Tax men for major oil companies with production in Scurry County were in town Tuesday for their annual pow-wow with some of the local taxing agencies that have budgets in various stages of preparation. These sessions have become routine since 1948 when the big Canyon Reef field was discovered. It is customary of course for the company representatives to paint a gloomy picture about the finances of their respective firms and to plead for mercy when the valuations and tax rates are established.

Usually, the taxing agencies try to whittle a bit here and there and the oil people move on to other counties for similar procedures. This year, however, a new note was added to the chorus. Oil production, which has been going unrestrained for many months now, is on the decline here. It is not something to cause a panic, because even the most pessimestic of the group admit that oil will be a significant factor in this area's economy for many more years, but the "good old days" of high production appear to be numbered. The peak has been reached and from here on, the journey will be downhill—provided someone doesn't come up with enough new discoveries to compensate for the decline in the present fields, or provided that someone doesn't come up with a method to extract more of the known deposits of oil from formations now being worked. Estimates are that well over a third of the oil in the developed fields here will remain undisturbed when technology known today has produced all it can.

Getting back to the oil company tax representatives, some faces change over the years, but three familiar figures are still on hand and they took the lead in the discussion with Snyder School and Scurry County Junior College trustees as they looked over their respective budgets here this week. Art Dimney of Chevron, Howard Petty of Mobil and Carlton Meredith who represents the Sharon Ridge Canyon unit and other interests, were on the front row.

According to the Texas Insurance Information Center, a federal analysis of hospital emergency room admissions indicates that riding bicycles ranks first, playing baseball is second, using nails and screws is third, playing football is fourth and using playground equipment (slides, swings, see-saws, etc.) is fifth.—WACIL McNAIR

British Couple Meeting With US Dignitaries

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II faced a hectic day that includes a variety of diplomatic duties, lunch at the Capitol and a reception and dinner at her country's Embassy.

The queen and Prince Philip were to spend most of the day meeting American dignitaries.

The royal couple was to dine with congressmen at a Capitol luncheon, to view the Magna Carta on loan from England at the Rotunda and to see British artworks on display in Washington.

In addition, the queen was scheduled to greet her Embassy personnel and to accept a key to the federal city.

It was the third day of a week-long visit in honor of the United States' 200th birthday and was to be highlighted by a major social event — a reception and dinner for President and Mrs. Ford at the British Embassy.

The Fords hosted a state banquet Wednesday night, the most glamorous and the largest they have given in the White House.

Mrs. Ford had said she wanted the party to be special because, among the world's queens, she considered Elizabeth to be "The Queen." The white-tie dinner under a white canopy in the White House rose garden was a major effort to impress the visiting monarch.

The 224 guests included some of the United States' wealthiest and most influential businessmen and the top officials of the government. Also in attendance were former First Lady Lady Bird Johnson, the 92-year-old Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, and entertainment and sports personalities.

After dining on Maine lobster and saddle of veal, the President and the queen exchanged toasts and clinked champagne glasses.

"In our third century, I know the United Kingdom will be on our side and the United States will be on your side," Ford told the queen. He said the continuing relationship between the two countries was "a reassuring symbol of our determination to continue the defense of freedom."

The queen wore a diamond tiara, necklace, earrings and bracelet with the blue sash of the British Order of the Garter on her striking yellow dress.

In her return toast, she noted that the times are uncertain. But, she said, "one thing is certain and that is the strength and permanence of Anglo-American friendship. May it long continue to flourish for the sake of both our countries and for the greater good of mankind."

The royal couple stayed at the party until 12:40 a.m., leaving after entertainment that included comedian Bob Hope and dancing in the state dining room. The Fords remained another hour.

Bentsen In Snyder Today

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen was in Snyder today as he neared completion of a three-day swing through West Texas.

The Texas Senator came here from Brownfield and was hosted by Roger B. Mize, Sen. Bentsen's campaign coordinator in Scurry County.

Scurry County Democrats gave Bentsen an easy majority in his race for renomination in the primary election on May 1.

Escapee Captured

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Richard Darby Jr., who escaped from Orange County jail Wednesday night, was recaptured early today, authorities said.

A sheriff's office spokesman said Darby did not resist when officers arrested him in a taxicab on Interstate 10.

Darby and another man escaped escaped after a guard was cut on the throat with a broken bottle.

ON RESOLUTION CONDEMNING ISRAEL

US Makes Veto Promise

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States would veto any U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Israel for its spectacular weekend rescue of hostages being held by terrorists in Uganda, according to American and diplomatic sources.

The veto promise was made to Israel as the Security Council prepared for Friday's debate on the Israeli raid in which more than 100 Jewish hostages were freed and seven terrorists and 20 Ugandan troops killed.

According to sources here, the United States will try to turn the Security Council focus to the question of international terrorism instead of the Israeli action in freeing the passengers of a hijacked Air France jetliner at Uganda's Entebbe Airport last Sunday.

The United States has long felt that many U.N. members pay only lip service to agreements to fight airplane hijackings and other forms of terrorism.

The Israeli raid shows that determined and forceful action can offset the effects of terrorism and the United Nations has a perfect opportunity to support its past rhetoric, one U.S. official said.

In the meantime, both Israel and the United States were putting together evidence to show that Ugandan President Idi Amin supported if not collaborated with the terrorists.

Under U.S. interpretation of international law, such proof would justify the Israeli raid because Uganda was not living up to its duty to protect Israel's citizens.

Actually, neither American nor Israeli officials feel the Security Council debate will go much beyond a pro forma effort to condemn srael.

All of the Western nations have praised Israel, and even the Arab and African blocs have limited their criticism to relatively mild statements.

It was learned that one Arab government told the American ambassador in its capital that it admired the speed and efficiency of the Israeli operation.

U.S. officials would not identify the country and cautioned that the communication did not approve the raid, only taking note that it was admirably conducted.

Another indication of the relatively moderate stand by Israel's usual enemies is indicated by the total lack of protest from anyone but Uganda to Israel's use of U.S.-supplied planes to carry out the rescue operation.

The lack of heat in the Arab-African criticism is attributed by U.S. officials to an almost universal dislike of Amin and a growing awareness by the Arabs that terrorism is counterproductive, if not wrong.

AFS Meeting Set Saturday

The Snyder Chapter of the American Field Service will meet at the Smorgasbord Restaurant at 8 p.m. Saturday. The meeting is the regular monthly "Dutch Treat" breakfast at which plans will be finalized for welcoming the two foreign exchange students scheduled to arrive in Snyder in the near future.

Gary Roberts, newly elected president of the local AFS chapter extends an invitation to persons interested in becoming more familiar with the AFS program. Activities of the organization are a vital part in keeping the cultural exchange with foreign countries active in our community. Persons participating in the AFS have found it to be very interesting and enjoyable. Sam Kitching, newly elected vice president and Mrs. George Stewart, newly elected secretary-treasurer also encourage involvement of Snyder citizens in the American Field Service.

Cotton King Again In Valley

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Cotton has returned as king of crops in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The crop is large and the price is good.

