Chilean Plane Crash Takes 86 To Death

Taken Into Custody

Police take into custody James W. Jutte, 39, of Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., after shooting up a Houston, Tex., hotel Saturday. Police said that Jutte, who they say is a former New York mental patient, shot a hotel resident after blasting out a window of the hotel and firing at the lobby ceiling with a 12-gauge automatic shotgun. Killed was Robert E. Metcalf, 34, a truck driver from Oklahoma City. Policeman at left is holding the shotgun. (AP WIREPHOTO)

FROM LAOS

Rightist Runs For Cover

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Rightist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan has slipped into refuge in Thailand with police Gen. Siho Lamphoutacoul, his companion in the now quelled rebellion for control of Laos' armed forces, the government announced Saturday. It charged that Siho's police had dealings with Communists.

Officials claimed army troopers mopping up after the rebellion found some national police had been reinforced by units of the Pathet Lao, the Red-backed army, fighting in the plains north of Vientiane. They said army forces uncovered secret files of an exchange of messages with the Pathet Lao.

A high army officer also claimed that an immigration officer in Siho's force had been issuing passports to Chinese Communists, enabling them to enter pro-Western Thailand.

Soon after word reached Vientiane that Phoumi and Siho had fled, Laos' neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, asked the Thai government to move them away from areas bordering on Laos and to keep them under surveillance.

Phoumi had threatened a counterattack after his forces were driven out of Vientiane Wednesday. Officials said the flight of the two rightists signified their "complete defeat."

Phoumi and Siho were reported by Laotian officials to have taken refuge at the home of the provincial governor in Udorn, site of a U.S. Air Force base about 40 miles south of Vientiane.

(A dispatch from Bangkok, the Thai capital, said it was understood there that Phoumi and Siho had been granted asylum on condition that they engage in no political activity.)

Government sources said Phoumi and Siho apparently followed jungle trails to the Mekong River border area Friday and crossed into Thailand by canoe.

The government earlier had expressed the belief they had made for Pak Sane, about 70 miles northeast of Vientiane, where Siho maintained a mountain stronghold. A government spokesman said Phoumi might be shot if captured.

Phoumi, 44, will be replaced as deputy premier in the neutralist-rightist coalition government that is fighting a third Laotian faction — the Pathet Lao. Another rightist is expected to move into the post.

Second Worst Plane Disaster

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A Chilean air liner with 86 persons aboard crashed and exploded into flames 11,700 feet up in the Andes Saturday and a rescue patrol reported there were no survivors.

The patrol reached the scene after a horseback and foot climb of several hours and said the plane of the Chilean air line — LAN — hit 1,200 feet below the summit of La Corona Mountain.

It was Latin America's second worst plane disaster. A Brazilian airliner crashed in Lima, Peru Nov. 27, 1962, killing 97 persons.

Among the 28 foreigners aboard was a U.S. woman, listed as Helen Berger of Long Island, N.Y.

The plane had taken off for Buenos Aires, Argentina and Montevideo, Uruguay, with 79 passengers and a crew of seven. It crashed a few minutes later near Lo Valdes, about 50 miles east of Santiago.

A police plane flew over the area and spotted the burned out wreckage scattered for about 600 feet down the slope.

Also aboard the plane was a football team from the Chilean National Bank, bound for Montevideo to play the Bank of Montevideo team. Among the foreigners were three Italians, two Germans, a Russian and a Czechoslovakian.

Rescue patrols were dispatched to the crash site. They drove to the foot of the mountain and then began the slow ascent on horseback. It was reported the rocky terrain was so difficult that helicopters could not land.

It is the worst air disaster in Chilean history. The worst previous was a crash in 1960 that killed 24 persons.

In both accidents, the same line was involved. The plane in Saturday's crash was a DC6.

It was due in Buenos Aires about three hours after the take off time of 8 a.m. It was then to go on to Montevideo.

A 7-year-old Chilean boy, Luis Orellana Nunez, had his life saved because his papers to Montevideo were not in order. Police would not permit him to board the plane.

There was no indication why the plane crashed barely five minutes after take off among the towering Andean peaks. The area is one of severe air turbulence.

NORTH OF SAIGON

Viet Cong Kills Eight Americans, Injures 61

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Eight Americans were killed and at least 61 wounded Saturday night when Viet Cong forces launched coordinated onslaughts on two big U.S. compounds at Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon.

At least seven parked aircraft were destroyed.

U.S. officials said the heaviest of the two attacks, backed up by mortar fire, was at Camp Holloway, on a Pleiku airport detachment.

Seven Americans were killed at Camp Holloway and 48 wounded.

One U.S. Army transport plane and six helicopters were destroyed. Three other planes and an undetermined number of helicopters were damaged.

The onslaught, in which the largest number of American casualties in South Viet Nam fell at one time, coincided with the arrival in Hanoi, North Viet Nam, of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

The Viet Cong apparently followed up the mortar barrage on the airport detachment with an infantry attack.

It was not immediately known whether they penetrated the airport compound.

A coordinated attack was mounted at the same time against the U.S. advisory detachment at 2nd Army Corps headquarters in the town of Pleiku.

One American was killed and 13 wounded at the Army corps headquarters

The attack on the headquarters involved a heavy barrage of 57 millimeter recoilless cannon fire and rifle grenades fired at short range.

The two-pronged attack was by far the worst directed against U.S. forces during this war.

Pleiku is a sprawling town of about 100,000 in the center of a vast prairie. The main American detachment just outside the town commands an open view of several miles in almost all directions.

Despite this, the Viet Cong apparently got within striking distance of the camp without tipping its hand.

Close to 1,000 Americans are stationed with the two big detachments. The largest is the headquarters compound for American advisors serving with the 2nd Corps and its dependent units. The other compound, near Pleiku airport, is an aviation detachment for U.S. Army helicopter men and Air Force pilots.

This was the first major Viet Cong initiative since the lunar new year holiday, for which the Viet Cong announced a unilateral cease-fire ending Friday night. The Viet Cong's clandestine radio station announced during the holiday that a reprisal would be made for the public execution in Saigon one week ago of Le Van Khuyen, 20, a convicted Viet Cong terrorist. The Pleiku attack may have been this reprisal.

Former Premier Seeks Protection From British

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Former Premier Tran Van Huong, saying his life may be in danger, has taken refuge in the British Embassy residence. The action may complicate the political situation in South Viet Nam even more.

The development came to light as McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special envoy, entered his third day of talks here with U.S. and Vietnamese officials and leaders of South Viet Nam's religious faiths.

Huong, first civilian premier since the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime in 1963, was thrown out of office Jan. 27 in a coup led by army strong man Lt. Gen Nguyen Khanh. Huong had been opposed by the Buddhists.

He entered the British residence Wednesday.

"As far as I know he is still there," a British spokesman said. "I understand that no formal request has been yet made for asylum."

Informants said British Ambassador R. G. A. Etherington-Smith, who came under Buddhist fire in December for publicly praising Huong, granted him refuge after the former leader told him:

"I think I may be in personal danger."

Since Huong's downfall, leaflets have been scattered around Saigon calling for his return to power. Huong is not believed to have had any tie-up with the authors of the leaflets. Some officials believe groups opposed to the military leadership of Khanh may be behind the leaflets.

Urges Solidarity Of Red Nations

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam appealed to the Soviet Union and China on Saturday to settle their differences and fight together against the United States.

Speaking at a dinner in Hanoi for visiting Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the head of the North Vietnamese government said a solution of the Soviet-China dispute was among "the most important international talks."

Replying, Kosygin repeated Soviet pledges of "solidarity with the population of South Viet Nam in its just and heroic struggle against American imperialism."

As for Dong's plea to settle the feud with China so the two Communist giants could fight against the United States, Kosygin only said the Soviet Union "will do everything possible for the strengthening of friendship between socialist states."

Dong claimed, "The American imperialists are trying hard to implement plans of undermining and splitting the Socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

The Vietnamese leader made his plea at a dinner the night Kosygin arrived from a Peking stopover where he had secret — but seemingly not too cordial — talks with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Dong's violently anti-American speech was distributed here by Tass apparently without censorship.

In it, he also demanded that the United States withdraw all troops and weapons from South Viet Nam and permit the whole of Viet Nam to be unified on the basis of the programs of the Communist fronts in both North and South.

Tass reported that Kosygin voiced strong support for unification of the country under Hanoi's leadership when he arrived Saturday morning. He also denounced "American and foreign interventionists and their puppets."

The Communist Vietnamese news agency said 100,000 persons turned out at Gia Lam Airport or in Hanoi itself to welcome the Russians.

Premier Pham Van Dong welcomed Kosygin and his party, saying the visit would help "the cause of the patriotic struggle of the South Vietnamese people, the cause of the peaceful unification of the homeland of the whole Vietnamese people."

"This visit is sure to strengthen still more the fraternal friendship between the people of our two countries and fraternal solidarity among the Socialist (Communist) nations on the basis of the lofty principles of Marxist-Leninism and proletarian internationalism," the premier said.

Kosygin and his delegation called later on Ho Chi Minh, president of North Viet Nam. Tass said the meeting "was held in a warm and friendly atmosphere." A meeting with Pham "passed in an atmosphere of cordiality and friendship," Tass added.

On Kosygin's arrival, the North Vietnamese Communist newspaper Nhan Dan indicated a distinct movement away from adherence to Red China's militant policy. Divorcing North Viet Nam from Red China is believed to be a prime object of Kosygin's visit.

Expressing support for Soviet foreign policy, Nhan Dan cited a speech by Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, on Nov. 6 extolling peaceful coexistence.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China was present for that speech in the Kremlin and noticeably refrained from joining in the applause for coexistence, which is denounced by Peking as a sellout to capitalism.

Kosygin flew to Hanoi from Peking, where he had stayed Friday and talked with Chou. Brief official announcements indicated these talks were hardly cordial; no phrases such as "warm and friendly" or "cordiality and friendship" being used.

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

While disappointed that we got virtually no moisture from three days of foggy weather, all of us can rejoice in one fact—it's not blowing when it's fogging. Another benefit from the cool, overcast condition has been in holding back fruit trees and flowering shrubs just a little longer.

Give Doug Wiehe, director, a his Big Spring High School Band a string section and the result would be a first class symphony. Those who took in Friday evening's concert at the Municipal Auditorium will agree that the band sounds mighty like a symphony already. The pieces featuring Larry Wiehe, trombonist in the U.S. Navy Band, and the percussion section of James Beckham, Susan Ivey, Benny Benson, Nora O'Bannon, Tracy Faulks and Dale Pless were exceptional, but all the way through the band did an outstanding job, and with heavy music.

While on the subject of music, it is well to note that Kenneth Greenhill, Paula Hood, Susan Ivey, Pat Hamilton, Bill Davis, Kathy Seddon, Lynn Christensen, Charles Macklin, Wauneta Palmer and Hollis Webb have been picked for the all-state orchestra or band, probably more than for any other

Council To Coordinate Civil Rights Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson created Saturday a President's Council on Equal Opportunity to coordinate the activities of federal agencies in the civil rights field.

Johnson named Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as chairman of the council, which was set up in response to a recommendation from Humphrey.

The vice president, who had been assigned earlier the job of bringing together the many civil rights activities of the federal government, had asked for "a comparatively simple coordinating mechanism, without elaborate staff and organization."

The resulting council will consist of 16 government officials, including six Cabinet officers, besides Humphrey.

Johnson, in an executive order establishing the council, assigned it the duty of recommending to the President programs and policies to help carry out the purposes of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, and other laws relating to racial discrimination.

In a letter to Humphrey telling of his action, Johnson expressed hope the council will prove "a most effective means of insuring cooperation, coordination, and harmonious working relationships" among the agencies involved.

"There is no remaining question about the determination of the American people to eliminate the injustice and the waste of human resources that have resulted from discrimination in this country," Johnson said.

He expressed pleasure that Humphrey will lead the government effort in the civil rights area, praising him for "your long-standing commitment to equal treatment and opportunity for all, without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

Johnson said that, as the government gains experience in carrying out the Civil Rights Act, he hopes the new council will be able to suggest changes and improvements.

"I agree," he told Humphrey, "that it will be helpful to you, and to others working in these fields, to continue to consult with other interested groups and private individuals.

"The conferences of various governmental and private organizations which you propose to convene from time to time can be a constructive force in promoting our national goals of equal treatment and equal opportunity for all Americans."

The officials designated as members of the council are the secretary of defense, the attorney general, the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, the secretary of labor, the secretary of welfare, the chairman of the Civil Service Commission;

The administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the chairman of the Commission on Civil Rights, the chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (not yet created), the administrator of General Services, the commissioner of education, the director of the Community Relations Service, the chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, the chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing.

Senators Keep Wary, Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior senators looking into the situation in South Viet Nam are wary or silent about prescriptions for solving the U.S. dilemma there.

In the face of an uncertain picture, politically and militarily, in the U.S.-backed war on Communist guerrillas, the Democratic chairmen and ranking Republicans of two key Senate committees bided their time in silence Saturday.

An Associated Press sampling of sentiment among members of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees brought expressions of concern from two Republicans about government stability in South Viet Nam.

Other senators — their positions already on record — stuck to their guns in calling for a continued U.S. effort, with stiffer action if necessary, to help South Viet Nam win the guerrilla battle.

And Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, spoke again for a negotiated end to the fighting and neutralization of the area.

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees both are conducting inquiries.

Cloudiness In The Forecast

By The Associated Press

Generally fair skies prevailed Saturday in West Texas but in other areas of Texas there was cloudiness with lots of drizzle and fog.

Most afternoon temperatures were in the 50s and 60s.

Rain fell over large areas of North and South Texas, but in most instances it was less than half an inch.

Forecasts called for the cloudiness to spread over West Texas Saturday night.

The Weather Bureau said a warming trend will continue through Sunday.

Testing Civil Defense Radios

Mayor George Zachariah, right, talks from a communications center at the basement of the city hall with County Judge Lee Porter, center, who is talking from a site in the county agent's office of the courthouse basement. Friday the two officials joined in a test check of the civil defense radios installed at the two buildings, as Civil Defense Director W. D. Berry, left, looks on.

Radio Network For Civil Defense Checked Friday

A test check of civil defense radios installed in the city hall basement and in the Howard County courthouse was made Friday.

Plans by the civil defense office here include a total of ten such radio units, including seven now installed, one reserve unit and two additional ones, at the First National Bank and the Veterans Administration Hospital, according to W. D. Berry, civil defense director.

The short-wave units are designed to allow use as a portable communications facility, with a range of about 20 miles. Operating on either direct or alternating current, the radios are set at 165.65 megacycles and have 25-watt power outputs.

The main control center for the civil defense communications here will be in the city hall basement, Berry said.

Howard County will be the only one in Texas to have mobile short-wave units installed in all of its major shelter facilities, Berry said.

The project has been under way for about a year and has included assistance in constructing the sets by local amateur radio operators, Berry said.

Friday test calls were made by County Judge Lee Porter, in the county agent's office of the courthouse basement, and Mayor George Zachariah, in the city hall basement, signaling the completion of the testing of the units.

Going Back To Find His Brother's Body

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "I'm going back in and staying this time," Donald C. Dawson said Saturday.

Going back in means returning to a little Roman Catholic village deep in Communist territory north of Bien Hoa where he is trying to persuade the Viet Cong to return his flier brother — dead or alive.

Lt. Daniel Dawson, 27, vanished Nov. 6 in a spotter plane on a routine reconnaissance mission. Donald, 24, a Californian, arrived a month ago to look for him.

Dawson thinks his brother is dead and he is going back to Thai Hung village in the hope the guerrillas will accept his offer of $1,300 for the body.

Recently, there has been an increase of military activity around the village. Dawson said he is worried because this lessens his chances of getting the Viet Cong to cooperate.

Late in January, government forces swept through the region along the Dong Nai River trying to mop up the guerrillas. The Viet Cong retaliated by moving out of the nearby jungles.

Despite a Viet Cong lunar new year cease-fire proclaimed for all South Viet Nam, Dawson said guerrilla fire hit Thai Hung village Tuesday when he went back there on a brief visit.

The small defense force in the village would be no match for a large Viet Cong force, but it is prepared to fight off snipers.

Dawson is banking on the thousands of leaflets concerning his brother he has spread through the region and the information he has sent by word of mouth to farmers and priests.

Gathering his gear in Saigon, Dawson said he plans to return to Thai Hung, possibly Sunday, and remain indefinitely.

What You Can Expect In Adaptation Time and Wearing Comfort As A Typical TSO Contact Lens Patient

Many people who are considering TSO contact lenses are curious as to just how long it will take to adapt to them, and how comfortable they will be when worn all day, everyday. ■ As a typical TSO contact lens patient, you can expect the very minimum in adaptation time* and the very maximum in wearing comfort. (To date, we have successfully fitted over 40,000 contact lens patients.) This has been our experience. There's a reason for this success, for it has not been easy to achieve. We have had a continuous program of research. As a result, we have developed an edging and beveling process second to none, and an exclusive multi-curve lens design. This, along with more exacting fitting techniques, contributes much to our patients' success in the wearing of contact lenses. ■ In addition to our vast experience in the research area, we pay almost fanatical attention to accuracy. During processing, every TSO contact lens undergoes EIGHT separate inspections for accuracy of prescription and perfection in polishing. With contact lenses, nothing can be overlooked. ■ A TSO Doctor of Optometry is continually informed of new developments in fitting techniques; he performs an exacting professional examination on your eyes to determine the optical and physical factors which will affect your ability to wear contact lenses successfully. ■ Our reason for telling you about our contact lens quality and fitting experience is quite simple. We want you to know that we have the finest contact lens available, regardless of cost. And, the cost is reasonable. Just $65 complete for single vision contact lenses. Bifocals are available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

*Average adaptation time for all-day wearing—10 to 14 days.

Town Shocked When Banker Is Arrested

WINONA, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this little East Texas town expressed shock Saturday after the arrest for embezzlement of Butler McClung, Winona's only banker and the scion of a prominent banking family.

"People around these parts would have trusted him with every dime they had," said truck driver Alton Bullock. "I just don't get it."

McClung, 62, was charged by FBI agents Friday with the embezzlement of $350,382.56 from the Winona State Bank. He was its president as had been his father.

The bank ceased to exist, technically, Friday after the soft-spoken, bespectacled McClung closed its doors at the suggestion of the State Banking Department.

Its assets will be liquidated by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. as soon as the agency makes good accounts up to $10,000. The bank had 250 to 300 depositors.

McClung, freed under $10,000 bond, apparently spent the day in his large white house on a hilltop. He declined to talk to newsmen.

"I've known Butler 45 years," said Virgil Russey, city clerk and owner of Winona's only cafe. "He was the most prominent man in town—an outstanding citizen and I've had nothing but the utmost respect for him."

Justice of the Peace E. C. Dale said McClung "always was a tight-lipped fellow, but that's a pretty good way for a banker to be."

Several townspeople described McClung, a native of Winona, as courteous but businesslike. He preferred to spend quiet evenings at home with his family rather than attend social events or ball games.

"Everyone in town still stands behind him as far as I can tell," said a city councilman. "I think of him as one of the most honest men I've ever known."

Other contestants in the district contest Saturday included Olin Degge, Lockney, and Larry Fourniquet, Big Spring.

Judges for the contest were Jack Dunn, head of the Spanish department at HCJC, John Thompson, Big Spring.

Mitchell Interests Meet With CRMWD Board

Representatives from Mitchell County and members of the Colorado River Municipal Water District board sat down Saturday to discuss their positions in reference to the CRMWD's application to build a dam on the river above Robert Lee.

They found themselves close together on most points, but not quite in the matter of a special guarantee of future water supply for Colorado City or other Mitchell County municipal users.

Mitchell County interests had filed a protest at the hearing in December on the district's application.

Positions of the two groups are basically this: 1) Mitchell County interests want to earmark a quantity of water out of reserves on which it would have first call if and when other potential customers applied for it; 2) CRMWD regards itself as equally responsible for all communities in the 32-county watershed area which it proposes to serve from the potential new lake.

DISAPPOINTED

"Although disappointed that the lake may not be in Mitchell County," said Charles Griggs, Sweetwater, attorney for the Mitchell County interests, "we are careful not to take a dog-in-the-manger attitude toward the project. We recognize the importance of water to West Texas."

Charles Perry, Ottosa, president of CRMWD, ventured that whatever policy or contractural arrangements the district made would have to be a blanket one, applicable alike to all communities within the shed at a given time.

"We recognize your position," declared Frank Gissel, Colorado City attorney, "but we feel our position is a little different."

Charles C. Thompson, another of the Mitchell delegation, reiterated this in saying that Colorado City had worked closely to help the district in the past, and that the river was one of the county's greatest assets.

"But it is of no value to us if the lake is in Coke County except as we are able to get water from it," he added.

Perry suggested one way would be to draw a quantity of water at the outset, and that perhaps charges in the long run would be less than if they waited until a time of actual need, but spokesmen for Mitchell County pointed out that none of the communities were in a position to make cash outlays or commitments at this time.

While holding to the position the district could not contract for future priorities on a stair-step basis, Perry said that although the district could not pledge Mitchell County preferential status, it would certainly be fair in the offering of its water and would keep Mitchell County advised.

Briefs will be filed Monday in Austin on the hearing which was held in Austin during December and January on the district's application for the Robert Lee Lake. Both the CRMWD and the protesting Lower Colorado River Authority will file briefs, and Griggs has filed a letter calling attention to his original brief in which Mitchell County raises a jurisdictional question.

AUTHORITY

Should Mitchell County continue its protest, undoubtedly it would be on the issue of whether one agency has authority to impound a lake in the territory of another. The Robert Lee location is in the area of Upper Colorado River Authority, which waived its protest so long as Coke and Runnels counties' needs are protected.

