GARNER LEADING IN CALIFORNIA DEMO PRIMARY

House Puts Over Measure To Lop $43,000,000 From Governmental Expenses

Oil Field Soldiers Acting As Sleuths Paid $1,300 'Bribes'

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 3. (AP)—The scheme used by authorities to obtain evidence against an oil theft ring suspected of stealing millions of barrels of crude from the East Texas field was revealed today.

The Longview News-Journal learned from authoritative sources that a number of soldiers working under direction of civil and military authorities accepted bribes and otherwise "played ball" with the thieves in order to disclose ramifications of the ring.

This plan of collecting evidence was adopted after some of the soldiers, who were on duty in the field to enforce state production regulations, had reported to their superior officers that they had been approached by "pay-off" men.

Davidson Picks Men

Col. L. A. Davidson, commander of the military forces, selected a group of his best men and stationed them at points where they would be most likely to contact the thieves.

The scheme worked. One soldier received more than $200 in one night. The investigation continued for 45 days, during which time the soldiers collected $1,300 to keep their eyes shut concerning fraudulent operations.

This money and other valuable evidence was turned over to the district attorney who immediately started a move to round up offenders.

More Arrests Expected

To date there have been 16 arrests in the Gregg county area and five in Rusk county. Authorities are not backward in predicting that more arrests will be forthcoming.

At Longview today George F. Lovick, freight agent there for the Texas and Pacific railroad, surrendered to officers and posted $20,000 bond.

Five men indicted by the Rusk county grand jury for conspiracy to commit felonious oil theft were

COL. LINDBERGH BELIEVED ON YACHT MARCON

Craft Puts to Sea Again In Quest of Kidnaping Negotiators

NORFOLK, Va., May 3. (UP)—The Yacht Marcon was back at the naval base here late tonight after a third trip at sea in the search for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

No statements were made by John Hughes Curtis, chief negotiator who was aboard, or his aides, and the cause for the rather quick return of the Marcon was not known.

By SEYMOUR BERKSON

NORFOLK, Va., May 3. (US)—With Colonel Lindbergh himself believed to be aboard, the yacht Marcon left the naval base here late today for what is expected to be the Norfolk negotiators' final rendezvous for return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

The utmost secrecy surrounded the departure of the Marcon, marines guarded all entrances to every part of the naval base commanding a view of the little inlet where the yacht had been anchored.

Admiral Silent

Admiral William B. MacDougall, commandant of the naval base, when asked about the departure of the Marcon and the report Colonel Lindbergh was on board with John H. Curtis and Edwin B. Bruce, two of the Norfolk negotiators, replied:

"All I can say at this time about Colonel Lindbergh and the Marcon is 'No answer.'"

The slim white yacht, however, was observed gracefully plowing its way past Cape Henry toward the open ocean shortly before nightfall.

Intricate Deal

Meanwhile, the final stage of the negotiations which is expected to bring about the return of the baby was said to involve an intricate ransom deal the nature of which remained a secret.

One report has it that the supposed kidnapers have already shown the negotiators $15,000 in bills bearing the same numbers of the Lindbergh bills made public by the treasury department.

Exchange for Gold

The new deal for the return of the baby is said to involve an exchange of the bills for gold in a form not traceable.

Hijacking Fails At Drug Store

A bandit raid at the Estep pharmacy, 501 North Broadway, failed to click about midnight Tuesday. Bill Robertson answered the honk of the bandit car as it parked in front and when he re-entered for cigarets one of the men followed him, demanding money.

C. L. Estep had just emptied the cash register as the bandits approached and when he came to the front in answer to the bandit's command, he told him, "we have no money." A passing car called the hijacker's attention to the front door and Mr. Estep raced to the rear of the store for a gun. At this point the bandit joined his companion in a large sedan and drove north.

Bill to House Calls For Public Works Funds

WASHINGTON, May 3. (US)—Authorization for a $5,000,000,000 prosperity issue to finance a gigantic public works program and bring back better times, would be given under a bill Representative Loring M. Black Jr., Democrat of New York, filed in the house today.

Notice was served by Black that he will oppose adjournment of congress until it has passed legislation providing for a vast public construction program to give employment to millions of persons.

Granary at Amarillo Starts Annex Building

AMARILLO, Texas, May 3. (AP)—The Burrus elevators today began the construction of a 500,000 bushel annex to their 2,100,000-bushel storage elevator in Amarillo.

One hundred men will be given employment on the project for 45 days. No estimate of the cost was given.

J. Perry Burrus, president, announced the purchase of additional ground and plans eventually to increase the elevator's capacity to 5,000,000 bushels.

Child Lost in Hills Sought in Cold Rain

LE BEC, Calif., May 3. (US)—As sleet-like blinding rain poured down upon them, scores of mountaineers and deputy sheriffs today combed the rugged ridge route country for 3-year-old Cecilia Mitchell, who left her home Monday in quest of "pretty wildflowers."

As the hours dragged by revealing no trace of the little, thinly clad girl, searchers expressed fear that she had met death in the mountain fastnesses.

(US)—Coronary thrombosis, a blocking of the main blood vessels nourishing the heart, formerly considered fatal, is amenable to treatment, according to a paper read today at the general session of the California Medical association by Dr. Samuel A. Levine of Harvard university. This disease, so frequently fatal in the past, is now successfully treated, the speaker said.

REBELS WRECK PURPOSE OF ECONOMY BILL

Proposed Saving Cut From $200,000,000 to Less Than One-Fourth

GOES TO SENATE

Democrats Fail in Attempt To Avert Mutilation Of Undertaking

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON, May 3. (UP)—The house completed its economy gesture tonight by passing a mutilated economy bill providing for savings variously estimated between $38,000,000 and $43,000,000 of the $200,000,000 which it was originally drafted to save.

The vote was 316 to 67. The house ran beyond the dinner hour to complete the bill, adjourning at 7:25 p. m. The measure now goes to the senate.

Democratic leaders failed completely in a last minute attempt to quell one of the worst house rebellions in years which had virtually wrecked the bill.

Salaries Cut

As passed, the bill reduces the salaries of congressmen $825 a year from $10,000 to $9,175. Cabinet officers and other officials, likewise, must take an 11 per cent cut above a $2,500 exemption.

The house defeated various proposals which would have cut congressional salaries even further.

Tom Hunter Flays Combines In Speech

CARTHAGE, Texas, May 3. (UP)—Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls, candidate for governor, declared in a campaign speech here tonight that "manipulation by the combines" is the reason for the depression. The manipulation, he continued, has now become a boomerang for the combines.

Hunter spoke to a group of East Texas voters in the district courtroom here.

"The reason that we pay so much for the things we buy and the things we produce bring so little on the market, is due to manipulation by the combines," he declared. "The depression is no accident.

"Manipulation now has become a boomerang to the combines because they have reduced the buying power of the public."

Remoulding of Cabinet In Germany in Offing

BERLIN, May 3. (AP)—A cabinet reorganization which would increase the conservative representation in the German government appeared imminent today.

The illness of Hermann Warmbold, minister of economics, is the reason for the reshuffling. Expectations are that he shortly will present his resignation to Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and that in his place the chancellor will name Karl Goerdeler, burgomaster of Leipsic, who has been serving the reich in the important post of dictator of prices.

Herr Goerdeler is a member of Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's opposition Nationalist party.

Hunter is the son of Hubert S. Hunter, editor of the El Paso Times. He is employed in the advertising department of the paper. Miss Fall is a reporter on the El Paso Herald-Post.

Members Of House Push Pardon Bid

WASHINGTON, May 3. (US)—Blazing with resentment, 105 house members today demanded Governor Judd of Hawaii immediately pardon the four defendants in the Massie "honor slaying" case.

They quickly signed a petition drawn by Representative Thatcher, Republican of Kentucky, urging the pardon. It was at once despatched by wire to Honolulu.

At the same time Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee introduced in the senate a bill identical with that of Representative Crisp, Democrat of Georgia, offered in the house yesterday, providing for a congressional pardon for the defendants.

Both senate and house were aroused to further and more far-reaching action over the Hawaiian crime situation. Legislation is being drawn which would take the administration of Hawaiian affairs from the interior department and provide for a cleanup under military rule.

As the spotlight was still focused on the Massie case, the house judiciary committee, behind closed doors, heard Seth Richardson, assistant attorney general, who after investigating crime conditions in the islands, recently delivered his report to congress.

The committee has before it three bills to tighten up law enforcement in Hawaii.

Chief among them is the Bingham bill, passed unanimously by the senate yesterday, changing the law which now provides that two mistrials in a criminal case constitutes an acquittal.

VALLEY TOUR SET JUNE 15

Business Men to Study Farm Development

The first of a series of tours of the irrigated valley will be for business men of Wichita Falls June 15, it was announced by Darrold Kahn, arrangements chairman, at a meeting of the Valley Development association Tuesday afternoon at the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce offices in the Hamilton building.

The tours will be conducted as part of a program of acquainting the public with the true facts of the irrigated valley and to offer first hand information about the wealth of farm land in the area. The tour is scheduled to be a one-day affair.

A similar tour for farmers of the Wichita Falls area will be held one month later, probably July 15, when the agricultural leaders of this section will be taken on a two-day visit throughout the irrigated valley.

Members of the board centered their attention on detailed business Tuesday afternoon, including discussions on the establishment of a cheese plant and other projects. The board members visited the Gremminger place in the lower valley at the close of the meeting, reporting this unit of the irrigated valley to be near completion.

MacDonald To Have Second Operation

LONDON, May 3. (AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's physicians decided today he must undergo another eye operation. It will be performed Thursday.

Four months ago the prime minister's left eye, which had been affected by glaucoma—an ailment which results in painful tension and diminution of vision and, unless properly treated, in blindness—was operated on. This time it is his right eye that is causing the trouble.

After presiding at tomorrow's cabinet meeting and paying a visit to the king, Mr. MacDonald will enter a west end nursing home.

Students and Woman Hurt In Auto Crash at Canyon

CANYON, Texas, May 3. (UP)—Five persons were injured, two seriously, in an accident involving three automobiles near here today. Fast driving and dusty roads were said to be the cause.

Mrs. A. L. Stevens, 46, of Happy, Texas, and Ralph Higgins, 17, high school senior, Panhandle, Texas, were seriously injured. Three other Panhandle students received minor injuries. Mrs. Stevens was taken to an Amarillo hospital.

The students were returning from a class day outing in Palo Duro canyon. Automobiles bearing Higgins and Mrs. Stevens collided headon in attempting to pass a third automobile as dust obscured vision.

Beer Question Defeated By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, May 3. (US)—Prohibition flared up in the senate today with submission of majority and minority reports from the manufacturers committee on the Bingham bill to legalize four per cent beer.

Seven drys opposed modification of the Volstead act, while four anti-prohibitionists urged return of beer to end prohibition lawnessness and promote real temperance.

The reports were based on hearings conducted by a sub-committee, which voted 2 to 1 for beer. The full committee overturned the verdict by a 7 to 4 vote.

DIARY REVEALS FEELINGS HELD BY LANCASTER

Personal Notes of Airman Charged With Murder Held at Miami

DECLARES HIS LOVE

Britisher Wrote of Anguish On Learning Clarke Was His Rival

MIAMI, Fla., May 3. (US)—The personal diary of Capt. W. N. Lancaster, aviator charged with the murder of Haden Clarke, is in the hands of authorities here, it was learned exclusively by Universal Service tonight.

This diary, expected to play an important part in the case, was written by Lancaster during his trip to the west coast just before he returned to Miami a day before Clarke was killed.

It reveals a passionate love for Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, famous aviatrix with whom Clarke is also said to have been infatuated.

Nicknames Explained

The fly leaf of the diary explains that it was "the personal property of Capt. W. N. Lancaster" and adds that if anything happened to him it was to be turned over to Mrs. Keith-Miller. The fly leaf also contains a key to names showing "Chubbie" he frequently mentions is Mrs. Keith-Miller and "Russell" is J. F. Russell, now under indictment in Key West on a charge of smuggling aliens.

Following are excerpts from the diary:

"March 30, Nogales, Ariz.—No news from Chubbie. Why does the child not write?

March 31, Nogales, Ariz.—No news from Chubbie. The little devil! I should not think of her so much. She doesn't deserve it. Hell!

"April 1, Los Angeles.—Would give anything for news of her.

Clarke Mentioned

"April 2, Los Angeles.—Russell shows me two of Mrs. Russell's letters. One says: 'Chubbie and Clarke came around tonight. I really thing now that Clarke has gained Chubbie's affections and Bill lost them.' The other letter said: 'Was around at Chubbie's tonight. She and Clarke got all ginned up together. Don't tell Bill (Lancaster) but I believe she is well satisfied.' The last two words were underlined. I was going to leave Russell here but he told me he might get some money for return trip, so decided not to. Mental agony!!!! Hell!!!

"April 3, Los Angeles.—Wired Chubbie every cent I could raise. It leaves me flat broke, but God may provide. How to get out of the hotel is a problem. Why no news from Chubbie? 4 a. m. I have been trying to telephone Chubbie. No reply. Why? Ill with nervous worry.

"April 5, Nogales, Ariz.—Letters from Chubbie. Hard to analyze them. Much disturbed. Ill with worry. Chubbie, darling, what is it all about?

Chubbie Needs Money

"April 7, Tucson.—Impatience for departure brought on a bit by worry for Chubbie. She must need money and I have none. Hell!

"April 9, Tucson.—Wired Chubbie. The reply worries me. If only

Bandits Take $2,500 In Kansas Bank Raid

RED CLOUD, Neb., May 3. (UP)—Three bandits entered the Peoples bank of Red Cloud late today, forced two officials into the vault and escaped toward Kansas with an estimated $2,500.

The robbers went into the bank just at closing time. W. A. Sherwood, president, and Phil Sherwood, assistant cashier, were placed in the vault. Phil Sherwood, however, escaped through a secret door and sounded an alarm.

Most of the loot was in silver.

The bandits were believed headed for Kansas.

Hijackers Of Drug Store Speed Away As Woman Companion Shot To Death

Oklahoma Druggist Fires Gun After Girl Bandit Takes $8 at Point of Gun and Runs; Men Desert

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (UP)—A woman police character, 29-year-old Lena Hurt, was shot down and killed here today as she fled with $10 from a drug store she robbed.

Two men, evidently her accomplices, speeded away to safety in a large sedan, leaving her to die on the sidewalk.

"I didn't intend to kill her," J. H. Jackson, middle-aged druggist said. "She was pointing a gun at me and I felt one of us was going to get shot.

Pistol in Sleeve

"She came in the store about 9 o'clock. I went to the front counter to wait on her. She produced a pistol from her sleeve and said: 'Hand over what you've got.'"

He gave her $8 from the cash register.

"She grabbed the money and backed out the door. I jumped for my gun. By this time she was running and I pulled the trigger. She looked back as I fired."

The woman fell to the sidewalk, her head pierced by a bullet. She was dead when the ambulance arrived.

Men Sought

C. B. Oxley, another druggist, identified Miss Hurt as the woman who robbed his drug store of $10 last Sunday. Records at the state bureau of investigation showed she had served a two-year sentence at the state penitentiary on an arson conviction in Carter county. She had been arrested here and at Gainesville, Texas, and Ardmore several times.

