88 Perish In Tanker Crash

Blacked-Out Ships Collide Off Florida And One Burns

(By The Associated Press)

PALM BEACH, Fla., Oct. 23.—Two blacked-out tankers collided off the Florida coast in the darkness Wednesday night and 88 men perished in the flames which spread from the explosion of one of the vessels laden with thousands of gallons of aviation gasoline.

The Navy permitted announcement of the distaster today after investigating salvage possibilities.

Twenty-eight merchant crewmen and members of Navy gun crews were saved, most of them leaping overboard as the flames whipped over the decks and spread out over the water.

Persons ashore heard the explosion and saw the towering flames and gave the alarm which send coast guard craft racing to the scene.

One Heavily Loaded

One of the ships, northbound and riding low in the water with the weight of the gasoline, had 43 crewmen aboard, including seven naval gunners, and only seven men survived.

The other tanker, southbound in ballast, was manned by a crew of 73, including 25 gunners, and 21 reached safety.

Most of those on deck perished instantly.

Christopher P. Finley, 28, of Miami, third assistant engineer aboard the empty tanker, was at his post at the time of the crash, at 10:50 p. m.

"I knew something terrible had happened," he declared, "but every hand in the engine room stayed at his post, and that saved a lot of lives.

Two Explosions Follow

"Two explosions followed immediately. I cut off the engines and rushed topside. Forward and amidships were a holocaust. The forward magazines and gun turrets were exploding. I knew the aft magazines would go any minute. I jumped into the sea off the fantail."

Seaman Joseph S. O'Brien of Indianapolis, a gunner aboard the northbound tanker, was on watch on the deck.

"Suddenly I spotted another ship bearing down from the north," he said. "It appeared to be about 75 yards away. It looked as though it ware going to pass us, but as the ship approached I saw it was going to be close.

"I turned and started for a telephone to report to the forward bridge. Before I got to the telephone there was a crash.

"A terrific explosion followed, and I was blown about 10 feet across the deck."

He leaped overboard and managed to swim fast enough to stay

Germans Dig In To Block Clark's Drive For Rome

Nazis Lose Heavily In Counterattack; Eighth Advancing

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 23.—Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring's forces, although thrown back by the Fifth Army after launching a fierce tank-led counterattack in the Alife region, dug in firmly today in their new positions on the Massico ridge-mount Matese line solidly blocking the road to Rome.

The hard counterattack was one of the sharpest the Germans have put in, and it cost them dearly. A number of Nazi tanks were knocked out by the deadly fire of American artillery, but the fury with which it was launched was an indication of the German's determination to hold their new line stubbornly.

Eighth Army Frustrates Attack

The Eighth Army also frustrated a counterattack near Montecilfone and then advanced two miles, taking Lupara, which dominates high ground in central Italy.

The object of the German counter thrusts was to disrupt Allied offensive actions and the Germans invariably launch them just before they think the Allies are about to deliver a blow.

Allied aviation pressed home numerous attacks against gun positions, troop concentrations and motor transport. Other bombers of the Northwest African Air force hit rail communications at Grosseto, 90 miles above Rome, and Orvieto, 60 miles north of the capital.

RAF Bombs Maritza

The RAF Middle East command also announced that Maritza airfield on the island of Rhodes was bombed Thursday night for the third successive night and shipping and harbor installations were attacked on Naxos and Syros islands.

Light units of both the British and American navies sank, captured or damaged five enemy—

LONG, BITTER ROAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a radio address from Algiers tonight, warned that an Allied victory is a "long, long" way off and "over a bitter, rough road."

The Allied commander in chief in the Mediterranean and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., who is visiting U. S. war theaters, spoke in a war bond broadcast recorded by NBC.

Gen. Eisenhower declared: "This is a hard war, a bitter, bloody war. Make no mistake. It will be a long, long way to final victory, over a bitter, rough road. Our men know it, and are ready for it. But they want to be assured above all else that the home front is behind them."

GOING, GOING, GONE — This is the death story of a big four-motored Focke-Wulf Kurier raider that was caught at sea by an American Liberator on anti-submarine patrol. The cross on its side made a fine target for the Liberator's gunners as the German plane twisted and turned in evasive maneuvers. But it was finally shot out of the sky, and crashed flaming into the sea.

Aussies Block Jap Corridor

Nips Driven Back Toward Inland Sattelberg Defense

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Oct. 24.—Japanese hopes of reaching the New Guinea coast on the Huon peninsula in strength were blasted Friday by determined attacks delivered by Australian ground troops and American bombers.

These attacks blunted the enemy spearhead and forced him to fall back from the village of Katika westward to a depth of 1,100 yards toward his inland jungle strong positions at Sattelberg.

The Australians, who thus closed the narrow corridor which Japanese earlier in the week had driven to the coast about five miles north of Allied-won Finschhafen, counted more than 510 enemy dead.

Planes Lash Rear Areas

Whole these units of the Australian Ninth division succeeded in blocking the coastal outlet of escape for considerable enemy forces, American - flown Mitchells swept over the rear areas. They sowed destruction with their bombs and more than 55,000 rounds of 50-caliber machinegun fire.

This new aerial devastation piled up the toll of enemy dead caused Thursday by a record single day's load of 221 tons dropped by Liberators around Sattelberg on troop concentrations.

The initial success of small elements of Japanese in driving a narrow, five-mile - long corridor from Sattelberg to the coast of the peninsula does not seem to foreshadow a regaining of the offensive by the Japanese in the New Guinea theater.

Near Southern Limits

The coastward drive, now halted, instead indicates the enemy is nearing the southern limits of the New Guinea territory he is willing to abandon without a more determined show of resistance than he displayed before yielding Lae and Salamaua in September.

The direction of the thwarted Japanese coastal drive made it apparent the enemy is not trying to recapture the small port of Finschhafen which the Australians occupied Oct. 2, ten days after they landed from Rear Adm. Daniel Barney's United States Navy amphibious craft.

In the air, Australian-manned Kittyhawks pounded the Gasmata, New Britain, airdrome of the enemy some 135 miles east of the New Guinea jungle front.

Liberators flew more than 2,000 miles round trip to make another of their intermittent strikes at Japan's nickel mining center of Pomelaa, Dutch Celebes.

Nazi Armament City Pounded

44 Bombers Lost In Heavy Assault

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP)—A great fleet of British four-engined bombers penetrated a heavy screen of fighters and murky weather last night and dropped 1,500 long tons of bombs in an effective attack on the German armament city of Kassel, losing 44 bombers on the mission.

"A subsidiary force hit Frankfurt and the small but swift plywood Mosquito bombers raided the Cologne area.

The RAF's losses on the Kassel raid raised the total for the month to 163 in nine major operations, but the ari ministry described the blow as highly effective.

Heavy Fighter Force

The Nazis threw up an unusually heavy fighter force to check this latest phase of an air bombardment running through both day and night.

The 44 downed planes represented the heaviest loss to the British bomber command since the Aug. 31 raid on Berlin, when 47 aircraft were missing, but the number was under the RAF's record loss of 58 suffered in the Aug. 23 attack on Berlin.

Still torn by the Oct. 3 pounding by the RAF, which left 30 factories damaged or destroyed, Kassel was pounded last night for the fourteenth time of the war and the fifth in six months. It has been hit twice by American Flying Fortresses.

Giant Armament Works

Kassel, a city of 200,000, is important for its Henschel locomotive and armament works—one of the largest of its kind in Europe—its Fieseler aircraft plant, where FW-190s are assembled and as a railway centers.

The new attack on Frankfurt, which is about 100 miles due south of Kassel, was the third of the month for this city of half a million population which is a big chemical, rubber and electrical center.

The German radio told of new "terror attacks," and said that considerable damage was done both at Kassel and Frankfurt.

While the RAF big bombers were out, German raiders dropped bombs on London in the capital's seventh successive alert. Twelve persons were killed in one area on the outskirts of the city.

Warning Issued To Idle Miners

Unions May Face Punitive Action

(By The Associated Press)

Leaders of the United Mines Workers strove last night to get striking Alabama coal miners back to work and avert possible government seizure of mines in the state and punitive action against local unions there.

Called before the War Labor board to explain why 20,000 Alabama miners are conducting a wildcat strike in defiance of board orders, the union leadership was warned that the WLB expects production to be resumed by Monday.

May Go To White House

Chairman William H. Davis said that otherwise it appeared the board would have to refer the case to the White House.

The railroad wage dispute moved another step toward a crisis when chiefs of the five operating unons, meeting in Chicago, voted to conduct a strike poll among their 350,000 members. This ballot may take 30 days.

The operating unions formally rejected a 4-cents-an-hour wage increase recommended by a government emergency board. They had asked a 30 per cent increase.

In order to hear the UMW leaders on the Alabama situation, the WLB took time out from consideration of a proposed contract covering mining of coal in Illinois. Members announced they would hold a Sunday session to expedite a decision.

Illinois Proposal

The Illinois proposal would put the miners on an 8½-hour working day, figured from the time they enter the mine until the time they leave. At present they have a 7-hour day calculated on the basis of time actually spent at the coal face, or seam.

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the UMW, appeared before the WLB on the Alabama strike in place of President John L. Lewis who is ill.

Both the board and the UMW leadership had been making every effort to get the miners back to work. The walkouts began Oct. 13 and have been followed by sporadic strikes elsewhere. Altogether, about 35,000 miners in Alabama, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Arkansas are idle.

Girl Charged In Bizarre Slaying

CALICO ROCK, Ark., Oct. 23. (AP) — Mary Catherine Durant, 21-year-old red-head, has been arrested at Shelbyville, Tenn., and FBI officials said she shot her step father, Charles W. Durant, 43, of Calioc Rock, in one of Arkansas' most bizarre slayings.

The FBI had been on the trail of Miss Durant since last April, soon after the body of Durant had been unearthed by a dog scratching in the yard of the Durant home.

The arrest was announced at Washington by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Sheriff T. N. Rodman was en route tonight to Shelbyville to return Miss Durant to Izard county where she faces charges of first degree murder.

Remained After Slaying

Hoover said the girl shot Durant dragged his body from their house, buried it in a shallow grave and remained at the home from last December 4 until December 27 when she left Calico Rock.

The girl, Hoover said, recently married a master sergeant in Missouri and moved to Shelbyville when her husband was transferred to Camp Forrest.

She pleaded guilty to the unlawful flight charge before a U. S. commissioner at Winchester, Tenn. and is being held at Fayetteville, Tenn., under $10,000 bond pending proceedings for her removal to Arkansas.

Deposits Reach All-Time Peak

Increasing more than seven million dollars in three and one-half months, deposits in Lubbock's three banks stood at a new all-time high on Oct. 18, date of the recent federal bank call, statements of the banks revealed Saturday.

Deposits on that date totaled $35,800,093.67 as compared to $28,700,648.39 on June 30 of this year.

Total resources of the banks increased from $29,896,454.59 on June 30 to $36,683,764.53 on Oct. 18.

Loans and discounts, which totaled $2,582,818.22 on June 30 had risen to $3,470,360.91 on Oct. 18, the statements revealed.

One outstanding item was the amount of government bonds held by the three banks. The banks now have $12,250,225.61 in U. S. Bonds as compared to $8,317,495.54 on June 30.

Bankers expressed opinions Saturday that deposits would probably reach another new high on the year-end call and the total deposits might probably reach $40,000,000. The increase would come from marketing of the cotton crop, only a small percentage of which is realized in present deposits.

Reds Lunge On After Fall Of Melitopol And Menace To Nazis In Crimea Grows

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 24 — The Russian Army captured the key city of Melitopol after 11 days of street fighting and swept on southward today through the flat, muddy plains toward the Crimea.

Moscow reports said Soviet motorized columns swung out in pursuit of the Germans in a race to cut off the Crimea at Perekop and Kherson after smashing the last-ditch German stand in Melitopol.

The Germans lost more than 20,000 men in their vain attempt to establish a winter line in the ravaged city and a triumphant Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, described Nazi losses as "extraordinarily heavy."

Undermines Whole Defense

The Germans had rushed infantry divisions, tanks and artillery into the city, hoping to halt the Russians, but bitter hand-to-hand fighting forced back the defenders street by street.

The fall of Melitopol yesterday undermined the entire German defense strategy in the south. Ahead of the Russians were 135 miles of indefensible steppes leading to the mouth of the Dnieper river.

Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin announced the victory in a special order of the day describing Melitopol, on the Molochna river and the main railway into the main railway into the Crimea, as "the most vital strategical center of German defenses" on the southern front.

Guards Crimea Approaches

The city "guards the approaches to the Crimea and the lower reaches of the Dnieper," Stalin pointed out in his triumphant announcement, perhaps indicating he intends to send his armies without pause into the Crimean peninsula, where it is estimated a German force of about 500,000 men is entrenched.

Today's victory definitely shattered the German front from Zaporozhe to the Sea of Azov, which Hitler apparently had planned to hold as a continuation of the already-broken Dnieper line.

The triumph also brought a new threat to the large German armies cornered approximately 50 miles to the northwest in the great bend of the Dnieper. Russian armies driving down behind these forces from the north made further progress today.

Advances Continue

The Soviet daily communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, reported continuing advances both south and southeast of Kremenchug, where they last were reported but 15 miles from the ore center of Krivoi Rog, and south of Pereyaslav, where they began developing a new breakthrough Friday.

Stalin ordered 20 salvos fired from 224 cannon in Moscow tonight, an explosive fanfare reserved for the Red Army's greatest triumphs. It was the first firing of the Soviet capital's victory guns since the arrival of Foreign Secretaries Cordell Hull and Anthony Eden.

Another Allied Push Indicated

Bombing Taken As Signal For Drive

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In Southwest Pacific, Sunday, Oct. 24. (AP)—The heaviest bombing of the New Guinea campaign, administered by America's flying "Jolly Rogers" on Japanese troops trying to escape entrapment above Finschhafen, paved the way today for an expected Australian move designed to wipe out the Japanese and consolidate the Allied hold on Huon peninsula, potential springboard for an invasion of New Britain.

Such a blasting as the 221 tons of bombs that the Liberators poured into Japanese concentrations 15 miles above Finschhafen normally is the signal for another Allied advance.

Five-Mile Triangle

The Liberators' bomb loads were dumped on a five-mile long triangle in the Sattelberg-Wareeo area where concentrated Japanese forces made an excellent human target, seldom found in New Guinea's jungle warfare. The attack blew up 25 of 28 buildings and in the words of an ace bombardier of the squadron, "just blew that place all to hell."

This was the first heavy Allied bombardment in the area above Allied-held Finschhafen. The Japanese were without either ack-ack or fighter plane protection as the raiders dropped their loads.

In a series of raids extending almost to Madang, another Australian objective on New Guinea, across New Britain and New Ireland down to the Solomons, the Allies acknowledged a loss of only four planes. This brought the week's losses to 14, against probable Japanese losses of 71 up to the time of General Douglas MacArthur's communique yesterday.

11 Barges Destroyed

Allied reconnaissance planes destroyed or damaged 11 invasion barges, which the Japanese in recent months have used primarily to rescue entrapped troops, in Borgen Bay near the tip of New Britain facing the Huon peninsula. This brought the week's barge toll to 41.

Other Allied units bombed Japanese in the Ramu valley up which the Australians are advancing toward Madang; smashed roads and bridges at Bogadjim below Madang, damaged a Japanese cruiser off New Ireland, heavily attacked Kara airdrome near Buin on Bougainville island in the Solomons, bombed nearby Kahili, hit the airdrome at Oallale, and raised havoc with docks, supply dumps and barges in Choiseul Bay.

Slav Partisans Fight Bitterly

LONDON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Yugoslax partisans under the dashing young lawyer-general, Peter Dabcevis, today were involved in heavy fighting with Nazi motorized units in the vicinity of Mount Chakor on the Montenegran-Albanian frontier, while other patriots captured four villages in southwest Slovenia.

A communique of the Yugoslav Liberation Army reported the fall of the strategic Slovenian centers of Kopriva, Visnyvrh, Novi Grad and Gradisce, hamlets which are important because they command lines of communication in a difficult mountainous area.

Successful In Croatia

The partisans also struck successfully along the railway line serving the territory between the Sava and Danube rivers in eastern Croatia, said a war bulletin broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio. German motorized and tank forces were under almost continuous attack in the Croatian province of Lika, near Jezerana, and near Doiny-Lapac. The partisans also sank a German ship off the Dalmatian coast.

On the southeastern Balkan front the Germans claimed they occupied Stampalia, another in the Dodecanese island group 28 miles southwest of Cos, freeing a large number of German prisoners held there by the British since late September.

Two Bombers Collide, Killing All Aboard

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho, Oct. 23. (AP)—Sixteen men died in the flaming wreckage of two heavy bombers which collided about five miles southwest of the Mountain Home Air base today.

They are believed to comprise the total crews of the two planes each with eight aboard. No one survived.

The wing of one ship was torn off in the collision but the plane managed to fly a short ditsance before crashing into the sagebrush covered hills. The second plane, apparently dived straight to the earth, about 500 yards from the first.

Those aboard, names withheld pending notification of relatives, apparently died instantly.

Increased Number Of Ration Books Issued

Lubbock county ration board officals emerged from the last day of the the issuance of War Ration Book No. 4 Saturday with all but two of the schools, where the books were being issued, running out of supplies by the middle of the afternoon.

However, it was announced, all persons who applied for books at the schools that ran short were sent to the Senior High school where the supply was plentiful.

It was estimated by the board that 66,000 of the 67,000 books were issued during the two-day registration in Lubbock county. This was about 8,800 more than were issued for Ration Book No. 2.

Loans On Cotton Stored On Farm To Be Made By CCC

IN VIEW of a looming shortage in warehouse storage space here for cotton, Walter Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association, reminded Saturday that the Commodity Credit corporation will make loans on cotton stored on the farm.

The loan rate is the same as that for cotton stored in an approved warehouse, he said.

Acceptable Storage

An acceptable storage structure must provide protection against the weather, possible damage from livestock and poultry and "reasonable" safety against fire and theft. The floor should be at least eight inches above the ground. If not a floor, supports, such as railroad ties, should be laid to keep the bales at that height.

If there are no acceptable structures on a farm, the ACA committee may approve plans for new buildings which meet requirements, Wells said.

Charge for obtaining a farm storage loan are $1 a bale, he said. Application may be made at the ACA office, 1320 Avenue Q.

The producer earns 10 cents a bale a month for cotton delivered to the CCC in satisfaction of the loan, Wells explained. In a case where the farmer sells the cotton and pays off the loan no storage charges will be made.

CCC Assumes Losses

The CCC will assume losses resulting from fire, flood, lightning, explosion, windstorm, cyclone, tornado and losses in weight

Premiere Set Here

Army Relief Will Profit

The premiere showing of "This Is The Army" will take the spotlight in Lubbock Wednesday night, November 3 at 8:15 o'clock, at the Lindsey theatre, it was announced Saturday by Clark Abbott, manager of the theatre.

The entire proceeds of this premiere showing, which critics throughout the nation have acclaimed as the 'greatest of all army pictures,' will go to the Army Emergency Relief fund.

The premiere will be an all-Army show, Mr. Abbott said. The regular Wednesday night radio broadcast of the LAAF will originate from the stage of the Lindsey beginning at 7:30 p.m., over station KFYO. "This Is The Army" feature will follow immediately after the LAAF broadcast.

