The collection of W.H.D. Koerner paintings now on display at the Scurry County Museum may become one of the most popular exhibits yet at the new facility. At least, it has made a good start in that direction.

The "Homesteaders" painting must be the most popular of the group, based on observations during the first couple of days the exhibit was open. But all of them project unusual authenticity, which, according to Mrs. Ruth Koerner Oliver, the artist's daughter, was Koerner's objective. The noted western painter who was doing Saturday Evening Post covers before Norman Rockwell, made it a habit to thoroughly familiarize himself with his subject matter and then faithfully transform it to canvas or board.

The Koerner collection will remain on display at the museum on the Western Texas College campus through May 4, and it already has attracted the attention of many visitors from out-of-town.

Local museum officials said Mrs. Oliver was particularly pleased with the facilities for exhibiting art in the new museum here. She said that she often was disappointed by the manner in which the Koernor art was presented, especially in the lighting. The Scurry County Museum's excellent arrangement has drawn praise since it first opened, and this occasion was no exception.

Mrs. Oliver was "treated" to a rather spectacular display of West Texas Weather on Monday and then was surprised when a good crowd showed up for her slide lecture at the museum at 8 p.m.

The Texas Highway Department is now distributing its 1975 Official State Highway Travel Map. The cover shows a picturesque scene on the new section of Interstate 10 near Kerrville.

The THD says the travel map remains one of the most requested items of almost six million pieces of descriptive literature about Texas that it distributes each year. Even with the uncertain energy situation last year, the THD answered 185,174 mail requests for descriptive literature about Texas. Moreover, much literature was distributed through the 11 tourist information bureaus and visitor centers.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 9, the 99th day of 1975. There are 266 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1865, the Civil War ended as General Robert E. Lee surrendered to General Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox Court House, Virginia.

On this date—

In 1682, the French explorer, La Salle, reached the Gulf of Mexico after traveling down the Mississippi River.

In 1833, the first public library in the nation to be supported by municipal taxes was founded in Peterborough, New Hampshire.

In 1939, 75,000 persons crowded around the Lincoln Memorial in Washington to hear the Negro singer, Marian Anderson, after she had been barred from Constitution Hall.

In 1940, in World War Two, Germany invaded Norway and Denmark.

In 1942, after more than three months of resistance, American and Filipino forces on Bataan in the Philippines were overwhelmed by the Japanese.

In 1963, Sir Winston Churchill was proclaimed an honorary citizen of the United States.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson took part in the official opening of the Astrodome stadium in Houston, Texas.

Five years ago: The death toll was put at 73 in a gas explosion and fire at a subway construction site in Osaka, Japan.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon inspected tornado damage in Xenia, Ohio, where 1,100 homes had been damaged and 35 persons killed.

Senate Rejects Oil Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected an effort to end federal controls on oil prices. Sponsors conceded the plan would have more than doubled the cost of most U.S. oil but said it was needed to provide incentive for finding new sources.

The 69-21 vote against the amendment came as the Senate pressed toward final action on a bill aimed at forcing Americans to conserve energy without paying the sharply higher prices advocated by President Ford.

The bill would give the President standby authority to ration gasoline in the event of another boycott by petroleum-producing countries, and includes long-range power for the states to determine how best to meet conservation goals established by the federal government.

Sponsors of the amendment had conceded that if the oil controls were ended most U.S. oil would rise from the current $5.25 a barrel to more than $12.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department said it is checking into rapid increases in coal prices but finds no evidence so far of any conspiracy to drive the prices up.

Competition in the coal and oil markets may have dwindled to the point that excessively high coal prices became possible, Joseph Sims, special assistant to Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Kauper, said in an interview.

In other energy develpments:

—More than 500 coal trucks wound through the nation's capital in a protest by Appalachian mine operators and mine workers against strip mining legislation they claim could cost them their jobs.

—The Navy announced that 10,000 barrels of crude shale oil produced at a Colorado reserve have been refined into military fuels.

—Democrats who control the House Ways and Means Committee discussed alternative forms of energy tax legislation without reaching final agreement, a participant said.

The broad conservation bill under consideration by the Senate contains two basic types of authority:

One is a series of standby powers under which the president, with congressional approval, could impose emergency measures during periods of acute energy shortages, such as the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo.

SHS Play Wins District Crown

Snyder High School won the District 3-AAA One-Act Play UIL contest last night at Sweetwater High School.

The play presented by the Snyder students is "The Tempest" by William Shakespeare. It was directed by Jery Worsham, speech and drama instructor at Snyder High School.

Dr. Burnet Hobgood, chairman of the drama department at SMU who was a critic judge, said of the Snyder performance: "I thoroughly enjoyed your show. I have seen numerous productions of this play and have generally been bored by all of them, but I was extremely entertained by this show. You took the stage with authority and played the show well. Your choreography was marvelous and the sweep and flow of your movement was excellent."

Technical crew members include Keith Carmichael (lighting), D'Lynn Morgan (costume mistress), Kerry Musick (sound), Pete Tercero (make-up), Tracy Moore (assistant) and Elizabeth Mijares (costumes).

Special honors went to Junanne Brock for Best Actress in the contest and to Susan Sears and Greg Kane who were named to All-Star Cast. Honorable Mention went to Patrick Martin and Kim Massinghill.

The group advances to regional competition April 18 in Odessa.

SEC Suit Charges Bribery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission filed suit today against United Brands Co., alleging the banana grower and meat packer has paid $2 million to various countries for favorable business treatment.

The largest payment listed in the suit was $1.25 million to "high government officials of the Republic of Honduras" in September. The suit said the company had agreed to pay an additional $1.25 million in the future.

United Brands had said in an earlier statement from its New York headquarters that the payment was approved by former Chairman Eli M. Black.

Black fell to his death from the 44th floor of a mid-Manhattan skyscraper Feb. 3 in an apparent suicide.

The SEC suit did not name the country. It was aimed at preventing the company from making what the suit called future untrue statements about its operations.

The Wall Street Journal said today the SEC was investigating a $1.25-million bribe paid by United Brands and allegations that the recipient was the president of Honduras, Gen. Oswaldo Lopez.

In its statement, the company did not call the money a bribe.

IN CONNALLY TRIAL

Prosecutors Attempt To Bolster Jacobsen's Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutors at the John Connally bribery trial continued today to lay out a mass of circumstantial evidence intended to bolster the story of their star witness, Jake Jacobsen.

Today's first witnesses were former FBI agents from Texas and Washington who gave technical details about how they recorded serial numbers of two batches of currency, each totaling $10,000, which Jacobsen says was used as cover-up cash.

Seven witnesses appeared in rapid-fire order Tuesday afternoon after defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams concluded a day-and-a-half cross-examination of Jake Jacobsen, the man who says he gave the former Treasury secretary two illegal $5,000 gifts. The money allegedly was given Connally for his efforts in persuading the Nixon administration to raise milk prices.

Williams got Jacobsen to admit he was uncertain about some details of his story, including whether or not a third $5,000 gift was made.

But then prosecutors put on the witness stand a hotel waiter, a bank clerk and others who supported various elements of Jacobsen's story.

In 1971 Jacobsen asked for $10,000 to give to Connally, said former dairy lobbyist Bob A. Lilly. He testified he gave Jacobsen the money and later delivered another $5,000 when Jacobsen said Connally wanted more. U.S. District Judge George L. Hart told jurors that Lilly's testimony doesn't prove what Jacobsen eventually did with the cash.

In 1973, Lilly said, he told Watergate prosecutors about the money when he confessed to the illegal political activities of his organization, Associated Milk Producers Inc. of San Antonio, Tex. Jacobsen says this confession set in motion a cover-up of the bribe.

