WICHITA FALLS WOMAN TALKS OF RICHES.

Mrs. Josie Chambers, who was living at Hotel LaSalle in Chicago, is facing a number of charges involving unpaid bills and checks in South Clark street court. She is shown here trying to dodge photographers in the Chicago detective bureau. Mrs. Chambers claims she has plenty of "oil interests" around Wichita Falls to cover her indebtedness, but her attorney will not say where these interests are located.

Club Activity Reports Given At Convention

By PEGGY PIEDMONT, Record News Staff.

FORT WORTH, April 7.—Club activity, especially in the first district, was given a definite impetus when women from more than 30 towns and cities gave reports of their activities during the past year at the first district convention of Woman's clubs. After the reports, discussions were led by Miss Kate Friend of Waco and Mrs. Maggie Barry of A. and M. college and ideas were exchanged, and questions as "to how it is done" was asked. This feature, together with the introduction of state officers and district chairman, featured the meeting of the day. Mrs. R. E. Buchanan of Fort Worth announced that a prize will be given today, for the delegate giving the best report from the district and said that a "secret radio" had been installed and that judges sat "at the other end of the radio."

Towns in the first district reporting were Albany, Anson, Arlington, Aspermont, Bowie, Breckenridge, Caddo, Chico, Decatur, Dublin, Dundee, Electra, Fort Worth, Graham, Goree, Hamlin, Haskell, Henrietta, Iowa Park, Jacksboro, Mineral Wells, Munday, Newcastle, Olney, Rule, Rotan, Rochester, Seymour, Stamford, Stephenville, Springtown, Throckmorton, Truscott, Weatherford, Weinert and Wichita Falls.

DOCTORS WARN ON OVER - USE OF PURGATIVE

Dr. Thorning Raps Tendency to Consider Course As a "Sure-Cure."

FRACTURES DISCUSSED

Tell of New Method to Heal Broken Femur.

The use of "ice tongs", or calipers for holding into position the bones of a fracture of the femur, or the large bone of the leg, above the knee, was graphically pictured by Dr. F. L. Graham of Cisco in the meeting of the surgical section Tuesday afternoon at the Kemp hotel, which opened the convention of the Northwest District Medical association of Texas.

In preference to the steel peg through the bone, Dr. Graham ably presented the method of securing skeletal traction by means of a firm grip of a pair of calipers, declaring that in this manner the patient rested more ocmfortably, the fracture healed more surely and more accurately than by former methods. Finely drawn charts illustrated the talk which was declared, in the discussion which followed, to be "one of the most able discussions of skeletal traction ever before the society."

Discuss Cure All.

Dr. Buxton Thorning, of Houston, in a notable paper on "Certain Phases of Handling Gastric and Doudenal Ulcers" sounded a warning to people who take a pergative without the advice of a physician when they have acute abdominal trouble of some sort, such as acute indigestion, acute appendicitis, or an acute abdominal pain. To many people, he pointed out, a purgative was sort of a "cure-all," though in acute cases, it might rupture an appendix, or do serious damage to an ulcer by filling the abdominal cavity with the stomach contents. The speaker stressed the importance, on the part of doctors, or being able to recognize the pathology of the stomach during exploration. He warned his listeners against doing a gastrostomy (attaching the stomach to the bowel) without a definite pathological condition. This, he declared, would make many operations of this sort successful, and improve instead of complicating conditions.

Gastric Ulcers.

Dr. T. L. Lauderdale of Ranger, Texas, ably discusse dthe diagnosis and treatment of Gastric and doudenal ulcer, and following the talk by Dr. A. L. Blesh of Oklahoma City on "Differential Abdominal Diagnosis," the three papers were discussed jointly.

Dr. Blesh urged a more careful diagnosis for abdominal surgery, declaring tha tmany operations for appendiceitis were performed through mis-diagnosis, when the operation should have been for ureter or kidney trouble, as the ureter lay close under the appendix.

"Surgery rests upon the fundamental principles of diagnosis, technic, and a doctor's surgical judgment," Dr. Blesh declared. "Surgery is based on pathology, not symptomology. The diagnosis of the case is vital. Don't use surgery as a last resort when there has been loose diagnosis."

Dr. Jones Opens Session.

Dr. Everett Jones of Wichita Falls opene dthe session, following a short address of Dr. S. C. Richardson, of Eastland, chairman of the surgery section.

Dr. Jones presented Mesdames N. M. Clifford, Jim Curtis, Homer Lee of this city and L. W. Carrow of Burkburnett, each with her baby son. The children, happy and healthy, were living testimony to the success of treatment for Pyloric Stenosis as discussed by Dr. Jones.

Taking the four cases, one by one, he told the characteristics of each, the specific treatment, and the results with reference as to conditions and time. The discussion, illustrated in this manner, proved highly valuable, as Dr. Jones sketched the rapid rise of knowledge concerning

Elections Elsewhere

CHICAGO, April 7.—Chicago voters today rejected a proposal for purchase by the city of street railways and elevated lines and the building of a subway, said to be the largest municipal ownership project ever attempted by a majority of nearly 100,000 votes.

With the rejection of the ordinance for purchase of the city transportation system, there also went by the board a proposition for municipal operation of the lines by about the same majority.

Less than one half of the upward of one million Chicago voters showed enough interest in the proposition to go to the polls.

DALLAS.

DALLAS, April 7. — The Democratic ticket, headed by Mayor Louis Blaylock, veteran printer and publisher, was reelected by a majority of more than three to one over two other tickets in today's city election.

Besides Mayor Blaylock, the victorious ticket is composed of John C. Harris, finance commissioner; H. S. Gowins, water commissioner; Louis Turley, police and fire commissioner, and R. A. Wylie, street commissioner.

The citizens independent ticket, headed by D. C. McCord, was second, while the citizens association ticket, led by P. G. Claborne, ran a poor third.

A $3,000,000 bond issue providing for improvements in schools, streets, parks, sewers and garbage disposal carried by a majority of about four to one.

A comparatively light vote was recorded. Less than 25,000 votes were cast out of a potential voting strength of 44,000.

Mayor Blaylock is the first Dallas mayor to be re-elected in 12 years. Prior to his election as mayor he had served as police and finance commissioner. He was formerly publisher of the Texas Christian Advocate, official publication of the Southern Methodist church in Texas. He is 75 years old.

MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Mich., April 7.—Tabulation of figures of yesterday's biennial state election for minor state officers was ended late today when returns from slightly more than half of the state showed an overwhelming election of all Republican party candidates. The returns indicated that less than 300,000 persons took the trouble to vote.

The defeat of Democratic candidates was even more pronounced than at the general election last fall, Republican candidates getting approximately three votes for every vote cast for a Democratic officeseeker. Every county in the state returned a Republican majority.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—Victor J. Miller, Republican, and William L. Igoe, Democrat, were running neck and neck tonight in the race for mayor of St. Louis, which was the feature of today's municipal elections.

Despite a normal tendency of the city to vote a Republican majority, Igoe, former congressman and chairman of the State Democratic committee in 1922, gradually cut down an early lead by Miller, deposed president of the board of police commissioners.

Cumulative returns from 260 precincts recorded a lead of 2,246 by Miller. The vote was 41,852 to 39,606.

FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, April 7.—With one exception, candidates of the Citizen's association were elected to places on the Fort Worth city council in the general election held here today, it was indicated tonight by a complete count of 52 of the 54 boxes.

The exception was L. H. Card, independent candidate, who won over Ellis Plasico, Citizens' association candidate by a plurality of 449 votes.

Slightly more than 10,000 votes were cast which is considered a light poll for a general election.

GAINESVILLE

GAINESVILLE, April 9.—J. Z. Keel was elected mayor of Gainesville by a majority of 170 votes over the present incumbent, J. A. Thomas, seeking re-election for a third term in the city elections here today.

CRAWFORD

CRAWFORD, Tex., April 7.—C. H. Roberts won over two opponents for street missioner of Crawford today, in the only contest of the city election. He received 42 votes against a total of 28 received by his two opponents, Frank Merritt and Earl Medford. J. D. McCollum was elect-

Breckenridge Mayor May Get Judgeship

AUSTIN, April 7.—Mayor T. B. Ridgell of Breckenridge, is to be a judge of the new Eastland court of civil appeals, according to rumors here Tuesday. The appointments are momentarily expected. Rumors name William Pannill of Stephenville as the possible chief justice of the court, and John B. Little of Big Springs is being mentioned as the other associate justice.

GRAND JURORS SURPRISE CITY BY A TRUE BILL

Wife of Former Mayor Is At Liberty Under Bond of $10,000.

ARRESTED TUESDAY

Date of Trial of Woman On Charge of Murder Not Yet Set.

Mrs. Frank Collier, wife of former Mayor Frank Collier, was indicted for murder by the Wichita county grand jury Tuesday afternoon in connection with the death of Elzie (Buster) Robertson, her son-in-lawt shot and killed by her husband on the night of February 14.

The indictment came as a distinct surprise, there having been no intimation that a consideration of her in connection with the death of Robertson having been intimated.

Her husband has already been found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the case and sentenced to a term of three years in the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Collier, arrested by the sheriff's department about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, immediately was released on $10,000 bond. Date of her trial has not yet been set, according to the district attorney's office.

The killing of Buster Robertson, who was the husband of Mary Frances Collier by a secret marriage at Walters, Okla., in July of 1924, proved a sensation in Wichita Falls, as did the trial of Collier, completed only ten days ago.

Mrs. Collier was with her husband at Seventeenth and Bluff streets when he killed Buster Robertson. In her testimony at the time of the trial of her husband she detailed events of the fatal night, describing how Collier took the gun with which he killed Buster away from her prior to the time they started in search of their daughter.

Fourth Lockhart Well Makes 2,000

DALLAS, April 7.—A new big oil field has been discovered in central Texas, it was believed, when a 2,000-barrel gusher blew in unexpectedly on the Sun Oil company lease near Lockhart, Caldwell county, Monday at 1,270 feet. Reports from headquarters of the company here today were that production was increasing at noon and that the oil is 38 gravity, worth $2 per barrel at the well.

The discovery well in the area was brought in two weeks ago by Lefrere and Storey on the Brewer tract, making 160 barrels a day. The Gulf Production company followed with a 250-barrel well and Friday the Sun Oil company's number one, Gomillion, came in for 500 barrels. The Gomillion number 2 was started as an off-set to the Gulf well and it came in Monday with the casing set at 1,120 feet and the drill penetrating 14 feet of oil sand.

Major Expenditures Will Be Made Around Houston, Officials Decide.

HOUSTON, April 7.—Major expenditures in the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad's improvement program for 1925 will be made in Houston and Fort Worth, according to a statement given out Tuesday by V. G. Hopkins, manager of the department of public relations of that road. Mr. Hopkins was in the city with a number of Katy officials, who spent several hours here going over the company properties and inspecting Houston industries.

One of Heaviest Votes In History Of City Is Cast

R. E. Shepherd retains his office as mayor of Wichita Falls as a result of Tuesday's municipal election in which he defeated R. E. Huff by 2503 to 1517 or a majority of 986 votes.

Frank Queisser was elected fire and police commissioner; J. H. Patton park commissioner; and Oral Jones finance commissioner, the latter with a vote of 2849 leading the ticket.

Queisser Wins.

Queisser's majority over J. B. Fitts and R. N. Wells in the police and fire commissioner's race was 900, the winner polling 2429, Fitts 1223 and Wells 306.

In the race for park commissioner closest of the election, Patton polled 2043 and Hunt 1950, a majority for Patton of but 85.

"I am unable to express myself," declared R. E. Shepherd, victorious in the mayoralty race, last night. "Would that I could buy your newspaper outright for one day to use its every page in thanking the good people of Wichita Falls for the wonderful support they gave me. To say that I shall dedicate my administration to their service is but putting it mildly. I shall do my utmost in behalf of Wichita Falls of which there is no better city in the wide, wide world."

R. E. Huff, the defeated condidate in the race for mayor, issued the following statement:

"Having consented to allow the use of my name for mayor upon the insistence of a number of friends that it was my duty to serve the people, and having made no campaign for the office and while I feel deeply grateful to those who so loyally supported me I feel no bitterness toward anyone over the result. Mayor Shepherd has my best wishes for a successful administration and shall have my hearty cooperation in all efforts he may make toward building up our city. I hope that all cause for differences among our people may be forgotten and that all unite to make 1925 the best year Wichita Falls has had in her progress toward being a great city."

Candidates Thank Voters.

Frank Queisser asked the Record News to thank those who so ably supported him in his victorious campaign for fire and police commissioner and Oral Jones promised this newspaper that if his wrist held out he would visit every one of the 2839 who voted for him during the course of the coming week and shake hands with them. He publicly thanked Hendricks, his opponent, for what he termed the "clean opposition" he conducted. Likewise with Mr. Patton who squeezed through over Hunt. J. B. Fitts also called the Record News and asked that his thanks be conveyed to those who supported him.

Eastland Man Is Pardoned by "Ma"

A conditional pardon was granted upon recommendations of Joe Burkett, member of the highway commission, who was special prosecutor, and the county attorney and the trial judge.

Nation's Scientists Outline Gigantic Program of Petroleum Research

BALTIMORE, Md., April 7.—A vast program of oil research has been framed by a commission of eleven leading scientists and its operation awaits only the sanction of the financial leaders of this industry, Dr. Charles H. Herty, of New York, president of the Southetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association, declared in an address today before the division of industrial and engineering chemistry of the American Chemical Society in session here.

Entrance of the research chemists into this field will greatly enhance the national wealth, asserted Dr. Herty, as he described amazing advances in synthetic organic chemical manufacture in the United States.

