Meese requests special prosecutor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin Meese III, his nomination as attorney general increasingly under fire, is asking for a special prosecutor to investigate his affairs, Sen. Joseph Biden said today.

Biden, D-Del., told reporters at a meeting of the Senate Judiciary Committee that Meese told him of his decision in a telephone call earlier in the day.

The committee has been conducting hearings on Meese's nomination.

Biden said, "I told Meese myself he would be making a serious mistake if the White House did not insist that the Justice Department investigation be a full-blown one, not limited in any way, and have an independent counsel conducting the investigation."

The senator said Meese had asked to have a meeting with Biden, the ranking Democrat on the panel, but he told Meese, "I did not want to do that."

"He told me that at 10:30 this morning he's going to announce he is asking for a special prosecutor to cover all matters" regarding the investigation into Meese's affairs.

Biden said he did not know exactly how broad an investigation by a special prosecutor Meese would be seeking but that he advised Meese it should concern all questions regarding his financial matters and his role if any in the passage of Carter re-election documents to the Reagan campaign, as well as his controversial promotion to colonel in the Army Reserve.

Meanwhile, Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. tried today to give an optimistic view of Meese's chances of gaining confirmation.

"I think it would take more than you've seen now to defeat the nomination," he told reporters.

Mapping system due bid

Bids for an automated mapping system are to be considered Thursday night at a called meeting of the Scurry County Appraisal District.

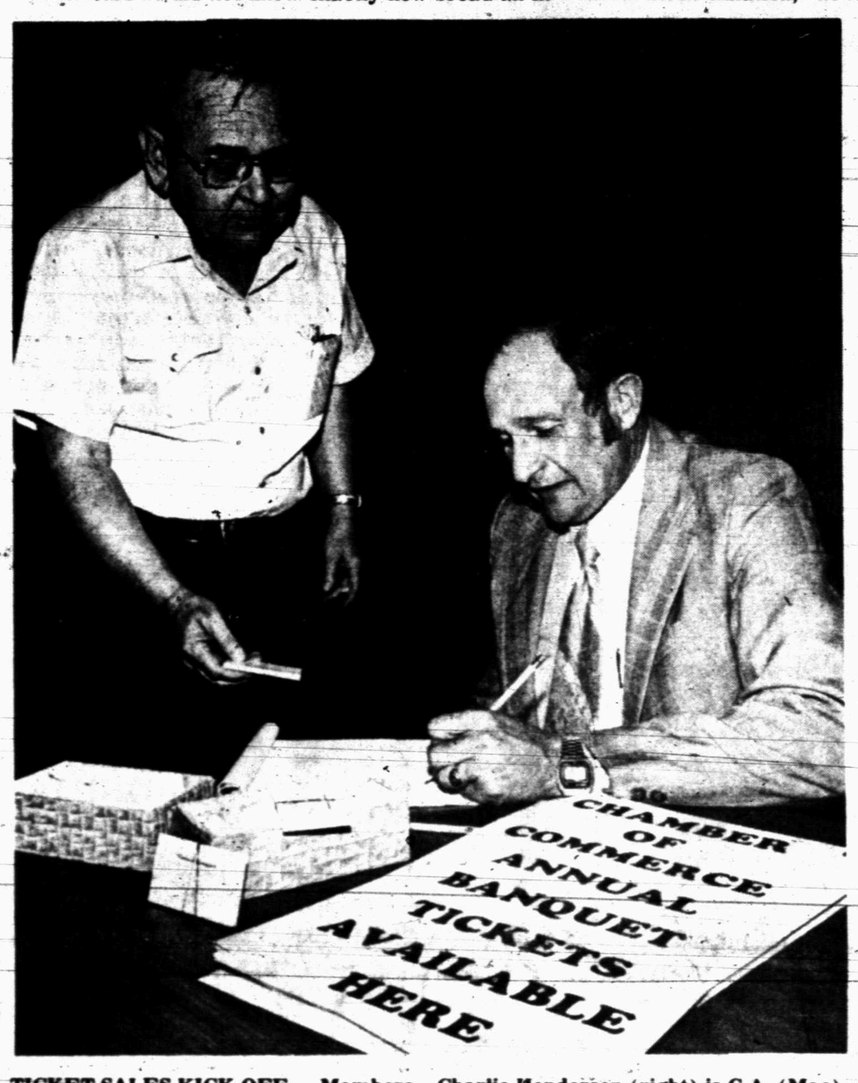

The system's computer memory will store map information, then "layer" this information in a three-dimensional graphic on the computer screen.

District officials say such a system will replace conventional maps — which ultimately wear out through use.

In addition, the system has the capability to produce hard copy maps from the image produced on screen.