Also sitting in on the meeting here Saturday at the CRMWD headquarters was Elmer Martin, Mitchell County judge, and City Manager Fred Merrin.

Legislators Produce Slim List Of Work

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators had a slim list of completed work to show home folks this weekend but they had a full work week ahead of them.

And the session's growing controversy over teachers' pay raises continued to simmer while senators and representatives took their usual three-day rest between their four-day work weeks.

Gov. John Connally signed into law Friday the first bill of the 59th Legislature, a measure providing the machinery for Texas to receive $2.5 million in federal library construction money.

Another bill awaiting his signature is a supplemental appropriations bill providing $701,781 to tide several agencies over financial crises until the end of this fiscal year, Aug. 31.

Still a third proposal approved by both houses is a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention to consider amendments that would override U.S. Supreme Court judgments on reapportionment. The resolution does not require the governor's signature.

In the work to be done afield, the Senate had several issues of statewide interest that have been approved by committees and are ready for floor debate. The most likely for early action is an oil and gas pooling bill, one of last session's hot potatoes, and an emergency appropriation measure to give Lamar State College $928,580 to replace a science building destroyed by fire.

Both houses continue a heavy schedule of committee meetings the coming week with the House even scheduling unusual Thursday afternoon and night meetings. Many legislators don't like Thursday committees because they cut into their weekend break.

Meanwhile, Connally and the Texas State Teachers Association continue their feud over rival plans to boost the pay of school teachers. TSTA public relations director L. P. Sturgeon repeated charges Friday that Connally's 18-year program of pay increases would bring forth a hike in local school taxes. Connally had no direct reply but associates said off the record he is planning a series of statewide television and personal appearances to support his plan against the TSTA $45 a month across the board pay raise plan.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Ministry of Communications and Transportation has named a committee to organize communications for the 1968 Olympic Games to be held here.

Most Bad Checks Are 'Deliberate Frauds'

Most of the bad checks which are palmed off on Big Spring businessmen are just that—bad checks.

They are not instances of oversight on the part of the writers — unintentional deceits by persons who may have sincerely believed they had the money to back up the checks.

Sixty-five per cent of all the checks turned into the worthless check department of the Howard County sheriff's office are of the "unable-to-locate account" types. In other words, out and out frauds by individuals who knew full well at the time they wrote the check, they had no money to make it good and not even a bank account to justify their use of the check form.

Aubrey Standard, sheriff, said that the check department has processed 10,562 bad checks since the office was established Jan. 9, 1962.

"We have found," he said, "two-thirds of all the bad checks we handle are written on nonexistent bank accounts."

The others are generally checks returned with the notation, "insufficient funds."

A few are forgeries.

At this time, the sheriff's office is working on 47 cases of unsolved forgery. One of the first tasks in a forgery charge is to establish the identity of the forger—which, in most instances, is not easy.

The department, Standard said, files an average of three misdemeanor or worthless check cases each day. Misdemeanor cases are lodged in the county court, and felony complaints (checks where the amount is in excess of $50 or where the check is a forgery) are filed with the district attorney.

The two deputies in the department handle 27 phone calls per average day relative to bad checks and 28 persons call at the office daily to discuss check matters.

The department has collected and returned $117,433.88 to the merchants and others who cashed the bad checks in the time it has operated.

In January of this year, for example, the department was handed 325 bad checks to be processed. During the month, the department collected 229 checks or 70 per cent of the total number investigated. Total collections for the month ran well ahead of the same month a year ago. The collections for this past month were $3,377.04, compared with $2,162.21 for January, 1964.

Nineteen cases were filed in county court during the year. The department was instrumental in the filing of one felony case in January and in revoking the probation of one offender who had failed to live up to the terms of his probation.

Irrigation To Highlight Meet

LUBBOCK — Irrigation practices and production management will highlight the first afternoon session of the Western Cotton Production Conference here, March 2-3.

The two-day conference will gather experts from throughout the industry to discuss problems and latest solutions for the Western producer.

First speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Boyce C. Williams of the department of agronomy at New Mexico State University, University Park, discussing balanced nutrition and water as related to yield and quality of cotton production.

Efficient use of irrigation systems and its potential in obtaining increased quality and yields will be outlined by Shelby Newman of the South Plains Research and Extension Center in Lubbock.

Arizona research pathologist, Dr. Lester M. Blank, from the Cotton Research Center in Tempe, will outline measures for control of major cotton diseases. He is expected to give special attention to Verticillium wilt. There are several other speakers.

Jap Ship To Be Nuclear-Powered

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's seven leading shipbuilders have been invited to tender bids March 1 for construction of this country's first nuclear-powered merchant ship.

Lamesans Set For Jubilee

LAMESA (SC) — Twenty-eight attended a meeting Thursday night to make plans for the 1965 "Lamesa Golden Tornado Jubilee" to be held in Lamesa July 2-4. The celebration is to be held every five years and is for all ex-students and teachers of Lamesa schools. Bob Crawley is general chairman of the committee, R. B. Snell is vice chairman, Mrs. Jim Hardwich is secretary-treasurer, and Bud Hale is president of the annual homecoming group.

Crawley said that approximately 4,500 students had graduated from the local high school since the first high school diplomas were awarded by the school in 1913. There were only two graduates that year. Plans are under way to have the first valedictorian to graduate from Lamesa High School present at the Jubilee.

Some tentative plans for the meeting include individual class reunions, a reception for all past and present teachers, receptions honoring all past and present football players, basketball players, band members and all members of school organizations. An "Extravaganza" is planned for July 3 and a community-wide church service will be held in the Lamesa High School Stadium Sunday morning. All former students who have become ministers will be recognized at this service.

Invitations will be mailed to former students in the near future with a schedule of planned events.

Gen. McGehee To Inspect 331st Squadron Monday

Maj. Gen. Thomas K. McGehee, commander of the 29th North American Air Defense region-Air Division, comes here Monday for a personal inspection of one of his units—the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

This is in keeping with the general's policy of keeping in personal touch with the components of his command. He is due here at 11:15 a.m. said Lt. Col. M. W. Shareck, 331st commander, will tour the squadron area, lunch, and inspect improvements the pilots have made. Departure for Perrin AFB is scheduled at 1:45 p.m. Gen McGehee is on a tight schedule that will take him to approximately a dozen stations in three days.

MAJ. GEN. T. K. McGEHEE

Accompanying him here will be Col. G. G. Atkinson, commander of the Oklahoma City Air Defense sector; Col. Joseph Belser, deputy chief of staff-operations 29th Air Division; and Col. Dan Sharp, DCS-materiel.

After touring facilities here, Gen. McGehee and party will meet with Col. A. F. Taute Jr., wing commander at Webb AFB, for lunch. Afterward, he will resume his tour of the squadron area, inspecting improvements effected to the alert hangar by the pilots themselves. He also will check on all the shops at the 331st.

A native of Greenville, Ala. and a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Gen. McGehee began his military service as a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery Reserve. In 1939, he entered flying school at Randolph Field and received his pilot wings the following year. In 1942, he served under then Col. Curtis E. LeMay, who recently retired as Air Force chief of staff. The following year he was assigned to command the 305th Bomb Group in Europe and earned numerous decorations. As a colonel, he was named commander for the Flight Test Group at Elgin Field, Fla., where he originated the famous fire power demonstrations.

He also had duty as a professor of air science, as deputy chief of staff-operations 14th Air Force, attended the Armed Forces Staff College. Subsequently, he held numerous posts including chief of staff-operations 5th Air Force in Japan, vice commander 31st Air Division, commander Grand Forks Air Defense Sector, of the San Francisco Air Defense Sector, director of operations North American Air Defense Command, and command of the 29th NORAD.

CAB Reports On Cause Of Light Plane Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last July 31, country singer James T. (Gentleman Jim) Reeves and his piano accompanist, Dockie Dean Manuel, were killed when their light plane crashed in a rainstorm six miles southwest of the Nashville airport.

Today the Civil Aeronautics Board said the 39-year-old Reeves was not qualified to fly by instrument and attributed the crash to his attempt to continue visual flight "into an area of instrument weather conditions."

The result, the board said in an accident report, was "a loss of control."

The CAB reported that when the Nashville air traffic controller asked him by radio whether he was clear of the rainstorm on his approach to the airport, Reeves said "negat . . . ." and at that moment the aircraft target disappeared from the radar scope.

The two entertainers—Reeves had been a member of the "Grand Old Opry" troup for eight years—were returning to Nashville from Jonesboro, Ark.

Findings on other fatal light-plane accidents included:

Plane slowed on takeoff from Beeville, Tex., airport Aug. 15 and crashed, killing the pilot, George E. Grininger Jr., 39, of Houston, and his passengers, Viola Grininger of Houston and Mary Bell Reagan and Louise Reagan, Beeville. Examination of the engine showed no evidence of a condition that would prevent normal power development.

"The reason the aircraft did not accelerate to lift-off speed in the normal distance is unknown," the CAB said.

School Spelling Champs Selecting Deadline Fixed

Big Spring schools have set March 31 as the deadline for the election of school spelling champions to compete in the third annual Daily Herald Howard County Spelling Bee. The county bee will be April 10.

Official spelling lists "Words of the Champions" are on hand at The Herald office and a supply has been provided to the Big Spring school administration office. Copies of the official local rules are also available.

Elbow school plans to compete in the bee but is faced with a problem of date conflicts, according to Darrel Flynt, principal. He points out that the Interscholastic League competition is set for schools of the Elbow category about the same time as the county bee.

Last year, Elbow (Forsan school district junior high school) was one of the most active competitors in the bee.

The official spelling lists, from which all words for contests at all levels from the classroom eliminations to the National Spelling Bee are taken, cost 15 cents per copy.

Each school competing in the bee will select its champion and an alternate. The alternates will represent the school April 10 at the county spelling bee if the school champion cannot compete.

Winner of the county bee will go to Lubbock (as guest of The Herald) to compete in the regional bee against the spelling champions from 23 West Texas counties. Winner at Lubbock wins an all-expense trip to Washington D.C. in June and a chance to compete for the National Spelling Championship.

The county spelling bee will be held in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Each school is asked to set up competition on a classroom basis. When classroom champions have been decided, the school is asked to hold a school spelling bee. The speller who is still on his feet at the end of the bee, and the second student left, will be the school champion and alternate.

Officials of the bee urge all youngsters who plan to compete in this year's bee to begin practice at once.

HOWARD COUNTY, 1965
SPELLING BEE RULES

1. Any pupil is eligible who has not passed beyond the eighth grade at time of the Bee in his or her school, except that no pupil who will become 16 years of age on or before the date of the National Spelling Bee shall be eligible. Also, a student is eligible to win the Howard County Bee and the regional Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Spelling Bee a second time, but after winning twice shall not be eligible to compete again for the regional championship.

(This rule carries the provision that a student winning the national spelling championship would not be eligible to compete again in The Big Spring Herald Spelling Bee.)

2. Preliminary competition may be conducted either in writing or orally or both; or classroom champions may be designated on the basis of their daily grades. However, the Howard County Bee and the regional finals held in Lubbock for county champions are conducted orally and the National Spelling Bee conducts the national finals in Washington orally.

3. Words for the local and the regional Spelling Bee will come from the "Words of the Champions" book, with a supplemental list being used only if all the words in the "Final Words" list have been called. The pronouncer may skip words at his or her discretion in the "First Round Words" and "Intermediate Words" and "Final Words" lists. If the close of the "Final Words" list is reached without a champion having been determined, the pronouncer then shall retrace and call words skipped the first time in the "Final Words" list only. If a winner has not been determined by that time, the pronouncer shall call "Winning Words" and "Can You Spell These?" lists on Page 32 of "Words of the Champions." If these words are spelled correctly, a supplementary list provided by The Herald and The Avalanche-Journal shall be used.

Words used in the national finals shall be selected from the "Words of the Champions" book, from the lists used in the various city and regional contests, and from Webster's Third New International Dictionary.

4. In competition, contestants may pronounce words before spelling them, after spelling them, or not at all.

5. A contestant may request that a word be re-pronounced, defined or used in a sentence. The pronouncer shall grant the request until the officials agree that the word has been made reasonably clear to the contestant. Judges may disqualify any contestant who ignores a request to start spelling.

6. Having started to spell a word a contestant shall be given no opportunity to change letters once pronounced. A speller having started to spell a word may retrace, provided letters and their sequence are not changed in the retracing.

7. If no definition of a homonym is given, the correct spelling of either word shall be accepted as correct. When a speller is given the definition of a homonym he must spell the word defined.

8. When a speller fails to spell a word correctly, he or she must drop out of the contest, and another word shall be given to the next contestant in line.

9. The elimination procedure changes when the contestants are reduced to two. At that point, as soon as one contestant, in the opinion of the judges, misspells a word the other contestant immediately shall be given an opportunity to spell that same word. If the second contestant spells that word correctly, plus the next word on the pronouncer's list, then the second contestant shall be declared the champion.

10. If one of the last two spellers misses and the other, after correcting the error, misspells the new word submitted to him, then the misspelled new word shall be referred to the first speller. If the first speller then succeeds in correcting the error and correctly spells the next word on the pronouncer's list, then he shall be declared champion.

11. If both spellers misspell the same word, both shall continue in the contest and the one who first misspelled the word shall be given a new word to spell. The contest shall then continue under Rules 9 and 10.

12. Webster's Third International Dictionary shall serve as the final authority for the spelling of words. Such variants and reformed spelling as appear in small type at the bottom of the page in Webster's, keyed with a dagger or double dagger, will not be accepted as correct.

Obsolete and archaic spellings will be regarded as errors.

13. The judges are in complete control of the Bee. Their decision shall be final on all questions.

14. Any question relating to the spelling of a word must be referred to the judges immediately. No protests can be entertained after the contest is ended.

15. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Spelling Bee district includes Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Ector, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hockley, Howard, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Scurry, Terry and Yoakum counties.

16. Parochial schools are eligible to enter contest.

17. The Howard County Spelling Bee will be held on April 10, 1965, beginning at 10 a.m., in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College. The winner will be certified to the Spelling Bee Editor, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, by the county Spelling Bee director.

18. County champions are asked to register for the Avalanche-Journal Spelling Bee at O. L. Slaton Junior High School Auditorium in Lubbock not later than 1:15 p.m., May 1, 1965.

19. First winner in the regional finals will be sent to Washington, D.C., for the National Spelling Bee, with transportation, lodging, meals and entertainment expenses paid by the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal. The regional winner will receive a set of Encyclopedia Britannica; Encyclopedia Britannica World Atlas; a Paper-Mate Capri pen and pencil set, and possession for one year of an inscribed rotating plaque. In addition, the school of the winner in the Avalanche-Journal Spelling Bee will receive free use of one Britannica film each month during the following school year.

20. Second place winner in the regional finals will receive a cash prize of $20.00; third place, $15.00, fourth place, $10.00; and fifth place $5.00.

21. The second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place winners shall each receive a copy of the Lincoln Library of Essential Information.

22. Each county champion including the finalists, will receive a plaque from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. These plaques will become the permanent possession of the winners.

23. Each school champion shall receive a Paper-Mate pen. Each school champion also shall receive a blue ribbon. Unless requested by schools in advance, these pens and ribbons shall be sent to the county Spelling Bee directors to be awarded at the county Bees.

Watch Out For That Gal In The Middle!

This photo, made last year at the end of the Howard County Spelling Bee, shows Donald Hickson, the 1964 champion, Robert Chavez, the alternate, and in the center, tiny Susan Trim, 9-year-old spelling sharpshooter. She will be back again this year to try for the title. Hickson also will seek to grab the crown a second time. Chavez no longer attends school here.

Lots Of Competition Gets Ready For Local Contest

In 1964, at the Second Annual Howard County Spelling Bee sponsored by the Daily Herald, Donald Hickson was the champion and Robert Chavez the runnerup.

Another youngster, however, who didn't quite make the championship or alternate level was really the big hit of the show.

She was tiny Susan Trim, at that time the ripe age of 9 and a fourth grader at the Washington Place Elementary School. Susan, despite her tender years and brief scholastic experience, was in there pitching right down to the end of the line against the toughest spelling competition of all the city's schools.

Hickson, who tried in 1963 and came back to win the championship in the county in 1964, is out to repeat if he can. He is already at work.

Chavez, who represented Goliad Junior High School in 1964, no longer lives here and will not be back in the competition.

Susan, however, is still at Washington school and now, one year older and undoubtedly stocked up with a lot of additional spelling skill, will most certainly be in the school competition.

Her dad, Walter Trim, said last week, he was certain Susan plans to try again this year. The Trims live at 1417 11th Place.

Cold Slows Grain Growth

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Cooler temperatures during the week slowed growth of grains and range vegetation, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some parts of the state needed moisture. Heavy rains fell near the weekend in South Texas but the effect on farming and livestock grazing will not be apparent for some time.

Livestock feeding was stepped up particularly in the western range area.

Moisture was much better in the eastern Panhandle than in the west. Rain would be welcomed in all that area. Wheat was normal but growth and grazing were limited.

A considerable amount of land was damaged over the South Plains by wind erosion. The entire district is very dry. Livestock are being fed.

All except five counties in the Rolling Plains need rain. The Jan. 25 sandstorm was heavy. Grain growth was generally slow, some leaf rust damage had occurred, and two counties reported damage from grain mites and greenbugs.

Moisture in North Central Texas limited field work. Grains look good but fields were too wet for grazing.

Grains made good growth in Northeast Texas and furnished better than average grazing but the acreage is limited. Ground and stock water reserves are dangerously low in seven counties. Cattle are wintering well, probably due to the better quality of roughage.

Moisture is very short in far West Texas. Grass has been badly dusted by recent sandstorms. Range conditions are critical with some blowing reported. Calving has started and cows are in poor to fair condition, as are sheep. A shortage of credit sent many farmers to the Farmers Home Administration to seek loans.

Strong, dusty winds depleted moisture in West Central Texas. Considerable grazing. Native pastures are below average. Weeds and short grass are furnishing grazing for sheep and goats.

Moisture in Central Texas was adequate and grain growth is above average. Livestock are in good condition with feeding limited.

Deep soil moisture is short throughout East Texas. Surface moisture varies from short to adequate. Clovers and grains made good growth and furnished some grazing.

Moisture is adequate in the southeast and upper Gulf Coast district and grains for grazing are making good growth. Native pastures were average to above.

Moisture in South Central Texas is spotted and deep moisture is short. Growth of range vegetation has been slowed by the cold. Oats and flax are doing well. Some flax is blooming.

Thumb Saves Lives Below The Surface

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Topside a hurricane was brewing.

On the ocean floor 193 feet below four men were in a 10x40-foot cylinder which could become their tomb unless they were rescued before the storm struck.

For seven hours, while an overloaded crane shook with the effort of trying to haul the underwater laboratory to the surface, no one knew whether they would make it.

The men were ordered to abandon the laboratory — their home for the previous 10 days — and move to a tiny, cramped compression chamber for the trip to the surface. Then, just as the chamber cleared the water, it sprang a leak. In minutes the four would die painfully of the "bends," unless the leak were plugged.

Chief Petty Officer Sanders Manning found the leak and plugged the hole with his thumb. Internal pressure, equal to that of the ocean at 200 feet, jammed his thumb in the hole like a cork in a bottle. The flesh gave with a spurt of blood but the bone held and the leak was stopped.

Minutes later the chamber, dangling from the end of a wire rope, was lifted to safety — just in the nick of time. Technicians discovered a metal pin to which the rope was attached had been bent and almost sheared.

"We were holding our breath — those men were close to death," Navy Capt. G. F. Bond said Friday in telling first details of an experiment called "Sea Lab I" off Bermuda in January 1964.

Bond told the winter convention on electronics the four men showed no ill effects from their long underwater adventure — except for Manning's bloody thumb.

Astronaut Scott Carpenter was to have been one of the four, Bond said, but he broke his arm in a preliminary dive and was replaced. Bond identified the others as Lt. Cmdr. Robert Thompson, CPO Robert A. Barter and Gunnery Mate Lester Anderson.

Bond also disclosed plans for a more elaborate experiment with a 12x50-foot "Sea Lab II" to house teams of 10 men up to 30 days at a depth of 250 feet off La Jolla, Calif., this summer.

If this is successful the Navy plans to have "large numbers of men living and working indefinitely at depths up to 600 feet" within the next four years, Bond said.

Banquet Features Charley Johnson

Charley Johnson, a home-town product who has made good in a big way as a big league quarterback, comes here Saturday evening to be the speaker at the annual YMCA banquet. Naturally, a large crowd is expected to jam into the Dora Roberts Student Union building to hear him.

Charley not only is an outstanding figure in the National Football League as the St. Louis Cardinals' quarterback, but he is a keen scholar as well. He has his masters degree in chemical engineering from Washington University in St. Louis, but in about another year he is due to earn his doctorate in the same field.

BRIEF VISIT

With Mrs. Johnson, the former Barbara Shields, they expect to get in a brief visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. (Perry) Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schilds.

Tickets for the banquet at 7 p.m. are available at the YMCA for $2.50, adults, and $1.25, youths.

A native of Big Spring, Charley got his first taste of quarterbacking for the Big Spring High School Steers, but when a scholarship from Texas Tech or Hardin-Simmons did not materialize as he had hoped he took one at Schreiner in Kerrville. After a year, however, Charley was left high and dry when Schreiner gave up football. With characteristic versatility, he switched to basketball and was offered a basketball - football scholarship at the New Mexico State University.

