MILLER FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

JURY FAILS TO MAKE DECISION FOR DAUGHERTY

CASE AGAINST ONE TIME CABINET MEMBER IS NOLLE PROSSED

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—The jury in the Daugherty-Miller trial today found Miller guilty of conspiracy, but disagreed on a verdict for former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. Daugherty and Miller were charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of their honest and unbiased services in allowing claims for $7,000,000 proceeds of the sale of impounded American Metal company shares.

The jury was out 76 hours.

Daugherty Is Excused

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner, after the verdict on Miller and the disagreement on Daugherty, asked Judge Knox to nolle prosequi the indictment against Daugherty.

The court complied. Maximum sentence in Miller's case is two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Avery N. Sapiro, Miller's counsel said appeal would be taken.

Hall for Miller was continued pending appeal. It was set at $5,000; date of sentence will be arranged by counsel and Judge Knox.

Big Sum Involved

Daugherty and Miller were charged with having received $7,000,000 worth of property seized under the trading with the enemy act after having been given according to the government, hypodermic injections of graft by John T. King, late national republican committee man from Connecticut.

The property was the proceeds of 45 percent of the stock of the American Metals company owned by two German companies controlled by the Meyer family of Metal Magnates.

BACKERS OFFER TO POST CHECK TO ASSURE GAS

Spontaneous Combustion Causes Fire In Wilson Building Drug Store Today

WILL PUT UP $5,000 TO PROVE GOOD FAITH, McMAHAN SAYS

A. J. McMahon and associates, backers of a proposal by which the plains territory south of Amarillo is to be supplied with natural gas from the Panhandle field, who were scheduled to appear personally before the city commission of Lubbock this week to give assurance that they are ready to go on with the outlined plans, will not be here until next week, but are willing to post a certified check in the amount of $5,000 to give assurance that they are in earnest, according to information received Friday by Mayor Pink L. Parrish from Mr. McMahon.

The check will guarantee to the city of Lubbock and other towns that actual construction operations will be started within sixty days, and that within ninety days at least a mile of pipe line will be laid in each of several counties named, including Lubbock county. The telegraphic information carrying the proposal of the $5,000 guarantee, said that the party is prohibited from coming to Lubbock this week due to the inability of some of the leaders in project to leave their business. The message said, however, that the party will arrive here next week.

Parrish Makes Comment

LAIID PLANS OF PARTY LEADERS ARE DISRUPTED

CURTAIN ROLLS DOWN ON WARRING SOLONS WHO RIDE FILIBUSTER

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—Another session of congress passed into history to the accompaniment of a senate storm that swept to limbo some of the best laid plans of party leaders.

Chief among the administration bills to fall of passage was the $25,000,000 deficiency measure, carrying important money allotments for the army, for veterans loans and seed loans to farmers, and for pension increases.

Also assigned to the waste basket were the alien property bill, the postal rate revision bill, and the $19,000,000 appropriation to pay for the first year's work on the new public building program.

Reed Is Defeated

But the failure of these projects was not without its saving feature for administration senators. The favorites dragged down to defeat with them, the proposal which had tied senate procedure in a knot in the closing hours of the session—the resolution of Reed of Missouri to extend the life of his campaign fund independent.

Blocked by a filibuster, the Reed resolution virtually had paralyzed the senate for three days, and as the adjournment hour of noon approached, almost frantic efforts to get the proposal aside long enough for passage of the deficiency bill and other pressing measures followed one another in rapid succession. As one after another talked senators worked themselves into a mood that betrayed itself in angry gatherings on the floor. Several times Vice President Dawes called upon the sergeant-at-arms to restore order.

Lines Are Relaxed

The battling factions did relax their lines momentarily however, to permit action on several uncontented measures. The proposals thus given approval included the Longshoremen's

Fire believed to have originated from spontaneous combustion in a tin can of gas that had been used in varnish work caused considerable damage to the stock and fixtures of the Corner Drug store in the Wilson building at 13th and Avenue H, Friday morning about 4 o'clock, the damage being caused mostly from smoke and water, but in the opinion of local people, a few of whom have expressed an opinion, the inconvenience and disturbance caused by the long blowing of the large siren atop the fire station, was more than the occasion warranted.

The damage to the building and fixtures was slight from actual effects of the flames, but a heavy smoke billowed from the store, and due to this, firemen were unable for a few minutes to locate the fire, which it later was found, was in a waste basket in the rear corner of the store. Considerable water was pumped into the building, and flames were confined entirely to the store, which occupies only a small corner of the building.

Several protests were received at the fire station this morning in connection with the long blowing of the large siren, the time of its blowing being fixed by various ones at from 15 minutes to more than an hour.

