2 a.m.: 2 close 2 call

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Surprisingly strong showing by U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, and state Sen. Lloyd Doggett in early returns upset Bob Krueger's hopes for an easy victory Saturday night and left Democratic hopefuls for the U.S. Senate seat watching inconclusive vote tallies trickle in.

As the three major contenders nervously monitored returns, results at 2 a.m. showed Hance with 31.47 percent of the vote, Doggett with 31.22 percent of the vote and Krueger with 30.89, with 96 percent of the state's precincts reporting.

Hance remained sequestered in a hotel room with top campaign aides most of the evening. He emerged shortly after 10 p.m., exuding self-confidence. "Things look good," Hance said. "We felt all along we would be in a runoff. I think the main thing is that we have been able to focus on the issues, the people in the state of Texas, are concerned about."

"We talked about amnesty for illegal aliens and how it affects jobs. There are a lot of people in the state without jobs," he said.

Hance appeared to be making inroads in portions of East Texas — far away from his West Texas political base — carrying the counties of Harrison, Morris and Wood.

Considering that the Rio Grande Valley Hispanic vote and totals from the major metropolitan areas had not yet come in, Doggett said earlier in the evening he was "very optimistic that I'll be campaigning for the runoff tomorrow."

Krueger also appeared about 10 p.m. as supporters began to chant his name.

"We've got round one," he announced. "There's going to be a round two. And in November, there's going to be a round three. And we're going to win them all."

Asked if he ever suspected Hance would do as well, Krueger said, "It always seemed to me possible. I don't know whether when all the votes are counted he will be in the number one position or not. But I continue to believe that we are in the mainstream."

Krueger continued his campaign into the last available 12 hours, flying to Harlingen early Saturday morning to work the polls in the Rio Grande Valley, an aide to the former congressman said.

The Krueger party site was decorated with the traditional red, white and blue bunting, along with Krueger of Texas campaign posters. Supporters sipped beer and nibbled popcorn.

Stenholm rouns Cowling

Heavily favored U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, was routing political newcomer Noel Cowling of Dublin in the 17th congressional Democratic primary early Sunday morning.

Since there are no Republican contenders for the seat, Stenholm, 45, would virtually assure himself another two-year term in Congress with a win.

Stenholm swept 33 of 35 counties reporting, gaining 74,126 votes to 10,602 for Cowling.

In Howard County, Stenholm smashed Cowling, 4,370-503.

In other area counties the result was: Dawson — Stenholm 281, Cowling 23; Mitchell — Stenholm 2,221, Cowling 203; Glasscock — Stenholm 273, Cowling 29; Sterling — Stenholm 359, Cowling 42; Martin — Stenholm 727, Cowling 82.

"I think we sneaked another one through," Stenholm said with a smile. "It feels great."

Hamby defeats Miller

Incumbent wins 60% of vote

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Incumbent 118th District Attorney Rick Hamby defeated challenger Bob Miller by slightly more than a two-to-one margin in the most hotly contested race in Howard County.

Hamby said he attached "no significance in the margin" of votes in his victory over Howard County attorney Bob Miller.

"It (the vote) is nothing more than people voicing their confidence in me," Hamby said. "I tried hard (to do a good job), and I will try harder."

Statements by Miller in advertisements called Hamby "soft on drugs" and attacked his prosecution of drug cases, saying more than 70 such cases were dismissed by his office. Hamby countered in an ad stating such cases totaled only 29, and indicated many of those were dismissed because of lab tests showing the substance was not illegal or was a misdemeanor substance.

Hamby, 36, said he would probably make some changes in his of-ice, "changes that come with growth. I will use my best judgment."

Hamby's victory was across-the-board in the 118th Judicial District. He tallied the most votes in all three counties in his district —

Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties.

In Howard County, Hamby received 3,167 votes to Miller's 2,092, giving Hamby 60 percent of the total.

In Martin County, Hamby got 455 votes to Miller's 355. In Glasscock County, Hamby beat Miller 175-128.

Saturday's results assure Hamby's re-election to a third term as district attorney since he has no Republican opposition in the November general election.

Miller carried only four precinct boxes in Howard County, all outside the city limits, but the largest margin of difference in those precincts was 25 votes.

Ironically, Miller's strongest showing came in Luther, Hamby's birthplace, where he received 36 votes to Hamby's 9. The other three boxes Miller won were: Vincent, 18 to 7; Knott, 49 to 39; and Forsan, where he edged Hamby, 24 to 22.

Those margins of victory did not begin to make up the difference, as Hamby took precinct totals by margins of 100 or more in several boxes.

The incumbent jumped off to a strong lead in the absentee ballots, getting 338 to 269 for Miller, and never relinquished it.

In the mainly minority sections of County Commissioner Precinct 1, Hamby won by margins of more than 100 votes.

During the last days of the campaign, Miller ran ads of children playing under a headline saying, "Parents — We Owe Our Children a Drug-Free Future." Much of the campaign in the last week attacked Hamby's statements that drug abuse was a cultural problem, and could not be resolved by only law enforcement and the courts.

Mondale takes Texas

Big Spring area Democrats helped Walter Mondale score what he called "a big win" in the Texas Democratic presidential caucus Saturday.

Aides predicted Mondale would get at least 81 of the 169 Democratic National Convention delegates at stake. Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson also were likely to leave Texas with some convention delegates, but not enough to keep Mondale's nationwide delegate lead from growing.

With about half the precinct caucuses reporting to the Texas Democratic Party, Mondale was ahead of Hart by a 2-1 margin.

With 82 percent of the precincts reporting in Howard County, Mondale claimed 97 delegates to the county convention. Hart followed with 38 delegates, and Jackson picked up 20 delegates.

The number of uncommitted delegates was unknown. The

Runoffs in commissioner races

GOP Crooker faces McKinnon; Demo Smallwood vs. Nichols

By CAROL BALDWIN

BILL CROOKER

Incumbent Bill Crooker will face a June 2 run-off election with Clayton McKinnon for the Republican nomination as Howard County commissioner, Precinct 3.

In the Democratic race for the Precinct 3 nomination, Joneil Smallwood and Oliver B. (Bud) Nichols will square off in the June run-off.

Crooker missed an outright majority win by 6 votes in GOP balloting at Marcy Elementary. He received 121 votes, or 47.6 percent, to McKinnon's 89 (35 percent). A third Republican hopeful, Travis Brackeen, received 44 votes, or 17 percent.

Crooker, reached at his home Saturday night, said, "I appreciate the people who supported me. I'm looking forward to the run-off. I'm very positive."

McKinnon, also reached at home Saturday night, said, "I'd like to thank all the voters who got out and voted. ... I'm real optimistic. I think this shows the people are wanting a change."

McKinnon said he will spend the next month "continuing to meet the public and pushing the issues."

In the Democratic race, Joneil Smallwood took 27 percent of the vote with 428 votes. Nichols took 20 percent of the vote with 320 votes.

Other candidates vying for the seat were M. Fern Cox, who got 266 votes, or 17 percent; Bob E. Wilson, 106 votes, or 6.73 percent; Neil Fryar, 275 votes, or 17 percent; and Garner Thixton, 179 votes, or 11 percent.

Smallwood, who was at the county courthouse throughout election night, said, "I'd like to thank everyone for their support and everyone who helped with the campaign."

"I feel real excited but not surprised," Smallwood said. "I worked real hard and my good friends and neighbors worked with me. I feel I'm the only candidate that can beat the Republican in November."

Winners from each party in June 2 will be candidates in the general election in November.

Nichols said Saturday night, "I would like to thank those who voted for me and those who worked very hard and tirelessly for this victory. I can't take all the credit for this because alone I couldn't have done all the work necessary to get the message to the voters."

"The real credit belongs to the people who worked behind the scenes. I'd like to address the voters who supported candidates who were unsuccessful. They ran a good campaign and made a good showing, thanks to your support. I would consider it a privilege if you would now lend me your support."

Long, Lamb in Demo JP runoff

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Challengers China Long and Doyle Lamb will vie June 2 for the Democratic nomination to the Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 1, seat as top vote-getters in a six-candidate field.

Incumbent Bobby West trailed a distant third behind Mrs. Long's 1,490 votes and Lamb's 1,047. The two-term incumbent tallied 623, or 15 percent.

Mrs. Long, KBST radio news director currently on leave of absence, garnered 35 percent to Lamb's 25 percent out of the 4,275 votes cast.

The winner of the run-off is assured victory in the November general election since there is no Republican opponent.

Other candidates and their totals are Robert Stapp, 547 votes, 13 percent; Paul G. Silva, 418 votes, 10 percent; and Don Brooks, 150 votes, 4 percent.

Mrs. Long, contacted before the totals were final, said she was pleased by her substantial lead at that time, more than 300 votes.

"I'm pleased, but some of the

CHINA LONG

largest boxes are still out," Mrs. Long said. She expected to be in the runoff, she said.

Lamb, contacted in Balmorhea Saturday night, said he was "delighted" he would be in the runoff. He credited West's failure to get in the run-off to citizens' dissatisfaction with his absenteeism.

Lamb said his strong point in a race against Mrs. Long will be his organization. "We had a lot of people out" working on the election, he said. He also called Mrs. Long a "worthy opponent," and said the battle would be tough because of her name identification as a radio reporter.

"China is not only my friend, she is a very worthy opponent. I have no quarrel with her," he said.

During the counting of ballots, County Clerk Margaret Ray had posted totals and pointed out the results of some precincts that went to Mrs. Long — the only female candidate in the county races.

"I want you men to look at this," she said. "Maybe you can learn a lesson. Women are coming into their own. Next we'll have a woman running for county judge."

During the campaign, Precinct 1, Place 2 Justice Lewis Hefflin had called the job "too gorey" for a woman to do because it required rulings on cause of death when a person died unattended.

Silva, who received about 400 votes, was second in the early hours of the evening, mainly because of his strong showing in heavily minority precincts on the north side of the city.

Gramm clear winner

DALLAS (AP) — Party-switching Rep. Phil Gramm won the Republican nomination Saturday in the race to replace retiring GOP Sen. John Tower while conservative Rep. Kent Hance took a lead in the Democratic race.

Gramm, a "Boll Weevil" Democrat from College Station who changed parties and was re-elected last year, garnered 133,541 votes, or 73 percent, of the precincts reporting. Rep. Ron Paul of Lake Jackson had 29,113 votes, or 16 percent, Houston oilman Rob Moshbacher had 14,490 votes, or 8 percent, and Houston public relations man Henry Grover had 5,280 votes, or 3 percent.

The race drew the attention of national party leaders in both parties because Democrats stand a chance in November not only to cut into the slim Republican majority in the Senate but also take away the GOP's last statewide elected office in Texas.

"It's a very strong mandate and obviously I'm grateful," Gramm said. "I think this is a clear signal to conservative Democrats disenfranchised from the Democratic party as to how they would be received in the Republican Party."

Both Moshbacher and Paul conceded to Gramm at about 10 p.m.

Gramm, 41, outspent the field with contributions of about $1.8 million. Moshbacher, 32, raised $1.6 million — about $1.15 million of it personal loans. Paul, 48, raised $1.3 million, according to the records filed with the Federal Election Commission.

Gramm said his figures indicated that large numbers of voters in rural areas, many of them long-time Democrats, had turned out in "record numbers" in the GOP primary.

Moshbacher, a George Bush ally who worked for and was endorsed by Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and whose father is on President Reagan's re-election finance committee, hoped that spending and political know-how would carry him through his first political race.

Tower said Saturday night that Gramm, a former

Teachers critique Perot plan

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Although H. Ross Perot and his Select Committee on Education have formulated a plan for schools, educators have their own ideas on the problems and pluses of Texas schools.

Four teachers at Goliad Middle School, representing a cross-section of academics, sports and extra-curricular activities, talked about the committee recommendations making their way to the Legislature now.

A 10 percent salary increase received favorable comments from the teachers polled, although most agreed that a greater pay hike would have encouraged more persons to remain in the profession.

Ricky Mitchell, band director at Goliad Middle School, said he was for the salary increase.

"I want to be treated as a professional. I deserve a professional wage that provides an adequate living for my family," Mitchell said.

2nd in a series

Ed Gauer, a 7th grade coach and history teacher, agreed that the 10 percent proposed hike "is better than nothing, but we need more."

"If teachers don't get more money, we're going to lose them," Gauer said. "We're losing good teachers in the classroom who would stay if salaries were better."

Another provision in the Select Committee's report is administering a basic skills test for educators, a proposal drawing fire from educators across the state.

However, Mitchell said, "I'm for that, but I don't think it is the only answer. I don't think you can catalog teachers by saying the good teachers will pass and the bad teachers will fail. But I do think it will help."

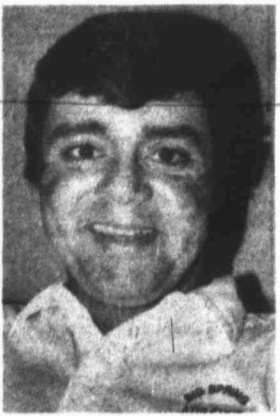

"I wouldn't mind taking it. It might show me areas where I need

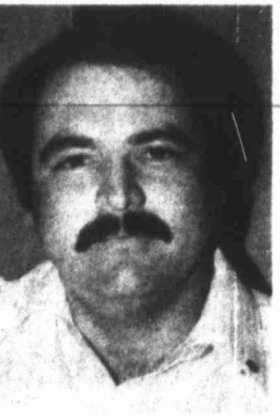

E.C. ROBERSON

JUDY TERELETSKY

ED GAUER

to improve," Mitchell said. E.C. Roberson, a football and track coach and physical education teacher, said, "I can see a need for (the skills test.) I've seen some weak teachers who do not have a basic grammar background."

Judy Tereletsky, who teaches language arts and fine arts in 6th and 7th grades, said enforcing competency tests might "open up a can of worms." During her years as a teacher in the Houston area, "I saw it (a skills test) started in Houston and in my opinion it didn't work there because it wasn't done properly."

"It's not an altogether bad idea," Miss Tereletsky said. "But my first reaction to something like that is if you are going to test teachers, then all professions should be tested."

"I don't know if legislators would like it if they had to be tested or if they had to depend on us for raises," Miss Tereletsky said.

She said she felt many teachers "tend to keep up with their fields. Most of us are back in school in the summertime."

All educators polled were opposed to the Select Committee's proposal on limiting the seven-hour school day to academics, lunch and rest periods.

"Perot emphasized a need for the arts" in an earlier report, Mitchell said.

"If teachers don't get more money, we're going to lose them. We're losing good teachers in the classroom who would stay if salaries were better."
— Ed Gauer

chell said. "The Texas Education Association supports more arts in the curriculum. We are moving in to a high-tech society and we will have more leisure time."

"The arts provide a better way to spend leisure time," Mitchell said.

The objective of educators is to produce "a well-rounded child," Gauer said. "We're in the 'kids business.' To achieve the end results of a well-rounded child, I think extra-curricular activities are important."

Roberson feared that in an "all work and no play" situation, "the kids would become very stifled. I wouldn't go for that at all."

In response to a proposal on lengthening the school year by five days, the educators had varying ideas.

Mitchell referred to a report by Perot called "First Impressions" in which Perot said "we were wasting the school day as it was." Mitchell felt the school system might better utilize the time it has.

Roberson said, "Kids get tired. There are a lot of outside things going on to curtail their interest in the school year."

All educators polled were in favor of requiring students participating in sports to have passing grades.

"I agree with that wholeheartedly," Gauer said. "I feel sports and extracurricular activities should be a reward" to academics.

Roberson said, "We've had that rule at Goliad for four or five years." He admitted that he has "pouted a little" when a child was barred from a sports event because of poor grades but, "they're here for an education first."

