Three Burn to Death Two More May Die at Clovis, N. M.

FATHER WITH TWO CHILDREN VICTIMS GASOLINE EXPLOSION MOTHER NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

CLOVIS, N. M., June 27. (AP)—A father and two of his children are dead and two other members of the family of nine were near death here tonight as the result of a gasoline explosion and fire in their farm home near here this morning.

The dead are E. W. Williams, 43, who succumbed in a local hospital at 3:50 p. m., his baby son who perished in the flames; and Louise, a 14-year-old daughter who died from burns at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The mother is not expected to live through the night. She was covered with the flaming fuel, no part of her body escaping, even her tongue was seared, physicians said. Fay, an 8-year-old daughter, was seriously burned about the arms and face but is expected to live.

OIL OPERATORS DALLAS PARLEY FAIL TO AGREE

Divergent Views Held and Meeting Adjourns After Debate

GOVERNOR STERLING SEES SPECIAL SESSION NEARER

Expresses Regret That Producers Are Unable to Solve Problem

DALLAS, June 27. (AP)—An attempt to compose all factions in an effort to hit upon an agreeable method of curbing production in the East Texas oil field failed here today. A mass meeting of operators with divergent views as to procedure, called by Capt. J. F. Lucey, adjourned in disagreement after three hours' discussion.

A motion of Edward T. Moore of the Simms company that the meeting appoint a committee to study the plan to hold wells to 300 barrels daily each and the ideas of other factions, involving proration upon a proration basis, met opposition from Underwood Nazro of the Gulf company, proposed as a member of the committee, and Captain Lucey did not put it.

Waste of Time Says Nazro

Nazro said it was a waste of time for the committee he was to serve on, it being made up of the same personnel as the arbitration committee of the 300-barrel idea, to make an effort to get together with the oil emergency committee headed by W. L. Todd, which favors a special session of the legislature to

PAIR HELD IN DALLAS DEATH

Woman Confesses to Plot To Kill Husband

DALLAS, June 27. (AP)—Complaints charging murder tonight had been filed against Mrs. Zlona Cholvin, 40, and C. H. Chandler, 40, oil company employe, in connection with the slaying of John Gordon Sperro, 46, Mrs. Cholvin's husband, near here last night.

Both were being held in the Dallas county jail.

Sheriff Hal Hood quoted Mrs. Cholvin as having said she first took Chandler to the scene of the slaying, and leaving him there, returned to the city, and took Sperro there.

Sperro, shot, stabbed and bruised, was found dead early last night at a lonely spot about five miles east of Wilmer, Dallas county.

Mrs. Cholvin said she and Sperro were married in Durant, Okla., last October, but had not lived together.

FLAMES SWEEP SPENCER, IOWA LOSS IS HEAVY

SPENCER, Iowa, June 27. (AP)—A lighted sparkler in the hands of a small boy ignited a fire works display in a corner drug store today, starting a fire which virtually wiped out the business section of Spencer, a city of 5,000 persons.

Swept up the block and across the street by a southwest breeze, the fire razed four blocks of business buildings, causing damage estimated at $2,000,000 by Leo C. Dailey secretary of the commercial club.

The fire started in the Bjornstad drug store, located below the telephone office. Girls in the telephone office were temporarily trapped, but firemen hoisted ladders and carried three to safety while others raced through the flames on the stairway to the open air.

The water supply already depleted by lack of rain, gave out as seven fire companies joined with the regular and volunteers of Spencer. Dynamite was used to check the flames.

WOULD LIKE TO GET OUT OF CALIFORNIA PRISON AND TAKE HIS FRIENDS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 27. Howard Nye, 80-year-old Mariposa county murderer, would like to get out of Folsom prison. What's more, he would like to take two of his friends out with him.

Nye asked Gov. James Rolph Jr., for a pardon today, and at the same time put in a good word for Ed Wells, convicted of a burglary, and A. Graves, imprisoned for assault with a deadly weapon.

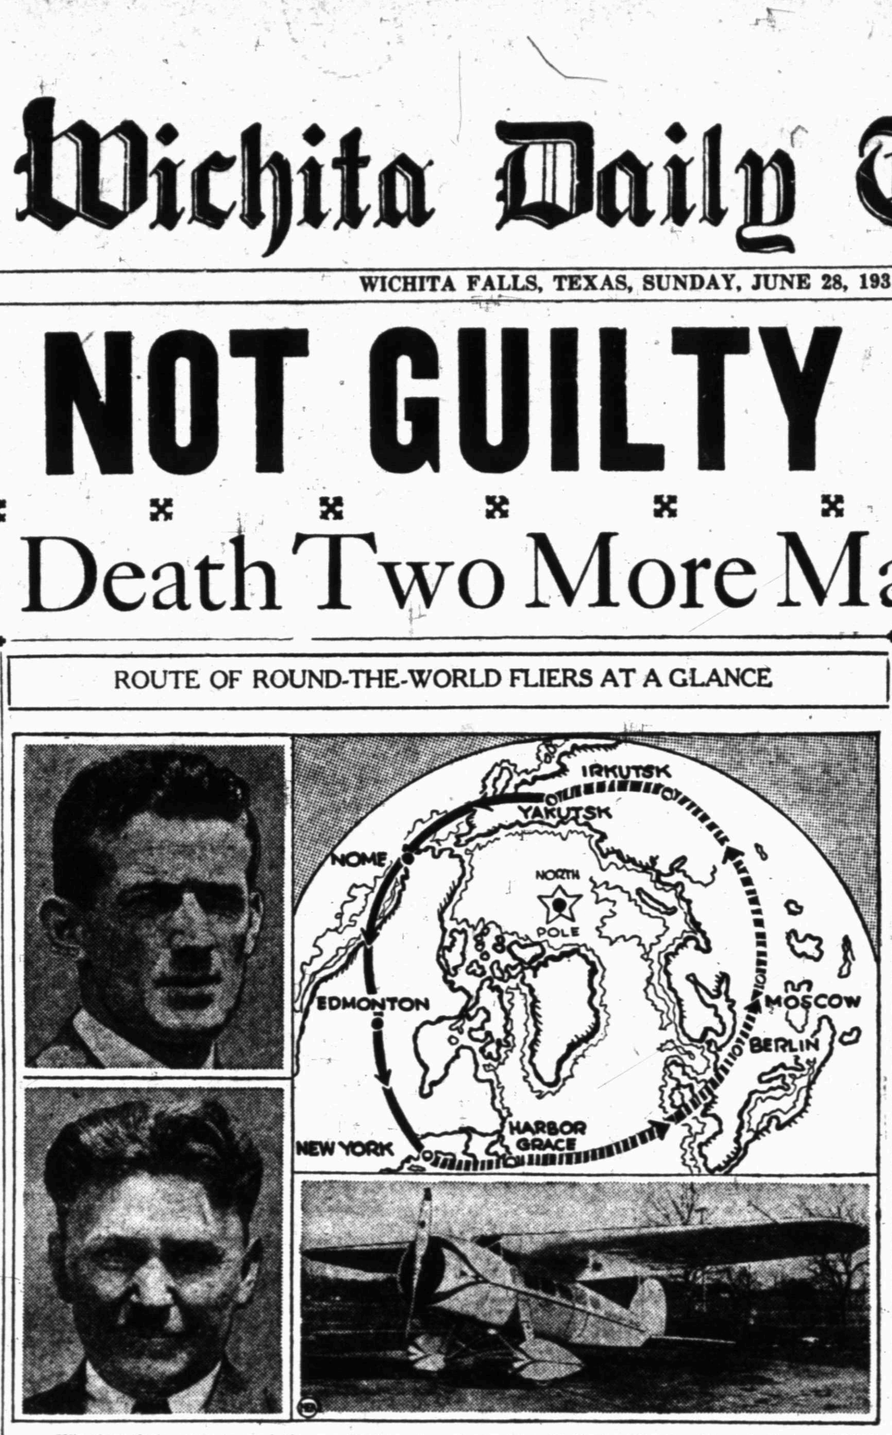

"I've been here 28 years now, and I want to get out and go to Alaska," Nye wrote the governor. "I would very much like to take with me my two cellmates."

QUANAH CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

QUANAH, Texas, June 27.—Mrs. Winnie Warner was elected president of the Quanah Business and Professional Women's club at the meeting held at the home of the retiring president, Miss Rosa Coker. Other officers elected were first vice president, Miss Lula Grace Williams; second vice president, Miss Mary Agnes Wey; recording secretary, Miss Maggie Oliphant; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lucile Backus; treasurer, Mrs. Daisy E. Burton. The new officers will be installed in July.

Four new members were initiated into the club. They were Miss Ruth Beliah, Miss Elsie Phillips, Mrs. Melba Brewer and Miss Olivette Bruce.

ROUTE OF ROUND-THE-WORLD FLIERS AT A GLANCE

FORMER DEPUTY SHERIFF GUESS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE IN DEATH OF YOUNG MEXICAN

COURT HOUSE, ARDmore, Okla., June 27. (AP)—W. E. (Bill) Guess, giant erstwhile Oklahoma peace officer, was acquitted tonight by a jury of slaying Emilio Cortes Rubio, 20-year-old kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico.

Out almost exactly 22 hours, a fagged jury of middle-aged Carter county men who had been deadlocked, 11 to 1, for hours, this afternoon returned the verdict 20 days after Emilio and his student chum, Manuel Garcia Gomez, 22, fell dead before the deputy's gunfire beside a residential street here.

Pale, trembling with emotion, Guess thanked the jurors and declared he still "felt justified in what I did." He remains under $25,000 bond for the slaying of Gomez and his fellow former deputy, Cecil Crosby, still stands charged with

LONG ILLNESS BRINGS DEATH TO D. T. MOORE

D. T. Moore, 81, a resident of Wichita Falls for 23 years, died at a hospital here Saturday night following an illness of about two weeks due to his advanced age.

Funeral services are to be held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Burial will be in Riverside.

Mr. Moore first came to Wichita Falls in 1906 from Lillian, Johnson county, Texas, where he had lived for many years. During his active career he was a carpenter.

Surviving are two daughter, Miss Gordie Moore and Mrs. S. W. Dudley, both of Wichita Falls, and two sons, Sam Moore of Wichita Falls and Fred Moore of Wellington, Texas.

SUBMARINE NAUTILUS NOW UNDERGOING REPAIRS AT DEVONPORT, ENGLAND

DEVONPORT, Eng., June 27. (US)—The polar submarine Nautilus today was safely berthed in tidal basin 4 of the British submarine base here. Crowds lined the foreshore and dock hands ceased work to watch the mooring, handled by two government tugs.

At the request of Sir Hubert Wilkins, polar explorer, made before his hurried departure for Bergen, Norway, last night, naval experts began a survey to ascertain the nature of repairs necessary to prepare the Nautilus for her polar voyage.

Sir Hubert, before he left, said he was certain the polar voyage would be accomplished early in August. He is due in Bergen tomorrow to confer with Dr. Sverdrup on seasonal conditions in the polar sea.

MEN FIGHTING FIRE KILGORE OIL WELL REST OVER NIGHT

KILGORE, Texas, June 27. (AP)—Tired workmen turned from the burning Tell & Grady No. 1 tonight with orders to rest and return tomorrow at which time one of the supreme efforts will be made to snuff out the fire.

Efforts will be made tomorrow to drop a special cap over the flaming well.

B. F. DeLong, in charge of the fire fighters, said no effort would be made to shoot away tubing which is now protruding from the well. DeLong said the whole lowland about the well would be flooded with oil if the tubing should be destroyed.

The well has been burning since Tuesday night.

CHURCH TO CHARGE DOLLAR ADMISSION

FORT WORTH, June 27. (UP)—How many, please? The church box office is the latest.

Rev. R. B. Hooper of the Trinity Methodist church thinks most people have money in their pockets. To prove his contention he will charge $1 admission when he preaches Sunday morning.

Rev. Hooper has designated the day prosperity Sunday.

The proceeds will go to the church indebtedness.

CITY DETECTIVES RECOVER $200 IN STOLEN PROPERTY

More than $200 worth of merchandise stolen from the Oasis Drug store, Tenth and Van Buren street, Friday night, was recovered Saturday by City Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson a few hours after they were put on the case.

The loot included merchandise, stamps and a watch belonging to Mrs. J. M. Edwards, wife the proprietor. All of this was recovered and two men were arrested and placed in the city jail. Officers said burglary charges would be filed against the pair Monday.

TERRELL HOME ROBBED AND DAUGHTER BOUND AND GAGGED ON PORCH

TERRELL, Texas, June 27. (AP)—An intruder entered the home here of J. A. Edwards last night, ransacked the house and left Edwards' 16-year-old daughter bound and gagged on the back porch at the home. He had bound the girl when she was aroused by his presence in the house. Edwards accompanied Terrell officers to Dallas today to consult a finger print expert, taking with him a number of articles known to have been handled by the robber.

"MUST SEE TO APPRECIATE"

That's what Mrs. E. H. Lucas of 2007 Taylor street, said about a five-room house that she wished to rent.

It is also true that you must see the Classified Want Ad Section of the Daily Times-Record News in order to appreciate it and realize its real benefits.

"I received GOOD RESULTS from my Classified Want Ad which I placed in the Classified Columns of BOTH of your newspapers which appeared in recent issues," said Mrs. Lucas. "And rented my house to a very desirable tenant."

Mrs. Lucas received half a dozen calls and rented her house the second day her Classified Want Ad appeared. Surely that's convincing evidence.

But—look at the Classified Want Ad Section of the Daily Times-Record News, and YOU will appreciate the advantages of using it as an opportunity directory and of listing YOUR offer there.

Mrs. Lucas Classified Ad reads as follows:

MY HOME, 2006 Fillmore street, five rooms, breakfast room, hardwood floors, best of furniture, double garage, nice lawn and shrubs. Desire to rent to suitable tenants who can appreciate a good home. This place should be seen to be appreciated. Phone 2-2217, or see owner, 2007 Taylor.

Her comment is as follows:

"Good results. Rented to desirable tenants."

Remedy Suggested for Antiquated System of Handling Public Funds

By ALFRED E. SMITH

NEW YORK, June 27.—Having discussed the present manner and method of appropriating public money by the congress, I propose in this article to offer definite, constructive suggestions that in my opinion will cure the very apparent defects of our present antiquated system. All appropriations of public money become law and one congress cannot bind another. The last expression of congress when approved by the president is the latest law. When appropriations are made by legislative enactment there is nothing to stop one congress from changing the manner and method of appropriating money as established by a previous congress, unless some unified method is provided by constitutional law. The definite remedy for it is to set up by constitutional law a procedure for the appropriation of public money that congress will be compelled to follow.

Al E. Smith

I make this suggestion notwithstanding that I know that the people do not like to put too much into constitutional law. But I see no way out of it if congress is to be prevented from playing fast and loose with the public money in a manner which brings about waste, extravagance, deficits and the need of additional taxation.

The constitution should provide for the appointment by the president of a director of the budget. Under the director should be a capable staff who would year in and year out, day in and day out, be studying

DALLAS WOMAN KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO HUSBAND BADLY HURT

DALLAS, June 27. (AP)—Mrs. Sam Ross, 49, of Dallas, was almost instantly killed, and her husband, Sam Ross, also of Dallas, was seriously injured when the car in which they were riding was struck near here today by a fast Southern Pacific passenger train.

Ross was carried unconscious to a local hospital. Attendants late today held little hope for his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross were en route from their home to Corsicana.

NOTED STAGE DANCER REPORTED NEAR DEATH AT NEW YORK HOTEL

NEW YORK, June 27. (US)—Gilda Gray, noted stage dancer, was at the point of death tonight in her apartment in the Hotel Warwick, according to her attendants. She suffered a heart attack during the afternoon and physicians feared removal to a hospital would cause death, it was reported.

MARRIAGE SOLICITATION LAW IN DURANT INVALID

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—The criminal court of appeals ruled today that the Durant marriage solicitation law was invalid.

W. H. Webb, of Durant, had been arrested under a nuisance ordinance of Durant which prohibits the solicitation of persons intending to wed in the interest of someone with authority to perform the ceremony.

The criminal court of appeals today granted him a writ of habeas corpus, holding the ordinance invalid.

FEDERATED MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT ELECTRA TO HOLD MEETING MONDAY

ELECTRA, Texas, June 27.—The Federated Missionary society will meet Monday, June 29, at the First Presbyterian church with the Presbyterian Missionary society as hostess.

Mrs. W. R. Skinner, president, will preside over the meeting. Mrs. M. N. Amsden will lead the devotional, after which a song will be given by the assembly. Reports will be given by the chairmen of the various committees after which another song will be given by the assembly. Miss Eloise Wofford will be presented in a reading and Miss Letrice Wofford and Mrs. L. G. McLaughlin will sing a duet. Mrs. C. L. Bounds will make the principal address.

BOWEN WILL NOT BE ABLE TO STAND TRIAL SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY

AUSTIN, June 27. (AP)—John W. Bowen, Dallas investment banker, scheduled to go to trial here Monday on a charge of forging witness fee certificates, will not be able to appear because of illness, it was announced Saturday at the courthouse. Judge J. D. Moore in the 98th district court will probably reset the case for another date when it is called Monday.

'POISON PICNIC' PROBE SHIFTED TO GREENFIELD

GREENFIELD, Ind., June 27. (INS)—Investigation of the "poison picnic" shifted to this town today after Mrs. Carrie Barrett Simmons, held for the murder of her two daughters, continued to protest her innocence. All the Labon, Ind., guests were questioned yesterday and today the 17 others who attended the fatal reunion will be summoned.

STORM MODERATE GULF DISTURBANCE SAYS LATE REPORT

GALVESTON, June 27. (AP)—Weather conditions at Galveston, Freeport and Port O'Connor tonight were about normal. Port O'Connor reported a wind of about 20 miles. Tide appeared to be falling, according to reports reaching here.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, June 27. (AP)—A special weather bulletin issued at 8:30 tonight branded the tropical disturbance, which is apparently centered between Brownsville and Matagorda bay, as a "moderate gulf disturbance."

The disturbance remained in the gulf, near the coast, and will cause rains and winds here during the night, the report stated.

The barometer climbed steadily. That was taken as a favorable indication, but did not mean that all danger was passed.

Moves Northwestward

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, June 27. (AP)—A special weather bulletin issued late today gave the approximate position of the tropical disturbance, heading for the Texas gulf coast, to be in the gulf 100 miles east of Corpus Christi between Brownsville and Matagorda. Indications were that the storm was moving northwestward, and nearing the West Texas coast.

Meanwhile the tide was three and one-half feet above normal, but steady.

Reports establishing the position of the disturbance lead to belief that it would strike Matagorda bay upon which is located Port Lavaca.

Winds ranging around 25 miles per hour and coming from the northeast, continued to seep in here. There were occasional squalls.

Rainfall since 7 a. m. had totaled six inches.

The barometer stood at 29.84.

Will Stop at Abilene

DALLAS, June 27. (AP)—American Airways announced today that beginning Wednesday planes on its southern transcontinental line would stop at Abilene, on the Dallas-Los Angeles division, and at Monroe, La., on the Dallas-Atlanta division.

Quickening Financial Pulse Puts Cotton Market Two Cents Higher During Trade Activity Past Week

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Cotton's quickening financial pulse during the past week brought it two cents above the price morass into which it fell not long ago.

The average price of middling at 10 principal markets on June 26 was quoted at 9.78 cents, as compared to 8.21 on June 19 and 8.07 on June 12.

July future contracts for the week at New York advanced 150 points to 10.20, at New Orleans 148 points to 10.20 and 147 points to 10.27 at Chicago.

Much of the credit for the climb went, of course, to the general revival which accompanied debt and reparations moratorium proposals.

Some in the trade are still pessimistic and would not be surprised at substantial declines if the negotiations for the debt holiday are prolonged. They seem overbalanced, however, by those who feel that the staple is headed toward price regions where it belongs.

Weather Favorable

The week's weather over the belt was generally regarded as favorable but there were those who saw

Two Men Seriously Injured When Car On Davidson Good-Will Trip Turns Over on Grandfield Highway

GRANDFIELD, Okla., June 27.—Disaster overtook a Davidson goodwill trip, advertising the Fourth of July celebration in that city, late Saturday afternoon when one of the 13 cars making the trip overturned about four miles west of Grandfield.

Fred White, Davidson, was seriously injured and Cate Willimon, 17-year-old Davidson youth, was less seriously hurt. Richard Lamb, who was in the car with them, escaped with minor injuries. White and Willimon are in the Davidson hospital.

The accident occurred when a rear tire on White's car blew out and the car turned over several times, landing about 100 yards from the spot where the driver first lost control.

White is suffering from a severe head injury and internal injuries. Hospital attendants said his condition was critical.

The accident occurred on the return trip after the Davidson caravan has visited a number of southern Oklahoma towns inviting citizens of neighboring towns to attend the Independence day celebration at Davidson.

WICHITA LISTED ON ROUTING OF FORD AIR TOUR

Chamber Officials Doubt Correctness of Press Dispatches

DECISION AGAINST RAISING GUARANTEE

Noted Fliers Start Trip From Detroit on July 4

Chamber of commerce officials expressed uncertainty as to the correctness of press dispatches to The Times from Detroit Saturday night that Wichita Falls has been included on the itinerary of the Ford reliability air tour which departs from there July 4.

According to the itinerary contained in a United Press dispatch, the planes were to arrive here about noon on July 18 to remain until starting time the following morning.

However, according to information given here, chamber of commerce officials telegraphed the management of the tour that it had been unsuccessful in raising or in financing the approximately $1,000 which it would cost to bring the fliers here. At a conference with advance agents of the trip several weeks ago here, a group of chamber of commerce officials, members of the aviation committee of the chamber, city officials and aviation enthusiasts were informed that to bring the trippers here, a guarantee of $650 in addition to certain other expenses increasing the total to well over $1,000, would be required.

The itinerary as contained in the United Press dispatch follows:

July 4, noon stop, Windsor, Ont.; night stop, Leroy, N. Y. July 5, night, Binghamton, N. Y. July 6, night, Bradford, Penn. July 7, noon, Pittsburgh; night, Wheeling, W. Va. July 8, noon, Columbus, Ohio; night, Huntington, W. Va.. July 9, noon, Middlesborough, Ky.; night, Knoxville, Tenn. July 10, noon, Murfeesboro, Tenn.; night, Memphis. July 11, night, Birmingham, Ala. July 12, night, Montgomery, Ala. July 13, noon, Gulfport, Miss.; night, New Orleanes. July 14, night, Shreveport, La. July 15, night, Houston. July 16, noon, Corpus Christi; night, San Antonio. July 17, night, Fort Worth. July 18, night, Wichita Falls. July 19, noon, Oklahoma City; night, Ponca City. July 20, noon, Chanute, Kan.; night, Kansas City, Mo., July 21, night, Lincoln. July 22, night, Omaha. July 23, noon, St. Joseph, Mo.; night, Davenport, Iowa. July 24, noon, Joliet, Ill.; night, Kalamazoo, Mich. July 25, noon, Akron; end, Detroit.

Prepare for Start

DETROIT, June 27.(AP)—An itinerary leading through 17 eastern, middle western and southern states will attract more than 40 planes in the 1931 national air tour which leaves Detroit July 4 on a 21-day flight to determine the winner of the Edsel Ford reliability trophy.

Originally scheduled to proceed into Mexico as far as Mexico City, sponsors of the tour have announced cancellation of the Mexican route because of bad flying weather prevalent there during the scheduled time of flight. The route will extend from Michigan through Canada to New York state, into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, as far as Texas, then will lead northward through Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and back to Michigan, a total distance of more than 6,500 miles.

Serious Plight Family Of Nine Shows Need Milk-Ice Fund Here

When a family of nine must depend on a 17-year-old girl and her young brother, who does the work of a grown man, for a living, because the father is too crippled to leave his crutches long enough to work and the mother suffers frequent paralytic strokes, it's time for the group to request aid. But imagine the plight of the whole family when the girl recently had an attack of appendicitis that required an immediate operation!

This is a case reported by Mrs. Effie McHam, family relief secretary, who declared that she had to come to the rescue of the family at once with the aid of The Times and Record News Milk and Ice Fund. Mrs. McHam added that all the children in the family are under the age of 10 except the two above mentioned, and the smallest child is a tiny baby who recently was so ill that it probably would not be living now if she had not supplied it with milk and ice purchased by the fund.

A contribution of $5 from Saul's stores brought the total up to $156.50. Such donations are needed to maintain needly families like the one mentioned above.

Contributions may be sent to the Times Publishing company with the following coupon:

OIL OPERATORS AT DALLAS DISAGREE

pass laws to strengthen the power of the railroad commisison to enforce proration.

The entire controversy which was waged for weeks will be taken before the state railroad commission, which, under the law, has undertaken to administer orderly takings of oil from Texas fields. The railroad commission had called a meeting for Monday when the matter of fixing a new state-wide oil allowable was to be discussed.

Robert R. Penn, chairman of the central proration advisory committee, told the meeting that it was his opinion nothing could be done toward composing differences and he suggested that the railroad commission be appealed to to arbitrate the controversy.

He said that the only salvation for producers was to abide by whatever method of curbing production in the field the state agency adopted.

Lucey Takes Responsibility

Captain Lucey explained that he had called today's meeting on his own responsibility, hopeful that an agreement could be reached and East Texas operators present a solid front before the commission.

After the mass meeting adjourned he requested the East Texas advisory committee and the unit plan arbitration committee of which he was chairman to enter a conference.

Answering a question from Tom E. Cranfill, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, if he and his group opposed to the 300-barrel per well plan, proposed to appear before the railroad commission to fight its acceptance by that body, C. B. Roeser of Fort Worth said he intended to oppose uncompromisingly any plan that would increase production in the field to the figure he estimated that plan would boost it to.

Nazro told the meeting that his impression was that the per well allowable was at the present time the best idea for the field, since he felt it would be more generally accepted.

Cranfill said that he personally would not be before the railroad commission Monday, but said his organization only was concerned with an allowable that would not work against the best interests of the little producer. He said proration on a potential basis would do that, while acceptance of a per well allowable gave every well owner a fair and equal chance.

Will Meet Next Friday

Cranfill said the directors of his association would meet next Friday and that he would be governed by its actions. He expressed distaste for additional laws to govern the industry.

"You cannot bludgeon people into things by passing laws," he said.

E. L. Smith told the meeting he believed it was obvious a special session of the legislature would be called and advocated enactment of laws to force observance of any plan adopted.

B. O. Burford of the East Texas Refining company said the great need was not so much of a plan of orderly production as some means of enforcing it.

H. R. Dickerson, vice president of the Arkansas Fuel company, said his company would abide by any equitable plan to curb production provided it was lived up to by all operators. He said his company, however, would enter suit to enjoin the railroad commission from enforcing any plan that was not respected by all persons affected.

R. D. Parker, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, who observed the proceedings, told the meeting it was obvious to him that the operators were hopelessly divided.

He said he had no solution to offer but when the matter came before the railroad commission he was confident that body would consider all aspects of the situation and propose a plan it believed fair to all.

Brings Special Session Nearer

HOUSTON, June 27. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling said this afternoon the failure of oil operators, meeting in Dallas today, to reach an agreement as to limiting production seemed to "bring a special session of the legislature nearer and nearer, to me."

"While I have not heard all the details of the meeting," said the governor, "already since I have been here in Houston, oil men have come to me with new importunities that I call an extra session. The failure of the meeting will undoubtedly bring pressure for such a session."

"I am sorry the producers were unable to solve their problems and do the things it looks like real good oil men ought to be able to do."

Asked to make a statement concerning criticisms from some sources which had questioned the fairness of conservancy legislation for the oil indutry while agriculture was in bad condition, Governor Sterling said it should be recalled that the farmer was now the recipient of governmental and cooperative agency help.

He went on to say that the oil industry was not asking for appropriations, but merely for legislation to conserve natural resources.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH AT CLOVIS

dren whose names were not immediately available were in a field adjoining the house and were unharmed. They came in for lunch just in time to see their badly burned parents and sisters taken to the hospital.

Louise was attempting to fill the stove with gasoline when the explosion came.

The explosion threw the flaming liquid over members of the family in the kitchen. Mr. Williams dashed out of the house with Fay, an 8-year-old daughter, in his arms, and was followed by the rest of the family.

He then returned for the baby which had been left sitting in a high-chair in the kitchen. When he entered the house the door slammed shut behind him. In the smoke he was unable to find his way out, and laid the infant down to hunt for the door. He failed to find it, and becoming confused, couldn't locate the baby.

Finally Williams broke a window and plunged headlong through it, leaving the child behind. With virtually every inch of his skin seared and in almost unbearable pain, he old the story of the attempted rescue to hospital attendants this afternoon before he died.

VERDICT ACQUITTAL IN ARDMORE TRIAL

Will Demand Trials

Judge John B. Ogden, the 33-year-old jurist who presided at Guess' trial, expects to pass on remaining matters at 10 a. m. Monday. Guy Sigler of the defense counsel said trials would be demanded in both cases. No trial is expected immediately, however, the court's funds having been depleted.

Crosby has insisted on being tried. He is confident of exoneration.

Half dazed, Guess walked to the jury box when Judge Ogden had dismissed court and thanked each man. One, E. T. Foster, foreman, had worked much of the day in the face of news that his father was critically ill in Springfield, Mo.

"I want to say our county attorney (Markin Shilling) has been my friend but he handled by prosecution fair and square," said Guess. "I am glad he didn't lean toward me any."

Kisses Son and Wife

He kissed his 11-year-old son, Edgar, and his young wife.

"I was trying to discharge my duty to the best of my knowledge and I feel I was justified," said Guess. "I have never wanted to do anybody any bodily harm."

Sheriff Elmer Byrd said he did not know yet if Guess, who resigned his commission as a deputy sheriff, would go back to work. That, he said, would depend on the outcome of the other cases.

County Attorney Shilling previously had indicated no charges would be dismissed. He was to confer with other prosecutors.

An orderly crowd of 150—scarcely a handful as compared to the throngs that had packed the trial since Wednesday morning—heard the verdict.

Crosby also was the center of a congratulating crowd as soon as the verdict had been read.

The jury that acquitted him first voted 8 to 4 for acquittal. Members reported this afternoon they feared they could not agree, but Judge Ogden sent them back after learning their division was 11 to 1.

History of Case
(By United Press)

The slaying of Rubio and his college companion, Manuel Garcia Gomez, member of a prominent Mexican family, occurred about midnight, June 7, when the students, accompanied by Savaldor Cortes Rubio, stopped along a dark street here.

The youths were en route to Mexico from St. Benedict's college, Atchison, Kan., where they attended college last term.

Feeling Intense

The shootings aroused intense feeling in both the United States and Mexico where demonstrations of protest were made but no violence occurred. The situation was alleviated somewhat by a prompt apology from President Hoover to President Ortiz Rubio and by the quick action by Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma in demanding prosecution of the deputies.

The slain youths were given an elaborate funeral at Ardmore before being escorted home by special representatives of Governor Murray.

The chief point of contention in the trial was whether the youths threatened the deputies with guns which they had in their car and which were found on their bodies after the shooting. The burden of proving mitigating circumstances such as self-defense was thrown upon the shoulders of Judge Ogden.

Salvador Rubio, the only witness of the actual shooting and the chief state witness, testified the deputies did not identify themselves as officers. Guess and Crosby denied this.

Four witnesses testified they saw Guess remove a pistol from the pocket of Rubio after the youth had been slain.

The trial opened Wednesday and testimony was concluded at the end of the following day. The third day of the trial, yesterday, was occupied entirely by Judge Ogden's instructions to the jury and arguments of 10 attorneys.

The jury was reminded of the old Mosaic law of "an eye for an eye and a life for a life" in the impassioned pleadings of M. C. Gonzales, attorney for the Mexican consul general at San Antonio and representatives of the Rubio family.