Police continued their search tonight for the two men, her accomplices, who hurried away when the holdup plan went awry.

"I'd rather get those fellows than a dozen other hijackers," Sheriff Stanley Rogers said.

"The idea of making the woman do the dirty work and get killed. The men probably would have taken most of the money."

AL CAPONE ON WAY TO PRISON

Famous Gang Chientan To Reach Atlanta Today

By BOB WOOD

ABOARD THE PRISON TRAIN With Al Capone, Danville, Ill., May 4, 2 a. m., (US)—"Scarface" Al Capone tonight rode out across the Illinois prairie aboard the Dixie Flyer on his way to Atlanta, Ga., and the probable end of his notorious career.

Not long after 7 o'clock tonight the gates of Atlanta penitentiary will clang shut behind Boss Capone as he begins to serve 11 years in punishment for a decade of outlawry. Capone's decade. It brought a nation into disrepute.

As the Flyer roared southward Al peered out into the empty night and murmured to a fellow prisoner manacled to his wrist:

"A bum rap—just a bum rap."

Destination Secret

Even at that moment the gang chieftain did not know where he was bound. Suddenly, at the last minute, the government changed its plans. Orders were flashed from Washington: "Take Capone to Atlanta—cancel Fort Leavenworth plans."

Fear of a last-minute effort of Capone henchmen to wrest their chief from government hands on the eve of his incarceration was given as the reason for the orders which came from the department of justice.

Huey Long Becomes Senate 'Orphan' But Makes New Thrust at Robinson

WASHINGTON, May 3. (US)—Senator Huey Long's spectacular one-man revolt against the senate Democratic leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, continued today as he read into the record a list of 43 public utilities and other large corporations which Robinson's law firm alleged represents.

His action came after the Democratic steering committee had made him a political babe-in-the-woods, by accepting his resignation from all senate committees. Robinson himself made the senate motion that the resignation be accepted, and named the senators who will take his place.

It was the sequel to Long's fiery denunciation of Robinson last Friday for the Democratic leader's refusal to support Long's resolution to limit incomes to $1,000,000 a year and inheritances to $5,000,000. Robinson characterized Long's resignation from the committees as "a play to the gallery" and "an attempt to gain publicity and notoriety."

When Robinson railroaded the acceptance of Long's resignation through the senate today, after the action of the Democratic steering committee, Long attempted to gain the floor, but was frozen out. He got recognition late in the afternoon, however, and announced that he will expect the senate Democratic caucus to place him upon "proper committees in due course of time."

Long himself explained his position by stating that his resignation from the committees was a personal matter with Robinson, Robinson having appointed him to them. He still considers himself a member of the Democratic ranks, however,

RECORD VOTE IS REPORTED IN CONTESTS

Three-Way Contest Draws More Than Million To Ballot Boxes

NORBECK TAKES LEAD

South Dakota Senator Favored to Win G. O. P. Nomination

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3. (UP)—Speaker John N. Garner steadily increased his lead for California's 44 Democratic national convention delegates in returns in the statewide presidential preference primary tonight.

At 10:15 p. m., (12:15 a. m. Wichita Falls time) incomplete returns from 2,369 out of 10,271 precincts in the state gave:

Garner, 60,927.
Roosevelt, 40,522.
Smith, 35,485.

The Republican "confidence vote" for President Hoover, in 1,691 precincts out of 10,271 in the state totaled 87,922 exceeding the total Democratic vote in those precincts, which totaled 79,483.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3. (US)—Indications at 9 o'clock tonight (11 o'clock Wichita Falls time) are that Garner will have a tremendous lead over Roosevelt and Smith in Southern California in today's primary election.

Roosevelt, on the other hand, will have a considerable lead over Garner in Northern California.

But it seems unlikely at this hour that Roosevelt's Northern California lead will be sufficient to overcome Garner's Southern California lead in view of fact that Smith is leading both Garner and Roosevelt in San Francisco.

San Francisco early returns gave the lead to Smith, while scattering figures from other northern counties indicated a preference for Roosevelt. It was believed, however, that Garner's heavy vote in the ten southern counties, where approximately 57 per cent of the state's total Democratic vote is centered—41 per cent in Los Angeles county alone—would offset the split vote in the north.

Republicans, with no choice in the matter, cast a large vote for President Hoover as a candidate to succeed himself. Los Angeles county, with more than 600 precincts counted, gave Hoover 60,000 votes, although numerous Republican registrants declined to vote in the presidential race.

In the two state propositions affecting oil production the Sharkey bill was apparently definitely beaten, and the measure forbidding tideland leasing for oil drilling was decisively approved.

ROOSEVELT WINS TWO OTHER RACES

(By The Associated Press)

The winner of California's pivotal Democratic presidential primary was unknown early Wednesday as early returns from the southern part of the state gave Speaker Garner 11,761 against 7,201 for Alfred E. Smith and 6,492 for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This vote was from 212 incomplete precincts in Los Angeles and eight complete precincts in seven other counties where Garner support was supposed to be strongest.

Tabulation of the returns was slow and a decision was not expected until some time later in the day. Forty-four votes, the sixth largest block in the national convention, were at stake.

Other Primaries

Meanwhile, Governor Roosevelt took South Dakota's 10 delegates by default, and his slate of delegates at large in Alabama was leading an uninstructed group not unfriendly to him but opposed to Smith by nearly three to one on the basis of returns from 22 of the state's 2,126 boxes. Alabama has 24 votes in the national convention. President Hoover, who now has 720 delegates pledged and claimed for his renomination, or well over the 578 majority required, picked up 47 more without opposition in his home state of California.

Early returns from South Dakota gave 11 delegates favorable to the president a slight advantage

Demo Executive Group To Issue Pledge Instructions At Meet Today

Final arrangements for setting the Democratic machinery in Wichita county in motion preparatory to the coming primary and general election will be completed Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock when the county executive committee meets in the 78th district courtroom on the call of Bert King, chairman.

Wednesday's meeting will be devoted chiefly to the instruction of precinct chairmen with reference to holding precinct conventions next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Pursuant to the recent action of the supreme court of Texas, pledges of party fealty will be required of all persons seeking to qualify as members of the precinct and county conventions, Mr. King said. The county convention is to be held next Tuesday in the 78th district courtroom.

Precinct chairmen will be instructed Wednesday that each precinct is entitled to one delegate to the county convention for each 25 votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for the party's candidate for governor in the last general election. The number of delegates allowed the county, however, to the state convention is based upon the total number of votes cast by the party in the primary last preceding the last prior general election, Mr. King explained.

All members of the county executive committee are being urged to attend Wednesday's meeting, and to be represented by proxies if unable to be present.

Precinct chairmen in Saturday's conventions will be charged with checking the records to see that all present are qualified as voters, as well as obtaining signed party pledges from each member. Delegates certified by precinct chairmen Saturday will attend the county convention next Tuesday.

ECONOMY BILL PASSES HOUSE

Measure Effects Saving In National Expense

However, allowance of members was reduced 25 per cent.

After failing on six record rollcalls to re-insert previously rejected sections in the bill, the Democratic-Republican leaders on the economy committee then made two futile attempts to re-commit the bill with instructions to report back certain provisions.

Flat Cut Proposed

The first was by Chairman John McDuffie, Democrat, Alabama, of the economy committee who proposed that a flat 10 per cent government salary cut with a $2,000 exemption be substituted for the flat 11 per cent with a $2,500 exemption as provided in the bill. The vote was 167 to 231. McDuffie later voted against the measure his committee sponsored as a final protest against the action of the insurgents.

Representative C. William Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, then sought to instruct the committee to report back President Hoover's plan for a five-day week and a month's furlough without pay for government employes, with a flat 10 per cent salary cut for congressmen. This would have saved $80,000,000. It was defeated, 146 to 250.

Other Economies

The flat salary cut constituted the largest economy item in the bill, being estimated to save $12,000,000. The original committee proposal would have saved $67,000,000. The rest of the savings, estimated to total $38,099,000, were provided in numerous ways.

If President Hoover disbands the Philippine scouts as he is authorized to do by the bill, an additional $5,000,000 would be saved, bringing the total of economies to $43,099,000.

Two reforms that may be productive of savings later are embodied in the measure. Authority is delegated to President Hoover to reorganize government departments to achieve economies, but subject to congressional approval. The president has repeatedly sought this authority.

The bill also sets up a special administration of public works to supervise public works and rivers and harbors improvements now scattered under various jurisdictions.

Vets' Pensions Stand

The final revolt of the house today before it completed actual consideration of the measure was to eliminate provisions reducing veterans pension, hospitalization and retirement pay in various ways, estimated to save $48,417,000.

Then it rejected for a second time various major provisions of the bill, including consolidation of the war and navy departments, estimated to save between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000 annually; proposed elimination of the army and navy transport and the Panama railroad steamship line, estimated to save $2,500,000, and interchange of appropriation between departments and bureaus. Previously, it had refused to withdraw vocational educational appropriations over a period of 10 years, proposed by the economy committee. These appropriations total over $7,000,000 yearly.

taken into custody and later released under $2,000 bond each.

They were E. L. Chapman, president of the E. L. Chapman Oil Co., and prominently identified with oil promotion in the field; R. T. Cowan, secretary of the company; W. F. Hardison, production superintendent; J. H. Jackson, gauger, and E. D. Cantner, pumper.

Indictments charging specific oil thefts also were returned against four of these men. Chapman, Cowan, Hardison and Jackson. Cantner was not implicated in the theft cases.

Sterling Commends Work

Gov. R. S. Sterling sent a message to Colonel Davidson commending him for his work in handling the oil theft cases. It read, in part:

"You and your command have again acquitted yourselves in accordance with the fine tradition of the Texas National guard. In performing your duty in a peacetime emergency you have rendered Texas an invaluable service that all Texans should be proud of."

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, who preceded Colonel Davidson as commander of troops on duty in the field, also sent his congratulations.

Neff Has Suggestion

In connection with an inquiry to be conducted at Tyler tomorrow by C. V. Terrell, and other members of the Texas Railroad commission, Pat M. Neff, commission member, sent Terrell the following message:

"While holding your court of investigation in regard to the employes of the railroad commission being connected with the stealing of oil in East Texas let me suggest that you make investigation along three additional lines.

"First—Investigate the current report that a certain attorney in the Tyler territory guarantees to clients that he can for a fee of $100 get from the railroad commission a permit for any one to drill an oil well anywhere desired.

"Second—Make inquiry as to the habit of some of our employes in that territory of getting drunk and driving state cars while intoxicated. You remember one of our high salaried employes, who is still on our pay roll, some time ago pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment charging him with driving a car while drunk.

General Probe Asked

"Third—Make a thorough investigation as to the actual work that has been, for the past six months or more, and is being done now, by the more than 50 employes of the commission stationed in East Texas. The general opinion is that whatever work is being done in the East Texas field has been and is now being carried on by the military authorities.

"In the investigation of these three matters I suggest that among others Colonel Davidson and Carl Estes both be called to give what information they have as to these matters."

Choral Club's Music Week Concert One of Season's Outstanding Events

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
The Record News Staff

Vast strides in Wichita Falls' appropriation of great music through its own effort were registered at the Woman's Forum Tuesday night when the Woman's Choral club and other local artists presented a program which definitely complimented National Music week, in observance of which it was presented.

Programs given by Wichita Falls talent during the past year, under the direction of musical organizations, have established a remarkably high standard. Yet the concert given Tuesday night equaled any presented during the past season, if not actually raising the standard of excellence in a measurable degree.

Improvement Shown

Without disparagement of the commendable performance given by the Choral club last winter, it may be recorded that the ensemble singing of Tuesday night wholly eclipsed earlier performances, and revealed a surprising advance to rare levels of artistry. There are more voices; their arrangement so that sections parallel each other from front to rear has enhanced both blend and balance; and the singers have attained a remarkable unity both of feeling and tonal quality. A conspicuous feature, for which perhaps Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, director, deserves major credit, is the thoroughly pleasing soprano quality now displayed by the club. Ease and relaxation in tone production have materially enhanced the sweetness and clarity of the sopranos singing—a change which has done much to produce the delightful ensemble effects used throughout Tuesday night's program.

Another outstanding feature of the club's singing, which heightened its appeal to the audience, was the intelligent independence used in text interpretations. There were numerous departures from conventional phrasing and shading of well-known favorites; in each such instance, a finer picture in tone and feeling was painted. This was particularly true in "The Rosary" and Lily Strickland's "Mah Lindy Lou."

The singing of Tschaikowsky's "Nur Wer die Sehnsucht Kennt" demands recognition even while other single numbers cannot be acknowledged separately. With obligato accompaniment of two cellos, and with double piano accompaniment, the number was sung with profound feeling, in every effective tempo, and in commendable German coached by Mrs. W. von der Lippe, pioneer of this city.

Violinist Scores

Three groups by soloists were included in the program. William L. Donnell played the "Sonata in G Minor," first movement, by Tartini, which he will play in state competition at Dallas next Saturday; and Cecil Burleigh's "Ghost Dance." In the Tartini number, Mr. Donnell brilliantly displayed the supreme eloquence of restraint. The admirable feeling which he revealed for the composition found excellent support in the moving intensity of tone which he employed. His second number was a weird but thoroughly delightful frolic. Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey contributed excellent accompaniments.

Mesdames Walter Robbins and W. L. Olmsted thrilled their hearers with Saint-Saens' "Danse Macawbre," which presents a clattering company of skeletons called forth from their graves at midnight by the fervent playing of a wild violinist, Death. Their "El Manisero" by Simons was a brilliant technical treatment of a captivating little melody.

Walter Robbins, accompanied by Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff, sang two arias. His first was Handel's "Where E're You Walk," an ascription of romantic worship to a lovely lady; and the second was Rudolph's address to Mimi, from Puccini's "La Boheme." Mr. Robbins revealed an increasing command of a good dramatic tenor voice, and sang with ease throughout the exacting score of each song. His phrasing, and reflection of feeling, were commendable.

Mrs. Olmsted played accompaniments for the Choral club, with Mrs. Robbins at the second piano on the Tchaikowsky number. Edwin Bebb and M. A. Ellis were cellists for the same number. Other choral numbers were "A la Bien-Aimee" (Schutt); "Cigarette Girls' Chorus," (Bizet); "Doll Dance," (Poldini); "Boat Song," (Ware); "Wynken, Blynken, and Nod," (Nevin); Mesdames W. L. Parker, William McKemie and C. N. Cameron were incidental soloists.

Ushers for the evening were Misses Phyllis Creighton, Mary Louise Staley, Marietta Hunt, and Marguerite Peery. The concert was presented by the music department of the Woman's Forum. Approximately 300 attended.

Suspects Released In Robbery of Wichitan

Three negroes, two of them women, held for questioning Tuesday by police in connection with the hijacking Monday night of Paul Kostas, 1317 Twelfth, were released after Mr. Kostas failed to identify them as the trio taking $150 in currency. He was held up in an alley in the 1200 block on Twelfth.

Two pistols were stolen from a window of the C. O. Offerle shop, 725 Ohio, early Tuesday. A plate glass display window was smashed in obtaining the guns, Detective F. M. Dowdy reported.