GOOD FORTUNE

This proved a stroke of good fortune, for he played under Warren Woodson, one of the most offense geniuses of collegiate football. Charley had a great spring practice, and after that basketball went out the window. He was an unanimous All-Border Conference selection for three years, was named most valuable player in the Sun Bowl after his last two seasons when the Aggies grabbed a pair of victories. In his junior year, he ranked second in the nation in total offense and third in his senior year.

The Cardinals spotted him early and drafted him as a "future" in the 10th round after his junior year. Charley joined the club at training camp before the 1961 season, but with veterans like Sam Etcheverry and Ralph Guglielmi around, he saw little action his rookie year.

In mid-season 1962 he broke into the starting lineup, and he's been firmly entrenched there. Moreover, he has been setting Cardinal records right and left, including career completions (600), attempts (1,164), yardage (8,816), and touchdowns (65). Charley also has season marks for completions (223), attempts (423), yardage (3,280), touchdowns (28), and game records for completions (28) and yardage (428).

OUTSTANDING

"Charley will be one of the outstanding quarterbacks in the NFL," predicted his coach, Wally Lemm. "He's young and strong, and although he makes mistakes, he never makes the same mistake twice. His intelligence in grasping the problems of the game makes him that much better a quarterback, and he's quick too learn."

The star pilot who guided the Cards to a 9-5 record in 1963 and a 9-3-2 record and second place in the NFL eastern division in 1964 along with a 24-17 victory over Green Bay in the playoff bowl, is quick to learn off the football field, too.

"My (doctor's) dissertation," he said, "is on the expansion of polymers. I'm majoring in reology.

"Actually, and probably oversimplifying, reology involves the science of flow characteristics of various materials, and I'm working with plastics."

Looking back on last year's record in football, Charley figured "it was a good year, but it won't be a really good year until we win the championship."

Club Showmen Have Busy Week

They are participating in two major fat stock shows—one in El Paso and the other in San Antonio.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, is with the group at El Paso, where the show opened Saturday and will close Feb. 12. Donald Brandenberger, assistant county agent, just home from Fort Worth Stock Show, will leave Tuesday for San Antonio with the second group.

Helbig took the club van with him because of the large number of competitors going from this county. The second group will make the trip to San Antonio in trailers or trucks.

At El Paso, steers will be shown by Johnny Middleton, Mark Barr, Delores Lankford, and Linda Foster. Lambs are entered by Nancy Mann, Charlotte Mann, Buz Mann, Linda Foster, Steve Foster, Julie Seay, Gloria Webb, Elaine Webb, Jerry Webb, Diane Proctor, Lucy Thornton and Debra Anderson. Debra Anderson is also entering a pig in the competition.

At San Antonio, Robbie Haney, Maxwell Barr, Martha Robinson and Delores Lankford will exhibit steers. No lambs will be taken to the San Antonio show.

As soon as the San Antonio and El Paso shows end, the Houston Fat Stock show opens. This is set for Feb. 28.

Closing show, ahead of the Howard County Show, will be the San Angelo exposition which opens March 9 and closes March 14.

The Howard County Annual stock show is to open March 16 and close March 18. This will end the 1965 show season for the club members.

Square Dance Class Slated

Bill and Dean Wood are starting a beginner's class of Square Dancers for teenagers between 11 and 18 years of age, at the YMCA. It will be a 10-week course to be held each Tuesday night from 7:30 to 9, starting Feb. 9.

All interested teenagers may contact the Woods at AM 3-3398. They have approximately 10 years of experience in dancing, teaching and calling.

"Learning the original American Folk Dance is fun," Wood said, "and we can show you the fun of square dancing."

Bad Weather Reduces Flying Activity Here

By M. A. WEBB

Most of the excitement around Howard County Airport this week was the second burglary and safe-peeling within a month. In addition to forcing a sheet of aluminum on the hangar door to gain entrance to the building, the burglars forced open other doors, peeled the Trans-Texas Airways office safe, ransacked office drawers and files, and cluttered up the place generally in the terminal building.

Then too, the culprits knew where the keys to the airport gas truck were kept. They obtained the keys and drove the truck down the taxi-way to the end of the runway and ditched it in the sand.

Webb Aero Club's Cessna 150 was kept hot during the week, according to the reservation book. Thirty flights were made in that aircraft, and six were made in the Cessna 172, including two cross country trips.

Flying were: Cessna 150—Ericson (4), Brown (5), Sweeden (6), Sylras, Brazeel (2), Kenyon (2), Chumley (2), Morrell (2), Davidson (2), Ray (2), Foster (2); Cessna 172—Kennard (1 and cross country), Kenyon, Waver (cross country), Pagan, Mann.

Members of the Howard County Flying Club flying the club's Colt were Mike Moore (3), Dodson (3), Brumley (3-day cross country).

Big Spring Flying Club members up were: Colt — Simmons (2 - day cross country); Skyhawk—Polone (1 and 2-day cross country), Lawson, Allen (2), Rogers, Weaver.

Trans-Texas Airways boardings at Howard County Airport for January totaled 165, according to office manager Dean Berry. He said a few boardings were lost because of bad weather, which is to be expected this time of year. Incidentally, Berry took the company's auditors back to Midland Friday afternoon, after they checked into the safe-peeling.

Jerry Bradley, sales representative for Trans-Texas in the Midland-Odessa, El Paso, Carlsbad, N.M., Big Spring and San Angelo area, is now living in Midland. He replaced Bob Mansfield, who held the position, about the first of January, and is a frequent visitor to the Howard County office.

Speaker Challenges Base Graduates At Dining-In

"Where to now? What next?" Major General Neil D. Van Sickle, Air Force Recruiting Service commander, asked new pilots Friday night at Webb Air Force Base Officers Club, at the Graduation Dining In—the banquet celebrating the successful completion of 55 weeks of undergraduate training for Pilot Class 65-E.

Six members of the class were presented with awards for distinguished performance in one or more phases of the course. Saturday, the 36-member class received their wings at a Wing Parade and Review.

Flying, to the general, is a satisfying fulfillment.

"There is something incomparably complete, cleansing and final," he said, "about feeling the gear handle click up." But, he said also that while flying is the core of his career, his central satisfaction comes from something more enduring, demanding and far more varied—the great satisfaction coming from membership in the fraternity of those who wear the Air Force uniform.

He told the pilots that they will discover the thrill and challenge of flying alone, the challenge of teaching others to fly, and the demanding incomparable comraderie of the bomber or transport crew.

Gen. Van Sickle said his pleasure in addressing young pilots was because, "You are the ones who can imagine direct relationship between yourselves and an enemy of the United States . . . it is from your ranks that great captains may come, who may hold the destiny of our nation in their hands."

STUDENT PILOT AWARDS

Prior to the general's address, these graduating pilots received awards:

Capt. Charles R. Beck, Loudonville, Ohio, for academic training; 2nd. Lt. Jack Cousyn Jr., Leavenworth, Wash., for flying training; 2nd. Lt. Daniel L. Otero, Albuquerque, N.M., for officer training; Capt. Beck, Capt. Robert W. Stamm, Indianapolis, Ind., and Lt. Kenneth J. Monroe, Essex Falls, N.J., shared the outstanding officer graduate honors; and the Air Training Command commander's trophy went to Captain Stamm. Special recognition was given to Lt. Howard A. Long of Savanah, Ill., for an outstanding display of flying professionalism during an emergency.

Saturday morning, at a Wing Parade and Review on the Webb Air Force Base flight line, the student pilots received their silver wings in a ceremony witnessed by wives, parents and sweethearts. Graduation activities concluded Saturday evening with a reception and graduation ball.

Lounge Loses Its License

Police Chief Jay Banks announced Saturday the suspension of a dance hall license for the Jazz Lounge, 503 NW 4th.

Banks said the suspension is for an indefinite period. He cited two arrests of persons on drunkenness charges at the establishment, one including a charge of carrying a prohibitive weapon.

Airman Beaten, Hospitalized

A Webb AFB airman, Roger C. Koons, was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday at the base hospital, where he was taken Friday after reportedly being beaten by two Latin American men on the North Side.

Air Police are investigating the incident. Koons is assigned to 3560th Headquarters Squadron.

An entry was reported to police Saturday morning to a portable classroom building at Goliad Junior High School. According to officers, curtains were torn down in one room and typewriter ribbons pulled out of some typewriters along with some other minor vandalism.

Several thefts were reported to police Friday. Farris Pontiac reported an air cleaner taken from a car parked on the firm's lot. Mrs. Sonia Alcontar, 608 N. Gregg, told officers a coat valued at $40 was taken from her car, parked behind the Montgomery Ward store.

Mrs. Zack Gray, 1305 Pennsylvania, told police a charm bracelet valued at $55 was taken from her car, parked in the 1900 block of Gregg Street Friday.

Maybe lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but burglars have no respect for that adage. Last week they cracked the Trans Texas safe at the Howard County Airport for a second time in less than a month. It's not only getting more monotonous but more painful, for the last loss was substantially greater than the first.

Daniel Odell McDonald heard judgment passed upon him last week for the slaying of his grandmother last June. A 118th District Court jury at Stanton recommended 99 years after finding him guilty. The youth's attorneys gave notice of appeal.

Big Spring and area are losing the services of Dr. James E. Box as superintendent of the United States Experiment Station. Dr. Box, who refined many of the research efforts at the station and instituted others, has been named director of a federal agricultural research center at Athens, Ga., where he also will teach a graduate course in soil physics.

Coahoma trustees are taking another look at their school plan situation in the wake of last week's plastering of a $400,000 and a $50,000 bond proposal. They are somewhat in the situation which Big Spring faced many years ago when a building and tax rate issue went down—they had an answer but no solution.

Congratulations are in order to Webb AFB specifically to the editors and staff of Prairie Pilot, the Webb paper. The Pilot was picked last week as the outstanding newspaper in its category in all the Air Force. Last year it won second place, and now first, so consistency is apparent.

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks and the Big Spring High School Steers continued their pattern during the week. The Hawks floundered on the road and crushed the opposition at home, whereas the Steers dropped two games by the usual three points. Give the Steers four points and they might win the district.

HCJC, incidentally, tacked up new records for spring enrollment, showing a six per cent gain in head count with 790 registered. However, the big story is in the number of additional fulltime students — about 50 more. This is another indication that the total load of the college is going to advance steadily from here on out.

Class 65-E Saturday was the first to graduate from Webb AFB this year, and in it was a Big Spring man, 2nd Lt. Bill Thompson. If memory serves us right, this has happened only once before, and his assignment as an instructor is the first time this has happened. Lt. Thompson is the son of City Commissioner and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, a graduate of high school here, of Rice Institute, and fourth man in his class.

Rural Residence Lost In Fire

A five-room residence, eight miles north of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway, was destroyed in a fire Friday. The home was owned by Ralph Flowers. The Flowers family was in Lubbock at the time of the fire.

According to firemen, both the house and contents were a total loss. Origin of the fire had not been definitely determined Saturday, firemen said. Minor damage resulted from a fire at a vacant house at 309 Lancaster Friday. The house had burned previously, firemen reported.

King Seeks Help From White House

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Negro right-to-vote demonstrations ceased temporarily in Selma Saturday while Dr. Martin Luther King turned again to the White House for help in the civil rights struggle.

The battle for racial equality in Alabama shifted back for the moment to the state Capitol in Montgomery, where King first achieved fame a decade ago.

5 DAYS

After spending nearly five days in jail in this segregated-minded west Alabama town, the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner left Saturday morning for Washington. He had hoped to confer with President Johnson Monday. The White House announced, however, that King had been asked to meet instead with Atty. Gen.-designate Nicholas Katzenbach.

King, who was greeted by a visiting delegation of congressmen from other states when he walked from his cell at City Jail Friday, said he wanted to talk with the President about getting new right-to-vote legislation.

From the nation's capital, he plans to fly to Montgomery to spearhead a Negro voter registration march Tuesday through the downtown streets of the one-time Confederate capital. King once led a boycott in Montgomery of segregated city buses.

It was during that year-long protest against racial barriers that the young Baptist minister became known around the world as a symbol of the Negro's demands for equal rights.

PAUSED

In Selma, the voter registration campaign paused only for the weekend. King's associates said the day by day street marches will start again this week and continue until the County Board of Registrars meets again Feb. 15.

The bi-partisan group of 15 congressmen who came here at King's request left Friday night after an eight-hour visit. They promised to seek the passage of new federal laws to make it easier for Negroes to vote in Southern communities where state laws hold them back.

The visiting House members talked for three hours with four Alabama Republican congressmen and city and county officials. They also took statements from Negroes who complained of discrimination and of brutality in jail.

PROPRIETY

The Alabama Republicans challenged the propriety of what they called a self-appointed delegation of outside congressmen coming here without the official status of their regular House committee.

The complaining Negro residents of Dallas County got the promise of some help in a newly issued federal court order which directed state officials to make it easier for them to vote and also to step up the pace of registration.

Maddox Gives In, Will Serve Negroes

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — As his customers and wife wept, restaurant operator Lester Maddox announced Saturday that he would serve Negroes. It would have cost him $200 a day to continue serving white persons only.

Maddox, a bitter opponent of the civil rights law, had fought the act since its passage.

Calvin Craig, the Georgia grand dragon of the United Klans of America, promptly dropped in for lunch, but no Negroes sought service.

For Maddox, it was the end of a long struggle to keep his eating place segregated.

"We are not surrendering," he said, "but only accepting that which is being forced upon us — that which we feel violates our oath to God. We shall continue this fight as long as we live."

But he reported an order would be filed in federal court Monday confirming his readiness to comply with the civil rights law.

County Vocational Schools Are Urged

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education approved plans Saturday to put education within fingertip grasp of illiterate adults, emotionally disturbed children, and students needing vocational training.

The agency recommended that the Legislature create county-wide vocation school districts within each county. The plan, called "unique and imaginative" by one board member, would let smaller counties tax residents to provide for vocational training. Most large cities already have established training courses.

The classes would be conducted through schools already in existence, with federal funds supplementing local funds to expand the equipment and faculty to accommodate students from other school districts in the county.

The board also recommended the legislature expand the pilot program for emotionally disturbed children from 6 to 20 classes across the state.

Since the program began in September 1963, a total of 63 children took training in Austin, Dallas, and Galena Park elementary schools and Houston and Waco junior high schools. Another 37 students took classes from a hospital unit in Galveston.

Board members urged that smaller cities be included in the second phase of the pilot program. Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said such cities as Cleburne and Tyler had expressed interest. More classes will be held for younger children, where the greatest progress was made, he said.

University of Texas staff members helped organize and follow through with the original classes, but the 20 classes would require a full time Texas Education Agency employe to coordinate the studies, Edgar said.

Texas would plunge into educating the more than one million persons considered illiterate with an "adult basic education" program financed 90 per cent by the federal government, which the board endorsed.

The TEA would administer the programs for adults whose educational level is 8th grade or lower. The education board set out the objectives for the 254 counties: offer reading, writing, math and speech to enable the adults to prepare for work, get off the welfare rolls and become a taxpayer.

ABC Members Are Introduced

Richard Hughes took charge of the American Business Club program at that organization's luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel and his discourse shed some light on the lives and vocations of several fellow Ambucs.

Hughes introduced each person seated at one particular table and focused attention upon the individual's family status, his job and his interests.

The speaker said that it was the responsibility of each member to "know their fellow Ambuc and do what you can to make this a better club."

Grand Jury To Study 25 Cases

Twenty-five felony complaints naming 28 defendants are to be laid before the Howard County grand jury Tuesday when Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, sets that body to work.

Travis Long, investigator for Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that the list of cases to be taken before the jurors has been approved and that witnesses have been notified to be in court at 10 a.m. Feb. 9.

One murder case is on the list — a complaint against Bertha Rene Aitman. She is accused of shooting O. C. Gambill to death last Nov. 28.

A second murder complaint had been pending, but has been dropped with the death of the defendant. This was the case against Charles M. Toney, charged with the slaying Jan. 1 of his wife, Ruby Faye. Toney died in the county jail later as result of a gunshot wound self-inflicted at the time he is accused of killing his wife.

Judge Caton called 16 citizens to report for grand jury duty, but he said Friday that one has already been excused.

The panel now includes:

Mrs. F. R. Mays, Raymond Smith, Donald R. Robbins, W. J. Sheppard, Laurence Adkins, C. L. Roden, H. W. Wright, Charles Merritt, Mrs. Neil Norred, W. F. Taylor, Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Kountz Jr., Jack K. Dumphy, R. J. Read and R. W. Currie.

From these panel members the court will select 12 to serve as grand jurors for the current term of court.

Cases in addition to that against Bertha Aitman, include:

Joe Nunez Sr., theft over $50; Harold Benton Boy, theft; Jewel Townsend and Emmitt Livingston, burglary; Gary J. Benton, theft; Feliciano V. Gonzales, car burglary; Sam Jackson Harmonson, DWI second; Jose Cuellar, burglary; Melvin E. Weiland and Robert Earl Frymire, auto theft; Paul Earl Sayles, burglary; Raul Paradez, burglary; Meliton Montelongo, possession of marijuana; Catarino Perez Nunez Jr., burglary; Billy Dee Clark, DWI second; Billy James Green, burglary; Curtis Joe Lang, burglary; Jimmy Cavitt, theft; Jesus Bustamante, forgery and passing; J. C. Alldredge, worthless check; Paul G. Zaharis, forgery; Paul Arnold Reeves and James Ray Savana, burglary; Earl E. Morgan, forgery; Wilbur Henry Armstead, DWI second; Lloyd McGary, forgery; Harvey Lee DeWitt, forgery; and Morris D. Minter, forgery.

Seven types under smooth include: Puppies 6 months and under 9; puppies 9 months and under 12; novice; bred-by exhibitor; American-bred; open; winners.

In the West Texas Shetland Sheepdog Club Show the classifications, for male and for female, will be: Puppies 6 months and under 9 months; puppies 9 months and under 12; novice; bred-by exhibitor; American-bred; open dogs (sable and white); open (any other color); winners.

Machines Can Read Addresses

Postmaster E. C. Boatler has received word from Postmaster John A. Gronouski in Washington, D. C., that a big "breakthrough" has now been made on electronic machines to "read" ZIP-coded addresses on mail.

"The Postmaster General said he expects to begin installing these sophisticated new machines in major post offices starting in about a year," the postmaster explained.

Boatler said each machine will be able to sort, as well as read, at the rate of 35,000 letters an hour.

The offices to get the address readers have not been announced, but the local postmaster said they will have significant effects on the mail in and out of each community regardless of whether it gets the new machines.

This is because they will speed incoming mail to smaller offices from major cities and step up the dispatch of mail deposited in smaller communities but which must be processed enroute at major mail massing points.

The postmaster emphasized, however, introduction of the "seeing eye" device next year does not mean ZIP Code isn't useful already.

"ZIP code," he explained, "is important in mail handling under the system of mail processing already in use which will continue to be in use as the basic system at most points. These machines will be just another step — in conjunction with the mechanical mail sorting machines we have developed — to keep pace with the growing volume of mail. Neither will the machines endanger jobs — they will only help us meet mail expansion with minimum manpower expansion."

Dear Abby

Problem Of 'Big Mouth'

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister is married to a man who most people find very hard to take. He is well-read, but has a very big mouth and loves to argue. It is impossible for anyone to have a friendly conversation with him around. Three years ago they moved a few blocks from us and now, whenever we have company, "Big Mouth" barges in and takes over the conversation and turns it into an argument. That's bad enough, but now a bigger problem has come up:

We recently purchased a lake lot and were very excited about building on it until we found out that THEY had bought the lot right next to ours. How can we get out of this trap with the least amount of hard feelings? His wife is a nice person, but that doesn't help matters any.

TOO CLOSE

DEAR TOO CLOSE: If your husband can't persuade his sister not to build on the lake lot next to yours, have him tell Big Mouth" to go jump in the lake, and you head for higher ground.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Does a man who has never been married have the right to ask a divorcee what "killed" her marriage? I am referring to my own situation. I am interested in courting a divorcee, but before I become too deeply involved with her I would like to know something about why her first marriage ended in divorce. Have I a right to know, or not?

BACHELOR AT 42

DEAR BACHELOR: Yes, you have a right to know. But be aware that what she tells you will be only HER side of the story.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Even more stupid than the question, "Was this one planned?" is "What do you want, a boy or a girl?" I had two boys when I became pregnant with my third child, and I heard that question for six months. I assure you, I got very tired of it. We really didn't care whether we had a boy or a girl. All we wanted was a healthy, normal baby. I had a girl. That next stupid question started ringing in my ears. "Are you done now?" How do you answer a question like that?

EXASPERATED

DEAR EXASPERATED: A question like that deserves to be ignored.

Dental Health Emphasized This Week For Children

Today marks the start of National Children's Dental Health Week, with members of the Permian Basin Dental Society joining others over the nation in an informational program.

In cooperation with the Permian Basin Society, The Herald today is starting a series of articles pertaining to children's teeth problems, and these will appear daily during the week. The Society is using other means to give helpful advice on children's dental care.

The week's activities here will be climaxed with a dinner meeting of the Permian Basin Dental Society, to be held at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday evening at 6:30. The Society's membership extends from Big Spring on the east to Monahans, Pecos and Fort Stockton to the west.

Dr. John Wilbanks of El Paso, state chairman for dental health of the state society, will be a guest at the dinner, and a program will be presented by Lt. Col. Rowland D. Wolfe, dentist at Webb Air Force Base.

CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH

Simple Rules Helpful In Preventing Decay

Feb. 7-13 is the 17th annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance, The Big Spring Herald, in cooperation with the Permian Basin Dental Society, today begins a series of six articles of information concerning dental health.—Ed.)

