Mr. and Mrs. Morton were removed to a Durant hospital in a serious condition.

Five Houses Demolished.

Five farm houses were demolished by the storm which also struck the village of Coleman, ten miles southeast of Filmore, damaging a cotton gin and causing minor injuries to a half dozen persons.

Details of the storm are not available as wire connections from Tichimingo to the stricken area were severed. Meager reports indicate that the twister accompanied by a terrific hail storm swept through a belt approximately 200 yards in the farming country adjoining Filmore. The Callon's farm home was carried by the wind for 150 yards and crushed. Mrs. Callons' body was found in the debris badly mangled. Mr. and Mrs. Morton, aged neighbors, were also hurled through the air in the wreckage of their home for more than a hundred yards. The Callons and Morton farms adjoin.

No estimate of property loss is available here. Houses were unroofed and outbuildings demolished all along the path of the storm.

A man and a woman were reported to have been killed at Caney in the storm but this could not be verified nor their names learned. Caney, a village about 12 miles east of Fillmore in Atoka county is reported to have been severely damaged, several buildings being destroyed. Three other persons were reported missing.

STATE MAY ASK ABROGATION OF RIO TREATIES

Engineer Recomends That 78-Year-Old Pact Now Be Changed

WITH U. S., MEXICO

Water of Rio Grande To Involved In New Division Scheme

AUSTIN, April 23—(AP)—Abrogation of the 78-year-old treaty between the United States and Mexico on division of the waters of the Rio Grande has been recommended to Ellwood mead, United States commissioner of reclamation, by B. F. Williams, state reclamation engineer.

Mr. Williams, who Wednesday toured the Lower Rio Grande Valley with Dr. Meade's party explained that the treaty, by providing nothing shall be done to impede navigation, renders impossible conservation of the waters by dams. This treaty was entered into February 2, 1848, at Guadalupe, Hidalgo, Mexico, shortly after the close of the Mexican war, when stretches of the Rio Grande were navigable.

Is One of Commission.

Dr. Meade is one of the three commissioned to negotiate with Mexico for a more equitable division of the waters of the Rio Grande and Western Colorado River. W. E. Anderson, San Benito, another member of the U. S. Commission, and Senor Jose Lewis, a member of the Mexican commission for division of waters, were in the party, as was C. S. Clark of the state board of water engineers.

All the watershed of the Western Colorado river in the United States and most of the Rio Grande's water shed in Mexico; hence it appears a satisfactory agreement should be reached for both streams, Mr. Williams said.

Would Work Hardship.

"Demand for an equitable allocation of the waters of the Western Colorado grew out of the proposal of land owners in the Imperiol Valley of California to dam the river at Boulder Falls, in the Grand Canyon, creating a huge reservoir for irrigation purposes. Carrying out of such a plan would work a hardship on Mexican agriculturalists.

"There is no denying that abrogation of the present Rio Grande treaty would be of great value to Texas. Conservation of the flood waters would permit a great increase in irrigable lands, watered from the Rio Grande."

At the end of that period the fee would be levied automatically on wheat, cotton, corn, cattle and swine.

Meanwhile, the measure would require the proposed federal farm board to maintain the price of each basic product at the world market quotation plus the import tariff. During the two years, any losses involved would be borne by the federal treasury and to assure an adequate revolving fund, Chairman Haugen said he would move to raise the appropriation from $250,000,000 to $350,000,000. Members indicated there would be no opposition to this.

WILL DO WHAT IS NEEDED TO CLEAR BONDS

She Tells Wichitan She Wants to Validate Road Securities

WANTS MORE TIME

To Study Memorial Put Before Her by State Conservationists

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, April 23.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is favorably disposed toward such action as may legally be taken to remedy the muddle which affects $80,000,000 of Texas road bonds. And will give her answer within a few days to the memorial presented to her Friday afternoon by a committee of the Texas highway association conference with city and county officials, J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, chairman of the memorial committee, said following its two-hour conference with the governor.

Governor Ferguson took under advisement the urgent request for a special session of the legislature at once, when drafts of measures conforming to the best legal opinion will be presented.

She was informed during the conference of the unanimous vote of the Texas federation of labor, at Houston, asking for the special session for this purpose.

The memorial committee was composed of J. A. Kemp, Wichita Falls, chairman; Leonard Tilliotson, Sealy; Sewell Meyers, Houston; Tucker Royall, Palestine, and W. V. Crawford, Waco.

"We ask that the legislature be convened at once," the written memorial presented by the committee, said, "and when convened we will be prepared to present drafts that conform as nearly as may be possible to the conscensus of opinion of those most experienced in handling such securities, respecting the form this legislation should take, and embodying those forms that have proven acceptable alike to bond holders and the experienced purchasers and distributors of those classes of investment, and without resulting in litigation of its sufficiency to meet the criticism advanced by the supreme court."

Mr. Kemp said Governor Ferguson was fully in accord with doing what was best to remedy the bond situation, and that she told the committee as she had previously stated, it should first be determined whether a measure as proposed would be legal and whether an act by a special session is the only, or the best method of dealing with the bond muddle. Other members of the committee said they were reassured as the governor's expression of desire to secure the most effective action possible.

The petition advocated a general validating act and special laws creating districts identical with each of those which have voted bonds. Committees insisted these laws would not be local laws requiring 30 days notice and declared the avowal of a public policy immediately would check the growing injury to the standing of Texas securities, prevent default in interest, and stop the filing of suits to tie up unexpected proceeds from bonds which have been sold.

"The situation is one unparalleled in its gravity in the history of the states," the memorial said.

Floyd Ard Jr., Takes Audience High Friday In Brilliant Concert

Floyd Ard, Jr., carried an audience at the Junior college to the heights of the musical world in a brilliant p.. recital Friday night, the benefits of which will make possible continuation of studies abroad.

Ernest Katz, under whom he has been studying for the past five years, presented his pupil with a few words, telling of young Ard's intensive application to the piano since he was 10 years of age. "Floyd has taken lessons for 57 months and his reportoire now consists of some 60 numbers. These have been memorized by note and the very phrasing and expression marks could almost be written by Floyd," he stated.

The opening numbers surprised and delighted the audience of around 500. The exquisite expression, the finish, and extreme understanding of his subject spoke adequately of the years of work and practice which have developed his ability to the point that masters of Europe are to be the next instructors of his unusual talent which according to competent critics, will some day bear the stamp of a genius and make for him a name in the columns of fame.

The following program was presented: Prelude in C. Major, Prelude and Fugue in F Minor by Saint Saens; Toccata in D Major by Bach-Bauer; Polonaise, Opus 22 by Chopin, with Mr. Katz at a second piano; Carnival by Schumann; Bird Song by Palmgren; Valse, Op. 64 by Chopin-Rosenthal; Legende by Listz and Variations by Paganini Brahms.

In an interview with Mr. Katz, the instructor claimed that Floyd Ard was a wonderful pianist for his age. "He is the possessor of a perfect understanding of his music, which is rare in even the most talented. His expression and touch denote a thorough knowledge of what his fingers are doing and he plays with an unusual refinement," the teacher plainly enthusiastic over his pupil, declared.

Young Ard will leave the middle of the summer for Vienna, Austria, to study at the academy of music there.

When asked last night how he thought his concert progressed, he grinned and simply said, "there's lots of room for improvement."

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for a year when he asks her to free him. He explains that he's fallen in love with her chum, FAY SHIRLEY.

Heartbroken, Sylvia give him up, gently to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the old maid who brought her up. Aunt Agony predicts that Ranny will never be true to any women, and she says he's a good-for-nothing.

Her opinion of him seems to be correct, too, for suddenly he drops Fay and marries Sylvia after all. When they're settled down in a tiny flat, he makes no secret of the fact that he's bored. He gambles and drinks with his former cronies, and has a second love affair with Fay. But when Sylvia tells him she's going to have a baby, he settles down for a while. Fay promptly marries her old beau, EDDIE CARTER, to save her face.

Shortly after the birth of JUNIOR, the baby, Ranny returns to his old habits and Sylvia has to give music lessons to keep things going in the little flat. Then she writes a popular song that happens to make a hit, and receives more than $5,000 for it. She banks the money and plans to pay it down on a house with a yard, for the family doctor says that the baby is extraordinarily frail and needs plenty of sun and air.

Ranny doesn't mind Sylvia doing anything she can to make money, but he won't let her use her beautiful voice to sing in public. He says a woman's place is in the home, not out making a show of her self by singing for her friends. He, however, leads his own life, having one love affair after another. His father, JAMISON PHELPS, is taken ill, and goes away with MOTHER PHELPS, leaving Ranny in charge of his real estate business. Ranny spends a little time at the office, and most of the work there is done by his brother-in-law, THOMAS BOYLE. Sylvia knows that he is having a love affair with a girl named ELSIE LEOPOLD, who supports herself by running a gift shop. One night Ranny telephones his wife to come and dine with him, down town. While she is waiting for him, PETER WILK, a bachelor who was once in love with her, comes along.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Sylvia's first thought was: "Heavens! I mustn't let Ranny come and find me here, talking to Peter!"

For his unreasonable jealousy of Peter made her feel guilty if she even saw Peter, nowadays—much less spoke to him! A blush began to creep really over her face and her neck.

Then she forced herself to smile up at Peter naturally, and hold out her hand in greeting. It was foolish to do anything else—foolish of Ranny to be jealous of poor old Peter, for whom she felt only friendship!

"How are you, and where have you been keeping yourself lately? Haven't seen you for perfect ages," she said to him, cool as a cucumber now.

Peter just barely touched the hand she held out to him, before he dropped it.

"Oh, I've been hanging around, as usual," he said in his slow, soft voice. "What are you doing down here tonight, all by yourself?" He shifted heavily from one foot to the other, as he often did when he was feeling particularly shy and awkward.

"That's what I was going to ask you!" Sylvia's voice was as gay as a brook again. 'Myself, I'm waiting for Ranny. We're going to have dinner here!"

She couldn't keep her happiness out of her rippling voice. It was fully two years since she and Ranny had been out on a little "spree" together. Just the two of them, like an engaged couple, or a pair of ecstatic honeymooners!

No wonder that her blue eyes were full of dancing light as they looked up into Peter's grave dark ones, and her mouth smiled in its old, joyous, tantalising way. She was ridiculously, gloriously happy, because she was going to have this night alone, with Ranny!

"Now, then, confess to me that you're waiting for some beautiful person who's coming here to have a hot bird and a cold salad with you Peter!" she went on, in that lilting voice. "Who is she? Do I know her? Tell me her name!"

But there was no beautiful lady in Peter's life, so he said. "No fascinating flapper, either!" he added, gravely smiling.

"No"? she chaffed him lightly, "Well, just give yourself time, and there will be! You'll fall one of these days, and you'll fall hard!—'the taller the tree, the harder the fall'!"