W. E. Twitty, fire chief, explained that he is powerless to act on the protests, referring protestants to the City Commission, which he says, has issued written instructions to him that the siren must be blown each time the trucks leave the station. "In certain instances under these instructions, it is possible for us to control the length of time the siren blows, but at other times we cannot control it, for we have only seven paid men, including myself, and in certain configurations, we need every available man at the scene of the fire," Mr. Twitty said.

He offered the suggestion that the instructions be modified to provide that the siren be used only in emergency cases, when more volunteer men are needed, stating that this is the most efficient manner in which the situation can be handled. If the siren is used in every instance, there is no way to call in additional volunteer men without resorting to the telephone with much loss of time. Mr. Twitty said, continuing that only in cases of large fires are many volunteers needed.

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—A traffic policeman who plunged into a five-story burning tenement to rescue screaming children, died a victim to the flames in a Spring street building today beside the body of an aged man he had attempted to drag to safety.

The policeman rushed up the flaming staircase and helped several tenants to fire escapes, before the firemen arrived.

The blue coat, identified by his partly molten badge as Harry J. Farrell, was found near the foot of the stairway leading to the roof.

Two Cent Gas Tax Reported Favorably

AUSTIN, Mar. 4.—Recommendations for a two cent gas tax were reported favorably to the senate today by the committee on state affairs. The committee recommended that the house tax bill and registration bill pass, with amendments designed to give the smaller counties more money than they are now receiving and the highway commission enough money to take care of maintenance work and approximately $2,000,000 worth of construction.

The amendments would cut the three cent tax in the house bill to two cents and would give the counties all of the horsepower registration fee which they now receive, and thirty per cent of the weight tax, with the provision, however, that no county would receive more than $50,000 a year. The weight tax provision would not be effective until next year so that the highway commission would receive that fee for this year.

The Philosophy Of A Poet's Pet

Once "Inspirer" of G. B. Shaw's "Trampled Soul," Mrs. Pat Campbell Finds That Flaming Youth and Smouldering Age All End In Dull Sobriety

Mrs. Patrick Campbell

By VIRGINIA SWAIN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—All things end in respectability. Flaming youth and smouldering age die out in the ashes of dull sobriety—doing the usual thing, playing the conventional part. Middle age may go out looking for romance, but it comes back to the domestic roof-tree before bedtime, glad to be dull and proper once more.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, once the darling of London and the adored goddess of the world's greatest playwright, George Bernard Shaw, returns to America, safe, sane and 62, bringing good advice for the middle-aged.

Bitter Drops of Wisdom
Out of a career of bright lights, triumphs and admiration, she has distilled a few bitter drops of wisdom—that life is hardly worth the candle, that glamour and popularity are small recompense for the quiet joys of an obscure life.

Here is a story of vicissitudes, of dazzling brilliance and stark tragedy. From the moment she first swept London off its feet by her tempestuous playing in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" in 1893, Stella Campbell never knew a static moment until the last year or two.

During the middle nineties, Londoners actually rushed back from the continent to attend her openings. Not to have seen the Campbell in her newest play was to admit no interest in things intellectual and things fashionable.

Prime ministers and poets danced attendance in her dressing room. Mayfair's smartest hostesses vied for her friendship.

Tragedy Dims Success
And then, at the height of success, she was bereft. Her dashing young husband, Patrick Campbell, was killed in the Boer war.

With her little daughter and son, Mrs. Campbell retired for a time. But the need for money brought her back. "I was always hard pressed," she says. "There was never a time when I could let my personal feelings of joy or weep rule my actions."

It was financial agency that brought her to New York in "Sunderman's" "Magda" in 1902. She hated the noise and unconventionality of the city, hated the interviews, the subway, the lack of privacy. But here she stayed until she could take back a satisfactory amount of American money.

She played in the Ben Greet company, and with Berthold Tree and Forbes-Robertson. She was one of the few women whom Sarah Bernhardt admitted to association with herself. Mrs. Campbell's "Melisande" played opposite the Bernhardt's "Pelléas," showed her no mean rival of that doughty veteran.

But possibly the greatest feather in her cap of fame was that placed there by George Bernard Shaw, who paid tribute to her in the most spectacular fashion.

"O brave, high-souled lady, you are the cleanser and inspirer of my trampled spirit," he wrote to her.

"Beware Lying Irishman"
And again, "Beware of that lying Irishman," he said, speaking of himself. "He will dip his fountain pen in your hearty blood, and sell your most sacred emotions on the street."