Miss Tereletsky said, "I believe strongly (in requiring passing grades for sports.) Big Spring already does that. In Houston, I saw where some students didn't have to make a certain grade, and it made a big difference."

Miss Tereletsky said students should be encouraged to understand both athletics and academics are important and students need not excel only in one area.

Concerning the recommendation that students only be allowed to miss 10 days per year for extracurricular activities, Mitchell said, "I have mixed feelings about that. In Big Spring we have to share so many students between activities" that it would be difficult to limit the days students may participate in various activities.

Gauer said, "I don't see that as a problem in junior high school. I can foresee a problem on the high school level." But Gauer said for some programs, "To accomplish their goals, there are going to be times of the year when students are going to have to be out. To curtail that would defeat the purpose of the programs."

Both Gauer and Roberson talked about a proposal to limit competitive sports in middle and junior high schools.

"I'm totally opposed to that," Gauer said. "Here we miss very little class time. Kids have to keep their grades up. I see no reason to curtail it. That's not a problem here."

Roberson said, "I don't see any benefit to that at all."

Man gets taste of U.S. politics

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

At 36, Big Spring resident Dr. Max Wolf voted Saturday for the first time.

Wolf, a radiologist at Malone-Hogan Hospital, became a naturalized American citizen last year. He formerly lived in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe.

"It's a fair and just system," Wolf said of U.S. elections.

Wolf moved to the United States in 1977. He left Zimbabwe at 18 to attend medical school in South Africa, and was unable to vote in South Africa because he was not a citizen, he said.

But he also said Texas elections were complex, because of the primaries, runoffs and precinct caucuses.

"It's hard to understand. First you have primaries and then the regular election," he said. "Where I'm from, you usually just voted for the individual." Under the British-style of parliamentary government, the party decides who its candidates will be without a primary.

"The system here is a lot more geared to the actual candidate than the actual party. There is much more emphasis on who you are voting for," Wolf said.

"In my country, the first priority is basically to a party, and whoever happened to be its candidate," he said.

Wolf said he planned to attend his precinct caucus Saturday evening.

• David Hildebrand of 805 W. 17th told police someone caused $1,100 of damage to his 1981 Yamaha motorcycle by knocking it over.

Sheriff's Log

Burglary suspect arrested

Howard County sheriff's deputies arrested a 26-year-old Big Spring man at 5:30 p.m. Friday on suspicion of burglary of a building.

Daniel Martinez Marquez Jr. of 610 N.W. Eighth was released on $10,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

• Deputies Saturday also arrested Isidro Luna, 24, of Coahoma on suspicion of issuance of a bad check. He was released on $200 bond set by Heflin.

• Edward James Byron, 22, of 1603 E. Sixth was transferred to the county jail from the police department on suspicion of possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set at $5,000 by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

• Gilbert Granillo, 22, of Deming, N.M. was transferred Saturday to the county jail from the police department on suspicion of possession of more than 4 ounces of marijuana. He was released on $5,000 bond set by Daratt.

• Ray Adams of Lomax told deputies Friday he was missing a $450 pair of boots from his house.

Dust, drilling slump cause CRMWD delivery reduction

Severe sandstorms and declining deliveries for oilfield secondary recovery units combined to cause a small decrease in the total volume of water pumped by the Colorado River Municipal District in April, compared to the same month last year.

were 1.509 million gallons, of 17.392 gallons less than April 1983. Municipal deliveries were up 5.55 percent, while those to oil companies decreased because of a cut-off of deliveries from Lake J.B. Thomas to oil companies as a means to conserve the water for municipal use.

Halfman takes commissioner post

GARDEN CITY — Wayne Halfmann won a close race in Saturday's Democratic primary for the Precinct 1 seat on the Glasscock County commissioners court.

Halfmann, a farmer, got 74 votes to 63 for Leroy Hoelscher, also a farmer.

In the Precinct 3 commissioners race, rancher John Phillips will face a runoff election with Davis Sisson, a retired Phillips 66 employee. The vote was Phillips, 18; Sisson, 16; and Jack Tonn, an employee of Goodyear in Big Spring, 13.

In the 118th District Attorney race, Glasscock voters gave incumbent Rick Hamby a narrow victory over Howard County Attorney Bob Miller, 175-128.

Royce Pruitt got 310 votes in his unopposed re-election bid for sheriff.

In the Democratic U.S. Senate race, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock got 236 votes to 52 for Bob Krueger and 18 for State Sen. Lloyd Doggett. Vote totals for the other candidates were Harley Schlanger, 4; Robert Sullivan, 4; and David Young, 5.

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm outpaced challenger Noel Cowling, 273-29.

John Hill garnered 204 votes to 63 for Sears McGee in the race for chief justice of the state Supreme Court.

In other Supreme Court races, C.L. Ray got 135 votes to lead the Place 1 race. Shelby Sharpe took 91 votes and Texas Ward got 30 votes.

In the Place 1 race for the Court of Criminal Appeals, Sam Clinton garnered 175 votes to 55 for Oliver Kitzman.

In the Place 2 race, the vote was: W.C. Davis, 124; Roy Greenwood, 65; Buddy Stevens, 31; George Martinez, 16.

In the Place 3 race, the vote was: Thomas Thorpe, 81; Bill White, 69; William Phillips, 24; Kerry Fitzgerald, 24; George Ellis, 15; Harry Heard, 11; and Walter Boyd, 6.

In the GOP Senate primary, U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm picked up nine votes to outdistance challengers Hank Grover, 1 vote; Rob Mosbacher, 2 votes; and Ron Paul, 0.

Martin runoff for tax position

STANTON — In the only contested Martin County race, June Carpenter and Leona Louder will face a runoff election for tax-assessor collector.

The vote was Carpenter, 396; Louder, 350; and Jan McKaskle, 148.

Martin County voters gave incumbent Rick Hamby a 100-vote endorsement in his re-election bid for 118th District Attorney.

Hamby took 455 votes to 355 for Howard County Attorney Bob Miller in the Democratic primary.

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance scored an overwhelming local victory here in his bid for the U.S. Senate. The vote was: Hance, 905; Bob Krueger, 36; Lloyd Doggett, 21; David Young, 10; Robert Sullivan, 9; and Harley Schlanger, 0.

In the race for U.S. representative for District 17, incumbent Charles Stenholm crushed challenger Noel Cowling, 727-82.

Davis, 266; Buddy Stevens, 164; Roy Greenwood, 138; George Martinez, 82. Place 3 — Bill White, 247; Thomas Thorpe, 136; Harry Heard, 58; William Phillips, 48; Kerry Fitzgerald, 46; Walter Boyd, 41; George Ellis, 24.

The unopposed races included incumbent Sheriff Dan Saunders, County Attorney Robert Morris, Precinct 1 Constable Chuck James, Precinct 3 Constable Richard Lewis, and Ronnie Deatherage in the Precinct 3 county commissioners race.

In the GOP primary here, U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm got 32 votes to 6 for Ron Paul. Rob Mosbacher and Hank Grover got no votes.

Borden incumbents retain county seats

GAIL — Incumbent Vernon Wolf and Frank Curry won in their bids for positions on the Borden County Commissioners Court in the Democratic primary here Saturday.

In the Precinct 1 race, the vote was: Curry 53; Herman Ledbetter, 47. In the Precinct 3 election, the vote was: Wolf, 76; Robert Garner, 16.

In the 132nd District Attorney race, Ernie Armstrong will face a runoff with Michael Line. In the two-county 132nd District, composed of Borden and Scurry counties, Armstrong had 1,664 votes, or 47.5 percent, to Line's 1,197. James Clark got 636 votes.

In Scurry County voting, Armstrong got 1,841 to Clark's 550 and Line's 1,146. In Borden County, Armstrong got 123 votes, Clark got 86 and Line took 51 votes.

In the race for U.S. Senate, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance notched a lopsided local victory, picking up 278 votes. Other totals were: Bob Krueger, 16; Robert Sullivan, 6; David Young, 5; Harley Schlanger, 2; Lloyd Doggett, 2.

Incumbent Charles Stenholm garnered 281 votes to 23 for Noel Cowling in the 17th District U.S. Representative race.

Borden County Sheriff and Tax Collector Norman Sneed was unopposed in his re-election race, getting 244 votes.

Pete Greene was unopposed for 132nd District judge.

Sheriff runoff in Sterling County

STERLING CITY — Roy Balderaz and Lloyd Brown will face a runoff election for Sterling County sheriff and tax collector.

In the Democratic primary Saturday, the vote was Balderaz, 202; Brown, 220; and Will Lenoir, 52.

Billy Bynum and Johnny Hughes won in their bids for the county commissioners court. In Precinct 1, the vote was Hughes, 87; C.W. Smith, 67. In Precinct 3, Bynum got 92 votes to 39 for Rance Hord.

Mitchell sheriff whips opponents

COLORADO CITY — Incumbent Sheriff Wendell Bryant outscored his nearest opponent by almost 3-1 in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Bryant got 1,539 votes to 594 for C.N. Stubblefield and 396 for George Davenport. With nearly 61 percent of the vote, Bryant is assured of election in November. He has no Republican opposition.

Norman Arnett easily defeated Dan Barber in the Democratic primary nomination for 32nd District Attorney. The total for the three-county area, which includes Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher counties, was 5,563 for Arnett and 1,759 for Barber. In Mitchell County, the vote was 1,910 for Arnett and 395 for Barber.

In Mitchell County Commissioners Court Precinct 1, Edward Roach and Warren Anderson will square off in a June 2 run-off race.

In the Republican U.S. Senate race, the vote was: Phil Gramm, 38; Ron Paul, 4; Hank Grover, 1; and Rob Mosbacher, 0.

Mondale

Howard County Democratic convention will be held May 20.

Mondale also won big in Mitchell and Dawson Counties.

The former vice president received 30 delegates in Mitchell County and 51 in Dawson.

In Mitchell County, Hart picked up 19 delegates and Jackson got three delegates; two delegates will be uncommitted.

In Dawson County, Hart received 25 delegates and Jackson took two delegates. Eleven delegates will be uncommitted.

Hart came in first in delegate totals in Martin, Sterling and Borden counties.

The Colorado senator took 25 delegates in Martin County to five for Mondale and none for Jackson. Seven delegates will be uncommitted.

In Sterling County, seven delegates are pledged to Hart. Mondale got one delegate.

In Borden County, Hart picked up two delegates. Mondale got one, and one will be uncommitted.

In Glasscock County, the lone delegate will be pledged to Hart.

"It now appears we have won a very strong victory in Texas, which is a very, very strong step forward," said Mondale, who was campaigning in Cleveland.

Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle, a Mondale supporter, said the victory showed that Mondale is the clear favorite of Democrats.

"I'm not going to tell him (Hart) to get out of the race," Slagle said. "I said it's time to de-escalate the rhetoric."

With about 50 percent of the precinct caucuses reporting, Mondale had 51 percent of the support, Hart had 28 percent and the Rev. Jesse Jackson had 13 percent. About 7 percent were uncommitted.

"It appears that Vice President Mondale is going to win Texas. But I think the spread is going to be narrowed," said U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, Hart's Texas campaign chairman.

President Reagan received 97 percent of the vote in an unbinding Republican presidential primary.

Hart blasts caucus system

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gary Hart late Saturday blamed the results of his apparent poor showing in Texas on the complicated process under which voters had to choose among presidential candidates.

He said he draws hope for his candidacy from his second-place showing behind the Rev. Jesse Jackson in Louisiana.

Hart issued a statement when only 5 percent of the results had been tallied in Texas and the Democratic presidential contender said "it is far too early to react definitively."

"The real outcome, the amount of delegates each of us will win will not be known for several days and I am confident I will win my share."

"As in some other caucus states," he said, "the system was designed to discourage widespread participation and to make things easier for the party organization and its allied groups." Precinct caucuses were held Saturday night in Texas.

In the Louisiana primary, Hart said his second-place finish above Mondale makes him believe that he will "do very well" Tuesday when there are critical primaries in Ohio and Indiana. The Colorado senator said he would participate in emerging efforts to settle fights over rules and credentials, but added that he wants what he calls the "tainted delegate" question to be on the agenda.

Campaigning through Indiana, Hart sought to keep alive as an issue labor union contributions to Mondale's delegate committees.

Mondale has asked the committees to disband and said he would return the any political action committee contributions that helped finance them, but Mondale aides have said it won't be refunded until after the last round of primaries June 5.

Hart said that allows Mondale to use upwards of $500,000 to help finance his campaign.

He said at a news conference that any special commission or committee set up to consider delegate selection issues should include "resolution of legal and ethical issues relating to the status of the tainted delegates."

The Colorado senator said political action committee funds were used and "apparently are still being used today, Tuesday (when there are primaries in Indiana and Ohio) and through June 5."

Brown wins

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Democratic incumbent O.L. (Louie) Brown won his bid as the Democratic nominee for re-election to Howard County commissioners Precinct 1 Saturday with 65 percent of the vote.

Brown, who is unopposed in the general election in November, got 692 votes to challenger Raymond Stallings' 373 votes, or 35 percent.

Brown, reached at his home following the elections, said, "I feel great. I want to thank all the people in Precinct 1. I'd also like to thank Mr. Stallings for running a real clean race. I respect Mr. Stallings."

Brown said he was "flabbergasted" by the number of votes he received. "I've never won this big," he said.

The silver spoon a deadly dagger

She was once seen running naked from the ruins of a Greenwich Village town house, gutted by an explosion in a basement bomb factory where a fellow radical was found dead.

Kathy Boudin surfaced that day in 1970 only to disappear in the radical underground, from which she emerged, a decade later, manning the getaway car in a Brink's robbery in which a guard and two policemen were slain.

Boudin recently pleaded guilty to murder and robbery in the Brink's killing. "I feel terrible about the lives that were lost," she told a judge. "I have led a life of commitment to political principles, and I think I can be true to those principles without engaging in violent acts."

She was sentenced to 20 years in life in prison. Her husband had earlier received a 75-year sentence for his role in the murders. Their 3-year-old daughter was put in custody of a former member of the radical underground.

Boudin, now 40, will not be eligible for parole until 2001, when she will be 57.

There is no question that the conviction is fair, that the punishment is just. But people who watched this woman's life unfold in the strobe beam of violence are left with many questions.

Why would the daughter of a civil liberties lawyer, a young woman educated at Bryn Mawr, join the Weather Underground? Why would a woman raised in a pacifist home be involved in a bomb factory? Why would a radical of the '60s commit a political robbery in the '80s, when most of her generation had abandoned the rhetoric of revolution for the reality of jobs and families?

"You don't need a weather-man to know which way the wind blows," Bob Dylan drewled in a song from which came the name of the Weather Underground, a group of college radicals who believed a whirlwind was coming and wanted to sow revolution. When college students were marching against the Vietnam War, listening to radical rhetoric and dropping out of school, the Weather Underground organized secret communes, stockpiled weapons, put rhetoric to the test of blood. Revolution was not so much a means as an end in itself, an expression of total commitment to destruction of the privileged class into which its members were born. The silver spoon was turned into a dagger. Resentment against parents was translated into hatred of the state. The ideal was liberation; the reality was violence.

The end of the Vietnam War brought the end of radicalism for most middle-class students. The Arab Oil embargo and recession woke up most of Boudin's generation to the need to use a college degree to find a job. As the Yuppies became the Yuppies, they shed their youthful arrogance, learned that their parents were people, not villains, saw Watergate as a cleansing of government and made compromises while trying not to compromise themselves.

The radical true-believers, abandoned by their generation, kept their ideology pure. They modeled themselves on guerrilla groups. They didn't give up the fight against the power structure. And one day in 1981, in the process of robbing the capitalists, they killed three working-class people.

It's too late for the people who were victims of this woman and her friends, but it's not too late for the lesson of Kathy Boudin to be pondered by those who seek to improve our system by destroying it.