Oct. 23, 1973: Lilly testified he arrived at the San Antonio airport at 2:30 a.m., hours after spilling his story to prosecutors in a Washington hotel room.

Sumruld Rites Pending Here

Funeral arrangements were pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home this morning for Mrs. Cora C. Sumruld, 90.

Mrs. Sumruld, who lived at 904 Twenty-fifth Street, died at 7:45 a.m. today in Snyder Nursing Home. She was a native of Hope Ark.

Surviving are six sons, Roy Lester Sumruld of Tulare, Calif., Alton Edward Sumruld of Big Spring, William L. Sumruld of Farmer's Branch, Charlie Wayne, Weldon and W.A. Sumruld, all of Snyder; 16 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren.

Bill Eiland Is Elected School Board President

Bill Eiland was elected president of the Snyder School Board and Ted Crenwelge was elected vice president at the board's regular meeting Tuesday night.

Eiland succeeds Dillard Teal, who served as president of the board the past two years. E.D. Flynn, school business manager, was re-elected board secretary.

The new officers were elected following the official canvass of returns from last Saturday's election in which Teal and Crenwelge were re-elected for three year terms on the board. No changes in the unofficial returns were reported in the canvass.

In its business session the board voted unanimously to employ a curriculum coordinator for the elementary grades beginning with the 1975-76 school year.

Gene Williams, Carol Miller and Mary Williams presented a report to the board on the "Plan A" program in the school system, which is designed to identify children with specific learning problems and provide special instruction in the subject areas in which difficulties exist. Gene Williams, counselor, reported that as of the beginning of this week, some 104 pupils were receiving services in the elementary resource rooms. Mrs. Miller, diagnostician, reported on diagnostic procedures and the system followed in referring pupils to the resource rooms. Mrs. Williams, a resource teacher, discussed the activities in the resource rooms.

The board authorized several capital improvements from lists submitted by principals and the superintendent and will take action on others following more detailed studies. These improvements will be financed through the building fund.

Approved last night were a new shell and risers for the high school choir; some additional lighting for the high school stage; purchase of a new jack for power mechanics; purchase of a new duplicator for the workroom in the high school science building; and purchase of some new desks, chairs and blackout curtains for various schools. The superintendent was instructed to check all schools and determine the number of desks and chairs that should be replaced, since most principals had requested some replacements.

Bids will be sought for an overhead storage facility in the shop building, for some storage cabinets, etc., as well as for reroofing the original high school gymnasium. Also, the board agreed to study a proposal to enlarge administrative offices.

Personnel contracts for 1975-76 were approved for the following who have been in the school system two and three years, but are not on continuing contracts: Merle Bass, Jerrald Bowen, Doug Chitsey, Emily Collins, Gaylene Dobbs, Rebecca Duncan, Wesley Duncan, Martha Fagin, Ken Foster, Sue Gressett, Neoma Harlin, Jerita Harper, Sandra Hodges, Kenneth Heronema,

Battle Seen As Indicator

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Saigon military command said government troops pushed North Vietnamese forces out of the provincial capital of Xuan Loc 40 miles east of Saigon today and destroyed four tanks in heavy fighting.

The battle had been watched closely as an indicator of whether government forces, which have given up three-fourths of South Vietnam in the past five weeks, will now stand and fight.

In Saigon, a Viet Cong spokesman said the South Vietnamese jet pilot who bombed President Nguyen Van Thieu's palace Tuesday later landed his F5 fighter-bomber at a Viet Cong-held airfield.

The North Vietnamese attack before dawn at Xuan Loc was the first drive on a major city in the Saigon region in the current Communist-led offensive.

The spokesman at the Joint Military Commission set up as part of the Paris peace agreement said the flier, identified by South Vietnamese authorities as Nguyen Thanh Trung, was immediately promoted from lieutenant to captain and given the Liberation Distinction Service Order Second Class.

The spokesman declined to give the exact location where the plane had landed. Communist-led forces have taken over air installations capable of handling F5 jets, including the air base at Da Nang, during the five-week offensive in which they have captured three-fourths of South Vietnam.

Thieu, who is widely blamed for the military capitulation, was not hurt in the attack, but at least two persons were reported killed in the palace compound.

Though air force officials and numerous others said the flier had acted alone, political sources said more opposition politicians in Saigon went into hiding to avoid a further police crackdown on dissent as a result of the bombing.

North Vietnamese troops fought their way into the heart of a provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon in the current offensive's first attack on a major city in the capital region, the military command reported.

The attack on Xuan Loc, the capital of Long Khanh Province, began before dawn after a 2,000-round artillery barrage. Street fighting was reported around a church and the bus station, but later field reports said most of the North Vietnamese had been driven from the city, leaving small pockets of resistance.

Secret police reportedly moved on the homes of at least two opposition leaders hours after the apparent assassination attempt. The sources said the politicians had been warned by friends and had gone into hiding to avoid arrest.

The city is the headquarters of the 18th infantry division and an armored cavalry unit which have been under heavy North Vietnamese pressure in the area for several weeks.

House Votes To Retain Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House members, on their way to approving a new Texas Constitution for submission to the voters this year, today rejected an attempt to delete a state property tax to finance construction of government buildings.

The vote to keep the tax of up to 2 cents per $100 valuation in the document was 72-67 as sponsors of the constitution successfully fought to keep it substantially the same as the Senate had approved.

Under House rules, a two-thirds majority—100 votes—is needed to add any amendment.

Also rejected, 53-88, was an amendment allowing political subdivisions to exempt the disabled from property taxes.

Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas, sponsor of both amendments, said the state building fund tax of 2 cents would be "a lightning rod" that might cause voters to kill the finance article of the constitution.

"I want this constitution to pass.... I do not want to give the people of Texas another major reason to vote against it, that is, a new tax," Mattox said.

The tax is now being levied but is dedicated to pensions for widows of Confederate veterans and Texas Rangers.

"This tax now raises $4 million to $5 million and that builds some buildings. It either comes out of that or it comes out of general revenue. And general revenue is strapped every biennium," said Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Angleton, former chairman of the Houee Appropriations Committee.

The new constitution would be submitted to the voters in eight propositions, giving them the opportunity to approve some new articles while leaving others as they are in the 1876 constitution.

WTC Hosts UIL Events

Western Texas College will host District 3-AAA University Interscholastic League (UIL) events Thursday and Saturday for students from Brownfield, Dunbar, Estacado, Lakeview, Lamesa, Snyder and Sweetwater high schools.

Roy Carter, vice principal at Snyder High School, will serve as director general.

On Friday, WTC will host the area meet for one-act plays from Wink, Crowell, Roscoe, Haskell, Rankin, Stanton, Albany, and Shallowater high schools.

Events included in the UIL program are debate, informative speaking, persuasive speaking, poetry interpretation, prose reading, ready writing, science, shorthand, slide rule, number sense, spelling and plain writing, typewriting, editorial writing, feature writing, headline writing and newswriting. A trophy will be presented the school winning the overall literary sweepstakes.

PLAQUE PRESENTED—Ross Griffin, left, receives a plaque from Stanley Walker at a dinner session of the Society of Petroleum Engineers last night at the Snyder Country Club. Walker succeeded Griffin as chairman of the SPE Section here when Griffin moved to Houston and Walker was re-elected chairman of the section. Oilmen from throughout the area, plus a number from out-of-town, along with city, county and Chamber of Commerce officials and other guests attended the session. A.J. Horn, former executive with Standard Oil Co. of California and now a petroleum consultant, was guest speaker. He addressed the group on the energy crisis and its causes and projections for the future.

Strip-Mining Bill Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one of the federal city's noisiest, most colorful demonstrations ever, more than 500 huge coal trucks rumbled outside the White House and the Capitol to protest the strip-mining legislation before Congress.