The words might have touched Stella Campbell. But it was not Shaw who sold her emotions. She, rather, sold his. Years later she published his letters in her autobiography. His only comment was, "You wanted to show the world that you had nailed the scalp of a superman to your wigwam, wretch that I loved!"

The biography could well be written. But Mrs. Campbell has never given up the stage. Years after the death of Patrick Campbell, she married George Cornwallis-West, on the day after his wife's divorce decree became absolute. Then, the public thought, she would retire.

Comes to Broadway at 62
But now, at 62, she comes to Broadway after several years of knocking about the English provinces.

The last generation remembers her as the "Trampled Soul" opposite of Shaw's "Melisande," which he wrote for her. Today, a younger Eliza, Lynn Fontanne, is queening at the Guild theater. A few blocks down Broadway the divine Stella of Shaw's youth is doing her best in a humorless comedy of an aging matron still struggling for romance.

The matron falls in the struggle, and goes tamely to sleep.
"And that's the way of life," says Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

YOUNGSTERS BEGIN TO LOOM UP AS CONTENDERS FOR BIG LEAGUE BERTHS; PLAY GAMES

WILCY MOORE, YOUNG GIANT HURLER, LOOKS LIKE REJUVENATION OF JOHN SCOTT; LEFTY GROVE HURLS NO-HIT, NO-RUN THREE INNINGS

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson, pilot of the Brooklyn Robins, was quite quiet Friday at the training camp in Clearwater, Fla., not over his team, which is rounding into splendid shape, but over a baseball rannned into his stomach at express train speed from the bat of one of his athletes.

A mighty foul, glancing from Jim Petty's bat, went squarely into Robinson's generous vest.

Wiley Moore, a big right-hand pitcher from Oklahoma, is impressing the athletes working out at the New York Yankees camp at St. Petersburg. He looks like Jack Scott, former Giant hurler and pitcher like him.

Terry Arrives At Camp
Arrival of Bill Terry to complete a first string infield, and possible acquisition of Jack Cummings, promising catcher, were the main items at the New York Giants park at Sarasota. Cummings split his throwing hand in drill.

The Philadelphia Athletics are rapidly rounding into form at their training quarters in Fort Myers, Fla. They played their first inning game Thursday.

Lefty Grove, in the three innings he has on the mound, held the opposing team, headed by Eddie Collins, hitting and gave only one base on balls. He pitched a no-hit, no-run game.

Phillies Work Is Light
At the Phillies' camp at Bradenton, Fla., fielders have not yet arrived and workouts have been light. The batting men are coming along satisfactorily.

The Boston Braves have an auspicious start in training. There were two homers in the first practice game at St. Petersburg, by Hogan and Gaudreau.

In New Orleans the unexpectedly early arrival of ten more players surprised Bill Carrigan, the Boston Red Sox manager. McFadden stepped up well in pitching practice, as did Jack Young, young six footer.

With the Chicago Cubs' $50,000 minimum salary, Edwood English, pitcher at last and on the way to camp, manager Joe McCarthy has heard about the new salary, a left handed pitcher, is also about to join.

Brown Looks Good
Brown, a new right hander, has caught the eye of manager Schalk at the Cleveland camp of the Chicago White Sox. He has a pitching movement that reminds of the great pitcher Ed Walsh, who the great pitcher was in his prime. Brown seems destined for a berth.

Manager Bob O'Farrell believes the same harmony that helped carry the St. Louis Cardinals into the world championship last year, is part of the Cardinals' equipment this year. Frankie Frisch, Paulich Snyder, and Jimmy Ring, the three former members of the Giants, are said to be hustling every minute for O'Farrell. The entire Avon Park, Fla., camp is said to be marked with a spirit of harmony.

LIBERTY BADGERS WIN TOURNEY

The Liberty Badgers' rural school, which has emerged winners in first place in rural competition, and now are ready to go on into competition against class A schools, C. L. Hale, principal of the school and coach of the team has advised the Daily Journal.

The Badgers won the Slaton tournament February 25, beating Pleasant Valley, of Garza county, Beeton and Canyon of Lubbock county, and on Saturday following beat Southland 14 to 13 in a fast game. In the finals Saturday night, the Badgers routed the Malow Wildcats 23 to 21 in one of the fastest games of the season. The team is composed of the following: Paul, Walker and Emery, forwards; Allen, center; Presley, Nelson and Shannon, guards.

But I'm not a flyweight—I'm a bantam," cries the lad who won fame overnight by being accommodating. "I'm out to win that title, and don't intend to be denied."

Certainly his showing against the clever La Barba makes him a logical contender.