"Emilio was shot under the arm with his hands raised in surrender a mortal sacrifice to an irresponsible officer who took advantage of the presence of guns on his victims to satiate the cravings of a killer," Gonzales declared.

"I know this jury will not crucify this American citizen upon the cross of international felicitation," Defense Attorney John Hodge argued.

"The youths committed suicide by their own indiscretion," Defense Attorney Tom Champion argued.

Cecil Crosby, who resigned with Guess when both were charged with murder in the deaths of the two youths, was to have gone on trial with Guess. He was granted a severance. Because Carter county funds were depleted, his trial, if it is held, will not be before September, County Attorney Marvin Schilling said.

Guess also may face another trial in the slaying of Gomez. He went on trial this time only in the slaying of Rubio.

Both officers protested Guess' right to shoot. They contended they thought they had come upon a car occupied with hijackers for which they had been searching.

"When I saw those guns, I thought of other Carter county officers who had been killed in similar circumstances and I fired. I fired from the hip," Guess testified in relating his version of the shootings.

Mexico City Indignant

MEXICO CITY, June 27. (AP)—News of the acquittal at Ardmore, Okla., today of former Deputy Sheriff William E. Guess, who shot and killed Emilio Cortes Rubio, nephew of the Mexican president, and Manuel Garcia Gomez on June 8, was received here tonight with indignation.

Genaro Asrada, foreign minister, was not available for comment, but attaches of the ministry described the news as "terrible." There was considerable comment in which the verdict was described as a "demonstration of American injustice."

Murray Comments

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (AP)—Advised tonight that a Carter county district court jury had acquitted W. E. Guess, former deputy sheriff charged with murdering Emilio Cortes Rubio, cousin of the president of Mexico, Gov. W. H. Murray said:

"I have done all I could in the case. The responsibility is not on me."

"I do not care to comment further."

The chief executive employed James M. Springer and W. H. Brown as special prosecutors in the case.

might turn and spend itself in the gulf.

"In general, high temperatures will continue Saturday night and Sunday in the north central states," the weather man said.

The number of persons who died from heat prostration or who drowned while trying to get relief in lakes and rivers grew rapidly. Chicago counted 12 deaths Saturday despite the fact that a lake breeze kept the temperature below 90 most of the day. Twelve additional deaths were scattered over Illinois. Eight new heat deaths and three additional drownings were reported in Wisconsin, and a dozen more in Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri.

Serious damage was done to the oats crop in Illinois and Iowa. Oats were in the "milk" stage and were being prevented from proper development by the continued high temperatures.

The hot sun sent corn stalks shooting upward but serious fears were felt for that crop if there were no rain soon. Crops experts said the subsoil moisture reserve was short this season.

South Dakota was a hot spot again with Sioux City registering 100 at 2 o'clock, Huron 102 and Pierre and Mitchell 105.

Temperatures of around 100 degrees were general throughout the Southwest and in Iowa and Southern Illinois.

LAMESA CLASS A GOLF TEAM PLAYS BIG SPRING

LAMESA, Texas, June 27.—The class A players of the local golf ladder will play the class A team of Big Spring on the latter's course Sunday afternoon for standing in the Sand Belt Golf association. This is the second engagement between these two teams. Frank Rose, captain of the local team, will appear in the starting lineup, and likely will be matched against Bristow, famous West Texas golfer of Big Spring.

The agriculture department reported them as 3,109,000 tons, a decrease of 30 per cent from last year and the lowest since 1920. The department added that most of the fertilizer sales occur before the end of May, explaining that the figures gave a good indication of the decrease in the use of fertilizer.

Few complaints of weevil damage appeared in private reports, although there was the usual report of infestation. The high temperatures over the belt did the pest no good. The department said that the crop in Texas, where approximately 25 per cent of the staple is grown, made good progress. The plants were reported small and two weeks late, however. Rainfall, the weather bureau said, was local in character. More moisture generally distributed would help, although the situation has as yet caused no particular concern.

The department reported exports for the week ending June 26 at 48,383 bales, as compared to 44,103 bales for the corresponding week last season.

Exports from Aug. 1 to June 26 have climbed to 6,500,000 bales, approximately the same quantity for the corresponding period last season.

PRESIDENT'S DEBT SUSPENSION PLAN HANGS IN BALANCE

HOPES FOR ACCEPTANCE WITHOUT RESERVATIONS

Sole Reliance Placed on Mellon in Role of Master Diplomat

WASHINGTON, June 27. (US)—President Hoover's plan for a one year suspension of all war debt payments hung in the balance today, it was admitted at the White House where the president denied himself to all callers and kept the long distance telephone between Paris and the capital open. Hope was held that France would accept the proposal without reservations.

The situation was so delicate, however, that the president postponed his week-end trip to the Rapidan camp in Virginia until he could get some definite word from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Paris. His invited guests went to the camp without him, as did Mrs. Hoover.

There was grave question whether the president would accept any counter proposal of the French government which would fail to relieve Germany by permitting her to suspend all reparations payments for one year.

Relies on Mellon

The president is placing his sole reliance on Secretary Mellon, occupying the unique position of master financier and diplomat extra-ordinary, who is now in conference with Premier Laval in France, it was stated.

The American representative has instructions to hold to the letter of the president's orginal plan that all reparations as well as all debt payments be suspended. The French premier, on his part, has the edict of his parliament to keep the Young plan alive and make Germany deposit a portion of her reparations in the bank in international settlements—the allied bank for administering reparations.

The president is placed in the delicate position, it was stated of having won the support of congressional leaders of both parties to a complete moratorium for one year on all war debts. He has not asked them to pledge themselves to the compromise plan which the French are now offering.

Two-Hour Conference

The French counter proposal, it was viewed here, would completely destroy the intent of the plan outlined by the president.

The first break in the monotonous waiting came late in the afternoon when President Hoover received a report on the French situation from Secretary Mellon. The president immediately called Acting Secretary of State Castle and Acting Secretary of the Treasury Mills into a conference, which lasted for two hours.

However, none of those in the conference with the president would make any statement as to the contents of the report. Expectation was expressed that eventually an agreement will be reached.

While no statement was given out, it was understood that Secretary Mellon had submitted a report of his preliminary talk with Premier Laval, outlining the extent the French government is willing to go in the way of a compromise.

It was definitely stated that it will probably be early next week before an announcement of any kind can be made.

JUDGE DISQUALIFIES IN CASES GROWING OUT OF PICHER BANK FAILURE

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—District Judge Dennis H. Wilson of Miami today agreed to disqualify in the cases pending for trial July 6, growing out of the failure of the bank of Picher.

A. M. Gaines, J. M. Gaines and E. H. Wolff, three former officials of the bank, had filed a petition in the criminal court of appeals seeking a mandamus to force Wilson's disqualification. They had alleged he was biased in the case.

The petition was dismissed when Wilson notified the court he would voluntarily disqualify. A trial judge will be assigned by the governor.

He declares the Bible is the text of science and his philosophy is that the greatest study of man is man and that we should know our bodies as Henry Ford knows his engine.

EMPLOYE OF OIL COMPANY DIES RESULT OF INJURIES

SAPULPA, Okla., June 27. (UP)—Merle Robinson, employe of the Mid-Kansas Oil company, died in a Bristow hospital today as the result of injuries received last night when the car in which he was riding overturned on a road 10 miles north of Bristow.

Two companions, Richard Assid and Gene Robinson, were injured. Assid may lose sight of one eye. The men were returning to Bristow after attending an American Legion meeting at Oilton.

REGISTER SHEET OF PAPER VALUED AT SEVEN MILLION

AUSTIN, June 27.—A sheet of paper whose face value is $7,000,000, has been presented to the state department for registration, and officially registered.

It is a bond of the Orient railroad.

The law requires railroad companies to secure authority from the railroad commission before registering its security. The Orient presented an order authorizing the bond's registry.

TOM PICKETT TO CARRY BOWIE KNIFE, WINCHESTER AND PAIR REVOLVERS IN LEGION PARADE

By FRED L. HASKETT

Tom Pickett, oldtime cowboy and peace officer, and one of the few two-gun men living, is to take part in the great parade to be held in Wichita Falls on the morning of July 4th.

Tom Pickett was a peace officer in Wichita county for many years and saw service during the days when men were bad and bold, as well as quick on "fanning" a forty-five. He is proud of his record as an officer but regrets some of the things that had to happen. Yes, he has several notches on his gun, but today is not proud or boastful of them.

It was on March 27, 1881, that Pickett came to Wichita county. He was born in a village 10 miles south of Fort Worth May 8, 1859. He was elected constable of the Electra precinct in 1883 and was a peace officer from that time on to 1912. He served 14 years as a constable, was a night watchman in Wichita Falls, a deputy sheriff and a deputy United States marshal.

Pickett participated in a number of gun battles with bad men. One of the most noted of his fights was with the famous outlaw sheriff of Motley county, Joe Beckham. Beckham, while serving as sheriff and tax collector of Motley county, was charged by indictment with making away with county funds. Beckham was succeeded by Bill Cook as sheriff. Beckham's trial was to have been held at Seymour.

Lawyers and officers from Matador and Childress went to the trial and as Sheriff Bill Cook stepped from the platform of a passenger coach, with the county records in a wheat sack over his shoulders, Beckham came from behind the railroad depot at Seymour and killed Cook. Beckham made his escape upon a horse, which was tied near the station.

Organizes Gang

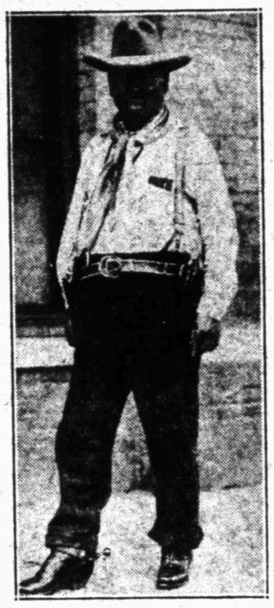

Beckham, prior to killing Cook at Seymour, had shot at him at Childress, using a short-barrel saddle Winchester.

After the slaying of Cook a running fight was made towards the Red river and Beckham escaped into the Big Pasture, where he quickly organized a gang of outlaws. His first appearance on the Texas side of the river was made at the store of Alf Bailey in Wilbarger county. This was on December 25, 1895.

Bailey offered no resistance, therefore his life was spared, but the fact that he recognized Beckham resulted in the death of the outlaw leader and the disbanding of his gang.

It was known that Beckham had a strong fort in a dugout near where the city of Frederick now stands. After robbing Bailey's store the gang made for this dugout, closely pursued by Tom Pickett and a number of state rangers under command of Capt. Bill McDonald of Quanah. An all-night fight took place. Snow was on the ground and it was bitterly cold. During the early hours of the morning firing ceased from the dugout.

Tom Pickett and the Rangers decided to rush the stronghold. They came up from every side but were not fired upon. The door of the dugout was found open. Joe Beckham was dead but members of the gang had made their escape in the darkness.

This fight ended the last big battle between peace officers and organized outlaws in this section of Texas and Oklahoma. A few fights took place later, but they were further west.

Beckham was killed with bullets from a .38-caliber gun, and guns of this caliber were used by Tom Pickett, Johnnie Williams of Vernon and C. M. Moss. These three officers were indicted at Anadarko, Okla. A picture of Beckham's body and guns is among the collection of old-time pictures owned by Lester Jones of Wichita Falls.

Moves to King County

Pickett has shot a number of men and each time in line of duty. He does not care to discuss those things or the number who received mortal wounds. He was with his life-time friend and companion, Burk Burnett, when there was a shooting at Paducah. He loved his departed friend and comrade and today says the world will never see another cowman who knew so much about horses and cattle as did Burk Burnett.

A few years ago Pickett moved from Wichita Falls to King county, where he was given a position on the 6666 ranch, belonging now to the estate of the late S. B. Burnett. He was elected commissioner of precinct 3, which position he has held for 13 years. His ranch home is 12 miles west of Knox City, his postoffice.

Pickett's family came from Kentucky to Texas in the early days. He met his wife in Coon Flat, east of Whitesbdro, Grayson county. When he was 16 years old he joined the Baptist church. He was married Dec. 4, 1879, and his life-long companion and helpmate passed away May 29, 1931. Two children are living, Mrs. George Dobson, a daughter, of Wichita Falls, and another daughter, Mrs. C. W. Porter of Fort Worth. He has seven grand children.

Tom Pickett now, in the slang of Billy Sunday, is "walking the sawdust trail." For many years his church letter was never presented to another church but Sunday two weeks ago he deposited the letter with a little Baptist church near his ranch headquarters in King county.

"I have lived a life that has been full of hardships, and I have done things that I regret," says Tom Picket. "I have fired first to save my life. My only thought now is to live a clean life and meet that good woman of mine who is in Heaven.

Advice to Officers

"I do want to say this to the young men who are peace officers: A thief will kill you if he thinks that necessary to make his escape. Be alert and use good judgment, but never let a crook get the drop on you."

While in Wichita Falls a few days ago Tom Pickett called on his old friend, Frank Burns, chief of police, and while at the police station kindly consented to be photographed. Pickett will appear in the American Legion parade mounted and will use his ranch saddle. Slung across the skirt will be his old and trusty saddle gun, a Winchester. Above his hips will show the white handles of his two old pals, Colts .45-caliber—a gun that oldtime officers worshipped.

WINDTHORST SENDS RACING TERRAPINS FOR LEGION DERBY

Five racing terrapins from Windthorst have been entered in the derby to be staged at Athletic park as part of the American Legion festivities on Independence day. Entries have also been made from Henrietta and Iowa Park and a fast field seems assured for the race.

Any one purchasing a ticket is eligible to enter his own terrapin if he desires, but for the benefit of the many who do not own racing reptiles the legion is buying 900 terrapins at a price of three cents each. Boys who have turtles to sell should deliver them Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday at Dr. L. I. Lucey's dog kennels on the Henrietta road.

George Wiest, city fireman who was in the navy during the world war, reported Saturday that his speedy terrapin, Man of War, considered a favorite in early betting, had developed a charlie horse on his off hind leg and might not be in shape to run on the day of the event.

WOMAN GIVEN DIVORCE AFTER TWO-YEAR WAIT FOR CHRISTMAS GIFT

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Charles Proctor didn't go home Christmas eve, 1928.

On Christmas day, he rushed in, exclaiming:

"My goodness, I forgot your present."

So saying, he rushed out. And hasn't come back yet.

Mrs. Proctor, believing two and a half years is ample time for any one to buy a present, obtained her divorce yesterday.

Charge Man With Cursing Children In Front of Home

Three women and seven children descended upon the county attorney's office Saturday afternoon to swear out a complaint against a Wichita Falls man charging him with disturbing the peace and using obscene and indecent language.

According to the story told L. V. Abernathy, county attorney, by the children, a group of them who were returning home from a party Friday evening were cursed and chased by a drunken man when they refused to come to his front door when he called out to them as they passed in front of his house.

COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS ADJOURNS UNTIL OCTOBER

AUSTIN, June 27. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals adjourned today until October.

During the past nine months members of the court had written 1,171 opinions. Nine hundred and fifteen of these were original opinions and the others were on motions for rehearing.

Two hundred and twenty-seven cases had been carried over from the previous term. When the court adjourned today no disposition had been made of 147 cases which had been filed too late for submission, 26 cases under submission, 30 motions for rehearing under submission and 20 motions for rehearing unsubmitted.

Eight hundred and twenty-seven cases were filed during the term.

ONE OF THREE FREED ON FORGED PAROLES LOSES COURT APPEAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—Eddie Dowden, one of the three convicts at the state penitentiary freed on forged paroles, lost his appeal in the criminal court of appeals today.

The court held him a fugitive from justice and canceled the appeal. Cowden was convicted in Wagoner county and sentenced to 25 years in the Coweta bank robbery. The other two men freed on the spurious paroles have been arrested.

The court reversed the conviction of Ed Marple in Jackson county, where he was fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail on a liquor possession charge. The court held the arrest was made without proper warrants.

Series of Home Harmony Radio Programs Here

First of a series of six home harmony programs, each one including a talk by a nationally known authority on home arrangement and decoration, will be heard from station KGKO next Wednesday at 2:45 p. m. The series is presented as part of the station's contribution toward better and more livable home conditions. Each program will occupy 15 minutes, with appropriate music.

Nell Howard Enloe

"Color, Comfort and Charm in the Living Room" is the subject of the first talk, to be given by Nell Howard Enloe, editor of the home bureau of Pictorial Review magazine. She will give a number of practical suggestions for adding new charm to the living room, "the heart of the modern home." In her seven minute talk she will explain how the room furnishings and decoration can be made harmonious, correct and hospitable.

The Home Harmonizers, directed by Robert Hood Powers, will play "Blue Heaven" and "The Love Nest" during the program.

DIGGS AND MARSHALL CONDUCTING REVIVAL MEET NORTH WICHITA

Harold Diggs, 21-year-old pastor of the North Side Baptist church, and Bill Marshall, 23-year-old pastor of the Dundee Baptist church, are conducting open air revival services in North Wichita at Houston and Jefferson streets.

This is the second annual evangelistic campaign in that part of the city to be conducted by the two young men. Mr. Diggs does the preaching, and Mr. Marshall is song leader and soloist.

Both of the young preachers are members of the First Baptist church, of which Dr. O. L. Powers is pastor. They are also students in the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary at Fort Worth.

Mr. Marshall is being assisted by Misses Mildred Anderson, Lois Baber, Fernetta Foley, gospel pianists. Services begin promptly at 8:15 every evening.

WESTERN UNION TO SELL EXPRESS MONEY ORDERS

To meet the constant demand of Wichita Falls residents for a money order to be mailed or sent by methods other than the telegraph, the local Western Union office will begin the sale Wednesday of American Express money orders, it was announced Saturday by E. E. Louderback, local manager of the telegraph company.

Western Union main and branch offices in all parts of the United States will inaugurate the service at the same time. Offices of the American Express company will act as branches of Western Union in the sale of telegrams, cablegrams and telegraphic money orders.

Unwise Suggestion

MONTREAL.—Steve Balagh, a Hungarian laborer, thought he was sick. He appealed to Louis Vackez, assistant Hungarian consul, and Louis had Steve treated by a number of doctors. They told Louis that Steve just imagined he was sick. Louis suggested that Steve see an "autosuggestion" specialist. Steve got mad at the suggestion and stabbed Louis. He's in the cooler now undergoing a different kind of treatment.

NEARLY 4,000 USE PARK FACILITIES HERE DURING WEEK

In spite of the hot weather last week, park attendance did not decrease, according to a report from the park department, given Saturday.

The report is as follows: Scotland, 1,068; Myles O'Reilly, 790; Grant street, 250; Bellevue, 495; and Sixth street, 406. Scotland wading pool had an attendance of 520 and O'Reilly had 429. A total of 3,938 used the parks during the past week.

Washers was the leading game last week. The winners were Joe Adams and Daniel Bergolofsky from Sixth street.

Miss Thelma Bridges of the Sixth street park is planning a field meet at her park Tuesday morning. Those attending all the parks are invited to participate in the meet. The events will be announced later.

BURKBURNETT REVIVAL MEETING DRAWS CROWD

The Burkburnett meeting under the leadership of Rev. J. E. Montgomery is growing with interest and power each evening. All the available seats have been used since the opening night of the revival. A fine spirit of fellowship and cooperation is being manifested on the part of all the churches of Burkburnett. This was especially noticeable Thursday evening when six of the local Burkburnett pastors were present in the meeting.

The music has been a special feature throughout the revival under the leadership of B. D. Sartin. The meeting place is in the Buster Morgan building formerly occupied by the Barros-Grace Chevrolet company on Main street.

REMEDY SUGGESTED BY AL E. SMITH

the needs of the government with respect to personnel, service, maintenance and operation and expansion of plant and equipment. After the bureau of the budget has interviewed the various cabinet officers and department heads and bureau officials, the bureau should prepare an appropriation bill. This bill should be submitted to congress shortly after it convenes and be known as the president's bill making appropriation for the support of government. Congress thereafter should be empowered to reduce items in the bill but not increase them. Further power should be delegated to congress to add separate new items or make increases in existing items so that they may be subject to the veto of the president. Congress should thereafter retain the power to pass them over the president's veto by a two-thirds vote of each house.

This places the responsibility for the fiscal operations of government departments and bureaus directly in the hands of the president, where it belongs. It takes no power from congress but it does severely regulate the manner and method by which congress is to appropriate public money. It will prevent logrolling, back-scratching and the various other forms of compromise by which items not desired by the president and not necessary for the conduct of the public business find their way into the various appropriation bills. It will increase the interest of the average member of congress in the appropriation bills as they affect not single states or single departments but the whole United States. I believe that a most desirable thing to do.

If congress believes that an activity of the government should be extended against the advice and judgment of the president let the congress defend its position rather than put the president in a position to be obliged to take their position against his own better judgment, as is now the case. If as I said in a previous article the president can cut 38 million dollars off from one department, and 25 millions from another, after appropriations had been made, certainly no member of congress can make a defense of the present method of appropriating public money. The present method may have been all right when the United States was half the size in population of the city of greater New York today. But when the appropriations for the support of the government in a single year reach into billions of dollars, you cannot use the old antiquated and wornout method of a hundred years ago of making that money available any more than a full grown man could make use of his first communion suit.

I fully appreciate that this suggestion will provoke argument and I expect the larger part of it will come from those who have a personal and individual satisfaction with the present method. Nothing, however, herein suggested deprives any member of congress of his right to urge publicly the needs of governmental service in his particular district. But it will prevent him from being able to meet these needs, and satisfying nothing except a small constituency where, in the opinion of expert advice, such activity may not be in the interest of general public welfare.

Following the suggestion of the president that certain army posts be eliminated after provision had been made for their maintenance for this and the new fiscal year, a headline in a paper read "Hoover Economy Program Arouses Members of Congress in the Districts Involved." Certainly after the money has once been appropriated to the army posts which must and do bring business to a locality, withholding that money from the channels of trade of that particular district is bound to arouse opposition.

Scientific study and research by a budget bureau which could demonstrate that there was no necessity for certain army posts would put individual congressmen in the position of not being able to combat successfully the results of scientific study and research. The old saying is "Possession is nine-tenths of the law." After a given district has had an army post for years and appropriation has been made for it, it is pretty hard to do away with the post. But a good, forceful, vigorous and intelligent explanation to congress that there was no need for that particular army post may induce congress to refrain from making the appropriation for its continuance. The individual congressman from the district would have his day in court. He can offer his amendment to the bill. If congress in its wisdom then chooses the scientific explanation proving the lack of necessity, as against his desire to serve his constituency, he can go home with the satisfaction of being able to say to his people that he did all he could. But once the appropriation has been made, congress has decided it and it is difficult to explain to the people why it should not be continued.

I am at a loss to understand how this economy works after appropriation has been made. If for instance the congress of the United States in an enactment by law approved by the president makes provision for the extension of Ft. Lincoln in North Dakota, how can that particular fort be closed unless the appropriation is in a lump sum? If it is, that is all budget procedure in the first instance and it should be up to the officials of the army to show that Fort Lincoln is required for the operation of the armed forces of the government. If it is not, no appropriation should be made directly to it nor should any lump sum be set aside for its maintenance. If the senator from North Dakota desires to have included an appropriation for the further maintenance of Fort Lincoln such appropriation should be put in the bill in such a way as provided in my suggestion: Congress having the power to pass over the president's veto by a two-thirds vote—if in his opinion and in the opinion of the budget bureau it is required.

When the secretary of war asked for these appropriations he must have thought that the government needed all these army posts. I think it goes without saying that no member of congress made any individual study as to the necessity for Fort Lincoln. That, however, could be studied by experts in the bureau of the budget. I say it in no spirit of criticism but I state it because I believe it to be a fact. Very few members of congress know anything at all about Fort Lincoln or how necessary it is to the operations of the army.

Summed up in a few words I believe that the responsibility for the fiscal operations of the government should in the first instance be placed upon the president to the extent of making the recommendations. A suitable machinery should be set up by constitutional law to allow congress to make its suggestions with respect to these appropriations. The president should have the power to veto not only whole bills as now obtains, but parts of appropriations. Congress should have the ultimate and final power to make the appropriations, provided enough votes are available. No opposition to this can come from anybody who wants orderly procedure in the government and the elimination of the waste, extravagance and burden upon the taxpayer which grow out of the present antiquated, wornout, threadbare way of conducting the business affairs of the national government.

SPEAKING OF MONUMENTS

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Awful lot in the papers last week or so about Mr. Hoover and Mr. Coolidge joint appearance at the Harding Memorial. Mr. Hoover put over the best speech. He come right out and said something, told how Mr. Harding had been imposed upon by his own friends, which of course was the absolute truth. But Mr. Coolidge, you wouldent get him coming out declaring anything as definite as that. Course Calvin made a good old straightaway, just what you would expect a Politician to say of any of his own Party, touched on Politics of course, and told what the Republican Party had accomplished under Mr. Harding. Even in death they got to give the Grand Old Party a Boost. But Mr. Hoover really touched on his humanness, and then when he brought out so strong about how his friends had imposed why that was a fine and rather a brave thing for a Politician to do. Course its exactly what a Man in real life would do. But when you are in Politics and depending on somebody to keep you in, why you really aint able to act like real life. It must have been a mighty nice affair.

Marion is a pretty little City. They say the Aeroplanes was flying over head so much that you couldent hear the speeches, and it annoyed Mr. Hoover and Mr. Coolidge very much. What is it that makes a Guy that can fly wait till a bunch of people gather some place and then start in showing them that he can fly? They look like they just wait till a crowd gather to reherse. Its generally some advertising scheme. Well if they can read the add, I would think that its ill effects on the crowd would more than offset the good. If they were advertising "Three Strikes you are out Cigarets" over a gathering, I believe people would go right out of there and ask for "Foul Tip Cigarets" purposelly, even if they dident smoke, just to get even with the add.

Of course what this whole trip of Mr. Hoovers was, was the opening Chorus of the 1932 Follies. Politicians will use any means to get their cause launced. A Funeral, or a Commemoration, or a Christening, any occasion that looks important, why they will deicde to launch along with the Chaplins benedictions, "some of the promises of what the future holds in store for you if you are just wise enough to retain the incumbrent."

Then they dug up another monument, or re-painted an old one or something over in Illinois. This one was to Abraham Lincoln, another Republican. Guess Mr. Hoover just said, "Well lets do all this monument Circuit at once. Get em all dedicated on one trip."

By the way I was supposed to dedicate a Monument one time. It was down home in Oklahoma, in fact I think it was on the Capitol Grounds at Oklahoma City. It was a kind of cowboy affair that some Lady had built and asked in the deed to it, to the State that I be the one to present it to Statue Lovers of my Commonwealth. Well I was all excited and trying to learn a speech that would git a good Statue. You see I was handicapped.

I had no Politics to put over at the occasion, I wasent going to run for a thing, so that naturally dident leave me much leeway in the way of a speech. I had to confine myself almost practically to Art, and Statue and Oklahoma. None of the three which have anything in common with each other. Well I was digging and studying getting ready to fly back and do the honors (secretly hoping that they would have a barbecue in connection with it, so I could do something natural) and Lo and behold what happens? Well there was a big Tarpoleon spread over it, and it had been there ever since it had been there, just waiting for me unveiling. Well one of those Oklahoma Cyclones come along, (Chamber of Commerce of Oklahoma kicks on that last statement kindly send stamped envelops). Well this wind hit the Statue and the old "Tarp" wouldent hold, she was strapped on with a "Squaw Hitch" instead of a "Diamond" and away she blew. The tarp landed in Alfalfa Bill Murrays house down south (before he was Governor) and it come in mighty handy as bed clothes, for Bill sleeping mighty close to the boards about then. So the wind was really a public benefaction, and they wired me immediately on receipt of the cyclone there, "Dont come. Another Big Wind has beat you to the unveiling, and did it in one tenth of the time it woud have taken you to blow it off." Well I dont know when I ever felt so non-plussed.

Jury Out Less Than Two Hours Finds Play Boy Son of Massachusetts Solon Guilty of Strangling Nurse to Death

NEWPORT, R. I., June 27. (US)—Elliott R. Hathaway, 28-year-old son of a Massachusetts legislator, was found guilty today of the murder of Verna E. Russell.

A jury that for three weeks heard the state's evidence that he strangled the 20-year-old Truesdale hospital nurse, reached its verdict after one hour and 40 minutes of deliberation.

Under Rhode Island laws, life imprisonment is mandatory under the verdict.

Hathaway, brought into court by a deputy sheriff, received the verdict calmly. His head was thrown back and his rather handsome face was pale as he stared at the foreman of the jury.

Entering the courtroom, the half smile that he has worn throughout most of the trial, made its appearance. It faded quickly when he was ordered to stand.

In answer to the formal question by the clerk of court, Jury Foreman Ernest R. Fish, a farmer of Portsmouth, home of the dead girl and once the employer of her brother, said the jury had reached a verdict.

"Guilty," said the foreman. "Guilty in the first degree."

Hathaway turned his gaze to the wall above the heads of the 12 working men who had so quickly decided his fate.

"The prisoner is remanded to the Providence county jail to await sentence," said Judge Walsh.

Under the law seven days must elapse in which motions can be filed by the defense before sentence is pronounced.

Carl E. Russell, father of the slain girl relaxed only for a moment from the stoicism that has marked his bearing since the day three months ago when he viewed her body in the lonely Tiverton lane.

He commented only briefly with a wry smile, "I thought all along he would be found guilty."

What a Fish Story!

SANTA ROSA, Calif.—The call of well-stocked fishing streams isn't so loud any more since Clark Mailer started catching fish on top of the courthouse. Mailer was watching a plumber repair a large water storage tank on top of the building when he saw three black bass swimming in it. He got a net and secured the trio. It is believed the fish were drawn into the tank through the water mains.

DELAY FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS OF J. H. LARMON

Funeral arrangements for J. H. Larmon, 56, former resident of Wichita Falls for 15 years, still awaited the arrival of out of town relatives Saturday night, although it was expected that they would be held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Larmon died in a hospital at Dalhart, Texas, Sunday as a result of injuries received when he fell from a building on which he was working at Boyce City, Texas, as a carpenter. Mr. Larmon moved to Boyce City about two years ago.

Surviving are five sons, H. D. and F. H. Larmon of San Antonio; Henry Larmon of New York City; R. R. Larmon of Washington, D. C., and James Larmon of Boyce City.

EXAMINATION OF FALL COMPLETED BY ARMY DOCTORS

EL PASO, Texas, June 27. (AP)—The physical examination of Albert B. Fall was completed at William Beaumont hospital here today but no report on the findings of the army physicians was made public.

The former secretary of the interior went to the government institution one week ago to determine whether he was able to go to Washington for commitment to jail for a year.

It was explained the hospital physicians would make a detailed report of the examination, which Fall termed the "most thorough in my life," to the surgeon general of the army at Washington.

Fall had only the friendliest words for the men who conducted the examination, saying they attempted to make him comfortable in every way and had succeeded. At the same time, he said he would be "mighty glad" to return to his El Paso residence and probably would do so later in the day.

Asked for a statement, he said: "Well, the government told me to come out here and be examined. I've done that. Now I'm as much interested in the result as anyone."

The government requested the examination by army physicians after four private physicians of El Paso had said Fall was suffering from chronic pleurisy with tendencies toward pneumonia and was physically unable to go to Washington.

Fall was given a sentence of a year in jail and $100,000 fine on conviction of accepting a bribe from E. L. Doheny, oil man in return for a lease on Elk Hills California naval oil reserves.

CENTURY LINE EXECUTIVE TO BE HERE SOON

Although the weather conditions caused a change in routing of a fleet of Century Air line planes from Chicago to the Pacific coast, chamber of commerce officials received word here Saturday that W. F. Bliss, assistant general manager of operations of the line, will be here in about 10 days en route to Chicago on the return trip.