The trucks were accompanied Tuesday by some 2,000 miners, coal truck drivers and mine operators who claimed the legislation would cripple the coal mining industry and throw them out of work.

The protesters, most of them from the Appalachian states, arrived in a 30-mile long caravan which took four hours to wind its way through downtown Washington, where crowds of pedestrians watched in astonishment as the honking, grinding trucks paraded down streets more accustomed to limousines.

The leader of the parade was Scott Patton, 19, of Coeburn, Va. Patton's truck was a purple, eight-speed rig, 10-feet high and 22-feet long, capable of carrying almost 30 tons of coal, he said.

"The reason why we're here is that the legislation they've got in Congress is going to put us all out of work," said Hershell Pennington, 30, from St. Charles, Va.

The protested legislation has been approved in varying forms by both the House and the Senate and is now in a conference committee to resolve differences.

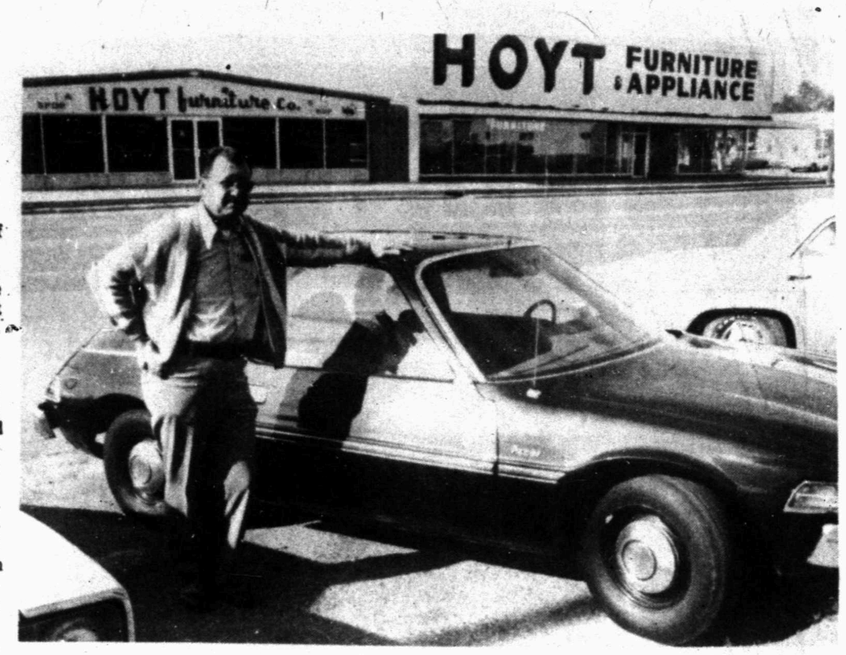

The bills would require strip-mine sites to be restored approximately to their original contours. Opponents claim these requirements would virtually eliminate strip mining on steep slopes.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Ind.-Va., says the Interior Department predicts the legislation would eliminate 47,000 jobs and cause coal production to drop 40,000 tons a year.

President Ford vetoed a similar bill last December. The main reason for the demonstration was to encourage members of Congress to sustain Ford's position if the President again vetoes the bills, according to Jim Brown, steering committee chairman of the Appalachian Organization of Surface Miners and Truckers.

However, the claims of the protesters that the bill would force the closing of numerous mines and threaten thousands of jobs was challenged by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the prime House sponsor of the bill.

Udall told a news conference the truck drivers and protesting miners were being used as pawns by segments of the coal industry opposed to the legislation.

WINS AUTOMOBILE—Otis Boyd of Lake Thomas stands beside the American Motors Pacer he won the past weekend on an expense-paid trip for him and his wife to Kansas City. They were guests of a firm Boyd represents, Pace Products Co., for tours and banquets, along with representatives from other states and countries.

Child Care Act Gets Support

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A "loophole" in Texas law allows the Hare Krishna Church in Dallas to operate without regulation, says Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth.

Schieffer showed a NBC color film to the House Health and Welfare Committee Tuesday night in which it was stated that Hare Krishna children do not see their parents for as long as a year and a half.

The church claims its child care facility is an educational institution, and the Department of Public Welfare feels that removes it from the department's jurisdiction, he said. But its school refuses to teach science, for example, he said.

"The state of Texas should play a role," Schieffer said, "because if the state of Texas doesn't play a role, I can assure you it will on down the line. Those are the people who are going to have the drug problem. Those are the people who are going to have the psychological problem. Those are the people who are going to have the welfare problem."

Schieffer spoke in support of the "Child Care Licensing Act of 1975," a bill sponsored by him and Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, chairman of the committee.

The bill would add 40 state facilities and 200 facilities for children 16 to 18 years old to the institutions regulated by the welfare department. It calls for joint regulations promulgated by the welfare deparment and the Texas Education Agency.

Rep. Chris Miller, D-Fort Worth, said the TEA function should be handled in a separate bill. Requiring TEA accreditation gets over into the area of what is taught, and church-related facilities object to this, she said. Several persons in the audience applauded loudly.

Schieffer said if they hold themselves out to be schools, they would have to be accredited. But if they are custodial only, no accreditation would be necessary, and they would be regulated under health and welfare standards of the welfare department.

Fewer Get Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-four states are paying fewer unemployment compensation checks as some industries begin recalling workers from layoffs.

The Labor Department said industry callbacks helped reduce the number of Americans receiving jobless benefits in the week ending March 22 to 6,484,000, a decline of 42,500 from the previous week.

Initial benefit claims in the week ending March 29 declined 7,000 from the previous week to a total of 530,600.

As the figures were announced Tuesday, a House Ways and Means subcommittee began a series of seven fact-finding sessions before taking up proposals to provide additional weeks of jobless compensation to those who will exhaust their benefits under existing law.

In other economic developments:

—The cost of maintaining a moderate standard of living for a typical urban family of four during the fall of 1974 was estimated at $14,300, an increase of $1,733 over the previous year. The same size family can live at an austere level for $9,200 or at a level allowing some luxuries for $20,800, the Labor Department said.

—Former Federal Reserve Board member Andrew F. Brimmer predicted the recession would deepen beyond the administration's expectations and called on the Fed to push the nation's banks into a more liberal lending policy.

—AFL-CIO President George Meany said he sees no end to the recession and urged union members to press for more government action stimulating the economy.

—The Council on Wage and Price Stability said it would investigate prices in the cereal and baked goods industry to determine why product prices are not coming down when the price of key ingredient commodities are falling.

—A bill authorizing $2.6 billion for programs to help America's elderly was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. It provides a four-year extension of assorted grants to states for community services and continues nutrition projects for the elderly. In addition the bill bars discrimination in federal programs or activities on the basis of age.

Radio Course Set At WTC

Area residents interested in learning about radio communications are invited to attend a session planned Thursday night at Western Texas College, Carl Barber, WTC instructor, has announced.

Barber is currently teaching a Community Services course in radio communications. The Thursday night meeting, planned to start at 7 o'clock, will include the showing of a film on radio waves and demonstration of equipment. The meeting will be in the EMT building on the east end of the campus.

Students who successfully complete the Community Services course now underway may apply for licenses from the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), Barber said. The present course lacks only three sessions to be completed, but if there is sufficient demand a similar course will be arranged in the future. Persons who would like further information may talk to Barber following the Thursday night meeting or may contact him by telephone at extension 221 at WTC, 573-8511.

Teachers Told To Push Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — The official newspaper of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association today called on public school teachers to push for new state taxes, if necessary, to pay for a school finance bill.

