Japs Said Nearing Defeat In China

BY JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Foreign Writer

WITH THE CHINESE RED ARMY In Hopeh Province, North China, March 22—China's Red army commander, Yu Cheng-Tsao, believes the Japanese army is nearer defeat than at any time since the Oriental war began a little more than eight months ago (July 7).

Guerrilla marches, the Red army general related at his headquarters here in central Hopeh far behind Japanese lines, have isolated large forces of Japanese battling toward the Yellow river on the Central China front.

Their communications cut, transport trains wiped out, many of their small railway station garrisons annihilated, and their only food supply in some cases reaching them by airplane, Many Japanese troops are in a precarious position, Yu said.

Among highlights of the situation of the Japanese, as pictured by Yu, were these:

An army of 45,000 Japanese in southern Shansi has been isolated from its supply bases.

Wipe Out Garrisons

Red guerrillas scored five successes in recent days in attacks along the Peiping-Hankow railway, wiping out small station garrisons.

Chinese tactics forced the Japanese to abandon 35 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railway north of the Yellow river.

Three transport columns wending their way through tortuous mountain trails to reach the Japanese beleaguered in southern Shansi were

BITTER FIGHTING REPORTED

SHANGHAI, March 22 (AP) — Fighting raged today across a bloody grand canal as Chinese and Japanese, their lines but 30 yards apart in some places, battled for possession of Suchow, vital junction point of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways.

Gunfire was audible in Suchow, 22 miles from the battlefield as Japanese ranged their heavy artillery along the north shore of the canal and opened bombardment of the Chinese lines.

In all other directions of the compass, reports showed the Chinese launching desperate counterattacks, preventing Japanese reinforcements to the Suchow battle and adding confusion to the already mixed situation in five provinces.

'Enemy' Fleet Being Sought

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, March 22—Honolulu's civilians worked and played as usual today but over 22,000 soldiers and sailors awaited with wartime anxiety the appearance of an enemy fleet.

Under simulated conditions that included even firearms on army post school buses, the service arms prepared to defend the staunchly fortified island of Oahu or other more vulnerable land from an enemy "blue" fleet, representing a government whose relations with the United States were "strained" last week.

On Secret Maneuvers

The attacking force actually is a part of the United States fleet which left California last week on the most extensive and most secret Pacific maneuvers yet undertaken.

Already huge naval planes—presumably from the "blue" fleet—have been reported a thousand miles from Honolulu. Sleek, grey destroyers patrol waters outside Pearl harbor, watching for the enemy. Navy and army observation planes are ready to take off instantly at the first alarm.

Troops Deployed On Island

Twenty thousand troops are deployed about the island of Oahu, flanked with artillery and mobile equipment. The have been carrying out minor maneuvers since Thursday.

Submarine crews wait at their posts at the naval base.

The defense forces know only that the "blue" fleet was seen last off

Sigmund Freud Is Detained In Vienna; Ill In Home

VIENNA, March 22 (AP)—Sigmund Freud, 82-year-old "father of psychcanalysis," was seriously ill today, close friends said, after a visit of secret Nazi police to his home last night.

The informants said the police took the Jewish scientist's passports and closed the door of his home. Offices of the company which has published Freud's books also were closed.

Freud was ill when Adolph Hitler absorbed Austria into the German realm and for several days was not told of the drastic changes affecting his country and his race.

Plans Already Being Made By Foes

Borah And LaFollette Open Up Criticisms On Expansion Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22—The administration's naval expansion bill, outspoken critics indicated today, will become a vehicle for far-reaching senate debate on foreign policy, neutrality and national defense.

Senate opponents of the bill, which the house passed yesterday 292 to 100, are led by Senators Borah (R-Ida) and LaFollette (pro-Wis). They were expected to decide on their strategy soon after disposal of the government reorganization bill.

Calls Expenditure "Preposterous"

LaFollette, calling the projected $1,100,000,000 expenditure for new ships "preposterous," criticized particularly the proposal of naval experts to develop fleets capable of defending the United States on both coasts at the same time.

"We seem suddenly to have discovered the Atlantic ocean," he commented. "I always thought it was an asset from a defense standpoint, but now it seems that 't is a liability—which is silly."

Nye Criticises Program

Senator Nye (R-ND) said the "big navy" bill was warlike and would call for "the most insane program that could be pursued."

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the senate foreign relations committee said, however, there was no doubt that the bill would pass in virtually the same form as it was approved by the house. He added:

"The United States hasn't any partners among the nations, doesn't want any partners. Because of that, we must be prepared to make other nations afraid to attack us. It's the cheapest kind of peace insurance."

Says Bill Goes "Too Far"

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) told reporters he had "modified" his previous opposition to increasing naval armaments because of unsettled world conditions, but expressed belief the pending bill goes "too far."

As approved by the house, the measure carried no funds for construction, but President Roosevelt has recommended that work be started on two of the three battleships it would authorize and on two of the nine cruisers.

Naval officials estimated it would require from four to six years to carry out the program, provided congress makes the money available.

In addition to the battleships and Expropriation 'Exceptional'

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, March 22. — President Lazaro Cardenas assured Mexican industry today that expropriation of foreign oil companies was "exceptional" and no similar measure was in prospect against other business.

As the treasury department took the first steps toward fixing the sum to be paid the 17 British and American oil companies for loss of their $400,000,000 properties, President Cardenas gave his assurances to industry in general in a statement that:

"No Other Measures"

"No other measures which might affect the confidence of the country will be taken against other business, properties, bank deposits, values and other investments, which the government is ready to protect in accordance with the law."

He said he spoke now to erase fears "which without foundation might be created, or have been created, as a result of rumors spread by parties interested in seeing that the measure which the government was compelled to take in regard to the oil properties, be misinterpreted and distorted."

To Encourage Investments

The president said his government would take necessary steps to protect and encourage investments and business enterprises which might aid the economical development of the country and bring

Redditt Sees Five Million Less Needed

No New Taxes Are To Be Needed Except To Build Up Benefit Funds

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 22—Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the important senate finance committee, estimated today appropriations for the next biennium would total approximately $5,000,000 less than those for the current two years.

He also expressed the opinion no new taxes were needed except to provide for teachers retirement, the needy blind and dependent children and to supplement the old age assistance fund about $1,500,000.

Conferences Begun

As a member of a senate committee charged with preparing the major appropriation bills in advance of, or early in, the general session of the legislature which convenes next January, Redditt began conferences with heads of state departments to clarify for them a questionnaire on financial needs sent out by the committee.

Redditt said the five large appropriation bills, providing for the departments, educational institutions, eleemosynary institutions, the judiciary and rural school aid, probably would be ready by December 1 and would total not more than $55,000,000. The total for this biennium was about $60,000,000.

Other members of the committee which will draft the bills are A. M. Aiken, jr., of Paris, Morris Roberts of Pettus, C. Harold Beck of Texarkana and Vernon Lemens of Waxahachie.

Texan Opposes Licensing Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—Edward Clark, Texas secretary of state, denounced the Borah-O'Mahoney industrial licensing bill today as an "unjustifiable intrusion" of federal authority into state affairs.

Asserting that Texans "do not like to be regulated or controlled by anyone," Clark urged a senate judiciry sub-committee to disapprove the measure.

Would Cause Uncertainty

Its enactment, he contended, would "plunge business into chaos; cause a period of uncertainty which will result from endless litigation; strike fear into the hearts and minds of those engaged in production, mining, manufacturing and all other local business; and retard recovery and force men out of employment."

(The measure would require most corporations engaged in interstate commerce and some others to obtain federal licenses and comply with federal trade practice regulations as a condition of doing business.)

City Of Lubbock May Become 'Farmer Lubbock' In Future

City of Lubbock also may become "Farmer Lubbock" if plans now seriously considered are carried out.

This was disclosed at the city hall this morning with the announcement that nearly 450 acres of the city owned "Boles tract" southeast of the city limits has been grubbed, plowed and harrowed and is ready for a crop.

The land, which forms part of an area of approximately 800 acres, was bought by the city nearly a year ago for sewage disposal purposes. Sewage disposal so far as the land is concerned, it was explained, involves the provision of an area large enough on which water from the sewage disposal plant can be spread and absorbed without causing water logging and without creation of ponds or swamps which might be hazards to health. The water is filtered and treated before it is released from the sewage plast.

The Boles land, however, will not be utilized for sewage pur-

FDR Is Given Flat Refusal On Demand

Presidential Removal Or Suspension Is Virtual Certainty Today

(By The Associated Press)

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., March 22—Arthur E. Morgan announced today his flat refusal to meet President Roosevelt's request that he give "any reason" why he should not be removed as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority.

"I have no further statement to make, other than what I told the president yesterday," Morgan said, following his return to his Yellow Springs home.

Had Until 1:30 P. M.

President Roosevelt had given Morgan until 1:30 p. m. today to provide "any reason."

There were indications in Washington that if President Roosevelt did not hear from Morgan he might issue an executive order to remove the chairman.

Declines Comment

Morgan declined comment on what steps he would take in such an event. He said he planned to go to Chicago tomorrow and that his other plans were uncertain.

The chairman, storm center of a controversy involving the TVA, came here to obtain some old records, apparently for use in his controversy with his co-directors, David E. Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan.

Morgan Determined To Reveal Conditions

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Presidential removal or suspension of Arthur E. Morgan as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority became a virtual certainty today, despite the veteran engineer's challenge of the legality of such action.

After Morgan refused yesterday to resign or retract charges of dishonesty against his co-directors, President Roosevelt gave him until 1:30 p. m. (central standard time) today to present "any reason" why he should not be ousted.

No Indication Given

The TVA head, however, left last night for his home at Yellow Springs, Ohio, without communicating further with the president.