In addition Thursday, directors are to accept bids for a desk top printer designed to be used in conjuncton with the IBM System 36 computer.

The session will begin at 7 p.m. in the appraisal district offices, 2612 College Ave.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Tact is the ability to drive a nail without busting the plank."

The waitress had her hands full, but she kept a sense of humor while waiting on the Gold Coat organization at their luncheon meeting last Friday.

The restaurant had a packed house in addition to a good turnout for the Gold Coat meeting. The waitress was doing double duty in two areas of the restaurant.

After the meal, the Gold Coaters were gobbling down blueberry muffins and Sheriff Keith Collier inquired, "What happened to all the muffins?"

The waitress, keeping in control of the situation, had a quick comeback that got a good laugh, "The police chief stole them all."

Police Chief Bill Stone also has to have a good sense of humor in his job. A favorite story concerns a parking lot wreck at the high school several years ago.

A young driver was leaving the lot, lost control of his vehicle and struck several parked cars before it came to a stop.

The officers arrived to investigate, and a few of the parents were already called to the scene.

After gathering up all the facts, the patrolmen told the driver he would have to write him a citation.

"You can't give him a ticket," protested the mother, "He doesn't have a drivers license."

Some logic is hard to overcome. An example is a man and his grandson we observed in a Snyder restaurant recently. The boy asked for ketchup and then balked at using any.

"It's too old," declared the youngster as he pointed to the label which read, "Since 1869."

Centennial Year Footnotes: Snyder National Bank observed its 40th anniversary. Directors were A. C. Erwin, president and chairman; A. C. Alexander, Harrie Winson, W. M. Fuller and W. G. Williams.

Contest judges land, livestock

Ag students from Sweetwater and Ira High School captured the top honors Wednesday at the first ever Western Texas College Land and Livestock judging contests.

The Sweetwater FFA team racked up 565 of a possible 600 points in the land judging events to take home the title of top land judging team. The Ira students outpointed the competition in sheep and swine judging to capture the overall livestock judging championship.

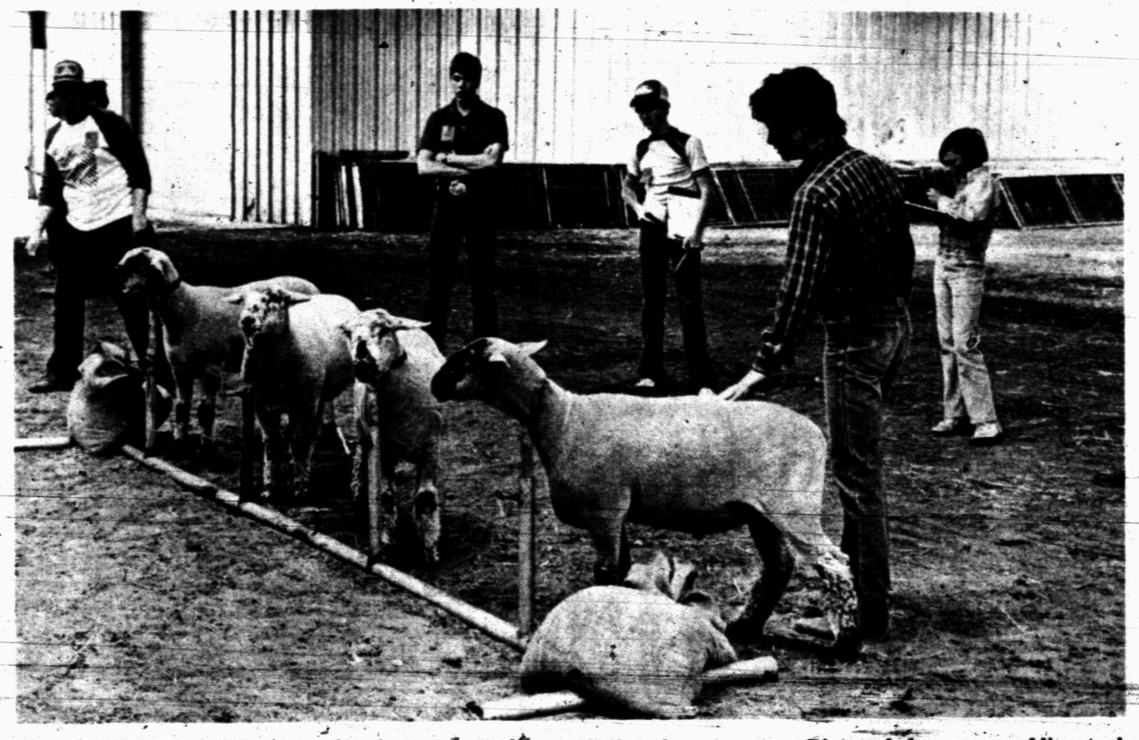

Dirk Dunn, Jay Baze, and Jay Clark led the Ira team effort, scoring 387, 380, and 379 respectively. They finished as third, fourth and fifth high individuals in the contests.