Grain sorghum replaced cotton last year in many of the irrigated fields of the Valley because cotton prices dropped to a level where it became a break-even crop even with ideal weather conditions. It was the first year in decades that more grain than cotton was planted in the valley.

In less than a year, the demand and price of cotton almost doubled, according to grower Jack Funk of Harlingen. The outlook for this year's crop is "real good, if we can get these rains out of here," Funk said.

Although the current price of cotton is about 85 cents per pound, compared with about 45 cents per pound a year ago, many Valley farmers will not receive the full price.

Most of the cotton grown in the Valley is sold ahead of time on a contract basis, whereby a cotton buyer agrees to purchase all the cotton grown by a farmer at a set price. Through the contracting system, the farmer can be certain of the price he will receive, regardless of market fluctuations. If he is willing to gamble, he can wait. But he also faces the prospect that prices could drop below the contract rate.

Most of the cotton contracted this year was for 55-57 cents per pound and there is no comparison figure for 1975 since last year's crop was so small there was no contracting for it.

The future looks good, Funk said, nothing that many farmers are already selling their 1977 crop at a contract price of 65-66 cents per pound.

Although there has been some sporadic harvesting of cotton, the main harvest will get underway July 20 and last for about 30 days, Funk said.

In addition the doubling of prices, this year's crop is more than double in acreage over the 1975 crop. In Hidalgo County, County Agent Dan Galvan said farmers planted about 80,000 acres of cotton this year, compared with only about 22,000 acres in 1975.

In Cameron County, growers planted 104,582 acres of cotton this year, compared with only 47,278 acres a year ago.

"We think the future for cotton in the Valley is good. There'll be a lot more grown next year because of the high contract prices," grower Funk said.

ECONOMICS BARRING WIDESPREAD USE

Exotic Energy Alternatives Are Possible

Editor's Note: We heard a great deal about other, exotic sources of energy during the oil embargo — power from the sun, windmills, coal gasification, etc. Some said they could free us from foreign oil dependence. What's happened since the Arabs turned the oil back on? This first of two articles on energy alternatives brings things up to date.

By TERRY KIRKPATRICK
AP Business Writer

It is possible today to warm your home at night with heat from the sun, run your car on a fuel made from wheat or power your electric toothbrush with the wind. It's all possible, but unlikely to happen any time soon.

Since the oil embargo in late 1973, and the sudden jump in oil prices that followed, the dream of a cheap, clean and unlimited supply of energy has led a handful of people to build solar collectors on their roofs, install methane-burning engines in their cars or erect windmills in their backyards.

And millions of dollars have been poured into research and development of these alternative energy sources since American motorists first waited an hour in line to buy gasoline.

Such spending by government and industry jumped from $145.3 million in 1973 to $402.6 million in 1975, according to a survey prepared for the U.S. House Committee on Science and Technology. And the share of industry and government energy research money going to alternate sources has been growing — from roughly 9 per cent in 1973 to 16 per cent in 1975. The rest has gone to the more conventional energy sources.

Most research money supplied by industry goes to energy forms it currently produces and sells, petroleum being number one. More government money goes to nuclear research than anything else.

In fiscal 1976, for instance, the Energy Research and Development Administraion spent almost half a billion on the breeder nuclear reactor — four times the amount allocated to any other single item.

So the more exotic energy alternatives account for only a fraction of the nation's total needs. Oil, natural gas and coal carry most of the load and will for some time to come.

Those who determine how research money will be spent foresee only a limited role for solar, geothermal and synthetic fuel energy in the next decade. One estimate, by the Federal Energy Administration, is that they will supply only about 1 per cent of the total energy demand in 1985.

For the most part, the technology needed to replace some of the limited oil with unlimited sun or wind is there. The holdup barring their widespread use is economic: although the world price of crude oil has quadrupled in the past three years, it is still cheaper than most of the alternatives, say government and energy industry experts.

And some industry projects to produce a synthetic gas from coal or wring oil from shale rock, which were begun in earnest shortly after the embargo, sit idle.

"We had perceived the inevitable transformation to the more abundant resources well before the embargo," said A. L. Shrier, who directs special energy projects for Exxon Corp., the nation's largest oil company.

"We have followed shale and tar sands for 20 years. We bought coal reserves. What came instead was greater reserves in the Middle East and North Africa, which kept prices down."

That alternate fuels have not yet become competitive with Mideast oil was noted in June by Nicholas Sarkis, director of the Arab Petroleum Research Center, when he predicted that the oil exporting countries will raise their prices again later this year.

There are other problems and a look at them shows why alternative energy sources haven't developed more quickly:

—Consumer markets for new products, such as solar collectors or windmills, are undeveloped.

"What are the barriers in the way of establishing large-scale solar use?" Joseph Lindmayer, president of Solarex Corp., a leader in the development of solar cells, asked at a recent energy conference.

"We generally tend to think that what we need is a great technological break-through that tomorrow suddenly reduces the cost. I have slowly come to the conclusion that basically that is just not the case.

"I think that the real barriers are market development, user education, availability of capital and manpower."

For markets to function, buyers need to be aware of what is available. John M. Teem, who recently resigned as the government's chief of solar, geothermal and advanced energy systems, says there should be a greater federal role in stimulating the use of solar heating and cooling and the dissemination of information.

"I fear that without this stimulation, the private sector will not achieve the early commercial market development of solar energy which is needed," he said.

With enough buyers to support mass production, prices could come down. Lindmayer said solar cells, used almost exclusively for space projects just two years ago, have dropped to one-tenth the price since then as they have been put to use on earth.

"These changes are actually so dramatic that most individuals and organizations have not yet fully recognized this new situation," he said.

—The capital costs of some new energy forms are tremendous. (Capital is the money required to build or buy permanent plants or equipment.)

Some homeowners, for instance, could reduce their monthly utility bills by installing a rooftop solar collector to provide hot water and room heat.

But estimates of the cost of such collectors range from $4,400 to $8,000. It would take 10 to 20 years to pay for them with savings in utility bills, depending on whether they replace expensive electrical heating or cheaper oil or gas.

"Anyone buying electricity today and paying more than four or five cents a kilowatt hour is better off on economic grounds with a solar collector," Shrier says. "The problem is it has a large up-front cost. If you've got the money, that's fine. Most consumers don't."

—Industry faces enormous capital costs if it pursues the production of synthetic fuels.

Several coal-to-gas projects are in the planning stages, but such plants could cost as much as $800 million. And the gas they would produce would cost

Carter Confers With Mondale

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter conferred today with Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, the latest of a half-dozen possible running mates expected to make the pilgrimage to Plains.

Mondale and his wife arrived early today at the Americus airport near Plains.

"I'm very pleased to be invited to meet and talk with the next president of the United States in Plains," Mondale said. Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, greeted Mondale and his wife, Joan, outside their home before the meeting started.

Sen. John Glenn of Ohio was scheduled to arrive later in the day for a interview.