My pediatrician says I should take my 3-year-old son to the dentist. However, he doesn't seem to have any cavities, so I wonder if this is necessary?

Dental authorities agree that the child should make his first visit to the dentist at about age 2½ or 3. At this time, he has all of his deciduous ("baby") teeth, and the dentist can check early for any minute sign of decay or malformation which might lead to orthodontic problems when the child is older.

The fact that your child does not "seem to have any cavities" does not mean that some decay may not be present. In fact, the American Dental Association has found that dental patients under 4 years of age have an average of three teeth needing fillings.

When a child is exposed to routine treatment at an early age, he rarely develops the fear which many adults have so long associated with dental treatment.

The importance of good care for the primary or "baby" teeth cannot be overemphasized. A child needs his primary teeth, as he does his permanent ones, for chewing, for speaking and for appearance. Also, these first teeth hold the space for the permanent teeth to come.

My 14-year-old son has been told by his dentist that he has 12 cavities, which the dentist plans to fill. Is there anything my children can do to keep from having so much tooth decay?

There are simple rules which, if followed faithfully, can help to reduce decay. These are:

1. Cut down on sweets, especially between meals.

2. Brush your teeth immediately after eating (snacks as well as regular meals). When this is not possible, rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

3. Have regular dental checkups. This enables the dentist to discover decay and other problems at an early stage. Just as with other diseases, early treatment of dental disease is easier and more likely to be effective.

Democrats Plan Valentine Dance At Cosden Club

The first meeting of the Howard County Democratic Club board of trustees, since the installation of new officers, was held Friday night in the county court rooms.

Frank Goodman, newly installed president of the club, announced that a Valentine dance had been arranged for Thursday, Feb. 13, at the Cosden Club from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and that the Del Morning Orchestra of Midland will provide the music. Admission will be $4 per couple.

Goodman also announced a special called meeting of the club Monday, Feb. 8, at 8 p.m. in the county court rooms, at which time plans for the dance will be finalized.

Larry Fourniquet, winner of the high school oratory contest, will speak on the subject, "Let George Do It for You." In other business of the club, Goodman will make the various committee appointments for the fiscal year.

He urges that every member and prospective member attend the meeting, so that a successful year of club activity can be properly started.

Casper Takes Lead In Hope Tourney

PALMER

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The big guns of golf finally spoke Saturday and when the firing was over Bill Casper Jr. topped the field in the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Casper shot a five-under-par 67, giving him a 72-hole score of 276 and a lead of two strokes going into Sunday's final round of the 90-hole tournament.

Alone at 278 was Frank Beard with a 68, and Arnold Palmer suddenly emerged after three days of so-so golf.

Palmer had a 67 for 279 to tie with Tommy Aaron, with 72, and Dave Marr with 69.

Jack Nicklaus, also made a rally for nine holes when he shot a 33. But he went four strokes over par on four holes on the back nine with a bogie, par, bogie, double bogie. It gave him a round of 72 and 283.

The weather played almost fiendish tricks throughout the day on the four courses involved, Indian Wells, Eldorado, Bermuda Dunes and La Quinta. Each has par 36-36—72.

There was bright sun, and simultaneously, sun and showers, and there was wind that whipped from all directions.

SEEING LIFE FROM BOTTOM OF THE LAKE

Whole Family Takes Up Scuba Diving

By HARDY PRICE

The Bob Chambers family is a diving family.

A SCUBA diving family.

Sounds strange. It isn't every one knows what SCUBA diving is.

SCUBA is short for self-contained underwater breathing apparatus and Chambers is a certified diving instructor.

Chambers, his wife, Carol, and their three children—Robert Paul, 10, Cathey Louise, 9, and James Randal, 7—are all accomplished SCUBA divers.

The three children have been under water as deep as 50 feet and Mrs. Chambers has gone as far as 75 feet.

A native of Luling, Texas, Chambers was first introduced to SCUBA diving while living in Florida in 1947.

"We were living in Boca Raton and some friends and I were doing some spear fishing with flippers and mask. A Navy underwater demolition team was in training there and we talked them in to letting us go down. I was hooked on it right then," said Chambers.

"It's a weird sensation being able to breath underwater. It's like entering another world," remarked Chambers.

As SCUBA diving was relatively new and expensive at that time, Chambers did not get his first diving rig until 1952.

SCUBA diving is one of the fastest growing sports in the country and the world according to Chambers. Since the advent of the aqua-lung during World War II by the Frenchman, Jacques Yves Cousteau, a whole new world has opened for the underwater adventurer.

The aqua-lung is the key to SCUBA diving. Consisting of a tank of compressed air and a regulator, the aqua-lung allows a person to stay submerged from 50 to 20 minutes at depths ranging to more than 700 feet, the world's record.

Chambers doesn't suggest that everyone try to go down 700 feet, however.

The regulator is the key to the aqua-lung. It is so designed that it will release air only when a person breathes and then will shut off when a person exhales.

Other essential equipment for SCUBA diving includes a face mask, fins, knife, self-inflating life preserver and a depth gauge.

Chambers reports that the first diving rigs ran well over $200, but a person now can take up the sport, complete with eqiupment, for less than $100.

A "wet suit" is needed if diving is to be done below the 30 foot level. At this approximate level the water temperature changes. "It's not a gradual change, but sharp and quick," said Chambers.

The "wet suit" is a rubber suit which uses water to insulate the diver against the colder lower depths. Water is allowed into the suit and acts as an insulator between the body and the water on the outside of the suit.

Chambers has been a certified diving instructor for a number of years, both with the YMCA and the National Association of Underwater Instructors.

The YMCA course in diving instruction is a hard one. "We went to Dallas for five days and it was five days of 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. work."

"On the commercial side of SCUBA diving a person could take up salvage operations, underwater maintenance of ships, piers, jetties," said Chambers.

On the fun side of SCUBA diving there is spear fishing, underwater photography and treasure hunting for fun and profit.

Texas game laws prohibit the spear fishing of game fish in fresh water and trash fish, such as gar and carp are the only type that can be speared.

In the salt water it is a different story. All fish are legal and it depends on the diver if he wants to try and take one.

Favorite salt water fish of the underwater fisherman include the giant sea bass, red snapper and grouper.

"On a trip to Mexico a diver speared and caught a 287 pound grouper," recalled Chambers.

There are dangers involved with SCUBA diving.

"A person with any type respiratory ailment should not take up the sport. Also trying to dive with a bad cold or sinus can easily rupture an eardrum."

Another danger of diving is known as "rapture of the deep."

This occurs when the nitrogen in the blood out weighs the oxygen.

"A diver will lose his head so to speak," said Chambers. "He will take his mouth piece out and try to give it to a fish or to another diver. He just loses command of all senses."

The deepest Chambers has been down is 180 feet at Possum Kingdom north of Fort Worth. It was a two-man open submarine.

"A lot of people laugh and say 'SCUBA diving in Texas?' but Texas has some of the best and clearest water around."

Some of Chambers' favorite diving spots are Balmorhea, Possum Kingdom, San Marcos and the Lake of the Pines in East Texas.

Although Chambers has been diving for more than 18 years, he hasn't met any mermaids. "And I go down to see that he doesn't meet any," said his beautiful wife, Carol.

U.S. Employs Sub To Help The Anglers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wants to match a growing army of fishermen with fresh hordes of cooperative fish and is using a wide variety of underwater tools—including a submarine—to bring this about.

Officials say the country now has more freshwater fishing area than ever before with about 13 million acres provided by artificial impoundments of water. This type of fishing water is expected to grow by 10 million acres in the next 35 years.

The Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife reported Saturday that its submarine, battery-powered and accommodating two scientists, is being used in its south-central reservoir investigations.

In addition, scuba divers and automatic recording instruments are being used in the quest for the best means to build and maintain fish populations heavy enough to provide sport for anglers.

The tiny submarine is being used by a research team studying lakes on the White River which flows through the Ozark Mountains on the Missouri-Arkansas border.

The submarine has a cruising range of 15 miles, its two conning towers have 360-degree viewing, and there is a glass plate in the bottom to permit close observation of fish in their habitat.

Various scientists are attempting to learn more about the food requirements, feeding habits, growth, predation, disease and causes of mortality for various species of fish at different ages.

Indoor Meet Lures Boston, Matson

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Will Rogers Indoor Games fifth production unfolds here Friday night with a cast of four Olympians including Olympic medalists Ralph Boston in the broad jump and Randy Matson in the shot put.

Both Boston and Matson failed by less than four inches of achieving Olympic championships in Tokyo last October. Boston won in Rome in 1960.

Hurdler Billy Hardin of Louisiana State and pole vaulter Billy Pemelton of Abilene Christian also were Tokyo participants. Hardin reached the 400-meter hurdles semifinals before bowing out. Pemelton cleared 15 feet 9 inches for eighth place in the pole vault.

Statistically speaking, director Tommy Taylor has two 26-foot plus broad jumpers, three 16-foot plus pole vaulters and one 66-foot plus shot putter to headline the field events.

Boston, holder of the world's outdoor broad jump record of 27 feet 4½ inches, recently hit 26 feet 5 inches indoors—third best jump ever inside.

Lt. Darrell Horn, who did 26 feet 11¼ inches outdoors last year in the first Olympic trials, will be on hand to press Boston.

Matson, the 19-year-old shot put prodigy from Texas A&M, is acknowledged the world's best since the retirement of Olympic champion Dallas Long. He exceeded 64 feet in an exhibition in Lubbock a week ago.

Taylor, who manages the meet for the sponsoring Fort Worth Coaches Association, completed final arrangements Saturday to bring in two more 16-foot vaulters—Jeff Chase of San Jose State and Phil White, also a Californian.

Southwest Conference champions Richard Romo of Texas and Billy Foster of Southern Methodist and ex-Stanford star Harry McCalla head the running events entries.

Romo, the SWC mile champion and holder of the state indoor record of 4:15.6 set here last year, will forego this event for the 1,000-yard dash.

Foster won the SWC sprint championships in 1963 and is defending champion and record holder of the Will Rogers Game 60-yard dash.

McCalla ripped off a 4:01.4 outdoor mile two years ago and did 4:04.6 last year. He's now stationed at the San Angelo Air Base.

Texas Tech Roars Past Rice Owls

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech passed the century mark for the fifth time this season, defeating Rice 102-69 Saturday in a Southwest Conference basketball game.

Rice's early slow down tactics kept the game close during the opening minutes but Texas Tech countered with a zone press that helped build the Raiders to a 47-30 halftime lead.

Doug McKendrick of Rice paced all scorers with 29 points but was the only Owl tallying more than nine points. Texas Tech offset his performance with 20 by Harold Denney, 19 by Dub Malaise, and 16 apiece by Glen Hallum and Norman Reuther.

Texas Tech connected on 37 of its 74 field goal attempts. Rice hit 22 of 49.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Winston Moore tossed in an uncontested lay-up at the buzzer to give Baylor a 87-85 victory over Texas Christian Saturday.

After a driving lay-up by TCU sophomore Wayne Kreis had knotted the score at 85-85 with 25 seconds left, the Bears played for one shot. They came away with two.

Spencer Carlson's 20-foot try barely missed the board and Moore grabbed it, took one step backwards and scored.

It was Baylor's third road victory and gave the Bears' a 4-2 Southwest Conference record. TCU is now 1-5, having lost two of its games by a total of three points.

BORN 30 YEARS TOO SOON

Nagurski Signed For Mere $5,000 With Bears In '30

By The Associated Press

When you sit next to Bronko Nagurski at the dinner table and notice hands the size of salad plates, you believe all those stories about him running his own interference on a football field.

Nagurski is 56 now and 270 pounds but when he played tackle and fullback for Minnesota 25 years ago he was 237 and left no doubt about his All-America talents.

"It would be a mop-up," Grantland Rice once wrote, "If you put 11 Nagurskis on the game field with any other 11 men."

The obvious question was put to the giant from International Falls, Minn. What did he think of the present day football players and all that money being tossed their way by the two pro football leagues?

"I'm 300 miles away from where the Minnesota Vikings play but I catch the pros on television," says Bronko, "and some of the college boys are pretty good. I say if they are worth all that money more power to them. I think the players in our era were as good as any.

"I don't know what I'd ask for today, coming right out of college. I played nine years with the Chicago Bears and missed six in between. So that makes 15 years. But today, with two-platoons, I'd be able to play 20 years. The players sit on the bench half the time. We always went both ways and it was a full squad if we had 18 players in a game.

"I signed with the Bears for $5,000 in 1930 and almost didn't get that. George Halas offered me $3,500 and I said:

"'Wait here, I'll be right back.'

"I had an agent, a friend of coach Dutch Bergman, outside and he told me to ask for $6,500. When I told that to Halas, he compromised and I got $5,000 for 12 or 13 league games.

"But then I took cuts. I played four years with Red Grange on the Bears. I don't know what he got. It was hard to go up with Halas. It took me seven years to get back to $5,000. In 1938 I tried to get $6,000 and quit.

"I was asked to come back in 1942. It was a war year. In the last game I gained over 100 yards and scored two touchdowns, and it put us in the playoffs. Linemen were getting $6,500 then but I only got $5,000.

"I never had a serious injury, except for a broken nose, broken thumb and a back injury. On second thought, I had my share. In 1935 I had a hip condition — a bad case of sciatica. I took salt solution injections. I couldn't run anymore at the end of that year."

Bronko is not the boastful sort but just having him in the lineup was a big plus for the Bears.

He still recalls his 1927-29 days at Minnesota, with some prompting. In 24 games in three varsity seasons the Gophers lost only four games with Bronko on the scene.

"And we lost those four games by a total of five points," says Bronko. "In 1928 we lost to Iowa 7-6 and Northwestern 10-9 and the next year Iowa beat us 9-7 and Michigan by 7-6."

BRONKO NAGURSKI—1942

College scholarships? Not in Bronko's day.

"I went to college with the promise of a job," says Nagurski. "I worked for a law firm, serving papers three nights a week. And as a sophomore I worked in a lumber yard as a watchman and slept on a cot."

His parents came from Ukrania and at 13 he cut logs and sawed wood. He put some of his football earnings in a farm, sold it and bought a service station in his home town near the Canadian border.

Now the father of four boys and two girls, Bronko this winter is making the rounds of boat shows for a Minneapolis firm (Aluma Craft). He comes from a hunting and fishing paradise and, even at age 56, he seems in shape for he raises a 15-foot, 67-pound aluminum canoe over his head with the agility he displayed mowing down 225-pound linemen.

Browns Will Send Grid Hopeful Through School

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Columbia quarterback Archie Roberts is headed for Cleveland, but he isn't saying whether it will be with the National Football League Browns.

Roberts told The Associated Press late Friday night he definitely plans to attend Western Reserve medical school in Cleveland. He also said he has been "offered an opportunity" to sign with the Browns.

According to published reports in New York, that opportunity involves one of the most bizarre deals ever devised in pro football. Under terms of the deal, Roberts would be paid for the 1965-66 seasons but would not be an active player.

The Browns, the reports say, have offered to provide seven years of tuition and living expenses for Roberts and his wife through medical school, internship and residency. Both Roberts and his wife, Barbara, want to be doctors.

The Columbia ace declined comment on the reports, saying he still is weighing offers from the Browns, the New York Jets of the American Football League and Montreal of the Canadian League. He also said he will not make a decision until after the college baseball season.

No price has been placed on the Browns' offer, but the reports estimate it at around $100,000. One report said tuition for Mr. and Mrs. Roberts alone would run to $32,000.

Bullocks Traded To Canadian 11

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League have sent veteran offensive halfback Amos Bullocks to the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League in exchange for offensive tackle Bill Frank.

Bullocks was waived out of the National Football League to complete the deal for Frank, who joinde the Cowboys in mid-season last fall.

Recovery Due To Be Quick For Namath

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, $400,000 rookie quarterback of the New York Jets, started his return trip to the University of Alabama campus Saturday, riding in a chauffered car and with his right knee in a cast.

Cartilage was removed and a tendon tightened in the knee almost two weeks ago. The car and driver were provided by Sonny Werblin, president of the American Football League Jets.

Doctors have labeled the surgery a success and have promised Namath he will be able to play golf by the end of the month.

A protective cast, stretching from the ankle to above the knee, was put on the leg late Friday and Namath walked out of the hospital without crutches or cane.

"The doctors wanted him to get back into his regular walking motion as soon as possible," said Chuck Knox, an assistant coach of the Jets who accompanied Namath to the airport.

Although the promised golf pleased the 21-year old athlete he expressed concern about a more immediate problem.

"There is an examination Monday afternoon," he explained.

It is expected that the knee will be at normal strength when the Jets begin their fall practice in midsummer.

Astros Book 20 Day Tilts

HOUSTON (AP)—The National League Houston Astros will play 20 day games this season compared to only four last season.

The increase results from the April 9 opening of the $31.6 million Harris County Domed stadium, a "rain or shine" structure that includes 6,600 tons of air conditioning.

The official league schedule was released Friday.

In addition to the 20 day games, the Astros will play 61 night games, including the official league opener April 12 with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The April 9-11 formal opening of the stadium includes five exhibition games in three days with the Astros meeting the New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles.

The Astros, then the Colt .45s, played 10 day games in 1963, but hot weather prompted league officials to grant the Houston club special permission to reduce the number to four last season.

New Major Pro League Formed

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-team professional football league was formed Saturday with a combination of clubs from the United and Atlantic Coast Leagues, plus Philadelphia and Toronto.

"We are in business — all we need is a name," said Alex Schoenbaum of Charleston, West Va., chairman of the executive committee of the United Football League.

"We're going to have the best pro league in the United States and Canada," said Sol Rosen, general manager of the Newark Bears of the Atlantic Coast League.

The new league will consist of Philadelphia (taking over the Canton franchise), Toronto (replacing Montreal), Charleston, Wheeling and Fort Wayne (formerly Indianapolis) of the UFL and Newark, Richmond, Springfield and Hartford of the ACFL.

The 10th team will be Providence. The ACFL also plans to keep a team in the city.

There also are possibilities of further expansion with Miami and New Orleans considered. Those two cities, however, haven't been contacted, Schoenbaum said.

Directors of the Atlantic Coast League, a 14-team circuit last fall, also met in New York and announced it would continue with at least eight teams.

Richmond, Newark, Hartford and Springfield were banished for jumping to the new league.

The ACFL plans to continue, Publicist Murray Goodman announced, with these teams: Boston, replacing New Bedford; Providence, Jersey City, Harrisburg, Scranton, Mohawk Valley, Pittsburgh and Portland, Maine. Atlanta and Westchester were dropped for failing to meet obligations.

"This will not be a minor league, this will be a major league," said Alex Schoenbaum of Charleston, West Va., one of the owners of the UFL Charleston franchise and chairman of the league's executive committee.

"Ours will be a league stretching from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. We are throwing away salary restrictions and plan to go big time all the way.

"We are dealing with men able to finance big budgets, such as those in the National and American Leagues. We'll bid for top player talent. We'll go for big crowds and national television."

Schoenbaum held a four-hour meeting in the morning with representatives of a Philadelphia syndicate interested in purchasing the old Canton franchise of the UFL.

"These are prominent Philadelphia business men who barely missed out in the bid for the Philadelphia Eagles," Schoenbaum said. "All that's necessary now is to nail down where the team is to play, and when.

"Also, Toronto is ready to take over the Montreal franchise of the United League and we'd like to get a Southern representative, preferably New Orleans or Miami. Neither of these cities was represented at the meeting here Saturday."

Indications are that the league will be made up of four teams from the old UFL — Charleston, Wheeling, Fort Wayne (formerly Indianapolis), and Toronto (formerly Montreal) — and four from the Atlantic Coast — Newark, Richmond, Springfield and Hartford.

The ACFL held a meeting at another hotel across town, after which Rosen said, "There is no more Atlantic Coast League. My purpose now is to get into the new league."

The meetings are scheduled to continue through Sunday.

Ponies Romp On Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Taller Southern Methodist ran up a comfortable lead in the first half and thwarted an Arkansas rally after intermission for an 84-76 Southwest Conference basketball victory Saturday.

The Ponies scored 16 straight points to grab a 28-13 lead midway through the first half. Arkansas, which led 13-12 when the spree started, lost the ball without taking a shot on seven of eight possessions.

Jim Smith and Carroll Hooser led SMU scoring with 20 and 18 points, respectively. Denny Holman, added 17.

Arkansas' top pointmaker was John Talkington with 19.

The victory left SMU in the thick of the conference title race with a 4-2 record. Arkansas is 2-4.

AS FOOTBALL PLAYER AND COACH

Dean Of Students Here Had Enviable Record

By HARDY PRICE

What aeronautical and industrial engineering lost, countless Texas high school football players gained.

The loss was due to Ray Pope, dean of students at Big Spring High School, changing his major to physical education.

As a young man in the tiny town of Grandview, Texas, south of Fort Worth, "where a lot of good people live," Pope was an all-round athlete. Graduating from high school in 1936, Pope entered North Texas Agriculture College (now Arlington State) to become an aeronautical and industrial engineer.

After two years he decided that he wasn't cut out to be the designer of modern jets.

Leaving NTAC and journeying some 20 miles east, Pope took up residence on the Southern Methodist University campus for the next two years on an athletic scholarship.

His senior year in school, 1940-41, the Mustangs tied Texas A&M for Southwestern Conference championship, and the Aggies represented the conference in the 1941 Cotton Bowl.

Pope was well liked by his fellow players, as they elected him co-captain his senior year. Playing center and "getting to play as much ball as I wanted" Pope was named to several all-conference team listings.

"In those days the different papers in the state would select their own teams and there wasn't a true all-conference team so to speak," said Pope.