Students in the contest were asked to evaluate pens of animals and tracts of land. The same animals and land were then evaluated by adult professionals. Points were awarded to competitors based on how close their ratings came to those offered by professional judges.

High school ag teams represented at Wednesday's event — conducted in the Scurry County Coliseum ag annex and on the Carl Dillaha farm south of Snyder — were Roosevelt, Brownfield, Graham, Wellman, Shallowater, Sweetwater, Roby, Irion County, Lubbock Cooper, Ira, Guthrie, Post, Hermleigh and Loraine.

Local individuals and organizations assisting with and co-sponsoring the event included the U.S. Soil Conservation Service,

Ask Us

Q. — Is a business legally required to return your money if you buy an item, then find it is not of use to you and you return it unused?

A. — Basically, the law says whoever is at fault — the customer or the business — is legally bound to accept responsibility. If the item sold is defective, the business is required to replace it or give the money back. But, for example, if the customer asked for and received an item, then determined it was not what they either needed or wanted, the business is not legally bound to accept its return. Such transactions come into legal question, however, when the customer claims the purchase was made at the recommendation of the business.

In Brief

AT&T declares dividend

NEW YORK (AP) — The new slimmed-down American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has declared its first quarterly dividend, but indicated it probably won't be able to continue paying out at the initial 30 cents per common share rate.

AT&T Chairman Charles L. Brown said the company did not expect to earn enough money in the first quarter to support such dividends in the future.

Meanwhile, large businesses as well as long-distance competitors of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. were given an unexpected reprieve until June from new telephone "access charges." The Federal Communications Commission, which earlier this year had postponed access charges for residential customers and small businesses, said Wednesday it was postponing from April 3 until June 13 the effective date for new fees to be paid by larger businesses and long-distance firms.

Soviet submarine blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials say a Soviet attack submarine was to blame for a collision involving the nuclear-powered sub and the 80,000-ton U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk during maneuvers in the Sea of Japan.

The mishap Wednesday resulted in no apparent damage to either vessel, officials said.

And there were no casualties aboard the Kitty Hawk, the Navy said.

It was not known whether any of the submarine's crewmen were hurt, but the Soviet ship — a 5,200-ton craft of the Victor I class — proceeded away from the collision scene under its own power.

Mitterand plans visit to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The visit by Francois Mitterrand, the Socialist president of France, to the United States this week is expected to underscore France's strong support for U.S. leadership of the western alliance despite differences over economic policies, Central America and the Middle East.

"What matters is that when it counts, we can count on them," a senior U.S. official said.

On his first full day of an eight-day visit, Mitterrand today was meeting with President Reagan at the White House, addressing a joint session of Congress and being honored at a state dinner.

The Mitterrand visit is viewed here as a key event in a series of trans-Atlantic meetings intended, one official said, to "demonstrate and reflect alliance cohesion" in economic and political policies.

These meetings, culminating with the annual summit of industrialized democracies in London in June, include a meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Washington in May and the meeting of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Paris in April.

Reagan recently has met with the top governmental leaders of West Germany, Portugal, Austria and Ireland.

Suspend ruling that could bar injections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Warren E. Burger has temporarily suspended a ruling that could bar states from using lethal injections to execute death row prisoners.

Burger granted a request by the Justice Department to suspend the ruling, which was due to take effect Wednesday, pending further review of the case by the Supreme Court.

On Oct. 14, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington said that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration must determine that the drugs used in executions are quick and painless or ban their use.

The circuit court ruling was not due to take effect until now.

Had the decision taken effect earlier, it may have at least temporarily spared the lives of two condemned killers. James David Autry was executed in Texas on March 14 and James W. Hutchins in North Carolina two days later.

Rape victim wins suit against Bell

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A rape victim who said she was attacked after a directory assistance telephone operator failed to connect her with police has been awarded $25,000 in damages from Bell of Pennsylvania.

Jurors deliberated for three hours Wednesday before announcing the woman's award and ordering the company to pay another $12,500 to her estranged husband.

The couple, who were not identified, are pleased with the outcome, although "the award should have been larger because they suffered more damage than was awarded," said Kenneth W. Behrend, their attorney.

"It's a question of a precedent-setting case. It shows that you can file suit and collect for this sort of thing. It's another blow struck for the individual person," Behrend said.