Appropriate financial provision, now under consideration will inaugurate a new epoch in American oil is the belief of Dr. Herty, who said that "the industry has fallen far short of its duty, although work is progressing and hopes of the greatest promise are justified."

"Our great national asset of petroleum," he said, "presents a remarkable phenomenon, yet, somewhat typical of the past history of our country. It is estimated that about nine billion dollars have been invested in the American petroleum industry. The raw material, crude oil, has in the past been subjected only to certain physical processes, chiefly fractional distillation, with a limited amount of purification by simple chemical methods, the resultant products being used chiefly for fuel, lighting and lubrication.

"Such chemical work as has been availed of in this field has been devoted largely to control of mechanical operations.

"Recently, however, there have been evidences of a new spirit of research striving to find itself articulate. Within the past year an able survey of the needs of the research and the remarkable possibilities resulting therefrom has been canvassed by a commission of eleven most prominent scientists in this country.

"Their views and their findings have been put into definite shape. The realization of the great program prepared awaits now only the leaders of the industry and the willingness on their part to set aside a small fraction of their investment annually to strat this work in full force."

New Flood of High Gravity Crude Expected From Garber Deep Sand

Well Develops Nearly 3,000 Barrels Monday

Horde of Locations Being Made to Send Down Deep Wells.

TO REDRILL CUSHING

Sinclair Proposal to Delay Deep Drilling Is Brushed Aside.

By PAUL S. HEDRICK

TULSA, Okla., April 7.—Another flood of high gravity oil is awaiting the Mid-Continent oil industry this summer and for an indefinite period from the deep Garber sand which the Sinclair Oil and Gas company discovered late last week.

The No. 25 Belveal, the discovery well in the deep Garber sand, and located in the northeast corner of 24-22-4w, Garfield county, is to use street talk—"a humdinger of an oil well."

Deep Sand Is Drilled At 4,377 to 4,391 Feet

It uncovered the deep pay at 4,377 feet last Thursday, and barely in the stand it started off at 25 barrels an hour. The next 24 hours it was deepened to 4,381 feet for nearly 1,000 barrels a day, and Saturday to 4,389 feet for close to 1,800 barrels a day. Sunday it was sent to 4,391 feet for 2,220 barrels a day, and Monday it was drilled further to 4,393 feet for 2,340 barrels in the 24-hour period.

From noon Monday to 1 p. m. the new discovery was reported from Garber to have made 155 barrels in the 60 minutes, although Sinclair officials were still reporting the well "good for from 108 to 120 barrels an hour."

Alutrism Falls to Make Big Hit

It was currently reported Tuesday that efforts were being made by the Sinclair Oil and Gas company to have owners of Garber acreage to agree not to drill too many deep Garber sand wells for fear of disrupting the crude market, but the answer came in no uncertain manner when the Healdton Oil and Gas company, the Crew Heirs Estate Oil company and others began making locations on the Garber acreage.

In technical circles the Sinclair's discovery has started another controversy as to what geologic formation the well is producing from. Geologists of the Sinclair company still assert that it is the Wilcox. Both company geologists display drill cuttings and sand samples to prove their case, but around Garber the oil men refuse to get "fussed" up and call it the Belveal sand after Frank Belveal, on whose farm the deep sand well was drilled.

CUSHING WILL BE RE-DRILLED TO WILCOX

A letter from T. B. Gibson of Oilton, declares that the Cushing area is to be re-drilled. Most of the drilling will be below the Layton, Wheeler, Skinner and Tucker sands, which gave Cushing its great fame. The Wilcox has not been thoroughly tested in the field.

Roxana Petroleum corporation has assembled an interesting block for a Wilcox test west of the Drumright area of the Cushing oil field. All of the acreage is in Payne county and includes the northwest quarter of 34-18-6; the southwest quarter of 34-18-6; the south half of the northeast of 34-18-6; the west half of the southeast of 34-18-6; the west half of the southwest of 35-18-6, and the north half of 3-17-6.

Kentuckian Who Ministers to Rural Churches Says He Has Used Black-Draught More Than 25 Years.

Beres, Ky.—In a statement for publication, describing his use of Thedford's Black-Draught, the Rev. J. W. Lambert, of this place, says: "I am a preacher. I go back in the rural section to hold meetings. I am exposed to all kinds of weather, but have comparatively good health.

"I believe we all need a good liver medicine occasionally and I would like others to hear of the one I have used for more than 25 years. The one I speak of is Black-Draught.

"I have for 25 years used Black-Draught mostly for the liver. I used to have something after meals, a tightness in the chest, for which I took Black-Draught. It relieved me.

"When I take a cold and am hoarse, a few doses of Black-Draught usually gets me to feeling good.

"When I get bilious, I know, for I get sluggish and tired. I know I need something for my liver and I take Black-Draught. It is about the only medicine we use and I can't say when we have ever had a dose of any other kind of liver medicine in the house."

The medicine which this Kentucky minister mentions above is the well-known, purely vegetable Thedford's Black-Draught which has been on the market for over 80 years.

Millions take it. Sold everywhere. —Adv.

Natural Gasoline Is Dry Cleaner Deluxe

TULSA, Okla., April 6.—A new use for natural gasoline has been evolved that according to several large manufacturers maintaining offices in Tulsa may some day vie with that of the straight run refiners in acquiring the output of the natural gasoline plants.

"In the cleaning of clothes, especially garments that have become spotted from grease, no better formula exists than a can of natural gasoline," said A. A. Wood, assistant to the vice president and sales manager of Chestnut & Smith corporation, the second largest manufacturer of natural gasoline in the world.

Mr. Wood predicts that within 10 years' time the cleaners of the world will be one of the chief buyers of natural gasoline. A campaign of education to acquaint the cleaners how to use and handle natural gasoline is planned by the Association of Natural Gasoline Manufacturers.

Fullers Earth Use in Refining Increases

In supplying the public with a perfect array of products from a barrel of crude, the refiners are forced to filter different oils through Fuller's earth and more and more of this product is used annually. Because of this increased consumption the mining of Fuller's earth increased 19 per cent in 1924, so the United States Geological survey reports. Last year the 13 operators in six states reported an output of 177,994 short tons, valued at $2,632,342, or $14.79 a ton. This is 19 per cent more than was produced in 1923.

Georgia ranks first, with Florida, Texas, Illinois, Massachusetts and Alabama, in the order named. The first three states produced 93 per cent of the total for 1924.

Corovado Field May Be Best in Mexico

TAMPICO, Tampa, Mex., April 5.—That hacienda Corovada will from a viewpoint of production prove to be one of the greatest heavy oil pools in Mexico is the general belief of geologists as a result of the completion of well No. 1 of Nelson and Leonard for a minimum estimated production of 20,000 barrels from a depth of 1,995 feet.

The discovery well in this hacienda was brought in by the Cia. Mexicana-Holmandesa, "La Corona," S. A., Dutch Shell's Mexican subsidiary, and which is flowing 7,000 barrels daily from 2,140 feet, while No. 2 of the same company has just been completed at 2,400 feet for 2,000 barrels.

As a result of additional completions, bringing the production to 10,000 barrels daily, Dutch Shell is installing additional tanks at its Corcovada pump station so as to be able to flow a greater amount of oil through its recently completed pipe line from the hacienda to Cacalilao.

Conditions which give rise to the belief as to the greatness of the Corcovada pool is the fact that while the Corona well was completed in the Tamasopa limestone, the Nelson and Leonard people are obtaining production from the San Felipe and based on conditions that have heertofore been encountered in this heavy oil district it is safe to assume that production will eventually be obtained in Corcovada from around 1,500 feet.

Stillman, wife of James Stillman of New York, who began action in Albany yesterday to obtain a review of the testimony in the case attacking the paternity of her youngest son, Guy Stillman, declared today she does not intend to go to New York to fight the new action.

When Guy was born I sent all my friends the same message, namely, 'the little black bear has arrived.' One of these messages fell into Beauvais' hands. It was sent to my son James, and Beauvais, who was at the Canadian estate, got it. As to the alleged love letters, they are forged.

Mohammed Said just got back here a few days ago after Ellis Island officials had deported him on the steamship Celtic in March. Beatley, Fort Worth, fine arts chairman; Mrs. C. W. Connery, Fort Worth, past state president; Mrs. J. U. Fields, Haskell, state chairman of citizenship; Mrs. W. H. Moore of Fort Worth, speakers' bureau chairman; Mrs. W. H. Hagaman, Ranger, legislative chairman; Mrs. G. W. Greathouse, Fort Worth, art; Mrs. J. L. Young, Mineral Wells, rural life; Mrs. Mary L. Wright, auditor; Mrs. W. R. Potter, Bowie, vice president; Miss Anna Shelton, general federation director; Mrs. Day Mills, Texarkana, credentials; Miss Mamie Waldon, Mineral Wells, state chairman of library extension and district chairman of press and publicity, and Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, Dallas, state treasurer.

Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie was awarded the medal in the literature contest by the literature chairman, Mrs. J. C. Berney. Mrs. Potter took for her subject, "The Trend of European Literature Toward the League of Nations.

Outstanding Features.

Outstanding features of the afternoon session were addresses given by Mrs. Florence C. Floore, treasurer of the general federation, and by Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie. Mrs. Floore talked on the value of universal membership in the general federation, explaining the change in club dues which will become effective to the general federation in the fall. Mrs. Potter said in part: "History has long been considered one of the most important of human studies, for from studying the past one can appreciate the present, from studying the lives of great characters we learn to appreciate greatness and we profit by it." She urged the preservation of the federation history, that the younger clubs may profit by what has been done by their older ones.

Young women of the first district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, will be trained to take up the work fostered by their mothers, according to a program outlined by Mrs. Paul Donald of Bowie, who talked on "Junior Membership." Mrs. Donald said, "Let us organize a junior club as an auxiliary to every Woman's club in the first district, so that we may have trained club women ready to carry on the work that we are beginning. Let us teach these young girls to combat strife, so that peace may reign in this land, let us teach them character building and how to serve their fellow man, let us give them an opportunity to express themselves. No knowledge is valuable until it is given expression. Today there is no such thing as young people's problem in the strictest sense; the problem is the problem of proper adult leadership."

President Urges Support.

Mrs. Henry Redmond of Corpus Christi, state president of Federation of Women's clubs, talked on the "Federation News," the monthly paper of the federation, and urgued the women to support their state organ. Mrs. Redmond has been editing the paper since the resignation of Mrs. W. C. Martin of Dallas, last fall.

More than 300 women attended all the sessions today, and much enthusiasm was evidenced.

Luncheon was served in the basement of the church, the courtesy of Manufacturers and Wholesalers' association of the city; at 5 o'clock, delegates and visitors to the convention was entertained at tea at the Woman's club and in the evening the delegates were members of a theatre party to see "Little Old New York," at the Ritz theatre, courtesy of the Retail Credit Men's association.

The district president will be elected today, Mrs. Roscoe Cox of Stephenville, being the only candidate. Vernon has asked for the next annual meeting of the first district federation convention. However, the place of the next meeting will be announced.

A full program is announced for today which will include more reports from delegates, talks and reports from a district chairman. Luncheon the courtesy of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce, and a tea at Carnegie library, courtesy of the Fort Worth Art association, are social features.

THE STATE PRISONS.

There are approximately 4,000 convicts in the prison pens and on the prison farms in Texas. Pat Morris Neff came in as governor in 1920 and served four years. He abolished the pardon board and pardoned convicts during his four years of office were as rare as the visits of angels to this mundane sphere from the heavenly heights above.

Pat Morris Neff made history. His critics said that his heart was made of grapite and that he was lacking in the human element of mercy. It is different now. Governor Miriam A. Ferguson became the successor of Pat Morris Neff on January 21, 1925. Governor Ferguson reinstated the pardon board. Judge Aldridge of east Texas was made chairman and former State Senator W. P. Sebastian of west Texas was made the secretary of the board.

This board is composed of two members. There has been a new high record established since the going of Governor Neff and the coming of Governor Ferguson. It will be three months on April 21st since the new administration came in. According to the records kept by the wise boys in the capitol press room, more than 400 pardons, paroles, conditional pardons, furloughs and restoration of citizenship rights have been granted.

This is going at the rate of more than 3 a day which shows conclusively that Chairman Aldridge and Secretary Sebastian, the co-member of the pardon board, are among the over-worked servants of the state, and they earn their salaries if it is possible for servants of the people to get what is coming to them.

Chairman Aldridge has a 12-hour day. He comes early in the morning and labors far into the night. This is the testimony of those under the big dome. Former Senator Sebastian became a victim of the flu more than 30 days ago. He is a wiry and virile pioneer of West Texas, having almost 50 years to his credit in that section of the state, but the flu gave him a rough tussle and he hasn't been able to be about a great deal since the Spanish scourage seized upon his frame.

If he had been in his usual good health and worked as many hours as chairman Aldridge, there is no telling what their combined output would have been. There are stacks of emergency cases before the pardon board. All these are applications for pardons or paroles. Then there are files or pigeon holes filled with applications and the record in each individual case.

There has been a flood of pardons and paroles and furloughs and restoration of citizenship rights and all this in less than three months and while the legislative department grinded away 60 days since the beginning of the administration. If the pardon board keeps up its swing and the governor leans to the side of mercy or errs on the side of mercy, it should be an easy matter to reduce the arm of 4,000 convicts to a skeleton array of stripped wards of the state in a single term much less than four years in the office of governor.

