Salt Fork SCD Slates Annual Tour Oct. 22

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District will hold its annual tour Tuesday, October 22, when the public is invited to go along and see for themselves the work district farmers are doing to build up their land and strengthen their farming programs.

Tour members will ride in buses this year, leaving the court house at 10 a. m. Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service said. They will return to Wellington at noon to have lunch with the Wellington Rotary Club.

Salt Fork SCD will furnish the club program.

"Several things will be seen on this tour that have not been looked at before in Salt Fork SCD," Squyres said. "There will be examples of land leveling on dry land, a sesmae crop, weeping love grass baled as hay, erosion control dams, and others. We believe the business men and farmers alike will be interested in seeing how these practices operate."

These farms will be visited during the day:

Lynn Carter, Dodson to see cotton under irrigation following vetch planted as winter cover, and vetch planted this fall in cotton while it is still green.

J. W. White, Kelley community, a syrup pan terrace system and land leveling on dry land.

Murl Lacy, east of Wellington, to see cotton following peas, and mungbeans and feed planted together in the same row.

O. S. Scoggins, Wellington, sesame, which he is raising for the first year, and which is the first crop of sesame raised in Salt Fork

L. A. Gilmore, west of Wellington, a gulley dammed up and filled in to the point that terraces can be run across it.

A. C. Patterson, Buck Creek, weeping love grass harvested and baled.

Zook Thomas, Lillie, erosion control dam, and possibly cotton under irrigation and fertilized.

Ritz Has "Black Patch" Premiere

The Ritz Theatre in Wellington has been included for the All-Oklahoma Premiere of "Black Patch" one of Hollywood's best westerns of the year, Emmett Passmore has announced.

The pre-national release engagement here is Wednesday, October 16.

The film is reportedly a thrilling picturization of a hardened Civil War veteran, set in the unruly territory of New Mexico following the war-between-the-states. George Montgomery stars as the title character, Black Patch.

The film also stars Diane Brewster, Tom Pittman, Leo Gordon and Sebastian Cabot.

"Black Patch" marks the initial production effort from the newly founded, George Montgomery Productions, with the star as its head. Filmed from a screenplay by Leo Gordon, "Black Patch" deals with a returned prisoner of war who wears a patch to cover the loss of his eye. He drifts to a frontier town and is made marshal. The tenacles of his past however soon present themselves in the person of his former love and a killer friend, and a story of passion and violence is unfurled.

For the role of a sensitive youngster who falls into possession of a gun and turns into a dangerous "gunslinger", newcomer Tom Pittman was selected from literally hundreds of applicants. His portrayal is reportedly reminiscent of the early James Cagney film performances.

Diana Brewster, a lovely Miss of considerable talent, also makes an initial entry with "Black Patch".

A. T. Lentz, 67, who carried the United States mail on foot, by horse and car for almost 50 years, died at his home at 7:35 p. m., Thursday, October 3. He had suffered from a heart ailment for several years and his condition recently had grown steadily worse.

Mr. Lentz came here 20 years ago with his family from Talmadge, Nebraska, and when he retired from the postal service in May, 1955 he was assistant postmaster of the Wellington office.

Beginning his career as a substitute carrier at the age of 16, Mr. Lentz was appointed a regular carrier 46 years ago, in 1911, and it was from that point that the Post Office Department figures his service. It was not until 1922 that he bought his first car, the first of nine he was to wear out in his work.

Mr. Lentz was named assistant postmaster in 1941.

The development of his heart ailment was responsible for his retirement in 1955.

Albert Thomas Lentz was born February 1, 1890, south of Austin in Travis county. He grew up there. He was married to Miss Nacie Mae Corbel at Bastrop on September 27, 1921.

Mr. Lentz had been a member of the Church of Christ since early in life.

$2,600,000 Feed Crop Harvest Opens in County

Collingsworth county's best grain sorghum crop since 1949 is coming on the market and early estimates are that it will be a money crop of around $2,600,000 for the growers.

Unlike many West Texas counties, Collingsworth probably has little more acreage than last year but it is the increased yield that is making the difference.

On grain already harvested yields up to 3,100 pounds per acre have been reported. Several 2,500 pound yields have come in, and 2,000 pounds per acre is common.

One Wellington buyer this week estimated an 1,800 pound per acre average yield for the county.

Athough there is no accurate check on the total acreage, it is estimated at 90,000.

Very little of this is irrigated, and cutting of this has only started. As yet it cannot be determined what this will cut per acre, but top yields of around 3,500 are expected.

Farmers harvesting early found the moisture content high and the market opened at around $1.40 per hundred.

