takes much more cunning and clapping to drag the audience into applause."

Even Parma, the birthplace of Giuseppe Verdi and Arturo Toscanini, has its claque leader, Alvaro Piva. In that northern city, where everybody fancies himself an opera expert by birthright, Piva's work can be treacherous.

"If the clapping is one second too early or too late the audience silences you in anger," says Piva, who is 64.

The Parma pride rubs off on Piva, too. "Those who know me know that I cheer only if the singer deserves it," he vows. "Otherwise, I might even boo. I like bel canto too much. My applause is not on sale. I simply help the audience appreciate what is beautiful."

Among those who have experienced the wrath of a Parma Opera audience—sometimes spontaneous, sometimes inspired—is American baritone Cornell McNeil. During a performance of Verdi's "A Masked Ball" in Parma's Teatro Regio in 1964, someone shouted abuse at McNeil.

An alert claque might have saved the situation. But before it could swing into action McNeil had walked off the stage.

Police were forced to intervene as irate spectators pursued the Minneapolis-born singer to his dressing room. The conductor, the opera house director and the Parma mayor pleaded with him to return to the stage.

McNeil said his nerves couldn't take it, and refused.

Hired booers have produced some of the most tempesuous scenes in Italian opera.

"I know that in some opera houses professional booers go to singers and virtually blackmail them," says maestro Fernando Cavaniglia of the Rome opera. "Either they get paid or they boo. The thought of getting abuse from the audience can so depress a singer that he is likely to pay."

The Emperor Nero, who legend [illegible] set fire to Rome to provide dramatic setting for his fiddling and singing, is allegedly the father of the organized claque. He is supposed to have packed the theater in Pompeii nearly 2,000 years ago with 5,000 slaves in order to be sure of a satisfactory reception for his musical performance.

The Romans called these early practitioners of the profession "plauditores," a name contemporary Italian claquers still prefer.

There are now two kinds of claques—the privately hired one, and the officially organized one. The latter is held in greater prestige.

"Claques should be limited to official oneu," says Alessandro Mosca, 71, unquestionably the best known of Rome's many opera buffs. "Official claques at least behave in a dignified manner."

Maestro Cavaniglia explains the whole strange business this way:

"Opera singers are delicate, temperamental people. It is important to them to know they have friends on the other side of the footlights, someone ready to show affection and esteem. This gives them confidence.

"It works like this: The claque leader rounds up his crew before the opera and gives them detailed instructions. For example, three minutes of applause for this or that singer, a bravo or two—but no more—for such and such a singer, and so it goes. It's a very serious business."

NATO May Branch Out

DALLAS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization may branch out into other fields such as environmental control and car safety Yves Laulan, a senior NATO official, says.

Laulan, of France, and two other NATO officials, Anthony King-Hamman of Britain and Eivind Berdall of Norway were here Wednesday as guests of the Dallas Council on World Affairs.

The three appeared as a panel before students at a Dallas high school.

At a news conference Laulan said NATO might consider entering fields such as environmental control.

"It does not make much sense to have a beautiful army with all kinds of brass if we are just going to collapse inside. It might be well for us to look into this environment question and everything that concerns it including ecology."

Laulan was asked whether NATO ought not to look also into matters such as racial problems.

"I don't really see NATO lording it over other countries and telling them whether to integrate or not."

Baltimore Favored In American

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Weaver's dilemma is the envy of 11 other American League managers.

Weaver's Baltimore Orioles simply have too much of everything—pitching, power, defense, speed—for themselves as well as the rest of the league.

In Weaver, however, they also have the right man to manipulate that overkill, against a first-time challenge from the West Coast, on their way to a third consecutive pennant.

The Orioles won 108 regular season games last year, took out Minnesota in a three-game playoff sweep for the AL flag and then demolished Cincinnati's Big Red Machine in a five-game World Series.

They should rule the East Division again. But Minnesota's West Division defenders appear ripe to be taken, with the hungry Oakland A's the most likely takers.

Here's how the orders of finish shape up from this bleacher seat:

East—1, Baltimore. 2, Detroit. 3, Boston. 4, New York. 5, Cleveland. 6, Washington.

West—1, Oakland. 2, California. 3, Minnesota, 4, Chicago. 5, Kansas City. 6, Milwaukee.

The pennant playoff winner? Baltimore in four games.

Unless the incomparable Robinsons, Brooks and Frank, grow old overnight, Weaver's worries should be confined to:

—Finding enough work for Merv Rettenmund, who led the 1970 club with a .322 batting average as the No. 4 outfielder.

—Finding enough work for Pat Dobson, a potential big winner picked up in a trade with San Diego, behind pitching aces Mike Cuellar, 24-8, Dave McNally, 24-9, and Jim Palmer, 20-10.

Boog Powell, the league's Most Valuable Player, is the offensive heavyweight. Don Buford, Dave Johnson, Paul Blair and the Robinsons pack plenty of wallop, too.