Rickard Plans To Buy Giants, Said

NEW YORK, Mar. 4 (AP)—The New York Times says Tex Rickard, fight promoter who has announced plans for erecting a $3,000,000 sport arena in Philadelphia, also contemplates buying control of the New York Giants. Negotiations for an outright purchase of the Yankees has fallen through, but $2,000,000 has been offered by Rickard for 51 per cent of the Giants' stock and the deal still is pending.

Sports arenas in Detroit and Pittsburgh, similar to Madison Square Garden also are contemplated.

Americans Favored In Billiards Play

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4 (AP)—American billiard players loom as favorites over stars of four foreign countries in the 182 ball line billiard world championship tournament as a result of the first round matches.

The three Americans, Willie Hoppe of New York, present champion, Jake Schaefer of Chicago, a former title holder, and Welker Cochran of California, have come through their premier contest with victories.

While two foreign stars, Edward Hermans of Belgium, and Erich Hagenbacher of Germany, also have won one game each, the hopes of two other foreigners, Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan, and Felix Grand of France, have suffered bad blows, Matsuyama having lost three matches and Grand two.

The diminutive Japanese star today faces Hermans in an attempt to break his string of defeats, while Hoppe will clash with the French champion tonight.

Yesterday's play, the third day of the tournament, produced its most exciting contests—a two-point victory of Hagenbacher over Matsuyama being the feature clash, while Schaefer in his 406 to 287 victory over Grand displayed speedy and daring shots.

ACCIDENT ENDS BOUT WITH K.O. FOR BOSTONIAN

BLOOD FLOWS AS HUSKY BATTLERS SWAP HARD PUNCHES

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—Two rugged Boston heavyweights, Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney, today stood head and shoulders above all aspirants for the championship of Gene Tunney.

As a step toward the final round of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament, in the most dramatic encounter of the series last night, Sharkey scored a technical knockout over the veteran Irishman, Mike McTigue, in the twelfth round of a 15 round match at Madison Square Garden.

Maloney won his spurs two weeks ago by outpointing Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, in 10 rounds in the same arena.

Thrills Plentiful
More thrills and gore sprinkled Sharkey's victory last night than have been packed into all the previous battles of the journey. It was the struggle of another good little warrior—another Delaney—against a rugged battering good big man—another Maloney.

In defeat McTigue was a stirring figure as ever he has been since a sensational knockout campaign that numbered Paul Berlenbach among his victims and brought him to the greatest opportunity of his career almost at the sunset of his fighting days.

But McTigue, 35 years old, was waved to his corner, a brave but battered figure, after 2 minutes and 9 seconds of fighting in the 12th round. Blood gushed from his mouth where just a moment earlier Sharkey's glancing right hand, smashed a tooth and broken a blood vessel inside his cheek.

Sharkey Too Strong
The 170 pound Irishman was hammered and cuffed by the young American of Lithuanian ancestry through the final stages before the accident ended the struggle. Sharkey, 25, was too young, too strong, for the foxy McTigue.

Early in the battle crafty Michael made his bid for a knockout, a daring, smashing sally that dazed Sharkey despite the Boston tar's 19 pound weight advantage. The 14,000 fans in the Garden roared encouragement, as McTigue poured in a furious attack that cut Sharkey's left eye and split his lip.

In the third frame Mike put his all into a crushing right hand smash to the chin. It was the punch of a rejuvenated hand, the blow that piled up five straight knockouts, Sharkey took it, blinked, and as blood seeped from his lips, smashed forward with both fists flying.

This was the high water mark of Mike's struggle. Thereafter Mike resorted to guerrilla warfare as Sharkey, recognizing his early confidence, swept him about the ring.

McTigue Is Groggy
Mike was groggy in the tenth and eleventh rounds and his left eye was cut. He claimed a foul in the 11th that was not allowed inside his left eye.

When the fight was stopped Sharkey was as gory as McTigue. Mike was reluctant to give up the battle.

Sharkey, eye closed and lips battered, could think after the fight only of his fellow townsmen and the battle that will decide Tunney's challenger. "Give me Jimmy Maloney," he said in his dressing room. "Give me Maloney and I'll knock him out."

Mrs. Beatrice Torrens of Taunton, England, was arrested on a charge of kidnapping her 12-year-old niece.

Jim Dolls Up

JIM MALONEY

Here's Jim Maloney, winner from Jack Delaney recently, as he looked after spending part of his end of the gate for some new togs. The Bostonian got $35,000 for his fighting. Looks real nifty, eh? His next fight will be against the winner of the Sharkey-McTigue battle, all of which is a part of Tex Rickard's elimination contest to determine Gene Tunney's next opponent.