It also urged passage of a school finance bill, backed also by the powerful Texas State Teachers Association, that preserves the present method of allocating state aid and raises minimum teacher salaries from $6,600 to $10,000.

"Secure a 'yes' vote from your senator and representative for SB37 and HB420 (the TSTA bills). Secure a 'yes' vote for new state taxes, if necessary, because Texas is 40th in the nation in per capita tax and can well afford the additional money. Secure a 'yes' vote to override a gubernatorial veto, if necessary," said the editorial in TCTA News.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has declared he would veto any bill raising state taxes or imposing new ones.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-car collision at Fortieth Street and College Avenue at 4:18 p.m. yesterday.

Involved were a 1972 Model Chevrolet driven by Agatha Moss Lochabay, 402 Thirty-third Street, and a 1965 Model Plymouth operated by Sarah Louise Kulpaca, 2801 Thirty-second Street.

More Test Possible In Freon Controversy

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Experiments to prove conclusively whether or not spray can propellants are damaging the ozone could be performed during the next few months, two scientists said today.

Chemical industry spokesmen have said three to five years would be needed to see whether the fluorocarbons, also called by the trade name Freon, are indeed damaging the protective ozone layer in the stratosphere.

"The research methods we propose won't take three years," said Dr. F. Sherwood Rowland of the University of California, Irvine. "Experiments of these kinds could be performed during the next few months."

Rowland and Dr. Mario J. Molina, of the same university, made the latest contribution to the Freon controversy in a report to the 169th national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

The two scientists first announced their theory of ozone destruction by the man-made gases, also called chlorofluoromethanes, in June of last year at an ACS meeting.

The ozone layer, 10 to 25 miles above the earth, screens out harmful ultraviolet radiation from the sun. The radiation is a major cause of skin cancer.

Rowland, Molina and other scientists have called for a ban on manufacture of the gases. The industry has said more conclusive proof is needed regarding the theory. The major manufacturer is the E.I Du Pont De Nemours & Co.

Freon, du Pont's trade name, is widely used in spray cans for personal products such as hair sprays, deodorants, antiperspirants and pharmaceuticals. It is also used as a refrigerant.

Rowland said new measurement techniques can be used now to check the destruction theory by trying to detect radioactive chlorine in fresh samples of stratospheric air.

The presence of radioactive chlorine would constitute evidence that ozone-depleting reactions are occurring. But the analysis would have to be done quickly because the radioactive chlorine decomposes rapidly, Rowland said.

The chlorofluoromethane gas is stable and builds into higher and, higher concentrations in the lower atmosphere.

Class Of '60 To Plan Reunion

Members of the Snyder High School Class of 1960 will meet Thursday night to make final plans for their 15-year reunion.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Bernard Longbotham home, 3015 Denison. All class members have been asked to attend and bring addresses.

Mental Changes During Pregnancy

By SUSAN J. REIMER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Scholarly volumes have been written about what goes on in a woman's uterus during pregnancy. But medicine has paid little attention to what goes on in a mother's head at that time.

A mother's thoughts, feelings and fantasies reflect the physical changes of pregnancy, according to a University of Pittsburgh nursing professor who has been listening to what women have to say about pregnancy.

"We are looking at how a patient feels about the maternity experience so we can give nursing care more appropriately," said Dr. Olive Rich. "We do it from what she tells us about how she feels about herself."

Dr. Rich and her students in a masters program in maternity nursing follow women through their pregnancy. While administering nursing care, they are listening.

"Most women are surprised and not very happy to learn they are pregnant," says Dr. Rich, who has a Ph. D. in nursing. "They have active, busy lives and this will mean a drastic realignment of priorities."

The early months of pregnancy are physically unpleasant as the body adjusts, and this forms a basis for parallel mental anxiety, she said, adding:

"In the fourth, fifth and sixth months, she enters a very different period. She is more content, the initial discomfort is over and she feels the baby move and the life within her.

"She begins to withdraw her energies from the outside world and focuses them inside herself."

As she turns inward, the woman dreams and fantasizes about labor, childbirth and about her role as a mother. She worries about her own death during delivery and about any abnormalities in her child.

"She does a lot of mental preparation for what is ahead. She teaches herself the role of the mother," Dr. Rich said. "But whether this fantasizing prepares her for tragedy, we don't know."

As the pregnancy continues, the physical discomfort grows, and with it the woman's hostility, anxiety and boredom.

"It's like time will never end for her. She is not anxious to go into the difficult experience of labor and delivery, but at this point, she is truly ready to let go of the pregnancy," Dr. Rich said.

During labor, the process of inward concentration intensifies as the time of birth approaches.

Immediately after birth, the patients observed by Dr. Rich and her students experience a sense of euphoria. They have just been "spared" from the death or mutilation they fantasized birth might bring. And they have created a healthy baby after months of believing their bodies could never produce anything beautiful.

The post-partum period is virtually neglected by professional medicine, and yet Dr. Rich believes it's the most critical time in the developing relationship between mother and child.

"She has just had a most difficult physical and emotional experience, she is still weak and may be in some discomfort. And yet she is suddenly totally responsible for the care of a dependent child," Dr. Rich said. "She feels trapped, on a treadmill of irritability and fatigue, with no one to help her. She is full of guilt about the feelings of frustration and anger she has toward a child she is supposed to love."

Dr. Rich pointed out that the new mother is without the support of family members that was customary in extended families of 50 years ago. And she is also without professional care.

"There is nothing we can do to prepare her for this," Dr. Rich said. "Nursing must respond to it as it happens."

Flammability Standards For Clothing

COLLEGE STATION—Establishing flammability standards for clothing is a lively issue today, according to one consumer education: clothing and textiles specialist.

"Trade and government sources indicate that the children's wear standards may be extended to include adult clothing also," Claudia Mitzel with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

She explained that the issue is whether the consumer's best interest is served by extending the children's sleepwear standard into other categories of clothing.

"The problem is serious—fabrics ranked third behind food and grease, and appliances as items igniting to cause fires last year.

"One tragic aspect of fabric burns is that many of the victims are those least able to help themselves--the elderly, the disabled and the very young," the specialist said.

If the standard is adopted, consumers may have to sacrifice lower-cost clothing, easy care fabrics and esthetics to obtain flame retardant clothing.

"Estimates indicate that flame retardancy will increase the cost of clothing by 25 per cent, not including inflation.

"Some flame retardant finishes require special care. Perhaps the most confusing care instruction relates to the most confusing care instruction relates to the use of high phosphate detergents," the specialist said.

These detergents tend to do a better job of rinsing away the mineral and soil suspensions than the lowphosphate detergents do. But in many areas around the country high phosphate detergents are banned for ecological reasons.

When low phosphate detergents are used, the mineral and soil deposits left on the garments reduce or destroy flame retardant finishes, Miss Mitzell explained.

"So the consumer is put in the position of either polluting or losing the flame retardant finish on her children's sleepwear."

She also pointed out that some garments may need to use less trim, be designed differently and use different fabrics if strict flame retardant standards are adopted.

"One thing the consumer can do is voice his opinion on the adoption of flammability standards for adult clothing. Right now the CPSP is deciding on the regulations for women's sleepwear, and they are seeking the public's opnion. Consumers may write:

New Fall Fashions Reflect Somber Mood

By ALISON LERRICK
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — French designers are showing drab colors and a somber, even funereal, look in their new fall ready-to-wear line, apparently reflecting the mood of a depressed economy.

The cut is so skimpy in some of the clothing that it looks as though houses are trying to save on fabric.

Yves Saint Laurent in his show today stuck with his classic look, enabling his clients to update their clothes of past years and still be more or less in style.

He showed fewer pants than usual and, more often than not, they show up as jumpsuits. He made them for men, too. This season, almost half his show was for men.