Late last week, before the wet spell set in, the grain had dried and was of top quality.

All grain coming into local markets now is going in the government loan, which is netting the farmer $1.61 per hundred.

There has been an increase in the acreage of hybrid grain sorghums, but most of combine maise raised tihs year is the 7-78 variety.

Rockets Meet McLean Tigers Here Friday

Wellington Skyrockets are fighting flu and general bruises and aches this week as they prepare for the McLean Tigers in a game tc be played Friday night, October 11, at Powell Field.

Not a great deal is known here about the Tigers. Games scouted have caught them in their worst moments and the Rocket coaching staff still doesn't know how strong the McLean team can be.

Last week the Tigers lost to White Deer by a whopping fifty-odd points — a game that should not have gone that way at all.

Coach Jack Riley's team is basically a T formation ball club and he has a number of individual players who are good. A quick rundown shows these to be Jim Rice, quarterback, who is a good ball carrier, as is David Crockett, fullback. Kend Wiggins, an end, is fast and is doing an excellent job on both the offense and defense.

Coaches John Hurey and Frank Lindsey believe the Rockets may be in a little better shape this week, as far as having people back on the team is concerned. However, Randal Raburn, lineman, and Carroll Nunnelley, back, have had the flu, and although they are back in school, Hurley isn't sure either of them will play this week.

History of Fire Prevention Week

This week (October 6-12) marks the 65th anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire — and the 35th anniversary of the special week which commemorates the terrible destruction by fire of one of the world's great cities.

This is Fire Prevention Week. By tradition the country officially observes Fire Prevention Week each year during the calendar week which includes October 9, designated as the anniversary date of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871.

Fire Prevention Week actually started as a special day dedicated to "bringing before the public the much-needed lesson of fire prevention." Fire Prevention Day as it was known, was first observed on Oct. 9, 1911. It's original sponsor was the Fire Marshals' Association of North America, which is now a section of the National Fire Protection Association.

It was in 1920 that President Wilson issued the first National Fire Prevention Day proclamation. And, finally, in 1922 the entire week including October 9 was officially proclaimed Fire Prevention Week by President Harding.

Guiding spirit behind Wellington's observance of this special week, past and present, is the Wellington Fire Department. But, in addition, these organizations have faithfully supported and participated in the annual fire safety drives—the chamber of commerce, the schools, youth groups, civic and social groups.

The national sponsor is the National Fire Protection Association in conjunction with the International Association of Fire Chiefs, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and a number of other public service organizations.

Is fire prevention still "the much-needed lesson" the fire marshals thought it to be nearly half a century ago? Last year's fire losses—the people killed and property destroyed—provide the tragic answer: fire in North America in 1956 cost the lives of 11,100 persons and $1,385,000,000 in property.

CROSSROADS REPORT

My understanding neighbor says he feels sorry for the politicians who hope to get a lot of extra Negro votes by reactivating the Reconstruction period.

The plan was working until some few stubborn Southerners had to be brought to light with the bayonet again, and this activity may cost more white votes than it gains in Negro votes.

He says some folks are always upsetting other people's plans, though. Like, for instance, he had a promising scheme to beat the high cost of living, which worked fine until this fellow next door put a bear trap in his home freezer.

Everybody seems like is worried about inflation these days, and the way some talk, you would think money is getting so cheap it is hardly worth fooling with any more.

But, in spite of this, lots of people are still knocking themselves out trying to get hold of some of the worthless stuff.

My neurotic neighbor says there is no doubt in his mind what has caused this inflation. It is plainly an Act of God, on account of He is the only party who hasn't yet come out with a statement blaming it on somebody else.

I see where Mr. Satchmo Armstrong, colored, invited the U. S. government to go to hell, when he got dissatisfied with the quantity of blood-shed in the Little Rock fracas.

But U. S. high brass apologized to the great expert on trumpets and official guts and promised to do better next time.

Seems like Mr. Satchmo is now appeased and will not move off to some foreign country like Charlie Chaplain did, and leave us to endure a bleak and cheerless existence without him.

I see where a California judge says that one reason a man needs a wife is that some things are sure to go wrong which he can't blame on the government.

But my cranky neighbor says this is no good reason to get married either, as there are lots of things these days besides the government and his wife a man can blame his troubles on.

Says even if a man is a total bachelor, modern society can now furnish alphabetical troubles to work on any category of citizen he may come in, such as the AFL-CIO, NAM, NAACP, KKK, TV, COD and IOU.

Maybe you have noticed that the British are sending a lady over here to teach American women how to curtesy to their Queen when she comes to visit us.

This is nice. Much good feeling could be generated if each country would go along with the strange customs of its neighbors.