Mr. Roosevelt gave no advance indication of how he would proceed against Morgan. There was speculation on Capitol Hill that he might issue an executive order removing the chairman and then nominate his successor at once.

Such a course, observers pointed out, would force the senate to decide whether to support the ouster

Retention Of Tax On Profits Urged

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, appealed to the senate finance committee today to retain the undistributed profits tax.

He told the committee, in which a strong movement for repeal of the tax has been evident, "the treasury favors the retention of a tax upon undistributed corporate earnings as a means of equalizing the distribution of the total tax burden."

Under the tax revision bill passed by the house, Magill said, approximately 88 per cent of the 200,000 corporations which paid taxes in 1936 would be exempt from the undistributed profits tax. The house bill exempts corporations with incomes of less than $25,000 and Magill declared the house also had attempted to prevent hardships upon corporations both by specified exemptions and by lower rates.

The under secretary urged restatement in the bill of the special undistributed profits tax on closely-held corporations which was drafted by the house ways and means committee, but was stricken on the floor of the house.

He said the house ways and means committee's plan was designed "as a safeguard" against deliberate tax avoidance.

Scenes From "Night Of January 16" To Be At High School Auditorium Tonight

Did Karen Andre commit murder? A jury composed of members of the audience is to decided when "Night of January 16", two scenes of which are shown above, is presented at 8 o'clock tonight in Senior High school auditorium. Eron Gafford, Texas Technological college student from Panhandle, acting the part of the exotic Miss Andre, is questioned by her defense attorney, Lee Byrd from Claude, in the scene above, and in the scene to the left Noel Edgar Thompson of Lubbock, district attorney, attempts to prove she shot Bjorn Faulkner and shoved his body from a penthouse. John Harding, graduate student and instructor in business administration, sits as judge, and most other parts are taken by members of Sock and Buskin club of the college. Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the speech department of the college, is director.

Exotic Karen Andre To Go On Trial For Her Life In Sensational Murder Case Tonight; But It's Only Tech Dramatic Club Play

Exotic Karen Andre will go on trial for her life in a sensational murder case which will be the subject of a play, "Night of January 16," to be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in Senior High school auditorium. Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the speech department at Texas Technological college, is director.

Eron Gafford, speech student from Panhandle and newly elected president of the college Association of Women Students, plays the part of Karen Andre.

The district attorney, played by Noel Edgar Thompson of Lubbock, attempts to prove the defendant shot Bjorn Faulkner and pushed the body from the penthouse atop the Faulkner building, because of frustration upon Faulkner's marriage.

Members of the audience may triple the price of their tickets, if they are lucky enough to be chosen one of the jurors. Twelve members of the audience will be chosen and will be paid $1.50 each. Their verdict will determine the ending to the play. Persons willing to serve may leave their names with doormen.

John Harding, graduate student and instructor in business administration, will be the judge, and Lee Byrd, student from Claude, the defense attorney. Speech students and members of Sock and Buskin dramatic club make up the cast, for the most part.

Every effort will be made to make the play realistic. The curtain will not be lowered between acts. Policemen will walk up and down the aisles.

Comedy will be offered through testimony of Mrs. John Hutchins, negro, part played by Dorothy Nabers from Pecos; Magda Svenson, Swede, played by Mary Beth Whiteman from Brady; and the flirtatious Roberta Van Rensselaer, played by Maxine Mullican from Crisp.

Student activity tickets will admit students to the play. Admission price for others will be 50 cents.

Gigantic Nazi Propaganda Machine Is Mobilized For Plebiscite

itler To Seek ndorsement

(By The Associated Press)

ERLIN, March 22—The gigantic paganda machine of the Nazi ty was mobolized today for a rlwind campaign for the April plebiscite on Austrian-German on.

The goal is to achieve for Reichsührer Adolf Hitler an endorsement both Germany and her new vince that will be as close to 100 cent as possible.

Separate appeals by leaders of ious Nazi formations were fed in the afternoon press.

Goebbels To Open Drive

Each formation was commanded do its utmost during the campgn and ordered to report for eral muster Wednesday when paganda Minister Paul Joseph ebbels will fire the opening oratical gun in Deutschland hall.

The appeals were issued by Vik- Lutze for the brown-shirted rm troops; Heinrich Himmler for black-shirted S. S., or elite rd; Robert Ley, chief of the or front, for political organizers; jor General Adolph Huehnlein the Nazi motor corps; and jor General Friedrich Christian- organizer of the German air ce, for the Nazi aviator's corps. Throughout greater Germany, formations will listen as Goebbels' speech is broadcast. During ensuing days, party leaders will address mass meetings and Hitler himself will campaign, particularly in his native Austria.

Informed Nazis here and in Vienna predicted the new reichstag for greater Germany, also to be elected on April 10, would hold its first session in Vienna.

Problems of Germans in Czechoslovakia and other issues outside Germany, including possible moves in the Free City of Danzig and colonial demands, have been shelved for the time being.

Await Chamberlain Statement

The German press intimated Czechoslovakia, with her 3,500,000 Germans, would be made riper for reasonable consideration of German demands by statement to be made Thursday by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

What to do about Memel, formerly German but now Lithuania, is a problem that well may wait until Hitler sees how the Polish-Lithuanian situation develops, it was believed here.

Hitler is represented as thinking the Free City of Danzig ready of annexation at any time.

Demands for war-lost colonies as sources for supplies of raw materials were considered to have lost their urgency because of greater Germany's new economic position in central Europe.

Coffee was introduced into Europe by Venetian traders in 1615.

Ability Of Woman To Use Her Toes Gets Show Job

Remember buying your cigars and cigarets from a 42-inch woman the last few years, at a stand in the lobby of the courthouse?

She has gone to Sweetwater to join the T. J. Tidwell shows.

Nany Mae (Sis) Cook can do with her beringed toes what many persons cannot do with their normal hands. She has no hands, having been born without them.

Only last week, for instance, she made seven dresses.

"Sure, I made 'em on a sewing machine. I can pedal—just as well as you. I pedal with one foot and start and stop the wheel with the other. I use a fork for fingers, an ordinary table fork. I hold it between my chin and my shoulders."

"Sis" takes pride in her ability to crochet and cook and paint and, in general, do "anything as well as the next one." "I even trim my toenails and file and paint them," she said.

She has won numerous prizes at fairs for her needlecraft.

"Thread a needle?"

She laughed at that one, just as she did about the number of proposals she has received for marriage.

Backed Out On Marriage

"I manage both," she said, laughingly. "You ought to see that man from Mississippi and the one from Pecos. I made up my mind one time to marry and backed out at the last minute."

The 96-pound woman who possibly is known to as many persons in Lubbock as most of the bankers and other business men has trouble only with "cutting my steak," but, as on a trip to Chicago two years ago, "waiters also are glad to do that for me. They don't even wait for me to ask them."

She will build a home with money she expects to make with the shows, she said.

Quadruplets Are Running In Goat Family; Mary Is Expecting Third Set

ABILENE, March 22 (AP)—Mary had a little lamb.

Only it wasn't a lamb. It was a goat. And it wasn't one goat. It was four.

Mary Nisbett, assistant secretary-treasurer at Hardin-Simmons university, last year found herself the proprietor of a goat that had four little goats. Last week, another Nanny owned by the Nisbetts had kids, and instead of the usual two, there were again four.

Any livestock raiser will tell you they don't happen that way ordinarily. But you can't prove that to Mary Nisbett. Two of her goats have had quadruplets, and rumor has it that the Nanny that momma'd the first four is expecting another blessed event in May. And Mary is confidently awaiting the arrival of a third set of quadruplets.

Practical Is Winning Over Theoretical, Irvin Says

The pacrtical is replacing the theoretical in good teaching practice, an assembly of city school teachers was told by W. B. Irvin, city superintendent, at an assembly at Junior High school auditorium Monday afternoon.

Irvin has just returned from the convention at Atlantic City, N. J., of National Association of School Administrators. In his address, he gave the essence of statements by high school superintendents and college professors at the four-day meeting.

According to Irvin, there were no high sounding theories presented at the meeting. He emphasized that teachers should not be afraid of their jobs, but they should be interested in them.

Louisiana Proposes To Extend Coastal States' Sovereignty To 27 Miles At Sea

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., March 22—Louisiana suggests that coastal states extend their sovereignty from three miles out to sea to 27 miles.

Attorney General Gaston L. Porterie said an act bearing the endorsement of Governor Richard Leche would be placed before the Louisiana legislature fixing this state's gulfward boundary 24 miles further out in the Gulf of Mexico than the present three-mile limit.

To Ask Other States

Porterie said he would submit copies of the proposed act to other seacoast states for enactment.

Louisiana's proposal follows the navy's attempt to get congress to authorize the United States attorney general to litigate in an effort to obtain federal title to coastal lands and submerged petroleum deposits as naval oil reserves.

Porterie's contention is that coastal states ought to extend their sovereignty into the sea as a national defense precaution.

Distance Of Cannon Shot

"The three-mile boundary was so recognized as the seaward boundary of each sovereign state," he said, "because at the time it became so fixed three marine miles was the distance of a cannon shot and was considered the distance at which a state could make its authority effective on the sea by the use of artillery located on the shore.

"In modern times cannon have been improved to such an extent that now many cannon shoot 27 marine miles and more and by the use of artillery located on its shore a state can now make its authority effective at least 27 marine miles out to sea from low-water mark."

Four Events To Be Held At Tech On April 8 And 9

Calendar for April 8 and 9 at Texas Technological college includes four annual events.

They are: District Interscholastic League contests, engineering show, vocational agriculture contests, and home economics open house.