Blood Poison Causes Death's Victory Over Doughty Boxer Friday

(By The Associated Press) MINNEAPOLIS, Mar. 4.—Jimmy Delaney, 26, St. Paul light heavyweight boxer, died here early today from blood poisoning resulting from an injured arm sustained in a fight with Maxie Rosenbloom, at Cincinnati, February 11.

Delaney splintered a bone in his left elbow but failed to realize the extent of the injury until after he had fought Benny Ross at Buffalo ten days later. Infection developed and two operations and blood transfusions failed to check it.

MANAGERS FADE AFTER WINNING WORLD'S CROWN

THEIR IS BUT MOMENT OF FAME AFTER THE WAVE OF VICTORY

NEW YORK, Mar. 4 (AP)—What becomes of the managers of world's championship baseball clubs?

The question might be asked by the fans who have seen the leaders of the last two title holding clubs, Bill McKeechie of the Pirates and Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, pass to other folds so shortly after traveling the royal road to fame.

Sometimes a fork in the road leads over a hill but it isn't always toward the poor house.

Hornsby for instance has a $40,000 contract with the New York Giants for two years. McKeechie is well birthed as a coach with the world's champions Cardinals, probably happier at least than when trying to keep the gunwales of the Pirate craft clear.

But it's worthy of note that only four of the sixteen managers who piloted the world's championship clubs since 1905 have kept their jobs. A fifth, Bill Carrigan, who retired after leading the Red Sox to triumphs in 1915 and 1916, has come back to try his luck at the same helm.

John McGraw, who won the first world's series under modern rules in 1905, is very much in the 1927 peonant hunt. So is his American League rival of those days, Connie Mack. Each has three world's championships to his credit. But of the rest, only Miller Huggins, who put the Yankees at the top in 1923 and Bucky Harris, whose youthful courage lifted the Senators to the peak in 1924, both at McGraw's expense, remain to represent the acme of baseball leadership.

The others? Six remain connected with baseball in some capacity, three have retired from the game's frontline altogether and two, Frank Chance and Pat Moran, have died.

Fleider Jones of the 1906 Chicago White Sox is only a memory to present-day fans. Jake Stahl, leader of the 1912 Red Sox, passed out of the picture shortly after his triumph of that year. Fred Clarke of the 1909 Pirates has gone back to his Kansas farm again after a brief but somewhat hectic comeback.

George Stallings, the "miracle man" of the Boston Braves in 1914, is with the Rochester Internationals. Clarence Rowland of the 1917 White Sox is back at umpiring on the American League staff. Ed Barrow, another Red Sox pilot of 1918 vintage, is major domo of the Yankees' business staff.

Tris Speaker, who gave Cleveland its only big baseball triumph in 1920, still wears a Washington uniform this season. These—Stahl, McKeechie, and Hornsby, complete the list of those still on diamond duty.

CREDIT RECORD
WHAT IT TELLS About You!
How do you stand in the world of business—is your credit record all that it ought to be? Whatever its status, you alone are responsible.
Every one intends to pay his bills promptly. Most people carry out the intention. Some, however, "put off" and become slow pay... some experience temporary financial difficulty and frankly talk it over with the merchant who extended credit, promising payment.
The fact that you "promise to pay" is sufficient assurance to your merchant that you at least want to pay your bills when they become due. There is a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that your credit standing rates high. When your bills are paid, your mind is at rest... you can look the world in the eye and smile all the while.
If you're in arrears, catch up as soon as you can... and from then on pay up promptly.
THIS IS: NATIONAL "Pay Your Bills Promptly" WEEK
February 28 to March 5, 1927.

POPCORN SAMPLES WANTED BY C. C.

The local chamber of commerce wants samples of pop corn grown in this section.

Officials are in receipt of a letter from the Cracker Jack company of Chicago asking to be furnished with four or five pound samples of the various kinds of pop corn in this section, and indicating that if the samples are of the kind of corn that they want that perhaps they would consider contracting a considerable quantity for this year's harvest.

Officials of the chamber of commerce ask that any one having such samples and interested in having them tested, to please bring them to the office of the organization in the city hall.

TRY THIS FOOD OF MANY FLAVORS

In one respect rice stands almost alone. It is one of the few foods that readily absorb the flavor of that with which they are cooked.

Cornstarch is sifted until every grain is uniform in size. It cooks to a heap of light, white, fluffy flakes. There are no broken particles or small kernels to cook first and become sticky.

Whipped by powerful fans and packed by machinery into dustproof cartons, Comet Rice is as clean as coffee or any other product which the housewife cooks without a thought of washing.