Between a rock and a tinted glass

To the editor:

Let me see if I have this straight: Andres Gamboa has an acquaintance, but according to the Herald, it is a rather strange relationship. Based on the report in Thursday's (April 19) Police Beat, he only knows this person between the hours of 4 p.m. on Monday and 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday. Further, he knows this person through a rock. Does that mean that the rock introduced Mr. Gamboa and his acquaintance, or does that mean that they speak to each other through the rock?

Also, according to the report, they were introduced and must speak to each other through a tinted glass window on the south side of La Vadera Club.

The window was, incidentally, valued at $150.

What am I really saying? What is the reporter in Police Beat really saying? It is time for the Herald reporters to take a lesson from Hemingway. Be concise, unscramble the syntax, and be sure that what you think you say, what you actually say, and what your readers think you say are all the same.

Second glances

By JOHN RICE

Perceptions in education

She devoted her life to teaching students. Now, 30 years later, she is leaving the classroom with the realization that the profession she loved "is no longer fun."

"Learning ought to be fun," Mamie Lee Dodds said in an interview published in the Herald last week. "Children learn more when they are having fun than through drudgery work." But in recent years, Mrs. Dodds realized that more and more of her time was spent trying to motivate students to learn, rather than teaching. "When I first started teaching, students were eager to learn."

As the son of a public school teacher, I know how Mrs. Dodds feels. After two decades in the classroom, my dad left his profession, for much the same reason. The role of teacher, he felt, had evolved over the years into less of instructor and more of policeman and babysitter.

Students were less inclined to want to work, he felt, and more inclined to believe that if they occupied a chair the required number of years they would emerge magically "educated." His setting was primarily the Houston public schools, but Mrs. Dodds' experience is in Lubbock, New Mexico and, for the last 25 years, Big Spring. So I think we're talking about a more generalized phenomenon here.

I was a motivated student, in some measure because of my father's work. But more of my motivation toward learning came from the reward system in my home. I knew my parents felt it was important. Good grades pleased them, and every child wants to please his parents.

Homework was the first priority of the evening, and then, if time permitted, I was free to play. Illness had to be documented — well-documented — before permission was granted to stay home from school. (I remember the terrible trouble a sister invited when she used a heater to boost the fever thermometer's reading. If myself or my siblings were too ill to go to school, we were too ill to play that day. Bed rest was required — there was no allowance for suddenly "getting better" that afternoon.) And I should add that I was the product of a one-worker family, so complicating a working mother's life wasn't a consideration in whether we could stay home or not.

I don't know what kind of punishment would have been exacted had I had bad marks, because I made the expected grades. But I fear the worst punishment would have been disappointing my parents.

Now I find myself in a situation where I have school age children of my own. And I ask myself the questions: How do I balance motivating them in school against pushing so hard that they turn away from learning? How do I instill respect for teachers and for the system of education while encouraging them to question, probe and think for themselves? Will I be tolerant enough to mold my expectations individually for each of my three children?

I still don't know for sure, but I think the key criterion will be: Are they trying? If they are motivated to do their best, then a "C" for one will be just as impressive as an "A" for another. If they aren't trying, that's time to work with — not against — the schools in seeking to motivate them.

Society is change. In 30 years, the change can be dramatic. But while there is experimentation and rebellion, division and growth, the basic values, tested by the toughest teacher — time, remain constant. The work ethic, the priority of education, the worth of respecting authority, the bond of family and the willingness to accept responsibility. These may stray, may elude us for a time, but it's only good sense that eventually we embrace them anew.

Mrs. Dodd sees a movement in that direction, a new era of parent's involvement in their children's lives, sharing the accomplishments and the setbacks. Because I was taught that teachers are special people, and because I grew up with one who worked hard and anguished over the hassles of educating, I am inclined to have faith in a teacher's perceptions. I'm happy with what Mrs. Dodd sees for the future, because it will mean my children's classmates will be more oriented toward learning, and that'll make the task easier for all.

If everyone's pulling an oar, rowing the boat is easy — and fun.

Ford's faulty idea

The guilty companies have to pay 85 percent of each worker's wages (minus any money he earns and any unemployment benefits), plus existing benefits, for a full year. They're also required to cover some retraining and relocation expenses.

Washington also would offer firms and workers loans and loan guarantees to rescue endangered plants — in effect "institutionalizing" the sort of plan used to save Chrysler," as a Ford aide puts it. Communities hurt by the loss of jobs would also be eligible for federal aid.

The prospect of incurring all these burdens is apparently supposed to sober up any firms giddy at the notion of closing a factory. It may do that, and it may even induce some to keep unprofitable operations going a little longer. But if a plant is a loser, it's not going to be made into a winner by tarring and feathering its owner.

By reducing the pain of unemployment to workers, Ford's bill discourages them from making the concessions required to keep their employers competitive and their plants going. Perversely, it will probably mean more, rather than fewer, jobs lost.

It would destroy jobs in other ways, too. The day this bill becomes law, you can bet that every corporation in the country will start looking for new ways to replace workers with machines. Why? Because the bill would make labor more expensive compared with capital. Machines don't collect severance pay when their plants close.

Ford's bill, like any restriction on plant closings, also would discourage companies from giving work to their own workers. The more employees, the more costly the shutdown. Instead, they will have an incentive to rely more on subcontractors.

What may be still worse is the law's effect on the creation of new jobs. In effect, it serves as a tax on unsuccessful ventures. So if you're a company with a risky project, you'll probably take a pass.

Labor unions are already annnoyed by the flight of manufacturing to lower-wage countries. But by raising the potential cost of opening a plant in the United States, this measure would encourage corporations to locate any new production facilities abroad. It would also increase the attractiveness of imports by raising the cost of American-made goods.

The best way to keep factories going and preserve jobs is to establish conditions agreeable to financial success — reasonable taxes, minimal economic regulation, competitive labor costs. This measure does just the opposite.

Take the quiz

I am repeatedly flabbergasted at the ability of American presidents to pull snow jobs on the public.

The latest White House blizzard blew in with Ronald Reagan's much trumpeted visit to China.

Why did he go, except to publicize, in front of luscious scenery, his re-election campaign?

How can Reagan, who excoriates the Soviet Union for aggressiveness and subversion, so unashamedly embrace the Chinese with open arms?

And how can the public be so easily enchanted by pagodas and pandas and not see the hypocrisy of Reagan's visit?

I remember two years ago Reagan saying the Soviet Union, because of its Marxist government, would be relegated to the ash heap of history. And yet last week, Reagan announces from the Great Wall that China is a progressive nation making great humanitarian strides.

Doesn't Reagan realize the Chinese are every bit as Marxist as the Russians?

Mr. Reagan: You can't be vehemently anti-communist on the one hand and shake hands with Peking with the other. There is contradiction here.

If Reagan is really interested in international friendship and peace, he should have gone to Moscow, not Peking. If you don't believe me, take the Ronald Reagan Slow Boat to China quiz below.

Answer the following questions with Russia or China.

1. What country launched raids into North Vietnam last month?
2. What country lost 20 million dead helping us defeat the Nazis.
3. What country invaded Korea in 1952 and battled U.S. troops?
4. With which communist country has the U.S. maintained continuous diplomatic relations?
5. What nation helped the U.S. establish the U.N.?
6. What country helped the U.S. sponsor the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty?
7. What large communist country has officially stated its intentions to expand geographically?

If you correctly answered most of the questions, then you know our friend should be Moscow, not Peking.

If you didn't know the answers, you've probably been playing in the snow.

U.S. worried over Salvador vote

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, May 6, 1984

5-A

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reagan administration officials are worried that the expected victory of center-left candidate Jose Napoleon Duarte in El Salvador's presidential election Sunday could lead to increased violence from right wing death squads.

While privately supporting Duarte, the officials say they recognize that, if he wins, rightist elements probably will use violence as a way of serving notice on him that he must take their interests into account once he takes office in June.

The officials, who asked to remain unidentified, said an increase in political-motivated vengeance could neutralize much of the favorable aspect the election as expected to generate in the Congress. Officially, the administration has declared its neutrality between Duarte and his right-wing opponent, Roberto d'Aubuisson. But Duarte is clearly the preferred candidate and plans already are being made to invite him here to meet with Reagan if he is elected.

"If he wins we will want him up here soon," said one U.S. official.

Duarte has invitations from private groups such as the Council on Foreign Relations. He speaks English fluently, and supporters of Reagan's aid program think he could advance chances for its approval in Congress.

Because of the widespread allegations about D'Aubuisson's links with death squads, officials say Congress almost certainly would vote to terminate U.S. assistance to El Salvador if he wins. That, they believe, could lead to victory by leftist guerrillas.

The administration sees the election process as a turning point in El Salvador's democratic development and for American policy there. Since the start of the Reagan administration, Congress has given aid grudgingly and on a piecemeal basis, thus preventing the Salvadoran Army from making significant headway against the guerrillas, officials said.

They said the administration will try to get as much mileage as possible from Duarte's expected victory. President Reagan is planning a major address later this month in which he will tell Congress that the United States has a moral obligation to help El Salvador's fledgling democracy defend itself against the leftist guerrillas being supported by Soviet bloc countries.

Heavy fighting in Beirut

BEIRUT (AP) — Mortar, rocket and artillery shells slammed into the Christian and Moslem sectors of Beirut on Saturday and two leftist militia factions battled during the worst outbreak of fighting since an April 19 truce.

Police said at least 19 people were killed and more than 100 injured in the 24 hours ending at nightfall Saturday.

One shell fell close to the U.S. ambassador's residence in suburban Yarze, shattering windows there, but nobody was injured, said U.S. Embassy spokesman John Stewart.

Fierce overnight fighting between Moslem and Christian militiamen calmed at dawn, then flared again at mid-afternoon across the "green line" between Christian east and Moslem west Beirut.

During the morning lull in that fighting, Sunni Moslems skirmished with the main Druse militia in west Beirut.

The exchange of rocket and mortar shells in and around Beirut calmed somewhat as darkness fell and after the fifth cease-fire of the day had been announced over radio stations.

Shells fell on neighborhoods throughout the city during the afternoon and a Christian radio station reported shelling as far north as Jounieh, 15 miles from the capital.

Hill, Ray win Supreme Court spots

DALLAS (AP) — Democratic voters handed John Hill the nomination for chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court by a wide margin Saturday night, and Shelby Sharpe conceded to Justice C.L. Ray in their acrimonious duel to win the party nod for Ray's Supreme Court seat.

With 4,483 of 6,539 precincts reporting in the statewide primary, Hill had almost 81 percent of the vote to 19 percent for Justice Sears McGee.

Court elections

Ray had 55 percent to 30 percent for challenger Shelby Sharpe of Fort Worth with the same number of precincts reporting. The third candidate, Texas S. Ward of El Paso, had 15 percent. There are no Republican candidates.

"I am certainly grateful for the vote of confidence," said Hill. "I hope it represents an expression on the part of the public of confidence in my experience and my platform."

"This is absolutely the highest service I could possibly perform for the people of this state," he said. "I want to improve the court system and I will dedicate myself to that task."

Incumbent chief justice Jack Pope did not seek another term. Sharpe congratulated Ray on his victory, but made no apologies for the unusually bitter judicial campaign.

"For many reasons, we felt the incumbent judge had to have an active opposition. With our supporters' help, he got just that," said Sharpe.

Ray said he was certain Sharpe's campaign strategy had backfired.

"When you start running a negative campaign, you have to be careful," he said. "There's an undefined line you can't cross and he crossed it."

Besides the Supreme Court races, Texans also voted in statewide primary contests for three seats on the Court of Criminal Appeals and one slot on the Railroad Commission.

Hill, a former Texas secretary of state and attorney general who lost the governor's race to Republican Bill Clements in 1978, probably is the best-known candidate on the statewide slate.

McGee charged that Hill was "really running for governor," but Hill said when he announced his candidacy for the high court that he never would accept another gubernatorial nomination.

John Bates of Waco was unopposed in the Republican primary for the right to oppose Hill in November.

"I am certainly grateful for the vote of confidence. I hope it represents an expression on the part of the public of confidence in my experience and my platform."

— John Hill

The Court of Criminal Appeals races included a seven-man scramble for one vacancy. Justice Wendell Odom did not seek reelection. The seven Democrats who sought to replace him were Walter Boyd of Houston, George Ellis of Houston, Kerry Fitzgerald of Dallas, Harry Heard of Longview, William Phillips of Harker Heights, Thomas Thorpe of Dallas and Bill White of San Antonio.

There were no Republican candidates.

White had 34 percent of the vote in early returns, and Fitzgerald trailed with 14 percent. Ellis had 10 percent, Boyd 9 percent and Heard, 6 percent.

Court of Criminal Appeals Justice Sam Houston Clinton, trying to keep his seat, had 71 percent of the early returns to 28 percent for his Democratic challenger, State District Judge Oliver Kitzman of Brookshire.

Virgil Mulanax of Gilmer was unopposed for the Republican nomination in that race.

Justice Bill Davis, who faced three Democratic challengers, had 41 percent of the early returns. Roy Greenwood of Austin had 25 percent, George Martinez had 16 percent and Buddy Stevens of Arlington had almost 18 percent.

No GOP lawyers entered the race.

The only contestants in the Railroad Commission race were incumbent Democrat Mack Wallace and Republican John Thomas Henderson of Austin.

In the Ray-Sharpe race, both camps invoked the name of Don Yarbrough, who was elected to the court in 1976 and later sent to prison for perjury. Most political observers attributed Yarbrough's win to confusion among voters who thought they were voting for another Houston lawyer with the same name.

Ray said if voters weren't careful, "they could wind up with another Don Yarbrough." His campaign administrators said he did not mean to imply that Sharpe might end up in prison, only that Sharpe was an unknown.

Sharpe, meanwhile, used Yarbrough as an example of why he thinks judges should be appointed, not elected. Ray supports election of judges.

Sharpe attacked what he called Ray's "really questionable ethics," including, he said, improper contacts with lawyers with cases pending at the Supreme Court.

Despite the charges and responses, Sharpe said the campaign probably had not hit home with many Texans.

"The voters have never heard of either one of us," he said.

Supreme Court Justice Franklin Spears, a Democrat, was unopposed for reelection.

Ballots in six congressional districts included contested State Board of Education races. However, those races could become moot if lawmakers approve a plan by a Select Committee on Public Education and Gov. Mark White to replace the elected board with an appointed board.

In the only contested Republican race, incumbent Joe Kelly Butler — the current chairman of the education board — faced Mary Bishop.

In the contested races among Democrats, incumbent Wayne Frederick led challenger Bernard Packard 60 percent to 39 percent in early returns in District 2.

Incumbent Don H. Cook had 69 percent to 31 percent for challenger Charles F. Hardt in District 5. And Johnnie C. Carpenter led Glenn Kroh 62 percent to almost 38 percent in District 12.

Man brandishing toy pistol threatens Pope

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A Korean man waving a toy pistol dashed into the street Sunday as Pope John Paul II, in his bullet-proof popemobile, approached a Seoul cathedral for a morning prayer service. The young man, described by police as mentally unstable, was grabbed by security officers and the pope was not harmed.

John Paul, who arrived here Thursday for a five-day visit, proceeded with his schedule. Inside Myongdong Cathedral he met briefly with 45 South Korean dissidents.

The chief Vatican spokesman, the Rev. Romeo Panciroli, told The Associated Press that Vatican officials accompanying the pontiff said "neither the pope nor any of his immediate deputies heard any shots or saw anything."

Witnesses to the cap-gun incident said the youth fired the pistol once. Authorities gave conflicting accounts — first claiming no shots were fired, then saying a security guard fired one shot at the ground and the bullet ricocheted harmlessly off the pavement.