Ten thousand would be a conservative estimate of the number of persons who will visit the campus the two days. The league contests will attract contestants from 14 counties, as well as their teachers, parents and others. The agricultural contests will be open to agricultural students of West Texas schools, and the engineering show and home economics open house will be open to the public.

Connecticut Man Asks For Right To Bathe In His Own Back Yard; Up To Court

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—William Heller, Easton, Conn., asked the supreme court today to let him bathe in his own back yard.

One day in July, 1936, Heller bathed in Ball Wall brook, which flows through his 39-acre tract. He was arrested. The Fairfield county prosecutor said his bath was in violation of a Connecticut statute against bathing in reservoirs or streams tributary to them.

The stream in which Heller bathed flows, eventually, into a reservoir which supplies Bridgeport its drinking water.

Heller argued the law was not intended to cover bathing by the owner of the property through which streams flow, adding that, if it did, then it deprived him of his common law riparian right and violated the provisions of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution.

The state supreme court of errors decided, however, the act "strictly requires Heller to forego the privilege of bathing in Ball Wall brook as a recompense he must make for the rights he enjoys as a member of organized society."

The state tribunal instructed the trial court to record a conviction.

Republicans To Concentrate On Conquest Of House Seats

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — Directors of Republican efforts to wrest a sizable block of house seats from Democrats in the November election said they were concentrating on 113 congressional districts, principally in northern and eastern states.

Lawrence Sullivan, secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said that in 52 of these districts Republicans got within 5 percent of enough votes to win in 1936. In 61 districts, he said, they polled within 10 per cent of the winner's total.

Republicans now have 90 house seats, the smallest number in recent years. The Democrats have 327.

Vinnie Ream was the first woman to receive a federal art commission from the United States government. She executed the statue in the rotunda of the Capitol under this commission.

Fashion Show Is Scheduled

A fashion show in which co-eds will model 31 costumes will be conducted at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the lounge of the women's dormitory at Texas Technological college, Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head professor of clothing and textiles, announced Monday.

The fashion show will be open to town women as well as co-eds. Members of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary society for home economics students, will be hostesses and will serve as models.

Mrs. Huston, who is to arrive today, is a representative of the American Beinberg corporation, and the fashion show will feature clothing made from Bemberg yarn.

"Beachettes" composed of swim and play suits, negligees and all types of sport clothing, both active and spectator, dresses for a bridal party, and evening dresses will be among clothing shown. Mrs. Huston will furnish the dresses modeled and also accessories, including jewelry, and cosmetics.

White Sox Promise Battling Ball Club

Team To Be Fighting For Top Division

BY ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PASADENA, Calif., March 22 — The Chicago White Sox, who serve those bitter pills the Cubs have to swallow before and after each regular meal of the baseball season, are off to a late start this year, but promise to repeat the dose as soon as they hit their stride.

More important, the Sox, aided by the prospects of heavier hitting, hope to administer generously these pills of defeat to members of their own circuit, which is the American league.

To Be Fighting

Manager James Joseph (Jimmie) Dykes has spared not a sunshiny day whipping the Sox into shape, and issued his annual ultimatum that the Pale Hose "will be in there fighting in the first division this year."

To date, the Sox have dropped exhibition games to their rivals from Chicago, the Cubs, as well as to Pittsburgh and Los Angeles, but Dykes is not worried about these early spring setbacks.

Goat Or A Hero

Dykes, with the trading of Zeke Bonura for Joe Kuhel, stands to emerge as a goat or a hero during the coming campaign. If the ex-Washington first baseman fields as well as Jimmie expects, and hits as well in the pinches as Jimmie predicts, the loss of big Bonura may not be felt as much as some of Dykes' critics forecast.

Dykes, from all indications, plans to stand pat on virtually the same pitching staff which was rated the second best in the league last year. The hurlers are rounding into shape, and even Long John Whitehead, the non-talkative one, is down to a mere 205 or so.

Owen And Walker Present

Included among the new faces the Sox will present in other departments are Marvin Owen and Gerald Walker, late of the Detroit Tigers. Owen has fielded up to expectations —he led the league at third base with a .970 average last year, and Dykes hopes he will boost his batting above the .288 mark of 1937.

Walker hit .335 last year and looked so well during the early days of spring training that Rip Radcliff cut short his holdout crusade and hurried into camp, for fear he might not find a berth open in the outfield.

Glenn Cunningham To Try For New Record In Mile

LOS ANGELES, March 22 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, America's middle-distance ace, has accepted an invitation to try for a new world record in a mile run at the Los Angeles coliseum on April 24, it was announced today.

Johnny Bain, secretary of the local soccer league, said he had received Cunningham's acceptance and Sydney Wooderson of England, official holder of the mile record, also may enter the event.

The proposed mile race is to be a feature of the international soccer football game here between the London Corinthians and the Los Angeles league champions.

AFTER FOURTH TITLE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 22 (AP)—Tradition and an exasperating three-way "Jinx" threaten defending titleholder Joe Platak's quest for his fourth National A.A.U. handball championship.

The larruping Lithuanian from Chicago's South Side readily admitted as competition got under way today that he had a busy week ahead of him.

Platak has held the title three years—hence the tradition angle. No handball champion ever has come up with the crown a fourth consecutive time.

AIMING FOR TITLE

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP) — Jimmy Caras, young Wilmington, Del., expert, who won the world pocket billiards championship in 1935, aims for the title again tonight when he meets Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia in the final match of a round robin playoff series.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MARCH 22, 1938

A. A. U. Boxers Off For Dallas

Four Fighters To Compete In State Meet

Four boxers, representing the Lubbock Amateur Athletic union district, were to leave at noon today for Dallas to compete in the Southwestern A. A. U. tournament. Winners at Dallas go directly to Boston, Mass., for the national A. A. U. tournament.

While eight champions were designated here, half the number elected not to enter the Southwestern tournament for various reasons. Bob Ritchie, who defeated John Buck for the light heavyweight title, is ill; Ed Morrison, Texas Tech boy who won the middleweight division, can not leave classes, and Tommy Coats, featherweight, is staying away for the same reason.

Billy Bates, flyweight champion, and Lloyd Henry, welterweight title winner here, both of Slaton; John Buck, Morton, who'll compete in the middleweight class, and Pete Nachlinger, winner over Jack Lovin for the lightweight crown, and Assistant Tournament Director Bundock will leave today. The heavyweight winner here, Leroy Davis of Shattuck, Oklahoma, is competing in a tournament at Hobbs.

Chicago Golden Glovers Win From New Yorkers

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Chicago's Golden Glovers turned homeward today with another victory added to the Windy City's skein in the annual inter-city ring competition.

The team of champions, nominally from Chicago but really the product of a half dozen states, trimmed the New York team, drawn from the East, at Madison Square garden last night, nine matches to seven, the first time in the history of the competition that a visiting team won.

Vet Coach Defends Spring Training

PALO ALTO, Calif., March 22 (AP) —Glenn Scobey Warner, Temple university football coach, jumped to the defense of spring football practice today.

The annual routine has come in for some criticism recently. The other day a group of Eastern colleges decided to do away with such workouts.

Warner commented that for over a month he had been hearing from Fred Swan, his Temple assistant, that the "players can hardly wait for spring practice to begin."

"Ninety per cent of the boys on the football squads do not participate in other college sports," Warner said. Football coaches do not try to discourage them from entering the regular spring sports, but the fact remains that few of them are interested in any sport except the gridiron game.

"And why shouldn't they have an opportunity to improve themselves in that sport and get some outdoor exercise in the spring?"

LONGHORNS DEFEATED

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP)—A two-run rally in the ninth inning fell short here Monday and the University of Texas Longhorns lost 8 to 7 to Oklahoma university in the first of a two-game baseball series.

Of Golf Bugs—And Lice

By Collier Parris

THERE ARE Golf bugs AND golf bugs.

The former are the popular species of guys and dolls who walk around courses swinging happily and more or less effectively at the little ball. The latter are the bugs against whom man is engaged in eternal fight.

The keeper of the greens on any course is forever fighting down weeds and bugs, mowing and manicuring the delicate putting surfaces with all the care a scrub nurse takes in a major operation. The work is endless, from day to day, week to month, any time of the year. There must be just so much topsoil, just a certain amount of fertilizer, not too much water, but enough, and extreme care is taken in these things.

At Lubbock Country club, everybody has worked hard to grow and nourish the new grass greens with their tender sprouts. Charles Akey, the pro-manager, practically stays up nights with them the year round, and a corps of workers stalk from green to green daily, taking the temperature and feeling the pulse of the young things, hand picking the weeds and bugs — but there's one bug they can't catch, or hadn't caught at a late hour yesterday.

This particular bug, a germ in mentality, a louse in behavior, has been driving his automobile around and around over one of the greens, rendering it very impractical for putting purposes and putting in ugly dents and circles that will require years of patient dressing to erase.

This louse, or one like him, fixed up the No. 5 green two years ago like that, and the tracks are plainly visible today. The No. 4 green, wrecked Sunday night, is in worse shape, and will require much longer to be playable and beautiful.

We can conceive of no lower form of human being than that which trespassed on the private property and bedevilled that green. Not content with plowing deep tire furrows over the soft space, where even light mowing machines are equipped with soft rubber wheels when mowing is done, the grass louse ran his, or their, car over the flag pin, breaking it off flush with the top of the cup, and battered down a fairway marker.

He is practically the same kind of louse as that which broke into the ball park office and store room recently, breaking off two strong locks and ransacking the place of all baseball equipment and grounds keeping tools. For his information, he overlooked a half pound of eight penny nails in the tool room. The $175 worth of bats, balls, gloves, catcher's equipment and other items, we trust, will enable him to win a lot of ball games this season.