There are scores of ways in which you can use Comet Rice. It is delicious with meats, vegetables or sweets, and it takes their flavor. Several select recipes have been assembled in a new booklet. Send for your copy today. A two-cent stamp sent to Comet Rice, 57 Laight St., Dept. 221D New York, will bring it to you immediately.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

ON an impulse, born of unreasoning excitement, and aroused by the mystery of old Phil, the crippled beggar, Faith hurried to Stephen Churchill's office...

"I'm sorry, Miss Lane, but Mr. Churchill is frightfully busy," the lawyer's secretary told Faith crisply. "I'm afraid he can't see you at all today."

Two other lawyers—less legal lights, who were assisting Churchill—rose when Faith entered the private office but Churchill curtly remained seated...

"My dear Miss Lane," he barked, behind the inevitable cloud of cigar smoke. "I've told you repeatedly that my hands are full and running over with a mass of detail work..."

Faith's mouth quivered as she answered, but she resolutely kept her eyes on her victim. "I'm sorry to bother you, Mr. Churchill, but Mr. Hathaway and I have stumbled upon something which we believe is of vital importance."

Then she told her story, haltingly at first, finally with a rush of eager words. When she had finished reciting the meager facts, she summed up: "I have a theory that the old man had been nursing a fancied grievance against Mr. Chum for months, and that when his mind gave way he plotted the murder..."

"Get other and more important things to do than to pry into the private affairs of a harmless old beggar," Churchill snapped.

"I'm not going to give up," Faith cried in anger and disappointment.

"King's Touch" Was Cure—If One's Imagination Was Willing

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and Medical Record, the Health Magazine...

Modern evangelistic healers of all types still continue to urge their power to accomplish marvelous results in this manner, and no doubt in some instances, when the condition concerning is entirely in the mind of the patient...

At the time of the great plague which devastated Europe from 1400 to 1600, the kings were especially busy in the practice of this performance.

A recent investigation of the historical aspects of the question dates the practice of the king's touch in France from the period of Phillip I (1060-1108). It is possible that Henry I of England started the practice in that country, but it is certain that Henry II used it.

A disease known sometimes as scrofula, later as the king's evil, was supposed to be especially susceptible to relief by this method. Apparently in many instances the condition was merely a dietary disturbance associated with poverty, but in later times the systemic effects of more serious disorders were also brought to the king's attention.

It is not surprising that under such circumstances many of the sick preferred to test the virtues of the king's touch.

As A Woman Sees It

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

HOW A PAIR OF GODS GOT THEIR FEET OF CLAY "IMPERIUS Caesar dead and turned to clay might stop a hole to keep the wind away!" said Shakespeare.

But the great need not die to be of the earth earthy. One of the world's greatest singers while on tour was invited to be the guest of a family of comfortable means but who lived unpretentiously.

The hotels in the town were poor, so the lady accepted the invitation with alacrity. Enconced in her room she sent her maid to announce that she preferred to have her meals alone, and would they kindly send up her tray at ten, two and seven, and by the way would they please have English hot-house grapes for her breakfast as it was the only fruit she enjoyed.

It was a mid-western town and a thousand miles removed from "Hicks" (who can produce for you baby blue tamarinds or checkered kumquats on five minutes' notice).

No, it was the time of year when any grapes are hard to find and Madame got nothing but the plain garden variety, with the result that at the end of the second performance she boarded a train for New York without so much as a thank you to her hostess. This story I am telling is true.

A country boy grew up to be a great man. He had resented chopping the heads off chickens for the preacher on Sunday. He would mutter darkly as he dragged the axe to the chopping block. "When I'm a man I won't visit poor folks who make their little boys' hair all week and then on Sunday just leave them the dark meat."

He was smart and clever and by the time he was forty he had completely forgotten that he had ever chopped off chickens' heads for the preacher. For years everybody had been chopping off heads for him.

A society of students asked him to come and lecture for them, offering to pay his expenses. He came on an "extra fare" train and stayed at the most expensive hotel—a day longer than was necessary. On his hotel bill when he left were the following items: meals and room, forty-three dollars; valet service, six dollars; laundry, three dollars; three long distance telephone calls, nine dollars. And that wasn't the half of it. There was a five dollar box of cigars.

Gods with feet of clay!

Obey The Rules YOUNG WIFE (with cookery book in hand): Good gracious, dear, that pie is burning, and I can't take it out for ten minutes yet.—Buen Humor, Madrid.

"My razor doesn't cut at all."

"Come, come!" replied the wife. "Your beard is no tougher than the tinorium I cut yesterday."—Christian Science Monitor.

In making a trip to central Texas where he will note the workings of courts in the metropolitan centers, Judge Clark M. Mullican, for the past several years judge of the 72nd Judicial District of Texas and recently appointed to sit on the bench of the new 9th district court here, is showing the right spirit. He is proving that in his own estimation, at least, he is not "too smart to learn."