Then they both burst out laughing, for this was Aunt Agony's favorite proverb. She used it for all sorts of happenings—bank failures, engagements, deaths, and second marriages.

"I wonder where Ranny can be?" Sylvia looked down at her plain little wrist watch. "He's late!" Just then she saw his blond head above the heads of a group of people coming into the restaurant ahead of him. She took an eager step toward him, and then stopped.

For he was not alone! With him was a small gipsyish girl, with roving dark eyes set in her small brown face.

"Who's the girl with him?" Sylvia heard Peter say in her ear, with a kind of growl as he saw Elsie Leopold.

"That's Miss Leopold, a cousin of Sally King's," she had just time to tell him, when the pair were upon them.

Elsie Leopold shook hands with Sylvia as if they were the very best friends in the world, and she smiled coyly up at Peter when she was introduced to him. But her smiles glanced off his calm, like arrows from a steel shield. He barely saw her, it seemed.

"Oh, I'm so tired!" she said to Sylvia, when they were waiting for the head waiter. "Ranny and I have been trying to find a shop for me all this blessed afternoon. I'm just ready to drop."

"I understand You, Old Thing, Don't I?" She Asked Leaning Toward Him.

Her looks certainly belied her words. She looked anything but ready to drop.

Her face looked as if it had been washed only ten minutes before. Her clothes were spotless, and her hair as smooth as if she had just stepped out of her bedroom.

But Sylvia's eyes had left the girls' fresh, saucy face. They were fixed on the flowers that she wore on her coat—big, double violets with two or three gardenias in the center of them.

Violets and gardenias! How many, many times during the enchanted days of their engagement Ranny had sent just such a bouquet to Sylvia! He had told her that her eyes were more blue than the violets, and that the white gardenias always made him think of Sylvia's satiny, white skin.

"They're your flowers!" he had told her dozens of times in the days when he loved her. "They belong to you, Sylvia."

And now he was giving them—he was giving her flowers—to Elsie Leopold!

Ranny saw her looking at them, and he had the grace to flush and give a half-ashamed grin. Then he turned away from the hurt that was in her lovely eyes.

The head waiter came up to show them the way to their table.

Quick as a flash, Sylvia turned to Peter, and just touched his coat sleeve with her fingers. There was an appeal in that touch, and Peter felt it.

"Won't you come and have dinner with us, too, Peter!" she asked. "We'd love to have him, wouldn't we Ranny?"

Ranny had to choose but to say "Yes." He looked sulky and angry, but Sylvia didn't care.

She knew that she just couldn't have sat there at the table, sharing Ranny with this girl who wore his flowers on her breast! Her eyes said "Thank you," to Peter, as the four of them sat down at their table.

She looked at him again, and another thought slipped into her mind—how good and dependable he was!

She felt, as she sat there beside him, that no matter what trouble she might ever be in, he would be able to help her, somehow! There was an air of quiet power about him, of reliability.

"If Peter married a girl," she thought bitterly, "he wouldn't be falling in love with every fresh face that he saw. He would be around buying flowers for strange girls when his wife had to give music lessons."

Then she put that thought out of her mind. It wasn't loyal to Ranny to compare him to Peter Wilk, for after all, Peter wasn't the sort of man that women liked, and Ranny was.

Women didn't run after Peter the way they ran after Ranny, with his blue eyes, his charming, reckless smile, and his figure of a Greek god. Women didn't try to tempt Peter, as Elsie Leopold was tempting Ranny, even now, under the very eyes of his wife!

Sylvia looked at her narrowly. She was smiling up at him as she ran a lipstick over her full, pursed up lips. "Did I get too much of it on?" she asked him, making a round red rose of her mouth and fanning her eyelashes coquettishly.

He answered her in a low tone, but Sylvia heard what he said. "Yes, you did! If we were alone, I'd kiss some of it off for you!" Then they both laughed.

For the first time Sylvia began to wonder why Ranny had asked her to come down to dinner with them that night. It was plain that they didn't need anyone else. They were a perfect case of "Two's company, three's a crowd."

"Then, why, for pity's sake, did Ranny ask me to come down here?" Sylvia kept asking herself.

She found out, not more than five minutes later.

Ranny looked up from his soup, suddenly, and spoke to her across the table. "By the way, Sylvy, I saw your Aunt Agony this afternoon," he said.

Elsie Leopold tittered. "Yes, we both saw her," she chuckled, "and she saw us! That was the point—that she saw us! Honestly, she nearly stared a hole through us, too!"

Despite the dull ache in her heart, Sylvia managed to smile brightly at her, as she went on with her story:

"You see, Ranny's been helping me collect some thing to put in my shop—curtains and hook rugs, and such truck. He has such wonderful taste, you know."

Sylvia raised her eyebrows. When, she wondered, had Ranny ever shown any taste about curtains and rugs? All he had ever done to decorate The Nest was to hang his wrinkled ties over his mirror and to strew his papers and cigar ashes all over the living room.

"And your Aunt Agony came along while we were looking in at a window full of paintings up here on Sloane street," Elsie went on, joyously. "She was in a Ford car with another old fright—"

"That was probably my sister, Miss Sarah Wilk. She has a Ford car," Peter cut in quietly, "and she and Miss Agony are very good friends."

Elsie Leopold blinked at him for a minute. But she finished her story just the same.

"Well, you should have seen the two old things rubber at us! They almost fell out of the car, didn't they, Ranny?" she asked.

He didn't answer at once, and she nudged him playfully with her elbow.

"They certainly did," he answered, then lifted his eyes to his wife's face.

"You don't mind if I help Elsie get started with her little shop, do you?" he asked as carelessly as if he had asked her if he might smoke.

"Why, I guess not," she faltered.

Of course, she did mind. She minded very much, and Ranny knew it. He knew that she was wildly jealous of him, and his love affair with this Elsie Leopold girl.

"Why, of course she doesn't mind!" Elsie was saying now, flicking the gray ash from the tip of her cigaret. "Women don't put their husband under lock and key these days the way they used to!"

Then she looked across the table at Sylvia's pale, unsmiling face.

"Your aunt will probably call you up first thing in the morning and tell you that your husband is running around with a wicked siren!" she said, with a horrid little laugh. "The older generation doesn't understand us at all. They're all so straightfaced and"—she groped for a word—"and so dumb!"

She took her cigaret out of her mouth and leaned toward Ranny, her imitation pearl beads swinging gently with the suggestive sway of her body. She laid one of her little paws on his hands, patting them.

"But we understand each other, don't we, old kid?" she asked him. "I understand you, at least—whether

Gas Explosion Injures Worker In Nocona Field

As a result of an explosion of gas in a water tank on the Hynds lease near Nocona, Dowell Nelson, 24 of Nocona, is in the Wichita Falls Clinic Hospital in a serious condition. Several ribs and the possibility of punctured lungs are the extent of his injuries. It was reported Friday that he was suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs.

Nelson was working on top of the tank when an explosion, believed to have been caused by the ignition of an accumulation of gas around the tank, hurled him 40 or 50 feet away.

He was given treatment by Dr. M. W. Crane of Nocona and then brought to the local hospital.

HER MAN

you get me or not! You're not quite so smart as you think you are?"

Sylvia looked at the pair of them for a long moment as they looked at each other. Then she quietly gathered together her handbag and her gloves—her wornout gloves with their beautifully mended tips.

She knew now why Ranny had asked her to come down town to have dinner with him and Elsie Leopold—simply because Aunt Agony would tell Sylvia about seeing him with Elsie!

And not only that, but she might tell his own father about it. She was quite capable of doing it, as Ranny very well knew. He had been mortaly afraid of Aunt Agony and her tongue ever since she had threatened to tell his father that Sylvia was giving music lessons.

"He's using me to protect himself in this love affair," Sylvia summed it up to herself, "and I won't let him! It's the last straw!"

Peter takes Sylvia home, where she finds the baby seriously sick. Sylvia visits Ranny's office, where she gets a surprise.

To Sing Here

SOLDIER CARUSO

Soldier Caruso To Sing Sunday At the Ball Game

Soldier Caruso, the overseas entertainer who appeared here in 1924 and won the hearts of the audience at the Majestic theatre with his wonderful voice, will make the second appearance at the ball game between Dallas and the Spudders Sunday, May 9. He will sing between the batting and fielding practice.

He is appearing under the auspices and in the interest of the disabled American veterans of the world war $500,000 foundation home and relief fund. This fund is to provide a diagnostic centre, similar to the one at Cincinnati, to be located either in Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma or Arkansas. This institution will provide food and lodging for disabled veterans during a period of observation to determine their disability and where, in the meantime, proper affidavits can be made and data secured that can be placed before the veterans bureau with as immediate results as possible.

Soldier Caruso has appeared in practically every city of 15,000 population in the United States, the funds of which have invariably been for some ex-service men's relief. His songs are mainly the ones sung "over there" in addition to the Irish melodies which are so popular.

It was in the front lines to which he returned after being gassed and shell shocked in the battles of Chateau Thierry and Muese-Argonne, that he received his baynot wound which definitely put him out of the ranks. Soldier Caruso is the holder of several medals of valor.

He has sung in the Philharmonic auditorium of Los Angeles, broadcasted from station KHJ, the Los Angeles Times and KFI, the Examiner, and was with the Redpath lyceum as lyric tenor previous to his war service. Schumann-Heink has requested him to sing at a concert in Fort Worth in July, proceeds of which will revert to the foundation fund.

Woman Is Guilty Of Murder; Given Term of Five Years

HOUSTON, April 23—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, 30, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Malcomb Gregg, 32, here last October, was found guilty by a jury today and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The case went to the jury last night with district attorney Horace Soule arguing that Mrs. Henderson shot and killed Gregg, a painter and paper hanger, on a downtown street in a fit of jealous anger. Mrs. Henderson said on the witness stand that Gregg, after obtaining several hundred dollars from her, had spurned her.

The committee on theology of which Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, was chairman, and Rev. E. L. Moore of Vernon, recommended the ordination of Rev. Charles Parker, pastor of the Memphis Presbyterian church.

Other speakers included Dr. R. Thomsen of Amarillo, Dr. John H. Burma, president of Trinity University at Waxahachie.

Rev. Mark Griffin of Hale Center was licensed as a local evangelist.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Holdings of Shamrock Oil company purchased by Prairie Oil and Gas company for two million dollars.

COTTON MILLS IN TEXAS

ACCORDING to Burt C. Blanton the present status of the textile industry in Texas, representing 65 operating establishments of which 25 are cotton mills and an aggregate investment of approximately $44,500,000, is in reality only a beginning of what will eventually prove to be one of the principal or dominate classes or groups of manufacturers in Texas. Burt C. Blanton is a noted consulting engineer. His viewpoint is the average citizen today has not fully comprehended Texas possibilities for the fabrication of cotton.