Carter, who is virtually certain of winning the Democratic presidential nomination, said Wednesday that the number of possible vice-presidential candidates he planned to interview might go to six or more. He said previously that he would talk to at least five.

The first interview was with Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine earlier this week.

The former Georgia governor said he probably would meet with Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey. He is expected to talk with Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington.

Carter was believed to have scheduled those meetings for early next week in New York City where the Democratic National Convention starts Monday.

Also mentioned as possibilities were Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois and Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. Carter denied press reports that he had scratched Church from his list.

Carter talked with reporters Wednesday night as he flew back to Georgia after a short stop at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a $1,000-a-head fund-raising reception.

Carter also celebrated his 30th wedding anniversary.

At the dinner Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, were presented with an anniversary plate. As champagne and cake were circulated on the plane, Carter said his wife and children "are all very nervous about the general election. They are kind of worried about it, and I am, too.

"I don't intend to lose it this late after we've come so far, and I think the concern is something constantly on my mind," he said.

Carter stood on an airplane seat, with his wife's arm clasped around his waist.

"We're trying to prevent a realization of that concern by a very careful, very methodical, very thorough analysis and planning, polling and organization, trying to put together every possible capability for a victory in November. I think I'll win," he said.

Carter's vice presidential drama continued Wednesday with the candidate's announcement that Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, is being considered as a potential running mate.

He denied press reports that Sen. Frank Church of Idaho had been eliminated from vice presidential contention and that he didn't get along with Church.

"I've never been with Sen. Church more than seven or eight minutes in my life," Carter told reporters. But those minutes "were very pleasant and I enjoyed them," he said.

Seminar For Teachers At Sweetwater

AUSTIN—Sweetwater will be the host city for a July 12 seminar sponsored by the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. The meeting will take place at Sweetwater High School.

Representatives from classroom teacher associations in 46 area counties will attend the seminar. The regional meeting is designed as a crash course for TCTA member who will be serving as leaders and resource people in their local affiliates.

Michael Landrum, a math teacher at Reagan Junior High, will be the president at the event. Landrum serves on the TCTA state Board of Directors.

Registration for the seminar begins at 8 a.m. and the wrap-up session will conclude at 6 p.m.

The seminar modules will be work sessions for association leaders. Topics range from teacher legislation and professional development to personal services offered by TCTA. A special session for association presidents will deal with bylaws and parliamentary procedures.

A feature attraction of the seminar will be a training session for developing teachers' skills in serving as teacher advocates. In this session participants learn to use communications skills to promote the rights of teachers.

Girl Removed From U.S. Embassy Is Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department medical specialist says a 3-year-old American girl removed from the U.S. Embassy in Moscow has been hospitalized in the United States for treatment of a "bizarre" blood disorder.

The girl was one of two children brought out two weeks ago at the direction of doctors investigating possible health effects of microwave radiation being beamed at the Embassy by the Soviets. The second child, also a 3-year-old, has since returned to the Soviet capital.

Dr. Herbert Pollack, a radiation medicine specialist, said Wednesday that doctors were trying to diagnose the cause of the blood disorder found in the hospitalized child.

"It's one of the most unusual, bizarre things I've seen in my 50 years of medicine," said Pollack, a professor emeritus of medicine at George Washington University.

He admitted that the cause of either blood problem had not yet been fully pinpointed, but he insisted that "neither situation was due to radiation — that is absolute, straightforward, above-board fact."

He refused to name either child or to detail the symptoms of their illnesses.

Meanwhile, a State Department spokesman said that although the strength of the Soviet microwaves aimed at the Embassy has been "greatly reduced," U.S. officials remain concerned that the Soviets have not completely stopped the radiation bombardment.

"Frankly, we regret that the Soviets have failed to turn off the transmissions completely, thereby, in our judgment, demonstrating a lack of concern for the living and working conditions of our people in Moscow," spokesman Robert Funseth told reporters Wednesday.

The purpose of the Soviet radiation remains unclear. Most speculation has focused on possible use of the microwave beams to foil U.S. electronic eavesdropping equipment mounted on the Embassy's roof.

Funseth also disclosed that the State Department's medical division has signed a contract with Johns Hopkins University "to provide us with a detailed evaluation and a broad biostatistical survey" of the medical histories of U.S. personnel assigned to Moscow.

Convention Site Has Circus Scent

NEW YORK (AP) — The Democrats are doing their darndest not to make a circus out of their convention next week, but the smell of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey lingers on.

Literally.

Their nominee will await his introduction as "the next President of the United States," in a concrete block locker room used normally by sweaty basketball players.

And the delegates themselves will be sitting on an ice rink.

These circumstances are dictated by the Democrats' choice of New York as their convention city. New York, Big Apple though it is, lacks the convention centers of a San Francisco, Miami Beach or Chicago. No Cow Palace here.

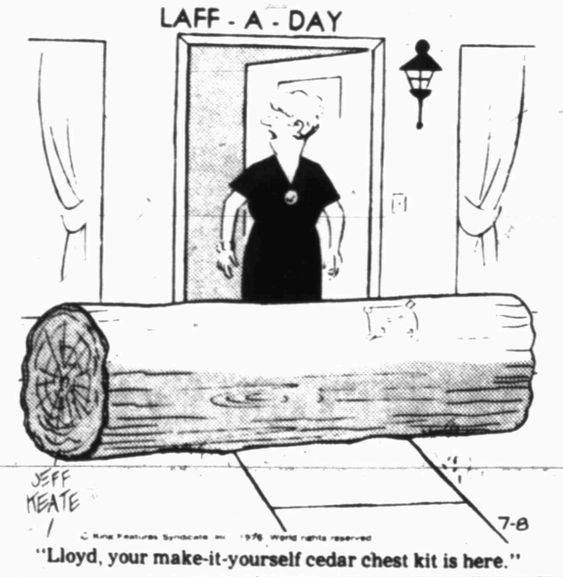

Instead there is Madison Square Garden, a nice compact little place that seats a shade more than 20,000 people at best, isn't on Madison Square, and surely is no garden.

Turning the hall into an arena for a political convention was the job of a firm headed by Raymond R. Hertler, who says he's voted Democratic sometimes.

With $1.4 million to spend, Hertler and his staff designed the convention hall down to the last camera stand and then coordinated the efforts of 80 to 90 firms that had something to do with building the thing.

Fire Put Out

City firemen reported one grass fire that occurred Wednesday. The fire occurred at 2800 Twenty-seventh Street at 1:15 p.m. Only minor damages resulted from the blaze.

"Lloyd, your make-it-yourself cedar chest kit is here."

ENERGY

$3 to $5 per thousand cubic feet, compared with the current regulated price of 52 cents per thousand cubic feet of new, interstate gas.

A low-quality gas, called town gas, is produced in other nations and was produced in this country before the advent of natural gas pipelines.

"We hear a great deal of talk about the need to develop new technology for coal conversion," R. R. Breckenfeld of Shell Oil Co. said. "The real problem is not the availability of technology, but that the technology that is available is too expensive.