Some of his favorite updated looks are black cire raincoats and rainsuits. The designer uses velvet in all colors for straight skirts about two inches below the knee.

Although there are coats in the show, St. Laurent has a definite preference for capes. They come in poplin for rain, in loden, in navy, gray or black wool.

Saint Laurent also makes quite a few of the gathered ankle pants that are everywhere this season. And he also revives another old favorite: the quilted Chinese worker's jacket, in gold, silver or orange satin.

In contrast, Kenzo Takada stands apart from the dismal look for fall. His look is a little bit of everything. Skirts come at all lengths. So do pants. Bright colors are cheerful.

Water Garden May Be Movie Scene

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — This city's Water Garden may go Hollywood—it is possible the Water Garden may be the scene of a movie.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios want to use the Water Garden exclusively for two nights and one day to film portions of a movie to be titled "Logan's Run," park director Charles Campbell told the Park and Recreation Board this week.

The board told Campbell to see if he can get money from MGM for allowing the movie company to use the Water Garden.

Martin Praises SHS Athletes At Sports Fete

"The distinction between great men and small men is that the great men are those who have a love of humanity," declared Abe Martin, athletic director at Texas Christian University, who was the featured speaker at the All-Sports Banquet held last night in the Snyder High School cafeteria.

Martin, former head football coach at TCU, was introduced by Milton Ham, president of the Tiger Booster Club, which sponsored the banquet. Ham played football at TCU under Martin.

The TCU AD had several anecdotes to tell about former Horned Frog teams. He recalled one game against A&M when Bear Bryant was coaching there. It was late in the game and TCU held a slim lead, but the Frogs were deep in their own territory.

"I told Ray Taylor to go in there and tell them to punt—it was third down and 23," recalled Martin.

Continuing, Martin said: "I was surprised to see the team come out in a T formation. Rather than punt, they let Jim Swink (former TCU All-American) run with the ball, and he made a first down by about two inches.

"Later, I asked Taylor what he said in the huddle.

"'I told them you said to punt,'" Taylor explained, "'But Chuck Curtis (the TCU quarterback) asked, "'He didn't say when, did he?'"

Martin said he was worried about one game with Southern California because he knew the Trojans would run most of their plays at Milton Ham, who was one of the smallest players on the Horned Frog team.

"They ran two-thirds of their plays at Milton, but he played an outstanding game and we won 6-0," Martin recalled.

Martin said he has a "lot of loyalty for Snyder" because so many athletes have gone on to TCU, from here. He mentioned several former Snyder athletes who played football at TCU, including Ham, Jack Spikes, David Holt, David McGinnis, Gary Patterson, Butch Buchanan, Leslie Brown, Ted Crenwelge, Bill Phillips, and Horrace Bostick. He paid special tribute to Malven Stevenson, who has been instrumental in recruiting several of the Snyder athletes for TCU.

Martin told the Snyder athletes that they will have a deeper sense of loyalty and devotion later in life because they participated on an athletic team when they were younger.

He said self-discipline and character are developed through competition.

"You don't do anything by brooding when things go wrong," Martin said. "Face up to it (adversity) heroically," he urged those present.

Martin said West Texas people are friendly, and he told the local athletes to appreciate their parents, coaches and those who have done things for them.

The former TCU athlete said there have been three types of people on his athletic teams: Those you can depend on, those who never conform and those who "haven't made up their mind for sure."

Maurice (Mo) Hodges, athletic director and head football caoch at Snyder High School, presented the annual "Fighting Heart award" to Bernie Weems and to David Mayes. Both were outstandng members of the defensive secondary on the Tiger championship football team of this past season.

Hodges also introduced all of the local coaches and athletic teams at Snyder High School.

Invocation was given by Win Bunch. Dr. Wilton Jones served as master of ceremonies. The Snyder High School cheerleaders led in the singing of the Alma Mater to conclude the program.

Robinson Homers, Tribe Triumphs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Frank Robinson has something no other manager, black or white, has ... player Frank Robinson. And that's why Frank Robinson is the only manager in baseball, black or white, who has hit a home run this season.

"It was a great moment, but you had to wait till the end, till the game was over," Robinson said. "Now it's even more gratifying."

Robinson had several great moments Tuesday. The first came when Rachel Robinson, widow of the first black man to play in the major leagues, threw out the first ball and said she was "proud, proud, proud to be here." Then came career home run No. 575 in his first time at bat as a big league manager.

That started the Cleveland Indians to a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees, which was great moment No. 3, especially since it was viewed by an excited home town crowd of 56,204.

Elsewhere in the American League, the world champion Oakland A's nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2, the Minnesota Twins crushed the Texas Rangers 11-4 and the Boston Red Sox downed the Milwaukee Brewers 5-2. The Kansas City-California game was rained out while the Baltimore-Detroit opener was postponed earlier by a snowstorm.

Robinson brought the large Cleveland crowd to its feet with his first-inning home run off New York's Doc Medich.

"It's just tremendous," Robinson said later as he contemplated the historic occasion. "I really can't explain how I feel. I've been a manager before, but this is where it's at. I couldn't think of any better way to start my new career. I was extremely pleased by the way we won. It was a team effort. The guys came from behind and played together and that's what you have to do to be successful."

Despite Robinson's dramatic homer, the Indians fell behind 3-1 in the second inning. But Boog Powell, Robinson's old Baltimore teammate, drove in two runs with a homer and double and Jack Brohamer drove in the other two with a sacrifice fly and a single. The sacrifice fly scored Powell, who opened the bottom of the second with a single.

Now Robinson can concentrate on being a manager rather than baseball's first black manager.

A's 3, White Sox 2

Vida Blue, taking over the opening game pitching assignment vacated by Catfish Hunter, allowed four hits in seven innings and center fielder Bill North cut down the tying run at the plate in the ninth as the world champion A's opened their season.

The A's took a 2-0 lead off Wilbur Wood in the second inning when Joe Rudi singled and designated hitter Billy Williams, in his first American League at-bat, doubled. The runners held as Wood retired the next two batters, but rookie second baseman Phil Garner singled them home. Oakland added the decisive run in the eighth on a walk to Sal Bando, a stolen base by pinch runner Herb Washington — who actually was picked off but beat the throw to second — and a double by Rudi.

Twins 11, Rangers 4

Designated hitter Tony Oliva's three-run homer capped a six-run Minnesota assault against 25-game winner Ferguson Jenkins in the first two innings. Larry Hisle's three-run homer in the ninth made it a thoroughly disappointing evening for the 28,787 fans, largest opening game crowd since the Rangers moved from Washington to Texas in 1972.

The Twins chased Jenkins in the second inning when Oliva crashed a towering 390-foot homer after Lyman Bostock and Hisle singled. Jenkins, a $175,000-a-year pitcher, lasted only 12-3 innings. He was tagged for six runs — five earned — on seven hits and also issued a pair of walks.

Red Sox 5, Brewers 2

Bob Montgomery doubled home two of Boston's three runs in the third inning and Tony Conigliaro made a triumphant return to the major leagues as the Red Sox spoiled the American League debut of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king, and Conigilaro, who was hit in the eye by a pitch in 1967 and has been out of baseball the past 3½ years, received standing ovations.

Aaron, the Brewers' designated hitter, walked, struck out and grounded out twice. Conigilaro, Boston's DH, helped set up a first-inning run with a hit-and-run single.

Hudson Paces Rodeo Team

Scott Hudson paced the Western Texas College rodeo team to seventh place in the New Mexico State University NIRA rodeo held in Las Cruces, N.M., over the weekend.

Hudson turned in a time of 4.3 in the steer wrestling finals, best time in the event. He took 7.5 on his first steer, giving him an average just .02 of a secondout of first place.