Mr. Bliss advised the chamber several days ago that the Century interests plan to establish their projected Dallas to Chicago service by way of Wichita Falls on or before July 15, and he is to return to Chicago along the planned route. Present plans are to give a service of at least three 12-passenger, tri-motored Stinson planes each way each day at fares less than railroad passenger rates, Mr. Bliss also advised.

Original plans were to fly the fleet of planes to the Pacific coast by way of Wichita Falls. Weather reports, however, caused the change in plans, Mr. Bliss telegraphed.

OFFICERS OF O. E. S. TO VISIT IOWA PARK

IOWA PARK, Texas, June 27.—A call meeting of the Iowa Park chapter of the Order of Eastern Star has been announced from Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting is called to welcome four state officers of the order who will visit the chapter that day.

Disosway Home From West Point First Furlough

Gabriel Disosway, Wichita Falls youth who left here more than two years ago to accept an appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point, arrived home Thursday to visit his mother, Mrs. W. F. Disosway.

Cadets are not granted a furlough until they have completed two years of work at the academy Disosway's furlough commenced on his 21st birthday, June 11.

He flew to Dallas from Washington, D. C., in an army bombing plane, piloted by Major Hanley. They flew by way of Dayton and St. Louis, leaving the latter place at 8 a. m. and arriving in Dallas at 4 p. m.

Cadet Disosway is scheduled to report back to West Point about Aug. 21 and has been granted permission to fly back to Washington in another army plane.

The young Wichitan expects to take up a special course in areonautics after completing the regular four-year course at West Point.

He will be remembered by horseshoe pitching enthusiasts as the city champion of Wichita Falls several years ago. Last summer when the cadets went into camp for several weeks Disosway proved that he was still a master at the game and was camp champion.

Not So Blind

BALTIMORE.—Mossback Murray, 73, walked down a main street tapping his cane carefully on the sidewalk. Murray, it was thought, was blind. Patrolman William Ryan followed the old fellow to see that he encountered no difficulty in crossing the street. Murray started to cross just when a traffic light turned from green to red. He came back to the curb. Ryan got suspicious and followed him to the next light. The same thing occurred. Ryan arrested Murray and the judge opened his eyes with a sensence to the house of correction.

BANKING DEPARTMENT OF NEW JERSEY CLOSES BIG TRUST COMPANY

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 27. (US)—The Steneck Trust company of Hoboken with deposits estimated at $10,000,000 was closed today by the New Jersey state banking and insurance department.

This action was followed by the gathering of more than 400 excited depositors before the building at 95 River street. A number of women collapsed and were taken away in ambulances. Angry men fought with their fists against the special police guard hurriedly called to protect the doors and windows.

Times' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher edueation to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek. Third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

CROSS PLAINS GETS HOSPITABLE

Residents of Cross Plains, Texas, have cabled King Alfonso of Spain, inviting him to come and make his home in that community. Nothing will come of the invitation, of course, except some not overly valuable publicity for Cross Plains.

The trouble with inviting ex-kings to this country is that they couldn't bring the contents of their wine cellars with them, and they wouldn't come without them. Losing one's job as king is bad enough without moving to a country where there is nothing to drink except corn whisky.

THE SPUDDERS' DUTY

The duty of the Spudders, now that the magnates have voted to rub out and start over, is to win the second half of the season and then administer a proper drubbing to the team that tops the percentage column at the close of the first half.

We are not as hopeful of a pennant, under that plan, as we would be if the season were not split. The split season idea has been unkind to the Spudders. Twice it has deprived them of pennants when they had shown themselves the best team in the race. Just now, after a lousy start early in the season, they are playing as good baseball as any team in the league. Wichita Falls hopes they will make the most of the opportunity the split gives them. Not so many weeks ago the idea of their having even an outside chance would have brought a laugh. Now they are contenders. Perhaps they will prove equal to the task of overcoming the split season jinx.

MR. FORD'S INDUSTRIAL VISION

The industrial vision which Henry Ford has conjured, of a system under which the interdependence of farm and factory would be recognized, is basically sound. It has its Utopian aspects and like most visions that partake of Utopia, it is decidedly revolutionary. Ford's idea involves factory communities, surrounded by farms from which the factories' raw materials are drawn. There would be a definite interlock, especially as to labor. For example, the same individual who planted, cultivated and picked cotton in the spring and summer would, in the winter, operate the spindles that turned the staple into fabric.

Today, Texas ships much of its wheat to Kansas City and Minneapolis and then buys flour from the mills in those cities. Much of the cotton cloth that it uses is spun and woven in North Carolina and New England. Such economic anomalies would disappear, under the Ford plan.

Food would be an incidental product of the farm, according to Ford. The farm's chief function would be to provide the raw material for the things that mankind wears, builds with, rides in and amuses itself with. The industrial center with its squalor and congestion, would disappear.

It is a pretty picture and a more plausible one than appears at first glance. No student of the existing scheme can fail to note its defects, its inequalities, its anomalities and the ailments, such as periodic unemployment, that afflict it. The Ford idea does not, of course, contain the remedy for all the present-day economic ills; but it seems to hold the promise of betterment.

A man is being sued for divorce because he put pepper in his wife's powder. And did she get red!

THE LOTTERY'S RECRUDESCENCE

The spread of pool-selling, a form of lottery basis on horse race results, has become so marked in this country that the postoffice department is launching an energetic campaign against it. It is against the federal law not only to sell, or offer for sale, lottery tickets by mail, but to use the mails in any way in connection with such schemes. Where lottery tickets are sold without using the mails, the matter becomes one for state authorities.

Judging from press reports, a great many more Americans are buying lottery tickets these days, The postoffice department is criticising papers for publishing reports of large winnings.

The lottery is very far from being a new thing in this country. In the era following the revolution, it was widely used. Funds were raised for building schools, roads and even churches, by the sale of lottery tickets. There are buildings at both Harvard and Yale that were financed through lottery schemes.

The Louisiana lottery was perhaps the best known. In 1868 it was granted a state monopoly for 25 years, agreeing to pay $40,000 annually into the state treasury. When the 25-year period ended, it vainly sought a renewal, eventually offering $1,250,000 per year. But the governor vetoed the bill, and the enactment of federal legislation forbidding the use of the mails to lottery promoters put a quietus to the Louisiana scheme.

The lottery still flourishes in many Latin countries. The public is told of the few who win. It is told nothing of the thousands who lose.

A publication of no less standing that the Outlook recently advocated the establishment of an American lottery, declaring that the public might as well profit from the gambling instinct as endeavor futilely to put a stop to it. There is no danger, of course, of the Outlook's idea being accepted.

A WOMAN JUDGE

American women interested in the political advancement of their sex cannot be very proud of Jean Norris, the first woman to serve as a magistrate in New York City. She has just been removed from office after being adjudged guilty of malfeasance.

It is bad enough to think of any judge being removed for that cause. In Mrs. Norris' case, the discomfiture which American women feel must be intensified by the nature of the malfeasance charges. It was her way of dealing with women prisoners brought before her that led to her removal. Her court was one of several in which the victim of the wholesale "framing" of women on disorderly conduct charges—as foul an affair as has ever been disclosed in American political history—were brought to trial. She had a glorious opportunity to take up for her sisters, to demonstrate the need of the understanding that characterizes her sex, on the bench. Instead, she seems to have fallen into line with the other judges who permitted crooked officers to prey upon innocent women.

She had an opportunity to bring glory to her sex, to show the special need of women judges. She not only failed to seize that opportunity, but perverted it.

You can't blame the man who married the girl he met at the beach for calling the place a sand trap.

Smouse Opportunity School

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

The other afternoon I participated in the dedication of the Opportunity school for handicapped children given to the city of Des Moines, Iowa by Dr. David W. Smouse.

As I inspected this admirably designed plant, I was impressed by the fact that this opportunity school meant an opportunity, not only for the handicapped, but an opportunity for the educators of the handicapped.

In these special schools, starting as they do with a light baggage of traditions, educators have a rare opportunity to blaze some new educational trails without a too obvious treason to the academic vested interests of our conventional school system.

It is important that advantage be taken of every spot in our educational system where progress may be achieved with the least retardation by the forces of tradition.

We are not living up to the best we know in our educational system.

The educational world is just now marked by admirably courageous discussion and regrettably cautious action.

Wherever intelligent school men get together—out of office hours—there is a fairly general agreement on a few obviously sound principles that should govern our educatfonal program and procedure, but—during office hours—the forces of tradition and the innumerable vested interests of the academic system rob school men of courage to act on the obvious.

The tyranny of institutionalism blocks progress.

I thought, as I walked through this special school, of six fundamental laws of the new education—which I once discussed for a week in these articles—which a school for the handicapped might well adhere to and give to schools for the normal a needed lesson.

(1) We learn by action rather than by absorption.

(2) Learning is specific rather than general.

(3) The best things to study at a given time are the things most important to our life and work at that particular time.

(4) The best time to study anything is when we fully realize that we need to learn it.

(5) Students are not alike and their education should not be Fordized.

(6) Since life is short and we cannot learn everything anyway, we should study the things that will most directly minister to our efficiency and happiness.

What a revolution in our schools would follow the full adoption of even these six obviously sensible principles!

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well.—I Peter 2:14.

The sins committed by many pass unpunished.—Lucan.

Direful Thoughts

When a sun-back suit a woman graces,
I think of possible mishaps,
It's not so much the wide-open spaces,
As the responsibility it places
Upon the shoulder straps.

As we understand this moratorium business, it puts this country in the position to say, if European nations get to acting war-like, "Hey, you can't have another war. You're one payment behind on the last one."

The task of selecting a new city manager is now up to the city council, and lots of citizens are saying that a home-town man ought to get the job. As we view the matter, it isn't important where the new city manager comes from. All we want is one who can reduce expenses, give us more, softer and cheaper water, put the general hospital on a paying basis, reduce the gas rate, establish more playgrounds, put a stop to double-parking and light-rushing, make the street car company take those dips out of the Collins avenue track, do more street paving and repair a lot of what we already have and make the policemen quit smoking on duty. It will be immaterial where the new city manager comes from, if he can do these things.

Reminder

Nothing makes me ponder more
On my swiftly-passing youth,
Than a jaw that's hurting me full sore,
Where they've pulled another tooth.

Not that it's any of your business, but we've lost six teeth in as many months and it requires no very profound knowledge of arithmetic to see whither we are headed, at that rate. Our dentist has a way of shaking his head mournfully, like a Hoover Democrat regarding the political situation, whenever he looks at the all too few remaining. He doesn't come right out and say so, but his manner hints of the nearness of the time when we'll be parking our teeth in a glass of water by the bedside each night.

That was a splendid idea, putting up a sign on the proposed postoffice site, where the government, it is alleged, contemplates building a new postoffice, eventually. Passers-by, especially if tourists, might not understand about that lot if there were no sign on it. They know that when a vacant lot does not contain either a flock of used cars or the skeletal remains of a midget golf course, there is something radically wrong somewhere. It might make talk.

However, the sign that has been erected isn't exactly to our liking. In the first place, it is too definite and explicit. If the clause "When the government gets around to it, if ever" were added to the legend, it would be better.

Another thing—the sign is made principally of wood, and it seems to us that something more durable should have been used. In the course of a dozen years or so, wind and weather will probably have wrecked it. It would have been just as easy to make the sign of steel or concrete, something of a more permanent nature.

Furthermore, the words "No Camping or Fishing" should be added to the sign.

If postponing debt payments improves conditions so much, why not give the idea a broader application?

Advice

Both the calendar and the thermometer indicate that it is in order for this colyum, animated as usual by the desire to be helpful to others, to offer a little advice on how to keep cool and comfortable. A good deal of such advice gets into the papers and onto the radio waves each summer, but it is of too general a nature. The advice we offer is based on a special study of local conditions, as will be apparent from a perusal of it:

Keep out of the oil business.

Keep out of the mercantile business.

Keep out of the newspaper business.

It is not necessary to offer any advice about the practice of law; because most of the local members of the bar have moved to East Texas those that remain are getting ready to run for office next year.

Don't worry about the moratorium.

Don't worry about the Spudders.

Don't worry about the city managership.

Don't worry about the price of gas.

Don't read articles on How to Keep Cool and don't pay any attention to them if you do read 'em.

Equanimity

Maintenance of one's equanimity is one of the essentials of bodily comfort in this weather. The idea is, therefore, to be glad of something. And almost every one, when you come right down to it, has something to be glad about.

For instance, if you are an oil man, you can be glad you are not a farmer. That isn't much to be glad about, but it's something, and it's about all the oil man has at which to rejoice. If you are a lawyer, you can be glad you didn't move to East Texas, or if you did go to East Texas you can be glad you didn't stay at home. If you are any of the other things, you can be glad you're not a banker, and if you're a banker, you can be glad you're not a merchant or a newspaper man.

And at the worst, you can be glad you're not a colyumist who had to try to be funny when he's just come from the dentist's. And a colyumist, even if he has just had a tooth pulled, can at least be glad he's not a college of journalism graduate trying to find a job.

Just for Spite

The price of smokes is going higher,
I don't like it a bit.
Indeed, it fills me with such ire,
I've half a notion to quit.

Health and Diet Advice

Curing Epilepsy Through Dieting

Almost all "falling fits" may be classed under the name of epilepsy. Outside of those caused from accidents, the majority of cases are caused by a definite intestinal toxemia to which certain people are especially susceptible. The cure depends upon keeping the colon thoroughly clean so that this toxemia will be eliminated, and afterwards keeping the intestines clean so no further trouble develops.

In order to get the quickest results, it is advisable at the start to take a fruit fast for two or three weeks. Only one of the acid fruits may be used, or a different one used each day. With this disease, as with many others, the orange or grapefruit seems to be the best fruit to use to assist in producing the greatest elimination of toxins. Sometimes the spells increase in number during the first few days of the fast and then abruptly disappear, while in some cases the seizures stop at once, as soon as the fast is started.

I recently met a child at one of my lectures who had been completely cured by a two weeks' grapefruit fast. She had had as many as 25 spells a day for over two years, but has not had a single one since starting the eliminative treatment with the fast.

Two or three enemas should be used daily all during the fast, and at least one each day for a month or two after starting on the regular diet regimen. The diet following the fast needs to be well balanced, but with a complete elimination of carbohydrates for several months. The good combinations which I advise in this column should be used, leaving out those meals where starches are suggested, and substituting a meal of non-starchy vegetables.

The enemas will guarantee a clean colon until such a time as it seems wise to wait for the bowels to move normally. This should not be attempted for at least a month or two after the fast.

If the patient has been taking luminal, bromides, nitroglycerin, chlorin or other sedative or depressing drugs, such treatment must be discontinued at the start of the fasting treatment, or no good results can be expected. While these drugs are excellent in warding off attacks and have proved a great relief to sufferers from epilepsy, their action seems to interfere with a real cure through dieting.

Treatment by manual manipulation of the bowels will prove helpful in stimulating peristaltic action, and will assist in intestinal elimination. A prolapsed or kinked colon should be corrected by suitable physiotherapy treatment. Otherwise, it will be necessary to continue the enema indefinitely.

If you have been a sufferer from epilepsy, I suggest that you follow the advice I have given in last Sunday's and today's articles; or, cut them out and hand them to any friend who needs help.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ringing in Ears

Question: M. L. writes—"For the past few months I am having a constant ringing in my ears. It sounds like steam escaping from a boiler, or like when you are out in the country on a summer night and you hear the singing of a cricket."

Answer—Buzzing or ringing in the ears is caused either from high blood pressure or by catarrah of the inner ear. In either case the cure lies in dieting. Send in a request for a special article I have on this subject, and be sure to enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dextrinized Bread

Question: A. G. asks—"What is the food value of dextrinized bread?"

Answer—Dextrinized bread has practically the same food value as other bread, the advantage being that the starch content of the bread is converted into dextrin by toasting.

Thyroid Gland

Question: M. H. writes—"I have been told that falling hair is caused by thyroid gland trouble. Is this correct?"

Answer—There is, no doubt, a close relationship between the growth of hair and the function of the thyroid gland. Those who have an insufficiency of the thyroid secretion usually become fat and have a poor growth of hair, while the thin person is usually of the hyperthyroid type, and has plenty of strong hair.

Hyperacidity

Question: W. asks—"What is your advice in a case of an acid system?"

Answer—You probably mean that you have hyperacidity of the stomach. This can be cured if you will learn to live on the proper food combinations. Follow the menus suggested in this column each Friday and you will soon notice a change for the better.

Lions Club Will Stage Inaugural Party and Dance

Plans have been completed for staging the annual inaugural party of the Wichita Falls Lions club at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Tuesday evening. Arrangements are in charge of W. B. Featherston and R. B. Maples.

The party will include the inaugural ceremonies, a buffet supper, bridge, a musical program and a dance. Many out-of-town guests are expected and more than 100 Lions and their friends will probably attend the affair.

R. P. Reagan, Burkburnett city manager, will entertain the guests with a humorous talk. Stunts will include a gossiping contest for the men and a football game for the women.

MASONIC INSTALLATIONS TO BE HELD MONDAY EVE

A joint installation of officers for 1931-32, of the Wichita Falls chapter 202, R. A. M., and the Wichita Falls council 140, R. & S. M., will take place Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic hall, it was announced.

The newly elected officers of Wichita Falls lodge 635, A. F. & A. M., were installed at a meeting Wednesday night, June 24.

GRAND JURY READY TO BEGIN PROBE OF NOCONA SHOOTING

NOCONA, Texas, June 27.—The grand jury will convene at Montague Monday at the opening of the July term of district court of Montague county, and will very likely make an early investigation of the fatal shooting of V. A. (Gus) Lyles Saturday afternoon on a side street, within a few step from the Main street here. Olin Roberson, night watchman for the city of Nocona, is being held under $3,000 bond for Lyle's death, pending action of that body.

There are said to be at least 50 eye-witnesses who were standing near when the shooting occurred. The streets were crowded and many anticipated trouble was brewing between the man and officer, and a large crowd gathered around near the spot where Lyles was mortally wounded. It is predicted there will be a number of different versions as to the cause of the killing.

Roberson, in the only statement made by him, is quoted as saying that the shooting occurred after he had attempted to place Lyles under arrest on a minor charge.

Up to the first of this week Robert K. Crain of the firm of Davenport & Crain, Wichita Falls, was the only attorney employed by the defense, and Temple Yarbrough, county attorney of Montague county, was alone in the prosecution.

This is the third fatal shooting in Nocona in less than three years, which involved peace officers, including the deaths of two city marshalls. This last tragedy occurred in about five steps of the spot where Ed Powell, city marshal, was fatally shot while attempting an arrest, in October, 1929.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK.—Here's sad news for those trumpet-voiced political spouters who have been turned loose from time to time at national conventions in Madison Square garden!

No longer can it be said of them that they "made the very rafters ring." In fact nothing can make the rafters ring from now on. The other day experts from General Electric's research department tackled one of the biggest jobs in the world. Something like 70,000 square feet of sound-absorbing material now tones down the shouts and cat-calls of prize-fight fans.

Radio folk were largely responsible for giving the garden suitable acoustics. The reverberations interfered greatly with broadcasts of events in the garden, particularly when bands or choruses were being sent over the air. The confusion was known in the studios as "auditorium din," and little could be done about it unless a soundproof ceiling was built.

Sleuths of the world of sound have been snooping all over New York for many months trying to figure ways and means of decreasing the general din.

The most difficult job ever tackled by the noise Sherlocks is that of trying to silence the subways, if possible. At least a year or more will be required for a survey of subway noises alone. And then someone will have to figure out what to do about it. Meanwhile the dar old "roar of the city" goes merrily on!

One of New York's swanky icecreameries now places a crossword puzzle before each patron. The puzzle is printed on the paper service napkin which accompanies a soda or a malted milk. The puzzle is generally simple enough to be solvable between a lettuce sandwich and a final gulp of ice cream soda.

Out at Hunter's Island inn, one of the suburban night clubs frequented by motoring New Yorkers, they have a storm detector this summer to protect the bonnets and gowns of the smartly dressed gals; to say nothing of the trimmings of the outdoor garden.

It's a radio detector, by the way, and the latest gadget of Will Oakland, who has played about with radio devices since its early days. There is a delicately adjusted spark gap, a sensitive relay and a signal bell hooked to an ordinary radio outfit. The approach of an electrical storm is presaged by the ringing of the bell, which becomes a veritable alarm as the storm approaches and gives every one a chance to run indoors before the rain begins.

And the entranceway to the high peaks of the Empire State building new resembles some miniature carnival.

Since peeping from the highest building in the world has become a favorite tourist stunt—with the town-folk rushing the place, as well—concessionaires have bought up stands for postcards, lunch stands, ice cream and any number of souvenirs.

The ride to the top, by the way, promises to become one of the most profitable features of the vast investment. An average of a thousand persons a day, or more, is being maintained. And with the tax of $1 per visitor, the new look-out tower appears to be good for around a half-million a year—and for many years to come!

—GILBERT SWAN.

Butterflies Are Prey of Children In Bellevue Park

The children of Bellevue park are engaged in a merry chase after yellow, brown, gold, black, purple and white winged butterflies.

Enthusiasm has been keen for the past few days in making a collection of these bright colored creatures. Each child who is interested makes own mount in which the butterflies are pressed and tries his best to surpass the others in making the most beautiful collection.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — The average life of a milk bottle is 37 1-3 trips, although records show that a milk bottle's life varies from six to 91 trips.

Milk dealers spend nearly $15,000,000 a year for between 300,000,000 and 400,000,000 milk and cream bottles, most of them used to replace bottles lost or broken. About a third of the bottle loss is due to breakage in bottling plants, but two-thirds of lost bottles never get back to the milk dealer.

These are facts from the 1931 yearbook of the department of agriculture and, with your permission, here are some more:

Airplanes are now used to chase insects, some of which have migratory movements extending thousands of miles. A special trap has been devised to be attached to planes. The insects are caught on a series of screen trays, coated with a light application of a sticky substance and so arranged that each screen constitutes a separate record of insects caught at given altitudes and locations. Over a square mile near Tallulah, La., it is estimated that an average of 25,000,000 insects are operating in the upper air. Many insects are caught as high as 14,000 feet above the ground. They are denser near the ground, but there are half as many 2,000 feet aloft as at 1,000 feet and a quarter as many at 3,000 feet. Above 10,000 feet many wingless insects are caught.

Airplanes also collect plant rust spores a mile or so above ground.

The future of the popcorn business is bound up with popping expansion and there is a high correlation between tenderness and high popping expansion. The popping expansion of an improved yellow pearl popcorn has been raised by selection to 26 volumes of popping expansion, which means that one cup of the corn unpopped pops out to 26 cupfuls.

State gasoline taxes in 1929 netted $431,636,454 on more than 13,400,000,000 gallons of motor fuel. The first gasoline tax was Oregon's of one cent a gallon, established in 1919. All the states have a gasoline tax now and three states have a six-cent tax—South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. It is "the most cheaply collected of all imposts" and "one of the most willing paid of all taxes." Total "rural road expenditure" had grown to $1,445,000,000 in 1929, of which automobile operators paid more than 50 per cent—$406,000,000—in gasoline taxes and the rest in license fees, permits and similar charges.

The bookkeeping library of the department of agriculture has approximately 2,000 volumes, to say nothing of many pamphlets, devoted entirely to various phases of agriculture. The oldest one, printed in 1634, is "The Ordering of Bees" by John Lovett. About 175 journals devoted exclusively to the honeybee are published throughout the world and the beekeeping library subscribes to 80 in 22 foreign countries.

Thirty-eight members of the dairy herd at the U. S. experiment station at Beltsville, Md., have died in the last four years and 18, or nearly half, of those deaths were due to foreign bodies swallowed with the feed. Twenty-two other animals were made seriously ill by swallowing foreign bodies. Foreign bodies most frequently found among the dead cows were pieces of wire and nails. Needles, splintered wood, knives, stones, bolts, money and watches are sometimes found in the digestive tracts of cattle. Cattle chew their food only superficially before swallowing it.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Why Blame the Hungry?

Editor The Times: Every day we hear people blaming themselves for their past extravagance, also referring to the very poor as bad managers and spending money outside of actual necessities. Many critical remarks are made about some poverty stricken fellow buying cigarettes or a few gallons of gasoline. About 90 per cent of the people you talk to will start the subject of depression and in the next breath commence blaming themselves for spending money they could have saved.

I pause to ask if they are justified criticisms. Is it right for us to worry over the auto we bought a few years ago, or that trip we took our family on, or the money spent to send the boy or girl to school?

Half the folks unthinkingly say, "Well what's the matter with this country is too many automobiles." Now statistics show there are about 17,000,000 autos running in the United States today, and that 60 per cent of them are a commercial necessity to carry on business. The autos, including trucks average about $800 and comes to only about $12,000,000,000, but a low estimate of the loss to the public through the New York stock exchange and watered stock deflation in the last 18 months or two years amounts to not less than $80,000,000,000 which means money actually drained and seined out of the country by the big boys and brains of the nation, the high ups who are in power and in charge of our national legislation. Yet with these figures we continue to blame ourselves and those actually hungry for the present conditions.

As a matter of fact if the poor, the laboring and middle classes didn't spend what money they make there would be no commerce or business in the country. Now, you fellows who are "moaning and groaning" and are almost insane, and some of you even contemplating suicide, better take a new hitch on life and consider where the trouble actually is.

For one, I may go down in poverty or even starve but I'll be d——— if I'll ever worry about putting what few dollars I've made into circulation or some little happiness or luxury I have given my family. So let's not blame the hungry or ourselves, but saddle the burden where it belongs, on the high-handed and privileged monopolists now controlled, so Bill Rogers says, by about 57 brainy "tightwads" who have almost wrecked the business of this nation. When these guys "get right" times will get better, and watch and see if they don't have to pretty soon.

Talented Women of First District T. F. W. C. Will Stage Biblical Benefit Dramatization at Bowie

A scholarship and loan fund established in the first district T. F. W. C. and named at the Graham convention in honor of Mrs. R. E. Buchanan, mother of the first district president the "Eunice Buchanan fund," will benefit equally with the Bowie, Texas public library when a dramatization of the Biblical story of David and Jonathan is presented in Bowie, Monday evening, June 29. The play was written by Mrs. John B. Hunt, state chairman of Bible in the Texas Federation of Women's clubs and also a member of the first district board.

Interest is manifested throughout the first district not only in the dramatic atmosphere of the play, but because of that which it accomplishes. It is the second Biblical dramatization Mrs. Hunt has written, the first being the story of Esther. Mrs. Hunt is an intellectual student of the Bible and advocates that the clubs can best serve by dramatization and presentation of stories of the Bible. "Esther," which she dramatized three years ago, was a distinct triumph of dramatic art, beautiful, coloring and inspiring.

"David and Jonathan," to be presented Monday night, forcefully portrays the stirring events of the story. It is majestic in its drama with clearly defined cause and effect. David's escape from Saul is portrayed by David's wife letting him down from a window of a real house. Mephibosheth, Jonathan's crippled son, is honored with a great feast as climax. The lamb, the heifer and the donkey of the Scriptures, all alive make the dramatization more realistic.

There will be a real Jewish wedding, the ceromny being furnished by Rabbi Lefkowitz of Dallas. David with his harp and numerous solo and chorus numbers will furnish typical music.

More than 60 local artists will appear in the play and the list of characters, made up of business men and prominent women of Bowie will suggest to the audience the Biblical players of Europe.

Mrs. David Warren, state and district chairman of drama, will direct the play. Home production and home presentation are in line with the work which Mrs. Warren has stressed in her office of district and state. A number of Wichitans will attend the production.

FIRST METHODIST LEAGUE WILL GIVE PROGRAM

The young people's league service at the First Methodist church Sunday evening will have several special features of interest. Leonard Smith will be leader and Hal Ray will give the Scripture following the opening song service.

A trumpet solo will be given by Ben Bushfield and the introduction of the evening's theme, "Jesus and Pleasure," will be given by the leader. Talks on the theme will be given as follows: "What Does Is Cost?" Thelma Norvell; "Does It Lead to Anything Worse?" Virginia Boyd; "Does It Lead Me Away From Christ?" Kathryn Fletcher; "Can I Do It and Keep the Trust of Others?" Hal Ray, and "What Would Jesus Say?" Harold Himmell. The general discussion will be led by Mr. Smith.

Miss Ines Terrell will give a special reading and following the benediction, refreshments will be served during the fellowship hour by Mrs. J. C. Russell, superintendent of the young people's department.

GERALD DAWES GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Observing his 10th birthday anniversary, Gerald Dawes was given a delightful party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dawes, Thursday afternoon.

Games were played after which refreshments were served to Thelma Herd, Bettye and Dannie McIver, Helen and Irene Baker, Lucile and Margaret Heath, Nora McMan, Helen Karr, Ivan Taylor, Winston Smith, Doyal McMan, Frank Yokum, Carol Cooley, Edwin Heath, Jack Richard, Gerald Dawes, Sequoyah Dawes of Joplin, Mo. Mrs. Dawes was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. M. J. Cooley.

Expert Gardener Names Specimens Of Texas Iris

In a meeting of the program committee of the Garden club at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Friday morning, plans were made for the programs for 1931-32 to be given at luncheon meetings. An outline of programs touching on seasonal plantings will be announced later.

Mrs. P. F. Gwynn, who represented the Garden club as delegate to the state Garden club convention held recently in Dallas, told of a 30-minute talk made by Mrs. M. T. Price of Dallas on the culture of iris. Mrs. Price exhibited 27 varieties of the beautiful flowers and her interest was a reflection of the passion for iris that has spread all over the country in the past year.

Names of the plants particularly suitable to this climate were given by Mrs. Price and as a part of Mrs. Gwynn's report are given for the information of iris growers in Wichita Falls.

In the yellow iris, Mrs. Price advised the Challis, and Amber; pink specimens of particular beauty are Wild Rose, Dream and Susan Bliss; the Santa Barbara, Crusader, Queen Catherine and Princess Beatrice were exhibited in blue and the speaker stated that if she were forced to take all iris from garden but one, she would choose to keep the Princess Beatrice. Lavender blue specimens named were Avalon and Bellerine; mixed blue, red and purple were Prospero, George T. Ribelot, Morning Splendor. In the white, the Garden White, Zada, Istria, Jubilee, True, Charm and King Karl were named as choice plants.

Mrs. Price advised transplanting iris within the month after blooming but they have been safely planted at this time of the year and even in July.

Members of the First Baptist W. M. S. circle 12 are sponsoring a benefit tea at the home of Mrs. J. C. Mytinger on the Seymour road Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

IN THE PICTURES

Misses Mary Clair and Josephine Burton are the charming daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Burton and the family has recently moved to Dallas to make their home. The girls are expected to be frequent visitors here where they both have many friends.

Mrs. L. E. Dickerson is a recent bride and was before her marriage Miss Gladys McLeod. Mrs. Dickerson was a member of the local teacher's staff previous to her marriage. The couple are at home in Henrietta, where Mr. Dickerson is a prominent business man.

Miss Mae Fields is an attractive Henrietta girl and was a bridesmaid in the Dickerman-McLeod wedding.

Mrs. Vernon McGee is a bride of the month and was before her marriage Miss Janice Jones of Hillsboro. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Tell Jones of that city and is a talented violinist. Mr. McGee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McGee of this city and is associated with the United Press association at Dallas where the couple make their home at 4300 Junius street.

The STORY of SUE by Margery Hale.

© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I'll go with you if you will let me pay for my own dinner!" Sue calmly told the persistent young man who lived across the hall from her. Thank fortune she had 50 cents.

"I'm eating at 'The Doughnut,'" she told him.

He didn't object. She wished that he had. She didn't want to go with him. He affected her the wrong way. There was something about him that didn't ring true. She didn't know what it was. A shoddy place in his armor. A too sudden laugh. An appraising guess that made too accurate an estimate. She disliked him.

