Snow Slide Scene

Rescue workers and family men whose homes were crushed by roaring snow slide walk among debris, checking damage and salvaging household goods. A 10-year-old boy, Jimmy Spencer, was killed and at least a dozen persons were injured by the slide in Burke Canyon at Mace, Idaho. A slide in Burke Canyon in 1910 killed 16 persons. This region has been hit by heavy snow.

Clash Hikes Fears Of Mid-East War

Arizona Senator Admits Gift By Keck Family

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) says he accepted a campaign contribution from a member of the family that controls Superior Oil Co. of California.

Goldwater added, in an ABC-TV interview yesterday, that he doesn't think this should affect his membership on a special Senate committee planning a broad investigation of lobbying and campaign contributions.

He said he could name "four or five Democrats who received contributions" from the same source. He did not elaborate.

An aide in Goldwater's office quoted the senator today as saying his contribution came from "Bill" Keck.

There are two William Kecks in the family. William Myron Sr. is Superior's board chairman. One of his sons, William Myron Jr. is an independent oil operator.

Records in the office of the Arizona secretary of state list a contribution of $250 for Goldwater's campaign fund from a Matthew Keck of Chicago. The Goldwater aide could not place that name.

The special investigating committee and another, smaller Senate group, were set up after Sen. Case (R-SD) disclosed he rejected a $2,500 campaign fund offer during the recent Senate debate on the controversial natural gas bill.

The money offered Case was traced by the smaller special committee to personal funds of Howard B. Keck, president of Superior Oil. John M. Neff, an oil company lawyer-lobbyist who made the offer, testified there were "no strings attached."

Robert K. Goodwin, Iowa Republican national committeeman, has testified Neff made two offers, of $2,500 and $1,000, both rejected. Neff has denied making either offer and said he talked with Goodwin only once, in Des Moines.

The four-member committee investigating the Neff-Case affair has almost finished its work, but a larger special committee is to take over a broader probe of lobbying and campaign contributions. It still is trying to agree on rules of procedure.

Goldwater said he had received a campaign contribution from the Keck family but didn't consider that a reason to disqualify himself.

"If Mr. Keck likes the way I vote he has a perfect right to give money to me," Goldwater said. Neither Keck nor any of about 200 other contributors to his campaign has ever asked a special favor of him, the senator added.

Neither Goldwater nor his questioner made clear whether they were talking about Howard Keck, though the questioner referred to him as "Mr. Keck, who seems to be, shall we say, the source of this trouble at the start."

The questioning, however, grew out of an earlier Drew Pearson broadcast during which an aide said Pearson reported that Goldwater had received a contribution from Matthew Keck.

Goldwater could not be reached for further clarification.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson reported during the weekend he has obtained signatures of 32 Democrats and 17 Republicans to a bill he is sponsoring to impose new over-all limits on spending for political campaigns.

Ike Sends New Arms Note To Russian Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has sent to Moscow a new note urging Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to join him in making a start on a world disarmament program.

The letter constitutes the latest round in a propaganda duel which the two men have been carrying on over disarmament and world peace for many months.

Eisenhower's note was due to be delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office today by U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen. Washington officials said administration plans call for it to be made public tomorrow.

It was learned the note first was dispatched to Moscow late last week, but poor radio reception forced a lengthy repeat transmission and delayed plans for a public announcement during the weekend.

The Eisenhower message is both a negative reply to Bulganin's repeated proposal for a Soviet-American friendship treaty and a positive reassertion of Eisenhower's plan.

The Eisenhower-Bulganin correspondence started after the summit conference last July. It was at that time that Eisenhower proposed that the United States and Russia exchange aerial reconnaissance and military blueprints as a first step toward disarmament.

Bulganin severely criticized the President's plan in a letter last September. Then at the Geneva foreign ministers' meeting in November, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said bluntly that Russia would not accept the Eisenhower plan.

Subsequently Bulganin made his proposal for a friendship treaty and Eisenhower turned it down.

On Feb. 1 Bulganin asked Eisenhower to reconsider and tried to make the whole deal more attractive by saying similar pacts could be concluded by Russia with Britain and France.

HERE'S A JOB FOR EXPERTS

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A Norman automobile agency will have to call in professional safecrackers to finish a job started by unsuccessful amateurs.

Police said the would-be thieves apparently attacked the safe with everything from welding equipment to crowbars, but succeeded only in jamming the safe so it could not be opened. The safe, at the Cook Studebaker Agency, contained about $1,500 in cash and checks.

British Pull Aides From Arab Legion

LONDON (AP) — Britain recalled the remaining senior British officers in Jordan's Arab Legion today in retaliation for King Hussein's curt dismissal of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the Arab Legion founder and commander.

Prime Minister Eden made the announcement in a tense session of the House of Commons, against mounting demands for a hardening of the British attitude toward the Arabs.

King Hussein replaced Glubb last Thursday as commander of the British-financed Arab Legion with the Arab general who had served as Glubb's deputy.

Eden voiced "resentment" at the firing of the British commander, who had built the Arab Legion into one of the finest fighting forces in the Middle East. Eden's statement followed an emergency Cabinet meeting.

Vast Weather Factory Found In Antarctica

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today the current U. S. Anarctica expedition has discovered a vast trough of ice, thousands of square miles in extent, "in which the vilest weather in the world is spawned."

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said hurricane gusts up to 200 miles an hour have been clocked in the chute between Victoria Land and Wilkes Land. It added that the glacial ice also the Indian Ocean.

The Times, calling the expedition's geographic discovery one of the most important this season, said word of it has been brought to Washington by Dr. Paul A. Siple, geographer and deputy to Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd. Byrd is in over-all command of the expedition as part of the world research of the International Geophysical Year 1957-58.

Syrians Attack Israeli Vessel

JERUSALEM (AP)—A new Syrian-Israeli clash brought fresh fears of war to the Middle East today.

Two Israeli policemen were killed as the two sides exchanged fire on the shores of the Sea of Galilee yesterday less than 48 hours after Jordan's King Hussein fired British Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the veteran Arab Legion chief.

The enraged Israelis branded the latest Galilee incident "a wanton attack." The Syrians also captured two wounded policemen.

Western diplomats expressed open concern the Galilee clash might set off a chain reaction at a time when tensions are at their highest since the Arabs and Israelis fought in 1948.

"It's just this sort of shooting incident that can explode into a full-scale war right now," said one Western diplomat.

Western circles feared Israel might use the latest incident to launch a "preventive war" while she felt she still enjoyed military superiority.

There was also apprehension that with Arab nationalism flushed to a new high by pride over Glubb's ouster, the Arab states might decide to go into action.

Jordan's dismissal of its military head brought a flurry of activity in Middle East and Asian capitals.

Syria's Premier Said el Ghazzi flew to Cairo with his defense minister and chief of staff. With Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly they were to confer with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser on the Egyptian-Syrian defense pact.

El Ghazzi announced earlier that Syria, Egypt and Saudi Arabia — all linked in mutual defense pacts — would go to Jordan's aid should Israel attack.

Meanwhile, Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd — who visited New Delhi en route to the SEATO meeting in Karachi — repeated Britain's proposal that Israeli and Arab forces withdraw from Israel's frontier. Lloyd recommended that the U.N. Palestine truce commission be increased to patrol the demilitarized zone and prevent incidents.

Egypt earlier proposed such a pullback to provide a buffer zone along the Palestine armistice line, but Israel was cool to the idea.

Israel's Prime Minister Ben-Gurion defied Jordan to start trouble. He told members of his Mapai party at a meeting near Tel Aviv he had heard King Hussein declared "he is now ready to destroy Israel."

"Let him try," said Ben-Gurion.

In Amman, Jordan, joyful screaming crowds continued to roam the capital streets cheering Glubb's ouster.

British War Minister Antony Head arrived on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, where Britain has two paratroop battalions ready to move to Jordan to protect British citizens if trouble comes. RAF transport planes were rushed to Cyprus over the weekend to evacuate Britons from Jordan if necessary.

A four-engine British plane caught fire and exploded under mysterious circumstances yesterday after it had made a refueling stop on Cyprus. With sabotage by Cypriots seeking union with Greece a possibility, the British launched an investigatcon.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry threatened stern countermeasures unless Syria returned the two captured policemen.

The two bodies were returned last night after the Syrians had handed them over to U.N. officials. The Syrians also returned two Israeli police launches they had seized.

The Syrians said they suffered no casualties in the clash.

Israel registered a strong protest over the incident.

"This wanton attack must raise the gravest concern lest tension in the region be heightened following repeated Syrian aggression," an Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said.

The incident took place where Israeli forces attacked Syrian gunposts last Dec. 11, killing 56 Syrians. Six Israelis lost their lives in the attack, which Israel said was in retaliation for shooting at fishing boats. The U.N. Security Council sharply censured Israel for the raid.

Yesterday's clash began before dawn when an Israeli patrol boat ran aground on a beach near the Syrian border.

The Syrians said several Israeli craft neared the shore in what they labeled an attempt to land "armed Israeli forces" for spying purposes.

The Israelis contended that Syrian forces opened fire when they brought in a second boat to try to dislodge the grounded craft.

Dallas Housewife Finds Big Diamond

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. A. L. Parker of Dallas, whose hobby is working with uncut gems, found a 15½ carat diamond with an estimated value of $15,000 dollars at the nearby Crater of Diamonds yesterday.

The mine is the only diamond mine in North America.

"I didn't believe it, it was so large I didn't think it could be a diamond," said the 40-year-old Dallas housewife. But she said she knew it was a diamond when she first saw it.

By rules of the mine, she will be able to keep all but 25 per cent of the appraised valuation of the diamond. She must pay the 25 per cent to the manager of the mine.

Tourists pay $1.50 for the right to search the unworked mine for diamonds, and may keep all stones that are five carats or less.

The wife of the manager, Mrs. H. A. Millar, said she thought it was the largest surface diamond ever found in North America.

Mrs. Parker's stone is 1⅛ inches long, about ⅝ of an inch wide and about ¼ of an inch thick. Mrs. Millar said it was a blue-white diamond. She estimated its value at $15,000.

Mrs. Millar said recent heavy rains probably brought the stone to the surface. She said it was found 150 yards to the left of the tourist entrance of the 72-acre crater. Mrs. Millar said the diamond is "a perfect gem without a flaw."

Mrs. Parker is the wife of a Dallas oil producer. Her husband, Arthur, said at Dallas friends had invited his wife to make the trip. He stayed home with the two children.

"She didn't want to go on this outing, but I told her to go ahead," he said.

Parker said he and his wife buy rough gems of various types and clean, cut and polish them in a home shop.

Super-Gun Tests Missile Models, Cuts Down Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A super-gun which can test-fire a missile the size of a golf ball at 7,000 miles an hour was disclosed today.

Dr. Zaka I. Slawsky of the U.S. Naval Ordanance Laboratory at nearby White Oak, Md., said in prepared remarks the gun "finally removes much of the trial and error from missile research."

It also will cut the cost, he added, from the $10,000 to $50,000 needed to fire an actual test missile to from $200 to $2,000 for a model missile "depending on the complexity of the experiments." The missile can be test-fired and photographed in the laboratory.

