Nazi Deputy Branded Murderer Whose Interests Are In Reich In First Outspoken Comment

War's Strangest Episode Still Mystery; Crete Said Blasted In Violent Assault

(By The Associated Press)

British Labor Minister Ernest Bevin said today that he believed Nazi Deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess flew to Scotland with the full knowledge of Adolf Hitler, but that he doubted Hess came "out of mad sympathy for the British people."

In the first outspoken official comment on the bizarre episode, Bevin declared:

"From my point of view, Herr Hess is a murderer.

"You can understand my feeling when I tell you he was the man who collected an index card on every trade union leader in Germany and the social democrats, and when the time came, they were either sent to concentration camps or murdered."

Concerned For Germans

Bevin hinted broadly that Hess' concern was for the German people—not the British—as a result of Nazi casualties in the Balkans and death and destruction wrought by RAF bombs on Germany itself.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons he would report at the first opportunity on the Hess incident "guided in the selection of that opportunity by the public interest."

Asked if there were any truth in a German radio suggestion that "Scotland is ready to make a separate peace with Germany," Churchill replied:

"Whatever delusions may exist, that is not among them."

Reports Unconfirmed

In Berlin, Nazi sources said Hitler was not expected to make a speech for the time being on the Hess episode.

Authoritative quarters in London spiced the riddle by declining to confirm unofficial but censor-passed reports that the Nazi deputy fuehrer, in defiance of Adolf Hitler's orders, flew to Britain as a self-constituted "apostle of peace."

"Peace Flight" Doubted

The new twist further complicated the war's strangest story.

These facts emerged:

1. A British radio spokesman first hinted broadly that Hess was divulging vital German military secrets by declaring he was talking and writing "words which will make the German high command sweat."

2. The Berlin radio subsequently insisted that Hess, suffering a "Messiah complex," flew to the Scottish estate of the Duke of Hamilton, an old friend, in the hope of bringing about an end to the war.

3. Informed British quarters then accepted this version—only to have it cast in doubt by high officials.

Suspicion Is Voiced

Churchill had been expected to make a statement on the case today, but it was later reported that he had decided to postpone it—apparently wanting more information from the deputy fuehrer before laying the whole affair be-

(By The Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 15. — New Mexico readied itself today against threatened emergencies as experts declared near-flood conditions along the turbulent Rio Grande could be expected for weeks.

Average temperatures dropped an encouraging five degrees last night from the night before and a continuation of the trend was expected today. A sharp decline in temperatures would slow the rapid run-off from almost record-breaking mountain snows and give northern New Mexico's swollen streams a chance to disgorge their heavy flows.

Showers In Prospect

Mountain showers were in prospect today.

An estimated 2,000 or more men were at work on levees along the 200-mile danger zone on the Rio Grande from Taos in the north to the lowlands south of Socorro.

Many farmlands lay under water. Some farmers have evacuated their homes. Some major bridges and highways have been threatened and smaller bridges have gone out in some areas.

At a conference in Santa Fe yesterday with representatives of more than a dozen federal, state and local agencies, Governor John Miles named a state flood committee to coordinate all defense efforts.

DEATHLESS DAYS IN LUBBOCK

WEST TEXAS: Fair tonight and Friday, little change in temperature.

EAST TEXAS: Partly cloudy tonight and Friday. Fresh to strong southeast and south winds on the coast.

LOCAL WEATHER
United States Weather Bureau
Texas Technological College Station

Minimum temperature, 64.3 degrees.
Temperature at noon, 75.1 degrees.
Dew point, 60 degrees.
Barometer at noon, 29.82, rising.
Ceiling 5,000 feet; sky .3 cloudy; visibility 15 miles.
Wind velocity at noon, northwest, 8 mph.

WASHINGTON, May 10 (By Air Mail)—You, and the other citizens of your county and of 24 other West Texas counties, pay approximately $25,000 per year to keep a man in Washington looking after your interests — as well as the interests of the nation at large — in the House of Representatives.

That sum covers his $10,000 per year salary; the salaries of his secretary and assistants; his mail, stationery and telegraph bills, and the office and House chamber space he occupies. That's a good deal of dough and you ought to be interested in what your representative does with the time and the efforts for which you are laying it on the line.

Currently, your representative, if you live in the 19th Texas district, is George Herman Mahon—tall, dark, intensely sincere young man who stems from Mitchell county. But whomever might happen to be up here from the 19th Texas district would cost you the same money. Congressional operations costs do not vary with personalities.

With the idea in mind to acquaint readers with the facts concerning the activities of their hired hand in the House here, The Plainsman has dug up facts upon which he builds a hypothetical "Day in the Life of your Congressman." All days are not the same with butchers, bakers, candlestick-makers, or editors. They are not identical in the life of a Congressman.

But herewith comes a description of what might be an average day in the life of Congressman Mahon, of Texas, or Congressman Zilch, of Michigan.

ALTHOUGH the House of Representatives does not formally convene until 12 noon, your Congressman gets up very much as you do, about 7 o'clock in the morning.

He reaches his breakfast table at 7:45, but he takes more time for breakfast than you do, because he works while he eats. His breakfast work is a careful perusal of the Washington morning papers; their editorials and their special columns. His study of the morning papers is essential, because no congressman personally can keep up with everything Congress and its various committees do in a single day. He has to depend upon the papers for much of his information on what happened yesterday and what is due to happen today.

Breakfast over, he arrives at his two-room suite in the House office building, about 9 o'clock.

His morning mail, consisting of between 75 and 100 letters from constituents is awaiting him and he reads every letter at least twice; once when it arrives and again when he dictates an answer. Some of them require real study.

A part of the letters deals with the efforts of a constituent to find that "needle in the haystack," a federal job, now largely covered by civil service. Part of them concern impending legislation in which the writer has a personal interest and part of them suggest Congressional action about some pet idea — or pet peeve — of the writer.

Messengerettes Make Bow In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, May 15. (AP)—Singing telegrams began coming in contralto here today.

Western Union hired seven attractive girls to replace boys taken by the draft or gobbled up by defense industries. The company expects to add more later.

The messengerettes, all more than 21 years old, wear ordinary street clothes, and are handling routine delivery messages and singing telegrams, but are not sent farther than downtown office buildings. Boy messengers continue to do outside errands entailing bicycle riding.

Executive Veto Overridden In House Action

Proposal Will Put Texas On A Cash Basis In Future

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 15.—The Senate today sent Governor W. Lee O'Daniel the answer to one of his major recommendations—a constitutional amendment which sponsors contend would place finances of the state on a cash basis.

If the governor approves the measure, the people would vote on whether the legislature would be allowed to pass appropriations in excess of cash income.

The constitutional amendment proposal previously had been approved by the House. It was passed by the Senate without a dissenting vote.

The House joint resolution authorizing submission of the constitutional amendment sets out the state comptroller would submit to the legislature and the governor, 10 days in advance of each session of the legislature, a statement of the financial condition of the state treasury and an estimate of probable receipts and disbursements for the remainder of the biennium.

Appropriation Approved

Senate approval of the measure was given as the House — for the first time this session — overrode a veto of the governor.

By a vote of 92 to 42 it passed, notwithstanding the executive's disapproval, a $44,000 appropriation which would add more liquor inspectors to state forces for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Continuing the theme of state finances, the House also instructed its yet-to-be-appointed conferees on the departmental and educational appropriation bills to slice out all "unessential items" but refused to instruct for reduction of a $1,500,000 item for the Big Bend park purchase to $1,000,000 and deletion of $72,600 earmarked for rodent control.

Emergency Provision Made

Speaker Homer Leonard pointed out that instructions to conferees were directionary rather than binding.

No appropriation in excess of the cash on hand and anticipated revenue would be valid under the proposed constitutional amendment. In cases of emergency, however, the legislature might, by a four-fifths vote of both houses, pass a deficit appropriation bill.

The suit, naming C. W. Furr and others, set out Miss Hughes suffered permanent injuries April 22, when, it was alleged, a car driven by the girl was in collision with a truck owned by defendants.

Miss Hughes suffered injuries that caused her to be hospitalized two weeks and which, it was pointed out, will be permanent.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Farm supplies worth $90,000,000 already have been "sent to ports" for Great Britain, Carl Robbins, president of the Commodity Credit corporation, said today.

Robbins made the statement during a House banking committee discussion of corporation loans to other farm agencies for purchase of farm crops.

Emergency Needs Arise

"Some emergency needs of the British have arisen for supplies that could only be met by the surplus marketing agency," Robbins said. They were placed very promptly and were sent to ports.

"Reimbursement will come from lease-lend funds in case the British will not be able to pay out of their ordinary dollar exchange."

Youthful Slayer Of Father Is Satisfied With Being In Jail

(By The United Press)

WAYNESBORO, Ga., May 15 — A 12-year-old farm boy, Robert Messex, sentenced to life imprisonment for slaying his father, said today that he likes being in jail.

For the first time in his life he has real clean clothes, including pajamas. From his cell in Waynesboro jail he can watch the golfers on the town course. Morever he has a lot of books to read.

"But what I like best is the ice cream. I never had much at home," he said.

The boy was convicted of killing his father with a shotgun after a whipping. He was sentenced to life by County Judge A. L. Franklin on Tuesday but most people here believed that when Robert is 21 something will be done about commuting his sentence.

Because of the poverty of his family, and the fact he will soon be transferred to the state training school for boys his sentence was approved by

Senate Critics Declare Time Is Propitious

Morale Of German People Believed Shaken By Hess

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Citing the flight of Rudolf Hess as indication the time may be propitious, senatorial critics of administration foreign policy made suggestions today that President Roosevelt use his good offices now to bring about peace between Great Britain and Germany.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) said that the escape of the No. 3 man in the Nazi hierarchy to Scotland "is bound to have a profoundly adverse effect on the morale of the German people."

Opportunity Is Created

Moreover, he told reporters, the incident seemed to have created "an opportunity for the president of the United States to step out and try to prevent the further slaughter of human beings."