Bell spokesman Noah Halper declined comment on the decision, but he said the company stood by the operator's actions and she would not be punished.

"We felt that our practice was working well. Obviously, in light of a case such as this, you re-evaluate everything that happened," he said.

"The question was, 'Was there liability?' That's really the heart of the case," Allegheny County Common Pleas Judge Marion K. Finklehor said after the jury of four women and eight men presented its decision.

The 27-year-old mother of two filed a lawsuit against Bell of Pennsylvania after she was raped by an intruder in the city's Allentown section early on the morning of Dec. 29, 1981. Her husband was working at the time and her two sons were sleeping.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

My daughter says talking me into buying a home computer is like trying to sell diamond earrings for pierced ears to a coward. The temptation is there. All I have to do is to get over the fear of the slight discomfort of preparation.

Easy for her to say. She sells computers.

She has already pointed out to me the two-year-old child on television who positions his chubby fingers over a keyboard and pushes the right key so that his diaper inventory is flashed across the screen in seconds.

She has informed me about a bunch of teenagers who put down a computer manual and within five minutes unlocked the secrets of the Pentagon.

If those inspirational stories don't make a convert out of me, I suppose nothing will. But as I explained to her, "I lead a simple existence. There is no need in my life for a computer."

"What about your recipes?" she asked. "Look at the time you would save by storing all your favorite ones in a computer. You could have one before your eyes in minutes."

"I can call your Grandma in less time than that. She has hers filed."

"Just think," she persisted, "about having all your personal documents in one place. Your marriage license, your insurance policies, your warranties. Isn't that something you'd sleep better at nights knowing is in one place?"

"No."

She chewed on the sides of her mouth and I knew she was going to bring out the heavy artillery. "Okay, Mom, you're having us all home for dinner. Big brother hates ham, loves Mexican food and cheeses that smell dead. Little brother won't eat unless it's under a Golden Arch, in the car or out of a bucket. He demands frozen chewing gum, skim milk and breakfast cereal. Dad is a fruit-yogurt-lettuce nut, will only eat onions that are cooked, has catsup on eggs, hates spinach and doesn't trust casseroles. You're always on a diet, can't eat anything with nuts because of diverticulosis or with salt or high butter fat and love pasta and gravy. I'm a vegetarian, am allergic to shellfish, prefer lemon juice on salads and chocolate for dessert. You need a computer!"

"When are you planning to come for dinner?" I asked.

"We'll say Tuesday," she said.

"I won't be home," I said and left the room.

Diamonds just aren't all that important to me.

Mike Lawrence has a problem with his opening bid. He has the choice between one no-trump and one club, and finally decides on one club since he really does not expect any rebid problems.

West overcalls one heart. North raises to two clubs and East bids two hearts.

Mike decides to rebid two spades. West passes and North repeats clubs on the three level. Should Mike bid again? Mike decides not to. He doesn't like the idea of three no-trump and it looks as if he will have two heart losers off the top if he tries for game in five clubs.

The king of hearts is opened, and Mike sees that those who opened one no-trump will probably play there and make two against a heart lead from a five-card suit and three if the hearts are 4-4. He can do nothing about beating or tying plus 150, but he can do a lot about besting plus 120 if he can bring home four clubs.

Now back to the actual play. The king of hearts holds the first trick. East's ace of hearts takes the second and East shifts to the queen of diamonds. Mike ducks, wins the second diamond, draws trumps with three leads, and plays ace of spades and a low spade to the king. West contributes the J-9.

Now Mike risks his contract by finessing against the 10. The finesse works, and Mike makes four clubs for what he expects will be a very good score.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Am I an old fuddy-duddy or what? (I'm 32.) My daughter, who is 11 and in the sixth grade, insists that she is the only girl in her group who isn't allowed to wear eye makeup, shave her legs and go to the movies with boys unsupervised.

She's right, unfortunately. Most of her friends are allowed those things. It really burns me up that so many parents give their kids so much freedom that those of us who don't are "the bad guys." Everyone keeps telling me that kids are more "mature" these days and do things at a much younger age. Sometimes I wonder if their parents aren't nuts.

We trust our daughter and know that she has a good head on her shoulders, but where is the line drawn? Am I really old-fashioned? We had hoped to make her wait to use makeup and shave her legs until she was at least 13, and hold off the boys until she was 14 or 15. But 11?

Please help me, Abby. I feel very "old" tonight.

OLDIE AT 32

DEAR OLDIE: Don't blame other parents for caving in when their children pull the old line, "Everybody else can—why can't I?" (It's not always true.) You are responsible for raising only your child—and setting the limits that seem appropriate to you.