Reggie Jackson is the key to the fortunes of Charlie Finley's Oakland club and its new manager, Dick Williams. The guess here is that Jackson will come closer to the 47 homers he hit in 1969 than the 23 he sent out last year.

Blue Moon Odom's arm problems cloud the A's pitching picture but they have two proven winners in Catfish Hunter and Chuck Dobson plus a prospective star in 21-year-old Vida Blue.

If Jackson hits his stride, and teammates Sal Bando, Felipe Alou, Rick Monday and Bert Campaneris deliver accordingly, the A's are a good bet to depose the Twins in the West.

Back in the East, the Tigers appear capable of moving up from fourth place a year ago to the runnerup spot.

Third baseman Auerlio Rodriguez and shortstop Ed Brinkman, acquired in the Denny McLain deal with Washington, are the big pluses. But pitching could be a problem unless Mickey Lolich, 14-19, bounces back.

Pitching is the Red Sox' chief concerns, although they picked up Ken Tatum in the trade that sent Tony Coniglairo to California. Luis Aparicio, the 36-year-old shortstop obtained from the White Sox, is being counted on to provide the offensive spark in a power-lacked lineup led by Carl Yastrzemski. Duane Josephson, obtained from the Chicago White Sox this week, solved Boston's catching problem.

The Yankees came in second last season, getting the most from pitching, speed, defense and catcher Thurman Munson, the AL's Rookie of the Year. But their run-making capacity remains suspect.

The maturity of Sudden Sam McDowell on the mound and the return of slugging Hawk Harrelson, out virtually all last year with a broken leg, are Cleveland's strongest selling points.

The Senators have three controversial newcomers—McLain, Curt Flood and Joe Foy—and two fence busters—Frank Howard and Mike Epstein, but not much else.

In the West, California's added punch-right fielder Conigliaro—and defense—center fielder Ken Berry—should make the Angels a formidable force. Shortstop Jim Fregosi, left fielder Alex Johnson, the league batting champ, and no-hit pitcher Clyde Wright are returning standouts.

The Twins, led by Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva and Rod Carew, who has recovered from knee surgery, won't go down without a fight. But their pitching staff has too many question marks.

Chuck Tanner, the White Sox' manager, hopes a series of trades that added outfielders Rick Reichardt and Jay Johnstone, infielder Mike Andrews and pitchers Tom Bradley and Vicente Romo will provide the lift needed to vacate the division cellar.

The Royals are [illegible] for a .500 season behind young fixtures Lou Piniella, Bob Oliver and Amos Otis.

Milwaukee has an exciting All-Star in fleet Tommy Harper and a promising young slugger in Danny Walton. It won't be enough.

DALLAS (AP) — Dumas landed two players on the Class AAA All-State Boys Basketball team as named by the Texas Sportswriters Association.

Kim McClintock, a 6-foot-5 senior who averaged 20.6 points per game, and 6-8 Randy Willis, a senior who averaged 18.1 points per contest, were named to inside positions on the mythical team.

James Cook, a 6-1 senior from Fort Worth Como, who averaged 15.2 points per game, was given the other inside slot.

The outside first team posts went to 6-3 senior Cecil Davis of Lamesa, who averaged 16.6 points per game, and 6-1 Carl Jones of Wichita Falls Hirschi, a senior who averaged 25.7 points per contest.

Donnie Murphree of Athens—named to a second team berth—was the highest scorer on the first three teams with an average of 29.8 points per game.

Fiero Wins Unanimously

HONOLULU (AP) — Mexican welterweight Manuel Fiero won a unanimous 10-round decision over Oscar Alvarado of Uvalde, Tex., Tuesday.

Fiero, 23, took advantage of his greater height and longer reach to keep Alvardo at bay with long left jabs, and he resorted to quick back-peddling when Alvardo tried to close in.

The poker-faced Fiero scored the only knockdown of the fight in the ninth round when he braked suddenly and shot a right hook to the head of the rushing Alvarado. The Texan went down for an automatic eight-count.

Both fighters weighed in at 148 pounds.

Chaps Have Shot At ABA Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After 84 games of the regular season, the American Basketball Association still has a playoff spot open. So Denver and Texas will play one 85th tonight to settle the matter.

The Rockets and Chaparrals went into Wednesday night's final games tied for fourth in the five-team West Division, each with a not-exactly-brilliant 30-53 record. But in the world of post-season play, fourth is good enough for a share of the action.

Each team seemed set up for a setback. Texas was visiting Indiana. The Chaps had won just three of 11 games against the defending ABA champions. And Denver, at home against New York, had whipped the Nets only once in five clashes.

But they both came out on top, Texas with a 133-129 squeaker over the Pacers and the Rockets with an easier 132-121 triumph over New York.

So, still tied for fourth, the Chaps and Rockets collide in Denver to see who makes the playoffs. The Rockets hold a 7-5 edge this season against the Chaps.

In Wednesday night's two other ABA season finales, the Memphis Pros clobbered Carolina 123-106 and Virginia flipped the Floridians 131-123.