World War II entered Pope's life for four years as it did so many others at that time. Four years in the Pacific with the U.S. Navy as a gunnery officer behind him, Pope was ready to assume his intended career -- coaching.

In 15 years as a head coach in Texas schools, Pope amassed an impressive record of 105 wins, 49 losses and 5 ties.

During his coaching career, he coached the following teams: Grand Saline, Mineral Wells, McCamey and Monahans.

"I think I've had more boys come out preachers than anything else. Every time I turn around I meet a boy I coached who is a preacher," said the former mentor.

In addition to preachers, Pope turned out his share of doctors and lawyers. "I look back now and see that I have 12 former players who are now coaching somewhere in Texas."

Coach Don Robbins of the Big Spring Steers knows Ray Pope also. When Robbins was playing his high school ball at Breckenridge, Pope was head coach at Mineral Wells.

"He had some real strong teams when he was there," said Robbins. This was during the era that Breckenridge produced the powerhouse teams.

Pope has had many winning clubs. While head coach at McCamey, Pope produced two quarterfinal teams, two regional teams and one bi-district team.

Twice his teams have racked up 12-1 records before going down to defeat. He had one 11-1 team, the 1960 Monahans Loboes.

The Loboes were highly rated in the class AAA standings before meeting the powerful Brownwood Lions in the regional playoffs. Brownwood eventually won the state championship that year, after beating Monahans along the way, 30-16.

Reflecting back on his teams, Pope considers his 1957 McCamey and the 1960 Monahans team as his strongest. "The McCamey boys were light but wanted to play and the Loboes were just a strong club all the way around."

Not content with coaching alone, Pope received his master of education degree from SMU in 1951. After his retirement from active coaching in 1960, Pope remained as athletic director at Monahans before assuming duties as dean of students there.

He came to the Big Spring schools in September of last year. A qualified counselor, Pope received his counselor's certificate from Texas Tech in 1960.

Mrs. Pope is an elementary teacher here in the Cedar Crest school and they have a son and daughter enrolled at Texas Tech. Their other son is a senior at Big Spring High School.

"I enjoyed my coaching days but I also enjoy working with teenage students. I do believe that coaches work harder now than they did previously as athletics have progressed so much lately."

Keith Bond Shines In Hawks' Victory

Keith Bond, his radar working to near-perfection, led the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks to a resounding 96-64 Western Conference victory over Odessa College here Friday night.

Bond connected 12 times in 18 efforts from the field and emerged as the game's high scorer with 30 points. He was all but unerring anywhere from quarter-court on in, despite all that the Wranglers could do.

The win was the seventh in 10 Western Conference games for HCJC while Odessa is now 4-6. Overall, HCJC is 15-9 for the year while Odessa is 6-9.

The win served as balm for a defeat the Hawks had suffered earlier at the hands of the Wranglers in Odessa. That time the Odessans won by a mere two points.

The game was extremely close for the first 12 points. HCJC went ahead to stay, at 27-26, when Kirk Papp hit with 7:12 minutes remaining in the first half.

The Wranglers began to lose their fine shooting edge after that, however, and by half time the locals were in command, 48-33.

With 10 minutes to go in the contest, HCJC was out front, 68-44. With only 7:45 to go, the Hawks had moved ahead, 74-49, and coach Buddy Travis let the reserves take over. They came to play and continued to put more daylight between the two teams with some fine shooting.

Barry Hughey and Keith McKeever were among the Hawks who took up the slack when the regulars went to the bench.

The Hawks had only six team fouls called against them in the first half and only 13 in all.

Odessa was charged with 23 infractions and lost one player, Bob Snoddy, on personals.

Chic Kiefer led the Odessans in scoring with 22 points. Chuck Ramsey followed with ten.

HCJC's Eddy Nelson was having his troubles early but he wound up with 13 points while Tom Carter had ten.

The Hawks hit 59 per cent of their shots from the field the first half to 31 per cent for Odessa and 53 the final 20 minutes to 34 for Odessa.

Carter was the leading rebounder with 11. In all, the locals captured 52 caroms to 28 for the Wranglers.

HCJC must now invade Lubbock to play the rugged LCC Chapparals Tuesday night. They go to Borger Friday night for a joust with Frank Phillips. This could be the week that makes or breaks them in conference competition, since they still trail San Angelo by a game on the losing side of the ledger.

Udall's Statement Takes Oil Industry By Surprise

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The Interior Department's new report on the health of the petroleum industry may have bolstered hopes of some oilmen who want Congress to cut back oil imports sharply.

Based on a five-month study, the report said the industry is in excellent financial condition. It contained no indication the department has a rollback in mind for its mandatory oil imports control program.

Failure of the report even to hint current imports level might be a bit high took many independent oilmen by surprise.

Their surprise stemmed from a mid-December statement by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall and one by President Johnson in a recent letter to Gov. Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo.

Udall allowed a small increase in import quotas for the first half of 1965 but his mid-December announcement also scheduled a March 10-11 public hearing on the problem. In scheduling the hearing, Udall said he was "looking to a major revision of all aspects of the mandatory oil import control program."

Hansen meanwhile had written President Johnson that the independent segment of the industry faces a crisis caused, in part, by oil imports.

MAKING STUDY

Johnson replied that the Interior Department was making a comprehensive study of the domestic petroleum industry and added:

"The results (of the study) will provide guidelines for the formulation of broad federal petroleum policies, including imports, in the years ahead."

The January edition of a monthly magazine published by the Independent Petroleum Association of America said the letter to Hansen was Johnson's first official recognition of the oil imports problem since he became President.

The magazine, while saying a bill calling for a rollback equivalent to 500,000 barrels a day already is before the 89th Congress, was optimistic about possible results of the March 10-11 hearing.

"Anything except a cut in imports would be inconsistent with views expressed by interior officials," the magazine said.

Minor Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the 7,500-member trade group, also said he is confident the "major revisions" mentioned by Udall "will result in a more effective program of import limitations."

CUTS NEEDED

At the same time, however, Jameson asked independent producers to inform their senators and congressmen about the need to cut imports and eliminate loopholes in the mandatory program.

Jameson was among those who were surprised by the report resulting from the Interior Department study.

He said the report is seriously deficient and in some respects contradictory in its analysis of the industry in general and the independent producer in particular.

Jameson said it included faulty economic reasoning in that the healthy and vigorous status credited to the industry was based on operations of its large companies.

"The report fails to face up to many of the critical facts of life in the domestic producing industry," he said.

Jameson made no reference to the new bill before Congress, but he and other officers of the association were instructed in October to seek remedial legislation if efforts to obtain relief at the administrative level fail.

Pooling Bill Holds Interest For County

Citizens of Howard County, producer of some $38.3 million worth of oil and gas a year, have a special interest in the "pooling" bill now before the Texas Legislature, James L. Sewell, Dallas, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, reported this week.

"Although Howard County has production, the oil men who operate here, as well as the landowners and governmental officials, are interested in securing maximum development," Sewell said. "A pooling law will encourage a more efficient and more equitable approach to development of our oil and gas resources."

A measure, supported by all segments of the Texas petroleum industry after two years of intra-industry conferences and study, was recently introduced as Senate Bill 2 by Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr., of Tyler, and as House Bill 2 by Rep. Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge.

Sewell stressed that the measure does not affect normal leasing and voluntary pooling arrangements between landowners and operators, nor does it affect in any way reservoirs discovered and produced before March 8, 1961 (date of Supreme Court decision that wells on small tracts could not produce at rates disproportionately higher than adjoining tracts).

"The pooling bill is designed to make it possible for mineral owners—regardless of the size tract of land they may have—to get their fair share of the oil and gas that may underly their acreage," he said.

Rig Total Jumps One

One hundred and 80 drilling rigs were operating in the Permian Basin on the Friday survey conducted by Reed Roller Bit Co.

This is an increase of one during the past week and it is 28 fewer than the 208 reported on the same week in 1964.

Lea County, N.M., tops the list with 23, down three during the period, Pecos County is second with 16, the same figure, and Andrews County with 12, is third. That area gained three during the week.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

Andrews 12, (9); BORDEN 1, (0); Chaves 6, (6); Coke 2, (1); Crane 6, (7); Crockett 4, (4); Crosby 0, (1);

Culberson 2, (2), DAWSON 7, (5); Ector 9, (12); Eddy 9, (5); Fisher 2, (1); Gaines 5, (6); GLASSCOCK 0, (1); Hockley 2, (1); HOWARD 4, (3);

Irion 3, (3); Jeff Davis 1, (1); Kent 1, (1); Kimble 1, (1); Lamb 1, (1); Lea 23, (26); Loving 2, (2); Midland 2, (4); MITCHELL 0, (1);

Nolan 1, (1); Pecos 16, (16); Reagan 2, (1); Reeves 5, (3); Roosevelt 5, (5); Runnels 4, (5); Schleicher 3, (3);

Scurry 2, (2); STERLING 3, (3); Stonewall 2, (1); Sutton 2, (2); Terrell 1, (1); Upton 5, (7); Ward 9, (8); Winkler 9, (11); Yoakum 6, (6);

Total 180, (179).

Well Control Is Automatic

HOUSTON (AP)—Continental Oil Co., said Saturday that 57 oil wells now are being controlled automatically by new equipment installed at Hobbs, N.M.

The wells are 15 to 80 miles from Hobbs.

The Hobbs System (IBM 1710) can turn each well on or off, pump oil into storage tanks, test the oil, and ship it out by pipeline.

The system shuts down operations in the event of a malfunction and notifies the control station of the location of the trouble.

It also measures the amount of oil permitted to be produced from each well and maintains records required by the state regulatory agencies.

Petrofina Names New Sales Manager

William H. (Bill) Frank has been named distributor sales manager for American Petrofina Company of Texas succeeding the late F. W. Haney.

He will be responsible for light oil sales to Fina branded distributors in 16 Southwest and Midwest states.

Frank joined American Petrofina in November, 1957 as a field salesman at Big Spring. He moved to Wichita Falls as district sales manager in 1958 and became assistant distributor sales manager in October, 1959 and moved to Dallas in February, 1960. Prior to his Fina association, Frank was associated with Cosden Petroleum Association for several years. Following separation from service after overseas duty in the European Theatre with the 9th Army, Frank was a baseball umpire for the West Texas-New Mexico league before he purchased the Big Spring club in the Longhorn League in the early 50's.

He is a native of St. Louis, Mo. and is married to the former Lynn Young, San Angelo, and they have three children Terri Lynn, 10, Michael William 7, and Toni Leigh, 6.

Frank supervised Fina branded sales activities in four districts covering Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois before his promotion. Fina is the brand name of American Petrofina, which was formed in late 1956. Subsequently, Fina purchased four integrated oil companies, among them the assets of Cosden Petroleum Corporation in 1963. Cosden had retail outlets in 10 states.

NO MATTER HOW OFTEN YOU TRADE . . . THIS WARRANTY IS TRANSFERABLE UNTIL IT IS USED UP! HERE'S A COPY . . . . .

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Hair Fashions Feature Swing

You'll swing into spring with a "Swingheart" hair fashion, according to the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

The word "Swingheart," is a descriptive term the hair fashion authorities of the beauty profession are using for their new spring and summer collection of carefree and lighthearted hair styles that really swing when you move your head.

The new "Swingheart" hair fashions will be shown throughout the nation in observance of the 15th anniversary of National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 14-20. Aside from being wonderfully feminine, the new styles are refreshingly easy to wear, holding their form easily.

The secret of this easy wear is an excellent haircut, the new and aptly named "Breeze Cut," which gives hair controlled swing movement without displacement of the lines of the hair style. Action is in the hair ends, so that the hair can swing and sway at the sides, while the crown hair remains in perfect placement.

For daytime, the new collection features soft curves on smooth and airy coiffures of simplicity and casualness. Evening calls for more dramatic exaggeration with more voluptuous combing into waves and curls. The postiche is used frequently as a hair accessory in the crown area. An important consideration always, but particularly when coiffures are being exaggerated for evening, is the stature and daintiness of a woman, so that the result is a picture of total harmony.

The new hair styles are decidedly ladylike, but with a flair of chic that has a dash, rather than prettiness. The word the hairdressers are using for this chic with a dash is "raffine." It is also a term used in current couture - circles, indicating the close harmony between clothing and hair fashions for the season.

All coiffures emphasize a little head, and feature either a short-short look, or a long-short look. Hair length for the short-short look varies from zero at the nape to three inch layers all over the head. The long-short look has hair lengths from one and a half inches or two inches at the nape to six inches at the crown and sides. Actual hair lengths for the "Breeze Cut" depend upon individual needs, since the cut must be perfectly executed for each person.

Greatest width in the coiffures is at the eye level, and all indicate a soft and airy rise at the crown area. The clean, open face look is important for spring, but bangs and soft fringes are used whenever hairline or facial features indicate a need. Many of the coiffures also expose the ear lobe, whenever ears are attractive.

Highly important in the spring hair fashion picture is the lustre of shining hair. Even the slightest hint of winter drabness must go. The elegant simplicity and swing action of the new coiffures depend upon the supple softness of healthy hair.

Hair coloring for the season reaches a fine art. Soft butterfly colors in natural shades are blended into several harmonious tones. Among the fashion colors, a medley of soft blonde shades will be important, as will the ladylike brownettes and feminine reds.

In make-up too, the ladylike and natural look will prevail. New emphasis will be placed upon the lips with clear soft colors. Eyes will be softer with eye shadow tones selected to match dress and eye color. A new feature, eyebrows of the same color as your hair.

The local hairdressers group, which is Affiliate No. 24 of the national association, is headed by Mrs. Opal Gibson, and the beauty week chairman is Mrs. Harold Bently. Every three months members of the group donate their time at the Big Spring State Hospital where they provide permanents, shampoos and sets for patients. This will be done during beauty week, and the new hair styles will be shown Feb. 16 during a TV program sponsored by the unit. At that time, a local beauty week queen will be named.

LGA Roster Given At Valentine Luncheon

The Valentine theme was used at the monthly Ladies Golf Association luncheon held Friday at the Big Spring Country Club when members met to hear the calendar schedule for the coming year.

Mrs. Gil Jones listed the golf events for the 1965. They are Ringer Tournament, April; free golf lessons each Tuesday morning in April by Jerry Green; Couples Invitational Tournament, May 2; Women's Club Tournament, June 28 through July 1; Mr. and Mrs. Club Tournament, Aug. 15; and One Day Invitational Tournament, Oct. 5.

Mrs. Joe Moss presided at the session, and Mrs. R. S. Galbraith Jr. and Mrs. Dee Jon Davis served as hostesses. Mrs. Jerry Spence reported a Valentine coffee will be held at the club Feb. 13 from 10 to 12 a.m. for the LGA and club members.

The table was centered with a pyramid arrangement of pink carnations, stock and Boston fern. Accents of hearts and red ribbon completed the centerpiece which was won by Mrs. Wendell Parks. Guests were Mrs. John Gary, Mrs. Ray Boren and Mrs. Wayne Basden.

At the March luncheon, hostesses will be Mrs. Clyde McMahon and Mrs. Spence.

Preceptors Present Program

Mrs. George Dawson, 605 Colgate, was hostess to the Stanton Preceptor Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Thursday and presented the program, "Happiness Is a Personal Thing." Also, she gave a travelogue of her trip to Los Angeles.

Refreshments were served to 12 members by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. C. F. Huling. Autumn flowers were used as a centerpiece, and a matching cloth covered the refreshment table.

Miss Rheba Bodine Weds Garvin R. Lee

Miss Rheba Nell Bodine became the bride of Garvin R. Lee at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church of Ackerly. The Rev. M. A. McCasland officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bodine, Ackerly, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lee, Garland.

The altar was graced with four seven-branched candelabra of white wrought iron flanked by basket arrangements of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Marck Schafer, pianist, presented nuptial selections and Mrs. Jerry Hall sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, escorted by her father, chose a white peau de soie empire styled gown with Sabrina neckline and fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. Hand-cut lace rose appliques, encrusted with imported pearls, and self-fabric roses accented the back panel. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls with rhinestone points.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses backed with tulle and showered with white satin streamers.

Miss Zelda Bodine, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Marty Robinson, Dallas, and Miss Carol Singleton, Lubbock, were bridesmaids. Their pink peau de soie dresses were styled like that of the bride and they wore matching veiled pill box hats. Each carried a single pink rose.

The best man was Eugene Gilley, San Angelo, and ushers were Vaughn Gilley and Charles Beasley, both of San Angelo. Groomsmen were Clarence Cahill and Ron Carlson, both of Lubbock.

The bride's brother, Stevie Bodine, and Buddy Dyer, lighted the altar tapers.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a two-piece pink wool suit with bone white accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet. They will return to make a home in Lubbock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight brocade gown fashioned with a boat neckline, long pointed sleeves and a molded bodice. Pearls enhanced the dress and accented the modified bouffant skirt. Cabbage roses adorned the back of the skirt that extended into a chapel train. Talk Cites Accidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Group discussions of the cause and prevention of home accidents apparently helps reduce hospital admissions resulting from such accidents, the Public Health Service reported Wednesday.

The service said a project involving about 4,000 residents of Roxborough, a part of Philadelphia, indicates that people can talk their way out of accidental injuries.

The service's division of accident prevention sponsored a program in which small discussion groups considered accident causes and prevention.

The Philadelphia Department of Public Health undertook the experiment in 1962, with the community action phase concentrated in 1963.

Data for the two years indicate that hospital in-patient accidental injury cases dropped 17 per cent in the study area.

Dr. Paul V. Joliet, chief of the division, said: "The project results indicate that the method used in Roxborough can reduce injuries requiring hospital care."

Rainbow Unit Has Ceremony

REGINA RHOADS

Regina Rhoads, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Rhoads, 800 Lancaster, was installed Saturday evening as Worthy Advisor of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Big Spring Assembly No. 60. The installation was held at 7:30 p.m. at Masonic Hall, and her term will end in May.

Miss Rhoads chose "Love" as her theme. Her emblem is the Bible and her scripture I John 4:11. Her colors of red and white are reflected in her flower, the red rose, and her selected song is "Love Divine."

The invocation was given by the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and the address by Dan Shockey carried out the theme of love.

Mrs. J. B. Apple was the attending Eastern Star in the East, and she installed the Worthy Advisor. Judy Daniels installed the advisory board, and Lu Ann Reeder of the Midland Assembly, was the installing marshall. Other installing officers were Sheri Andre, chaplain; Sara King, musician; and Merry Lee Dibrell, recorder.

Incoming officers installed with Miss Rhoads were Kay Trupp, worthy associate advisor; Deanna Morris, charity; Mary Newton, hope; Kay Bettle, faith; Cheryl Gambill, recorder; Rita Saunders, treasurer; Gail Coates, chaplain; Margie Newman, drill leader; Becky Bright, love; Judy Stocks, religion; Rebecca Smith, nature; Jane Anderson, immortality; Ayn McGlothlin, fidelity; Pat Sweeney, patriotism; Brenda Griswold, service; Patti Olsen, confidential observer; Judy Pruitt, outer observer; Fran Smith, musician; Gay Nell Taylor, choir director; Merry Lee Dibrell, prompter; and Mrs. O. H. Daily, mother advisor.

Officers were presented through an archway of ivy and red roses and each carried a Bible, covered in red felt and white lace, with their Rainbow color streamers.

Members of the advisory board are Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Daniel, Mrs. Pryle Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Morris, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Miss Katheryn Homan, Mrs. Charles McCarley, Mrs. Pete Jenkins, O. H. Daily, Mrs. Charles Graham, worthy matron; and Mrs. Daily, mother advisor.

The podium arrangement was a large basket of red roses presented by W. B. Bratton, grandfather of the Worthy Advisor. They will be used Sunday morning in the 14th and Main Church of Christ where the Rainbow Assembly will attend services. The new worthy advisor dedicated her theme to Mrs. Barbara Daily Shaughnessy and dedicated a poem, "Today's Meditation," to her parents.

Merit awards were presented by Mrs. H. H. Morris, and the benediction was by Ralph Baker. The advisory board and mother advisor honored Miss Rhoads with a reception after the installation. The refreshment table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and red net skirt and the centerpiece was an arrangement of red roses and white candles. Crystal appointments were used and the white cake was decorated with red roses and inscribed with the honoree's name. Guests were registered by Jane Thompson.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. George Gannaway, Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dotson and Connie, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bond, Sweetwater; Mrs. C. B. Spinks and Hazel, Greenville; and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lackey, W. B. Bratton, Minnie Bratton, Jean Hunter, and Sharon, all of Abilene.

Local Entry Published

Mrs. C. R. Rhoads, president of Altrusa Club, was one of 18 presidents selected by Altrusa International to be awarded publication in the international Altrusan magazine.

She participated in a writing contest on the topic, "Keeping the Old Out of Age." The entries were judged by the managing editor of the Chicago Tribune.

Her entry was entitled, "Be Thankful for Your Age," and she described the three wonderful ages in the following manner.

"The Tender Years are unawareness of the toils of life, with adventure, new experiences and a bright future.

"The Golden Years have a future and a past of learning to recognize the important from the unimportant.

"The Mellow Years—we lean more on God, for we have learned just how much good there really is in everybody. Somehow, we feel bigger and richer. Years may bring wrinkles and gray hair, but we know a peace that surpasses all others.

"Be thankful for your age, pray that you may enter all ages . . . with this outlook . . . man will grow ageless."

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, give us an abiding sense of the worthiness of all persons. Open our eyes to the spiritual strivings of others. Teach us to be appreciative of them, and move our hearts to a deep concern for their needs. In Jesus' name we ask these things. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Urgent Project

The Howard County Commissioners Court has instructed appraisers to survey the right-of-way requirements for two legs of FM 700. One of these projects—from US 80 east to the Gail Road juncture on the Snyder Highway—already has an appropriation and needs only to have the roadway delivered to the state. The other—from US 87 south to US 80 west—has been listed for advanced planning, hence available within a year or two.