The 7,000 mile-an-hour speed attained with the test gun compares with a projected 18,000 m.p.h. speed of the proposed earth satellite, which the United States hopes to launch within the next two years.

Brinkley Wins Execution Stay

AUSTIN (AP) — Lonnie Brinkley won today his ninth stay of execution since being sentenced May 3, 1955, to die in the electric chair for slaying his wife in Houston.

West Texas Cold Front Due Tuesday

By The Associated Press

A low pressure trough lay over West Texas Monday, inviting a Pacific cold front into the state.

The front was expected by Tuesday with cooler temperatures and dusty winds, but no rain.

Clouds and some fog covered the upper and middle Gulf Coast and extended upward into Central and East Texas early Monday. Fog cut visibility at Beaumont, Galveston, Corpus Christi and Houston. Brownsville was clear.

Temperatures fell early Monday to near freezing in the Panhandle, where minimums included Dalhart 34 and Amarillo 40. Corpus Christi had the high minimum, 72. Others: Lubbock 37, El Paso 54, Texarkana 59, Abilene 61; Lufkin 62; Beaumont, Galveston and Waco 63; San Antonio, San Angelo and Dallas 64; Laredo and Brownsville 68.

Sunday was generally fair and warm, with cloudiness building up along the Gulf Coast and in the extreme south. Houston and Palacios reported light rain. Maximum temperatures Sunday ranged from 89 at Laredo to 69 at Galveston.

Warmer weather prevailed over the central and southern portions of the nation today with precipitation confined mainly to the Northwest, where snow flurries were reported.

Integration Ruling Applies Also To State Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a decision that the ban on racial segregation in public schools applies also to tax-supported colleges and universities.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Greensboro, N. C. It ordered the admission of three Negroes to the University of North Carolina.

University officials appealed to the highest tribunal to reverse the District Court and to reverse its own decisions of May 17, 1954, striking down segregation of white and Negro pupils in public schools.

The Supreme Court's action today in affirming the lower court was taken without the customary hearing of arguments. The high court simply issued an order which read:

"The motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

The court noted in its order that it was acting "per curiam," meaning the full court itself was speaking rather than one of its members speaking for the court.

The three Negroes involved in the case were admitted to the university last fall. They are Leroy B. Frasier Jr., Ralph K. Frasier and John L. Brandon, all of Durham, N. C.

The lower court in ordering the Negroes admitted cited the Supreme court's holding in the 1954 school segregation cases that "in the field of public education the doctrine of separate but equal has no place."

County Salary Hikes Approved

New and higher salaries for county officials and their deputies were officially ordered by the County Commissioners Court at noon today.

A schedule of increases drawn up last week was approved by the commission. Only one slight change was made in the schedule. It was discovered that law provides the county tax assessor-collector with $20 a month for special services so her pay was changed from $420 to $480, which doesn't include the extra $20.

All other of the elective county officials will receive $500 a month instead of $460 with the exception of the county treasurer whose pay was increased from $350 to $400.

Deputies were increased according to their position in the several offices.

County Judge R. H. Weaver said the proposal was approved unanimously by the Commissioners Court. The formal notice is to be published on Tuesday.

The new pay schedules will be for the remaining 10 months of the year and will be retroactive to March 1.

Load Of Steel Smashes House

PITTSBURGH (AP)—In a few terror filled seconds a happy Sunday afternoon turned into one of horror near here when tons of steel rods from a careening truck slammed into a combination store and home and killed two of the three women in the dwelling.

The truck driver, 46-year-old Anthony Marsilli of Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt.

Killed instantly were Mrs. Helen Clark, 52, of Rd. 1, Coraopolis, and Mrs. Susan Druga, 45, of Imperial, visitors in the home.

Mrs. Francis Kaelin, 49, who lived there, suffered lacerations and shock.

State police said Marsilli told them he swerved his truck to avoid hitting an auto. The truck jack-knifed and slammed into the building. The big steel rods hurtled from the truck into the living quarters, pushing the three women out through an opposite wall into the backyard.

Vigilantes May Fight Vandals

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Police indicated today they may call on citizen "vigilantes" to help them break up gangs of roving vandals whose four-day binge of glass-smashing has caused damage estimated by one officer at half a million dollars.

Despite stepped up police activity in an effort to halt the marauding bands, at least 115 plate glass windows were shattered last night in widely separated sections of the city.

"This thing has gotten completely out of hand," said police dispatcher W. E. Stover. "It necessitates drastic action."

Assistant County Engineer Resigns

Ross Hodges, assistant county engineer, resigned from his post today. He asked that he be relieved of duties as of April 1.

The County Commissioners Court accepted the resignation and expressed regret that Hodges had made the decision to leave his post.

Hodges wrote the commissioners that he "had enjoyed his work with the county." He expressed his appreciation for the cooperation that had been accorded him.

He has been assistant county engineer for about a year, County Judge R. H. Weaver said.

Walter Parks was recently appointed as county engineer by the commissioners. He is to begin his official duties on March 7.

B-E Day Observance Set In City Schools Tuesday

Around 40 business and professional men will return to school Tuesday.

They're the citizens who were hosts to teachers last fall during Business-Education Day of American Education Week.

School officials are returning the hospitality Tuesday, which is Business-Education Day of Texas Public School Week.

Guests of the school are to gather at 9 a.m. in the high school cafeteria for coffee and explanation of the day's activities. Following the cafeteria session, they will be taken to Howard County Junior College and then the junior high school for inspections of the two schools and their operations.

The group will be returned to the cafeteria at lunch. After they see the students served, lunch will be provided for the visitors.

In the afternoon, the citizens will be taken on a tour of elementary schools. The tour is set up for an inspection of buildings and other physical facilities, but if any of the business people wish to see the grade school classes in action they will be invited to visit the classrooms.

All business and professional men who had teachers in their establishments last fall are invited to the Tuesday event. General visitation, when all citizens will be invited to inspect the schools, is scheduled for Thursday.

Negro Leader Terms Solon As A 'Stinking Albatross'

By The Associated Press

A Negro leader yesterday called Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) a "stinking albatross" around the neck of the Democratic party and another said he might quit his seat in Congress to devote more time to the fight against segregation.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington bureau director of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, threw the verbal punch at Eastland, an outspoken segregation advocate, in a Washington speech to the NAACP's Civil Rights Assembly.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) told a church rally in New York City that he may leave Congress and devote himself to a nationwide prayer movement against segregation if his March 28 Deliverance Day "extends itself successfully."

The Negro congressman wants Negroes and others to pray in support of the Negro boycott against buses in Montgomery, Ala., on that day. Powell is pastor of the 15,000-member Abyssinian Baptist Church in Harlem and chairman of the National Deliverance Day Committee.

Meanwhile, two New York newspapers reported that the University of Alabama, which recently expelled Autherine J. Lucy, will admit fully qualified Negroes if the law says it must.

SEN. EASTLAND
Demo 'albatross'

The Times and the Herald Tribune said in dispatches from Tuscaloosa, Ala., that the university will resist compulsory integration but would abide by court decisions.

"Our action in the Autherine Lucy case does not mean thereby that we are going to keep all Negroes out," the Times quoted University President Oliver C. Carmichael as saying. According to the Times, Carmichael also said "a very careful investigation" would be made of any Negro applicants.

Carmichael could not be reached for elaboration of his remarks.

In an opening speech to the three-day Civil Rights Assembly, Mitchell declared that civil rights legislation was an obligation of both major political parties. Then he lashed out at the Democrats by saying:

"If they're going to keep a stinking albatross like Sen. Eastland around their neck, they've got to kiss our votes goodby."

The Democrats, adhering to the seniority system, last week elevated Eastland to the chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee, succeeding the late Sen. Kilgore of West Virginia. The committee considers most civil rights legislation.

Miss Lucy appeared last night at the civil rights meeting. She received a noisy ovation from a crowd of about 1,800. She did not speak. The Negro student's attempt to enter the University of Alabama touched off rioting which brought her suspension. She won a court order to reinstate her but was then expelled by the university trustees who said she had made "baseless, outrageous and unfounded charges of misconduct on the part of university officials."

Three other Negroes told the assembly of their racial troubles. They were the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, one of those indicted in connection with the bus boycott in Montgomery; Gus [illegible]s of Belzoni, Miss., who said he was forced out of business, then shot and severely wounded because he insisted on registering to vote; and L. A. Blackman of Elloree, S.C., who claimed he was run out of business and was threatened by the Ku Klux Klan for asking the local school board to make a start toward classroom integration.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP and chairman of the civil rights conference, said Congress should enact some civil rights legislation to keep pace with the Supreme Court and the executive branch lest "wholesale violence" develop

Oil 'Connections' In Decision Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—A letter from Asst. Secretary of Defense T. P. Pike saying it is "unequivocably false" to imply that business connections with oil importers influenced him against a projected pipeline was made public yesterday.

The letter to Chairman Hebert (D-La) of a House Armed Services subcommittee replied to statements by the vice president of the West Coast Pipeline Co., Lowell Glasco.

The company, formed to build a 106 million dollar crude oil pipeline from West Texas to Southern California, is seeking a certificate of essentiality. This would open the way for a government loan or guarantees facilitating private financing. The committee has been holding hearings on the military importance of the proposed pipeline.

Testimony of Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that the chiefs could not find that the pipeline "is essential as a national security measure in time of peace" also was made public by the committee. Radford testified Jan. 25 that the Chiefs of Staff would "not object" to having the line and believed it "would be a good thing," but the question was one of essentiality.

Glasco wrote Hebert Jan. 28:

"While serving as assistant secretary of defense Mr. Pike owns and operates one of the largest oil well drilling companies on the West Coast and his family owns substantial interests in the Republic Supply Co. . .The major oil companies on the West Coast who have so consistently opposed any pipeline from West Texas to California are among Mr. Pike's and his family's principal customers."

Glasco referred to the Standard Oil Co. of California, which rejected a proposition to join in the pipeline project, and added: "At the very time Mr. Pike, as assistant secretary of defense, wrote the letter to the committee echoing the views of Standard of California, he was drilling one—and possibly more—wells for the Standard Oil of California.

Shivers Plans Drive For Interposition Plank

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers said today he plans a nationwide drive promoting an interposition plank for the Democratic national convention.

He said he hopes to make speeches and talk to party leaders widely, hoping to hold the purpose of such plank to broad principles of states' rights without especially pinpointing the segregation issue.

Shivers also said he did not plan to get into the governor's race actively, indicating he would only if pushed into it. Shivers said last week that he will not seek re-election for his fourth term.

Shivers said he would support "principles and theories of government rather than individuals," in the governor's race.

The governor said he had always tried to stay out of other people's political races, operating on the theory that if "they leave me alone I'll leave them alone."

"But if some candidate should try to get me mixed up in his campaign, I might have to reply," Shivers said.

The governor said once more that he would support a presidential candidate in November "who would be best for the future of the nation."

He said he hopes it would be a Democrat, but that his support would be "irrespective of party affiliation."

"A Democrat would certainly be my first choice," Shivers said.

Shivers hopes to lead the Texas delegation to the national convention at Chicago and said he did not think his views would bar him from participating. He said he hoped to carry on his fight for an interposition within the Democratic party framework.