Expressing a similar view Senator Brooks (R-Ill) said that the Hess incident "has provided a break" for a peace gesture. "It is an excellent time for any step this country might properly take in an effort to bring about peace," he declared.

On the other hand, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he believed Hess' landing in Scotland might be part of a preconceived plan by Hitler to bring peace terms to the attention of the British without personally appearing to offer the olive branch.

Can't Believe Desertion

Pepper, who saw Hess at Munich in 1938, said he could not bring himself to believe that the Nazi party leader ever would desert Hitler. Rather, he speculated, Hess might have been sent to do what he could toward convincing

France Must Back Germany--Petain

(By The United Press)

VICHY, France, May 15 — Marshal Henri Philippe Petain told France in a radio address tonight that France must collaborate with Germany in Europe and Africa.

The aged marshal declared that France "by necessity" must seek an understanding with Germany and that therefore she must collaborate with Adolf Hitler's plans for Europe and Africa.

These plans have been officially described as calling for full collaboration of France in Germany's "new order" in Europe and the establishment of Africa as a great colonial poot to feed Europe with raw materials.

"I approved in principle," said Petain, "the meeting of Vice Premier Admiral Jean Francois Darlan with Hitler in Germany. We will continue negotiations until we reach agreement.

"I call on all Frenchmen to follow me in the path of honor and national interest so that France can overcome her defeat, and save her rank as a European and colonial power."

Asks Undivided Support

"You have learned that Admiral Darlan recently talked in Germany with Chancellor Hitler," Petain told France. "I had approved in principle that meeting. That new meeting enables us to light the road before us and continue the conversations engaged with the German government.

"It is no longer a question today for public opinion, which is often anxious because it is badly informed, to weigh our chances, measure our risks and judge our gestures."

"It is a question," Petain said, "for you Frenchmen, following me without questioning on the roads of honor and national interest.

"If with rigid public discipline we are able successfully to conclude these negotiations, France can overcome her defeat and conserve in the world her rank as a European and colonial power.

"That dear friends, is all I have to tell you today."

400 Firemen Battle Blaze

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 — Philadelphia's most disastrous fire in a decade today destroyed a block-square Port Richmond lumber yard, half a dozen neighboring homes, and ate its way into the newly-rehabilitated Cramps shipyard before being brought under control.

Loss to the lumber yard alone was estimated by firemen at well over a million dollars.

Physician Is Killed

A physician was killed in a traffic accident while hurrying to the scene. A score of persons—firemen, spectators, and occupants of the burned homes—were injured, but none seriously.

Michael Regan, night watchman at the lumber yard, was missing, and his employers said they believed that if he had gotten out alive he would have reported to them.

Four hundred firemen were mobilized quickly after the first of the six alarms at 1:45 a. m. (EST). The flames, which had leaped a hundred feet into the air and turned night into day for blocks around, were pronounced

British Claim Axis Is Using French Bases

Adolf Hitler Goes To Aid Of Iraqis Against England

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 15.—Germany has moved into Iraq by way of French-mandated Syria, using Syrian airfields for luftwaffe stopovers, the British government announced today.

The scope of the infiltration was not known but a British Middle East headquarters announcement said the German planes answered "an urgent appeal by Rashid Ali Al Gailani to his Axis partners" and bore "propaganda agitators and other similar Axis specialists" to Iraq.

ATTACK IS REPORTED

VICHY, France, May 15 (AP)—Neutral sources said tonight that the British had attacked an airdrome in French-mandated Syria, but the French foreign office said it knew nothing of events in Syria.

Situation Is Quiet

Despite the German move, the communique said, "the situation in the Basra and Habbaniyah areas remains quiet." Most of the Iraq-British fighting has been at Habbaniyah, where the British have an air field.

At the same time a prospect of the French mandate's involvement in the struggle over Iraq was cited in a declaration by Foreign Secretary Eden that "full authority" had been given to British forces to attack German planes in Syria.

Eden charged that the transit of German planes via Syria was a "clear breach" of the armistice agreement between Germany and France after that British ally was knocked out of the European war last June.

Iraq, scene of sporadic guerrilla fighting between native forces and the British since May 2, is one of the world's richest oil producers and a route to Britain's vital Suez canal.

Soviet Pilots Helping Iraq

(By The United Press)

BEIRUT, Syria, May 15. — The Baghdad radio reported today that the Soviet government was permitting volunteer Russian pilots to aid the pro-Axis forces fighting Great Britain in Iraq.

The Baghdad radio broadcast was not confirmed from any source other than the pro-Axis capital of Iraq, nor was there any definite indication of the extent of volunteer pilot aid from Russia.

Is Reprisal Move

The broadcast, however, claimed that the Soviet was permitting the volunteer pilot aid in "reprisal" for British help to Finland during the Russian-Finnish war.

The Baghdad radio report aroused special notice here because of the Soviet's long standing interest in a route through the Near East to the Indian ocean, but it also was pointed out that many recent Baghdad radio broadcasts had been denied by other sources.

Moscow granted diplomatic recognition to the pro-Axis government at Baghdad recently after refusing to recognize the right of independence of all of the Arab countries.

Radio Baghdad reported that a great demonstration had been conducted in Baghdad supporting hostilities against Britain. Some 20,000 persons were said to have participated. After the demonstration many enlisted in the armed forces, including some women.

Few Developments On The Oil Front

Developments were few in North Permian basin oil fields Wednesday.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 5 F. L. Woodley, the extensioner, spread the field one-quarter mile west when it tested a daily flow of 837 barrels through a 3-inch outlet off 5 1-2-inch casing. Gas-oil ratio of the well was 520 to one. It reached a total depth of 4,995 feet in lime and was acidized with 10,500 gallons in three stages.

Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 Woodley, four-fifths of a mile father northwest, plugged back with 15 sacks of cement to 4,985 feet from a total depth of 5,010 feet. Five and a half inch casing is cemented at 4,925 feet. Its south offset, Magnolia No. 6 Woodley, is drilling past 2,450 feet in salt and anhydrite. Previous coring had shown streaks of pay.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 University Andrews, deep wildcat in southern Andrews county, is drilling lime below 7,852 feet. In the northwest part of the county Mascho Oil company No. 1 Fisher had reached 3,760 feet in anhydrite and red beds. Farther west of northwest Mascho No. 1, Texas company University cemented eight and five eights-inch pipe on bottom at 1,798 feet in anhydrite with 125 sacks and is standing while cement hardens. Japs Are Anxious To Be Rid Of "China Affair"; Fear Uncle Sam

Peace Reasons Clear Enough

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Japan's sudden urge to be quit of the "China affair," as Tokyo likes to euphemize its undeclared war, represents one of the great back-flops of history, but while it's astonishing as an acrobatic feat there is no deep mystery about it, since the reasons which impel the Japanese to seek peace seem clear enough.

One is that their country is in dire straits economically as the result of their unsuccessful effort through four long years to demonstrate that 70,000,000 Nipponese can sit on 458,000,000 Chinese and keep 'em down.

Japs Greatly Worried

Another is Tokyo's desire to be free to deal with any situation growing out of the fast moving European war. For one thing, Japan is greatly worried for fear America will enter the conflict. It is understood that representatives of the triple alliance—Germany, Italy and Japan—have been conferring on that point in Rome the past few days.

Then, if we may be frank, the Japanese want to be in position to get their share of the spoils, if any. That is to say, they wish to be prepared to take advantage of any opportunity which arises. If Herr Hitler is victor, there should be some mighty rich pickings for somebody in the Dutch East Indies and among the British possessions.

A Paramount Issue

The question of peace with China has become a paramount issue in Japan. The government has been active considering the position recently. The press has been increasingly insistent that the "China affair" be settled quickly to aid the progress of Japan's program for a greater East Asia, and that means spread of Japanese hegemony.

But the Japanese have discovered to their dismay that dismissal of the Chinese conquest is easier said than done—a fine exemplification of the Oriental adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount. They now find themselves in the uncomfortable position of having either to continue the costly conflict or withdraw and admit failure—unless they can drag Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek into a peace conference.

General Chtang, however, being of determined disposition and having the backing of 5,000,000 soldiers, declines to enter any horse deal with the enemy. On the contrary he has announced that with the material and financial help of America he is prepared to give the Japanese a trouncing. If there is peace at all, he avers, it must come through mediation of the United States.

Small wonder then that we find the Nipponese blaming our Uncle Sam for their failure to get salt on the tail of the peace dove. They say his action in supporting China has forfeited Chiang to continue resistance. And in truth, it would be difficult to refute this allegation, for Sam has made no bones of advertising that he is backing democracies against aggression.

Since the Japanese started their conquest nearly four years ago they have won control of some 900,000 square miles of China's richest territory, with a population of 200,000,000. The greatest seaports and manufacturing cities of the country are included. The casualties have been mountainous and the cost colossal.

In theory the Japanese have made themselves masters of vast wealth. Actually the refusal of large sections of the Chinese population to cooperate in business and government has rendered the treasures of questionable value.

Prizes To Be Given At Rodeo In Lamesa

LAMESA, May 15. (Special)—Prizes totaling approximately $2,000 have been announced for the annual Lamesa rodeo June 10 and 11, members of the rodeo association said Wednesday.

Word was received last week from State Representative Hop Halsey that his famous Drugstore Cowboy band, noted all over West Texas, will be glad to accompany Lamesans on their booster motorcade trip which will be made for two days preceding the rodeo.

Daugherty Bringing Stock

Curley Daugherty, Olton man who furnished the stock for last year's show, has been given a repeat order this year. The wild west menagerie from the Daugherty ranch will include battlin' buckin' broncs, bouncin' bad-news Brahmas, and consarnded, cavortin' calves for ropin'.

Here is the purse schedule:

Bronc riding—$65.00 first; $40.00 second; $20.00 third; $10.00 fourth.

Steer riding—Same schedule as for bronc riding.

Calf roping—$125.00 first; $85.00 second; $60.00 third; $40.00 fourth; $20.00 fifth.

Bulldogging—$40.00 first; $30.00 second; $20.00 third.

Cutting horse contest—$100.00 first; $50.00 second; $25.00 third.