Like when a foreign country gets, say, a $100 million handout from us, it would be a courteous gesture for them to saluate American taxpayers with a symbolic nose-to-grindstone bow.

I note that Mr. Eisenhower and many other very ranked citizens are bothered about what the people of other countries may think of us when they see us bickering among ourselves over various matters.

But my futile neighbor says it don't seem to make any difference what we do, the foreigners can always find something about us they don't like.

He says keeping the world content with us these days is pretty near as much trouble as trying to keep a 15-minute parking meter satisfied.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

It is a far cry from the days when Grandma cooked over a wood stove to prepare dinner for eight or more persons; but I saw something the other day in one of our local super markets that made me think of how much our way of living has changed in the last fifty years. It was a frozen turkey dinner in a tray with each food neatly separated. All you do is put it in the oven and warm, set the tray in front of the TV, and later throw the containers in the trash can — no dishes to wash.

But that is nothing. At the Tri-State Fair we saw an electronic stove being operated. It bakes a potato in two minutes, cooks bacon perfectly in 90 seconds, bakes a cake in three minutes — you can see it rising through the glass door and it cooks a roast in four minutes. To pop popcorn you put an ear in a paper sack twist the top and the corn is popped before you can hardly get the sack out of the oven. When you buy an eltronic oven they give you over 400 recipes, for with this you do not cook by temperature but by time alone. You use paper or pasteboard, foil or glass containers so there is no such thing as washing greasy skillets or aluminum pots and pans.

Great cultures have risen and fallen on the supply of water in that particular area. That is why the present effort of Governor Price Daniel to get a workable long range water program working should command the attention and thought of all Texans.

So many things have been happening over at the courthouse during the last few days that it is difficult to report all of them. The Commissioners Court has called an election in which the people will pass on the unit system of road maintenance in the county. Many people believe that this will not only improve the road systems in every part of the county; but that it will also tend to improve the finances of the county.

The other day I received a long distance call from Little Rock, Arkansas. Not knowing a single soul in Little Rock, I went to the phone in a somewhat perturbed and partially aggressive frame of mind. I could not remember writing anything about the integration situation in Arkansas; but I got to wondering if D. E. Scott had written some caustic comment that had escaped my attention and had not met with favor from the NAACP, and I was wondering if it was the FBI, the Army or some Federal Judge who was calling. They all seem so dedicated to supporting the wishes of the NAACP that I couldn't imagine who it might be.

It turned out to be a friendly call from George Moore who worked for radio stations in Amarillo in 1948 and 49 and who is now personnel director of Station KTHS in Little Rock. He was calling simply to check up on a former employee of The Leader that I was glad to recommend.

But Mr. Moore seemed to be homesick for the Panhandle — asked about the weather, perfect, West Texas State, great, the crops, better than in seven years and so forth and so on through endless gabble for ten minutes. Finally I decided that he was just visiting on company time and expense; so I asked him about integration in Little Rock.

It was explosive as the press painted for one day; but it is quiet now, he said. Moore did not think there would have been much to it if the entire Federal action had been less hasty. He explained that most people were far more concerned about the destruction of state rights than they were about integration. There are 19,000 Negroes in the county in which Little Rock is located and the total populaiton of the county is over 300,000. That makes a proportion of about 1 to 15 as compared to 1 to 10 in Collingsworth.

He asked about the feeling out here in the country below the Caprock. I told him that we were not too concerned about integration since the Negro population was far in the minority, and that our local school board had pursued a course on buildings for the Negro schools that indicated that they thought integration was inevitable since the Supreme Court had ursurped the right of the Congress to make laws. We are much more concerned about the determined effort to desiccate the 10th amendment and eventually destroy it in order to bolster the 14th amendment.

When Lefty Thomas left for Boston to receive his distinguished service award, he and Mrs. Thomas left a few days early. They planned to take a leisurely trip through southern and eastern states and before going to Boston they planned to stop in New York — a city neither of them has ever seen. After the meeting in Boston they planned to visit Canada briefly and come back through the middle west. I can't imagine a lovlier time of the year to visit that part of the continent. The scenery should be at its very best.

Mrs. Argen Hix Draper, home demonstration agent for Deaf Smith County, also won a similar award for outstanding service among home demonstration agents. She will receive her award in Minneapolis.

B Rockets Win From Memphis Cyclone 25-7

The Wellington Skyrocket B team defeated the Memphis B Cyclone in an easy game, 25 to 7, Thursday night, October 3, at Powell Field.

The Rockets scored early in the first, but not again until near the end of the second. One score was made in each the third and fourth quarters.