"Coal gasification has been practiced commercially for 125 to 150 years. Nearly 50 commercial gasifiers are operating today. One can hardly say that the technology is not available."

Several ventures that sprang up up after the embargo to top the tremendous reserves of shale oil beneath several Western states have also stalled under environmental and economic problems.

John McKinley, president of Texaco Inc., said recently that a plant to produce 100,000 barrels of oil a day from shale would cost between $1.5 billion and $2 billion and require the mining of 50 million tons of shale a year — five times the size of the largest coal mining operation in the country.

Its product would have to sell for $18 to $22 a barrel, compared with imported oil now costing $12 to $13 a barrel.

"It seems that as each year passes," McKinley said, "the possibility of oil shale making a real contribution moves two years forward."

Next: What about coal?

Soviet Grain Sales Half Of Commitment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union have reached 2.8 million metric tons, nearly half the minimum amount Russia is committed to buy each year.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that 300,000 tons of corn and 300,000 tons of wheat were recently sold to the Soviets under provisions of a new long-term agreement. Earlier this year the Soviets bought 2.2 million tons of the two grains. Deliveries begin this fall.

Women Begin Training

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Now the work begins, women alongside men.

Today at the U.S. Military Academy, for the first time in its 174 years, women undergo with men, side by side, the rigorous two months of cadet basic training.

The women are members of the Class of 1980, and they want to be the Army officers of tomorrow.

A total of 119 of them entered the military institution Wednesday in a record class of 1,480.

The cadets rise at 5:30 a.m., starting the day with 45 minutes of physical training. When their day ends at 10 p.m., there won't be a single minute that isn't consumed by training, eating, practicing or preparing for the next day.

During cadet basic training, known here as "beast barracks," all plebes will go through rifle qualification, marches, tactical bivouacs, bayonet practice, land navigation, running, conditioning drills, organized athletics, drills and inspections and more.

FASHIONS FOR SWINGERS—The participants in the annual Earl Fish Invitational Golf Tournament at Snyder Country Club will be the center of interest this week-end, but their ladies are not forgotten. Out of town contestant's wives and local club members will be entertained with a coffee and fashion show at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the country club. Rhylene Stoker (left) models pastel partners that play the fashion game to a tee. The breezy cotton knit top has button detailing at the shoulder, and coordinated plaid shorts in watermelon pink and citrus yellow, fit and look great on or off the course. Both from the Laura Baugh Collection by Haymaker. Billie Mills (right) shows how to be a match for anyone in David Smith designed matching golf attire. The easy fit top self ribbed cool polyester with open collar. The shorts are fashioned for golfing ease with zip front and pockets so necessary to the lady golfer. Gwynne Rogers, ready to join the fashion champions wears David Smith pants with contoured waist and hidden pocket, topped by V-neck blouse with spread collar. And remember, you don't have to be a golfer to wear these and other fashions from Bill Keys Golf Shop.

PERFECT PAIRING—Lunne Keys, wife of golf professional Bill Keys, although still learning a few golfing tips from her husband, certainly knows her fashions. Lynne is wearing a scenic print golf skirt by David Smith. Her T-top with slightly scooped neck and small cap sleeves is from the Laura Baugh Collection by Haymaker. Bill is all pro in matching scenic print slacks designed for golf but styled for any casual occasion. His shirt is by Pickering in cool cotton knit.

Opening lead — Q ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The unlucky expert had us cornered again. A session of duplicate had just ended and our friend had finished second.

Some players are satisfied with a second place finish. He wasn't and had one particular hand to show his bad luck.

It seems that the field had been in four spades. Every West had opened the queen of diamonds and every East but one returned the queen of clubs. After that start it was a simple matter for declarer to take successful finesses in spades and hearts and wind up making six.

Against the unlucky expert, East had led back the scven of hearts.

If ever a lead looked like a singleton, that one was it. Our unfortunate friend decided that he could not afford the luxury of a trump finesse and the almost certain ruff of a heart if the finesse lost. So he wound up making one trick less than anyone else.

Three medium-size apples or bananas weigh about one pound.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wyoming reader wants to know if a player who responds two clubs to his partner's one-heart opening promises another bid.

The answer is that he does not do so in standard American or in the very similar Jacoby modern. But some expert pairs play that the two-over-one response does promise another bid and a very few even play it as a game force.

Tomato House Tour Slated

Moore's Dam Site Greenhouse, located east of the dam at Lake J.B. Thomas, will have open house Sunday, July 11 from 2-5 p.m. Allie and A.C. Moore and Orville Thompson, owners and operators of the greenhouse, invite everyone to attend the tour of the hydroponic tomato house and African biolet house.

This is the second year for the open house and new added attractions will be featured. H.S. von Roeder, of the Knapp Community, will display his rock collection. The doll collection of Freda Murphy will also be on display as well as macrame items made by Erika Blankenship.

Mrs. Moore, who also owns the African Violet Shop at Big Spring, is a member of the Organic Garden Club; Texas Star African Violet Club; Texas Bouquet African Club; Planters Garden Club and Council Garden Club. Her interest of African violets stemmed from seventeen years ago when her sister-in-law gave her a leaf from one of the plants. Now she has more than 2,000 growing in self watering planters and thousands in other planters. She has more than two hundred varieties.

The unique hydropontic tomatoes are growing from gravel beds which are watered and fed three times a day. The eight to ten feet tall tomato vines are held up by cord and as the stem grown and puts on foliage and bears tomatoes they are lowered into the gravel beds and new foliage is permitted to grow.

Approximately 65-70 pounds of vine ripe tomatoes are produced from each vine. Moore said that best results are from a growing period of about eight months although the plants will grow indefinitely.

Following the greenhouse tour the Knapp Home Demonstration Club and the Council of Garden Clubs will serve refreshments.

The public is invited to attend.

Hot Water Needed To Clean Dishes

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You can't properly clean dishes without hot water or phosphate detergents," Dr. G. H. Watrous, Jr., recently told the International Water Quality Symposium, "but if your water is hard and you soften it you can cut the use of detergents about 50 per cent, and reduce the amount of phosphorous needed to one-sixth."

Hot water is essential, he said. He recommended its temperature be at least five degrees Fahrneheit higher than the melting point of the fats soiling the dishes, but not so hot that it hardens milk and other protein soil.

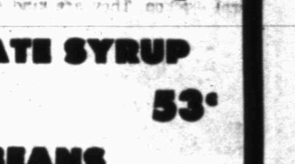

Couple To Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chitsey will be honored at a come and go tea Sunday, July 11 from 2-5 p.m. in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. The event will be hosted by children and grandchildren of the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pilgrim, 3409 Forty-fourth Street.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Coast To Coast

By Dick Maurice

Award presentations are very "in" these days and the MGM Grand in Las Vegas hosted the Silver Spotlight Awards in a Grand way. The awards are presented to selected members of the media outside Las Vegas who, in the opinion of the selection committee, have provided outstanding coverage of "The Entertainment Capital of the World activities. TOM SNYDER, of NBC's "Tomorrow Show" received the Best Broadcast Coverage award. Congratulations are in order to not only the winners but to Las Vegas and the MGM for honoring the communications media.