Makeup can wait, and so can boys. But a girl who's old enough to be self-conscious about hairy legs should be given an electric shaver and permission to use it.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point: When somebody asks, "How are you?" isn't it proper to be perfectly truthful about it? If I am fine, I reply, "I am fine, thank you." But if I am ailing, I tell the person that I have a backache or I feel as though I am coming down with something, just getting over the flu, or whatever.

A friend of mine told me I should always say "I'm fine" whether I am or not because nobody really cares—it's just a friendly greeting like "Hello" or "Good morning."

Please settle this.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

DEAR DIFFERENCE: Generalizations are dangerous (even this one), but usually when people ask "How are you?" they don't want an organ recital.

I once heard a bore defined as "A man who, when you ask him how he is, tells you." The same goes for a female bore.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see so many letters in your column urging readers to put their small children in proper car seats with seat belts.

Most people think they have to be in a terrible automobile accident for a child to be seriously injured or killed.

Listen to this: A neighbor of mine was driving with her 2-year-old daughter sitting beside her. While she was slowing for a stoplight—and going not more than 20 miles an hour—another car bumped her from behind, causing her little girl to fall in such a way that the child's eye was impaled on the gearshift! That gearshift went into the child's skull and into her brain. Emergency surgery was performed, but the child died on the operating table.

From that day on I have been a one-woman campaigner for children's car seats with the proper restraints. I hope you think this is important enough for your column.

STEADY READER

DEAR READER: Indeed it is. Thanks for writing.

Officials ponder aftermath of L. Geter case

DALLAS (AP) — The Lenell Geter case may not tarnish Dallas' image, but some civic leaders believe there are flaws in the Dallas County criminal justice system.

"I don't think that in any significant, long-term sense the case will affect Dallas' image of itself or the rest of the world's image of Dallas," said Bill Solomon, chairman of the board of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Teenage skin problems

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 19-year-old daughter has problem skin. Her face reacts to various make-ups, soaps and skin cleansers. She takes good care of her skin and washes her face twice a day but still gets blemishes and pimples. They occur mostly around her chin and below her cheekbones — and never seem to quit.

Some of the blemishes have even left a slight scar on her face, but these are only visible when she's not wearing make-up. What do you recommend?

DEAR READER — Make-up and cleansers often are part of the problem. Since the process begins with too much of the oily sebum secretion from the skin, it's unwise to add more oil to the surface of the skin. A person with mild acne should avoid all make-up, creams and lotions. Instead, just use a mild soap and warm water and don't scrub.

Beyond that, your daughter may benefit from medical treatment. Peeling agents are used in some cases. As the surface cells are peeled away, the sebum oil drains easily, avoiding the blemishes.

The other aid is antibiotics. Tetracycline, used long enough, usually eliminates the bacteria within pores that break down the sebum and cause irritation.

Take your daughter to a dermatologist and let him outline a program. There is no point in letting her develop a scarred face.

Meanwhile, I'm sending you the Health Letter 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The new medicine Accutane is useful in advanced cases. But it's usually not used in mild or moderate cases which can be controlled by other methods outlined in the Health Letter.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you give me any information regarding hydrogenated oils? They're used in many food products.

Is it true that the process of hydrogenation changes the molecules in the oil so that the body is unable to assimilate them? Does that cause the molecules to collect in our veins and arteries? What about partially hydrogenated oils — are they harmful too?

DEAR READER — When a label says "partially hydrogenated," it means some of the unsaturated fatty acids have been converted to saturated fatty acids.

Many authorities believe saturated fatty acids stimulate the body to produce more of the fatty-cholesterol particles that lodge in the arteries, a condition called atherosclerosis. That's why it's often recommended to limit the amount of hydrogenated or saturated fatty acids in your diet. Many authorities recommend eating more fish and poultry and less red meat, while at the same time avoiding butter fat and foods that contain butter fat.

The best rule to follow is to look at the food label and see how much of the product is composed of saturated fatty acids next to those that are unsaturated or polyunsaturated.

Governor White...

School plan support pledged

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says if it's money the Texas school system needs, "then we'll have to find that money."

White commented Wednesday after the Texas Research League released a preliminary survey showing that Texas schools spend about as much instructional money on vocational education, physical education and sports as they do in reading, writing, mathematics and science.

"I think it is an alarming revelation," White said. "We have to make certain we are not diluting the scarce dollars we have for education on something that's less than essential."

Dr. Jared E. Hazleton, TRL president, released a sample study of 12 Texas schools, which was requested by the Select Committee on Public Education.

Hazelton said the final report to be released in May would include 20 Texas school districts but the preliminary report only had data from 12 of those districts.