He says Texas has the power, the labor, the raw material and the transportation facilities, the latter assuring rapid transit for shipment and distribution of product throughout the southwestern trade territory and the principle domestic markets of the nation. Further, short single line hauls from Texas cities to Gulf ports for the movement of textile products for export to foreign markets are assured.

In 1925 Texas was first in cotton production, first in mohair production, second in wool production, second in petroleum production, first in the production of meat stuffs and hides, and yet Texas' farmers spent $250,000,000 for feed stuffs and for bacon and corn. There is something wrong somewhere.

WYOMING WOOD CROP

WYOMING leads all the states in the production of wool, that is, Wyoming led all the states in wool production in 1925. Texas was given second place. Wyoming was first in 1919-1923. Texas was first in 1924, but drops to second place this year. This is the way the states are listed: Wyoming, Texas, Montana, California and Utah. Texas goat raisers had a very prosperous year. There has been a very big demand for mohair and the Texas product, which was very large, was in great demand and the buyers paid a fancy price to the Texans who are interested in the mohair industry.

Wool is the chief staple of Wyoming. Its senators, Warren and Kendrick, are largely interested in the sheep industry and are among the cow kings of the west. Kendrick received his training in Texas. He made his start as a cowpuncher in Williamson county. Now he is a multi-millionaire as well as an American senator of the democratic persuasion.

Wyoming goes in strong for sheep, strong for cattle, strong for petroleum and strong for independent voting on election day.

GOOD IN EVERYTHING

Sahara has one advantage as a field of motoring operations. One is never at a loss there for a parking place.

SPARE THE BLUEBONNETS

SPARE the bluebonnets is the plea of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. And this is the argument, "It is a pity that people canont enjoy beauty without the impulse to touch it and appropriate itself to their person. He is no friend of nature who comes home from the open spaces bearing wild flowers and leaves behind desolation and ugliness where once beauty reigned."

And this is the indictment:

"There is no forgiveness for the vandal who ruthlessly denudes an entire beauty spot, loads the poor blossoms in his auto and perhaps dumps them out before he has gotten them home."

The indictment is skillfully drawn and if it were possible to make it so, "the punishment should fit the crime."

HOW TO TELL

You can never be sure it is spring till the greenkeeper takes down the "Winter Rules" sign.

BALDWIN WILL FIX IT

"SOMEHOW or other Baldwin will fix it." This seems to indicate the feeling throughout Great Britain with regard to the "coal war" which is now coming to a head. The best brains of England have failed to find anything approaching a workable solution. The coal industry faces ruin if wages are not reduced. The whole country faces the disruption of a ruinous strike if they are. Baldwin "saved the country" a year ago by sacrificing his economic principles in a subsidy. He has no solution. Yet, all sides are counting on him, and all rather blindly. As an exhibition of faith in the leadership of one man—and him not much of a leader, after all—it is touching, if not pitiful.

AN OBJECT LESSON

WILLIAM WINERICH is dead. He was 90 when he passed on near Karnes City, and for more than 65 years he had been prominent as a pioneer builder and a cattleman of Texas. He was born in Germany. His parents brought him to the new world when he was six years old. They crossed the Atlantic in a sailing vessel and the passage was made in 90 days. Now the Atlantic is covered in five days.

His parents died before he was eight years old and he was turned loose in a strange land and without means of support. He began to earn his own living at nine, never receiving more than $2.00 a month in pay, until he was 12 years old. He was engaged in the cattle industry before the war between the states. When the call to arms came, he volunteered to fight for the state of his adoption, and he entered the Confederate service in 1861 and fought for his flag until that flag had been furled forever.

He had been a citizen of Texas 84 years. He witnessed its growth from its infancy until it had become one of the prominent of American commonwealth. He began an orphan boy without friends or money. He never shirked a responsibility. He was willing to risk his life and all he had for the flag of the state of his adoption. He lived a long life and he died honored by all who knew him. William Winerich must have been a real man. And real men are the makers of empires and the creators of civilizations.

WHERE THE WOMEN SPLIT

WOMEN voters are not all of one mind. The National League of Women Voters, in convention assembled in the city of St. Louis, rejected a minority report of a special committee on prohibition calling on congress "to resist all attempts to undermind or weaken the provisions of the 18th amendment." The vote was 171 against the minority report to 79 for its adoption. Then the convention adopted by acclamation the majority report favoring the law enforcement in general, and declared for civil service rules for the appointment of enforcement agents.

That is, the present system would be discarded and the Mellon plan adopted. As it is today, powerful senators on the administration side who are not pros, except when they are on dress parade, and officials of the anti-saloon league practically name the men who are to enforce the prohibition laws.

Civil service rule should govern. Civil service rules call for certain qualifications, and once in the civil service an employe of the government cannot be kicked out of office when a powerful politician either wet or dry, calls for his dismissal.

NOT SO BAD

The U. S. Will collect its debt from Belgium in 61 years. We have made a few loans which we do not expect to collect so soon.

MELLON STANDS PAT

ANDREW MELLON is secretary of the treasury. He named General Lincoln Andrews as the director of the the prohibition enforcement unit. General Andrews is under fire. He has been under fire since he declared that supervised and restricted sale of non-intoxicating beer might aid enforcement. Wayne B. Wheeler and the anti-saloon leaders demand the scalp of Andrew. They are not going to get it. Secretary Mellon has bowed his neck. He isn't going to dismiss Andrews. He is going to continue to give Andrews an open field, a free hand and a fair deal. Non-intoxicating beer must be a queer product. If it is without a kick, why the babel of voices?

PLAYING SAFE

Uncle Sam will go into the world court, but he will insist on his constitutional right of immunity.

WHAT IT WILL COST

ACCORDING to Washington's correspondents the testimony in the senate prohibition investigation, has developed that where the government is spending between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year now to enforce prohibition, that in some of the wet districts of the Atlantic seaboard the government cannot begin to start enforcement without the expenditure of approximately $100,000,000 a year in that section. District Attorney Emory C. Buckner of New York, the man who places the padlocks, is responsible for the $100,000,000 estimate. Money talks.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I are always quarreling, and his contention is that he is always right because he is a man. Now I shall let you decide whether he is right or not.

I am expected to do as he says in all things. He expects me to work as hard as he does, although I am in poor health. He will not take me to places of amusement that I enjoy, but I must go with him wherever he wants to go. I must take care of him when he is sick, but he does not take care of me when I am sick.

He doesn't want me to read any books because he says that a woman should spend her time in taking care of her husband and home. He thinks he should be allowed to flirt with women because he is a man, and that I should not resent it. He says that I shouldn't have friends because they put evil in my head. He thinks my money should all be in his account, and if I don't give it to him I don't trust him.

He feels that he could live just as well without me.

A DESPERATE WIFE.

Answer—Well, I should think you would feel that you could live mighty comfortably without that kind of a husband.

The code of conduct that he has drawn up for you, and to which he expects you to subscribe, belongs to the Dark Ages, when wives were slaves. It has no place in this enlightened age, when women are free and husbands and wives are equal partners.

I should say that your husband was wrong in every single solitary particular. In the first place, the mere fact of his having been born a man didn't endow him with supernatural wisdom. Some of the biggest fools alive are strutting around in pants, and, generally speaking, women have just as much sense as men, and are quite as apt to be correct in their conclusions.

No women is under any obligation to obey her husband. Even the church has recognized that and has taken the "obey" out of the marriage ceremony. Husbands and wives should talk things over, and agree together on what is the best thing to do.

A woman who loves her husband will naturally want to do the things he wants her to do whenever he is reasonable, but a wife is under no more obligation to obey her husband arbitrarily than he is to obey her.

Probably every wife does make more sacrifices of her tastes and inclinations, and gives to her husband more personal service than he does to her. She takes more trouble to amuse him, and go with him to the places he wants to go to, and she nurses him with her own hands when he is sick, while he sends a nurse in to take care of her.

But this is a matter of convehience because a man's business occupies his time, and because women like to pet and cuddle their husbands. However, wives do it of their grace, not because of its being their duty.

As for your husband not wanting you to read or have any friends, that shows how unintelligent he is.

He should know that the woman who never reads grows dull and stupid and narrow and prejudiced and fogging, and that the woman who has no human contacts, but who lives shut up within the walls of her own house, becomes morbid and fault-finding and an impossible person to live with. It is the reading women, and the women who go about and have a good time, who bring back freshness and good cheer to their own firesides.

As for your husband demanding that you turn over all of your money to him, that is a sure sign that you need to hang on to it with a death grip, for a good husband wants his wife to have the sense of freedom that the possession of her own little bank account gives her.

WHO'S WHO

FLORENCE E. ALLEN.

The first woman to sit upon the Ohio supreme court bench, Florence Ellinwood Allen, is now a candidate for the U. S. senate. She hopes to get the seat now occupied by Frank B. Willis, republican.

Judge Allen plans to make outlawry of war the main issue in her campaign. Both she and the present incumbent are in favor of the World Court, but she contends they do not regard war in the same light. She will also attack Willis' support of former Attorney General Daugherty and Truman H. Newberry, former senator from Michigan.

Ever since her graduation from the New York university law school in 1913 Judge Allen has been pioneering in politics. When she took the case of the Cleveland women street car conductors before the national labor board she was the first of her sex to appear before that tribunal. Appointed assistant prosecutor of Cuyahoga county in 1919 she was the first woman in the state to hold such a position and was believed to be the first Cleveland woman to hold any governmental office.

The judge was graduated from Western Reserve university twenty-two years ago. Afterward she taught school, got a taste of daily newspaper work and became a lecturer for the New York board of education. She was admitted to the bar of Ohio in 1914, the year after her graduation at law and began practicing her profession in Cleveland. One of the conspicuous incidents in her career was her pleading the cause of the women of East Cleveland before the state supreme court and winning for them the right of suffrage which had been conferred by charter and then challenged in the courts. Before going to the supreme bench she achieved a noteworthy record as a judge of the common pleas court in Cleveland.

POISONED FOOD

CHICAGO, April 23.—(AP)—Enough poison to kill several men was found in food taken to the county jail for John Scalise, a gunman under a prison sentence for the murder of a policeman, it was learned today.

The food was taken to Scalise's cell yesterday by a woman, his former landlady, and when he noticed a peculiar taste he refused to eat more. Scalise is one of the Genna gang which engaged a police squad in a street battle, resulting in the killing of three men, two of them policemen.

LEG BROKEN, GIVES BLOOD

CHICAGO.—Thomas McDermott, aged 10, in the hospital with a broken leg, gave a pint of his blood for an emergency operation on another patient.