Shivers was among the Southern governors who supported Dwight Eisenhower in 1952. Subsequently he has highly praised the Eisenhower administration. He renewed this stand today, adding only that he did not always agree with everything the President did.

This was an apparent reference to the President's veto of the Natural Gas Bill, which Shivers supported.

Shivers said he would begin his travels in behalf of the interposition plank as soon as the pressure of work in his office would permit. He does not plan to work exclusively in the South, he said.

Shivers said his hope was that interposition would result in a constitutional amendment clarifying and restating the 10th Amendment to the federal Constitution which deals with the division of the powers of government.

"We need to restate the entire position of the states in the federal Union," Shivers said. "Segregation is just one aspect of it."

The governor said the fight to restore title to the tidelands actually was interposition, and that it had succeeded. He said the term had not been used in the tidelands fight, but that it essentially meant a protest and did not constitute "rebellion or insurrection."

Shivers has urged that interposition be a topic for action in the Texas precinct conventions. He has suggested a referendum on it in the July primary.

Shivers said he would continue to work within the party for the type of presidential nominee "who best supports the views the party ought to have."

He again said he did not think that person is Adlai Stevenson.

Shivers said it seemed that Stevenson had already taken two or three positions on the question of integration.

He also said he thought integration would result in "pretty strong battle lines" being formed in the national Democratic politics, but it would not be the chief issue in Texas precinct conventions.

Explaining his understanding of the term interposition, Shivers said in essence it meant protest of some federal action by a state, or groups of states, by individuals, or groups of individuals. It is based on the right of citizens to protest and the current protest is aimed at the growth of power at the expense of the states by the central government, he said.

"Some who believe in a strong central government say if the U.S. Supreme Court hands down a decision, that is the law of the land and it should be obeyed without further question," Shivers said.

"The court has reversed itself on numerous occasions. What is wrong with an individual protesting if he disagrees with a court decision?"

Body Of Downed Jet Flier Washes Ashore

WESTHAMPTON BEACH, N. Y., (AP)—The body of Lt. John Ross, Jr., 21, of Austin, whose Sabre jet interceptor crashed into the Atlantic off eastern Long Island Saturday night, was washed ashore yesterday.

Posse Tracks Down 3 Men After Thefts

DANBURY, Wis. (AP)—A posse of 100 armed villagers and officers of five counties tracked down three men yesterday after a gun battle that followed three burglaries.

Dist. Atty. Clive Strang of Burnett County said the trio would be arraigned today after he determined the charges.

Held overnight in the county jail at Grantsburg were Eugene Morrissey, 33, and Francis Raymond Crosby, 33, of St. Paul, Minn., and Herbert Eisenzimmer, 31, Minneapolis.

One man was found hiding behind a barn three miles west of here. He was unarmed and surrendered quietly.

The other two, also unarmed, were captured after a conservation warden in a light plane spotted them trudging along railroad tracks seven miles north of Danbury.

The only one hurt in the early morning gun battle was Deputy Sheriff Con Linehan, 45, who suffered a minor shotgun wound in the arm.

The gun fight began after Gregory Johnson, 40, operator of a supermarket, got a call from a friend before 4 a.m. telling him there were men in his store.

Johnson went to the scene with a rifle and saw three men coming from a grocery near his. He waited while his wife summoned help. Meanwhile, the men raided a hardware store.

Linehan arrived as two of the strangers walked toward their auto. The gunmen opened fire, wounding Linehan. The deputy and Johnson riddled the auto as it departed. The auto stopped near the hardware for the third man and then rolled out of town.

Children All In Foster Homes

Harvey Hooser, County Attorney, said the two remaining children of a family of four declared neglected and dependent last Friday in District Court, are now in the home of a Big Spring couple.

"They spent the weekend in the home," said Hooser, "And I think everyone concerned is happy. The youngsters showed their satisfaction and the foster-parents-to-be are equally well pleased."

The two youngest children were placed in a home on Saturday. The others, 5 and 8, are now assured of a good home, the county attorney believes.

More than 50 couples in Howard County asked to adopt the children when word of their plight was publicized.

Explanation Not Convincing Enough

Two men spotted with a 1946 Ford in the rear of a drive-in restaurant Saturday night by Deputy Sheriffs Floyd Moore and Rufus Davidson, had a good explanation but somehow it didn't suit the officers.

The two men said that while the car wasn't exactly theirs, they were merely pushing it out of an alley.

"That was the trouble," said Davidson. "You see, there wasn't any alley there."

The two were placed in jail and the car impounded.

Sunday morning, C. A. Taylor, 815 W. 4th, worriedly reported to the sheriff's office that his car had been stolen sometime Sunday night.

He was relieved when told it was safe and sound in the hands of the officers.

The two men were being held Monday pending filing of charges. They are said to be "part-time" residents of Big Spring.

Slight Damage In Weekend Fires

Only slight damage resulted from three fires which brought out the fire department over the weekend.

Saturday afternoon the inside of a truck parked in the 500 block of W. 3rd was burned from a cigarette among some clothes. The interior of the truck was the only part affected.

Also Saturday a bundle of clothes burned up in a drier at the H. C. McCright residence at 305 Bell. The blaze started in the drier but only the clothes were lost.

Firemen from the 18th and Main fire station answered a call to 1406 Sycamore Sunday. A trash fire started the blaze and damage was restricted to a small portion of an adjoining fence.

Haul Furniture From Blazing Home

Neighbors braved intense heat to help save furniture from a nine-room home in Worthington, Minn., engulfed in this spectacular fire. The George Boyer family, occupants of the house, carried out most of the first floor furniture, assisted by friends. One of them, foreground, carries out an end table and an upended lamp. Loss was estimated at $12,000. The house was demolished.

'Package' Plan Offered In Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government "package" plan for settling the 141-day Westinghouse strike proposes giving the company the five-year contract it wants and the striking union its desired arbitration rights.

Both the company and the International Union of Electrical Workers had the settlement plan under active consideration today. The plan represents a compromise with concessions by both sides.

Company and union representatives arranged to meet this afternoon (2 p.m.) with the three-man Federal Mediation Service panel which proposed the settlement package, in efforts to get phases of the plan "clarified." The IUE's 75-member Westinghouse conference board was due to meet tonight to consider the plan.

Reliable sources said these are the features of the settlement proposal:

1. The company would get the five-year contract it wants, patterned after a five-year agreement reached between the IUE and General Electric last August.

2. The union would have the right to renegotiate wage rates locally after each year of the contract, with the right to strike locally in behalf of demands. This is a major proposal in the IUE's favor Westinghouse opposed any such reopenings or strike rights.

The company has a contract with another union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, specifying annual local wage reopenings, but not permitting strike rights.

3. Wage increases, from the standpoint of total cost to the company, apparently would be substantially what the company offered before the strike began, but the apportionment between types of workers has been changed.

Where Westinghouse had proposed an annual pay increase range from 4½ to 12 cents an hour, the plan apparently calls for a 5-12 cent range. This would give the lowest-paid worker a minimum of 26 cents an hour in pay increases during the five years, instead of the 23½ cent minimum proposed by Westinghouse.

4. The plan makes a major concession to the IUE on the time study issue which had been perhaps the most argued of all. Westinghouse had proposed a study of day work (nonincentive type) jobs with the idea of creating work standards to promote production efficiency and lower labor costs. The IUE objected to such a study and demanded arbitration rights.

Smith Admits Responsibilities For Surety Law

AUSTIN (AP)—Garland Smith testified today he feels enforcement of the Insurance Securities Act which took effect Sept. 6 was the responsibility of the Insurance Commission.

The commission, which Smith headed at the time, has come under sharp criticism for allowing U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. to continue its sale of certified drafts for more than three months after the Securities Act became effective.

Smith's testimony—the first he has given publicly in connection with failure of the Waco banking-insurance firm—was given as the House Investigating Committee resumed its inquiry into circumstances surrounding the company's demise.

Rep. Scott McDonald of Fort Worth asked Smith if he felt it was the commission's responsibility to see the Insurance Securities Act was complied with.

"I think so. It was our responsibility," replied Smith.

He testified the course of action leading up to receivership for U.S. Trust Dec. 15 was based on the judgment of both the commission and the attorney general. His testimony thus seemed designed to place some responsibility on Atty. Gen. Shepperd for the way the matter was handled.

The former Insurance Commission chairman insisted the commission acted as rapidly as possible against U.S. Trust.

He told the House Investigating Committee:

"Taking into consideration the question of appraisals, solvency and complicating factors . . . I do not consider the board was dilatory, taking into account the information possessed by it at that time and the grave consequences which could follow hasty, unproven charges and the attendant publicity."

Plains Cities Set Water Pact Votes

LAMESA — Voters in Lamesa and eight other West Texas cities will go to polls on March 13 to cast ballots to decide whether the individual cities will be given authority to enter into a contract with the Canadian River Municipal River Authority for water.

By a vote of almost landslide proportions, voters in the eight cities on Oct. 8 approved the formation of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority and the issuance of bonds by construction of dam and pipeline. A dam would be put across the Canadian River near Stanford, north of Borger. The pipeline would stretch as far as south as Lamesa, and it has been termed by proponents as the "lifeline of the plains."

Without exception, Borger, Plainview, Lubbock, Levelland, Brownfield, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa approved sale of bonds last autumn.

Since that time other area cities, including Canyon, Hale Center and Post have discussed the probability of taking water from the CRMWA. Engineers have estimated there will be sufficient water for everyone who wants it.

Observers predict all member cities will approve contracts on March 13.

60 Are Rescued As Vessel Sinks

SEATTLE (AP)—Its forward section wrenched off by high winds and mountainous seas, the freighter Washington Mail sank in the North Pacific minutes after the 60 crewmen and passengers had taken to lifeboats.

Within a short time, the transport Gen. H. B. Freeman, brought to the scene by the freighter's first SOS, dropped rope ladders to the bobbing lifeboats and the 60 survivors scrambled up to safety.

"All survivors aboard, uninjured and in good health," the Freeman radioed.

The dramatic account of the "almost unbelievable" rescue in the storm-swept Gulf of Alaska some 700 miles northwest of here Saturday was radioed late last night by Capt. Robert T. Fulton, Tacoma, Wash., skipper of the rescue ship.

The Freeman, with the 51 crewmen and nine passengers from the Washington Mail, was plowing through heavy seas to Kodiak, Alaska, today. The survivors will be flown to Seattle.

The Washington Mail and the Freeman sailed from here last Wednesday, both bound for the Orient, the freighter with a cargo of flour and lumber and the Freeman with troops being sent to Japan. The nine passengers on the freighter included two Roman Catholic missionaries.

In his radio message, Fulton said pounding seas snapped the forward section of the Washington Mail at 3:15 p.m. Saturday.

Thirty minutes later, the forward section plunged to the bottom, leaving the derelict at the mercy of seas and winds.

The winds carried away the radio antennas. For 33 minutes the hull wallowed helplessly. At 4:38 radio operator Perry Harrison, Seattle, got his emergency equipment in operation and sent out his SOS.

Fulton said he immediately ordered the Freeman to the northwest and radioed Capt. Dudley A. Durrant of the Washington Mail that rescue was 65 miles away.

"The Freeman increased to the best possible speed in high winds, seas and swells, winds of 45 knots and frequent snow squalls," Fulton said.