Pat Morris Neff abolished the board of pre-emtorily refused to grant pardons except in very extreme cases, where the convicts were friendless and pennilsss and no voice of mercy or persuasive lawyer could speak for them. This was the Neff argument at least. It filled him with grim joy when he read in the newspapers of the conviction of violaters of the prohibition laws of the state.

When he laid down the burden, or put aside the cares of office, it is said there were six or seven hundred white convicts in the penitentiary who had been convicted of violating the prohibition laws of the state. If the population of the penitentiary has been cut 10 per cent in three months and the same ratio is continued for four years the welfare workers and advocates of prison relocation figure the prison farms may not be necessary in the future or prison pens needed for the housing of those sent from temples of justice to the habitates builded by the state for men and women who go wrong and must pay the penalty for their transgressions.

Representative T. K. Irwin and those who stood close to him for 60 days in his prison investigation battle declared at all times that there were hundreds of convicts in the pens and on the prison farms who were entitled to executive clemancy. Now the lawmakers who were at all times in direct opposition to Irwin and his compatriots are asking, "what is the matter with the policy that has been established and the new high record that has been made in less than three months?"

As has been stated there are a vast number of emergency cases awaiting the consideration of the pardon board, and many well filled pigeon holes and files with cases which are not of the emergency kind. It is said that Secretary Sebastian will be himself again in the near future, and then the work of examining each individual application will be taken up by two men instead of one over-worked chairman of the board.. This may expedite matters.

HE SAVED HIS MONEY.

Henry H. Windsor of Chicago is dead. He was the owner of two-thirds of the stock of Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has a value of $1,100,000, and the widow and the son of the dead publisher are going to sell, while the selling is good. There must be money in the magazine business. At least there was money in it for Henry H. Windsor, but the publsher who succeeds him may kill the periodical. One never can tell.

BUY MEDICINAL WHISKEY.

Medicinal whiskey, or rather whiskey for medicinal purposes, may be transported from place to place without danger of arrest or conviction. This is the ruling of the court of criminal appeals. As a beverage it is barred; as a medicine it has the sanction of law. Law or not law the stuff, contraband or otherwise, contains the same powerful kick and the kick is what most drinkers are seeking. Where is the man who goes wild over near beer?

THE STEAM LINE.

An important element of speed is the shape of the body as well as the power in it.

Airplanes go fast not only because they have high motor power, but because they are so shaped as to minify the resistance of the air.

It is essential in creating a fast-moving automobile that the body should have a stream line.

An airplane the other day flew over 266 miles an hour. Fifteen years ago it was considered an exploit for anything to move fifty miles an hour.

The difference is not only in the amount of motive power a machine can carry, but the lines on which the machine is built.

You may be a humdinger, a teeth-gritter and a go-getter, and all that sort of thing; that is, you may have plenty of force and energy, but if you do not have the ability to get along with people you will not go far.

Politeness is necessary, and good nature, tact and appearance add to your stream line.

The ability to make friends and to get along with people is not to be despised. It has quite as much to do with your progress as the power you can summon forth.

Many a boy at school complains of his teacher and his tasks when the trouble is in him. He creates too much resistance.

Of course the stream line is not everything. It does you no good to be simply a good fellow unless you have some driving force within you.

But the stream line is something, and is something which, as an element to your progress, is often overlooked.

It pays not only to have the right force, but to create the least resistance in the exercise of that force.

President Wilson was a man of undoubted force, but he aroused too much opposition for one reason or another.

Of course all kinds of force create opposition, and one can not have decided ideas about anything without being doubted and disputed.

But there is a way to go at things, and the ability to please men is not to be despised.

All of us want to get on, and we should remember that the stream line body has quite as much to do with our ability to make rapid progress as driving force.

A BLOODY RECORD.

For the first three months of the year 1925, the city of Chicago reported a greater number of murders than had taken place in the same time in any American city since Columbus discovered a new world.

There were more killings in Chicago in the first quarter of the year than have taken place in the entire republic of Mexico since Obregon founded a stable government.

There is more crime in Chicago in a single year than in the republic of Mexico and there are more criminals in Chicago than can be found under the aztec flag.

Why point the finger of scorn at Mexico? Mexicans may be illiterate and poverty stricken but the vast majority of the poor devils are law abiding.

AN ERA OF PROSPERITY.

William H. Woodin of New York is the president of the American Car and Foundry company. He predicts the United States will look forward to an era of remarkable prosperity, but he says that the farmer is the one great factor in the prosperity of the country. Rural population of the United States is 48 per cent of the total. Farm products amount to $24,000,000,000 yearly at a producing cost of $12,000,000,000. Why isn't the farmer rich?

Uncommon Sense

Worth Trying.

This is for young men and young women who are standing at the edge of life, and wondering what it is all about.

From their experience and their reading, they know that many of the deserving are called failures in their old age; that many of the undeserving are called successes.

They know, if they have been at all observant, that chances are often unequal, that misfortunes are as likely to fall upon the unjust as on the just.

They know, too, that the most enlightened races are but half civilized, that selfishness, the greatest single force that is holding back progress, is still prevalent.

And they wonder often whether it is worth the effort to try to make the most of themselves, to try to win the prizes which seem so difficult to win, and whose quest is beset with so many chances.

Well, if the effort is not put forth, what will happen?

Stagnation first, poverty afterward, misery at the last.

Life is as hard, even harder for those who do not try, as for those who do.

The mere labor necessary to earning a daily living is extremely arduous to one who does not in the beginning take the trouble to learn how to earn a living.

Try long hours of common, unskilled labor for a few years, as the present writer has done.

There is nothing pleasant or easy about that. At night you will be so physically weary that you will have no ambition to do more than eat dinner and go to bed.

The alarm clock will anger you in the morning with its summons to leave the most delightful minutes of your day, those drowsy half dreaming times that come just after awakening.

And through the day, as you toil at work that is getting you nowhere, you will see those about you getting ahead, their work constantly becoming more interesting and less difficult physically, and the pay that brings them the things that make for happiness.

A few years of that will teach you as nothing else can that the seeming difficulty of preparing yourself for some real and highly useful place in life is well worth undergoing.

And a few years of some higher kind of occupation if you are well prepared for it, will teach you that there is some work that is its own reward, even if it does not lead on to fortune.

That kind of work does not necessarily mean work that is wholly mental.

The skilled artisan enjoys his work, because he uses his brains as well as his hands—the greater the skill the greater the proportion of mental effort enters into the task.

The brick layer is well paid, and his work is interesting. The man who brings him the mortar is a mere machine and not nearly such an efficient one as the mechanical devices which will soon take his job away from him altogether.

It is worth the while to learn to lay bricks, or build houses, or paint pictures or plan bridges. And the work entailed will not be nearly so hard as the work you would have to do if your mind had never been train

What Today Means To You

ARIES.

The planetary aspects today are not so definite as they were yesterday, but they are benign and favorable. It may not be an ideal opportunity for the launching of any new enterprise or undertaking, but the conditions will help to materialize efforts made by you to develop any plan on which you have already embarked. They will serve to encourage a course of continuity, and will create an atmosphere free from doubt and uncertainty. The effect upon the natural emotions will be clearly shown, and a feeling of responsiveness will be engendered that augurs well for both engagements and marriages.

A child born today will be subject to the ordinary vicissitudes of infancy, but these ailments need cause no alarm, provided the child be properly nutured and watched. Its disposition will not be very attractive, as it will be rather callous and inconsiderate of others. Its character, whilst not repellant, will be more selfish than generous, and it will never lose sight of or be prepared to sacrifice, its own individual interests. It will in all probability, enjoy a large measure of material success, as, once it starts out to accomplish anything, nothing will stop it until the goal is attained.

If today is your birthday, your motives are altruistic, although your actions do not often deserve this classification. The impulses that animate you are very good, but they are rarely expressed in action, as you apparently lack the courage or conviction to do what your better nature teaches you. You are impatient and argumentative. You are, never satisfied unless you have the last word, and will often take up the cudgels for something or some cause with which you do not agree, in order to start a discussion. You have many friends, and could have many more but for this obvious failing.

You are full of energy and very sure of yourself, and are always convinced your way is not only the right but the only way. In your love affairs, you are impetuous and hasty, and have more than once had cause to regret your lack of deliberation.

Irrigation

The Direction of the Rows.

One of the most important things in irrigating a farm is to have the rows run in the proper direction.

Wherever a steep slope is encountered there is always the temptation for the inexperienced man to run his rows at an angle to the main slope rather than straight down as he should.

He naturally figures that if he runs them at an angle the water will not flow so fast and will have a better chance to soak into the ground and will be less likely to wash the soil.

The trouble with running rows at an angle is that there is always a tendency for the row to break into the one below. A low place between ditches or corrugations will let the water pass from one row into another below. The irrigator may step, and often does step on dry ground between ditches rather than into the ditches. This will create a low place necessary to start a double flow. The ditch carrying this double flow is sure to break before it has gone far and then the whole amount of water is gathered in one body and starts cutting a gully, which means a field ruined for irrigating.

Running water straight down the slope introduces complications also. The water tends to run too fast and cause cutting. This, however, is remedied by limiting the size of the stream. A small stream flows much slower than a larger one.

Rows running straight down the slope makes the rows spread apart on the hill or come together in the depression. This is easily handled by the skilled irrigator and simply means a little more shovel work on his part with some ingenuity in placing small dams.

HOW IT STARTED

Your Bank.

For the remotest origin of banking we must go back to the days of antiquity. But vast changes in its nature and scope have taken place from the day of the ancient banker who was a mere custodian of money and a buyer and seller of foreign exchange to the modern banker who is a financier and a dealer in credit.

The oldest survival of a banking transaction was unearthed recently by explorers in Assyria. This is a bill of exchange issued a thousand years before Christ. Then several hundred years before Christ we have "Argentarii" or "dealers in money" of Greece and Rome. It was Justinian in Rome that the banking business flourished and developed to a scope that was not reached again for centuries to come. A comparatively large use of credit was involved and a whole series of laws delating to it were created.

During the middle ages, however, the insecerity of property reduced banking again to mere money changing until the establishment in Venice, in 1587, of the Banco di Rialto, which received deposits subject upon order, in which we have the real beginning of modern banking.

Gradually, through this and other banks, which were springing up throughout Europe, came the various features which constitute modern banking as we know it today. Only July 27, 1694, came the incorporation of the Bank of England around which ever since have centered the finances of Great Britain and which furnished an example for the First Bank of the United States, which was chartered by one of the earliest acts under the federal constitution on February 25, 1791. This put a stop to the more or less unregulated issuance of notes by small colonial bankers and created a unified banking system in the United Sta

THE REST CURE

When my nerves give way with a snap,
And I lost all my pep and my zest,
An eminent specialist chap
Informed me I needed a rest.
"Get away from all business and worry," said he,
With a chilly professional smile,
"Go down to some desolate spot by the sea
Or out to the country a while."

So I went to a lonely and drear
And sand bordered place by the shore,
With nothing whatever to hear
But the ocean's monotonous roar,
And nothing to see but a far stretching beach,
Till one day, in a fit of alarm
I uttered a piercing and terrified screech—
And fled to a countryside farm.

On the farm I regarded the cows
Incessantly switching their tails,
And meanwhile remaining to browse
On the grass on the hillsides and vales;
And when I'd attentively watched them a week,
I arose with my nerves all a-throb,
Emitted a horrible blood-curdling shriek
And took myself back to my job.

In a month I was peaceful and soothed,
No more was I worried and fussed,
The knots in my nerves had been smoothed—
And I slept the sweet sleep of the just.
Now life seems no trouble at all to endure,
Once more at my cares I can smile,
But I'm sure I'd have had a far speedier cure
If I'd stuck to my job all the while.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

A CONSOLATION FOR EVERY "OLD MAID" WHO MOURNS HER LONELINESS AND LONGS FOR COMPANIONSHIP

A woman writes me:

"I am an old maid of forty. I am a successful business woman. I make plenty of money. I have a pretty little apartment, but when I go 'home' in the evening I go to empty rooms, knowing that no one cares whether I return or not.

"Other women, less worthy than I, have love, companionship and real homes. What is my life of loneliness worth?"

Every life is worth just what we make of it. If we put into it courage, and cheerfulness, and humor, and helpfulness to others, it is worthwhile. If we put into it vain repining at our lots and fill it with morbid self-pity, it is not worth living.

Happiness is virtually a matter of self-determination. Like the pampered princess, we can find the crumpled rose leaf under our forty mattresses of ease if we search diligently enough. Or, if we have the sporting spirit that laughs at hardships, we can lay us down on a bed of stones and dream gay dreams.

There are no ideal conditions of existence. Fate hands out wallops and bouquets to us all, and our happiness depends on the skill with which we dodge the blows and grab the good things that come our way. And it is safe to say that the woman who is a lonely and discontented old maid would be a peevish and discontented wife.

The woman who does not marry is always perfectly certain in her own mind that she would have made the one perfect match in the world and achieved a home that would have been an earthly paradise. In her despairing vision of what she has missed, she always sees a vine-wreathed cottage filled with every luxury, with its serenity never disturbed by the bill collector pounding on the door. To this abode of peace and beauty comes a paragon of a man, who brings sunshine and joy, and strength and comfort to it.

To his wife he is the perpetual lover, whose tenderness never wanes. He is a companion of whose society she never tires. He is a chum who is equally ready to sit by the fire and hold her hand and tell her how wonderful and beautiful she is, or to put on his stepping-out clothes and take her to some place of amusement. And about the knees of this perfectly mated pair circle infant paragons, who are always clean, and good, and cuddly, and who behave just as children do in books and on the stage, and as they never do in real life.