Memphis' lone score came with only seconds left in the game.

The Rockets first score was set up when Kent Peeples, quarterback, got loose on the kick-off and ran back to the Memphis 30. The team went right on down to the goal, then lost the ball.

As Memphis tried to kick out, Granville Killian went through and recovered a fumble behind the goal line.

From there, it was nip and tuck almost to the half, when Clinton Gibbs, fullback, ran an inside tackle play for about 15 yards and the touchdown. Peeples ran the extra point over in the same style, to leave the score 13-0 in favor of Wellington at the half.

In the third it was again Gibbs, this time making a wide sweep down to scoring territory. On the next play he ran the ball over.

The fourth period saw Sammy Davis, playing end, receive a long pass from Gibbs, then run it over for the fourth touchdown.

With only minutes left, Memphis started a drive that took them to the two yard line. When the clock showed 5 seconds to go, a Memphis pass was incomplete and the clock stopped. On the next play, the Cyclone took the ball over on a dive play for their score. They made the extra point the same way.

Coach Harvey Millsap played every boy eligible in the game with Memphis, including some little boys who don't get to see much action, but whom he is trying to give some experience.

Playing Thursday were Gibbs, fullback; Burl Lowe, tackle; Killian, end; John Wolf, end; Benson Long, guard; John Duncan, halfback; Leo Russell, tackle; Sammy Davis, end; Dan Hiett, guard; Jerry Duncan, end; Jerry Manuel, tackle; Eldon Owens, guard; Leon Bawcom, tackle; Peeples, quarterback; Keith Jesse, tackle; Ernest Peach center and Cager Wilkins, halfback.

Quails Open Basketball Play

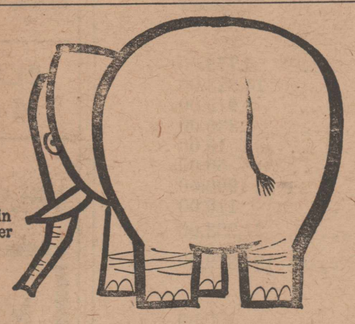

Quail Quails have begun practice for the basketball season, under the direction of Coach George Stephens.

All boys who were members of last year's starting lineup are back, including Gano Wilson, Raymond Minatrea, Joel Young and Dee Blasingame, three-year lettermen; and Jerry DeBord, Dale Ratliff, Glen Harris, Neal White and Billy Moseley, one year lettermen.

Last year's team had 19 wins and 12 losses on their record.

results of Purina cattle-feeding research

proved in the West

Every dot indicates a state where Purina feeding demonstrations are completed or in progress, with locations shown. So you may see rather than just hear about results Purina Steer Fatena and local grains and roughages can give you, Purina Dealers across the West are feeding cattle at stockyards and sales barns.

And averages of six of these tests show grain supplemented with Steer Fatena producing a pound of beef for only 7.46 pounds of total feed. That's 2 pounds of feed per pound of beef less than U. S. D. A. figures—a 22% better job! That's the kind of feeding efficiency a cattleman must have to make money from cattle feeding.

You are cordially invited to see the cattle and study the feeding records at the point nearest you. We want you to see for yourself the difference Purina Steer Fatena can make!

Before you order your winter feed supply for cows, ask us about Purina Range Checkers—remember, they're made right, proved right, priced right.

County Divided In Two Areas for Census Purposes

In a joint program with the State of Texas and each of its counties, the Bureau of the Census is establishing areas, known as "Census County Divisions", for use in statistical reporting. Similar areas were established in the State of Washington prior to the 950 Census, and since 1950 have been put into effect in eleven other states.

Joel L. Burkhart, a member of the Census Staff, was here from Washington to consult with county officials and solicit their advice in regard to the proposed areas for Collingsworth county.

The proposed Census County Divisions should be particularly useful for local administrative purposes. The Census County Divisions are generally larger in area and population than the Justices' or Commissioner's Precincts; they have clear-cut boundaries which can easily be identified; and they are intended to ramain as permanent areas. For the most part, they are based on the communities which serve as the focal point of each area. The statistical data for these divisions will serve as a yardstick with which to measure the sphere of influence exercised by such communities. It is believed that the Census County Divisions will be a handy tool for the use of county officials, local newspapers, and business and civic organizations.

Burkhart said the county divisions set up by the Bureau of the Census will not interfere in any way with the use of Justices' or Commissioner's precincts by the State or counties.

For Census purposes Collingsworth County has been divided into two Census County Divisions, Wellington Census County Division and Samnorwood Census County Division.