The witnesses said they heard a "bang" as the man, later identified as Lee Joon-kyu, 22, darted from a crowd of schoolgirls standing on the curb as the popemobile approached.

One account, provided by Vatican sources, said the man, wearing a blue jacket, gray pants and glasses, shouted "Mansei!" (Live 10,000 years!) and threw down his toy weapon before the police seized him.

The same sources quoted the Rev. Roberto Tucci, director of Vatican Radio and overall coordinator of the trip, as saying he heard "two weak shots."

The pope, riding in the plastic-topped white truck with Cardinal Stephen Kim, archbishop of Seoul, continued the half-block to the Myongdong Cathedral, where he said the early prayer as scheduled.

Afterward, he went in the popemobile to the ceremony that was the highlight of his trip here — an outdoor Mass and canonization ceremony in Yoido Plaza, on an island in Seoul's Han River, before a crowd of some 500,000.

There had been reports before the pope's visit that international terrorists might be planning an attempt on his life, and security has been extremely tight.

Vice Foreign Minister Lee Sang-ock, government spokesman for the papal trip, said Lee Joon-kyu apparently was unemployed but little was known about him. He was asked if Lee was a student and said, "No."

Choi Jai-san, district police superintendent, said police had located Lee Joon-kyu's father. They said he told them his son had "mental problems."

Choi said the toy gun was a plastic-and-metal type that could be bought in stores for about $4. It can fire only caps, he said, but had none in it when police recovered it. When Choi test-fired the pistol for the benefit of reporters, it made a loud bang.

Choi insisted that the only shot fired during the incident was by the security guard.

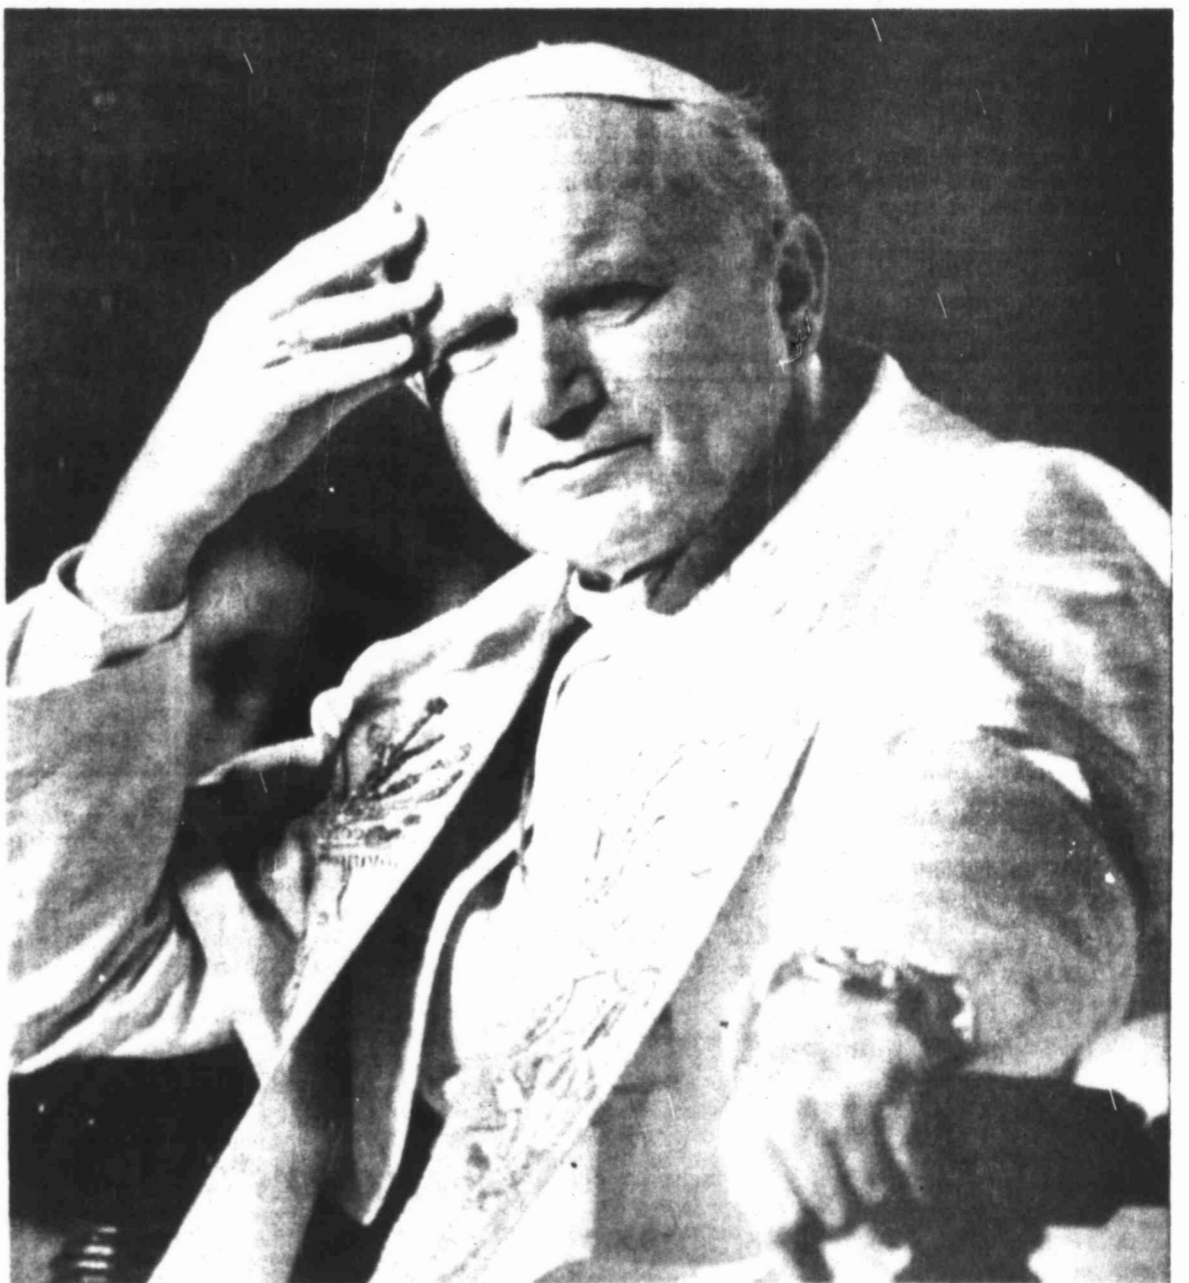

At Myongdong Cathedral, Kim Young-sam, former president of the now-banned New Democratic Party, led a group of 45 dissidents who were inside with about 400 people representing Korean Roman Catholic laymen.

The pope shook hands with Kim and exchanged greetings. Kim said later he asked the pope to pray for those Koreans politically oppressed. The dissidents said they had asked for a separate meeting with the pontiff, but church officials told them his schedule was too crowded.

At Yoido Plaza, shouts of "Mansei!" and "Viva Papa" from the huge crowd filled the air.

On Saturday, traveling the length of South Korea and drawing hundreds of thousands of people at each stop, the pope had issued one of his strongest appeals for workers' rights, calling for a just wage, and assailed the economic exploitation of entire nations.

"I realize that, in solidarity with millions of fellow workers, you have had to suffer," the pope told a throng of 300,000, mostly laborers, farmers and fishermen in the port city of Pusan, 200 miles south of Seoul.

SCARY SITUATION — Pope John Paul II pauses to reflect on an incident at the Myongdong Cathedral in Seoul where a man jumped from crowd with a toy pistol and fired at him.

Jackson rejoices over Louisiana primary win

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A jubilant Rev. Jesse Jackson celebrated his win in the Louisiana primary Saturday as a victory for America's poor and vowed to stay in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Our perseverance paid off," Jackson declared at a victory party here Saturday night after he rolled up his second straight primary win.

Jackson said poor people made the difference, as they had in his win in the District of Columbia's primary Tuesday.

"This was really a victory for the boats stuck on the bottom because it means the poor are making a difference in these elections," he told supporters here in North Carolina, where Jackson has high hopes for Tuesday's primary.

Jackson implied that he and Walter F. Mondale may be the only candidates left in the race after Tuesday's balloting in North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana and Maryland.

"There are three candidates now. After Tuesday it could very well be two, but the Rainbow Coalition will continue to grow and blossom," he said.

Asked who the two candidates would be, he replied, "Me and whoever else stays in."

Jackson scored an easy victory in Louisiana with strong support from black voters and a light turnout overall. Sen. Gary Hart was running second and Mondale a surprising third.

Asked about white voter apathy in Louisiana, Jackson said, "I have no analysis of white turnout....All I know is that it was an open election....Everyone could vote."

JESSE JACKSON ...wins in Louisiana

And asked about network television projections showing him neck-and-neck for second place behind Mondale in Texas, the longtime civil rights activist said, "I'm impressed with our showing in Texas....Our campaign is growing and growing. We've had the momentum all the while."

Jackson, campaigning in New Orleans Saturday morning, said Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards may come to regret his decision to boycott the state's primary, which federal courts ordered after the Louisiana vote to cancel it.

"We really understand boycott," said Jackson. "If he wants to play the boycott game, then he is ready to go back to private life."

Jackson then flew to Charlotte, where he blasted Reagan administration policies on public housing.

Walking through through the Earle Village housing project in Charlotte, Jackson talked with residents about his own roots in housing projects in South Carolina and charged that Reagan policies have made public housing too expensive.

"Many people are too poor to move into housing built for the poor," the Democratic presidential contender told 200 people at the project's community center.

He said the federal government should reinstate a rule that limited the amount of rent poor families pay in a housing project to one-quarter of their income.

Jackson spent two days campaigning in Louisiana, urging blacks to vote and focusing much of his attention on Edwards and on nuclear electric power.

The nation should back away from nuclear power and the two nuclear plants nearly completed in the New Orleans area should be abandoned, he said.

Edwards was elected to an unprecedented third term last fall with an overwhelming margin that included over 90 percent of the black vote.

But the governor said he would stay home Saturday because the election was a meaningless waste of $2 million that the state, desperately in need of money, could better spend elsewhere.

Senate

Hance, Doggett and Krueger are the three leading contenders hoping to win the right to face the GOP nominee in November for the seat being vacated by Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower.

Krueger, 48, boasts an impressive academic background that includes a doctorate of philosophy from Oxford University and professorship of English literature. He has served as vice provost and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Duke University.

The New Braunfels native also served two terms as a representative of the 21st Congressional District and was President Carter's ambassador-at-large to Mexico.

The 37-year-old Doggett is a 10-year veteran of the Texas Senate. The lawyer, an Austin native, is regarded as a consumer advocate.

Hance, 41, is a former state senator whose second term as a Lubbock congressman was marked by the sponsorship of a crucial element of Reaganomics, the tax cut package. Hance also is an attorney.

The Democrats' struggle for their party's nomination began long before Tower announced his retirement plans. Krueger began attending political functions and lining up support for his political bid soon after his heartbreaking 1978 loss to Tower.

Doggett announced his challenge following a mid-1983 Tower fund-raiser four months before Tower announced his pending departure.

Hance began contemplating the race more than a year ago.

Krueger, largely because of a name identification edge gleaned from his 1978 election foray, entered the 1984 contest as the undisputed front-runner.

Doggett and Hance both chipped away at Krueger's edge, however — Doggett from the left, and Hance from the right.

Krueger was thought to have an advantage in the state's Hispanic community through his early campaigning along the Rio Grande Valley and his work as ambassador-at-large to Mexico.

Doggett's election strategy emerged early: Undercut Krueger's Mexican-American support and court Texas labor. He accomplished both, first blocking Krueger's formal endorsement by the Mexican American Democrats of Texas and garnering the sole Texas AFL-CIO endorsement.

Hance, meanwhile, faced some early problems, particularly the expansion of his West Texas political base into a statewide political network. He accomplished that through a hefty media campaign, numerous newspaper endorsements and two key political stances: opposition to amnesty for illegal aliens and gay rights legislation.

His opposition supported both those proposals. Hance's latest media efforts have focused on the difference, hoping to draw conservative Democrats to the polls.

The primary runoff date is Saturday, June 2. To win the primary without a runoff, a candidate must take 50 percent plus one vote.

The term is six years.

State school head loses bid

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Kelly Butler, the controversial chairman of the State Board of Education, was defeated in his bid for reelection Saturday, losing the Republican nomination for District 7 to Mary Bishop.

With 98 percent of the returns complete, Ms. Bishop had almost 57 percent of the vote.

The Board of Education, under Butler's tutelage, came under repeated criticism from the Select Committee on Public Education. The committee, headed by Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot, favored abolishing the elected board and replacing it with an appointed one.

Butler, a member of the Select Committee, had been a defender of the board. He did not attend any of the final hearings of the committee.

Gramm

"I'd put my money on him against any of the Democratic candidates," Tower said.

Gramm, a friend and former ally of Hance in the House, said he had no preference for who he would back in the November election. He plan to begin the campaign "right now," he said.

"If I take a poll, they send... We have a lot of choice. Do we want to control spending or waste it?"

Hawks establishing tradition

Traditions are established over a period of years, but if the 1984 edition of the Howard College Hawks baseball team is any indication, then HC is well on the way to making its name known and is slightly ahead of schedule in its efforts.

This year's team, as noted recently, is HC's second after taking up the sport last year after a 30 year lapse. And according to HC baseball coach and athletic director Bill Griffin, "Establishing a tradition takes four to five years if the program is going to be a good one."

In their initial season the Hawks were within a game or two of finishing second in Region V and advancing to the state juno tournament. This year the Hawks cleared that hurdle and did come in second only to defending national champ McLennan Community College of Waco.

For their efforts the Hawks have earned a trip to the State Junior College Baseball Tournament that starts Thursday in Abilene at Hardin-Simmons University. The Hawks open at 2 p.m. against Angelina and will probably take on MCC in their second tourney game on Friday should the Hawks open with a win. MCC begins its slate with Blinn.

Nine games (four possible ones at state) stand between HC and a national title — not bad for a program that took a 30-year vacation.

Much credit is due Griffin for the way he motivates his players and for the type of ability the longtime baseball mentor has assembled. He remarked during the HC Sports Banquet that he has used every method he knows of to motivate the Hawks and that the team's ultimate goal is now at hand — appearing in the state tourney.

Griffin is of the opinion, and rightly so, that the Hawks played a state tourney caliber contest when they whipped Ranger in the season's final regular game, 3-0. "We played well defensively and played like a state tourney team should. I think beating Ranger in our last game was probably our most impressive win of the year. Ace Chuck Ashcraft ran his record to 9-2 and used only 114 pitches in nine innings to dispatch last year's Region V second place team."

Now that the tourney is at hand Griffin said, "I'm very proud of these young men. They know what's in front of them and I know they can be successful."

Area's Class 1-A athletes dial long distance for state honors

From staff and wire reports

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Class A distance entries from the Big Spring Area gave quite a good account of themselves Saturday at the 13th Girls State Track and Field Meet that concluded in the afternoon.

Forsan's Lori Roman and Gena Schaefer ran 2-3 in the 800 meters behind winner and two time state champion Darla Graham, also from West Texas, of Irran. Graham won the race in 2:19.2 compared to Roman's 2:20.4 and Schaefer's 2:23.4.

And in the 1600 meters Graham managed a win in 5:27 while Grady's Shanna Hale made the most of being that school's first ever girls state meet participant by finishing second in 5:40.20. Hale is only a sophomore.

Schaefer bettered her 1983 finish by three places and her time by a full second. For Roman, a senior, and her coach Johnny Schaefer, the second place showing was very satisfactory — especially in light that this track season marked Roman's first try at the event.

"Lorri ran a very good race. She cut eight seconds off her previous best time. She ran very relaxed," said Schaefer. And it all came about despite a track that seemed, "bigger than most others," according to Roman when she worked out Friday.