Loss of a watch, purse and $4.50 was reported to police Tuesday by Roy Grantham, 1622 Collins, whose residence was entered Monday night by burglars who forced a rear window. A pair of trousers taken in the raid were recovered Tuesday night at 1619 Elizabeth.

Police reports also revealed Tuesday that Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson had recovered a dozen knives looted from the Maxwell & Son hardware store, 704 Indiana, Sunday.

Hundreds of Film Stars Now Poverty Stricken

NEW YORK, May 3. (US)—Before he took a voluntary salary cut, Richard Barthelmess was collecting $187,000 a year, it was indicated today at a meeting of the Motion Picture forum.

Mike Levee, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science, was praising Barthelmess for voluntarily accepting a reduction, when Harry Warner, president of Warner brothers, shouted:

"He was ashamed to take $187,000."

Levee said that hundreds of stars, many of them former big box office draws, are poverty stricken. Levee, also treasurer of the actors' relief fund, said:

"If I were to disclose the names of many of those who appeal to us for help you would be dumbfounded."

ATLANTA PEN TO GET CAPONE

Gang King to Serve Far From Old Haunts

and in confidence revealed to them the change in destination. He asked absolute secrecy so that none might know of Capone's whereabouts until the Flyer pulled out of the Dearborn station.

Heavily Guarded

This morning the gangster is speeding safely on his way to prison locked in the forward drawing room of this pullman car. Alert guards stand at the door. More guards are in the vestibules, fore and aft. Still others wander up and down the aisles.

Capone has retired—but can not sleep. His companion is a countryman, the only other prisoner on this trip. He is Victor Moricl, who was picked up in Chicago by government agents and is being returned to Tampa, Fla., to stand trial for stealing an auto and transporting it to another state.

There was no clamor on the departure of Capone. The government saw to that. There were a few bystanders in the Dearborn station. They wondered what all the bustle was about as a squad of government men marched gingerly through a side entrance, Al hand-cuffed to Moricl in the middle.

Crowds Excited

Then Capone's florid face came into view and there was an excited rush as the word passed:

"It's Al; it's Al Capone!"

But by that time Al had been boosted onto the Pullman car and hustled into the drawing room. The privacy of the drawing room is no special favor, according to Marshal Laubenheimer who explained that government regulations specify such transportation facilities for one or two prisoners.

Brought in a closed automobile to the station from the county jail where he has been marking time for six months, Capone arrived only a few minutes before the train departed at 11:30 Chicago daylight time.

He will arrive in Atlanta at 6:55 eastern standard time tonight.

Wichita Man Injured In Auto Accident

R. C. Whittington, 1301 Twelfth, sustained a broken right elbow Tuesday afternoon in an automobile accident at Tenth and Grant at 4:30 o'clock. He was admitted to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital for treatment of the injury.

Police Officers Frank Warfield and John Wildmon investigated and reported the driver of the other car to be a resident of Holliday. He had not been located late Tuesday.

she would send something more such as 'Don't worry. I still love you.' Thank goodness for one thing—I have made a firm resolution to end all this mental strain—have it out. Then work for our common good. I adore her and want to see her happy. If only she did not drink while I was away I would feel O. K. She has two personalities. I love both personalities. Chubbie angel, it won't be long before I see you and hold you.

Going to Miami

"April 10, Tucson.—Awakened with misgivings—suffer the tortures of the damned! Telephoned Chubbie. Wish I had not. She did not make it easier for me. Am going to Miami whatever happens to find out first hand all about everything. I love you Chubbie. I have done my best—but failed. Want to talk things over with you, my sweet. It has been five years since we met."

Captain Lancaster went from Tucson to St. Louis, where he remained a day or two and then flew to Miami, arriving here on April 13. Clarke was found dead on April 14, having been shot with a gun that Lancaster is said to have bought in St. Louis.

Geneva Warned That U. S. Will Build Big Navy

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—Warning to the Geneva disarmament conference that the United States intends to build the biggest navy allowed by existing treaties was sent out by the senate in voting to take up the half naval construction bill.

Rejecting Democratic proposals that consideration of the bill be postponed to await developments at Geneva, the senate voted 46 to 35, to consider immediately the bill authorizing bringing the navy up to the full strength allowed by the Washington and London pacts.

Wichita Marksmen Win Pistol Events At Officers Meet; Browning Elected

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 3.—Wichita Falls virtually swept the field for honors in the two-day convention of the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers' association which closed here today.

In addition to taking two of the three pistol shooting events, Wichita Falls was selected as the convention city of 1933, and Perry Browning, sheriff of Wichita county, was elected president of the organization for the coming year.

The Wichita Falls police pistol team, composed of J. N. Leverett, C. S. Carlisle, Harry King, Joe Moore and A. Grady, copped the prize in team shooting. Mrs. J. N. Leverett of Wichita Falls outdid all competition in the women's shooting event and took first place with a score of 96. Mrs. D. C. Copelin of Elk City made second place with a score of 94. Distance in the women's shoot was 15 paces.

In the main pistol event, 25 yards distance, Fred A. Hobart, deputy sheriff at Pampa, Texas, duplicated his winning performance of a year ago by winning the prized cup for a second time.

Sheriff Browning succeeds W. N. Thompson, Potter county sheriff, as president of the association. Sheriff Thompson was named first vice president for the coming year. Other officers named are Sheriff Lee Hooper, Walters, second vice president; Chief Sid Heason, Hollis, third vice president, and H. G. Ellis, M.-K.-T. special agent at Wichita Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls and James C. Nance, Walters, former speaker of the house of representatives, were principal speakers during the session Tuesday.

Primaries Held In Three States

over a slate pledged to a "progressive candidate."

ALABAMA VOTES FOR ROOSEVELT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 3. (AP)—Delegates-at-large pledged to vote for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination for president at the national convention piled up nearly a three to one lead tonight as returns from today's primary trickled in.

A. E. Carmichael, Tuscumbia, leading the Roosevelt ticket, had 880 votes in 22 of the state's 2,126 ballot boxes, while Hugh Mallory, Selma, high candidate on the "uninstructed" slate polled only 332.

Black Ahead

Senator Hugo L. Black stepped out in front in the five man race for nomination to the United States senate. With 103 boxes counted Black had 2,063 votes; Former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, Anniston, was runner up with 1,447; J. Morgan Burns, Selma, prohibition repeal candidate, 383; Charlie C. McCall, Montgomery, referendum and "home control" advocate 248, and Henry L. Anderson, Birmingham, dry, 164.

Black has been regarded as a dry and was designated as such by the anti-saloon league, while Kilby, who as governor signed many of the state's dry laws, has advocated a referendum on prohibition.

While the Roosevelt delegates in the state-at-large race, commanding four of the state's 24 votes, piled up a lead, in the districts the New York governor's supporters also pulled to the front.

Assured of Eight

Roosevelt is assured of eight of the district votes. In the sixth the only two candidates are committed to him and in the fourth all three are definitely supporters of the New Yorker. In addition to the second, third, fifth and eighth only one candidate for delegate in each was against the New Yorker or considered as doubtful by his managers, leaving at least one sure delegate from each district.

Republicans of the state today selected county delegates to their state convention in Birmingham May 18.

PROHIBITION ISSUE IN INDIANA VOTE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3. (AP)—Indiana voters, many of whom expressed themselves indirectly on the prohibition question in today's primary election by the support they gave wet or dry candidates, tonight awaited tabulation of their votes.

Incumbent congressmen in the fourth, sixth, eleventh and twelfth districts who voted against the Beck-Linthicum resolution for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment were opposed by strong candidates of wet opinions.

The incumbents who watched the count of the votes were David Hogg, Republican, fourth district; Fred Purnell, Republican, sixth; Dr. William H. Larrabee, Democrat, seventh, and Louis Ludlow, twelfth.

For the first time in many years Democratic and Republican voters had no opportunity to name their choices for United States senator, governor or for president. The 1931 legislature put those contests before state conventions, which will meet in June.

CALIFORNIA HAS RECORD TURNOUT

LOS ANGELES, May 3. (US)—California voters held the center of the nation's political battlefront today in one of the most important elections in this year's presidential primaries.

A record turnout of more than 1,500,000 voters was the estimate of election officials as the polls closed tonight at 8 o'clock.

The election caused much tenseness in Democratic circles, occasioned by a hot three-cornered fight for delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Of the three groups, the John N. Garner ticket was headed by William Gibbs McAdoo, Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the treasury. Opposing the Garner ticket were those supporting Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt, both of New York.

Because of Speaker Garner's popularity in the state and the desperate struggles made by his Democratic opponents to gain a foothold in California, today's election drew more Democrats than ever before to the polls.

Many of these were former Republicans, now registered as Democrats.

ROOSEVELT UNOPPOSED IN SOUTH DAKOTA

PIERRE, S. D., May 3. (UP)—South Dakota Democrats found their primary election simple today when they had only to approve formally a single slate of 10 delegates already pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the forthcoming presidential convention.

The Republicans had a more difficult time of it, with one list of would-be delegates pledged to President Hoover and another to a "Progressive" candidate for the nomination. Most politicians predicted that the President would win a majority of the delegation.

With more than 200,000 persons registered, about one fourth of whom are Democrats, election judges said the vote apparently had been unusually heavy. Greatest interest of the balloters centered on local issues, particularly for the Republican nomination to the governorship and senatorship.

HOOVER INCREASES MARYLAND LEAD

BALTIMORE, May 3. (AP)—President Hoover made a slight increase in his lead over Former Senator Joseph I. France today, as all but a dozen of the state's voting places reported their unofficial totals from yesterday's primary.

The president, on the face of the returns, polled 26,619 votes to 16,920 for France.

State Senator Wallace Williams was assured of the Republican senatorial nomination over Linwood L. Clark on the county unit system, although his opponent gained the popular vote, 23,883 to 16,602. Williams carried enough counties to get the majority of the state convention delegates.

SHOOTS AT BURGLAR

One shell from a shotgun was fired at the fleeing form of a man discovered in a rear bedroom at the home of H. A. Sosebee, 307 North Travis, at 11:15 o'clock Tuesday night. The burglar, who had taken advantage of an unlocked rear door to enter the house, was found in the bedroom and Mr. Sosebee fired as the man left the yard. Nothing was missed from the room, police reported.

A MISTAKE

Burglar Takes $20 In Non-Negotiable Checks

One member of the burglar profession in Wichita Falls was probably disappointed Tuesday night when he discovered that the five $20 checks taken at the home of V. Pringle, 707 Baylor, were travelers notes and not negotiable. Other loot gained by forcing a rear window while members of the family were in a front room included $4.85 and a woman's purse.

A prowler cut the screen door at the home of Mrs. J. E. McKinney, 1713 Collins, Tuesday night but failed to gain an entrance, police reports said.

and will thus appeal to the senate caucus as a whole for recognition.

It was generally conceded among other members of the senate, however, that until the Louisiana firebrand recognizes the leadership of Robinson, he is a man without a party so far as the senate is concerned, and has little hope of obtaining committee assignments.

Long followed his attack on Robinson by suggesting him as a vice-presidential running mate for President Hoover in the coming campaign.

The appointments in Long's vacancies today were:

Commerce, Mrs. Caraway, Arkansas; naval affairs, Senator Morrison, North Carolina; manufactures, Senator Cohen, Georgia; and inter-oceanic canals, Senator Hawes, Missouri.

The steering committee also chose Senator Bailey, North Carolina for the military affairs committee, and Senator George, Georgia, for the steering committee, to fill vacancies left by the late Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia.

STIMSON GETS SOME RESULTS

'Open Door' Policy in China Believed Secure

WASHINGTON, May 3. (UP)—Secretary of State Stimson's talks with Europe's leaders have encouraged him to believe they will firmly support America's efforts to uphold the "open door" policy in China and the sanctity of treaties affecting the Far East.

It was in search of this assurance, fully as much as to stimulate disarmament, that Stimson went to Geneva. Now he has obtained it. Hence, despite the immediate failure of the American disarmament plan, the secretary's associates feel that his trip was well justified. He plans to sail for the United States tomorrow.

The United Press is in a position to present the views of an experienced diplomatic observer with regard both to Stimson's mission and the disarmament outlook.

Plan Not Abandoned

Stimson went to Geneva hoping that statesmen there were ready to abolish three aggressive arms: Heavy mobile guns, tanks and poison gas. Due, largely to French opposition, the suggestion has not struck fire. But it has not been abandoned.

The French attitude appears to be the stumbling block. France is insisting on its plan to make the League of Nations an international police body and appears unwilling to support any other plan.

Despite the French attitude and other pessimistic factors, some American observers in Geneva see two forces working toward some measure of disarmament:

1. Statesmen there realize that unless the conference reaches some agreement, the political tensions in Europe will be increased.

2. The people at home are demanding results, although few of them want their delegates to sacrifice what they consider national advantages.

Feels Out Attitudes

Now, with regard to the Far East: All during the Manchurian and Shanghai trouble last fall, the state department did not know how much diplomatic support it could expect from Great Britain, France and Italy in insisting that Japan respect the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg pact. And as the future of Japan's policies could not be foreseen, Stimson wanted to talk with MacDonald, Tardieu and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy to learn more of their views than cablegrams or even telephone conversations could tell him.

Stimson has found the three other statesmen anxious to avoid, so far as possible, any acts which would lead to bad feeling between them and Japan. Stimson is equally determined to avoid this. But the secretary has been impressed by their common determination that the treaties protecting Chinese sovereignty—to which they are all parties—and the "open door" policy must be respected. It now appears that any attempt to violate these treaties will be resisted diplomatically with a "united front."

Fess' Relative Does 'Clerical Work' At Home On Tidy Government Salary

Republican Chairman Not Unique In Pratice of Giving Lucrative 'Jobs' to Friends and Family

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Being not only a United States senator but also chairman of the Republican national committee, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio is a very busy man indeed.

That is why he must have secretaries scattered around in various places.

He has several in his senatorial office on Capitol hill.

He has others in his Republican national committee headquarters downtown—but here the taxpayer gets a break because these are not on the government pay roll.

Senator Fess also has his daughter-in-law doing "clerical work" in her home in Toledo, Ohio—at $2,220 a year, government money.

Not Guest at Hotel

Dorothy Fess is listed in the official congressional directory as one of the assistant clerks of the senate library committee of which her father-in-law is chairman. Her address is given in this directory—issued last January—as the Carlton hotel here. But when this correspondent called her there the desk clerk said Senator Fess lived there but he couldn't recall any one named Dorothy Fess.

She lives with her husband, Lehr Fess, a lawyer in Toledo and former parliamentarian of the house of representatives here when his father was in that branch.

Senator Fess is not singled out as unique in doing this. The practice is common in both houses and in both parties.

Perhaps 50 to 60 per cent of the members practice it, regarding it as a vested right. It is one of the first things the new congressman is tipped off to. That is why the house voted down two to one—but without a record vote—the attempt of Representative Mouser, Republican, Ohio, to include in the omnibus economy bill a provision against employment of absentee relatives.

New Member in Line

One new congressman last fall was about to hire a man with experience as a congressional secretary when he was told he could put his wife on the pay roll, pick up a stenographer here cheap, and get by, which he proceeded to do.