Tickets are now on sale in the lobby of the theatre with all of the downstairs tickets being sold at $1.10 and a reserved section in the balcony for $1.65. No excess tickets will be sold, the management of the theatre said, and all who purchase tickets will be assured a seat.

Examinations Set On Army-Navy Program

Army 12 and Navy V-12 examinations will be offered at Texas Technological college November 9, according to Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant. Men considering taking these examinations should get a bulletin and identification card immediately, he said.

Identical examinations will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. Taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service. Preferential choice of service will be given to each candidate at the time of the test.

After these examinations, none will be offered until April, 1944.

College students who failed the test April 2, date of the last Army-Navy test given at Texas Tech, are eligible to take this test, provided they are within the ages of 17 to 21.

Anyone desiring information concerning these examinations should see Dr. Kent, whose office adjoins the president's office on the second floor of the administration building.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP) — This country "very soon" will be turning out a complete airplane every five minutes, Charles E. Wilson, executive vice president of the War Production board said in a speech today before the 23rd graduating class of the national police academy.

This would be at an annual rate exceeding 105,000, of 8,640 planes in a thirty-day month.

Axis Fears 'Break' For War Prisoners

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Tracy Strong, secretary of the prisoners' aid committee of the international division of the Y. M. C. A., reports that Germany is adhering to the rules of the Geneva convention in its treatment of war prisoners and that the Japanese are improving in this respect.

Well, maybe one shouldn't look a welcome gift-horse like that in the mouth, because fairness at the hands of the Hitlerites or Japanese is one of those things you hope for but don't expect. Still, one can't help thinking of Rabelais' wise-crack that "the Devil was sick,—the Devil a monk would be; the Devil was well,—the Devil a monk was he."

Modern warfare among so-called civilized nations has produced nothing approaching the atrocities perpetrated in the present global conflict by the Nazis and the Japs when things were going well with them. Indeed, the barbarities have continued right up to the present, for German savagery against Italian civilians is appalling, and recently there was the horrible beheading of an Allied airman prisoner by the Japanese.

No Change Of Heart

So it strikes me that decent treatment of Allied prisoners doesn't indicate any change of heart on the part of the enemy. It means that Berlin and Tokyo are trying to insure against retribution.

Germany has been growing sick for months now from the terrible beating at the hands of the United Nations, and the Nipponese have "mal de mer" from the rolling seas of the South Pacific where the Allies have seized the initiative and rule the waves. "The Devil was sick,—the Devil a monk would be."

As defeat has piled up against them, the Germans have been getting it drummed into their ears by our leaders that there is to be full punishment for war guilt and atrocities. Also, as remarked in this column the other day, my information is that the Russians are methodically compiling details of all German atrocities in Soviet territory, and are logging down a huge black-list of names of those who are to pay the penalty as soon as the Muscovites can lay hands on them. Hitler knows that heads will roll when the Red armies sweep into Germany.

Dread Is Very Real

Dread of this must be very real in the fuehrer's camp these dark days. The Red breakthrough the German right wing on the great bend of the Dnieper threatens the Nazis with one of the worst disasters of the war. Some half million Nazi troops are said to be involved in the fast-moving Russian encircling movement into which Moscow has thrown reinforcements including veterans of the historic battle on Stalingrad where Hitler broke his back.

But that's only part of the story. If the Russians can develop their present advantage, the whole Nazi position in eastern Europe will be in jeopardy.

All in all, it looks as though the Nazis and the Japs had better treat Allied prisoners well.

Wavell To Investigate Famine In Bengal

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 23 (AP)—Marshal Viscount Wavell, inducted as viceroy of India three days ago, announced today that he is going to Calcutta to investigate at first hand the famine in Bengal which is killing thousands of destitute Indians.

Cholera is spreading, and Calcutta's four burning ghats (large tower crematories) are operating around the clock.

Early Christmas Mailing Urged

While the Office of Defense Transportation has set a deadline of Dec. 10, the Postoffice department is urging that mailing of Christmas cards and parcels be completed, so far as possible, in November, Postmaster Amos Howard said Saturday.

At the same time, Howard reminded that the final date for mailing gifts to Navy men at sea is Nov. 1. Deadline for mailing parcels to overseas soldiers was Oct. 15. Navy requirements are the same as were those for soldiers; packages must not weigh over five pounds and must not be over 36 inches in girth and length combined.

Howard said the Postoffice department is expecting the greatest mailing rush in history. Many people are making more money than ever before and are going to buy freely, provided they can find the merchandise, he said. Shifts in population will account for a great deal of the increased mailing, it was pointed out.

More than 30,000 postal employees are in war service and have been replaced in most cases by inexperienced workers, Howard said. Too, there are less railroad cars and airplanes available for carrying mail than at any time in history.

This is why, he said, early mailing is asked. "Christmas mail must not be allowed to impede movement of war materials and personnel and military mail."

Howard said the Lubbock office has been fortunate in regard to manpower. He said the office now has a full staff of experienced, competent help.

FLIERS PLAN SHOW

These are requirements sent to the chapter from national headquarters and must be observed in the local work rooms.

Hours are Monday night from 7 to 10 o'clock and from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. each day except Saturday and Sunday. Tuesday morning SPAAF reported 30 workers came across with 250 2x2 dressings, while LAAF reported 40 workers made 453 2x2 dressings Friday.

Connally Proposal Is Being Pressed

BY JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—The administration threw added weight today behind efforts to roll up an impressive vote in the Senate for the Connally resolution pledging the United States to join with "free and sovereign" nations in establishing a world authority to maintain peace.

With Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee tabbed to open debate on the measure Monday attempts are being made to persuade advocates of other proposals to go along with the compromise resolution.

Unity Is Keynote

Leaders contended that anything short of an overwhelming vote might be interpreted abroad as indicating lack of unity on foreign policy. But their argument failed to dent a determined group of about a dozen Senators who plan to offer amendments to "strengthen," as they phrase it, the resolution approved by the foreign relations committee.

The resolution would provide that the United States, "acting through its constitutional process, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

Connally said he is prepared to defend this wording from charges that it invites military alliances, is too limited, and does not provide specifically for the use of military force to put down aggression.

No Military Alliance

"We're not talking about any military alliance but of opening an international authority to eventual participation by all of the nations that can qualify—depending on the peace treaty terms," he said.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who will follow Connally in support of the resolution, said he thought it impossible to go further than the committee-approved declaration at this time "because any blueprints of action would enter the realm of sheer speculation."

But Senator Hatch (D-NM) said he and others of like views fear the resolution is subject to so many interpretations that it will be confusing to other nations, particularly when it is translated into foreign languages.

Rumors On Change In Gas Rations Denied

Howard R. Gholson, district OPA director, Saturday disclosed that "Gasoline quotas announced last month by the Petroleum Administration for War apply for the balance of the year and there is no indication that quotas will be reduced this year," in an attempt to clear up "nerve racking" rumors here that the value of gasoline coupons may be cut again soon.

Gholson said while there was no improvement in the gasoline situation, which is critical, he has been advised that OPA is not contemplating reduction in coupon value.

BAPTIST MEETING SET

DALLAS, Oct. 23. (AP)—Texas Baptists will meet here November 8-11 for three annual conventions affecting all phases of the denomination's work, Dr. W. W. Molton, Dallas, said today. He predicted the best financial report in the convention's history.

Fruit, Vegetable Unit Restrained

HOUSTON, Oct. 23. (AP) — Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay holding court in Corpus Christi today granted a request of attorneys for the Office of Price administration for a temporary restraining order against the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers association from violating OPA maximum price regulations.

The suit for the restraining order was filed by OPA attorneys in behalf of Prentiss M. Brown, head of the OPA in Washington.

News of Judge Hannay's action was released a few minutes later by the Houston office of the OPA, which said that the legal action was taken after members of the association had threatened to ignore provisions of the OPA maximum price regulations.

First Case of Kind

The case was described locally as being the first of its kind in the nation.

A hearing on whether to make the temporary order permanent will be held on October 28 in Corpus Christi.

Office of Price administration attorneys who represented the governmental body before Judge Hannay were William E. Remy and Lester Boone of Dallas and J. K. Smith of Houston.

The head of the association under the temporary order, it was stated, is I. R. Stahl of Weslaco.

REVISED PRICES ON FRUIT UNDER STUDY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — The proposed OPA regulation providing revised retail ceiling prices for oranges, grapefruit and lemons today was reported still under examination by the War Food administration, with no indication when final action would be taken.

OPA General Manager Chester Bowles announced recently that the present ceiling price schedule for citrus fruits was under revision to provide specific and lower prices for the consumer.

OPA winter prices for 13 fresh vegetables also have been announced but have not yet been written into a regulation although approved by the WFA.

Jones Urges Farmers To Aid Scrap Bank

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (U.P.) — War Food Administrator Marvin Jones today appealed to the nation's farmers to collect all the scrap iron and steel on their farm as part of the "victory scrap bank" drive.

"If we are to keep our steel mills operating at capacity, turning out steel for ships, tanks, planes and guns, as well as farm machinery, it will be necessary to have vast amounts of scrap," Jones said.

Next to industry, Jones pointed out that the American farm is the greatest source of heavy scrap.

"American farmers are doing the greatest food production job in history," he said. "However, if we are to insure ample steel for wartime production, millions of tons of scrap iron and steel must come from our farms in the next six weeks."

Hockley, Crosby Tests In Spotlight

WITH an east Hockley county wildcat indicating possible commercial production from the Holt section of the Clear Fork lime of the Permian formation and a new development announced to drill to that same horizon for southwest Crosby county, the South Plains district furnished some of the feature activities of the Permian Basin oil activity of the week.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Harless, section 21, block A, R. M. Thompson survey is running 5½-inch casing to 5,860 feet where it will be cemented. It is expected that by the middle of the week the operator will be in shape to drill out the plug and test the sections between 5,855 feet and the present bottom at 5,939 feet.

Soft Streaks Thick

A soft section in the line was encountered in the drilling at 5,855 feet. The first cuttings in the drilling mud which showed saturation and porosity came out from about 5,860 feet.

The section on down to the bottom has produced several of the soft streaks of as much as 12 inches and some of them possibly thicker. Hard layers have been drilled in between the veins which are indicating that they carry oil.

Technicians who have been on the rig as the drilling has progressed through the possible pay sections think the operation might make an oil well. All the potentialities of the horizon will be thoroughly tested as soon as the pipe is set. Geo. P. Livermore, Inc., Lubbock is drilling the project.

Fifteen Miles from Lubbock

The prospective producer is about six miles north and east of Smyer; about three miles west of the Lubbock county line and about halfway between Levelland and Lubbock—being approximately 15 miles from each place. The test is about three miles northwest of Lubbock Army Air field.

Standolind Oil & Gas company has considerable acreage around the venture and Honolulu Oil Corporation has a large block in the immediate vicinity.

Forrest Development corporation and H. F. Vogel No. 1 A. L. Robertson is the new exploration effort in southwest Crosby county which will drill to 4,000 feet to test the Clear Fork horizon.

Drilling Starts Soon

A capable tool rig is being put up on the location which is 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 18, block B-9 ELRR survey. Drilling is to start the first of the week.

The block on which the test is to be drilled was assembled by E. M. Wahlenmaier, San Angelo operator, who turned the deal to Forrest and Vogel. Wahlenmaier turned about 7,000 acres to those operators and has considerable of a spread left in the adjacent area.

Northwest Of Failure

Geo. Callihan, Abilene cable tool contractor will dig the hole, which will be about five miles west and approximately one mile north of a failure recently completed by Wahlenmaier on the Guy Price land in north Garza county. That effort found sulphur water above the contract depth of 4,200 feet and was abandoned.

No. 1 Robertson is seven miles east and a little north of Southland in the northwest corner of Garza county; less than a mile north of the Crosby county line and about five miles east of the Lubbock county line. It will be in the Yellowhouse Canyon depression.

New Application Filed

Samedan Oil corporation, Ardmore, Okla., has filed application to drill No. 1 J. D. Jones as a new development venture in the Cedar Lake sector of northeast Gaines county. Location is 660 feet from the south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 10, block H, D&WRR survey.

Nearest production in the Cedar Lake field is about one and one-half miles southeast of the new project. Drilling to the proposed depth of 4,850 feet to look for the Cedar Lake pay is scheduled to start Nov. 1.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company, No. 15 American Warehouse company, 12,000-foot venture in section 5, block H, D&WRR survey, and also in the Cedar Lake area has drilled under 11,840 feet in unreported formation.

Test Still Running Higher

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Homann, section 96, block G, WTRR survey, wildcat effort six miles northeast of Seminole in Gaines county has drilled under 5,111 feet and continues to run approximately 220 feet higher on the tops of various formations when compared with the next nearest tests that have been drilled in the vicinity.

Likely the drill will be in the zones where porosity and saturation can be expected in the San Andres formation when it cuts about 100 more feet hole.

Shell Oil company, inc., No. 2 Cox, possible 8,000-foot venture in the northeast quarter of section 380, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, northwest Gaines county has set a packer at 4,902 feet to take a swabbing test of the section down to 4,952 feet which is supposed to be in the San Andres, the producing zone in the nearby Wasson field.

H. & J. Is Testing

Magnolia Petroleum company and Atlantic Refining company No. 1—459 Havemyer & Jenny, at the center of the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 459, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, and one-half mile south of the Shell No. 1 D. N. Leaverton, lone Clear Fork lime producer in the Russell field, has been testing by natural flow for about a week. The oil is coming from a zone at 7,468-7,584 feet.

On the last such effort reported the well, after being shut in for 20 hours flowed 89.10 barrels in three hours through a one-half inch choke. The fluid was all petroleum except for a one-tenth of one per cent cut of basic sediment.

Continental Oil company No. 1-A Jones, section 22, block A-7, psl survey, and about four miles west and a little north of the Russell area continues to bore through lime and shale and is now below 9,735 feet.

Among G. Carter No. 11 W. M. Moore, section 45 block AX, psl survey, 7,500-foot operation to test the Wasson "72" pay around 7,200 feet, and possibly the Clear Fork lower sections has progressed under 4,716 feet in lime.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Cox, section 14, block A-11, psl survey, wildcat in west-central Gaines has drilled under 8,376 feet in lime.

The Texas company No. 1 Parmer county fee, labor 5, league 317 Parmer county school land survey in southeast Gaines county has cut hole below 6,410 feet in brown lime.

Dawson Test Down 9,859

Gulf Oil corporation No. 1 Dean, section 30, block 1, Poitevent survey, T-6-N, prospecting project in northeast Dawson county has drilled below 9,859 feet and drills ahead.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Spraberry, section 38, block 34, TPRR survey, T-5-N, southeast Dawson county is drilling out plug on 12 5-8 inch casing which has been set at 3,672 feet with 250 bags of cement.

Rogers Brothers No. 1 Belding, section 4, block 1, WTRR survey, wildcat effort in Crosby county is engaged in a fishing expedition at 2,877 feet in lime section.

Stanolind No. 1 Alverson, labor 23, league 4, San Augustine county school land survey in east Lubbock county and one mile south of the same company's No. 1 Stennett producer has progressed below 4,090 feet. This test will likely drill to around 5,200 feet in the hope of finding production in the Clear Fork zone of the Permian.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 W. W. Kurfee, section 6, block N, H&OB survey, south Hale county 10,000-foot exploration is whipstocking in new hole below 8,025 feet trying to get back the hole lost when it had to plug back from 8,744 feet on account of lost tools in the hole.

Hugh W. Stoddard No. 1 Kendrick, section 748, block D, John H. Gibson survey, 8,000-foot venture in southeast Yoakum county is drilling below 7,600 feet in lime.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No 2 Hamner, outpost to the Ownby field in Yoakum and in section 490, block D, Gibson survey has progressed under 1,210 feet in sand and shale.

Hockley Test Reports

Globe Oil & Refining company No. 1 Ellwood estate, labor 8, league 6, Wilbarger county school land survey, 6,200-foot exploration in southeast Hockley county is drilling ahead around 5,319 feet in lime.

Brown & Wheeler No. 1 Earl French, labor 22, league 74, Haskell county school land survey, nine miles northwest of Levelland in northwest Hockley has drilled under 4,452 feet in lime.

Helmerich & Payne, Inc., No. 1 M. L. Slaughter, in labor 1, league 116, C. A. Pierce sub-division No. 2 of Potter county school land survey and about six miles south of Morton has been abandoned and plugged at a total depth of 5,213 feet.

A Schlumberger test was taken before the curtain was rung down on the project, but it did not react sufficiently to warrant further exploitation. The hole had some saturation and some porosity and a lot of sulphur water and the section which carried the oil was extremely tight—so much so that the operators did not think acid would soften it enough to bring out any oil.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Lloyd Evans, 5,500-foot wildcat in section 15, block Y, psl survey, and on the far west side of Cochran county is still trying to secure water enough to drill with. At least seven water wells have been drilled and tested and none of them were strong enough to provide the water necessary.

Baby's 'Reverse' Heart Puzzles Physicians

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23 (AP)—The strange case of a three-months-old baby with a heart that works in reverse puzzled Baltimore physicians today.

Dr. Fritz J. Kimsey, the family doctor, said the large vessels of little Marlyn Stewart's heart were transposed so that circulation is opposite of normal. Her mother, Mrs. D. D. Stewart, said the child apparently suffers little.

Although reluctant to discuss the case, Dr. Kimsey did say that "the heart condition in incompatible with life. How the child has survived this long is impossible to say."

Did you know this about the WAC?

THAT THE ARMY NEEDS THOUSANDS MORE WACS AT ONCE?

From all branches of the Army, officers are wiring in reports: "The Wacs are doing a great job. Give us more!" But there aren't half enough Wacs to fill the requests. Your fighting men need you in the WAC—and now!

...that all qualified women have a chance to compete for officer training?

If you meet the requirements, you may join the WAC as an officer candidate direct from civilian life. Or, you may join the WAC as a private and compete for selection as an officer from the ranks.

...that WAC training may fit you for a career after the war?

Wacs learn radio, executive and staff work, mess management, photography, and dozens of other skills that may help them to a real career when the war is over.

...that WAC pay is good pay?

Even as a WAC private you get $50 a month—all clear. Wacs are given board, room, clothing, medical and dental care. Their pay increases with each step-up in rank.

...that Wacs are actually members of the Army?

Congress recently passed a bill making the WAC a part of the Army. So now a Wac gets all the benefits a soldier does—such as government life insurance at low rates, free mail, and veterans' benefits when the war is over.

...that being a Wac is an important way to help win the war?

Not every woman can be a Wac—only those between 20 and 50 years of age, single, or married but without dependents, without children under 14.

If you are one of these specially qualified women, then you belong in the WAC — that's where you can have a really vital share in helping win this war. Get full details at your nearest U. S. Symptoms Of Panic Reported In Reich

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The terrific fighting in Russia is surging toward a crisis of incalculable effect upon the war's duration.

A Red Army noose is drawing tighter about an estimated half-million Nazi first line troops East of the Kremenchug bulge in the Dnieper bend and in the Crimea.

Russian entrapment and annihilation of a greater army than the Nazis lost at Stalingrad, would have tremendous effects in Germany. Neutral observation posts in Europe already report panic symptoms in the Reich.

They painted this week as the blackest of the war for Germany.