"I suspect if we had the figures from 150 or 200 schools, the data would be similar to these 12," he said.

School districts in the preliminary report included New Deal, Paducah, Beckville, Junction, Jourdanton, Iowa Park, Rockdale, Atlanta, Lockhart, La Porte, Temple, and Edgewood.

Hazleton said the report in May would include data from eight other school districts — Commerce, Fort Stockton, Georgetown, Grapevine, Midland, McAllen, Austin and either Houston or Dallas.

"The percentage of instructional salary costs devoted to the core academic curriculum in the sample high schools ranged from 12 percent to 48 percent," the report said.

Hazleton said the "core academic curriculum" includes courses in English, mathematics, science, social studies and foreign languages.

"On the average, the rest of the high school instructional dollar broke down this way: 25 percent for vocational education, 13 percent for electives, 10 percent for competitive sports, 7 percent for special and compensatory education and 5 percent for health and physical education," the report said.

The silkworm is not a worm. It is a caterpillar, a member of the order Lepidoptera, which includes butterflies and moths. The most common source of silk is the domestic Bombyx mori, but there are more than 500 species of wild silkworms. One of them, found mostly in China, produces an off-white silk known as tussah. A shimmering gold silk comes from the muga caterpillar of India's Assam Valley.

Face San Jacinto tonight...

WTC upsets No. 2-ranked Miami Dade, 81-74

By Bill McClellan
SDN Sports Editor

HUTCHINSON, Kan.--Western Texas College ran up a 15-point lead midway through the first half, then held it the rest of the way to upset No. 2 ranked Miami Dade-North here Wednesday, 81-74.

The win, WTC's 8th in a row, propelled the Westerners into the quarter-finals at 7:45 p.m. Thursday with No. 4 ranked San Jacinto-North. The Ravens are the defending national champions and favored to repeat again this year.

"San Jacinto has some of the greatest players here in the tournament," said Westerner Coach Barry Davis. "We are going to have to play better than we did today. We're looking forward to the challenge."

The Westerners met the challenge against Miami Dade. Trailing by four points early in the game, they retaliated by outpointing the Falcons 26-6. Sophomores Richie Fells and Melroy Butler led the attack. Butler, 6-7 from Buffalo, N. Y., reeled off a dozen points in a five-minute span while Fells popped for 11. The result was a 28-13 advantage. Miami battled back within nine points at halftime, 41-32, but would never come closer than four points the rest of the game.

"We knew Miami had a good ball team and would get back in it. We kept them away by doing a better job of running our offense in the second half. We got movement. Defensively, we did good enough, but we can do a better job," the coach said.

The flow of the second half was anything but constant, but Western always kept control. They fought off continual surges by the Falcons, who lost for only the second time this season.

When Miami finally did get within four, 63-59, sophomore Larry Banks gunned them down. The 6-5 sophomore loaded with 27 points for the game, many of them in the second half.

"The captain did it tonight," said Davis, referring to Banks as one of the team captains. "He hit a hot streak, and when Larry does that it really gives us momentum."

Western turned back a Miami rally with one of its own, then went to the free-throw line to wrap up the victory.

In addition to Banks' 27 points, Western got 18 from Fells, 16 from Butler, and 11 from Eugene Lewis. Lewis, a 6-7 sophomore from Tulsa, led on the boards with 10 rebounds. Fred Johnson pulled down seven, Banks six, and Fells and Butler five apiece. Western outrebounded the Falcons, 47-37.

LARRY BANKS

Miami's 6-8 center, Hector Rodriquez, managed just four points. Tony Fairley, a 6-2 guard, led the team in scoring with 17 points. Jerome Black and 6-9 Bernard Innocent had 15 and 14 respectively.

Western shot well--59.3 percent from the floor. From the free throw line, it was a below par 58.6, though the Westerners did hit from the line when it counted the most.

Miami shot 42.3 percent from the field and 60.9 from the line. The Falcons, now 33-2, will play Erie, N.Y., an 89-82 loser to San Jacinto, at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Banks inspires team effort

HUTCHINSON, Kan.--Western Texas College shook off an early case of the jitters here Wednesday afternoon, then got down to the business of giant killer again.

After beating two favorites to get here, the Westerners calmly proved that rankings can mean very little as they opened the NCJAA national tournament with an 81-74 thumping of No. 2 ranked Miami Dade-North.

"We knew we had to come down here and play hard," said Larry Banks, who led Western on a strong second-half surge that kept the Falcons out of reach until the final gun. "We came out a little slow but we stayed together and we started running our offense, passing the ball and getting to the open man. And we controlled the boards too."