It never occurs to the old maid, who feels that life has cheated her because it did not give her a husband, to contrast her lot with that of the woman who is married to a drunkard, and who spends her nights waiting for the return of a sodden creature that drink has turned into a repulsive animal. Or with the lot of the poor woman who must live in squalid quarters with over many children fighting and quarreling under her feet, who must wash and iron, and sew, and cook, working beyond her strength until she is ready to drop with fatigue, and who hears the wolf continually at the door.

Nor does she contrast her lot with that of the woman whose husband is surly and ill-natured, who takes all of his wife's labor and sacrifices with never a word of appreciation, but just a growl because things were not better done. Nor does she contrast her lot with that of the woman who is married to a stingy man, who never gives her a penny of her own to spend as she pleases, the wife to whom the first of every month, when the bills come in, is a day of wrath when her husband raves like a madman over everything the family has eaten and worn, and abuses his wife because she could not run her household on air.

The old maid never realizes that she might have got Blue Beard instead of Prince Charming for a husband if she had married, yet the odds are that she would have done so, since Prince Charmings are few and Blue Beards are plentiful.

There are many married women who would tell an old maid with a good job and a good home and a good bank account that she doesn't know when she is well off. They would tell her that they would think themselves lucky if they had a boss who had to treat them with politeness and consideration, and speak to them civilly instead of husbands who felt that they were nothing but mere wives.

They would tell her that the woman who has her own money, instead of having to wheedle and cajole every dollar she gets out of her husband, is blessed among her sex.

And as for loneliness, they would tell her that no woman in the world is lonelier than the wife whose husband sits up like a dummy and doesn't even speak when he is spoken to of an evening, or whose husband puts on his hat directly after dinner and fares forth alone. For the old maid can at least go out and hunt up amusement for herself, with nobody to raise an objection, while the wife must stay put or else have ructions with her husband and cause scandal in the neighborhood.

Undoubtedly, the woman who makes an ideal match, who marries a man who is a good provider and a good, kind and sympathetic husband, has the preferred lot in life, and the old maid may well envy her; but such a marriage is an exception, and not the rule. And for a woman to feel that her life is a failure because she hasn't got one of the common, or garden variety of husbands shows that she has taken only a very casual glance at the domestic existence of her friends, or else that she has a talent for borrowing trouble.

Marriage is always a gamble for women, and whether it is worth the risk nobody knows. Anyway the old maid has this consolation, that if she misses the supreme happiness of getting a good husband she is saved from the utter misery of having a bad one.

SOCIETY

MISS SMITH HOSESS TO CAMP FIRE GUARDIANS.

Miss Nell Smith was hostess Tuesday evening to the Camp Fire Guardians association and those who attended the Camp Fire training course with a party honoring Miss Glenore Fisk who leaves Sunday for a several weeks' trip to Chicago.

All of the girls came dressed as old maids. They brought with them a picture of their first lover and had to tell about the affair, when it started, how long it lasted and how it ended. Following this feature games and contests were played.

At the close of the party Miss Fisk was presented with lovely gifts from the Wagitt and the Idaka groups of the Camp Fire and the Guardians association. She made a short speech of thanks and appreciation for the kindness they had shown her. Refreshments were served to about 40 members.

PEPPY MOORE CLASS TAKE MONDAY HIKE.

The Peppy Moore D. Y. T. U. class of the First Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon and hiked to Haven park. Those present were Misses Charlotte Joiner, Mary Wite, Mary Clare Burton, Beatrice Sirt, Berneice Trevathan and Norma Tittle, James Bridgett, Fred C. Herron Jr., Jack Tate Stanfield, Miss Maybelle Moore sponsor and Mrs. George Patterson, leader.

IDAKA CAMP FIRE HONORS GLENORE FISK.

What Would We Do Without Them?

Editor's note: This is one of a series of short articles published daily in The Record News seeking to present folks of Wichita Falls who are as important in their sphere as the biggest business man, or the richest banker is essential to the welfare and progress of any community.

AN AVERAGE of sixteen heads a day pass under the nimble fingers of Mrs. Theresia Shay, marcel operator, and emerge beautified—that is in a regular day. Sometimes, when occasion demands, the artist works overtime transforming straight locks into beautifully waved coiffures. Practically every well groomed girl and woman in the city indulges in frequent marcels as a matter of necessity.

Theresia works swiftly and skillfully, drawing the slender irons from the glowing electric coil at just the right time. Then with quick turns of her wrist, she passes down a strand of hair leaving rippling waves in her wake. Theresia learned her art abroad under the foreign masters, and deplores the popularity of the vogue mercialism. Speed, she says, more than beauty of work is the demand of the daily rush of customers.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

HOME MADE ZWIEBACK

One cake yeast, one-half cup milk, scalded and cooled, two tablespoons sugar, two eggs, one-quarter cup lard or butter, melted, two and three-quarters cups sifted flour, one-half teaspoon salt.

Dissolve yeast and sugar in tepid milk. Add three-quarters cup of flour and mix well. Cover and set aside in a warm place to rise for an hour. Add lard or butter, eggs previously beaten, about two cups of flour, and salt. Knead, shape into two rolls one and one-half inches thick and 15 inches long. Protect from draft and let rise until light. Bake about a quarter of an hour in a hot oven. When cool cut diagonally into one-half inch slices. Place on baking sheet and brown in a moderate oven.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Boiled Artichokes—Select the greenest, and provide one for each serving. Soak in cold salt water for 10 minutes. Drain and cook slowly in boiling salt water in covered kettle until you can pierce the stem end with a fork easily. This takes about 25 minutes. Serve on salad plate with a little dish of butter on each plate.

Southern Buttermilk Biscuits—Two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, four melted teaspoons shortening, one cup buttermilk. Sift dry ingredients together into a large bowl. Make a hole in center and pour melted shortening, add buttermilk and mix into soft dough. Sour milk will do nearly as well, if you have no butter milk. Now, instear of turning onto a floured baking board and rolling, simply cut off even pieces of the dough and drop into muffin tins. This saves handling and makes the biscuit lighter. Bake in a hot oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Grapefruit and Ripe Olive Salad—Place beds of shredded iceberg lettuce on glass salad plates. On these lay sections of grapefruit with the membrane carefully removed. Put mayonnaise dressing in center and sprinkle over this the ripe olives, pitted and quartered.

Lemon Pudding—This is nothing but the ordinary lemon pie filling baked in ramekins instead of in a pie crust, and topped with meringue when cool. This can be done with any pie ifilling, such as custard, cocoanut or chocolate.

SUGGESTIONS.

Do you know what a bathroom basket is? It's not a fixture for general use but a little private possession very useful in places like boarding houses.

A bachelor girl who perhaps originated the notion got very tired of trying to carry a handful of damp, washing things about with her, including private soap and bath salts. So she raked out a little basket, shallow but strong and made of colored rush, and now she pops all her paraphernalia into that and saves herself a lot of trouble.

When peeling onions place a piece of bread on the end of your paring knife and your eyes will not smart so much.

If a strip of carpet is tacked to the bread board and sprinkled with bath brick, a good polish may be given to the knives without scratching them.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Quicksilver have returned to their home in Brackenridge after attending the wedding of Mr. Quicksilver's brother, Mr. Sam Quicksilver who was married to Miss Elsie Cohen Sunday evening. Mrs. Quicksilver was a matron of honor in the wedding.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 431 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend.'"

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

Another world war, possibly within ten years, with United States and Great Britain as allies against Germany, Japan and other nations, was predicted recently by Sir Charles Higham, British advertising expert, in o speech in New York.

The way to prevent "this next great war," in the opinion of Sir Charles, or at least the way to defer the date on which it may occur, is for the two English speaking nations to build up their air defenses to show warlike nations that they "are not going to have any nonsense about it."

He declared that "in the minds of those who made public opinion" in Germany, Japan, Russia and China a plan has been formed "for the yellow races to make an aerial attack on the Panama canal and California and land in Mexico after having got rid of the United States defenses."

Simultaneously, he said, Germany will attack France. Canada and Australia will have all they can do to look after themselves, and England will be handicapped in going to France's aid.

"It may be the last war, but you can't tell that," he said. "It will contain less than 20 years and most likely in ten. The reason there will be another war is manifold. The Japanese want power and great dominions. The Germans have had the same idea instilled in them for generations. The United States' prosperity and unlimited resources for wealth make her a tempting morsel for the warlike nations of the world. She is really a more tempting country to capture than any other on the face of the map. Her very isolation makes her danger greater because she is not likely to concern herself about it, as those who do are nearer to the warlike nations of the world. She has really only one great ally and friend—the British empire. My country and yours are the only two nations in the world which, in my judgment, are not aggressively keen on war. These two countries will never war against each other—of that I am absolutely certain."

Sees Us Weak in the Air.

As to the United States and Great Britain convincing other nations of their air power, Sir Charles said:

"They are in no condition to make that announcement today. Aerially the United States of America and the British Empire are very weak in comparison to France. The next war will be fought largely in the air, and if the United States and the British empire are ready to meet any aerial warfare that may occur, the other nations will hesitate before striking a blow."

Mrs. J. W. Sullivan of Denton has returned to her home after a several days visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Adams at 1625 Collins.

Mrs. Frank Creighton is in Fort Worth attending the convention of Woman's clubs. She is a delegate from the Athenian club.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff of any Constable of Wichita County: Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in May, A. D., 1925, the same being the fourth day of May, A. D., 1925. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 27th day of March, A. D., 1925 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 16794-B wherein, Marion Arnett and A. C. Arnett are plaintiffs and Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs are defendants and said petition alleging, that Marion Arnett is a man 41 years old and A. C. Arnett is a man 39 years old and that they are the only heirs of Thomas Arnett, now deceased and Lutisha Arnett, his first wife, and that their mother, Lutisha Arnett died on the 20th day of December, 1920, and that their father, Thomas Arnett, later married Dora Fowler and that a son was born to Thomas Arnett and Dora Fowler Arnett, his second wife, by the name of Raymond and no other children were born to them.

That their father, Thomas Arnett, and Dora Fowler Arnett separated in the year 1906 and were never divorced and that Dora Arnett took Raymond Arnett with her when she separated from Thomas Arnett and that at this time plaintiffs have made diligent search for Raymond Arnett and his mother, Dora Arnett, and have been unable to ascertain their whereabouts.

Lots 5 and 6 in block 28 of the Sibley-Taylor addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Wichita county, Texas.

Plaintiffs allege that they are the owners of the above described property but because of the facts set out above a cloud is on the title and they are unable to convey this property, and cannot give a clear title to same. Wherefore plaintiffs pray the court that Raymond Arnett and Dora Arnett and all unknown heirs be cited to appear and answer herein, and that plaintiffs have judgement removing cloud from the title and for title and possession of above described lands and premises and that each have an undivided one-half interest in and to the above described property and for costs of suit, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your returns thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 30th day of March, A. D., 1925.

(Seal) A. F. KERR, Clerk,
District Court Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

BUSINESS BREVITIES

NEW YORK, April 7.—Common stock of the American Light and Traction company was placed on a 7 per cent annual cash basis, with declaration of quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent payable May 1 to stock of record April 15. Previously the company paid 1 per cent cash and 1 per cent cash and 1 per cent in common stock quarterly. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on preferred also was declared.

An analysis completed by the Atlantic states shippers' advisory board indicates a slightly higher level of industrial production in the eastern Atlantic states for the second quarter of 1925, compared with the same period last year and adequate transportation to handle it. The trend of business was based on actual estimates of car requirements gathered from the industries which will be submitted to the board at its meeting in Philadelphia Thursday. The territory covered includes New York, New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and part of Virginia.

Reports from Chicago quoting W. H. Finley, president of the Chicago and Northwestern to the effect that the regular semi-annual $2 dividend would be authorized in May, brought reassaurance to the financial district. Speculation over the stability oc the dividend had depressed the stock to 49½, the lowest since January, 1924, in the face of poor February earnings, with net income of $341,000 against $1,323,329 in February, 1924. March, however, showed improvement over February and it is stated April returns would be altogether satisfactory.

There are no prospects of an increase in the dividend rate of the Studebaker corporation at present, A. R. Erskine, president, said today. The company expected to pay off bank loans by July 1. March sales were 14,293 cars against 13,398 a year ago. Sales in the first quarter exceeded those in the same period of 1924. Export sales, Mr. Erskine said, have increased from 50 to 100 per cent each month since last September. Two new directors, Paul G. Hoffman and F. W. Longfellow, were elected to fill vacancies.

"Jazz Girl" Says She Is Rational

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—A written account of an interview between Dorothy Ellingson, the 17-year year old matricide, and Dr. Joseph Catton, prosecution alienist, was introduced at the sanity trial today and continued a test intending to demonstrate that the girl understood all the proceedings and was capable of making a rational defense.

The statement signed by the girl, quoted her as saying she would rather face trial for murder because otherwise she "might have to be sent somewhere and have to stand it later—the quicker the better." The girl added that if necessary she would go into court and defend herself.

The former "jazz" girl, who killed her mother in a quarrel over late hours and wild parties, was quoted in the statement as declaring she "certainly knew" the difference between right and wrong and understood what it meant to take a human life.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 7.—Wilson W. Culp, 37, former Spring Valley, Ohio minister, father of 10 children and one of the principals in two elopements in the past two years, is forgiven and is back home again.

After eloping last February with Mrs. Cleo Culp, his sister-in-law, of Nappanee, Ind., he returned Sunday night and was hidden in his home here by his wife, until late yesterday and when she obtained the promise of officials that he would not be arrested. Interviewers last night found Culp paring potatoes for the evening meal, but he would not say anything, being content to let Mrs. Culp do the talking. He will look for a new job tomorrow, Mrs. Culp said.