It is acknowledged generally that these will require a substantial outlay for the land, and in some cases affected improvements. Yet, we believe there is overwhelming reason to support prompt action to secure these two projects. This would go a long way to establishing an outer perimeter belt. As in the case of FM 700 from US 87 south to US 80 east, it will not only facilitate the movement of great volumes of traffic, but it will open up areas of development.

Because the need is pressing, we feel that as soon as some estimate may be placed on the possible costs, steps should be taken to petition the court for a bond election to finance the roadway. Howard County and the community are on record with the Texas Highway Department as pledging to do all possible to secure these roads, and even if this were not the case, we believe that this is exactly what should be done with as great dispatch as is possible.

Great Contribution

There is no magic guarantee in any institution that it will produce faultless people. Any human movement is fraught with human frailities. Even the most saintly in churches lack perfection.

Yet certain institutions, led by the churches, have programs and skills which make deep impressions in the lives of their constituents. And individuals passing through these programs are generally far better for the experience.

Such an institution is Scouting. In the 55 years that Boy Scouts of America has touched the lives of millions of boys, there is no telling the infinite good that it has done. To be sure it has no perfect record of output, but it is a rare thing when boys who seriously engaged in Scouting ever come afoul of the law. Better still, there are millions of men who today are better citizens and better persons because of the values they learned as boys in Scouting. It is infinitely worth all the time, money and effort put into it. Happily, it remains full of vigor and ready to continue this vital contribution to the nation.

'LET'S SHAKE HANDS ON THAT SUMMIT MEETING'

In The Legislature

Senator Defends Teacher Pay Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Jack Strong of Longview thinks he's trying to help Texas teachers, but most of the teachers disagree.

"I have hopes for your utter confusion in this matter and complete failure in yours and the governor's project," a school principal wrote Strong about his 10-year graduated teacher pay raise bill.

THE TEACHERS' letters, which run 10-1 against his bill, don't bother the big 34-year-old East Texas attorney.

"I didn't expect any other reaction, since most of the teachers have not been informed as to what my bill is about. The ratio will change when they understand it," Strong says.

Letters from businessmen and other laymen favor his proposal in the same 10-1 ratio.

Gov. John Connally is backing it 100 per cent and plans a concentrated speaking and publicity campaign for the plan.

Few outside of Strong's five-county East Texas district had heard of the plan until Connally surprised Texans with it in his legislative message Jan. 27.

FEW TEXANS realize Strong originated the Connally proposal, which has brought critical statements from the Texas State Teachers Association and possibly the 59th Legislature's most bitter fight.

The association says Connally's plan is "inadequate for the immediate and long-range needs of teachers."

It says that teachers have won an average increase of $2,000 in each of the past two 10-year periods, but Connally's plan would bring only an average of $900 during the next 10 years.

Strong says the association itself is responsible for sparking his interest in the subject.

HE TOOK ONE look in September, 1963 at the association's proposal for a $405 across-the-board raise — dubbed "$45 in '65" — and decided the approach was "so unrealistic I began exploring other possibilities."

He quietly gathered information from all sources, talking to 20 teachers groups in his district and refining the 10-year proposal. He estimates he put in 300 hours of research.

Several weeks before the governor's legislative address, Strong and Connally met. The governor adopted the senator's plan with some changes.

"I'M INTERESTED in the problem because my mother started teaching in 1941, my father was chairman of the State Board of Education (1934-41), my sister has taught since 1937, my wife taught when we were married, my sister-in-law is a teacher, and I consider it the No. 1 function of government in Texas," Strong said.

He also sees weaknesses in the system which has brought teachers to the legislature requesting raises every two or four years. They won a $810 raise in 1961.

Billy Graham

Wouldn't things be a lot simpler if God had just left a list of "Do's" and "Don't" for people to follow? This way, everyone is confused about what is really the right way to behave. P. G.

It is well that there are those who wish to know the will of God in detail. In fact, there are some religious bodies that have certain restrictions and limitations in order to satisfy those who raise questions such as the one you have raised. But God has not seen fit to do so lest the expression of our individuality be restricted and we come in bondage to regulations rather than to be constantly exercised about the manner of our conduct and conversation. God provides principles that we must apply to the specific instance. Here is an example. James writes, "Whatsoever is not of faith is sin." Translated into language of our times we would say, "If you have any doubts about it, better not do it." Paul writes, "Whatsoever ye do in word or in deed, do all to the glory of God." By your private devotional study of the Bible and through prayer, God will give you wisdom and understanding, but your decisions do not always become God's will for anyone else. They must make their own decisions.

International Events Plague LBJ

Ideas fade and then come back again. At the luncheon table the other day, I asked two newspapermen, two bankers and a railroad executive: "Have you ever heard of Foster and Catchings?

Silence.

Yet, in the 'twenties, the books and theories of William Trufant Foster and Waddill Catchings resounded throughout Wall Street. They helped—in an academic fashion—to propel industrial activity and stock prices ever upward. Their theories might have survived the Great Depression and become household thought if international events had not closed in on President Hoover from 1929 to 1933.

"Must prosperity always breed depression?" Foster and Catchings asked in "Business Without a Buyer," published in 1927. And they offered an answer: "In the future we must provide as effectively for financing consumption, as in the past we have provided for financing production . . . Since underconsumption is the chief cause of our troubles, adequate consumer income is the chief remedy."

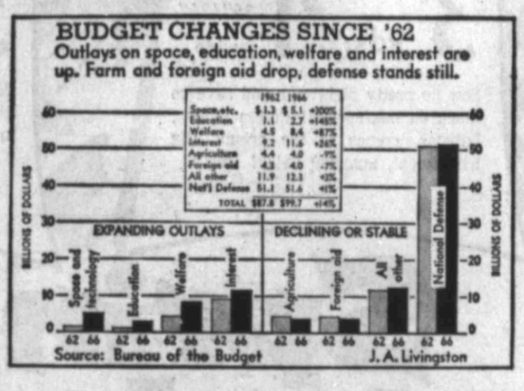
LOOKING AT 1929

And only the words have changed in President Johnson's Economic Message to Congress, in which he says: "I do not believe recessions are inevitable."

The President fires up hope. The stock market has pushed through the "900" barrier in the Dow Jones industrial stock index. Production has advanced to new peaks. New orders continue to climb. The unemployment rate has dropped another fraction to 4.8 per cent. And the auto industry prepares for record production and sales this year and next. How forward-looking can we get?

The 1966 Budget is in the spirit of Foster and Catchings. Expenditures on space, education and human welfare continue to expand, but agriculture, foreign aid and national defense programs are either declining or standing still (see chart).

The budget is designed to transfer income from the well-to-do to the less-well-to-do and to increase spending later this year. The President's advisers want to keep the economy moving in the second half. But the gold outflow and world interest rates cramp President Johnson's style.



DEPRESSION LESSON

In this, the Great Depression should be a lesson. The stock market crash of 1929 tipped off the domestic decline. International crises prolonged, intensified and deepened it. The U.S. economy buckled under successive defaults in Latin America and Europe. The world's financial structure crumbled. Currencies were devalued. Even the U.S.—in 1933—finally went off gold.

Then, as now, men saw the shadow of coming events. The Federal Reserve Board raised interest rates to curb stock market speculation, and Catchings, who was then head of Goldman, Sachs & Co., declared that the restrictions on credit imperiled the nation's welfare. Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, offered call money to stock brokers in defiance of the Reserve Board policy.

Here was great conflict. The Federal Reserve System tried to impose restraint, the private community fought back: Any repression would lead to trouble and perhaps depression.

President Johnson is caught in a similar clutch of circumstances. Like John F. Kennedy, he wants low-cost money to encourage economic growth. In conformance to this, the "Twist" has been the rage in Washington, even if it has lost out to the frug and watusi on the dance floor.

The Federal Reserve strives to twist short - term interest rates upward (to keep funds here and prevent a drain on gold) while it twists downward on long-term rates.

The President's economic policy has converted the United States into an island of low interest in a world of rising rates. That's why American capital goes abroad. As water seeks the lowest level, money seeks the highest price.

BIG PROBLEM

Foreign corporations float securities here because interest rates are low. Conversely, American commerical banks lend abroad because interest rates are high. And American corporations pour capital overseas because earnings are attractive.

Even a rich country cannot go on forever spending abroad more than it collects. If President Johnson wants to keep money rates down here, he'll have to reduce the balance-of-payments (BOP) deficit. He'll have to stop foreign dollar holdings from piling up.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

In his disarmament message to Congress the President failed to advance any striking new ideas. He offered instead a bland and almost complacent statement routinely repeating assertions of American interest in peace and disarmament, and asking for nothing more controversial than a four-year extension of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the modest appropriation required to keep that bureaucratic infant in business.

What is missing from the President's message is frank recognition that the disarmament situation is now worse rather than better than it was a year ago or four years ago when the ACDA was established. All the old nuclear powers now have more nuclear weapons and better means of delivering them than they had earlier. Communist China has entered the nuclear arena by exploding a surprisingly advanced atomic bomb. France comes nearer every day to its scheduled hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific. There is strong public pressure in India and Japan to match China's nuclear achievement, and there have been hints from Egypt and Indonesia lately of concrete plans in this direction. But nothing of this is reflected in the President's message.

We do not question the President's sincerity in asserting that "I am determined to work in every way that I can for safeguarded agreements that will halt the spread of nuclear weapons, lessen the risk of war and reduce the dangers of costly burdens of armaments." But since the limited nuclear test-ban treaty of July, 1963, little real significance to halt the arms race has been accomplished, and the bright promise of that treaty has been largely shattered by China's emergence as a nuclear power. This is the harsh reality to which the President and the country must devote urgent attention. —NEW YORK TIMES

To Cure Catarrh, First Find Its Cause

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain catarrh and what if anything can be done about it.

I was told many years ago by my grandmother that I had catarrh. At that time I had an unusual flow of mucus from my nose. I still have a drainage into my throat, but not as bad as when I was younger.—MRS. J. B.

Catarrh is a perfectly good word which comes from the Greek word meaning "to flow down," and is usually applied to a clear mucus-type dicharge.

To a mild degree this is normal—our mucous membranes are intended to remain moist. When the flow increases heavily, we call it catarrh.

Essentially this means some sort of irritation is inciting the membranes to increase the flow as a means of combatting the problem.

It is possible, with certain medications (of the "nose drop" type, among others) to reduce this flow or "dry up the membranes."

However, that doesn't get at the basic cause, which is the irritation. In fact, such arbitrary drying up is actually an interference with what Nature is trying to do. Excessive use can damage the membranes, or lead to new irritation of a different type, or contribute to nosebleeds or such.

Hence in general, I oppose their use except very briefly, when a temporary drying up is worth the drawbacks.

Rather, the important point is to find out what is causing the excess flow—what is the irritant? It can, of course, be a cold. Or chronic irritation from smoking or fumes. If the catarrh is seasonal, it strongly suggests allergy.

Sometimes the cause is anatomical: Adenoids or tonsils; a deviated septum in the nose; polyps or some other obstruction.

Continued catarrh is a nuisance but your chances of finding a cure on a do-it-yourself basis can be rather remote. The quicker, surer and more effective approach is medical examination of the passages of nose and throat. Once the source of irritation is identified, correction often is obvious and sometimes simple.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of clay-colored stools, reddish brown urine and dizziness? I felt quite bloated for several days.—G. L.

Dear Doctor: Do clay-colored stools suggest ball bladder infection, or cirrhosis of the liver? Is it possible to have a fever with a gall bladder infection? —C. H.

Normal stool color comes from some ingredients of bile. Lack of this color can mean lack of bile, either gallstones or other obstruction associated with the gall bladder, or lack of function of the liver, which produces bile—thus hepatitis could be involved, or advanced cirrhosis of the liver. Jaundice is usually noted in such cases.

The highly colored urine could be due to bile being excreted through the kidneys. All of the foregoing suggestions are "could be." Tests should be made to find out what IS wrong.

Gall bladder infection can occur either with or without a low-grade fever.

Around The Rim

Let Us Be Clear And Concise

You wouldn't believe this, and don't take this corner as any example, but the people who write your news day by day make an effort toward simpler and more effective writing.

The objective is to get the news accounts across clearly and with a minimun of obfuscation, if you'll pardon the expression.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS has what it calls a continuing study of its dispatches, and in this program editors seek out the poorer writing and bring it to light. One of the efforts has been to minimize the use of those time-worn words and phrases called cliches. The AP ran some 375,000 words through a computer and this device finally spewed about some bits of intelligence on hackneyed copy.

TURNS OUT that the word "hailed" was used too many times. (You know, "Demos Hail LBJ's Program" and that sort of thing). And the reporters got carried away with the term "violence flared" every time trouble reared its ugly head. There was also the use of "flatly" every time anybody denied something. And voters were always "marching" to the polls. Auditoriums or stadiums were usually "jampacked," and nearly all utterances of optimism were "guarded" or "cautious."

DAMAGED SHIPS almost invariably "limped" into port, and seldom was a building damaged by fire that wasn't "gutted."

Bringing the stuff to light is supposed to help eliminate some of this.

A couple of adjectives that have annoyed me include "grinding" to describe a crash; and "storied" to mark an athletic series that has been running a number of years. There is an inner feeling that if two automobiles, each doing 70 miles an hour, smacked headon, there would be more explosion than grind. The 36th meeting of Siwash and Podunk isn't very storied, either, but that's better than being "classic."

COME TO THINK about it, did you ever read that anybody was simply transported, or taken, to a hospital? Or even fetched? No, sir. Everybody is "rushed." Even if the ambulances are in a bit of haste, it's hardly necessary to say so all the time.

One editor took out after the verbs used to describe the movement of a weather front. He found that the cold wave "plunged" or "hurtled" across the Panhandle, "shoved" or "bowled" its way deeper into the state; that it either "howled" or "spread" or "edged" or "crawled", depending, I suppose, upon the velocity of the wind.

A MORE GRAPHIC way of telling about West Texas weather would be to say "close your windows and doors, here she comes," meaning, of course, the dust. Or, "it ain't fit out today for man or beast."

Well, we're not all guiltless. The spoken language is as full of the cliches as is the written. We all ought to be striving for the clear, the concise, the clear and the beautiful.

AROUND HERE, I keep telling 'em to hold it down. Cut it off. Say it and quit. Hold, enough! Be brief. Write tight. Stop!

In which case, you are never caught with your infinitives split and your participles dangling.

Stand Firm In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—My notebooks verify the memory that once on last December 26th and twice on December 28th, I had depth interviews with the most knowledgeable officials in Saigon — none of them anticipating what would happen almost exactly a month later, but all of them certain of stormy weather ahead, and equally certain that the U.S.A. could and should ride it out.

THAT IS, to be as specific as I can within the rules of such interviews, the American diplomatic and military command did not expect Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to succeed in naming himself dictator of South Viet Nam. They thought that Khanh was a dead chicken in the sawdust of the cockpit.

They told me that Khanh had lost the confidence of the younger generals—the Young Turks—and that he could not survive the displeasure of Ambassador Maxwell Taylor, dispenser of $2 million per day, promiser of more to come.

IT IS NOT unfair to say, then, that our side wrong-guessed the strength and persistency of Gen. Khanh, whom Tayor had pointedly invited to leave the country. Nor is it out of bounds to suggest that Taylor, having laid his prestige on the table and lost, might as well pack up and come home. But it is, I think, grossly unwarranted and irrational to conclude that one more coup, a new dictatorship, even another humiliating experience for the American policy gives us added reasons for pulling out of South Viet Nam. My interviews covered the three phases of our presence there, and the material is still valid.

1. THE MILITARY phase: Our side outnumbers the enemy by 10 to 1, and inflicts casualties of 3 to 1. We outgun the enemy in every caliber of weaponry, have supremacy of the air and are unchallenged along the thousand-mile seacoast. While these advantages don't insure a quick and easy victory, neither do they tolerate any contemplation of our defeat.

2. THE AID PHASE: While the Vietnamese people are poverty - pocked, their land has all the makings of self-sufficiency. The climate, the humus, the minerals, including the most precious of all minerals — water — are plentiful enough to support the populace and to yield surplus for export. These people are as intelligent and as civilized as their prosperous Oriental neighbors in Thailand and Cambodia, Japan and the Philippine Republic. The foreign aid here is not wasted.

3. THE POLITICAL phase: The key word here is stability, not democracy. We can work with a dictator as easily as with a constitutional leader. Some sort of a national congress, even a one-party rubber stamping machine would be decorative as a show window, but the sole necessity is for administrators to carry out decrees. Thus far the administrators have stuck it out.

I venture that no American of consequence in Viet Nam, unless it should be a disgruntled Ambassador Taylor, believes that we have reached the point of desperation of a time for withdrawal.

No 'Loyal Opposition'

WASHINGTON — What's become of the "loyal opposition" in Congress to the party in power? In Britain, the party out of power keeps up a constant barrage of analyses and criticisms so that the people can get both sides on current issues. But since the election last November, the Republican party in Congress has been strangely silent or inarticulate.

THERE WAS, of course, little chance in the months of November and December for Republican members of Congress to get into the limelight, since Congress wasn't in session. But now that the members have had the privilege of speaking out at the new session which began nearly a month ago, it is surprising that so little has been said to enlighten the country on all phases of public questions.

Perhaps the biggest opportunity missed was in connection with the federal budget. President Johnson was able to get away with the idea that by a mighty effort he had held the budget to less than $100 billion. Throughout the country the impression has been conveyed that the administration is characterized by frugality. The real facts about the budget have not been widely publicized.

REPUBLICANS IN Congress have wrestled with the problem of how a "loyal opposition" should be conducted, but they have come up with no solution. The truth is the members themselves, as well as the leaders, are so involved with detailed work that, except in occasional conferences, there isn't time to deal with over-all policies and party strategy.

Suggestions have been made again and again that the opposition party should maintain a regular staff of specialists to study the various issues of public policy and to come up with thorough analyses and criticisms that can be presented day by day to the people. Probably the only way to support such a project is to form a citizen's organization, which would be an adjunct of the Republican policy committees in Congress. For it takes a lot of money to organize an opposition which can compete with the hundreds of specialists and staff workers who are paid out of taxpayers' funds in the U.S. Treasury but work for the party in power.

PERHAPS THE most pointed criticism on a major issue has come from a Democrat — Sen. Frank Lausche of Ohio. He is one of those conscientious members of Congress who says what he thinks irrespective of what its effect may be on his own party. He declared in a speech about the "Appalachia" relief bill that very soon practically every part of the country will be petitioning for the same type of government subsidy. He said:

"The prospects are that there will be six new areas of the country which will come under the proposed program. I visualize that within two years there will be 'Appalachias' in every part of the country."

THE ISSUE is not new — it's the same old "pork barrel" problem which has been plaguing the U.S. Treasury for many decades. But the Republican party has available a major issue on this point, and sooner or later will have to educate the average citizen on how the continuous deficits and excessive spending can weaken the purchasing power of the dollar.

Maybe the Republican party will eventually become a "loyal opposition," but there are little signs of it as yet.

HD Clubs Hear Tips On Sewing Methods

Mrs. Delaine Crawford presented a series of sewing tips to home demonstration clubs in the community this week to increase skills in dressmaking and garment construction.

She detailed the one thread method of stitching darts, a technique that makes a smoother point suitable for outside darting. Also, she explained the proper method of making scallops or rounded seams, advising special care in the stitching and cutting.

The making of continuous bias trim is a boon to the homemaker who is making cord trim for upholstery or needing a large amount of bias trim on a garment. Mrs. Crawford gave exact dimensions and techniques for sewing and cutting.

Also, she told how to make corded belts, chain tack carriers, corner reinforcements, and the hand sewing of zippers.

COAHOMA CLUB

"Tips for the Seamstress" was the title of Mrs. Crawford's talk when she spoke Wednesday at the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. D. S. Phillips. Nine members answered roll call with new ideas for sewing.

A letter of thanks for the club contribution to the March of Dimes was read. Plans were made to serve Valentine refreshments to the club sponsored Brownie troop, and cookies will be served at the Big Spring State Hospital March 3.

The hostess worded the devotion. Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. R. W. McKinley were guests.

Mrs. H. H. Thames will be hostess at the Feb. 17 meeting.

AIRPORT CLUB

Nineteen members and a guest, Mrs. Dale Ditto, heard Mrs. Crawford Tuesday when she spoke at the meeting of the Airport Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. O. W. Decker, 1402 Harding, served as hostess.

Mrs. Vern Vigar was elected as a delegate to the district meeting in Tahoka, April 27. Mrs. J. L. Wright won the special prize.

Mrs. W. M. Dorough, 1404 Lancaster, will be hostess at the next session.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB

Mrs. Crawford gave a demonstration at the sewing machine in detailing her study on sewing tips for members of the College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday. Mrs. Nelson Ball, 1319 Tucson, served as hostess and worded the devotion.

Mrs. Bill Bodin presided at the business session when Mrs. Robert Coleman was named as delegate to the district meeting in Tahoka. Seven members answered roll call with the topic, "A New Idea for Sewing." Guests were Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. R. C. Armstrong and Mrs. Roy Smith.

Refreshments were served at a table covered with a russet brown cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses.

Mrs. John Birdwell, Silver Heels, will be the Feb. 16 hostess.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

A twin program was presented at the Tuesday meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. O. D. Engle served as hostess.