SIMPSON

Informed Allied officials of long residence in Germany said from the inception of the war that only these two events could lead to a German internal crack-up: a desperate winter food situation in Germany as in the first war winter, or a crushing military defeat destroying German public faith in the Nazis army and its leadership.

Food stocks looted from conquered or satellite states bolster the German home front now against starvation-born defeatism. There is no reason yet believe that German public morale has been sufficiently shaken on that score nor sufficiently broken by Allied air attacks to warrant expectation of an early popular uprising against Hitler.

Another Disaster Element

The other element that might break the back of German public will to fight on or longer endure the Nazi yoke is present. A disaster in Russia that could shatter Army as well as civilian morale—coming on top of the Stalingrad defeat, of Tunisia, the loss of all Africa and the Mediterranean, and of Sicily and Italy's collapse to join the ranks of Nazis foes—is conceivable in the Dnieper bend battle.

There are many signs, too, that the German generals of the old school, never ideologically aligned with Hitler and Nazism and ever jealous of Nazi-made military rivals in high command posts may be approaching the breaking point with der fuehrer and his followers.

Every press report from Berlin to neutral capitols and all monitored German broadcasts for days have reflected increasing gloom over the military situation.

There is no question that the oncoming of another war winter in Russia fills Germany with dread.

POST-WAR HIGHWAY

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 23 (AP)—Definite plans for a post-war parkway highway from Canada down the Mississippi valley to New Orleans have been prepared, it was announced yesterday by DeWitt Rayburn, director of the State Department of Public works, who will represent Louisiana on a 10-state committee scheduled to meet soon in St. Louis to discuss the project.

Laws Of Vichy Being Scorned

MADRID, Oct. 23. (AP)—Scorn for the law which the Vichy government seems unable to enforce has reached such proportions that travelers arriving in Madrid reported today there is more order in areas controlled by patriot guerrillas than in the rest of France.

A month ago it was news when a band of armed men attacked a city hall somewhere in France and stole hundreds of ration cards. Now it's almost a daily occurrence.

It was news then, too, when a mere member of any of the collaborationist parties was assassinated. Now such events are so frequent that only the death of a collaborationist leader rates more than mild interest aboard.

Scores Of Incidents

There were scores of such incidents every week, inspired directly or indirectly by anti-German patriotism, but the general scorn for the German-Vichy promulgated laws has led also to an alarming growth of crime throughout France—crimes which have no connection with the war.

Yesterday's criminals today are trying to hide themselves under the cloak of patriotism. Guerrilla and underground leaders admit that their main task, outside of the areas they control, is to prove their bonafide patriotic motives to those Frenchmen who, while they sympathize with their activities, are wary of the pseudo-patriots.

Misplaced Trust Costs New Mexican $4,950

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—J. G. Cash, owner of a bar in Carrizozo, N. M., was out a load of liquor—and $4,950—he told Dallas police today.

Cash came to Dallas Oct. 6 with a man he had known for some time in Carrizozo to get a load of liquor, which the acquaintance said he could get easily.

The New Mexico man became ill while here and gave the man the $4,950 to take the liquor to Carrizozo.

He's still waiting for his supplies.

The gathering, set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at Hotel Hilton, will include a dinner and observance of the Feast of the Tabernacles, annaually celebrated by Scottish Rite Masons throughout the world.

DeWitt Landis will serve as toastmaster at the dinner, Mr. Prouty said. Others having parts in the program will be the club's secretary, Ed Parker, Dr. Ernest Wallace, Dr. Sam G. Dunn, Neil H. Wright, Dean James M. Gordon, Dean James G. Allen, Al Glassman, Lennis Baker, Dean W. C. Holden, Rev. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, and Chas. A. Guy, all of Lubbock; Dr. John Turner, of Brownfield, and W. D. T. Claude Grollman is in charge of the dinner arrangements

Reminder On Tax Discounts Given

Reminder that state, county and some school taxes must be paid during the coming week if advantage is to be taken of the full 3 per cent discount was given Saturday by H. B. Bryan, county assessor-collector.

Starting Nov. 1 and during the remainder of that month, he explained, the discount will drop to 2 per cent, and during December it will be only 1 per cent. No discount is allowed on taxes paid during January, and penalties go into effect Feb. 1.

Tax payments thus far have been unusually heavy, the official reported. Collections have totaled $115,955.62, including $37,566.31 in state taxes, $53,290.67 for the county, and $25,098.64 for rural school districts for which Bryan is collector.

Poll tax payments also have been unusually heavy, he reported. The total through Saturday morning was 907.

The collector emphasized that early payments of poll taxes are more advisable this year than ever before. Because of the hot 1944 elections, all poll tax records are almost certain to be broken. The problem this year is aggravated by the fact that the tax collector is short-handed.

Some confusion seems to exist in the matter of obtaining exemption certificates. Every person who passed his or her 60th birthday anniversary during 1942 and living within the Lubbock city limits must obtain a certificate in order to vote. Those living outside the city limits can vote without a certificate. The state law requires a certificate of such a person living within a city of 10,000 or more population, but exempts those living outside a city of that size, he explained.

Also eligible for exemption certificates are persons who reach their 21st birthday during 1943. However, they must be 21 at the time of an election before they are eligible to vote.

LAAF Noses Out Raiders, 10 To 7, In Return Tilt

Roger Smith Runs And Kicks Fliers To Win Over Alma Mater; Late Tech Rally Fails

By MACK TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Roger Smith, a lad who has rang the Victory Bell at Texas Tech many times, hung the bell in silence Saturday night as he led Lubbock Army Air Field to a 10 to 7 revenge victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

It was sweet revenge for the soldiers, who suffered a 26 to 14 defeat at the hands of Texas Tech early in the season, and was a tribute to the coaching of Albert Wirz and G. B. Morris, a pair of Northwest Texas boys who have brought the soldiers a long way along the road to a great season with their coaching.

* * *

Morris combined his coaching Saturday night with playing a great defensive game for Army in a line that played jam up ball in overpowering the youthful Red Raiders throughout the night.

Smith teamed up with Buster Dixon, the Ennis Express in driving to a sparkling victory over the collegians. It was Smith's field goal in the third quarter that provided the difference in the score between the two teams. It was a toss up between the ground gaining ability of the two Army backs. Dixon scored the touchdown.

Brewer, Melton Shine

It was a great night for Bob Brewer, the Blonde Bomber, of the Tech backfield, and produced a new scoring threat for the collegians. Brewer did some great work in leading in the attack of the Red Raiders, and it was his hard running slashes downfield that brought the lone Tech touchdown, and he blossomed out as a passer to set up the touchdown in the third quarter.

Buster Melton came into his own in the ball game, and played the greatest defensive and offensive game he has turned in this year. He joined with the Blonde Bomber in slashing to some long gains through the Army line and was a constant threat.

Freddie Brown, the Mighty Mite, who has sparked the Red Raiders in past games, was on the spot Saturday night and hard charging LAAF linemen never gave the Burkburnett boy much chance to get away as he did in the first game between the two teams.

In the forward wall for Tech, the defensive star of the night would be hard to pick. Hubert Bechtol, slowed by a back injury, played a great ball game, while in there, as did Don Dudley. Pirtle and Browning at the right guard and tackle positions were turning in good games. Defensively in the backfield, shining stars were again Brewer and Melton.

Army kept the Red Raiders backed off throughout the first half, and Tech was never able to offer a single threat. The closest Tech came to a threat in the first half was when Brewer intercepted Dixon's pass on the 50 and stormed down to the Army 34. On the next play, Dixon intercepted Brown's pass on the 20 and roared back to the Army 46.

Riley Sparkles

Harry Riley snuffed out the first Army threat to score as he plucked a stray Army pass out of the air on the Tech 10 and romped to the 22 with the ball. After a couple of plays, Melton kicked to the Army 32.

Army then launched a 68 yard drive that Texas Tech was never able to check until it had paid off in a touchdown.

Dixon started the drive by storming to the 40, but LAAF drew a penalty on the next play to set them back on the 35.

Smith put the soldiers on the move on the next play as he roamed far to his left, cut down field between two tacklers, and Brown, the Tech safety man ran him out of bounds on the Tech 32. It was a 33 yard gallop.

Dixon and Smith alternated down to the Tech 18. Smith then took a short pass from Dixon and roared down to the Tech 3 before he was roped in. Dixon hit right tackle and thundered into the end zone for the touchdown. Smith kicked the extra point to give the soldiers a 7 to 0 lead.

The second quarter provided little in the way of fireworks as the kicking of Melton kept the soldiers pushed back from any threats.

Army Scores

Coming back from the intermission, the Army lads offered their last bid for a touchdown, and settled for a field goal. Smith took the kickoff and roared back to the Tech 46 from his own 25. Dixon was spilled for a yard loss, then Smith rifled a pass to Schmidt that moved the ball down to the Tech 30. Dixon knifed through the line to the 20. Dixon picked up another yard, then Smith carried down to the 13 on two jries at the line. Dixon then made a first down on the Tech 9.

After an incomplete pass, Smith went to the 7, but on the next try, Dixon was swarmed by the battling Red Raiders and thrown for a loss back on the 12. Smith then dropped back at a slight angle to the left of the goal posts, and with Dixon holding, Smith booted the victory squarely between the uprights.

Late in the third period, Dixon kicked out of bounds on the Tech 40 and Texas Tech stormed back to score. Brewer smashed his way to the 48. Brewer then caught LAAF flat footed when he took the ball and fired downfield to Bechtol with a beautiful pass that Bechtol scooped in on the run and fought his way to the Army 35 yard line before he could be pulled to earth by a swarm of tacklers.

Brewer Scores

On the next play, Brewer went wide to his left, ducked his head and knifed across, dragging tacklers with him and shaking off others in the drive. Brown kicked the extra point to keep Tech in the ball game.

Texas Tech made one last futile bid for the victory in the fourth quarter. Smith kicked over the goal line and Tech started a drive from the 20.

Brown circled right end for the 29. Melton stormed through the line to smash down to the 50, and when trapped latteraled to Bechtol who went on to the Army 48. Brown then took a latteral from Brewer to carry on to the Army 44. Brewer circled left end on a statue of liberty play and picked up four yards. Melton smashed into the line for six more.

Brewer came back with another hard drive that gained six and put the ball on the Army 28. Brown then circled his own right end behind some beautiful blocking and went to the Army 6 yard line.

But there the "good old army line" rose up as one man and stemmed the drive. Brown failed to gain, a pass was incomplete, Brewer smashed around end to reach the three and Brown punched to the two on the last try, and the ball went over on downs.

Army then held the ball as the clock ran out, and when Tech did get the ball, Army gave Brown little chance to take to the air for the three plays the kids had left before the end of the game.

Southwestern Is Upset, 27 To 6

'Dream Team' Loses To Louisiana Club

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 23.—Two fine football teams hooked up here tonight in one of the roughest games ever played in Texas with Southwestern Louisiana Institute removing Southwestern University from the unbeaten ranks with a 27-6 victory—thanks mostly to the great Alvin Dark.

The little guy from Louisiana State University — sent to SLI in the Marine training program — dominated the play, making one touchdown, kicking three points afterward and setting up other southwestern Louisiana scores.

Trade Punches To Jaw

A crowd of 20,000 came to Rice field to see the two Marine squads trade touchdowns, socks to the jaw and most everything else. Once two members from each squad hooked up in a fist fight on the sidelines.

Throughout the game there were numerous roughing penalties.

Proceeds from the game went to war relief after expenses were taken out.

SLI, which had played only one game prior to tonight, is undefeated and stands a good chance of being invited to the Sugar Bowl. Representatives of the New Orleans grid classic were in the stands.

SLI got tow touchdowns in the opening period with Virgil Eikenberg, formerly of Rice, crashing through right guard from the one-foot line for the first counter and dark passing to Windell Williams, also a former Rice player, for 41 yards and the next score. Dark kicked the first extra point.

Army Gridders March Over Yale, 39 To 7

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23. (AP)—Army didn't bring its cadets along to the Yale bowl to march before the game today, but there was an Army parade just the same.

The all-victorious Cadet footballers staged this one with all the trimmings, displaying their gridiron equivalents of heavy tanks, big guns and an assortment of block busters as they walloped Yale's very-blues 39-7 and ran their winning string to five straight for the season.

Before a crowd of 33,000 the West Pointers pushed four touchdowns over in the first half and waltzed to another pair in the last two quarters as they completely outclassed the home club, except for a few brief moments in the second half.

One of these moments came in the third period, when Ray Scussell blasted through the middle of the Army line, to gallop 73 yards to the West Point eight. Four plays later, Scussell passed to Al Mahoney down the alley for Yale's lone score.

This marked the first time this season Army has been scored on.

NTAC, Ags Play Scoreless Tie

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 23 North Texas Agricultural College, little brother of Texas A. and M. in the state's agricultural college system, uncovered a vicious defense to battle the Cadets to a 0-0 tie at Kyle Field today.

Smothering each Aggie drive before it could reach full development, NTAC clicked in spots to roll off ten first downs to the Aggies' three, and mustered a threat in the fourth quarter which faded only after McMinn, taking a long heave from Pete Stout, dashed across to be called back when the pass was ruled illegal.

Mars Perfect Record

The result left Texas A. and M. among the nations unbeaten teams, but marred a record perfect through four games before today.

Long and fancy kicking by Red Maley, the former Southern Methodist star, for NTAC, and Stanley Turner of the Aggies; an 88-yard dash across the goal line by Bond of NTAC, called back because he stepped out of bounds; and Deere's 38-yard dash after intercepting an NTAC pass, featured first half play.

Tulsa Takes 55 To 0 Decision Over Utah

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 23. (AP) — Tulsa's Golden Hurricane crushed the Utah Redskins, 55-0 on Skelly stadium's rain-swept gridiron today before a crowd of 6,000. Red Wade passed for three touchdowns, returned a punt 50 yards for another and galloped 48 yards for a fifth to lead the Tulsa offensive.

PITT COMES THROUGH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23 (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh broke loose in the last quarter for two touchdowns, after playing listlessly throughout the first three quarters, and scored two touchdowns to defeat Bethany college of West Virginia, 18 to 0, for the Panthers' second football victory of the season today.

O'Donnell Seeks Grid Game For November 5

O'DONNELL, Oct. 23: (Special) —The O'Donnell High School football team is seeking a game for November 5 with some team in this area, and prefer a Class A team. O'Donnell plays the Brownfield "B" squad Thursday night at O'Donnell.

Last Thursday, the high stepping O'Donnell club romped to a 45 to 0 win over the Lamesa "B" team. Most of the scoring was done on long runs from midfield.

C. L. Tomlinson, Hubert McGallion and Levin Davis shared the scoring honors for O'Donnell with the Ratliff twins, Jimmy Schooler and David Thompson defensive stars of the club.

PENN BESTS COLUMBIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—With Joe Kane scoring three touchdowns the University of Pennsylvania's undefeated and untied football team easily beat Columbia, 33 to 0, for its fifth straight victory today before 15,000 at Baker field.

Ten Schoolboy Teams Roll On With Perfect Records

(By The United Press)

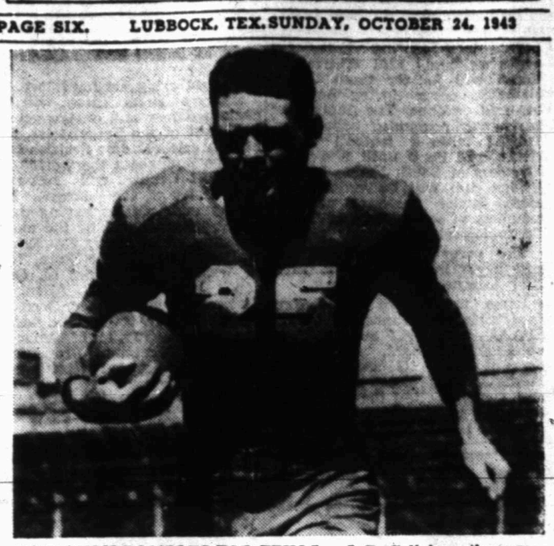

The ranks of perfect-record teams in the Texas schoolboy grid chase narrowed to an even dozen today as two of the unbeaten, untied elevens met defeat last night —one of them in a rank upset.

Biggest surprise was the convincing 27-7 margin by which a well-regarded Brackenridge of San Antonio team trimmed undefeated John Reagan of Houston, an early season victor over Austin's defending state champions and regarded as a favorite to at least gain a close decision over the San Antonio club.

Also toppled from the select list was Masonic Home's little Mighty Mites, who fell before a powerhouse North Side of Fort Worth machine, 20-0, a not unexpected result.

The ten other perfect-record teams which were scheduled this week end came through without close calls.

Ysleta defeated El Paso High, 18-6; San Angelo ran up the biggest score of the night in Walloping Lamesa 71-6; Denison trimmed Ennis, 20-7; Amarillo dropped Plainview, 33-6; Goose Creek Downed Conroe, 42-0; Marshall had an easy time with Athens, 38-6; Lufkin took Livingston into camp, 31-0; McAllen defeated Harlingen, 18-0, and Longview downed Kilgore, 20-0. Fort Worth Poly, the other unbeaten, untied team, defeated Paschal of Fort Worth, 28-13 Thursday night.

CALLAHAN RAMBLES FOR TEXAS — J. R. Callahan, the same grid ace who cavorted for Texas Tech until the war came along and moved him to Texas University, scored two touchdowns and otherwise aided in the Longhorns' smashing 58 to 0 decision over Rice Saturday afternoon, in Austin. Callahan caught a 27-yard pass for the one counter, and plunged one yard to climax a 90-yard drive for the other tally. See story to right.

Pacific Hits Snag In Trojans, 6-0

Army Defeats Yale; Irish Retain Crown; Northwestern Bests Ohio State, 13-0

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. — Notre Dame, its well-oiled "T" geared football machine working to perfection, kept its place at the head of the National football parade today while two of the West Coast's highly regarded elevens, College of Pacific and March Field, tasted defeat for the first time this season.

With Angelo Bertelli working less than 20 minutes and the remainder of the first team not much more, the Irish rolled over freshman-studded Illinois, 47 to 0. Notre Dame scored three times while under Bertelli's guidance and thrice under the direction of Johnny Lujack, who'll take over the generalship of the Irish eleven when Angelo departs for Parris island marine base after next week's game with Navy at Cleveland.

75,000 See Game

Pacific, enjoying its greatest year under the guidance of 81-year old Alonzo Stagg, finally ran into a snag with unbeaten Southern California, losing to the Trojans, 6 to 0, on a last period touchdown before 75,000 fans. While southern California was asserting itself as the No. 1 team of California division of the Pacific coast conference, undefeated Washington whipped power-laden March Field 27 to 7.

Army rolled over Yale 39 to 7 although it was the first time this season that the Cadets have had their goal line crossed, and Pennsylvania's Quakers smothered outmanned Columbia 33 to 0.

Purdue's boilermakers had trouble with Iowa for three quarters but pushed over three touchdowns in the final chapter to win 28 to 7. Northwestern, sparked by Otto Graham, found a stubborn foe in Ohio State in winning 13 to 0. It was the first time in 60 games that a high school or college team coached by Paul Brown, Ohio mentor, had been shut out.