W. E. Miller, local probation officer, said Culp would not be prosecuted if he went to work and supported his wife and children. Some time ago Rev. GETTING WELL; ENDS LIFE

Broker Shoots in Belief He Would Never Regain Health

EAST ORANGE, N. J., April 7.—Although recovering from influenza, John A. Elliot, 47, a ship broker, committed suicide in his home here today because he believed he would never regain his health.

A few minutes before he asked his wife if she would marry again if he died. She replied she would not and left the room. Elliot then wrote a note saying he was discouraged about his health, and shot himself in the heart.

BILL TO PRESERVE CHARTER

Measure Would Provide $3,500 for Proper Equipment and Fittings

HARRISBURG, April 7.—A bill granting $3,500 to the state library for the purchase of "equipment and fittings for the preservation and safekeeping of the several charters of the commonwealth," was presented in the senate today by Senator Flora M. Vare.

Senator Vare said that this money would provide a fitting receptacle for the William Penn Charter of Liberties, turned over to the state by the Public Ledger.

PENNY IN THROAT 5 YEARS

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 7.—Fred Bedes, a salesman living at the Hotel Wittman, was discharged from the Alexian Brothers' hospital today after having had removed from his throat a one-cent piece lodged there for five years.

Bedes had been unaware of the presence of the coin until an X-ray disclosed its presence last night.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 7. — Stock prices opened strong today with the general list moving upward under the leadership of the motor and oil shares, turned reactionary around noon when weakness cropped out in the northwestern rails and steadied again towards the close when bullish operations in the motors were resumed. Final quotations were mixed but mostly lower, the recessions in the active issues ranging from fractions to 4 points.

Selling pressure against the northwestern rails centered on Chicago and Northwestern, which was hammered down more than 5 points to a new 1925 low record at 49½ on rumors, later officially denied, that the $4 dividend was in danger. The stock rallied feebly at the close on a statement by President Finley that March showed a considerable gain over February and that April returns were proving satisfactory.

Net losses of 1 to 2 points were recorded by Great Northern preferred, Union Pacific, Lackawanna and Delaware and Hudson. Norfolk and Western showed independent strength, closing 2⅝ points higher at 130, after selling nearly a point above that figure.

Trading was largely professional in character, the day's sales again approximating one and one-quarter million shares. With the short interests materially reduced by the brisk rally in the closing days of last week bear traders taking advantage of today's reduction in refined sugar and eastern gasoline prices, sold stocks freely to test the market's position. Although they succeeded in bringing about substantial recessions in a number of hte popular issues, they failed to dislodge much long stock.

Most of the pivotal industrials lost ground. United States Steel common showed a net loss of ¾ at 114¾. The recent decline in this issue which carried it from a high of 129⅝ on January 23 to a low of 112⅝ on March 30 was explained by the statement of Chairman Gary, issued after the markets' close, that there has been a sharper reduction in bookings during March. April tonnage to date has shown some improvement, he said. Baldwin which sold as high as 115⅜ in the early trading was hammered down to 112⅝ and then rallied to 113⅝, off 1⅝. American Can closed a point lower at 165½.

Maxwell Motors "A" and "B" touched new high records for the year at 95⅝ and 64½, respectively. Nash Motors duplicated its record high at 340 and Packard touched a new top at 22⅝. Call money held steady at 4 per cent all day. Time money rates relaxed slightly all maturities being on practically a 4 per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Demand sterling ruled slightly lower around $4.78⅛. French francs held relatively steady around 5.16 cents. Local bankers confirmed reports that little use has been made of the $100,000,000 credit recently granted to France by J. P. Morgan and company. Norwegian kroner responded to the announcement of new financing for the city of Oslo by touching a new high record at 16.00 cents.

Rev. Williams was named for the democratic presidential candidate in 1876 who received a plurality 250-935 votes over Rutherford B. Hayes, the republican candidate, but was not seated. The vote of the electoral college was 185 for Hayes and 184 for Tilden.

Mr. Williams met with the senior and junior boards of Floral Heights church last night and talked over plans for the coming meeting. The Hogg Party was organized in El Paso last October.

Dr. Hogg and Mr. Williams were both pastors in El Paso. Jeff Wall of Cooksville, Tenn., is singer for the party. The Hogg Party closed a successful meeting in Stamford Sunday night. The Wichita Falls meeting is the tenth campaign since the organization last October.

Rev. Hogg is spending a day or so with his family in Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Williams in speaking of the meeting yesterday, said:

"Our trouble so far has been room enough to accomodate the people that attend our meetings."

The Wichita Falls meeting will last through April 26th. The party will go from Wichita Falls to Amarillo.

Both Henderson Tests Pass Chalk

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 7.—The second and last Henderson county wildcat on the Balconnes fault in east central Texas went out of Austin chalk, and at present there is nothing to condemn the district for a new Woodbine sand pool there.

Cranfill, Springer No. 1, J. Gardner survey, which topped the chalk at 2,570 feet, went out of that formation at 2,750 feet and was last reported coring in shale at 2,879 feet. It took a full thickness of chalk, 480 feet, and will probably find the Woodbine sand in two days, below 3,100 feet.

Bob Penn, Murphy No. 1, Gardner survey, but 1,600 feet west of Cranfill's well, was 3,019 feet and drilling. Its chalk record was 2,723 to 2,758 feet.

Five miles north, Murchison and Fain, Duff No. 1, YBARBO survey, Kaufman survey, Kaufman county, was shut down at 2,904 feet in chalk; reason not given.

In eastern Navarro county, Gulf and Kirby No. 1 Green, Simonton survey, nine miles north of Kerens in Bazette district, had top of hard chalk at 2,182 feet, and were last reported drilling in chalk below 2,300 feet.

Simms No. 1, Smith-Autry survey, midway between the Richland and Powell pools, had the top of the chalk at 2,184 feet and was drilling at last reports, but no depth available.

New Railroad Almost Assured for Dimmitt

DIMMITT, April 7.—A new railroad line from Dimmitt to Plainview in Castro county was practically assured here this afternoon when citizens of this place held a spirited mass meeting to subscribe a total of $25,000, half of the amount necessary to secure the new line.

The new road will be built by the Santa Fe who made the offer on the condition that right-of-way would be guaranteed and a total of $50,000 be raised for the construction of a part of the fifty mile line.

The offer was made to the Dimmitt chamber of commerce here this morning through a committee from the Plainview chamber of commerce. The offer was immediately accepted, and the land for the right-of-way donated. The mass meeting followed, in which several committees were appointed to canvass the county Wednesday in an effort to raise the other $25,000.

Little trouble is expected in raising the required sum as the need for a railroad has long been felt in this community. Castro county is devoted principally to agriculture and much freightage is assured the Santa Fe.

SHERIFF DENIES CHARGE

Freestone Official Says He Did Not Bother Limestone Officers

FAIRFIELD, Texas, April 7.—Sheriff Terry of Freestone county today denied the reports that members of his department interfered with federal and Limestone county officers during a raid on a hotel in Wortham Friday night.

Sheriff Terry said that there was no trouble between federal officers and Freestone officers at the time and there is not now and never has been anything but the best of relations between them. The sheriff admitted that one Freestone county officer disarmed an officer from another county but not for the purpose of aiding anyone to escape, but for his own protection.

The sheriff said that a quantity of liquor was taken in the raid and that one arrest was made.

Forrest Fails To Make Bond; Returns to Jail

Walters Man Forced To Rejoin Wife in the County Jail.

WALTERS, Okla., April 7.—Failing to make his $15,000 bond allowed him in the court of criminal appeals last week, A. B. Forrest will remain in the county jail here until May 4, the date set for the joint trial of he and his wife for murder of their 19-year-old son-in-law, George Hicks, February 4.

The date for the trial was set here today by District Judge A. S. Wells, and represents the last of the long line of preliminaries through which the couple have gone in the past month and a half.

Following the grand jury investigation in February, in which it could not be determined which of the two fired the fatal shot and both husband and wife were indicted, the couple wede denied bond by the county judge, and remanded to jail. The case was carried to the court of Judge Wells, who also denied them bond.

Defense attorneys carried the case still higher to the court of criminal appeals last week. Bond was denied Mrs. Forrest, but was set at $15,000 for her husband. He failed to raise the amount, however, and was sent back to the Cotton county jail.

The plan provides that, instead of penalizing German exporters individually England's 26 per cent share under the recovery act shall be paid out of a lump sum deposited in Germany. The plan has been approved by the agent general for reparations S. Parker Gilbert, and the transfer committee set up under the Dawes plan.

Spudders Mop Up On Tulsa

OILERS JUST NOT IN CLASS WITH SPUDS

Kane Calls Game After Six Innings of Pounding By Homelings.

GANG GRABS TILT 9-5

Victory Makes Seventh In Row Over Western Teams.

By BLONDY CROSS,

Umpire Kane stopped Tuesday's Tulsa-Spudder affair in the sixth inning right after the Oilers finished swinging. Most of the fistfull of fans present were given the impression that the game was called because lowering rain clouds had ganged up in the west and were thwarting the best efforts of old Sol who was striving hard to crack loose with a smile, thereby throwing the Spud orchard under an atmosphere as that of a Sixteenth Century dungeon. That had nothing to do with it. It was getting pretty dark, and all that, but Harry's real reason was a sudden feeling of compassion for the Western leaguers.

The Spudders had won exactly six straight over Western loop clubs including the 12 to 3 slaughter registered over the Oilers Monday. They had been waxing rougher and rougher as yesterday's tilt wore along. They had punched Slim Payne, Tulsa right hander, for a quartet of nasty wallops and three tabulations in the fifth, and were leading the fest by a 9 to 5 score when the teams entered the sixth frame. Although poking Lefty Brown's offering twice in the inning, the Oilers couldn't get around the runways as far as home plate, so Kane decided to save the Oilers, scorekeepers, and fans from any further punishment.

Al Compliments Harry.

"That's one time Harry Kane called 'em right," grinned Al Parker, a split second after the umps bawled "game called!"

The Spudders, as usual, were complete masters of the situation. Tulsa broke away for three runs in the first inning. Didn't worry anybody, however, for the Tanner cast had not come to bat yet. Just to keep the contest interesting the crew tied it up before the inning was over. Lefty toyed with the Oilers in the second. Three faced him. One struck out; the other two aviated to Fitzgerald and Callaghan. Fitz's putout was of the dazzling kind of fielding performances that in any other city would drive the railbirds into a frenzy. But Wichita Falls is used to that sort of stuff. The prancing Spud outer gardner tore back and pulled down with no little show of grace a hefty drive by Tyrrell that traveled far over the fielder's head, and seemed at least good enough for a double or triple. But you got to hit 'em out of the park to keep Fitz from crabbing the act.

Tulsa was quite fortunate in the third. The Oilers got to Lefty Lloyd for a trio of safeties, two of which were down right freaks, and scored twice. Spudders just kind of teasing the visitors along, popped across the pan for two, also, knotting the count at five-all.

Lefty Lloyd whiffed a pair in the fourth, and the other one lined out to Al White. Spuds counted once in the round, and then came back for three in the fifth. Tulsa had scored its limit.

The wind blew pretty hard yesterday. Judgement of fly balls was very difficult. Fact is, the Spudders miscalculated on several popups that ordinarily would have been snap putouts. But the blows went for safe hits against Lefty's training camp record, all of which, of course, doesn't worry our southpaw prodigy in the least.

Poor Old Center Boards.

The Spudders opening counters came largely as a result of two bases on balls, a double plunk against the center field boards by the heroic Mr. Bodie, and a sharp single to center by little Freddy Dorman. White snatched two bases on a Texas leaguer in the third with a couple of runners on the paths by virtue of four-balls donations. The two walkees scored. Bodie singled to port in the fourth to tabulate Distel who had walked and absconded with the keystone. White and Roche duplicated two-cushion swats down the third base line in the fifth. Callaghan busted the midfield boards for a triple. Distel singled a few feet to right of second. Result: Spuds counted a trio that round.

Gang looked mighty sweet out there yesterday on the paths. Tulsa is touted to make a strong bid for the wild and wooly western title this year, but the Tanner cast looked so much better that the average uninterested bystander would imagine the Spuds were a big league club hooking with a class C outfit if he judged solely by the performances yesterday and Monday.

By the way, that win makes it seven straight over the Western leaguers. Denver beat the Budmen in the first, but dropped the next two. Oklahoma City ate dirt in three, and the Oilers have wallowed in the mire twice.

Well that's all for this morning. Got to get out and celebrate Shep's election as mayor. Lots of sody pop, limeades, and other such exhiliating drinks going to be drunk up.

How National League Race Will Wind Up

Brown Strings With Giants—Rates Cubs Second—Says Vance Can't Carry Dodgers

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written Especially for The Record News.

'Tis spring.

Nature sings.

The little birds are building or have built their nests.

The crocuses, yellow jessamine, pussy willow and cactus plants are bursting into bloom.

I'm too joyful. Gotta have trouble.

So I'm going to choose the pennant winners in both leagues and call the turn on where the other clubs will finish.

Here's the way the National league race should wind up, and the way the teams finished last year.

Due to finish:	Finished last year:
New York	New York
Chicago	Brooklyn
Pittsburg	Pittsburg
St. Louis	Cincinnati
Brooklyn	Chicago
Boston	St. Louis
Cincinnati	Philadelphia
Philadelphia	Boston

The Giants First.