It should be emphasized that in all events save the cutting horse contest, each prize listed above will be given each of the two days. Thus total cash prizes will total about $2,000 or $400.00 more than last year.

Besides, there will be three handsome saddles given as prizes, in addition to other worthwhile prizes which will be announced later, officials said.

Hess Branded A Murderer

fore Parliament.

A highly placed American source in London declared that Hess' arrival constituted a "threat" to the defense of the British Isles and that he might be the harbinger of new, smashing attacks by the German military machine.

Blaming the British for casting "too rosy a glow" on the incident, this source said that it might "lull people and soften them for new blows by Germany."

Islands Are Bombed

On the action front, a British Middle East headquarters communique said Axis warplanes "continuously" attacked the island of Crete and the British naval base there, at Suda bay May 12 and 13.

Hitler's high command said the Nazi luftwaffe "effectively bombed military objectives on the islands of Malta and Crete by day and night," destroying 15 British planes on the ground in attacks on two Crete airports and shooting down eight others in fights over the island.

The Germans also asserted that Nazi dive-bombers effectively interfered with Allied troops landings in Suda bay.

Sea Battles Rage

In the battle of the Atlantic, a German U-boat was credited with sinking a "well-armed" 20,000-ton British auxiliary cruiser.

Dispatches from Cairo said British naval planes, striking at Axis supply lines, bombed an Africa-bound convoy in the Mediterranean and sank an 8,000-ton merchant ship. An Axis destroyer, guarding the convoy, was also reported hit, "with clouds of smoke pouring from it."

A British communique said the fleet air arm also joined in the Iraq fighting, attacking barracks at Amara, on the Tigris river and other objectives.

An Iraq communique said a lone RAF raider droned over Baghdad, the capital, and dropped a number of bombs.

Italians Admit Pressure

"Our troops organized patrols and made several contacts with the enemy," the Iraq war bulletin said.

On the African war front, Premier Mussolini's high command acknowledged that British troops were exerting heavy pressure on surviving Italian columns in all sections of Ethiopia—particularly in the Amba Alaji sector, where the British claim 38,000 Italians are trapped with little hope of escape.

"Our troops are resisting with extreme fury," the Fascist communique declared.

Amendment Voted

comptroller would be required to certify that each appropriation bill was within the revenue expected for the biennium before the bill could be considered passed.

Would Eliminate Deficit

If the comptroller found that an appropriation bill exceeded the estimated revenue, he would send it back to the House, and it could not be again considered unless additional revenue, sufficient to pay the appropriation, was provided.

The legislature would be authorized to pay the present deficit of the state by issuing bonds.

Voters would pass on the proposal at the next general election, Nov. 3, 1942.

The motion to cut out unnecessary items from appropriations was made by Representative Omar Burkett of Eastland.

"I hope this will do some good," said Representative Sam Hanna of Dallas, "but I don't think it will because the committee will say every item is necessary."

FLIER IS RESCUED

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 15. (AP)—A mid-air rescue of a flier caught in the tail of a navy transport plane was effected today after his parachute apparently fouled in a practice leap from the craft. The crew of a small plane went aloft and took the dangling flier from the aft of the transport.

Locusts birds, which have always lived on frogs, near Colesburg, South Africa, are now staging "blitzkriegs" on caterpillars, thus averting a plague.

Popular Opinion Said Mounting Against Use Of U. S. Convoys

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Senator Tobey (R-NH) asserted today that "tremendous and increasing volume" of letters to the White House was acting as "a definite check on the president" against any move to order use of the navy to convoy war shipments to belligerents.

In a formal statement announcing he intended to delay offering an anti-convoy resolution in the Senate, Tobey predicted that by the time President Roosevelt makes a scheduled speech May 27 sentiment against convoys will have "reached a peak of overwhelming opposition."

Tobey said he had been urged by a "substantial number of senators" of like views not to offer his resolution as an amendment to a pending bill to authorize requisition of foreign ships idle in American ports.

"I shall present the issue for a Senate roll-call vote under a procedure which will not confuse it with the issues involved in the pending ship seizure bill," he said, predicting "a decisive victory" against convoys.

RALLY TURNS INTO RETREAT

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Bearish implications of war and labor news from Wall street's angle today received the principal blame for turning a mild early stock market rally into a retreat.

Steels started to weaken after mid-day and these were trailed by rails, aircrafts and an assortment of specialties. Individual favorites managed to cling to minor gains but closing losses of fractions to around 2 points were well in the majority. Activity broadened as offerings came out and transfers for the full proceedings were around 450,000 shares.

Union controversies in the automotive, shipping and coal fields, and threats of a nearby railway wage battle, helped chill sentiment brokers said.

Petroleum stocks kept losses to minor amounts. Up occasionally were Standard Oil (NJ), Chesapeake and Ohio, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester and J. I. Case, Continental Baking "A" made a new year's high before stumbling.

Prominent on the offside were, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet; General Motors, Kennecott, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Westinghouse and General Electric. Chrysler dipped to a new bottom since last June.

Buoyant commodities of Wednesday took a rest, some at lower levels. Wheat at Chicago was off 1 ¼ to 1 ⅞ cents a bushel and corn down 1 ⅛ to 1 ⅝. Cotton, in late trades, was up 5 cents a bale to 30 cents lower. Bonds developed irregularity.

In the curb backward tendencies were displayed by Gulf Oil, Babcock & Wilcox, Bell Aircraft, Humble Oil and Colts Patent Fire Arms.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—Wheat prices tumbled about two cents a bushel today after reaching new 12-month peaks in the session.

Profit taking caused the reaction which was regarded largely as technical in view of yesterday's sharp upswing culminating a rise of about 10 cents a bushel in the past two weeks.

The market encountered some support at times in the form of buying associated with brisk flour business. Profit taking was encouraged by increase sales of wheat at some terminals, favorable crop reports, and advices pointing out that Canadian wheat is near an import basis because of high domestic prices.

Wheat closed 1 ¼-1 ⅝ lower than yesterday, May 99 ⅝, July 98 ⅛-⅜; corn 1 ⅛-1 ½ lower, May 71 ¾, July 72 ½-⅝; oats ⅛-1 down.

Dallas Prisoner Not So Dumb After All

DALLAS, May 15. (AP)—Usually there are some prisoners in jail who want to plead guilty and start serving time.

But lately there have been few, so prosecutors today asked a grizzled ex-convict if he knew why. He answered:

"I ain't no chump. It's cotton planting time down on the prison farm. It'll have to be chopped and picked this summer.

"Guess I'll stay here where its cool and plead guilty next fall."

U. S. Launches Big Battleship

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15. — A new and deadly link joins the nation's defense chain today with commissioning of the mighty battleship Washington six months ahead of schedule.

Rushed to completion in three years at a cost of $70,000,000, America's most powerful dreadnaught raises the U. S. fleet's battleship strength to 17 vessels.

Secretary of the Navy Knox will be the only speaker at brief but colorful ceremonies marking passing of the 35,000-ton ship from navy yard builders to her captain and crew.

Follows North Carolina

Among some 1,000 special guests were other top ranking navy officials headed by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the Atlantic fleet, and congressmen and representatives of the state of Washington for which the vessel is named.

Just a month ago the Washington's sister ship North Carolina was commissioned at Brooklyn navy yard. They are the first battleships built by this country in 18 years and are the first of 17 ordered in the defense expansion program to give the nation a two-ocean navy. Sea trials are scheduled later with the vessels joining the fleet in several months.

Prices On Gas To Be Boosted

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, May 15. — America's millions are paying slightly higher prices for gasoline than a year ago and market men believe they soon may be paying more.

This year has brought an unprecedented domestic demand for petroleum products. The defense program with its higher industrial activity and bigger payrolls had put more motorists on the highways.

Another Boost Expected

The year also brought the first crude oil price advance in more than three, and another crude price increase is being expected almost daily by oil executives, with most declaring it will come by June 1.

The price of gasoline at the refinery has worked up seven-eighths in the past two months in the mid-continent area.

The higher prices to motorists have been scattered broadcast across the nation in increases of a half cent to a cent in a few instances more a gallon. The American Petroleum institute reported that on May 1, the average price in 50 representative cities was 13.11 cents a gallon, exclusive of taxes, an increase of a fifth of a cent a gallon over May 1, 1940.

Higher Prices Quoted

Recently gasoline prices have been increased in the northeastern area. Supplies along the Atlantic seaboard, from Maine to Florida, generally are quoting higher prices for gasoline.

Prices at filling stations were increased in the middle west soon after the crude oil price hike April 1. Marketmen report a hesitancy of refiners to step up rates of delivery on products or to make large future commitments.

In the middle western area, consumer demand has been about 15 per cent greater than a year ago, and the summer motoring season is just getting into high.

Stocks Have Decreased

Greater industrial activity, defense contracts and greater railroad volume have drawn heavily on fuel oil. National stocks of residual fuel oil have decreased from about 102,000,000 barrels Jan. 1 to about 94,000,000 barrels, despite a higher rate of imports.

In the eastern half of the nation, market men declared, lays the strongest possibility for rising petroleum product prices.

Demand has been steadily increasing, they said, while stocks have been steadily declining. Some feared that diversion of 25 tankers to British service from coastwise traffic, in which 70 per cent of American bottoms are engaged, would have a disrupting effect on supply.

The seaboard refineries depend almost entirely upon tankers for their daily supply of approximately 1,200,000 barrels of crude oil from the Gulf coast area. Allocation of tankers to British service is expected to be completed in a few days.

Lack of tankers for coastwise traffic, however, would probably mean an increasing demand for crude oil and products from the mid-continent area which could be moved over interior transportation systems.

Pan American Navy Said Ultimate Goal

NEW YORK, May 15. (AP) — Mayor F. H. LaGuardia told visiting South American naval officers he dreamed of the day when all American navies became a "great Pan American navy."

"A Pan American navy will take a long time to realize," he asserted, "but it is coming. I envision also a Pan American naval academy in which young officers of all the American navies would be trained in defense together."