The National Basketball Association, already into its first round of playoffs, was idle Wednesday. Its action resumes tonight with Atlanta at New York, Philadelphia at Baltimore, Chicago at Los Angeles and Milwaukee against San Francisco at Oakland.

Donnie Freeman hit 14 of his game-high 31 points for Texas in the final quarter as the Chaps broke away from a 102-102 tie to lead 133-123 before the Pacers staged a futile last-minute rally. Gene Moore added 26 for the winners. Bob Netolicky and Mel Daniels had 21 apiece for Indiana.

Denver put together a balanced attack with all seven scorers hitting double figures. John Barnhill's 29 points and Byron Beck's 28 led the Rockets, who opened an 11-point halftime lead and never looked back. The Nets, without star Rick Barry, out with a sore ankle, got 31 points from Sonny Dove.

Memphis, ahead only 54-52 at the intermission, ran away from the Cougars in the second half as Charlie Williams scored a season-high 35 points and Steve Jones chipped in with 25. Bob Verga's 25 led Carolina.

Virginia held the Floridians without a field goal for nearly 5½ minutes in the fourth quarter and outscored them 15-3 in that stretch to snap their seven-game victory skein. Charlie Scott had 29 for the Squires. Mack Calvin had 28 for the Floridians.

Lakers, Bulls Tangle Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers and Chicago Bulls meet here tonight for the advantage in a strange National Basketball Association playoff series in which the home team has won each game after trailing at the start of the final quarter.

The Lakers, as the home team, draw the favorite's role and most of the pressure, since the teams return to Chicago Sunday for the sixth game in the best-of-seven series that now stands 2-2.

Thus far the Lakers have relied on the rebounding, shot-blocking and intimidating of Wilt Chamberlain and the shooting of Gail Goodrich and rookie Jim McMillian. The Bulls have countered with the medium-range marksmanship of Bob Love and the all-around play of Jerry Sloan and Bob Weiss.

Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 center whose scoring has been modest but whose board work and defense have been awesome, credits Weiss with leading Chicago back from a two-game deficit.

Yarborough In Atlanta

ATLANTA AP — Cale Yarborough, who cashed $448,961 in pay checks from stock car racing before moving on to other pastures, returns to Atlanta International raceway today to renew acquaintances.

"It is my ball park and I play awfully good there," the blond, 32-year-old driver, farmer and star of TV commercials said.

Yarborough, one of only two drivers to win three races in a row at the mile and one-half speedway, left NASCAR's Grand National driving ranks this year to campaign for the U.S. Auto Club championship in Indianapolis-type cars.

But he admitted he had a hankering to try his hand at the Atlanta oval again, and in time trials today he was seeking one of a dozen births that will form the front starting order of the $106,000 Atlanta 500.

Twenty-eight drivers drew assignments for today's first qualifying round—among them the most consistent pole sitters of the year, A. J. Foyt and Richard Petty. Only the fastest 12 will make the 40-car field the first day.

Bucks Eye West Sweep

OAKLAND (AP) — Lew Alcindor and the Milwaukee Bucks can end the San Francisco Warriors' season tonight and earn themselves a week-long rest before round two of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Midwest Division champions go for a sweep in the best-of-7 Western Conference semifinals as the series returns to the Oakland Arena.

If the Warriors should upset the Bucks tonight, the fifth game of the series will be played Sunday in Madison.

The Western Conference finals probably won't start until next weekend, since Los Angeles and Chicago are tied with two victories each going into tonight's game at Los Angeles. Their semifinal series will run until next Tuesday if it goes a full seven games.

South All-Stars Triumph 114-99

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The South College All-Stars defeated the North All-Stars 114-99 Wednesday night in the "Million Dollar Classic" behind the 30-point scoring of Southern California's Dennis Layton.

The teams play again tonight in Columbia, S.C.

A crowd of only 1,700 turned out at Dorton Arena and saw Layton score 14 points in the first half to push the South into a 10-point lead.

Charlie Davis of Wake Forest scored 25 points and Charlie Yelverton of Fordham 21 for the North team.

Jacksonville's highly touted Artis Gilmore got 20 points for the winners.

Clay Speaks At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Muhammad Ali, who list a bid to recapture his world heavyweight boxing championship recently easily captured the hearts of a large number of University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee students and faculty Wednesday.

Making a belated appearance on the UWM campus, Ali refused to duck any question, drew shouts of "Right on" with some of his answers, and praised Elijah Muhammad, the leader of the Black Muslims.

Ali said he wants to fight Joe Frazier again,

"I'll get that title back, then retire," he said. "I want to work for the betterment of my black brothers."

But he scoffed at reports that he became rich on the first battle between the two although he admited he received $2.5 million as his cut.

"It's my money. I fought for it," he said. "But the man (Internal Revenue Service) came and took more than $2 million. I still haven't received a single penny yet from the fight."