Michigan won the little Brown Jug from Minnesota with Bill Daley, ex-Gopher, and ElRoy Hirsch, formerly of Wisconsin, leading the Wolverine to a 49-6 triumph.

Louisiana State Triumphs

Louisiana State made it two straight for the season over Georgia in the South's No. 1 game, winning 27 to 6, while Tulane nosed out Southern Methodist 12 to 6 and the Georgia Pre-Flight boys turned back the Pre-Fighters from North Carolina 20 to 7.

The big game of the year in the Rocky Mountain area, involving two previously undefeated elevens, saw Colorado College outscore the University of Colorado 16 to 6. The Texas Longhorns strengthened their challenge for the Southwest conference title by taking a 58-0 decision over Rice, while the Texas Aggies were held to a scoreless deadlock by NTAC in a non-conference affair. An intersectional game saw Tulsa overwhelm Utah, 55-0.

Somewhat of a surprise, at least in the size of the score, was the 39-0 beating St. Mary's Pre-Flight handed California and the 20-7 licking Cornell took from Colgate.

In the all-Big six games, Nebraska nosed out Kansas, 7 to 6, and Oklahoma defeated Kansas State, 37-0.

Kirkwood Accused Of Using Too Much Gas

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22. (U.P.)— Joe Kirkwood, Huntingdon Valley golf professional, used seven times as much gasoline as he was allotted to drive to Army camps for exhibitions, his ration board in suburban Abington, Pa., charged today in revoking his coupon books.

The board acted after Office of Price administration spokesman said Kirkwood drove 16,065 miles on golfing tours between Jan. 28 and July 13.

Navy Scores Late To Stop Georgia, 28-14

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Navy came back with a surge after being held on even terms by the Georgia Tech football team tonight, and with two touchdowns in the final period vanquished the Engineers 28 to 14. A crowd of 56,223 watched the contest which saw Hal Hamberg, stocky little back, throw three touchdown passes and plunge for the fourth score for the Middies.

PENN STATE TRIUMPHS

Texas Swamps Weak Owls, 58 To 0, In Title Drive

Former Lubbock Stars In Game

Callahan, Thorne Score For Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—The University of Texas Longhorns climbed another rung on the ladder toward the Southwest conference football championship with a 58-0 victory over the Rice Institute Owls here today.

It was Texas' largest score against its old rival since 1915, when the Longhorns amassed a total of 59 points.

Too much speed, particularly in the person of Ralph Ellsworth, a converted trackman who looked like a million dollar war bond at the tailback position, was the principal factor in the Texas victory.

Score In Every Period

The Longhorns scored twice in the opening period, twice in the second, four times in the third and once in the final quarter.

The only Rice threat resulted from two passes which carried to the 21-yard line in Texas territory, but it fizzled in an interception that brought a Texas score.

Bucky Sheffield gave a good performance for Rice with his kicking and passing but the visitors were strictly out of their class.

Callahan Scores First

In the first period Ralph Ellsworth threw a 27-yard pass to J. R. Callahan, former Texas Tech ace, who was playing for injured Bobby Coy Lee, at fullback, for the initial touchdown. In a little while Ellsworth set up another score with a 39-yard prance off right tackle. He was spilled on the Rice three but went over a few moments later. Joe Parker missed the point.

A pass from Ellsworth to Joe Magliolo for 10 yards was good for a touchdown early in the second period. Parker kicked goal and the Longhorns starting using subs liberally. In the same period Bill McGinnis intercepted Sheffield's pass on the 15, ran 40 yards and lateralled to Milner Thorne, former Lubbock High School star, who ran 45 more for another touchdown. Parker missed the try for placement.

Callahan Scores Again

Callahan carried over from the one to top a 90-yard drive for a score at the start of the third period. Parker missed the try for point. Ellsworth a few minutes later swept left end for 56 yards and a touchdown, Parker adding the point this time. Max Munn ran 29 yards to the Rice one in the same period, and then went over on the next play. Again Parker was good with the kick. A blocked Rice punt was picked up by Texas' Jim Kishi moments later and he ran 9 yards to score. Magliolo missed the point try. Paul Perez scored the final touchdown after a 17-yard dash had set if up on the one. Parker ran the ball over after his kick for point was blocked.

Texas gained 397 yards rushing and 133 passing, with Ellsworth contributing 199 of the first and 86 of the second. First downs for Texas numbered 20, for Rice two.

Frogs Take 25-0 Win Over Oklahoma Aggies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 23. (AP) —Texas Christians brought speed and football know-how here tonight to outclass Oklahoma A. & M's enthusiastic youngsters and smother them under a 25 to 0 score before 5,000 in Taft stadium.

The Texans scored by land and by air, Douglas Carter and Jim Lucas alternating in going over. A fifth touchdown in the second period was called back after Lucas had swept around right end, and he repeated on the next play, with the identical maneuver at the same spot.

Fightin' Irish Rule The Grid Roost—

Mighty Notre Dame "Blitz" Crushes Illinois, 47 To 0

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 23.—Notre Dame reaffirmed its claim to the role of the No. 1 football team today by pounding to a convincing 47 to 0 victory over an Illinois eleven which numbered eight freshmen in its starting lineup.

It was the fourth time in five triumphs the Irish have topped the 40-point total.

Master craftsman Anglo Bertelli, playing his last home game for the Irish and his next-to-last in collegiate competition, worked all the first period, less than four minutes of the third, and one play near the end of the game to receive a rousing sendoff from the crowd of 26,000. The other Irish regulars played just a few minutes more than the famed passer.

Sparks Irish Punch

While Bertelli was in, Notre Dame scored three of its touchdowns. Two in the first period were by Julius Rykovich, Illinois' most promising freshman back last year who now is a V-12 student at Notre Dame. He took a 35-yard pass from Bertelli on a dead run at the goal line for one, and plunged over from the four for the other.

Bertelli threw seven passes in all and completed five for 83 yards. Reserve Halfback Bob Palladino scored two more Irish touchdowns in the second period to give Notre Dame a 26 to 0 halftime lead.

Creighton Miller went 30 yards down the sidelines to score in the third period and Fred Early followed up with a nine-yard touchdown run. Johnny Lujack made the fourth period marker.

The Irish outweighed the Illini in first downs, 25 to 8, and in total yards gained 637 to 162, including 545 yards by rushing.

The Sports Eye

By Mack Turner

IF YOU missed the football game Friday night between the Westerners and Temple—you missed what ever kind of football you like to see.

That sums up the whole matter in a nut shell.

If you are a devotee to defensive football with very little scoring, you had that in the first half. A whole half of it. If you like to see a team make a sustained drive to a touchdown, using both ground and air attack, you should have seen the first Lubbock touchdown. If you like long runs through a broken field for touchdowns, you should have seen Temple score twice in machine gun order. If you like deadly aiming passers who can reach out into the distance and pluck one in the arms of a receiver for long range scoring punch, you should have seen Lubbock's scoring of the winning touchdown.

That takes care of the scoring. But that wasn't all that the game had for the fans. If you like to see a game bunch of youngsters square off on the goal line for a "Horatius At the Bridge" stand against a power driven machine that had roared down unstopped to the goal line, you would have seen Lubbock do the trick twice, once in each half.

BUT the most impressive thing about the play of the Westerners was an ability to take advantage of the breaks that came their way. There is an old saying in the sports world, "It's not always the team that gets the breaks that wins—it's the team that knows how to take advantage of the breaks."

The Westerners were taking that advantage of the breaks as they came along. They made their own breaks and made them count. In cold figures, they were outplayed by the Temple Wildcats, but the payoff is in the score, and they certainly were not outscored.

From now on, the Westerners are going to be in the ball games that count. They swing into stride down the championship road with critics giving them only a second fiddle rating to Amarillo.

The Westerners have one of the toughest assignments first—the Pampa Harvesters. The local youngsters may not win the league race in District One, but if they play the same kind of heads up, hard fighting football they showed in the Temple game Friday night, Lubbock fans can be proud of the boys even though they don't win any district titles.

THE top team in the nation is Notre Dame. The Fighting Irish have left little room for argument in getting this rating, and fans of Texas Tech can well take a bit of personal pride in the success of the Irish.

Ed McKeever, one time Texas Tech great, is Frank Leahy's backfield coach at Notre Dame.

About a week or so ago, McKeever broke into print in Arch Ward's column in the Chicago Tribune with praise for Lubbock. The article read:

"Ed McKeever, backfield coach at Notre Dame, is unique in that he thinks Lubbock, Tex., is God's garden spot . . . if you have never been in Lubbock maybe you don't understand what an odd fellow Ed is in this geographical-horticultural appraisal."

In a letter from McKeever that accompanied the clipping was a note filled with sighs of relief in safely passing the Michigan game, and looking forward to the meeting of Georgia Tech. Naturally the Irish were gunning for Michigan and Georgia Tech which had beaten the Irish last year.

Tulane Defeats SMU, 12 To 6

(By The United Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23—Tulane's spirited green wave struck with two lightning touchdown plays here today to whip the Mustangs of Southern Methodist, 12 to 6 before 22,000 fans.

The Greenies got their first touchdown midway of the opening period on Tailback Billy Jones' 18-yard pass to End Aubrey "Snake" Bailey. The play climaxed a drive that started from the Mustangs' 47-yard line., Bailey's try for point after touchdown was wide.

Freshman Pays Off

Jim Shiver, freshman transfer from Auburn, got the second Tulane touchdown in the fourth period on the most sensational play of the game. Shiver intercepted Bob Stewart's long pass on the Tulane 43, cut to his right then reversed his field and scampered 557 yards for the score. Shiver missed the extra point try, but the Greenies' lead appeared safe with less than six minutes remaining in the game.

Following the second Tulane touchdown, Leon Cunningham returned the kickoff 15 yards to the 41 and from that spot the Mustangs drove for a touchdown.

Fullback C. D. Allen finally creshed over tackle for the score on fourth down after S.M.U. had made it first and goal to go on Tulane's 3yard line. Shaw's try for point was blocked by McMillan.

SMU Threat Fizzles

Buddy Gatewood, Tulane center who made All-Southwest honors at Baylor last year, and Tailback Lloyd Parker of the Mustangs were the outstanding performers of the game.

Southern Methodist made one of their most serious early scoring threats in the second quarter with Parker, Cunningham and Gipson alternating in advancing the ball from their own 38-yard line to the Tulane four, where the Greenies held.

Both lines played fine defensive games. Southern Methodist made 75 yards rushing, net, and Tulane 56, and the Mustangs got 121 yards passing to 63 for Tulane.

Michigan Storms Over Minnesota, 49 To 6

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 23. (AP) —Michigan's amalgamated Wolverines today stormed back into the victory column with a pulverizing 49-6 triumph over previously undefeated Minnesota, the most one-sided victory in the 34-year little brown jug series and the worst defeat in modern Gopher annals.

The Wolverines, crushed by Notre Dame 35-12 two weeks ago, rolled up seven touchdowns with ridiculous ease to halt a nine-year Minnesota winning streak over Michigan and give Coach Fritz Crisler his first victory over the school he coached in 1930 and 1931.

Bill Daley performed as expected against his former war-reduced Gophen mates, but it was Wisconsin's Elroy Hirsch who provided most of the fireworks. Hirsch scored three touchdowns, his first a sensational 61-yard payoff gallop on the first runing play of the game, and his passing set up another.

In topping the 40-0 drubbing handed Michigan by Minnesota in 1935, hitherto the most decisive victory in the series, the Wolverines steam-rollered to 230 yards from scrimmage, compared with only 60 by the Gophers.

TEXAS GRIDDER DIES

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 23. (AP) —John Paterson Jones, 17, died today as a result of injuries received in a football game here two weeks ago between French High School and St. Anthony High.

"Jarrin' Jawn" Kimbrough Will Play Against SPAAF

There's "a touch o' Texas in New Mexico" right now and as a result one of the Southwest's hottest inter-city gridiron rivalries lives on unrationed.

BAAH (before Adolf and Hirohito) Lubbock and Albuquerque often got their dander up over the football fued between Texas Tech and New Mexico. But wartime cancelled the two teams' little setto this season. Taking up where the college boys leave off, Kirtland Army Air Field at Albuquerque, under the same Coach Ted Shipkey who headed the New Mexico lads, will play host to South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos this coming Saturday afternoon in Albuquerque, and it will be a trio of former Texas grid stars who will spearhead the AAB attack.

"Jarrin' Jawn" Kimbrough, All American backfield ace of the Texas Aggies in 1940, will be Kirtland's starting fullback. Connie Sparks, the old warehouse of Texas Christian and running mate of Davey O'Brien, will start at right half. Wick Malphurs, former Floydada coach who attended Sam Houston Teachers, will likely get the call at quarterback, and Lewis Alexander, former Texas Tech performer, will probably see plenty of action at center.

The Commandos took it easy the past week but will bear down the next few days. Meanwhile, Capt. Nathan B. Eubank, coach at SPAAF, announced that Abilene Army Air Field had been scheduled for a game in Abilene the afternoon of Nov. 20, the week following the all-important game with Lubbock Army Air Field Nov. 11.

Negroes In Riot Face Sentences

DETROIT, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—Charles (Little Willie) Lyons, 21, and Leo Tipton, 35, two negroes accused of being the principal inciters of the June 21 race riots, will be sentenced Oct. 29 for the part they played in the insurrection that cost 34 lives.

An all-white jury, charged by Judge John J. Maher to decide the case "on the facts alone, without hatred, animosity, fear or favor," found the pair guilty late yesterday after three and one-half hours of deliberation.

Assistant District Attorney John G. Balose described Lyons and Tipton in his closing argument to the jury as the pair who "lit the bomb and dropped it in the heart of the negro district."

"The bomb," he said, "resulted in the most tragic chapter in Detroit's history.

Lyons was identified as the man who carried the story that a negro woman and her baby had been thrown into the Detroit river from the Belle Isle bridge by whites.

Tipton was identified as the one who repeated the story over a public address system to a large crowd of negroes in a dance hall. Police said it was Tipton's action that incited the negroes to riot.

A carnival which toured England in the middle of the 18th century exhibited a man eight feet tall who could snap six-inch posts across one knee.

'General' Coxey, Of Traditional Army, Plans Political Campaign At Age Of 90

MASSILLON, Ohio, Oct. 23 (AP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, who led an army of unemployed to Washington nearly half a century ago, still is campaigning at 90. He began a campaign for mayor today on a platform covering the war effort, stray dogs, circuses and drunks.

White-haired and still wearing his vates-ajar collar, Coxey views tipplers with a kindly eye. He promises they will be escorted home, instead of to jail, if discovered on the streets after overindulgence.

"The federal and state governments levy a very heavy tax on intoxicating liquors and beverages," he declared in a written campaign statement. "The state has heavy license fees on saloons and taverns. The municipalities are beneficiaries, receiving a share in said taxes and fees.

To Take Drunks Home

"If a customer overindulges in said saloons and taverns, then goes out on the street in an intoxicated condition, it shall be the duty of the city police to take such person or persons home and not to jail."

Advocates Municipal Utilities

His platform also advocates municipal ownership of public utilities, a municipal coal yard and under the heading "pleasure, information and educational" asserts:

"Circuses shall be allowed to exhibit in Massillon during 1944 and 1945."

Circuses were permitted to show here on Sunday during Coxey's rule a decade ago.

Coxey's most historic bid for fame was his march on the nation's capital May 1, 1894, with an army of jobless seeking a program of road construction and other public improvements to be financed by non-interest bearing bonds. Police disbanded the army and arrested the "general" on the capitol steps.

Congress May Strip McNutt Of Power

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—A congressional move to strip Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt of all authority over administration of the selective service system was disclosed today with formal publication by the House military committee of its explanation of a new legislation on draft deferments.

The committee, by a vote reported as unanimous, wrote into a bill already passed by the Senate, a section directing the President to delegate to the director of selective service all the authority he was given under the original law. This would bypass McNutt, the manpower chief, who supervises Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the director of selective service.

The new legislation is slated for House action next week. It would strengthen the selective service director's authority on appeals and would nullify McNutt's recent order listing certain occupations as non-deferable, regardless of whether the employe has dependents.

Girl Runs From Dad, Dies In Snowstorm

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Oct. 23. (U.P.)—A sobbing, seven-year-old girl, afraid of a whipping by her father, ran through a blinding snowstorm across a desolate expanse of sagebrush until she collapsed and died of exposure authorities said today.

A searching party of sheriff's deputies found the body huddled beneath a clump of sagebrush where she apparently had sought protection from the storm.

The girl was Frances Archuleta, the bright-eyed daughter of a railroad worker, who lived in a lonely, weather-beaten home seven miles from Rock Springs.

Frances' two brothers who started to run away with her were caught by their father, but the spindle-legged girl out-distanced him. The father said the last time he saw his daughter alive was when she ran across the railroad tracks, running blindly into the storm Tuesday night. Her body was found 24 hours later, a half mile from home, covered with snow.

The father, Fidenco, at an inquest murmured "I don't know why she did this."

'Seeing-Eye' Dog Law Is To Be Enforced

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—Lon E. Alsup, executive secretary of the State Commission for the Blind, said today his office had received numerous complaints of violations of the law which permits muzzled seeing-eye dogs to be taken into hotels and tourists camps and onto trains and busses.

The law was passed at the last session of the Legislature, providing a maximum fine of $200 for violations.

Alsup said he did not want to embarrass anybody but that violations would be prosecuted if they continued.

Most complaints concern hotels, but others have come from blind persons who said they had been refused permission to ride a bus or take their dogs into public restaurants.

Slump Is Indicated In Meat Production

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Although livestock on farms at the start of next year will be larger than on any January 1 since the war started, the feeling among many experts is that the nation's meat animal population will slump during the year.

Great world-wide demand for meat had encouraged the breeding of all classes of livestock, but the industry has reached the point where there simply is not enough grain in the country to support any further expansion, observers state.

The number of breeding sows marketed this summer was considerably higher than last year, and although the fall spring crop is expected to be heavier than last year, and, although the fall spring crop is expected to be heavier than last autumn, it is believed that next spring's crop will be below the record farrowing of 1943.

Scouts Visit Grave Of Theodore Roosevelt

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 23. (AP)—More than 500 boy scouts made their annual pilgrimage to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt today where they heard chief scout Dr. James E. West extol the former president as one who did "all the splendid things that every boy hopes to accomplish."

Because of wartime transportation problems only token contingents of scout councils from Nassau county, Westchester county, greater New York, New England and New Jersey participated in the 24th annual ceremony.

"No citizen of America better typifies the spirit of scouting than Theodore Roosevelt," Dr. West said. "His memory is an inspiration to loyal citizenship and to service of the highest type."

Performer Who Hangs Himself And Lives, Killed In Act No. 13

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—Aloys "Drake" Peters, "the man who hangs himself and lives to tell the story," hanged himself in reality last night as he performed the finale of his act, listed No. 13 on the program of the firemen's wild west rodeo and thrill circus.

Peters, a 45-year-old circus veteran, climbed to the 70-foot balcony for his usual finale, after performing various trapeze acts for the 5,627 opening-night spectators. Knotting a rope made of strands of rubber covered with canvass around his neck, Peters prepared to leap.

After being announced to the audience as "the only man who hangs himself and lives to tell the story," the veteran performer jumped from the platform and was snapped 20 feet into the air as the "rope" stretched its length. Instead of acknowledging the applause, Peters dangled lifeless in mid-air, having reached the end of his rope.