Schaefer added, "A lot of credit has to go to Lorri. She worked very hard in preparation for the state meet."

RECORDS, RECORD SETTERS

Alief Elsik's Jolanda Jones won three events including a state record 6-1 1/2 leap in the Class 5A high jump that earned her an automatic berth to the U.S. Olympic Trials Saturday to highlight the girl's state track and field meet.

Jones scored all of Elsik's points, finishing with 38 to tie Elsik with Dallas Carter for the Class 5A state championship. Dallas South Oak Cliff and Amarillo tied for third with 32 points each.

Falls City, which won all three relay races, easily won the Class A title by a 60-32 margin over runnerup Prairie Lea, which got all of its points from JoNell Miles. Iraan finished third with 28 points and Valley Mills was fourth with 27 points.

Frisco was the Class 2A winner by a 76-53 margin over runnerup Hamlin. Clarendon was third with 36 points.

Jones started the day with her record leap in the high jump, breaking a nine-year old state record.

She later won the Class 5A 800 meters in 2:11.7 and the 400 meters in 55.0., equaling her winning time in the event in 1983.

Jones finished the meet with 38 points, that also included a second place finish in Friday's long jump. Prairie Lea's JoNell Miles, also was a top point producer with 32 points. She won the Class A high jump and and triple jump, placed second in the 100-meter hurdles and was fourth in the long jump.

Blooming Grove's Jody Dunston followed up Jones' performance with her fourth straight victory in the Class 2A 3200-meter run, marking the first time a Texas schoolgirl had won a single event four straight years.

Mary Roy of Beaumont French set a state record of 13.5 in the Class 5A 100-meter hurdles, Cynthia Jones of Frisco set a 2A record of 11.8 in the 100-meters and Fort Worth Southwest's Tracy Mayfield tied the 5A 100-meters record of 11.5.

Jones, who later missed in three tries at a 6-3, became the third Texan and fifth schoolgirl ever to surpass 6-feet in the event.

Jones joined New Caney's Terry Turner and A&M Consolidated's Melinda Clark as the only Texas schoolgirls to leap six feet in the high jump.

She broke the state record of 5-11 set by Red Oak's Louise Ritter in 1975 and narrowly missed the national record of 6-2 1/4 by Kym Carter, Wichita East, Kan., in 1982. Jones placed second in Friday's long jump event and was a favorite in the 400 meters, an even she won last year.

Dunston started her victory string in 1981 with an 11:24, followed by winning times of 11:38.1 in 1982 and a Class 2A record 10:50.8 clocking in 1983.

Dunston lapped three other contestants and cruised home with an 11:40.2 clocking for her fourth straight title, well ahead of runnerup Geri Rosales, Ganado, at 12:08.8.

Dukes is hoping to headline at box-off

Howard Boxing Club member Gene Dukes has officially been awarded a bid to participate in the Western Olympic Trials Box-Off scheduled for May 16-14, at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Dukes, a 147-pound welterweight is the lone representative from the West Texas area and will be one of 96 top amateur boxers invited to compete in a box-off which is the final phase of selection for advancement to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Trials. The trials are scheduled June 4-10 in Fort Worth.

A former native of Florida, he has compiled a 42-5 record since moving to Big Spring.

He has lost only one bout in Texas this year, that being a controversial split-decision to Arthur Trevino of Ft. Worth in the opening round of the Golden Gloves State Tournament in Ft. Worth.

Dukes has been boxing in Florida for the past few weeks and has compiled a 3-1 record. Boxing Club coach J.V. Martinez stated that the 18-year-old boxer returned to Big Spring Saturday for a light workout before heading to the trials.

Martinez say he feels that Dukes will have a good chance at Colorado Springs. "He is in top form and in good shape," said Martinez. After the trials are over, Dukes has expressed his desire to move into the professional ranks.

Any donations toward the Howard County Boxing Club can be made by contacting Martinez at HCBC or 2619 Ent in Big Spring, 79720.

AT THE FINISH — Swale crosses the finish line to win the 110th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday. Swale was trained by Woody Stephens and ridden by Laffit Pincay. Coax Me Chad finished second and At The Threshold was third.

Swale runs swell to win Kentucky roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Swale, the often-overlooked stabemate of Devil's Bag who is trained by ailing Woody Stephens, took command on the final turn and won the $712,400 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr., winning his first Derby in a brilliant career, Swale scored a convincing victory over Coax Me Chad, a member of the mutual field with longshot At The Threshold third.

It was a day of redemption for the 70-year-old Stephens, who has suffered a harsh winter and spring because of physical problems and a subpar performance by Devil's Bag the 1983 2-year-old champion who was the winter book favorite to win the Derby.

But Stephens, who was just released from a hospital where he was recovering from pneumonia, decided earlier in the week that the 1 1/4 miles of the Derby would just be too much for Devil's Bag to handle.

So he called on Swale, who had lost his last previous race on a sloppy track at Keeneland.

After Devil's Bag was upset in the Flamingo March 3 at Hialeah, Stephens said, "Maybe Swale is the right horse."

Swale was certainly the right horse for Stephens on this overcast day.

Pincay never had Swale far out of the lead as he chased Althea — bidding to become only the third filly to win in the 110-year history of the race — past the stands for the first time and down the backstretch. Swale was never worse than third.

Then, in mid-backstretch, Swale moved into second and at the half-mile pole, he was running in tandem with the filly.

Then, for all practical purposes, Swale ended the race, switching in to high gear and pulling away to win in 2:02 2-5 on a fast track.

Shortly after the finish, a claim of foul was lodged against Coax Me Chad and jockey Herb McCauley. It was later rejected.

It was a big day for Pincay as well as for Stephens and another feather in the breeding cap of Seattle Slew, the 1977 Triple Crown winner, who has become an outstanding sire.

Before appearing in his 11th Kentucky Derby, the 37-year-old Pincay was asked how he felt about never having won the famed race. He replied, "Oh, I miss it. Sure I do, but you can't have everything in life and I accept that."

The outstanding jockey from Panama now has a Derby victory. Stephens was at Churchill Downs to watch Swale's victory, but did not see the race from the stands. He watched from the director's room.

Swale's victory followed word that something might be ailing the colt. But his 3 1/4-length victory showed that he was every bit as fit as Stephens and Mike Griffin, who handled the colt in Stephens' absence, said he was.

Coax Me Chad's second-place finish, which was confirmed when the stewards rejected the foul claim, was two lengths over New York-bred At The Threshold. Fali Time finished fifth, but was moved to fourth when Gate Dancer was disqualified.

Swale paid $8.80, $4.80 and $3.40 in earning a Derby record $537,400 from the record purse.

Coax Me Chad, overlooked all week here, paid $8 and $4. At The Threshold, ridden by Eddie Maple, who was to have ridden Devil's Bag, was $13.80 to show.

The disqualified Gate Dancer was placed fifth, followed by Pine Circle, Fight Over, Life's Magic, Silent King, Resson's Hope, So Vague, Biloxi Indian, Taylor's Special, Raja's Shark, Bedouin, Vanlandingham, Secret Prince, Bear Hunt, Althea and Majestic Shore.

HAPPINESS IS — knowing you set a school record in the 1600 meter relay as Coahoma's Tobie Henry and Jauna Griffin (129) celebrate with a hug Friday night in Austin. The pair, along with Gina Hudson and Leslie Kirkpatrick, helped Coahoma set a new CHS standard in a time of 4:03.29. The Bulldogettes placed fourth. In the photo at right Henry is tired, but happy after running second in the 400 meters with a time of 57.4. Henry and Griffin are seniors.

Jordan forfeits final season

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — All-America guard Michael Jordan of North Carolina said Saturday that in deciding to turn professional he turned to a former college basketball teammate who faced a similar situation two years ago.

Worthy, who now plays for the Los Angeles Lakers, turned pro as a junior two years ago. Jordan, a 6-foot-6 junior, said that Worthy told him it was a decision only he could make.

in the draft to 12th or 13th and that's a substantial amount of money lost," Smith said.

Saturday was the final day for underclassmen to decide whether they wanted to be considered for the NBA draft.

Money was major factor in the decision, but not the only one, Jordan said. "Money plays a big part in each one of our lives. Who knows, I may not be around next year."

Jordan, among 20 players competing for 12 spots on the U.S. Olympic basketball team, was flanked by his parents, James and Delores Jordan, during the announcement. His decision to turn pro does not affect his Olympic status.

Jordan, The Associated Press 1983-84 College Player of the Year, said he weighed the advice of his parents and Coach Dean Smith, but that a discussion with former North Carolina forward James Worthy helped him reach his decision.

"I talked with James Worthy and his ideas ... helped me," said Jordan, who announced Saturday at a news conference that he was forfeiting his final year of college eligibility to enter the June 19 National Basketball Association draft.

"He said you have to weigh the pros and cons, and to listen to coach," said Jordan, who scored 1,788 points in his three-year career. "But he said, 'don't let anyone dictate your decision to you. It was something you had to decide.'"

"It was something like brotherly advice," Jordan said.

Smith said he told his star player he should go pro. "There's no gamble this way. He could be like (former Tar Heel) Mitch Kupchak. He could get hurt at any time and drop from the No. 1 and 2 position

JORDAN GOING PRO — North Carolina All-America guard Michael Jordan (left) at a news conference with Tar Heel coach Dean Smith during a Saturday news conference where Jordan announced he will forfeit his senior year of eligibility in favor of the NBA. Currently, Jordan is preparing for this summer's Olympic games where he will compete as a member of the U.S. basketball team.

Robinson signs pact with LCC bringing HC signings to three

A third member of the 1983-84 Howard College Hawk Queens basketball team has signed an agreement to continue her playing days for at least two more years with the announcement that Kari Robinson has inked with Lubbock Christian College.

The 5-8 forward from Coahoma joins Janene Berry and Terri Moore as members of this past season's team (24-9) to sign scholarships with larger schools. Moore will be playing at Baylor when the 1984-85 season begins and Robinson will be Lubbock with Berry in light of Berry's agreement with Texas Tech.

Berry and Moore were starters, Lowerer while Robinson saw mostly spot duty, although she started at times.

Because of her status with the Queens, Robinson said, "it was a real shock," when LCC head coach David Carter offered her the opportunity to continue her education while playing basketball. "I plan on majoring in elementary education and LCC has a real go program in that area," said Robinson. "The LCC campus is very nice also," she added.

KARI ROBINSON

"Coach Carter has told me that I should see a lot of playing time," the personable Robinson said. She added that during one workout with several other prospective Chaparrals and team members expected back in the fall, "I was the tallest girl on the court so I played at post." She added though that she doesn't expect to be at that position come fall workouts.

Robinson admitted playing for LCC will be something of a big change from HC. "Defensively, it doesn't look like we'll play much man-to-man defense. Offensively things seem a lot more free lance than the system at Howard," said Robinson.

Islanders, Oilers rematch is order for Stanley Cup Finals

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Mike Bossy struck for two goals and the four-time National Hockey League champion New York Islanders surged into the Stanley Cup finals with a 4-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Saturday night.

After reeling from losses in the opening two games of the best-of-seven Prince of Wales Conference final, the Islanders won four straight, holding the Canadiens to just five goals in those four contests. It was the 19th consecutive playoff series won by the Islanders, a Cup record.

The Islanders now embark on the final leg of the journey which could lead to a record-tying fifth straight title. Their opponents in the championship round beginning here Thursday will be the Edmonton Oilers, whom New York swept in last year's final.

Clark Gillies connected on a short backhand in front of the Canadiens net at 4:51, just one second after a penalty to Montreal's Craig Ludwig had expired. With players on both teams swiping at a loose puck, Bryan Trottier swept it to Gillies, who put it over a prone Steve Penney in the Canadiens' goal.

It was the seventh post-season goal this spring for Gillies, who scored only 12 times during the regular season.

Bossy got his first of the night and his 17th game-winner at 7:22, moving him within one of Maurice Richard's record for game-winning goals.

Nets stop Bucks to even series

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Buck Williams scored 11 of his 18 points in the fourth quarter, including a crucial turnaround jumper and two foul shots in the final 45 seconds, as the New Jersey Nets roared back from a 16-point, third-quarter deficit to defeat the Milwaukee Bucks 106-99 Saturday.

It was New Jersey's first-ever victory at home in seven playoff games dating back to 1977. Milwaukee bridged the second and third quarters with a 17-1 tear, busting open a tight game to take a 70-54 lead on Sidney Moncrief's two foul shots.

Moncrief led Milwaukee with 28 points, while Marques Johnson added 24.

NBA Playoffs

The victory evened the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series at 2-2 in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Michael Ray Richardson ignited the Nets' comeback with 12 of his 24 points in the third quarter and Albert King contributed eight of his 15 points in the final quarter. King capped the scoring with a three-point play with six seconds remaining.

Backup center Mike Gminski also was instrumental, coming off the bench to score 20 points.

After King gave the Nets a 98-97 lead with 1:23 to play on a driving layup, Williams, who had 10 rebounds, hit the eight-foot turnaround jumper with 45 seconds left and then twice made one of two foul shots within a 10-second span to give New Jersey a 102-97 lead.

The Bucks, who had led 76-60 with 5:06 to play in the third quarter, could get no closer.

The Nets began their comeback with a 9-0 run to cut the 16-point deficit to seven at 76-69 late in the third quarter. They then used a 7-0 run in the fourth quarter to take their first lead of the second half at 88-87 on Gminski's layup with 4:34 to play.

Johnson then scored six of the next eight points to give Milwaukee a 93-90 lead, but after several lead exchanges New Jersey took command for good on King's driving layup and Williams' turnaround jumper.

The Bucks broke a 53-53 tie by scoring 11 straight points in an 11-1 run over the final two minutes of the first half to take a 64-54 lead into the third quarter. The Nets kept it close through most of the second quarter by hitting all 15 of their foul shots, with Gminski sinking eight of them.