Filing Deadline In Senatorial Race Is Expected Next Week

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, May 15.—Deadline on the time for filing as a candidate for the United States Senate will fall next week, it was stated here on good authority today.

The attorney general's department said no request for a ruling on the final date had been received. Secretary of State William Lawson, with whom candidacies must be filed, was absent from Austin.

When the election was called for June 28, Lawson had made a tentative decision that candidacies could be accepted up to 15 days before the election.

Since then complaints have been made that such filing would not give sufficient time for absentee voting, which may play a large part in an election coming during the usual summer vacation. Absentee voting begins 20 days before an election. Names of candidates must be posted 10 days before balloting starts.

Ballots must go out at least 30, probably 35, days before an election, according to a supreme court decision made when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson asked for a mandamus in 1932 to compel then Secretary of State Jane Y. McCallum to place Mrs. Ferguson's name on the ballot.

An attorney general's opinion to Mrs. McCallum at that time said ballots must be sent out in time to permit the compliance with the usual election provisions "or at least within sufficient time to permit the county clerks of this state to perform their statutory duties taking into consideration a reasonable time for the transmission of your certificate and the preparation by the county clerks of the ballot form and the time necessary to have said ballots printed, in addition to the time required for the posting of the names to be printed on said ballot and keeping in mind the fact that the ballots must be prepared so as to permit absentee voting 20 days before election day."

Quoting this ruling, the supreme court said: "This conclusion of the attorney general seems to be in fair accord with our conception of the law."

Nazi Planes Are In Iraq

dispatch from Cairo quoted a "well informed traveler" as saying that two Axis military missions had arrived in Baghdad, Iraq capital, a few days ago after flying over Syrian territory.

A "high German personage" was reported at Beirut, Lebanon, in conversation with the Italian armistice commission and French authorities.

Have Disguised Markings

Reuters said the Iraq-bound German planes using Syrian air fields had disguised markings.

Apparently Adolf Hitler (perhaps through agreement with the Vichy government) at last had gone to the aid of the Iraqis against the British, fulfilling the German statement at the end of the Balkan campaign that only the first phase of the war in the Middle East was over.

New Drive Expected

Evidence that the Germans had launched a new military venture on the hot sands of Asia Minor came today from several sources —including a Cairo announcement of the Middle East command. Among them were:

Landing In Syria

1. A reliable source here said German planes were landing in French-mandated Syria en route to Iraq and would be bombed and machinegunned by the British.

2. Foreign Secretary Eden charged that the Vichy government apparently had granted transit rights to the German forces.

3. German ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, who recently returned to Ankara after consultations in Germany, conferred at length with Turkish President Ismet Inonu today and bore him "friendly greetings" from Hitler.

(The German radio said the British had ordered all British women and children withdrawn from Palestine.)

Reliable reports reaching Cairo last night said German personnel had reached Syria by air.

There was no immediate amplification of the report that Germans were using the French mandate in the Near East to rush reinforcements to Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani of Iraq.

British reports from Cairo yesterday said, however, that a "German mission" had arrived in Syria. The purpose of the mission at the time was not explained.

An indication that the British consider their Near East position critical was seen recently in the appointment of Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson as commander in chief in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

Wilson is Gen. Archibald P. Wavell's right hand man. He was in charge of operations in the western desert drive through Libya, and then the commander in chief in Greece.

the British that they ought to negotiate with Hitler to end the war.

"When you hear about Harry Hopkins turning his back on President Roosevelt, taking a plane and parachuting down in Germany, then you can believe that Hess has split with Hitler," he told reporters.

"In my opinion, it is an audacious trick, so big and so monstrous that the people will believe it. Hess is just another Trojan horse."

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate foreign relations committee said he saw little possibility that Mr. Roosevelt would intervene in the European conflict in an effort to obtain peace at present. The chief executive, he declared, might reason that any such intervention would be embarrassing to Great Britain.

was said to have appealed to the populace to aid the Iraqi air forces to the utmost and to have asserted again that the British had violated the Anglo-Iraq treaty.

Chiropodists Plan Convention In City

Special letterheads have been printed so as to begin publicizing the zone convention of chiropodists to be held in Lubbock July 4, 5 and 6, according to information given at the chamber of commerce this morning.

The Chiropody society of Texas is to be host on the occasion to the zone which embraces Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, officials explained. A series of personal letters is to be sent to chiropodists in that entire area to attend the convention.

Dr. Marshall Harvey, past president of the Texas society, is chairman of local arrangements.

Forces Rushed To Singapore

(By The Associated Press)

SINGAPORE, May 15.—Several thousand British fighting men—soldiers, sailors and fliers—disembarked from a transport today while freighters were unloading heavy cargoes of war supplies from the United States.

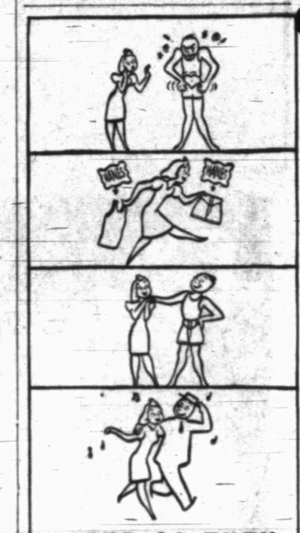

The reinforcements of men from the United Kingdom and supplies from the United States added to the steadily growing strength of Britain's Far Eastern defenses.

Chinese Officials Present

The new arrivals from the homeland, representing every branch of the empire's fighting services, were sped to depots and garrison points to join other British, Australian and Indian units already guarding this South Asian stronghold.

Members of a Chinese military mission nearing the end of a two-week tour of Malaya, during which they saw British defense preparations and conferred with military chiefs, witnessed today's debarkation.

Authorities would not comment on the significance of the Chinese representatives' visit, but a communique said "matters of mutual interest" were discussed.

Tests For Applicants Slated On Saturday

Tests are scheduled at Texas Technological college Saturday for a second group of applicants for Sears Roebuck & Co. agricultural scholarships, according to Dean A. H. Leidigh, head of the agricultural division.

Thirteen applicants were interviewed and tested in Amarillo Saturday by Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education; Mart G. Pederson, associate professor of dairy manufactures, and Dean Leidigh.

Twenty freshmen scholarships of $100 are to be available again next year. One sophomore scholarship of $200 will be awarded to a student from the group holding freshman scholarship this year.

Probably two more groups will be interviewed after Saturday. Some of those selected for the scholarships are to be notified at their high school graduation services.

James A. Sommerville, Farm Security administration personnel official, assisted in the tests in Amarillo.

Final ROTC Review To Be Held Today

Texas Technological college R. O. T. C. units are to appear in their final review of the school year east of the engineering building at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Three awards will be presented, said Capt. Bruce D. Rindlaub, commander of the unit.

They are the Lubbock chapter of the Reserve Officers association saber award to the third year military science and tactics student making the highest composite rating in scholastic grade, appearance, rank, attendance, interest and proficiency in the cadet organization; the Allen Bros. post, 148 of the American Legion medal to the student making the highest record score in gallery range rifle marksmanship, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post 2466 medal to the first year student showing the greatest progress in military science and tactics.

Cadet officers finishing their fourth year in the unit will take their position in the reviewing stand in the final part of the review and third year students will command the unit.

The public may witness the review.

Red Sea Simmers As Air "Seems Breathless As If In Anticipation Of Things To Come"

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Egypt, May 15 — Reliable sources said last night that when American ships enter the Red sea with supplies for Britain's Middle East forces it will not be stealthily but openly—as the ships of a neutral nation, with flags painted on their sides and brightly lighted by night.

The same sources said no ships had yet passed through the Red sea, but some are expected soon.

When the United States legation here first was asked to report on the situation, it informed the state department that the Red sea might be considered practically free of Italian attacks.

President Roosevelt then declared the zone to be no longer a combat area under the neutrality act.

Then, a body of water more familiar to most Americans through the bible than for current events became the focal point of clashing Axis and American aspirations.

This area, which the bible says opened to permit the children of Israel to escape from Egypt, simmers today under a broiling sun and the air seems breathless as if in anticipation of things to come.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Vail will leave Friday for Fort Worth to attend a meeting of civilian pilot training coordinators of region four Saturday and expects to obtain further information concerning summer flight training.

The cross country course, to be offered the first time and including long trips across country, will be open only to students who have completed the apprentice instructor course. Students who have finished the secondary course are eligible to apply for the apprentice instructor course.

There are three courses in operation this spring, primary, secondary and apprentice instructor. Examinations are to be taken next week by students in those courses.

Three Hudson Motor Company Plants Facing CIO Walkouts

(By The Associated Press)

The United Automobile Workers (CIO) union called a strike against three Hudson Motor company plants in Detroit today and General Motors corporation reported a walkout at its Flint, Mich., Chevrolet works despite agreement to postpone a strike against GM until Friday.

The defense mediation board early this morning, only a few hours before a strike was set for 60 plants of General Motors in 22 states, announced a postponement for one day in the walkout. CIO union officials said they thought the stoppage at Flint took place because word of the postponement got there too late.

The Hudson walkout applied to three plants, with 8,500 employes, but union officials said work on a $10,000,000 defense order for airplane parts was not affected.

The union demanded a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase in unrevealed current scales at the Hudson company. The board of directors considered the union demands. Claude E. Bland, president of the local union, said "the company refused any decent wage offer."

T. A. Johnstone of the General Motors division of the UAW-CIO said at Detroit he was trying to get the 12,300 Chevrolet workers back on their jobs. The walkout also closed a Fisher body plant, with 1,100 workers.

Armament Walkout Ends

The General Motors postponement came shortly after settlement of a two-day strike at Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing company at Hartford, Conn.

William S. Knudsen, chief of the office of production management, termed the GM situation "damn serious."

The mediation board announced that the management of General Motors had until 4:10 a. m. (EST) Friday to accept or reject the findings and recommendations which the board made for settlement. The findings and recommendations will not be made public, the board announced, until they have been accepted or rejected by the corporation.