There is a classic story here of a middle-western congressman who died a few years ago. He had his wife on the pay roll. She got a divorce. Did he strike her off the pay roll? No. He gave her the clerk hire as alimony.

Senator Fess was quite willing to explain about his daughter-in-law and manifested no feeling when questioned.

"I keep her in Ohio," he explained, "because there is considerable secretarial work out there which she can attend to better than some one here. She is not really a clerk on the library committee. She is an assistant clerk on my office staff assigned to work in Ohio."

"Where does she have her office in Toledo?" he was asked.

"Well, it is mostly clerical work and she does it all at home," he replied. "In the summer when I go to my home in Yellow Springs, Ohio, she comes there to help me with my work."

Receivers Named For Utility Concern

WILMINGTON, Del., May 3. (AP)—Three receivers were appointed in chancery court today for the Appalachian Gas corporation, a holding concern controlling numerous public utilities.

SURVEY SHOWS TARIFF GAINS

Change of Values Effects Higher Protection

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—A study showing the increasing rate of protection of American import duties during the present economic unsettlement was sent to the senate today by the tariff commission.

Transforming specific and other duties to their equivalent ad valorem rate, the commission found that even with an adjustment for declining prices the average ratio of duty to value, designated as the ad valorem equivalent, in 1930-1931 was 41.5 per cent against 35.2 in 1929.

Such an increase, the commission said, could be due to two causes: one, price changes, and two, shifts in the importance of commodities imported. In this study, the commission considered only lower prices.

"In 1929," the commisison said, "the total value of imports of articles which were at that time dutiable, together with imports of articles transferred from the free to the dutiable list by the act of 1930, was $1,658,100,000.

"The duties collected on these imports amounted to $584,271,000, the average ratio of duty to value, designated as the ad valorem equivalent, being thus 35.2 per cent in 1929 (under the 1922 tariff act.)

"The value of the same articles imported in the years 1930-1931, including some which had been transferred from the dutiable to the free list by the act of 1930, amounted to $758,455,000, and the duties thereon totaled $373,868,000, or an average of 49.3 per cent.

"This latter figure has, however, been materially affected by the decline in prices, and when the 1930-1931 values are adjusted to the price level of 1929, the average equivalent of duties becomes about 41.5 per cent."

Judge Thomas J. Lynch agreed to keep secret the name and residence of Miss McConnell's relatives at the request of attorneys. Her sister has four other children.

"You don't think I'm a complete damn fool on politics, do you?" he asked.

"There's a Death Message for This Man,

we must catch him when he comes through here"

His mother had died suddenly. His family was perplexed about notifying him, for he was "somewhere on the way to California." Just where, nobody knew.

They did know, however, he was motoring over a route selected by the Conoco Travel Bureau. So the death message was wired to Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was on that route.

The Continental office set every Conoco station attendant in Albuquerque looking for the traveler. All day Conoco men asked motorists their names. And finally the right man was found, the message delivered to him. An unusual incident. Just one of many out-of-the-ordinary happenings, however, that have earned a nation-wide reputation for the Conoco Travel Bureau and its services.

We do more than furnish road maps, help choose routes and supply other travel information. We look upon every Conoco Passport holder as a personal friend to be served in every way possible. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco attendant is the traveler's well-informed friend.

If you are planning a motor trip, write us where and when you want to go. Or fill in convenient application at any Conoco station. We will send you a Conoco Passport, 1932 road maps and other travel information. Our service is absolutely free . . maintained for the benefit of American motorists by Continental.

Rainbow Luncheon Crowns Forum Social Programs

In all the beautiful luncheon programs given at the Woman's Forum clubhouse, none has exceeded the radiance of the rainbow luncheon that honored members from out of town Tuesday. Mrs. W. B. Hamilton was general chairman of arrangements and appointed on her committees a group of women who were indefatigable in their successful efforts to make the annual affair outstanding.

Tables were laid in the curving shape of a rainbow with individual tables filling the center. A bank of pastel spring flowers ran down the center of the rainbow table, and larkspur, cornflowers, snapdragons, roses and poppies filled the air with perfume. At close intervals, varicolored balloons caught in the banks of blossoms, stressed the rainbow theme in the air. The stage had as a background a rose-covered trellis, and was set as a garden. At one side a beautifully colored rainbow had at its end the proverbial pot of gold. Exquisite bowls of flowers were on the piano and on the table beside the garden seat and the footlights were flanked with palms and ferns. Marking the steps that go to the sides of the stages, were clusters of balloons in rainbow colors.

Youthful Program

Mrs. Hamilton, general chairman, presented Mrs. P. P. Langford, who offered a beautiful invocation. Mrs. Paul Donald of Bowie, who acted as toastmistress, was next presented and expressed the appreciation of out-of-town members for the recognition that was extended them in May, the month of flowers. The thought of youth featured in the program and the rainbow, marking the compact of God with man, were pretty expressions of her appreciation.

The program was given as follows:

Country Garden ..... Percy Grainger
Margaret Fulton, Nocona

Vocal Numbers—
Spring Is Here ..... Selected
Love Is the Wind ..... Selected
Mrs. J. G. Totten, Electra

Reading—
I'll Marry in the Month of May ..... O. Henry
Dorothy McKinney, Henrietta

Piano—
Impromptu C Sharp Minor ..... Reinhold
Martha Marcell, Olney

Skit—Altering the Altar ..... Selected
Misses Merle Slaughter and Bess Waltman, Bowie

The closing number was a dance of rainbow fairies given by pupils of the Knickerbocker Fine Arts school with Mrs. L. L. Davis accompanying. The dainty rainbow dresses made it a beautiful scene; those taking part were Joyce Janice Hale, Betty Sue Tennyson, Nancy Ann Smith, Betty June Hefley, Helen Louise Anderson, Ruby Louise Davis, and Thelma Jeanne Armstrong.

Fairy Announcer

Lorena Black of Iowa Park was the rainbow fairy who went to the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow and announced numbers. When the program was concluded the charming little girl, produced from the pot an entirely unexpected bag of gold, a gift from the out-of-town members to the forum. Mrs. Donald, the gracious toastmistress, announced that a fairy had whispered in their ears the suggestion of the gift and Mrs. Hamilton, as chairman, gave a beautiful little expression of thanks on the part of the forum.

Mrs. Hamilton presented 35 out-of-town members who were honorees on the occasion and introduced her committees. Mesdames Rhea Howard and E. B. Lehrack were the reservation committee; Mrs. W. W. Cook was in charge of the publicity; Mrs. Floyd Randel, assisted by Mesdames Charles Daniel, Ivan Murchison, Luther Wright, G. L. Shapard, M. T. Clements, J. J. Perkins, Burton Stayton and Luther Hoffman, arranged the beautiful setting and decorations.

Mrs. M. T. Clements announced the final meeting of the writers' department Thursday at 12 o'clock when the prizes will be awarded for the poetry contest; Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta, announced the five-point child radio program over KGKO in the district club hour Thursday morning and Mrs. Newton Maer told of the opening campaign for the Civic Music association members.

Approximately 200 guests were seated.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

When men and women used to drive their horses, they had a habit of talking to them. Horses, being next to dogs the most lovable (at least to us, and you know we are writing this column), of animals, that was perfectly natural.

With the advent of automobiles (yes, we remember all about it), men did not get out of the habit. Our own husband used to call terrible threats to his left or right, (as the case might be) horse. In later years, he quit talking to the horses and began to address drivers whose method of driving did not suit him. We have often been thankful they could not hear him.

But sad to say, the habit is a catching one. If we meet a person who seems to regard the entire street as his own, we catch ourself-thrusting our head out the window and shouting "take it all." And we have publicly addressed more than one person as "road hog" without even smiling. Having a rather low voice, the other driver has probably never caught anything but the expression of our face. If it is a picture of our spirit at that moment, it must be a terrible thing.

This spirit of ours is an unmanageable thing, to say the least of it. It beams at beauty and weeps at ugliness of any kind, material or physical. Having known it for some years, we would miss it sadly, so we will not complain about it. There are plenty of our readers too willing to do that.

But back to the drivers of cars. A charming young lady told us the other day that she was fined (it was her second offense) $1 for every mile she was caught driving above the legal speed limit—which happened at that time to be 39 miles too much. We may yell at the other fellow and there are times when we drive just a wee bit above the limit, but if the judge fines us as much as $39 at any time, we see ourself languishing in jail—for 39 days.

Should such a thing happen— here we go crossing bridges before we come to them—we wonder if our boss would let us send in a column each day from the jail. And we wonder how they feed.

On second thought, we decide to break no laws; we want orange juice for our breakfast and fear they do not furnish it in local jails.

The thought of a jail sentence leads us to the thought of investigating jails. We shall try to make a visit to one. It has not been long since we ate beside Sheriff Browning at an annual banquet and he seemed quite a pleasant man. Perhaps he would let us have orange juice from his own table.

But even if we do not speed or if we do not break any more traffic laws, we were initiated at the time when we turned left on a wrong corner and had to pay for it. In less than a week, a left-hand turn was marked on that corner. We clamor for a refund.

And we wonder why, if we have a light out, a cop stops us, when there is no evening we do not meet dozens of cars with a missing light. If there is such a thing as justice in this world, we begin to think women do not have their share.

SCOT CASTLE RESTORED

Eilean Donan Castle, on Lock Duick, Scotland, which was blown up in 1719, is being restored and will be ready for occupancy by summer. Lieut. Col. John McRae-Gilstrap, whose grandfather was the constable of the castle, will live there. Eilean Donan Castle has had many deeds of bravery and bloodshed. In the fourteenth century 50 misdoers were executed within its walls.

Manuscript Club Meets In Final Evening Session

Members of the Manuscript club met Monday evening with Miss Lucile Sherrod in the closing evening meeting of the season. A delightful original program was featured.

Mrs. Louise Williamson broke the ice of formality with the minutes of the old club, stressing the reminiscences that marked it as a "pink tea" affair.

A sketch by Mrs. Sam Kruger, "The Seed Shall Not Wither in the Ground," was a charming variety of this author's talent. Miss Edith Slaten read a number of her articles that have been published and a clever round table discussion followed the program.

Members present included Mrs. James P. Bowen, C. R. Yeager, W. B. Whiting, Louise Williamson, J. F. Bailey, Ann Pence Davis, Sam Kruger; Misses Edith Slaten, Mary Louise Staley and the hostess, Miss Sherrod.

Our Children

Did You Ask?

Young children are likely to get wrong notions of life out of what we think are perfectly correct experiences. Everybody likes to make a child happy. It takes very little and it makes the grownup feel warmed about the heart, and rather pleased with himself. When a whole family of relatives feel the same way about one little child that child is likely to catch the idea that whatever he wants is his. So sure is he that he ceases to ask and just helps himself. Then the trouble begins.

"Robina brought home a little doll this morning and when I asked her where she got it she said the teacher gave it to her. I talked to her and convinced her that she had taken it herself. I'm worried to death. Is the child going to steal?"

No, but she is going to take things for a while. She has no idea of the normal implications of the situation. Those come much later and are born of experience. The only idea she has just now is that to want is to have. Her experience has taught her just about that. What is to be done? The child must learn that helping herself won't do. She must learn to respect other folk's rights. And too, she must learn to discipline herself to going without. That is very hard for a little child to understand. You and I know many a grownup person who has never been able to attain that degree of self control. But there is hope for the child if we will turn to and help.

First give the child a room of his own if you can; a place to keep his things in and which can be closed and locked if he wishes. Then teach him by daily experience that he is not to touch anything that belongs to anybody else unless he asks permission and receives it. One of the first steps in that instruction is that of respecting the child's belongings as you want him to respect those of other people.

If you take his candy, use his money, give away his toys without as much as by your leave, he can not help getting the idea that nobody owns anything and help yourself is the right idea. Ask if you may use his things and teach him to do the same.

When he takes something that does not belong to him waste no words but inquire — purposely strengthening your tone—"Did you ask?" If not, then back it goes no matter how inconvenient.

Whatever you do don't make the mistake of ranting and raving, calling the child a thief, punching him severely and making him do public penance.

Keep the matter to yourself. The fewer people in the secret the better. A child needs the respect of his community. Rob him of that and you have taken away one of his stoutest props, one of the greatest incentives to right doing. Keep asking, "Did you ask?" until that phrase is a part of the child's thinking, and he will come through all right. Only unintelligent children actually steal. Most children are intelligent and can be trained to the acceptance of property rights.

MOSQUITO SAVES MAN'S LIFE

Two bites from a mosquito saved the life of a man attacked by a terrible tropical disease, in Boscombe hospital, Bournemouth, England, recently. The mosquito, a rare African specimen, was taken in a cage from the tropical disease research laboratories in London. At the hospital the cage was opened and the buzzer allowed to take two big bites at the patient's leg.

Emily Post Gives List Of Words Incorrectly Used

By EMILY POST

The following words and phrases are banned by people of best taste. Don't say "lady friend," "gentlemen friend." The younger generation is inclined to say "girl friend" and "boy friend," which are not especially recommended but which because of present usage are not tabu. And neither is "my best girl," which has long been said in almost all communities. People of cultivation, usually say "a man (or a girl) who is a friend of mine."

Never talk about "keeping company" or "walking out with." Say, "my fiance (or fiancee)" or "the man (or girl) I'm going to marry," or "a man I see a lot of," or "a man (or girl) who is a great friend of mine."

There is no proper equivalent for the phrase "keeping company" because, according to etiquette, no such situation exists. No man is given the exclusive right to be devoted to any girl unless he is engaged to her.

Don't say "social affair." The social significance of an "affair" is something more than friendship between a man and a woman. Or one may speak of affairs of business or state. Or again an affair means a contraption badly put together—a broken-iron piece of furniture.

In best society one dines or lunches or goes to a party, but no one ever hears any one of best position speak of a "social affair."

Never say "drapes," meaning curtains or draperies. Never say "Pleased to meet you" or "Charmed I'm sure."

The signature "cordially yours" is not liked in New York, but it is suitable from an employer to a new employe or from an editor to a contributor. It is, moreover, a fashionable rather than an actual tabu—somewhat like the phrases a "wealthy man" and a "close friend"—never used in New York society, but admitted as proper in many of the social groups in other states.

Racketeering Is Called Prohibition's Stepchild

PHILADELPHIA, May 3. (INS)—The flat and open charge that racketeering is the stepchild of prohibition was voiced today by Public Safety Director Kern Dodge.

Dodge blamed prohibition for the increasing activity of racketeers locally, but tempered his charge by the admission that the increased racketeering efforts in turn resulted from economic conditions in the bootlegging "profession."

R. C. A. REPORTS

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—The Radio Corporation of America for the quarter ended March 31 had net profit of $508,273 after depreciation, amortization, taxes and other charges. This profit covered the dividend on the preferred "A" stock. In the first quarter last year the company had net profit of $1,566,519, equal to $3.98 a share on the preferred "A" stock and two cents a share on the common stock.

"I DON'T MEAN this unkindly—you know I rarely gossip—but can't you give her a hint? She is so strange about some things. The way she wears her lingerie two or three days without a change! Every one perspires a little—doesn't she realize how easy it is to offend?"

ALL DAY underthings absorb perspiration acids and odors. That penetrating hint is so noticeable to others, before you're aware of it yourself. Don't take chances that may cost you romance or a job.