You'd think, maybe, we had a grouch on this afternoon, or that this is the police report. But we contend that's something to justify a grouch.

There are brighter things, however, to be considered.

Four of the District AAU boxing champs, named last Friday night, are off for Dallas this afternoon. They start the Southwestern A.A.U. tournament tomorrow — and there's a chance we may have a winner there. Half the team withdrew because of pressing school duties, illness and other plans, but the four going down—Billy Bates and Lloyd Henry of Slaton, John Buck of Morton and Crosbyton, and Wayne Penn of Lubbock—are some scrappers.

Buck, who lost to Bob Ritchie in the light heavyweight class, is going down as an alternate middleweight. He weighed only 163 last Friday night, to Ritchie's 174, and he can take off another pound or two and make the middleweight class. He's likely to get somewhere. He'll be defending his title, for one thing, and that should spur him on. All he needs is more offensive. He is too much of a waiting fighter. He gets outpointed, but rarely hurt, because his defense is well nigh perfect.

Best bet, however, may be Lloyd Henry, the Slaton Slasher. Henry looked mighty good the other night, and he hasn't been fighting long, either. This year that is. Billy Bates, who took the best of the flyweights to cleanings, may give Slaton something else to remember him by down at Dallas this week. He's an aggressive little dickens, and we look for him to get places.

Wayne Penn, the C.C.C. boy, looked 100 per cent better in last week's fighting than he did in the Golden Gloves, and the little featherweight may have what it takes when the gang gets to Big D.

COACH J. W. JACKSON believes he's "got something there" at Texas Tech in the way of a golf team, although we dislike thinking about golf just now.

Captained by Manson Allen, the "Little Sled" of Lubbock athletics, the Red Raider golfers, now indulging in the school championship tournament at Meadowbrook, are sharpening their games for Southwest and Border conference foes in a schedule that is typical of Texas Tech athletic schedules—intersectional and tough.

First on the card is a tiff with the West Texas State Teachers college team here April 10, after which the Raider golfers go on the road for eight team matches and the Border conference tournament.

Lindsey Telford, a mite of a man with a giant of a wallop, winner of the Border conference singles championship last year, will be gunning for it again. He is ranked second on the team, behind Allen, with Jack Carlson of Brownwood at third and John Bell of Lubbock fourth, right now. Donald Doherty, of the Meadowbrook Dohertys, Ford Sturdivant of Big Spring and Rufus Ryan of Lubbock High and Dallas are on the squad.

The Techs play T.C.U., Texas A. & M., University of Texas and possibly S.M.U. on the schedule, along with Texas Wesleyan, Clovis Country club and a return match at Canyon with the West Texas Buffs.

At the last report, Telford and Bob Hale were leading the qualifiers in the Tech student tournament with medals of 69 each, one under par.

We'll be seein' ya about Sunday.

Insects devour one-tenth of the world's crops.

Telford, Hale Leading Tech Golf Tourney

Lindsey Telford and Bob Hale, both of Lubbock, were leading early qualifiers yesterday in the annual Texas Tech student championships golf tournament at Meadowbrook with 18-hole medal scores of 69 each.

The tourney is sponsored by the Toreador, student newspaper, and valuable prizes are offered by Lubbock merchants.

Banging out 69's Telford and Hale were established as favorites after the first day's play. Manson Allen was second, one stroke behind the leaders. Donald Doherty, defending champion, was left in the wake, succumbing to a 78 score, for seventh place among nine qualifyers.

Qualifying rounds last until Friday night, and it is expected that a large number of students will have turned in scores by that time.

Other qualifiers and their scores were: John Bell, 74; Rufus Ryan, 75; J. D. Webster, 74; Bobby Watson, 87, and J. H. Wilson, 90.

Schedule for the Texas Tech niblick brigade was announced Monday by Prof. J. W Jackson, coach. Opening engagement will be against West Texas State Teachers college here April 10, with a return match at Canyon May 22 to conclude the spring card.

Raider golfers will compete in the Border conference tilts at Tempe, Ariz., May 13 and 14. Other matches probably will be scheduled en route to the conference tournament, Jackson said.

Remainder of the schedule follows:

Clovis Country club, April 17.

Texas Christian university at Ft. Worth, April 21.

Texas Wesleyan college at Fort Worth, April 22.

Texas A. and M. at College Station, April 25.

Texas university at Austin, April 28.

Four lettermen from the 1937 team are back this year with Allen as captain. Telford, Border conference champ last year; Jack Carlson, and Bell are others. Doherty, John Sturdivant, newcomer from Big Spring, and possibly Ryan will be available for intercollegiate play.

Golfers Tuning Up For North-South Open Tourney

By EDDIE BRIETZ

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—Down here in God's country (to this author, anyway) the sun shines brightly as they get ready for another North and South open golf tournament. . . . One of the niftiest fields on record is tuning up for the classic which opens tomorrow. . . . Dick Metz is the favorite. . . . From here the boys will move over to Greensboro for a three-day tourney with $5,000 as prize money. . . . It will be played over two courses—exclusive Sedgefield and the public course, Starmont.

Dope from the coast is Joe DiMaggio can hardly wait to get to St. Pete'. . . and at $25,000 if that's any news to Col Ruppert. . . . Nick Altock, clown of the Washington Senators, is in his 40th major league training camp and still is the pet of Dixie. . . . No matter what you think of him, Max Baer is in a position to do a little dictating in heavyweight circles. . . . And don't you think he won't.

Judge To Talk Soon

Judge Landis will have plenty to say soon. . . . Nice of the boys to honor Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds and in this book one of the three smartest pilots in the two big leagues. . . . There is absolutely no truth in the rumor (going the rounds in the South) that Tom Yawkey is con-

Grimes Given New Hopes By MacPhail's Co-operation

(Fourth of a series from the spring training camps.)

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 22 — The most important addition to the Brooklyn boys this spring?

Dolph Camilli?

Leo Durocher?

"No, sir-ee," says Burleigh Grimes. "The biggest improvement in the Brooklyn club this trip is Larry MacPhail."

Now, Larry MacPhail can't hit, run, or throw strikes from center field, nor is Burleigh Grimes simply flattering his new general manager. Boiling Boily is fully as tactful as Dizzy Dean. Old Wire Whiskers always has said exactly what he meant, no matter how painful.

"MacPhail gives a guy something to work with," asserts Grimes.

Refers To Finances

The Dodger director refers to MacPhail's so quickly satisfying the great right-hander, Van Lingle Mungo, and obtaining Camilli from the Phillies.

The sum paid the Philadelphia outfit for the first baseman is variously estimated, $20,000 being the lowest figure and $75,000 the highest. The Brooklyn club is so hard pressed financially that it is suspected that it shortly will be sold. I asked Grimes where MacPhail got the money.

"He's a Houdini," replied Boiling Boily.

Counts On Durocher

Brooklyn finished sixth last term with the poorest kind of a defense. A bad arm rendered Mungo useless after July. Buddy Hassett, Cookie Lavagetto, Al Butcher, and Joe Stripp were out for protracted periods.

Grimes gave the St. Louis Cardinals four athletes who weren't doing him any good — Stripp, Johnny Cooney, Jimmy Bucher, and Roy Henshaw — for one he believes will make his infield — Durocher.

Still Finest Fielder

Leo Durocher still is the finest fielding shortstop in the business, despite a miserable year at bat in 1937. Durocher hit .286 in 1936, and his having another such year easily might take the Dodgers a long, long way.

His success with the veteran Heinie Manush in 1937 prompted Grimes to sign another oldtimer, Kiki Cuyler, who is to start in center field. As he schooled Augie Galan in Chicago, Cuyler now is instructing Hassett in leftfielding, to which the agile first baseman of the Bronx has been forced by the acquisition of Camilli.

Lavagetto Found Himself

Lavagetto found himself at third base at the fag end of last season, and with young Pete Coscarart, a flossy fielder from the Portland Coasters, at second, Grimes sees his defense increasing the efficiency of his pitchers to a considerable degree.

Posedel Looks Promising

With the soreness out of his arm, Mungo is the perfect bellwether. Luke Hamlin, Max Butcher, and George Jeffcoat round out the Big Four at the moment, with wise old heads, Waite Hoyt, Freddie Fitzsimmons, and Fred Frankhouse ready to step in.

Others on the staff are Bill Posedel, Forrest Pressnell, Walt Signer, Charley Marrow, Jack Kimball, and Alta Cohen, the only left-hander.

Winner On Coast

Posedel bagged 45 games for the Portland Coasters in two campaigns. Pressnell, Signer, Marrow, who stands six feet four, and Cohen are out of the American Association. Signer, hurt in 1937, led the New York - Pennsylvania League in effectiveness in 1936. Kimball had a good year with Elmira.

The giant Babe Phelps' hitting would cover a multitude of sins behind the bat, but the truth is that the mighty Marylander is a fair sort of backstop. Roy Spencer is an excellent handler of pitchers, and there are worse catchers than Paul Chervinko, the former Illinois footballer.

English Is Utility

Camilli was the slickest fielding first baseman in the National League last season, and 11 of his 27 home runs were swatted away from the handy right field wall of Baker Bowl.

Because he is the only extra hand who can play second base, Woody English is assured the infield utility role. Red Brown and Johnny Hudson, who hit .292 for Louisville, will fight it out for the other extra infield position. George Fallon, up from Elmira, and Berthold Haas, brought in from Clinton, require further seasoning.

Holds Hopes For Winsett

Grimes hopes to have six fellows hitting .300 or more in his batting order at all times, and intends to switch his outfielders to meet the opposition's pitching. He has the left-hand hitters, Manush, Hassett, Jack Winsett, and Goodwin Rosen, who hit .312 for Louisville, and the right-hand batters, Cuyler, and Gil Brack.