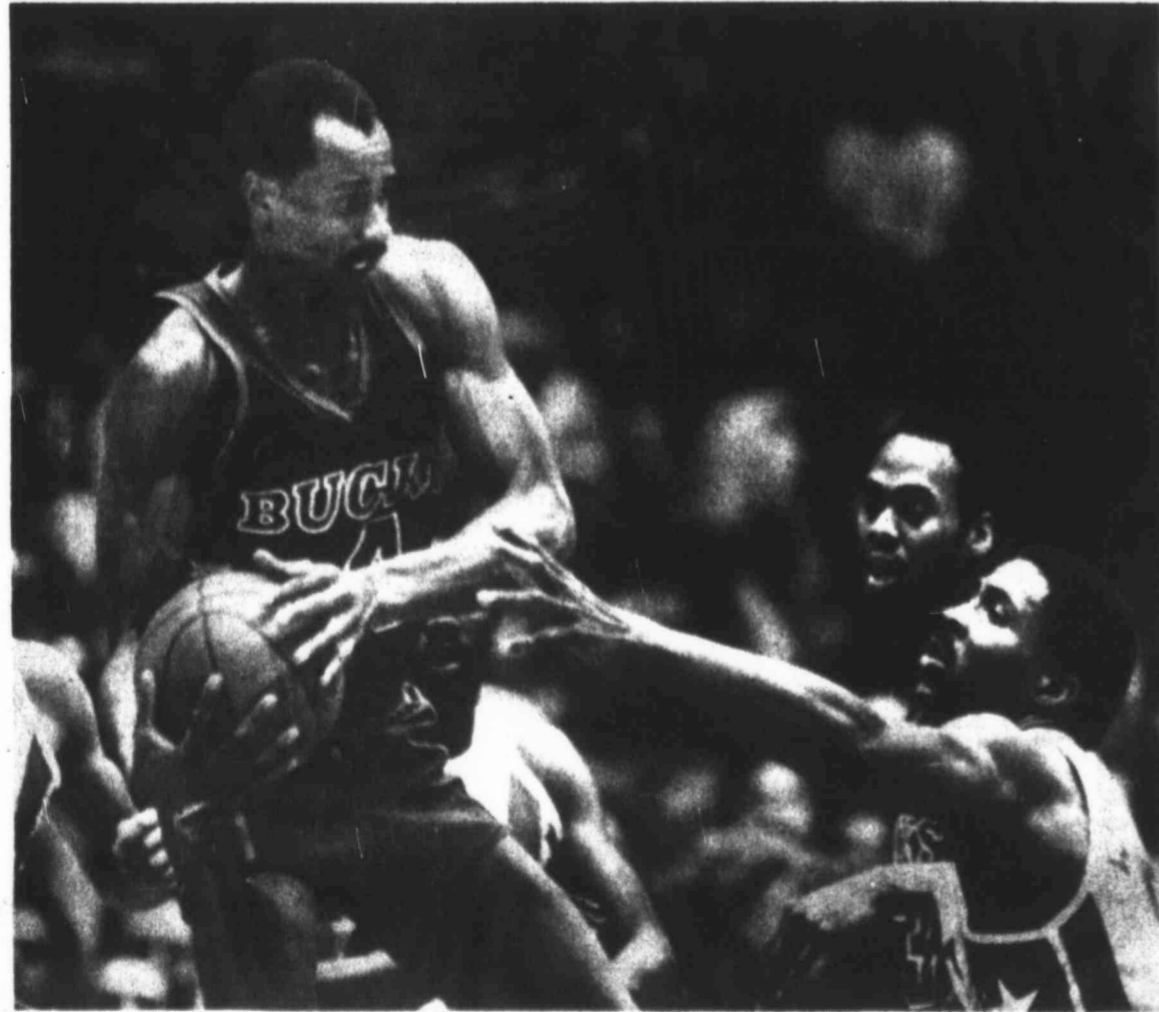

The fifth game of the series will be played Tuesday night in Milwaukee.

The other three playoff series resume Sunday, with the Boston Celtics at the New York Knicks, the Los Angeles Lakers at the Dallas Mavericks and the Utah Jazz at the Phoenix Suns. Boston, Los Angeles and Phoenix hold 2-1 advantages.

Boston will be trying to bounce back from a horrendous shooting performance at New York Friday night, when they hit only 37.8 percent of their field goal attempts and missed nine of their 12 free throws down the stretch while losing 100-92.

"I don't know how we missed all those shots down the stretch," said Boston center Robert Parish.

"That crowd was really rockin' and rollin'," said Magic Johnson, the Lakers' backcourt star. "It was kind of wild. But we'll be ready Sunday."

OUT OF REACH — Sidney Moncrief of the Milwaukee Bucks comes down with a rebound out of reach of Michael Williams of the New Jersey Nets during the first period of their NBA playoff game Saturday. The game, played at the Meadowlands, went to the Nets. With the win things are tied up at two games each in the best-of-seven quarter final series.

Astros stop losing skid by halting Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Cruz, calling it "a win that we needed in the worst way," drove in three runs as the Houston Astros rallied to defeat New York 10-6 Saturday night and snap the Mets' five-game winning streak.

Cruz hit his second home run of the season in the sixth inning and highlighted a four-run eighth inning with a single that delivered two more. Harry Spilman's sacrifice fly drove in the go-ahead run and triggered the four-run eighth against New York relief ace Jesse Orosco.

with a single and Henry Cotto sacrificed and reached first himself when losing pitcher Craig Leferts, 0-1, bobbled the ball for an error. Leon Durham then drew a walk to fill the bases before Cey lined a single to right to give Warren Brusstar, 1-0, the triumph.

The Padres tied it 5-5 with three runs in the ninth off Cubs relief ace Lee Smith.

Pinch-hitter Bobby Brown walked and Alan Wiggins followed with a single. Tony Gwynn singled to left and when the ball eluded Cotto for an error, Gwynn took second with Wiggins stopping at third as Brown scored. Carmelo Martinez then singled, scoring Wiggins and Gwynn to tie the game 5-5.

Jody Davis hit his second homer of the season to cap a three-run second inning and Durham hit his fourth in the sixth inning off Ed Whitson to give the Cubs a 5-2 lead.

RANGERS 5

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Pinch-hitter Benny Ayala slammed a record-tying two-run homer in the seventh inning, Baltimore's second pinch home run of the game, to drive in the tying a lead runs and power the Orioles to a 7-5 victory over the Texas Rangers Saturday night.

Reliever Dennis Martinez, 1-0, was credited with the victory.

The Orioles took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Eddie Murray's two-run homer after Al Bumbry was safe on a leadoff error by shortstop Curtis Wilkerson.

The Rangers scored a run in the second off Mike Flanagan when Dave Hostetler tripled to score George Wright, who singled, and tied it in the fourth on a single by Ned Yost and Wayne Tolleson's double.

The Orioles went in front 3-2 on singles by Murray, John Lowenstein and Ken Singleton. But the Rangers scored three times in the bottom of the inning for a 5-3 lead. Billy Sample doubled and scored on Gary Ward's single before George Wright hit his second home run of the season.

The Orioles closed within 5-4 in the sixth on Shelby's homer, his second home run of the year.

Tippy Martinez blanked Texas over the last two innings for his fourth save.

SIGNAL FROM THIRD — Houston Astros third baseman Phil Garner motions for a throw from first during action from Houston's game against the Mets Saturday. The Astros broke a six game slump and halted a Met winning streak in the game.

Bill Dawley, 2-2, who pitched two innings of one-hit relief, was the winner with Dave Smith hurling the last two innings as the Astros, who trailed 4-0 after four innings and 6-3 after five, snapped a six-game losing streak on the road.

The Mets took a 3-0 lead in the first inning on an RBI single by Keith Hernandez, George Foster's sacrifice fly and a balk by Mike Scott that allowed Hernandez to score from third. New York increased its lead to 4-0 in the fourth on singles by Mookie Wilson and Hubie Brooks plus Mike Fitzgerald's sacrifice fly.

After being held hitless by Walt Terrell over four innings, the Astros scored three times in the fifth as Mark Bailey singled two runs across and Bass added an RBI single.

The Astros tied it in the seventh on a two-out double by Cruz and a single by Mumphyrey.

GIVE A RESTAURANT A DYNAMIC PERSONALITY...

YOURS!

Red Lobster Managers create dining pleasure with their friendly, dynamic personalities. They make guests — from the after work crowd to Sunday dinner patrons — feel special and have a good time. It's a major effort and our Managers motivate 60-80 employees to help create that special Red Lobster excitement.

If you share our belief that restaurant managers should produce dining experiences, rather than just meals, we would like to meet you. In return for at least one year experience in restaurant or profit center management or a degree in food service we'll give you the chance for recognition in a company that relies on Managers to create success.

With over 370 units, Red Lobster is the largest, full-service seafood restaurant chain in America and we can offer you the salary and benefits you deserve from a leader. Our industry-recognized merit training program will enhance your regular merit experience and performance bonuses as you progress will brighten the future. To learn more, call Michael Langford, COLLECT, at 817-268-5962 or send your resume to, Dept. BSH, 1500 Norwood, Building C, Suite 300, Hurst, TX 76053.

WHY BUY A VEHICLE FROM CLASSIC AUTO SALES?

- SERVICE AFTER THE SALE
 We have a complete service department to handle any mechanical problems.
- QUALITY MERCHANDISE
 Our vehicles are hand selected and placed for sale only after we are sure of their quality.
- YOUR PEACE OF MIND
 You are not only welcome to, but we encourage you to take our vehicle to your mechanic. We want you to know that our vehicles are the best your money can buy.
- ELIMINATING YOUR RISK
 All of our vehicles are inspected in our shop to make sure that the brakes, belts, hoses, oil filter, air filter, transmission, and brake fluid are up to standard, plus an overall general inspection is done to be sure that you have purchased a vehicle in excellent mechanical shape.
- WARRANTY PROTECTION
 You may purchase a 12-month or 12,000 mile service policy to protect you against any major mechanical breakdown.
- FINANCING
 Financing can be arranged for your convenience.
- CUSTOMER SERVICE
 From the moment you walk on our premises we strive to make you our customer and not just another sale. Our service doesn't stop when you buy, it goes on as long as you own the vehicle. Ask our current customers about our performance. We will be glad to provide you with names and phone numbers.
- PROFESSIONALISM
 You want to buy from someone that can provide you with the right answers about your vehicle. We pride ourselves in being knowledgeable and polite to everyone. You'll agree that you've never been treated any nicer than you've been treated at Classic Auto Sales.
- DESIRE TO SELL YOU A VEHICLE

Hotel dumps swingers for church rally

AKRON Ohio (AP) - A downtown hotel that canceled a swingers' convention sponsored by a sexually explicit magazine opened its doors Saturday to a religious rally celebrating the hotel's decision.

Advertising for the swingers' convention had featured "orgy rooms" and "totally enclosed swinging areas."

Officials of the Cascade Holiday Inn, who called off the convention after a court hearing Wednesday, invited the church groups who planned to rally and pray at an adjacent plaza to use one of their meeting rooms because of a forecast of inclement weather.

Light rain fell as an estimated 250 people gathered for the meeting.

Hotel officials said 200 couples registered for the convention, which was to have been the 12th in a series sponsored by Ohio Connection, a publication featuring advertisements for sex partners.

Summit County Prosecutor Lynn Slaby sought a court order to ban the magazine's "Frontier Frolic," maintaining the fee of $235 to $245 per couple might be construed as an admission charge for a sexual performance and thus violate state obscenity laws.

Summit County Common Pleas Judge Evan Reed ruled the convention could proceed, although he banned nudity and sexual activity in public areas.

Motel Management, which operates the 292-room hotel, said that placed undue burden on it to monitor sexual behavior and announced shortly after the hearing that it had canceled the contract with MAGCORP, the magazine's publisher.

The Rev. John Fisk of the Church of Christ in Cuyahoga Falls commended hotel officials for a "sacrificial decision." He said many at the rally stayed at the hotel "to help in a small way to offset the losses."

"We did what we felt was right," said Michael Gallucci Jr., a Motel Management vice president who received a standing ovation.

The Rev. Wayman Butts of the Antioch Baptist Church, representing the Akron Ministerial Alliance, said opponents were not fighting the magazine or "those who would use men and women to pad their own coffers."

"Our foe was nothing more than sin and Satan," he said.

The session closed with the singing of religious songs and a performance by a church choir.

"This is the first time in my life that I ever stood up for anything," said Joan Moore, who attended the rally with her husband, Ray, and their two daughters, 10 and 11.

Forsan By DANIELLE CLERE

New cheerleader squad chosen

Cheerleader elections were held Friday. The varsity cheerleaders for the 1984-85 school year will be head cheerleader Kristi Evans, Trish DeVore, Shannon DeVore, Kerry Rawls and Kim Evans with Robin Soles as alternate. The junior high cheerleaders will be Tanya Clinton, Julie Roberson, Dawn Heagy, Sharlene DeVore and Shannon Donaghe.

On Wednesday and Thursday, May 2 and 3, Todd East and Ted Tarbet participated in the Regional track meet in Abilene. Todd East placed second in the high jump with a jump of 6'2". This win will advance him to the State meet in Austin. Todd also placed fifth in the 110 meter high hurdles and Ted Tarbet placed fourth in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles.

Coahoma By JENNA BROWN

Students win IA awards

Coahoma High School industrial arts students participated in the West Texas Industrial Arts Student Association Regional Competition April 28, in Odessa. These students were competing against students from schools of all sizes. Coahoma was very well represented by Jeff Dever, Mike Duckworth, Carey Jones, Andrew Martinez, Emilio Molina and Ray Valencia.

Carey Jones won first place in the on-site drafting competition. Mike Duckworth won first place and best in division with a cedar chest, Ray Valencia won first place and best division with a lamp. Andrew Martinez won third place with a crossbow. These four students are now eligible to participate in the state competition in Waco May 4 and 5.

The 1941 Study Club will host a party for the Coahoma High School graduating class of 1984 at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 8. The theme of the party, which will be held in the Coahoma Community Center, will be "A Mexican Fiesta".

The graduation ceremony for the CHS class of 1984 will be held May 24 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Extension Homemakers

Women share with others what has benefited them

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Frances Zant, Zula Rhodes, Ireba Griffith and many area women of all ages have one thing in common. They are learning skills, supporting their communities and involved in Howard County Extension Homemakers Clubs.

Mrs. Rhodes collects aluminum cans from businesses and friends. The money made from selling the cans goes to the Extension Homemaker's fund for 4-H scholarships.

With the help of another club member, Mrs. Griffith demonstrated the process of mixing colors to produce other colors — valuable knowledge for home decoration.

County Extension agents and Extension Homemakers Club members worked together to fulfill their promise made in 1917, "pass on to others that which has benefited you."

Extension agents train leaders from each Extension Homemakers Club in various subjects. The leaders return to their clubs and teach the information to their fellow members.

Through Extension Homemakers, Mrs. Zant improved her sewing skills and learned advance sewing and tailoring techniques. She ultimately was able to support herself by sewing for the public and taught sewing and tailoring techniques to club members and 4-Hers.

MRS. ZANT'S first class was advance tailoring. "Most of the tailoring I had done before the class was during the depression. I had torn up men's suits and made suits out of them...made women's skirts out of men's pants and jackets out of coats. In class, I learned how to press, use interfacing and how to shape the garment with steam."

She also took classes in: Bishop Speed Method of Sewing, 4-H leaders sewing class, advance dressmaking, lingerie, men's suits, and the speed method of tailoring.

Mrs. Zant's sewing training through Extension has been just enough ahead of the latest sewing trends that by the techniques became popular she already knew how to do them, says Naomi Hunt, Howard County Extension agent.

Mrs. Zant has sewn for other people for 25 years, and her original designs for western shirts were quite popular with her son's friends. "(Sewing) helped pay grocery bills a lot. I sewed a lot and liked to do it. I had to make my own living and keep my child going to school," she said.

"One of the most satisfying things I have done is work with children and teaching them sewing," she said. "Frances is not too busy to help someone who wants to learn. She's always willing to share what she's learned with others," Ms. Hunt said.

ABOUT 70 years ago, Extension Homemakers' Clubs were organized so rural women could meet and learn skills to improve familylife and their communities.

The clubs' purpose was to study homemaking, develop and put into practice the best methods involved in successful homemaking, offer women an opportunity for self-development and to advance community interests and life.

Today, many members are no longer on farms but inside towns and cities of all sizes. And lifestyles have changed to include the latest in home appliances, more usage of computers and an increasing amount of women working outside the home.

The needs, interests and standards of living are different. But Extension continues to provide an avenue for people to learn things relevant to today's living, including long-time skills that continue in importance.

Extension homemakers have played an important role in the community. Clubs began early in Extension history when Dr. Seaman A. Knapp realized that farmers' homes must be as successful as their farm if agriculture was to progress.

In the early 1900s, Knapp began result demonstrations by showing examples of better farming on the Walter Porter Farm near Terrell, Texas, in Kaufman County. At the same time, a household arts department was established at Texas State College for Women (then the Girls' Industrial College). However, there was a greater need for trained women than the college could meet.

THE TEMPORARY answer was to find a mature, rural school teacher who had an understanding of farm families, who was not afraid to drive around the countryside alone, and who knew something of keeping house. In 1912, Mrs. Edna Trigg, a school teacher in Milam County, was appointed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the first Texas home demonstration agent. She worked with farm girls in growing, preparing and canning tomatoes. Sixteen women agents, as they were called, were appointed to work in other counties during canning season.