Ali had canceled a previous engagement to speak at UWM because it would have interfered with his training for the Frazier bout.

Wednesday morning, the loquacious Ali walked around the campus, talking with students. Later he met with the news media in a meeting that included more of his supporters than newsmen.

Wednesday night, Ali spoke at the university and read some of his poetry. The appearance was cosponsored by the Center for Afro-American studies and the university student government.

Today, Clay was to visit the Oshkosh State campus.

Front Brings Wind, Dust

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stout north winds whipped a wintry chill deep into Texas today, fogging the sky with dust.

By early morning the leading edge of the Pacific cold front lay along a line from near Sherman to Mineral Wells, San Angelo and Marfa. It was expected to reach the Gulf of Mexico by evening.

The frontal system raced into the Texas Panhandle during the night on winds close to 60 miles per hour at Amarillo. Blowing dust cut visibility as low as three miles in places as temperatures nosedived from the 70s into the 40s within three hours.

It was dusty and cold with skies generally clear behind the front early today. Farther south there were low clouds and it was still unusually warm.

Light showers developed before dawn from Sherman northward into Oklahoma, and forecasters said there might be others along and just ahead of the colder air. No appreciable moisture was expected, however.

While the front still approached, temperatures soared and a 92-degree reading at Childress matched the nation's high for Wednesday. Galveston was the coolest spot in the state with a top mark of 68.

This morning the mercury slipped down to 35 at Dalhart in the Panhandle while it was still in the 60s at many points and still 73 at Brownsville and McAllen deep in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Music Dept. Head Is Named At WTC

The appointment of Dr. Marvin C. Genuchi as chairman of the music department for Western Texas College has been announced by Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president.

Dr. Genuchi will assume his duties next August. At present, he is the head of the music department and chairman of the fine arts division, The Hiram Scott College, Scottsbluff, Neb. He has a bachelor of music degree from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J., a master of music degree from the University of Nebraska, and a Ph. D. from the University of Iowa. He was the recipient of the US Navy Department Distinguished Service Award (as a civilian) in 1956 and received the Governor's award for Distinguished Service to the State of Nebraska in 1956.

Dr. MARVIN C. GUNICHI

Dr. Genuchi started his professional career as assistant minister of music at the United Presbyterian Church, Carney's Point, N. J. He was choral director at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center and was minister of music at the First Methodist Church in Baton Rouge, La. He was appointed assistant professor of music at Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, in 1962 and moved to Scottsbluff, in 1965 to organize the first fine arts division and music department at Hiram Scott College.

Dr. Genuchi and his wife have three children. Mrs. Genuchi is a library technician. Dr. Genuchi and his family plan to move to Snyder in June.

Complaints Get Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex. says complaints about poor mail deliveries in North Texas and West Texas are getting results.

Purcell, who asked for an investigation into postal complaints, made the statement Wednesday after the new postal service defended some of its actions but conceded that other complaints were valid.

"As result of the investigation, I think we've made some headway," Purcell said.

Purcell said that Postmaster General Winton Blount promised service equal to or greater than that which preceded start of the Postal Service.

Purcell said Saturday service has been restored at the main post office windows in Wichita Falls, as a result of complaints.

"I am concerned that a number of issues have not been resolved," Purcell said, "such as the inadequate handling of special delivery mail."

North Texas and West Texas officials had been protesting slowdowns in mail deliveries over the past year.

Training Set For Teachers

AUSTIN (AP) — Some 120 supervisors and teaching assistants expected to help staff public school driver education programs in 1971-72 will attend summer training sessions at nine Texas college and universities.

The six-week programs, supported by $245,000 in state and federal funds, will give teachers and their assistants detailed briefings on the newest equipment and techniques.

"We expect more than 170,000 high school students to enroll in driver education courses next year," Glenn L. Peavy, Texas Education Agency program director for safety and driver education, reports.

Texas A&M University will present the teaching assistants course from July 12 through August 20. The 60 supervisors, all certified to teach in Texas, will attend six week courses at East Texas State, North Texas State, Pan American, Prairie View A&M, Sam Houston State, Sul Ross State, West Texas State, and the University of Houston.

Ike Dollar Is Minted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The dollar coin has returned to U.S. currency with production of "cartwheels" bearing the profile of Dwight D. Eisenhower and depicting the American eagle on the moon.

Mary T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint, pushed the button Wednesday on a noisy stamping machine at the San Francisco Mint to start production of the first dollar coin since 1935.

The first coin off the press goes to Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the president. The second goes to her grandson, David, and the third to David's father-in-law, President Nixon.

Over the next four years, the San Francisco Mint will produce 130 million "uncirculated" Ike dollars, the first type produced. They will be sold to collectors for $3 apiece.

Production will begin in June on 20 million flawless "proof" Ike dollars—to sell for $10 apiece.

Later coins intended for general circulation, worth $1 will be minted in Philadelphia and Denver. They will be distributed to banks by fall, meeting the demands of vending machine operators for a coin to match inflation.