The Stage

It takes something spectacular to arouse us to action. The things that we are used to we tolerate; we are moved only by the out-of-the-way, the extraordinary. Sometimes this trait works for the best, sometimes it does not. In New York there are a great many theaters. A number of these theaters have been filled of late with plays and revues in which the common principles of decency and good taste have been flouted.

Old Master's

And what is so rare as a day in June? Then Heaven tries the earth if it be in tune. And over it softly her warm ear lays: Whether we look or whether we listen. We hear life murmur or see it gladden. Every cloud feels a stir of might, An instinct within it that reaches and towers. And groping blindly above it for light.

Flapper Fanny

Skating with a bashful man is a good way to break the ice. The American theater needs intelligent and discriminating spectators more than it needs anything else. Edgar M. Wondler, of Yale University, tells the round-table conference on drama.

THE PLAINSMAN Says: A rehearing denied by the Amarillo court of civil appeals, the City of Lubbock will carry its case to the supreme court in the matter of taxing gasoline retailed within the corporate limits of Lubbock.

Senator Jim Reed's investigating committee has been given its walking papers by the Senate. Jim might bring 'em down here to aid in some of the 'sweeping investigations' which are always rumored in this neck of the woods.

The Methodists have decided to move Glendon college to Amarillo. If we can get a college for each of Haggerty, Tulla, Kivoss, Hale Center and Abernathy now we ought to have plenty of higher education in West Texas.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University has discovered that the proud old New England dish of pork and beans is being made up of beans from Mexico and pork from the Argentine. Out in West Texas we have farmers who persist in getting their bacon from Iowa and their vegetables in cans when they could very well produce both right on their own places.

It appears that Americans have gotten a great deal more 'bet up' over the 18th amendment than they have over any of the other constitutional additions. The Plainsman will bet that the majority of the voters have never heard of most of the other 19 amendments and it's a cinch that if as much money had been spent in the upholding and the tearing down of them as has been used by both opponents and proponents of the 18th, we'd be a broke nation.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Here's another Coolidge story. Skip on if you've heard it. The president of these United States is accustomed to taking walks of an hour or more in the morning or evening, accompanied only by a secret service man. A friend once suggested to the president that inasmuch as he was thus apparently closer to the secret service than anyone else, they must have many interesting conversations during their saunters.

Remission of state taxes to counties—which the constitution permits in case of "calamities"—goes merly forward. The latest counties exempted from state taxation—or rather allowed to collect state taxes and use them for local purposes, are Dallas and Tarrant, two of the richest in the state.

BARGE LINE GAINS

Barge line users are getting the habit. In a report on the November tonnage of the Mississippi-Warrior line, made public by the secretary of war, it is shown by the government barge service 27,967 tons of the flour commodities, grain, cotton, sugar and ore, during that month of 1926 the amount was more than three times as great as to be exact, 87,279 tons.

Cracking processes which obtain twice as much gasoline. This was the prevailing sentiment yesterday at the annual meeting of the Western Petroleum Refiners' Association here. John Prentiss Gets Thrill From His Billion-Dollar Offer but Had Bigger

By JIMMY POWERS NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—Even Wall Street, the place with its plungers, its bull-baiters, bear-hunters and seasoned traders in millions, was startled. Here was a man, so testimony at the Ford tax case hearing in Washington revealed, who sat in a witness chair and glibly told how three times within the past ten years he had made a cash offer to buy out the five-year magnate for a billion dollars—one with nine ciphers after it.

John W. Prentiss

John Wing Prentiss is the man. He is senior partner in the firm of Hornblower & Weeks. He is 31, black haired, brown eyed, tanned by yachting, alert dressed in faultlessly tailored blue, grandson of a New England shipowner and leather merchant great-grandson of the Wing family which settled on a farm in 1625 in Cambridge, directly opposite the Harvard gate. There is the summary of this keen-eyed, friendly voiced individual who goes about making huge bids as if he were buying a dime's worth of two-cent stamps. This is the first time in financial history a $1,000,000,000 offer has been made for any individual property. "How would you go about raising $1,000,000,000 to buy out Mr. Ford?" he was asked. "Wall Street was jolted when news of the offer leaked out," he replied, "but you'd soon get used to it. Finance was not skeptical. They agreed the deal could have been swung easily with prospects of over-subscription. Ownership of it would be transferred in one week. Still credit would be necessary but it could be obtained."

