

On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

PAT used "salvage" as his topic of discussion in his Views column last week and did a pretty good job of reminding us that we have a "salvage" job to do right here in our own town.

PAT didn't come right out and say so but he knows, and all of us ought to know that things have been happening in our town during recent years that are not conducive to keeping a town growing and prospering.

Too many of us are prone to let things just drift along thinking conditions will adjust themselves in time. If those conditions are such that only a few people will suffer financial loss because of them we kinda shrug it off with a "we can't do anything about it" attitude. But let the conditions hit our own pocketbook and we quickly decide that something has got to be done to save the town from disaster.

Of course when it hits our own pocketbook we can realize at once the danger to the town. It is good perhaps, that something comes along once in a while that gives us a jolt to wake us up as PAT says "to the salvage opportunities."

We have been letting things drift along for some time now and doing nothing to remedy any situation. The time has come when the drifting will get faster and faster until we hit the bottom unless we do begin that "salvage" job now. The leaders of our town are the head of the salvage crew. We are waiting for their leadership to start all of us to work.

NUMBER 2700 FOR REPORTING FIRES ONLY !!

When there is a fire people in this area should call Lorraine 2700 to report it. Firemen will answer the call as quickly as they can.

The number 2700 is for reporting fires only. You should NOT call the number just to find out where the fire is. Just a few days ago there was a fire at the Buck Taylor farm and the alarm was sounded, the firemen went to the scene and put out the fire. A little while later someone called 2700 to find out where the fire was and the alarm was sounded again calling the firemen to another fire—supposedly. When they arrived at the station they found it to be a false alarm.

Every time firemen answer an alarm there is danger of a wreck or somebody getting run over. The firemen have a sign on their car and they should have the right-of-way-but the danger of somebody getting hurt still exists. You wouldn't want to endanger someone's life just to find out where a fire is so just don't call 2700 unless there is actually a fire, it is not that important that you should know where the fire is.

Firemen last week answered one such alarm and another turned in by a prankster. It isn't funny to firemen to report to the station only to find it is a false alarm. Most of the firemen are employed and when the alarm sounds have to take off in a hurry. Their employers do not mind this for they are civic minded enough to know that our town cannot afford a regular paid bunch of firemen. Every citizen should be civic minded enough not to call the firemen unless there is a fire and they are needed.

STOCKMEN ADVISED TO WATCH FOR PRUSSIC ACID POISONING

College Station, July 31—Stockmen in many sections of the state with grazed out pastures are turning to supplemental pastures including drouth stunted plants of the sorghum family. Dr. C. M. Patterson, veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that some danger of poisoning exists when these plants are grazed.

The danger is from prussic acid, he explains. Prussic acid is the breakdown product of a glucoside normally present in some young, actively growing plants. It does not occur in a plant unless the growth is stopped by moisture stress or frost. Moisture stress may result from inadequate soil moisture or from excess moisture loss due to high temperatures and low relative humidity.

Dr. Patterson says all members of the sorghum family, including Johnsongrass and Sudan, produce the glucoside under favorable levels of fertility and that this group of plants is the most dangerous of commonly grazed forages. The most luxuriant plant growth, the more likely it will be dangerous when wilted.

If moisture stress is from depleted soil moisture, the plants may remain toxic for long periods he says. If hot, dry winds cause the stress, the plants may be toxic only during the periods when evaporative losses exceed the plants' ability to pick up moisture from the soil. To illustrate, hungry animals turned into a field during the hot afternoon might be poisoned, but if turned in early in the morning might fill up and quit grazing during the period of the day when the forage would be toxic.

Younger plants have a higher glucoside content than plants nearing maturity; therefore, if wilted would be more toxic, Patterson explains. He suggests grazing a few animals on fields in question early in the morning and under close watch for an hour. If no trouble occurs, it should be safe to turn in the herd. But, if any animals shows a tendency to become restless and breathe fast, get them out in a hurry. Death or recovery usually happens within an hour or two. Drenching with a syrup or sugar solution slows the release of prussic acid in the rumen, but a veterinarian should be called immediately for further treatment, he says.

1964 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

College Station, August 8—Major provisions of the 1964 Feed Grain Program have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and basically will be the same as in 1963.

The major change is an increase in the top limit on diversion from a farm's base acreage with an increase in the rate of payment for maximum diversion. This, the USDA said, is intended to encourage producers to divert additional feed grain acres and to increase their income.