There's one sure way to know you are fresh and sweet! Lux is made to remove these unpleasant acids and odors completely, yet gently, so that colors and fabrics are never harmed.

And it takes only 4 minutes or less. Don't take chances! Follow this dainty habit—Lux underthings and stockings after every wearing.

Avoid Offending—underthings absorb perspiration odor. Protect daintiness this way:

1 Wash this 4-minute way. One tablespoon of Lux does one day's undies . . . stockings, too! Use lukewarm water—Lux dissolves instantly in it. Squeeze suds through fabric, rinse twice.

2 Wash after each wearing, for perspiration acids left in silk fade colors and rot threads. Lux removes perspiration acids and odors completely—leaves colors and fabrics like new.

3 Never rub dainty lingerie with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak and wear out silk.

4 Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens threads, fades color. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

For Dishes
Lux in the dishpan gives your hands hours of beauty care—at such trifling cost!

LUX for underthings

keeps them like new in spite of constant washing

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT MORE ECONOMICAL

Just One of the Improvement Developed for Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits

When the Kellogg Company were perfecting their new shredded biscuit, they decided that one of the improvements would be in the size of the biscuit. Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are a new, convenient size. Two are just right for a serving and fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. Also you get 15 to the package, instead of the usual dozen.

The new Kellogg biscuits have a most delicious taste and crispness. They are "pressure-cooked"—a special process that bakes in the rich flavor. And every biscuit is double toasted—browned on both top and bottom.

Of even greater interest is the fact that Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are so rich in food value that every package is certified by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. "Pressure-cooking" retains all the food value of the whole wheat, as well as making the biscuit easier to digest.

You'll find these new shredded biscuits a very welcome improvement. Delightful served with milk or cream—fruits or honey added—for breakfast, lunch, the children's supper.

Grocers say that sales are steadily increasing. Identify this improved cereal by the familiar red-and-green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OIL PRODUCERS TO HOLD MEET

Oil Men of World to Try For Price Regulation

LONDON, May 3. (US)—An agreement among the world's great oil producers to regulate prices and production is expected to emerge from the world oil conference to take place within a few days in New York, it was said tonight.

An important group of representatives of British oil companies including Asiatic Petroleum, Shell, Anglo-Persian and Burma, will arrive in New York Thursday aboard the liner Europa.

Philip Rabinovitch, with two other high officials of the Soviet oil monopoly, sailed for New York last week, hopeful of negotiating a separate agreement with American companies which will force the British into line on Russia's terms.

British circles understand the object of the conference to be to persuade the Russians to agree to limiting world output, but the British are inclined to be pessimistic over the outcome.

The Soviet oil officials believe the British will attempt to throw up barriers in their path, but that if Russia reaches an accord with American companies, the British will be forced to accept it.

Mother 'Akron' Enfolds Pursuit Planes In Bosom During Test

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 3. (INS)—Another major achievement was chalked up in aviation history today when two navy airplanes, without hitch or difficulty, took off from here, snagged themselves successfully on the great dirigible Akron, cruising about on a test flight, and were hoisted inside the hull of the giant airship.

The pilots of the airplanes were Lieut. Howard Young and Lieut. Ward Harrigan. Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl was in charge of the novel test operations aboard the dirigible.

The Akron was built with a small compartment in the bottom of its hull through which five airplanes can be hoisted and stowed away in a sort of traveling hangar.

It is intended that these planes shall be of the pursuit type, capable of fighting off airplanes attacking the dirigible or of adding to the offensive operations of the great airship in battle.

The tests today were made to determine the ability of the airplanes to return to the mother craft. The planes fly beneath the airship and a sort of trapeze bar on their upper surface is caught by a hook and cable dangling from the airship.

Raymond Wheeler, 22, alias Ray Rand, and Lysle Wortman, were committed to McAlester penitentiary Oct. 22, 1929, after conviction in McCurtain county in a filling station holdup.

Governor Bryan wrote that Wheeler had been working in railroad shops at Omaha and apparently had a good record.

Governor Murray granted 10 other paroles mostly to convicts who previously had been given temporary clemency.

Edison has received notification from Washington that exclusive rights have been granted him on the device for elimination of vibration from machinery. It is the first patent to be granted him independently, though he has obtained others for inventions under the guidance of his father.

The invention which Theodore Edison has patented is a device which may be attached to machinery, small or large, and which, engineers say, will cause all vibration to cease.

WENTZ FORCES SPEED CONTEST

Supreme Court Appeal Is Planned at Once

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (UP)—A move to force an immediate supreme court decision on Gov. W. H. Murray's executive order ousting Lew H. Wentz from the highway commission was started today.

Attorneys for Wentz served notice on Miss Maude O. Thomas, named by Murray to succeed Wentz, that they will appeal to the supreme court from the two-judge district court ruling two weeks ago.

This decision decreed Wentz is the rightful holder of the highway office and that Miss Thomas is unlawfully in possession. However, the district court decision made no effort to dispossess her from physical possession of the office.

John H. Miley, one of Wentz' attorneys, said he "probably" will file the appeal, but still has a week to do so.

The appeal, he said, would be from that part of the ruling which knocked out Wentz' cross-petition asking that Miss Thomas be ousted from the office.

"Our plans are not definite," said Miley. "They are trying to play a game of hide and seek, and are not keeping their word that they would help expedite matters and get an early decision on the merits of the case."

Miley said an appeal on the first case would not affect the new district court action filed by Wentz in which he asks an order to oust Miss Thomas.

Leon Hirsh, attorney for Miss Thomas, said he would file across appeal in supreme court if the first case is appealed by attorneys for Wentz.

"It looks mighty queer that they would appeal from a decision which they claim upholds them," said Hirsh.

Consul Chamberlain To Seek Lost Family

HARBIN, Manchuria, May 3. (INS)—Culver B. Chamberlain, American vice-consul here, who was the victim of a sensational attack by Japanese soldiers in Mukden last fall, announced today he would cross the Sino-Japanese lines north of Harbin tomorrow in an effort to rescue Carl Eskildsen, American medical missionary, and his family.

The Eskildsens, Chamberlain said, are now traveling from Suihua as far as Hulan, eighteen miles north of Harbin, braving the danger of roving bands of bandits and irregular soldiers. Using a hand car on the rails of the Chinese Eastern railway and making part of the journey by cart, Chamberlain expects to meet the family at Hulan.

Communicating with Eskildsen by telephone at Shihua yesterday, Chamberlain told the missionary he could not guarantee safety because of an impending battle at Hulan.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—One indication of the Massachusetts-Pennsylvania fights between Friend Frank Roosevelt and Friend Al Smith is that they put it largely up to the California Democratic primaries to say where either New Yorker is going.

JOHN N. GARNER

Had the two eastern states gone for either man, the California outcome — likely known when this is read — would merely be cumulative or would serve to make the third figure in the race, Speaker Garner, more than Texas' favorite son.

Since the eastern show was more or less of a Smith-Roosevelt dead heat, prospect of a California victory for either has been an important factor to consider.

Looks Like a Leader

Incidentally, Smith's comment that the eastern results "ought to put a chock under the Roosevelt band wagon" suggests that he views himself now as definitely leader of the stop-Roosevelt movement.

His supporters in New York began figuring out that Smith would have around 200 votes on the first ballot in Chicago.

Recalling that Smith had but 240 votes on the first ballot at New York in 1924 against McAdoo's 431 and that his high-water mark was 368 against McAdoo's high of 513, that estimate may have caused a shiver of apprehension among some Democrats that 1924 was to be repeated.

In Washington anti-Roosevelters computed a possible maximum of 455 votes against Roosevelt, including the favorite son group, or 70 more than needed to block him.

That favorite son list includes Garner's 46 Texas votes, former Senator Reed's 36 from Missouri and 52 from Ohio credited to Governor White. What about those?

Doubtless, also, the question has been asked concerning Garner's possible course in the event of victory for Roosevelt or Smith in California.

Could he be counted on to stay put just as a stop-Roosevelt factor? Or would Texas, which went for Hoover against Smith in 1928, go along with Smith now to exercise a veto power at Chicago?

Garner has said repeatedly he would not ally himself with any move to stop anybody. It is an open secret that he favored Roosevelt before his own name was thrust into the pot.

Garner Marks Time

Informed opinion here now credits Garner with a decision to say his say on the nomination issue as soon as congress recesses for the conventions. Some press observers say they believe they have detected a change in Garner in recent weeks.

Six weeks ago they thought he was flirting seriously with the presidential idea. They doubt it now.

At any rate the Smith "chock" to the Roosevelt bandwagon may be just a painful bump unless folks like Garner, Jim Reed of Missouri and Govrnor White of Ohio stay put.

Social Welfare Meet Slated at Glen Rose

SAN ANTONIO, May 3. (AP)—The Texas conference of social welfare will be held at Glen Rose, Texas, May 5 to 7 inclusive, George H. Craze, chairman of the committee on public information announced. This is a state-wide meeting and will be attended by social workers from all over Texas. Many official and voluntary social agencies will be represented by the delegates, he said.

A number of prominent speakers from out of the state will be on the program, Craze said, and papers and discussions will have news value for a large group in Texas. Headquarters are at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Glen Rose, Somervell county.

Hard work is the way to end the depression, Charlie Schwab says. But he didn't say where to find it.

Painful But Necessary

IT IS probable that no issue brought before the city council for settlement in recent years has presented so knotty a problem as that presented by the taxi-fare question. Certainly no recent issue has given the members of the council so much personal concern, nor has compelled them to take a definite step which at the moment probably is not popular.

Personal sympathies and antipathies, if any were harbored by the city aldermen, were commendably eliminated from their consideration of the question. Such an impartial attitude was imperative, for the present and future interests of more than 40,000 persons were vitally concerned.

Innumerable citizens of Wichita Falls probably have enjoyed the low-priced taxi transportation available during the past month, and would prefer its continuance. Such features as the home pick-up, comfort, speed, and delivery direct to destination were appealing. But a further material factor made the service attractive. The average persons draw something of personal satisfaction from being waited upon by a private conveyance. It carries certain implications of independence and affluence. That element unquestionably figured largely in the dime taxi's considerable patronage.

But the council had to look further than the convenience and pleasure of the moment. They saw that a continuance of low-priced taxi service meant the immediate discontinuance of street car and bus service. They foresaw that scores of taxi operators would rush into the field immediately, lured by the reported profits of pioneers in the game. They foresaw the unregulated competition which would result at once, forcing down the passenger fare to such a point that none of the taxi services could subsist. A crowded field, indiscriminate competition, elimination of profit, worn out cars, no funds for their replacement, and the city would be absolutely on its feet save for privately driven cars. That was the picture which shaped itself plainly before the council.

Motivated by a desire to serve the citizenship's best permanent interests, members of the council were forced to adopt a measure which at the moment probably has many opponents. But serious consideration of the elements involved in the matter should result in general approval of the city's action.

The Way Fame Works

EDWARD MARKHAM, the poet, said recently that he wished people would forget, for a while at least, that he ever wrote a poem called "The Man With the Hoe."

This poem, which made him world-famous when he wrote it some three decades ago, and which is as much alive today as it ever was, follows him, he complained, like an avenging ghost. He has written many other poems and he thinks that some of them have a lot more artistic worth; but no matter what he does or where he goes, he is still known as the author of "The Man With the Hoe," and he's getting a bit tired of it.

All of which, of course, is just another interesting little sidelight on the way fame works.

People like to couple a man's name with one outstanding feat. Once they do this the man's fame is secure, and he can bask in the knowledge that he won't be forgotten; but he may eventually find, as Mr. Markham has found, that he will never be given credit for doing anything else. From that moment on he is a one-achievement man.

Consider, for instance, Richmond P. Hobson, whose long public career faded into nothing, in the public mind, beside the fact that he sank the Merrimac at the mouth of Santiago harbor during the Spanish war.

Then there are James Monroe, about whom the ordinary citizen knows absolutely nothing except that while president he formulated the Monroe doctrine; and Aaron Burr, remembered solely because he killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel; and Henry Clay, about whom we recall nothing except that he had a pleasing knack of devising compromises; and Stephen A. Douglas, who debated with Lincoln; and Benjamin Franklin, whom many remember only in connection with a certain kite-flying episode.

And so it goes. If you are ambitious, beware of a tag; it may make your fame endure, but it will also make it a bit lop-sided.

Those Good Old Days

A NEW YORK hygienist the other day attained the front page by remarking that the good old days must have been pretty unhealthful. The old oaken bucket, the old swimming hole, the pies that mother used to bake—all of these, he said, may have been highly enjoyable, but they were "tawdry and unsanitary" and if modern life has got us away from them it is a good thing.

All of this may be quite true; but the gentleman really ought to pipe down before he raises a great prejudice against public hygiene. Most people, quite perversely, would rather be happy than hygienic; and if hygienists insist on pointing out the sanitary shortcoming in our most cherished old-time memories they are apt to persuade some of us that there can be things considerably more important than hygiene.

SO THEY SAY!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BELT OF DEATH—In 1909 the non-magnetic ship Carnegie, built entirely without iron to make it impervious to magnetic interference, discovered that there is an area in the South Pacific ocean completely devoid of oxygen. This area, about 100 miles wide, called the Belt of Death, was located at a depth of 300 feet, extending downward at least 1,000 feet. No living organism depending on oxygen for life can exist in the Belt of Death. It bars the creatures of the deep sea as effectively as thought it were constructed out of some impenetrable and indestructible metal.

THE PHILIPPINE SLAPPING SPORT—Two lithe and muscular Igorots step forward. One of them squats on a wooden bench and grasps his right thigh so as to tighten the muscles. The aggressor steps back, rises on his toe and delivers a powerful stroke upon the rigid thigh of the slappee with the flat of his hand. If blood shows beneath the skin of him who got slapped the blow is considered to have carried the proper amount of dynamite, and the aggressor is declared to have won the game, without fear of reprisals. Otherwise he must take his turn on the bench and be slapped by his victim to the "first blood."

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of "Broadway Bride"

CHAPTER XLIV

"Could you advance me a couple of dollars?" the girl who complained about not having a wave asked Mrs. Bertram. "You see, I couldn't go around office buildings with my hat off without a wave."

The keen, shrewd eyes of Mrs. Bertram took on an you-can't-out-smart-me-young-woman expression.

"I'm afraid not. Sell a few magazine subscriptions and you'll have enough to get your hair done. I'll put you to work now—"

The girl started putting on her hat.

"I guess I'd better try looking for something else. You see, I haven't any money—at all. Spent my last on the subway here."

But you could see the wise Mrs. Bertram wasn't convinced.

The girl stood up. "You don't believe me! You won't believe me when I tell you I haven't eaten since yesterday noon, either! To hell with you!"

And she slammed the door with a bang as she left.

Mrs. Bertram turned to Lillian and Eve with a sort of laugh. "These New York girls—tell you anything to get something for nothing."

Lillian and Eve were silent. They knew better than to doubt the truth of the departed girl.

A small frizzled-haired girl came into the room. Mrs. Bertram greeted her as "Dorothy" and said: "Show these girls your sales line, Dorothy. They're going to work with us."