Without even breaking into her famous laugh, or even cracking a smile, CAROL BURNETT hit the National Enquirer with a $10 million law suit. The newspaper had run an item "reporting" Carol had had an argument in a Washington, D.C. restaurant with Secretary of State, HENRY KISSINGER. The item also "reported" that Carol had caused wine to spill on another of the restaurant's patrons in her pursuit of Kissinger. The National Enquirer ran a retraction, but that wasn't enough for everybody's favorite funny lady. Carol's suit in the Los Angeles Superior Court maintains that the article had been run with "an evil motive." She has no plans whatsoever in dismissing the action.

The hottest story on both coasts is that HARRY REASONER is on the way out as ABC's big boy of news now that BARBARA WALTERS has entered. Well, the way I hear it, if Harry Reasoner does leave, it will be his own choosing and not anyone elses.

Here's the latest word. "All In The Family" joins the ranks of "The Mary Tyler Moore" show on CBS and "Sanford and Son" on NBC as series which will get the axe at the end of the season. Three winners bite the dust!

JACK ALBERTSON isn't about to be shy about campaigning for his favorite in the Democratic candidacy for the 23rd Congressional district. "There is no prejudice here," insists Jack of "Chico and the Man" fame, "just because the candidate and I have been married for 23 years. Also, I am probably the only campaign chairman in the Democratic party who can do a soft shoe." Jack, of course, is married to Wallace Albertson, Democratic National Committeewoman from California.

DICK CLARK has chronicled his first decade in rock 'n roll (1954-1964) in a book which will be published late this summer by Thomas G. Crowell Publishers. The tome, which includes 100 photos, is titled "Rock, Roll & Remember."

Wonder if it's true that ELVIS PRESLEY continues to send singer ANN MARGRET flowers every time she appears in Las Vegas? Also heard that Elvis asked Ann to marry him over 10 years ago and she turned him down. Well, I'm glad that everybody is still friends at least.

If BOBBY VINTON locks like he's smiling from "ear to ear," he is – and the reason just might be that Bobby got word that an English commercial television network wants to buy Bobby's first season of television shows, which they'll show over in Great Britain. This would not only make Bobby a very happy boy – but a very rich one as well!

ROBERT GOULET is one of those multi-talented guys who isn't content with just being a singer. On the big screen will be a new flick entitled, "New Face", a drama about the plastic surgery fetish in Hollywood. The film will be produced by Robert Goulet's 12 year old company, Rogo Productions.

Can you picture DAVID BOWIE wooing BETTE MIDLER? Well, as the story goes, David gifted the "Boogie woogie lady" with 100 red roses after attending one of her concerts! Isn't "friendship" - especially in show biz - refreshing?

Tadpoles that hatch out of frogs' eggs live in water less than a year.

More Evaluation Tests For Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst is to undergo an additional 90 days of psychiatric evaluation before being sentenced on a bank robbery conviction.

U.S. District Court Judge William Orrick Jr. ordered the examination period extended on Wednesday and indicated he would delay sentencing until the study was completed.

The judge during Miss Hearst's trial had ordered a 90-day study period which would have expired Sunday. Orrick took over the case after the death of the trial judge, Oliver Carter.

Morgan, 4 Other Reds Starting For NL Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Morgan, baseball's top vote getter, joined four of his fellow teammates from the Cinncinati Reds in gaining starting berths on the National League's All-Star team, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced today.

Morgan, the powerful but pint-sized second baseman, will share the NL's infield starting assignment with two teammates, third baseman Pete Rose and shortstop Dave Concepcion. Catcher Johnny Bench and outfielder George Foster also will represent Cincinnati on the NL's starting team.

Steve Garvey of Los Angeles beat Cincinnati's Tony Perez in the first base balloting to prevent the world champion Reds from hogging the entire NL infield for the 47th midsummer classic, scheduled for Tuesday night at Philadelphia.

The power-laden outfield for the National Leaguers includes Foster, Greg Luzinski of Philadelphia and Dave Kingman of the New York Mets.

Fans cast a record 8,370,145 ballots this year, surpassing last year's total of 7,357,811.

Morgan, the NL Most Valuable Player in 1975, led both leagues in total votes, piling up 3,079,811. Morgan, an All-Star starter for the fifth year in the row, far outdistanced second baseman Dave Cash of Philadelphia, who had 2,194,627 votes. Morgan is batting .333 with 14 home runs and 60 runs batted in.

Rose made the All-Star squad as a third baseman for the first time in his career.

Rose, now a 10-time All-Star selection after beating Philadelphia third baseman Mike Schmidt by a 2,591,650-1,939,641 count, previously represented the NL at second base, left field and right field. Rose is batting .334 with six home runs and 38 RBIs.

Concepcion, who made his first All-Star team last year, survived the closest battle, with a 2,130,721-1,941,092 spread over Philadelphia's Larry Bowa. Concepcion's six homers matches Rose for the lowest total among NL starters. He is batting .270 with 33 RBI.

Garvey, who was named the outstanding player in the NL's 6-3 victory last year, is batting .301 with seven homers and 44 RBI.

Luzinski, with a .310 batting average, 12 homers and 54 RBI, led the NL outfielders in the balloting with 1,946,379 votes, beating out first-time starter Foster, who leads the majors in RBI with 69. Foster, who has hit 17 homers while batting .334, amassed 1,482,045 votes. Kingman, the major league home run leader with 27, finished with 1,415,050 votes in making the team for the first time.

Bench was named the NL catcher for the eighth straight year. He is batting .234—lowest on the squad, with nine homers and 44 RBI.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson will name his reserves on Friday. He previously selected an eight-man pitching that included Andy Messersmith of Atlanta. But because of an injury, Messersmith was replaced by Dick Ruthven of Atlanta.

Carew Easy Winner In Battle Of 9-Year Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — In the battle between longtime All-Stars Rod Carew and Carl Yastrzemski, someone had to give. It was Yastrzemski.

Carew, a fixture at second base for the American League All-Star team the past nine years, had kept second baseman Bobby Grich of Baltimore on the also-ran list.

Now he's doing the same thing to Yastrzemski, another nine-time All-Star veteran.

Carew, the AL's top hitter the past four years, moved from second base to first base this year, and when the All-Star results were announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, Boston's Yastrzemski was off the team.

Carew, of Minnesota, who now has made the AL's starting team each year he has been in the major leagues, collected 1,770,998 votes. Yastrzemski received 1,403,557 votes.

Catcher Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees joined Carew as the only All-Star repeater on the AL's starting team, which will face the National League All-Stars Tuesday night at Philadelphia. The AL has lost 12 of the last 13 midseason games, including last year's 6-3 decision.

Munson beat out another Boston player, Carlton Fisk, in a close battle of previous All-Star performers. Munson is the All-Star catcher for the second year in a row. Munson and shortstop Toby Harrah of the Texas Rangers lead the AL starters in home runs, each with eight.