At 6:15 p.m., still two hours from the sinking freighter, Fulton established radio communication with Durrant, who reported the freighter's boiler room bulkheads were giving away and the de would not survive the night.

At 7:20 a blip appeared Freeman's radar screen minutes later the ship s ed the hulk dead ahead.

Fulton swung his ship a wide arc and ordered fuel il poured on the seas to calm th m enough for a lifeboat to survive.

The Freeman pulled 200 feet to the windward of the sinking ship and waited as the first lifeboat was lowered.

The boat hit the water, disappeared for a minute, then reappeared.

At 9:04 p.m., the second boat was launched.

As both bucked through the heavy seas toward the Freeman, someone shouted "She's gone," and the hull sank.

Five minutes after the freighter went to the bottom, the first lifeboat reached the side of the Freeman, and passengers and crewmen scurried to safety. At 9:43 the second boat pulled alongside.

OFFSHOOT

Minister Tries Psychiatry Field

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—A tall, gentle-voiced clergyman from North Dakota is spending his first Lent in an unusual new offshoot of the ministry—as a psychiatric chaplain.

The Rev. Mr. Sigurd Peterson, a native of Kenmare, N.D., in the Middle West for some 20 years, the most recent in Racine, Wis., but he said today he found his present job "the most satisfying of my life."

He serves as full-time chaplain at the Parsons State Training School for Mentally Retarded Children. He is a Lutheran.

In preparation for the task, he took a rigorous nine-month course in psychiatry at a Topeka, Kan., hospital. He is convinced religion has much common ground with that branch of medicine.

At the Parsons hospital, which does some pioneer work in the field of mental retardation, the chaplaincy is on an equal basis with other clinical services.

Nearly 500 mentally handicapped children and young people between 6 and 21 are at Parsons.

The minister's religious message is painstakingly adapted to the children's limited understanding, as well as to their individual needs.

Consequently, it is short on theology and abstract notions, long on emotion and simple faith.

"I stress God's love," he said. "The youngsters have very great emotional needs, and I find them profoundly responsive to this aspect of religion.

"One of the things religion has to say to these children is that they are significant in spite of their handicap—that they count equally in God's sight."

The chaplain conducts two services each Sunday morning, one for teen-agers and one for younger children. A priest says Mass for the Catholic youngsters.

Wednesday night there is a service in the form of hymn singing and Bible stories illustrated with slides.

The hospital's psychiatrists are pleased with the way the chaplain's religious work — which also includes a huge schedule of personal counseling — dovetails with their own therapy. This aims at resolving a child's emotional conflicts, developing his mentality as far as possible, and creating a personality adjusted to its handicap.

His work with the mentally handicapped, the minister said, "has tremendously broadened my understanding of people. If I should undertake another pastorate, I think I'd be twice as good a pastor as before."

Top Demos Split On Ike Health Topic

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver have taken conflicting positions on making President Eisenhower's health a campaign issue. And Republicans have begun talking about the kind of campaign Eisenhower should wage.

Kefauver said yesterday he doesn't plan to make an issue of the President's health. The Tennessee Democrat added that he has "never questioned anyone's physical condition or his looks."

Stevenson, one of Kefauver's rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, has said he views Eisenhower's health as a "compelling issue."

Talking to newsmen at Manchester, N.H., Kefauver said he doesn't think Stevenson is wrong in taking this position — "it's just that I'm running my own campaign."

Another Democrat, Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, said today he fears discussion of Eisenhower's health will overshadow what he called "the really important issue"—foreign policy.

"While we talk about the President's health and whether there is lasting prosperity, we may be losing Asia to the Russians," he told a newsman.

Stevenson, in a speech prepared for a farmer audience at Marshall, Minn., said today the Eisenhower administration has tried repeatedly to cripple soil conservation programs. He said Democrats in Congress will "flatly turn down such schemes."

The question of how much Eisenhower should campaign was discussed yesterday in separate television interviews by three Republicans — National Chairman Leonard Hall and Senators Knowland of California and Goldwater of Arizona.

Knowland, the Senate GOP leader, said he personally would urge Eisenhower to "get out beyond merely television broadcasts from the White House." He said Eisenhower should make a few campaign appearances in areas where Republican candidates might be in trouble.

Eisenhower has rejected any suggestion of a "barnstorming" campaign and Knowland said he wasn't recommending that type of vote seeking.

Goldwater, however, predicted Eisenhower would do some "barnstorming" because "Ike's a campaigner at heart."

Hall said he believes any presidential campaign trips would "be at a minimum"—limited perhaps to a few flying visits to major cities. He said he foresaw no cross-country train trip.

Since Eisenhower said "yes" to a second term bid, a big question among Republicans has been who his running mate will be. Eisenhower has been noncommittal.

Hall said everyone seemed concerned about this except Vice President Nixon. And he predicted, as he has before, that Nixon will be renominated.

Friends of the vice president said Nixon won't give up second place on the ticket if the choice is his. They expressed doubt he might prefer moving to a Cabinet or other high post.

In Nixon's home state, the California Republican Assembly yesterday approved a resolution which "enthusiastically endorses" re-election of both Eisenhower and Nixon. The assembly is a volunteer party organization.

An Associated Press poll of GOP governors, state chairmen and national committee members showed that 35 per cent of those responding favor renomination of Nixon. An additional 9 per cent were for Nixon if Eisenhower wants him and less than 3 per cent favored another candidate.

An electric heater keeps birds warm in their nest near Nuernberg, Germany, during Europe's coldest winter in memory.

Adenauer Union Cops Reich Vote

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — With the last state election hurdle safely cleared, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union looked ahead today with renewed confidence to the 1957 nationwide election.

The CDU turned back an opposition challenge in the rich industrial state of Baden-Wuertiemberg yesterday and won six more seats in the State Parliament.

Voters in the nation's third largest state gave the CDU 56 of the 120 seats — less than a majority but enough to assure control with coalition party support—in an election that swept the Communist party out of the Parliament. The Reds lost their four seats.

Adenauer's CDU followers rallied around him despite his recent setback in the Ruhr and opposition efforts to end the "Adenauer era." They gave his party 1,392,326 votes, 42.6 per cent of the 3,328,749 cast.

This was almost 10 per cent less than the party's Baden-Wuerttemberg margin in the 1953 general election but topped by 6.6 per cent its edge in the 1952 state election.

The CDU victory sealed Adenauer's control of the upper house of the national Parliament, which gives final approval to West Germany's foreign policy, rearmament and domestic legislation.

The Baden-Wuerttemberg parliament elects five members to the national body.

It also served notice that opposition parties, despite their concerted attacks in recent months, have failed to loosen the 80-year old Chancellor's political grip.

The left-wing Socialist Democratic party (SPD) and the right-wing Free Democrats (FDP) each lost two seats, dropping to 36 and 21 respectively. The SPD polled 942,558 votes (28.9 per cent) and the FDP 541,233 (16.6 per cent).

The Refugee party captured another seat for a total of seven. It got 204,280 or 6.2 per cent.

The Communists polled only 104,612 votes or 2.5 per cent.

The loss of Baden-Wuerttemberg would have cost Adenauer his 21-17 majority in the Bundesrat, the upper house of the national Parliament.

Repercussion From Export Plan

In announcing the administration would try to export 5 million bales of cotton this year, as contrasted to only 3.5 million bales in 1955, Secretary Benson told reporters his department had been trying to raise the ante for some time, but strong opposition had been raised by the State Department and by some White House officials who were afraid a more aggressive export program for surplus cotton might endanger relations with friendly cotton-exporting countries.

Sure enough, Egypt, which has been driving hard for several years to increase its cotton production and export while price-supported U.S. cotton was unfavorably circumstanced, immediately let out a yowl when Benson announced the new drive to increase sales of U.S. cotton abroad.

An Egyptian spokesman said the American program had made Egypt's government "most unhappy," like the Kingfish's wife and added that "We consider it a very unhappy step at this time."

Egyptian and other foreign producers may not be the only unhappy ones before we hear the last of the stepped-up export program. Futures broke as much as $3 a bale on the New York exchange and up to $2.20 at New Orleans when Benson's announcement hit the wires. Traders feared the drive for bigger exports might depress the price of new-crop cotton.

Senator Ellender (D-La) chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee which (by a margin of 8 votes to 7) is fighting the administration's flexible price support plan with a countermove to establish 90 per cent of parity, asserted Benson's plan is "part of the bait he is offering in an effort to swing the votes of Southern senators against rigid 90 per cent supports."

Whether the program is merely coincidental or deliberately designed for political effect is a matter of opinion. The fact is, however, that cotton exports declined from 5.5 million bales in the 1951-52 season to only 3.5 million last year, which accounted for at least a goodly portion of today's 12-million-bale surplus.

Judicial Interpretation Of Code

The indictment of Vern Sanford, general manager of the Texas Press Association, for alleged violation of the Texas Election Code relating to campaign contributions and expenditures is probably the first of its kind ever returned by a Texas grand jury.

Sanford was accused in one indictment of making an unlawful campaign expenditure of $41.25 for a newspaper ad on July 25, and in another of placing another ad for $35 on July 25, 1954, in a Waco paper.

The case is an outgrowth of a civil suit filed by [illegible] Johnson, an Austin businessman who was defeated in a political race two years ago, who is suing Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Sanford and the Texas Press Association for $26,300 on the ground that they conspired to evade the code. He alleges Ramsey paid or caused to be paid $12,100 for purchase of newspaper ads, which money was not reported as a campaign expenditure. Ramsey has denied any knowledge of such a transaction. Sanford, making $1,000 bond in each case, declared "I don't know what it's all about."

Johnson said he went to Waco and discussed the case with Dean Abner McCall of the Baylor Law School, who was in charge of the committee that wrote the Election Code. McCall is also foreman of the grand jury that returned the indictment.

If it does nothing else the indictment may serve to call attention to the complexities of the Election Code, which was emphasized at the time it was enacted by this and many other newspapers. Under strict interpretation almost anybody could run afoul of that law, whether he runs a newspaper, operates a radio or television station, runs a billboard concern or simply rents the side of his barn for the posting of political broadsides. Or owns a sound truck.

The Sanford indictment will serve as a test case as to the constitutionality of the code. To that extent at least it serves a good purpose, for it is doubtful if even the authors of the code understand all its ramifications and implications.

If It's Not Nixon, Then Who Is It?

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower followed the right kind of political advice when he avoided a specific commitment on who the vice-presidential nominee should be on the Republican ticket.

The exact words the President used in answering a question at his press conference have not been stressed in many of the dispatches from Washington and radio comments, but they are meaningful. Here is what he said:

"As a matter of fact, I wouldn't mention the vice presidency, in spite of my tremendous admiration for Mr. Nixon, for this reason: I believe it is traditional that the Vice President is not nominated until after a President is, a presidential candidate is, nominated; so I think that we will have to wait to see who the Republican convention nominates, and then it will be proper to give an expression on that point."

The reporters pressed their questions, and Ike answered again: "I will say nothing more about it. I have said that my admiration and my respect for Vice President Nixon is unbounded. He has been for me a loyal and dedicated associate, and a successful one. I am very fond of him, but I am going to say no more about it."