Dorothy snapped into it, taking a chair and crossing her knees in their thin stockings. In a warm voice she began—"Oh, you're Mr.—r—oh, Smith, I know!" she laughed. "See, girls, she gets your attention. Dorothy's one of our best girls. Traveled with us for two years, helped organize groups of girls in the larger cities, from Florida right through Tennessee, on to Massachusetts and here. Tell the girls, Dorothy, how much you've made in a single day—"

"Forty dollars one day," chirped Dorothy, turning on her wide painted smile.

It all seemed so easy. Lillian and Eve were as attractive as Dorothy, at least. They began to feel certain of their wiles.

They started out determined to be "college girls," armed with the necessary blanks and magazines.

By folding their soft hats they could hide them in the sleeves of their coats. And they hung their coats over their arms.

The building they selected was near Forty-second street — filled with offices, with "busy business men."

"How did you get in here?" one gruff looking man asked as Lillian stepped into his office.

She made an effort to turn on the school-girl smile. She took a step toward his big desk. It was no less a marvel to her that she had managed to walk past the receptionist outside his office.

"You're Mr. Dodson, aren't you?" she began. She had seen his name painted on the frosted glass door panel. Also, that he was "president" of the Wear-Good Hosiery, Inc.

"Yes," he said, not responding to her smile.

"May I sit by you for a minute—"

She made an effort to move a large over-stuffed leather chair. The chair was too heavy. She sat in it, across from him.

"What's this?" he asked, half rising, pushing back a pile of papers on his desk. Irritation in his manner. His face a little flushed.

"I wanted to talk to you—only a few minutes—"

"What're you selling, young lady? Magazine subscriptions?"

Lillian's nerve failed. Her face went red. She got on her feet. If she was going to ask charity she could do it better on her feet. It would be charity to plead with this man . . . to advance two dollars for signing his name.

"I thought so!" he said, his eyes fastening on her from behind thick glasses. "I'm busy. And I don't want magazine subscriptions and—"

"Wouldn't your wife be pleased," Lillian ventured.

"I haven't a wife, thank the Lord!" he informed her.

"I thought—"

He stepped to the door and opened it and called: "Miss Howell!"

His receptionist who had been all-absorbed in a telephone conversation when Lillian slipped past her into her boss' office, came to the door.

"Why did you allow this young woman to come into my office? You did not announce her. I don't want to see any peddlers . . . they're not allowed in this building. I'll report you, young lady!"

Lillian said: "Please . . ."

"Didn't you see a sign in the lobby by the elevators saying 'Beggars and peddlers not allowed'?"

Lillian said: "I'm not begging. I'm trying to work, Mr.—"

"Well, my time is valuable and—"

"Mr. Dodson, she slipped into your office. I didn't even see her." The receptionist looked arrogantly, condescendingly at Lillian.

"I ought to report you to the superintendent—" the man said, but his temper was subsiding, "and I will if you don't hurry on your way."

Lillian hurried.

What if he reported her? She might be arrested. Frightened, discouraged, she opened the door marked "Exit" leading from that floor down some stairs.

She ran down several flights before she felt out of reach of the ill-tempered man and his arrogant aide. Her hands trembled and her knees felt as if they would fold up with her any second. She dropped down on the steps while she pushed her dark hair under her hat.

Even when she was out on the street she could hear the harsh, mean tone of that voice.

She waited at the entrance of the building for Eve, as they had planned. Forty-second street was bright and sunny. Expensive cars whirred past, carrying well-dressed, well-fed people . . . pretty, laughing girls on their way to matinees, just out of warm, luxurious rooms . . . probably with the plesant taste of luncheons still in their mouths.

She turned away and looked into a plate glass window. Her heart ached a little for herself, for Eve, for the thousands of girls like them. Her spirits, so buoyant a few hours before, now weer almost at rock bottom.

She became conscious of some one at her elbow. She could see the reflection in the glass window. It was a stoop-shouldered old woman.

"Will you help a little, miss? Only a few cents. I'm hungry—"

Her faded hair was drawn neatly from her kind aged face. There was a hint of better days about her coat, with its darned elbows and skimpy collar.

"I'm sorry—" Lillian said, trying to draw her eyes away from the kindly, aching ones of the old lady. "Miss—you don't understand how it is to be hungry. You, with your pretty clothes, your mouth. Only a few cents, miss—"

Lillians' eyes filled.

"My room is paid up for tonight—" the old lady continued, "and I thought if I could get something to eat for today—"

"What then?" Lillian asked. "What will you do then?"

"There's the gas—sometimes I think it would be easier than asking help from people who don't understand how it is to be hungry."

Lillian dug quickly into her purse and gave the old lady a quarter.

"Bless you, my dear," said the old voice.

Lillian turned away from her. She wished Eve would come on and they could walk in the park or do something that would not remind her of the depression.

Eve came and they walked in Bryant park. They sat on a bench. They tried to talk about the bright, cheerful sunshine. But it was noon and they were hungry. And it was cold, despite the sun. The leafless trees of the park offered no shelter and the down-and-outers sitting about on the benches littered with crumpled newspapers failed to lift their spirits.

Thousands of government experts are working constantly for the benefit of all citizens of the United States. They will work directly for you if you will use our Washington bureau. This newspaper employs Mr. Haskin to act as an agent for its readers. He will take your matter to the proper authority. State your inquiry briefly, write clearly and, enclosing two-cent stamp for a personal letter in reply, address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Please describe the bobsleds used in the winter Olympic games. —J. A. G.

A.—Each four-man bob weighs 485 pounds; each two-man, 352 pounds. The four-man sleds are 11 feet 7 inches long; the two-man, 9 feet. The bobs are 10½ inches above the ground and they steer like an automobile. They are engineered to the fraction of an inch and are as carefully and stoutly constructed as any racing car. The bobs cost from $500 to $800 apiece, depending on the size.

Q.—What color is Tony, the famous horse in the movies?—L. H.

A.—Tom Mix says that his horse Tony is a brown horse with white spots.

Q.—What was the value of Alaska's fur exports last year?—J. C.

A.—The total value of furs shipped from Alaska during the year 1931 was $1,770,324.02.

Q.—Does it take more skill to play kettledrums than snare or bass drums?—T. M.

A.—It takes higher training and skill. The tuning of the kettledrums requires great skill and a fine ear, for it often has to be done while the orchestra is playing.

Q.—How much of an estate did Tex Rickard leave?—A. S.

A.—The Rickard estate, originally appraised at $500,000, was finally valued at about $184,000.

Q.—Why is March such a windy month?—P. G.

A.—In March the difference in temperature between the southern and northern portions of the United States is greater than at any other time of the year, hence the difference in atmospheric pressure between these regions is then greatest and the resulting winds strongest.

Q.—How many pieces of second class mail were handled by the postoffice department last year?—L. P.

A.—For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, the total was 4,814,533,083. The revenue derived from it was $27,471,247.67.

Q.—What is the largest foundation in the United States?—A. F.

A.—The Carnegie corporation of New York is largest, with a capital of $159,860,783. The Rockefeller foundation is second with a capital of $147,373,921.

Q.—What is a necropolis?—M. R.

A.—It is a cemetery or burial ground, especially one of great size or one found near the site of an ancient city.

Q.—Did the Indians have any knowledge of surgery?—A. D.

A.—It is evident that they did, since trepanned skulls of aborigines are still in existence. It is probable that their surgeons also performed amputations.

Q.—Do Canadians drink more tea or more coffee?—D. T. N.

A.—The annual imports of tea into Canada average about 40,000,000 pounds, while coffee averages only 27,000,000 pounds.

Q.—How much of New York's subway system is actually underground?—H. B.

A.—New York City has 619 miles of subways, of which 313 miles are actual subways.

Q.—How can an amateur take finger prints?—F. P.

A.—The equipment consists of a tube of printer's ink, and an inking slab on which the ink is first distributed, a roller, and an inking plate on which the fingers are inked, and possibly a card holder. The last item is not absolutely essential but can be of valuable assistance in holding the fingerprint card in place to prevent blurring. Best results can be expected from the use of black printer's ink for it dries so rapidly that fresh work can be handled immediately with very little danger of smudging.

Q.—How should screens be cared for? These are not copper screens. —W. B.

A.—Screen doors and window screens, when being stored away for the winter should be thoroughly brushed and cleaned and perfectly dry. When the screens are taken out in the spring, they should be brushed and cleaned before hanging and if a light coat of screen paint is applied before they are put up, the screens should last indefinitely. In doing this, any little spot that might have a tendency to rust would be covered and thus prevented from rusting or deteriorating.

HANK SWATS HOMER WITH BASES PACKED AS SPUDS WIN, 10-5

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Another Error

Mr. Clift, sensational young swatter who at present is doing second base duty for the Spuds, is neither Harlan Clift, nor Harland Clift. His name is Harlond Clift.

By the end of the season we hope to be spelling the names of our Spudders right.

Not that we assume the blame for these errors. Clift's name appeared as both Harland and Harlan in the records sent to the Spudder club and we adopted first one spelling and then the other. The fact that both were wrong didn't bother Clift at all. This bewildering modesty on the part of young Clift is responsible, for had he told us, the name would have been corrected.

At last we got bothered about whether a "d" belonged on the Harlan or not, and asked him. That was just the other day. And he gave us the correst spelling.

Modesty seems to be a pretty general trait among the majority of athletes who really have the stuff. We could have called this young infielder Harlando Baxterville Cliftonius the rest of the season, and I'll lay you three to one he wouldn't have objected in the least.

Whenever I think of the unpretentious, hard-working Clift I think of Lefty Gomez, 21-year-old youngster who is pitching wonderful ball for the Yankees this year. Gomez is of Clift's type exactly. The other day he hurled a three-hit game to whip the Red Sox, 5 to 1, and Richards Vidmer, writing in the New York Herald Tribune, devoted more of his story to describing the modest left-hander than he did to the ball game. He wrote in part:

"To look at the lean left-hander, with slightly stooped shoulders and long, almost gangling, arms one never would take him to be an athlete. To hear him talk one would be led to believe that he stood in awe of the great stars of baseball instead of being one himself. He probably is the only person interested in the game who doesn't realize Lefty Gomez is one of the great pitchers of the day.

"Yet in this, his second year in the major leagues, still looking like a mere boy and acting even younger, he stands alongside Bob Grove, George Earnshaw, Wesley Ferrell, Burleigh Grimes, Dazzy Vance and all the rest beneath the brightest rays of the sporting spotlight."

Champions Already!

Take it from Lloyd Gregory, Houston sports scribe, the Houston Buffs are going to win the Texas league flag this year.

Coming from a Houston writer, this announcement is not startling at all. It is not only the customary thing for sports writers to boost their home town team, but it is also perfectly permissible for them to rate the home boys as flag winners before the season gets well started—a couple of years before it starts, if you really want to go in for prognosticating in a big way.

It is not Gregory's loyalty to his team that we regret. It is his callous assumption—yea, callous; I like that withering word—that the Texas league race is not only already over, with Houston enthroned as champion, but that the Buffs will probably meet the Birmingham Barons in the Dixie series.

You see, this fella Gregory is not only settling the race in this league—he's already told the boys how to finish in the Southern association, too!

Furthermore, he even gives you an idea of the Barons' probable lineup when the Buffs and the Barons open the Dixie series. And that is, indeed, carrying matters a little bit too far. Kind sir, can you tell me, at this distance, who will pitch for Birmingham in the first game of the Dixie series, and who will pitch for Houston?

Such callous aloofness—ah, I like that word callous; and aloofness is not so bad, either—is really more than the average fan should stand for. Gregory's high perch on the prophetic pinnacle was an even greater shock to me, for I know Gregory personally for a smooth, accurate, conservative—by all means conservative—writer.

But something happened. Gregory must have become intoxicated. Now I don't mean what you're thinking. I mean Gregory must have become intoxicated with enthusiasm for his cherished Buffs when old Jawge Payne walked out there and won his first three starts, throwing his leg at 'em, and all that. Something of this sort is bound to have happened.

But Mr. Gregory is likely to be fooled. The Rambler will be quite conservative about the Southern association race and dismiss it as a matter that will be settled by Time, the Great Healer. But concerning this Texas league scramble, which is taking on such great life early in the season, much can be said, and I am just about intoxicated enough at this writing to blast out and say it! Of course, I mean intoxicated on baseball, you old bluenose!

We could say, for instance, that Joe Schultz' Buffs can very easily be spilled from the championship tower by our own Spudders. For though Severeid's team is not a pennant contender with its present pitching staff, it has fielding and swatting ability to crush the toes of many a giant and make them yelp.

Yes, sir, The Rambler is intoxicated a bit with the showing of the Spudders to date. And if President McEvoy in St. Louis should send us a pitcher or two, we might get as intoxicated as Gregory and start figuring out a starting lineup for the opener in the Dixie series!

TOT PITCHES 4-HIT GAME

Mike Cvengros Pounded In Sixth Frame

By FRED THOMPSON

With the bases loaded in the sixth and the Spudders trailing two runs behind, Skipper Hank Severeid unsettled the composure of old Mike Cvengros by blasting a home run over the left field wall—Hank's first four-base swat of the season—and our Spudders yesterday afternoon defeated Joe Schultz' 1931 champions from Houston, 10 to 5.

Though Hank's blow was enough to win, the Spudders kept up the attack on Elmer Hanson, who replaced Cvengros in the seventh, scoring three more tallies, one of which was the result of another timely hit by Severeid with the bases packed.

Tot's Second Victory

Hank's hits in the pinches gave Tot Pressnell clear title to a beautifully pitched game. The knuckle baller allowed a grand total of four hits in the nine innings. Two of them were successive home runs in the sixth by Joe Medwick and Homer Peel, Medwick's coming with Narlesky, Buff second baseman, aboard. The other two hits off Pressnell were singles. Tot had only two bad rounds, the sixth and the third, when he walked the first two up to pave the way for Houston's first two tallies.

Art Scharein shared home run honors with Skipper Hank, Scoop lifting one over the left field wall in the first frame.

Pressnell chalked up his second consecutive victory, his last being a seven-hit affair with Galveston last Friday which he won, 4 to 2.

Cvengros, popular former Spudder, had a three-hit game under his belt going into the sixth, but in that frame walks to Scharein and Green coupled with a single by Fuss, Badgro's double and Hank's home run, drove him to cover.

The teams meet today in the second game of the series with Lester White due to start for the home club.

Scoop Hits Homer

Pressnell made short work of the Buffs in the first, Hock popping to Euller, Carey striking out and Narlesky grounding out, Euller to Green. After Garms had grounded out, third to first, in the home half Scharein belted a home run over the left field wall to give the Spuds an early advantage. Fuss walked but was forced at second by Badgro, second to short. Cvengros caught Badgro off the bag and the Spudder was run down between second and first, the play being Cvengros to Stebbins to Carey to Cvengros, who made the putout at first.

The Buffs again went down in order in the second, Medwick grounding out to Euller, Peel popping to Clift, and Stebbins lining out to Badgro. In the last half, Green popped to Carey, Severeid grounded out, Hock to Stebbins, and Euller flied to Sanders in center.