An ambulance rushed the performer to Deaconess hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Trick Explained

The life-saving trick of the act, circus attendants explained, is to grab the resilient "rope" just before it becomes taut and "take the snap with your hands instead of your neck." They said spectators seldom notice the movement in the excitement of the act.

Ernie Young, who has booked Peters for 20 years, said that his friend was trying out a new rope and was performing his act from a height 25 feet greater than usual. Young believed that Peters grabbed the rope, but that it lacked the necessary resilince.

Home Building To Be Job-Creating Factor

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Private home building will take its place among the top job-creating industries after the war by producing a minimum of a million homes a year, The American Builder, a trade publication, predicted today.

The magazine said the minimum building requirements "would indicate employment for two million men a year."

Congress' Efforts To Hike Ceilings Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Through Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization, the administration struck back today at attempts in Congress to raise price ceilings on specific basic commodities.

Vinson declared opposition to the bill of Senator Thomas (D-Okla) to force a 35-cent-a-barrel increase in crude petroleum prices, contending its enactment would set a "harmful precedent" and open the way for other price-fixing by Congress with the result that administrative machinery for control of prices would be destroyed.

"If the Congress sets a minimum price for crude oil, there is no reason for it to refrain from similar action with respect to thousands of other commodities," Vinson said in a letter to Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the banking committee, before which the Thomas bill is pending.

Italians Blame Badoglio, King

ALGIERS, Oct. 23. (AP)—The leaders of six Italian political parties meeting here today in an attempt to mobilize Italy's recources to aid the Allies, indicated today that they lack full confidence in King Vittorio Emanuele and Premier Pietro Badoglio.

They blamed the Italian royal house for fascism's domination of Italy, and they accused Badoglio of allowing the Germans to recover from the surprise of the armistice in time to reinforce their armies in Italy.

Willingness Expressed

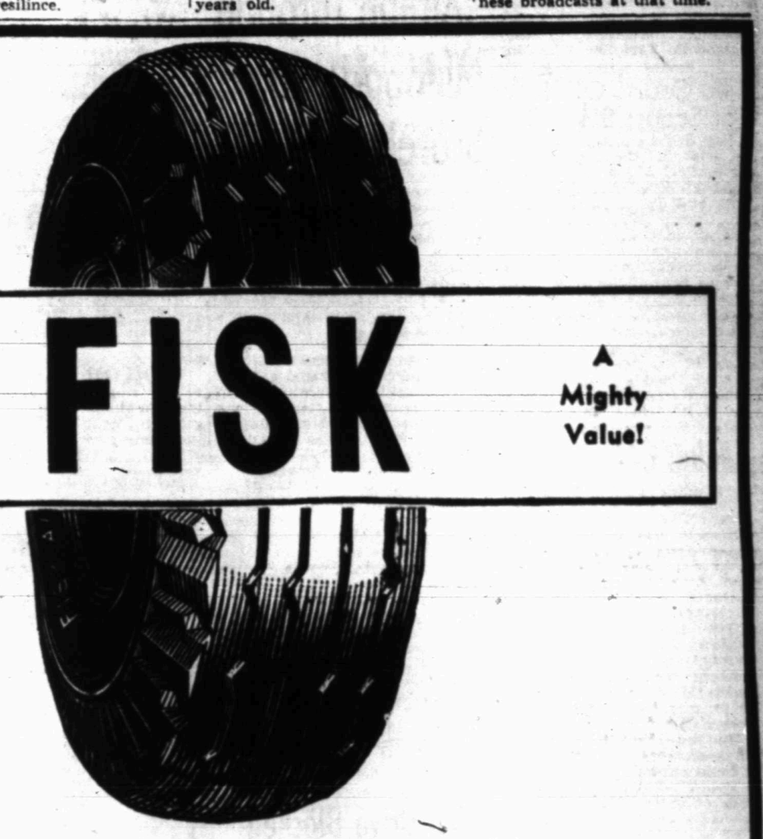

They expressed a wellingness, however, to cooperate with Badoglio until the end of the war.

Some of the party leaders pointed out with significance that neither the king nor Badolgio has made a public appearance in Naples although that city has been in Allied hands three weeks. The reason, they said, was that both were afraid public reaction would be unfavorable.

They added that Crown Prince Umberto was recognized on a main street in Naples recently, but his appearance caused no demonstration, either favorable or unfavorable.

VARGAS APPOINTED

LONDON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Jorge B. Vargas, former secretary to President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines, has been appointed Philippine ambassador to Japan, the Tokyo radio said today in a broadcast recorded by the British Ministry of Information. Vargas was appointed mayor of Manila in January 1942, according to Japanese broadcasts at that time.

Wheat Seeding Is Off To Poor Start

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Seeding of winter wheat in the Southwest is getting off to a poor start, threatening the government's program of increased production of the bread cereal next year, a leading grain elevator firm asserted today.

Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis, reported that its survey of the hard winter wheat area showed subnormal moisture over a wide section. Similar reports from trade sources have reached local commission houses.

"Seeding operations are being delayed in important southwestern winter wheat producing areas," Cargill said, "because of dry soil conditions. It is still a question whether seedings will be increased to cover in full the goal proposed in the war food program.

Production Outlook Dull

"Even though the seeding goal should be reached, the production outlook would not be very promising. Moisture is needed over the entire winter wheat area to stimulate growth and build up the reserve of sub-soil moisutre so necessary for good returns."

The national wheat acre goal next year is 68,000,000 compared with 54,149,00 planted for harvest this year. Much of the planned increase is the areas suffering from lack of moisture.

Parts of Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas are in need of rain. More than 8,000,000 acres of the total planned increase of approximately 14,000,000 is centered in these states.

The 1944 acre goals for these four states and the acreage planted for harvest this year:

	1944 Goal	1943 Harvest
Kansas	14,000,000	10,458,000
Nebraska	4,100,000	3,800,000
Texas	5,000,000	3,491,000
Oklahoma	5,800,000	3,800,000

Tanker Collision

Coast guard patrol boats which reached the scene within a few minutes circled dangerously close to the blazing vessels to pick up survivors.

The flaming hulls floated slowly northward in the Gulf Stream. The empty, less seriously damaged, tanker ran aground. Salvage crews floated the vessel and towed it to port, with the dead still aboard.

The laden tanker drifted almost 20 miles, burning so fiercely that it could not be approached before it struck bottom almost atop the hulk of a freighter sunk by enemy subs early in the war.

No one yet has boarded the ship, but men on rescue craft reported they could see piles of burned bodies.

The masters of both ships, and all except one of the navy reported.

All Lifeboats Burn

Second Assistant Engineer Edward Hethington, 28, of Charleston, aboard the empty tanker, said all lifeboats were burned and fell into the sea.

Emerging from the engine room, he related, "we had to run over a mass of charred bodies which almost blocked the port companionway."

Four of the survivors were taken to a Palm Beach hospital and the other 24 were taken to the Morrison Field Army Air base. All had injuries.

The survivors said they believe a spark generated when the two metal hulls clashed set off the explosion.

Ironically, the moon arose a few minutes after the disaster. Until it did, survivors said, the night was black.

Veteran Loses Son

William D. Greencorn, 76, of Franklin, Mass., a seaman for 60 years and a survivor of five previous shipwrecks, came through again, but his 19-year-old son, Calvin, making his first trip as an apprentice seaman, was lost.

"This is the end for me," the sorrowing father said. "I'm not going back to sea."

The exact cause of the collision may never be known since all navigation officers on both ships died. The points of impact were the bow of the southbound ship and the port fore of the northbound tanker.

Cotton Loans

(not to exceed 10 pounds a bale), up to the amount of the loan plus accrued interest.

Lubbock cotton men expressed fears last Wednesday that all storage space in local warehouses might be taken within the next two or three weeks. The farmer faces a problem in that he must have a warehouse receipt before he can obtain a loan through the CCC. To sell on the current market the farmer would suffer a loss, since the prevailing price is below that which can be obtained through a CCC loan.

Miss Haley, formerly dean of home economics at the University of South Dakota, will speak to various other groups while here, including the Lubbock County Home Economics association and clothing classes at Tech and Lubbock High school.

Quester's club first monthly meeting was held Thursday evening at the Hilton hotel, with Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department, reading a scientific paper on "Soil Conservation." Purpose of this club, whose members consist of faculty men, is to discuss scientific papers on various fields of endeavor.

Second Lt. J. C. Long, former Techsan, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Carrie Long of 2313 Twentieth street, on a few days leave. He received his wings in August at Stockton field, Calif.

Student directories will not be published this semester, according to Professor Cecil Horne, head of the journalism department. Fewer students enrolled at Tech would fewer directories bought, he said. Heretofore, the directories have financed themselves.

Airline Through Lubbock Asked

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 23 (AP)—Continental Air lines has filed with the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington an application seeking to extend its present routes to include operations between Tulsa, Okla., and Hobbs, N. M.

The proposed route would provide service to five additional cities with the application proposing intermediate stops at Shawnee, Okla., Oklahoma City, Okla., Lawton, Okla., Wichita Falls, and Lubbock, Tex.

PROPOSAL IS CONTINENTAL'S FIRST FOR SERVICE HERE

The application reported in Denver Saturday was the first that Continental has filed proposing to give airline service to Lubbock, according to information given here.

The line has a number of other applications pending before CAB, at least one of which proposes service from Hobbs to points along the Texas and Pacific railroad and thence south to San Antonio.

The new application apparently means that Continental has joined the list of numerous other operators seeking permission to serve Lubbock. Among those others is Braniff, which wants to put Lubbock on its Dallas-Denver line and to establish service through this city to Houston and San Antonio. Another applicant is American Airlines, which proposes to route its transcontinental line through Lubbock.

The latest air raid on Pomelaa was made in daylight, a daring procedure since the Liberators must fly unescorted.

The Kittyhawks attacking Gasmata exploded supply dump areas and blew up gun positions.

New Britain Area Hit

For the third straight day, Allied air attention was reported given to the western tip of New Britain which is nearest to MacArthur's newly won positions in New Guinea.

Continued air support was given Australian troops now engaged in a slow jungle advance along the Ramu valley toward Madang, the next enemy coastal base of importance on beyond Finschhafen. Fighter patrols over main road near Bogadjim, Madang's defense outpost, surprised a column of Japanese trucks and strafed them at low level.

The record Liberator bombardment around Sattelberg was announced in yesterday's communique.

The Germans now are solidly entrenched in their mountains positions and "there is no question now that the Germans are firmly established in a number of strongly held positions all along the front," an Allied officer said.

On the Fifth Army front German divisions hold an almost solid line, barring the approach to Rome, while on the Eighth Army front the Nazis have adopted a practice of holding a series of strongly defended heights, their guns commanding the approaches.

Newspaperman Types Obituary-Kills Self

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Oct. 23. (AP)—Charles N. Morgan, 75, retired Boston newspaper man, typed his obituary, then wrote a "lead" stating he was committing suicide because of an ailment, Coroner Joe Carpenter said.

Morgan's body was found today beside a gas stove, the jets open. The coroner recorded suicide.

Morgan's obituary declared that his ailment had deprived him of speech and was impairing his eyesight, Carpenter said.

He began newspaper work with the Boston Post, later was employed by the Associated Press in Boston. He also served 24 years with the Boston Herald.

War Production Holding Steady

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Arms production, which in August was reported to be getting "its second wind," stayed put in September.

While the heavy bomber output gained 6 per cent, Charles E. Wilson, acting chairman of the War Production board, reported tonight that generally munitions manufacture for September "held substantially to the August level," and said the failure to show a percentage gain "indicates more than anything else that we are approaching our production ceiling."

Value Up, Number Down

The monthly WPB production report showed a 2 per cent gain in September over August in airplanes and aircraft guns, ammunition and related equipment, on a dollar-value basis. Airplanes alone went up 4 per cent in value of production, although the number of planes produced dropped to 7,598, or 14 less than the August total.

Sharing the bright spot with heavy bombers was another critical element in the aircraft program, airborne signal equipment, which also jumped 6 per cent.

West coast aircraft plants, worst afflicted by manpower shortages and design changes, showed "slight improvement," it was said.

Ammunition, which made a poor showing in August, registered a 3 per cent gain in September. An 11 per cent rise was shown in artillery and tank gun ammunition.

Eisenhower Under Fire Touring Front

ON THE VOLTURNO RIVER FRONT, Oct. 21 (Delayed) (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, visiting the Fifth Army for the second time since the beginning of the Italian campaign, came under shell fire today enroute to forward positions along the Volturno river.

The commander in chief in the Mediterranean theater toured the left flank of the front and is preparing to visit the remaining sectors in the center and on the right tomorrow.

German artillery shelled a road North of Grazzanise and one shell exploded in a field opposite Eisenhower's jeep after he left the town and was winding along the river. There were no known casualties.

Traveling in his own military plane, Eisenhower landed at one of the airports near the front where Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, Fifth Army commander, met him.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Moore, Lubbock Gryder Courts, Rt. 1, on birth of a girl weighing 7 pounds 4 1-2 ounces at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning in Lubbock General hospital.

Sgt. and Mrs. George F. Stansbury, general delivery, Lubbock, on birth of a 7 pound 13 ounce girl at 7:50 o'clock Saturday morning in West Texas hospital. The father is stationed at SPAAF.

MOVING ART URGED

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—The United Nations radio at Algiers, in a broadcast reported by the Office of War information, urged Italians in the Nazi-occupied section of Italy today to take all moveable art objects from localities that may be bombed so that after the war the nation will still have the treasures "the whole civilized world admires."

Girl Found Stabbed To Death In Home

DARTMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 23 (AP)—Shirley May Wilcox, 14-year-old school girl, was found stabbed to death today in the parlor of her home in an isolated section of North Dartmouth.

The body bore one stab wound in the abdomen. There was no trace of the weapon.

She had been alone in the house. Her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wilcox, and an older brother had gone to work in nearby mills and three younger children were in neighboring New Bedford.

Antone Oliveria, a bread man, found the child's body when he stopped to make his customary delivery of bread. As he opened the back door of the house he saw a trace of blood on the floor and followed the small drops to the parlor, where he found Shirley May's body.

FIRST SERVICE FLAG—Who first thought of the blue-starred (or gold-starred), red-bordered rectangle of cloth that tells its proud story in millions of American windows today?

The service flag was originated back in 1917 by R. L. Quiesser, then a captain in the Fifth regiment, Ohio infantry. A Cleveland resident, he designed the emblem for use by families having members in the armed forces.

Capt. Quiesser's idea caught the popular fancy at once, finding official sanction as the city of Cleveland and other cities declared in favor of it's use, while the state of Ohio followed suit. The originator of the service flag died several years ago.

SCATTERINGS

PET PEEVE: The man or woman who holds out for the exact data when you are trying to relate something that doesn't matter much anyway . . . There's more than a touch of gold in the silver leaf maple in front of 2424 Twenty-fourth street . . . There are gorgeous chrysanthemums blooming in a number of Lubbock yards . . . Cadet Bill Jones, a student at West Point, writes he is one of three in his cavalry company who hasn't been thrown yet . . . Why do they call the gray thousers worn by Army officers "pinks"?

THERE is no more flattering evening wear for a slender young woman than a full skirt of a soft pastel color and a tight bodice of black . . . Some people seem to believe that the word "justa" belongs in front of the statement that a young soldier is a private . . . Wonder why young ladies will spend hours trying to put bows in their hair at just the right angle and then wear dirty saddle shoes or forget to wash their necks . . . If you didn't know it, stocks of coffee are way up; stamps marked "Coffee" in the ration book four you got this week end are purely coincidental. Rationing is not to be resumed.

Former ambassador Joseph E. Davies was having his picture taken on the set of "Mission to Moscow." Asked how he always managed to smile for the photographers, he answered: "All you have to do is to say 'cheese.' It's an automatic smile." Try it.

SPEAKING of Russian ambassadors, movie actress Madeleine Carroll described W. Averell Harriman as one of the world's ten most handsome men . . . Finis Mothershead, Tech-ex who has been on the editorial staff of the Abilene Reporter-News for several years, has gone to Albuquerque where he will be with the Associated Press bureau . . . History does repeat itself. We remember that "The Phantom of the Opera," a thriller of the silent days, showed in Lubbock on Hallowe'en week and having gone to a late show we came out onto a street filled with howling children in sheets and masks and were we scared before we got home! . . . The youngsters were so nice last year about behaving themselves on Hallowe'en and we hope for a repeat performance this week.

READING of the death of Ben Bernie we were taken back in fancy to ten years ago during A Century of Progress in Chicago where the orchestra leader in his prime with the inevitable cigar and with his violin tucked under his arm directed his musicians in soothing melodies . . . There is another Lt. Jack Mathis in the Army Air Corps, a cousin to Lt. Jack Mathis, San Angelo bombardier, who was shot down over Germany while on a bombing mission. He is an O'Donnell boy, son of Mrs. Rosa Mathis, recently of Brownfield, and is stationed at Victoria . . . This Sonny Tufts who played the lead opposite Paulette Goddard in "So Proudly We Hail," is a member of the family which founded Tufts college . . . Capt. Gene Raymond is composer of a song, "Let Me Always Sing," which Mrs. Joe Melton will give at the Allegro Music club program this week. It appears in an album of songs his wife, Jeanette MacDonald, sings . . . We learned from a reliable source that the record, "Pistol Packin' Mamma," has disappeared from the rack at the LAAF officers club because there were those who objected to its many repeat performances.

MRS. W. M. Blake, a former Lubbock resident who uses the penname, Marion Tipton Rowland, recently was presented in Oklahoma City in a review of her book of poems, "Flaming Skies." Harmony Chapter No. 3 of American War mothers arranged for the program which was dedicated to the war mothers of the allied nations. Included in sponsors were Gov. and Mrs. Robert S. Kerr and Mayor and Mrs. R. A. Hefner. . . . Have you a little genius in your home? If you have, he's one out of 200, according to Prof. Harvey Zorbaugh, director of the Clinic for Gifted children at New York university, who has found only 15 potential geniuses out of almost 3,000 children studied . . . If you write naturally to that man in the service, of the things that always gave him pleasure, such as football games, interesting things his civilian friends are doing and help him to recall how wonderful it is out here on the plains during October's bright blue weather you won't have to worry about his morale.

Ceremony Is At Residence

In a service read Saturday evening at 7:00 in the home of Dr. C. E. Hereford, officiating minister, Miss Anna Mae Waltermire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Waltermire of this city, became the bride of Billy Joe Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Garner of Circle Back, in a single ring ceremony. During the ceremony Mrs. Hereford played the traditional wedding marches and "Indian Love Call."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wool dress made princess style with gathers, in the front waist, lace trimmed, and carried black accessories. She had a shoulder corsage of deep red carnations and carried a white Bible, a gift from her mother.

Miss Laura Mae Matthews of Lamesa was maid of honor and wore a two piece ensemble of gold crepe with a corsage of white carnations. The bride's mother was dressed in a purple moss crepe dress. She wore a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

S/Sgt. Buster Harper stationed at Pyote attended Mr. Garner as best man.

Dinner Is Served

Following the ceremony, the wedding party was entertained with a dinner at the home of the bride's parents. Out of town guests attending were two sisters of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker and children, Kelly and Yvonne of Amarillo, and Mrs. Guy Valentine and son, Carroll Dean, of Shamrock; and one sister-in-law, Mrs. R. D. Waltermire and daughter, Sandra Kay of Shamrock. Also attending were S/Sgt. and Mrs. Harper.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school. After graduation she attended Draughon's Business college and since the first of January has been employed at Finberg Trading company.