Requests for the collector coins will be taken beginning in July, after order forms have been distributed to all post offices. Mailed deliveries will begin in August.

The collector coins will contain 40 per cent silver and 60 per cent copper, compared with 90 per cent silver and 10 per cent copper in the silver dollars minted from 1863 to 1933. The general circulation dollar coins will contain no silver but an alloy of copper and nickel, such as current dimes and quarters.

Frank Gasparro, the U.S. Mint's chief sculptor and engraver, designed both the Eisenhower profile and the reverse side. The latter bears an American eagle, an olive branch in its claws, swooping in for a landing on the moon.

It commemorates the July 21, 1969, lunar landing of the Apollo 11 spacecraft, "The Eagle." It shows the crater-marked terrain of the Sea of Tranquility with the earth in the background.

AFTER BOARD DENIED PAROLE

Hoffa's Reign Over Teamsters Near End

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Riddle Hoffa's 13-year reign over the giant Teamsters union appears all but ended after the U.S. Parole Board denial of his appeal for freedom.

Hoffa, serving an eight-year jury tampering sentence, will retain the title of union president for several more months, but Teamsters sources said he will almost certainly be replaced at the union's July convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

A new Teamsters president also could mean early negotiations for a return of the 2-million-member Teamsters to the main body of American labor, the AFL-CIO which expelled Hoffa's union in 1957 on corruption charges.

Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's old Detroit sidekick and handpicked stand-in, is rated the frontrunner to succeed Hoffa in his own right.

Hoffa will not become eligible for parole again until June 1972, when Fitzsimmons, or some other successor will have had nearly a year to consolidate a hold on the union presidency. Presidential terms currently are for five years.

Hoffa at the last Teamsters convention in 1966 managed to rewrite the union constitution to make it virtually impossible for other union leaders to oust him. But the parole denial appeared to dash Hoffa's last hopes of retaining control of the union after more than four years in prison.

The parole refusal Wednesday crushed Hoffa's pledge to the union's 2-million members shortly before federal marshals whisked him in handcuffs to the penitentiary in 1967: "I'll be back, God willing, sooner than our enemies would have you believe."

The board didn't divulge its vote nor its reason for denying parole.

A parole would have almost certainly put Hoffa back in the driver's seat of the world's largest, richest, most powerful labor union, in the view of Most Teamsters sources.

Under Fitzsimmons, the union had begun a slow drift away from Hoffa's tight national control to a more decentralized, operation with increasing roles for the 12 other vice presidents. Many reportedly would shy away from creating any new strong man president like Hoffa, who would dilute their power.

While Hoffa still has union supporters and may continue to exercise influence, the parole denial evidently will accomplish something a host of opponents, including the late President John F. Kennedy, the late Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, congressional investigators, other labor leaders and even some of his union members, were unable to get him out.

Drugs To Be Labeled

DENVER (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration official says the agency will soon require that all drugs carry labels which specify their effectiveness.

Dr. Henry E. Simmons, director of the FDA's Bureau of Drugs, told the American Academy of Physicians Wednesday that a new rating system carries four designations, "effective," "probably effective," "possibly effective" and "ineffective."

Drugs found to be "ineffective" would be banned from sale. Drugs rated "probably effective" or "possibly effective" could remain on the market for only up to a year—with the proper label designation—unless manufacturers substantiate claims for the drug, he said.

The rating systen would apply both to prescription drugs and to drugs sold over the counter, such as cough medicines.

Hitherto, only the safety of drugs, not their effectiveness, has concerned the FDA.

Simmons said dozens of drugs will be removed from the market by the new rating system.

Of 2,000 drugs examined, 10 per cent have been found to be ineffective and are being withdrawn, he said.

The basis for the new rating system, Simmons said, is a study of 3,000 drugs by the National Academy of Sciences' National Research Council. Manufacturers' claims for the drugs were examined by panels set up by the council.

Simmons said the FDA is reviewing the rating criteria established by the council as well as the council's conclusions on the efficacy of each of the 3,000 drugs.

Most of the council's judgments are being affirmed, he said.

Courts System Is Computerized

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County plans to be completely modernized in its courts system by the year's end by fully computerizing court dockets, records, etc.

Estimated cost of the modernization program is $1 million but Judge Joe Frazier Brown feels its well worth the money. Judge Brown is executice director of the Criminal Justice Council.

"It will free the judge from the routine, giving him more time for judicial activities," says the judge.

The computerization program will make known instantly the situation of any pending case, the length of time it has been on the docket, its appeal status and all the pertinent information it could take hours to research.

727 Makes Unscheduled Landing

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A Chicago-to-Phoenix, Ariz., airliner made an unscheduled landing today and officers searched it for a bomb without finding one.

Police said the unscheduled landing in Amarillo was ordered after Transworld Airlines in Chicago was told there was an explosive device on board.

The plane, a Boeing 727, set down at 12:10 a.m. CST and, after the search was completed, resumed its westward flight at 2:42 a.m. A TWA employe said there were 65 passengers and seven crew members.