DINNER STORIES

A stage manager was rehearsing a mob scene for a new play. After he had put the men through their performances he told them to report at the theatre that evening, adding:

"This scene we've just been through takes place in Russia, and I want all you fellows to wear fur overcoats."

"But," protested one of the poorer actors, "I haven't got a fur coat."

"That's not my business!" retorted the stage manager tartly. "If you're not dressed for Russia you can't go on, that's all.

That night every man except one wore a fur coat of some description. The stage manager singled him out and said:

"Didn't I tell you that unless you came in a fur coat you couldn't go on? Don't you realize the scene's laid in Russia?"

"Yes; I know," answered the actor. "But I've got two suits of underwear on!"

A bellhop passed through the hall of a New York hotel whistling loudly.

"Young man," said the manager sternly, "you should know that it is against the rules of this hotel for an employe to whistle while on duty."

"I am not whistling sir," replied the boy, "I'm paging Mrs. Whitehall's dog."

Holidays Mean Much To Former Holliday

HOUSTON, April 23.—(AP)—Some folks say holidays are coming to mean less and less in the lives of the busy American people. It does not apply exactly to the family life of Leon H. Grobe, San Antonio.

On San Jacinto day there was born to Mr. and Mrs. Grobe their third holiday child, a 11-pound boy. The other two are Lucile Virginia, born St. Valentine's day, 1913, and Leon, Jr., born on Texas Independence day, 1921.

And not only that but their mother's maiden name is Holliday. The youngsters are the grandchildren of Mrs. M. Alice Grobe, 1811 Shepherd Drive, Houston, who has just been informed of the third arrival in the Grobe family.

ISSUE REQUISITION.

AUSTIN, April 23.—(AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today issued a requisition on the governor of Utah for the rendition of Roy Lindsey, wanted by complaint in Comal county, Texas, charged with burglary. Lindsey is in custody in Ogden, Utah.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

TARUS

Today's planetary aspects are not good during the morning. They, however, show a decided improvement towards noon and, thereafter, are decidedly favorable. During the early hours of the day, nothing of any great importance should be handled, as the signs denote that the influences are all opposed to successful realization. Lack of confidence in one's self will be keenly felt and there will prevail a general atmosphere of self-disparagement. These do not go hand-in-hand with achievement. In the afternoon and evening the morbidity will have disappeared and normal conditions of hope and self-assurance will be restored which, of course, augurs well for any task that may be essayed.

Children born today will enjoy average physical conditions during infacy and, although they may not disclose any evidence of exceptional strength, they will be blessed with strong constitutions and a "wiriness" that will enable them to shake off, with ease, any sickness that may assail them. Temperamentally, they will be nervous and highly strung. They will possess great activity, be always "on the go," and with increasing years, this will develop into "fidgitiness." Their judgment will not be very reliable and this will render them, at times, rudderless. With all their restless energy and never ceasing activity, they may not accomplish much along the lines of material success.

If today is your birthday, you keep very much to yourself, are reserved, taciturn, and self-repressed. Your character is, unfortunately, tinged with suspicion, and you never accept anyone or anything at face value. This takes away from your life a great measure of enjoyment. You are moody and this prevents you making many friends. Those, however, that you have are loyal and think a great deal of you, as they realize that, notwithstanding a somewhat forbidding exterior, your heart is in the right place, and that you are capable of a strong and an enduring affection. You unbend to children, and they all "warm up" to you.

Your reading is very extensive, but you only choose good literature, eschewing everything that is trashy or sensational.

Successful people born this date are:

John Trumbull, poet and jurist.
Thomas Addis, lawyer.
Thomas O. Selfridge Sr., ex-rear admiral.
Benjamin J. Sweet, soldier.
John B. Herreshoff, blind boat-builder.
Charles S. Sargent, botanist.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

CAPITAL AND LABOR

I've heard a lot of theories,
The rights of "capital," and "labor's?"
But why two names for such as these
When one would do, and that one "neighbors."

I wouldn't work for any man
Why wasn't that, or wouldn't hire him.
If someone talked of class or clan,
I'd either quit him, or I'd fire him.

There are a lot of honest men
Employing men—why work for others?
And, if I shored for one, then
I'd think of him and me as brothers.

There are a lot of right good ads;
Be right yourself and you will find them,
As fine young fellows as their dads;
I'd hire them and I'd stand behind them.

And then we'd work together, try
To make our work, our product, vital.
It wouldn't matter much if I
Or he should wear the bigger title.
I'd work for him, or he for me—
The only thing that mattered whether
We had the common sense to see
We two were working here together.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. Where is marble found in the United States?
2. What is glass made from?
3. What stone makes up caves like Mammoth and Luray?
4. What is feldspar rock used for?
5. What is carrara?
6. What is meant by a lithograph?

Answers to these questions in Monday's Record News.

Ancient Quarries

It is often a matter of wonder how the ancients were able to quarry out enormous blocks of stone, as they had no power-driven drills and only small tools. Most of the Greek and Roman and Egyptian pillars of marble or granite are not pieced together like modern pillars, but are actually made of one block of stone—true monoliths. The device which the ancients used for getting out the blocks from which the columns were made was very clever. With hand tools they painfully cut a wedge shaped trench through the rock, roughly blocking out the shape of stone they wished. Then they took bone dry timbers and inserted them in th wedge incisions. Now they poured water on the timbers which immediately swelled up. The force of this swelling was so great as to crack the rock apart by sheer leverage and the principal of the wedge.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. A fire cannot burn without air.
2. Water will not put out an oil fire; it will only spread the burning oil and is indeed very dangerous on oil stoves, causing them to explode, scattering boiling oil.
3. What "Greek" fire was is not now certainly known; it was probably made of nitre, naphtha and sulfur, and was said to burn under water, which is doubtful.
4. Fire can be made without matches by letting the rays of the sun fall through a pocket lens onto dry grass or paper.
5. Merely rubbing two sticks together rarely produces fire; the end of a bow, spun round and round with one end in the palm of the end, the other in the bottom of a narrow wooden bowl, will produce a spark.
6. Carbon tetrachloride is the commonest chemical of fire extinguishers.

Pardons Are Asked For Mexicans Held In Texas Penitentiary

HOUSTON, April 23.—(AP)—The State Federation Thursday adopted a resolution calling upon Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to pardon five Mexicans and one American out of the Texas penitentiary. Several years ago, the men all in sympathy with the Mexican revolution, attempted to smuggle arms and ammunition across the border, to aid the revolution against Porifiro Diaz. A border deputy sheriff was killed and the six men were sentenced to life in the penitentiary. Both the Mexican government and the American Federation of Labor has asked their pardon.

Samuel Gompers before, his death, tried to get the pardon and the State Federation has before asked for it. Some time ago, Governor Ferguson indicated she was about to pardon them but protests were lodged by border citizens and the matter was held up.

SENTENCE MARSHALL

Chiropractor Refused New Trial And Sent to Prison

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—David L. Marshall, convicted of second degree murder for the killing of Anna May Dietrich, was today refused a new trial and sentenced to 10 to 20 years in the eastern state penitentiary.

Marshall, who dismembered the body of the woman and hid the severed parts in the woods near Philadelphia, took the sentence calmly.

The Family Skeleton

My brother was always rather stingy and I had made the remark that "he'd squeeze a quarter till the eagle screamed."

He came to visit us during his vacation and my little son took advantage of my absence from the room, one day, to say: "Uncle Tim, have you a quarter?"

"Why yes, son, but don't you think that's too much to spend?"

"Oh, I didn't want to spend it," was the answer, "but mother says you squeeze one so that the eagle screams and I wanted to hear it."—Mrs. T. E.

By The Fun Shop Reporter

"Yes, I have always been a dreamer," confessed Mr. Bayliss, one of the Fun Shop's popular poets. "But then I always wake up before I hit the ground, so it's all right. My early struggles? Well, my first poem sold for two cents a line—but I had an awful line in those days. That was the cat's muse!

"My favorite poets? John Quincy Adams was always a favorite of mine, as is Mother and Father Goose. A touching little stanza appeared recently in the Congressional Record that affected me deeply, written, I believe, by William Wadsworth Velstead and entitled: 'How Dry I Am'—referring, of course, to the Congressional Record.

"My advice to budding poets? Watch the meter. It will often run up three or four kilowats per poem, if you work nights. And watch the rhythm. No editor likes to read poetry written with a worn typewriter rhythm. As for technical advice all I can say is, be careful in handling your onamatopoeia, avoid the hiatus and metonymy—especially synecdochee, and use care with the pyrrhic and spondee poetic feet. A centipede NEVER has poetic feet. Keep this in mind!"

Higher Learning Does These Studes Worlds of Benefit

ST. LOUIS, April 23—(AP)—Lulus have four legs, Bud Fisher is a baseball player and the battle of Gettysburg was fought in 1778 or may be it was in 1812. These are few sample bits of information gleaned from Washington University students in answers to information tests given the psychology students.

One student had pinochile played with raquets and a good group of neophytes believed that Rosa Bonheur had gained fame as a poet (three votes), sculptor (seven votes), or a composer (three votes). These results were taken from 50 tests picked at random.

Running further down the list one finds a curious outlay of phenomena. The United States school for army officers is at Annapolis, Maize is a kind of hay, the tuna is a kind of bird, the pancreas is in the head, Hawthorne wrote "The Raven," and "Scrooge" appears in "Vanity Fair."

A few bits of inside information on natural science shows that the Guernsey is a horse; a goat a sheep; that falsify is a fish, a lizard; that turpentine comes from petroleum (15 votes for this); that mauve is a food and a fabric, and that mica is a liquid and a vegetable.

AUSTIN, April 23.—(AP)—Appeal was filed today in the court of criminal appeals by John Franks, under a 12-year sentence in Fayette county for assaut to murder, in connection with an attack on D. Spurlock, July 27, 1924, in Bastrop county. The case was tried in Fayette on a change of venue.

SHOWER BRINGS COOL EVENING

Day of Sultry Heat Is Broken When Rain Begins Falling

An afternoon of sultry, oppressive heat gave way to a cool and delightful evening Friday when a more or less severe shower broke over Wichita Falls late in the day.

The early and mid-afternoon hours its Falls has had this year. The were about as uncomfortable as Wichthermometer climbed to July heights, and added to this was a damp and oppressive atmosphere such as this section of the state seldom encounters.

The rain began about 3:30 and while at no time was it a savy storm, it succeeded in rapidly cooling things off. The evening hours were cool and the sky clear. Indications were that the week-end would bring more typical spring weather.

Friday's storm was more or less local, it appeared, for a few reports were received of rain at other nearby sections.

FLOOD WARNINGS

away and the land left was swept bare of plowed soil. The damage would reach into many thousands of dollars, residents said.

In Burleson county virtually all streams were out of their banks while highways were badly damaged and bridges missing. A large acreage of cotton and corn is under water in the county.