Mr. Garner graduated from Sudan High school in 1941 as an honor student, and since that time has been engaged as a farmer.

The couple will leave today for Circle Back where they will make their home.

Honoring the bride-elect, three hosteses entertained with a shower Friday night at 1611 Sixteenth street. Hostesses were Misses Laura Mae Matthews, Leona Lincoln, and Joy Beauchamp. About thirty guests called and a number of friends sent gifts.

Bride-Elect Is Party Honoree

Miss Patricia Ash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Ash of Fort Worth, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Lt. James C. Sprouls of Northington General hospital Tuscaloosa, Ala., was recently announced, was honored with a party given by Mrs. Allen Cox, 2220 Twenty-sixth street, Thursday night.

Corsages of gold chrysanthemums tied with white ribbons and gold wedding bells were plate favors at the miscellaneous bridal shower.

Cake squares and ice cream were served to Misses Ardis McCormick, Shirley Roberts, Mildred Williams, Joan Mayfield, Myrtle Holland and Ianth Dumas; Mesdames Christine Cole, J. C. Sprouls, mother of Lt. Sprouls, C. O. Fox, C. L. Hamilton, Jewell Ainsworth, Erwin Koinzan, Winnie Newell, E. A. Parks, W. C. Montgomery, Ada Mayfield, L. A. Storrs, R. B. Green, Annie Crow, Amelie Sams, Jack Blakely, W. M. Freeman, H. T. Bateman, T. M. Sawyer, Jeanette Greener, Alta Novak, Fannie McKane, H. B. Matthews.

Service Of Full Time Worker At Community Center Plan Of Church Federation

CHURCH Federation is trying to secure the services of an all-time worker, a woman thoroughly acquainted with social work, as a resident at the Community Center, a project sponsored by the church women since 1936.

A report of activities and history of the center recently was prepared by Mrs. L. P. Gilbert, chairman of house maintenance, at the request of Mrs. C. C. Longabaugh, Federation president, which indicates worthwhile accomplishments in the past, although at present, through lack of volunteers, interest has lagged. For instance, the reading room is closed, the commissary is seldom opened, a Bible study is conducted only at intervals, there are no recreational hours, there have been no Sunday services this year and in short the building is seldom used for what its purpose was intended.

There is a Cub Scout meeting held on Mondays at present, a Girl Scout troop meets on Tuesday and the Well Baby clinic, sponsored by the Junior Welfare league is still maintained on Thursdays.

"The center is worthwhile, but it is impossible to carry on the program without help," Mrs. Longabaugh said. "We need workers very badly. Not one of the five we did have at one time was replaced. A social worker who lived at the center could help meet many needs, among them to help furnish a place where girls could entertain their friends.

Nursery Is Needed

"We need to maintain a nursery for little children of working mothers. We need a Red Cross supervisor for at one time women of the community did quite a lot of work for the Red Cross. We want to ask for voluntary helpers in this project."

In 1936 the Church Women's Federation voted to sponsor a community center which would administer to needs of residents living in east Lubbock. For two years it sponsored Sunday programs in the Women's building on the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds.

There was a children's hour at 2:30 o'clock and an hour later a layman from a Lubbock church presented a service, assisted by community residents. Fun night was held weekly under direction of someone from Texas Technological college, with people of all ages participating.

There were celebrations at Christmas and Easter, and picnics and watermelon suppers held in the parks during the summer. In 1938, services were held in the Congregational church and because more room was needed, the

Howdy Folks,

You had better hurry to the Decorators Studio and see for yourself the many new arrivals that will probably be the very thing you have been wanting for some of those difficult gifts for Christmas.

The girls have been busy the past week setting up tables and have they accomplished perfection—I'll say they have. The formal table is most unusual, set on a pink and gold cloth. The service plates are cream with dubonet bands for the shoulders, dessert plates in gold and white combined with English cut crystal. The silver bread and butter plates, and silver salt and peppers add their bit to the setting. An antique dubonet and gold covered bowl with two brass and crystal flower holders for the centerpiece make the table complete.

The luncheon or breakfast setting is a combination of grey and chartruese pottery set on chartruese and cellophane mats. This is the selection of one of our recent brides and is by far the smartest set-up I've seen.

If you have anything to use for cocktails (you are lucky if you do), there is a cocktail table set in brass and crystal that is indescribable. Lemonade would even be good served from this table.

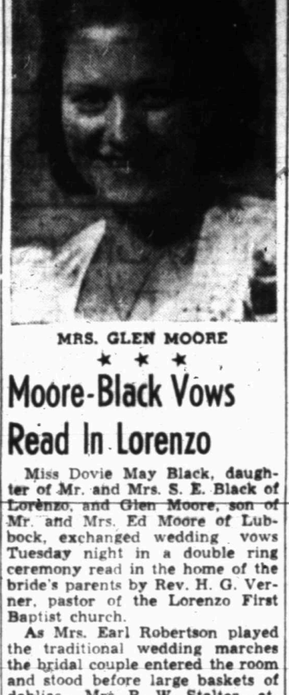

The girls didn't stop till they had set an informal table with imported Portuguese pottery in green combined with yellow Franciscan pottery. The bread and butter or salad plates are in brown, green and yellow colors with flower designs.

The rancher from south was in a few days ago with his charming wife and paid the girls a visit. Incidentally, he always buys some china when he comes in. Hurry back, Big Man, and buy that Christmas present for the wife.

Buy war bonds every week for it is a privilege we Americans at home have to help win this war and win we must.

Good-bye now,
Nosey III.

P. S. Be sure and tune in on KFYO between 1:30 and 2 p. m. Sunday and listen to the VICTORY TUNES PROGRAM.

Work Of LAAF Wac Is Endorsed By Tech President

In a recent radio speech given over KFYO by President Clifford B. Jones, inaugurating the current local drive for membership in the Women's Army Corps, the question was asked and answered "If I had a daughter or sister who, motivated by patriotism, desired to enlist in the WACs, would I give consent?" After an inspection of the duties and responsibilities of the WACs at Lubbock Army Air field, the president of Texas Technological college's answer was in the affirmative.

"I wish the American public public would inform itself with respect to that branch of service," Dr. Jones said. "Those in the group are honest, hard-working women who must indeed find great satisfaction in serving their country by replacing soldiers (not civilians) who are vitally needed at the front and elsewhere. I cannot help but believe that if the public would investigate this branch its judgment would not be dictated by prejudice.

"I saw among the members of the corps, college women, high school graduates, business women—those who had yielded more remunerative positions in non-essential commercial fields in order to serve their country in this critical time of need—and I found the predominating influence in their enlistment was a desire to serve, to replace men so badly needed elsewhere."

Members of civilian committees who are assisting in recruiting volunteers for the all-states and air-WACs program were named Saturday by chairmen. These are: Advertising, Bruce Craig, chairman, Culver Hill; speakers, Mrs. J. W. Day, chairman, Mesdames W. G. Dingus, Ivy Savage and H. F. Godeke; prospects, Marion Sanford, chairman, George P. From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: The Army has made such an impression on the campus that Texas Tech girl's chorus has copied it's tactics. On Monday evenings long columns of girls may be seen marching across the campus with Dr. Julien Paul Blitz alongside calling orders. In his review of the long ranks he is not able to keep girls behind him from singing "Pistol Packin' Mamma" . . . Prof. D. O. Wiley, Tech band director, told jubilant members to be prepared to climb aboard special busses Nov. 6 enroute to Ft. Worth for the Tech-TCU game.

Before a surprised student council, Helen Mixon asked permission to wear her last year's Varsity Show costume, (along the Carmen Miranda line), to Ko-Shari Masquerade Ball Oct. 29. After recovering from shock the council returned a negative verdict. . . . Personality sketch of the week: A true daughter of the Shamrock is brunet, blue-eyed Peggy O'Brien, co-ed receiving the most votes as campus beauty in the recent student election. She proves that beauty and brains can mix in the major she chose, pre-med. Waco is her home town and as a personal favor to all the boys, her telephone number is 2-2736.

Engagements Revealed

Those rousing cheers heard in the stadium at the last two home games came from some 20 engineers, former Techsans. . . . We would like to introduce to you a person behind a familiar voice, that of Margery Holmes who reads the continuity of the scrip for LAAF radio programs each Wednesday evening. Margery is the daughter of Col. Ralph E. Holmes, C. O. at LAAF.

That loud noise not far away is the ringing of wedding bells for Yvonne Westmoreland and Lt. Oran Wilson, jr., of the Marine Air Corps; Fannie Dale Cheek and Fred Underwood, civilian flight instructor here; Betty Jo Cardwell and Charles Cathey who have set the date for August; Frances Barnes who is to marry Travis Davis this week end; and Jackie Tolleson and Rufus Rush, jr.

FAMILIAR faces seen back on the campus were those of Betty Steele, who is to enter University of Colorado in Nov.; Jimmie Jean Guinn who is to migrate toward Boulder about that time also; Sue Sheppard of University of Texas who was visiting Helen Pemberton; Mrs. Ronald B. Carruthers, the former Billie Powell who was married to Lt. Carruthers last April; and Mary Helen Appling, 1941 Tech graduate who is teaching school in Carlsbad.

Texas Tech is well represented at University attended by so many exes. . . . J. R. Callahan, now a

Wanda Williams; piano selection, Pvt. Elizabeth Vassey; pantomine, Miss Christie; solo, Pvt. Josephine Russo; and talk, "What SPAAF Girls are Doing," Lt. Eleanor Kemble.

WAC's stationed at Lubbock Army Air field are to present the following numbers: tango, Sgt. Joanna B. Laverty, assisted by Cpl. Andy Martin; piano solo, Sgt. Alice W. Ward; a talk on control tower procedure by members of the personnel; and a talk by Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of Roscoe Wilson school and the mother of a WAC.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is as an application for massaging the body during pregnancy ... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable ... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin ... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend

Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

member of the Longhorns, is making a name for himself there also as a super football player. Others there are: Buck Gillenwater, Don Austin, Bobby Lewis, Elmer Hargrove, and W. O. Boswell. Among the co-eds are Wilma Ruth Forbes, Gloria Elaine, Patsy Jameson, Connie McClure, Jo Beverly and Frances Culwell.

Envied by all Red Raiders is the Keesler field eleven at Biloxi, Miss,. coached by 1st Lt. George Burl Huffman, former Tech backfield coach. . . . Other Techsans who gather no moss are Evelyn Cooper of the Waves, now stationed in New Orleans and whose recruiting tours take her to Okla., and Miss., all in one day; and Aviation Cadet Leon Hale, the former Toreador wit who furnished the campus with his clever parables. Desert mirages plus the constant hounding of instructors seem to give Hale no end of trouble.

In The Mail

Dear Lou: We wonder whose Navy V-5 pin Jo Cobb is wearing now! While speaking of Jo, have you noticed how her eyes begin to light up when you mention one certain person whom she has been dating quite a bit lately.

Sincerely,
A Reader.

SEEN at the dormitory: Bill Barnett, Toreador editor, relaxing on the floor of the lounge playing "sol" after "putting the paper to bed" for the week, . . . Aviation Cadet Gene Sloan of LAAF. . . . Jean Young, attractive daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Young, house mother at Doak Hall, back for the week-end from school at TSCW. . . . Sarah Margaret Davidson and friends gasping over clever letters she receives from a mysterious "Lt. P. B." in Florida. . . . Ranks of engineers and civilians falling in the line forming to the right to buzz Sarah Cook. . . . Ellen Helm telling Arthur Garland she is secretly married. . . . Mary Stewart and S/Sgt. C. T. Davis of SPAAF and North Carolina with the decided accent. . . . Cpl. Eddie Yzerksky looking very disappointed on finding out Yvonne Hartzell was already booked up for Saturday night.

Roy Williams, Caylor Caddell and Ben Oglesby will be back on the campus next week on leave between semesters of training in Navy V-12. . . . Imogene "Hack" January had to reclassify her friends last week after receiving a letter from her friend (?), Navy Seaman Second Class, Willie Flowers, in which he asked the big question. She knows all the answers but that one left her gasping.

Here And There

Dick King, former journalism major, assures Virginia Forbes he knows the right people since he is secretary to a colonel at Camp Hood. . . . Hallie Crum, Vivi pledge, and Earl Christie, Wrangler pledge, date often. . . . Mary Jean Webb went home this week end to see one of those rare persons, a boy friend of long standing and from the old home town, Bill Kirkpatrick of Navy V-12 . . . As a result of a long distance call, Louise Ince is making plans to visit Clay Woods, former Techsan, in New Orleans soon.

Lou Green has dated Paul Castleberry recently. No apple polishing involved we trust. . . . Proving that you just can't win and that studying doesn't pay is the fact that Milly Coleman won a major, (dormitory penalty), for reciting William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis" aloud; well perhaps a little too enthusiastically.

Love,
Lou.

Community Center

governing board composed of members from the eight churches affiliated with the Church Federation voted to buy lots and build a Community center. The house, consisting of a large recreation room, children's room, commissary, a room for the baby clinic, two halls, a kitchen and chapel, was built at Avenue B and Sixth street.

For a time activities increased. A sing-song was conducted before the children's hour on Sunday, followed with a morning service for adults with Lubbock pastors taking part. Fun nights were held. Five Bible units were conducted in community homes and the center was open daily for rug weaving, art craft and other interesting studies; the reading room was open 3 days weekly; the commissary was open on stated days games were supervised in Mackenzie park weekly and attendance was at about 100.

During 1940-41 activities continued and additions were luncheonch served at noon each day to Sanders school children by the Salvation Army, Red Cross sewing and canning, revival meetings, a Bible study at the center followed by recreation and refreshments although Bible studies in homes began to fall off. A sing-song on Sunday afternoons for young people drew an attendance of about 125.

Beginning with 1942, some of the leaders moved to other towns, the WPA discontinued instructions in artcraft and weaving; attendance at Bible units continued to lessen and although pastors from the Ministers Association continued to take charge of Sunday services, the song leader moved away, the chairman of employment left and attendance dropped to about 50.

"Everyone will admit that the center is worthwhile but the program cannot be carried on without workers," Mrs. Longabaugh said. We are making an appeal for anyone interested to get in touch with us."

The sponsors are planning to sign a petition asking the bus company to direct a route near the Community center. If the handicap of transportation is overcome, it is believed more Lubbock people will take an interest in the work.

A pearl requires from 15 to 20 years to develop fully in an oyster.

Church Of The Nazarene To Be Dedicated In Service Today Celebrating Debt Retirement

* * *

When T. P. Gibson, one of its most prominent members, sets fire to a retired $6,400 loan at 11 o'clock Sunday morning from the pulpit of the Church of the Nazarene, it will mean the church no longer is encumbered by debt.

A dedication service will be conducted by way of celebration. Dr. R. T. Williams, general superintendent; Rev. John L. Knight, district superintendent, and others will speak.

Invitations to attend have been given to all former pastors, district superintendents, members and the general public.

The $28,000 church was constructed in 1927, at Fourteenth street and Avenue Q, when Rev. S. H. Erwin, now of California, was pastor. Rev. A. F. Laing has been pastor three and a half years, during which time $7,500 was contributed in debt retirement.

Wayland College Is Seeking Data On Exes

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 23 (Special)—The Ex-student Association of Wayland College is making a special effort to secure all the names of graduates and ex-students of the school. Some of the earlier records are quite scarce, and such records as there are do not give much information.

They will render a valuable service to the association by sending in their names, the year they finished, or would have finished, and home address at the time they were in school. In the case of married women, they will send their maiden names, as well as their married names, and all will send their present address. Send them to the secretary of the association, J. Lowell Ponder, 1507 W. 8th, Plainview, Texas.

Plans are on foot to have a get-to-gether of all Wayland Exes some time this winter. In the spring a "class" get-to-gether will be featured. The group graduating next spring will of course be the class of '44. Exes who will come at that time are those of '34 and '24, and of '14—by tens. The Association is eager to have the names of every ex-student possible.

Methodist Groups To Hear Bishop Boaz

Two Methodist congregations will hear Bishop H. A. Boaz of Dallas today. He will be guest speaker for the morning service in First Methodist church and in the evening service at St. John's Methodist church.

Today at First Methodist church is J. W. Gamble Memorial Sunday. Bishop Boaz was a personal friend and admirer of Mr. Gamble. Members of the church and other friends of Mr. Gamble are in the process of raising a fund, the income from which will be used for the education of young people preparing for special service. This day is observed each year on the Sunday nearest J. W. Gamble's birthday, October 25.

Bishop Boaz, well known in this section, has rendered outstanding service as an educator and administrator in the Methodist church, as president of Polytechnic at Fort Worth; Southern Methodist university at Dallas, and as Bishop. For eight years, he was bishop of the Northwest Texas conference.

Czech Ruler Nervous Over Acceptance Of Italy By Allies

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Jan Masaryk, Vice Premier in exile of Czechoslovakia, said today his countrymen "were bewildered by the acceptance of Italy as a co-belligerent, and nervous over the thought of some of the present rulers of other satellite nations becoming 'blue-eyed boys'."

In a press conference here following his arrival from London, Masaryk described Premier Pietro Badoglio of Italy as one of the first such "blue-eyed boys" accepted by the Allies.

Plant For Sugar Beets Said Needed In Area

One way to bring the factory to the farm would be to build a processing plant for sugar beets on the South Plains, according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at Texas Technological college.

Over a period of years experimental culture of sugar beets has been carried on at Texas Technological college as well as many other localities on the South Plains. Yield and sugar content are satisfactory, but high freight rates make it unprofitable to ship the beets to processing plants at far distant points. Sugar beets can be grown in quantity and successfully in this area, Dr. Young said.

Upsurge Reported In Lost Ration Books

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—A sudden upsurge in the number of lost ration books reported as citizens applied for the new book 4, caused Dallas county ration board members to wonder today if they were being made the victims of a new racket.

Ordinarily, some 50 requests daily are made to replace lost ration books, a member said, but Friday 85 persons reported the loss of 118 No. 3 books—a prime prerequisite to obtaining book No. 4.

One case of the loss of book No. 4 was reported only a few hours after it had been issued.

Survey Here Reveals Dietary Deficiencies

An analysis of the dietaries of 63 Lubbock families revealed that very few of these families consumed food in quantities necessary for good nutrition, according to a survey made by Phyllis Drake, a graduate student in the division of home economics at Texas Technological college.

The families whose dietaries were studied kept weight records of their foods consumed during a seven-day period. These were then classified into nine groups, as follows; dairy products, including milk and cheese; eggs; meats, dry beans and peas, and nuts; cereal products; green and yellow vegetables; citrus fruits and tomatoes; other fruits and vegetables; all fats; all sweets.

The total weight for each food group was compared with a standard of food consumption for each family for a seven-day period. Twenty-one per cent of the dietaries were classed as good, 24 per cent were classed as fair, and 56 per cent were classed as poor.

The dietaries were most adequate in sweets, citrus fruits, and eggs. The chief deficiencies were in the low consumption of green and yellow vegetables, other fruits and vegetables, whole grain cereals and dairy products.