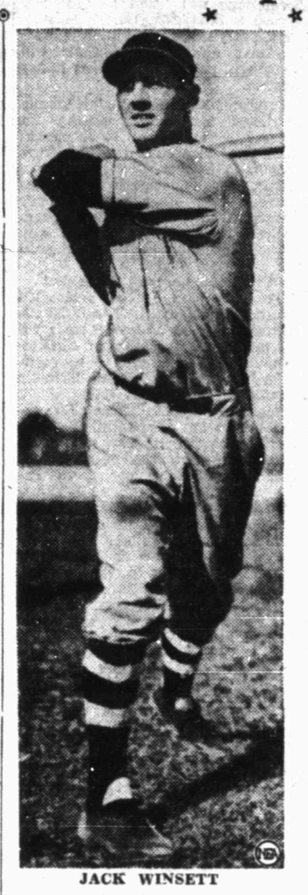

George Cisar, up from Clinton, and Art Parks, in from Elmira, have yet to establish themselves as major league hitters.

So has Winsett, the $40,000 buy of 1937, but Grimes hasn't given up the big Tennessean who manufactured 50 home runs for Columbus in 1936.

"Winsett could bat us into the first division," remarked Old Wire whiskers, as Long Jack smacked the sphere 500 feet over the center field wall at Brooklyn Park here.

Winsett took too many good pitches last season, and may yet live up to his AA reputation if Grimes can convince him that a ball player can't get a hit with his bat on his shoulder.

Northern Rhodesia plans to celebrate in 1940 the centenary of David Livingstone's landing in South Africa.

American Cotton Manufacturers Oppose Any Reductions In Tariffs

ollapse' Seen r Industry

(By The Associated Press)

ASHINGTON, March 22—Amer- cotton manufacturers declare a tion of tariffs on cotton goods l "ruin" their industry and re" domestic cotton growers.

udius T. Murchison, president e Cotton Textile Institute, told nment tariff experts Monday concessions on duties in the osed Anglo-American recipro- rade agreement would lead to plete collapse" of the industry.

Several Ask Increases

veral of the witnesses before the nitte for reciprocity informa- demanded that tariffs be in- ed, not lowered.

ayor Edward A. Coffey of Salem, ., asked postponement of ne- tions. He said "England will advantage of any tariff con- ons with her lower labor costs Indian cotton to flood our ket with goods."

behalf of Mississippi cotton ers, Representative Whitting- (D-Miss) asked the committee keep in mind the growers as as the manufacturers. We don't to hurt the mills because we'll the cotton market."

Others Oppose Reductions

epresentative Bullwinkle (D- and Bates (R-Mass) also op- d tariff reductions.

urchison, representing 80 per of the nation's cotton mills, tariff concessions would "com- displacement of American textile r."

bout 80,000 of the country's 460,- textile workers, he added, were mployed and the remainder were king only about two-thirds of nal time.

Proof In Agreement

e declared that "proof of the ent tariff inadequacy" was the that "up until a year ago we e helpless against imports from Far East."

his situation, he testified, was edied by a voluntary agreement ween American and Japanese ufacturers to limit Japanese im- s.

ussell T. Fisher, president of the ional Association of Cotton ufacturers, representing north- mills, declared "we have seen t happens when labor costs in section of the country are ap- iably above those of another, it takes little imagination to dict the effect of foreign compe- on where wages are a fraction of wage that caused this tremend- liquidation in the north."

e attributed from 1923 to 1935 37 mills in New England employ- about 133,600 persons to "over- acity of the industry and as a re- of this the mills in the sections h lower labor costs were in a ition to take the business."

isher said tariff reductions would mit the farmer to purchase cot- goods more cheaply, but would e for him a domestic market t pays over $250,000,000 in an- al wages."

MAKES JOE LOOK GOOD

T. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Tommy nrich is making Joe McCarthy k very good these days. There re some doubts as to whether New York Yankees' manager guessed right when he gave mmy the right-field job made nous by Babe Ruth, but in yes- day's game with Cincinnati Hen- h cut off a runner heading for rd with a fine throw, made a ctacular catch of a short fly and two singles.

SHOWING MORE POWER

BATON ROUGE — Bill Terry, w York Giants' manager, is high- pleased with his club's exhibi- n performances. The team is owing more power at the plate than last year, even though Mel Ott hasn't hit his stride, Harry Danning and Hank Leiber are doing real power hitting and Jimmy McCarthy is sending some long drives into left center.

Goes Nazi

The completeness of Hitler's Austrian coup is demonstrated in the picture above, showing the swastika flying beneath the Austrian national flag at the Austrian Embassy in Washington. Austria's Minister Edgar L. G. Prochnik tried not to lose any time following orders from the Vienna Foreign Office to display the Nazi emblem, but swastikas are scarce in Washington. After scouring the city, he had to borrow this "made in Germany" one from the Reich Embassy.

Legalized Trial Marriage Is Sought Here But law Allows No Time Limit

Legalized trial marriage was the wish of a Mexican couple her Monday, but County Clerk Ed D. Allen said they are out of luck. The law wouldn't let him issue a time-limit marriage license if he wanted to.

"What would it cost me to get a marriage license for six months?" the swain asked a Lubbock lawyer Monday.

Reasonably sure that matrimony still is "for better or for worse . . . until death do ye part," the lawyer asked at the county clerk's office if such arrangement might be made. Assuring the 23-year-old Mexican law had not made such elastic rules for marriage, he inquired of the reason.

"I am going to stay here only six more months," the man replied. "Then I am going to leave, and the girl does not want to go where I'm going.

"So I would like to get married with her for six months."

The girl was willing, but late Monday they were still unmarried.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Although he probably won't play against the New York Yankees today, Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn first baseman who came to terms only yesterday, says he'll be ready to play soon. "I'll play any minute Burleigh Grimes says to get in," he remarked.

BETTER and better telephone service, at lower cost to the user, has been for years the goal of the men who head the telephone company. Their efforts, linked with those of every other telephone worker, have brought this result, among others: today most new telephones are put in the day you need them.

In 1926 it took 10 days to get a telephone after you ordered it. Today 98 out of every 100 are installed the day customers need them . . . usually the next day.

Quit wishing for a LaSalle . . . and get one!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD of a quarter of a million people who are now wishing they owned a LaSalle might just as well be driving one!

These people believe they can't afford LaSalle. Yet—they paid as much for their cars as a new LaSalle costs. And they save nothing on upkeep and operating costs—for LaSalle is recognized as the world's most economical fine car.

Surely, we speak only common sense when we say that the man who pays the price of a LaSalle ought to get a LaSalle.

So check over your motor car investment. If you have been paying above a thousand dollars for your motor cars—make your next one a LaSalle. You're entitled to it, and you might as well have it!

That Girl on Broadway says for most of us, one mill that never fails to operate on full and overtime is the treadmill.

When a young married man gets sick, his mother usually blames it on his bride's cooking.

MOST important national question of the day: How much longer can we continue to pay the fiddler by giving him drafts on our grandchildren?

Judging from recent events across the pond, about all that's left of the League of Nations is the idea—and it never was a good one!

* * *

GOVERNOR Allred carefully refrained, in his "I do not choose to run" statement, from "coming out" for any of the candidates who seek to succeed him.

That was a wise move, especially at this time.

If the governor had attempted to dictate his successor in his "abdication speech", the latter would not have been nearly so forceful or well received.

Do not expect the governor to pursue a "hands off" policy throughout the campaign, however.

In the first place, he is not the type to sit and watch events flow by; he likes to have a part in making and shaping them.

And in the second place, according to all reports from Austin, Governor Allred is so much opposed to Attorney-General McCraw that he will try to move heaven and earth—if necessary—to keep the Dallas man out of the mansion.

THE governor will be "out" for Ernest Thompson, if information The Plainsman gets from Austin is at all correct.

If Mr. Allred is not on the stump for the Amarillo man, he will be helping behind the scenes and his political machine will be geared as much as possible to help Thompson and hurt McCraw.

At least that's the way everybody in Austin is guessing, including a number of close friends of the governor, of Thompson—and of McCraw.

First tipoff on the setup came Saturday night, in connection with the governor's speech, when Myron Blalock announced from his Marshall home that he would personally head up the Thompson campaign.

Lawyer Blalock is one of the state's most powerful politicians. He is chairman of the state Democratic Executive committee. His hand engineered the Allred victories of 1936 and 1934 and he "knows all the answers."

If Mr. Blalock's great and good friend Governor Allred were not for Thompson, we doubt that Mr. Blalock would have accepted the chairmanship of Thompson's drive. It is to be noted that although it has been rumored for months that Blalock would run Thompson's campaign, Blalock himself did not publicly agree to do so until it became certain that the governor would not be out for a third term.

CHARLES Caldwell Watson, jr., of The Avalanche-Journal staff, is back from a week's visit to his old home country in Bell county. He reports that it's already "the good, old summertime" down there.

All types of trees have leaved down in Central Texas and fruit is already fairly good-sized—almost half grown, he says.

Lawns are uniformly green and a guy can "work up a sweat" in a hurry, Editor Watson reports.

Believe it or not, Mr. Watson is an alumnus of Baylor-Belton.

He was a "day student" there a few years ago when his father had a newspaper in Belton—one of about 15 boys in a total student body of 1,500. Naturally, he looked over his Alma Mammy while there.

He ran into Dr. J. C. Hardy, president emeritus of what used to be Baylor-Belton—but which now officially is Mary Hardin-Baylor college. Doctor Hardy wanted to know all about Texas Tech and hazarded the opinion that the college here before long would pass A. & M. in enrollment and would, in the years to come, be challenging the University of Texas for "largest in Texas" honors.