Mrs. J. W. Reeves was a guest speaker and discussed hepatitis and arthritis. She noticed that arthritis is more common in the southern states than in the north and very rare in tropical countries. This degenerative bone ailment requires early treatment, bed rest and special diet.

Hepatitis is a disease of the liver and, in an infectious state, requires patient isolation. Extreme care is required by those who nurse the infected patients.

The skit, "Foolish Kates at the Pearly Gates," was given by Mrs. Shirley Fryar, Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Engle and Mrs. J. F. Skalicky. It dealt with the proper use of chlorine bleach and stressed that the bleach should never be used with other household cleansers or vinegar. Mixing them together causes the formation of a poison gas which, if inhaled, sometimes causes death.

Following approval of the constitution and by-laws, Mrs. Shirley Fryar reported on the council session.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and the guest speaker. The next meeting will be Feb. 16 in the home of Mrs. Fryar.

SECTION D — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1965 — SECTION D

Receives Top Award

Dennis McGonagill had his Eagle badge pinned on his left pocket in a special Court of Honor at Baptist Temple Church, which sponsors his troop (No. 16). Dennis, who is now 17, has been in scouting for six years. With him is his scoutmaster, Elton Carlile.

Cubs, Scouts, Explorers Emphasize Their Program

More than 1,500 Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their leaders will join this week in the observance of Boy Scout Week to emphasize Scouting's program to strengthen America's heritage.

Several units will have special observances, others will attend church services in a group, and still others will have outdoor activities and good turns. Troop No. 9, and possibly others, will camp overnight Friday on the courthouse lawn.

A number of Cub packs are timing their Blue and Gold banquets to coincide with Scout Week, and so are a number of Scout troops with their Courts of Honor.

Because of the vital need for youth to be continually aware of their American heritage," said William T. McRee, Scout executive, "the 1965 Boy Scout week theme is a continuation of the successful patriotic projects carried out last year. Through its programs and through such special activities as the Nathan Hale Youth Patriotic Awards, Scouting is seeking to inculcate a sense of deep obligation on the part of all boys for the great American heritage which has been given them by their forefathers.

"For 55 years the Boy Scouts of America has been a major influence in training American youth in character values, citizenship skills and attitudes, and physical fitness.

"During Boy Scout Week, we will again make it possible for parents, public officials, and neighbors to see Scouting in action and to learn more of the depth of its program for boys from eight years of age to manhood."

DR. LEE O. ROGERS

Assuming Responsibility Taught Young Scouts

Dr. Lee O. Rogers, orthodontist, former mayor of Big Spring, and now on the board of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, is a former Scout of old Troop 1. He was with the troop back in its early days, 1915-18, when a lot of the camping trips were made on foot, or in wagons, when a chuck wagon went along for week-long campouts.

"To me, the main impact of what I learned in Scouting was the assumption of responsibility. If a person can't assume responsibility," he said, "he can never be very successful in any undertaking. It helps to develop civic pride and, at the same time, gives one training in leadership."

Dr. Rogers said he often used Scout leaders' techniques in getting youngsters to cooperate in the care and straightening of teeth.

"You can frequently note the difference in the attitudes of youngsters who have been members of Cub packs, as compared to those who have not, when they are given instructions on what to do and how to take care of their teeth," he continued. "We explain the need for cooperation and, in most instances we get it, which leads to a completed job in a much shorter time."

Most of the camping trips made when Dr. Rogers was a Scout was for one or two weeks on the Concho. Hikes, of 10 or more miles, were made for one day or overnight to Signal Mountain or Moss Springs. Most of the leadership then was provided by the Scoutmaster, and advancements were checked and approved by him.

Eagle Scout

Phil Richey, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richey, has been awarded the Eagle Scout rank in Boy Scouting. Phil is a junior at Big Spring High School and a member of Explorer Post 1 of Big Spring. He has been working on his Eagle Scout rank for about two years.

Scouts To Go To NY Fair

The Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, will send a contingent of Scouts and leaders to serve as members of the Scout Service Corps at the New York World's Fair, Aug. 9-16. The age requirement for participation is 14-18 years of age for Scouts and Explorers.

James B. Sammons, chairman of camping and activities for the council, said that the contingent will be composed of 36 Scouts and Explorers and three adult leaders.

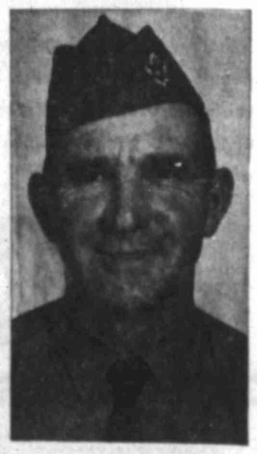
During the World's Fair in 1964, 2,244 Scouts and Explorers from 33 states served as members of the Scout Service Corps on weekly basis with 232 leaders.

All interested adult leaders should contact the Buffalo Trail Council office, P.O. Box 1508, Midland, for additional information.

Robert Moses, president of the New York World's Fair 1964-65 Corporation, said "The Scouts are not merely exhibitors here; they are part of the machinery and operations of the fair.

"I am deeply impressed by what the Scout movement has done toward a world of healthy competition and recreation, producing honorable and strong young men who will provide responsible leadership and command the future."

Little Boy Provides Scoutmaster's Answer



LESTER GOSWICK

Why am I a Scoutmaster?

Seventeen years ago I don't think I could have answered the question. Really, it was about 15 years ago, after I had served nearly three years as a Scoutmaster before I had my answer.

There was in my troop a little boy who could never remember having seen his father. He was a ball of fire, an eager beaver always willing to tackle anything and with a touch of the devil in him.

Two years after coming into the troop, he told me unexpectedly one day:

"I can't remember seeing my Dad, but I hope he was just like you."

We went on many camping trips far and ear, and you learn to know the boys individually in your troop and to get fairly close to them. I noticed that every morning when I awakened him, he would lie there and look up in the sky a few minutes.

One morning before the others aroused, I asked him what he was thinking about.

"I'm not thinking," he explained. "I'm talking to God."

Have you ever had a boy other than your own put his arm around your waist, and look up at you, and with eyes shining say to you:

"I'm proud you are my Scoutmaster."

Sure, we have our ups and downs. Once I was thinking of quitting Scouting. One of the boys got wind of it and came to me literally crying, "Don't quit! Don't quit!" When things like this happen to you, you can understand my feelings.

There are other compensations, too, such as the father of one of the boys asking you "how in the world do you get him to do things" He doesn't do them at home."

There are moments when the gang gathers around the campfire and sings, or when they pile into the bus full of excitement, their little hearts overflowing with joy at the prospect of a trip or adventure.

There are times when you admire them under tests like climbing up the trail in the rugged Davis Mountains. You know they are about to give out, but somehow they take that next step, and the next until they make that last mile.

Naturally, you gain satisfaction in seeing boys get something out of Scouting. There are 132 merit badges in Boy Scout work, and the knowledge a boy may receive from earning one merit badge may help him find the vocation he wants.

You get a thrill out of seeing a boy develop leadership as a result of his Scout training. You see him grow as he comes in contact with adults on boards of reviews, courts of honor, and those serving as merit badge counselors. The latter experience puts him in contact with men who are making a living out of the vocation which the boy is studying.

I was at Valley Forge, Pa., sitting among 50,000 Scouts and leaders, and the thought went through my mind: "Why is it that any boy doesn't want to be among us?" He has everything to gain and nothing to lose. All of our national leaders were boys once, and today's boys will be in their places tomorrow. Boy Scouting is a wonderful tool that we can use to see that boys are trained for filling the shoes of men ahead of them. It only costs pennies a year to make a man this way, but it costs thousands and thousands of dollars to try to mend a broken boy into a man.

Why am I a Scoutmaster? Well, these are some of the answers. Besides, I felt needed and wanted by the boys. I knew that people might think I'm nothing but a big Boy Scout, but if they do, I'm proud, because I try to put myself on a level with the boys.

Oh, yes, we get big ideas sometimes. We plan things big. They don't always work out, but most of the time we think we're going to the moon, and who knows, we might just make it someday!

Scoutmaster, Troop No. 9

Enjoys Working With Boys, Adults

AMOS JOHNSON

I work in Cub Scouts because there is a need for adult leadership and because I enjoy working with the other leaders and boys.

I enjoy seeing a boy, with eyes shining, receive an award he has worked for long and hard. You see a boy develop into a better citizen by learning what it is to earn something by hard work and determination. We teach a boy to develop on his own under adult guidance.

I enjoy going to the monthly roundtable and swapping ideas with other leaders from other packs. You have to give and take advice on how to make your pack more fun for both Cubs and parents. We see and have problems that den mothers run into each day with Cubs.

The den mother is the most important person in each den, besides the Cubs. She is the second mother, as the name implies. She helps each Cub carry out the plans made by the pack committee each month. We try to direct a Cub to see new aspects of life, and what they can mean as he grows into a young man.

We try to have a program of work and fun for Cubs each month. By reason of these, the boy learns to depend upon himself. We try in our monthly pack meetings to show the parents what each Cub has worked on during the preceding month, also to have a skit where he can show off just a little in the role of an actor.

You get a reward in watching shy youngsters take on responsibility, first perhaps as an assistant denner, and then as a denner, gaining confidence and learning to work and play in a spirit of give and take with other boys in his den. You get a good feeling in just being around boys so full of enthusiasm, hope and excitement, in spotting that one boy in every group who has the knack of taking charge, and also in drawing out the others to develop assurance and leadership, too.

The final pleasure we get as a Cub Scout leader comes when you see a Webelow graduate out of Cubs. He stands a little straighter and a good bit taller as he receives the straight arrow and is now ready to become a Boy Scout.

GEORGE ZACHARIAH

Says Training Stays Always

The Boy Scout movement was first started, Mayor George Zachariah was born, and Big Spring was incorporated as a city — all in the year 1907.

The first movement, leading to the Boy Scouts, began with ideas broached by Lord Baden-Powell in South Africa. He returned to England to lead the first organization in 1908, and it came to the United States in 1910.

Mayor Zachariah was born, attended high school, and was a Boy Scout in Baton Rouge, La. There were no Cub Scouts then and all work was done under the Scoutmaster.

"I believe I was most fortunate in being a Scout during those years," the mayor said. "We hiked as high as 15 miles a day, and then pitched our tents. We learned discipline, neatness, how to compete in various activities, how to swim in the river, woodcraft, wildlife — including hunting and milking rattlesnakes of their venom with the aid of a conservationist — the effect rain and weather had on tent guy lines, how to tell directions, and many other things, such as cooking out in all kirds of weather.

"It was a training that stays with you always, and I have been interested in Scouting and in youth since that time. I have lots of fun with boys, even though I have none of my own."

Zachariah has been institutional representative for a Scout troop sponsored by Cosden, and a commissioner, in line with the handicapped boys troop, sponsored by the American Legion.

Outing Is One Of The Secrets

One of the secrets of successful Scouting is in the "outing."

Records from the Buffalo Trail Council show that during the past year 51.9 per cent of all boys registered in Scouts and Explorers had a long-term camp, and that 80 per cent did long-term camping. Three explorers attended the National Explorer Delegate Conference at Lawrence, Kans.; 82 attended the west area Order of Arrow parley and 900 the two conclaves of the council; four troops with 165 boys and leaders attended the National Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa.

Trained In Getting Along With Others

Noel Reid, diretcor of personnel services for Big Spring Public Schools, began his Scouting career at Laredo. He was a Scoutmaster at Kingsville while attending Texas A&I, at Petronila, and later at Chapman Ranch. When he went to Corpus Christi, to the West Oso school district, he served as troop committeeman. His son finished his First Class Scout work at Corpus Christi.

"When I was a Scout at Laredo our camping trips consisted mainly of over-night or two-night hikes and campouts along the Rio Grande," he said. "It was usually too hot there for extended camping trips and work under the hot sun, because there are no timbered sections — only mesquite and other brush. We took our troop from Petronila to Wimberly, and to Hunt, for a week's campout for a couple of years."

Reid said the early training received on getting along with others has always stood out in his life.

"When people of the same, or approximate age, get together to work out problems leading to advancement, they naturally drift together and in the long run they explore a number of interests which make them conversant in language and expectations," he said. "I was always impressed by the calibre of leadership of men under whom we worked, and their dedication to boys' work and interest in the boys themselves.

Reid said one of the lesser handicaps enjoyed by Scouts at Laredo was the absence of tents from their packs when they went on hikes.

"We carried our bedrolls and food," he said, "and never had to worry much about bad weather forcing us into tents."

NOEL REID

Jobless Rate Dip Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped in January to 4.8 per cent, the lowest since October 1957, the Labor Department said.

The number of unemployed in January actually rose about 500,000 to a total of 4 million, but this was less than expected and the figures are adjusted on a seasonal basis.

Total employment last month dropped 1.4 million to a total of 69 million, about 300,000 less than usually expected in the post-Christmas lull in January.

DR. SAM PIEPER

Gained Code Of Ethics

Dr. Sam Pieper, director of medical and neurology services at Big Spring State Hospital, is an old friend of Scouting.

His father was a Scoutmaster, and district commissioner in Beeville, and his uncle was a Scoutmaster and also a Sea Scout advisor.

Dr. Pieper was an Eagle Scout with bronze palm. "As a young boy, I could remember the interest my uncle took in his Scouting activities and also my father's interest in Scouting. I think these two things influenced by Scouting career," said the doctor.

"There are several things that Scouting showed me, as being interested in Scouting gave me a way to practice the Scout law and oath," Dr. Pieper said. "These give a person an excellent code of ethics and code in life."

"Through Scouting I learned a great deal about how to get along with people and how to work with people of my own age," continued Dr. Pieper.

"The friendships and associations that I have today, both professional and social, are based upon some of the same things I learned as a Scout."

Campbell Has Worked In Scouting Half Century

One of the top officials of the Buffalo Trail Council, which administers the Boy Scout program in a dozen and a half counties of this area, is also one of the few men whose connection with Scouting goes back over half a century.

He is Carl E. Campbell, Big Spring, vice president of the council.

He has been a part of Scouting since it was chartered as an institution in the United States in 1910, and this week marks the 55th anniversary of that occasion.

Actually, Carl Campbell's association with Scouting goes back a year before that, for he was a member of a troop which had organized itself in Missouri in 1909, a year before William Boyce took the lead in getting Scouting (which had originated in England) established as a formal movement in this country.

Mr. Campbell served many years as a Scoutmaster, and he and Mrs. Campbell had the privilege of seeing three of their sons receive the Eagle badge at the same time — the first time this happened in the history of Scouting. All his sons have remained active in Scouting, and two grandsons have attained the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest honor a boy can earn.

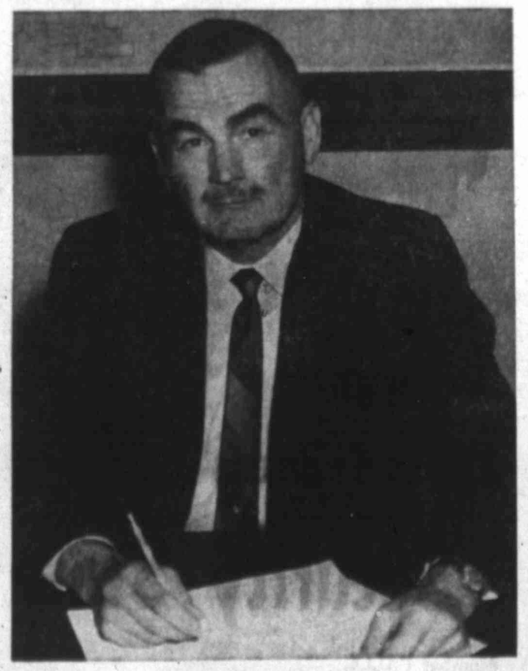
The council this year is headed by L. E. Patterson, Midland, who is serving a second term in this post.

Operations are carried on under a budget amounting to $124,059 and which must support the professional staff headed by Earl McKeehan, executive.

Work of the council is carried on through 10 districts, one of which is the Lone Star and which is served by William T. (Bill) McRee, who is the senior member of the council staff.

A board of volunteers, 50 of whom constitute the executive board, directs the affairs of the council, meeting five times during the year. Other committees of volunteers carry the programs to districts, which have similar committees such as health and safety, organization and extension, finance, camping activities, leadership training, advancement and public relations.

Reward Must Be Based On Merit



LARRY CROW

"I wasn't in scouting as long as I would have liked to been, but I did profit from my scouting days," said Big Spring City Manager Larry Crow.

"The biggest single thing I learned as a scout, was that reward must be based on merit to be of any genuine satisfaction to the individual," said the city manager.

As a young scout in Waco, Crow said he profited in many ways from his scouting days. "One, by working and getting along with kids of my age, and two, learning to do things with my hands."

"I was particularly interested in archery I remember," said Crow. Running a city government is much like the Boy Scouts. It takes firm responsible leadership to accomplish the goals set forth.

Farm Labor Rule Stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has refused to yield to Florida and California demands for foreign farm workers, despite grower complaints that crops are rotting in the fields.

"The Department of Agriculture has assured us there is no evidence of crops rotting in the field because of a labor shortage," a spokesman for Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz asserted.

Two federal officials meet in Orlando today with Florida citrus and sugar cane growers and will report to Wirtz Saturday on their investigation.

They are deputy Undersecretary of Labor Millard Cass and administrator Robert Goodwin of the Bureau of Employment Security.

PAUL KASCH

Gives Our Youth Higher Standards

Paul Kasch, city commissioner and member of A. P. Kasch & Sons, building contractors, was a member of Explorer Troop 3 for four years — from 1936 through 1939. Meetings were held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, located at 501 Runnels where the present Pioneer Natural Gas Co. building stands.

"I can remember when we went to Camp at Barksdale and traveled in cattle trucks. We also made one trip to Carlsbad Caverns in one of the trucks, with benches along each side and down the middle," he said. "We had our jamborees where the present Boy Scout camp ground is located just off the Big Spring Country Club road. They always came in the spring of the year. I was lucky enough to attend the National Jamboree in Washington, D. C. in 1937, where we pitched our tents along the Potomac."

Kasch said the boys always had lots of fun on long hikes or camping trips.

"Our greatest gain from the training was the skill and ability each individual learned," Kasch continued. "It was good for us. We learned how to take care of our property, learned to do work on our own, as well as with others. The sports and games were always between troops and patrols and we had to learn individual action and team work, which is always remembered in later years. All the work we did at the camps, on hikes, and overnight campouts was toward merit badge advancement, and we worked out our problems as individuals and in groups."

Kasch said he believed all boys, who have really gone in for Scout work, have come out with higher moral and ethical standards than the majority of those who have not had, or have not taken, the opportunity offered in Scouting.

New Eagle

Jonnie Goswick, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goswick, 1804 Runnels, is to receive his Eagle Scout award in services Sunday at the Wesley Methodist Church. A member of Squadron 236, Explorer Scouts, he had previously received Scouting's God and Country Award.

Troops Urged To Enter First Aid Meeting

Boy Scout troops in the Lone Star District are being urged to enter teams for the annual district first aid meet.

Troops may enter as many teams of five as they have qualified in first aid training. Deadline on entries, stressed Paul Soldan, health and safety chairman, is 7 p.m. Feb. 12.

The meet will be held at Runnels Junior High gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 26.

Each team should have the following equipment: a snakebite kit; leg and arm splints; several triangular bandages; a stretcher, which may be improvised, or the simple army type.

Entries should be mailed to Soldan at Box 1311, Big Spring, and should contain the troop number, the number of teams entering (five boys to a team), and the signature of the scoutmaster.

CARROLL DAVIDSON

More Aware Of Down To Earth Teachings

As a Boy Scout in Omaha, Neb., Carroll Davidson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, enjoyed the "recreation, learning and activities that scouting offered."

"I enjoyed the participation of scouting," said Davidson. "It taught me a number of things I didn't realize then, but do now and use every day."

Among the things Davidson remembers learning were water safety, fire safety and first aid. This is one of the many facets of Boy Scout instruction.

"Scouting made me more aware of the real down to earth teaching for boys of all ages and from all type homes," he continued.

Davidson said that scouting is good for all boys, "I have one boy in scouting now and another who will start next year. I participate with him and we both enjoy it."

Advancements Accomplished

A lot of advancement in rank is accomplished by the boys enrolled in Scouting in the Buffalo Trail Council.

Last year 1,427 boys attained the rank of Wolf in Cubbing, another 867 Bear, 508 Lion and 258 Webelos (which is the rank which graduates a boy into Scouting.)

There were 827 boys who reached the rank of second class Scout, 479 first class. In addition, another 306 became Star Scouts (five merit badges), 170 Life (10 merit badges) and 66 Eagle (21 merit badges and exemplary living of the Scout oath and law).

DONALD VAN METER

Aids Growth Of Character

Donald Van Meter, director of the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital knows the value of scouting and how it can aid a person in growing both in character and physical appearance.

"I recommend to parents that they encourage their youngsters to join the Boy Scouts as it will help make for good solid citizens," said Van Meter.

Van Meter was a scout as a youth in Decatur, Ill. During his scouting days he attained the rank of Star Scout.

"The Boy Scout summer camp that I attended gave me an opportunity to learn to swim and complete a junior lifesaving course," he said.

The biggest impact scouting had on Van Meter was, "the wholesome adult leadership in the Boy Scout organization contributed to the basic fundamentals of group participation, sportsmanship and how to get along with others of my age."

Oath Provides The Keystone

Keystone of all Scouting is the oath which a Scout must subscribe to before he can become a part.

It is this:

"On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

BOY SCOUT WEEK
55th ANNIVERSARY - FEBRUARY 7-13

The destiny of our nation depends on the character of our youth: Youth is the season of hope . . . enterprise and energy. The Boy Scouts of America play an extremely important role in strengthening our nation by instilling in boys the traits of honesty, industry, self-reliance and patriotism.