She sat down at the table and watched the candles that were growing tired and sinking to the bottom of the yellow crocks on the tables. She looked at the figures in the blue and white checked tablecloths. She wished that she was back home. She wished that she had a job. She wanted Jack. For no reason at all, she knew that tears were swimming in her eyes.

She talked when she had to. Not until she picked up the card to order dessert did she snap into consciousness again. She had ordered a veal cutlet and the regular dinner without glancing at the menu. The tearoom always offered a choice of desserts. Now she noticed that the prices had gone up. She had 50 cents . . . and the dinner was 60! Maybe if she didn't order dessert it would be cheaper. But no, tearooms didn't make allowances for a missing course. And the man would find out, anyway, and guess her reason. She would have to pretend that she had forgotten to put her money in this bag.

"What do you mean?" Sue questioned.

"When you are interested in one, you haven't any parking space for the rest. It's not a good way to play. Suppose he found another girl. Or died. Or didn't measure up. There would be such a big void. You had better branch out."

"I'm not interested in branching out. I'd rather concentrate." She was glad that her solitaire was sparkling in the candle flame.

"Don't let a man be too sure of you. He'll mark you down as bagged game and see if there's anything else in the forest worth shooting at before time for him to come back for you and go home."

"I don't believe it. Besides, how can any girl promise a man that she'll marry him without letting him know that he's the main ingredient in her particular vegetable soup?" Sue asked. "Oh it's all right to be a parking place for fraternity pins as long as they don't mean anything to the giver or receiver when one of them does . . . that changes the play."

"Want to see tonight's paper?" the man asked, ironically, as though dismissing the conversation as too futile for his consideration. He handed Sue the inner section, and turned to the outer, while they waited for their coffee. She turned the pages idly. Then suddenly she stopped. Her hands clutched the sheet so tightly that it tore with a rasping, sudden sound. She had found a picture.

Monday: The picture Sue saw in the newspaper.

Story Telling Club Closes Summer Season With Round Of Interesting Stories

Shasta daisies emphasized the pretty color scheme of white and yellow noted in the home of Mrs. W. J. Stuckler Friday afternoon when she was hostess at the final summer meeting of the Story Tellers club. George Truitt, vice president of the club, presided in the absence of Mrs. George Thorburn.

Mesdames T. F. Hunter and W. S. Rosamond were introduced as new members and the roll call was answered by each member with a one-minute negro story.

Mrs. George Truitt, announced that the new year books would be ready for distribution at an early date.

In the program, Mrs. Stanley Marlow, program chairman, gave chapters 12 and 13 of Bailey's "For the Story Tellers," the group topic being on the general subject of being neat. Mrs. W. B. Abbott gave the first story, "The Child Who Forgot to Wash His Hands," by Coe; "Dust Under the Rug," from Maud Lindsay's "Mother Stories," was charmingly told by Mrs. Omar Barker. "The Pig Brother," from Laura Richard's "The Golden Window," was given by Mrs. J. A. James and Mr. Truitt told "Gethsemane," to conclude the program.

Punch was served on the arrival of the guests and the pretty refreshment plates, marking the chosen colors of white and yellow were served to Mesdames Richey Abernathy, Jack Ralston, Stanley Marlow, Omar Barker, W. B. Abbott, L. E. Ruth, A. L. Proctor, R. E. Benson, J. A. James, W. J. Stuckler, W. H. Penix, M. T. Clements, P. B. Curd, Earl Stuckey, P. B. Cox, Harold Murph, T. F. Hunter, E. A. Loofbourrow, W. S. MRS. LIGHTSEY HONOREE AT PARTY LUNCHEON

Mesdames R. L. Myrick, W. H. Apple and J. W. McCutchen were hostesses at Mrs. Myrick's home on Holliday Friday morning at a party and luncheon honoring Mrs. D. W. Lightsey of Cameron Gardens.

Shasta daisies and pink roses were used in the room where several rounds of 42 were played. Mrs. W. D. Talley was awarded the high score prize and invited the honoree into the dining room presented it to her.

A dainty motif of pink and blue was noted in the dining room and the luncheon table was centered with a pastel basket filled with pretty gifts for the honoree. Mrs. Lightsey responded to the courtesy with gracious thanks.

A delicious three course luncheon was served the honoree, Mrs. Lightsey, and to Mesdames C. A. Gillespie, L. A. Litzenberg, Lee Hollis, W. D. Talley, R. L. Webb, A. P. Perry, S. L. Flatt, J. M. Ward, M. C. Vanston, R. A. Walker, L. A. Frank, Fred Greer, R. B. Divon, L. W. Allen and the hostesses, Mesdames Myrick, Apple and McCutchen.

MISS SCOTT ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CLUB

During a short business meeting, the following officers were elected: Miss Maurine Scott, president; Miss Beatrice McDaniel, vice president; Miss Louella Roy, tresurer, and Mrs. Leslie Howard, reporter.

Four tables were arranged for bridge, Miss Ila Tippit winning high score and Miss Grace McDowell, low score. Throughout the evening vocal numbers by Miss Tippit and Miss Berenice Blinn were enjoyed.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to the following:

Misses Allan Woodward, Martrue Mays, Louella Roy, Jewel Ragland, Beatrice McDaniel, Nell Carter, Marie Blumhoff, Grace McDowell, Maurine Scott, Chella Hendricks, Berenice Blinn, Ollie Segler, Ila Tippit of Fort Worth, and Mesdames Iris Gebert, Dee Turkett, Leslie Howard and the hostess.

Final Tournament To Be Sponsored By Junior Forum

The third in a series of bridge tournaments sponsored by members of the Junior forum will be given Thursday morning and evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Carrigan, 1100 Austin, when Miss Carrigan and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor will be hostesses. The morning games will begin at 9:30 and the evening games when both men and women will participate, at 8 o'clock.

With the charming hostesses, a group of pretty girls are working to make the events the culminating success of the series. Miss Madelyn McCarty is chairman of the chair committee with Misses Maxine Duffy and Wilma Brown assisting. With Miss Mary Collier, chairman of the table committee, the efficient committee includes Misses Mary C. Boone, Mildred Johnson and Johnnie Green Hawkins.

A group of interesting prizes wait the winners and Thursday evening, a prize will be awarded the gentleman and the lady who have been present at the greatest number of games.

MISS HURD HONOREE AT BIRTHDAY SHOWER

Miss Nellie Hurd gave a birthday shower and bridge party for her sister, Miss Katheryn Hurd, at the family residence, 2003 Lucile street, Friday evening.

Tables were arranged on the lawn with an Independence day color motif of red, white and blue. The house was decorated with vases of gladioli and the plate carried out the color scheme with tiny sandwiches made from red bread in the shape of firecrackers.

High prizes were won by Tom Vaden, a novelty cigaret case, and Mrs. Ben Fletchner, a vanity case. Henry Berry won the cut prize.

Star Reveries

Excerpts from the operetta, "Chimes of Normandy," will be sung by Helen Gilligan, soprano, and Milton Watson, tenor, as the highlight of the broadcast of star reveries over the Columbia network, Sunday, June 28, at 8:45 p. m., central standard time. The soloists will be assisted by a vocal ensemble and an orchestra under the direction of Mark Warnow.

WICHITA BONDS MAY BE PURCHASED WITH UNIVERSITY FUNDS

Wichita Falls city bonds may be eligible for the state university investment funds, according to a letter received here from C. D. Simmons, investment statistician.

The letter, addressed to George D. Fairtrace, city manager, stated that, as recently enacted legislation permits the investment of the university permanent fund in bonds of Texas cities, bonds of this city will probably be offered to the regents of the university for purchase.

In the latter, Mr. Simmons asked for the financial statement of this city according to the latest available figures, stating that the regents want to consider buying the bonds of as many cities as have a good record and favorable statement. Mr. Simmons expressed his belief that the regents' consideration of the securities of Wichita Falls would concern a mutual interest of the city and the university.

As the recents' finance committee is now planning its investment, the letter asked that the local statement be sent promptly. This report will be sent at once by Wm. E. McBroom, city clerk.

MRS. LOIS PARKER IS AUDITION CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Lois T. Parker, 1611 Giddings street, has been appointed local chairman of a national audition contest for the third consecutive year. The local audition will be held over station KGKO at 8:30 p. m. Monday, July 27.

PLAN TO SELL BONDS OF DRAINAGE DISTRICT AND START WORK SOON

The county commissioners court Monday will be asked to authorize the issuance and sale of $53,000 in bonds for the newly created drainage district No. 2, which occupies most of the area between the south city limits of Wichita Falls and Lake Wichita. In an east and west direction the district is roughly bounded by Call field and Holliday creek.

A. H. Britain, attorney for Wichita Falls Water Improvement district No. 1, which will pay half of the expense of the new drainage district, said that bids would probably be asked for about Aug. 1 and that work might start soon after that date on new drainage structures.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

First Aid Class

On Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Miss Rosalie Harkin, city nurse, will give instruction at local headquarters, to all Camp Fire Girls who need this instruction for the fire maker rank. On last Monday, some dozen members took advantage of this class. Those who did not get in on the other class but want the work may come on Monday, and make up the other work later.

Glee Club

Tuesday evening will be the last practice for the Glee club this summer. On Friday evening, a picnic for members will probably be held in connection with a swim. Plans will be made definitely on Tuesday evening.

Tuesday morning swimming classes at Cedar park and Friday at Westmoreland finds the Camp Fire Girls enthusiastically taking swimming lessons from 8 to 9 o'clock. It is an inspiration to see the members progressing so rapidly with their swimming. On Friday of last week four members were promoted from the intermediate class to the advanced class. It takes courage and persistence to become a real swimmer, but the success is worth all of the effort put forth.

A swimming meet will be planned for the last of July and another one for August. We hope that August will find a number of our members wearing the Red Cross life saving emblem.

Picnic for Day Nursery

A picnic for the day nursery children will be planned for the week of July 5 instead of this week, due to Fourth of July coming this week. Definite plans will be announced next Sunday.

Committee of Awards

Committee of awards will meet on July 11, instead of first Saturday, due to celebration of Fourth of July.

Early Bird Breakfast

Some 40 members enjoyed the early breakfast at the pospective camp site on the Red river Wednesday morning. It was a pretty sight to view the several groups clustered around the fires cooking bacon and eggs. The pretty site with the large trees, natural spring water, and abundance of undergrowth was refreshing to every one. After breakfast, Mrs. Frank Michaux led the group on an exploration trip to "see what they could see" in nature. A number of songs were enjoyed before the return trip to town.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group met at the home of Mary Arwood, 1900 Grant street, on Monday morning. Evelyn Howard, vice president had charge of the meeting in the absence of Ina Jo Ogle, president. Members decided on garments to be made and donated to the day nursery. Each girl is to start her garment and have it ready to complete and turn in at the next meeting to be held at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank Schram, 1722 Collins, on Wednesday at 10 o'clock. A number of the members attended the first aid class Monday afternoon and the breakfast on Wednesday.

Refreshments were served to Dorthea Whitehead, Margaret Hutchinson, Bernice Cyr, Lois and Mrs. Schram, Evelyn Howard, Beverly Nan Witherspoon, and Josephine Willis, a visitor.

This group has been well represented in the swimming classes and is making fine progress.

Ahsonzong Group

The Ahsonzong group met at the home of Dorothy Gothard, 1205 Austin, on Thursday afternoon. Plans were made for a group picnic on Wednesday, July 8th. Birthday handcraft will be completed at the next meeting to be held at the home of Irene and Pauline West, 909 Seventh street, on Thursday. Those attending were Loucille and Mrs. W. J. Willis, Irene and Pauline West, Lucile Murchison, Gladys Young, and the hostess, Dorothy Gothard.

This group was almost 100 per cent in attendance at the breakfast on Wednesday.

Other Groups

The Adi-Iwah, Tanokiwin, Mankilo, and Nowetompatimmin groups combined their meetings for last week with the city-wide activities.

Camp Letoli

Bulletins for the camp announcements will be mailed to members this week. Letters to all parents were mailed. Any member who has moved recently and has not reported a change of address is urged to notify local headquarters in order not to delay receipt of camp bulletins. Just three weeks now, until camp opens.

OLDTIMERS TO VISIT WICHITA ON THE FOURTH

Many oldtimers of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma are expected to be in Wichita Falls for the Fourth of July celebration to be held by Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion, according to Milton Gaines, general chairman of the celebration committee.

The invitation goes out to every oldtimer and those who desire to take part in the parade to be held Saturday morning will be furnished mounts. If they are former peace officers, Mr. Gaines will appreciate their bringing with them their old pistols and saddle guns.

"The number of oldtimers, especially cowboys and peace officers, is fast dwindling," says Mr. Gaines. "We believe that a reunion of these oldtimers will prove a big thing for them. They will have a real opportunity to talk about the frontier days and of the things in which they participated.

"A number of oldtimers live in Wichita Falls and many others are to be found in the Wichita Falls area. If these men can meet here for the Fourth of July celebration we will endeavor to make their visit one of real pleasure."

Letters continue to pour into the headquarters office from newspaper editors and legion officials, stating that they will be in Wichita Falls for the biggest celebration to be held in Northwest Texas. Only a few towns are holding celebrations, as members of the legion expressed a desire to meet with Pat Carrigan post and to do all within their power to assist the post in winning the 1932 state convention for Wichita Falls.

The next state convention will meet in El Paso during August. A special train will be operated by Pat Carrigan post to the convention. Funds received from the celebration will be used to defray expense of sending the drum and bugle corps to El Paso.

The winning of the convention will mean the largest out-of-town meeting ever held in Wichita Falls. Between 5,000 and 6,000 ex-service men attend these conventions. In Wichita Falls it is believed the attendance will be larger because so many soldiers in Oklahoma were with Texas outfits during the world war. As planned, and in the event the convention is won, there will be a reunion of the 36th and 90th division men in Wichita Falls in 1932.

Merchants will begin decoration of floats for the parade this week. Girls entered in the "Miss Liberty" contest will make extra efforts to sell tickets. The winner in the "Miss Liberty" contest will be awarded a beautiful Chevrolet sport model automobile.

Interest is also growing in the "tin lid" contest. A number of men are working to win this coveted head piece.

FIRST COTTON BLOOMS IN STEPHENS COUNTY

DUNCAN, Okla., June 27.—First cotton blooms of the 1931 crop have been reported in Stephens county, at least a week later than usual.

Fred Williams, living west of Duncan, who has some of the earliest cotton in the county, has plants blooming in his field.

Cotton planting was at least two weeks later than normal in the county this year, but recent warm weather has been favorable to a rapid growth of the crop, especially in fields where the plants were developed enough to have good root systems before the top of the soil dried out at the beginning of a prolonged dry spell which now threatens corn.

Beethoven Symphony

Despite his acknowledged supremacy as a composer of symphonies, Beethoven's two earliest works in this form still receive comparatively little attention, and few opportunities are given to hear the second, in D, which is to feature the symphonic hour scheduled over the WABC-Columbia network, 1 to 2 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, June 28.

CLOSE 89TH COURT FOR WEEK DURING ABSENCE OF JUDGE P. A. MARTIN

The 89th district court will be closed all of this week during the absence of Judge P. A. Martin, who left Saturday for Galveston to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Bar association and of the state judicial council.

Judge Martin, who is a member of both bodies, drove through by automobile and was accompanied by Mrs. Martin.

A. H. Britain, local attorney who is also a member of the judicial council, plans to leave Monday afternoon for the meeting. Several other Wichita Falls attorneys expected to leave during the week to attend the bar association sessions.

Corrected Recipes Of Mrs. Dawson's Food Article Given

Through an error in assemblying Mrs. Arch Dawson's weekly food article, which appears in The Record News, several recipes were printed without the proper headings and in an incorrect order.

For the benefit of the many Wichita Falls women who are keeping notebooks on Mrs. Dawson's articles, the correct arrangement of the article is given herewith. The article appeared correctly from its beginning through the paragraph which ends "Frency cutters and patty shells are necessary for many attractive varieties." The remainder of the article in correct arrangement follows:

Puff Paste

Chill on the ice all the utensils to be used in making the paste. Then sift together two cupfuls of pastry flour and one-half teaspoonful of salt, and place on the ice. Measure one cupful of butter and put it in a bowl of cold water, but not ice water. Work the butter with a wooden spoon until smooth. Then remove butter from the water and work it till every drop of water has been removed. Keep back two tablespoonfuls of butter; shape the rest into a flat cake and place on the ice. Work the two tablespoonfuls of butter into the pastry flour with the tips of the fingers. Then moisten to a dough with ice water, turn on a slightly floured board and knead for about five minutes until it is smooth. Chill on ice for five minutes; then pat and roll the dough to one-fourth inch thickness in a square shape. Spread one-fourth of the cake of butter on the center of the lower half of the paste. Cover the butter by folding the upper half of the paste over it. Press the edges firmly to retain all the air possible. Turn the side edges of the paste, one under and one over the enclosed butter; press edges together; chill for five minutes. Roll. Repeat this rolling and spreading process three times, until all the butter is used, chilling the paste each time. After the fourth rolling, fold the paste from the ends to the center and double, making four layers. Then wrap the paste in a clean cloth, and chill for an hour or all night if possible. It is better if kept on ice for 24 hours. The secret of making good pastry is to have the pastry very cold and the oven hot. After the pastries are cut they should be put in a pan lined with heavy brown paper, and baked in a quick oven—between 400 degrees F. and 450 degrees F. Puff pastry is more complicated than plain pastry but it is a de luxe product which may be made by a novice if directions are followed and which offers all sorts of delightful possibilities and add very much to a housewife's prestige as a cook.

Valentines

Cut out thinly rolled puff paste the shape of a heart. Cover with chopped nuts. Place over this another layer of pastry, also cut heart-shaped. Brush with beaten egg and bake the whole. When cooled, cover with whirls of whipped and sweetened cream and place a cherry in the center.

Cream Horns

Roll puff paste in a long rectangular piece, one-eighth inch thick. Cut in strips three-fourths inch wide. Roll paste over wooden forms bought for the purpose, having edges overlap. Bake in a hot oven until well puffed and slightly beaten, diluted with one teaspoonful water, then sprinkle with sugar. Return to oven and finish cooking, and remove from forms. When cold, fill with cream filling or whipped cream sweetened and flavored.

Vienna Whipped Cream Roll

Roll puff paste into strips four inches wide. Butter tin or hardwood cylinders about one inch in diameter and four inches long. Cut the strips of paste into pieces to fit cylinders. Brush over one side of each piece of paste with white of egg or water, and press this side upon the first upon the cylinder, so that when baked and removed from the tin hollow cylinders of paste will be formed. Bake on a tin sheet in a slow oven. When cold cover the outside with chocolate frosting (confectioner's, boiled or fondant) and when ready to serve fill the centers with sweetened and flavored cream, beaten stiff.

Orange Croutons

Cut small rounds from puff paste, chill and bake; spread orange curd between each two, sandwich fashion; sprinkle the top with powdered sugar or cover with confectioner's or water frosting. The orange curd is made as follows:

One-fourth cupful butter.
Juice and grated rind of one orange.
Two ounces of candied orange peel, if desired the yolks of three eggs.
One-fourth cupful sugar.

Melt the sugar and butter; add the juice and grated rind, and when hot stir gradually into the yolks, beaten thick; stir and cook until the mixture thickens; use hot or cold.

Water frosting is made as follows:

About four tablespoonfuls of fruit juice.
One and one-half cupfuls of confectioner's sugar.
Flavoring as needed.
Color paste for tinting if desired.

Heat the liquid; stir the liquid into the sifted sugar, adding more, a few drops at a time, as needed. A little lemon juice added to the other fruit juices accentuates the flavor of the latter. The icing is of proper consistency when it coats the spoon and conceals its color. Water, milk or cream may be used instead of the fruit juice.

Branbury Tarts

One cupful of raisins.
One-fourth pound of citron.
One egg.
One cupful sugar.
The juice and grated rind of one lemon.
One cracker, if desired.

Stone the raisins, if they have not been seeded, and chop with the citron very fine; add the grated rind and juice of the lemon, also the sugar, slightly beaten egg and finely rolled cracker crumbs.

Roll puff paste one-eighth of an inch thick and cut in rounds between three and four inches in diameter. Put a little of the mixture on each piece; moisten one-half the edge with cold water and fold over the pastry, pressing the dry edge upon the half that is moistened very closely. Bake about 25 minutes in a slow oven. A cracker, pounded or rolled fine, and the juice of a second lemon may be added but it gives a less rich mixture.

Cocoanut Tea Cakes

Roll puff or plain paste to one-fourth inch in thickness. Shape with a lady-finger cutter and bake on a tin sheet in a hot oven. When nearly done remove from the oven, cool slightly, brush over with beaten white of egg, sprinkle with shredded cocoanut, and return to oven to finish the cooking.

Florentine Meringue

Roll puff paste one-eighth inch thick; cut a piece 10 inches long by seven inches wide; place on a sheet, wet edges, and put on a half-inch rim. Prick with a fork six times, and bake in hot oven. Cool, and spread with jam, cover with meringue, and almonds blanched and shredded; sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake. The meringue is made as follows:

Whites of three eggs.
Seven and one-half teaspoonfuls powdered sugar.
One-half teaspoonful lemon extract or one-third teaspoonful vanilla.

Beat whites until stiff, and four tablespoonfuls sugar gradually, and beat vigorously; fold in remaining sugar, and add flavoring.

Napoleon Slices

Roll puff paste out thin and cut into strips about three inches wide and the length of a baking sheet. Prick them with a fork and bake. After it is baked, spread over with vanilla or lemon cream and place a strip on top. Ice the top strip with vanilla icing and cut into slices. Three layers of pastry may be used instead of two and cream filling used instead of vanilla cream. Confectioner's frosting may be used instead of vanilla icing. Sprinkle some with chopped nuts; crease in pieces about two and one-half by three inches, and cut with sharp knife.

Ha! Sleuths Chase One Another

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—City detectives were very much on their toes to capture bootleggers. Consequently, when a man rushed in and informed them that three men, driving a tan, mud-splashed auto, looked suspicious, and one of them had a revolver, they hopped right to the job of catching the supposed rum runners.

They hunted high and low for the car, and had no success. Disgustedly, they returned to the police station. There, in front of the building, was the car. The sleuths hurried into the building to find the occupants of the car. They turned out to be federal prohibition agents!

WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

If you are planning several week-end trips, or even if you are entertaining in your own home, you'll need a few new frocks for the occasion. Mornings in the country, at the seashore or for sports will require a frocks light in weight and color, sleeveless and extremely simple. For this model do not overlook the smart cottons and lines which have become so popular with well dressed women. All white or one of the dainty pastel shades can be completely transformed by a bit of color, giving you splendid opportunity with accessories to change the appearances of your frock. For afternoons, and informal evening affairs, the cottons as well as the sheer silks must be considered the dainty little model at the left, for example, would be lovely made of flat crepe, georgette, voile, chiffon or a sheer cotton such as dimity, batiste, lawn, etc. The center figure wears linen, shantung, pique or cotton mesh to good advantage. The lovely semi-formal gown to the right is made of eyelet embroidered batiste, but looks equally smart in chiffon, georgette or lace. The wide sash is very new and very chic.

Pattern 1126

A simple little model with becoming cape collar that crosses in diagonal lines, giving slenderness and grace to the figure. The skirt flare joins in downward point for additional slimness. The model is exceptionally easy to make yet dainty enough for any daytime occasion. Sleeves are included with the pattern. Pattern 1126 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch fabric for a sleeveless dress.

Pattern 1127

Stunning for active or spectator sports, this model relies on smart seaming, and added color for its chic. The crossed yokes of bodice and skirt are unusually becoming, tending to slenderize and add youth to the figure. Two box pleats give extra freedom for active play. The several buttons are attractive. You'll love red or blue on white, or brown on yellow. Pattern 1127 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 36-inch fabric.

Pattern 1128

Exquisite grace is expressed in this airy frock which is lovely enough for dinner or informal dances. The becoming draped neckline, the circular cape sleeves and the smart pointed seaming on bodice and skirt are details of decided interest this season. A pastel print with wide sash in dark color will be ravishing. The original was white batiste with red taffeta sash. Pattern 1128 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch fabric.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Send for our catalog of fashions. It features a wide assortment of delightful afternoon frocks, sport models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, clothes for the kiddies, and accessory patterns. This catalog is fifteen cents when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, twenty-five cents. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York City.

WARM WEATHER TAXES CAPACITY WATER SYSTEM

The city water department pumps an average of 5,000,000 gallons of water daily through the mains, and the peak rate, which is reached between 7 and 9 o'clock every evening, is estimated at 9,000,000 gallons, according to a report given Saturday by Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the city water department.

Thus far, none of the water has been by-passed from the filters, and the water has been handled satisfactorily. But if the demand on the water supply becomes much greater, the filtration facilities may not be adequate to hold all the water to be used, Dr. Douglass declared.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THESE HAPPY PARENTS

The following births were reported to the city health department during the past week, according to Dr. H. D. Fillmore, registrar and city physician:

IS DIVORCE THE EASY WAY OUT? -:- By KATHLEEN NORRIS

MRS. NORRIS

No, they're not sold at the five-and-ten-cent stores yet, done up in glazed paper like hair-nets or peanut brittle, but they will be pretty soon, marriages and divorces, if this sort of thing keeps up.

Divorce in six weeks, if you go to Nevada. Just a pleasant stay at one of the magnificent new hotels, or on the borders of glorious Lake Tahoe—and there you are. There never has been anything like it. But in the end divorce will destroy marriage. There is no other way.

Note, it isn't "easy divorce" that is destroying marriage. It is divorce in any form. You can't have it at all, and not have all of it. You can't have divorce for serious reasons, and not have it for all reasons. It's like licensing murders, or certain forgeries, or certain cases of slavery. Once let one in, and you let them all in.

This is what some of the advocates of divorce haven't seen coming, and they are still in a state of innocent surprise over it. They still feel that easy divorce is somehow scandalous and alarming, and difficult divorce defensible.

In grave cases, they say, "Infidelity or insanity or chronic drunkenness—surely, surely divorce is different from these horrible modern divorces for incompatibility or mental cruelty or the desire to remarry. In some states, they argue, "you can only get a divorce on really serious grounds."

And so on and so on. But it isn't logical. For either marriage is marriage, or it isn't. If it is, it precludes all that—infidelity and cruelty and drunkenness and insanity are nothing to it. It is marriage — like motherhood, or blindness, of the state of being alive. It spreads a majestic mantle over anything that can happen; illness, poverty, everything covered by the limitless word "worse," until the biggest word of all "death."

That's marriage. And marriage is nothing else. Marriage is not a contract entered into until you chose, for good or for bad reason, to end it. Motherhood isn't an experiment, until you see whether you've got a good healthy baby, and whether you like him or not, losing a limb isn't just strapping on a false limb for a trial, and re-assuming the good live one after six weeks in Nevada, a few years later.

So that Nevada's action, and the action of other rival states in this quick-divorce business, and the discussion in my own state of the abolishment of the interlocutory year, are not shocking, to me. Rather these states have acted with perfect logic and common sense. "If we're to have divorce at all, let's go in for it in a big way," is their attitude, and inasmuch as this attitude may hasten to clear up the whole disputed question, they are to be thanked.

Once marriage is reduced to a purely legal relationship, as easily dissolved as contracted, then a nation begins to discover, as Russia is discovering with sensational speed, that men and women quickly reach the point when they dispense with legality entirely. With conditions such as Russia has established why should any one bother to stand in line either for so-called marriage or divorce.

I say "so-called" marriage, because this sort of thing isn't marriage. And slowly the nation's thinking men and women are going to see the line of demarcation between this hodge-podge way of doing things, and the higher, finer way.

Real marriage is going to continue to exist through this phase of our national affairs—certain men and certain women are going to continue to maintain it, on the old, hard, beautiful, heroic lines; "for richer or poorer" for better or worse, in sickness and in health, until death do us part."

They are going to discover that instead of the waste spaces and the shifting sands that are divorce, even an unsuccessful marriage can be made to blossom like the rose. When you can't escape a thing, you begin to make the best of it, and the best of even a poor marriage has more happiness in it than the best of any divorce for a woman.

Women want to be useful, beloved, busy, they want a husband and children beside them. These are their fundamental needs. A nation that refused divorce would be a kind nation, to women. Not in every case, but in nine out of ten.

When marriage is a sacrament, taken as a vocation, it is very different, from the very beginning, from any mere legal relationship, subject to sudden termination. A woman wants children, in real marriage, she wants a home and a garden, friends, books, associations, family ties. She has nothing to gain by steering clear of all these.

But in the purely legal marriage, that companionate marriage that is a mere license for sex relationship, it is perfectly obvious that any sensible woman will avoid those entangling responsibilities that will only complicate the break, when it comes. And such a marriage is foredoomed to fail.

It would be cheaper for us to train our boys into high ideals of husbandhood and fatherhood, and to try to make fine wives and mothers of our girls. It would be cheaper to put prayer, self-sacrifice, self-control, courage, goodness, into permanent marriage, than to continue to make the dissolution of homes and nurseries and married folk easier and easier. Cheaper to the general welfare, cheaper in money, wiser in every way.

Apart from the moral and theological aspects of the matter, there is more happiness for both men and women in an unsuccessful marriage carried through to a happy ending, by sheer force of courage, common sense and mutual dignity and respect, than in 10 divorces.

There is no such thing as wresting happiness from happiness, or victory from victory. Happiness must be won from doubt and sorrow, and victory from defeat, if they are to mean anything in our lives. Many a happy wife and mother of 35 or 40 looks back in humble gratitude at her old turbulent, wretched, misunderstood self, thanking God that her conception of marriage did not permit her to run away from her life's work.

But it is strange to notice with how little satisfaction in the divorced look back—or indeed, look forward.

Our children will grow to a cheated and deceived man and womanhood if they believe that they can conquer the difficulties of life by evading them. To live only for pleasure — for cars and dances, clothes and country clubs, games and trips and flattery and novelty and excitement, is never to find pleasure at all. Worthwhile lives are always heroic and honest lives, and no hero — no scientist or discoverer or genius, no great teacher or healer or saint, started out with a bland attempt to be always "happy."

With such action as that of the Reno courts we see the chasm widening between the two camps; the years are going to show us more and more clearly that divorce is not the solution. There is no happiness in it, no health in it, no answer.

But for every true marriage, every marriage accepted as a sacrament and a vocation, there is a happy way out. No matter what the difficulties, the clouds, the mistakes of its beginnings, the earth is solid under the feet of the man and woman who must pull together.

Gradually, the compensations begin; their pride in their home, their children, their increasing influence in the community, their increasing patience and self-control, their friends, their books, their very stability—all thess have their weight. The married woman, whatever her trials, is working toward a definite end. The divorced woman is too often completely adrift.

It would be interesting to study the lives of—say, 3,000 women who had gotten divorces, on any grounds at all, and 3,000 others who had fought on through "unhappy" marriages. The statistics in terms of plain human happiness, pride, success, interest in life, hope, forgiveness, patience, character, love, might give us something to talk about.

The married woman, whatever her trials, is working toward a definite end. The divorced woman is too often completely adrift.

ZOE BECKLEY'S CORNER

Love? Or Money?

"Dear Zoe: Have been married. Have two little girls, am 26 and in real love with a man 25. Also have a dear friend old enough to be my father who can give me all money can buy but I don't love him. Can you be happy with friendship while your heart is with another man? He is poor—earning but $27 a week.
—JUST PUZZLED.

ZOE BECKLEY

No. You cannot be happy with friendship, however warm, if your heart is with another man. You might if you were 50, but not at your age. Nor could four persons live happily or any other way on $27 a week. It would be unfair to all to try such a risky experiment. No man of 25 deserves to have a ready-made burden thrust upon him, eager as he may think himself at the moment.