SOMEONE once said "It is possible to be so close to the fire that you can't see it for the smoke."

That statement might be applied to those of us who live in Lubbock and environs and concerning McKenzie state park here.

Quoting officials of the state parks system in Austin, the Associated Press the other day said:

"McKenzie park at Lubbock is looked upon by the State Park board as something of a model for new sites it may receive."

That's a nice compliment, not only for the park and Lubbock, but also for the many local people who have worked hard to make McKenzie park outstanding.

IT has been several weeks now since there was considerable of a hullaballoo going on over improvement of traffic conditions, but aside from the fact that a new ordinance was drawn up and placed into effect nothing else seems to have been done.

There was talk about new lights at various and sundry busy and dangerous intersections; a system of boulevards blocked by stop-signs, and numerous other innovations. But judging from the way the subject has been shelved and forgotten, all that talk was just so much conversation.

Will there ever be any action on this question?

It looks doubtful!

There is, however, a silver lining to a part of the traffic problem.

That is the new five-mile paving project started by the city and which, when completed, will be a great thing for every resident who has any considerable amount of 'round-town driving to do.

MOST important angle to the paving program is that when finally finished it will do a lot toward eliminating traffic at two dangerous "bottle necks" on Nineteenth street—the one when Nineteenth intersects with College and the other where Nineteenth intersects with Avenue Q.

Completion of the paving now under way will give the motorist a choice of several different routes into the growing and expanding residential section in the Southwest part of town. And thus there will be less traffic jamming up at Nineteenth and College and Nineteenth and Q.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.

JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.

CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday: Jerry and Banks arrive at Clitte's cove and strangely they observe Clitte locking his cabin door after him!

CHAPTER XIX

Polly Chelsey, locked away in the dreary cabin of the smuggler's boat, was finding the choppy voyage almost unbearable. She was frightened and on the verge of being seasick. Moreover she was angry with fate for winning for her the unwelcome and dangerous attention of the smuggler.

It was bad enough for him to discover her youth. But for him to suspect her of being a French aristocrat stealing home was worse. Polly, like everyone else, had heard those stories (unfortunately true) of "Bourbons" who had tried to slip back into France to recover money and jewels they had buried there before their escape. It was good sport for the rabble to catch these unfortunate in their rash and desperate efforts and seize the property themselves. This smuggler who was obviously of low French blood (mixed with evil Scotch) evidently thought he had caught just such a bird in his cage. Bad luck indeed for Polly.

To Nuisance, lying on her feet, she cried out impatiently: "You're the cause of this, you horrid little beast! But for your barking I'd not have lost my wig!"

The little dog looked so ashamed and hurt at her sharp voice and accusing face that she broke into a relenting laugh. "Poor Nuisance! You're only an ignorant little dog. I mustn't blame you." Her fingers absently scratched his grateful head while her thoughts went winging after her heart.

"Jerry!" she murmured. "Jerry Whitfield! We're both in such a plight! I doubt we'll live to meet."

She was accustomed now to the relief and joy of knowing he had not deserted her, since all ecstasy has a way of becoming accepted happiness, no longer to be wondered at. Jerry loved her, she knew, but this was no longer enough. She wanted to be physically near him, touching him, feeling his lips on hers, laughing and quarreling with him, planning for tomorrow. She wanted to experience again the blessed protection of his big strong body at her side. In danger she had met him. In danger they had come together and discovered their love. How could she endure danger now without him?

She arose and tugged frantically at the unyielding cabin door then walked to a porthole that gave, quite high, onto a portion of the deck. By climbing onto the smuggler's sea chest she was able to look out. Dawn was breaking, and she could see the sailors like gray ghosts on a phantom ship.

Then she was gripped in a wonder so intense that it weakened her. She clutched at the frame of the porthole to keep from falling while her eyes stared and strained through the dawn. . . .

Two men leaned against the lugger's mast. One of them was short and slight and unknown. One of them was Jerry Whitfield.

She called out to him, wildly, but her voice was lost in the rush of the wind and the slap of the canvas. Before she could form his name again he moved away, out of range of her vision. The slender man with him turned toward the porthole, stared for a moment and moved away after Jerry. He had not heard her voice, nor could he have seen anything at the dim porthole but a woman's face framed in disheveled hair, yet Polly sensed in the very turn of his wirey body that he was momentarily surprised.

They were gone now, as if they had never been, and Polly clung there while the dawn lifted, willing Jerry to return, fearful that she was delirious and had dreamed this thing.

Cabell Banks followed Jerry to leeward and they leaned against a bulkhead while they smoked a pipe of tobacco. Jerry said, "I've a feeling France is close. Just over there."

Cabell nodded. "We'll see land when the mist lifts." After a long silence he said, "There's a woman on board this tub."

Jerry turned quickly to look at him. "How do you know?"

"Saw her through a porthole. She's in the cabin. Seemed to belong there. Clitte's woman, I presume."

They smoked for a few minutes and then Jerry said shortly: "Take me to where you saw her."

The face was still framed there, rather wildly, when they approached. Banks heard Jerry say, "God in Heaven! It's Polly!" He saw the tense face at the cabin window turn into a thing of beauty and incredulous delight, and he knew he was present at a sort of miracle—the miracle of restoration and answered prayer. He walked a little apart and turned his back while he looked at the gray sea catching the rising sun. He felt happy for his friend, and suddenly a little lonely . . .

Jerry was saying to Polly, "Let me in!" And Polly was answering, "I can't, my darling, the door's locked. McGean has the key."

"Why are you locked in, Polly?"

"I came aboard as an old woman. I had on a gray wig, Jerry, and walked with a stick. . . . And look at these clothes! Aren't they too awful? Aren't they hideous?"

"Yes! Yes, Polly love! But why are you locked in?" He spoke frantically, for he saw she was not thinking of danger, only of their amazing reunion. "Tell me everything, Polly! Quick!"

"Oh, yes. Well, Nuisance barked and I slapped him and lost my wig. And I looked up and there was that smuggler standing in the door, staring at me. He said, 'So you're a young one, after all!' . . . Then he tied on a striped silk head scarf and said his name was Jean Clitte and he was French, but not my kind. Tell me Jerry." Polly paused to giggle, "do I look like one of Marie Antionette's cousins?"

Jerry laughed, softly and ardently, but with uneasiness too. "You look better than that to me." She seemed so young and reckless standing there, her beautiful features smudged childishly, her shorn hair curling about her face, her eyes shining. No wonder the smuggler had read adventure in Polly Chelsey's face and wanted her for himself.

Jerry said sternly, "Go away out of sight, Polly and stay till we come back to get you. I must make a plan. . . . That man over there is my friend, Cabell Banks from Boston. We escaped together from a British ship at Ramsgate—"

He stopped, confused. "You knew I was taken by a press gang, Polly? . . . You got that girl's letter?"

"Yes," said Polly, "or I'd not be beaming at you now. I'd be hating you. I'm no angel of forgiveness. Remember, Jerry? You told me once I was nobody's angel."

"There must have been days when you did hate me?" Jerry speculated. "Before you got the letter?"

"There were. I can't bear to think of them, I suffered so. I must say you were an awful fool, darling, to go out in the dark to help a pretty woman you didn't know. . . . Could you reach up and kiss me now?"

He could and did. Until Cabell Banks cleared his throat and sang out, "Land, ho!" and brought them to their senses.

Cabell came up to them then and Jerry introduced them to one another with ridiculous ceremony, considering the circumstances. Cabell remarked, "It seems to me I've heard of you somewhere, Miss Chelsey," in his dryly comic way.

"What did you hear?" Polly asked. "That I'm flighty and jealous? That I once spoke to a strange young man on the street?"

Jerry said, "Get away out of sight now, Polly. There's no time to be bantering. We'll come back to you." He saw that she considered all her troubles over, now that he had come. He must justify her faith.

ANOTHER EDGE TO THE MEXICAN SWORD

Mexico's "expropriation" — which means about the same thing as seizure without payment—of foreign owned oil property may be attended by greater danger to our own peace than we may realize.

That does not suggest, of course, that we may go to war with our Southern neighbor because of the latest action by President Cardenas. Not so many years ago there likely would have been much flag waving and much talking about the sancity of everything American. But now there is no power within the United States which could force an intervention to rescue the dollars of dear old Standard Oil and similar corporations.

But Cardenas has seized the holdings of British and other foreign concerns as well as those of the United States. That, of course, is as it should have been if he were bound to do some seizing. He could have shown no discrimination. What, now, if Britain or some other nation would be less patient than we? What if they should attempt to force Mexico's course of action?

In view of our Monroe doctrine, other powers could place us in a position which, to describe it mildly, would be ticklish.

A Thought . . .

He that wasteth his father and chaseth away his mother is a son that causeth shame, and bringeth reproach.—Proverbs 19, 26.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 22—All over the lot: Norma Shearer is demonstrating an unsuspected talent—screaming. When she cuts loose, the rafters quiver, and so do the nerves of people on the set. The stark horror in her scream might almost freeze the molten carbon in the arc lights.

Miss Shearer and Robert Morley, as Marie Antoinette and King Louis XVI, are in a dingy cell of the Prison of La Force. Antoinette's good friend, the Princess de Lamballe (Anita Louise) had been imprisoned with them, but she is missing now. There is a great outcry from the mob in the street and the phlegmatic Louis peers out between the bars. "Do not look," he says. "It is only the guard."

But Antoinette does look—and screams. For what she sees in the street is a gristly object which members of the mob are carrying on a pike. The object is the head of the princess.