Under the 1964 program a producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage compared with a top of 40 percent in 1963. Those who divert from 40 to 50 percent will receive diversification payments at the maximum rate for all acres diverted. As before, the maximum acreage diversion will be 25 acres if this is more than 50 percent of the base.

Producers who divert at least 20 percent of their feed grain base will be eligible for payments computed by multiplying the number of acres diverted times 20 percent of the normal yield times the county total price support rate for the grain diverted. For acres diverted between 20 and 40 percent of the base, payments will be based on 50 percent of the normal yield times the total county support rate. A diversion from the base between 40 and 50 percent (or 25 acres if this is larger) will earn payments for the producer of 50 percent times the normal yield times the total acres diverted times the total county support rate. Payments may not exceed 20 percent of the value of the land diverted.

The total national average price support levels in 1964 will be the same as in 1963, but a slightly larger proportion of the support will be made available through loans. Payments-in-kind for both diversion and the non-loan part of the support will again be made in the form of negotiable certificates. The signup period for both fall and spring sown crops is expected to be early in 1964.

Farmers Given Opportunity To Vote On Plan To Enter Compress Deal

Farmers of this area who have ginned cotton at either of the two cooperative gins will have an opportunity to vote on the question of whether or not the Cooperative Gin Association will join in the building of the million dollar compress and warehouses at Roscoe.

Following a meeting of the directors and a few interested farmers last Friday night the directors decided to invite all who had ever ginned with them to attend a meeting to be held Friday night, August 9, to express by secret ballot their desires in the matter.

It was pointed out at the meeting last Friday night by several that if the local concern goes into the compress deal it will hurt several business institutions in town directly and the town in general indirectly. For one thing it would virtually close the cotton yard and the cotton warehouses if the majority of farmers patronized the compress. Speakers argued that the loss of revenue to the town could not be offset by increased price to the farmer for his cotton. In addition to taking his cotton directly to the compress and storing it in a coop warehouse he has the added advantage of a coop marketing association that is supposed to get the farmer more money for his cotton.

Those in favor of getting into the compress and marketing deal were strong in their belief that the farmer will actually get more for his cotton, up to $5 a bale some claimed.

Outside speakers who are familiar with the movement are expected to be at the meeting on August 9 to explain in detail all phases of the program.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Carpenter have a copy of the Altus Times-Democrat printed in Altus, Okla., September 9, 1920. Below are some of the news items found in the paper 43 years ago.

70 Miles Speed Limit Goes Into Effect On August 23

Austin, Texas, July 31, 1963—More than two-thirds of the Texas highway system will come under the new 70-miles-per-hour daytime maximum speed for passenger cars which becomes effective August 23, the Texas Highway Commission revealed today.

Under the speed control law passed by the Legislature this spring, all highways not zoned down by the Commission will automatically go to the new 70-mph speed August 23. This means that 41,500 miles of the state-maintained highway system will be allowed to come under the higher maximum speed.

The Commission today passed a Minute Order which zoned some 18,640 miles of the highway system at a maximum of 60 miles per hour daytime and 55 miles per hour at night for passenger cars, effective August 23. These highways will be restricted to the lower speed limit because engineering studies indicate they are inadequate to accommodate a 70-miles-per-hour maximum.

The Commission's action followed a series of engineering traffic studies conducted throughout the state by the Highway Department's 25 highway districts.

A large percentage of Texas' vast Farm to Market Road System will come under the 70-mph maximum, although some of these roads (and some of the older primary routes) will be restricted to the lower 60-mph maximum where conditions warrant.

As professed Christians, it is our duty to search out those who are "out of the fold" and lead them to salvation. It will take time, prayer, patience, even personal sacrifice. We are accountable for carrying on the work of our Lord. Our Christian duty demands it.

Prayer: Our heavenly Father, help us to understand the great importance of spreading the gospel among men on earth. Give us wisdom, courage, and strength to lead others on to the path of righteousness. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day: Bringing precious souls to God is every Christian's sacred duty.

Read Matthew 18:7-14

If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray? (Matthew 18:12)

A small boy strayed from a vacation camp and became lost. When found, he asked his mother, "What would have happened if you had not found me?"

He could, of course, be no positive answer. We know the search would have continued, the parents would have worried and grieved, and memories of the tragedy would have lingered with those who loved him. Probably someone would have felt the guilt of negligence, too.

A similar question comes to mind concerning the lost-ones without Christ. What will happen if they are not rescued?