Any able-bodied woman of 26, willing to work hard, can support herself and, with intelligence, make a home for two kids. A friend of mine, Alice Foote MacDougall, now rated in Dun and Bradstreet at several millions, and the owner of half a dozen smart tearooms in New York, started out alone with three youngsters and $37 in cash. Two others I know make good livings renting rooms and giving board in their own homes.

One can multiply such cases by the dozen, the only difference being in the individual method each woman pursues. It all depends on will and initiative.

Questionnaire

"Dear Zoe: We are two girls who have no mother to ask. 1. Is there any harm in dancing? 2. After our boy friends bring us home from a dance should we say anything if they go back and take other girls home? 3. Is there any harm in talking to a married man at a dance—just a friendly talk? 4. What about parking at night for a mere talk? 5. Is it good taste for girls to smoke in front of boys?
—SALLY AND DORIS."

1. None in the world, unless you do it vulgarly—which you won't. 2. Certainly not. Why shouldn't they? 3. Of course not. Be polite and friendly to any one you know, but don't be flirtatious toward married men. 4. Parking at night under any circumstances has its dangers. If you know the boys really well, and know them to be the right sort, "mere talk" is harmless. The trouble is, how often does it remain mere talk? Better not. 5. Don't smoke unless you honestly care for it, and in moderation. Boys think better of girls for not smoking, although they rarely say it in words. If you smoke at all you may as well do it before people as in secret.

Hope Lies Ahead

"Dear Zoe: I am 33, good looking and work hard every day. Five months ago I was deserted by a young man I had loved steadfastly four years. There is nothing for me but to forget he is in the world. Tell me, Zoe, have I still a chance with someone else? Or have I wasted too much on the one who is not forgotten? Am I too old to take dancing lessons?
—CAST OFF."

Listen, my dearie: First of all, stop this very instant thinking of yourself as "Cast Off." Unhappy loves happen to almost every one some time or other. One recovers from them, as from other hurts. Time cures. Help time along by holding your head high, smiling until it becomes a habit, and filling every possible hour of your life with some activity. Your work will help. It's the best thing of all. Find new interest in it. Resolve to be a whopping success.

By all means take dancing lessons. Dancing helps to keep you young. Any woman nowadays who takes moderate care of herself is young, and looks even younger than her years. Look ahead, never backward. Be happy. There are so many things in the world besides the immediate love affair. Tide over the gap between this unhappy one and the ones that will come in the future by cultivating friends and many interests.

Now whenever you feel yourself slipping into the dumps say quickly: "I must stop this—or Zoe will scold." Every time you smile, make a new friends or force yourself to go to some nice party, pat yourself on the back and say: "Good! Zoe'd approve of this!"

Write me if it works out.

Wandering—but Where?

"Dear Zoe: I am 16, finished senior year at high. I have talent for guitar and piano, like to use typewriter and always wanted to be a nurse. Where can I be at my age? Have no parents, no home and no money. Help!
—ROSELLA."

Can't be a trained nurse at your age. Must be 18 even to start and most states require a student to be a high school graduate. You could be a practical nurse or a children's nurse.

Talent for guitar and piano might be a breadwinner if you read music like a whizz and are good enough to play jazz and croons in some movie palace, say.

Typewriting (I hope that extra "t" in "typewritter" is banished for good) sounds better. But you must be able to do it fast, and spell and punctuate correctly to be a typist. Good dictaphone operators earn up to around $30 a week, but don't begin at that.

Look yourself over carefully and decide what you are best fitted to do. Then stick to that and forget the rest.

Can You Beat It?

"Dear Zoe: He paid me a great deal of attention and I cared for him but sort of snubbed him. Then he became distant and cool. He speaks and is friendly, but with such a difference! How can I regain his affection? —L. L."

Isn't it the funniest thing how as soon as we lose 'em we want 'em? I declare, it works almost as unfailingly as the tides. So surely, in fact, that I wonder all lovers who fear their sweethearts are slipping don't try the absence cure?

How to win a man back, once you've snubbed him, is another matter. Try simple friendliness, cordiality and complete frankness. Tell him you've been foolish and that you want to be friends. But don't be mushy.

Too Good for Him

LOS ANGELES. — Found—the wife who is too good for her husband. She's the wife of Fritz Abbenseth, and she was so good that Fritz thought he ought to have a divorce on those grounds. Fritz told the judge that she insisted that he, Fritz, didn't pray enough. She left religious mottoes and notes under his plate and on chairs around the house.

CENSUS OF TEXAS FARMS SHOWS BIG TENANTRY INCREASE

MANY MORE RENTED FARMS THAN FORMERLY

Some interesting trends in Texas agriculture during the decade from 1920 to 1930 are indicated in the preliminary reports of the 1930 farm census.

The reports so far received cover 43 Texas counties, or about a sixth of the whole number. Every part of the state is represented in the reports released so far, so that these 43 counties may be said to constitute a cross section of the state's agriculture as a whole.

In these 43 counties, the number of farms increased from 109,246 in 1920 to 127,160 in 1930, the gain being 11.6 per cent.

In the same counties the number of rented farms increased from 57,669 in 1920 to 73,172 in 1930, the increase being 26.8 per cent. Farm tenantry increased more than twice as rapidly as the number of farms. In 1920, not quite 53 per cent of the farms in these 43 counties were operated by tenants. In 1930, 64 per cent of the farms were rented ones.

Other trends indicated by the preliminary figures are:

An enormous decrease in hogs.

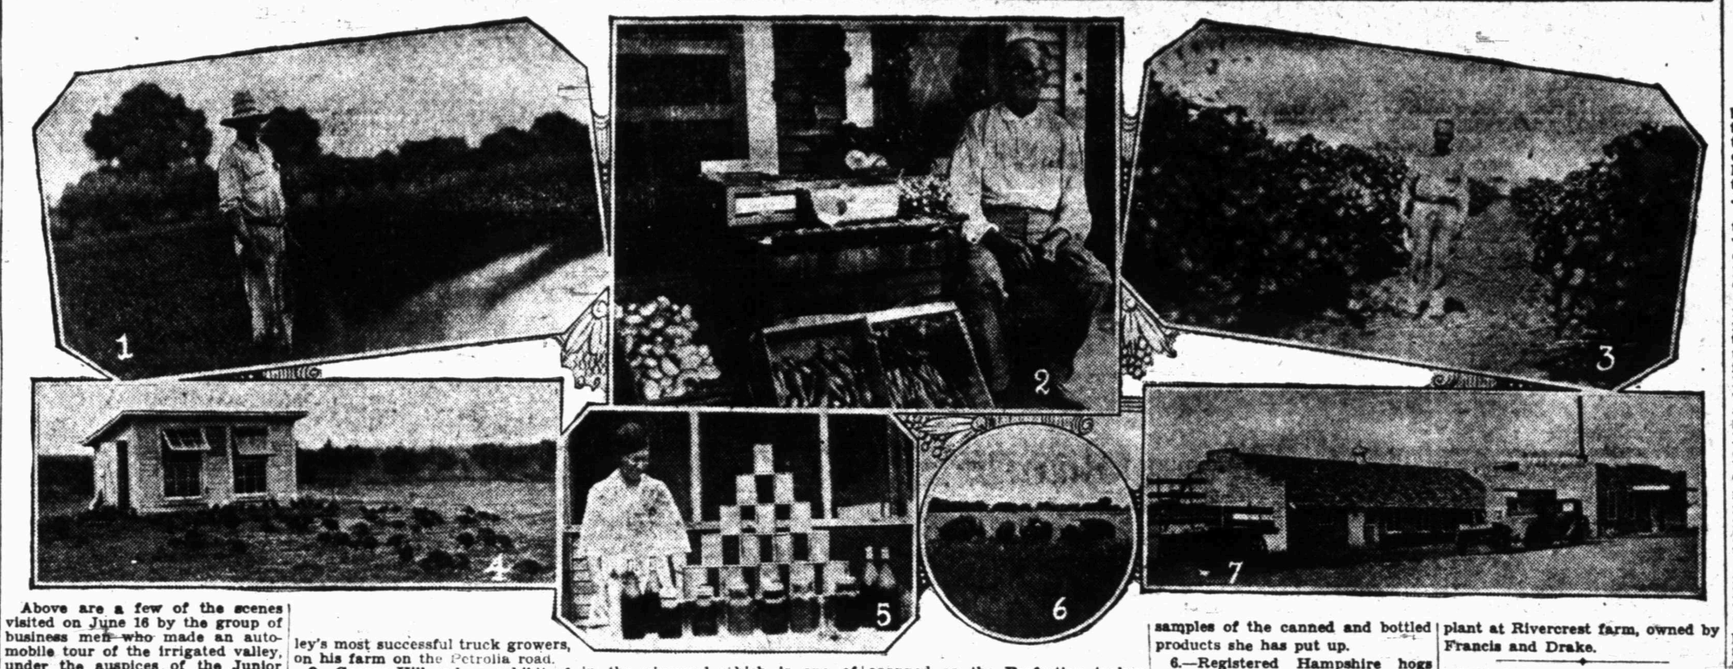

In some sections of Texas, mainly those where cotton or wheat is the principal crop, a tendency toward larger individual farms is indicated and in the section where more attention is being given to truck-raising, the tendency is toward smaller farms.

While the first reports indicate a gain in the number of farms, it is likely that the figures for Texas as a whole will show that the gain, if any, is accounted for by the big increase in the South Plains region, where millions of acres have been brought under the plow since 1920. In that region, farm tenantry is the general rule.

The reports indicate that the relative value of farm lands and buildings has declined since 1920 in Texas.

No Northwest Texas counties were included among those in the intial batch of reports. Those reported on were Anderson, Austin, Bailey, Bell, Bexar, Blanco, Borden, Bowie, Brazoria, Brazos, Burleson, Burnet, Caldwell, Calhoun, Camp, Cass, Castro, Cherokee, Cochran, Cooke, Culberson, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Duval, Ector, Fannin, Fayette, Fisher, Fort Bend, Franklin, Grimes, Harris, Harrison, Hemphill, Henderson, Hopkins, Jasper, McCulloch, Rusk, Shackelford, San Jacinto, Smith and Swisher.

THROUGH THE IRRIGATED VALLEY WITH THE CAMERA

5.—Mrs. C. C. Burrows with a few samples of the canned and bottled products she has put up.

7.—Part of the modern dairy plant at Rivercrest farm, owned by Francis and Drake.

Columbia Camp Concerts Will Be Opened July

The first program of the Columbia camp concerts, a summer extension of the American School of the Air, will be presented over a coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting system at 2:30 to 3 p. m., central standard time, July 1.

These programs will reach more than three million boys and girls who annually go away to summer camps, as well as the thousands of parents who each year leave the cities for their vacations.

The opening program will commence with a brief poem by Byron, followed by the hymn, "God in Nature," composed by Beethoven. Then the children in the camps will join in the singing of "America the Beautiful," after which Adele Vasa will sing a "Norwegian Echo Song" accompanied by the orchestra. "The Storm" and "The Calm" from "William Tell," march music, "The Ride of the Wild Horseman," "Brahms' Waltz," and "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffman," will be other numbers on the program. Games for children, jumping music, running music, Hawaiian music and a lovely folk dance, also will be featured.

Dr. Bertha Chapman Cady, formerly of the American Museum of Natural History, will give a brief talk on nature.

The first of a series of broadcasts of portions of the Lewisohn stadium concerts, from the College of the City of New York, will be presented over the WABC-Columbia network at 8 p. m., central standard time, Thursday, July 9, with Willem van Hoogstraten conducting. The opening broadcast of the series originally was scheduled for Wednesday, July 8.

Every Day Life of the Farmer's Wife

Well folks! We had another caponizing demonstration at Iowa Park Monday, June 22. We had a good size crowd and every one seemed interested. We have had 375 birds pledged to date. That is a good start but we need a lot more. We must have at least 1,200 birds before we can think of shipping a car, and we all know there is no local market for capons. It won't bind you in any way for you to pledge your birds because if we don't get enough for a car none of us will caponize. Now folks if you are interested please send in your pledge at once. When we have enough pledged for a car it will be published in the Times.

Now I want to state here that all I get out of this capon project is a market for the capons I hope to raise. All that Mr. McGown gets out of it is a lot of work giving demonstrations. We are giving our services in order to help the rural people of this section establish the poultry industry, to help the farmers operate on a cash basis, and to help us all live easier and better in the future. I can't think of anything that every one can do so easily as raising capons, nor do I know of anything that can be put on the market so quickly, with such little effort, and so readily turned into cash as capons. The man who lives in the suburbs can raise a few, the tenant farmer, the hatcheryman, in fact almost any one could have 25 or 30 capons. I have not talked to any one who did not think this capon project was a good thing so why not all of us make a special effort and "put it over big?" Many people could raise capons who could not have turkeys or hogs or any kind of stock.

Now folks, you risk 10 times more every year in a cotton crop than we are asking you to put in on this capon project, but we wade into a cotton crop up to our necks every spring but we are afraid to risk $10 or $12 on capons, even though every newspaper in the land is telling us to cut down on our cotton acreage or we can't get 10 cents per pound for it, which they say we should have, and yet we raise more and more, knowing that we could not eat the cotton if something happened to that market, but we could eat the capons. Why not cut down on your cotton and raise more capons? It is the safest proposition.

What is wrong with you good Clay county folks who were going to help us out on this capon project? I have not received your pledges yet. I want to thank all of you folks who wrote me those nice letters telling me how well you enjoy the articles I write for the Times. I am glad you like them and I shall try to make them even better in the future.

All those who wanted to know at what age to caponize your chickens I will say just as soon as you can distinguish the sex. Those who said they would caponize if they knew they could get the work done I will say that Mr. McGown, our county agent, will be glad to instruct you, drop him a line and he will give you all particulars. I will personally answer all letters in which are enclosed a self-addressed stamped envelope, and Mr. McGown will see that every one learns to caponize who wants to.

I also want to know what is wrong with you Wichita county hatchery men that you have not pledged the number of capons you will raise. Don't you realize that this capon project is one of the best boosters your business could have if it goes over. If we can only get this car of capons and get the people to understand that it is a good thing, every one will want the heavy type of chickens next spring for capons. So come on and help us out. If you don't have any chickens it won't break you up to buy 25 or 30 roosters at the price they are now. I know this capon project will be a good advertisement for your business.

If we put this capon project over I think it will be a good thing to have a capon booth at the Wichita county fair, but to succeed in this project we must have more pledges. I have not received a pledge yet so large as my own. I pledged 100 birds. I want to know who is going to raise that number? If you farmers wives and farmers don't help us out I will be compelled to call you pikers, cotton-minded pikers. I don't know how industrious you are, but I am not very industrious when it comes to picking cotton, especially 7-cent cotton, when it was 40 cents a pound I did not mind it quite so badly. But laying all jokes aside I do think that we farmers should take advantage of every cash side line that we possibly can. Some people say better times are just around the corner. I truly hope they know, but if I am any judge, times are conditions, and I can't see how times are going to get better for farmers so long as wheat sells for 35 cents, cotton for seven cents, and everything else that farmers produce in proportion. So long as all our produce brings such low prices, the only way we can keep a standard of living fit for humans is to be very alert and never miss an opportunity to cash in on all side lines that will pay. I truly believe capons will pay next spring. Let's feed them some of that 35 cents wheat.

Of course, Mr. McGown can't caponize every one's birds but if you will let us know that you want to caponize we will recommend some one who will do the work for you if you do not wish to do it yourself.

REQUEST NUMBERS FILL DENNIS KING PROGRAMS

So immediate and overwhelming was the response to Dennie King's request for suggested numbers to be sung during his programs, broadcast over the Columbia network five nights, weekly at 5:15 p. m., central standard time, that the third week's programs, beginning Monday, June 29, are made up almost exclusively of request numbers.

The popular British-American stage and screen star is also receiving many suggestions from fans for the poetry recitations included in each program.

THIRTY-FIVE BANDS TO PLAY AT ELKS MEETING

Thirty-five complete bands, totaling 1,500 musicians, will play a group of noted marches in the Elks massed-band concert to be broadcast from the Seattle Civic auditorium over an NBC-WJZ network Tuesday, July 7, from 3 to 3:30 p. m., central standard time.

SOLEMN MASS FEATURES SUNDAY CATHEDRAL HOUR

Gounod's Messe Solemelle, or solemn mass, will be the main work to be heard in the cathedral hour, from 2 to 3 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, June 28, over the WABC-Columbia network, under the direction of Channon college.

Outstanding among his many works for the church, this mass was one of two which he wrote before turning his attention to opera, and it illustrates the increasingly dramatic nature of his composition. Other Gounod numbers in the program are the motet, "Ave Verum," to be sung by the choir; the soprano solo, "O, Divine Redeemer," in which Lillian Bucknam will be accompanied by violin, harp and organ, and another choral work, "Unfold Ye Portals." Crane Calder will be heard in an excerpt from Verdi's Manzoni requiem, "Confutas."

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Robert L. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—The Campanile of San Marco, Struck by Lightning 89 Times: My statement about the remarkable record of the famous campanile of San Marco in Venice as a target for lightning is based on information contained in Relazione Storiche, issued by the commission for preservation of historical monuments in 1902. Between the time of its erection in 888 and its reconstruction in 1329 the tower was struck by lightning and set on fire 42 times. In 1329 the architect Mortagnani replaced the wooden summit of the tower with a marble arrow. In the century following 22 strokes of lightning were recorded in the same spot. And between 1429 and 1902 the campanile was struck by lightning 25 times. The campanile, with the golden angel perched on its summit, is the most conspicuous landmark of the city of the doges. The Emperor Heliogabalus: The Emperor Heliogabalus, who assumed the purple of a Roman emperor at the age of 14, and was assassinated after ruling less than four years (204-222), is the holder of the record in gluttony and unparalleled revelry and debauchery of all time. I told in my sketch of his daily dinner costing 300,000 sesterces, equal to about $260,000 in pursuchasing value at the present time. This dinner consisted of a minimum of 22 courses, and each course taken in the house of a different friend. The other particulars of this imperial boy's follies indeed transcend belief. He rowed on reservoirs filled with costly old wines, his fish pond was filled with attar of roses, the lions of his menagerie were fed on peacocks' and nightingales' tongues, parrot brains and pheasants. History rightly considers this mere youth the greatest whoopee maker in history. Thomas Kitson Wore a Suit of Wool Sheared Six Hours Before: Thomas Kitson, founder of a woolen mill in Stroudsburg, Pa., during his lifetime gave to the world a record of speed and workmanship in the textile industry. In the amazing time of six hours and four minutes the fleece of six sheep was transformed into a finished suit of up-to-date clothing worn by Mr. Kitson. At half-past six on the morning of May 18, 1898, shearers handed the wool to the sorters, who started in through the 18 processes of manufacture. At 10 o'clock the cloth was given to the tailors, who finished the suit and delivered it to Mr. Kitson shortly after noon.

If it were possible for you to deliver a five minute "sales talk" personally, to each of 31,573 prospective customers . . . it would take more than FIFTY-FOUR WEEKS of continuous talking, at the rate of eight hours a day and six days a week . . . You could SELL a whale of a lot of merchandise under those circumstances, couldn't you?

Such a talk fest is, of course, impossible, but you can easily reach the homes of every one of those 31,573 prospective BUYERS with your sales message—Not once in fifty-four weeks but EVERY DAY . . . and remember those homes are occupied not by ONE customer but by an average of three and one-half, which brings the actual number of prospective buyers of YOUR merchandise to more than one hundred and ten thousand.

SERVICES GIVEN THROUGH WTCC TOLD IN LETTER

President of Chamber Details Facilities Available

MANY OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED TO MEMBERS

Industrial Survey Made in Many Affiliated Cities

Services and facilities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which are available to members are outlined in a letter received at the local chamber Saturday from Houston Harte of San Angelo, president of the West Texas organization.

A copy of the letter, it was explained, has been forwarded to every member chamber in West Texas as well as to many others.

Mr. Harte urged in his letter that the individual chambers take fullest advantage of the services offered through the regional organization.

His letter follows:

"While the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is a regional commercial organization which confines its work program to problems of regional interest and scope that affect the area of West Texas as a whole, yet the organization has facilities for giving direct service to its affiliated cities and towns that are valuable and should be used by local chambers of commerce, groups, and members.

"As the official representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in your city, it is part of your duty to see that your community is made aware of these services and uses them. If they are used by all of our affiliated cities, both the city and the organization are benefited. We recite a few of these services below.

"Industrial Opportunities—Our Fort Worth office lists industrial opportunities existing in West Texas cities, and gives publicity to them. If your city has some such opportunity, this service affords a splendid medium for getting it before business men of the nation who may be interested in meeting the need. Many cities have availed themselves of this service in the past to their advantage.

"Industrial Survey—All of our offices have complete industrial surveys of a large number of our affiliated cities on file at all times for giving out information about them. If your city has not made its industrial survey and filed it with the organization, it should do so. These surveys are made the basis of much publicity that is given out all through the year. Several inquiries about cities have been answered by the information contained in the surveys, resulting in many cases in the location of needed industries, or business enterprises in the respective cities.

"See if your city has completed its survey and if it has not, have your local chamber of commerce get the blanks from us and prepare it at once. We will then be in position to give your city this service.

"Publicity—We publish a monthly magazine, West Texas Today, which is primarily a house organ, giving the news of the activities of this organization but in it we give publicity to worth while West Texas advantages and opportunities. Communities having some special advantage or resource of interest that they wish advertised will find the magazine a splendid medium of publicity and advertising. It goes into several thousand Texas homes each month.

"For instance, vacational opportunities, health resorts and playgrounds of West Texas are of timely interest as this is written. If your community has something to offer to summer vacationists, it will make good reading matter for West Texas Today and place your city's advantages before a large number of business men readers.

"Speakers' Bureau—If your community wishes to obtain capable speakers for public affairs of any kind during the year, we are in a position through our general office at Stamford to recommend men versed in different subjects of interest to West Texans who are good speakers.

"Traffic Bureau—We have a traffic bureau for giving informational service on traffic problems. If your community has a traffic problem upon which it is at loss to know how to proceed in solving, this bureau can give you information that will be helpful. Inquiries on traffic problems should be sent to the Stamford office.

"Information About West Texas—We are in a position to give complete and accurate information, or tell communities where it can be obtained on West Texas and West Texas resources. Much of this information is in our industrial survey files described elsewhere in this letter.

"United Action Upon Regional Problems—If your city is interested in some regional activity that is too large in scope for your local chamber of commerce or civic organization to handle, we have a definite plan for submitting the activity to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and getting it made a part of our work program. Any community, under this plan, may initiate a project for the organization if the project is of regional importance, and not antagonistic to the interests of other sections as interpreted by our executive board.

"If your city has such a project in mind we would like to know about it, and can advise definitely how to proceed upon it to get it incorporated as an activity of the organization.

"Chamber of Commerce Organizational Problems—While the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is not attempting to assume a paternal attitude toward local chambers of commerce in West Texas, yet in some smaller communities in West Texas where chamber of commerce work is not well organized, our staff and officials are very anxious to be of service when possible in assisting in organizing or reorganizing commercial organizations. We have men on our staff skilled in commercial organization practices who are glad to give their advice on matters like this, as well as on particular chamber of commerce problems in our affiliated cities when asked to do so."

Editor's Note—This is the third of four exclusive stories on "How They Got Al Capone," who faces sentence at Chicago on June 30 to a federal penitentiary. Previous stories have told how Capone is now insolvent as the result of business depression and federal prosecution of his gang, and of U. S. District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, their nemesis.

By ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 27.—The business depression which reduced the demand for Al Capone's liquor, gambling and vice may be responsible for the gang leader's insolvency today, but he owes his approaching penitentiary sentence to a small group of persistent men who worked nearly four years to get him behind the bars.

The "intelligence unit" of the U. S. internal revenue bureau is probably the least known of Uncle Sam's investigating agencies. It hunts income tax dodgers quietly, sticks with a given job year after year, works behind the scenes, gets no glory, wants none. In fact, this is probably the first time you have ever seen its name in a newspaper.

Therefore, it is in order to tell something about this little known but highly efficient secret service organization. It works under the direction of the David Barnet, U. S. commissioner of internal revenue at Washington. Its chief is Elmer L. Irey, a veteran investigator with many famous cases to its credit. Heading the Chicago division, which comprises seven states, is A. P. Madden, division chief. An ace among its special agents is Frank J. Wilson of Washington.

Its men are not detectives and do not claim to be. Mostly, they are expert accountants and lawyers. They know little about guns and nothing about disguises, but they do know an awful lot about bank accounts and financial transactions. Give one of them a few days and he can possibly tell you more about your financial affairs than you know yourself.

They worked three and one-half years to get the goods on Al Capone, and in doing so they assisted in the financial wrecking of his gang by sending two if his chief lieutenants to the penitentiary and getting several more started well on the road there. Frank Nitti, Capone gang treasurer and alcohol king, and Sam Guzik, its slot machine and vice czar, are in Leavenworth prison now for trying to beat the income tax law. Ralph Capone, Al's bother and chief of the beer division, is under sentence of three years but has appealed. Jack Guzik, Capone's business manager and head of the gambling syndicate, is likewise under sentence, but has appealed. There are others, too, but they don't figure in this story.

The trail that finally led to Al Capone himself began late in 1927. One of the income tax bureau's agents found that Ralph Capone had not filed returns for 1922 1923, 1924 or 1925. He suggested to Ralph that he had better file.

Ralph filed, but paid no tax, insisting that he was financially unable. Pressed, he offered $1,000 as a compromise. He represented that he was insolvent, or virtually so, and that his only holdings amounted to half interest in race horses of doubtful value.

Slot Machine Check Gives Clew

In January, 1928, the intelligence agents began to investigate his ability to pay his taxes, penalties and interest charges for the four years.

Somewhere along the line the investigators chanced upon a $500 check drawn by a South Side man whom they knew to be interested in a slot machine racket. Who got it? Bank accounts were quietly analyzed and it was found that this check had been deposited in a bank at Cicero (Chicago suburb and Capone stronghold) to the credit of one "James Carson."

Tracing the "James Carson" account the agents made an amazing discovery. Thev found that several years before Ralph Capone had opened an account in this bank under his own name, and had then opened and closed six successive accounts under various aliases, during which time $2,000,000 passed through these several accounts.

This discovery wasn't easy. The bank officials said they didn't know of any connection between the various accounts and therefore could be of little aid. Moreover, the bank officials were not acquainted with "James Carson" or any of the others because, as they said, these customers had never come to the bank. They always sent the signature cards out to them, it was explained, and deposits and withdrawals were made by representatives. The canceled checks had been returned to the customer long ago. There seemed to be no trail to follow.

Comparing Accounts Links Them

But this didn't stump the investigators. By tediously checking the amounts of withdrawals and comparing these amounts with simultaneous deposits to other accounts and finding people who got various checks, the investigators finally tied Ralph to every one of these accounts. Where the amounts were in round numbers it was hard, but where odd amounts were involved comparison was easier.

The government then produced witnesses who testified that Ralph signed checks by these various aliases in their presence. Moreover, handwriting experts identified the various signature cards as having been signed by the same man.

Turning next to the deposits made to these accounts, the agents traced these checks back to saloon keepers who had bought beer from Ralph. They even produced saloon keepers who testified to this on the witness stand. Some of them were pay roll checks that saloon keepers had cashed for their customers.

Remittance sheets of the bank showed checks sent to other banks for collection. Though details may vary, every bank keeps such a record of every check. This led to a new trail. For six weeks six men did nothing else but trace literally thousands upon thousands of old checks. Bales of dusty remittance sheets and other bank records, long stored in warehouses, were taken out and scanned.

Trail Leads to Guzik Account

In the end, they got what they wanted. The trail of the Ralph Capone checks led to Jack Guzik's accounts in other Chicago banks—accounts that represented yearly transactions running into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Gangdom was being linked together.

By some means best known to themselves, the agents found Fred Reese, Guzik's financial helper, in St. Louis and brought him back here. Reese testified he, at various times, had purchased $250,000 worth of cashier's checks with gang profits from gambling houses. Practically all of these were traced to Guzik, just as Reese said they could be. Guzik, trying to be shrewd, had turned in his money and bought cashier's checks, but he was too dumb to know that cashier's checks leave the clearest trail of all.

The Capone gang's Hawthorne dog track was paying huge profits—in one year it actually paid a 300 per cent cash dividend. These dividend checks were traced and some found deposited to the account of a Dr. David B. Owens in a certain bank. Strangely enough, an identical sum of money had been withdrawn from Dr. Owens' account the next day. Strangely, too, an exactly similar amount had been deposited to Guzik's credit in another Chicago bank the following day. On the stand, Dr. Owens admitted that the stock held in his name really belonged to Guzik.

The trail led next to the accounts of Sam Guzik, Jack's brother. Sam was hiding behind aliases, too, and dabbling with various brokerage houses, but again the careful checking of accounts nailed its man. Sam pleaded guilty.

Nitti, Gang Treasurer, Nailed

On and on the trail led to Frank Nitti and his transactions, as it was eventually ascertained, of $700,000 to $800,000 in two years. But Nitti had a different system; he didn't deposit the checks he collected, but would merely leave them at the bank to be cleared, call back again after they had been cleared and get the cash. It looked like Nitti hadn't left much of a trail.

But investigators who had been trained as expert accountants knew better. They knew that every bank keeps a record of "out clearings," showing where checks sent to it for collection went when they went home. Tedious tracing followed these checks back to the alcohol buyers and others whence they came. Nitti soon found it advisable to enter a plea of guilty and take 18 months in Leavenworth, where he now is.

Trail Leads to "Big Shot" Himself

On and on the trail led, through a maze of bank records of one sort or another. Weeks and months had gone by since the government agents had stumbled on that first $500 slot machine check that led its devious path to Ralph Capone, otherwise "James Carson," but always the object was the same. Higher still was the man who was yet to be got—the "Big Fellow" himself.

The other day the internal revenue bureau's men found themselves ready. At last they had the long-sought missing link. They struck. The long-awaited income tax indictments against Al Capone himself were returned. A few days later Capone came into court and pleaded guilty.

You may guess what that missing link was. Until Capone is actually behind the bars at Leavenworth penitentiary, these shrewd investigators will not reveal it.

Specifically, Al was charged with "failure to file, failure to pay, attempts to defeat and evade" income taxes for the years 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929 on an income totaling $1,038,659.89. The government says it can prove that he evaded a tax of $215,080.48, which now—with the 50 per cent penalty for fraud and interest charges—amounts to $400,000. They say they can prove this much income in court; there may be much more.

Others of the income tax bureau's secret service who aided in getting the goods on Al Capone were Special Agents N. E. Tessem and Clarence Converse of Chicago; Archie Martin of Kansas City; U. S. Revenue Agents Westrich and Claggett of Brooklyn, and William Hodgins, Chicago revenue agent.

Next—How prohibition agents got their evidence.

WHAT ONE $500 SLOT MACHINE CHECK TURNED UP AFTER THREE YEARS

The extent of gangland's financial operations in Chicago and the part played by the gangsters mentioned in this story is indicated by these figures, taken from federal court records at Chicago. These incomes are for three years in each case. The government does not contend that these figures are complete; they represent merely the amounts the government was able to prove.

	3-Yr. Income	Source
Ralph Capone	$1,871,000	Beer
Jack Guzik	1,049,000	Gambling
Frank Nitti	700,000	Alcohol
Sam Guzik	340,000	Slot machines

All these men were Al Capone's lieutenants. How much of the money they collected eventually went to the "Big Shot" himself? They wouldn't tell, preferring to go to the penitentiary instead. The government was getting ready to show what Al Capone got when he suddenly pleaded guilty and thus ended a trial.

VOODOO DOCTOR JAILED FOR FAILURE TO REMOVE WARTS FROM GIRL'S NOSE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 27. (UP)—Perhaps the first arrest for alleged voodooism in the history of Colorado was made in the case of Good Daniel, who claimed he could remove warts from little girls' noses by magic.