Men interested in nursing as a profession

By RHONDA WOODALL
Lifestyle Writer

"I don't feel like there are any disadvantages for men in nursing," said Juan Rodriguez, R.N. at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. Male nurses are 14 percent of the VAMC's registered nurses staff.

Rodriguez became interested in nursing while working as a ward clerk at the Big Spring State Hospital. His interest in nursing grew while he served as a medical supply specialist in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War.

After he was discharged from the Army, Rodriguez used his G.I. Bill to go to Mary Meek School of Nursing in Abilene. "Not too many men were in nursing at the time, but that wasn't any obstacle for me. I knew what I wanted to be."

After becoming an R.N. in 1971, Rodriguez worked as a nurse in Abilene for a short time, then came to the VAMC. "I liked it (VAMC) so well, I stayed. My entire career will be with the VA as far as I'm concerned. I've made a commitment to the VA and plan to stick with it."

At the VAMC, Rodriguez works as an infection control nurse. His job includes seeking out and controlling infections, and promoting health care of all VAMC employees.

"I feel my job is one that meets human needs," Rodriguez said. He views nursing from a wholistic view, which includes man's physical, emotional and mental needs. Nurses are educated and qualified to take care of these matters. Nursing allows for professional growth; recognition and satisfaction of doing something worthwhile gives one a feeling of self-impotence.

While working full-time at the hospital, Rodriguez has continued his education by attending to Angelo State University in San Angelo three times a week. "There is always room for education," Rodriguez said. He will receive his bachelor of science degree in nursing, May 11.

ANOTHER MALE nurse, Fred Davis, a licensed vocational nurse at Malone-Hogan Hospital, became interested in nursing as a child. "Each Christmas, my dad would get me a doctor kit, so I could treat the older folks in our lumber camp," he said.

Davis' interest in nursing grew while he was in the Air Force during the Korean War. "I was a military medic. After I got out of the military, I vowed to go into nursing after I got my kids raised."

Davis graduated from the LVN program at Howard College through the Army Reserve program. "A lot of kids who don't have the money to go to nursing school can join the Army Reserves, and they will send you," he said.

Prior to becoming a LVN, Davis worked as a nurse-aide at Malone-Hogan Hospital and as a radio announcer. "Quite a contrast, isn't it?" he said of the two professions. Davis would like to go back to school to become an R.N.

Davis is the only male nurse on the day shift at Malone-Hogan Hospital. "I love my job. To be a nurse, you have to be dedicated," he said. His job includes giving medications and chemotherapy, assisting doctors in procedures, and patient care.

"Nursing is important in that the patients need someone there all the time. Doctors see the patients twice a day. The rest of the time it is up to the nurses to take care of the patients. It's a 24-hours-a-day job. They are highly skilled in their position, and who would do it if they didn't," Davis said.

"BECOMING A nurse has turned out to be one of the best decisions ever made for me," said Doug Deckard, an LVN in the VAMC psychiatric unit. He served 20 years in the Army. The Army decided to make him a nurse.

Deckard didn't find it hard to become a nurse. "It may have been easier for me than others since the decision was made for me. I had no

While home demonstration work was underway in Texas, efforts were being made to pass national legislation in support of Extension work in agriculture and home economics. The final passage of the Smith-Lever Act in 1914 established the Cooperative Extension Service. In 1915, the Texas legislature authorized Texas A & M College to administer the Cooperative Extension Service in Texas.

In 1915, Mrs. Trigg was invited by the Childress Chamber of Commerce to conduct a canning school there. People came to watch and do their own steam pressure canning under her supervision. These canning schools later formed into clubs and became the forerunner of home demonstration clubs. Canning food was a matter of survival.

During World War I, most public transportation was converted to wartime use and railroad food shipments became difficult. Home canning clubs began to decline due to the lack of transportation. During the summers of 1917 and 1918, young college girls traveled giving demonstrations on bread making from wheat substitute flour.

From a beginning as canning clubs, home demonstration clubs have relied heavily on lesson outlines and demonstrations. These resources enable club members to teach others.

IN 1924, HOME Demonstration work was organized into a countywide organization of homemaker club women trained in organization principles. This unified the county program and provided a means of cooperation between Home Demonstration Clubs and other organizations. In 1926, Home Demonstration women organized into a state organization, the Texas Home Demonstration Association. Leaders were trained for clubs, county councils and districts.

During the depression, women found satisfaction in the clubs. They received help in saving money for food and clothing for their families. The clubs provided social contacts when nearly every other group activity had been cut off.

During World War II, rationing, nutritious food budgets and victory gardens were emphasized and the period marked the beginning of freezing foods for home use.

Following the war, high prices brought back dress forms and accessory making. Membership grew rapidly.

Extension clubs flourished during the 1950s, but declined during the 1960 and 1970s. In the 1970s, many new clubs were formed in rural and urban communities under a new name of Extension Homemaker Clubs. Emphasis was placed on learn-by-doing leader training programs.

Six Extension Homemakers Clubs are active in Howard County. Many members also are volunteers at local hospitals, nursing homes, Senior Citizens Center, 4-H programs and the Howard County Fair. Educational emphasis in clubs this year included: using color in the wardrobe and home, weight control, nutrition and cancer, first aid, and preventing backaches.

Howard County Extension Homemaker Clubs are observing National Homemaker Week, May 6-12. The theme is "Reaching people, training leaders." Members will have lunche with the County Commissioners Court, sit in on an Extension Lunch and Learn Program Friday, an have an Extension Homemakers Club exhibit at Big Spring Mall.

COLORS — Ireba Griffith shows the process of mixing colors to produce other colors at an Extension Homemakers Club meeting. Color principles are important to know when decorating a home. Mrs. Griffith fulfilled the club's promise "to pass on to others that which has benefited you."

Nurses

inclinations to become a nurse. But once I was, I discovered I enjoyed it."

As a nurse, "I like being able to help people with their problem," he said. His job includes helping patients with medication and counseling them.

Deckard views nursing from the aspect that "in just about everything you have your front line troops. Nurses are the front line. They represent a big chunk of the medical team. We have training and skills to help folks."

Deckard plans to enroll in Howard College R.N. program in the fall. His goals are to have a masters degree in nursing in four years, then in four to ten years be a nursing clinician in psychiatrics, and in 10 years, be chief of nurses for a VA hospital.

LESLIE YARBROUGH, R.N., and a nursing supervisor at Big Spring State Hospital's psychiatric unit, said he decided to go into nursing because "the (BSSH) nurses convinced me to take up nursing." He had worked at the hospital for five years, before becoming a nurse.

Yarbrough received his associate degree in nursing at Howard College, and his bachelor of science degree in nursing from ASU. He commuted to San Angelo for three years while working full-time at BSSH. "Nursing is probably one of the more rigorous academic programs a person can pursue. It requires a lot of discipline," he said.

As a nurse, "I function independently on the doctor and other treatment team members in distributing medicine and fabricating and implementing treatment programs for patients,"

Yarbrough said. "I function independently in teaching patients medication care, offering counseling, scheduling direct care workers and serving on committees."

Yarbrough enjoys his job. "I enjoy working with patients, talking with them, and helping them to return to a more meaningful life than they had before hospitalization."

Yarbrough would like to go into nursing administration or become an independent nurse practitioner.

TO BECOME A nurse, "you've got to be committed before you get into it. It's something you don't take lightly," said Randy Moseley, R.N. at VAMC surgical unit. He went to William Buchanna School of Nursing in Texarkansas.

As a nurse, Moseley finds "there is a lot of self-satisfaction in helping individuals with their needs and contributing to someone's well-being."

Moseley has a bachelor of science degree in computer science, which he believes will help him as a nurse. "Nursing is developing and growing like any other profession. It has to change with the time. Computer science is going to become a large part of nursing, and nurses will need to know how to use a computer as a nursing tool."

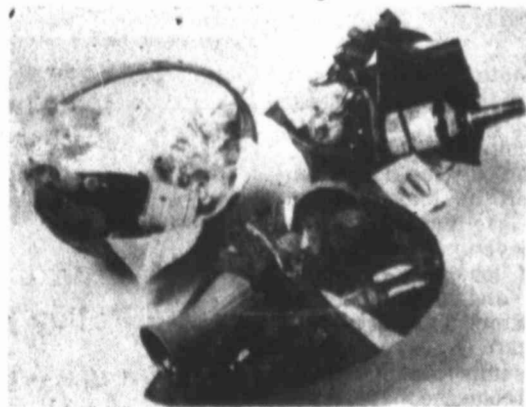

According to a 1980-81 National League Nursing survey of 90 percent of the basic RN programs, 5.75 percent of the graduates were males. Since Howard College began their nursing program at the Big Spring and Del Rio campuses, 15 of the 135 R.N. graduates have been men. Thirteen men have graduated from Howard College Vocational Nursing program.

Lifestyle policies

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcements. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so the picture will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, the photograph may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle

BSSH staff attends 5 workshops

Seven senior members of the Big Spring State Hospital administrative and medical staff recently completed presenting training program workshops in five area cities.

San Angelo, Lubbock, Midland, Abilene and El Paso mental health workers and associated disciplines attended the workshops covering the problems of chronic patients returning to community living.

The staff members who made the presentations and participated in the question and answer panel were Wallace C. Hunter, M.D., director of psychiatric services; Barney Rubinstein, M.D., clinic director; Mary Smith, R.N., BSN, multiple disabilities nursing supervisor; Ruth B. Payne, R.N., M.A., admissions unit administrator; Kay Drake, M.Ed., adolescent unit staff psychologist; Molly N. Butler, RNC, M.A., coordinator of nursing services; and Betty M. Condray, RNC, M.A., central unit administrator.

"Chronic mentally ill patients often experience difficulty in returning to community living," said A.K. Smith, BSSH superintendent. "Their communications skills are diminished and they may not be able to express their needs or problems clearly during the adjustment period. The rationale in planning the workshops was to offer assistance to the community personnel responsible in assisting these patients as they make the transition from hospital to community."

Each program began with a presentation, "Overview of Medications," by Mrs. Butler. Drs. Hunter and Rubinstein answered questions concerning the commonly used drugs, their dosage, action and side effects. Mrs. Smith's presentation covered mental retardations, while Ms. Drake discussed crisis situations, and Mrs. Payne spoke about acting out behaviors.

Jewelers

Coral, a product of warm seas, is found throughout the world in tropical and subtropical waters. The principal traditional source is the Mediterranean Sea, while Japan is a more recent source. Coral usually grows in shallow water, and the color of the coral seems to lighten with the depth. Coral has a vitreous, or glassy, luster, and its value varies according to its color and size. The possibilities of using coral as an accent or contrast are virtually unlimited. It is most often fashioned into beads, either round or egg-shaped, and used in necklaces, rosaries and bracelets. Carved ornaments of coral are often fine examples of craftsmanship and creativity.

For the perfect gift for that special someone this Mother's Day, we cordially invite you to plan a visit with us today at BLUM'S JEWELERS, 222 Main, 267-6335. Enjoy browsing throughout our fabulous selection of finely crafted jewelry featuring all of your favorite precious gems, as well as our complete selection of distinctive gift items including watches, pottery, porcelains, fine china and Waterford crystal. Master Card & Visa welcome. Hours: Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Frances Key to judge 84 area piano students

Frances Key, a piano teacher from Olney, will judge 84 students of eight area piano teachers will play in the National Piano Playing Auditions here next week. The students will strive for pledges, local, district, state, national or international honors conferred by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, Teacher-Division of the American College of Musicians.

The awards will be conferred according to the number of standard classic, romantic, and modern pieces chosen from the Masters of pianoforte literature each student can creditably perform in the presence of a judge from another locality.

Piano teachers participating in the event are Mrs. S.T. Cheatham, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. Everett Bedell, Emilee Beckham, Mildred Harris of Garden City, Dana Schafer of Garden City, Mary Skalicky, and Ann Gibson Houser, chairman of the event.

Mrs. Key is a graduate of Texas Women's University in Denton with a major in piano performance. She was the student of Elizabeth Leake.

Mrs. Key has done graduate work at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, studying piano with Carl Freidberg and piano pedagogy with Bernice Frost. She also has studied in workshops and master classes with many noted piano pedagogy specialists, perhaps most extensively with Frances Clark and Lynn Freeman Olson.

Mrs. Key is active in the Wichita Falls Music Teachers Association, the Texas Music Teachers Association and the Music Teachers National

By LILA ESTES

Q.: Are there sources for a reasonable down payment on a house other than life savings?

A.: Yes. For example, if you own life insurance, which has built up a cash value, you may be able to borrow this amount from the insurance company, at favorable interest rates. Ownership of stocks and bonds is another avenue. If the market isn't favorable for selling, try to use them as collateral. If participating, you may also be able to withdraw or borrow against a company profit sharing or savings plan. Or, the seller may allow you to complete remodeling or repair work to lower the selling price and down payment. Also, if you have evidence of an impending income tax refund, some lenders may be willing to loan you that amount. There are a number of avenues and a real estate agent can give good advice and a direction in which to look.

Darleen Gifford speaks at club

Darleen Gifford, Southwestern Bell Corporation public relations person, presented a program at the City Extension Club meeting in the home of Mrs. D.D. Johnston, April 27.

The divestiture of the Bell System was discussed. She explained services performed by Southwestern Bell Telephone, Southwestern Bell Publications, Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems and Southwestern Bell Telecommunications, which now make up the Southwestern Bell Corporation that serves five states.

A person can own his phone, she said. Phones can be bought from American Telephone and Telegraph which will service your phone at a charge, or from a vendor outside the company. When buying a phone, a person should be sure of the terms of the warranty.

Before reporting that a phone is in trouble, a person needs to try to ascertain the source of the telephone problem. If a second phone can be substituted, check to see if the source of the problem is the phone or in the line.

The next meeting will be a tour of Cameo Energy Home and a luncheon.

Dear Abby

Pound by pound, woman's interest wears thin

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this man I'll call John for a year. He's 27 and I'm 29. I'm divorced with two sons, 8 and 9 years old. My kids adore John, but he doesn't care for kids. He says if we did get married he could put up with them for maybe four days a month. (He wants me to send the boys to live with their father, which I don't want to do because they'd rather be with me, and their father doesn't really want them.)

DEAR FEELING SAD: Go back to your shrink and find out why you need this selfish, tyrannical, abusive man in your life. He doesn't love you — he loves only himself — and the sooner you get rid of him, the better.

DEAR ABBY: Every year my brother forgets my birthday. (I never forget his.) little under the weather now. I'll bring it around when I'm feeling better." Well, I never got it. This year he called three days before my birthday and asked me what I wanted for my birthday. I said, "Nothing" — which is exactly what I got. My brother is good to me. He makes all my car payments, pays for my car insurance and car repairs; and if I need any money I can always count on him to give it to me.

Am I being petty for feeling hurt because he never remembers my birthday? FORGOTTEN SISTER

DEAR FORGOTTEN: He doesn't forget your birthday, he just forgets to deliver a gift on that day. In view of his extraordinary generosity throughout the year, I think you should overlook his occasional lapse of memory. You're batting 364-to-1, which isn't too shabby. Every woman should have a brother like yours.

John likes his women pencil thin. I'm 5 foot 7 and when we met I weighed 90 pounds. (I suffered from anorexia, but I'm over it now.) I shot up to 128 pounds and everybody thought I looked great, but John wanted me thinner, so I started to work out two and three hours a day. I'm down to 117, and John says, "After you lose 6 more pounds you'll be perfect!"

Another thing. He says he doesn't see anyone but me, but when I'm at his place and the phone rings, he

Dr. Donohue

Sugar energy

DEAR DR. DOHONUE: I've never understood why you say that sugar taken before exercise won't keep you going longer. We need energy for energy, right? Well, if you eat some candy won't you have more energy? — Still Doubting.

I admire a person who is hard to convince.