Navasota reported virtual cloudbursts over that section, with residents watching the Brazos river in the hope that a dangerous flood stage would not be reached.

In extreme east Texas, Timpson reported that Shelby county had suffered heavily as a result of continued torrential rains and the overflow of rivers and creeks.

Wire and Iron Co. Business Growing

F. Y. Ross, until recently manager of the Southern Wire and Iron company of Dallas, has purchased an interest in the Wichita Wire and Iron company and has now become actively associated with H. L. Ayers in the management and ownership of the local concern.

The Wichita Wire and Iron company was organized several years ago on a small scale and up until about two years ago, two men were sufficient to carry on its business. Now, however, its product has been doubled several times over and at present there are 15 men on the payroll, not counting Mr. Ross and Mr. Ayers.

The company has turned out a great amount of ornamental iron work in the city, included in which is that on the residences of Fred Weeks, Carl Bailey, J. W. Ferguson and others. The company also contracts for iron staircase and fire escape work.

"Dangerous Fists" Western Picture Now At Mission

The Man Who Tried To Steal His Girl Found He Had Dangerous Fists

Plenty of action excellent photography and beautiful mountain scenery are features of the new Harry Webb production, "Dangerous Fists," starring Jack Perrin, which Rayart pictures released and which begins today.

You no doubt remember Jack Perrin in "Double Fisted," "Silent Sheldon," "Winning a Woman"—all released through Rayart. His clean-cut and winning personality was the chief nucleus around which the picture moves—that of one Jack Pearson, a young Westerner who loves the majestic mountains and rugged existence of his native west more than all the luxuries the east can offer. So, after vacationing at a fashionable eastern seaside resort for a while, this young man, being very much fed up with the idle life and particularly with a wise-cracking guest at the hotel who tries to take his girl away from him, sells his girl and her aunt on the idea of going back to the far-reaching spaces. Here most of the action is laid—action in which comedy is interwoven throughout the production like a golden thread.

RABBIT RACES AT C-C MEETING

Road Convention In May To Have Some Novel Entertainments

BOWIE, Texas, April 23—The Colorado to Gulf Highway convention, which will be held May 17 and 18 at Bowie, will be featured by a rabbit race, hundreds of rabbits being caught by the Bowie chamber of commerce some time before the assembly of delegates. Due to a heavy rain, the catch was postponed from the 21st of April to May 1 and it is believed a plentiful number of rabbits will be obtained for the fastest and best races in north Texas. Dogs from all parts of the state will compete in the contest, prizes being awarded on the afternoon of the first day. C. H. Walker, ex-president of the association and a lover of sports, is expected to enter a pair of the fastest hounds ever seen in this vicinity.

Fourteen years ago the Colorado to Gulf association was organized in Bowie and sponsored by its citizens, among them, O. L. Williams, the first president. This year the convention comes back to the place of its birth and the Bowie chamber of commerce are making an effort to put on the largest entertainment the association has ever had at any annual convention.

Bowie extends a cordial invitation to you to attend the convention and enjoy the rabbit races on May 17 and 18.

The people are Portuguese descent, mixed with Italian, German and almost every other race of people may be found in that country. The development of the country is very backward, and altho there is much mineral, and agricultural resources, they are undeveloped, and the people as a whole are very poor. The Bible is an unknown book, and the religion is mainly the worship of the Saint and Mary, the people being illiterate being Catholics, but spiritualism is common. Evangelical church are making great headway, and transforming the life of the people."

HASHEESH PIE FOUND IN JAIL

Marihuana Concealed In Dish Smuggled To Prisoner

SAN ANTONIO, April 23.—(AP) Vigilance of Jailer Tom Donoghue has prevented "Marihuana Pie" from becoming the latest delicacy on the menu of certain prisoners in county jail.

Late Thursday afternoon a messenger boy appeared at the jail with a special dinner which had been sent to a prisoner by friends, who still were in the full enjoyment of their liberty.

The usual beef steak, potatoes and coffee were supplemented with six small pies.

"That fellow must have an abnormal pie appetite," Jailer Donoghue said, noticing the unusual number of pies accompanying the dinner. "Let's have a look."

He picked up one of the pies and broke it half in two. Marihuana leaves fell to the table. The remaining pies were broken in turn and in each was found a quantity of Marihuana. And in one of the pies was hidden this note:

"Try to slip one of these pies to Juan."

But the prisoner was never given the opportunity.

More Truth Than Poetry

LINES ON THE WART HOG

The wart-hog is not much to see,
No rest for weary eyes is he.

And though his ways are kind and mild,
And he is gentle as a child—

Most folks who see him cry "gee whiz
How horrible that creature is."

And turn their heads and walk along,
Thus doing the good creature wrong.

We should not—see the copy books—
Judge brutes or people by their looks.

We ought to make these words suffice:
"They're ugly, but they may be nice."

Appearances should not control
The judgments of the human soul.

We always should, in point of face,
Prize people by the way they act.

And neither brutes nor men despise
Because their faces hurt our eyes.

And give us an unpleasant thrill.
We ought to—but we never will.

Nor should we cast a second glance
At maidens who by favoring chance

Are very lovely to the view
Of course we should not, but we do.

Spudders Slough Shreveporters In Mud Frolic For 9-4 Victory

Domestic Crew Fattens Its Batting Averages At Sport Hurlers' Expense

Washburn, Turgeon, Query Slam Two Hits Each, Bodie Wallops Homer With Bags Loaded

BY BLONDY CROSS

Somebody up above tipped over a bucket shortly before game time yesterday and scared most of the straw hat, cash customers away. The playing field was moistened considerably, but the fiery ardor of Brainard's bludgeoning battalion wasn't dampened in the least.

Spudder and Sport detachments hung around until a latent shower of aqueous substance ceased spraying. Then they sallied forth and waged a clouting affair that would have done justice to a $10,000 gate instead of the meager gathering of rabid ball microbes who laughed at Jupe Pluve's efforts at spoiling matters and patriotically trooped on out to the orchard anyhow. The brave little band was paid off in full, for our noble Spudders whopped the agate to all sectors and with the knidly assistance of one Grady Adkins, starboard pitcher who doled out an even half dozen bases on balls, refrigerated the encounter by the more or less humpbacked score of 9 to 4.

Long Jim Roberts, old handsome Jim himself, was assigned the Spudder chunking duties. Jim got in bad during a couple of stanzas, but had his fire-ball working almost to perfection the greater portion of the way. Jim was unmoved by any troubles the Shreveporters may have held in store for him. Stalwart apple-crashing by his mates gave the situation a rosy hue in the early rounds, so he took it easy, somewhat.

Brown Gets Hurt.

Everybody on the club connected for a knock but Distel, and George realized one of those very few off-days of his. The saccharine punch of the encounter was a four-cushion blast ignited by the famous Francisco Stefano Pizzola, known to the populace in general as Ping Bodie, the cop. Pizzola's explosion came with the runways clogged.

There was the usual cluster of flossy fielding feats despite the wet terrain. Distel gobbled the bengal's share.

The only outre note was enacted in the fourth when Roberts knocked Brown, Sport outer gardner, hors de combat with a wild heave at the platter. The valiant Shreveporter was taken from the contest and rushed to the city in J. Alvin's speed vehicle while gore flowed profusely from a wound over an optic.

The domestics started off with a counter. A base on balls and an infield out put Fitzgerald to second. Washburn hoisted a Texas leaguer to short right center. Fitz skidded around for the score.

Won't Stay Down.

There were no casualties in the second. Mr. Tarleton's refreshing young men took advantage of a trio of poor Spudder breaks and tabulated a pair in the third. But, however, although and nothwithstanding, our tumultous athletes busted right back and checked three golden scoring nuggets before the round was completed. That put the enumeration at 4-2, Brainard and company.

Jim lost his perspective and couldn't locate the plate with Grady at bat, walking the Sport thrower apparently as if the maneuver had been premeditated. Evidently wanted to give the 47 fans in the stand a double play treat, but our James had not reckoned with the slipperyness of the going. Phelps floosed a perfect twin erasure ball at the box, but Jim lost his stance and stood on his dome, taking the play in the mouth. Skipper fielded a bounder, hit by Benton, but pulled Turg off first with the throw. All hands were safe, none out. Taylor sent Phelps and Adkins to the scoring column with a single past second. Kirke whipped a hot two-ply killer to short. Two Sports went down, Distel to Turgeon to Washburn. Hoffman retired the side with aviation to Fitz in center.

A base on balls to Fitzgerald, one-base bops by Brainard and Washburn, a sacrifice hoist by Bodie and a riotous crack against the left pasture palings by Lamb annexed the Spud three in the third.

And Ping Comes Through.

Adkins ascended in the fourth. With two gone, he passed Fitzgerald, Brainard and Washburn, the jungle heaver was rubbed off the landscape by Manager Tarleton and Williamson, another right-hander, inherited the flinging torture. He should have followed Adkins' lead and walked Bodie for good measure, because the mighty Pizzola did nothing else but renovate the runways with a vociferous slam to the great outdoors. Turgeon followed with a smoking double to port, but Lamb hoisted to Thompson. The score stood at 8-2, our nine.

Turgeon outfooted a bounder to short in the seventh. Lamb laid one down advancing the volcanic mite to second. Query's infield out sent the little one to third and he tabulated on surreptious smash through the box by Roberts.

The Sports menaced mildly in the eighth by touching Jim for a quintet of base blops and two runs. Yessir, they got five hits, one of them a double by Bonowitz, but couldn't look at home plate but twice. Alacrity on the inner and outer defenses spilled cold water on the fireworks.

Steers Stomp On Cats Again, 3 to 1

DALLAS, April 23.—(AP)—The Steers again defeated the Fort Worth Panthers this afternoon, this time by a score of 3-1. Slim Love and Paul Wachtel each allowed five hits. Parry O'Brien's double in the sixth with the bases filled sewed up the game for Dallas. There was much bickering over Umpire Held's decisions behind the plate.

The two teams will not meet again until May 29. Since the season opened these two ancient rivals have played six games. Dallas has won four, lost one and tied one.

Errors Are Fatal

CLEVELAND, April 23.—(AP)—Detroit's errors were costly and Cleveland made it two straight, winning today, 5 to 3, although out-batted. It was Uhle's second victory over the Tigers, and while he was hit rather hard he was steady with men on the bases. Spurgeon twice cut off runs with sensational catches. Waco Beats Buffs In Batting Melee

HOUSTON, April 23.—(AP)—It required two hours and 50 minutes for Waco and Houston to arrive at a decision here today. The Cubs finally won, 15 to 13. It was the first game of the season in Houston in which the pitching has been poor.

Both managers rushed frequent relief to their faltering boxmen, each club employing four pitchers, none of whom were effective.