Good Daniel came to the city a week ago and encountered the worried father of an 11-year-old negro girl. The father worried because his daughter had warts on her nose. He had tried everything, but nothing would remove the warts.

Warts on little girls' noses were Good Daniel's specialty, he said. They could be removed by magic in one treatment. It was administered. But the warts remained. Something had gone wrong with the magic formula, he explained, and induced the little girl's father to pay for a second treatment.

The absence of any noticeable results caused the father to have Good Daniel arrested.

BETTY NUTHALL BEATS RANKING U. S. PLAYER

LONDON, June 27. (AP)—Before her king and queen and with 10,000 fellow countrymen applauding, Betty Nuthall, chubby darling of the British courts, Saturday defeated Mrs. L. Harper, ranking woman player of the United States, 6-4, 6-3, and moyed into the quarterfinals of singles play with two other British women, two Germans, one Frenchwoman, one Swiss and Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif.

Mrs. John Van Ryn lost to Mme. Rene Mathieu, France's ranking player, but Miss Jacobs disposed of Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, twice a Wimbledon champion, 6-2, 6-1.

Frank Shields and Sidney B. Woods Jr., first played the British team of G. R. O. Crolerees and C. G. Eames, winning easily, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2, but they almost met a Tartar in the South African pair of P. D. B. Spence and L. Raymond, finally breaking through after five dramatic sets, to win 5-7, 1-6, 6-5, 6-2, 6-0.

The final eight of men's singles also was completed Saturday, Satoh, Jean Borotra, and H. W. (Bunny) Austin winning straight set victories to join Shields, Wood, John Van Ryn, G. P. Hughes and Fred Perry in the final eight.

JUDGES CHOSEN FOR FAIR AT CHILLICOTHE

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, June 27.—Two judges have been selected for the Chillicothe Valley fair, to be held here Sept. 17-19, according to announcement made by the fair association secretary this week.

J. D. Tinsley, general agriculture agent for the Santa Fe Railway company, with headquarters in Amarillo, and M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth & Denver, with headquarters at Wichita Falls, have already signified their willingness to serve as judges of the community booths and individual exhibits.

Exhibits for the coming Chillicothe Valley Fair will be from Hardeman and Wilbarger counties, furnishing a bi-county competition which it is felt will be more interesting than if exhibits were limited to one county.

DEATH VERDICT FOR AMERICAN MEXICO COURT

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mexico, June 27. (AP)—W. J. Meers, 28, of El Paso, Texas was sentenced to death in the second penal court here today for killing a Mexican bar tender, Antonio Visconti, in Juarez, Chihuahua, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, on June 18, 1930.

Suzarte Cabrera, Meers' attorney, gave notice of appeal to the state supreme court and indicated if the sentence was upheld there he would appeal to the federal supreme court at Mexico City.

Meers said after the shooting in a cafe that he mistook Visconti for Manuel Villareal, who had been sought for a pay roll robbery at an El Paso bank in 1924 during which Meers father, W. H. Meers, a bank guard, was killed.

At various hearings and at the trial, Meers' defense was based on a plea of insanity. He was examined by several boards of physicians, at least two of which said he was insane at the time of the shooting. Meers was imprisoned in jail at Juarez, but Mexican authorities became suspicious about six months ago that he might escape into the United States and transferred him to the penitentiary at Chihuahua City.

PYTHIANS OF TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA PLAN PICNIC AUGUST 11

Preparations are well under way for the fifth annual picnic of the Texas-Oklahoma Pythian Picnic association at Coleman park near Iowa Park, Tuesday, Aug. 11, it was announced Saturday by C. W. Gorin, president of the association.

Hundreds of Pythians and their families from Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma will take part in the festivities, which will last all day and during the evening.

Among the speakers will be Royal G. Phillips of Tyler, grand chancellor of Texas Pythians; Ellis T. House of Dallas, immediate past grand chancellor; the Oklahoma grand chancellor and the grand keeper of the record and seals for that state.

Mr. Gorin is arranging the speakers' program. Fred Musick of Electra, vice president, is in charge of sports and other entertainment. Andy Butcher of Iowa Park, secretary, is arranging for the refreshments.

Substantial farm relief is planned by the Pythians, Mr. Gorin said, particularly in the form of heavy consumption of fried chicken.

BOSWELL ATTENDS CHAMBER MEETING HELD IN STAMFORD

John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, returned Saturday afternoon from Stamford, where he attended the initial meeting of the secretaries advisory board of the West Texas chamber, held there during the day.

The board, Mr. Boswell explained, is composed of one representative from each of the 10 regions into which the West Texas chamber territory is divided.

Saturday's meeting, Mr. Boswell said, was for the primary purpose of initiating the work of the board during the year.

Screen Favorites Wed Friday Night At Beverly Hills

LOS ANGELES, June 27. (AP)—William Powell and Carole Lombard, principals in a motion picture colony romance of some duration, were married last night at the Beverly Hills home of the actress' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters. The ceremony was witnessed only by relatives.

The couple had booked passage to Honolulu on the liner Malolo, sailing today.

Powell was born in Kansas City, Miss Lombard in Fort Wayne, Ind. He entered pictures in 1923, she in 1926. They became acquainted when cast in the same picture.

ALLOWABLE PRODUCTION OKLAHOMA CITY FIELD INCREASED FOUR DAYS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (AP)—The allowable production of the Oklahoma City oil field was increased from 6 to 10 per cent of the potential for the last four days of June under terms of an order signed by Paul Walker, corporation commission chairman, and E. R. Hughes, member.

C., and Mrs. Augusta Doebbler of San Antonio.

Col. Penick Re-Elected President Of Cowboy Reunion at Last Business Session at Celebration in Stamford

STAMFORD, Texas, June 27. (AP)—After three days of eating from chuck wagons and swapping tales of yester years, cowboys of more than 35 years ago today re-elected Col. R. L. Penick of Stamford president of the Texas Cowboy reunion, and prepared to leave for their homes in widely scattered portions of the state.

Three nights and three days these veterans of the range spent in frolicking in cowboy fashion to turn again tonight for the ranch lands which they call home.

They elected L. C. Proctor of Midland first vice president; George Gilkerson of Lubbock, second vice president; Judge Charles E. Coombes of Stamford, secretary, and Starks Daugherty of Anson, treasurer.

Walter Cousins of Dallas was elected historian and instructed to prepare data on the cattle industry, ranches and brands, and to write biographies, sketches and reminiscences of publication.

Frank Rhoades of Throckmorton was named ranch boss of the reunion. He will have charge of preparations for next year's camp.

Nine members were elected to the board of directors, as follows: Clyde Burnett, Benjamin; John Davis, Throckmorton; Dip Holmberg, Dumont; George Boles, Lubbock; Houston Ward, Swenson; Lee Ribble, Crowell; John Gist, Odessa; Gent Owsley, Stamford, and Tom Mons, Haskell.

In adopting the bylaws, the group extended membership of wives and widows of pioneer cowmen who have lived on a ranch as long as 35 years.

Plans were also made for the organization of a junior organization in order that younger cowboys might participate in the reunion.

Man Questioned at Aspermont Denies Any Connection With Fatal Shooting Of Young Woman in Home at Midland

MIDLAND, Texas, June 27. (AP)—No charge has been filed against N. H. Lassiter in connection with the fatal shooting here last night of Mrs. Lillie Buckelew, officers said tonight. Sheriff Francis is en route to Aspermont to question Lassiter, who formerly was caretaker at the country club here.

Officers have been pondering the woman angle in the Buckelew case after Miss Mildred Tinnin, a junior in high school, who saw the assassin flee from the Buckelew place, reported that he ran queerly—that there was something unnatural in his appearance.

Miss Tinnin was seated on the front porch of her apartment, joining that of W. H. Steele, father of Mrs. Buckelew, a few minutes after 11 o'clock. She heard a shot and a woman's scream, and as she looked up she saw Mrs. Buckelew fall. A second or two later a man ran around a corner of the house, from the rear, trotted across the street, and disappeared in a dark alley.

Mrs. Buckelew, 25-year-old waitress, was killed as she stood in a doorway between the kitchen and bedroom of the Steele apartment. The shot was fired through a back screen, the slayer standing in the dark outside. He used a shotgun with No. 8 shot, which pierced the young woman's side, probably entering the heart. She staggered into the bedroom, crying, "I am shot," and fell dead. She had been to town a short time before, returning with a man.

The young woman was formerly Miss Lillie May Steele and came here four years ago from Hedley. Her father, W. H. Steele, returned tonight from Longview. She was divorced last February from Buckelew. He has been in Arizona for some time.

Claims Alibi

ASPERMON, Texas, June 27. (AP)—N. H. Lassiter, 30, taken in custody for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting at Midland of Mrs. Lillie Buckelew, said he did not even know the young woman had been shot.

"I was engaged to that girl," he cried. "We were to be married in a month. I think I know who killed her, and I will help you solve this case."

Lassiter strongly indicated his belief that Mrs. Buckelew's assassin was a woman. He said that he himself was not at Midland yesterday, and was at church last night in Peacock, 150 miles from the place of the shooting. He was arrested today on a farm near Peacock at the request of Midland county officers, who are en route here to question him. No charge has been filed against him.

Contracts Let on Three Oklahoma Institutional Buildings Without Usual Advertising of Bid Opening

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—Three institutional building contracts were let by the state board of affairs totaling $345,000 June 25 without advertising the letting, it became known today.

W. C. Hughes, chairman of the board, said the work was emergency work and that all contractors who have bid in the past on state work were notified.

Four, five or six bids were received on each job, which was awarded on the lowest bid of record in the office.

The contracts were: Repairing and remodeling at the Sulphur School for the deaf, to G. O. Frier of Sulphur, $25,471; six bids received, highest $28,340 by W. S. Bellows, Oklahoma City; refrigeration plant at McAlester penitentiary, to Cosgrove & Maher, Oklahoma City, $16,867, four bids, highest, $17,776 by the Southwest Heating and Plumbing company of Oklahoma City; repairs to third floor of education building Northeastern State Teachers college at Tahlequah, Manhattan Construction company, Muskogee, $3,800; five bids, highest $4,158 by Bailey-Burns Construction company of Norman.

The money for these contract payments will come from the residue of appropriations made by the extraordinary session of the legislature in 1929. None of the new appropriations is included, Hughes said.

Emergency Measure

"Institutional heads with balances left in their appropriations made through their own savings came to us in a rush seeking these improvements," Hughes said. "There was no time to advertise, if the funds were to be used before the expiration of the fiscal year.

"I don't believe there is anything irregular in the letting. In order to spend the money for needed improvements it was necessary to sign the contracts before the end of the month.

"When the institutions made the requests, we sent engineers and notified the contractors. The first requests asked that requisitions for the work be issued, but we decided on a public letting," Hughes said.

All big orders in the future will be in the public lettings Hughes said. He said the penitentiary in the past had been doing its grocery buying with a requisition, spending thousands of dollars. They must come into the lettings and take advantage of the mass buying of the board in the future, he pointed out.

All buildings will be let in open, just as this letting was open and contractors were notified, and the lowest bid will get the work, he said.

"A certain group of persons who have been cut off from their graft in the past are attacking the board," Hughes said. "They may kill me, but if they do it will be for doing right and I'll not be shot in the back."

Hughes said the advertising, required by law, was substituted with mail notifications. The opening of the bids was public as in any other letting, he said.

SEMINOLE GOLFERS TO INVADE LAMESA LINKS

LAMESA, Texas, June 27.—The Seminole golf aggregation, 10 men strong, will invade the local course Sunday for revenge of a farmer defeat. They will oppose the class B Lamesa team. C. E. Rollins heads the Seminole team, while E. Powell is captain of the local squad.

W. T. C. C. PROGRAM GIVEN APPROVAL AT SECRETARIES' MEET

STAMFORD, Texas, June 27. (AP)—District secretaries of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, meeting here today, approved the program of the regional organization for the year ahead and pledged the renewed confidence of their cities and districts in the re-organized chamber.

After a two-hour conference between the committee on group insurance and the secretarial advisory board, Manager D. A. Bandeen and his staff were authorized to adopt a plan and submit it to the various city chambers of commerce for approval of their officials and employes.

The breeder-feeder movement, highways, taxes, legislation, industrial development, mineral resources and oil and gas problems as they affect the regional group, were discussed at a luncheon.

It was decided by the secretary advisers that the regional body should avoid trade association problems. Two conventions will be held in each of the 10 districts during the year. One for business and the other in the interest of membership.

NOTED BRIDGE EXPERT DEAD

Wilbur C. Whitehead Dies En Route to Europe

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Wilbur C. Whitehead, noted bridge whist expert died today on the S. S. Isle de France, on which he was bound for Europe with his granddaughter.

Mr. Whitehead was one of the country's most prominent bridge authorities, author of numerous books on whist. He was a native of Cleveland, Ohio.

In 1918 Mr. Whitehead published an auction bridge standard, presenting for the first time his famous Whitehead system, which in many respects revolutionized the game and contributed largely to its subsequent popularity.

Only a few weeks ago his book, "What to Do and Why in Contract," was published.

He was about 67 years old.

Singers to Meet

ELECTRA, Texas, June 27.—The Community singers will meet from 2:30 to 4:30 Sunday afternoon, June 28, at the Church of God, at Washington and Dunbar streets. All community singers are urged to be present as splendid music has been arranged.

D. M. PERKINS URGED TO SEEK LEGION PLACE

A message urging that he become a candidate for state commander of the American Legion was received Saturday by D. M. Perkins. The message was from Wayne Davis of San Antonio, former state commander of the legion and for many years prominent in legion affairs. It assured Major Perkins of the support of a number of other leading legionnaires.

Major Perkins said Saturday that the request came as a complete surprise to him, as he had not contemplated seeking the place. He has not reached any decision in the matter.

Veteran of both the Spanish-American and world wars, Major Perkins was the first commander of Pat Carrigan post of the legion. His service in the 36th division created a wide acquaintanceship among Texas veterans.

The state convention will be held in El Paso starting Aug. 27.

EIGHT PERSONS IN JAIL AFTER SERIES HOME BREW RAIDS

Eight persons were arrested and a large quantity of beer seized in a series of raids made by Deputy Sheriffs Ben Smith and E. L. Kincaid during the last 24 hours.

Two negroes were held and their automobile seized after they had delivered a gallon of whisky to the two officers at a location on Tenth street Saturday night.

A man and a woman were arrested and 75 bottles of beer and 18 gallons of mash seized on Brown street.

Late Friday the officers found 115 bottles of beer on ice and 61 gallons of mash in a residence on the Burkburnett road. One man was arrested.

A raid on Travis street Saturday resulted in the seizure of 134 bottles of brew and the arrest of one man. During the day arrests were made and beer seized in raids on Jefferson and Houston streets.

FLIERS ARE AHEAD OF MIDWAY MARK

of Blagoveschensk, for the hop across the Okhotsk and the Bering sea homeward to New York, via Nome, Alaska; Edmonton, Canada, and possibly Cleveland. Post and Gatty are already more than one day ahead of their 10-day schedule for the circumnavigation of the globe. At their present pace, they bid fair to make it in eight days.

Dispatches received here stated that the Winnie Mae landed at Blagoveschensk from Irkutsk shortly after 3 p. m. M. T. (9 a. m. E. D. T.), in about seven hours flying time for the 800-mile hop. The advices stated the fliers plan to resume their journey after refueling and checking their plane.

Landing at Blagoveschensk, the two Americans who are circling the map more quickly than those at home with gazeteers in their laps can follow their course, were just about 3 hours more than four days on their journey. They had covered approximately 8,385 air miles.

Desolate Stretch

Landing at Novo-Sibersk from Moscow at 10:30 a. m. E. D. T. yesterday, they took off 9 hours later for Irkutsk, where they landed at 1 a. m. E. D. T. Saturday, covering the 1,150 miles in the phenomenal time of 5 hours and 30 minutes. At 7:10 a. m. G. T. T. (3:10 a. m. E. D. T.) they were again en route with Blagoveschensk their goal.

From Irkutsk the airmen have been flying over some of the most desolate stretches of the Siberian wastelands. Until they reach Khabarovsk, they will have the glistening rails of the Trans-Siberian railroad to keep them to their course.

Never before in history has that rugged country been crossed at such speed. The Graz Zeppelin, present holder of the round-world record at a little more than 21 days, soared over the steppes in 1929, but that mammoth of the air could not approximate the Winnie Mae's whirlwind speed.

At Khabarovsk, the airmen bend away from the Trans-Siberian railroad, setting their course out toward the Pacific. There is a strong possibility that the airmen will not try to make the 2,300-mile jaunt from Khabarovsk to Nome in one hop. They may put their plane down at Peteropaviovsk, on the Kamchatka peninsula for refueling.

Head for New York

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—F. C. Hall, wealthy Oklahoma oil man, will leave here tomorrow or Monday by plane for New York to welcome Wiley Post and Harold Gatty on the completion of their speed attempt to circle the globe in 10 days in the Winnie Mae monoplane.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Wiley Post, wife of the Winnie Mae pilot. Hall is the sponsor of the flight.

They plan to leave at 9:15 a. m. Sunday over a passenger airline to Cleveland. From there they will take a train into New York. Their departure may be delayed until Monday, depending upon progress of the fliers.

Hall will return to Oklahoma when the pilots return for an elaborate celebration in their honor, which will be held first at Chickasha. Highway patrolmen from Oklahoma City, Tulsa and other cities will join with troops from Fort Sill in the welcome, Hall said.

Sunshine Hill Revival

ELECTRA, Texas, June 27.—For the past week Misses Estelle Barnett and Opal Sanders, members of the local Assembly of God church, have been conducting a revival at the Sunshine Hill schoolhouse. Miss Barnett is in charge of the preaching services and Miss Sanders is leading the singing. Large crowds have been attending from both Sunshine community and Electra. The young women have been assisted by Calvin Davids. All three of the young people have been attending the Bible school at Enid, Okla.

OIL INTEREST OF DISTRICT CENTERS IN 22 DEEP TESTS

Shappell Company Prepares to Set Cement After Coring 18 Inches of Sand in Wildcat in Kemp City Area

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Oil news of the week was featured by the operations under way in the Shappell Oil company's No. 1 W. P. Ferguson deep test in the E. Patterson survey, two miles southeast of Kemp City in north Archer county. The well, a 4,000-foot test in wildcat territory, late Thursday cored 18 inches into a rich sandy lime topped at 3815 feet and is preparing to set and cement pipe and will bail before any more sand is cored.

Interest in the outcome of the well is of the keenest, due to its location three miles southeast of the Deep Oil Development, No. 1 Munger Brothers, one mile north of Kemp City, and in the event of a commercial producer, will open up a vast tract of land along the Wichita and Archer county lines for further deep oil activities.

While the shallow drilling in the district fell off to some extent, this type of development has been offset by the numerous deep tests now drilling throughout the different fields. Twenty-two tests were drilling to the deeper sands reported during the week. This is the greatest number of tests of this character and importance under way in the district for many years.

Archer county received the lion's share in the distribution of these, 10 going down on its various sections. The remainder are Wichita, five; Throckmorton, Wilbarger and Jack, two each, and Clay county, one. Several of these are nearing interesting depths and at any time one or more may become the factors in the uncovering of other productive areas in this portion of the state.

Cooke county, which for several months has been outside the pale of active spots, has again joined the ranks and three wells were reported drilling during the past week.

Activities in Wilbarger, Jack and Young counties consisted of a few drilling wells but nothing of importance was brought forth.

Oil movements from the pools throughout the district averaged 61,184 barrels per day in the nine counties under the supervision of L. V. Hull, proration umpire. This is a gain of approximately 2,060 barrels over the runs of the preceding week. All pools showed gains, Wilbarger boosting its run 1,908 barrels per day above the previous seven-day period.

W. H. Hammond No. 3 Bradley, located 450 feet from north and 2650 feet from west lines of S. Holloway survey, abstract 497; 10-inch set at 110 feet. Drilling ahead at 3380 feet.

Mid-Continent Holding corporation, No. 10 Burnside, located 940 feet from north line and 800 feet from east line of A Burnside land in J. M. Sharp survey, abstract 262. Drilling at 2157 feet.

VALUATIONS EXPERTS TO MAKE REPORT TO QUANAH BOARD SOON

QUANAH, Texas, June 27.—A board of equalization composed of W. G. Howard, Mason Harwell and W. R. DuPuy has been appointed by the city council, and will receive the report of the engineers who have been working on a survey of valuations of the city for the past several weeks, and from this survey the city will fix valuations for the current year.

The valuations are being made under the direction of George H. Ehrenberg, of Dallas. This same organization has done similar work in Childress, Altus and Vernon, and their report enabled the cities to establish a more uniform system of taxation, and in some instances lowered city taxes 25 cents, it is said.

OIL PRODUCERS FOUND IN WARD COUNTY FIELDS

Two New Wells Brought in During Week in the Pecos Area

TWO TESTS SHUT IN IN DEEPEST SECTION

Schleicher Wildcat Gets Good Showing of Oil And Gas

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 27.—Addition of two producers in Ward county and one in Pecos county, shooting into production of two wells in the Wheat deep, high gravity, sweet oil field in Loving county and announcement of a contract between the Big Lake Oil company and the Texas Pipe Line company which will increase the outlet of the Big Lake field in Reagan county by 5,000 to 25,000 barrels daily, were outstanding oil developments in West Texas this week.

Evans, Gant and others' No. 1 Jeff Love, in southwestern Kerr county, first test in the south part of the Edwards plateau to obtain oil in amount approaching commercial production, drilled from 3393 to a hand at 3502 feet, which some estimated to be good for eight barrels daily. After pulling 6⅝-inch pipe from 3368 feet, the well was to drill ahead. Landreth Production company's No. 1 Alley, southwestern Gaines county wildcat, gained attention by reason of being credited in some quarters with topping the gray lime at 4070 feet, 613 feet below sea level and higher than the top of the gray lime in tests east and west of it. Tools were lost at 4125 feet.

Two of the world's nine deepest producers, in Reagan county, Big Lake Oil company's No. 2-C University and Group No. 1 Oil corporation's (Texon) No. 3-B University, were shut in indefinitely, and it was announced that when Big Lake's No. 1-C University is recompleted by deepening, that company's No. 3-C University will be killed. This will make a total of four of the nine deepest producers closed to conserve gas. Deepening of Big Lake's No. 1-C University, begun at 8729 feet, had progressed to 8744 feet Thursday.

J. D. Wesner's No. 1 W. R. Nicks, Schleicher county wildcat which struck oil and an estimated several hundred thousand cubic feet of gas at 4000 feet on May 25, was scheduled to be deepened Friday from 4000 feet through the oil and gas bearing brown, sandy lime, unless production should develop meanwhile. After this is done a packer set 30 feet off bottom will be cemented. It failed to hold, letting in water from 2900 feet, a dye test revealed. Eight and one-quarter inch casing was on bottom with the last 10 feet perforated.

Well Swabbed Out

With 1,200 feet of fluid in the hole, a 62 hours. accumulation, No. 1 Nicks swabbed down to within 100 feet of the bottom on June 19. Fluid rose 350 feet overnight and all was swabbed out again on June 20. From Saturday until Wednesday of this week it filled up 1,500 feet and had been swabbed down to 400 feet when the engine broke. The wildcat was swabbed again Thursday to recover a swab lost Tuesday. Negotiations still were pending for the sale by Wesner of a three-quarters interest in No. 1 Nicks and in leases on approximatly 3,526 acres. The wildcat is 1¾ miles northeast of Eldorado in section 77, block LL, T. C. Ry. Co. survey. Eastland Oil company and others' No. 1 Tisdale, in section 29, block M, G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. survey, in Schleicher county, re-ran 1,765 feet of 10-inch casing and cemented it to the remainder of the 10-inch left in the hole when a joint collapsed and had to be swedged into the wall. The pipe originally was cemented at 2500 feet. Drilling of the plug and making of new hole from 2525 feet in shale was scheduled to start Saturday.

Two of Ward county's latest producers were Beckley and others' No. 1 Johnson in section 10, block 32, H. & T. C. Ry Co. survey, and Pat Moran and others' No. 1 Sweatt in section 12, block 5, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey. The Beckley well was estimated good for 40 to 50 barrels daily with around 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas. It was bottomed at 2240 feet and was to be tubed or cased. The first gas, an estimated quarter million cubic fee daily, was struck at 2180 feet and oil with more gas was encountered from 2195 to 2200 feet. The Moran well headed every 15 to 20 minutes at a depth of 2179 feet, where the pay was topped. Storage was being erected and tubing or casing was to be run.

Rector Oil company's No. 1 Sealy-Smith estate, closly watched Ward county wildcat four miles northeast of Monahans in section 22, block A, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, was running 10-inch casing at 2050 feet in anhydrite and salt. Gibson brothers and others' No. 1 Johnson, in section 8, block 32, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, completed its contract at 2503 feet and it was thought likely would be abandoned dry.

Get Good Producer

Richmond Drilling company and others' No. 1 Russell in Loving county was cleaned out to 4264 feet, the total depth, after a shot and appeared to be one of the best producers in the making in the south end of the Wheat field. Several San Angeloans own part of the royalty under the 10 acres on which the well is located, in section 80, block 1, W. & N. W. Ry. Co. survey. The California company's No. 3 Allen drilled to 4343 feet, was shot Sunday with 180 quarts and flowed 230 barrels in 12 hours. The California company's No. 4 Allen flowed 424 barrels the first day and 240 barrels the second day after being shot. Tools were lost at 4173 feet, 180 feet off bottom, while cleaning out a bridge. California's No. 3 Allen and California's No. 4 Allen and west offsets to Eppensuer's No. 1 Allen, a producer, both being in section 90, block 1, W. & N. W. Ry. Co. survey. The next test in the area due to reach the producing horizon was Pete Homman's No. 2 Ramsey-Russell, which drilled plug at 4034 feet, where it cemented seven-inch casing.

Cardinal Oil company's No. 9-E Tippett became that firm's 27th producer and the 55th in the Toborg-Tippett shallow pool immediately northwest of the Yates field in Pecos county when it topped pay at 483 feet, drilled to 523 feet and was estimated by the operators to be good for 100 barrels daily. It is in section 40, block 192, G. C. & S. F. Ry Co. survey. There now are no drilling operations in the pool, which has daily average production of 1,700 to 1,800 barrels of 19½ to 24½ gravity oil.

Upton county developments included the spudding of Porter Rankin and others' No. 1 Gordon Union Land company, two miles south of Rankin in section 6, certificate 1-13, and the scheduled spudding of C. C. Duffy and others' No. 5 McClintic in section 206, block F, C. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. Ry. Co. survey. Because pumping cost 33 cents per barrel and the market price is only 25 cents a barrel, Eppensuer Drilling company shut in three wells in the Estep area which were prorated to a total of 90 barrels daily: Nos. 2 and 3 Chaney and 1-A Ott.

The farthest western drilling test in the state, Tri-State Oil company's No. 1 Bobadilla, in section 254, S. P. Ry Co. survey, in El Paso county, 2¼ miles east of Vinton, had drilled to 1050 feet in black shale and lime. It encountered at 795 feet a second showing of gas that was sufficient to burn. J. S. Meriwether, who several years ago drilled a number of tests in Glasscock county, is president of the Tri-State.

In the absence of official information, it was presumed that the Texas Pipe Line company will lay a line from the Big Lake field 25 to 30 miles southeastward to connect between McCamey and Iraan with its 12-inch trunk line leading from Lea county, N. M., to Port Arthur, in order to handle a minimum of 5,000 barrels and a maximum of 25,080 barrels daily for the Big Lake Oil company. The carrying charge will be 32½ cents per barrel, a saving of about 20 cents per barrel to the Big Lake, which has been paying 53 cents per barrel to ship a daily average of 5,000 barrels in tank cars to the Republic Oil Refining company at Houston, in which it has an interest. This is nearly all oil from the world's deepest producers.

Eight of the deep wells last week produced 154,278 barrels, one of the number, Big Lake No. 2-C University, making 8,174 barrels in 4½ days before it was shut in indefinitely at 8603 feet. Texon No. 3-B University, 8633 feet deep, was killed Monday. It had been averaging around 1,400 barrels of oil and 16,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Big Lake's No. 1-C was deepening from 8729 feet to a lower pay which produced less gas and more oil of lesser gravity than the first deep pay.

THEATER AT MONTEREY DESTROYED BY FLAMES

MONTERREY, N. L., Mexico, June 27. (AP)—Fire early today razed the Progreso theater on Zaragoza street here, resulting in a loss of 100,000 pesos. The building had been emptied of a crowd only an hour earlier, after the last performance. The theater was surrounded by many wooden buildings which firemen were able to save from serious damage. Defective wiring was believed to have caused the blaze.

Gain of 2,060 Barrels Daily Shown In Wichita District Pipe Line Runs

Pipe line runs from the different pools of the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, June 27, 1931, averaged 61,184 barrels, a gain of 2,060 barrels per day as compared with the preceding seven-day movement. Increased takings since the boost in the allowable were reflected in a 1,908-barrel gain in the Wilbarger pool. Other pools showed small gains. Below are the runs by pools.

Quanah Citizens on Good-Will Trip Invite Neighbors to July 4 Picnic Celebrating Opening of New Bridge

QUANAH, Texas, June 27.—A caravan of 12 cars, carrying 45 citizens of Quanah and the Quanah Municipal band, Friday made a good-will trip extending through Acme, Goodlett, Kirkland, Childress, Hollis, Gould, Duke, Altus, Olustee and Eldorado, Okla., and invited the citizens of the above named towns and adjacent territory to attend the big basket picnic celebrating the completion and opening of the new free bridge over Red river. This picnic will be held at El Vivian plunge, four miles north of Quanah on highway 51, July 4, and it is expected several thousand people will gather for the event.

Terrapin races, old fiddlers' contest, baseball games, and other features of entertainment are being provided, and special celebration program will be rendered at the bridge proper, which is about eight miles from Quanah

Sixth Street Park Announces Track Meet for Tuesday

Tuesday, June 30, Sixth street park will hold its monthly track meet. Entries for the various contests will be made all day Monday. Entries from other parks may be made Tuesday morning at the latest. Every boy and girl in the city is invited to attend. The events of the day will be as follows:

Washers, singles and doubles; horseshoe, singles and doubles; ring toss, singles and doubles; dominoes, singles and doubles; checkers, singles; quick sight game, best number correct times out of ten chances; Indian wrestle.

Races — 25-yard dash; 50-yard dash; 100-yard dash; potato race paper sack relay; lemon relay; antelope relay; poison circle; capture the flag between two parks and baseball between two parks.

A baseball game on any Wednesday, Thursday or Saturday morning at 9:30. Any parks answering this challenge may call Miss Bridges at 2-0664.

Remember the time from 8 to 11 a. m. and from 3 to 6 p. m.

Sixth street park team challenges any other park team in the city to two games out of three or capture the flag Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Bring seven men over and play the Sixth street seven.

Monday morning a new game called ring toss was introduced at Sixth street park. Fruit jar rubbers are tossed onto nails in the ring toss board representing the different scores to be obtained. The game is "21 or bust" as in washers and horseshoe. Joe Adams made the two ring toss boards. On Monday Alton Adams was singles champion in ring toss while Joe Adams and Dan Bergolofsky won at doubles. Later in the week, Garland Eastman took singles honors.

Dominoes were introduced at Sixth street park on Thursday afternoon and have proven popular since.

This week an older girls' sewing club was started at the park. The first article made was an old-fashioned patch work sofa pillow, with the "village green" design on it. The girls furnish their own materials. Irene Tucker and Imogene Adams have practically completed their pillows. Several others have started theirs, and will finish them during the next week.