The rest of the starters are first-time electees, including outfielder Fred Lynn of Boston, the AL's Most Valuable Player and Rookie of the Year in 1975.

The remainder of the team includes third baseman George Brett of Kansas City, Grich, Harrah, and Detroit outfielders Ron LeFlore and Rusty Staub.

Grich, in his sixth major league season, beat out Yankees second baseman Willie Randolph, the first rookie ever listed on the All-Star ballot. Grich, who is batting .282 — the lowest of the AL starters — received 2,043,904 votes to 1,582,156 for Randolph.

Brett, leading the league with a .356 average, was an easy winner at third base, polling 1,873,481 votes to 1,315,602 for Don Money of Milwaukee.

The balloting at shortstop was much closer, with Harrah beating out Mark Belanger of Baltimore, 1,481,346 to 1,233,755.

Lynn, who is batting .313 with five homers and 31 runs batted in, topped the AL balloting, receiving 2,953,664 votes.

LeFlore, who had a 30-game hitting streak earlier in the year, was second in the outfield balloting with 1,911,335 votes. He also ranks second in hitting on the team, with a .332 average.

Staub, a five-time National League All-Star selection, made the AL squad in his first season in the league. He had 1,573,703 votes and was followed in the balloting by Mickey Rivers of the Yankees, 1,432,412, and Amos Otis of Kansas City, 1,431,688.

Brockington Is Unhappy

The paper said Brockington told it in an interview from his California home that he had made the request to the National Football League team's management three months ago.

Plunkett Over First Hurdle

SAN JOSE (AP) — Quarterback Jim Plunkett, who's supposed to rescue the San Francisco 49ers from another National Football League losing season, passed his first big test Wednesday — the physical.

The 28-year-old former Stanford star and Heisman Trophy winner, obtained from the New England Patriots last spring, was pronounced in excellent health by team physicians after reporting to training camp at San Jose State University.

Miller Takes Early Second Round Lead

By HARVEY HUDSON
AP Sports Writer

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Johnny Miller fired four birdies on the last six holes today for a four-under-par 68 and took the early second-round lead in the British Open Golf Championship with a 36-hole total of 140.

Two strokes back was Hubert Green who shot a two-under par 70 to go with an opening 72.

Meanwhie, the overnight leaders—Christy O'Connor Jr. of Ireland, Norio Suzuki of Japan and Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, who had 69s—were making little or headway aginst Miller's 140.

O'Connor was having an in-and-out game. He started badly with a bogey-five on the first but got that stroke back and turned at par-34. But a bogey-five on the 10th followed by a double-bogey-five two holes later put him in trouble and, although he birdied the 13th, he was only one ahead of par with four holes to go.

Suzuki, the surprise of the first day, also started to fade. He dropped a stroke on the third, another on the sixth and yet another the next hole to drop three strokes to par and level out four strokes behind Miller by the seventh.

The 19-year-old Ballesteros managed par on the first three holes, then he, too, dropped a stroke oi the short fourth.

Miller, who shot a par-72 Wednesday over the 7,001-yard Royal Birdale Course, made the turn today in par-34. He also matched par on each of the first three holes on the back nine on the dry, hard links, then sizzled home.

The blond U.S. pro birdied the par-five No. 13 and the par-two 14th. Then, after pars on the No. 15 and No. 16, the closed with pair of birdie-fours.

Financial Plan Devised For Elderly Homeowners

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A Wharton School professor has devised a financial plan that would enable elderly homeowners to obtain a regular income from the equity in their homes while being guaranteed lifelong occupancy.

If implemented, the plan has the potential for greatly relieving the financial problems of elderly persons while simulateneously assuring them of independence and security in familiar surroundings.

Jack Guttentag, who holds the chair in banking at Wharton, the business and finance school of the University of Pennsylvania, has put his plan in the public domain, for possible promotion by insurers, government and savings institutions.

So far, he said, one large bank has seriously considered the plan, and many individuals have expressed interest, but it is not yet being marketed, even though he believes it can be offered with actuarial assurance equal to life insurance policies.

Guttentag's ideas, contained in "The Bulletin" of the New York University Graduate School of Business Administration, include two new financial instruments, a split equity plan and a nonrepayable loan plan.

In the split equity concept, the equity of a property is divided in two components, a lifetime interest or right of occupancy, and the residual equity, which is the right to dispose of the property after the occupant's death.

To implement, the elderly occupant sells the residual equity, but instead of obtaining a lump sum payment from the buyer, he or she receives a lifetime annuity or guaranteed income.

Upon the death of the occupant, the buyer ceases further payments and takes possession, sometimes obtaining a more substantial property for the money than would have been possible in a conventional transaction.

The possibility exists, of course, that the elderly owner or owners will enjoy a life span greater than those listed in the actuarial tables, in which the buyer would have to pay a larger sum.

Large institutions, however, can benefit from the laws of large numbers, which generally dictate that extremes average out.

The nonrepayable loan, the other instrument in the professor's concept is simply a loan secured by a mortgage repayable only upon the death of the borrower or on the prior sale of the property.

Guttentag believes the time is ripe for the development of these instruments in the United States.

"With the proportion of elderly in the population steadily rising and concern for wealth bestowals through estates declining, the potential market is increasing rapidly," he said.

There is also a strong social interest in the development of the instruments, he believes, because the aged comprise a large part of the poverty problem.

Ford Rescinds Order On Single-Sex School Events

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal ban on school-sponsored mother-daughter and father-son events irritated President Ford so much that he ordered it rescinded. But a women's group says such functions perpetuate sexual stereotypes and should be eliminated.

Ford ordered a study to determine if single-sex social events violate federal sex discrimintion laws, as alleged by the civil rights office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

White House spokesman Ron Nessen said Wednesday that Ford was irritated when he read of the ruling banning single-sex school events.

The HEW ruling was in response to an inquiry from the Scottsdale, Ariz., public schools, which sponsor father-son banquets and mother-daughter teas. Scottsdale officials wanted to know whether the events violated the laws prohibiting sex discrimination in public schools.

Officially, the ruling issued last week was suspended pending research by lawyers to determine whether Title IX of the Civil Rights Act is violated by such events.

Nessen said that if it is found that the law is being violated, Ford would immediately send legislation to Congress to change the law.

The National Organization for Women took opposition to Ford's stand.

"We are watching Title IX being nickled and dimed to death," charged Lynda Weston, a NOW staff member.

Dividing the sexes for school-sponsored fashion shows, softball games, banquets and breakfasts is a tradition in many communities.

"What happens is you get the girls together with the moms and you have teas and awards for sewing and fashion shows. You get the boys and dads together and you have community leaders come in and give rousing speeches," the NOW official said.

Other opponents argue such affairs are unfair to children with only one parent.

'TAKE YOUR CHOICE'

Presidential Candidates Differ On Energy Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you prefer controlled or uncontrolled oil prices and imports? Mandatory or voluntary energy-saving standards? Federal back-up or federal reak-up of big energy companies?