An error by Vigare in the ninth, a walk to Pratt, Wilson's single and Mueller's double, gave the guests the decisive runs. The score:

Harry Teaches 'Em How To Fling

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.
Central Press Sports Editor.

Back in 1903 the Atlanta team of the Southern Association presented to the baseball world for inspection the first of five great catchers.

The first one was Harry Mathews.
The second was Syd Smith.
The third "Nig" Clarke.
The fourth Jimmy Archer.
The fifth Ed Sweeney.

Smith stepped from the Georgian metropolis team to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Clarke moved up to Cleveland.

Archer, as the world still recalls, went to the Cubs to reign as a star for years, after Detroit had let him go.

Sweeney joined New York.

The fifth one—or rather the first—Mathews, failed to make the big show as a player, but for the ensuing 11 years won a name for himself as a backstop in the Southern circuit. And right now he is the hope of the Cleveland Indians in that club's efforts to build up its pitching staff.

Manager Tris Speaker is counting on Mathews to round into playing form a crew that has had tantalizing indocyncrasies ever since the old pennant-winning mound squad had to be taken up. Mathews has complete and final charge of the hurlers from the time they don their unis until they doff them. Coach and Scout Jack McAllister handles the infielders and outfielders and Manager "Spoke" depends upon their advice in making his decisions.

Stars Three Years, Moves.

Mathews spent three years with the Atlanta team and then went to Birmingham.

"They won the pennant that year despite the fact I was catching for them," is the coy way in which Mathews handles a delicate situation.

One of the hurlers on the Birmingham squad was "slim" Sallee, destined to loop his lefthanded offerings over big league plates for many a moon later on.

From there Mathews went to New Orleans and caught that club's hurlers, including the one and only Theodore Breistenstein, for four years before drifting out of league baseball.

Then Mathews tried his hand at managing.

He piloted the Newoptr News team two years, managed the Albany, Ga., team in the South Atlantic league a year, and then bossed semi-pro and amateur teams around Georgia and Alabama. He joined the Indians as coach a year ago and his work with the hurlers last year gave him a line on them and their ability.

"Three of the lads I at least helped to develop are 'Tiny' Osborne, pitching for the Dodgers; Bill Terry of the Giants, and young Roy Carlyle of the Red Sox," says Mathews.

"Terry was a pitcher when I took him in charge. Carlyle I dug up at his home."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Did Wilbert Robinson, wise old head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, have the right dope when he remarked to me down south that Jess Petty's act in refraining from winter baseball would make him a winning pitcher this season?

JESS PETTY

It begins to look as though Robbie is a prophet.

Petty started the season for the Brooklyn team by lefthanding the Giants in great style holding them to two hits and a shutout.

The next time he entered the box he faced the struggling Phillies and would have scored his second shutout in a row had he not booted an easy grounder in the second inning, paving the way for the only run the Phils grabbed. He let them down with seven hits in the game, which went 11 innings.

Petty joined the Dodgers last season, Robinson getting the Brooklyn owners to part with something like $40,000 for the lefthander. Petty once tried out by the Cleveland club, had stood the American association on its head in 1924. But with the Dodgers he failed to earn his salt.

Critics were inclined to call him a bust. Robbie, always patient with his hurlers, decided that Petty had the stuff. Before the team disbanded last fall Robbie told the big southpaw shooter to lay off winter baseball—save his arm for the summer. Petty did.

This spring Petty was burning them in long before the other hurlers were throwing freely. When the exhibition games started Petty was the first to start warming up. He would have hurled every game had the boss permitted him to do so.

His showing since the season opened indicates that he is ready to prove himself worth $40,000. And if he does the Dodgers will demand a seat in the first division.

Eddie Block, the man who was managing the St. Petersburg, Fla., club in 1922 when Eddie Moore, now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, first attracted attention of the big league ivory hunters, is laboring again to give the Florida baseball metropolis a fighting team in the Florida State league. And he has hopes of uncovering another player or two of big league caliber.

Two serious accidents kept Block from obtaining a thorough trial in the big show. Back in 1911 the St. Louis Cardinals signed him for a once over but on the eve of his big chance he sustained a broken wrist.

Seven years later the Brooklyn Dodgers signed him. Two weeks before he was slated to report he was in a railroad accident and received a broken shoulder.

As late as '22 big league scouts were considering Block as a possibility because of his terrific hitting and his general ability as a catcher.

'DINK' RICKARD AT OLD HOME

HENRIETTA, April 23.—Dink Rickard returned to his home burg today and was met at the train by the mayor, the town's leading bankers and other prominent citizens. The world knows Rickard, the prize fight promoter as "Tex," but when he got off the train this morning in Henrietta, where years ago he was city marshal, the greeting was "hello Dink." Nobody here knows how Rickard happened first to be called "Dink" but nearly everybody addresses him by that name.

Years ago Rickard was a cowboy on a ranch near Henrietta but he spent a good deal of his time in town and was finally induced to run for city marshal. He was elected. Old timers say that he made a good officer.

Rickard is visiting at the offices of friends here and crowds of old time friends are coming around to greet him.

Biff Commish Puts Okay On Garcia For Shot at Kap

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission today approved the selection of Bobby Garcia, Camp Holabird, Md., featherweight, as challenger for a championship fight against Louis (Kid) Kaplan in the Queensboro stadium on June 1. Garcia replaces Johnny Dundee, whose withdrawal was compelled by an injury to his foot.

The commission avoiding discussion of Tex Rickard's steps to promote a heavyweight championship fight, placed Garcia ahead of Red Chapman, Boston featherweight, on the challenging list. Chapman filed a petition for recognition as outstanding contender last week.

Tommy Burns of Detroit was approved as an acceptable opponent for Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., in a light heavyweight bout at Ebbets field on May 26. Burns' name was submitted several days ago by Promoter Humbert Fugazy as a substitute for Ad Stone of Philadelphia, action having been deferred until the board could investigate the detroit boxer's record.

Groves And Pate Knocked Out of Box While Johnson Rules

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—(AP)—Washington took the third game of the series with the Athletics today, 9 to 5. The champions were in a hitting mood and walloped Grove and Pate for eight runs in the first three innings, accumulating too many for the locals to overcome. The Athletics hit Johnson hard and included six hits for extra bases in their total of 11, but in the pinches Johnson was supreme. Joe Hauser hit his first home run since the season of 1924 in the fifth. None was on base at the time. The score:

Cubs, On Rampage, Slough Reds, 18-1

CHICAGO, April 23.—(AP)—Chicago went on a batting rampage against Cincinnati today and drove Carl Mays off the mound in the sixth continuing the assault on Day and Springer while the Reds' infield went to pieces to give the Cubs their fourth consecutive victory, 18 to 1. Charley Root, Pacific Coast League rookie, kept the Cincinnati hits well scattered, the Reds being able to bunch no more than two at a time. Grimm led the attack for the Cubs with four hits. PITTSBURGH, April 23.—(AP)—Mueller's failure to make a shoestring catch of Traynor's liner in the first inning gave Pittsburgh a victory over St. Louis today, 3 to 2. JEEMS BOYS CALDERA

BEAUMONT, April 23.—(AP)—Purchase of Eugene Caldera, south-paw hurler, from Mobile of the Southern association, was announced tonight by Skipper Jim Galloway of the Exporters before they left on a six-day road trip. The new hurler will join the tea min San Antonio next week.

Caldera was a member of the Beaumont team in 1922-23 but was sold to New Orleans, since that time he has been with the Memphis and later with Mobile.

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

SNIPER'S STORMY STEERS SWOOP DOWN UPON THE FORTRESS TODAY FOR THE FIRST OF THREE ASSAULTS.

Contrary to comment of the wise-acres, the Herd looks no more formidable at present than Bob Tarleton's Sports who have just departed our midst.

THERE'S YOUR DIFF!

Shreveport is not leading the league. Dallas is. Shreveport has been combatting Brainard's burly bludgeoners. Dallas hasn't.

HEH, HEH, HEH.

Conley's outfit, however, has displayed a surprising reversal of form in this brief span of the current race gone on behind, a surprising reversal of form compared to that of other years. But Mr. Conley and his aggregation of ball persons has been picking on Fort Worth, the league's under dog. The Panther machine is but a shell of its one-time championship self, hence Dallas is riding astride the top rung this morning.

ALL WRONG, MABEL.

The impending series could not be termed as one of the "crucial" caliber, even though the loop leadership will be at stake with our arrogant, exceptionally hostile Spudders apparently on the verge of dethroning the, so far, quite fortunate Dallas band.

YES, YES, GO ON.

You can't exactly call it a "crucial" series where an inferior team which happens, just happens to be out in the lead, comes to town to do battle with a far superior team which should be in the lead and will, barring a startling upset, be in the lead before the series is completed.

MUST REPRIMAND HIM.

Our selection for the pitching troubles this afternoon is Rip Wheeler, who, by the way, never saw the day he couldn't tag it on a Dallas team in seasons bygone. In other words, Wheeler, the Dallas jinx, is the pick for this afternoon. But we can only manage the team from the grandstand. Brainard has charge on the field. Therefore, it is quite likely Fred Fussell or somebody else like Carl Williams, maybe, will receive the chunking orders. The Spudder manager does not always follow our instructions.

Wild Bill Spencer wishes to wager a shekel or so Clyde Hull will put it all over Wildcat Ewing in that ten round cauliflower affair Tuesday night. Incidently, Wild Bill is correct, as usual. The mill may prove a riotous party, but Ewing stands as little show with Hull as Hull stands with Tommy White. Laugh that last one off.

Had White and Hull been fighting three-minute rounds in that scrap here Monday, the St. Paul lad doubtless would not have lasted more than ten rounds, that is, providing he waged the same style of attack he did.

* * *

Legion matchmakers have endeavored, we understand, to rematch Hull with White. White asked for 30 per cent of the gross gate receipts and, more or less naturally, was greeted with a frigid clavicle.

* * *

White told the writer after the consultation that if he was approached again he would hold out for 35 per cent. Now there's talk of taking White's southwest welterweight championship cup away from him, and putting it up for the rest to fight after.

* * *

Cup or no cup, Tommy has it on anything his weight that has appeared in this section over the past several years unless it be Dutch Mantell, and Dutch is not a boxer.

* * *

Incidently, Mantell returns Monday against Mahmouth, the Turk, with vengeance, so-called, in his glime. Mahmouth has done nothing to the monkey man, but Matsuda did. Dutch figures one way to clear matters up is to murder the roughhouse person from Constantinople.

Dan O'Leary On Hand For Pedal Exhibition Sunday

Dan O'Leary, holder of the world's record for walking, is in Wichita Falls after walking in from Bowie, Texas. He left Bowie Friday morning about 7 o'clock and arrived in this city at 5:45.

He hoofed with Richard Swanson and George Summers of Chicago.