Purina Has New Broiler Technique

The Ralston Purina Company has perfected a technique for pelleting a high-fat ration for broilers on a practical commercial basis, it was announced September 20 by Purina President Raymond E. Rowland at a special news conference at the Purina Research Farm.

The new product will carry a guaranteed fat content of 8 per cent, approximately twice as much as old production methods were able to pellet. The new ration will be available to broiler growers in principal broiler areas immediately.

Purina research tested the new ration on many thousands of birds over a period of a good many months. From this research it was learned that the two-to-one "sound barrier" in broiler production can be broken commercially. In other words, it is possible now, under favorable conditions, to produce comercially one pound of broiler meat on less than 2 pounds of feed.

The Purina president hailed this new broiler milestone as another example of the teamwork between poultry nutrition research and engineering research. He pointed out that discoveries of nutrition researchers have led the way in broiler industry progress but that it has been the ability of the milling and production experts to apply the fruits or research in commercial broiler operations that has pumped strength into the broiler industry.

Commercial and college researchers have shown that pelleting a broiler ration results in definite economic advantages. They have also shown that the addition of high levels of fats speeds growth and improves feed efficiency.

Before the Purina technique was developed, however, it was not considered possible to pellet a high fat ration for practical commercial use because of milling and production difficulties involved.

Rockets Take 13-8 Tussle at Clarendon

By Lyndon Crelia

Wellington's Skyrockets roared over the Clarendon Broncos 13 to 8 Friday night in a non-conference tilt on the Broncos home field. Coming from behind in the first quarter, the Rockets came through with 2 touchdowns and a conversion, and allowed only 1 touchdown for the Broncos.

The Broncos had taken the lead early in the first quarter after the Rockets were set back behind their own goal line by a penalty, and the ball carrier was hauled down in the end zone on the attempt to cut around end and run it out.

After the Rockets kick to the Broncos, the Wellington line dug in their toes and held the line forcing the Broncos to punt after only 3 plays. This punt return set the field for the scoring drive by the Rockets, and they marched down the field from the Clarendon 39 yard line to the 8 in only 6 plays. There Rocket halfback Farris Wood, on a dive play, went over for the touchdown. The pass play for conversion failed. This play ended the first quarter with the score standing 6-2 for the Rockets.

Second quarter saw the ball go back and forth between the teams on fumbles and forces to punt 5 times before either team managed to score. This score came after the Broncos were held at a standstill by the Rocket line, and were forced to punt. The ball was taken on about the Rocket 20 yard line by quarterback Jerry Elbert, who cut left and, failing to find an opening, cut back to the right and went all the way for the touchdown. The attempted run on conversion was good, with halfback Ronnie O'Rear doing the carrying.

The Broncos took the ball after the kick and runback to the 50, and set up a drive that carried them to pay dirt with only seconds to spare. With 23 seconds left in the second quarter, Clarendon quarterback Jerry Behrens slashed off right guard and over from the 8 yard line for the only Bronco touchdown of the game. Halfback Carl Evans attempted the kick for extra point, but failed.

This was the final score in the game, and the Rockets held their lead the rest of the game and allowed only 1 penetration by the Broncos the last half. This threat was broken up on the Wellington 28 yard line after the Broncos had been set back 15 yards on a penalty, and on the next play, Rocket back Farris Wood intercepted a pass from Behrens that was intended for end Carol Johnson.

The starting lineup for the Rockets this week was quite a bit different than usual. With Wilkins out for the season on an elbow injury, and Carrol Nunnelley and Randal Raburn out with the flu, the Rockets were nearly all playing in different positions, and doing fine jobs of it. On offense Jerry Elbert was in the quarterback slot; Charlie Welch in as fullback; Farris Wood and Ronnie O'Rear, halfbacks; Glen Warrick and Richard Tigert, ends; Richard Carter and Tank Forrester guards; Harry White and Carl Daves, tackles; and Cloyce Scarberry, center.

The Rockets turned in fine plays on defense, with Billy Lockhart, Ronnie Thompson, Ray Henry and the entire starting lineup doing fine jobs in holding the Broncos to only 175 yards rushing. On offense Elbert, Welch, Woods and O'Rear, among others, boosted the Rockets yards gained rushing to 231. The Rockets came through with 13 first downs as compared to only 11 for the Broncos.

Fire Takes A Tragic Toll of Lives ... of Money

October 6-12 Is Fire Prevention Week

Loss of life is worst of all . . . but tragic, too, is the loss of property .....which can mean loss of your home . . . or the loss of your source of income.

The bitter irony is that you can prevent much of this loss — by care and caution and a little forethought.