Shipyard Strikes Continue

A strike which had held up construction of a $30,000,000 naval drydock in Boston was settled, but shipyard strikes in the San Francisco bay area continued to tie up $500,000,000 worth of naval construction. Details of the Boston settlement were not announced immediately, but the strikers had protested use of WPA workers on the project.

Rumblings of new labor trouble continued in the soft coal industry, while bituminous operators made ready to confer today with representatives of the CIO United Mine Workers. John L. Lewis, union president, has declared that if a wage agreement with southern operators could not be reached this week, the union would be forced to consider a work stoppage throughout the eight-state Appalachian district.

Woman's Haircut Is Not Stylish But It Proved Very Timely

SEATTLE, May 15. (AP) — Wilhelmetta Butterworth's haircut may not be stylish, but it was timely.

Her hair, cut in a long bob, became entangled in the washing machine wringer. Relatives, unable to release her, called the fire department.

Fire Lieut. Floyd Wylie decided there was only one solution. He borrowed a pair of shears and clipped the tresses.

British Plane Sinks German Supply Ship

LONDON, May 15. (AP)—Attacking an escorted German convoy off the Netherlands coast in broad daylight yesterday, a British torpedo-carrying plane sank a supply vessel and slipped away unscathed, the air ministry reported today.

The air ministry news service said the ship, a 5,000 tonner, was one of a convoy of seven vessels which opened fire on the plane when it moved within range.

Dean Made $258,936 In National Pastime

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, May 15.—Making baseball and its by-products pay off $258,936 in 11 years "ain't so dumb" even in the language of Jerome Dizzy Dean.

For that's exactly what he did, the Dizzy one who 15 years ago joined the army in order to be sure of eating regularly.

And they're still paying off old Diz, one of the most colorful characters as well as one of the greatest pitchers in the history of baseball.

Gets Extra Salary

Dean, his once famous right arm no longer possessing its magic, tried to retire yesterday, but the Chicago Cubs wouldn't let him. Instead, General Manager James T. Gallagher gave him his outright release, then rehired him as a coach. Dean, who pitched only one inning this year, not only will

Ex-Champs Apathetic Toward Accepting Free Ride To Fort Worth Tournament

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 15. — The U. S. G. A. offered former champions not otherwise automatically eligible the privilege of an uninterrupted journey to the National Open finals this year without pause for passport examination in the sectional qualifying rounds, but the response to this hitch-hiker's dream has been apathetic.

Just before the closing date for entries only four players had taken advantage of the free ride, although it is more than possible that some of the seven ex-champs who are eligible by virtue of finishing among the top 30 last year would be out there with their thumbs cocked had they not qualified on their 1940 performance.

The four who are riding along on the new ruling are twice-champion Walter Hagen; Chick Evans, winner in 1916; Tony Manero, 1936 champion, and Billy Burke, at the top in 1931.

Jones Won't Play

Others eligible but who so far have given no official indication they would like to compete include Olin Dutra, Johnny Goodman, Bobby Jones, Willie MacFarlane, Cyril Walker, Francis Ouimet, Jim Barnes, Alex Smith, George Sargent and Fred McDermott.

Some of these are long out of competition and would not be expected to enter, although Sargent, the 1919 champion, intimated when the ruling was first made that he planned to be among those present.

However, fellows like Dutra, Goodman, Jones and MacFarlane are of comparatively recent vintage. Jones' apathy toward renewal of serious competition is well known, and he probably wouldn't play if they held the tournament on his front lawn.

Hagen Failed In 1938

Those eligible through their 1940 performance are Defending Champion Lawson Little, Gene Sarazen, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell and Sam Parks.

Agitation for the rule change permitting the automatic qualification of ex-champions came not from the ex-champions themselves, but from well-wishers who considered it nothing short of a crime that rainbow-hued gents like Hagen and Sarazen might be left in the cold while some Oscar Blurp who happened to have a hot streak in his qualifying round would be eligible to go to Fort Worth and shoot his first-round 88 before a huge gallery of one bored caddy.

Hagen, in fact, has failed to qualify, and much of the agitation can be traced to his absence from the 1938 tournament at Denver. He was there, but just as a galleryite.

Oliver Not Talking

The U.S.G.A. also has left the gates ajar for golfers now in military service, and as yet nobody has entered from that direction. Porky Oliver is the most important golf figure in that category, and although a superior officer has said that he believed Oliver would be given leave to compete at Fort Worth, and Oliver undoubtedly would be accepted by the U.S.G.A., the fat boy hasn't notified anybody of his plans.

The record of the applicant the last two years, and whether he had competed in the final day's play in the 1939 and 1940 opens, governs the acceptance of service entrants, and offhand Oliver is the only one we can think of who would meet the qualifications.

Should Oliver enter, and the four ex-champions now entered on the free list make up that quota, the five exemptions would just fit in with the U.S.G.A. figures. Next year the exemptions will include the first 25 finishers and ties, a reduction of five from the present list.

Borger Keeps On Winning To Lead Loop

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

Manager Howard Taylor and his Clovis Pioneers, who provide the New Mexico part of the West Texas-New Mexico league, come to Lubbock for the first time this season to meet the Lubbock Hubbers in the first contest of a two-game series at the Hubber park tonight.

The game starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Byron Adamitis, a tall, young righthanded pitcher who hopes to pitch for the White Sox some day, is due to start on the hill for the Hubbers. The Clovis hurler was not announced this morning.

Bombers Take Series

The Hubbers went into another day dream last night and wound up on the short end of a 9-4 score, with the Big Spring Bombers taking the honors and the series, two games to one.

The Hubbers didn't exactly boot the game away to the Bombers last night, as they did in the Tuesday evening encounter, but they didn't look very good losing to the Brooklyn farmhands from the southernmost reaches of the West Texas-New Mexico league.

The victory, won by Willard Ramsdell's close pitching and Larry Drake's fine hitting kept the Bombers well up in second place.

Hyma Bows Out

Big Spring knocked and walked John Hyma out of the box in the fourth inning, then worked on Steve Vrablik for the rest of their runs.

Meanwhile, the Borger Gassers, pennant defenders and league leaders, smashed over the Clovis Pioneers to win the series there. Manager Gordon Nell poked out his sixth home run bang of the young season to help Borger trample the Pioneers, 13-8.

The Pioneers matched the Gassers' 16 hits but Clem Hausman, mainstay of the Borger hurling corps, kept the Clovis runners away from the plate when necessary.

Lamesa Defeats Spudders

At that, Clovis showed considerable power at the plate in scoring eight times against the big, bad Gassers, who made only two errors. Five Clovis errors contributed to the Borger triumph.

The Lamesa Loboes turned in a 2-1 victory over Wichita Falls when Otto Robertson, catcher, blasted away in the ninth inning to score Manager Sam Scaling and Eddie Guynes with the winning runs. Scaling had singled and Guynes had waited out a walk off Lefty Lucas. Bob Rivera moved both of them up with a sacrifice, then Robertson lofted a Texas Leaguer over the heads of infielders and too close for outfielders, and before the ball was retrieved, Scaling had come home with the tying score and in the course of play, Guynes was in with the winner.

Wichita Falls had scored in the second inning on Manager Sammy Hale's walk, Stanley Bolton's single and Hall's grounder. Otherwise, Pitcher Sullivan for Lamesa, recently acquired from Big Spring, blanked the Spudders in eight innings. He gave up but five hits in the course of the game.

Lefty Lucas pitched airtight

NEW YORK, May 15. — New Yorkers can't decide between Rizzuto and Priddy and Boudreau and Mack as the slickest second base duo in the majors. . . . With Toledo and St. Paul drawing only 40 paid admissions the other day, no wonder Judge Bramham, the czar of the minors, is fearful that some of the Class C and D loops won't stand the gaff all season. . . . After the Conn fight, Joe Louis shifts training headquarters from Greenwood lake to the Blue Hill Country club at Orangeburg, N. Y., training base of the football Giants. . . . Incidentally, Louis is 1-10 over Buddy Baer. New York has Bob Montgomery 10-13 over Lew Jenkins.

Cooper Opens Play In State Tourney

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, May 15. — The favored Hondo Owls, good enough to dabble in college athletics, met Austin's Maroons here today in the lead-off game of a state high school invitational baseball tournament.

Nine district championship teams were on deck.

The Owls, seeking their second title in three years, have been beaten only three times in 15 games, losing by close scores to the University of Texas freshmen and Randolph Field cadets.

Pairings today: McKinney and Weslaco; Mesquite, Dallas county, and Cooper, champion of the Lubbock district; Sunset, Dallas, and Beaumont. Carthage, winner of the tough East Texas competition, drew a bye.

The title game will be played in Rebel stadium as a preliminary to the Texas league game between Dallas and Shreveport Saturday night.

Reds, Yankees Blasted Again

(By The Associated Press)

Mel Harder, who at the mellow age of 31 is a veteran of a dozen years service with the Cleveland Indians in the American league, is the miracle pitcher of the season thus far.

The slender Nebraskan, always considered a "hot weather" performer already has won four games without a defeat and the only question now is whether he can maintain anything resembling this winning pace through the remainder of the campaign.

Helps Stop Yanks

For many years Harder was one of the best hurlers in his league, but even in his best seasons he never could get going in the spring.

In 1935 when he won 22 games he didn't collect his first victory until the 30th of May. In 1938, his best recent season, he scored 17 triumphs and didn't get the first one until June. Last year, when he won 12 games, he didn't even make his first start until May 22.

Consequently his six-hit, 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees yesterday caused his Cleveland cohorts, as well as the rest of the American league, to wonder what level he might reach this summer.

Red Sox Topple Chisox

The Boston Red Sox regained second place in the circuit by toppling the Chicago White Sox 10-7 with a seven-run rally in the seventh inning, climaxed by a grand-slam homer by Manager Joe Cronin. Boston was trailing 6-3 prior to the big blowoff.

The Washington Senators set down the Detroit Tigers 9-4 for the American league champions' sixth straight loss since Hank Greenberg departed for the army.

The St. Louis Browns stopped the Philadelphia Athletics 10-5 behind the steady nine-hit hurling of Bob Harris.