No candidate in advance of a nominating convention has ever announced publicly the man he wanted as his running mate.

The reasons are based on decades of political experience. First of all, anyone who is himself aiming to win the presidential nomination doesn't venture to antagonize any faction which has a vice-presidential candidate in mind. Secondly, to pick a man for vice president before the convention votes on the top man means a fight that any sensible political leader will regard as an unnecessary battle. In politics, the trick is to avoid doing the unnecessary and the superfluous where votes in a national convention are at stake.

The fight now to prevent the renomination of Nixon as Vice President could have ruinous effects inside the Republican party. For, while he wasn't a Taft man in the preconvention fight of 1952, he is friendly to that wing of the party. Likewise, while he didn't exactly become a champion of Senator McCarthy's cause, he did not attack him. Any abandonment of Nixon would be regarded, therefore, as a slap at both Taft and McCarthy supporters and also against those Republican organizations which, in the 1954 congressional campaign, benefitted so much from Nixon's active campaigning in more than a dozen western states. He also has built up quite a following in the so-called "Eisenhower wing" of the party.

The President has had a better chance to observe Nixon at work than anybody else. He finds Nixon able and versatile and perhaps more familiar with Ike's policies than anybody else on the Eisenhower team. He has been in on all the important conferences on governmental affairs, national and international. The President, to be sure, has been leaning on Nixon for political guidance.

If it isn't to be Nixon, then who? Several names are mentioned. Governor Herter of Massachusetts is an able man. There's a controversy, however, over his eligibility, since, though of American parentage, he was born abroad. Doubtless the Supreme Court would ultimately rule that he is eligible, but it would make quite a rhubarb for the Democrats to play with and there would be doubt raised among the voters for a long time as to who would succeed Ike in case he didn't stay on in the presidency.

Then there's George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury. He would be acceptable to business men on every side, and this also means the regular Republican organization men. But the Democrats would have a field day on the subject of Humphrey's former connections with the steel industry. They would also point to the fact that Humphrey is 65 years old now.

The name of former Governor Dewey has been mentioned, though he ran twice for President and was defeated. Inside the party the factional scars are still there. The original Taft men would not like it. Besides the New York state situation is full of old controversies that would be raked up. Mr. Dewey would make a good president but it's a question whether he wouldn't be as vulnerable so far as satisfying the Democrats as is Nixon. For Dewey, too, has said some harsh things about the Democrats—and there seems to be, at least among some writers still sympathetic at heart with the Truman cause, a feeling that the Republican vice-presidential nominee must be acceptable to the Democrats. Just why, nobody knows.

In the final analysis, Nixon, who is 43 years old—almost the same age that Theodore Roosevelt was when as Vice President he succeeded McKinley—will probably be the man the Republican leaders will come back to and, if the truth were known, Ike really wants him. That's why, though the President didn't permit a formal endorsement, he went out of his way to say he had "tremendous admiration" for the Vice President

GOP Now Dependent On One Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was President Eisenhower himself who said the Republican party is not "dependent" on one man. But it certainly is now. And he's the man.

The reason: with the exception of Vice President Nixon — and there is some talk the Republicans may ditch him as Eisenhower's running mate — the party in the past four years has not built up any potential successor to Eisenhower. The same thing happened to the Democrats in the Franklin D. Roosevelt years.

The Republicans may land on the political rocks in 1960 if Eisenhower wins this year and they do no more in the next four years to push forward presidential prospects than they did in the past four.

Eisenhower looked so much more the winner than any other Republican in sight that the party wanted him even though he starts out under a handicap — his heart attack — no other candidate would have to bear.

Eisenhower and his party can still hope his enormous popularity will carry the day. But they know uncertainty in the public mind about his health may cost them votes and make the result closer than in 1952.

They can't afford a vice presidential candidate who will lose them votes. This year, they know, voters will be thinking more than ever of the old saying: "The vice president is one heartbeat from the presidency."

For that reason the man the Republicans pick as Eisenhower's running mate this year will probably be the man they would have picked as their presidential candidate if Eisenhower wasn't running.

Whom have they to choose from? A handful of Republicans come to mind: Nixon, Sen. Knowland of California, Thomas E. Dewey, Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Eisenhower has pushed Nixon to the front since 1952. Nixon has wide support among many—but not all—Republican politicians. Eisenhower has declined to say he wants him again. Nixon's future is unclear.

Knowland seems to consider himself presidential timber. He was anxious to run if Eisenhower didn't. He can hardly claim a huge following. He already has said he doesn't want the No. 2 place on Eisenhower's ticket.

Herter has been mentioned. But he's no national figure. There might be a dispute over his nomination for the vice presidency. He was born in Paris and the Constitution says a president must be a natural-born citizen.

Dewey is a two-time loser in the presidential sweepstakes. A big section of Republicans — the Taft wing — has small use for him. If he still has the presidential bug, he's been keeping it quiet.

Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations and a long-time Eisenhower backer, didn't even win re-election in his own state of Massachusetts the last time he ran for the Senate.

Except for Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who says he doesn't want the job, no one in Eisenhower's Cabinet is being talked of much for the vice presidency.

NEW YORK (AP)—To me, Deborah Kerr is one of the most beautiful and talented beings I have seen. She is a her with a whir-r-r-r-r-r!

To meet and talk with her in person was still, after all the movie people I had met, something of a personal adventure. She stirs in me the kind of goose pimples I used to feel when I wore real pimples.

I am beyond true paralyzing stage fright, but I came out of the brightness down the steps into the considered twilight of the 21 restaurant with some awe, not out of respect for the restaurant but out of respect for the actress I was to see.

At the greeting table very close to the entrance I identified myself, said I was to see Deborah Kerr, mentioned that she would be accompanied by a Mr. Leonard Wayne of Paramount Pictures.

"Is she here?" I asked of the dark, not unhandsome attendant.

"No," he said positively.

It didn't encourage me to linger but I did.

I picked up a copy of the New Yorker, smiled at the cartoons, glanced at the short pieces looked at the signatures of the fiction pieces.

Then I started looking at my watch. Had Deborah Kerr stood me up? It was quite a distinction, but one that somehow I didn't want. She was one of the Hollywood few I really wanted to see.

The black-browed man at the door grumbled vaguely at his table. I hurriedly reached for Forbes, a magazine that has to do with business, and trusted no one but myself would realize my interest was purely temporary, and not mercenary.

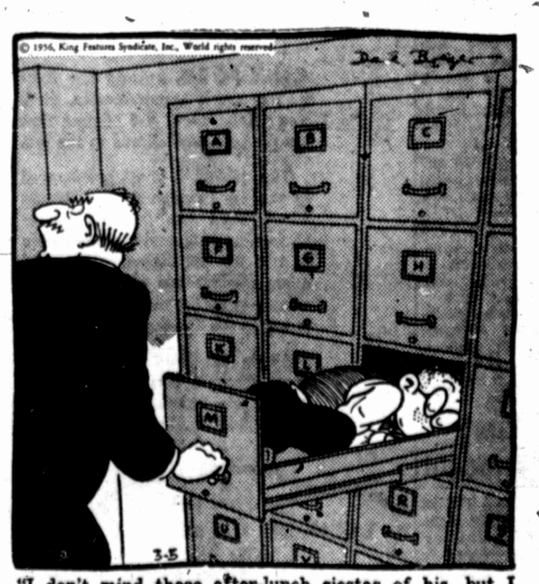

Then a tall young man, gilded in layers of renown between a birthday cake and an admiral, came up at 3:45 p.m., and said in a tone as apologetic as an usher who has seated a guest wrong in the cathedral at a Cardinal's first Mass:

"You were to see Miss Kerr?"

She had been there all along, patiently waiting for half an hour.

As I turned the corner and entered where she was, her red gold hair and friendly blue green eyes, smilingly drew me through the midafternoon gloom. As I walked toward her I couldn't but envy the black-browed guardian at the door so used to beauty that Deborah Kerr could have passed him unnoticed.

Mr. Breger

"I don't mind these after-lunch siestas of his, but I MUST insist that he be filed under 'B' . . . I"

Sweet Honeysuckle

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Thomas Elswick will always love the smell of honeysuckle.

Elswick, a railway engineer was bringing a freight to Roanoke. About 10 miles out he made some adjustments to braking equipment, then leaned out the door. Wind took his cap off. He grabbed for it. Just then the locomotive started around a curve and tossed him into a big clump of honeysuckle which broke his fall

His assistant and the fireman didn't notice he was missing until the train started into the Roanoke freight yards. Just as they slowed it down Elswick arrived hitchhiking in an automobile, suffering only from a few scratches.

Keys To Trouble

HENRYETTA, Okla. (AP) — Rose Yarmoski, superior court clerk caught in a wintry storm without transportation, decided to bundle up and walk to work.

When she arrived downtown, she discovered she didn't have her office key. She started trudging back home—only to learn she didn't have a house key either.

Manager Boosts City

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — City Manager Porter W. Homer is doing his bit to help the mushrooming city of Tucson grow. His wife gave birth to twins, bringing the number of Homer children to five.

Around The Rim

Another View On Educational Processes

Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, director of the Institute of Philisophical Research, told a California audience recently that American education is nothing but a baby-sitting project.

We have built fine schools, he said, but 90 per cent of the children in them are being taught the wrong thing, and the rest are getting inadequate training.

Adler said we could improve on our system by doing away with all vocational training, and giving every child a liberal arts education—up through a bachelor's degree.

He also recommended high school classes of ten and certainly no more than 15 pupils.

He contended that classes numbering 35 or more pupils is ridiculous. "All the teacher can do," he pointed out, "is mark papers and keep order."

Dr. Adler said our problem is that the machine age has made everyone part of the leisure class which runs society, yet our schools are not, in his words, giving the proper preparation for such responsibilities.

It was far easier in the old days, he stated. Members of the ruling aristocracy were taught the fundamental skills of learning — grammar, rhetoric and logic — and given an acquaintance with the field of learning which they cultivated in their leisure time for the rest of their lives.

In the increasing classless society of America today, Dr. Adler said every man had more time for leisure than his forebears ever had, yet has had no training in how to use it constructively.

Adler contended it is Education's responsibility to find a way to give the children the skills of learning, and enough idea of what learning is.

He said the situation would get worse before it gets better in the next half century, predicting that the machine age would cut the work week to 20 hours.

"Our citizens will have enough leisure time to destroy our society," he concluded.

"The way we solve the problems will decide whether America is to become an Athens for the millions or another Rome."

Stevenson Stays In Front With Demos

PRINCETON, N. J. — With Pesident Eisenhower's hat - in - the - ring announcement, interest now focuses on who the 1956 standard-bearer will be for the Democratic party.

If the choice of rank-and-file Democrats today were to prevail at the party's Chicago convention, it would be Adlai Stevenson.

The former Illinois governor and 1952 Democratic presidential nominee is the top favorite of 51 per cent of Democratic voters polled in the Institute's latest check of candidate popularity.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee runs second with 18 per cent and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman is third with 8 per cent.

Both Stevenson and Kefauver have shown a slight gain in popularity among Democrats since a February test. Among Independents — the "shift" voters who swing one way or the other, depending on the issues and candidates — Kefauver has gained, while Stevenson's strength has declined.