I have gone through this many times but I think your doubt begins with a misconception of how the body utilizes sugar loads.

There is no great precision to this. You know that when you present sugar to the body, there is a release of insulin. That release is too much for the sugar ingested and what follows is actually a lowering of blood sugar for a time. That's one reason why a candy bar does no good in giving you a sudden shot of energy.

Second, you probably are arguing from some things that have been said about sugar release from the liver. It has been reasoned that since blood sugar levels during exercise are maintained by a release of it from the liver, and that since that liver supply is limited, wouldn't taking sugar stave off exhaustion when that supply is depleted. The theory doesn't fit the facts, even when exercise is very long (more than one to two hours). For what happens then is that the body uses other energy sources — fats chiefly.

Now to be honest, I have to add that there is a special kind of sugar substitute, called glucose polymer. It is being tested as a means of preventing exhaustion during exercise, and preliminary indications are that it works. But it's not the sugar you are speaking of, as in candy bars. I'll give you more on glucose polymer when more tests have been done and reported.

DEAR DR. DOHONUE: Last weekend I went out on a peaceful (I thought) excursion across country. It turned out to be more of a marathon than anything else. The pace was almost heart-stopping at times. My question is, can an unusually large intake of oxygen into the lungs for an extended period of time overstretch the alveoli in the lungs? — G.R.

No; you can't damage your lungs by hard breathing or breathing 20 percent oxygen (the oxygen content of air). In a hospital setting, when oxygen has to be used in higher concentrations or delivered with greater pressure, the lungs can suffer from excess. However, any exercise that is "heart-stopping" is to be frowned on in anyone. On the Borg Scale of perceived intensity of exercise, that would be a 10-plus.

Hale-Ferguson

Sheri Hale and Mark Ferguson, both of Arlington, exchanged wedding vows at the Church of God in Big Spring, Saturday evening. The Rev. Sammy Sims of Crestview Baptist Church officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred VanSteenburgh, Gail Rt., and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hale of Corpus Christi. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, Brown City, Mich.

The couple exchanged wedding vows before an archway of blue and white carnations flanked by two bouquets of blue and white carnations. Carolyn Grimsley, instrumentalist, and Penny Binion and Debbie Rodgers, both vocalists, provided music for the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather.

The bride wore a gown of silesta chiffon fashioned with a Victorian neckline and a yoke of Schiffl lace. The bishop sleeves were held by Schiffl lace cuffs. The skirt fell into a chapel-length train edged in matching lace. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a fingertip-length veil of illusion. The veil was held by a band of white silk blossoms.

The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and roses and shades of blue star flowers. The bouquet was tied with white and blue satin streamers and white lace.

Evelyn VanSteenburgh, mother of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Dawn Strieter of Brown City, Mich. Aletha and Amanda Hale were flower girls.

Fred VanSteenburgh of Big Spring was best man. Lance Vermeesch of Brown City, Mich. was groomsmen. Marlow Hale, brother of the bride, and Roger Gammons were ushers.

MRS. MARK FERGUSON
...formerly Sheri Hale

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception at the church. A two-tiered white cake with blue carnations was served at the bride's table. The cake was topped with wedding bells. The table had silver wedding bells at the corners and was centered with an arrangement of white daisies and blue carnations. The bridegroom's table featured a German chocolate cake with brown laced icing. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over a blue cloth.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and is employed by Republic Bank in Dallas. The bridegroom is a graduate of Brown City High School in Michigan. He is self-employed as a building contractor.

Following a wedding trip to Brown City, Mich. and Pocono, Penn., the couple is making its home in Arlington.

Winters-Marlow

Terri Lynn Winters and James Thomas Marlow were united in marriage at Midway Baptist Church in Midway, April 21. Dr. Rick Davis, pastor, officiated at the 7 p.m. rite before an archway decorated with blue ribbons.

The bride is the daughter of Ross and Helen Bradford, Rt. 1. The bridegroom is the son of June Williams, 1304 College.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white formal-length gown fashioned with a white lace bodice and sleeves. The net lace skirt fell into a lace chapel-length train. The bride carried a bouquet of carnations, daisies, roses and baby's breath.

Sheila Armstrong was matron of honor. Craig Jederlinic was best man. Mike Bradford, brother of the bride, was an usher.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception at their home in Sand Springs. A two-tiered wedding cake was served. It was decorated with pastel drop flowers and topped with three wedding bells. Trina Bradford, sister-in-law of the bride, and Sheila Williams, sister of the bridegroom,

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MARLOW
...wed April 21 in Midway

The bride graduated from Coahoma High School in Coahoma and is employed by Denny's Restaurant. The bridegroom graduated from Sierra High School in Whittier, Calif. The couple is making their home in Big Spring.

MR. AND MRS. FRED SCHUELKE

The Fred Schuelkes

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schuelke, Ackerly, were honored for their 45th wedding anniversary with a reception at First Baptist Church in Ackerly. Hosting the event will be Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schuelke, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Schuelke and Roy Schuelke, sons of the couple.

Schuelke married the former Pauline Laake, April 27, 1939. They have three sons: Kenneth Schuelke of Stanton, Jimmie Schuelke of Ackerly, and Roy Schuelke of Austin. They also have seven grandchildren.

Schuelke is a fisherman and retired farmer. The couple are members of the Baptist church in Ackerly and the Archeology Club. Schuelke enjoys fishing. Mrs. Schuelke enjoys crocheting and sewing. The couple also enjoys hunting arrow heads and spending time with their children and grandchildren.

"It has been a short 45 years being married to someone you really admire and love," they said. "We have shared everything, even the work, along with the fun times. These last years are great with free time and our home."

Nellie Gray celebrates 90th birthday

Nellie Gray, 4505 Garwood, celebrated her 90th birthday with a reception in her home April 22. Hosting the event were daughters, Lorena Cole of Snyder and Leta Lloyd of Hermleigh.

Mrs. Gray, also known as "Chatchie," was born April 22, 1894 in the Indian Territory of Oklahoma. She was the oldest daughter of eight children born to the late E.A. and G.W. Smoot.

Mrs. Gray moved to Scurry County with her family when she was 12. She and Carl Gray were married Dec. 24, 1911, by Rev. S.C. Shipley while sitting in a buggy "on the prairie" near Vincent. The couple farmed and ranched in Borden County. In 1927, the Grays purchased their first registered Hereford cattle. They sold several calves as 4-H and F.F.A. projects. In 1933, the Grays moved to Scurry County, where their main interest was registered Herefords.

Mrs. Gray has 11 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren and nine great great-grandchildren. She is a member of 37th St. Church of Christ. She enjoys housekeeping and gardening.

Out-of-town guests at the event were from Wendell, Ind., Gooding, Ind., Laguna Hills, Calif., McDonald, N.M., Albuquerque, N.M., Coleman, Dalhart, Fluvanna, Lubbock, Dallas, San Antonio, Luling, Hermleigh, Ira, Farmersville, Rowlett, Gail, Stanton, El Paso, Colorado City, Abilene, and Snyder.

David Wilsons announce birth of son

Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson, Silver Heels Addition, announce the birth of their son, Dereck Kobay, April 27 at Malone-Hogan Hospital. The infant arrived at 8:16 a.m. weighing six pounds 10 ounces.

The I.R. Carrascos

Mr. and Mrs. I.R. Carrasco, 1616 Mesquite, celebrated their 40th anniversary with a barbecue at their home with their children, April 18.

The couple was married at the Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Balmorhea, April 18, 1944. Mrs. Carrasco is the former Elena Fuentes.

The couple has lived in Big Spring since the 1950's. They also have lived in Pecos and Del Rio.

The couple has 10 children. They are Adela Hernandez, Celia Smithwick, Thomas Carrasco, Eva Yanez, Lucy Cruz, Albert Carrasco, all of Big Spring, Lydia Tamayo of Madrid, Spain, Gracie Lervier of Northfork, Va., Irene Norman of Houston, and Mary Guardiola of Albuquerque, N.M. They have 28 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The couple are members of St. Thomas Catholic Church, Carrasco is retired from the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

MR. AND MRS. I.R. CARRASCO

The Carrascos are planning a trip to Madrid, Spain to visit their daughter for their 40th anniversary.

Trio performs for club

John Wilson, Merry Wilson and Mrs. Carroll T. Moore presented a program at a meeting of the Howard County AARP Chapter 1645, May 1.

Wilson, choir director of First United Methodist Church, sang while Mrs. Wilson, pianist, and Mrs. Moore, violinist, played instrumentals.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work" According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Contains ALL Daily Vitamins The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucosannan' Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucosannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. 842, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call toll free 1-(800)-862-6262, ext. 842. © Copyright 1984.

Pamphlet describes medical tests

A new health pamphlet, "Do I Really Need These Tests?" is available at Malone-Hogan Clinic.

"Laboratory studies and x-rays are expensive and time consuming not to mention sometimes uncomfortable," says Dr. Robert Griffin. "Patients should know why these tests are necessary, realize any risks that may be involved and understand what their personal test results mean."

Often when patients listen to a physician prescribe lab tests and x-rays or relate the findings from them, they are reluctant to admit they really don't know what those tests are all about, said the Malone-Hogan internist.

"CBC, UA, SMAC, PT, APTT — terms that physicians use for certain tests — may seem like a foreign language. This pamphlet was developed to describe some of the more common laboratory tests that a physician may order."

Subjects covered in the pamphlet include the following tests: complete blood count (CBC), urinalysis (UA), electrolytes, cultures and sensitivities, the SMAC battery of 22 blood studies, the BUN (PT) and the Activated Partial Thrombo-Plastin Time (APTT).

Eyskens celebrate children's achievements

JIM AND RENE EYSKEN and family celebrated Friday evening. Daughter SAMI was elected president of the Theatre Club and vice president of the Forensic Club at Big Spring High School for next year. Son JASON was elected as one of six cheerleaders for Runnels Junior High. He will be the school's first male cheerleader as far as the family knows.

And speaking of male cheerleaders, CHARLES AND MARION BUZZBEE'S son, JOHN, also was elected cheerleader at Big Spring High School. They believe he also is that school's first male cheerleader. Both families are thrilled.

PHYLLIS HART, daughter of TOMMY AND ELMORA HART, will visit Big Spring this week. Phyllis is a nurse in Fort Worth.

SOUTHWEST COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE FOR THE DEAF will have its first annual SWCID-FEST, Friday through Sunday. Included in the planned events are graduation, 10K and 2 mile fun run/walk, continental breakfast at the SWCID Cafeteria, softball tournament at Johnny Stone Park (including teams from Texas Deaf Clubs), barbecue at Comanche Trail Park, dance at Dora Roberts Community Center, and a brunch.

APRIL FERGUSON will present a film on natural childbirth, the Bradley method, at the Texas Electric Reddy Room at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Doctors and nurses will have already viewed the film, she said. The viewing will be opened to the public and is for expectant parents or interested persons. For information about it, call her at 267-3716.

April will be getting her certification for teaching natural childbirth, the Bradley method, in a few weeks. She is sponsored by a certified Bradley teacher, Angela Blahak of Abilene. She will begin teaching classes in June.

I know you've read this a thousand times in this newspaper, but please go out and watch the HERALD ANGELS take on the Big Spring Steers in softball this afternoon at 3 p.m. at the high school's baseball field. It will probably be a game you will either never forget or will want to forget. Should be fun though. I'll see you at the gate.

Three new members of the Herald Angels team are JIM NEARY, business manager of the Big Spring Herald; THAD BYARS, advertisement manager of the Herald, and JIMMY GRANT, pressman at the Herald. They are a great addition to the team.

The RETIRED SENIOR VOLUNTEER PROGRAM will again honor its many volunteers at its annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner, May 15. The event will be at Howard College Cafeteria at 7 p.m.

Don't forget the RAINBOW PROJECT will arrest and detain several noted citizens of Big Spring in jail, May 19. Only you can get them out by donating money to lower their bail. Or you can donate to keep them in.

They will be in a horse trailer in the parking lot of Big Spring Mall. Sounds stinky and hot! On that day, you can bring your donations to Shroyer Motor Company or call 267-7140 and a member of Key Club will pick up your donation.

Proceeds will benefit the Rainbow Project child abuse shelter. The jailbirds are: Herald city editor KEITH BRISCOE; city manager DON DAVIS, the REV. KEITH WISEMAN (a minister in jail?); BSISD superintendent LYNN HISE; Howard College president DR. CHARLES HAYS; postmaster FRANK HARDESTY; disc jockey RON JEFFERIES; manager of KWKI-KKIK radio station DAVE TRUSTY; police chief RICK TURNER; and councilman and insurance salesman RUSS MCEWEN; and Rainbow Project Board Members.

On Turning Heads

by Gary Don

Hair conditioners either moisturize hair, build body or do a combination of the two. A moisturizing conditioner is one that contains conditioning oils, such as lanolin derivatives or fatty alcohols (such as cetyl), or mineral oil or petrolatum. Body builders, on the other hand, get results with proteins such as hydrolyzed animal protein, collagen or polymers. Both instant and deep conditioners may contain similar active ingredients, but the latter have them in greater concentrations, which makes them work differently. For fine hair use a body builder. Dry, coarse and curly hair simply needs moisturizing to define the curl; it generally has enough body.

Would you pay twice as much for the diamond on the far right?

Size. It's the most obvious factor in determining the value of a diamond. But it's not the only one. Carat-weight is just one of the 4C's. The others are Cut, Color and Clarity. And to understand these much more subtle facets is to understand quality.

A cut above. Most diamonds are cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to the other. But a good cut, by a master cutter, is recognized by its light-handling qualities. Maximum scintillation, more sparkle. And that's a great reflection on you.

Your true colors. Color, the third of the 4C's has various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish. Totally colorless diamonds are the rarest. And to give a woman a diamond of exceptionally good color is to show your knowledge of quality, to show your true colors.

Clarity of thought. A diamond that is virtually free of interior or exterior inclusions is of the highest quality, for nothing interferes with the passage of light through the diamond. Diamonds termed Flawless, the highest clarity grade, will dazzle you. And the clearer the diamonds, the clearer your choice.

4C Four characteristics that determine the quality of a diamond. Consult me.

Quality.
It's as important in diamonds as in anything else you own.

Cotton to dominate fashion market

DALLAS — A cotton industry official says that within 12 years 100 percent cotton material will claim 50 percent of America's fashion market.

Robert Boslet, president of Cotton Inc., predicted during a Lubbock seminar recently that the market for cotton materials is expected to grow about 50 percent over the next decade.

Currently, cotton accounts for about 35 percent of fashion materials.

Cotton Inc., a non-profit marketing company funded by the cotton industry, uses its $18 million budget in a marketing-advertising campaign and research program.

Recent advances in fabric finishing and production technology have greatly increased the versatility of natural fiber, Boslet said.

Many American sportswear designers now work exclusively in natural fibers, said Boslet.

In a recent telephone interview, Boslet said this year's most popular fabrication has proven to be a linen and cotton blend. Cotton and silk fabrication, or cotton, linen and silk blends are becoming more popular.

In the last few years, virtually all synthetic fabric makers have increased the amount of natural fiber in their product, he said.

"We've also seen a recent marketing trend that states most fashion conscious consumers feel that natural fiber products wear better and are as easy to care for as the miracle synthetics of the 60s," he said.

Cotton growers are beginning the 1984 year with, "a favorable supply-demand balance," he said.

"Under our plan for each succeeding year, the cotton farmer would enlarge plantings to keep up with increased demand but not flood the market, and prices would stay good," Boslet said.

"We'll use our money to mount massive advertising and marketing promotions to continue current trends towards natural fiber in clothing," he said.

"By increasing the market share, we could grow a 14 million bale crop and use it all," he said, adding that a great demand for the fiber would help the local and national farm economy.