The United States automobile industry consumed approximately 7,325,000,000 tons of steel in 1940.

MacArthur Not Likely To Retire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) — The Army and Navy Register, unofficial service publication, said today that it is "inconceivable" the administration will retire General Douglas MacArthur when he reaches the statutory limit of 64 years next January 26, for these reasons:

"Entirely aside from his military attainments, his success with inadequate personnel and materiel in directing operations against the armed savages of Nippon, and the fact that he is ready to proceed further toward the realization of his ambition to lead a victorious Army into the Philippines, the political aspect is loaded with dynamite.

Popular At Home

"Gen. MacArthur, as is so well known, enjoys widespread admiration and popularity at home. In various polls recently taken, he stands well up on the lists of preferences for nomination for the presidency on an anti-New Deal ticket. Nobody believes that the administration, in such circumstances, would bring him home at any time before the presidential election in the autumn of 1944. So far as can be ascertained, Gen. MacArthur himself wants to stay where he is until he has accomplished what he has set out to do."

The normal age for retiring officers of the rank of major general and above is 64 years, but the Register noted that under a policy enunciated last July such officers may be retained if it is shown they are physically and mentally capable of duty and have special qualifications for the assignments which they hold.

Japs 'Taken In' By Old Deception Trick

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP) —A new version of the old deception trick which served Gen. Douglas MacArthur well in taking Salamua on New Guinea was related today by William Courtenay, aviation editor of The London Daily Sketch.

Courtenay, just back from the southwest Pacific battle area, told the Commonwealth club that American troops landed a bulldozer on the beach within earshot of the defending Japanese, and ran it up and down the beach all night.

The Japs thought a number of tanks had been landed, and got set for a tank attack.

"Meanwhile an artillery detachment landed at another spot," Courtenay said, "and while the Japanese were facing the supposed tank menace, hauled their artillery over ridges into positions left uncovered, from which they blasted the place into rubbish."

CASE HISTORY No. 1468. Man, age 39, who had a stiff neck, was very nervous, and had numbness in arms and hands. He came to me as a last resort. I examined him and found that the cause of his trouble was pressure on nerves leading to the affected parts of the body. This pressure was released by adjustments and the man got completely well.

The nervous system within your body is the medium through which function and activity take place. The thoughts you think are executed through the direction of systemthe nervous system. The functions of organs and glands respond to impulses of energy that come from the brain. To the degree that these nerves are free to carry messages to and from the brain will you be healthy and strong. Chiropractors say that the spine is the key to the nervous system because all nerve trunks reach outward from the spinal cord through grooves between the vertebrae. Should accidents or falls wrench the spine in any way and thus subluxate, that is slightly displace, a vertebra, it will pinch nerves, block the passage of energy, lower resistance and result in dis-ease is some nature. Chiropractors are skilled in locating and adjusting this cause of dis-ease. They open up the channel that puts you in tune with the source of supply.

"Phantom Of The Opera," Musical Chiller In Technicolor, Is Featured At Lindsey

"PHANTOM of the Opera," Universal's imposing technicolor musical and chiller, may be seen at the Lindsey today through Wednesday. Co-starred are Nelson Eddy, Susanna Foster and Claude Rains.

Rains as the "Phantom" gives a sinister portrayal of the music composer who mystrifies and terrorizes the personnel and patrons of the Paris Opera. Eddy enacts the role of an opera star who loves an ambitious young vocalist, played by Miss Foster.

Sequence Vividly Exciting

Rains' role, which provides the eerie motivation of the story, is responsible for some amazing action. The "Phantom" is shown releasing a giant chandelier which crashes down upon the audience. Vividly exciting is the sequence devoted to the chase of the killer through the deep catacombs beneath the theater.

The musical score includes two original compositions by Edward Ward. They are "Lullaby of the Bells" and "Piano Concerto." Eddy and Miss Foster sing together in the presentation of "Russian Opera," "French Opera" and "Martha" (third act). Other vocalists are Jane Farrar, Tudor Williams and Anthony Marlow.

Important roles are handled by Miss Farrar, Edgar Barrier, Leo Carrillo, J. Edward Bromberg, Fritz Feld and Hume Cronyn.

"China" at the Tower

"China," Alan Ladd's last picture for the duration, comes to the Tower today for an engagement running through Tuesday. Ladd's co-star is Loretta Young.

Set near Shanghai in the days just before that fateful Dec. 7, the film introduces Ladd as an oil man who has no compunction about selling to the Japanese. His pal is Wiliam Bendix of "Wake Island" fame, and Miss Young is an American teacher in a Chinese university.

"Happy Go Lucky"—Broadway

Miss Martin plays the part of a millionaire-hunting beauty, with her sights set on Vallee, who plays a role similar to the one he did in "Palm Beach Story." On the island Miss Martin finds not only millionaires but beach boys, too, in the pearsons of Powell and Bracken.

The picture boasts five hit tunes of recent date.

A tense, dramatic scene from "Phantom of the Opera," one of the ten greatest pictures of all times, showing at the Lindsey theater today through Wednesday with Nelson Eddy, Susanna Foster and Claude Rains.

A sinister moment is ably expressed by the supporting cast of "White Savage," with Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Sabu, showing at the Lyric today through Tuesday.

Solon Predicts New Wyoming Oil Field

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) predicted today a "huge new oil field" in Wyoming and said Chairman Vinson of the Economic Stabilization board tomorrow would decide upon Interior Secretary Ickes' request for a 35 cent increase in the price of crude oil.

Ickes asked the Office of Price Administration to reconsider an earlier refusal to increase the price of crude. The average price to producers now is about $1.50 a barrel.

"The Palm Beach Story"; "Vengeance Of The West," Double Bill At The Arcadia

A SOPHISTICATED comedy and a western is on tap today and Monday at the Arcadia.

"The Palm Beach Story," featuring Claudette Colbert, Joel McCrea and Rudy Vallee, and "Vengeance of the West," with Tex Ritter and Bill Elliott, make up the double-bill.

McCrea and Miss Colbert are presented as a young married couple, who, after five years of married life, decide they have accomplished none of the things they wanted. The husband's engineering project, his biggest dream, is stalled for lack of $99,000. The wife decides to divorce her protesting husband and marry money, represented in this instance by Vallee.

Preston Sturges, director, unravels the conflicting emotions and misunderstandings in typical Sturges-fashion.

Other principals are Mary Astor and Robert Dudley.

WRITES FRANKLY

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 23 (AP)—President A. L. Strand, sending out invitations to Oregon State college's 75th anniversary celebration, wrote frankly:

"It requires a more delicate sentence than I can write to tell you that you are welcome and the same time to tell you that we really don't expect you to be here."

Bits Of Gossip About People Who Work In Motion Pictures

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23—Edward G. Robinson, almost as famous an art collector as he is an actor, was chatting with Lynn Bari between scenes of "Tampico."

"Have you ever had a portrait painted of yourself?" Lynn asked.

"No," replied Robinson, I collect paintings — not gargoyles!"

A reporter was interviewing Laird Cregar, who is playing Jack the Ripper in a new movie titled "The Lodger."

"Just what do you expect 'The Lodger' to do for you, Mr. Cregar?" inquired the reporter.

"I expect it to lift me from a famous obscurity," said Laird, "to an obscure fame."

When Joan Fontaine and Orson Welles were working in "Jane Eyre," Orson was worried because he had to make a scene in which the bed in which he was sleeping suddenly caught fire. The cameras started to turn. Flames leaped.

"Hey, how will I know when to jump?" shouted the boy genius.

"Jump when you smell burning ham, Orson," said Joan.

PURE PATRIOTISM

WHILE lunching at a Hollywood cafe, Jean Brooks overheard a soldier at a near-by table mutter as an under-fed looking actor passed by. "I wonder why he's not in the Army?" said the soldier.

"What!" said his soldier companion, glancing disdainfully at the actor's emaciated contours, "with a war going on?"

For an eerie scene in "Curse of the Cat People," the offstage howling of a wolf was needed. Could someone imitate a wolf, please, asked the director.

"I can," said Simone Simon, giving a low, underslung whistle.

The publicity department asked Director John Brahm for a short resume of his life. "Not a long harangue," they said, "a very brief biography will do."

Brahm's eyes twinkled as he wrote: "I was born. I became a young man. Came World War I, I became a soldier. Came Armistice, I became a civilian. Came Beauty, I became a married man. Came Trouble, I became a divorced man. Came Foolish Impulse. I reposed the whole marriage-divorce routine again. Then came Hitler. Then came Hollywood."

DESPITE Adolf Hitler's personal invitation to make films in Germany, Peter Lorre left for the United States just three days before Hitler came to power in 1933. He had just played the murderer in the world-famed film, "M." In his reply to Hitler, Lorre said, "Thank you, but I think Germany has room for only one mass murderer of my ability and yours."

Between scenes of "Two Sisters and a Sailor," Jimmy Durante seated himself outside a sound stage to take a sun bath. Ben Blue came by and waved but Jimmy didn't answer. He couldn't see him because his head was too far back. "You're getting pretty high hat with your nose stuck way up in the air like that," said Blue, later.

"Gosh, no," replied Jimmy, "I was just trying to get some sun on my chest."

"The Mayor Of 44th Street" With George Murphy And Anne Shirley Is On At Tech

A GANGLAND melodrama spun amid New York's Broadway lights and spiced with the music of Freddy Martin's band in "The Mayor of 44th Street," which shows at the Tech today through Tuesday.

George Murphy, whose principal claim to fame in the past has been due to his twinkling feet, enacts his first dominantly dramatic role as the operator of a dance band agency which is under the scrutiny of cops owing to the racketeering tactics of its former proprietor, who is in Sing Sing. A small-time hoodlum still in his teens, played by Rex Downing, essays a blackmailing foray into Murphy's thriving business. But Murphy wins over the tough youngster and takes him into his business, against the judgment of a girl friend, impersonated by Anne Shirley.

Barthelmess in Picture

Richard Barthelmess, one of the screen's top male stars of a decade ago, has the role of the agency's ex-owner, who is paroled and attempts with other underworld characters to levy blackmailing tribute from Murphy's clients.

Downing, awed by Barthelmess' big-time hoodlum glamor, begins to slip back into outlawry. With his world crashing and the woman he loves beginning to lose faith in him, Murphy realizes that he has a tough job ahead.

Texas Commission To Study Rail Merger

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (AP)—Chairman Beauford Jester said today the Texas Railroad commission would confer, probably next week, on the possible effect of an Interstate Commerce Commission order authorizing merger of the Texarkana and Fort Smith railway into the Kansas City Southern.

Commission member Ernest Thompson was out of the city and not expected back before Tuesday.

In its authorization, the ICC ruled that the merged company need not comply with what it described as "burdensome" Texas laws. These require that railroads operating in Texas have their general offices in the state, and that they meet certain maintenance and safety standards.

Jester said he had not been officially informed of the decision, made by a three-member division of the ICC, but asserted that the commission may ask for a hearing before the entire ICC membership.

Allocation Of Peanut Supplies Suspended

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—An order allocating peanut supplies was suspended indefinitely by the War Food Administration (WFA) today in an announced move to help industrial users utilize to the maximum the 700,000 tons of peanuts allocated for edible purposes.

The WFA previously had suspended the order for the month of October only. Consideration is being given, officials said, to outright revocation of the order.

"The Doctor Takes A Wife" With Loretta Young And Ray Milland Midway Feature

OFFERING a clever plot and speedy, houmorous dialogue, "The Doctor Takes a Wife" is the Midway's attraction today through Tuesday. Loretta Young and Ray Milland are co-starred.

Miss Young is cast in the role of a writer of books on the "how to live alone and like it" theme. Called back to New York by her publisher, Reginald Gardiner, she is unable to get a seat on a train and catches a ride with Milland, a handsome young research doctor.

Taken for Newlyweds

Mixed with a wedding party slated to arrive, Milland and Miss Young are taken for newlyweds. Miss Young's first book thus is ruined. Her publisher suggests she write a second on marriage. To do this she and the doctor are forced to pose as husband and wife.

Complications set in when Gail Patrick, Milland's fiancee, returns from Europe. He finally succeeds in convincing her that the "marriage" is phoney, but this doesn't prevent her from precipitating a fight between Milliand and Miss Young.

Particularly humorous is the sequence in which the author follows Milliand to his and Miss Patrick's announcement party and there proclaims that she and the doctor are expecting a baby. This makes Milland furious at first but he cools off and later they are married.

Loretta Young and Ray Milland are stars of "The Doctor Takes a Wife," showing at the Midway today through Tuesday.

Kidney Trouble

The function of the kidneys is to filter uric acids, urates, and poisons from the blood stream. Many times this filtering process does not work to the extent of clearing the blood of poisons and a toxic blood stream follows with rheumatism, neuritis and other aches and pains. On the other hand if this process is to lax red blood cells find their way out through the kidneys which we term hemituria. When a kidney fails to function it is called a dead kidney. All functions and actions are controlled by the nerves. A chiropractor recognizes this fact and kidney trouble is easily handled when the cause is adjusted.

Keep The Heat On Hitler. Don't Waste It At Home...

Use Less Natural Gas

Your government is striving to meet a grave wartime shortage of vital fuels, including natural gas.

Every man, woman and child, at home or place of business, is asked to voluntarily conserve the use of natural gas.

Use what you must, but save all you can!

This is a serious request. Uncle Sam, fighting a bloody war, is in dead earnest about this. Compared with the sacrifices of our fighting men, saving fuel at home is not a difficult sacrifice. You will help, won't you?

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP

1. Do not heat unused rooms.
2. Do not heat garages.
3. Keep home temperatures as low as possible.
4. Reduce temperatures to 55 degrees at night and when away from home.
5. Keep heating equipment in top-notch condition.
6. Use less hot water. Repair leaky faucets.
7. Save gas in other ways you can think of.

State Of Texas Makes Good Economic Record; Air Line Plums Are Hanging Fire

Tax Money CAN Be Saved

Washington Should Follow Austin

REPORT the other day that Texas state departments have saved more than a million dollars out of legislative appropriations during the past fiscal year was all the more refreshing because it came at a time when interest is so widespread in the topic of governmental extravagances.

It is possible, of course, that even greater savings may have been made by the state departments than those actually effected. It also is true that state agencies can't take too much credit for some of the savings. For example, one of the big economies was in the travel expenses of some of the state officials who didn't travel because they couldn't get the gasoline.

But, on the whole, the record has been a splendid one. The excellence of the record is emphasized by recalling that, in nearly every instance, appropriations made by the legislature for various state activities were substantially smaller than in previous years. Actually, the economies started even before the legislature began its deliberations. They started with the drafting of budgets and were shaved further by the Board of Control. For the most part, those having to do with the finances of the State of Texas have demonstrated that they are "economy minded" at a time when the taxpayer is confronted with his greatest burdens in history.

Naturally, some of the economies cannot continue after victory. Much building of practically every kind which cannot be done now will have to be done further along.

But some of the economies being practiced now almost certainly will continue. Thus, it is to be expected that some of the benefits from present economies will be permanent.

Meanwhile, it seems entirely proper to say that the State of Texas is setting a wartime example which localized taxing entities, other states and the federal government itself would do well to follow.

A Belated Explanation

RECENT events doubtless have answered to the satisfaction of most Americans their justified curiosity and resentment because Russia has not made Siberian air bases available to the Allies for attacks upon Japan.

The President's explanation was that the Allies might not be able to defend such bases at this time. Certainly Japan would do everything possible to keep the Allies from using them. The explanation is given the sound of logic when the status of available defensive strength is reported.

But, until now, people haven't been told why bases within short bombing range of the heart of Japan haven't been used. Ignorance in the matter has not been confined alone to the masses of Americans. Not even members of the U. S. Senate were informed on the subject.

This became evident when Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, one of five senators who inspected world fighting fronts recently, fired a blast which forced the explanation into the open. When he said that the use of Siberian bases might save a million American lives, the subject became one that not even the President could longer ignore.

But harm undoubtedly was done because the explanation was delayed. Unity at home undoubtedly suffered to a certain extent. Many Americans blamed Russia, a feeling which did not help U. S.-Soviet understanding. And Russia didn't like criticisms like those voiced by Senator Lodge.

However, if harm has been done, the blame does not rest with the masses of America, nor with men like Senator Lodge. The responsibility rests squarely at the door of officials who refuse to take the American people into confidence in matters of vital concern to them until compelling pressure finally squeezes out the information.

"In the make up of the universe, space is an important factor," asserts a scientist. We agree. It would be highly inconvenient not to have anywhere to put anything.

Looks Rather Healthy

Third Man In The Ring

By Randall Abernethy

TAKING one last pinch at a loaf of bread at the bakery counter, the little old lady patterned to the vegetable rack where she began sacking potatoes. Finally she hesitated, added another spud and placed the sack on the scales. The needle quivered and died just beyond six pounds. Making a sour face the little old lady looked around, picked up a banana knife. She took a big spud out of the sack and cut it in halves. She casually tossed one half into the bin and dropped the other in the sack. It was an exact six pounds.

IT was a weird walk home Tuesday afternoon. A woman, about 30, dressed in green slacks and a red sweater, sprinted past us and took off in as pretty a broad jump as you'll ever see. Regaining her balance she ran 15 yards or so and jumped again. This went on. Thoroughly enticed, we had tagged along and observed that she, apparently, was leaping from one seam in the concrete walk and endeavoring to land precisely on the next. No sooner had we lost her in a change of lights than we met a fellow who appeared to be normal in every respect except his walk. The man was backing his way through thick pedestrian traffic, picking out a path with a mirror which he held over one shoulder. We gathered he was some sort of symbol pertaining to civilization.

Delinquency

Nice girls who chance upon the streets these nights without male escorts are a self-conscious lot. When a male approaches they make it plain that they're not thinking of enlarging their circle of acquaintances. The girl alone will peer down the street as though waiting for a bus, or perhaps say, in italics, just loud enough: "I wonder what's keeping him." Or a girl will say to another girl, "What did he say he had to do?", or "Have we lost our car again?" It must be due to all the talk about delinquency.

WE picked up an interesting item in conversation with a red-headed waitress yesterday. One of her coffee customers is an old man who brings his own cup. Evidently he has the advertisements garbled, because he comes in at ten, two and four o'clock every day. The old gent fishes his cup out of a coat pocket, grins apologetically and explains, "'fraid I'll catch something." Always the possessor of a copy of the New York Times, he spreads it at the sports page and reads as he sips his coffee. When he leaves, she says, he'll pat her on the head and say, "lassie, that's fine coffee."

It seems this fellow picked up a calendar somewhere in 1940 which featured a semi-clad beauty for each month. He retained the pictures and at the beginning of each year since he has attached numeral pages torn from a Lydia Pinkham calendar. Close friends foresee trouble if his practice is continued in 1944.

BACK in the dear old days when the pass-word to a drink was "knock three times and ask for Mike," people used to joke about topers. "Yes," they used to say with many a sly wink, "Bill is so much in favor of making the country bone-dry he has dedicated his life to drinking up all the liquor!"

That was all in the nature of good, clean fun. Nobody ever really thought that the wets could —or would—dry up the land by the simple procedure of consuming all available giggle soup.

But it's another story now. A collection of "Bills," millions strong, is doing just that today. And even in wet centers, legal liquor often is harder to find than its illegal counterpart was 15 years ago.