OIL INTEREST INCREASES IN TATUMS FIELD

Completion of Producer on Edge of Pool Brings Activity

TWO NEW LOCATIONS MADE DURING WEEK

Southern Oklahoma Well Makes 1,210 Barrels In Test

ARDMORE, Okla., June 27.—Considerable activity of interest has happened during the past week in the Tatums field of northwestern Carter county, Southern Oklahoma, due to the completion of a very good well on the east side of the area and the staking of two new locations.

The Carter Oil company No. 2 Paul Robb in the southwest corner of the northwest of 19-1s-2w, new producer on the east side of the field, produced a total of 1,210 barrels of oil during the initial 24-hour gauge. The new producer flowed during the first 16 hours of the period. Production was found in this test in a series of sands logged between 1768 and 1898 feet. Total depth is 1948 feet.

This producer will be offset to the south by the Cox-Hamon interests, who staked location during the week for No. 1 Ratliff-Spears in the northwest corner of the southwest of 19-1s-2w.

Frank Gouin and others of Duncan have staked location for No. 1 M. E. Burton in the center of the south half of the southwest of 30-1s-2w, another new test for the southeast area. Operators are skidding derrick from the K. D. Oil company-Frank Gouin No. 1 J. W. Burton in the center of the southwest of the northwest of 30-1s-2w, which is shut down waiting on cement to set at 2180 feet. Broken sand and lime showing oil was logged at 2178-91 feet and solid sand topped at 2191 feet was drilled to total depth of 2214 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Wirt Franklin in the southwest of the northwest of the northeast of 15-1s-3w, three-fourths of a mile northwest of production in the field, had started drilling out cement plugs to complete. Casing was cemented in this test at 2490 feet with total depth of 2541 feet in broken oil sand topped at 2505 feet.

Drilling Started

Joe Barrett has started drilling in No. 1 Sims in the northeast corner of the southeast of 23-2s-2w, new shallow test in the territory about a mile southeast of the Ed Cox field of Carter county. This test is being put down with a spudding machine and under present plan will be drilled to 500 feet unless very favorable formations appear to encourage deeper drilling. Efforts will be made to find production at around 400 feet at which depth the McCarty and others' No. 1 Noble in the northwest corner of the southeast of 14-2s-2w, logged a gas sand which was reported by operators as good for 2,000,000 cubic feet. However this test was later abandoned at 1600 feet.

Ross & Conover's No. 1 W. N. & D. B. Taliaferro estate in the southwest of the northeast of the northwest of 34-5s-5e one-eighth of a mile south of the town of Madill in Marshall county, was drilling at 312 feet. A Star machine is being used. Owners of the land are financially interested in drilling this test and there is no definite contract depth.

Batson, Starritt & Autry's No. 2 Dr. Autry in the southeast of the northeast of 27-6s-2e, seven miles northeast of Marietta in Love county, was coring sand showing a small amount of gas and some dead oil at 950-960 feet. Operators expect to drill this test to around 2400 feet if production is not found above that depth.

The Monarch Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Gregg in the southwest corner of 36-3s-4w, Jefferson county test just a mile west of production in the old Healdton field at Carter county, was drilling ahead at 3750 feet in sandy lime. Operators finished a fishing job of several days duration for a string of tools lost in the hole.

Drill in White Sand

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company and Ramsey Petroleum corporation No. 6 Preston-Culp in the northwest of the northeast of the northeast of 6-5n-9w, deep test in the southwest portion of the Cement field, Caddo county, was drilling white sand and shale at 8230 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Estes in the southeast of the southwest of the northeast of 10-5n-9w, in the same area, was still shut down with total depth of 5193 feet in sand showing salt water.

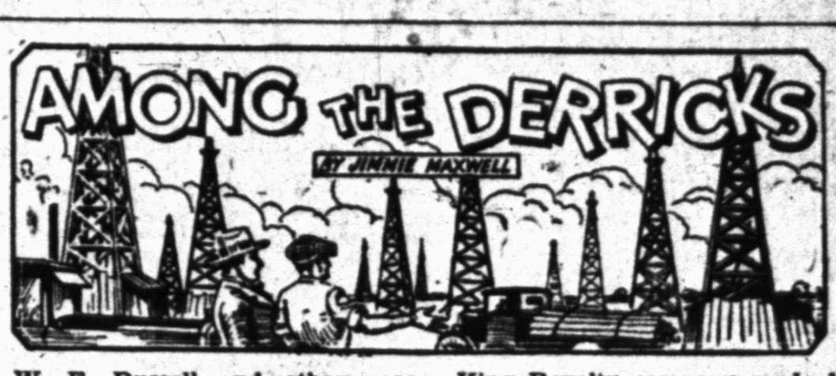

Don Phillips Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Lyle in the northeast of the southeast of the southwest of the northeast of 28-2s-2w, near the town of Graham, northwestern Carter county, was shut down on account of litigation with total depth at 1185 feet.

C. V. Chenault's No. 1-B Grogan in the southeast corner of the northeast of 15-7s-6w, west of production in the Humble shallow area of southern Jefferson county, was drilling at 1700 feet in hard dry sand.

Hearle-Hudson's No. 1 Williams in the southwest of the southeast of the northeast of 24-7s-5e, a mile northwest of shallow production in the Kingston area of Marshall county, was shut down with total depth at 590 feet in conglomerate. Operators have drilled through a series of salt water sands and have thus far failed to find the sands producing in the McCrory well. However, the elevation in the Harl-Hudson test is between 60 and 70 feet higher. Drilling was due to resume the latter part of the week. A portable rotary is being used.

Robbery Attempt Fails

LAREDO, Texas, June 27. (AP)—Forcing entry into a garage here last night, a robber who found the night watchman asleep near the cash register struck him over the head with a gun and fled without taking anything. The watchman recovered consciousness and pursued the man but his assailant escaped.

East Texas Oil

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 27. (UP)—Three new wells today were reported completed in the Lathrop pool, one of them proving a one-mile north and west extension of the field.

The output well was O. J. Perrin's No. 1 Bourknight, located on a 30-acre tract in the H. Edwards survey. It flowed at an estimated rate of 30,000 barrels daily from 67 feet of sand topped at 3587 feet.

The other completions were Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Salter, estimated 23,000 barrels daily, and F. & M. Drilling company's No. 2 well estimated at 20,000 barrels daily.

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 27. (UP)—W. F. Clark of San Angelo had arrived here today to assume his duties as proration umpire of the Lathrop pool, succeeding A. B. Capers of Midland.

MARSHALL, Texas, June 27. (UP)—With 10 dry holes to the north and west at Woodbine depth, interest in Harrison county today centered upon deep tests to the south and east. Machinery had arrived for a well to be drilled at the eastern limits of Marshall by R. H. Kimsey and associates.

The Lloyd corporation of Fort Worth announced a location for a deep test to be made on a block of 5,000 acres nine miles southwest of here.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD MAKES 11,527 BARRELS DAY ABOVE ALLOWABLE

Increased demand by refiners for the Panhandle crude, containing a large quantity of anti-knock properties desirable in manufacturing high grade motor fuels, is responsible for the addition of 7,979 barrels a day to the official allowable.

SPUDDERS DIM BUFF PENNANT HOPES WITH 5 TO 3 VICTORY

THE LOOKOUT
BY AL PARKER

Our opposition concerning the disposition of a tie in the event that Houston and Beaumont should end the first half all square is all wet. League President J. Alvin Gardner informs us that the league has a rule that covers just such a contingency—and as usual the prexy is right. Here is the rule:

"If a tie exists between two or more clubs for the lead on the closing day of the first half, certain games regularly scheduled between these clubs in the second half shall be designated to determine the first half winner. If such a tie exists on the closing day of the second half, a series of games shall be arranged to determine the winner. In either case the number of games shall be determined by agreement between the clubs concerned, and if they are unable to agree by vote of the league."

The rule strikes us as being decidedly clear and meaning just what it says. If the Beaumont and Houston clubs should happen to tie for the lead at the close of Tuesday's games, then the Beaumont and Houston officials would get together and decide what games of the second half between the two clubs would decide the first half championship. They might elect to decide the first half title on the first three games played, the first five, or they might let the entire second half series of 11 or 12 games determine the issue. Of course, these second half games not only would decide the first half championship, but also would count just as any other games in the second half race. The rule quoted above was written into the league code after Dallas and Fort Worth had tied for the second half championship in 1925. This tie awakened the magnates to the fact that two or more clubs might tie for the first half and that some means of playing off such a tie should be decided upon.

There is a difference in deciding first and second half ties. In the event of a first half tie a playoff that was held over until the end of the season would not be a true test between the two teams that tied, for one or both might be radically changed by the end of the season. In the event of a second half tie, the playoff can follow immediately and league rules prevent strengthening at the last minute of the regular season and consequently for a playoff. However, the rule as it now stands permits the clubs involved to decide the first half championship on the final games of the second half, or even on the very last game, if these clubs happened to be foolish enough to decide it that way. We believe the league would have had a better rule if it had made it compulsory that the first half be decided by the first three, five or seven games of the second half. Such a ruling would compel the teams to play off the tie before any radical changes might be made and consequently would be more a test of first half strength.

The Exporters tie into the Spudders in two games Sunday at Athletic park, while the Buffs are engaging the Panthers twice at Fort Worth. The pennant might easily hinge on the outcome of these double-headers. A clean sweep of the two games for either the Buffs or the Exporters, while the other was losing two would just about mean a pennant. However, Sunday's games are not likely to decide the issue definitely. The Exporters play the Spudders at Athletic park Monday and Tuesday and Houston is scheduled at Fort Worth the same days. The thing may hang in the balance and await decision in Tuesday's skirmishes.

When Tex Carleton beat the Spudders, 8 to 2, Thursday, it was the first victory he had ever scored at Athletic park. The elongated right-hander, who was once the bat boy of the Fort Worth club, was a winning patcher in this league in 1928—but not at Athletic park. He has spent two years at Rochester in the International league, except for one spring that he was in the training camp of the Cardinals. In his first start this season at Athletic park he was beaten by the Spudders, but there was no doubt of his superiority Thursday. He had our hitters as helpless as we have ever seen them, though they have been beaten more than once more decisively, so far as runs or hits are concerned. Carleton, like all of Houston's pitchers of recent years, finds the Spudders easy at Houston, but tough in Wichita Falls. Spudder clubs of the present and past have been good road clubs everywhere but Houston. They can win everywhere in the league except at Houston. Houston has not been easy at Athletic park, for the Buffs have had consistently strong clubs, but they have been much easier on home soil than on the road. Carleton declares Tom Jenkins the toughest to pitch to of all Texas league hitters of his acquaintance. He probably can find many other chunkers to agree with him in that assertion.

Believe it or not, but a few of the fans who can't forget Levey, Storti, Burns, Crouch, Bettenourt, et al, were turning back their memories to 1914 after the Browns had won a series from the Yankees and had followed it up by taking four consecutive games from the Athletics. It was in that season that the Boston Braves startled the baseball world by crawling out of eighth place at the half-way point and not only winning the National league championship, but defeating the Athletics, then considered more invincible than is Connie Mack's present team, in four straight games. We have heard none so bold as to predict that the Browns are to emulate the Braves of 1914, but nevertheless they are creating quite a stir by their ability to whip the pennant favorites.

CLAUDE REEDS TO COACH AT OKLAHOMA COLLEGE

CANYON, Texas, June 27. (UP)—Claude Reeds, football coach of the West Texas State Teachers college here, Saturday announced that he had accepted the position of head coach at the Central Oklahoma Teachers college at Edmond, Okla. He will succeed C. W. Wantland, discharged last week by regents of the Oklahoma school.

Cooney and White Pool Talents for Hard Earned Win

Exporters Bring Flag Bid To Athletic Park in Double-Header

The first half pennant hopes of the Houston Buffs were dimmed, but not quite obliterated Saturday at Athletic park when Bob Cooney, Lester White and a smooth working supporting cast turned back the pennant contenders, 5 to 3, to salvage one game of the three with the Buffaloes. In contrast to Friday's defeat when Hillin was permitted to stick to the pitching job until the Buffs had scored three runs to win in the ninth, White was rushed to Cooney's rescue when the Buffs threatened in the eighth, and the former completely stemmed the threatened uprising by retiring four successive batsmen.

Scenery shifts Sunday in the torrid three-cornered pennant battle, the Spudders entertaining Beaumont, one of the three involved in the turmoil, in a double-header starting at 3 o'clock, while the Buffs carry their fight into the lair of the Panthers, the third of the contenders.

The Spudders won Saturday by walloping the offerings of Pete Fowler, Houston left-hander, in the early innings. George Payne was somewhat of an improvement and he stopped the hopefuls except for Gullic's 11th home run of the season with the bases unoccupied in the fifth inning.

Bud Hungling's bat that has been so prominent a factor in Spudder successes of late, drove in three of Wichita Falls' runs, and Garms. Gullic and Scharein each joined him in hitting safely twice. The infield continued to click on all cylinders, with all hands coming in for a share of praise in helping Cooney and White nip the Houston swatters.

After Cooney had removed the Buffs in order in the first, his mates gave him a two-run lead that lasted no longer than Houston's second inning. Garms opened with a single to right and Allday walked. Stanton, attempting to sacrifice, popped to third and Gullic forced Allday. Hungling lined the first pitch past third for a double, scoring Garms and Gullic. Fuss hit to third and Hock ran down Hungling for the third out.

Peel tapped one in front of the plate and beat it out to start Houston's tying rally. Medwick's hit to left bounced badly past Garms for a double, Peel scoring. Sturdy singled to center, scoring Medwick, and took second on Gullic's throw-in. Two outs advanced Sturdy to third and with the pitcher at bat he perished in an ambitious attempt to steal home. The Spudders passed up a chance when Scharein opened with a single, but Euller popped out, Cooney flied to center and Sturdy came up with a backhanded stab of Garms' sizzler that was headed for extra base territory.

Spudders Take Lead

Allday's error put Hock on with one out in the third, but the Bear made up for it with a splendid play on Rollings' hopper. Selph walked and Peel hoisted to Garms. The home club worked a pair of walks into a run to make it 3 to 2. Allday and Stanton were the recipients. Gullic sacrificed and Allday scampered in on Hungling's fly to left. Fuss was retired on a tap to the box.

Medwick, Sturdy and Sanders were successive victims in the fourth, and in the last half Payne's relief tossing held the Spudders to one run. Scharein doubled down the third base line, Euller walked and Cooney sacrificed. Garms drove a single through the drawn in infield, scoring Scharein and bringing in Payne to retire Allday on a foul to Sprinz and Stanton on a scorching drive straight to Peel.

The Buffs waited until too late in the fifth, a pass to Hock and Rollings' single coming after two were out and Selph retiring the side with a roller to Scharein. Gullic brought the count to 5 to 2 with his 11th home run, a high looper over the left center field fence. Hungling followed it with a single and Fuss sacrificed, but Scharein and Euller were outfield outs.

Again in the sixth Cooney waited until two were out to issue a pass to Sturdy. It was harmless, as Peel and Sanders whiffed and Medwick popped to Stanton. Cooney's single failed to produce in the last half when Allday and Stanton were outs after Garms had sacrificed.

Cooney coasted through the seventh, but weakened after two were out in the eighth and needed help from White after one run was scored. Peel's double, singles by Medwick and Sturdy and a walk to Sanders scored one and left the bases full when White went in to retire Funk on a roller to Scharein. In the ninth Whitey disposed of three successive Buffs on easy chances.

The first Spudder in both the seventh and eighth singled, Gullic in the seventh and Euller in the eighth, but neither progressed farther than third. The score:

Bettencourt's Homer Wins in 14th Inning For Browns

Cats Within Half Game Of Top After Victory

FORT WORTH, June 27. (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats pulled themselves to within a game of the top of the Texas league Saturday night by handing the Beaumont Exporters a 4-1 lacing at La Grave field. Dick McCabe held the Shippers at bay, while the Cats grouped their nine hits off Hamlin and Malicky to score four runs.

The Shippers made one in the first when White was hit by a pitched ball and Easterling and Hughes followed with singles. The Cats took the lead in the fourth after missing out on a good chance in the last of the first when they had a man on second and third but failed to score. In the fourth, Brown smashed a double to left center. McCalanahan and Cox went out but Engle got a hold of one for a double scoring Brown. Krauss then doubled to left center scoring Engle. McCabe lined to Easterling.

In the sixth, McCabe helped himself along by singling with the bases loaded. The resulting two runs iced the game. Score:

OFFICIALS FOR TITLE BOUT STILL UNCERTAIN

CLEVELAND, June 27. (AP)—The fiery struggle to pick a referee and two judges for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against Bill Stribling in the municipal stadium Friday night monopolized interest Saturday as the warriors themselves began to ease up their training.

The commissioners adjourned until Monday, without action.

The plan of the commission is to submit the names of 15 nationally known arbiters to the managers of the fighters with the hope that five will be found acceptable both to Schmeling and Stribling. From the five the commission wants to choose one man to referee and two to act as judges, naming them publicly when the gladiators enter the stadium ring.

DUNLAP REPEATS WIN IN COLLEGE TOURNEY

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—George Terry Dunlap Jr., of Princeton, won the national intercollegiate golf championship Saturday for the second year in a row, adding his name to those of Dexter Cummings of Yale and Fred Lamprecht, Tulane, the only champions to retreat in 35 years of collegiate golf history.

Cardinals Suffer Serious Setback With Double Loss

Brooklyn Club Turns Back Pace Setters by Scores 7 to 0 and 4 to 3

BROOKLYN, June 27. (AP)—The Robins climbed into fourth place in the National league standing Saturday as they took both games of a double-header from the St. Louis Cardinals while Boston was losing to Chicago. The scores were 7 to 0 and 4 to 3.

In the first game the league champions got only two hits off Babe Phelps.

Frank O'Doul was sent out of the second game when he disputed Umpire Clark's decision in the ninth and drew a popbottle shower at the arbiter. Scores:

NOTRE DAME'S COACH ILL WITH MENINGITIS

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 27. (AP)—Heartley Anderson, Notre Dame football coach, is suffering from meningitis and the outlook for recovery is "distinctly favorable" his physicians said in a statement Saturday.

The announcement came after three days of tests to determine the cause of severe headaches from which Anderson, new senior coach at Notre Dame, has been suffering several weeks. Drs. John B. Doyle and C. J. Barborka of the Mayo clinic, in charge of the diagnosis, said their findings were "very encouraging."

Friday they announced that Anderson was in a serious condition. They said he was resting well Saturday.

Cubs 12, Braves 3

BOSTON, June 27. (AP)—Although Hack Wilson sat on the bench as punishment for breaking training rules, the Chicago Cubs gave the Braves a 12 to 3 drubbing Saturday. Danny Taylor who took Wilson's place in center field for the Chicagoans, drove in three runs.

TEXAS GIRL ATHLETE SMASHES RECORDS IN SOUTHERN TRACK MEET

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—With Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, the wonder girl athlete of the Dallas Cyclones, starring, one American and one Southern A. A. U. track and field meet here and two Southern records were tied.

The Dallas star accounted for the surpassed records, bettering the existing American women's record of 12.6 seconds in the 80-meter hurdles by taking it in 12.5 seconds and breaking the Southern record of 28.4 seconds in the 220-yard dash by making it in 26.9 seconds.

In addition she won the broad jump easily in 18 feet and seven-eighths inch and scored 15 points to help her team from Dallas win the meet with a total of 52 points.

Second Half City League Flag Hunt To Start Sunday

Bailey-Moline vs. Star Tranfer; I. O. Boosters Vs. Woodmen Open Race

The second half of the five-club City league race opens Sunday afternoon with the first half championship yet undecided. The July 4 game between Star Transfer company and I. O. Boosters and the outcome of the Booster protest on last Sunday's game with the Bailey-Moline Hardware company club hold back the decision. The two league contests scheduled for Sunday afternoon promise a pair of interesting battles with Bailey-Moline meeting Star Transfer and the Modern Woodmen meeting the I. O. Boosters. Henry Hatton, new Woodmen ace, probably will face O'Dell McDuffy in the latter game.

The Bailey-Moline and Star Transfer game scheduled for Katy park is the headliner on the card. These two are expected to be hard to stop in the second half with the jump the important issue. This game likely will draw two Wichita Falls sandlot pitching idols against each other in Smokey Lupher of Bailey-Moline and Lefty Robertson of Star Transfer.

The Woodmen have improved fast of late and at present look like an almost sure contender for the last half crown. Their closing games of the first half packed plenty of thrills for the fans and if the team can continue this brand of baseball in the last half it will make the other teams hustle to beat them out. The Booster-Woodmen game is scheduled for the Jalonic street diamond.

The Sullivan Grocery company team will be idle as far as league games are concerned, but will take on Paul Whatley's Texas Electric Service company team in a practice game on Debus field.

The July 4 battle between Star Transfer and I. O. Boosters will be played at Athletic park as part of the American Legion's celebration.

CHICAGO DOUBLES TEAM WINS VALLEY TOURNEY

KANSAS CITY, June 27. (AP)—The Chicago team of George J. Jennings and Gordon Braudt pulled a surprise by winning the men's doubles championship at the Missouri Valley tennis tournament here Saturday by tumbling the top-seeded St. Louis pair, Wray D. Brown and Ted Eggman, in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Brown and G. H. Boehmer Jr., both of St. Louis, play for the singles title Sunday.

AMATEUR BANQUET IS SCHEDULED TUESDAY

A notice to all City league, Commercial league and Twilight league managers and players regarding the annual city amateur baseball banquet to be held Tuesday night at the Wichita club, has been posted by Dr. Fred Gross. All those who intend to be present at the feast will make their reservations with Dr. Gross at 113 Indiana avenue by Monday night. Plates for the banquet are 50 cents each.

Indians 12-2, Yankees 5-1

CLEVELAND, June 27. (AP)—The Indians and the New York Yankees played two entirely different types of baseball in their double-header Saturday but Cleveland proved the bitter in both. The Indians hammered out a 12 to 5 decision in the first game and then won the second 2 to 1 in a mound battle, between Clint Brown and Herb Pennock.

Wesley Ferrell made a bad start in the opener, yielding four runs in the first inning as Lou Gehrig hit his 18th home run of the season with two on, but he pitched shut out ball for the last seven innings. The scores:

AMERICANS SWEEP RYDER CUP MATCHES BY 9 TO 3 SCORE

Homebreds' Great Golf Is Too Much For British Team

Victories in Six or Eight Singles Gain Verdict By Wide Margin

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, Columbus, Ohio, June 27. (AP)—Walter Hagen's home-bred squad of professional golf sharpshooters completed the rout of the British forces Saturday and restored the Ryder cup to American custody for the next two years.

Under a scorching sun the Americans blazed their way to victory in six of the eight singles matches and captured the series by the final score of 9 to 3.

The home-breds had taken three of the four Scotch foursomes Friday and they settled the issue quickly Saturday with as brilliant a display of golfing fireworks as the competition has ever witnessed.

Hagen Clinches Victory

Hagen had the honor of bringing home the seventh and deciding victory when he vanquished the rival British captain, Charles Witcombe, 4 and 3, in the feature match that attracted the interest of most of the gallery of 12,000, including Bobby Jones.

Burke set the pace for the Americans by walloping Big Archie Compston, 7 and 6. Sarazen followed this with a similarly overwhelming triumph over Fred Robson, 7 and 6, and Densmore Shute gave him home town gallery plenty to cheer about when he disposed of young Bert Hodson, 8 and 6.

Johnny Farrell Upset

Wiffy Cox and Al Espinosa accounted for the remaining American victories. Cox defeated Abe Mitchell, 3 and 1. Espinosa defeated Ernest Whitcombe, 2 and 1.

Johnny Farrell's defeat by W. H. (Billy) Davies, the former Hoy Lake caddy, 4 and 3, was the biggest upset of the singles from the American viewpoint.

The remaining British triumph was registered by Arthur Havers, former British open champion, who defeated Craig Wood, 4 and 3.

The Yankee cleanup gave the United States two out of three in the competition for the Ryder cup, begun in 1927 with an American victory. The British won in 1929.

Smartest Men

LONDON.—Editors and lawyers are the world's smartest men, according to findings of an English university. These men can boast of a mental age of 18 and upwards, it was established. Below them come doctors, dentists, and office managers. The mental age of music hall actors and policemen run about the same—from 13 to just under 15, it was found.

Exporters' Handy Man Ties Stanton for Lead

A hard slamming Beaumont utility man fought his way into a tie for the league batting leadership when Boroja finished another week of play with an average of .368, the same figure maintained by Buck Stanton of Wichita Falls. Bud Hungling of the Spudders continues to hold the titular lead for players in few games and the top notchers are challenged, too, by "Beau" Bell, former Texas Aggie star who is playing in the Buccaneer outfield. Other Texas league leaders—runs—Schuble, Beaumont, 58, White, Beaumont, 57, Moore, Fort Worth, Fowler, Fort Worth, and Garms, Wichita Falls, 53; hits—Stanton, Wichita Falls, 112, Brown, Fort Worth, 93, Hock, Houston and Stebbins, San Antonio 89; doubles—Stanton, Wichita Falls, 29, Medwick, Houston, 24, Brown, Fort Worth, 22; triples—White, Beaumont, 11, Garms, Wichita Falls, 10, Stanton; Wichita Falls and Badgro, Wichita Falls, 8; home runs—Gullic, Wichita Falls, 10, Easterling, Beaumont, 7, Loepp, Dallas, Cox, Fort Worth, Winegarner, Shreveport and Radcliff, Shreveport, 6; runs batted in—Easterling, Beaumont, 55, Gullic, Wichita Falls, 54, Stanton, Wichita Falls, 53; stolen bases—White, Beaumont, 21, Flaskamper, San Antonio and Nash, San Antonio, 17, Easterling, Beaumont, 16.

McCabe, Fort Worth, and Hamlin, Beaumont, share honors as leading the pitching percentages but Whitworth, Fort Worth, Payne, Houston, and Dean, Houston, lead in games won with 11 each. Other pitching leaders: Games—Payne, Houston, 23; complete games—Harris, Galveston, 14; innings pitched—Harris, Galveston, 145, Payne, Houston, 143; strikeouts—Carleton, Houston, 106, Dean, Houston, 102; best control, McCabe, Fort Worth, 18 passes in 137 innings.

Club honors are better distributed now. The Spudders have the best average. Beaumont leads in triples, and pilfers, Fort Worth in runs, hits and runs driven in, Shreveport in home runs and Wichita Falls in doubles. Club batting, the records of pitchers credited with win or loss, and individual batting through the day game of Thursday, June 25:

Pels Get Outfielder

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP) — Outfielder Fred Eichrodt has been released outright to the New Orleans club of the Southern association, by the Chicago White Sox. He was obtained from New Orleans via the draft last fall.

Twilight League Teams Play Heavy Weekly Schedule

New Amateur Circuit Hops Off With Indications Of Close Race

The schedule for the first half of the Twilight league has been completed with the diamonds assigned to each game and a close race is expected for the coming week. The league battles three days each week with five games in progress each day.

The opening two games of the league race left no team out of the running at the start and all are closely bunched. This week's schedule calls for 16 games to be played and this number of games should disclose a leader upon whom the rest of the clubs will have to set their sights.

The league starts its second week with Taxman Refinery, Northwest Motors, Katy and the Loafers setting a dizzy pace with Wichita Poster, Fort Worth & Denver, Smoots and the Veterans keeping close upon their heels.

Following is the schedule with the locations of each game for the first half of their 36-game schedule:

June 28, Denver vs. Smoots on Jalonic, Poster vs. Katy on Katy, Loafers vs. Northside on Uncle Jo, Veterans vs. Taxman on Third and Broad, Northwest Motors vs. Tarry Transfer on Scott; June 30, Wichita Poster vs. Loafers on Jalonic; Veterans vs. Smoots on Uncle Jo, Northwest Motors vs. Taxman on Scott, Northside vs. Denver on Third and Broad, Katy vs. Tarry on Katy; July 2, Wichita Poster vs. Taxman on Katy, Loafers vs. Denver on Uncle Jo, Veterans vs. Tarry Transfer on Scott, Smoots vs. Katy on Jalonic, Northside vs. Northwest Motors on Third and Broad.

Free-For-All Tennis League Opens Monday

Organization of the Free-For-All Tennis league has been completed and championship play will start Monday on the Weeks park courts, with State Life Insurance company playing Duck Soup.

As the name implies, the league has set up few restrictions on the personnel of the team, and is expected to produce by far the fastest tennis among the leagues organized and sponsored by the city park department.

Each team is to play three matches, one doubles and two singles, each week. Play is confined to the Weeks park courts, starting at 5:30 o'clock each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

June 29—Duck Soup vs. State Life Insurance company.
June 30—Three Jacks vs. Byers.
July 1—Netters vs. Top Flighters.

July 6—Three Jacks vs. Netters.
July 7—Byers vs. Top Flighters.
July 8—Texans vs. Duck Soup.
July 9—Noble-Little vs. State Life.

July 13—Three Jacks vs. Noble-Little.
July 14—Byers vs. Texans.
July 15—Top Flighters vs. Duck Soup.
July 16—Netters vs. State Life.

July 20—Three Jacks vs. Texans.
July 21—Byers vs. Netters.

Prominent Figure in Early Baseball Era of City Passes in Lucid's Death

News of the passing of a prominent figure in Wichita Falls' early baseball days was contained in brief dispatches Friday night telling of the death at Houston Thursday of Cornelius C. "Con" Lucid, 59, following a brief illness.

Lucid is identified with Wichita Falls baseball for only one year, 1907, but in that short season he acquired a reputation for astute leadership that still lingers in the memories of the old-timers. Lucid came along after baseball had been given a strong boost by Wiley Blair's Irish Lads and later the Cremos and in launching his own team in 1907 he had to live up to the splendid record of his predecessors. His club was known merely as the Wichita Falls team, the Irish Lads of the Texas-Oklahoma league coming on in later seasons.

Among those still residing in Wichita Falls, who played on Lucid's team, are Frank Collier, Charlie Parker and Bill Guthrie. Collier, who was quite a pitcher on Wichita Falls' early teams, remembers Lucid as one of the shrewdest managers ever to flash a signal from the bench. "He could score more runs on fewer hits than any manager I have ever played for," Collier declared.

Lucid's playing days were over when he piloted the Wichita Falls team, but for 16 years he was a pitcher in various professional leagues, including seven in the National. In 1892 Lucid performed a feat that probably has never been equalled in professional baseball. He pitched and won 30 games on as many consecutive days while with the Spokane club. He was the first full time coach to be employed by a Texas league club and at one time was assistant baseball coach at Rice institute.

Three Clubs Tied For Peak in Warm Commercial Race

Contenders to Mix It in Important League Games This Week

The Commercial league race for the first two weeks has settled down into a three-club scrap, with a fourth club looming on the horizon as a likely trouble maker in the second half championship hunt. Texas Electric Service company Frigidaires are all but out of the race. The first half champions, Malone's Beauty shop, dropped their first game, then behind the sensational pitching of Harry Geyer took the next three games in order to be in a tie at present with Dixon Sign company and First Presbyterian church. The Noble-Little Hardware company club looms as a possible contender for last half honors, resting at present just one game out of first place.

This week's schedule in the Commercial league finds three games classed as crucial battles for the last half flag contenders with Noble-Little and Dixon Sign appearing in two such battles this week. Both the Monday games take on an important outlook with Presbyterians and Noble-Little meeting on Harrison field and Malone's and Dixon crossing bats on the Debus diamond.

The luckless Empire Paper company team and Texas Electrics meet Tuesday on Harrison field for the lone game scheduled that day. This battle will give the Frigidaires a chance to pick up some of the ground they have lost thus far in the league race.

Noble-Little and Dixon Sign company clash Thursday on Harrison field in another important game of the week. Malone's Beauty shop and Texas Electrics meet on Debus field.

The hard hitting Presbyterians clash Friday on Harrison field with the Empire Paper nine to bring to a close the third week of the last half scramble.