Dodgers Walop Reds

In the National league the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Cincinnati Reds 6-2 and dropped

Time For Action—

Champs Facing Changes--And Plenty Quick

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, May 15. — Just what's the matter with the World Champion Cincinnati Reds is up for violent debate from the city wharf to aristocratic Indian Hill. The management admits it doesn't know for sure but is going to do something about it. Quick, more or less, for the St. Louis Cardinals left fielder and gives the Reds, in second division of the National league for the first time since 1938, Ernie Koy.

GILES

The next overt step is not determined, at least for publication, but General Manager Warren C. Giles says:

"We're going to get going if we have to change half the club. But were not going to make changes while we're panicky."

Ernie, slugging, 28-year-old speedster who went to the Cardinals in the business that gave Brooklyn Joe Medwick, became Red property in a straight cash deal. Giles announced it last night, just after the Reds had dropped their fourth straight game, a 6-2 defeat by the Dodgers which pushed the champs into sixth place.

"Ladies Day" Links Winners Announced

Mrs. M. M. Brown was winner in the low handicap group and there was a three-way tie for top honors in the high handicap division as members of the Lubbock Country club women's golf association competed for "ladies day" prizes yesterday.

Mrs. Brown was credited with 15 putts on the back nine and won the low handicap prize. Mesdames George Pierce, W. L. Morrison and W. F. Eisenberg tied in the other division, each with 17.

Mrs. Morrison was hostess, and others attending were Mesdames T. B. Duggan, jr., W. H. Freeman, Cliff Widener, Charles Akey, Gene Fowler, C. C. Longabaugh, C. E. Dean, K. L. Riggs, and W. F. Helwig.

'Smart Money' Says Jenkins Is Underdog

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The 49th street betting bourse hung out its odds today on tomorrow night's Lew Jenkins-Bob Montgomery fight, and the more you studied them the less you knew about growing sugar in Siam.

Because, for some reason not even your best friend could tell you, the "fraternity"—as the gambling guys like to be tabbed—established the Philadelphia negro a 10 to 13 choice to finish on top in his ten-round over-weight get-together with Texas Lew in Madison Square Garden.

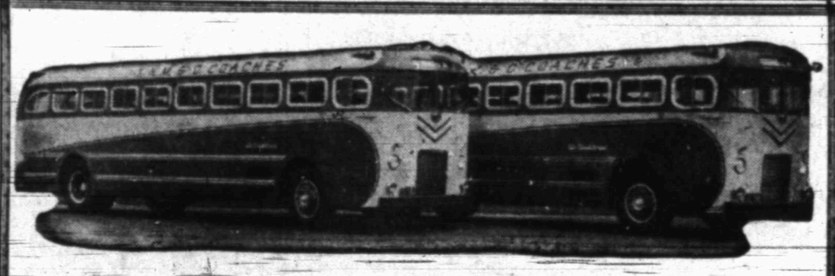

On the records, this is about as logical as taking the train to Tallahassee to get from Times Square to the Bronx. Apparently the oddsmakers haven't bothered to take the advice another New York fellow (remember?) once gave to "look at the record." At any rate, just consider these details:

1—Montgomery already has been beaten once by Jenkins.

2—He has never fought a main bout in the Garden, which gives even the best of 'em as much stage fright as your newest country cousin.

3—Jenkins still rates as the deadliest puncher the lightweight division has seen in more than a decade.

4—Lew is still "the champ" and carries into the ring all the assurance the title usually gives the man who owns one.

Oilers Climb Out Of Cellar; Rebels In

(By The Associated Press)

The ambitious Tulsa Oilers climbed out of the Texas league cellar last night, making room for the Dallas Rebels, who have been slipping down the ladder for some time.

While the Oilers were beating Houston 8-7 at Tulsa, the Rebels before a crowd of discouraged home fans let the Beaumont Exporters snatch a 5-4 victory.

At Fort Worth, Earl Caldwell tossed a five-hit shutout for the Cats against Shreveport while his teammates were rolling up six tallies. Oklahoma City made it two in a row over the visiting San Antonio Missions by winning 8 to 5.

The defeat for Dallas was no sweeter because of the part in it played by Bob Uhle, former Rebel pitcher. Uhle won his own game by a three-sacker in the ninth which drove in the needed run and then a few moments later struck out the Rebel side.

Sudan High Baseball Team Seeks Games

SUDAN, May 15 (Special) — Sudan High school's baseball team is very much in favor of a "give the game back to the schoolboys" move, and the school and the team supports any plan to encourage baseball for high schools. The Sudan team has been doing very well.

A couple of pitchers, A. C. Williams and Lambert, have been doing all right for themselves and their club, and they're ready to take on all challengers.

The Hornets won a double header from the Joyland team last Sunday, winning the first one 20 to 3 and the second, 3-2, Lambert allowing but one hit, a double by McWilliams which drove in both Joyland runs, in the nightcap. The Hornets broke loose in the seventh inning of the first game to break a 2-2 tie with a nine-run spree, knocking Hill off the mound. They worked on Buddy Williams for nine more runs in the last two innings.

get his full $10,000 pitching salary, but also an additional salary for his new duties.

Gone are the days when he "fogged down" his high hard one to win 102 games in a four-year stretch with the St. Louis Cardinals. Nevertheless, it was a supremely happy Dean who began his new duties today. His job will be to instruct young pitchers, hit fungoes, pitch in batting practice, work in the bull pen and serve as a Cubs contact man with the public, making speeches and banquet appearances. He will not coach on the baselines.

Saved His Money

Since he signed his first contract with the Houston club of the Texas league in 1930 at a salary of $300 a month, Dean has earned $258,936,—a sizeable wad for a one-time Texas cotton picker.

Dean often has said "they never will have to play a benefit game for me," because he saved most of his money. He credits his wife, Patricia, with being the thrifty one.

Dean said he asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list because "I was eating my heart out" doing nothing on the bench.

"I like to pitch so much it broke my heart because I couldn't. My arm feels like a piece of rubber that has been stretched so much it won't stretch any more."

the World Champions to sixth place behind the idle Boston Braves. It was the seventh victory in a row for the Dodgers, who earlier took nine straight, and was the seventh in succession for Whitlow Wyatt, who shut out the Reds until the eighth.

The Pittsburgh Pirates plopped a 12-7 defeat on the Phillies after the Phils had hit three homers and scored all their runs in the first four frames.

The other National league teams were rained out.

and sundry bureaus for information he needs to answer his letters—and it takes a flock of calls to get the right party in the myriad labyrinth of official channels here. Often when your representative finds the party he is seeking, the party's secretary reports that the party "is in conference and can't be reached by phone." Frequently, when the right party is reached, he can't supply the answers sought. So he promises to write or phone, later.

Chances are, your representative tries first — and hardest — to answer quickly those requests for information on various government projects, because they effect more people. These requests run all the way from dope on an aviation school to cost several millions of dollars, to a loan from Farm Security amounting to $50. Lately, much mail has run to topics of a military nature, such as young wives wanting their soldier husbands to get a furlough when their baby arrives, or tracing a claim of $5.85 for a discharged veteran. Many people write about ways and means to confirm their age in order to get pensions—and on and on the mail is dumped down, running the entire gamut of human emotions.

Your representative, be he Mahon of Texas or Zilch of Michigan, works as fast and as hard as he can to clear up his mail — even to looking into suggestions for national defense which constituents have sent him with a personal job in mind. First thing he knows it is 10:30 and time for him to scurry to his committee meeting. This he does, hoping he'll get loose in time to do the rest of his mail work between 4 and 5 o'clock.

His committee — in Mahon's case it's the powerful House Appropriations group—is hearing General Whoozis on the need of a billion dollar appropriation for the benefit of the general health of our soldiers and sailors. Much of the testimony is heard. There are many questions interposed.

General Whoozis, who generally is a forthright witness ready to blurt out anything, refuses to answer a question. He stalls. Finally he tells the chairman that his answer must be confidential and the committee must go into executive session before he's willing to answer. So an executive session is called and for more than an hour General Whoozis outlines information which should not get to Berlin at this particular time.

The committee considers the general's information, argues awhile and then reports the bill out.

BY THE time the committee work is done, it's 12:30 and the House has been operating about a half hour.

Your representative hustles over, finds out what's going on and, if it is something in which he has little or no interest, he dashes down to the House restaurant in the basement for a quick lunch and a cup of the best coffee in the world.

Then he goes back to the House chamber where by now there's a full-fledged argument going on regarding whether or not we should ship sardines to occupied France.

Amendments are brought up, discussed and voted on and it's 4 o'clock when the House adjourns and calls it a day.

Back to his office, by way of the underground tunnel which connects the capitol with the House Office building goes your humble — and by now somewhat disheveled — representative.

The bureaus, which he had hoped this morning to get in touch with this afternoon, are closed, darn it, while their workers enjoy the "more abundant life." Therefore, his leftover work will have to be done tomorrow.

His dictating isn't finished, so he'll bat out some of it himself, to help his overworked office staff—answering only those letters from people who know him well and won't be aghast at his poor typing. And he keeps batting away until about 6 chimes.

AT 6 he calls it a day and, if the weather's nice, walks the mile and a half to his home. All work and no exercise makes Representative Jack a nervous wreck and that walk is what he needs to clear the cobwebs from his mind.

If there isn't a convention banquet, or if there are no visiting firemen from his district who want him to take them to Constitution hall to hear Ussef Zinglowski play the fiddle, or to the Lotus club to see the dancing girls, he stays home and reads Carl Sandburg's "Lincoln's War Years," or Winston Churchill's "Blood, Sweat and Tears."

He likes that sort of reading, because it indicates that there have been other troubles in other governments and he's not alone in his qualms!

That's a typical day in the life of your representative, whether he be Mahon of Texas or Zilch of Michigan and, by golly, he earns his pay.

Conscript's Wife

BY BETTY WALLACE

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: With Bill gone, Martha's life seems empty. She has only Butch, the dog, for comfort. But Paul sets out to follow Bill's last order, to keep Martha happy. He prescribes food, movies, gaiety. The second night he and Suzanne come to the apartment for dinner, then go to a show, but Martha cannot hide her grief.