Tranquilizing drugs are proving as useful to animals as they are to humans. Not only are they used to quiet nervous, upset, or wild animals, but also to get better gains in normal animals by cutting down waste motion and minimizing effects of mild stresses.

In one experiment, steers administered tranquilizers in their feed gained weight 15% faster with a 10% saving of food. In commercial feed lot trials at Iowa State College, tranquilizers were added to the feed of sheep and a 17% increase in daily gain was attained with a 6.5% saving in feed costs.

Not too much luck has been attained with tranquilizers to achieve weight gains in hogs. Tranquilizers, however, may prove useful in large breeding operations. Tests indicate tranquilized boars get along without fighting. The drugs, too, may be useful in cutting down nervousness in gilts before breeding or during farrowing.

Tranquilizers have been used with a great deal of success to quiet animals during shipment. The change in surroundings, feeding schedules, and temperatures along with the lack of feed to which they're accustomed—results in weight losses. Tranquilizers help reduce them.

It is a well-known fact among farmers in this area that farmer owned gins are doing a better job for the farmer.

We'd like to gin your cotton this fall and every fall.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1963.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 26 proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, to provide for the creation of a new subsection authorizing all political subdivisions of Jefferson County, Texas, to provide retirement, disability and death benefits for all appointive officers and employees of all political subdivisions within Jefferson County, Texas, providing for the necessary election, form of ballot, proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 62 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding thereto a new subsection (e), reading as follows:

"(e) Each political subdivision within Jefferson County, Texas, shall have the right to provide for and administer a Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund for all appointive officers and employees of all political subdivisions within Jefferson County, Texas; or said political subdivision may elect to join the County Retirement System of Jefferson County, Texas; provided that some is authorized by majority vote of the qualified voters of such political subdivision and after such election has been advertised by being published in at least one (1) newspaper of general circulation in said county once each week for four (4) consecutive weeks prior to the election; and the amount contributed by the said political subdivision to such fund shall at least equal the amount paid for the same purposes from the income of such such pension officers and not exceed at any time seven and one-half per centum (7½%) of the compensation paid to each such person by the political subdivision.

"All funds provided for the compensation of such such person, or by the political subdivision of Jefferson County, Texas, for such Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund, as are received by the political subdivision within said county, shall be invested in bonds of the United States, the State of Texas, or counties or cities of this state, or in bonds issued by any agency of the United States Government, the payment of the principal of and interest on which is guaranteed by the United States; provided that a sufficient amount of said funds shall be kept on hand to be determined by the agency which may be provided by law to administer said fund; and fits for said fund shall not be eligible for any other pension retirement fund or direct aid from the State of Texas, unless the fund, the creation of which is provided for herein, contributed by the political subdivision is released to the State of Texas as a condition to receiving such pension aid."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at the General Election in November, 1964, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon the following words:

"FOR the addition of subsection (e) to Section 62 of Article XVI of the Constitution, to authorize all political subdivisions within Jefferson County, Texas, to establish, after approval of its voters, a Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund covering all appointive officers and employees of said political subdivisions."

Section 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election to be held on the first Saturday after the first Monday in the month of November, 1963, and have notice of said proposed amendment and said election published as required by the Constitution of Texas and laws of this state.

VIEWS

SELF MADE

Did you ever hear one brag about being "self-made"? We have not only heard others make it but we have also said the same about ourselves when we want to feel egotistical.

This statement is usually made when one desires to gloss over some weakness or some lack of formal training. Especially is this true if one has met with some degree of success in his or her chosen field. Referring to being self-made is a mild form of patting one-self on the back.

The truth of the whole matter is: There are no self made individuals. All are born with an open or unfilled mind. Yet all are born with mental capabilities that MUST be developed. How is this accomplished?

Filling and developing personality begins in the home. In reality, we are a part of those whom we call parents. How many times have you heard, "I was raised thus and so."

The community also has a major role in our development. "I was not accustomed to such practices" is often heard when certain basic changes are proposed.

Yes, all the past has made its impact upon our life. Sometimes we are using this as a guide to making a better life and often we use it to support our prejudices. You have all heard, if not said, "It was good enough for my forebears and it is good enough for me." You have also said, "I want a better world for mine than was my lot."

None of us are self-made. We are a part of all contacts both of person and literature. Most has been good but some has led us astray. The world of tomorrow will not be self made. It will be a grand conglomeration of all that has gone before us plus what little good or bad we have injected into it. Let's make it the best we know.