In calf roping, Hudson broke the barrier to take a time of 24.1

Debbie Bloxom from WTC placed fifth in the breakaway roping with 5.1 in the first go-round. That put her short go, but she missed her second calf. Jackie Pruitt marked 61 in the bareback riding first go, not good enough to get into the finals. Darrell Taylor also entered the bareback riding but was disqualified.

Bill Baber marked 63 on his first bull in bull riding, making him in tenth place, and got 62 on his second bull. He finished fifth in the average.

The WTC team will be in San Angelo Thursday through Saturday for the next NIRA rodeo. Van Rigby, Rodeo Club sponsor, reminds rodeo fans that all the NIRA rodeos are open to the public and the WTC contestants would appreciate support from area residents.

Colonels Lead 2-0

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Kentucky Coach Hugh Brown isn't even close to [illegible] taking out the victory champagne, despite the 2-0 lead his Colonels hold in their best-of-seven American Basketball Association playoff series with Memphis.

"Memphis seems to play all the contending teams well down there," Brown said Tuesday night after the Colonels overwhelmed the Sounds 119-105.

The teams travel to Memphis for Thursday and Friday night games in Mid-South Coliseum, the site of Kentucky's only losses to the Sounds this season. Tonight, St. Louis is at New York and Denver at Salt Lake City in other playoff games.

New York has a 1-0 edge in its series and Denver has a 2-0 lead over Salt Lake City.

In the fourth playoff series, San Antonio is at Indiana Thursday night with Indiana holding a 2-0 edge.

Miss Softball Clinic Set

A Miss Softball American clinic for interested persons will be held Saturday, April 12, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Sweetwater at the Holiday Inn.

This clinic consists of rule book procedure, understanding it, and following it. Tests will be given to those interested in taking them, especially umpires, so they can be certified with Miss Softball America.

Tentative plans call for the season to begin on May 16.

Persons interested in managing, coaching, keeping score, umpiring or chaperoning are urged to contact Mary Ann Caldwell, president.

Anyone interested in going to Sweetwater is asked to contact Mary Ann Caldwell by Friday at 573-3707.

Rule books are available at the Snyder Athletic Center.

Seaver Shines In Debut For Mets

By HAL BOCK
EP Sports Writer

"I'm ecstatic!"

With those two words, Tom Seaver described his feelings after outlasting Steve Carlton as the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 2-1 Tuesday in an opening-day clash of two of the National League's premier pitchers.

In the only other NL game, Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0. San Francisco at San Diego was rained out.

Seaver surrendered six hits, struck out nine batters and came up a winner because of two Met newcomers — Dave Kingman Joe Torre. Kingman slugged a huge home run in the fourth inning and Torre drilled the game-winning single in the bottom of the ninth.

But the main man on this blustery opening day was Seaver, who struggled to a sorry 11-11 season last year and is the pitcher on whom so much of Mets' hopes rest for 1975.

"I couldn't be happier," said the man called Tom Terrific. "I was strong all the way, throwing fairly hard with a good breaking ball. I didn't throw too many bad pitches."

The Phillies nicked him for a third-inning run on Dave Cash's double. But Kingman retrieved that run in the fourth, golfing a two-out, two-strike pitch far beyond the left field wall.

Felix Millan opened the Mets' ninth with a single — only New York's third hit and first since Kingman's king-sized homer. Then Carlton walked John Milner on four pitches and missed with his first two to Torre.

On the next pitch, Torre was swinging.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard," he said. He did, lining it to left and sending Millan racing home with the winning run.

"It was exciting," said Torre. "Opening day always is. When it stops being exciting, I'll quit."

Braves 2, Astros 0

Carl Morton's five-hitter and Darrell Evans' RBI single in a two-run fifth inning carried the Braves past Houston. Morton retired 16 straight batters after a pair of first-inning singles before shortstop Larvell Blanks' throwing error ended the string in the seventh.

Ralph Garr singled to start the fifth against Astros' rookie Doug Konieczny. Garr moved to third when Marty Perez was safe on shortstop Roger Metzger's error, Evans singled for one run and Perez scored on Mike Lum's grounder.

Houston Rockets Win Playoff Tilt

By The Associated Press

The home court advantage helps in the National Basketball Association. But it doesn't hurt to have a good defense, either.

The Houston Rockets and Seattle SuperSonics had both Tuesday night, and as a result have a 1-0 lead in their respective, opening-round playoff series.

"I'd have to give credit to their defense," said New York Coach Red Holzman after the Knicks dropped a 99-84 decision to the Rockets in their Eastern Conference opener. "They really played well, plus the fact that we shot poorly.

"Over here, we say we had an off-night shooting. But I'd have to say it was their defense that did it."

In Seattle, the SuperSonics played what Coach Bill Russell called "our best defensive effort of the season." It resulted in a 90-77 rout of the Detroit Pistons in their Western Conference opener.

Tom Burleson held Detroit's Bob Lanier to a sub-par 15 points while scoring 19 himself.

The Rockets can win the best-of-three series and advance to the Eastern semifinals by beating New York in their next meeting at Madison Square Garden Thursday night. The SuperSonics can do likewise in the West when they play at Detroit the same night.

A Western Conference best-of-seven semifinal series begins tonight when Chicago hosts Kansas City-Omaha. Buffalo plays at Washington Thursday night in the beginning of another Western semifinal series.

Along with Houston's glittering defense, the youthful Rockets used 22 points by Calvin Murphy to whip the playoff-tested Knicks. The Rockets, in the playoffs for the first time ever, moved to a seven-point halftime lead, 46-39, by outscoring the Knicks 8-0 over the final 2:27 of the second quarter and Houston never trailed again.

Walt Frazier led the Knicks with 21 points and Earl Monroe had 13, but New York's leading scorers hit only 13 of 35 shots between them for a 37 per cent average.

The Knicks, making their ninth straight playoff appearance, pulled within seven points at 67-60 at the end of the third quarter. But then the Rockets, led by Mike Newlin and Ron Riley, put on a fourth quarter scoring display that spurted the Rockets to a 17-point margin with 6:48 left in the game.

Fred Brown came off the bench to pop in 23 points for Seattle. Seattle, which led from the opening minute, held off an early fourth-quarter Detroit rally to win going away.

FEWER TO DEATH ROW

Death Penalty More Difficult

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Fewer Texas convicts are going to death row and some big city prosecutors say it's because the state's new capital murder law makes it more difficult to impose the death sentence.

There have been no executions in Texas since July 1964, but the Department of Corrections currently counts 13 inmates on death row at its Ellis Unit northeast of Huntsville.

Other persons, convicted of capital murder and sentenced to death, are lodged in county jails around the state pending appeals. In Dallas County, for example, nine capital cases await higher court action.

There have been no executions by the state, a corrections department spokesman said, because the convicts on death row have their cases on appeal to federal courts.

Even the state law, which in May 1973 restored the death penalty in Texas following a U.S. Supreme Court ruling, is being challenged before the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

The district attorneys interviewed said the capital murder law has restricted the cases in which the death sentence can be considered.

"In only about five per cent of all the murder cases filed now can you have a death penalty at all," said Harris County Dist. Atty. Carrol Vance.

Death is provided, under the 1973 law, only for the murder of a police officer, fireman, prison or jail guard, murder for hire or for murder committed in the course of kidnaping, burglary, robbery, aggravated rape or arson.

And, the capital sentence can be imposed only if a jury finds a killing was unprovoked and deliberate and there is a probability that the killer "would commit criminal acts of violence that would constitute a continuing threat to society."

Vance said it often is difficult to prove to a jury that there is a probability the defendant would continue to be dangerous to society or violent in the future.