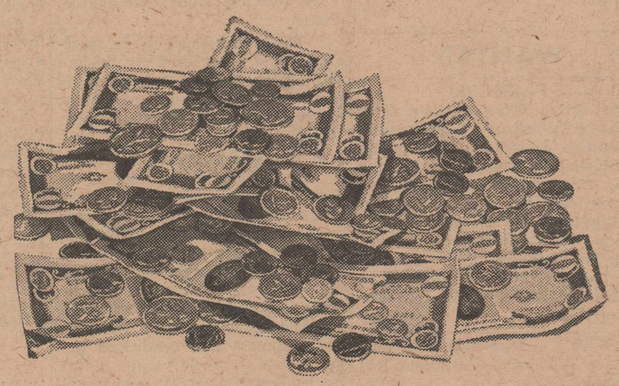

The last five years have been lean years, and fire is even more of a disaster. We hope you will join us in looking at Fire Prevention as one way of using sound business judgement.

Fire Prevention Week Marks Its 35th Anniversary

Traditionally, Fire Prevention Week each year is the full calendar week including October 9, anniversasy of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. It is observed at the same time in the United States and Canada by proclamation of the President of the United States and the Governor-General of Canada.

Fire Prevention Week actually dates back to Fire Prevention Day which was inaugrated and first observed throughout the United States on October 9, 1911. It began when the Fire Marshals' Association of North America (now a section of the NFPA) suggested that the Fortieth Anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire be set apart for bringing before the public the much needed lesson of fire prevention. In August, 1916 the National Fire Protection Association Committee on Fire Prevention Day was formed. And in 1920 this committee succeeded in persuading President Wilson to issue the first National Fire Prevention Day Proclamation. However, it was not until 1922 that the whole week containing Fire Prevention Day (October 9) was officially proclaimed "Fire Prevention Week" by President Harding.

In the last decade, fire has killed more than 100,000 persons and burned and disfigured many hundreds of thousands more.

Each year about 11,500 Americans die needessly in fire and more than twice that number are severely burned or disfigured for life. Old people and pre-school children are the principal victims of fire.

Every day there are 1300 home fires . . . 31 death by fire . . . 150 store fires. . .100 factory fires. . 110 barn fires. . .12 school fires. . . 4 hospital fires. . .9 church fires.

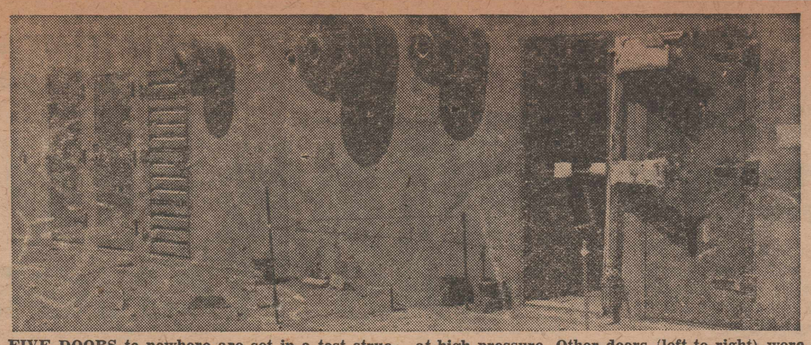

The combined U.S. and Canadian fire loss total in 1956 was $1,385,000,000 and there were approximately 2,000,000 fires.

Most death by fire tragically involve women and children in the home. Many are suffocated by smoke and fire gases without being actually burned. Many deaths too many—are caused my people falling asleep while smoking or reentering burning homes to rescue pets and personal possessions.

Most common causes of home fires: smoking and matches — 17.2 per cent; heating and cooking equipment — 13.7 per cent; electrical causes — 12.9 per cent; rubbish, ignition source unknown —7.9 per cent; lightning — 5.9 per cent; chimneys and flues — 4.9 per cent; flammable liquids, dry cleaning, painting, etc. — 4.2 per cent; children and matches — 3.6 per cent.

Kitchens — 26.5 per cent; living rooms—26.5 per cent; bedrooms—12.3 per cent; basements—10.4 per cent; concealed wall, ceiling and floor spaces — 5.2 per cent; attics —4.7 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller Jr. and sons, Gary and Jan visited in Lubbock over the weekend with Mrs. Miller's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hatton.

FIVE DOORS to nowhere are set in a test structure at the Nevada atomic test site to measure the blast resistance of various kinds of common building materials. Only the hollow plywood door (second from right) was blasted from its frame at high pressure. Other doors (left to right) were made of solid plywood, wood planking, and two kinds of steel shapes. Circular objects on the wall are anti-blast valves for automatically closing ventilation openings in case of a nuclear blast. (NTO Lookout Mountain Lab Photo)

Wheeler Continues Good Production Of Sorghum Almum

Sorghum Almum, the crop Collingsworth's John Coleman introduced to the United States, continues to make impressive records.