The initial test of strength for the two rivals for the Democratic nomination will come in the nation's first presidential primary election in New Hampshire on March 13. Although Mr. Stevenson insists he is not a candidate in that primary and is not campaigning there, a full slate of delegates favorable to Stevenson, and composed of some of the prominent Democrats in the state, is in the race.

Four years ago, Kefauver scored a victory over President Truman in the New Hampshire Democratic primary, polling 19,800 votes to 15,927 for Mr. Truman.

All voters classifying themselves as Democrats were handed a list of names prominently mentioned as possible Democratic nominees and asked:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for President this year?"

The list included Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Sen. Paul Douglas, Gov. Averell Harriman, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Sen. Estes Kefauver, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Sen. Richard Russell, Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Stuart Symington and Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Beebe And Railroad Car Make A Splash

WEEHAWKEN, N. J.—There is little doubt that through my long acquaintance with Lucius Beebe, former New York theatre, Broadway and night life columnist (and the only really wealthy reporter I have ever known), mine has been a richer, fuller life.

Under his educational auspices, I became intimately acquainted with guinea hen under glass, caviar, truffles and pate de fois gras cuvee '98. It was even under his sponsorship that I once became innocently involved with the most elegantly-titled international jewel thief ever to operate in New York.

Well, sir, I am happy to report that ten years in the great open spaces of Nevada, whence he fled in pursuit of the simple life after World War II with his literary partner, Charles Clegg, have not dulled the old Beebe effulgence.

Indeed, during the past ten days he has done what any New Yorker in his right mind would previously have guaranteed to be impossible: He has made the railroad yards of this simple community, on the banks of the Hudson across from midtown Manhattan, the social Mecca of the Eastern seaboard.

Not since Aaron Burr fatally wounded Alexander Hamilton here in 1804 in the most notorious duel in American history has Weehawken enjoyed such an influx of the carriage trade as has come to visit the Messrs. Beebe and Clegg in their new jointly-owned private railroad car, The Virginia City.

Through their private Pullman, the joint authors of "Mixed Train Daily," "The American West," etc., have given their awed friends a glimpse of a decor which they describe as "Renaissance Venetian Baroque," of which we might otherwise have gone to the grave in blissful ignorance.

Off hand, I would describe "Renaissance Venetian Baroque" as a union of Wedding Cake Gothic, the Taj Mahal and Technicolor with overtones of Cecil B. deMille.

Suffice it to say The Virginia City is like a giraffe in that it has to be seen to be believed.

It boasts a drawing room with fireplace, three bedrooms, a dining room of unbelievable splendors, a combination shower and Turkish bath, a remarkable galley, quarters for a chef and steward, an elaborate heating and air-conditioning system, a wine cellar and hi-fi everywhere.

Capping it all is the only "Renaissance Venetian Baroque" Great Dane is existence. Christened T. Bone, the massive dog was the sentimental Christmas gift of a Virginia City, Nev., croupier who had enjoyed the patronage of both Mr. Beebe and Mr. Clegg.

"It was the biggest thing the croupier had that wasn't nailed down," Lucius explained. "He felt we ought to have something to show for our investment. Frankly, I think we have more tied up in T. Bone than in this car."

Part of the de luxe galley equipment is a special blender used only for T. Bone's brandy milkshakes, to which he is partial. So, in passing, it is not amiss to note that T. Bone even has big, bloodshot eyes to match those of his two joint Renaissance Venetian Baroque owners.

Trapper Chains Angry, 900-Lb. Moose To Tree

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)— Nine hundred pounds of angry moose is a formidable thing. Meeting one and chaining it to a tree single-handed is another.

Hugh Scott did it.

The veteran Anchor Point trapper was headed north with his dog team atop the Anchor River ice, 100 miles southwest of here on the Kenai Peninsula, when the 2-year-old moose snorted into view.

Evidently riled by the hard crusted snow painfully cutting its legs, the moose charged the dog team, which fought back viciously. Scott, unarmed, beat at the animal with a chain. The moose retreated, charged again to be met by the slashing teeth of the huskies and Scott's flailing chain.

One dog went down after being kicked sharply in the head. Another hoof slashed a second dog across the face. Scott, desperate, made a noose of the chain and threw it over the bull's head. Cinching it tight, he then pulled the grunting animal to a tree and securely tied it.

He staked his injured but hostile dogs at a distance, then tried to untie the moose. Mr. Moose, his legs flailing wildly and his head butting, kept Scott at a distance so the baffled trapper walked to Anchor Point for help.

Four men came back with him and helped unchain the animal. Freed, it still wanted a fight and charged the men. Beaten back with the chain, it finally retreated into the woods.

The malemutes are recovering. And Scott has taken a vow:

Never to go out on his trapline again without a rifle.

"You know, that moose could have been big," he said.

If you are on a limited budget, you can still look smart by investing your clothes dollar carefully, says Jody Lawrence. She tells Lydia Lane how she does it.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

You Can Have Fashion On A Limited Budget

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Jody Lawrence was recently voted one of the ten most promising starlets of the year by the Hollywood make-up artists.

"This is a comeback for me," Jody told me one afternoon on our way to visit the veterans hospital "I was under contract once before to a studio but I asked for my release because I felt that I needed more dramatic schooling to be a success. In order to pay for my dramatic lessons, I became a waitress in a Beverly Hills tea room.

"There is no worse fate in a young actress' career," she added, "than to get your big break before you are ready for it. I suppose every actress goes through a stage of trying to pattern herself after someone she admires and I was no exception.

"I think by taking time out in my career to study and gain more experience, 'I've achieved more individuality and poise and I'm happier now because the studio is not trying to make me over. The important point in growing up is to profit by our mistakes and not repeat them," Jody observed.

We chatted about her latest Paramount picture, "The Leather Saint," and she was very enthusiastic about the wardrobe she gets to wear in it. I inquired if she had any tips to pass on for dressing on a limited budget.

"I should have," she smiled. "I went through such a phase. I don't think you can go wrong with separates, especially if you can afford only a few changes. It's better to invest in a well-cut skirt and some versatile tops than dresses which you can't change. You'll find your clothes money will stretch much farther. A good basic blouse can be dressed up differently by wearing flowers, scarves and jewelry with it alternately.

"Edith Head is the designer at our studio," Jody continued, 'and she almost always wears skirts and blouses—either suits or separates—to work. No matter how simple they are she always looks chic. In a room filled with women dressed to the hilt, she is the one you notice.

"Simplicity has a way of stealing the spotlight," the wise Miss Lawrence went on, "but the average girl should realize that this is quite different from being just plain."

As we entered the hospital grounds, Jody told me that relaxation is her tip-top beauty secret.

"I don't think any girl can truly look her best if she is tired. Burning the candle at both ends has a way of showing."

Celery Sauce Adds New Taste To Fish

A new version of tartar sauce for frozen fish sticks uses lots of celery, which adds a fine flavor and crisp texture.

The base is a homemade type mayonnaise.

CELERY TARTAR SAUCE

Ingredients:

Three-fourths teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 egg yolk, 2 tablespoons cider vinegar, 1 cup salad oil, 2 teaspoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon paprike, 2 teaspoons prepared bottled horseradish (if desired), 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 1-3 cup finely diced sweet pickles, 1 cup finely diced celery.

Method:

Put salt, pepper, dry mustard, egg yolk and 1 tablespoon vinegar in a deep bowl. Beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) just until combined. Beat in about ½ cup of the oil, ¼ teaspoon at a time. Make sure each addition of oil is combined before adding the next one. By this time mixture should be thick. Beat in remaining oil, ½ teaspoon at a time, in the same way. Beat in remaining 1 tablespoon vinegar, sugar, paprika and prepared horseradish (if used), onion, pickles and celery. Makes about 2 cups—plenty for 2 packages of fish sticks. Store any Tartar Sauce left over in covered container in refrigerator and use as soon as possible.

Antique And Hobby Show Given In Gail

In a brown and yellow print dress, made with panniers, Mrs. J. B. Anderson greeted guests at the Antique and Hobby Show in Gail Saturday. The dress had belonged to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. G. A. Milliken wore a dress of all-over embroidery, which had been her grandmother's. The show was given in connection with the Livestock Show and was sponsored by members of the Sheriff's Posse Auxiliary of Borden County. The display was in the high school.

Among the outstanding exhibits was a collection of baby dresses, which had been made from 1774 to 1790 and had been brought to this country from England in 1800. These were shown by Mrs. C. W. Orson. A dough board, hand-carved about 1880, was displayed.

Mrs. Arthur Clayton entered some Sheffield silver, a baby cup and a "hot water pot," which had been the possession of her great-grandmother. There were old churns, a camphor chest and a cook book, which gives a recipe for vinegar biscuits and potato bread.

A cradle, which has rocked three generations, was in the show through the courtesy of Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Art Nichols showed a spinning wheel brought from Kentucky 175 years ago.

Winning first place in the Oldest Division was a quilt of handwoven material. The property of Mrs. Skeet Porter, it is quilted in the drum pattern.

In the Most Interesting Division, the winner was a set of Primitive American pine chairs and a table. They belong to Mrs. Bill Long.

Proceeds from the show will go into a fund for securing a youth center for the town and surrounding area. Tea was served in the home economics room of the high school.

Hawks Try Cameron In Regional Meet

The HCJC Jayhawks get a tiger by the tail in the first round of play in the Region V Basketball Tournament at Amarillo this afternoon.

The local collegians tangle with the powerful Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Oklahoma, at 2 p.m., the first game of the eight-team tournament.

Cameron carries a 16-6 won-lost record into the meet. HCJC has won 15 and lost 12.

The Aggies boast both a height and experience advantage over the locals. The Oklahomans average 6-feet-3 in height and have a 6-10 center. Four of the Cameron starters were regulars a year ago.

Among the recent victims of the Aggies was Arkansas City JC of Kansas, former National Juco champion.

The Hawks are making their eighth trip to the Regionals. On two of those occasions they have emerged as champions and gone on to compete in the National Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas.

HCJC is one of four West Zone teams competing in the three-day tournament. The others are Frank Phillips, the conference champion; Amarillo College, and Clarendon.

Originally, two Oklahoma teams were entered but Conners, the other team, withdrew and Clarendon took its place.

Other pairings, listed with teams records and starting times:

Clarendon (10-12) vs Arlington (12-10), 4 p.m.; Frank Phillips (17-11) vs San Angelo (15-12); and Amarillo (18-5) vs Decatur (16-12).

Probable starters for the Hawks in the Cameron game are Charles Clark, Wiley Brown, Ray Crooks, Jimmy Robinson and Ertis Davis.

Semi-finals will be played Tuesday night while the championship contest is carded for Wednesday evening.

Wes Santee Case Starring Cast Of AAU Principals

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't tell the players without a program, so here's a rundown on the principals in the strangest track and field case in American history:

Wes Santee—America's No. 1 miler. Suspended for life by the Amateur Athletic Union for accepting excessive expenses after being cleared by his own district association on the same charges. A temporary injunction enabled him to run in the Knights of Columbus Columbian Mile last Saturday. His winning time was 4:13.8.

Charles P. Grimes—Santee's attorney, and off the results thus far, a mighty successful one. He obtained the injunction, then fought off an AAU appeal.