Take your choice and look closely at this year's presidential candidates.

The energy policies of Democratic contender Jimmy Carter differ sharply from those of President Ford and his rival for the Republican nomination, Ronald Reagan.

For example, Carter favors oil price controls and import quotas, mandatory energy conservation standards and trimming the power of large energy companies.

Ford and Reagan favor an unregulated oil market, more voluntary energy conservation steps and federal support for energy companies.

Carter has more faith in solar energy, less in nuclear power, than Ford or Reagan.

All three favor removal of interstate natural gas price regulation, but Carter would make it temporary — a five-year test of the theory that it would bring forth new gas supplies as producers claim.

All three also favor greater reliance on coal, but Carter questions Ford's push to develop federal coal in the west as a move that might short-change the existing coal area of Appalachia.

After two years in the White House, Ford has spread his energy views all over the public record.

As former governors of Georgia and California, respectively, Carter and Reagan had neither Ford's federal resources nor his responsibility to develop national energy policies.

But Carter has developed a fairly comprehensive and specific set of energy policies, including an original proposal for a World Energy Conference to foster international cooperation in energy research, investment, data-gathering and conservation.

Reagan's published energy views have mainly been general attitudes, illustrated by criticism of policies already enacted by Ford and Congress. He shares Ford's "free-market" approach, but seems to feel it should be even more free than Ford would demand.

Here is a run-down of major energy issues as viewed by Ford, Reagan and Carter:

—Oil Prices: Ford urged an immediate end to oil price controls, but he signed legislation permitting only a gradual phase-out.

Reagan says Ford should have vetoed it.

Carter says prices of U.S.-produced oil should be controlled, at least $3 per barrel below world prices set by the OPEC foreign oil cartel.

—Oil imports: Ford has made the reduction of oil imports a policy goal but wants to rely on rising prices and eventual improvement of U.S. production to stem the flow. He warns of a possible new Arab oil embargo but has not predicted a U.S. reaction.

Carter proposes a quota system to limit oil imports to their present levels; this could create domestic shortages, and Carter says fuel allocation and rationing plans should be kept on standby status.

Carter says a new cut-off of oil shipments to the United States would be "an economic declaration of war" and that he would "instantly and without further debate" suspend U.S. exports of food, weapons, spare parts, oil drilling rigs and oil pipes to the offenders.

Reagan apparently has not taken public positions on these issues.

—Energy conservation: Ford prefers voluntary measures but signed an energy act mandating automobile mileage standards; Reagan said he would have vetoed it and blames such moves on "elitists, some of whom feel guilty because Americans have built such a prosperous nation."

Ford has proposed building-insulation standards and tax credits.

Carter wants mandatory conservation standards for major appliances, automobiles and buildings; revision of electricity rates, a ban on promotional advertising and standby excise taxes on selected fuels.

—Energy ownership: "I support legal prohibitions against ownership of competing types of energy, oil and coal, for example," says Carter, who also would consider splitting oil production and refining from marketing activities.

Ford opposes any attempt to break up oil or energy companies.

Reagan apparently has taken no public position on this issue.

—Campaign contributions: "I will not accept contributions from political action committees controlled by major oil companies," says Carter. Ford and Reagan, asked the same question by a citizens' consumer group, said they will accept such contributions.

Dr. Lamb

What causes gas pains?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have had my gall bladder removed but have had terrible gas pains ever since. I try to do the things the doctors advocate – eat less at a time, eat slowly without gulping, etc. but I still have a lot of trouble. My doctor says don't eat roughage. I have curtailed it but need a certain amount so that I don't get constipated.

I wonder if the same diet that helps when your gall bladder is not at peak function would work for me? I am getting to the point where my social life is curtailed because of this. Could you give me any pointers which could help me?

DEAR READER — Gas pains may not be from gall bladder problems at all. Almost everyone has gas but with normal digestive functions most people are totally unaware of it. The pain usually comes from the gas being trapped in the colon and associated spasm or squeezing action of the colon. When the gas is under pressure, where the colon bends, it stretches or distends the colon and causes pain. If the spasm in the colon relaxes, the gas is no longer trapped and the distention and pain disappear.

Your comment about "roughage" makes me think you have an underlying colon problem, specifically a spastic colon. These types of complaints are often there before a person has a gall bladder operation and may even be confused with symptoms of gall bladder disease. When that is the case they will still be there after surgery.

Symptoms may follow surgery because of the interrupted normal pattern of living. And symptoms may follow an illness that has affected the bowels, such as infectious gastroenteritis (food poisoning).

Most everyone swallows air. You can't prevent it and swallow food and water. Some people do develop a nervous habit of swallowing lots of air and may not be aware of it. Air trapped in the stomach then causes burping and an immediate sense of fullness when you eat.

Other people form gas, often because they lack enzymes normally in the intestines. That results in undigested food which ferments. A loss of tolerance to milk, because of loss of enzymes and inability to digest the double sugar lactose can also cause this problem.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-8 Controlling Gaseousness, to give you a more complete understanding about the problem of gas. Others who have gas problems and want to know what they can do about it can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You can check to see if you are swallowing too much air by holding an eraser between your teeth. That will make swallowing more difficult and will alert you to the problem. It is a good way to help break the habit.

Also I think you should eliminate all milk and all milk products (including milk chocolate bars and milk used in cooking) to see if that is your real problem. It may be a temporary problem in view of your recent operation. You might limit your fat intake in deference to your recent gall bladder surgery. And I am very skeptical that cutting down on bulk, such as bran in cereals will help at all. I suspect you do need that "softage" for normal colon function which may improve your condition.

Wants to be Babied, But Needs Help

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N Y News Synd Inc

DEAR ABBY: I know you'll think I'm crazy, but here goes:

I am a 20-year-old college student who has a very strong desire to be babied.

It all started about six years ago when my older sister began telling me how I used to laugh and thrash happily around while my mother diapered me. Now I derive great pleasure out of just thinking of having a woman powder and diaper me. My desire to experience it again has become so strong that I have actually pinned a diaper on myself and wet myself!

I hope some day to marry a nice woman who will go along with this harmless little game of "playing baby," and agree to powder and diaper me.

I'm normal in every other way and have made the Dean's list, so I'm not crazy. Is there anything wrong with wanting to be a baby again? Please advise me, Abby, and try not to laugh.

WANTS TO BE BABIED IN GA.

DEAR WANTS: I am not laughing. Your strong desire to regress to your baby days and have a woman focus her attention on your genital area could indicate a serious emotional problem requiring expert help—perhaps psychoanalysis.

You can search the world for a woman who will "baby" you and change your diapers, and if you find her, have her see a psychiatrist, too. A marriage of emotional children is a real bummer. Get help.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents were divorced after 30 years of a very bad marriage.

My father-in-law was in business for himself and had an affair with his secretary, who was about my age. After the divorce, my father-in-law married this young secretary.

How do we introduce his new wife? Since we're about the same age, I can't very well call her my "stepmother."

Also, what should my children call her? They now call her by her first name.