GEORGE FIELD TO LEAVE CITY

Popular Division Engineer To Be Moved To Austin In Next Thirty Days, Reports Say

George A. Field, division engineer of the State Highway Department, with headquarters here for the past three years, will be removed from this division within the next thirty or forty days, or less time, but has been instructed by the State Highway Commission to proceed with the organization of the personnel throughout the division of eighteen counties, it was learned here today.

Mr. Field returned to his office Friday morning after spending several days in Austin in answer to a call from state headquarters and said that his instructions are to proceed at once with organization of the personnel.

City Opposed To Move Reports were current here several days ago that Mr. Field would be moved from the division immediately, and such action on the part of the State Commission was strongly protested by city and county officials and other interested citizens throughout the division. It developed today that only one man in the entire eighteen counties has voiced opposition to Mr. Field.

Every division engineer of the eighteen in the state is to be removed, and only one or two instances will be those men he retained in city-homes of the department, reports from Austin say. Mr. Field said today that he will begin immediately the re-organization of his personnel to carry on the work of the division, but that as soon as this is done, he has been instructed by the commission that his successor will be sent here to take over the work.

Mr. Field has been in charge of the division over three years, since the early part of the Neff administration, and has so efficiently carried on maintenance and construction work in all counties of the division that voluntary recommendations have been given him by the eighteen counties, without exception.

Frank Vanderlip, President of Biggest Bank in Country, Speaks to Investors

By JIMMY POWERS NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—America's gambling appetite has been merely whetted by the recent frenzy of speculation in low priced railroad shares, one of the highlights of which was the skyrocketing of Wheeling almost overnight from $27 to $130.

Now comes Frank A. Vanderlip, economist, author and former president of America's largest bank, the National City, warning the danger semaphores of "Stop" in the faces of the country's smallest investors.

A new crop of gamblers springs up among usually conservative investors following one of these spurges," he told me, warningly.

"They read of fabulous fortunes made suddenly, their cupidity is aroused, they take chances and in the wake is left a general ripple of unsteadiness such as followed the Northern Pacific, Stutz and other corners."

No Safeguard "Has the investing public any safeguard to prevent unscrupulous operators ruining them?" he was asked. "There is no method of safeguarding the man who goes out and sells something he hasn't got. Common sense is the only protection. There will at ways be plungers and chance takers. It is typically American."

"The Wheeling and Lake Erie squeeze had a legitimate end, but it has had after effect. Operators see one successful consolidation. They say to themselves, 'We'll go out and make a lot of other consolidations ourselves.'"

"Shorts, squeezed to the last drop dug to the bottoms of their pockets. I have no tears to shed for them. The only thing I fear is future futures that may ensue because of the example this may set in the minds of unscrupulous men."

"I see ahead a shrewd boom for calls and quickened business in the east and mid-west as a result of this consolidation. Compare what a different picture this will be from the nationwide hardship and suffering that usually went with other corners," he continued.

"Then there is the vitalizing touch given other and cheaper rails. Strange as it may seem, you will often find shrewd business men approving a corner, or a move closely akin to a corner, if the objective is legitimate as in the recent Wheeling case. It is only when stocks are boosted for speculative purposes that harm is done. Every corner should not call for hysterics."

Corners always have been dramatic episodes in Wall Street.

Ever since the famous Morris Canal and Banking Co. corner in January, 1835, when the stock rose from almost nothing to 185 they have had an unsettling influence on the general market, Mr. Vanderlip pointed out.

The important corners, that have been recognized by the exchange since 1890 are, Northern Pacific shares in 1891, the Stutz corner in 1923, the Piggly Wiggly corner in 1923 and now the Wheeling & Lake Erie corner in 1927. Wheeling rose within a month nearly 400 per cent.

The old corners saw some exciting times and their after effects were more deadly than the present reaction will be if warnings are heeded.

For instance, in the fight for control between the Hill-Burlington-Great Northern party for which J. E. Morgan & Co. were bankers, and the Harriman-Union Pacific party for which Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were bankers, the Northern Pacific shares were driven up to 1000 before the bankers finally agreed on a settlement.

A panic followed. It is just as easy as ever to stage a corner. Vanderlip pointed out, but the country is much more secure against panics.

(AP)—Residents on the 48,000 to 49,000 acre strip of land awarded to Texas in settlement of the Texas-Oklahoma boundary suit would be protected from state sale of land for school purposes, under a bill finally passed in the house. The bill provides that allotment of the lands to the school system as the law provides, shall be held up until the legislature designates what disposition shall be made of it. As it is now, Representative Young, who with Representative Scatterwhite introduced the bill explaining the land commissioner could sell the land "from under the settlers who had title to it from the state of Oklahoma" prior to the boundary dispute. The land commissioner drew up the straining bill, however, Young said.