Pinky Sober—Chief of the AAU's track and field committee, who wrote the report that convicted Santee. He acts as announcer at Madison Square Garden meets and only he knows how he felt when he was forced to announce Santee as an entry in the mile.

Dan Ferris—The big man in the AAU, who usually says nothing that might get him in trouble on any side. This time he thought he was on safe ground, though, and warned meet promoters that they'd be thrown out of the AAU, if they had any truck with Santee. The co... decided otherwise and he had to back down.

Avery Brundage—Here's the key man. All-powerful in Olympic circles, athletes, coaches and governments fear him. To put it mildly, he is no admirer of Santee.

Santee's temporary injunction runs out Friday and a hearing will be held in New York State Supreme Court to determine if it should be made permanent. If it is made permanent, then the miler is an amateur in good standing no matter what the AAU says and he'll go in the Milwaukee Journal Games Saturday.

Before the Columbian Mile, Brundage thundered from his California retreat:

"If I were those amateurs, I wouldn't run against Santee."

That was enough for anyone. Most of the other big names ducked out. They ran in a "special" mile, won by Ron Delany in 4:11.4.

The rest of the K. of C. meet was buried under the Santee controversy, but there were some fine performances, namely Don Bragg's 15-15¼ pole vault and George Syndor's 6-1 60-yard dash. Bragg's effort was the highest ever in the Garden and Syndor's clocking equaled the world indoor record for the distance held by numerous runners.

Other winners were Charles Pratt of the Army in the 60-yard high hurdles (7.2), Charlie Jenkins of Villanova in the 600 (1:10.5), Horace Ashenfelter of the New York A. C. in the two-mile (9:05.3) and Frank McLaughlin of St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the 1,000 (2:14.1).

Overmire To Coach Charleston Club

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Charley Metro, manager of Detroit's Triple-A farm club, the Charleston ple-wa farm club, the jcharleston Senators, has selected Frank (Stubby) Overmire to coach the American Assn. team.

Overmire, 35, has spent most of his 15 years in baseball with the Tigers organization, as player, manager and coach. He and Metro were teammates with Beaumont of the Texas League 14 years ago.

Laredo Tigers Get Rousing Welcome On Return Home

LAREDO (AP)—Laredo gave its Tigers a rousing welcome yesterday when they came back with the Texas Schoolboy Basketball Championship. But it was no great surprise here that the Tigers had come through.

The youngsters had been preparing for a long time—about a decade. They started playing basketball at the age of seven. They kept it up through the Boys Club League and Laredo High School.

Saturday, when the Tigers beat North Dallas for the Class AAAA championship of the Texas Interscholastic Lleague at Austin, they had played together four years.

Take Andy Santos, who dazzled the fans with his ball-handling, dribbling and play-making. Andy played his first basketball at the age of seven in a Catholic parish league. He became a Boys Club League player at 11. There he played with the youngsters who were with him on the team that beat North Dallas Saturday night.

Laredoans also gave a lot of credit to Bill Batey, ... has had a habit of producing winning teams wherever he coaches. Batey, a Texas A&M graduate, first coached at Moulton High School in 1950. He had a Class B district champion. He then coached at Alice and produced a district champion in 1951. He came to Laredo in 1954 and in 1955 had a district champion. The Tigers lost to Waco in the bi-districts but this year they swept Wichita Falls aside in the drive to the state tournament.

There are seven seniors on this year's squad and they did all the playing. That means they'll be starting all over again at Laredo next winter. But they think there'll be another winner coming up.

Gross Double Winner At A&M

Bobby Jack Gross of Big Spring, despite the fact that he is troubled with a sore back, got off on the right foot in his senior year of competition as a discus and shot put specialist at Texas A & M last weekend.

In a triangular meet at College Station against the University of Texas and the University of Houston, Bobby won both events. He put the shot 52 feet 9 inches and tossed the discus 153 feet 1 inch.

He was one of the two double winners of the meet. The other was Bobby Wildon, who won both the 100 and 220 for Texas.

Texas piled up 78½ points to win the meet. Texas A & M had 55½ and Houston 22.

Bobby Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gross of 805 Gregg Street.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Kenneth Dismuke, Stanton's head football mentor, is due to find out tonight how the school board evaluates his work in his first year in the system and how he figures in the trustees' future planning

There is no reason to believe that Dismuke won't be rehired. What critics he might have certainly have not stopped to realize the magnitude of the job he faced when he assumed the reins. He certainly deserves to continue in his work of rebuilding Buffalo football fortunes.

Art Dodds had benefitted from exactly eight days of track conditioning in his entire life when he lost that close decision to Big Spring's Darrell Sanders in that triangular track and field meet here last week.

The Coahoma youngster showed fine stamina in the race, cutting lose with a closing kick just when it appeared he would have to quit. Coach Dub Behrens figures he may have something in the boy.

Though he never had any track training prior to two weeks ago, Dodds has developed a good pair of lungs blowing a horn in the school band. They stood him in good stead in his race against Sanders.

Truett Mobley, who is serving the local YMCA as program director, played basketball under Marty Karow at Texas A&M back in the late '40's.

As an Aggie, Truett got to make trips back east to play against such teams as Seton Hall, then a real cage power.

Truett says Texas basketball has come a long way since he played, that Seton Hall and other Eastern clubs the Aggies faced had teams riding the bench that could handle the likes of the Southwest Conference clubs.

Gene Carpenter, Big Spring's gift to the Texas Tech basketball team, enjoyed his finest game in his last regular season performance with the Raiders.

Carpenter counted 35 points in a winning effort against New Mexico A&M. That in addition to grabbing 22 rebounds.

Some scribes picked Tech for no better than fifth in Border Conference standings but the Raiders bruised their way to the title, thanks to consistent play by Jim Reed, DuWayne Blackshear and Carpenter.

The first ten members of the Big Spring High School basketball team were privileged to see the state playoffs in Austin last weekend, along with their coach, Johnny Johnson.

They're talking now about a junior college football bowl game, which would be staged somewhere in Texas or Oklahoma and which would be sponsored by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Such a game would determine a true national juco champion in football, although the Junior Rose Bowl insists it will go on with its promotion every year.

Floyd Wagstaff, the Tyler Coach, is on the committee to select a site for the contest.

The University of Virginia obviously is congratulating itself on joining the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It finished last football season with a 1-9 won-lost record, yet received $14,000 as its share of Orange Bowl money plus $6,000 as TV 'take.'

No, none of its games was televised by the Duke-North Carolina game was, and the Cavaliers, under league rules, cut in on the receipts.

Mayfield Wins Baton Rouge Tournament

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Shelley Mayfield, a three-stroke winner in the $2,500 Baton Rouge Open, today headed for his Los Angeles home and a visit with his new daughter.

Mayfield dropped a 22-foot putt for a birdie on the par-four 17th hole yesterday, then sank a six-footer for another birdie on the last hole to pull away from Jimmy Demaret after the two were even for 16 holes.

The blond, sun-tanned Californian, chalking up his first victory on the winter tour, finished with a 3-under-par 69 over the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course. He had a 277 total and won $2,200.

Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., had a par 72 and fell into a five-way tie for second at 280 after 72 holes. Mayfield and Demaret shared the lead at the three-quarter mark.

Deadlocked with Demaret were Doug Ford, also of Kiamesha Lake; Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; Freddie Haas, Claremont, Calif.; and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex. Each won $1,046.

Ford and Burkemo both finished with 68s. Hawkins had 70 and Haas 71.

Mayfield was asked about his plans. He replied:

"I'm going to Los Angeles. I had a new daughter two weeks ago and I want to spend some time with her."

Sluggers Slamming Ball In Major League Camps

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

This is the time of year when the pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters but you never would guess it from the reports from the major league training camps.

It's still a week before exhibition games begin but yesterday veterans and rookies alike slammed the ball to all corners of the lots in intrasquad contests. Pitchers, for the most part, took a mauling.

Rudy Regalado, who was the talk of the 1955 exhibition season and then failed to make the grade with the Cleveland Indians, led the barrage of homers.

The 25-year-old first base candidate, who hit .316 for Indianapolis before being recalled near the end of the season by the Indians, hit three home runs, including one with the bases loaded. His circuit drives accounted for eight runs as a team managed by coach Tony Cuccinella beat Red Kress' team 13-9.

Willie Mays, 1955 major league leader wtih 51 homers, was up to his old tricks in a New York Giants intrasquad game at Phoenix, Ariz. He poked one that traveled a good 400 feet over the left field wall.

The Milwaukee Braves' intrasquad game at Bradenton, Fla., produced two homers by rookies—Wes Covington and Felix Mantilla. Harmon Killebrew, Lyle Luttrell and Rudy Tanner provided the homers in the Washington Senators' workout while rookie Frank Robinson belted out a homer, double and single in Cincinnati's first intrasquad game of the season.

On the pitching side were three innings of no-hit, no-run hurling by Al Curtis of Washington.

A quick look at some of the other training camps:

Yankees completed their roster with signing of Billy Martin and Jim Konstanty for a reported $20,000 each . . . Dave Philley came to terms with the Orioles for a reported $23,000 . . . Ted Kluszewski had recovered enough from a wrenched leg muscle to work out with the Redlegs. Hank Sauer of the Cubs also returned to action. He had been sidelined Saturday with a twisted ankle.

McMahon's Plays Insurors Tonight

The championship of the 1956 YMCA Industrial Basketball League will be determined at 8 p.m. in the Junior High Gymnasium this evening, at which time the Tate, Bristow and Parks Insurance Company contingent clashes with McMahon's Concreters.

Tate, Bristow and Parks won the last half title without the loss of a game. McMahon prevailed as the first half champion and finished with an unsullied record.

Tate, Bristow and Parks — which has strengthened its lineup since the season began — will enter tonight's game as the favorite. The Insurors will again lean heavily upon such players as Richard Gilmore, Horace Rankin, Louis Stallings, Cuin Grigsby, Frank Hardesty and Bill Estes.

D. A. Miller, Charles Caraway and Donald Hale pace the McMahon attack.

Rankin was the league's leading scorer while Miller finished in the runnerup spot.

Girl volleyball teams representing the YMCA and Howard County Junior College mix in a 7 p.m. preliminary contest tonight. An All-star team, chosen by the managers of the various teams, will be announced tonight.

Ike Robb will serve as master of ceremonies of the program. Trophies will be handed out following the game by Elmer Tarbox.

Tumbling Class To Get Under Way

A tumbling class for beginners in the fifth and sixth grade brackets will start at the local YMCA at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

The class will be conducted under the supervision of Truett Mobley for an hour Tuesday and Thursday of each week through March 29.

Those entering are required only to bring only tennis shoes and shorts.

Squared Away Is Florida Favorite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nine sprinters were ready to go today in Gulfstream Park's $10,000 added Armed Handicap at 6 furlongs with Jan Burke's Squared Away an odds-on choice.

The 9-year-old gelding has won twice and placed twice in his last four starts and has finished no worse than fourth in his six winter races.

Eric Guerin, winning jockey in the New Orleans Handicap Saturday, will make up most of Squared Away's 120 pounds impost.

Hangover, winner of this race last year with the same jockey and two pounds less weight, is entered again. He will carry 113 pounds, including jockey Steve Brooks.