Banks, a 6-5 sophomore from Navasota, went on scoring spurt midway through the second half and hit five straight baskets. The two-time all-region 5 player was hitting so well he asked for the ball even when being double teamed.

"I started hitting and I felt like I could be consistent," grinned Banks. "I just had the hot hand. Really, it was a good team effort. We were alright once we started running our offense. Melroy (Butler) and Eugene (Lewis) were doing a real good job on the boards. It was just a total team thing."

The steps up don't get any shorter for the Westerners. They are scheduled to take on tournament-favorite San Jacinto-North at 7:45 Thursday. San Jacinto, defending tournament champion, is ranked No. 4 and riding a 23-game winning streak.

"They'll be tough," said Banks, "who was a spectator during part of San Jacinto's 89-82 victory over Erie, N.Y. "But anybody can be beat. Nobody here is undefeated. If we play smart and with intensity, I believe we can take them."

Hutchinson briefs...

After the win Wednesday, WTC can't finish any lower than 10th. Dr. Don Newbury, WTC president, estimated 60 fans from Snyder, and said he expected more for the game with San Jacinto. Winner of WTC-San Jacinto game will play Friday at 8:45 p.m. in semi-finals. Loser will play at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

Among the "fans" attending the tournament is former WTC Coach Nolan Richardson, now with Tulsa University. Richardson said he was attending for only one reason--to watch WTC.

"Boy, this is great. This is really it." he said, gesturing in circles to mean the entire tournament. "This brings back great memories. I came here just to watch Western Texas. I'm not looking for anybody (to recruit) from the tournament this year. I just wanted to come watch Snyder. It's really nice Western Texas is back here again."

Tigers blast Midland, 15-2

The Snyder Tigers increased their season record to 6-5 with an impressive 15-2 triumph over the Midland Bulldogs, co-leaders of District 2-5A.

Coach Albert Lewis' nine was scheduled to host San Angelo Central in a 4 p.m. tilt Thursday at Moffett Field.

"In defense of Midland, they are in the middle of their district race, and they threw their number three pitcher at us," observed Lewis.

Nevertheless, the Tigers gained confidence with the 15-run, 13-hit offensive explosion. The Tigers committed five errors.

Charlie Bollinger pitched five innings for the Tigers and collected his third mound victory against two defeats. Jimmy Cain hurled for two innings. Taking the mound loss for Midland High was Darhling who was relieved in the seventh by Stanton.

After a scoreless first inning, William Cotton walked and advaced to third on a double by Chris Sanders. Jay Mayo drew a walk to load the bases. Cotton scored the first run when the shortshop bobbled a grounder hit by Bobby Valasquez. A sacrifice fly hit to left field by Eddie McClure drove in Sanders and the Tigers held a two-run advantage.

In the third, Cotton opened the inning with a walk followed by a single by Sanders. Mayo advanced to first on an error and the bases were loaded once again. Bobby Valasquez hit a grounder to the shortstop and the fielding error allowed Cotton to score and the bases remained loaded. A single by Chad Peterson drove in two runs and then a three-run homer by Justin Webb gave the Tigers an 8-0 advantage and the tilt was out of reach.

Snyder got five insurance runs in the fourth inning. Cotton, Sanders and Mayo opened with a single each. Bobby Valasquez hit a sacrifice fly to score one run and a single by McClure pushed in another tally. Three consecutive errors on the shortstop allowed the final three runs of the frame.

In the 6th Peterson singled and then stole to second. Cain advanced on an error and a single by Bollinger scored Peterson. A second sacker error then allowed Cain to get the final run.

THREE RUN HOMER--Sophomore outfielder Justin Webb connected for a three-run homer over leftfield fence at Moffett Field Wednesday afternoon as the Tigers defeated Midland High, 15-2. Snyder was to host San Angelo Central at 4 p.m. Thursday. (SDN Staff Photo)

NFL owners ban "sack dances"

HONOLULU (AP) — Another National Football League club, the San Diego Chargers, is expected to be put up for sale, the Colts apparently will stay in Baltimore, and Mark Gastineau's "sack dance" is now against the rules.

The news Wednesday ranged from franchises to five-yard penalties as the NFL owners held their third day of winter meetings.

A league source told The Associated Press that two announcements regarding franchises would be made today — Eugene Klein placing his Chargers on the auction block, and Robert Irsay saying he would not move his Colts.

Meanwhile, the club officials adopted a new playing rule that will make "prolonged, excessive or premediated celebration by individual players or groups" during games an infraction that will draw a five-yard penalty.

That rule, one of several adopted, will penalize such displays as Gastineau's "sack dance."