O'Leary walked in Dallas at the Dallas and Fort Worth game and circled the bases 12 times in 9 minutes and 52 seconds. Dan will go into conference with President Gardner Saturday morning about walking at Spudder park Sunday afternoon.

Our Nine Needs New Blood

Help! Help! Succor!

Our nine's gotta have some more ball players!

Wild Bill Spencer and the vociferous Lee Moore of the press room gang, also baseball impressarios extraordinary, as well as being players themselves, busted in on the sports editor last night seeking aid in locating a few cogs with which to strengthen The Record News ball team.

Our nine plays every Sunday—away from Wichita Falls. Constabulary won't let 'em perform at home. Bill and Lee avers as how the club needs some new blood hence they recrited the aid of the sports editor as an advertising medium. If any of you amachures want a berth with our nine, get hold of Spencer or Moore back in the press room. Better not come in the front door, however.

Rain Puts Kibosh On Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Ia., April 23.—(AP)—A downpour of rain that drove spectators to cover and soaked contestants all but wrecked today's program of the Drake relay carnival.

The rain fell so heavily that the track quickly became a sheet of water and the field so soggy that it was impossible with two exceptions, to hold the major university and college events. All field events were postponed until the finals tomorrow, along with the preliminaries in the 120 yard high hurdles and the 440 yard relay races.

With a driving rain beating in their faces the entrants in the 100 yard dash raced through their trial heats today with Roland Locke of the University of Nebraska winning his heat in ten seconds flat.

Locke who tied the world's record of :09 3-5 seconds for the century in the Kansas relays a week ago, probably will have stiff opposition tomorrow from Fred Alderman of the Michigan Aggies. Besides Hoff and Locke the individual performers listed for tomorrow's competition include the stars from the University of Southern California team which won the eastern intercollegiate championship a year ago and which has been a favorite for the same honors this year.

Greb Hooks With Flowers May 27

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Negotiations were concluded today for a 15-round middleweight championship fight on May 27 at Madison Square Garden between Tiger Flowers, negro titleholder, and Harry Greb of Pittsburgh. Both boxers have signed contracts, Matchmaker Jess McMahon announced.

McMahon said that the match was clinched today through the acceptance of terms by Greb, who lost the title to the Georgia boxer on February 26, 1926. At that time Flowers agreed to defend his new won laurels within three months and to give Greb the first championship bout, provided he came to terms with the Garden promoters.

Negotiatiodns are under foot between the city and C. W. McNear and company of Chicago to purchase $8,000 worth of the 1914 hospital bonds held by that city at par out of funds accrued in the sinking fund. The bonds have 28 years to run yet before maturity, and bear interest at five per cent. Purchase by the city now will save approximately $11,000. The Chicago company in its original offer asked for the purchase of $25,000 worth of the bonds, the city caring at this time, however, to take up only $8,000 worth.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.—(AP)—The cotton market was moderately active today, although trading was somewhat less brisk than it was earlier in the week. Prices were rather erratic starting out somewhat easier but rallying moderately later. The early decline which amounted to three to five points was attributed to the return of fair weather in the western belt and prospects for better weather for the immediate future. The later rally was said to be due partly to short covering for over the week-end and to moderate trade buying of the new crop months.

The improvement was also helped in a measure by the somewhat larger mill takings for the week than last year reported by Secretary Hester, that is 267,000 bales against 236,000 last year. At the highest levels of the day prices showed gains over the early lows of 10 to 17 points. Prices lost a little tof the gain at the end, the close showing net gains for the day of four to eight points.

First trades showed losses of one to two points although cables were better than due. Prices eased off some right after the call, May dropping to 17.82, July to 17.43 and October to 16.56, or three to five points under the previous close.

The market gradually worked upward during the morning and at noon prices were nine to 13 points up from the early lows. Prices made further gains during the afternoon and at the highest May traded at 17.92, October 16.73 and December at 16.73, or 10 to 17 points above the lows. The close was a little off from the best on realizing.

Exports for the day totaled 6,765 bales and for the week 59,742 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—The cotton market made a general steady showing today. After selling off early to 18.06; July rallied to 18.20 and closed at 18.15 compared with 18.10 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at net advances of two to five points.

The opening was steady at a decline of two to eight points active months selling four to eight points net lower in the first few minutes under liquidation by recent buyers, combined with southern and local selling. The latter probably was influenced by reports that additional southern mills planned to curtail their production 25 per cent after the first of May and Manchester cable advices stating that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire had been advised to close their mills for the week beginning May 3.

These features, however, seemed to be offset by a feeling that weather conditions were not altogether settled and the market firmed up at mid-day on prospects for lower temperatures in the southwest. There also appeared to be an apprehension that the cooler weather would be accompanied by showers in the southwest and the market showed considerable firmness although trading was not active.

May sold up to 18.70 and October to 17.42, making net advances of about 8 to 11 points on the general list but the upturn was checked at these figures by realizing. The close was five or six points off from the best. A report on the boll weevil showing relatively light emergence during the first half of April seemed to have little if any immediate effect on the market. Traders found no special incentive in the week-end statistics.

Exports for the day were 15,285 bales, making 6,910,522 so far this season. Port receipts 13,405. U. S. port stocks 1,082,010 bales.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—A general advance in stock and bond prices was Wall Street's response to the lowering of the New York federal reserve re-discount rate. Net gains in scores of active issues ranged from one to 12 points. United Fruit (old stock) jumped 29½ points on a few sales. Total stock sales crossed 2,000,000 shares for the first time this month and total bond sales reached the gigantic sum of $21,565,000, being exceeded only by the record-breaking total of $25,570,000 on December 11, 1924.

The lower bank rate was accompanied by a further easing of all other monetary accommodations. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent and then dropped to 3, the lowest official rate since March of last year. Funds were available "in the outside market" as lowas 2¾ per cent. Time money was practically on a flat 4 per cent basis as against 4 to 4¼ per cent yesterday, and prime commercial paper which has held relatively firm at 4¼ per cent for weeks, was quoted today at 4 to 4¼ per cent.

Wall Street interpreted the reserve bank's action as an indication that the over-extended speculative position in the stock market, disclosed by the gigantic volume of brokers loans outstanding early in the year had been sufficiently corrected to warrant the reduction in money rates as a stimulus to general business, several lines of which had shown a tendency to fall off during the last few weeks. The bank's action caught bear traders unawares, with the result that they were forced into a hurried covering of commitments, many blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares changing bonds during the day. Commission houses also reported a substantial increase in public participation with the operations of professional "bull" pools stimulated by the relative cheapness of money.

While the credit situation was the principal topic of discussion in financial circles considerable interest also was manifested in the renewal of negotiations for the funding of the French debt, the announcement that General Electric stock would be split up on four for one basis with a dividend on the new shares inaugurated at 75 cents quarterly, the offer of $1,000 per share for Michigan Central stock by the New York Central, and the report that the International Mercantile Marine company had received a cash offer for the White Star line.

The weekly mercantile reviews emphasized the fact that the warmer weather had been helpful to both trade and agriculture. Irregularities in the business situation persist however, Dun's states that 45 out of the 65 price changes last week represented declines fro mthe previous week but Bradstreet's food index number was 3.45 compared with 3.41 last week.

The advance in stocks was led by the industrial shares. Net gain of two to six points were recorded by such widely diversified issues as Adams Express, Allied Chemical, American Safety Razor, American Smelting, Baldwin Locomotive, Butterick Publishing, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Childs and company, Continental Insurance, Cuban dominion sugar preferred, Independent Oil and Gas, National Tea, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, Pierce Arrow preferred, Remington Typewriter, Union Bag and Paper and U. S. Realty.

"Big Four" common soared 12 points to 185¼, but most of the other rails showed only moderate advances on the day. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern railway, Frisco common, St. Louis Southwestern and Chesapeake and Ohio all closed a point or two higher. Commodity markets were mixed. Heavy selling of May and July contracts, said to be for the account of an eastern speculator, brought about a sharp reaction in the wheat market. Cotton prices held steady. Raw sugar was unchanged but futures were slightly easier. Coffee futures advanced 16 to 22 points. Foreign exchanges held relatively steady. Demand sterling was quoted around 4.85 13-16 and French francs were slightly firmer just above 3.35 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, April 23.—(AP)—Prospects of shipments of wheat from Kansas City and Omaha to Chicago for delivery on May contracts led to a material downturn today in wheat prices here. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ⅜c to 2⅝c net lower, May (new) $1.62⅝ to $1.62¾ and July $1.41⅛ to $1.42 with corn ⅛ to ⅜c off, oats ⅛c to ⅛c down, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 40c.

Corn and oats were easier, sympathizing with wheat also the weather was again unfavorable for farm work in most of the corn states.

An underione of stubborn resistance to selling pressure appeared at times in the corn market. Future deliveries of corn scored good rallies from the low figures of the day. The cash corn trading basis was unchanged to one cent lower. About 20,000 bushels of corn was sold to go into store here for delivery on contracts. Eastern shipping demand for corn was slow. Changing operations continued to be a feature both in the corn market and in oats.

Provisions reflected upturns in the price of hogs, together with active cash demand for meats.

BOSTON WOOL.

BOSTON, April 23.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Demand for wool is still confined within narrow bounds and usually is for small quantities. Prices are hardly changed for the week, but are in buyers' favor. Manufacturers are giving the market no encouragement whatever, declaring that the situation in the goods market offers them no basis for enthusiasm.

In the west buying has been scattered and no movement worthy of special note has taken place anywhere. Fall wools in Mertzon, Texas, have been sold this week in a general range of 25 to 30 cents: mostly at intermediate prices, compared with 35 to 40 cents in the early part of the season. For the new clip wool prices have changed little or not at all this week.

Foreign markets are generally steady.

Texas fine 12 months selected $1.12@1.15; fine 8 months $1.00.

STOCK-A-DAY

The Pan American is one of the largest producers of crude oil and, directly or indirectly, owns about 1,500,000 acres of oil lands of which 1,400,000 are in Mexico and the remainder in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The concern is actively engaged in the retail as well as the producing end of the industry.

In April, 1925, the control of the company was acquired from the Doheny family by interests closely associated with the Standard Oil of Indiana. The Pan American Eastern Petroleum corporation was formed to hold the majority of the voting common stock of the original company. The Doheny interests later in the year formed the Pan American Western to take over the California properties of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport. The amount received by the company from transfer of these assets was approximately $23,400,000.

Later in the year the company was understood to have acquired control of Lago Petroleum, holding properties in Venezuela. The company has many subsidiaries and owns pipe lines, railroads, refineries, steamships and other equipment.

Capital stock consists of $50,077,850 in common shares of $50 par value outstanding and $83,748,850 in Class B non-voting common shares of $50 par. The preferred stock issue was retired in 1920. Funded debt totals $18,320,267.