Buffs Take Lead

Pressnell went haywire in the third. Sanders and Funk both walked, and advanced on Cvengros' sacrifice, Pressnell to Clift, who covered first. Hock beat out an infield hit to second, Sanders scoring and Funk taking third. Carey forced Hock at second, Clift to Scharein, Funk scoring on the play. Narlesky forced Carey at second, Scharein to Clift, retiring the side. Clift fanned to open the home half, Pressnell walked but Cvengros fanned Garms and Scharein popped to Narlesky.

In the fourth Medwick and Peel flied to Fuss in right and Stebbins grounded out, Clift to Green. The Spudders tied the score in their half. Fuss opened with a double to left center. After Badgro had fouled out to the catcher Green delivered a sharp single to left, scoring Fuss, and took second on the throw-in. Hock came up with a great stop of Severeid's torrid liner to third, forcing Green. Euller forced Severeid at second, Carey to Narlesky, retiring the side.

Home Run Barrage

In the fifth, Sanders grounded out, Clift to Green, Funk struck out and Cvengros flied to Garms in deep center. In the home half, Clift lined out to left, Pressnell grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins, and Garms fouled out to Funk.

With two out in the sixth the Buffs brought out their long range guns and took the lead. After Narlesky had walked and had taken second on a wild pitch Medwick slammed one over the left field wall, scoring Narlesky ahead of himself. Peel duplicated Medwick's home run to put the Buffs three tallies to the good. Stebbins was called out on strikes to retire the side. Severeid's timely circuit clout in the last half with the bases loaded put the Spudders back in the game. Scharein walked to start the big rally. Fuss lined a hit off Hock's glove, Scharein taking second, Badgro doubled to center, scoring Scharein, Fuss taking third. Green walked, loading the bases, and Severeid biffed one over the left field wall, scoring everybody. The next three went out, Euller flying to Medwick in left and Clift and Pressnell striking out.

Hanson Goes In

With one out in the seventh, Funk walked, Cvengros singled and both advanced on Hock's roller to Green, but Carey grounded out, Clift to Green, for the third out. Hanson took the mound for Houston in the last of the seventh and yielded three runs. Stebbins handled Garms' hot grounder to first. Scharein beat out a bunt toward second and took third on Fuss' double to left. Badgro hit to the box and Scharein was thrown out at the plate, Hanson to Funk, Fuss taking third on the play. Green walked, loading the bases. Severeid blasted an infield hit past third, scoring Fuss, Badgro taking third and Green second. Euller singled to center, scoring Badgro and Green, Severeid taking third. Clift fanned for the third out.

With two down in the eighth Pressnell walked Peel, but Stebbins flied to Garms. In the last half, Pressnell grounded out, Hanson to Stebbins. Garms walked. Scharein flied to Medwick, and Garms was thrown out stealing, Funk to Carey.

In the ninth, Sanders flied to Fuss. Funk struck out. Hanson flied to Fuss.

MORE ELECTRICITY IN ULSTER

Two additional electricity transmission lines have just been contracted for by the electricity board of northern Ireland. One includes the joint lines from the harbor power house to Orangefield, Belfast, which is to be ready before winter. The second will connect Dungannon, Pointzpass and Rostrevor.

Spudders Release Florrid To Come Within Texas League Player Limit

The Wichita Falls Spudders came within the Texas league player limit of 17 men Tuesday, with the outright release of Dick Florrid, slim right-handed pitcher who joined the club in 1930. Waivers were asked on Florrid Monday, and when he was not claimed by any other Texas league club at the expiration of 24 hours, his release followed, in accordance with league rules.

With Florrid's release, Ollie Bejma, second baseman placed on the injured list several weeks ago following an injury to a finger, was returned to the eligible list, and probably will break into the lineup in today's game with Houston, Manager Hank Severeid said.

Florrid had attracted quite a following here and his release was wholly unexpected on the part of most fans. The youngster showed much improvement toward the last part of the 1931 season and had made a creditable showing in relief roles in games this season. Necessity of the club to trim a class pitcher from its roster, it was said, had much to do with his release. The club is required to carry six non-class men.

The pitching staff included four class men and four non-class men. The class men were Florrid, Pressnell, White and Vincent. The non-class men left on the staff are Tom Conlan, Rebel Byram, Marvin Ferrell, and Howard Taylor.

Other non-class men are Robert Fuss, Furman Owens, and Harlond Clift, making a total of seven in all, one over the required number. Later player deals, it was indicated, will leave the club with only the required six.

The club roster of 17 men now includes the following: Pitchers, Tom Conlan, Rebel Byram, Marvin Ferrell, Howard Taylor, Tot Pressnell, Lester White and Fred Vincent. Infielders, Harry Green, Ollie Bejma, Art Scharein, Walter Euller, Harlond Clift. Outfielders, Robert Fuss, Debs Garms and Whitey Badgro. Catchers, Furman Owens and Manager Severeid.

George Murray Wins His Fourth Game

DALLAS, May 3. (AP)—George Murray won his fourth game of the season for the Dallas Steers here tonight when he beat San Antonio, 3 to 2. A two-run rally in the eighth inning gave Dallas a slow game that was witnessed by a small crowd. Both clubs secured six hits. The Steers moved into second place as a result of Houston's loss in an afternoon game and their win tonight. Score:

Rochester Team Puts Up Strong Claim For Brazos League Title

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 3.—Stopping Rochester appeared to be the sizeable task confronting other pennant aspirants of the Brazos Valley league after the Haskell county club had won a most convincing 9 to 5 victory Sunday from Goree, champions last year and until Sunday the favorite to repeat.

Even Rochester followers, however, were waiting awhile before nailing any championship emblems to the flag pole. Play during the season thus far has demonstrated that the league is far better balanced than last year, and that three or four other teams must be consulted before any pennants are handed around.

The season thus far also has demonstrated that exciting baseball on a 10-cent admission scale is wholly practical. Strict adherence to the no-importing-of-players rule has established a remarkable competitive balance between teams. Expenses thus held to a minimum have put club treasuries in a more or less flourishing condition.

Most closely pressing Rochester for favorite ranking probably is Munday, though that point likely will be disputed in Bomarton, Rhineland and Goree, among other places. The addition of Abbott, a six-foot-two pitcher, to the Munday staff, has raised Munday stock toward championship contention. He held Sunset to four hits Sunday, the best pitched game of the season thus far.

Of games scheduled next Sunday, Rochester's invasion of the undefeated Rhineland sector probably will hold most interest. Other games are Weinert at Munday, Knox City at Goree, and Sunset at Bomarton. Postponed games which may also be played during the present week are Sunset-Goree and Weinert-Rhineland.

League standings are:

Club—	W.	L.	Pct.
Rochester	3	0	1.000
Rhineland	2	0	1.000
Munday	2	1	.667
Bomarton	2	1	.667
Goree	1	1	.500
Sunset	1	1	.500
Weinert	0	2	.000
Knox City	0	2	.000

Oklaunion Rallies To Beat Quanah, 4-3

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 3.—In an eighth-inning burst, the Oklaunion nine of the Red River Valley league overcame a two-run lead there Sunday to take the best of a 4-3 contest with the Quanah Gassers.

The Gassers took a 3 to 1 lead in the first inning and held Oklaunion hitless for the next four frames. However, with the opening of the eighth an error by Brooks, Gasser left fielder, gave Oklaunion an opening which resulted in a score. Three successive hits in the remainder of the inning counted for as many tallies, giving the hosts a one-run lead which was held for the remainder of the game.

Newman and Swan were the Quanah battery, while Art of Oklaunion was credited with the win. Ladd was the receiver for the victors.

RIVER LEAGUE LEADERS TIED

Vernon and Frederick In First Place

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, May 3.—Vernon and Frederick, Okla., are still deadlocked for first place in the Red River Valley baseball loop, with both boasting a perfect record to date. Both face stiff opposition in the games to be played next Sunday, particularly Frederick, and a change in the league standing is not improbable.

Oklaunion's Cardinals, runners-up to the two leaders, will invade Frederick in the fourth round of play Sunday, and this contest is expected to provide the features of the day. Vernon will play host to Crowell and should record another victory as the Foard county entry is well down the ladder in standing.

Electra and Tipton, Okla., play weak clubs in Quanah and Chillicothe respectively and are expected to have little difficulty in recording victories.

Chillicothe's Cubs handed the dope bucket a resounding kick last Sunday by combing the offerings of Rasberry and Russell, Crowell mound stars, for an even dozen hits to account for a 13 to 1 verdict over the favored Crowell contenders. Taylor, a left-hander, held the Crowell team to seven bingles.

Eighth-inning rallies allowed both Wilbarger county clubs to win Sunday, Vernon taking Electra, 6 to 4, with a four-run spree in the eighth and Oklaunion overcoming a 3 to 0 Quanah lead with a four-run rally in the eighth.

The standing:

Clubs—	W.	L.	Pct.
Vernon	3	0	1.000
Frederick	2	0	1.000
Oklaunion	2	1	.667
Tipton	1	1	.500
Electra	1	2	.333
Crowell	1	2	.333
Chillicothe	1	2	.333
Quanah	0	3	.000

Sunday's Schedule
Crowell at Vernon.
Oklaunion at Frederick.
Electra at Quanah.
Tipton at Chillicothe.

Police Open Drive On 'One-Eyed' Autos

A campaign for traffic safety in Wichita Falls was launched Tuesday night by city police with Motorcycle Officers Frank Warfield and John Wildmon stopping more than 150 motorists in residential parts of the city requiring them to fix faulty lights. The law requires two front lights and one rear light for night driving.

Motorists of the city have become lax in meeting requirements of the law and every effort for enforcement is being made, Police Chief Dick Morris said.

How to Straighten Your Shoulders

A round-shouldered person is like one in heavy chains, which bind his body in the bent-over shape. Only, instead of the chains of iron, they are chains of muscle, which hold the shoulders in the wrong position and almost lock them there. To throw off these factors and get the shoulders back where they are meant to be can be done. The important factor in improving the shoulders is to use the exercises which develop the muscles that hold the back straight. Muscular improvement is all you have to pay any attention to in building better shoulders. Take enough exercise of the right kind to strengthen these muscles and your shoulders will begin to improve.

Those who are round shouldered have front muscles across the upper chest which are stronger than the muscles across the back and the result is that the front muscles, being stronger, pull the shoulders forward. Before you can expect to hold the shoulders back in that erect, attractive manner, you must increase the strength of the muscles of the upper back so that they balance the pull of those of the front.

In developing a splendid pair of shoulders you need no expensive equipment. You can do it with just two arms and plenty of determination. A good plan is for you to strip to the waist and stand before a mirror. Now I want you to do this; move your right arm up over your head. You can now see for yourself that movements which raise the whole arm upward and backward will pull on the shoulder muscles. You are going to use these upward and backward movements to straighten your round shoulders. You are now ready to start taking these exercises. You can make up some for yourself by watching closely in the mirror and using those movements which pull the shoulders back and take, the question mark shape out of your upper back.

An especially good exercise is to lie face downward on the floor and raise the head and shoulders backward. Take this exercise only a few times at first until the muscles become strong or you will have a very sore neck the next day.

In addition to the exercises which move the arms, one should take some deep breathing exercises several times a day. Watch yourself in the mirror and you will see that a deep breath expands the chest, pushes it up and throws the shoulders back.

You are going to find that there is a close connection between good strong shoulders and a good chest development. They are really two sides of the same question. Most of the movements which improve the shoulders also raise the chest. Women will find that these exercises not only improve the shoulders but build up a firm bust. Men who try such exercises will gradually develop that deep, wide, rolling chest which bespeaks power, strength and endurance.

Men desiring to secure a faster shoulder development may move the whole arm while holding a weight in each hand or they may use the cable chest expanders. Swimming, tennis and wrestling are helpful in building good shoulders.

You can build up attractive shoulders if you will take these exercises several times each day, expecting and looking for good results. Once you have begun to gain the kind of shoulders you yourself admire you will be surprised at the joy and confidence which is yours. Don't delay. Today's your day for beginning the exercises for good looking shoulders.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mushrooms en Casserole

Question—Mrs. Yvonne R. writes: "Will you please give me the recipe for making mushrooms en casserole which I saw in one of your menus?"

Answer—Here is the recipe for mushrooms en casserole: The mushrooms are to be first boiled in a small amount of water. When the water has nearly boiled off, mix in chopped spinach, string beans, or any other non-starchy vegetable desired. Put into casserole and sprinkle melba toast crumbs over the top. Bake without cover.

Not Likely Palate Cut Off

Question—W. S. W. writes: "A week ago my little granddaughter's tonsils and adenoids were taken out. In performing the operation the doctor cut off her palate. Will that affect her speech or digestion of food? Is there a chance for me to sue him?"

Answer—You probably mean that the doctor cut off the uvula or long fleshy projection hanging down at the back part of the soft palate. If this is the case, it would not affect the speech or digestion and there would be no grounds for suit.

Aluminumware Not Harmful

Question—Mrs. S. R. writes: "I bought one of those pressure cookers some time ago, but have not used it recently because I heard aluminum was poisonous. Is this true?"

Answer—Cooking with a pressure cooker is one of the most excellent ways of preparing food and is superior to most of the older methods where the steam and flavors are allowed to escape. I have investigated the propaganda against aluminum cooking utensils, but I can find no evidence that there is anything injurious in aluminum cooking vessels and continue to use them in my own household.

102. LEGAL NOTICES

TO WHOM It May Concern: Notice is hereby given in compliance with the provisions of section 103 of the charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, the board of aldermen propose to take final action on a contract with the Texas Electric Service company to furnish electricity to the city of Wichita Falls for lights, power and all other purposes for a period of 10 years from April 1, 1932, in regular meeting place at Memorial auditorium on the 16th day of May, 1932, at 7:30 p. m. By order of the board of aldermen, this 25th day of April, 1932.—W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

ORDINANCE NO. 1091

An ordinance amending ordinance No. 331, passed and approved on the 8th day of November, A. D., 1920, by adding thereto section 5a, prescribing a minimum fare for service automobiles, taxicabs, or other public motor vehicles of whatever character other than buses and street cars operated under a franchise; prescribing penalties and declaring an emergency.

Whereas, in order to maintain permanent transportation service on schedule for the city of Wichita Falls and insure present low rate of fare for school children, it is necessary and expedient for the benefit of the general public that an ordinance be passed fixing a minimum rate of fare for taxicabs operating on the streets of the city of Wichita Falls;

Therefore, be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:

Section 1. That ordinance No. 331, passed and approved on the 8th day of November, A. D., 1920, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto a section to be known as section 5a, which said section shall read as follows:

Section 5a. The charge for service automobiles, taxicabs, or other motor vehicles of whatever character within the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the transportation of passengers for hire (other than street cars and buses operated under franchise) shall never be less than the following schedule, to-wit:

25 cents anywhere within the corporate limits of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas.

The foregoing minimum rates shall apply to all vehicles (except street cars and buses operated under franchise), the minimum charge shall be 25 cents for each passenger carried therein.

Penalty. Any person who shall violate any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100. Each and every day's violation of this ordinance shall constitute a separate offense and shall be punishable as such.