A New Star

Even at this stage of the production, Morley seems assured of subsequent stardom—if he wants it. He's a successful English stage actor and playwright, and Broadway will see him next autumn in the title role of "Oscar Wilde" which he created in London. So Morley isn't acknowledging any screen plans just now, and his Metro contract expires in June.

Morley is a large man who looks much like Charles Laughton. He has the same deceptively soft look about him, and the same soft, measured delivery of lines. It was for the most important male role in "Marie Antoinette," a part originally intended for Laughton, that he came all the way from London at his own expense for a screen test. He not only got the job but also got the role of Gamin for his rotund friend and play-producer, Peter Bull.

A soldier's son and college graduate, Morley tried selling vacuum cleaners before he went into the theater so successfully. He regards his career very seriously now; indeed, he has no other interests. He isn't married, has no hobbies, and abhors exercise.

Epics Exit

"Marie Antoinette," a $2,500,000 picture, will be one of the last of the epics. Such films, however worthy, just don't make money. Recent big musicals also have made disappointing returns. Metro will go ahead with "Sweethearts," for Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, but there will be no more Broadway Melodies for a few years.

The screen trend is toward shorter films, less talk and more action. A good example will be "Northwest Passage," which W. S. Van Dyke will make as soon as he finishes directing "Marie Antoinette." Van Dyke scarcely can talk of anything but the pioneer story, which will be done in color. It'll be full of Indians," he says excitedly. "Hundreds of Indians, and wait till you get a load of those guys in color!"

Cluttered Room

Most movie sets are overdressed so that their characters may be quickly identified to the audiences' eyes, but the most cluttered one I've ever seen is the laboratory of "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse." The room is pack-jammed with retorts, beakers, burners, twisted tubing, bottles, stands, microscopes, test tubes and books. Any real scientist would go crazy in such a place, and the most amazing thing about Dr. Clitterhouse is how he ever got anything done there.

Snow Blaze

Stage 19, at Warners', is filled with blasts of heat and dust, and the roar of airplane engines. All this is necessary for a snow storm in "White Banners," because two Liberty-motored wind machines and numerous smaller fans are whipping cornflakes and powdered gypsum over the buildings on the set. Sixty feet overhead, on the catwalks, stagehands are rocking big wire hoppers back and forth, releasing the artificial snow.

Everyone but the players wears a gauze mask and goggles. Fay Bainter, in addition to having to buck the dusty snow, is wearing sopping wet clothing. They drench her with a hose before each take so that the snow will stick to her costume.

There was some excitement over in one corner of the stage where a pile of cornflakes was being cleaned by a blower. The "snow" caught on fire.

Presidential Candidate McNutt To Tour World En Route Home From Philippines---Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 22—High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, who for better or worse has been out in front lately as a conspicuous aspirant for the presidency in 1940, will again leave the Philippines in July and will resign his post there by the end of the summer.

Rodney Dutcher

Leaving Manila, McNutt will visit some of the smaller Pacific islands, top off in the Orient and keep on going around the world, through the Suez canal with certain stops in Europe. Returning to the United States from London, he will make a report on his observations to President Roosevelt.

Friends of Indiana's handsome ex-governor say Roosevelt has asked him to make this tour and survey, although that hasn't been confirmed at the White House. Some of them even whisper knowingly that it's just another effort to keep the high commissioner away from the country a while longer, although it's obvious enough to anyone that the net effect will be to keep him in the limelight.

The fact seems to be that the President isn't doing anything to help or to hinder McNutt's aspirations, whereas Postmaster General-National Chairman Jim Farley may be depended on to do everything possible to obstruct him.

May Take "U" Presidency

Whether McNutt will take the presidency of Indiana university when he returns is something he and his friends haven't decided, although the post has been held open for him and he is still technically on leave from the faculty. He will be back in time to help his friend and candidate Sam Jackson battle for the seat now held by Senator Van Nuys.

One result of McNutt's visit to Washington has been to impress many observers with the thought that his presidential prospects must be taken more seriously than they supposed, whether they like it or not. Of course his unannounced candidacy is still far, far from the band wagon stage. But the high commissioner has been busy establishing contacts which are potentially important.

Don't be surprised if it leaks out that he met John L. Lewis at a very small, carefully arranged dinner party during his stay. The present game of his backers is to promote McNutt as an ideal middle-road candidate between the Democratic party's right and left wings.

See Southern WPA Boost

Southern members of Congress still threaten to kill all hope of a wage-hour act at this session. But the President has decided that there are some low wages in Southern sections that he can improve—those paid by WPA.

Some of the highest WPA wage scales in the North are being reduced. WPA officials insist that these scales were not "too high," although compelled to admit that they have been out of line with those in other sections, even allowing for differences in living costs.

But not long after deciding on the reductions Roosevelt suddenly decided to boost some of the lower WPA scales in the South. Low as those scales are, some of them occasionally have been attacked as so high as to keep workers away from low-wage private employment.

Minister Without Swastika

When orders came from Vienna to raise the Nazi swastika on the Austrian legation's flag-pole, Minister Edgar Prochnik was temporarily stumped. He hadn't foreseen events and had no swastika flag. But he thought fast and borrowed one from the German embassy. It wasn't really a loan, but rather a gift.

Tech President Is Taking Rest Cure

Upon recommendation of his physician, President Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological college has cancelled speaking engagements scheduled before the middle of April.

He sits up about four hours daily and directs work of his office from his home and apparently is improving, although it is not known when he will return to his office, said Mrs. Knapp. He dictates correspondence about two hours each morning to his secretary.

His pulse averages between 44 and 46 in the daytime, while normal is 76, and his physician has recommended that he remain home to rest until his pulse reaches 60. Need for a rest had been brought on by nervous exhaustion.

City Of Lubbock

poses for perhaps a year or two to come, and then only when extension of the sewage system is financially possible.

Sewage uses, officials explained, will not interfere with the cultivation of those portions of the land which can be put into agriculture. That comprises approximately 450 acres. The remainder of the area can be used only for grazing.

Plans as outlined to the city commission are to put the arable land into dry farming the first year or two. By that time, water for irrigation should be available and in the opinion of Mayor Ross Edwards, himself a successful farmer, it will become one of the finest farms on the South Plains.

Grubbing, plowing and harrowing of the arable portion of the tract was completed by Taylor and Thompson, Monday under a contract which calls for payment by the city at the rate of $4.50 per acre, officials said.

The commission has discussed proposals that the area, when ready, be put into cultivation either on a rental basis or by the city itself. The commission has not been satisfied with rental proposals, so the plan now favored is for the city to farm the tract itself, applying any profits which may be earned on city operating costs.

Details of arrangements, however, remain to be completed, including the crops to be grown if the plan is carried out.

The city also plans to rent the approximately 400 acres of grass lands, and has been offered $1 per acre per year rental by G. B. Bowles, officials disclosed. That deal has not yet been closed.

Mayor Edwards expressed the opinion that income from the tract will, within a few years, more than pay for the land, which was purchased with city warrants at a total cost of approximately $28,000 payable in equal installments over a period of five years.

FIRST VIOLENCE REPORTED

SAN ANTONIO, March 22 (AP) — First violence in the five-day old strike at the Texas infants dress company occurred today as two workers at the plant were beaten and scratched by alleged pickets.

As a result more police were rushed to the factory to reinforce those already stationed there.

The license was good for 18 months when Ohio first licensed motor vehicles in 1907.

rock shelter 42 miles northwest of Odessa in what is known as Blue mountain on the southern escarpment of the Llano Estacado, which is more commonly known as the Stake Plains.

The shelter, Dr. Holden said, lies a considerable distance north of Murrah cave near the mouth of the Pecos river which was explored by members of an expedition headed by Dr. Holden about two years ago. That expedition found approximately 4,500 artifacts, most of which now are on display in the museum on Texas Tech campus. However, no clues have been found making possible an estimate of the date of the prehistoric civilization which left the Pecos relics.

Age May Be Established

The shelter to be visited by the new expedition, Dr. Holden said, lies north of Murrah cave and almost in a line with the Pueblo civilization of New Mexico which has been dated back to the year 11 a. d.

The expedition, he added, will seek to ascertain whether there is any cultural connection between the ancient people who inhabited the lower Pecos river and those who lived in the shelter. Members of the party believe also there is a possibility that the shelter may yield clues from the Pueblos which will be a means of dating the Pecos people and solving a prehistoric riddle for which there has been no answer thus far.

The fact that a spring flowed from beneath a limestone ledge near the shelter until about 40 years ago, Dr. Holden said, justifies the supposition that it may have been a point where the ancient peoples of New Mexico and those of the Pecos region may have met for trade. The spring dried up, presumably as result of the lowering of the water table in the region, he said.

Pueblo Remains Found

The possibilities of answering riddles of history there, he related, were illustrated by discoveries a few years ago among stone house ruins along the Canadian river in the Texas Panhandle. Dr. Holden had inspected them and his first conclusion was that the dwellings had been inhabited about the seventh century. An expedition was organized, and a month's excavation resulted in the recovery of several thousand artifacts. Among the thousands of relics, Dr. Holden related, were perhaps half a dozen, none of them larger than a silver dollar, which had come from the Pueblos. The half-dozen artifacts were a means of dating definitely the Canadian river civilization at approximately 1300 a. d., more than 600 years later than had been estimated.

Recent Visit Made

Decision to organize the new expedition followed a visit by Dr. Holden and E. J. (Pinky) Lowrey, business manager of athletics at Senior High school, to the shelter two weeks ago. They were accompanied by R. Henderson Shuffler, of the Odessa News-Times. Dr. Holden said he discovered a deposit of ashes and debris approximately three feet in depth which should be rich in relics bearing on the ancient history of the region.