GLEDHILL BEATS BARNES IN GRUELLING FOUR-SET MATCH FOR NET CROWN

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 27. (AP)—Keith Gledhill of Stanford university Saturday won the national intercollegiate lawn tennis championship by defeating Bruce Barnes of the University of Texas, in the final round of the tournament. The scores were 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

The match was played in a blazing sun, and the Texan began to feel the heat before his California opponent. In the first set Barnes had perfect control of all shots. He bombarded Gledhill's backhand, and now and then directed a deep shot to the other corner to get the Californian out of position.

ISSUE ONLY 13 PER CENT OF IMMIGRATION VISAS ALLOWED BY QUOTA LAW

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—Only 13 per cent of the immigration visas allowed by the quota law were issued by American consulates during the eight month's period ended May 31.

In making this announcement today, the state department estimated that 140,000 aliens who would have come into this country during the quota year ending June 30 will not receive visas.

Visas were issued to 400 native born Canadians during May, a decrease of 92 per cent compared with the corresponding month of the last normal fiscal year.

During the first nine months of the fiscal year the American consul general in Mexico City reported 68,887 Mexicans entered Mexico from this country.

The total immigration visas issued to Mexicans since July 1, 1930, were 2,349, an annual rate of 2,585 compared with the average annual rate of 56,747.

GROUND WORK LAID FOR LONG AWAITED BUSINESS REVIVAL

Hoover's Debt Moratorium Proposal Provides Stimulus for World-Wide Boom in Stock and Commodity Prices

GROUP OF OIL MEN EMPLOY BAKER TO DEFEND INTERESTS

PITTSBURGH, June 27.(AP)—Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, secretary of war in the cabinet of President Wilson, has been retained by the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil association to fight efforts which it says have been made by several major oil companies to close retail gasoline and oil market outlets to members of the association and other independent producers.

The appointment was announced at a meeting of the association yesterday after Rodney J. Alexander, secretary of the association, said in his annual report that exclusive dealing practices by major oil companies have closed approximately 70 per cent of the retail gasoline and oil outlets of the country to Pennsylvania crude oil products.

It is planned to charge the companies involved with restraint of trade by requiring independent service stations to handle only products of those companies. The fight is to be carried to the federal trade commission and the department of justice.

JONES PROTESTS FARM BOARD SALE OF STORAGE WHEAT

AMARILLO, Texas, June 27. (AP)—Protests against the farm board's announced policy of continuing sale of wheat it has in storage were sent today by Congressman Marvin Jones to both President Hoover and Chairman Stone of the farm board.

"To continue the board's policy," stated Jones, "means ruin for the farmer." He urged the president and the board to reconsider their statement of Friday and to declare a policy of withholding wheat for a definite period.

Farmers are "unable to understand why the board should insist on feeding this wheat to market far below the cost of production at a time when new wheat is forced on the market," Jones stated.

"Whom does the farm board represent, anyway?" he asked.

Urges Definite Policy

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—President Hoover has suggested to the farm board that he thought it wise for it to consider a more definite policy in respect to sales of the wheat holdings of the stabilization corporation.

It was said at the White House that the suggestion had been made in view of the unusual conditions growing out of the depression, although the president has no authority in determining the policies of the board.

The board is considering the matter.

A growing demand that it pledge itself not to dispose of its wheat holdings while the present crop is being marketed has been expressed to President Hoover by officials as well as by wheat growers and traders.

The White House statement said: "Although President Hoover has no authority in determining the policies of the farm board, he has suggested to the board, in view of unusual conditions growing out of the depression, that he thought it wise for it to consider a more definite policy in respect to sales of the holdings of the stabilization corporation.

"The board is considering the matter."

FLASHES Of LIFE

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—Telephone conversations can be recorded as you talk. A device perfected in Germany is to be used in this country. If a person wishes to recall some detail of telephonic conversation, he merely turns on a record.

DURBAN, NATAL.—Wild animals will look at humans in cages. The Hans Schomburgk expedition plans to make sound movies of beasts in their native lairs. Cages will be mounted on automobile trucks.

CAIRO—There's no place for boy editors in Egypt. The cabinet has approved a statute providing that all newspaper editors must be more than 25 years old. All papers must be bonded. King Fuad has yet to sign the statute.

LONDON.—New world publicity methods have been brought to Staid Old Trafalgar square. A British actress, wishing to obtain notoriety, dived into the square's pond and splashed around. Bobbies blinked and then got busy. Out came the actress.

NEW YORK.—Opportunity for vacationists: Sir Frederick O'Connor is looking for five Americans to fly from England to India and hunt tigers from aboard elephants. Total cost for 10-day outing $100,000. NEW CONSTITUTION FOR CATHOLIC COLLEGES

VATICAN CITY, June 27. (UP)—A new constitution for Catholic theological and philosophical colleges throughout the world was published today by Osservatore Romano, official organ of the holy see, in which the pope places additional regulations on the studies of Catholic students.

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 27.—The important groundwork for the long awaited business revival was laid this week by the proposal of President Hoover of a one-year war debt moratorium to assist economic recovery throughout the world.

Coming at a time when business and political leaders were looking for signs of a recovery after the long two-year depression, the announcement had an immediate effect on sentiment everywhere and provided the stimulus for a world-wide boom in stock and commodity prices.

While no sweeping recovery in the near future is indicated from various trade indices, the improved sentiment and the sharp reversal of trend in commodity prices are believed to be harbingers of gradually improving times.

Most economists agree that powerful constructive factors will assert themselves after Labor day. Meanwhile, business leaders are reconciled to a dull summer.

Favorable Signs

Probably the most important outcome of the war debt discussions was the advance in commodity prices, a development which usually precedes a change for the better. The heavy trading in such basic necessities as copper cotton, grains, rubber, wool, sugar, and hides gave indication of the long pent up demand awaiting only the assurance that prices had reached bottom.

Enthusiasm over prospective improvement was reflected in world stock markets, prices making their sharpest advances since the temporary flurry after the culmination of the bull market in 1929.

Another potential constructive factor was renewed merger negotiations between a number of important companies. Such consolidations probably would result in widespread economies and would not be attempted in the face of possibilities of continued business depression. Among these were Standard Oil of New York and Vacuum Oil, new terms for which were announced last night; Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., and Bethlehem Steel corporation and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. The latter consolidation has been tied up in the courts but a new deal is expected shortly.

CONTINUANCE TO BE ASKED IN HEARING INSURANCE RATES

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (UP)—Insurance companies are expected to ask for a continuance in their rate hearing when it is called before the state insurance board Monday.

The hearing was originally set for compensation insurance rates, the companies seeking an increase. The attorney general's office is preparing a cross petition on request of the governor attacking all rates.

When this petition is filed, it is expected that the companies will ask time to consider the charges made. It will ask a reduction of rates rather than an increase.

Fred Hansen, assistant attorney general, is preparing the state case. The associated industries of Oklahoma and the retail merchants association is protesting the compensation rate increase.

The national council of compensation insurance companies requested the increase. It has been granted in many states, William Murdoch, chairman of the state board, said.

Governor Murray's order for a counter suit was made when the companies were alleged to have threatened to withdraw bank insurance in Oklahoma.

The companies doing compensation insurance allege they are doing business at a loss. The governor has said a state firm would be started if the companies withdrew for lack of a rate increase.

DEPOSITORS OF CLOSED SPUR BANK TO RECEIVE 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND

SPUR, Texas, June 27.—L. B. Withers, receiver for the City National bank of Spur, Texas, announced this week that the first dividend would be paid as soon as the checks could be returned from the comptroller's office at Washington. The bank was closed Sept. 1, 1930, and the amount of the first dividend to be paid will be 10 per cent, amounting to about $30,000 according to Withers. The checks are expected back for distribution about the middle of July.

MISS IRENE MARSCHALL BAYLOR UNIVERSITY WEDS

ARKANSAS DIVORCE LAW GOES TO SUPREME COURT

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27. (AP)—Attorneys for the Home Protective association organized to oppose Arkansas' new 90-day divorce law, filed a complaint and bill of review in the state supreme court today, asking the tribunal to declare the law unconstitutional or review referendum petitions rejected by Secretary of State Ed F. McDonald.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, June 27. (AP)—Wool market made a decided turn for improvement during the past week as a number of wool houses advanced quotations. Advances were established by sales on several grades of combing domestic wools, while on other grades prices were firmer and tended stronger within ranges prevailing during the previous week. The hardening of wool prices stimulated some forward buying by worsted mills and for top makers. Toward close of the week top makers advanced quotations on tops.

FURTHER STRENGTH SHOWN IN TRADING IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Fresh buying orders more than offset week-end profit taking in today's stock market.

Led by U. S. Steel, the list closed with gains of 1 to 4 points or more, although most of the advances in the more important issues fell in a one to two range. Trading was active, especially in the last half hour. Sales totaled 1,900,000 shares, a large volume for Saturday.

Although overnight Washington advices had stated that the French cabinet's reply on the debt proposal, sustained by the deputies, did not quite fill the bill from the viewpoint of the American administration, Wall street directed its attention to Paris, where Secretary Mellon and Premier Laval began their negotiations. Financial circles here expressed confidence in the outcome.

Stocks opened heavy, apparently on realizing, but before the session was 30 minutes old the rally had been revived. Steel common got to 104⅝, a new high for the recovery. It reacted moderately from the top when late profit taking rippled through the list, closing with a gain of 2⅝. Bethlehem duplicated that advance, and there were roughly similar rises in Westinghouse, Johns Manville, American Telephone, DuPont and Allied Chemical. Rails were quiet but higher. Eastman Kodak and Pere Marquette were up 4, Columbian Carbon 8, Ingersoll-Rand and Industrial Rayon 3, Underwood Elliott Fisher 4 and Nickel Plate preferred 5. Republic Steel gained a point on news of the Corrigan-McKinley absorption.

Domestic news, overshadowed all this week by events in the international field, offered little light on trade conditions at home. Steel production in the Youngstown district next week will be unchanged at 41 per cent of capacity. Close students of that industry are predicting that the bottom of the seasonal sag will be reached shortly, possibly by he middle of July, although not much of a revival is expected until late summer or early fall.

Livestock

Middle West Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, June 27. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Another liberal run of cattle around the 11-market circuit this week coming on top of last week's liberal supply uncovered a price decline of 25c to $1.00 on most killing classes. Choice yearlings were about the only offering to escape with less than a 50c bread, while matured fed steers scaling above 1,200 pounds were off 75c to $1.00 at several points. Western grass steers and grass fat she stock were tendered a jolt of 50c to $1.00. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 185,900 as compared with 187,189 last week and 128,621 the corresponding period a year ago.

There was a fairly broad demand throughout the week for hogs scaling downward from 230 pounds and closing values on such weights are generally firm to 25c higher with last week's close. Strong weight butchers, however, closed dull at weak to unevenly lower rates. St. Louis had a late top of $7.60. Total offerings were around 421,800, a slight increase over last week, but 61,000 short of a year ago.

Fat lambs at most markets were steady to slightly lower, while yearlings and matured killing classes of sheep showed little change. Chicago had a week's top of $8.50 on native lambs and secured $8.25 for choice range offerings. The supply numbered around 238,000 against 254,686 last week and 206,139 the same week a year ago.

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle—Receipts 300; compared week ago: Yearlings and light steers 25@75c lower; matured beeves 50c@$1.00 lower; plain big weights off most; few steers scaling over 1,200 pounds less than 75c lower; yearling heifers 50c and more lower; most fat she stock 50c@$1.00 off; bulls strong; vealers broke $1.00@1.50; yearling steers top $8.75; bulk $7.00@8.00; extreme top medium weights $8.40; most heavies $8.50@7.25 late; peak on yearling heifers $8.25; bulk $7.50 downward; beef cows $3.50@4.25; best weighty sausage bulls $4.25; late top vealers $8.00.

Sheep—Receipts 2,500; nominal; for week; compared week ago: Choice lambs and yearlings $10@15c lower; other classes steady; feeding lambs nominal; closing bulk good and choice native ewe and wether lambs $7.75@8.00; few $8.25; week's top $8.50; range lambs $7.75@8.25; native bucks $6.75@7.00; fed yearlings $5.00@6.50; faw ewes $1.00@1.75.

Cotton Seed Oil

DALLAS, June 27. (AP)—Prime cottonseed: Unquoted. Prime cottonseed oil, 6¼c; prime cottonseed meal, 43 per cent, $21.50; prime cottonseed hulls, $9.00; linters, average mill run, $1.50@2.25.

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed firm today, unchanged to 15 points higher. Sales were 13 contracts, equivalent to 1,950 barrels. Strength of lard and the sharp rally in cotton from the lows, together with the firmness of the stock markets, accounted for the steadiness of oil. Crude oil held well at 6½ cents bid in the southeast and valley.

Bleachable spot closed 7.00; July 7.21; Sept. 7.32; Oct. 7.15; Dec. 7.00; Jan. 7.05. Prime summer yellow contracts closed at 6.90 for spot; July 7.00; Sept. 7.15; Dec. 6.90 and Jan. 6.95 with no sales.

COTTON PRICES TO NEW HIGH GROUND SATURDAY TRADING

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Recent advances were followed by very nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today.

An early decline carried October to 10.40. Offerings were readily absorbed by trade buying, however, and the market later advanced into new high ground for the movement and closed easy net 7 points lower to 5 points higher.

The opening was steady 6 to 15 points lower under selling on the poor showing of Liverpool, lower opening in the stock market. Reports of rains in South Texas may have contributed to the decline, which carried prices off to 10.05 for July and 10.66 for December, or about 14 to 18 points net lower during the early trading. Trade buying continued, however, and the market soon steadied on renewed covering which became more active as the stock market firmed up after its opening decline.

Prospects for further rains in Texas over Sunday with the possibility that they might spread to the eastward may have accounted for some of the late selling. A readjustment of the technical position after the advances of over two cents a pound from the recent high level, however, was regarded as accounting for much of the selling both at the start and later in the day.

Liverpool cables said the continental buying had been supplied by realizing in that market. Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 73,000 bales against 67,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, June 27. (AP)—Cotton was decidedly active for a short week-end session here today, and prices fluctuated rapidly and nervously although finally resulting in small net changes for the day. The close was called weak prices showing no change to 5 points net advance.

Liverpool came in 7 to 11 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was general realising by longs. Manchester cabled that the home cloth trade was improving. October closed at 10.60 and December at 10.80 or net two points up on the former month and net unchanged on the latter.

Port receipts 1,765; for season 8,827,505; last season 8,217,566. Exports 3,047; for season 6,401,577; last season 6,641,245. Port stocks 3,094,322; last year 1,684,710; combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 59,906; last year 65,311. Spot sales at southern markets 5,977; last year 1,680.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, June 27. (INS)—There was a fair demand in opening cotton today with prices steady. Sales amounted to 5,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 6.73d, strictly good middling 6.28d, good middling 5.93d, strictly middling 5.68d, middling 5.53d, strictly low middling 5.33d, low middling 5.08d, strictly good ordinary 4.88d, and good ordinary 4.58d.

Futures were quiet with July at 5.41d, Oct. 5.51d, Dec. 5.58d, Jan. 5.61d, March 5.70d, and May 5.77d.

BUYERS FLOCK TO FEED GRAINS ON DAMAGE REPORTS

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Buyers flocked to corn and oats today and backed away from wheat. Hot dry weather threatening damage to corn and doing actual injury to oats furnished incentive to purchase feed grains. Wheat prices averaged lower, largely owing to federal farm board refusal to change its policy in regard to disposal of government financed old crop holdings aggregating 200,000,000 bushels or more.

Corn closed firm, ⅝@1¼ cents higher, wheat ⅛c off to ¼c up, oats ⅜@1c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 58⅛c, 59⅛@59½c; Sept. 58⅛c, 60⅛@60⅜c; Dec. 62⅝@63⅛c, 65⅛@65⅝c. Corn—July 59⅛@59⅝c; 63⅛c; Sept. 57⅛c, 60⅛@61c; Dec. 51⅝@51⅞c, 55⅛@55⅝c.

NARROW GAINS IN PRICES FOR BONDS AND TRADE ACTIVE

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—The bond market crept ahead narrowly today. Trading was more active than on other recent half sessions and sales totaled $6,200,000.

Many of the widest gains appeared among the foreign obligations. Some of the Latin-American issues, such as those of Chile and Argentina, which had been buoyant on Friday while reports of plans for the economic relief of the southern republics were current, declined irregularly. German obligations fluctuated uncertainly and such changes as occurred among them were moderate.

The trend of corporate issues was clearly upward although the next gains usually were fractional. The average closing prices for railroads, public utilities and industrials were all higher. Railroad issues appreciated most in this upward movement.

The Interstate Commerce commission has authorized the Frisco to issue $14,323,000 of temporary lien 6 per cent series E mortgage bonds to be pledged under a consolidated mortgage and to issue, pledge or sell $18,316,000 of temporary consolidated mortgage series B 6 per cent bonds.

Public utility and industrial bonds were usually firm or slightly higher. The advance in them was less marked than among the rails. Loans of the United States government were dull with a declining tendency.

Dry Goods Market

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Cotton goods markets continued strong today with substantial inquiry for print cloths and sheetings and fair sales. Prices were strong with an advancing tendency. Fine goods markets were slightly more active at the close of the week. Burlap markets were busier, with better sales spot and shipment. Men's wear wool goods were reported well sold ahead. Low priced lots of interior rayon yarns were of interest. Silk merchandise markets were disturbed by selling against inventory.

Hundreds of Cars of Wheat Being Shipped Daily Out of North Texas From Largest Crop in Many Years

Hundreds of cars of wheat and oats are moving daily out of Northwest Texas, while the harvest of the largest grain crops in many years continues at full speed. Railroads in this section were prepared and the crops are being moved as rapidly as it is hauled into market.

Wheat through most of the Northwest Texas area is averaging 15 bushels per acre, with some of it yielding as high as 25 bushels and in a few spots falling as low as 10.

Grain dealers report that most of the wheat is being sold on a distress market by farmers who have pressing obligations. Nearly all farmers are holding enough for feed and seed for another year, but only the larger farmers are storing the crop. Very little oats or barley is coming on the market; farmers figure that it will pay larger dividends as feed for livestock than at the present low prices.

Hardeman Yield Heavy

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, June 27.—According to the local grain dealers 52 carloads of wheat has been shipped out from this point, and although figures for the same period of time last year are not available, it is claimed this year's wheat movement is much larger.

The test is proving to be the one bright spot in this year's crop, practically all wheat hauled to Chillicothe has tested 60 pounds and better. Smut has been noticeable in some of the grain, it is said, and this has not been found, howeevr, until a test has been made at the point of destination resulting in a considerable loss to the producer, the wheat being docked several cents per pound.

Not to Dump Grain

MANGUM, Okla., June 27.—Congressman James V. McClintic, who will give a patriotic address at the big Fourth of July celebration here, has advised wheat dealers that wheat will not be dumped on the market in sufficient quantities to demoralize prices. He says 225,000,000 bushels is now being held by the federal farm board for obvious reasons, and that the grain stabilization corporation is complying strictly with its promise on March 23 to handle its stocks in such a way as to impose a minimum burden upon domestic and world prices.

Fourteen carloads of wheat have been shipped by local elevators since the opening of the market last week. The price stands at 38 cents.

Twenty Cars Shipped

SPUR, Texas, June 27.—Twenty cars of the 1931 wheat crop of Dickens county have been shipped from Spur. It is estimated that this is half of the wheat that will be placed on the market this summer. About 15 per cent is being held for future sale and 10 per cent was baled and saved for feed. This is the first time in the history of the county that over two cars have been shipped in a single season. A 20-bushel average to the acre is being received.

Much Grain Stored

ELDORADO, Okla., June 27.—Eldorado has led all other Jackson county towns in the number of cars of wheat shipped to date. Thursday afternoon a total of 120 cars averaging 1600 bushels each had been loaded out.

A complete survey of the county Tuesday, June 23, showed a total of 279 cars shipped, of which 100 cars were from Eldorado.

In the opinion of grain dealers here 150 cars will be shipped from this point before the movement is over. This will not represent the total yield for this trade area, as practically every farmer is storing enough for seed and some for feed. A careful check shows that the average farmer is holding approximately two bushels for each acre planted to wheat the past season.

Many of the larger farmers are storing their entire crop, in many instances amounting to from two to three cars. A conservative estimate, based on the average yield per acre for the 35,000 acres planted to wheat indicates a total yield of at least 350,000 and possibly 400,000 bushels for this trade area.

Most farmers are getting an average yield of from 16 to 18 bushels per acre, and few as low as 10 bushels.

Barley and oats are producing well, but because of the extremely low market farmers are holding these crops for feed.

Cotton, maize, corn and other row crops are beginning to suffer for moisture, the high winds of the past 10 days having dried out the moisture from the last rain on June 6.

Harvest Nearly Over

FLOYDADA, Texas, June 27.—The wheat harvest, begun in Floyd county only about 10 days ago, is nearly completed. Sixty per cent of the crop on an average has been harvested in the county as a whole and it is estimated that 75 per cent of it is finished in the territory adjacent to Floydada. Thousands of bushels of grain has been pouring from the spouts of hundreds of combines into trucks to be hauled to the granary or to the elevator for sale. Although good yields are reported from 80 per cent or more of the farms of the county, wheat that is being sold represents no profit to the grower. Much of the wheat is going on the distress market, because of pressing obligations. Practically no oats or barley has been sold. Fields yielding an average of 15 bushels are showing their owners very little left over after paying the cost of harvesting and hauling to the elevators. A total of approximately 160 carloads of wheat has been shipped from Floydada to date.

DOHENY INTERESTS PAY FEDERAL INCOME TAXES AND SUIT IS DISMISSED

LOS ANGELES, June 27. (AP)—A cashier's check to the federal government for $669,570 from the Doheny-Pacific Petroleum company was presented in federal court yesterday and the government's $1,250,000 income tax suit against the Doheny interests was dismissed.

The check represented a principal amount of $448,000 agreed upon by the government and the defense and interest to date.

It was charged by the government in the suit, begun in 1920, that the "merger" of the Pacific Petroleum company and the Pan-American Petroleum company in 1919, in reality was a sale of the former concern and that the government was entitled to tax. The contention was denied by the Doheny interests.

Eclipse Next Year

WASHINGTON, June 27. (US)—An intervening moon will cause a total eclipse of the sun in parts of New England on Aug. 21, 1932, it was announced today by the U. S. naval observatory.

The eclipse to some degree may be observed in all parts of the country.

The next meeting of Panhandle lodge No. 341, I. O. O. F., Monday evening has been designated as "attendance night" and an invitation is extended to all Odd Fellows in this district to attend the meeting.

All members of the local lodge are expected to be present. An important business session will be held, after which refreshments are to be served. The meeting will be at the Odd Fellows hall, 807 Austin street.

New Plymouth Car Expected to Have Uusual Features

Persistent rumors that a new and sensational Plymouth car is to be introduced within a week were neither affirmed nor denied by Chrysler and Dodge dealers in this city.

Questioned concerning these rumors, which have emanated from Detroit for some time, the local dealers handling the Plymouth car were reluctant about giving out any confirmation.

For the past three months various writers on automotive subjects have given credence to the advent of a new Plymouth. This car, they have reported, is said to embody entirely new and most revolutionary principles of engineering.

Plymouth engineers, according to rumor, have completely removed vibration from this car. This was made possible, gossip says, by utilizing a new principle of engine suspension. While details of the new mounting are lacking, it is understood that the power plant of the new Plymouth is entirely separated, so far as vibration is concerned, from the frame and body of the car. Rubber is plentifully used in the new mounting, it is said.

The new Plymouth, the reports say, although a car selling in the lowest price field, is said to have as the result of this engineering development the performance and roadability of cars selling in a much higher price bracket.

A further persistent rumor in connection with the new Plymouth is that the car will have free-wheeling as standard equipment. The free-wheeling unit, according to Detroit gossip is of a special type developed by Chrysler motors engineers. It is said to be controlled from the instrument board of the car and free-wheels in all forward speeds.

Norma Shearer in 'A Free Soul' at Majestic Theater Through Tuesday State Offers 'I Take This Woman'

Theater Calendar

MAJESTIC

Sunday through Tuesday: Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul," with Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, James Gleason and Leslie Howard; also Tom Howard in "Via Express"; screen song "My Wife's Gone to the Country" and Majestic talking news.

Wednesday for three days: Robert Montgomery in "The Man in Possession," with Charlotte Greenwood, Irene Purcell and Beryl Mercer.

STATE

Sunday through Wednesday: "I Take This Woman," with Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard. Slim Summerville comedy, "Parisian Gaieties" and sound news.

Starting Thursday: "The Black Camel," with Warner Oland, Sally Eilers, Bela Lugosi (star of Dracula) and Dorothy Revier. Also cartoon and talking news.

GEM

Sunday for three days: Victor McLaglen, Fay Wray and Lew Cody in "Not Exactly Gentlemen" and Mickey McGuire comedy, "Mickey's Crusaders."

Wednesday and Thursday: George Bancroft, Kay Francis and Clive Brook in "Scandal Sheet," and comedy, "Society Goes Spaghetti."

Friday and Saturday: Buck Jones in "The Avenger"; also chapter 10 of "King of the Wild" and comedy.

Norma Shearer, the fascinating heroine of "Strangers May Kiss" is the star of a new and absorbing drama, "A Free Soul," now playing at the Majestic. Also prominently cast in this expert dramatization of the Adela Rogers St. Johns novel of the same name, are Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford's leading man in "Laughing Sinners," Leslie Howard and James Gleason.

"A Free Soul" is the story of a modern girl who is brought up to believe that anything she does is all right as long as she honestly believes in it. This is the viewpoint of her father (Lionel Barrymore), an erratic, unconventional man who has brought up his daughter to think and act for herself. But when the girl, Jan, falls desperately in love with a notorious criminal introduced to her by her father, a dramatic and tense situation is created which builds through powerful sequences to a commanding and engrossing climax. For, as unconventional as Barrymore really is, he sees clearly that his daughter is throwing her life away on a man who is unworthy of her. His efforts to save her from herself, which his own weakness temporarily makes impossible, and the courageous efforts of Jan's jilted fiance, who takes it upon himself to force Jan's notorious lover to a showdown, are twists to the plot's development that create exciting and effective dramatic suspense.

Other units of entertainment on this program include another of those comedies with Tom Howard, considered the world's "dumbest" person. There is also a screen song and Majestic talking news.

"The Man in Possession"

Now that Robert Montgomery has been firmly established as a real star, movie fans have been looking forward to his next appearance. The management of the Majestic is proud to announce "The Man in Possession" is Montgomery's next picture and will be seen at the Majestic starting next Wednesday. With Montgomery will be seen Irene Purcell, Charlotte Greenwood, Beryl Mercer, C. Aubrey Smith and Reginald Owen.

"I TAKE THIS WOMAN" NOW SHOWING STATE THEATER

"I Take This Woman," now showing at the State theater, is the story of a likeable easy-going westerner and a wealthy girl, beautiful, spoiled, impetuous, caught up in a certain whirlwind of love, who marry, struggle to make a go of it, repent, separate, and find they can't stay apart.

Gary Cooper, after a brief absence from the western plains in "City Lights," returns to the spurs and chaps in this actionful story, the settings of which whirl from gay time New York to the range country of Wyoming, and back again. Carolyn Lombard, blond, charming, talented, is the girl.

Also a Slim Summerville comedy, "Parisian Gayeties," and Paramount sound news.

"The Black Camel"

Following Charlie Chan's success in tracking down murders in "Charlie Chan Carries On," the same oriental detective carries on and portrays his brilliant deductions in "The Black Camel" from Earl Biggers' famous fiction character.

In "The Black Camel," coming to the State Thursday Charlie's sleuthing is all done in and around Honolulu. Warner Oland again enacts the role of "Charlie Chan," but in the new film Sally Eilers has the romantic lead, with Bela Lugosi, who made such a hit in "Dracula."

Selected comedies and short subjects make this a pleasing and entertaining program.

"NOT EXACTLY GENTLEMEN" AT GEM THEATER SUNDAY

Opening of the Indian lands in the Dakotas for settlement by the whites is the epochal highlight of "Not Exactly Gentlemen," which features Victor McLaglen and Fay Wray and is directed by Benjamin Stoloff, opening Sunday at the Gem theater.

"Not Exactly Gentlemen" is based on one of the most romantic periods in American history, that following soon after the civil war and it is likewise a gripping story of the struggle of two youthful lovers, played by Fay Wray and David Worth, for land.

Historically accurate portraits of three bad hombres of that period are played by Victor Laglen, Lew Cody and Eddie Gribbon.

Lovable outlaws they might well be called for though they are killers with a price on their heads, they prove to be the guides and protectors of the youthful lovers.

Audrey's Shop Will Close for Summer Months

Audrey's shop, an art and gift studio operated by Miss Audrey Ferguson at 1403½ Tenth street, will be closed from July 1 until Sept. 1, according to an announcement made by Miss Ferguson, who will spend the summer visiting studios in Chicago and other points in the East.

Final and Semifinal Matches Open Golf Tournament at Inverness Club To Be Broadcast by Columbia Chain

Final and semifinal round matches of the national open golf tournament will be broadcast by Ted Husing over the WABC-Columbia network on Friday and Saturday, July 3 and 4. The broadcasts are tentatively scheduled for from 3 to 4 p. m., central standard time, on both days.

The championship matches this year will be held at the Inverness club, Toledo, Ohio. One hundred and fifty-one golf stars of all nations will make up the field when play beeins on the morning of Thursday, July 2.

Husing will arrive in Toledo in the beginning of the week; fresh from Columbus, Ohio, where he will have broadcast the Ryder cup matches on the preceding Saturday. The sports announcer will spend all week at Inverness, gathering data concerning the meet and following the progress of the early rounds in preparation for the broadcasts.

A portable short wave transmitter strapped to Husing's back will carry his voice to a central pickup point and thence by wire to the network as the announcer follows the players around the course.

On Friday evening after each contestant has played 36 holes, those 60 turning in the lowest score will be eligible for the final matches on Saturday. These are expected to be completed by 4 p. m. when the winner will be announced over the air.

Virtually all members of the British and American Ryder cup teams are entered in this tournament as well. In the list of entries are Al Watrous, Abe Espinosa, Al Espinosa, Tommy Armour, George Von Elm, MacDonald Smith, George M. Smith, Leo Diegel, Ernest Whitcombe, Gene Sarazen, W. H. Davies, Arthur Havers, Sid Easterbrook, Walter Hagen, Johnny Farrell, Charles Whitcombe and George Duncan.

Straight Answers to Everyday Questions About the Problem of Family Protection

What will be the duties of my Trustee under my Will?

The Trustee must be able to——analyze, review, make and change investments —manage properties

—operate going concerns
—participate in reorganization and refinancing of projects
—study the needs of minors and certain dependent beneficiaries
—make payments that will best serve their needs
—advise with beneficiaries on personal as well as business matters
—make all reports and accounts to Court and tax authorities

Does a trust institution guarantee a certain rate of income?

No; a Trustee has to account for all the income it receives, whether it be seven per cent or three per cent. If it guaranteed a rate of income, it would have to make a rate somewhat less than it expected actually to receive, and keep the excess as consideration for the guaranty. This would be making secret profits out of Trust Funds—highly improper and illegal in a Trustee.

Fishing for Ideas He landed a real one

"It's funny how ideas occur to a man when he gets away from things. This one came to me on my vacation. Resting by the stream, I turned over many things in my mind. In the quiet of the afternoon this thought came to me:

"Yes, I'll fix it in my will. What I leave my wife and children, I'll anchor for them in trust. Then they won't have the same eternal worry about investments I've had. They'll get a check on the dot the first of every month. Meantime, nothing can touch the principal—certainly not until the children are old enough to manage their shares for themselves.

"And I made up my mind then and there that I wanted your institution to handle this for me. You're to be the trustee."