NEIGHBORS BEGIN TO TALK

CHAPTER 4

In the days that followed, Martha Marshall realized more and more poignantly what it meant to be what she herself had called a "conscript's wife." It meant peering anxiously into the letterbox, every morning. If there was a letter from Bill, she read it at once. If there was no letter, she went unhappily off to work.

It meant listening to a great deal of silly, well-meant consolation. "As if," she thought fiercely, "Bill had died!"

It meant pressing loneliness, even when Paul and Suzanne were with her, and they were with her practically all the time. But no matter how late they stayed, there was always the moment when she turned on the bedside lamp in the bedroom, and the neatly made up bed stared up at her mockingly.

It meant, too, long letters from her sister. "The best thing for you to do is come and stay with us, Martha. There's no sense in your keeping up the apartment just for yourself. It's too expensive. We'd be glad to have you."

She knew what staying with Helen would be like! Helping with the three children, doing the housework, sitting in the cluttered parlor and listening to her brother-in-law's interminable business troubles. Oh, no! Just because Bill was gone didn't mean she must stop living for a year.

But in everything that mattered, she had stopped living. She thought, wonderingly, "How did I manage before I married Bill? I was alone then." The days before she became his wife were shadowy and unreal, as if they had happened to another girl.

"And of course, I was engaged to Paul . . ." He had taken her about a great deal. To expensive restaurants, and the gay Club Tortilla. She remembered the time one of the pilots from the plant had flown them to the west coast. Paul had a conference there, and she stayed in a gorgeous pink hotel on the beach, and after the conference they'd gone swimming in the blue water. The flight back had been made in darkness. She recalled the pinpoints of light, far below, when they flew over cities; and the sense of adventure which had flooded her.

Bill hadn't the money for expensive restaurants. The Club Tortilla, where an evening's check amounted to at least $20, was out of the question. Yet things with Bill had been more fun. The magic of being together made a cup of coffee around the corner from the 20-cent movie heaven indeed.

In the office, the girls were kind. They asked her to their homes for dinner. She refused, gently, but she appreciated their thoughtfulness. One of the girls asked, "But what do you do with yourself?"

Another girl—the thin file clerk who worked right there in the Engineering—said, "Oh, Mr. Elliott doesn't let you get lonely, does he?"

There was a dreadful silence. Martha felt anger rising inside her. She said coldly, "Mr. Elliott and his fiancee are old friends of mine."

Suzanne wasn't his fiancee. But she couldn't let a crack like that get by!

It made her wonder, dully, if it was wise to see so much of Paul. But that was nonsense! Just because she used to be engaged to him. Hadn't Bill himself said, "Take care of her for me, Paul."

And then, one night when Bill had been gone three weeks, Paul turned up at the apartment without Suzanne.

"We had," he explained, "a little disagreement last night after we left you."

"Oh." She wondered if he would tell her what it had been about. But he didn't. He only said, "I'll show her!" smiling, as though it was all rather silly and unimportant.

"You and I," he went on, "are going to the Davenport for dinner tonight."

"But—"

"That'll make Suzanne burn!" he said.

Somehow, there was something not quite light in his tone. But she meekly got her coat, and off they went.

The Davenport was the swankiest restaurant in town. They had come here often, long ago. The headwaiter even remembered them, and led the way to the table in the corner where they used to sit.

She was conscious, as she looked around, of the fact that her simple dark dress, the gold chain at her throat, were too demure, not up to the style of the ruby velvet dinner dress of the woman at the next table. She had never used to worry about her clothes before. Because then she had lived in a two-by-four room in a boarding house and all her money went on her back. Now, it was different. She realized, suddenly, she hadn't had a new dress for months.

"I feel," she told Paul, "like a beggar maid." And she kept wondering about Suzanne.

"Stuff," said Paul, picking up the long printed menu.

It was a delicious dinner from the shrimp cocktail straight through to the luscious French pastry.

Martha giggled, "I'm full to the eyes. I must have gained five pounds."

"It won't hurt you. You're rather thin, you know."

"Thin?" she exploded. "Paul Elliott, I weigh 115 pounds and that's plenty! Would you like to see me bloated up like a balloon?"

"You haven't looked well since Bill left," he said soberly. "There are circles under your eyes. You're not — not as energetic, somehow. No spirit."

She dropped her eyes. "I do miss him."

"It's senseless to worry."

"I haven't been worrying."

After a while he said, "We've seen just about every movie in town. How about going for a drive?"

* * *

Again it came to her, how very like the old days this was. They didn't talk much, driving along. They never had. She wondered fleetingly about Suzanne, hoped Paul would bring her with him tomorrow night. He switched on the radio. There was a quiz program. A man's voice asked, "Now, Mrs. Smith, what state in the Union has the smallest population?"

"Arizona," Martha said, idly.

"Utah," Paul insisted.

The woman on the radio was silent for a long time. At last she said, "I'm afraid I don't know."

"Sorry, Mrs. Smith. The answer is Nevada."

"We were in the right part of the country, anyway," said Martha. "Nevada, eh? You wouldn't think—with Reno—but that's a sort of floating population, I suppose."

Paul didn't answer. Reno. The divorce center.

"The Army's just as good as Reno for separating people," Martha said. "And a whole lot cheaper."

"But not quite as permanent."

Suddenly, with a swift turn of the wheel, he was turning around, heading for home.

At her own door, as she shook hands with Paul in good night, there began a fearful scratching from the other side.

"Butch!" she exclaimed. "I almost forgot him. I'd better let him out right now, or he'll break training."

Butch bounded out, gratefully, making straight for the stairs. "I'll walk around the block with him, Martha, and bring him back to you."

"Thanks, Paul. And I did have a lovely time."

She remained in the little foyer, the door open, waiting for Butch to come back. From the hall closet, the sleeve of Bill's raincoat stuck out, There'd been no raincoat on the list of clothes the government told him to bring. Impulsively, she reached for it, brushing it against her cheek.

Suddenly she heard a voice, indignant and very loud. "That man's walking around the block with her dog at this time of night, and look — her door is open! Imaging such goings on!"

NO SYMPATHY FOR LEGISLATORS

Wiser members of the Texas legislature will know better than to begin hunting for sympathy because their pay was cut automatically from $10 per day to $5 per day when they completed 120 days of their regular session early this week.

If there should be those who will go hunting for sympathy, it will be a most discouraging search. They won't find much of it in Texas. On the contrary there is good reason to believe that there might be strong support for a law which has been suggested from time to time that the legislators' pay cease entirely after 120 days.

Such a law certainly would seem to have merit because, with the possibility of very rare exceptions of a type which have not yet occurred in Texas there almost would never be occasions when the Legislature would be confronted with legislative programs requiring more than four months for thorough study and for intelligent and just disposition.

NOTES of a New York Newspaperman — Packer, the Mirror's editorial cartoonist, drew the "best editorial cartoon of 1940," but the Pulitzer prize went to a competitor in Chicago. Packer's picture (showing a tot in Europe praying: "If I should die before I wake, etc") was published in the N. Y. Mirror on September 5th, 1939 . . . He was too soon, it appears. Had he drawn it in 1940 he might have won . . . The Chicago Times' Jacob Burck published the identical picture on June 2nd, 1940—eight months later . . . And won the Prize with it, plus $500 . . . In Packer's the praying child said: "If I should die before I wake"—which Jacob Burck, the prize-winner, used for his caption . . . of course, it could have been one of those coincidences, etc. . . . Whether it is or not — Jacob Burck should either refuse the cash or turn it over to Mr. Packer, who should use it to publish a brochure entitled: "Hearst Men Are Rarely Considered By Pulitzer Committees."

It had been expected, and so it was no surprise when Relgep won the prize for his pieces on union racketeers . . .

WINCHELL

But Herald Tribune staffers believed Jay Racusin of that paper would at least win "favorable mention" for his service to the nation in ferreting out Herr Westrick, the Nazi agent, and his U. S. pals . . . Westrick, as a result, was literally chased out of the U. S. . . . Racusin's expose followed a tip which ran in a Mirror pillar . . . The Journal-American's Sid Boehm and other Hearst reporters rated a salute for digging up the stuff that resulted in the conviction of 3 Bund leaders in N. J. . . . But like Mr. Packer — the Journal-American boys are "Hearst men."

THERE is this satisfaction for the sour-grapes brigade . . . This year the Pulitzer Committee gave no prize to "the best novel"—although Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" (the choice of book reviewers nearly everywhere) was counted out "because it didn't have an American background."

So what happened? Heheheh, hohoho, hahaha . . . The Pulitzer people gave the best play prize to Bob Sherwood's "There Shall Be No Night" — the background of which is Finland!

Who, Me? Dep't: We don't recall who said it first, but some columnists should stick this lesson in journalism under their column-heads now and then: "The test of a good newspaperman is one who approaches his task with a bellyache and doesn't get his bellyache into his story."

OUR Oh-My-Gawd-Dep't!—From Dixie Tighe's column in the Post: "It is cheering to know that even the famous have time for active compassion. Miss Virginia Faulkner and Mr. Collier Young were in a taxi the other night and listened to a long tale of sorrow from the driver. It fell not on deaf ears. Miss Faulkner directed the driver to Reuben's, where she purchased $25 worth of pate de foie gras and gave it to the driver."

New York newspapermen obey the law which forbids any "Press" shields on motor cars, although the rule sometimes makes things difficult for working newspapermen, who must park their machines while covering a story . . . But American laws apparently mean nothing to the Nazis over here. The DNB crowd, for instance, in New York. They use huge "Press" shields on their cars which they park in the most congested area in Rockefeller Center—and they haven't been molested by cops, who permit them to park their machines for ten hours or longer!