We are proud of the promise we read in our Boy Scouts and salute them on their 55th anniversary.

COL. A. F. TAUTE

Badge From Admiral Byrd

"I received my First Class Scouter's badge from Admiral Byrd," Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander at Webb Air Force Base, said. "I became a Scout when I was 12 years old—in 1932—and remained one until I finished high school in Brookings, S.D. I have a son now in college, who was a Cub and a Scout, and find the work is just as interesting now as when I was a Scout."

Col. Taute said he has seen the results of Scout training in men coming into the Air Force, and that the benefit was pronounced in the attitude of the young men.

"In Scouting an individual learns self-discipline," he said, "and this is most important. The overall training in the Scouting program develops logic and good thinking. The former Scout is more valuable to his community and his country. Unless a man can learn to discipline himself, he can never accept discipline necessary to developing into a good Air Force man.

"The thing that has remained with me over the years is the basic Scout Honor. If one thinks and acts by it he can live with himself and get along with others. He will be a credit to himself, his community, and his nation," the colonel said. Those things of importance, where a decision must be made, are governed by a subconscious memory of honor. If all boys could receive this training we would not have 'beatniks' and other similar-acting boys in the world."

If boys, whether Scouts or not, have good leadership, as in Scouting, they will be able to start life in the right way, he said.

The wing commander served on the District Council at El Paso, and at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio. He is a member of the Eagle Scout Executive Board in Big Spring.

Busy Spring Foreseen For Area Scouts

Plans are being shaped for a busy spring for all phases of Scouting in the Lone Star District.

These were divulged at the monthly meeting of the Lone Star District at Cosden Country Club Thursday evening. Jack Gulley, vice chairman, presided.

Two Eagle boards of review were convened during the past week, reported Erven Fisher of the advancement committee, and an Eagle badge was presented early in the week. Pressure is being applied to step up advancement, he said.

Six troops have signed for summer camp at the Davis Mountains, said Carl Campbell, and possibility of a combined spring camporee and Scout exposition is being considered for May.

Paul Soldan, health and safety chairman, said seven troops have entered teams so far in the Feb. 26 district first aid contest. Dick Ream said that members are being recruited for the finance committee. Fred Beckham appealed for additional volunteers to serve as neighborhood commissioners.

Several leader training sessions are coming up, according to Harry Blomshield, chairman. Scouter basic training will be offered at the old SUB at HCJC Feb. 12-15; basic for Cubbers Feb. 14-16-21-23; Scouter advanced March 2-5-9-12; and Explorer advisors March 3-6-10-13.

Gulley urged district operation committee chairmen to attend the council operation committee session in Midland Feb. 18 and the Region IX meeting in San Antonio March 26-27.

Scouting Reaches At Unit Level

The program of Boy Scouting reaches the boy at the level of the unit — a Cub pack, a Scout troop, or an Explorer post.

Last year the Buffalo Trail Council had 132 packs containing 4,988 Cubs, 165 troops with 4,247 Scouts, and 63 Explorer posts with 730 Explorers. This gave 360 units with 9,965 boys registered in Scouting.

DR. MELVIN M. CRAWFORD

Fine Leadership Is Strong Factor

"When I was a scout in Putnam, following the Depression, scouting served as a recreation outlet for boys," said Dr. Melvin M. Crawford, dean of student personnel at Howard County Junior College.

"Loyalty and clean living were stressed by our scoutmaster and we had pride in ourselves and our troop because of this," said Dr. Crawford.

"The big impact scouting has had on me was the fine leadership I got from scouting, which helps boys grow into manhood and helps develop their character."

"Our scoutmaster held us to the principles of scuoting and the scout code," said Dr. Crawford. "I think this helped in World War II when many of us were away from home and the principles were learned in scouting were a strong factor in our behavior," added Dr. Crawford.

"I recommend scouting to all boys as a way of developing character," said Dr. Crawford.

Pecos Bank Control Sold

PECOS (AP)—Sale of controlling interest in the First National Bank of Pecos was announced.

Ray McPherson said he and several other large stockholders sold control to J. T. Moore Jr. of Pecos and R. B. McGowen Jr. of Monahans.

McPherson has been executive vice president of the bank. He will remain with the institution until the new management becomes familiar with operations, he said.

Program Kept Vigorous By Volunteers

While the unit leaders — Cubmasters, Scoutmasters and Explorer Advisors — effect the Scouting program in the lives of boys, the responsibility for seeing that Scouting is made available and kept vigorous is that of another group of volunteer workers.

They are members of the district committee.

Heading the Lone Star District again this year as chairman is Raymond L. Tollett, who has guided the district to a position of leadership in the council.

His vice chairmen are Joe A. Moss, Jack Gulley and Joe Pickle, the latter serving also as chairman of the publicity committee.

Chairman of finance is Dick Ream; chairman of organization and extension is Bill Crooker; chairman of health and safety is Paul Soldan; chairman of leadership training is Harry Blomshield; chairman of camping and activities is Frosty Robison; chairman of advancement is Erven Fisher. The commissioner is Fred Beckham.

The committee meets the first Thursday evening of each month for reports and planning. Also meeting at that time are the institutional representatives (each unit has a representative who also is not only part of the district set-up, but is a direct member of the Buffalo Trail Council) who carry the plans back to the packs, troops and posts.

JUDGE LEE PORTER

Picks Scout Code As Most Important Phase

County Judge Lee Porter was a Boy Scout and a member of a Big Spring troop.

"It's been so long I can't remember the number of it," said the Judge, "but I do remember the scoutmaster, C. S. Holmes."

"The biggest thing I remember about my days in scouting were the outings we took," recalls Judge Porter. "We would go down on the Concho River for eight or nine days."

"Scouting is something that you get out of it, just what you put into it," added the judge. Although scouting has advanced since Judge Porter was a scout, he feels that the most important part of scouting is the Scout's code.

"The Boy Scout Code can guide any man if he learns and lives by it," said Judge Porter. "It can guide him just as far as he wants it."

Variety Store Chain Bought

ALVIN, Tex. (AP) — Sale of the McLemore Variety Store chain to Perry Brothers of Lufkin, which owns a similar chain, was announced Thursday.

District Has Member Gain

The Lone Star District of Boy Scouts registered a membership gain last year, although it did not quite attain its goal.

The district, which embraces Howard, Glasscock and Sterling counties, was one of two in the Buffalo Trail Council which did show an increase in membership for the past year.

At the end of 1964, there were 633 boys registered here in Cubbing, according to Bill Crooker, district chairman of organization and extension. Another 635 were registered in Scouting — a rare situation in which boys in Scouting outnumber those in Cubbing — and still another 182 in Exploring. This gives a total of 1,450 registered for Cubbing (for boys 8-9-10) Scouting (11-12-13-14) and Exploring (14 and up).

Last year there were 20 Cub packs in the district, 26 troops for Scouts and 12 Explorer posts.

Goals for 1965, said Crooker, are 685 boys in 23 Cub packs; 640 boys in 28 Scout troops; and 230 boys in 15 Explorer posts. Thus, it is apparent that while seeking to consolidate the Cub and Scout programs, the district will put major emphasis this year in seeking to enlist older boys in Exploring. If the goals are met, the district will have 1,655 boys in 66 units by Dec. 31, 1965.

Ranks Second In Performance

The Lone Star District ranked second in over-all performance in the Buffalo Trail Council during 1964. In several categories it was first, being exceeded only by the Coahuila District, which is the headquarters district of the council.

In the number of Scouts and Explorers registered, the district was first with 49.8 per cent and 15.9 per cent of eligible boys registered, and in Cubs it was third with 42.9 per cent registered. The 37.3 per cent of all boys was good for second in the council.

With a net gain of 14 boys the district was also second and with two additional units it was third. The district's 69.2 per cent of leaders trained was fourth and in boy leaders trained it was third with 46.1 per cent. MAD, MAD, MAD, MAD WORLD
Sid Caesar and Edie Adams

Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World Opens

No glittering cities of ancient civilizations had to be rebuilt and destroyed for it; no crucial battles in which thousands of men and horses engaged in mortal combat in it, and no volcanoes were touched off to bury whole nations, but Stanley Kramer's comedy "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," which makes its debut Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, required some of the greatest production logistics in motion picture history.

This, it was explained, was because this Ultra-Panavision-Technicolor release, which will be seen locally exactly as it was shown at advanced prices in record - breaking reserved seat showing, is just about the ultimate in everything.

The cast for instance.

"Everybody," the management claims, "who's ever been funny is in it!"

Well, who's been funny?

In alphabetical order, Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Buddy Hackett, Ethel Merman, Mickey Rooney, Dick Shawn, Phil Silvers, Terry-Thomas, Jonathan Winters are the laugh provokers who star in it. Spencer Tracy, not particularly famous as a comedian, is also starred. Then, co-starred in alphabetical order, are:

Edie Adams, Dorothy Provine, Peter Falk, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Jim Backus, Ben Blue, Joe E. Brown, Alan Carney, Barrie Chase, William Demarest, Andy Devine, Norman Fell, Paul Ford, Sterling Holloway, Edward Everett Horton, Marvin Kaplan, Buster Keaton, Don Knotts, Charles McGraw, ZaSu Pitts, Carl Reiner, Madlyn Rhue, Arnold Stang, The Three Stooges, Jesse White and a couple of surprises which include Jimmy Durante.

Envisioned as "a comedy to end all comedies," the film "Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" is the brainchild of screenwriter William Rose and his wife Tania, who conceived "a pursuit of such monumental proportions that speed, excitement, suspense and laughter would be its hallmarks from start to finish." It is not only Kramer's first venture into comedy, but it was the most demanding picture ever directed and produced by the man who gave "High Noon," "On the Beach" and "Judgment At Nuremberg."

Whole armies of old airplanes, period automobiles and vintage street cars had to be assembled for "Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," to say nothing of custard pies for throwing, keystone type cops for arresting, and other ends and oddities. And a whole section of famed San Fernando Valley had to be sequestered to do the sweeping action credit.

Opera Festival Due In March

The San Antonio Symphony Orchestra's 21st Annual Grand Opera Festival will be held the weekends of March 13 and March 20, according to Victor Alessandro, musical director of the symphony. Productions scheduled this season are Ponchielli's "La Gioconda" Saturday evening, March 13; "Faust" by Gounod, Sunday afternoon, March 14; Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" Saturday evening, March 20; and Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" Sunday afternoon, March 21.

Dr. Alessandro, the only U.S. conductor to direct both the orchestra's symphonic and operatic programs, will conduct all four performances. Some 24,000 persons from all parts of the Southwest and Mexico are expected to attend the operas in San Antonio's Municipal Auditorium.

Anthony Stivanello of New York will be stage director for the productions. Peter Wolf of Dallas, whose sets have received national acclaim in recent years, will be set designer for the productions.

San Antonio's full 90-piece Symphony Orchestra will be used for all performances. The Mastersingers' Chorus of 120, organized by Alessandro, will also participate in each opera. Ballet numbers will be staged by the San Antonio Civic Ballet and the Texas Christian University Ballet of Fort Worth. Guest artists are Richard Tucker and Eileen Farrell.

Movies Purchase 'Poor Richard'

NEW YORK (AP) — Movie rights to "Poor Richard," Jean Kerr's new comedy, have been purchased by Warner Bros.

Under the sliding scale contract, Mrs. Kerr can receive a maximum of $500,000 for the screen rights, depending on the length of the play's Broadway stage run.

Diplomatic Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway is having a flurry of shows of diplomatic tenor. "Ben Franklin in Paris," a musical in which the court of Louis XVI is the background for ambassadorial endeavor; "P.S. I Love You," about the wife of a present day U.S. diplomat in Paris; and now, "Diplomatic Relations."

'Bus Stop' Opens Friday On City Stage

A rollicking story of what can happen when a busload of travelers is suddenly stranded for a night at a wayside diner will be told on the stage of the Municipal Auditorium Friday and Saturday with the production of "Bus Stop."

The hit Broadway comedy will be the third production this season by the Big Spring Civic Theatre.

A belligerent young rancher tries to herd a hardened Kansas City night-club singer back to his Montana home to be his wife, and "Bus Stop" tells the results in a play that ran 60 weeks in New York.

Playing the night club singer will be Christine Tatum, a veteran of several little theatre productions here. Mrs. Tatum held the lead in the production last fall of "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

In the part of the brash cowboy, Bill Lee, a newcomer to Big Spring from North Carolina, brings previous experience in acting and directing off-Broadway in New York City.

Set on the Kansas plains, the story of "Bus Stop" revolves around the passengers stranded together when the blizzard stops their bus.

Rehearsals have been under way several weeks for the production, directed by Jack Richards. Previously Richards directed "Dial M for Murder" and "My Three Angels," both little theatre productions and "Stalag 17" at Webb AFB. He also played the lead male part in the fall production of "Solid Gold Cadillac" and will direct the presentation of "All the King's Men" in April.

Producer of the show is David Carreiro, who also is providing the set design.

Playing roles in the play as bus passengers are Joyce Towbin, Jerry Whitlock, Joe Moffitt and Carl Davis. Kaye Thaxton plays the operator of a bus stop cafe and Dan Kester is the bus driver.

A Stanton High School English teacher, Miss Thaxton is a native of Oklahoma and has previously taught in Japan, England and Germany. Kester was the producer of "Hansel and Gretel" earlier this season and has previously held roles in "My Three Angels" and "The Emperor's New Clothes."

Mrs. Towbin is a graduate of Queen's College, N. Y., and has previously helped design and execute programs for the Little Theatre here. Formerly in television production work in Oklahoma City, Whitlock has appeared in several playhouse productions in that city.

Moffitt, a senior master sergeant at Webb AFB, is a Pennsylvania native and a newcomer to the Little Theatre work here. Davis is a civilian employe at Webb and previously held a lead role in "Solid Gold Cadillac."

"Bus Stop" was written by William Inge, who received a Pulitzer Prize for his "Picnic." He also wrote "Come Back, Little Sheba," another award winner.

Stage manager for the show here is Jim Wiltberger, with Joe DeSousa in charge of lights, Bud Hahn sound, with Johnny and Sandra Economy and Pat Jones directing make-up. Properties are being handled by Crenshaw and Mae Santish.

The set crew for "Bus Stop" is composed of Louis Loveless, Edward R. Foster, Kieran Doherty, Clark Frasher, Barbra Crenshaw, Judy Cadell and Pat Talty.

"WITCHCRAFT"
Lon Chaney, Diane Clark, Yvette Rees

Black Magic Featured In State Double Bill

A special double-bill featuring black magic, the supernatural and a touch of comedy opens at the State Theatre Thursday with "Witchcraft" starring Lon Chaney and "The Horror of It All" starring Pat Boone.

"Witchcraft" is a pure supernatural thriller with Lon Chaney as a warlock (a male witch). Pegged to the increasing interest in witchcraft in Europe and America, it tells of a family of witches who seek revenge against a neighboring family who, in the 17th century, burned a witch alive and confiscated her family's estate. Lon Chaney leads the family of witches with the assistance of the burned witch who rises up from the dead when her grave is churned up by bulldozers. Included in the cast are Jack Hedley, Jill Dixon and David Weston.

In "The Horror of It All," a fast-paced chiller featuring a light touch of comedy, Pat Boone plays an American salesman in England who falls in love with a pretty young English girl, played by Erica Rogers. When he journeys to her family's estate to ask for permission to wed, he discovers his future in-laws are a bizarre group of lunatics with homicidal tendencies. When they start dying, one by one, of unnatural causes, the salesman realizes he may be the next corpse. Included in the cast are Andree Melly, Valentine Dyall and Dennis Price.

"GOODBYE CHARLIE"
Debbie Reynolds, Tony Curtis, Pat Boone

He's Reincarnated As Lovely Woman

The reincarnation of a roguish male into a beautiful young woman is the subject of the new comedy, "Goodbye Charlie," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre. Tony Curtis, Debbie Reynolds and Pat Boone are starred.

Set and filmed in Hollywood "Goodbye Charlie" is the story of a dashing young scriptwriter who is shot by a jealous husband and reincarnated as a young woman, played by Debbie Reynolds. Tony Curtis, who plays the closest friend of the late scriptwriter, is the first to find out that Charlie has become a woman, and a ravishing one at that. The plot recounts Charlie's adventures as a woman, and the plight of Tony Curtis, who finds himself falling in love with her.

Tony Curtis comes to "Goodbye Charlie" after receiving accolades for his performance in "Captain Newman, M.D." Right now, Curtis is interested in developing his talents as a comedian, and his next five pictures are all scheduled and are all comedies. His first big comedy role was in "Some Like It Hot," which he enjoyed making and which won him considerable critical acclaim. Now the celebrated Curtis flair for comedy is offered an ideal showcase in "Goodbye Charlie."

Lovely Debbie Reynolds completely changed her "Tammy" image with her outstanding performance in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," and now follows up that tour de force with her role as a sophisticated but naughty young woman in "Goodbye Charlie." She called her assignment the toughest of her career because she had only one scene in which she must convince Tony Curtis and the audience that she is the incarnation of Charlie Sorel, one of Hollywood's most notorious woman chasers.

Pat Boone plays Bruce Minton, a wealthy young man who falls in love with the female Charlie not knowing that she was once a man, and a devilish one at that. The famous character actor Walter Matthau plays Sir Leopold Sartori, a flamboyant film producer who shoots the first Charlie, and then unwittingly falls in love with the second.

Laura Devon, an alumnus of the Richard Boone TV Repertory Theatre, has the role of Sir Leopold's wife, whose amatory adventures with the male Charlie causes him to be shot. Another of Charlie's girl friends is played by Joanna Barnes, former Phi Beta Kappa at Smith College who has had considerable experience in movies and TV.

"Goodbye Charlie" was directed by Vincente Minnelli, the famous director of such hit films as "An American in Paris," "Brigadoon," "Meet Me in St. Louis" and "Kismet." Harry Kurnitz wrote the screenplay which is based on a play by George Axelrod.

Commissioners To Name Precinct Judges Monday

Precinct election judges and their assistants will be appointed Monday in all of the county's 20 voting precincts.

The Howard County Commissioners Court is to make the appointments in accordance with the requirements of state law.

This year, the county will have four new precincts—Nos. 17, 18, 19 and 20.

These new voting boxes were created last year when a new state law became effective restricting voters who live outside corporate towns from voting in election boxes inside the towns. The law made the city limits the terminus of any voting box in that city.

In this county, a sizeable number of voters live outside of Big Spring, but voted in boxes in the town. The new law made it necessary to find new voting places and create four new precincts to serve these voters.

Each of the commissioner precincts has a new voting box under the plan.

Precinct No. 17, which serves voters living to the north and northwest of town, is located in Commissioner Precinct 1. Simon Terrazas, county commissioner, said he thinks that Gerald Harris will serve as judge in this precinct and that it is possible voters will ballot at Harris' residence. He was working on details over the weekend.

Voting Precinct No. 18 is in County Commissioner Precinct No. 2, served by R. C. Nichols as commissioner. It will serve voters who live to the south and southeast of Big Spring. Nichols said he had not found a suitable voting place nor determined a judge for this new precinct.

Joe Hayden, county commissioner from Precinct 3, said that his new voting box—No. 19— will vote at the Elbow school, but that he is seeking a judge.

Crestview Baptist Church will be the voting place for Voting Precinct No. 20 located in County Commissioner Precinct 4, L. J. Davidson, commissioner, has announced. He is also seeking a judge for this new box.

Other precincts, with the commissioner in whose district they are:

Precinct 1, North Side Fire Station, Terrazas; Precinct 2, Washington Place School, Nichols; Precinct No. 3, Main Street Fire Station, Hayden; Precinct No. 4, City Hall, Davidson; Precinct No. 5, Vincent, Davidson; Precinct No. 6, Gay Hill School, Davidson; Precinct No. 7, Salem Church, Davidson; Precinct No. 8, Cedar Crest School, Terrazas; Precinct No. 9 Coahoma, Nichols; Precinct No. 10, Forsan, Nichols; Precinct No. 11, Center Point School, Davidson; Precinct No. 12, Prairie View Baptist Church, Terrazas; Precinct No. 13, Knott School, Terrazas; Precinct No. 14, Vealmoor, Terrazas; Precinct No. 15, Runnels Junior High School, Big Spring, Nichols; Precinct No. 16, Park Hill School, Hayden.

In addition to the judges and assistant judges for each of the precincts, the commissioners will select a presiding judge for the special canvassing board. This is the group which tabulates absentee votes in any election.

Election officials appointed by the county commissioners for the precincts will serve in all county elections.

Radio Ham Gets Award

Robert W. Sanderson Jr., 2401 Morrison Drive, has been honored by the American Radio Relay League for the part he played in the rescue and message work during the reign of Hurricane Hilda Oct. 1-5, 1964.

Sanderson, who is owner-operator of Amateur Radio Station K5SWB, had no notification that his efforts were to be recognized. His mail brought him a Public Service Award.

The citation relates that these awards are presented to individuals in recognition of their contribution to the public service record of radio amateur.

"It is a spontaneous recognition of outstanding work by the individual amateur during communication emergencies, done without hope or expectation of material reward," the citation reads.

Sanderson recalls working on several of the special networks of amateur radio transmitters set up to relay emergency messages and instructions while Hurricane Hilda was raging. He handled considerable traffic on his rig.

Bill Calls For Cycle Helmets

TOKYO (AP) — Crash helmets would be required and tandem riding would be barred for motorcycle and scooter drivers under legislation promoted by the police department.

Police reported head injuries caused most of the 5,637 deaths among Japanese motorcyclists and scooter types last year.