I announced from the Sarasota, Fla., training camp of the Giants that McGraw's team, too good for the league last season, was better prepared for the coming season. The team has more reserve strength. The pitching staff looks better and the success of the outfield-first base shift, involving George Kelly and Bill Terry, not only assures and fortifies McGraw against accidents in either place but gives him greater batting strength against different kinds of pitching.

The Cubs Second.

I think the Chicago Cubs got the better of the deal with the Pirates in which second baseman Grantham, first baseman Neihaus and pitcher Vic Aldrich went to Pittsburg for Maranville, pitcher Cooper and first baseman, for a young first sacker, a away a pitcher who won 20 games last season, the mainspring of their infield combination and a good first baseman, for a woung first sacker, a pitcher whose worth cannot be estimated, and a general utility man.

The injury to Maranville is a blow but I think the Cubs can get going without him. They have one of the best pitching staffs in be big leagues.

The Pirates Third.

Consider this: The Pirates have lacked the necessary punch to oust the Giants in every one of four campaigns. They have three youngsters, Hazen Cuyler, Eddie Moore and Glenn Wright, who are real stars and popular idols. The team lacks the pitching, however, unless the unexpected happens.

The Cardinals Fourth.

As long as Rogers Hornsby is in his prime any ball club on which he plays will be a first division ball club, with any break in luck. Last year the Cardinals didn't have that luck. The team can hit. If Rickey's veterans deliver one more year and the jinx leaves his team alone his team will land fourth.

The Dodgers Fifth.

The same might be said regarding "Dazzy" Vance that has been said of Hornsby. However, at the writing the Dodgers are far from organized. Robinson is depending upon a weak-armed infielder in Andy High. He's taking another chance on Jack Fournier at first. He's banking on old Jimmy Johnston to play any old role again. And Jim is going to get too old some day. Robbie left the training camp with his pitching staff consisting of Vance. Grimes reported late and will be slow rounding into form. Rube Ehrhardt, youngster, is the only other sure fire slabman.

The Braves Sixth.

The Boston Braves are going to surprise the other seven clubs. Mark what I tell you. Give Bancroft credit. That fellow has left the critics laugh and gone quietly about his work. I pick him to move up to sixth place. What would you say if he finished fourth?

Cincinnati Seventh.

Cincinnati is not a well organized ball club. It lacks a big league first baseman. The same pitchers who were doped to win the pennant two years ago and who fizzled again last season, are counted on to "come through" this year. There is no reason to figure they will change their spots. The one hope of the team is Jimmy Caveney, reformed shortstop.

And the Phils.

Ray Holds Pups Hitless in Five Innings of Play

Coyotes Beat Junior High Team By 2 to 0 Score.

Perk Ray, Coyote slab artist, tossed the first local no-hit no-run game of the season Tuesday over the fast going Junior High Coyote Pups. The final score was 2 to 0. But the game was only five innings.

Parker, Pups ace, allowed but one lone hit, a double by Johnnie McMahon in the third inning.

The Coyotes' two tallies were unearned. Ray fouled to Horton, Francis and Hicks were passed. A passed ball by Horton advanced both runners. Harvey walked, filling the bases. Neel attempted to bunt and popped to Taylor, The Pups' first sacker attempted to get Hicks at second ad threw wild. Fracis scored and Hicks followed him over the pan a moment later when Nichols let the peg from Glidewell get by him. Lesley fanned to end the frame.

Horton and Hicks staged a merry battle for catching honors, both boys were doing exceptionally well behind the platter. Lesley and Taylor also starred at first for the two teams.

Parker was the strikeout king as he has showed in all his games thus far this season, he whiffed eight Coyote batsmen.

Buffs Get Fielder In "Ten-year Man"

HOUSTON, April 7. — Another seasoned outfielder was added to the Houston baseball forces this morning, when Ray Powell, a Boston Brave of last year, signed a local contract. Two hours later Powell was uniforming at the club house preparatory for his first practice with the berd.

Powell was a free agent when he contracted to play for Houston. Having been in the majors for a decade, he was known as a "ten-year man," which fact won him an outright release when the owners of the Braves decided not to use him this season. Had Powell been up for less than ten seasons Boston might have engineered a profitable trade or sale. He is a left handed hitter.

Hill Re-elected Head of Game And Fish Ass'n.

Organization Hopes to Get One of Two State Fish Hatcheries.

E. G. Hill, President of the North Texas Fish and Game Association, was re-elected Tuesday night in a meeting of members of the organization. Other officers for the 1925 term will be selected in a session to be called the last Tuesday in this month.

Wichita Falls is striving to locate one of the two new state fish hatcheries at one of the two big lakes here, Lakes Kemp and Wichita. The chances of success are very good, it was brought out at the meeting.

A number of large shipments of fish and game have been placed out in the vicinity of Wichita Falls. They are eight shipments of quail, two shipments of wild turkey, one shipment of pheasants, one shipment of Hungarian patridges. Three shipments of fish have also been placed in the two big lakes for future catching.

A patrol boat has been placed on Lake Kemp to watch for those breaking the state fish aand game laws.

Bambino Goes Into Delirium From The Flu

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Evening World says this afternoon that Babe Ruth, professional baseball's premier slugger, collapsed today in the railway station at Asheville, N. C., as the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Robins reached that city for another game of their exhibition series.

The newspaper's baseball correspondent, traveling with the teams, said that Ruth fainted and that he apparently was suffering from influenza. He has been ailing for the last few days on the strenuous barnstorming tour.

The Bambino was delirious on the train ride from Nashville to Asheville, the dispatch adds and quotes him as saying:

"I want to go back to New York. If Hug (Miller J. Huggins, the Yankees' manager) doesn't send me I'll hire an airplane."

UNABLE TO PLAY AT ASHEVILLE.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 7.—Illness today prevented Babe Ruth from playing in the exhibition game here between the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Robins.

Ruth suffered a slight nervous attack while leaving the train and Miller Huggins, the Yankee manager, said late today that he had been unconscious most of the afternoon. The manager termed his ailment a "bad case of the grippe," and added he would not be used in a game again for a week or ten days.

Ruth's trouble was described as a slight attack of influenza. When the Yankees arrived from Knoxville, Tenn., this morning he was forced to go immediately to his room at a hotel, but physicians gave assurance that his condition was not serious.

HUG SAYS CAN'T START SEASON.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 7.—Miller Huggins, the Yankee manager, predicted tonight that Ruth would not be in condition to play again for ten days or more. He recalled that the batting ace suffered an attack of influenza some time ago and his present case of grippe appears to be the not unusual "follow-up" on that illness.

His condition tonight was not regarded as critical and Huggins made plans to send him to New York tomorrow ahead of the team, unless physicians advised against the trip.

WHITTEMORE LEADS FIELD

PINTHURST, N. C., April 7.—Parker W. Whittemore of Boston today won the 36-hole qualifying round of the annual united north and south amateur golf tournament with a card of 76-68—144.

Hizzoner, The Mayor Hurls Opening Ball

Hizzoner, The Mayor, better known as R. E. Shepherd, will hurl the first ball pitched at the Spudder plant opening day, April 21, when the Spudders break away with Shreveport's so-called Sports (Sports is the name given the erstwhile Gassers by recent vote of Shreveport fandom).

We figured now would be the best time to notify the palpitating public of this great event. We couldn't have done it sooner, because Shep wasn't elected until last night.

Hizzoner urges all Wichita Falls folk whether they're sport fans or not to be sure and turn out opening day if for no other reason than that of pure old civic pride. As usual, President J. Doak Roberts, Texas league boss, will award a magnificent shield or something or other to the city which wins the opening day attendance. Hizzoner, being a 100 per cent Wichita Falls citizen, and leader of the pack wants to see the burg that Hubert Harrison Faith built cop the attendance prize this year.

Their season at Miami will run from December 1 to April 1 and the contracts run for two years.

Announcement of the engagement was made here by Diegel today before he left for New York to take up his duties at the Glen Oak club, Great Neck, Long Island, where he will be through this summer.

SAN ANTONIO MEN VOTE IN FAVOR OF GAME CONSERVATION

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—Game conservation and preservation of wild life received an unanimous boost from San Antonio sportsmen at a luncheon given in honor of Mark Riley, retiring superintendent of the United States fish hatcheries at San Marcos today. Turner Hubby, new state game, fish and oyster commissioner, was among the speakers. J. Frank Elder of Waco, state secretary and field organizer of the Isaac Walton League of America, spoke on the activities of that organization, which, he said, now has 51 chapters in Texas, to be represented at the state convention to be held at Brady June 15 and 16.

Speaker Expecting 240-Pounder To Come Through In Creditable Manner With Indian Mound Staff

Garland Buckeye, Ex-Marine, Largest Hurler In Major Loops—Has Both Slow And Fast One

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

One day early in the spring the sleeper from the north pulled into Lakeland, Fla. Fourteen bags, two hat boxes, five golf bags and a banjo case emerged ahead of Bimbo, the aisle Rassuli. Then off stepped Bimbo himself.

Came a pause—and then a man.

He squeesed through the door onto the platform, head drawn in and shoulders folded over his chest.

Twenty minutes later he registered at the hotel as "Mr. Garland Buckeye." Some Garland. He draped himself over two big leather chairs and waited for the world to move by.

His presence gave the Cleveland Indians the biggest pitcher in capticity. He weighed just 240 pounds when he lumbered onto the scales next day.

That poundage drew him attention—plenty of it. But not so much favorable comment. It takes a great ball player to lug 240 pounds around the big leagues. But when Garland got down to business the amusement ceased.

By the time he had appeared in two exhibition games Manager Speaker was revamping his rating of the young hurlers. Now this giant is figured in the list of pitchers who will be kept through the season.

Garland has a slow ball that is a "pip." He was using it the day I hit the Indian camp. Wise old Jack McAllister was working with him. Buckeye would get tired hooking over the slow one all the time and cut loose with a fast one. And man oh, man, what a fast ball he had!

Buckeye was one of the boys you were supposed to tell it to during the war—the Marines. Emerging from service he joined the ranks of the semi-pros around Chicago.

He will go into the big league campaign under 240. He has taken off at least 15 pounds of that. His form cannot be slender, however. And his legs!

They're worth the price of admission.

They reminded me of monolithic pillars, such as adorn the most pretentious banks.

But he can pitch. And that, after all, is the main requisite of a pitcher.

So watch Mr. Garland Buckeye.

PULITZER RACE TO N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Pulitzer trophy, the international speed classic for airplanes, probably will be held this year in New York early in October, is was learned today.

Sox and Macks Dark Hosses Of American Loop

Chicago Outfit Harmonizes Under Leadership of Evers.

Every year one or two clubs in the big shows loom up as dark horses. In other words these clubs, placed in a certain place on form, are liable, without seeming provocation, to find themselves and go at a whirlwind pace that eventually lands them among the pennant contenders.

This season there are two clubs in the American league that must be classed as dusky nags. They are the White Sox and Athletics.

The Sox, on playing form and paper strength, can be expected to show little more than they did last season. But the presence of Eddie Collins as manager injects an uncertainty into the scheme of things that may throw all ideas into the ash can.

The team this year is an organized, harmonious club, playing contentedly under a manager. Last spring it was a demoralized outfit wondering who of three men would be manager—Collins, Walsh or Evers.

The Athletics present about the same lineup as last season with the addition of one accepted star—Lefty Groves. His future is one that no one can prophesy accurately. If he gets off in great shape he can carry the Mackmen to dizzy heights. If he finds the going rough his first year up, the Mackmen will be little better off than last year. No one can tell where they will land. One can only guess.

He Isn't Sure of Beating Hull

Look at that kid smile. You wouldn't think that Dukum was worried about the outcome of his fight Thursday night with Clyde Hull of St. Paul, but he is.

Yeah, Duke strolled into the office last night, looked around, sat down a minute, and then jumped up: "Say, this boy's a good boy I'm going to meet this week!"

"You'll whip him, though. Won't yuh? Huh?" b..tted in Blondy Cross.

"Well, all I can say is that I'm going to try. I'll do my best, and that's all you can expect," answered Dukum.

Quite a different attitude, that of Duke's by comparison to that of Hull's. Hull saw Trammel work out the other day. "Why, I will beat him easy! Great Scott! There ain't any cows in Texas if I can't. He'll be a snap."

"That's all baloney"—Blondy signing on again. "But we shall see what we shall see."

State Waits While "Boss" Bosses Son

Ohio Officials Stand In Line While Governor Handles Family.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 7.—A natty new roadster, a girl and a 17-year-old boy today were holding the stage in Ohio's executive office while a long table piled with acts of the legislature, awaited executive action.

The boy was Hal Donahey, son of Governor Vic Donahey; the girl was a chance acquaintance that Hal made in Zanesville last Sunday night; the roadster was a new car that Hal had purchased but which his father had ordered him to sell immediately after he had come rolling up to the executive mansion in it several days ago.

Everything probably would have gone as usual for Hal and the executive office had not the girl, Lillian Vogel, 15, disappeared from home and her mother had not received a telegram from her daughter informing her that she was on her way to Florida. Then things began to happen. A girl friend told how Hal had taken her and her boy friend and Lillian for a ride in the new roadster and that later Lillian had left with young Donahey.

Hal accompanied his father to the executive office in the state capitol this morning and remained with the parent in the inner chambers until after noon. That he was receiving some parental advice about chance girl acquaintances was the impression given by executive clerks and secretaries. The governor sought in vain all morning to get into communication with the probate judge of Muskingum county at Zanesville to ascertain whether his son was desired there to clear up Miss Vogel's disappearance. It was said that probably Hal would be sent to Zanesville in company with one of the governor's secretaries to aid in clearing up the situation.

Only recently young Hal served a three-day sentence for speeding.