Amarillo patrolman Robert Pounds said he was told Chicago police questioned a young man accused of telling someone two teen-age girls took a bomb onto the jetliner, but no charge was filed.

"We found the device—it was a shoe box full of candy the guy had given them," Pounds said. "He's being drafted and that apparently was his way of trying to prevent it."

Pounds said police decided the girls were blameless and they were not detained.

700 Nationals Are Arrested

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — U.S. Border Patrol agents in Miami, Okla. have arrested more than 700 Mexican nationals who had illegally entered the the country in the past 10 weeks, an Oklahoma City television station reported Wednesday.

KWTV said in a filmed report that the illegal immigrants had entered the United States in Texas and were bound for Chicago where they might find work and disappear in the city's Spanish-speaking population.

Russell Bruce, the agent in charge of the crackdown, told a KWTV reporter that Mexicans arrested in Miami were taken to Joplin, Mo. to await transfer back to Mexico.

Fancy Menus In Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — Take a tip from Waikiki's restaurants the next time your husband asks, "What's for dinner?"

Don't just say chicken and sherbet. "Tonight," you tell him, "it's whole milk-fed baby squab, fat and sassy little birds, bursting with juice, brought to the table hot from the broiler where the chef has tenderly basted them with a secret blending of wines and herbs.

"And for dessert, passion fruit sherbet, le grande passion between you and tropical passion fruit, squeezed lovingly of its juices and whirled into a frosty delight, cool and refreshing as a fern sheltered waterfall."

That's what you get when you order squab at Canlis' Charcoal Broiler or Sherbet at Paradise Park. Both descriptions come straight from the menu.

Hawaii restaurants like to serve up a dash of poetry and history with their fancy fare and menu writers are spending more time in the library these days.

[redacted]menu at the Dynasty c[redacted]e required reading for s[redacted] of Asian history. "D[redacted]n Chicken Li Po," instructs the menu, "is composed of cubes of chicken marinated in wine and served chilled in honor of Li Po, talented and great poet and most prodigious drinker in the Tang Dynasty."

The menu at the Ship's Tavern takes no editorial stand on the New England-New York clam chowder controversy, but diners face a dilemma.

"New England puts milk in its clam chowder," the menu says. "New York uses water and tomatoes. New England says it's clam chowder's birthplace. So does New York.

"New Englanders call New York's clam chowder 'Vegetable soup with a clam drawn through it.' New Yorkers say New England clam chowder is a stew fit only for infants."

The menu offers both.

Secretaries Complain Of Too Little Work

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with your secretary may be that she is underworked and therefore suffering the frustrations of underachievement. She wants to contribute but you don't give her the chance.

As somebody said the other day, "A secretary often has B747 power but is only permitted to perform at the DC3 level." In other words boss, she's in the jet age while you're back in the ancient days of propellers.

Make her happy; work her.

Lest the ire of secretaries and the ambitions of their bosses become too aroused, let us hastily give the source of the opinion: Phyllis Bauer, president of the National Secretaries Association. She's the "somebody."

"It always surprises management to learn that a prime secretarial complaint is not too much work but too little," says Mrs. Bauer, a certified professional secretary who works for—or is it with?—attorney Richard McMahon of Davenport, Iowa.

To aid bosses in observing the 20th annual Secretaries Week April 18 through April 24, Mrs. Bauer, who works a 9 to 3:30 day, consented to list 10 ways "for management to double productivity within the same number of work hours."

1. Demand high standards. The office maxim never should be "there's not enough time to do it right but there's always enough time to do it over." Don't compromise with quality and accuracy.

2. Communicate your goals. If the desired end results are known, the steps to achieve both current and long range goals can be reduced.

3. Confide in your secretary. As your confidante, she'll know the reasons behind your thinking, and won't have to waste time in trying to be a clairvoyant second guesser when it comes to assigning priorities to work at hand.

4. Assign research to your secretary. As your research assistant for the preliminary work of gathering and coordinating information for reports, speeches and aarticles, she can keep you ahead of the deadlines.

5. Commission your secretary as your ghost writer. Many letters do not have to be dictated, but can be prepared for your signature in your writing style.

6. Enlist your secretary as your reader. Instead of letting stacks of publications and newsletters pile up until they become compulsory weekend reading, mark a few issues to point out what contents relate to your interests.

7. Retain your secretary as your personal travel agent. your secretary knows how much time you need at your destination to transact business, if a rental car should be waiting, and how much travel advance you'll need. She'll also have a record of when and where to reach you.

'little Sister' Back In Custody

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — "Little Sister," a pet mountain lion, was back in custody today after a brief escape.

The 85-pound animal disappeared Monday and for a time it was believed she was roaming in the vicinity of a shopping center here.

It turned out, however, that she got away from Eugene Blue and his wife near Blanco, about 40 miles north of here, as they returned from Hobbs, N.M.