In addition to the foregoing specified penalties, any person violating the terms of this ordinance shall be subject, after three days' notice, to have his license revoked under the terms and provisions of the procedure prescribed in section 8 of said ordinance No. 331 of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Section 2. The fact that numerous persons have engaged or attempted to engage in the service automobile and taxicab business in recent weeks and have made indefinite charges, some of which are below the actual cost of adequate and dependable service, and transient persons without the requisite legal citizenship have attempted to engage in such business from time to time and for very short period, and it appears that unless some minimum charge is prescribed for dependable service of this character injurious consequences will result and the traveling public is without adequate protection from spasmodic service by transients and others, which in time will bring about serious consequences to the dependable, licensed, and bonded service cars and transportation companies and taxpayers offering dependable service to the public, creates an emergency and brings about the existence of an imperative public necessity, which requires that the rules requiring three separate readings be and they are hereby suspended, and that this ordinance shall become effective from and after its first reading and the passage hereof as required by law.

Passed and approved this the 2nd day of May, 1932.—Walter Nelson Jr., mayor. Attest: W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

Bonds And Stocks Shrink Again While Market Lacks Excitement

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 3. (US)—Stock and bond quotations continued to shrink today. There was no excitement in either market, merely an unmistakable steady dribbling liquidation which wore down prices to new lows. The markets were no different from that of practically all recent sessions.

Government securities were weak, however, presumably reflecting passage in the house of representatives of the bill which "orders" the federal reserve to "restore" approximately 1926 commodity price levels.

This bill's passage, which still faces the senate, had an immediate effect not only in the government security market, but also in depreciating the dollar in foreign exchanges.

Latest advices from Washington, however, predicted its defeat when it reaches the senate and, even if it is adopted by the senate, the president is expected to veto it.

Actually, the bill attempts by legislation to force the reserve to accomplish that which it is seeking to do without congressional order—restoration of higher commodity prices.

The reserve is actively purchasing government bonds in this attempt. Apparently, the $100,000,000 weekly purchases fail to satisfy the more impatient congressmen. One of them said today that $600,000,000 purchases a week would be necessary to "force the banks to loosen up on credit."

It is to be remembered that the member banks of the federal reserve system will shortly be entirely out of debt to the reserve. Then will develop an acute problem of how to keep their resources employed.

No new explanation could be advanced for the "sudden" weakness in various stocks. Thus, Lehman corporation stock, on the largest turnover in months, slumped to a new low. Lehman corporation is an investment trust, and it was assumed that its weakness reflected the decline in its holdings. Actually, according to officials, the "liquidating value" of Lehman, at tonight's closing quotations, exceeded $52 a share, compared with $32¾ closing price on the exchange. The corporation holds cash and government securities equal to $21 a share on its own stock. Common stocks held have an additional value of $21 a share; bonds equal $3 a share, preferred stocks $3.

Obviously, selling of Lehman corporation must represent "distress" offerings or, perhaps, some short-selling. With prices throughout the markets constantly slumping, there is no telling where further liquidation may develop. But the fact is indisputable that, in various issues, the selling has no direct relation to asset value or conditions affecting an individual company.

Penney, in which Lehman corporation holds an interest, continued in supply. Perhaps the market was exaggerating the importance of Penney's weakness in connection with Lehman's entire position.

Along with Penney, Woolworth also weakened. National Dairy products dropped a point and Sears, Roebuck was also in supply.

All of these stocks are included in the so-called "Lehman group," but the position of the investment trust obviously more than discounts present prices for these securities.

International Shoe again furnished a center of interest. On continued large turnover, the stock refused to yield below its previous low price, actually closing up a half-point for the day.

The stock seemingly is "pegged" at the old low of 36, but the market does not look kindly upon such operations currently. The company during 1930 and 1931 purchased 250,000 shares of its own stock at an average price materially above the present quotation. Other companies who attempted to maintain the price of their shares through open-market purchasing have suffered substantial losses.

International Shoe at the end of 1931 had a large cash balance and today the same brokerage firm as on previous sessions was reported to have large buying orders. The speculative fraternity is steering clear of International Shoe.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Print cloth manufacturers were willing in some instances to consider tenders of orders for standard 38½-inch 64 by 60s at 3c a yard of ⅛c below the prices quoted a week ago.

No new business is developing in volume. Finished goods orders continued slow. Silk goods are selling slowly. A few new lines of women's wear coatings for all are being shown.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, May 3. (AP)—Good demand continued today for the light offerings on the cash grain market.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling, 58@59c; No. 1 hard, 13 per cent protein, 59@60c; 14 per cent, 61@62c; 15 per cent, 63@64c; 16 per cent, 64@65c.

Barley—No. 3 nominally, 40½@41½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 pounds, 71@73c; No. 2 white kafir, 72@73c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three:

Corn—No. 2 mixed, 39½@40½c; No. 2 white, 40@41c; No. 2 yellow, 46@47c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—Evidence that bullish unofficial crop estimates had been largely discounted beforehand whirled the wheat market downward fast today after an early advance.

Breaks in prices tumbled wheat to the lowest level in over a month and to more than 9 cents a bushel under the recent top. The crop estimates were bullish enough to satisfy any one, but they brought in so little new buying that owners turned wholesale to the selling side.

Wheat closed shaky, 1@1¼c under yesterday's finish, corn ⅝@1⅛c down, oats ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Spring wheat forecasts of seeking indicated a smaller acreage than expected in March. There was also a decrease of 9,-403,000 bushels in the world's available wheat supply, and primary domestic receipts of wheat today were 371,000 bushels against 840,000 a year ago.

A bearish factor as to corn and oats was that so far as known there has been no corn export business of consequence, although May corn in Chicago went to around 1¼c under the same future at Buenos Aires.

Provisions were firm early, but later sympathized with grain weakness.

Closing indemnities, wheat—May 53¼c, 54⅛@54⅛c; July 54@54½c, 56⅞@56⅝c; Sept. 56¼@56⅝c, 57⅞@59c; Dec. 60c, bids.

Corn—July 30¾c, 31⅛@31⅜c; Sept. 33⅛@33⅝c, 34⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 3. (US)—Information in regard to the spring wheat crop in the private estimates was rather sketchy. Most of the experts spoke of the difficulty of estimating from their correspondents' reports. From the figures given, it would appear that an area somewhat less than the average is to be sown. Average area is approximately 21,000,000 acres and indications now are that a reduction of between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 acres is in prospect, owing to difficulties in securing seed, lateness of the season and inability to obtain financing.

The official United States crop report is scheduled for Tuesday, May 1, at 3 p. m. The report will include figures on the acreage remaining for harvest, condition and production of winter wheat and rye as well as condition of hay and pastures. The first Canadian crop report, to give data on winter crop conditions and figures on spring seeding, is to be issued the day after our report.

Acreage to wheat in Western Canada is expected to be around 25,000,000 or about the normal area. However, that section is hampered by much the same obstacles as our Northwest.

There are indications that Spain will permit import of 3,600,000 bushels more of wheat, making the total 5,440,000 bushels.

SHRINERS HEAR K. C. DEPUTY

Walsh Pays Tribute to U. S. 'Melting Pot'

Pleas for a standard of citizenship which rises above racial differences and transcends religious distinctions were voiced before members of the Shrine Luncheon club Tuesday noon by C. K. Walsh, district deputy of the Knights of Columbus, the international Catholic fraternity.

"No one crowd can have a monopoly on credit in the establishment and maintenance of good government," the speaker declared. "While we all eulogize Washington and Jefferson, and other heroes in American history, I call upon you to preach and practice that same keen interest in local self-government which those men displayed. If I may leave one thought of encouragement to your organization, it would be that you make the standard of Texas citizenship, when coupled with membership in this body, so high in justice to all that the heritage thus provided for your sons shall mean more than the heritage of a king's title in any other country in the world."

Individual Worth Stressed

"American citizens are not racial bigots," Mr. Walsh said. "We are cosmopolitan; we pride ourselves on having in the United States the world's great melting pot. Regardless of race or creed, individual worth is the password to success.

"To preserve local self-government for and by the people it is imperative that our citizens be eternally vigilant, always taking an interest in the enforcement of local laws if self-government is to prevail, state rights be protected, and democracy endure. There are grave evidences of danger when we see Al Capone able to resist the local state government, the Lindbergh child stolen, and indictments returned recently on income tax frauds involving a contractor, county judge, county commissioners, and a legislator in road grafts amounting to $1,600,000.

"There can be no liberty without law, for man is free only for good; not for evil. A government is not stronger than the active public sentiment of its people. Good democratic government demands an alert citizenship, prompted by charity, devoted to unity, supported by mutual confidence, and inspired by true patriotism. Such public sentiment necessarily must come from, and be heard by, members of all religious, and fraternal groups. We must have the same mutual confidence and respect which prevails in the greatest court in the world, the supreme court of this country—composed of Jews, Protestants and Catholics.

Tolerance Stressed

"When you place one of your members in position to lead a public movement or enterprise, by your act you cause others outside your organization to have great confidence, and to expect much of that man. Several years ago I saw our present sheriff bearing a banner in one of your parades. Later, when he became plaintiff for the Catholic communities of Windthorst and Scotland in their effort to obtain a highway into Wichita Falls, we knew that he could be depended upon to carry the fight through for our interests.

"A communicant of the Catholic church not long ago was employed by a Jew in a matter which demanded entire honesty and integrity in the former. When the Jew appeared to be ill at ease, the Catholic asked him if he was suspicious relative to the handling of money involved in the transaction. The Jewish citizen replied: 'No, if you take more money than you are entitled to, your conscience will hurt you, you will have to tell it to your priest, and he will make you give it back to me.' He was right; our priest would do it, too. No one ever has accused a Jew of being a poor business man. He's been at it a long time, and you may rest assured he will be in business a long time yet."

Fire Destroys Residence With Damage of $3,000

Estimated damage of $3,000 resulted at 1:40 o'clock Tuesday morning from flames which destroyed the vacant residence of Mrs. Ed Waggoner, 2502 Buchanan. The blaze was described as one of the major losses in recent months. Its origin was not determined. A caretaker was not at the home at the time. The blaze spread to an adjoining house, causing damage of $100, Assistant Fire Chief Grover Habern reported.

Judge A. H. Britain of this city, veteran good will ambassador and local golf enthusiast, will be the featured speaker at the regular membership luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce Friday at the Wichita club.

The occasion will be a program in charge of the Junior chamber's invitation golf tournament committee of which H. J. Hughey Jr., is chairman, pointing toward the annual invitation tournament to be held May 21-22 in Wichita Falls.

Sporting goods merchants of the city will display equipment at the luncheon and the loving cup offered in the tourney will be exhibited. Plans for the luncheon were formed Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the committee. Lists of the membership of the golf enthusiasts of the two local clubs were divided among committee members and personal invitations to participate will be issued.

$415,207 Expended On Federal Building; Work Behind Schedule

Expenditures on the general contract for the federal building under construction at Tenth and Lamar totaled $415,207 on April 30, according to the monthly report of Federal Construction Engineer Miles E. Myers. The general contract does not include elevators or lighting fixtures, but does include mechanical equipment of plumbing, heating and ventilation. H. W. Underhill of Dallas has the contract.

The cornerstone for the new structure is expected to arrive and be ready for placing about May 15, Mr. Myers said.

The average number of employes handling the construction in April was 62, distributed as follows: Office force two; supervisors six; mechanical work 13; and laborers 41. An increased mechanical force was employed.

The project is 35 per cent complete as compared with a normal of 48 per cent. The construction is two months behind schedule, or 13 per cent, Mr. Myers declared. Construction in April including starting of placing the Leuders cut stone for facing, starting the interior basement slab, completion of practically all structural concrete p ring and starting of interior tile partitions on the second floor.

William Neville Collier of Kansas City, district engineer of U. S. public buildings, was in Wichita Falls in April in connection with the project.

Preliminary Bar Exams Scheduled Here May 13

The first of a newly required preliminary literary examination before state bar examinations may be taken will be given in Wichita Falls May 13, and candidates must register with Mrs. Gladys Reed, secretary of the Wichita County Bar association, at 505 City National bank building. The literary tests must be passed before the state examination is given at Austin. Certificates will be forwarded to Austin covering the eligibility of the candidates.

Examinations will be given by Luther Hoffman, Tariton Morrow and D. E. Fitzgerald on the subjects of English literature, medieval and modern history and ancient history.

Last Services Held For Mrs. Sutherland

Funeral services for Mrs. William E. Sutherland, a former resident of this city, were held from the Floral Heights Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Finis Crutchfield, pastor, and the Rev. J. P. Manley of San Antonio, officiating. The Rev. Mr. Manley is a surviving brother. Burial was in Riverside directed by Hines mortuary.

NELSON DELAYS BANK DIVIDEND

Referee Sets Saturday For Archer Settlement

Final determination of the dividend to be paid creditors of the Peoples Exchange bank of Archer City was deferred until Saturday by a creditors' meeting held Tuesday at the office of Walter Nelson, referee in bankruptcy.

Completion of one pending transaction involving assets of the defunct concern probably will permit final settlement of the case Saturday, Mr. Nelson said.

Judge A. H. Carrigan, trustee; A. H. Britain, attorney for Archer county, and Judge J. T. Montgomery, attorney for the trustee, held a brief conference with Judge Nelson Tuesday afternoon. Other creditors had conferred with the referee Tuesday morning.

The Archer City bank was closed last July. It had served as the county depository, and had a large amount of county funds on its books.

Attorney Issues Warning Against Fake Solicitor

Charges of theft were filed Tuesday against two boys from Burkburnett in connection with the alleged stealing of light globes from street lights in that city, according to L. V. Abernathy, county attorney.

Mr. Abernathy issued a warning to housewives in this city to beware of a man allegedly representing himself as a district sales manager for a powdered chemical made to heat water in hot water bottles. According to Mr. Abernathy, the man seeks to obtain a cash deposit under his promise to make the prospect sales agent in this city. A complaint charging swindling has been filed against the man.

Prices
Record-breakingly Low!
Never in Goodyear experience—never in all tire history—have the prices of Goodyear Tires been as low as they are today. Don't try to guess them by what you last paid for tires. They're 50% lower than they were five years ago—30% lower than in 1929. And your money today buys the handsomest, toughest, longest-wearing Goodyear All-Weather ever built. Think of that, and ask yourself: Why buy any second-choice tire when first-choice costs no more!

"DON'T LET 'EM KID YOU"

ONE of the two main reasons why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind has always been safety.

Other tire-makers know this. They know it so well that in their natural eagerness for sales they are tempted to claim safety too.

But there's a long jump between claiming safety on paper and building it into rubber.

Ridges, grooves, knobs on the side of a tire may be ornamental, but they're about as useful as the buttons on a coat sleeve.

IF YOU want grip instead of slip in the tire you buy, there's just one place to look for it.

Look at the center of the tread, where it contacts the road.

That is where other tires put continuous sled-runner ribs of rubber. That is where Goodyear puts the big, thick, deep-cut, sure-gripping blocks of the All-Weather Tread.

MARK this difference well—for it can mean to you the choice between coasting helplessly into an accident—or stopping safely when you want brakes and tires to grip tight and hold fast.

This year, Goodyear has made the world's best known safety tread even better, by combining safety and silence in the new Noiseless Non-Skid All-Weather Tread.

Don't let anybody kid you. If you want safety in the tires you buy, get safety you can see.