Matricide Objects To Insanity Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide on trial for her sanity before a jury in superior court here, interrupted the proceedings this afternoon by hurling a glass of water at her attorneys and denouncing them bitterly.

"You can't talk about me like that!" cried the girl, smashing a bottle of smelling salts on the table by way of emphasis. "Wait until I take the stand and tell about it!"

She then wept and Judge Louderback ordered a brief recess.

ROAD COMMISSION CHANGED

Burkett Agrees to Certain Suggested Changes By the Governors

AUSTIN, April 7.—(AP)—Several changes in highway commission procedure were suggested today by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and agreed to by the commission, it was said by Joe Burkett, member of the commission. Mr. Burkett asserted several of the revisions suggested by the governor had been instituted earlier by the commission, such as letting all contracts by the commission instead of by the chief engineer.

The governor, in her letter to the commission, especially urged semi-monthly meetings, and henceforth the commission will meet on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, instead of the third Monday, Mr. Burkett said.

HENRIETTA

NEW SANDWICH SHOP.

G. Wayne Barker is opening a modern confectionery and sandwich shop in the building recently vacated by Dugger & Gates, realtors, when the latter moved their offices to the second floor of the Commercial club building. Mr. Barker was in the grocery business here until a few months ago, and has been a resident of Henrietta for several years.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

Three members of the Henrietta board of education were chosen in a quiet election Saturday. Carl Olsen and F. O. Moore were re-elected and J. E. Gates was chosen as a new member to succeed Dr. J. H. Williamson, who desired to retire from the board after several years' service. Mr. Olsen is president of the board as now organized. Other members whose terms did not expire this year are R. J. Brown, A. V. Slagle, J. F. Alcorn Jr. and Mrs. E. C. Carter.

REPAIR COURT HOUSE.

The entire interior of the Clay county court house is being repaired and redecorated, new floors put in, the walls painted and other improvements made. The improved appearance is very noticeable.

GRADS HOMECOMING.

Plans are being made for a big homecoming of graduates and former students of Henrietta high school during the commencement season this year.

A strong alumni association is being organized and efforts will be made to have as many of the graduates of the school as possible attend a banquet on June 19.

The Henrietta high school is one of the oldest schools in the state and the number of graduates is estimated at more than 1,500. For several months a committee has been revising a list of names and addresses of former graduates and they are shown to be now scattered to all parts of the country.

PEDDLER IS TRIPPED.

With each subscription at $1.000 the agent was giving a pair of glasses with the statement, "Senator Morris Sheppard said to give every man that takes the paper a pair of glasses."

Overhearing this statement made to a farmer on the street, W. Bridges, manager of the local chamber of commerce, questioned the agent's authority to thus use Senator Sheppard's name and wrote to the senator about it. That was on March 28. On March 31 Senator Sheppard replied saying the statements attributed to him were entirely unauthorized and that he was taking the matter up with the publishers of the paper.

On April 4, or within one week after the misrepresentations were made on the street here, the editor of the publication wrote Senator Sheppard, "it is so evident that he is abusing our confidence and putting us in the wrong light with people, whose respect we wish to retain, that we shall no longer allow him to represent our paper as a subscription agent."

The chamber of commerce here has been making war on solicitors and peddlers who are not thoroughly investigated and found to be authorized and reliable and with propositions that are legitimate and worthy.

PLAN AERIAL TESTS.

Two aerial performances, at 10:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., will be special attractions next Saturday arranged for by the trades day committee of the Henrietta chamber of commerce. In he morning there will be a double stunt flight with two planes piloted by experienced and well known stunt fliers and in the afternoon a wing-walking act will be staged.

Details of the trades day program to be followed during the spring and summer months will be announced Saturday. Trades day events have been scheduled every Saturday for nearly a year and have been very successful in attracting large crowds to this city on these days.

Dates Are Named For Famous 1925 Triangle Rodeo

Tom Burnett Prepares For Entertainment of Many Visitors.

IOWA PARK, April 7.—Preparations are under way for the Tom L. Burnett Triangle Ranch Rodeo which will be staged on the Burnett ranch near Iowa Park, April 30, May 1. 2, 3, according to Fog Horn Clancy, Burnett's secretary.

The rodeo will again prepare to feed thousands of people on old-fashioned barbecue on the opening day. This event has been an opening day feature since Mr. Burnett started staging the rodeo on his ranch and it is said that the purses offered in the various cowboy stunt events have been increased and will again draw the most expert cowboys and cowgirls of this country.

Present plans call for the enlarging of the arena so as to permit new events not heretofore programed, and increasing the seating cappcity so as to take care of several thousand additional spectators.

Hugh Strickland of Fort Worth arena, director of the Burnett Rodeo has arrived at the ranch and has begun work on enlarging the arena and has gathered the herd of wild Mexican and Brahma steers from the pastures and these together with the drove of outlaw bucking horses owned by Mr. Burnett will be fed and conditioned in order to test the ability of the riders, ropers and bulldoggers at the rodeo.

FROM SCHOOL TEACHER TO GREAT EMINENCE

A young man who was brought up on a farm in western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him through medical college. After the Civil war, he began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horseback through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell the Golden Medical Discovery, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y. —Adv.

"Ma" Turns Her Thumbs Down On Last Five Bills

Governor Clears Desk Of All Pending Matters Tuesday.

AUSTIN, April 7.—(AP)—Five bills today, largely of a local nature, were preemptorially killed when Governor Miriam A. Furgerson turned thumbs down on them and filed them with the secretary of state with explanatory messages. The vetoes were applied in the clean sweep which cleared the governor's desk of pending legislation.

Abill to permit incorporated towns of less than 2,500 inhabitants to disannex territory within its corporate limits upon petition of two-thirds of the qualified voters in the territory was vetoed.

A bill to abolish the office of district attorney in the seventy-seventh judicial district, composed of Limestone and Freestone counties, and leave the public legal business in the hands of the county attorney was vetoed.

A bill to exempt Bowie county from the specjal road laws of the thirty-eighth legislature was vetoed.

A bill creating the Moran independent school district in Shackelford and Callahan counties was vetoed upon recommendation of Senator Smith and Representative Pope, representing the district.

A bill to raise the salary of the county superintendent of public instruction in Harris county was vetoed because it was a duplicate of a bill approved previously.

GERMAN PARTY UNDECIDED.

Conservatives Still Considering Jarres And Hindenburg for Candidates.

BERLIN, April 7.—(AP)—Up to a late hour tonight the National conservative bourgeois bloc still was undecided whether it would run Field Marshal Von Hindenburg or former Vice Chancellor Dr. Karl Jarres, as the opposition candidate to Dr. William Marx in the second and final election for president on April 26. (It previously had been reported that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg had been offered the nomination but had declined to accept because it was not unanimously tendered.)

IOWA PARK

INSPECTOR VISITS SCHOOLS.

Miss Margaret Coltham of the high school department of education of Austin and inspectors of schools applying for affiliation, was a visitor to the local schools for this place last week and serious criticism was made in regard to the crowded conditions in the local school.

She recommended that teachers be employed immediately to relieve the crowded conditions in the seventh, first and second grades. She also stated that the local school enjoyed the distinction of being one of 114 high schools in Texas belonging to the southern list of accredited schools and holding 25 credits of affiliation with the higher institutions of learning of Texas, and that these two privileges were in jeopardy from the cause of the two conditions. Other phases of the work were highly complimented.

TRUSTEES ORGANIZE.

Last Saturday there was quite a good deal of interest shown in the trustees' election. There were three members whose terms expired. They were J. A. Tanner, who had served twelve years; Dr. Clark, who served three years, and R. E. Golden, who served for four years. These men refused to serve any longer.

There were eight names voted on for the three places. J. P. Sunday, Lack Lowrance and W. F. Hiermann, D. O. Smith, Walter Golden, Mack Cain, Dr. Gordon Clark and H. T. Danner.

J. P. Sunday, Lock Lawrance and W. F. Hiersmann were elected by a good majority over their opponents.

The retiring president, J. C. Murphee, called a meeting of the old board and new members Monday night and the new members took oath of office and proceeded with business for the coming school year 1925-26. Some of the things passed on were electing a president and secretary of the board. Lock Lowrance was made president while M. E. Morgan was re-elected secretary. They also voted not to employ any teachers who had not had at least one year's teaching experience; that teachers who teach in the high school must have an A. B. degree or its equivalent and grade teachers to hold a first grade certificate. That grade teachers be paid $100 to $110 per month and high school teachers $130 to $140 per month. Also Iowa Park will have three additions to the faculty, two teachers for the grades and one to be added to the high school.

The school district is now clear of all indebtedness except the bonds, which can not be paid off until due and the outlook for the best school Iowa Park has ever had is now at hand.

RODEO PROMOTERS HERE.

Fog Horn Clancy, with headquarters in the chamber of commerce building has started a vigorous campaign toward advertising the Triangle Ranch animal rodeo to be staged on the Triangle ranch April 30, May 1, 2 and 3, and financed by T. L. Burnett, the world's greatest rodeo producer.

Barbecue Again.

Mr. Burnett has made the annual barbecue an event worth while, which always comes on the first ay. The promoters have decided to have this popular event on the first day, or the opening feature of he big rodeo. This even will take place on April 30 at noon. Old timers have been employed to cook several thousand pounds of choice beef over open fires and then served with the trimmings as in the past.

Some of the cowboys and cowgirls who will be on hand are: Mabel Strickland, Ruth Roach, Tommy Kirnon, Red Sublett, clown, Chester Byers, Bea Kinan, Rose Smith, Florence Hughee, Bob Calen, Fox Hastings the lady bulldogger, and many others.

Red River Land Boundaries Up For Judgment

Commission Will Give Final Say on Disputed Lands.

All owners of property along Red river from a point near the mouth of Gilbert Creek to the Clay-Wichita county line and from the Electra toll bridge to the Wichita-Wilbarger line who are in any doubt at all as to just where the boundary of their property is should get in touch with the supreme court boundary commission while it is here. Hearings on the boundary are taking place each day now at the courthouse before Arthur D. Stiles of Austin, and Arthur D. Kidder of Washington, D. C., and as the recommendation of this commission will be final owners of disputed land my find their titles clouded if they do not submit their claims, to this commission.

No formal process will be issued for owners of such land, they being requested to notify either the commission or County Attorney Wayne Somerville of their claims. The commissioners will be here two or three days longer, leaving here for Quanah, and thence on down the river to Texarkana. The hearings were begun yesterday and will be continued today.

Upon the findings of the commission the south bank of the river will be determined and the Texas-Oklahoma boundary definitely settled. The commissioners stress the fact that they cannot change the boundary in the one time disputed oil area, which has already been definitely settled, but wish only to see disputants in the outside areas.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the wolf-dog, searching frantically for his mistress, Nepeese, followed the trap-line she and her father used to traverse. There were plenty of rabbits in the traps and he did not go hungry, but he found no trace of the girl. He was a changed Baree. He was more than ever like a wolf, yet he never gave the wolf-howl now, and always he snarled deep in his throat when he heard the cry of the pack.

Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm, he pursued a bull caribou so closely that it plunged over a cliff and broke its neck. He lived well, and in size and strength he was growing swiftly into a giant of his kind. In another six months he would be as large as Kazan, and his jaws were almost as powerful, even now.

The winter passed, and spring came, and still Baree continued to haunt his old trails, even going now and then over the old trap-line as far as the first of the two cabins. The traps were rusted and sprung now; the thawing snow disclosed bones and feathers between their jaws; under the deadfalls were remnants of fur, and out on the ice of the lakes were picked skeletons of foxes and wolves that had taken the poison-baits. The last snow went. The swollen streams sang in the forests and canyons. The grass turned green, and the first flowers came.

Surely this was the time for Nepeese to come home! He watched for her expectantly. He went still more frequently to their swimming-pool in the forest, and he hung closely to the burned cabin and the dog-corral. Twice he sprang into the pool and whined as he swam about, as though she surely must join him in their old water frolic. And now, as the spring passed and summer came, there settled upon him slowly the gloom and misery of utter hopelessness. The flowers were all out now, and even the bakneesh vines glowed like red fire in the woods. Patches of green were beginning to hide the charred heap where the cabin had stood, and the blue-flower vines that covered the princess mother's grave were reaching out toward Pierrot's, as if the princess mother herself were the spirit of them.

All these things were happening, and the birds had mated and nested, and still Nepeese did not come! And at last something broke inside of Baree, his last hope, perhaps, his last dream; and one day he bade good-bye to the Gray Loon.

CHAPTER XXIV

It was early in August when Baree left the Gray Loon. He had no objective in view. But there was still left upon his mind, like the delicate impression of light and shadow on a negative, the memories of his earlier days. Things and happenings that he had almost forgotten recurred to him now, as his trail led him farther and farther away from the Gray Loon; and his earlier experiances became real again, pictures thrown out afresh in his mind by the breaking of the last ties that held him to the home of the Willow. Involuntarily he followed the trail of these impressions—of these past happenings, and slowly they helped to build up new interests for him. A year in his life was a long time—a decade of man's experience. It was more than a year ago that he had left Kazan and Gray Wolf and the old windfall, and yet now there came back to him indistinct memories of those days of his earliest puppyhood, of the stream into which he had fallen, and of his fierce battle with Papayuchisew. It was his later experiences that roused the older memories. He came to the blind canyon up which Nepeese and Pierrot had chased him. That seemed but yesterday.

And now, for the first time in many weeks, a bit of the old-time eagerness put speed into Baree's feet. Memories that had been hazy and indistinct through forgetfulness were becoming realities again, and as he would have returned to the Gray Loon had Nepeese been there so now, with something of the feeling of a wanderer going home, he returned to the old beaver-pond.