PANAMA CITY, FLA.

DEAR PAN: I think you should introduce her as "my father-in-law's new wife." And your children should continue to call her by her first name.

DEAR ABBY: I have a great deal of respect for that man who sniffs his food before he eats it. (His lady friend found it a "disgusting" habit.)

I've never known a dog to trust his eyes when it comes to food. He trusts his nose, however, and he's absolutely right.

If human beings would take a good whiff of what they are about to eat, there would be a lot less food consumed and fewer bellyaches.

NOSEY AT MEALTIME

DEAR NOSEY: "Sniffing" food indicates that there are doubts about its edibleness, which is no compliment to the host. So if sniffing is in order, it should be done subtly.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

Cadet Claims Academy Unfair

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A West Point cadet who says the U.S. Military Academy enforces its honor code inconsistently has alleged in federal court here that cadets sold stolen military equipment, cheated on exams and impersonated government officials.

Those cadets, he claims, were never punished for honor code violations — and therefore he shouldn't be either.

The allegations were included Wednesday in affidavits said to have been sworn to by about 20 of the 148 cadets awaiting hearings on charges of violating the academy's honor code.

Th individuals who signed the affidavits were not named.

The documents were submitted in federal court to support a suit by one of the cadets under suspicion, Kenneth Harms, 20, of Emerson, N.J. The case is before U.S. District Court Judge Vincent P. Biunno.

Harms has asked Biunno to block a scheduled July 16 military hearing for himself and several others on charges that they cheated on a take-home exam in electrical engineering last March.

His claim is that unfair and inconsistent enforcement of the honor code makes its enforcement in his case a violation of his rights.

The affidavits which he introduced were originally submitted to the judge advocate general of the Army by military lawyers for the 148.

All names on the affidavits — the names of those making them and the names of the cadets discussed in them — were deleted before the affidavits reached the judge advocate general's office.

The case, scheduled to be heard Monday, is in the New Jersey district because Harms lives there.

Here are some of the allegations included in the affidavit:

—A cadet found Army equipment on the back of a truck, stole it and sent it home.

—A cadet stole an ash tray from a bar and another sold Army parachutes to civilians.

—A cadet, who wanted to make it easier to cash checks, used another cadet's official cadet card to impersonate a government official while on leave in June 1974.

—A cadet bragged of walking out of the academy's tailor shop without paying for clothing.

Most of the allegations were about cheating on academy examinations. The cadet honor code makes an academy student who fails to report wrongdoing by others subject to expulsion. In all cases, more than one cadet was said to be aware of each incident.

Real Policemen 'Smokied Up'

SONORA, Tex. (AP) — Beware if you are driving near here and a highway patrolman pulls you over, says you have been drinking and demands cash on the spot.

That's what has been happening to drivers on Texas 55 in Southwest Texas, and the real police are getting a little "Smokied up" about it.

Texas Department of Public Safety officers were searching late Wednesday for a 25-year-old man who dresses in DPS gear, carries a gun, drives a black-over-white car that has red lights on top, exempt Texas tags and magnetic state of Texas signs on the doors.

The bogus officer came to the attention of the DPS last week when two motorists told police that the man had used a citizens band radio to urge drivers to "come on—the coast is clear."

The phony officer then stopped the motorists, told them they were speeding and had been drinking and demanded $50. When the drivers refused to pay the fine, they said the man got into his "patrol car" and left.

NASA Is Accepting Applications

HOUSTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it is accepting application for space shuttle astronauts and is encouraging applications for women and those of minority races.

A spokesman said Wednesday NASA is seeking at least 15 pilots and 15 mission specialist candidates.

He said applications will be accepted now until June 30, 1977 and that all applicants would be informed of acceptance by December 10, 1977.

"We are encouraging applications from women and from those of minority races," the spokesman said.

Requirements for a pilot include a bachelor degree in engineering, physical science, or mathematics; 1,000 hours first pilot time, with 2,000 or more desirable; time in a high performance jet aircraft and flight testing experience a bonus.

The spokesman said the candidates selected will report to the Johnson Space Center July 1, 1978 for two years training and evaluation.

The space shuttle vehicles can be used for such things as servicing satellites in orbit and maintaining a permanent space station some day.

The shuttle is a reuseable craft that will return to earth and land like an airplane after completing a mission. The first tests are scheduled to begin next spring.

More Dutch Patients Are Tested

HOUSTON (AP) — Nine Dutch heart patients began tests today prior to planned corrective heart surgery at the Texas Heart Institute in the Texas Medical Center.

The nine were the second group of Dutch patients fown here under a program which could mean at least 300 patients from Holland in the next year.

The nine arrived Wednesday as the first seven Dutch patients who underwent heart surgery June 25 at the institute were discharged. A spokesman at the institute said the first seven were expected to return to their homeland in a few days.

The patients are being flown here through arrangements by the Dutch Heart Patients Association. A spokesman for the association said inadequate facilities and overcrowded hospitals in Holland has forced patients to wait months for surgery.

If surgery is determined, the nine probably will be operated on Friday by teams headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley, chief of cardiovascular surgery at the institute.

The latest group includes a five year old boy and eight men ranging in age from 36 to 60.

Cooley said at the time the first Dutch patients were operated on that the institute could handle about 25 of the patients per month.

Houston, Odessa Girls Win Round

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The first round of preliminary swimsuit and talent competition in the Miss Texas Pageaant ended up Wednesday, and the first two winners came from Houston and Odessa.

Elizabeth Joan Clark, 20, of Houston, won the swimsuit preliminary wearing the Miss Toledo Bend banner.

Carmen Ann McCollum, 19, of Odessa, won the talent preliminary, playing a country and western medley on the alto saxophone. She entered as Miss West Texas.

Several more preliminary rounds will be judged leading up to Saturday night's Miss Texas Pageant finals at the Tarrant County Convention Center.

The winner will represent Texas in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J.

Timber Suit Filed

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — A conservation group has alleged in a suit against the U.S. Forest Service that the agency is selling live, immature timber and small trees in the Raven district of the Sam Houston National Forest.

The suit, which also names Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz as a principal defendant, seeks to stop the selective and clear cutting of timber in the district.

The action was filed by Dallas attorney Edward C. Fritz, chairman of the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, who said his organization is seeking "to enjoin the Forest Service from proceeding further with sales on clear cutting and selective cutting of timber."

The suit alleges that the Forest Service is violating the Organic National Forestry Act of 1897 "in that they are selling timber other than dead, mature timber or large trees and they are also calling for clear cuts."

The organization said the Forest Service is allowing clear cuts of forest land without having filed an environmental impact statement and is selling timber by creek banks, thus increasing erosion. It added that small trees are being cut in violation of regulations.

Fritz said the organization is not against all timber cutting, but wants a return to selective cutting as was done until recent years.

Raven District Manager Kelley Siegler said the civil action could affect timber sales in Texas if there is a favorable ruling.

The Sam Houston National Forest is in East Texas, adjacent to both Lake Livingston and Lake Conroe north of Houston.