IT happened over at the Stork Club where owner Billingsley tries to be pleasant to everybody . . . The pests, bores and drunks, of course, get on his nerves now and then — but he is a diplomat at all times . . . Last night along came a fellow Billingsley's nerves just couldn't stand at that moment . . . The fellow talks too much, has no sense of humor, gets plastered after the second gulp and is an all-around nuisance . . . So when Billingsley saw him approaching he tried to duck him . . . The guy buttonholed him, anyway . . . Billingsley led him off to the kitchen, where he figured the gab wouldn't last long and where the pest wouldn't get in other folks' way — anything to get rid of him quickly . . . Billingsley almost choked from the shock when the pest said: "Sherman, I know I shoulda done this long ago, but here's that $500 I owe you."

Retailers And Manufacturers Plan For Education Campaign

Shock Absorbers Will Be Given To Public

BY PETER EDSON

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15. — One sure by-product of the current effort on the part of both business and government to keep prices from climbing out of sight will be a big advance in consumer education, a movement on the part of retailers and manufacturers to tell customers exactly what's in their product and why the price is what it is.

EDSON

This fact stands out as one conclusion resulting from Department of Commerce conference on consumer goods. The conference was promoted by the Retailers Advisory Committee, a business organization which called in over 400 representatives of 52 food, textile, clothing and other trade associations to see where business fits into the government price control program.

Retailers See Light

THIS conference emphasized the fact that a majority of retailers have already adopted the farsighted policy that it is to their advantage to keep prices down, to prevent price spirals, and furthermore to do this as much as possible on a voluntary, co-operative basis without the benefit of government control or government price fixing.

This may not be the most world-shaking news to come out of Washington these days, but as it hits 130 million people in the pocketbook, right where they live, it is fraught with significance at that, so here it is.

What is happening is that as more and more of the country's productive capacity is taken up by defense orders, less capacity is left for business-as-usual production for civilian use. At the same time, employment goes up, wages are going up, and there is greater consumer demand. The tendency is for the prices of consumer goods to rise because supply can't meet demand.

This has resulted in a number of things. There has been a certain amount of scare advertising—telling people to buy now because prices were going up or to order now because there would be shortages later. In an effort to keep prices at present levels, quality has in some cases been sacrificed and the product cheapened, or substitutes have been put into the product.

A dress that fades, a shirt that shrinks, a sheet that splits, a $3.50 blanket that doesn't keep you warm after it has been washed. This, as Miss Harriet Elliott points out, is a downward spiral of quality and it is as much to be guarded against as an upward spiraling of price.

Here is where the further education of consumers comes in and this is one of the lines that Miss Elliott's consumer division in the Leon Henderson Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply is attempting to strengthen.

Realizing that housewives can't talk in terms of economic theory, the language in the retailer's education of his customers must be reduced to understandable factors. A 1-cent rise on a pound of sugar or a quart of milk means more to the housewife than a 50-cent increase on shoes or a $10 increase in the month's rent.

Bread Economics

THE economics in a loaf of bread is also a tough one to explain. The farmer gets less than a cent for the wheat that's in the loaf which sells for 10 cents. Where does the other 9 cents go? Explaining that to the consumer would help justify any increases, if and when necessary. Retailers feel it is a lack of understanding of the work of the processors and distributors that causes most of the confusion on price matters.

Another factor is the labor cost that enter into consumer goo The food industries say that fro 65 to 70 per cent of the cost of a can of beans or any other food product is labor. Textile industries say that 51 per cent of the increased value of a manufactured product is labor costs. Those are entirely reasonable and unavoidable but they have to be appreciated by the consumer.

Musical pupils at the National Institute's school for the blind in Abbotskerswell, England, determined that a cow being milked moo-ed in E flat, but when the boys' imitation of air raid sirens sent the school running to shelter they were ordered to "pipe down."

STAR SULPHUROUS COMPOUND
Given in water or feed. Destroys as they enter the fowl, intestinal germs and worms that cause most all disease and loss in egg production. Also rids them of lice, mites, fleas and bloe bugs. Keeps the appetite good. Then you will have good, healthy egg-producing fowls and strong baby chicks. Costs very little. Money back if not satisfied. Mark Halsey Drug Stores.

There's no doubt about it, the sow is the real center of hog profits. Feeders make or lose on what she gives in the litter. Sows need pig-building feed if they're to farrow big litters of heavy pigs — and Purina Sow and Pig Chow is built especially to go with grain to give sows what they need to produce big litters.

Come into the store and see us about Sow and Pig Chow. We'll show you records that prove it's a real-pork-making ration.

Nazis Said Urging Turks To Line Up With Axis

Hitler Courts Nation Again

(By The United Press)

ANKARA, May 15. (U.P.)—Adolf Hitler's letter to Turkish President Gen. Ismet Inonu, delivered yesterday by German Ambassador Franz von Papen, repeated friendly assurances to Turkey but implied that the time has come for Turkey to abandon her alliance with Britain and line up with the Axis "now order in Europe," it was learned today.

It was understood that the letter drew attention to German occupation of Greece and the Greek islands and suggested that the occupation and other events had doomed British power in the Near East.

Details Not Disclosed

Officially, the government did not disclose details of the visit paid by Papen to Inonu. A communique issued last night said merely:

"Von Papen, the ambassador of Germany and bearer of a friendly message from the chief of the German state, Hitler, was received today by the president of the Turkish republic, Inonu. Saracoglu was present.

Sukru Saracoglu is the Turkish foreign minister.

Hitler's letter, it was understood, did not contain specific proposals. It was reported to have repeated the lengthy friendly assurances sent by Hitler to Inonu several weeks ago after a visit to Ankara by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

ball for Wichita Falls until the ninth when the tying and winning runs were scored. He allowed but six safe bingles.

At Amarillo, the Pampa Oilers collected 18 hits off Chamness, Carlson and Dorman, the latter coming in from first base in a futile attempt to stop the Oilers with his southpaw slants, and won 14 to 7.

Big Crowd Present

Frank Grabek pitched good baseball for Pampa, allowing a dozen hits but keeping them fairly well scattered.

A ladies night crowd of some two thousand, biggest attendance of the season, watched the Hubbers take a beating from Big Spring at the Lubbock park last night, and most of them stayed on to the bitter end, hoping that the Hubs would finally find their batting eyes and give Mr. Ramsdell a licking. They were rewarded by a fine rally in the last of the ninth inning when the Lubbocks, seven runs behind, got three hits in a row before anybody was out. A double play interfered, but there was another hit, a double by Gene Schlereth against the left field wall, scoring another runner. Stan Bartkowski fanned to end the rally and the game.

Bombers Take Quick Lead

Big Spring had piled up a 4-0 lead in the first four innings, knocking John Hyma out of the box in the fourth. Clean-up Hitter Larry Drake tripled to start the second, and Pete Zmitrovich's single brought him in. A walk, an error and a ground ball scored another in the third, and two came in during the fourth when Hyma gave up three straight singles and later a walk. He was relieved by Vrablik, who got the side out, but who gave up a run, with the help of an error at second, in the fifth, getting back the run Lubbock scored in that frame.

The Bombers took advantage of Lubbock's weakness behind the plate to swipe four bases, including the home plate, although Babich did throw out one runner and, with the help of Manager Charley Engle at shortstop, caught another at the home plate.

The Bombers bombed Vrablik for a couple of doubles and waited out a couple of walks to score three times in the eighth, J. L. Haney and Drake lashing out the doubles, the latter punch driving in three runs after the bases had been loaded.

Contracts On Plains Roads Are Announced

Award of highway contracts of importance to the South Plains were included among those announced in Austin Wednesday.

The state highway department awarded two contracts near Lubbock, an Associated Press dispatch revealed. One, for 28.2 miles of asphaltic concrete paving 5-8 to 3-4 inch thick, was for Lubbock, Swisher and Floyd counties. It will include paving on state highway 290 from Lubbock to Hockley county line, 24 feet wide, on state 86 from Tulia to 6.6 miles east of Tulia, 22 feet wide, and on state 207 from Crosby county line to Floydada, 20 feet wide. It was awarded to Austin Road company of Dallas on a bid of $69,163.50.

Contract for 19.7 miles of asphaltic concrete pavement on U. S. 380 from Plains to the Terry county line and from the Yoakum county line east 5.9 miles was awarded to Public Construction company of Denton on a bid of $50,048.48.

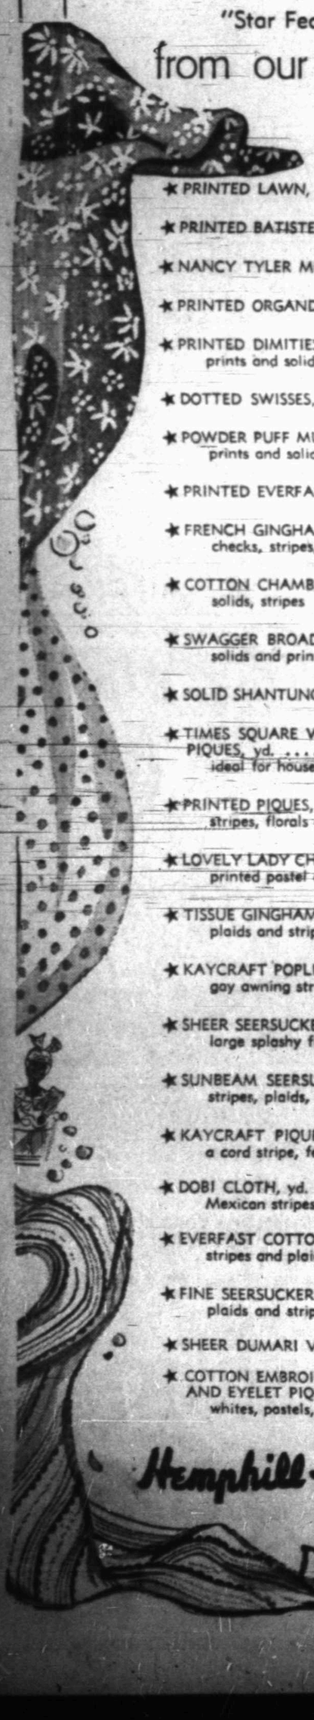

County of Terry awarded contract for 16.5 miles of grading, drainage structures and flexible asphalt base to Lee Moore of El Paso on a bid of approximately $140,000. The road will be from Brownfield to the Dawson county line.