O'Bryan still optimistic, but ready for execution

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Ronald Clark O'Bryan, scheduled to be executed March 31, says he is innocent and is confident his life will be spared, but he has "taken precautions" and is at peace with himself.

O'Bryan, 39, a Deer Park, Texas man convicted of the 1974 Halloween candy poisoning of his son, said he is confident that the U.S. Supreme Court will grant him a stay when the court considers a writ filed this week.

"I expect a reversal and a retrial," said O'Bryan in a death row interview Wednesday. "Legally, I still have good chances."

On Monday, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron White denied a petition for a stay, but the full court is to consider a writ of habeas corpus that could give O'Bryan a new trial.

O'Bryan, called by fellow death row inmates the "Candy Man," said he has made some preparations in the event the court rules against him because he doesn't want "to leave any loose ends."

"I've taken steps to prepare for my eventual execution if it happens," said the former optician. "I've taken precautions that I feel need to be taken."

O'Bryan seemed relaxed and confident during interviews with reporters Wednesday at death row. He made jokes and answered questions at length.

Asked how he could be so relaxed with his execution date near, O'Bryan said he was at peace with himself.

O'Bryan said he was a devoted Christian and noted: "I am not concerned about my soul."

Charges against black engineer to be dropped

DALLAS (AP) — Lenell Geter, who served nearly 16 months of a life sentence for a robbery he said he never committed, is beginning "to see the bright clouds of justice" after prosecutors announced charges against the black engineer would probably be dropped today.

District Attorney Henry Wade announced at a hastily called news conference Wednesday afternoon that the aggravated robbery charge would be dropped because four of the five witnesses who had identified Geter as the robber have now identified another man as the bandit.

When first told of the news at his office at E-Systems Inc. in Greenville, Geter said he could not believe it but that he'd heard "rumors all day."

"All right! Listen, I'm just excited," Geter told the Associated Press, which notified him the charges were being dropped. "It's a new beginning. I'm going to pick up my life and go on."

In a Wednesday night interview with KXAS-TV, Fort Worth, Geter repeatedly thanked those who helped him and believed in his innocence.

"I'm getting to see the bright clouds of justice and I feel that our system will work," said Geter.

Geter, 26, refused to make any direct comment about a possible lawsuit in connection with his arrest and conviction in October 1982 on charges he robbed a fast-food restaurant in the Dallas suburb of Balch Springs.

"I'm sorry to say nothing tangible can account for lost time I spent in prison, but the mere fact I received justice and the intangible things ... could be handled later," Geter said.

Geter was convicted on the basis of five eyewitnesses to the robbery, even though they incorrectly estimated his height. Geter's co-workers said he was at work 50 miles away in Greenville.

Woman sought in shooting of 3 men

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A statewide bulletin has been issued for a woman who police say went on a shooting spree — killing one man and wounding two others — after a bar patron mistakenly took her bar stool.

The woman was armed and already had been facing an aggravated assault charge in connection with an attack on a police officer, authorities said.

The shootings began at 8 p.m. Tuesday when the former cab driver — called a "tough hombre" by witnesses — returned to her stool and found Air Force Lt. Nolan Horton sitting there, detective Billy Hook said.

Bartender Robert Rios, 22, offered her another bar stool, but she pulled a revolver from her purse, put the gun next to Horton's head and pulled the trigger, Hook said.

She then fired at Rios, grazing the side of his head, witnesses said.

Horton, 32, was listed in critical condition late Wednesday at Medical Center Hospital, while Rios was said to be in good condition.

Dead was Allen Knight, 45, who was shot in his home in Live Oak, a San Antonio suburb.

Investigators said the woman, who had not been charged, apparently drove to Knight's house immediately after leaving the bar.

"WE DIDN'T WANT OUR CUSTOMERS PAYING $10 MORE FOR GAS EACH MONTH. SO WE PRESSED FOR LOWER PRICES."

Marcel Eiles
Director of Contract Administration

"Now I know your gas bill hasn't suddenly dropped $10 a month. But we kept it from going up $10 a month. How'd we do it?

We buy gas from suppliers ... often under 20-year contracts. As these older contracts run out, the price of gas usually goes up. Part of my job is to try and keep the price as low as possible when we renew these contracts. But that's just the beginning.

Not all contracts were signed when gas was so cheap. So we began a special program of renegotiating newer contracts — of bargaining for lower prices. And our suppliers have been very responsive.

So far we've renegotiated over 400 of these newer contracts. And the results? Believe it or not, a savings of approximately $130,000,000 annually. In other words, about $10 a month per customer.

We'll keep right on working toward lower prices, 'cause if we didn't try, we'd be paying more for gas. And so would our customers.

And that's something neither of us likes doing."