Ted Wheeler, who farms northwest of Wellington, has turned in a report of the excellent grazing he got — and this was the purpose for which the grass is originally intended.

"I have 30 acres of sorghum almum that came up reasonably early last spring," Wheeler said. "I turned 40 head of cattle in on it the last week in May and they stayed about five weeks.

"I took them off after the first of July and had very little rain on the sorghum almum after that.

"I still harvested over 300 pounds of seed per acre and have my cattle back on the field — and it's a good pasture."

Recognition at National Meet

Argen Draper Chosen For National HD Award

COLLEGE STATION (Spl.) — Mrs. Argen Hix Draper, home demonstration agent in Deaf Smith county since 1947, is one of four Texans selected to receive the 1957 Distinguished Service Award of the National Home Demonstration Agents' Association. Presentation of the awards will climax activities at the Association's national meeting to be held October 22-25 at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

These honorary awards are made each year to home demonstration agents from the various states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, who have rendered outstanding service to the people with whom they work for a period of 10 years or more.

Other Texas home demonstration agents named to receive the award are: Mrs. Lurline Daspit, Collin county; Mrs. Minna Perry, Panola county; and Miss Emily Ritter, Brazos county.

Mrs. Draper joined the Agricultural Extension Service in 1942 as home demonstration agent in Hemphill county where she remained until 1947 when she accepted her present assignment. Previous to joining the Extension Service she taught school in Collingsworth county.

She is especially recognized for outstanding ability and performance in leadership training organization and program building in both home demonstration and girl's 4-H Club work.

Her records show outstanding work in the field of landscaping and homestead improvement, in home furnishings and clothing work. Foods and nutrition, home management, family life and recreation programs have been geared to the needs and interests of homemakers and family members in her county. She uses many methods in an effort to reach as many people as possible. Leadership training meetings, workshops, demonstrations, home visits, office conferences and community gatherings offer opportunities to work with people. Via telephone, newspaper and radio, she gives information to others.

Active in many community and county civic activities, Mrs. Draper was the first woman ot be chosen by the Hereford Brand as a community builder. She was also recognized by the Amarillo Daily News as a key person helping to improve the living standard of farm people. She is a member of the Hereford Garden Club, American Legion Auxiliary, Chamber of Commerce, Eastern Star, local livestock show committee, 4-H exhibit committee of Tri-State Fair, and professional home economics organizations.

Mrs. Draper lists her interest in people as her main hobby. Her home is known for its hospitality. She also uses it as a laboratory for testing the many homemaking ideas she passes on to others.

those who helped organize the Wellington Garden Club and she had worked with the flower shows of recent years here.

Four years ago, when most women begin to think of retiring, Mrs. Hutcherson joined the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, and here she turned her work into a second hobby, helping those who were ill, whenever she could be of service.

Mrs. Hutcherson formerly was active in the Eastern Star.

She was born Rebecca Elizabeth Vaughan, at Fairfield, Ill., April 19, 1887, the daughter of William and Mary E Reed Vaughan.

As a young girl she came with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, to Manitou, then in the Indian Territory. In 1911 she was married to the late Mr. Hutcherson at Frederick, Okla., and they lived there until moving to Wellington 40 years ago.

Funeral services were held Sunday, October 6, at First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Russell Pogue officiating. Pall bearers were O. B. Raburn, E. F. Bartlett, John Trew, A. L. Elliott, George Scott, and Cal Sugg. Flower bearers were members of the Mary Martha Sunday School Class.

Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hutcherson is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Barjenbruch, one grandson, John Albert Barjenbruch; and one sister, Mrs. William Kerschmer of Peoria, Ill.

The above eight are 4-H Club exhibitors.

Eight Wellington Future Farmers will take calves. Six of the calves to be exhibited are Angus, two are Herefords.

Mike Glenn, chapter president, will show Bob; Glen Warrick is feeding and grooming Billy; Bobby Tyson will have Shorty and Richard Tigert is taking John. Carrol Daves will exhibit Blackie and De Holliman will have a milk-fed calf, Jinks. The two Herefords in the group are Rusty, belonging to Benson Long and Rex, to be exhibited by Jerry Scott.

er, took the flu also. He is back in school, too, but not in very good physical condition for an upcoming game. Coupled with this is the fact that he is changing to quarterback position this year.

Coach Hurley added that a number of other boys are are hampered by bruises or aches — little things that are not enough to keep them out of the game, but are enough to slow them down.