Reminds us of a recent experience of a friend of ours—fellow named Joe who wears a soldier suit with gadgets on the shoulders.

He had a three-day pass and, like most local soldiers with three-day passes and 1,000 miles from home, he made a bee-line for Amarillo, legally wet. His objective was a quart of bourbon.

From liquor store to liquor store he trudged, only to be met everywhere with:

"Sorry, no bourbon. Nope, no Scotch. Nothing but some Cuban rum and a bottle of Haitian gin."

Suddenly our friend remembered experiences of the past, when Bishop Canon was the Lone Ranger of Temperance and the nation's most publicized bucket-shop patron.

To a hostelry our friend hustled, got himself a room, called for a bell-boy.

"How about a bottle of bourbon?" he asked.

"Sure thing," said the bell-hop. "Be back in a minute!" And he was.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ONE of the amusing phenomena of human behavior is the hard-boiled guy.

He is a cynic. He refuses to show the slightest evidence of sentiment or sympathy.

He is stern, forbidding, impervious to emotions—a crust around him as hard as a rock.

You know the kind of fellow I mean, you may have one right in your own office or in your family.

They come in all sizes—the big-chested six-footer (sometimes you can recognize him by the white carnation in his lapel); the five-foot-five who throws out his chest and dares you to make him sick; the bookkeeper type sort of chap who looks at you through gold-rimmed spectacles with fishy eyes that just say "Well?"

They really are the easiest in the world to crack.

• • •

Nature, you see, gave things and beings a shell for protection.

Look at a nut. What a tough shell, what soft and succulent meat inside.

Or take the snail. A hard housing outside but what a spongy, damp little body crawling along, exposed to every danger the moment it comes out.

What a soft lot of pliable dough inside that loaf of bread. My wife who has trouble with her teeth has to peel off the crust and lay it aside. But when she gets to that pliable, squashy part inside, she can eat it and enjoy it without the slightest effort.

Don't be afraid of the hard-boiled guy.

He's just like the nut, the snail, the bread.

Soft, spongy, squashy, pliable inside.

YOU just have to use the right method to break the shell or get beneath the crust.

With the nut and with some hard-boiled people, you have to use the nutcracker or sledge-hammer method.

Hit 'em over the head (figuratively, of course) and show 'em that you're on to their bluff.

With bread, and some hard-boiled guys, you pull the crust off gently and lay it aside. Somebody else may like it.

But with the snail (or the slimy kind of hard-boiled guy) you just leave it alone, or if it destroys your plants (or your happiness), pick it up, throw it in a can, pour some kerosene over it and burn it up.

And in case you feel yourself getting hard-boiled, do a little thinking.

What's bothering you? What has gone wrong?

Because when you become callous or hard-boiled FEAR is entering your heart. Fear that you are slipping and that people are getting on to you.

But remember: There's a big difference between hard-boiled and soft-boiled.

Financiers Fight For Routes

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE backstage intrigues and squabblings in Washington regarding allocation of new domestic air franchises have become violent. They are reminiscent of the battles which the Hills, Harrimans, Goulds, Vanderbilts and Fiskes waged during the fabulous era when the railroads were built.

Although only a domestic problem, these feuds suggest that future parceling of world routes will provide an extremely knotty problem for the peacemakers.

Far behind the scenes, never appearing openly, various banking combines are dipping in their fingers, in the expectation of making a cleanup. They may have more influence than any other group, including experienced and pioneer airline operators, in determining what companies shall dominate at home and abroad.

The financiers have already interfered in the controversy about establishment of a new service between New York, Miami and Nassau. It is an extremely complex story, partially revealed in this column on September 25, but here are the latest highlights:

After three years of litigation the Civil Aeronautics board gave a certificate to Colonial Air Lines, which now operates from Montreal to New York. This company had the backing of the duke of Windsor and a powerful House delegation headed by Speaker Sam Rayburn.

War and Navy had testified formally that the proposed link between Canada and the Bahamas would serve national defense interests. Representatives of the areas to be served — Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida—had asked President Roosevelt for prompt action.

• • •

PROFITS: FDR, however, returned the recommendation to CAB for further study. Active in persuading the President to suggest deferment was David K. Niles, Harry Hopkins's protege in the official family. Mr. Roosevelt, naturally, can give only routine attention to such matters.

Niles has been accused of intervening in order to aid National Air Lines, a competing concern with routes in Florida. It wanted to extend its northern terminus—now at Jacksonville—to New York City, hoping to climb into the aerial big leagues.

National has been financed by Lehman Brothers of New York. Some of its seecurities are owned by close friends of Hopkins.

Now it develops that Dave was only a messenger boy for more important groups who are interested to a greater degree in stock profits than in aerial expansion.

• • •

STOCK: The undercover opposition to any new course joining New York and Nassau stems from two of the most influential aviation moguls in the United States. They are:

Juan T. Trippe, head of Pan American Airways system, which enjoys virtual monopoly of service from this country to foreign shores. His company has become almost a government agency since the war's outbreak and has done a bangup job.

Gallant Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, now operating the only through run between New York and Mexico. He, too, is virtually a federal official, having gone on three overseas missions for President Roosevelt and Secretary Stimson.

Pan American, which maintains a powerful lobby here, wants no rival to cross from the mainland to the Bahamas. Such an interloper might become a postwar threat to its South American and European network. Eastern opposes any additional tie between New York and Miami which would cut into its lucrative business.

Colonial and National, however, might overcome these obstacles if they would permit certain bankers to obtain large slices of their stock. The value of these holdings—especially National's — would undoubtedly increase a hundred per cent if their applications were approved by CAB. As Colonial is partially foreign-owned, it would have to admit American interests to greater control before it could receive the southern extension, and that requirement spells opportunity for Wall Street.

The principals involved may deny it, but backers of these two firms have been tipped off that matters might be arranged if they dealt with the right moneyed people and hired the proper lawyers.

HATES: Bigwigs in the American Federation of Labor are desperately anxious to have John L. Lewis parade his 600,000 United Mine Workers back into the fold. Principal objectors at the Boston convention were New Deal supporters, Left-Wingers and the Progressive Mine Workers of America, a small Illinois group with only 25,000 members.

Their demand that jurisdictional disputes involving AFL and UMW be settled before rather than after his reinitiation is only a bogey, according to insiders. For one thing, William Green's organization has not straightened out any differences of this kind in 90 years.

Second, only 10 million of the nation's 40 million laborers are unionized. Labor leaders recognize that their real task is to recruit outsiders and not to quarrel about finely spun questions such as whether a carpenter is a machinist or a bricklayer.

AFL-ers want John L. with them because his return would boost their ranks to seven million, the highest in history. A united movement, they believe, would soon force a smashup of Philip Murray's CIO, which is already torn by the wrangles of Communistic and conservative factions.

Administration politicos frown on a reconciliation because they fear the influence the UMW chieftain would wield with such a powerful bloc in next year's Presidential election. And well they might. He hates 'em all!

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

OUR sailors celebrate Navy Week with greater confidence than ever before in a Pacific victory.

Japan is digging her own grave, according to our quarter-deck commanders, by fanatically holding extended positions too long. Or, as one celebrated admiral explained to the writer, "By trying not to lose face, she will lose her shirt."

Because of our logistic headaches in maintaining communications and fighting, we are prone to overlook Tojo's more critical predicament. If our life lines were cut, the worst that could happen would be a stalemate until a new route could be opened from India. Should his transport fail, Nippon would be doomed.

Besides Australia, MacArthur and Halsey have only a few islands to worry about. The enemy must scatter a dwindling merchant marine in a measureless archipelago from Kobe to Singapore—not only to keep hundreds of atolls garrisoned and replenished but to deliver food and raw materials to the mother country as well.

Each day this circulatory system grows weaker. At the time of Pearl Harbor the Rising Sun flag flew from 6,300,000 tons of shipping; today only 5,000,000 are afloat. When Italy fell, Hirohito grabbed all of his former partner's liners within reach—a paltry 46,000 tons which cannot brighten their outlook to any great degree.

SALVAGE: Our maritime strategists express the opinion that if Premier Hideki Toko were a wise man instead of a stubborn fool he would pull in his horns at once.

If he retreated to a few almost unassailable fortresses and concentrated his local industrial machine on planes and boats, he might possibly prolong the unequal warfare. But he is frittering away his substance on countless outposts whose isolated troops and equipment we shall soon capture—as has been our practice.

Once his peripheral defense is penetrated by our sky or water forces, his navy cannot maneuver in the Macassar Strait or the Celebes and South China Seas; in a large-scale fleet action against surface craft or planes some of his battleships would undoubtedly be crippled. Adequate repair facilities are not at hand and damaged men-of-war would never reach distant Yokohoma.

Books On Fighting In New Guinea Turn Up

Australian, INS Correspondents Write Of Pacific Activity

FOR an excellent firsthand account of the battle for New Guinea read "The Toughest Fighting in the World" by the Australian correspondent George H. Johnston. Johnston covered every step of the New Guinea campaign from January, 1942, up until a year later when Australian and American soldiers had driven the Japanese out of their strongholds from which they had threatened Port Moresby and the continent of Australia.

JOHNSTON

Adventure is no longer unusual, says Johnston, but sometimes an adventure is so fantastic that it is worth the telling. One such story concerns the crew of a bomber that had crashed in the New Guinea wilderness. After slashing their way through the jungle for three terrifying days, the men came upon a clearing where rested the remains of an ancient biplane—a 1919 model. A week's labor, and they made it work. They fueled it with some motor petrol they found nearby, and actually took it up. If the incident had been in the hands of Hollywood, the plane would certainly have reached Port Moresby. But Fate was less kind. At the first gust of wind, the rickety plane crashed and the men were stranded for several days more until an Australian plane sighted them.

STRICT RULE OBSERVED

ANOTHER book about this phase of the war is "The Fighting for New Guinea" by the INS American correspondent, Pat Robinson. The American Air Force, says Robinson, had a strict rule that none of the boys take credit for shooting down a Zero, without absolute proof. One night the author heard General Whitehead sternly asking a new Fortress tail gunner why he was so sure he had bagged a Zero. "Well," said the youngster diffidently, "maybe I didn't get him, General, but I saw the plane break in three pieces and all three pieces were still burning when they sizzled into the sea." The General laughed. "In that case, young fellow, maybe we ought to stretch a point an credit you with one."

KENTUCKY IS LOCALE

THE Book-of-the-Month Club selection for December will be "Taps for Private Tussie," a new novel by Jesse Stuart. Kentucky, which is the birthplace of the author, is the locale for this novel, said to be a warmly human account of a poor backwoods family who unexpectedly came into $10,000. The club's next book-dividend, incidentally, will be two of the greatest novels in all English literature, written by two famous sisters—"Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte and "Wuthering Heights" by Emily Bronte. The noted artist Fritz Eichenberg has done the illustrations.

BETTY SAVE THOSE HANDS!

SHORTLY after the publication of her widely acclaimed novel "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Betty Smith visited her family. They were overwhelmed with the fact that she had become a real author. After dinner, as she had always done in the past, she went out in the kitchen to wash the dishes. "You mustn't do that," protested her mother. "Why not?" "Because it might spoil your hands so you can't typewrite," was her mother's reply.

"What comes after a trillion dollars?" asks a taxpayer who is worrying over the national debt. We don't know, and we aren't worrying about so trivial a thing. What has us down is wondering what, if anything, follows chaos.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

How many boys from LUBBOCK won't come back?

NOBODY knows the exact number. Nobody. But—

The number who do come back—on their own two feet instead of in a flag-draped box—will be in exact proportion to the job we do here at home.

For every minute that we can help shorten the war will mean more lives saved. (213 Americans were killed in the final day of the last war, and 1,114 were wounded before the 11:00 o'clock Armistice took effect.)

Now one way all of us can help shorten the war is to tighten our belts and buy more War Bonds. Yes, still more. And . . .

If you think you're buying all the War Bonds you are able to, imagine —for a minute—that it's after the war . . .

. . . you're standing at the station . . . a bunch of home-town boys, still in uniform, climb off the train . . . one of them kisses his wife and grabs his kid in his arms . . .

"Catherine, I don't know how to tell you how sorry I am . . . it's such a shame about Joe . . . it makes me sick all over when I think how he'd be here today if the war had only ended a week sooner."

Think it over. Can't you buy a few more War Bonds to help end the war that week or month sooner? Sure, it may mean giving up something, but what's that compared to what they're giving up?

And remember, always—the money you "can't spare" may spare a soldier's life!

Burying Of Mexican City By Volcano Seen

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23 (AP)—The prediction that Uruapan, Michoacan, a city of 20,000 inhabitants, will be buried by ashes from Paricutin volcano 15 miles away was made today by Dr. Atl, writer and artist who lives near the volcano in order to observe it.

Dr. Atl, whose real name is Gerardo Murillo, said that if winds will blow continuously in the direction of Uruapan, that town will meet the same fate as did Paricutin village, which has been abandoned. He said he believed this will occur.

He also predicted that San Juan Parangaricutiro, the village now nearest the volcano, will be destroyed.

Dr. Atl said that on October 19, earthquakes rocked the area, and then lava gushed from the volcano so fast that seven new craters opened. The next day, the artist said, three of the new openings disappeared.

The other four craters, he said, emitted lava flowing at the rate of 900 feet an hour, and that the glowing "river" reached a height of 130 feet near his cabin.

Consumers Promised More Egg Products

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) — Consumers were promised more egg products by the War Food administration today through removal of restrictions on liquid, frozen and dried whole eggs.

An order requiring all spray process dried whole egg production to be reserved for government purchase was revoked and restrictions on production of liquid and frozen eggs and certain types of dried eggs were lifted.

Missionary Who Died On Gripsholm Named

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP) — A missionary who died two days ago aboard the exchange ship Gripsholm, 36 hours before the ship sailed from Portuguese India for America, was identified here today by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions as the Rev. J. Hillcoap Arthur, whose widow and three sons live in Pasadena, Calif.

The board said Rev. Arthur was associate general treasurer of their China missions when he was interned in a camp in the Pootung section of Shanghai early this year.

He had been a Presbyterian missionary in China for 31 years, stationed first in Hangchow, and from 1937 on, in Shanghai.

In Spitzbergen, a mine shaft was sunk more than a mile into the earth, and the ground was found to be frozen all the way.

Everglades Oil Well Completed

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Successful completion of an oil well in the everglades swamp in Collier county, Fla., northwest of Miami, was disclosed today by Wallace Pratt, geologist and vice-president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, who called it the first producing well on the eastern seaboard.

Pratt, explaining that oil was encountered at 11,700 feet, made it clear that in no sense could the well be termed a "commercial producer" at this stage, but said: "The success of this well may be taken as evidence of the possible extension of the rich gulf coast oil producing region eastward through Alabama, Georgia, and much of Florida."

Too Early For Estimate

He said that it was too early to estimate the size of the well; that it was a discovery of timely importance in a period of declining oil discoveries in the United States, and that "for the first time in 30 years of research in Florida, oil has finally been struck."

Earlier the state land division in Tallahassee, Fla., had disclosed that James V. Allred, former Texas governor, had offered $109,185 for oil, gas and sulphur leases on 1,091,855 acres of state owned lands in the Everglades. Allred, in Houston, confirmed the offer, saying "the bid speaks for itself. That's strictly a private matter at this stage.")

The northern and western shores of the Gulf of Mexico, running from Corpus Christi, Tex., to southern Mississippi, have long been one of the most productive oil regions in North America, and Pratt said that many geologists have believed the northeastern coast of the gulf ultimately would produce oil.

Annuall, the United States consumes 9000 tons of cigaret paper in normal times.

Commendation Given Navigator On Work

LONDON, Oct. 23 (U.P.)—U. S. Army headquarters announced today that Navigator Miles McFann, of Eldorado, Ark., personally has been congratulated by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Lt. Gen. Ira C. Aker, commander of U. S. Air forces in the European theater, for bringing home a damaged Fortress from the Schweinfurt raid Oct. 14.

McFann, who previously had never flown any plane larger than a Cub, brought the four-motored ship home after a shell from an enemy plane killed the pilot, and wounded the co-pilot.

McFann took over the ship, and with the aid of instructions from the wounded co-pilot, made it back to England.

Three Are Charged In Death Of Soldier

COFFEEVILLE, Miss., Oct. 23. (AP)—Three Coffeeville residents, who are charged with murder in connection with the death of a young Camp McCain soldier, were bound over to the circuit court grand jury in a preliminary hearing here today before four justices of the peace.

Bond for the three, A. L. Shaw, jr., Chairman of the Yalobusha Election commission; Aaron L. Hefner, pool hall operator; and Mrs. Margaret Nicholson Hunt, was set at $7,500 each. The soldier, who was first believed to have been a hit and run victim, was Jimmie Deskin, 18, Tulia, Swisher county, Texas, according to Capt. Burns Tatul of the state highway patrol.

Deskins' body was found on a highway outside Coffeyville last June 17.

Himmler Boosts Policing Power

BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 23 (AP)—Strengthening his hold on the policing power in Germany, Minister of the Interior Heinrich Himmler now has made "anything other than complete subjugation to the will of the government" a punishable offense, it was reported here today.

This was brought out by the German SS party newspaper, Schwarze Korps, in an article entitled, "there is no defeatism."

Himmler's tightening grip on the German home front was also described in the Swiss weekly Weltwooche which said that he has now brought under his control Nazi anti-aircraft defenses, fighter planes which operate over home territory and even some regular troops.

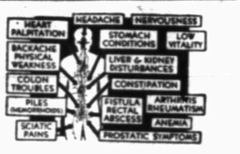

Like Beleaguered City

"Since Himmler took over the interior ministry," this articles said, "Germany is like a beleaguered city at the center of concentric zones of defense, with the citadel held by the elite SS, the second zone held by the rest of the party, the third by the army and the rest by the German people."

The Berlin correspondent of the Zurich newspaper Neue Zurcher Zeitung, noting that executions for speaking against the war or expressing defeatist sentiments had been reported before, asserted that "it is something new to include punishments for mere jeering and mocking."

Navy Crew Subsists On Corn Meal, Sand After Torpedoing

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP)—A Navy armed guard crew was reported in good condition here after being torpedoed in the Indian ocean and subsisting for days on a diet of corn meal and sand.

Twenty-two merchant seamen and 16 armed guardsmen, including J. A. Campbell of Sherman, were aboard when the torpedo crashed through their ship.

Other Texans aboard included A. L. Grasty, gunner's mate 3rd class of Palestine, Curtis G. Haryman, seaman 1st class of Sweetwater, A. C. Hirsch and J. H. Henry, both of Houston.

Eleven of the guardsmen spent 16 days in an open boat, living on sparse rations of malted milk tablets, pemmican, a dolphin and biscuits, before reaching shore.

Five were adrift for 20 days, supplanting their scarce food with sardines scooped out of the sea by hand. They walked and crawled 20 miles over a tortuous trail to a native village.

The wedding was held in the country.

Miss Stevenson became Lloyd George's secretary in 1913 after his daughters by his first marriage brought her home from school with them.

She accompanied him to the peace conference after the first World War and was known as "the blonde bewilderment" to Allied statesmen who could not understand how such a beautiful woman could be a secretary.

Miss Stevenson, 55, was mistress of the school attended by Lloyd George's daughter, Megan. Friends described has as "a charming woman who believes in women in politics, social work and in the air."