Parks and wildlife officers trapped Little Sister in a culvert near Blanco Monday night. A veterinarian tranquilized her so she could be taken to the San Antonio Zoo, and officials notified Blue she had been found.

The Blues are professional hunting guides and they obtained the 20-month-old lion from a friend recently. Mrs. Blue said Little Sister was been sleeping in the bedroom with them.

Enrollment Up At St. Edwards

AUSTIN (AP) — Enrollment at St. Edwards University topped the 1,100 mark this spring, an increase of 100 students over the fall semester and a record high for the Austin university.

The total figure is up 300 students over last spring's count for an overall enrollment increase of 35 per cent this year. University administrators attribute the jump to active student recruiting, new night classes, and innovative ideas in the undergraduate program.

Vandalism Costly

NEW YORK (AP) — The city Transit Authority says vandalism on its subways and buses cost $2.6 million last year, roughly the price of 10 new air conditioned subway cars.

The TA also reported that its police made 2,881 arrests for misdemeanors in 1970, all but 109 under the age of 16.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Is the duck hawk a hawk or a duck?

* * *

ANSWER: The duck hawk belongs to a suborder of birds of prey called Falcones, or falcons. Falcons are famous because they were once so widely used in the cruel sport of falconry. Such birds were carried by the falconer on his wrist, to be released to pursue and kill some game bird and bring it back to his owner. Falcons have sharper wings and are swifter than other hawks. They fly above their victims, then plunge down to kill them in mid air. Besides the duck hawk, other American falcons are the beautiful white or light gray gyrfalcons, living in Greenland, the prairie falcons of the Great Plains, the smaller and more familiar pigeon and sparrow hawks. The duck hawk is so named because it often chases and captures ducks or other large birds.

Boyle Caught By Daughter

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It started out like one of those magic days that come along now and then.

I haved myself without even making a little dent in my throat, stepped on the scales and saw I had lost eight pounds, and when I walked into the elevator I found a $5 bill on the floor.

As I started to drop a token in the box, the bus driver smiled and said, "Put it back in your pocket, buster. This ride's on me. You look like my kind of galoot."

When I left the bus, a policeman took me by the elbow, thrust a gun in my hand, and said, "You look like my kind of galoot, buster. How about robbing this bank over here for me?"

"Why don't you rob it yourself?"

"The captain didn't like me to," he said. "It gives our precinct a bad name. But everything's okay. I've got buddies posted at each end of the block, and the bank guard is my brother-in-law."

So I went into the bank, shot a hole in a hidden television camera, and asked for and received $1,000,000 in $1,000 bills. When I emerged the policeman led me to a parked car and said, "This is for the getaway. Don't hit the driver—she's my mother—and tell her not to run through any red lights."

So we buzzed up Fifth Avenue, stopped in Central Park and cut the swag fifty-fifty. Before driving off the old lady said, "You're my kind of galoot, buster. When you feel like making another heist, just look up my son, the policeman."

Well, as I was walking past the Central Park Zoo, a tall handsome young lady in cowboy boots pointed at one of the animal dens and asked:

"Why are they keepinr a little ole dog like that behind bars?"

"That isn't a little old dog. That's a big young lion, the king of beasts."

"That so? Back where I come from we got jackrabbits twice that size."

"Where do you come from?"

"Texas. I'm a heiress—but what else would a girl like me be."

"What to you do?" she asked.

"I rob banks," I told her. "I just bopped one and I've got half a million bucks in this briefcase to prove it."

"You robbed a bank before noon0 how nice! You sound like my kind of galoot, buster. How about us going out to the airport and hopping aboard my private plan? Then we can breeze off to Brazil and spend the loot without answering a lot of nosy questions."

As I climbed into the plane there was a roaring in my ears and I thought it was the motors—but—

Br-r-r-r-ing, br-r-r-r-ing, br-r-r-r-ing! It was my alarm clock and I was back home in my bedroom and it was tine t begin the day.

Just then the door opened and my teen-ager daughter, Tracy Ann, hobbled in with a crutch under one arm.

"I fell out of bed and must have broken a bone in my foot," she said.

"Great grief and small tomcats!" I exclaimed. "I'll call the doctor."

But before I could pick up the phone, Tracy threw the crutch on the floor and cried:

"April Fool! April Fool! You're the first one I've caught today."

HOUSTON MAKES BID FOR CONVENTIONS

Texas Politics Perk Up As Dogwoods Bloom

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Dogwoods are blooming in East Texas and that's always a signal for Texas' politics to start picking up.

This year is no exception, except that a lot of politicians are hesitant about announcing campaign plans while the legislature is still talking taxes and investigating committees are still probing the federal stock fraud case.

One thing politically definite, Houston has made a serious bid for both the national party conventions in 1972, offering the Astrodome as a convention hall and 2,500 new hotel rooms as enticement.

Most Texas officials think Houston has a good chance to get at least one of the national gatherings.