Dividends on the common were begun in 1917 and have been continued at varying rates. Dividends also have been paid on the Class B common since issuance. The common rate now is 12 per cent on both classes of stock.

Prior to the segregation of the California properties net income for 8 years was equivalent to an annual average of 17.35 per cent on the common and Class B common. In the first six months of 1925 net income loans were $12,200,000, current assets $58,884,498 and current liabilities $26,099,234.

BRADSTREET REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Weather, tread and industrial movements this week hav been extremely irregular. Weather changes have been quite kaleidoscopic, in fact, but following these, trade, distribution and crop work have been helped by the apparent advent of spring. On the other hand, a clearer appreciation of the fact that industrial production for a good while past has apparently been more active than has final consumptive buying, has seemed to make for a good deal of uncertainty and to encourage talk of curtailment of mill output. The net result, aside from the more cheerful tone of final distribution has been to increase the disposition to look around and weigh up prospects for the remaining months of spring and the early months of summer. There seems, in fact, to be a remarkable degree of resemblance between conditions now ruling and those noted about this time one and two years ago.

Weekly bank clearings $9,850,743,000.

LISBON, April 23.—(AP)— The Portuguese airmen, Lieutenants Morefra and Neves Terriera, who were rescued at sea and taken to Funchal after they had been forced down at sea, today returned to their plane, effected repairs and resumed their flight to Funchal Harbor. After an official reception and other festivities they will depart for the Azores. They left Lisbon Tuesday.

BRENTWOOD, Eng., A. H. Brown, hymn composer, vowed 45 years ago he would never cross the threshold of the local church again and as a result he was buried at East Horndon.

AN EXPLANATION

To those who visited the Laredo Flying Field east of Wichita Falls Friday to see a parachute jump and went away disappointed.

A parachute jump from a height of 12,000 feet had been advertised to take place from one of our ships at the field three miles east of Wichita Falls at 6:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. In anticipation of that event some 200 people gathered at the field from Wichita Falls and the surrounding country to see the jump.

Rainy weather during the day, and a resulting muddy field made the day a highly unprofitable period for the planes. There were nine people carried for rides, a total income of $9 resulting. To attain a height of 12,000 feet in a Lincoln plane involves a cost of about $30.00. In addition there is the salary of a performer to be paid, this salary usually coming in the form of a commission on the earnings of a plane during the day.

This commission Friday amounted to $2.25. In an effort to make a pot for the jumper that would in some measure compensate him for the risk he took in making the jump a collection was taken from those present, and another $2.55 received. In other words a total of $4.70 was tendered the performer by the Wichita Falls public to see a man take his life in his hands and jump 12,000 feet out of a plane.

Would You Have Done It?
Neither Did the Performer.

This is given as a word of explanation for our failure to live up to an advertised parachute jump Friday.

However, this jump will be made Sunday at 6 o'clock regardless of the number of passengers carried during the day. Only extremely adverse weather conditions will be allowed to interfere.

SELLS PINT TO COP; ARRESTED

Man And Companion In Jail as Result of Police Trap

A sale of a pint of whiskey to officer E. H. Carmichael of the city police force was the means of putting at least two alleged bootleggers in the city jail Friday afternoon. And, rather ironically, although they are partners, neither knows the other is in another cell a few feet away.

It was a stray "calling" card, a small pasteboard with five figures printed in place of the usual firm address, that put police on the trail Friday. Officer Carmichael lodged himself in a room at a local hotel, spread some blue prints in front of him in an oil-man like manner and called the number and ordered a pint of whiskey. A man appeared at the door a few minutes later, tendered a pint bottle wrapped up, and accepted in return three one dollar bills, the numbers of which had previously been recorded at the city hall.

He was told he was under arrest and escorted to the city jail. Officers then called the original telephone number again, found still another there, traced the call to a Scott avenue address and arrested a second man who was also taken to the jail for the night.

Charges of possession and conspiracy will be filed against them in the county courts this morning.

Joe Huckins Makes a Speech To London Hotel Men After a Trip Into—Well, Into The Basement

Wichita Falls Hotel Man Sees How Rare Vintages In Famed Hostelries Is Maintained at An Even Temperature All the Time

London, April 15.—"Without a doubt there will soon be several large chains of American tourist hotels built in Britain," Joseph Huckins of the Kemp hotel, Wichita Falls, Texas told a gathering of British hotel men on the opening night of the new Savoy hotel foyer, London.

Mr. Huckins is in London as a delegate of the international hotel conference, and with the 300 most famous American hotel proprietors has been inspecting every detail of the British hotel industry which has been laid open for them.

They have seen how the service is organized in the most luxurious London hotels, how the latest dance floors which are made resilient not through springs but through air pressure, are constructed; how British kitchens are arranged for the production of American dishes, French dishes and essentially English dishes, and they have also seen with what care the varying temperature of the rare vintages are maintained in the deep underground cellars.

"Plans for the further development of the hotel industry in Britain have been carefully discussed with the visitors, and a great exchange of ideas entered into.

"Whether American capital and American brains will be used in the erection and operation of these chains of hotels, of course I cannot say yet, but I should not be surprised if at least the former were employed," went on Mr. Huckins.

"You have not as many hotels per capita of population as we have in America though the development here, too, is now becoming rapid.

"Railroads, paved highways and hotels form the three most vital links in the chain of prosperity of any nation. We are always building hotels in America. America builds at least three new hotels every day in the year, and America will go on building them, for they are essential to the increase of wealth and prosperity of every community."

Windham of City View and Carl Williamson of Pleasant Valley. Each bore approximately 30 names. The petition from City View asks an election of a $20,000 bond issue; that at Pleasant Valley on a $10,000 bond issue.

An election will be held today in Cashion district on a $25,000 bond issue for a new school building there, and in Valley View district on May 8 for a $40,000 issue there.

W. L. Robertson Buys Club Estates Site

The beauty, environment and quality of the Country club estates is making a special appeal to the older residents of Wichita Falls the same as it is to the people who have moved here during the past few years.

W. L. Robertson, vice president of the City National bank, has bought lot 11, block 3 in the Country club estates, and is now having plans prepared for a residence which he intends building some time this year.

Mr. Robertson's home at 1411 Tenth street has for the past 17 years been recognized as one of Wichita Falls most beautiful and comfortable residences.

The moving from his Tenth street home into the Country club estates marks the progress and the growth of the city of Wichita Falls, and what was once the most beautiful residence section of the city, extending from the business district to Brook street is fast changing into business and semi-business property. This change parallels the experience of other places which have rapidly changed from prosperous small cities and towns into the larger urban centers, it was said yesterday.

Painted Gang at City Hall Rebels

When at the first of the week prisoners in the city bastille were set to work painting walls of the city hall the familiar term of "chain" gang was changed humorously by the inmates of that building to "paint" gang.

But Friday with the work practically completed and only the interior of the court room left to be decorated the workers were redubbed the "painted" gang, the reason being that as they smeared the walls of the city hall, and right well at that, they managed to retain a considerable portion out of each bucket in their hair, on their faces and over their clothes.

It was just an incident in the day's work, police state, when one of the workers, a big husky negro who stated that he was used to outdoor work, developed "painters' collic."

Need One Juror In Folsom Case

On lone juror must be selected before the state can come to trial in its case against Frank Folsom, charged with a statutory offense against his 14-year-old daughter in July of last year. Eleven jurors had been selected in the thirtieth district court at adjournment at 4:30 o'clock, and an additional ten talesman have been ordered to appear at 8:30 this morning.

It is expected that testimony will be started immediately after the juror is chosen, with completion in the case due sometime late Friday. The trial is the second that Folsom has had in connection with the offense alleged against him in the indictment, a former trial having resulted in conviction and a sentence of 25 years in the penitentiary.

The appellate court granted a new trial, however, on the ground that the state erred in proving up other incidents than those alleged in the indictment.

Forum's Needs a Discussion Topic For C-C Council

The purposes, aims and needs of the Woman's Forum of Wichita Falls were explained in detail Friday at the business council luncheon of the chamber of commerce when the $50,000 campaign to be launched next week as a building fund was discussed by several speakers.

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, representing the forum, made the principal address in which she traced the growth of the forum from a small beginning five years ago to the present membership of more than 300 and the prospective enrollment of 500 or more by the end of the year. She also pointed out the many functions which the forum performed in behalf of the women of the city; she told of the various departments and the place each occupied in the social, business and educational life of the city's women; and she also gave a number of other facts relating to the conduct of the drive.

In the end the council went unanimously on record as favoring the movement and in pledging the moral and financial support of the council members to the forum.

W. B. Hamilton, who with N. H. Martin has given the forum a valuable building site in the Country Club Estates, this contingent only on the raising of the $50,000 fund, spoke at some length in support of the campaign. C. H. Clark also heartily endorsed it and bespoke early and full success for it.

E. G. Hill, vice-chairman of the business council, presided in the absence of John W. Bradley who is out of the city. H. J. Adair, publicity director for the chamber of commerce, made the weekly report of Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber, who is also out of town.

LOTS OF FUN IN FANNIN PLAY

Auction, Wedding And a Husking Bee From Comedy Plot

An auction, a wedding and a husking bee form the clever plot of the play "Deacon Dubbs" presented Friday night by the Parent Teachers association of Fannin school at the school building.

There was a strong element of comedy in the part of the Swedish hired girl and Deuteronomy, the setting being at Soghum Center, State O' West Virginny. The leading parts were played in a highly creditable manner, accompanied by plenty of action and country characters.

The entire cast follows: Deacon Dubbs, George Turner; Rawdon Crawley, Russell Campbell; Rose Ralston, Mrs. Smith; Miss Philipena, Miss Agnes Turner; Yennie Yenson, Elsie Moore; Deuteronomy, Blake Campbell, Major McNutt, Mr. Cleary; Emily Dale, Mrs. E. Turner; Trixie, Ada Grace Wilson, and Amos Coleman, Mr. Turner.

A feature of the entertainment was a drawing for a handsome quilt made by the mothers in the association. Around four hundred tickets were sold, the proceeds being used for equipment of the school.

I've Drunk From Mandalay to Maine, But Oh, Boy Oh!

The complaint of a self-confessed "old toper" that he had drank from Mandalay to aBngor, Maine, but never had imbibed such a potion as was handed him by a certain Wichita Falls bootlegger was the means of bringing both salesman and his product within the toils of the law early Friday morning.

The complainant appeared at the city hall about 2 a. m., his mouth frothing, and evidently in a bad way.

"It was poison," he stated.

Officers obtained the address, visited the residence, made one arrest and captured 19 half-gallon fruit jars of corn whiskey.

Charges of violation of the oVlstead act were filed in the federal district court Friday following the raid, naming W. E. Parks.