While he does not expect that the deposit will be as rich in artifacts as those found at the mouth of the Pecos, he was frankly hopeful that it will be a means of telling when the Pecos river people lived.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—What analysts termed "discouraged selling" pulled leading stocks down fractions to 2 or more points in today's market.

Efforts to give the list an upward push at the start met with meager response and a lower drift soon got under way. Dealings were exceptionally slow on the retreat. Little support was in evidence near the fourth hour.

Bonds acted a bit better than stocks, but buoyancy was lacking here.

Inclined to give ground were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, Du Pont, Standard Oil of N. J., Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pullman, Union Carbide, Western Union, J. I. Case, Philip Morris and Johns-Manville.

Utilities exhibited some resistance.

annihilated by Chinese snipers, and for six days the Japanese command resorted to airplanes to feed the isolated army.

Are Completely Isolated

Thirty thousand Red Chinese soldiers lay across the communication lines of this army eastward from the Peiping-Hankow railroad, he said, while troops of General Chiang Kai-Shek cut another railway in Shansi, leaving the Japanese completely isolated.

Meanwhile, General Chiang's armies crossed the Yellow river northward in four places, according to Yu's reports.

Three victories in two days in southern Shansi below Taiyuan resulted in 1,700 Japanese dead, while the Chinese lost but 200, Yu said.

The position of the Japanese in Shansi was made worse by the vigorous battle going on in Shantung province, at the east end of the Yellow river front, since Japanese commanders were unable to spare reinforcements for their threatened right wing.

Thompson was not immediately available for comment.

Four leading varieties of cottonseed have been obtained and will be distributed among the 4-H and FFA boys who will enter the contests. Each entry will grow five acres of cotton and the project will be supervised by either a vocational agricultural teacher or the county agricultural agent's office.

The schedule of the visit to the schools will be: Wednesday, Frenship at 9 a. m.; Shallowater at 10 a. m.; and New Deal, 12:50 p. m. Thursday, Cooper, 9 a. m.; Slaton, 10:30 a. m.; Roosevelt, 1 p. m.; and Idalou, 2:45 p. m.

Prizes To Be Given

A prize of $50 will be given the boy who obtains the largest cash return from his five acres; $25 to second place; $15 to third place; and $10 to fourth place. Three scholarships will go to the vocational agricultural teachers or sponsors of 4-H clubs to the cotton classing course at Texas Technological college.

The school district obtaining the largest cash return will receive a trophy.

Contracts for the boys have been drawn up and approved.

C. A. Sanford, chairman of the Lions club campus beautification committee, probably will accompany the cotton committee to inspect recent campus improvements. More than 2,000 trees have been planted on the campuses of the rural schools and other landscaping projects have been completed.

Firemen Are Kept Busy With Fires

Activity of firemen Monday night was crowded into 45 minutes, during which they rushed to three fires.

At 6:15 o'clock they were called to 2313 Texas avenue to a stucco residence occupied by C. A. Ashley where escaped gas apparently exploded. Fire Chief W. E. Twitty said several windows in the residence were broken and, had there been persons in the house, they probably would have been injured. Damage was to the wallpaper in three rooms, to the windows, and to bed covers and mattresses, firemen said.

Gas Is Ignited

It was believed the fire was caused when escaping gas from a loose connection was ignited.

Before firemen had left the 2313 Texas avenue address, they received the report of another fire. The report was broadcast over Lubbock police radio station KGZW, the first time the radio equipment had been used to report a fire.

Firemen rushed to a burning fence at 1415 Sixteenth street. Damaged property belonged to Mrs. C. Roberds. Burning trash caused the fire, it was reported.

On returning to the fire station in the city hall and before reports of the two fires had been made, firemen were informed of a blaze at the Country club about four miles north of Lubbock.

Damage there was estimated at $200 or more. Most of the flames were in the basement and most of the building's floor was burned on the bottom side. Flames broke through, however, and climbed as high as three feet. The ballroom floor was damaged considerably and all of it will need repairing.

Faulty Connection Blamed

A faulty connection in electrical wiring was believed to have caused the fire.

"Three lives were lost in the fire at the clubhouse," Chief Twitty said. "Mose" Hood, fireman who did not make the trip, was not available to administer artificial respiration to three cats. On several occasions he has revived apparently suffocated cats and dogs.

Drive On Negroes Continued Here

Grapevine is at work in the Flats.

No less effective than the drums that throbbed disquieting messages in the jungles of their forebears, the word is being passed this way and that in the negro quarters that important steps are being taken to end the residence here of shiftless blacks—automatically to curb possibility of petty disorders and infractions.

On the heels of Sunday's round-up of unclassified negroes and suspicious persons—88 were in police headquarters at one time—negroes have been filing in voluntarily to be "mugged" and fingerprinted.

Police Amplify Intentions

Five came in a body late Monday. "We knew you'd be after us, so we came by ourselves,' one said. "We figured that'd be better for us and faster for you."

Police Monday had announced they were not satisfied with having chased through the investigatory gamut approximately 100 negroes.

"We will go back into the Flats and throughout the city," an official had said in amplifying earlier statements.

"We are not satisfied that many negroes are at work—at least, too many of them have no visible means of support."

Police made clear they are "not after negroes who are working and honestly trying to get along."

It was indicated numerous other negroes would be fingerprinted and questioned at regular intervals.

by confirming or rejecting the successor.

Investigation Favored

"I think the sentiment of congress is in favor of an investigation," said Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader.

Barkley declared that under the constitution the president has the power to remove the TVA head, appointed by Mr. Roosevelt five years ago.

Morgan's supporters, however, have contended the TVA act provides that only congress can remove any of the directors.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), a TVA critic, said that if Morgan were forced out, he would introduce a resolution to remove Directors David E. Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan.

May Go To Courts

Most observers expected Morgan to fight the president's action through the courts, although he said he had not determined his future course.

It appeared certain he would participate in any congressional investigation, for he has repeatedly said that was the only way to show up accurately conditions in the TVA.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), who had insisted on a senatorial inquiry, agreed today to joint action by senate and house, provided the anti-TVA activities of the power companies also are studied.

Charge Is To Echo Highway Accident

LITTLEFIELD, March 22 (Special) —Two automobile accident victims remained in Payne-Shotwell hospital today, although neither was considered in extremely serious condition, and one man was in jail pending filing of charges.

Condition of J. D. Schrauner, 18, enrollee of Littlefield CCC camp, was less serious than at first thought and was "resting pretty well", it was said at the hospital. He was not definitely reported out of the serious stage, however. He suffered a fractured right arm and lacerations of the face and body in the collision, on highway 7 north of here Sunday night.

T. D. Morrell, 30, of Dimmitt, who suffered cuts and bruises was not considered in serious condition but remained in the hospital. C. E. Holman and a young woman were treated for minor injuries.

Sam Hutson, chief deputy sheriff, said charges would be filed against the man held in jail, who gave his address as Dimmitt, probably today. He allegedly was driving a light automobile that crashed into the rear of another light coupe.

The vehicle driven by Schrauner, coming southeast into Littlefield, was bumped from the rear by the other driven by the man held in jail here, authorities said. Both machines were damaged badly.

Schrauner was only occupant of the coupe. Morrell, Holman, and two young women were occupants of the other car.

State highway patrolmen investigated the accident.

"Conditions of the offer provide that the winning teams must represent a Santa Fe town or community," Balner said. "In giving two awards to Texas, it is stipulated that one team will be chosen in territory served by the Panhandle & Santa Fe and the other from territory of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe. In all cases, the winning teams are selected in state wide contests sponsored by vocational authorities."

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture, expressed his appreciation of the announcement of the award.

There are several question to be ironed out before a final announcement of schools eligible to compete in the contest is made. O. T. Ryan, vocational agriculture supervisor for area I; Ray Chappelle, head of the department of vocational agriculture instruction and T. L. Leach, assistant, are preparing a list of towns for submission to railroad authorities.

New Type Of Road Surface Which Makes For Increased Visibility Announced

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, March 22 — A new type of road surface that will "increase visibility very greatly" was reported today at the 17th annual Massachusetts Safety conference.

Need for some such surface was emphasized by a group of engineers discussing "highway lighting in relation to night accidents."

They pointed to mounting automobile fatalities after dark, restrictions on headlights, and experience "proving" the impracticability of enforcing speeds within the limits set by headlight visibility.

Cites Only Safe Speed

L. A. S. Wood, Westinghouse lighting engineer, said "10 to 15 miles an hour is the only speed safe with present lighting equipment."

C. A. B. Halvorson, of the General Electric company, Lynn, announced the new type of road surface was developed during an attempt by the research department of his company to design a surface that would allow drivers to see farther without glare.

Little Cups Pit The Road

The design he finally settled on makes his miniature test road look like one of those pans you put in the oven for hot biscuits. Little "cups" pit the road at intervals of an inch. They are one quarter of an inch deep and half an inch in diameter. Mixed with this indented surface is a substance, such as quartzite, which gives a high reflectivity.

This "biscuit pan" road, Halvorson explained, catches the water, which cuts down visibility, and distributes a maximum amount of light. A night visibility distance equivalent to day time, he added, "can be obtained."

Federal Men Are Looking For Burglar Because He Entered Wrong Window

BALLINGER, March 22 (AP)—Because he entered the wrong window, federal officers are looking for the fellow who burglarized a store at Benoit, eight miles east of Ballinger.

The intruder broke into the store of W. T. Hill, who also runs Benoit's fourth class postoffice. He took only three boxes of shotgun shells. Nothing else was missed.

Trouble was, the burglar went through the window beside the postoffice division of the store. The distinction is rather fine, but officers considered it likely that only a state law would have been violated had the prowler entered elsewhere.

Hill reported his loss to the sheriff's department at Ballinger.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B1. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