It was that most glorious hour of a summer's day—sunset—when he reached it. He stopped a hundred yards away, with the pond still hidden from his sight, and sniffed the air, and listened. The pond was there. He caught the cool, honey smell of it. But Umisk, and Beaver-tooth, and all the others? Would he find them? He strained his ears to catch a familiar sound, and after a moment or two it came—a hollow splash in the water. He went quietly through the alders and stood at last close to the spot where he had first made the acquaintance of Umisk. The surface of the pond was undulating slightly; two or three heads popped up; he saw the torpedo-like wake of an old beaver towing a stick close to the opposite shore—he looked toward the dam, and it was as he had left it almost a year ago. He did not show himself for a time, but stood concealed in the young alders. He felt growing in him more and more a feeling of restfulness, a relaxation from the long strain of the lonely months during which he had waited for Nepeese. With a long breath he lay down among the alders, with his head just enough exposed to give him a clear view. As the sun settled lower the pond became alive. Out on the shore where he had saved Umisk from the fox came another generation of young beavers—three of them, fat and waddling. Very softly Baree whined.

All that night he lay in the alders. The beaver-pond became his home again. Conditions were changed, of course, and as days grew into weeks the inhabitants of Beaver-tooth's colony showed no signs of accepting the grown-up Baree as they had accepted the baby Baree of long ago. He was big, black, and wolfish now—a long-fanged and formidable looking creature, and though he offered no violence he was regarded by the beavers with a deep-seated feeling of fear and suspicion. On the other hand, Baree no longer felt the old puppyish desire to play with the baby beavers, so their aloofness did not trouble him as in those other days.

All through the month of August Baree made the beaver-pond his headquarters. At times his excursions kept him away for two or three days at a time. These journeys were always into the north, sometimes a little east and sometimes a little west, but never again into the south. And at last, early in September, he left the beaver-pond for good.

For many days his wanderings carried him in no one particular direction. He followed the hunting, living chiefly on rabbits and that simple-minded species of partridge known as the "fool hen." This diet, of course, was given variety by other things as they happened to come his way. Wild currants and raspberries were ripening, and Baree was fond of these. He also liked the bitter berries of the mountain ash, which, along with the soft balsam and spruce pitch which he licked with his tongue now and then, were good medicine for him. In shallow water he occasionally caught a fish; now and then he hazarded a cautious battle with a porcupine, and if he was successful he feasted on the tenderest and most luscious of all the flesh that made up his menu. Twice in September he killed young deer. The big "burns" that he occasionally came to no longer held terrors for him; in the midst of plenty he forgot the days in which he had gone hungry. In October he wandered as far west as the Gelkie River, and then northward to Wollaston Lake, which was a good hundred miles north of the Gray Loon. The first week in November he turned south again, following the Canoe River for a distance, and then swinging westward along a twisting creek called the Little Black Bear With No Tail. More than once during these weeks Baree came into touch with man, but, with the exception of the Cree hunter at the upper end of Wollaston Lake, no man had seen him. Three times in following the Gelkie he lay crouched in the bush while canoes passed; half a dozen times, in the stillness of night, he nosed about cabins and tepees in which there was life, and once he came so near to the Hudson's Bay Company post at Wollaston that he could hear the barking of dogs and the shouting of their masters. And always he was seeking—questing for the thing that had gone out of his life.

Grafton Speaks To Varsity Club On Lawlessness

Presbyterian Pastor Tells How Obedience Should Be Natural.

"Emphasis nowadays should be on "law obedience" instead of "law enforcement," declared Rev. Nat F. Grafton in an address on "The Dignity of the Law," before members of the University club at their Tuesday noon luncheon at the Kemp hotel.

"Obedience to the law should be voluntary, not coercive." Rev. Grafton said, stressing the idea of a cure from within rather than remedies without, for the present wave of lawlessness over the country.

"Looseness of home training is directly responsible for present lawlessness. Most of the criminals nowadays are youths from 16 to 21 years of age.

"To my mind, the three main causes for crime, other than the lack of home training, are the lack of swift detection and sure punishment; the sickening sentimentality on the part of the public that makes people praise a criminal as a public hero and rush to assist him; and the easy pardons secured by politics and a little pressure.

Developing these points, Dr. Grafton forcefully urged the spirit of obedience to the law rather than a laughing at, and a scorn for law enforcement.

"If Americans would vow obedience to all law, it would cure the nation of the disrespect for law that is leading it to ruin," the speaker declared.

James McCarthy played two enjoyable violin solos, accompanied by J. S. Pitman at the piano.

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—With the election of officers the quadrennial convention of the state head camp of Woodmen of the World, after a session of two days, adjourned sine die this afternoon. The executive committee will select the place of meeting of the next convention four years hence.

Balloting was necessary to chose the officers. E. C. Meador of McKinney was elected head escort over R. M. West of Navascota, by a vote of 326 to 146. For head sentry, J. W. Ireson of Beaumont received 323 votes to 151 for C. G. Judkins. Five head auditors were elected from a field of eight candidates, as follow: Farley Reasonover, Denison, Barney Reagon, Big Springs, J. SENATE EXCEEDS RIGHTS

Professor Says That Body Has Inflated Idea of Own Importance

ANSTIN, April 7.—A constant effort of the United States Senate to gain control of legislative power in congress is perhaps the most serious problem faced in the progress of the nation, Dean John H. Wigmore of Northwestern university and a nationally known authority on law, told members of the Austin Rotary club today.

The senate has assumed an inflated idea of its importance and is now trying to gain complete power by acting obstinate on all measures not favored by the body, Dean Wigmore said. Instead of considering the value of a bill to the people, the senate considers first the effect the bill will have on its own powers.

Minuet Accredited The Most Beautiful of All Dances By Gloria Gould

Gloria Gould In A Quant Costum Suitable For The Minuet.

The thirteenth of an exclusive, novel series of articles on dancing, By Glorious Gloria Gould Bishop, America's million dollar bride.

It is safe to say that no dance in the world can possibly be more beautiful than the minuet.

Miss Barker and I teach this dance to our pupils as soon as they have acquired a certain amount of grace, poise and self-possession by the careful practice and study of the dances I have discussed in this series.

I do not believe in overlooking the interesting and romantic background of the minuet, so before we tread the slow, dignified measure of the dance, I give them a few facts about its history just as I am doing here.

In the first place the minuet is the oldest dance known to be danced with a partner. Nowadays, of course, we have solo minuets which are charming to dance and lovely to look upon.

The most authentic and correct minuet is, of course, te court minuet, which was danced at the French court in the days of its greatest glory.

It requires more poise and grace than any other dance. The attitudes of the dancers should depict a charming humility in which is mingled all the inbred pride and dignity of race and family traditon.

Of course a beautful costume similar in general outline to the one shown in the accompanying illustration is very important. The graceful contours of such a costume will emphasize the dainty movements of the dance, and do much toward forming the proper mental attitude in the minds of the dancers.

There are many variations of the minuet, but the basic positions call for a succession of steps, deliberate pointing of the toes, slow and dignified turns and curtseys.

The minuet I teach and the one I am giving you as today's lesson require the following movements:

First, the gentleman places his left hand on his hip. The fist should be closed and the wrist should touch the hip bone. Never, in a dance of dignity is the hand placed on the rip in any other way. To open the hand and rest it on the hip would be to proclaim the dance of peasant origin.

The lady's hand should rest lightly in the gentleman's right. It should never be closed.

And now to the actual steps, which go:

1. Step (with the right foot first) point the toe daintily, and looking at your partner, advance down the room in this manner to a given point. Of coutse, in the olden days at the French court, or in Colonial days the objective was the throne of the host and hostess of the occasion.

2. When this point is reached, the partners face each other, presenting the right hands and balancing forward by bringing the feet together in a closed position. The arms are held high, making an arch. Balance backward by stepping back, with arms in same position.

3. The gentleman takes three slow dignified steps to the right, the lady to the left. Both rise on the toes, and hold this position for four counts. This movement is repeated three times, bringing the dancers back to their original position. This time, instead of holding the position for four counts, a curtsey is made.

The curtsey in the minuet is perhaps its most important feature. The lady takes a step to the righ side with the right foot, then steps back with the left foot, bending both knees and transferring the weight from the right to left foot. The right toe is pointed forward.

The gentleman steps to the left, his heels are brought together and the head bowed very low on the chest. He must be very careful not to bend at the waist in making this curtsey. The right arm hangs in a relaxed position at his side.

Then the gentleman takes the lady's right hand, assists her to rise and the dance is over.

There are at least ten different varieties of minuets, but if you know the steps of the one I have just given you, you can dance them all. And I sometimes wish we of this jazz age would dance them all.

If Children Go To School, Religious Sect Threatenes To Take off Their Clothes

NELSON, B. C., April 7.—Twenty-fire hundred Doukhobors, a religious sect which several times has manifested its disapproval of Canadian laws by staging "nude parades," last night cheered at the prospect of a new demonstration when a demand was made that their children be sent to school.

"You have the power to seize our properties for payment of fines, but if you do all we can do is take off our outer garments," one spokesman said. The leaders declared that the school laws were contrary to the "Doukhobor interpretation of the "law of God."

Educated people, they said, were responsible for the death of Peter Veregen, Doukhobor leader, who was killed last October when a bomb exploded on a Canadian train.

Late In Evening Precipitation Causes Some Inconvenience

The weather man unlimbered just enough rain late Tuesday afternoon to make things inconvenient. He considerately held off until the last two hours of election day when the voters were thronging to the polls in the heaviest numbers and then showered down hard enough to scare a few away.

Tuesday was cloudy and cool most of the day. Late in the afternoon the skies thickened up and sent a light shower that seemed to be a forerunner of heavier rain to come.

At a late hour, however, the severe storm that was predicted had not put in an appearance.

To The Citizens Of Wichita Falls

I cannot find words to express how grateful I shall always feel to the citizenry of Wichita Falls for their support in Tuesday's election. My loyal friends will never be forgotten. To those who voted and worked against me in this election I say from the bottom of my heart I hold no malice against you. I shall always strive to be the commissioner of all the people of our splendid city, rich and poor alike. I want every man and woman in our city and community to feel free to call on me at any and all times for any assistance I may be able to render in my official capacity to further the advancement of Wichita Falls; in making it a cleaner and better place to live.

My opponent in this race, Mr. J. W. Hunt, conducted his campaign on a high plane. I want you all to know he is a high class gentleman in every sense of the word.

I never had a bad thought or a spark of ill feeling against any man or woman in this campaign. The election is over, we must all get together and work harmoniously to make Wichita Falls the greatest city in Texas.

Sincerely yours to serve,
J. H. PATTON.

Selecman Warns Noon Audience Against Worry

He Tells Crowd That People Want to Hurry and Worry.

"The characteristics of our age are hurry and worry," declared Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university before a noon day audience at the Strand Theater, where he talked Tuesday on "Divine Providence," continuing his discussions of God's goodness. "They have become real sins."

"Divine Providence teaches us that God knows everything his children need. We must put God's kingdom first and then we will have a right to trust him in everything.

"God's care for his children is that of a loving father's heart that is behind our universe. We need have no discuss "The Deity of Christ," at fear, because God is in charge."

Wednesday noon Dr. Selecman will discuss "The Diety of Christ," 11:45 at the Strand Theater. Music is in charge of Rayborn Porter with Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr., at the organ. Large crowds attend daily.

Dr. Selecman is preaching nightly at the First Methodist Church South, at the corner of Tenth and Lamar, and his sermon for Wednesday evening will be especially for men, on the occasion of "Kay Bible Class Night," when a special section will be reserved for members of John Kay's bible class, who will attend in a body.

Fire starting in the kitchenette of one of the apartments caused damage of about $1,700 at a duplex residence at 1701 Burnett street, occupied by Myer Harrison and W. T. Radford. The blaze broke out at 10:45 and swept through the side of the house occupied by the Radfords.

Flames did not get through into the Harrison side but considerable damage resulted there.

The building was owned by G. J. Thompson and was said to have been covered by insurance.

Electra Sued for New Oil Ordinance

In a lengthy petition filed Tuesday morning in the 30th district court, the Texas company seeks an injunction against the city of Electra to restrain it from enforcing an ordinance passed October 10, 1923, prohibiting the setting up and operation of all rigs within the corporate limits of the town. The hearing has been set by Judge Wilson for 9 o'clock Friday morning, at which time the defendants have been cited to appear and answer the petition.

The plaintiff recites that it is the holder of all oil and mineral rights to the ground on which Electra is situated and has plans for drilling a number of wells on its property but that the city through its mayor and aldermen has expressly forbidden the company from properly developing its leases.

It is contended also that the Gulf Production company has drilled four wells on the Douglas tract, offsetting the eastern boundary of the city, and that this company is therefore draining oil from beneath the ground in the city limits and to which the Texas company is entitled.

The Old Home Town

Firemen were called at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to 700 Jefferson street where an automobile was reported to have been on fire. No trace of a burning machine could be found, however, and the alarm was listed as false.

No Police court session was held Tuesday morning, the corporation court room at the city hall having been turned over for the use of election officials. All cases docketed Monday and Tuesday will be called Wednesday morning.

Marriage licenses issued Tuesday by the county clerk's office were as follows: J. B. Pruitt, Wichita Falls, and Miss Thelma Owens, Wichita Falls; B. W. Cline, Wichita Falls, and Miss Velma Phiney, Burkburnett.

John Nabors, county engineer of Wilbarger county, was in the city Tuesday on business.