Texas also has special influence through high national party officials that could affect the convention decision. Robert Strauss, Dallas, is national Democratic party treasurer in addition to being Texas' committeeman. Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is co-chairman of the National Republican Committee in addition to being Texas' GOP national committeewoman.

Texas Republicans hope that a national convention in the state would help build up their sagging state party organization and pocketbooks.

Texas Democrats hope that a national convention in the state would bring forth the harmony that Democrats always seem to be seeking plus a certain amount of party reform decreed at the tumultuous Chicago convention.

Houston offered the Democrats the choice of periods beginning July 9 or July 23, but said other dates could be worked out.

The Republicans were offered any time in August.

Three big cities in addition to Houston are asking one or both of the conventions — Miami Beach, San Francisco and Chicago. In addition, Louisville, Ky., put in a bid for the national Democratic meet.

Houston expects an answer from the Democratic party sometime in May and from the Republicans in late June or July.

When Houston made its bid to both parties, the sponsors stressed the "safety" features. They said 12-foot steel fences surround the Astro Hall, where preliminary meetings and caucuses could be held, and the Astrodome, scene of the main event. The location away from downtown Houston also allows for better police control, they said.

However, each of the major bidders also had "safety" arguments—the far out Cow Palace convention site at San Francisco, Miami Beach's location on an island that could be barricaded quickly, and the Stockyards site miles away from downtown Chicago. Chicago quickly pointed out that the 1968 riots were near delegates' hotels in downtown Chicago, not at the convention hall.

Houston claims 16,000 first class hotel and motel rooms available in the area, which extends to Galveston, and another 2,500 under construction. They stressed that low-income delegates and visitors, particularly those of college age, could be housed, in dormitories at Rice University and the University of Houston.

Shuttle buses would take delegates to and from their hotels to the convention sites in Houston, as they would in the other cities.

And Houston has formed a non-partisan citizens committee to stage fund-raising luncheons and collect the $1.5 million required as a minimum bid or "host guarantee" expected by both parties.

Other special awards will be made by Prof. J. H. Baumgardner to the merit award winner; Ron Kersh of Plainview to the honorary sponsor; and McCloy to the honorary member. Meek will install officers.

A dance will follow the banquet session. Profs. Baumgardner and Lind are club sponsors.

The Hobby Industry Association of America estimates that last year Americans throughout the nation spent more than 800 million dollars on hobby and crafts kits and merchandise.

Students Denied Re-Entry

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has refused to order Prairie View A&M College to readmit students who were suspended following campus disturbances in February.

U. S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Hannay said to submit to the student demands "would have done in the college as a viable education institution.

Hannay turned down Wednesday the petition of three suspended students for a temporary injunction against the college.

The college was closed Feb. 26 after three days of student demonstrations which damaged school property. When the college re-opened a week later, 84 students had been suspended.

The case was brought through the American Civil Liberties Union by Consuella Francis, 22, of Houston, Lawrence Tero, 18, of Chicago, and Betty Smith, 20, of Beaumont.

Hannay said the evidence presented in court "leads to the inescapable conclusion that at the core of this happening there was militant intent to subvert the orderly administration of the college by threatened and actual violence."

Hannay said the disturbance "created an extraordinary emergency and this extraordinary emergency continues to this date and cannot end before the close of the current academic year.

Prisoners' Families Quizzed

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families of U.S. prisoners of war have been questioned by House committee investigators about contacts with a peace group which relays POW mail.

The disclosure follows two days of reports that FBI agents have been questioning POW families about dealings with the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam, a New York-based pacifist group.

The FBI has not responded to questions about the reported interrogation of POW families last summer and fall. House Internal Security Committee investigators were making inquiries about the same time.

An Internal Security source said its investigators checked on the Committee of Liaison for hearings on POW affairs last year.

The mother of one American serviceman missing in the Vietnam war told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee Tuesday an FBI agent warned her to have nothing to do with the Committee of Liaison.

Another POW mother told the panel Wednesday an agent asked if she would testify against the peace group.

Other reports of FBI agents questioning families about the liaison committee, accused the FBI of harassing families to keep them from dealing with her group.

The Committee of Liaison ferries mail from American families to their relatives in Hanoi's POW camps and from the prisoners to their families. The committee also has produced lists of men held in North Vietnam and others reported dead.

Mrs. Gerald A. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., said the agent who visited her asked a number of questions about her POW son and his capture, which she said was odd "since the Pentagon surely already knew all about that."

The agent asked Mrs. Gartley said, if the Committee of Liaison had used any coercion, had propagandized on her relationship with it or had asked for contributions. She said she answered no to each question.

An Air Force letter to POW relatives, shown at the hearing by Mrs. Weiss, said: "Dealing with this and similar groups, rather than at an official government level, is an obvious propaganda ploy designed to promote the credibility of those who oppose U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia."

Another letter from Col. J.G. Luther of Air Force personnel services advised against sending mail through the liaison group "as the possibility of exploitation and harassment is ever present ..."