Dallas County Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said, however, he has used a psychiatrist in all death cases to testify that the killer would be dangerous in the future.

Wade acknowledged the new law is restrictive, but said in cases where it can be applied he usually has obtained the death sentence.

BENEFITS CUT NEXT WEEK

Idle Car Workers Face New Money Hardships

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of laid-off auto workers begin an uncertain financial struggle next week when the exhaustion of special jobless benefits cuts their unemployment pay by up to two thirds.

For Billie Hewlett, a laid-off Chrysler Corp. worker in Detroit, it means supporting herself and a child on $64 a week. For Harold Rands, an assembler with a wife and five teenagers in Poplar Grove, Ill., it means making ends meet on $118 a week.

Chrysler will turn off the tap on its Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) fund Friday. Massive and prolonged layoffs have depleted the fund's cash reserves. When that happens, 33,400 laid-off production workers will lose between $30 and $110 a week.

SUB, when combined with regular unemployment compensation, was designed to provide eligible laid off workers with an average $170, or almost 95 per cent of their take home pay. But the fund was not created to handle layoffs of the magnitude forced by the current slump in the auto industry.

In addition to the expected personal hardship, the United Auto Workers expects the exhaustion of Chrysler's SUB fund to spell trouble for Detroit.

Chrysler is the city's largest employer, and city officials estimate two-thirds of the 33,000 workers who will lose SUB live in the metropolitan area.

Dan Taylor, a labor analyst for the city, estimates depletion of the Chrysler fund will cost Detroit up to $1.9 million a week in disposable income.

"The biggest impact will be on the retail industry," he said. "The city could lose upwards of $40 million before SUB has any chance of starting up again. That could cost another 15,000 to 20,000 jobs. It's a bleak situation all around."

A spokesman for Mayor Coleman Young says, "It is obvious that the impact on wage earners and families is great. But we have 125,000 unemployed people in the city right now, and 100,000 of them never got any SUB."

The unemployment rate in Detroit is 23 per cent and still climbing.

Chrysler workers have been hardest hit by the auto sales slump, with as many as 64,000 of the firm's 114,000 production workers on layoffs at one time. Now the number is 42,200.

Last year, Chrysler mailed out more than $50 million in SUB benefits to furloughed employes. Last week alone, Chrysler SUB benefits totaled $3.1 million, leaving the fund with a net of $4.9 million.

Under the contract provisions which established the fund, it will be declared exhausted when it falls to $1.8 million. The money is raised by a company contribution of 12 cents for each hour each working employe spends on the job.

UAW officials say General Motors' SUB fund may run dry in mid-May. GM now has 137,500 workers on indefinite furlough.

HE OR SHE?—Dallas Police said Tuesday this person had been identified as Jerry Dean Michael, previously identified as Elizabeth Carmichael, fugitive president of Twentieth Century Motor Car Corp. Investigators said Michael posed as a woman while establishing the corporation in Los Angeles and moving it to Dallas where he is sought on charges of conspiracy to commit theft over $10,000. However, the FBI says fingerprints do not confirm the identity, and the mystery goes on. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Orphans Need Love

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The solemn children of war touch and grasp and cling. They love to be held. They are suffering the "Orphans' Syndrome."

"So many of these children have the orphans' syndrome and suffer severe emotional deprivation. They have unusual needs for love," says Dr. Alex Stalcup, supervising physician of "Operation Babylift" here.

Stalcup has watched nearly 900 Vietnamese children being processed at the Army's Presidio. They suffer from pneumonia and chicken pox, malnutrition, stomach worms and broken limbs. About 100 have been hospitalized.

But of all the privations of war, these children — called Thuy or T-21 or even "No Name" — suffer most from the privations of heart.

"These babies and little children have a special way of grasping, reaching out and holding onto love," says Stalcup, chief resident at the University of California Medical Center here.

Even some older children were carried like babies off the buses that brought them here Tuesday from Travis Air Force Base. They stared and wrapped their thin arms and legs around volunteers.

"It's a fairly profound need and can't be satisfied by being patted on the head or dandled on a knee," Stalcup said.

"It's a fact that in order to grow, children need love, not just food and water," he said in an interview outside the gymnasium where the children are housed.

More than 250 more orphans, mostly infants, arrived Tuesday in the last major U.S. evacuation of orphans from Vietnam. They are being processed and observed and sent across the nation for adoption.

Stalcup says children suffering "orphans' syndrome" appear "sad, depressed and uncommunicative. Their emotional tone is very subdued. When they get messed up, they get very excited. They form really intense emotional attachments.

"They love to be held. They are the most responsive and loving kids in the world."

Referring to the "orphan syndrome," he said: "I think we're getting a glimpse into the effects of war and widespread social disorder on children."

Dr. Lamb

Illness has lasted for eight months

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I was hospitalized with pneumonia and an accumulation of fluid on my lung. When I was released from the hospital I was told to increase my activities slowly and that I would be back to work in two weeks.

It hasn't worked that way. After nearly eight months I'm not back to work yet. I have vital myocarditis, and was told this requires time and rest.

My heart beats fast. It was 120, now it is around 100. I'm taking Lanoxin and was started on Prednisone to reverse the inflammation.

I've always been very healthy, never even took an aspirin. Would you explain what myocarditis is? Is it uncommon? How long might this take? I'm 42.

DEAR READER—I know you must be discouraged, but hang in there. There are many different kinds of heart disease. The most common type is heart damage caused by fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries to the heart myscle. They cause muscle damage by obstruction of the flow of blood to the heart muscle.

Next on the list is high blood pressure, which increases the fatty-cholesterol deposits and leads to vascular disease of the heart and arteries in the body.

Heart valve damage is less common now, but was frequent during the years that rheumatic heart disease was a major health problem.

Your condition is rather rare. It means that your heart muscle, called the myocardium ("myo" means muscle and "card" refers to heart) has become inflamed. The inflamation can be caused by any number of infectious agents (germs), and the body reaction that follows. Viruses are common offenders. In rheumatic heart disease, from streptococcal germs, the reaction often involved the heart muscle and was called rheumatic myocarditis.

The inflamed heart muscle loses its strength and hence its ability to contract forcefully. This can lead to heart failure. To help your doctor has given you Lanoxin which is a type of digitalis that strengthens the heart muscle contractions.

Fast heart rates are common in myocarditis, particularly when the inflammation is most severe. As your condition improves it should slow down more.

It is unpredicaable how long your problem will persist. And I'll level with you, it will take a while to tell how much permanent damage to the heart muscle you will have. Some of those inflamed heart muscle fibers are permanently damaged in some some cases, but not all. When the damage is minimal, your heart function or pumping action returns to normal. If there is a lot of permanent damage, the muscle may never be as strong as before and your activity may be limited.

The degree of limitation, if any, can only be judged with time and after the disease has run its course. How long that will take varies in each case, and how your body responds to the heart involvement. Many people do recover, though, and return to normal living with little or no restrictions. I hope that will eventually be the case for you.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on cholesterol, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

For Thursday April 10, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to run into opposition from several sources today. Don't try to bull your way through — this will only complicate matters.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Responsibilities you've neglected will begin causing immediate problems. Tackle them in order. Don't let things pile up in the future.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is not a good time to become involved in new projects that could press you financially. Your budget isn't healthy enough.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't be too self-serving regarding personal ambitions. It will only result in alienating those whose help you'll need.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A plan you feel very strongly about will be challenged. Don't disregard all the criticism. Some could be helpful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a very tricky time for you, businesswise. Take care not to become involved in something beyond your financial scope.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct23) Don't yield to pressures now and do things against your better judgement. Give yourself time to think before making important decisions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) The next few days you're going to feel more strain than usual in your work or career. Forewarned is forearmed — don't snap at this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Select associates with great care at this time. Shun those who deal in intrigue or persons you're not sure of.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19) One you have some important dealings with is growing impatient at the way you're handling your end and may take some drastic steps.