Hurley named as his tentative starting lineup Cloyce Scarberry, center; Tank Forrester and Richard Carter guards; possibly Carl Daves and Harry White, tackles; and the ends will be picked from a trio: Richard Tigert, Glen Warrick and Randall Raburn; Jerry [illegible]rt, quarterback; Farris Wood, [illegible]alf; either Carroll Nunnelee or Bonnie O'Rear, left half; [illegible] Welch, fullback.

Bratten Jewelry Will Hold Formal Opening Saturday

Formal opening of the newly remodeled Bratten Jewelry will be held Saturday, October 12, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bratten, owners, announced this week, as they invited the public to visit them on that day.

Located in the middle of the west side of the square, the building is in a key location in the business section. Likewise, it is one of the group of local stores whose remodeling is setting the pace for the "face lifting" of Wellington's commercial area.

The building was remodeled both inside and outside. A completely new modern front was installed, using as a base pink stone, built up to the height most desired for displaying jewelry and gift merchandise. Above is the display case, which also has glass doors at the back to give maximum lighting in the store. The door, at the south end of the building, is glass.

A matching door at the north end gives entrance into the office of Dr. Chester Harrison, Hollis optometrist who is here twice each week.

The interior of Bratten Jewelry is finished in a soft rose beige, almost pastel in hue, and furnishings in the store were refinished to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Bratten are assisted in the store by Mrs. Lester Harwell.

Signals Clear in Wellington

Ledbetter Gets "Beep" Of Satellite Moon

Beryl Ledbetter, Wellington short-wave radio operator, picked up the cricket-like "beep" of the Russian Satellite Moon now circling the earth Monday evening, October 7, the only local person to have heard it.

Ledbetter had his regular short wave receiving equipment, a Hollicrafter S76, tuned on the correct wave length from time to time since the announcement had been made of the satellite, but he hadn't heard anything that satisfied him. From descriptions of the sound and tape recordings on radio and TV, he knew the sound he was listening for.

"You couldn't mistake it when it came," he declared.

Ledbetter first picked up the sound about 6:15 p. m. and it continued distinctly until 6:30. He heard it for a while longer as it faded out.

"It must have been crossing this part of the United State, or as near as it gets to us," he speculated.

Ledbetter picked up the "beep" at 20.05 megacycles, and added that other short wave operators can locate the position of its nearness to WWV, the Bureau of Standards broadcasting length. He said he would be glad to give other operators additional information if they need it.

70-Yard Runs Were Commonplace

Firecrackers Overwhelm Wheeler Team 40 to 12

Wellington Firecrackers, junior high team, celebrated their first victory of the season by giving the Wheeler Colts a resounding defeat 40 to 12 Thursday night, October 3 at Wheeler.

Runs that were up to 65 and 70 yards characterized the touchdown plays by Coach Mack Bush's boys.

Wellington scored on the second play from scrimmage when Gary West went over left tackle for approximately 45 yards and a touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

A short time later, Wellington took the ball on downs and Craig Bergball went over on a dive play from about 10 yards out.

Wheeler scored next, when they ran the kickoff back 70 yards for a touchdown.

Then, as Wheeler kicked off to Wellington, the Firecrackers were not to be outdone, and West took the ball and ran it back an equal distance — 70 yards — for a score. A pass from Richard Mauldin to Tony White was good for the extra point and the half ended with the Crackers leading 20 to 6.

As the second half opened, West took the kickoff and ran back 65 yards for a touchdown. Mauldin made the extra point on an off-tackle play.

Wheeler then went into a long drive into Firecracker territory and a pass play completed yardage for the touchdown.

Still in the third, Mauldin threw a pass to Randall Scott that was good for 40 yards and a touchdown. Try for extra point was good.

In the fourth. Pablo Martinez, a recent addition to the Firecrackers, ran around right end for 70 yards and a touchdown. The extra point was made and that ended the scoring for the night, 40 to 12.

Everybody on the 28-man traveling squad got to play and this included White, Leroy Prince, Herman Childress, Jerry Rainey, Bobby Antoon, Charles Floyd, Scott Mauldin, James Branch, Gary Holliman, West, Dan Henard, Oliver Bishop, Herbert Duncan, Raymond Sanders, John Roark, Mike Abney, Freddy Watkins, Lynn McLain, Jackie Daves, Martinez, Bergvall, Eddie Maxwell, Pat Templeton, Harold Pigg, Johnny Ford, Don Roark, Jerry Thompson, James Morrison, manager, also made the trip.

The accident occured in front of the Langford home as the youth was removing the gun from the car following a hunting trip, his father, Bill Langford, said. He was alone.