Aggie Baseballers Win First 2 Starts

By The Associated Press

The Texas Aggies, defending baseball champions of the Southwest Conference, got off on the right foot in the new season last week by winninr two games.

The Aggies clipped Sam Houston State 6-3 and University of Houston 7-6, showing power at the plate.

Monday SM and TCU meet at Dallas, then shift to Fort Worth Tuesday.

Baptists Place Two On Team

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Champion East Texas Baptist College placed two men on the six-man All-Big State Conference basketball team announced today.

In a poll of the conference coaches, Charles Cone, center, and Don Upshaw, guard of East Texas Baptist were selected on the first team. Cone, only a junior, was picked for the second straight year. He lacked one vote on being unanimous.

Jim Brown of Pan American was the only unanimous selection. Brown, who was the individual scoring champion, was named at forward.

Ron Bella of St. Edward's, forward, and guards Don Bice of Texas Wesleyan and Joe San Miguel of Southwestern were the others picked on the team.

Only Four Berths Remain Empty In NCAA Playoffs

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Only four berths remained empty today in the sprawling, 25-team NCAA championship basketball tournament, and two of the vacancies may be filled by tonight.

All four spots are reserved for conference champions—the Southeastern, Big, Ten, Big Seven and Ohio Valley.

The SEC is putting its entry to a vote. Alabama, already in possession of its first title since 1934, ordinarily would get the berth. But because the Tide's five regulars are four-year men and ineligible under NCAA rules, the SEC members must decide whether to send 'Bama's second team or Kentucky, which wound up second in the conference.

Iowa can collar the Big Ten title and tourney berth by getting past Indiana tonight at Iowa City.

The Big Seven could be decided tomorrow night with a Kansas State victory over Kansas.

Western Kentucky and Tennessee Tech meet in the first phase of a three-way playoff for the Ohio Valley title Wednesday. The winner then meets Morehead Ky. Thursday for the crown.

Five teams gained berths by winning conference crowns over the weekend:

N.C. State swept through the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney as Vic Molodet set a three-game playoff record by scoring 79 points clipping Wake Forest 76-64 in the final.

West Virginia repeated in the Southern, defeating Richmond 58-56 in its tourney finale on Hot Rod Hundley's layup with 43 second left.

Dartmouth won its first Ivy crown in 10 years after losing three of its first four league games. The Indians rallied and capped a nine-game winning streak by beating Brown 90-79 in double overtime.

Houston, though idle, won its first Missouri Valley title as Oklahoma A&M eliminated St. Louis 52-49.

UCLA clinched the Pacific Coast title by sweeping California in a pair 85-80 and 84-62.

The Texan went into the final round with three straight 65s, and kept the pace in the first nine. He tensed on the back nine, completing in par 36.

Three players tied for third with 277. They are Howard Johnson, Houston; Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., and Margarito Martinez, Mexican caddy champ.

Area Students At Conference

Three representatives from area schools took part in a conference last weekend at Texas Tech on education for citizenship.

They, and more than 90 others, were told that actual experience in governmental activities can be combined with school work to help students get a better and more responsible start as citizens.

Amarillo instructors told how a civics class sat as a youth traffic court in conjunction with the Amarillo corporation court. Members actually tried youth traffic cases and referred the results to the corporation court for action. Very few repeater cases have been noted.

Among those attending from this vicinity were Doyle Fenn, Gay Hill, and Olen Holland of Big Spring, and Ellmore Johnson, Stanton.

Lamesa School Vault Entered

LAMESA — Vault of the Lamesa High School was entered here during the weekend and a small amount of money taken.

School authorities, checking over contents, said most of the small funds kept in the vault had been found intact.

After gaining entrance into building, apparently through a back door, the burglar or burglars bored four holes into the vault door without success. Then a hole was battered in the double brick wall, and officers theorized a stick may have been used to trip the inside handle of the vault door.

Both the sheriff's department and the police department were working on the case.

Local Debaters Go To Finals In Fabens Tourney

Big Spring High School debaters went to the finals in the invitational debate tournament at Fabens on Saturday, losing out to the host team.

Rodney Sheppard and J. T. Baird defeated debaters from El Paso High School and Midland High School on the way to the finals. Some 15 schools participated.

Representing girl debaters from Big Spring were Nita Jones and Prissy Pond. Dennis Jones entered the extemporaneous speakers' contest.

This weekend Dell McComb, coach, will take four boy and one girl debate teams to Plainview. Besides those going to Fabens, others to make the trip will be Tom Guin, Gary Tidwell, Wesley Grigsby, Stephen Baird and Julius Glickman.

School Week Begins In Lamesa

LAMESA — Observance of Texas Public School Week gets under way at North Elementary School today in a two-hour session beginning at 7 p.m. There will be exhibits of pupil work, and teachers will be present in the rooms to answer questions of parents.

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. the Future Homemakers of America will join with the P-TA in a panel discussion on public schools. Then parents will take up their children's schedule for 10-minute periods. Afterwards there will be a social hour in the cafeteria.

All during the week, Central Elementary School will observe open house. Special displays of work are on exhibit, and the school has placed exhibits in downtown stores.

Thursday evening the Junior High School will have a band concert and a program by its a capella choir.

On that same day, seniors will operate radio station KPET, selling advertising, doing the engineering, announcing and writing copy. Thursday Lamesa Lions will have their weekly luncheon in the school cafeteria.

Valinda Lee Dupuy Rites Held Today

Funeral was to be held at 2 p.m. today in the Vincent Baptist Church for Valinda Lee Dupuy, 1½-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dupuy of Vincent.

The child died Saturday evening in a hospital in Big Spring. She was born here last Jan. 21.

Ike Health May Shunt Foreign Policy Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said today presidential campaign discussion of foreign policy may be shunted aside by public absorption with President Eisenhower's health.

Fulbright, a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, has been highly critical recently of Secretary of State Dulles.

"The really important issue today is whether we are losing out to Russia in the undeclared areas of the world," he said. "While we talk about the President's health and whether there is lasting prosperity, we may be losing Asia to the Russians.

"We Democrats are certainly going to tell the people about what we think are blunder policies but how much attention we'll get I don't know."

Dulles has urged Democrats not to involve the tense Middle Eastern situation in the presidential campaign. Eisenhower has said he thinks the broad objectives and principles of foreign policy "should be above politics."

But Eisenhower said if others want to alter the methods the administration uses in carrying out those policies "it is certainly their privilege to criticize and try to make the change." Fulbright said that is what he is doing.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), another foreign relations committeeman, said he doesn't think the Democrats will attract much attention with criticism of the administration's policies—but for a reason different from that assigned by Fulbright.

"In my judgment," he said, "the American people are convinced they will never become involved in a global war so long as President Eisenhower is in the White House. I think Secretary Dulles was right in saying that Russia's past policies have failed and the Soviets are now trying to change face."

Fulbright has called "fantastic" this evaluation of Moscow moves by Dulles. The Arkansas senator said that by taking such an optimistic view of Russian actions, Dulles was making it more difficult to obtain congressional approval of foreign economic aid.

"The Eisenhower administration has been dragging its feet in the field where there is a real chance of winning the undeclared and neutral areas of the world—in cultural and economic development," Fulbright said.

COLLEGE PREP

Schools Pushing Science, Math

(This is one of a series of articles dealing with local educational processes and services. It is presented in observance of Texas Education Week. —Ed.)

Science and math teachers in the Big Spring High School plug away at their jobs with one primary objective in mind: To give their charges a good background for additional study in college.

That's because practically all the science and mathematics students are planning to pursue those subjects in college.

That's because practically all the science courses are required for graduation from high school, but the great majority of students in the various classes are there because math and science make up their chosen field.

That is especially true in the math department, for the physical sciences and a great deal of chemistry are founded on mathematics.

A student that takes all the math he can get in Big Spring High School is pretty well equipped for further study of the subject in engineering school or some other college.

He gets his arithmetic, more or less automatically, in the elementary grades. In junior high, he takes a course in general mathematics and first-year algebra, both required subjects.

After that, his mathematical education may end, if he isn't planning to go into some related field. If he is going into the sciences, his work is just beginning.

If the student takes advantage of all the math offerings in high school, he will study second-year algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry and solid geometry by the time he graduates.

The math offerings are coordinated closely with the courses in the science department.

Ninth grade students get general science, a general survey course on about the same plane as general math. One year of science also is required for all students in high school, but after that the ones not interested in the field usually stay out of the department. That is illustrated by enrollments for the various courses.

Biology now has 220 students in Big Spring High. A large percentage of them are in the course to meet the state requirement for graduation.

In contrast to the relatively heavy biology enrollment is the roll of 65 in chemistry and 30 in physics courses. These are the students with a special interest in science, and who are pursuing the study at their own choice.

The science studies are conducted in the laboratory as well as the classroom. Usually, one or two class periods per week are devoted to laboratory work, with the remainder of the time spent in classroom study.

The students make "field trips" to laboratories at the Cosden refinery and Cabot carbon black plant, and visit other industrial operations where science may be seen at work. They also view a large number of technical films made available by various industrial interests. Another phase of the training consists of talks and demonstrations by engineers and chemists engaged in local industry.

Additional training available for the student who wishes to follow a scientific or engineering career includes a course in mechanical drawing, an impromptu and non-credit course in use of the slide-rule, and a general course in aeronautics.

Instructors in the science department are Robert Dyer, physics, chemistry and aeronautics; and R. M. Williams and Frankie Boyd, biology.

Math teachers are Glenn Guthrie, Donald Green, L. B. Brackeen, Tommy Ann Hill and Roy Baird.

Rhee Renamed By Koreans

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — President Syngman Rhee's Liberal party renominated him for a third term today. The 80-year-old President replied that he did not want to run, but observers took it as a political gesture rather than an outright refusal.

Rhee cited his age and said he wants to retire.

Eight hundred Liberal delegates named Lee Ki Pong, chairman of the National Assembly, for vice president. Elections must be held by July 15.

A move to draft Rhee, both by the public and his Liberal party members, was expected to form soon.

Chief interest in the election will center on the vice presidential race, which is run separately from that for the presidency. Because of Rhee's age, the winner will be viewed as his likely successor.

Pilots Walk Away From Crash Scene

TOKYO (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C47 cargo plane crashed into the side of famed Mt. Fuji today—and its two pilots walked away uninjured. Twenty-foot-deep snow apparently cushioned the crash.

The Air Force said the pilots were Maj. John Allen Fowle, Lake Worth, Fla., and Capt. Earl Preston Kelley, Clear Spring, Md. There were no others aboard.

Life Term In Daughter's Death

HEREFORD, Tex. (AP)—A jury convicted Harold Roberts of Dumas yesterday of kicking his 17-month-old daughter to death while drunk and sentenced him to life in prison.

The jury received the case late Saturday.

Roberts heard the verdict with no apparent emotion. His seven sisters wept loudly.

In an earlier trial, Roberts was sentenced to death for the Aug. 21, 1954, slaying of the child, Lena Marie. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the verdict.

Roberts denied the charge. He and his wife both accused each other of abusing the child the night she died. They said they had been drinking heavily. He testified she beat the child with a belt. She testified her husband kicked the child with his boot, as the state contended.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.