AQUARIUS (Jan.20-Feb.19) Words you thoughtlessly utter now will come home to roost. Weigh very carefully what you say to avoid repercussions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be very careful who you do business with in this period. Deal only with firms or individuals above reproach.

Fog Is Blamed For Two Deaths

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms dumped still more rain on soggy sections of Texas today, and dense fog mixed with drizzle in the southeast part of the state was blamed for two deaths in a highway crash.

Turbulence generated storms violent enough for special warnings before dawn to residents of several counties from around Palestine to Grapeland, and from the Nacogdoches area to the Tyler vicinity.

Much of the heavier rainfall was concentrated in Central and Northeast Texas, where repeated downpours have been raising flash flood threats for several days.

Dense fog, often mixed with drizzle, plagued the southeast third of the state and areas down the coast past Corpus Christi, dropping visibility close to zero in places.

A head-on collision of two cars on fog-cloaked U.S. 96 at Lumberton, north of Beaumont, killed Charles L. Holman, 30, of Houston and James H. Hillis, 47, of Angleton and injured Percy Langley, 24, of Kirbyvil le.

A cold front which pushed southward as far as the Upper Texas Coast Tuesday became diffused and lost identity. In its wake the early morning temperature dropped to 27 degrees in the Texas Panhandle. At the same hour the reading in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, unaffected by the front, still was 74 at Brownsville.

Top marks Tuesday afternoon ranged from 87 at Brownsville down to 57 at Texarkana.

Forecasts called for little change anywhere in the state.

Betty Marks 57th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford dropped out at the last minute, but his wife went on to a theater party and celebrated her 57th birthday with singer Pearl Bailey and a Kennedy Center audience of 2,200.

With Pearl leading the way Tuesday night, they all stood and sang "Happy Birthday, Betty" to the First Lady.

The Fords had 14 long-time friends as guests to a buffet birthday dinner at the White House and they were all to go on to the show.

But the President decided at the last moment that he had better work on a foreign policy speech he will deliver Thursday to a joint session of Congress.

So the birthday celebrators went off without him for the two-hour performance by Miss Bailey.

"I hope my show made you happy," the singer told the First Lady as she reached the end of her one-woman show.

Overcash Elected Ft. Worth Mayor

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Businessman Clif Overcash was elected mayor of Fort Worth Tuesday, defeating three other candidates.

Complete unofficial returns showed Overcash with 15,562 votes and J. C. Pace Jr., his leading rival, with 13,040.

Two others in the race, Gordon J. McKenna and Robert Haas, polled 1,258 and 489 votes, respectively.

Overcash, who has served one term as city councilman, will succeed Mayor R. M. Stovall, who decided not to seek reelection.

Near perfect weather apparently spurred Fort Worth residents to the polls. More than 30,000 cast ballots—about 2,000 more than predicted.

Overcash was contacted by telephone in Neustadt, West Germany, and told of his victory. He is in that country for the funeral of his wife's mother.

Leonard Briscoe, Fort Worth's second black city council member, was upset at the polls, leaving the city with an all-white council and one made up of a majority of new faces.

Five of the nine council seats will be occupied by newcomers, but an April 29 runoff election will be needed to decide winners in two of those places.

Briscoe, a real estate man, was defeated by Woodie W. Woods, a plumbing and hardware dealer.

Runoff campaigns will be fought between James Bradshaw and Jack Williams in Place 3 and between Richard Newkirk and Bill Turner in Place 7.

Those winning re-election in contested races were councilwoman Margaret Rimmer and councilman Joe Bruce Cunningham. Incumbents winning without opposition were Henry Meadows and John O'Neill.

Another new face on the council will be that of Hugh Parmer, who claimed Place 5 without an opponent.

Voters also approved a charter amendment to create eight single-member city council districts with the mayor elected at large.

Incomplete unofficial returns indicated voters rejected a charter amendment for creating staggered four-year council terms and for raising the city tax limit of $1.90 on each $100 of property valuation to $2.50.

The three measures were among 19 proposed amendments to Fort Worth's 50-year-old charter.

FBI Disagrees "He" Is "She"

DALLAS (AP) — The identity of a woman who claimed to have a car which would revolutionize the industry remained a mystery today as police claimed she was a "he" but the FBI said his and her fingerprints did not match.

She is Elizabeth Carmichael, president of Twentieth Century Motor Car Corp. who is wanted in Dallas on charges of conspiracy to commit theft in promoting its three-wheeled car, the Revette.

The company's operations in Dallas were shut down in February, only a week after it moved here from California, when the specialized crime unit of the Dallas Police Department filed charges against 10 corporate officers. Charges against all but Mrs. Carmichael and Whitlock N. Sharpe later were dropped.

Capt. John Driscoll, head of the police intelligence section, said Mrs. Carmichael, a tall, husky-voiced individual who claimed to be a 37-year-old widow with five adopted children, is really Jerry Dean Michael, a fugitive for the past 13 years.

"At least we now know what we are looking for," Driscoll said.

But a spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation said late Tuesday that Michael's fingerprints did not match those on documents handled by Mrs. Carmichael.

"As far as we are concerned, they are not the same person," the spokesman said.

An investigator who checked Mrs. Carmichael's records here and those of Michael in Indiana, where the fugitive lived at one time, said:

"I don't want to argue that. But no one has known fingerprints of Mrs. Carmichael. She has never been fingerprinted. The FBI has documents they think Mrs. Carmichael handled."

Driscoll credited his men, the district attorney's office and federal postal inspectors here and in Indianapolis with identifying Michael.

Michael has been sought since 1962 on a federal fugitive warrant from California charging him with defaulting bond on a counterfeiting charge.

Driscoll said his department had not confirmed the identity through fingerprints.

LTV Awarded Additional Contracts

DALLAS (AP) — The Defense Department has awarded LTV Aerospace Corp. an additional $13,555,001, on three earlier contracts for the A7 fighter plane.

Three separate versions of the aircraft are involved, company officials said Tuesday. One is the Air Force A7D, which has been used in the Vietnam War for its bombing accuracy and close air support capabilities. The others are the Navy two-place TA7C, a trainer, and the A7H, which is being sold to the Greek Army.

"What have you been saying to my begonia?"

Smokers' Last GASP: A Nonsmokers' Travel Club

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, a son, now married and living in California. (We live in New York.)

My elderly mother is very ill, and her days are numbered. She has always relied heavily on me, and being a very dutiful daughter, I gave her lots of time and attention. Because of this, my son has never been too fond of his grandmother. However, my son, husband and I are very close.

While talking to my son (long distance), I said, "Keep your woolen suit pressed because you will need it when you come east for your grandmother's funeral." His reply: "I hadn't planned on coming."

When I told my husband this, he said, "If he doesn't want to come, don't hassle him."

Abby, don't you think that out of respect for my feelings, my son should come for his grandmother's funeral? I offered to pay his plane fare both ways. If I had brothers and sisters, the situation would be different, but my husband and my son and his family are all I have.

I don't mean to be a demanding mother, but in a time of sorrow I feel it would be comforting to have those dear to me near. Would I be unreasonable to insist that he come?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If your son, knowing how much you want him near you in your sorrow, chooses not to come, shame on him. But if you, knowing that he doesn't really want to come, insist that he does, then shame on you!

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, I wrote asking if you knew of a travel club for nonsmokers. You replied that you did not, but suggested I contact the American Cancer Society. They did not know of any either.

Now there is one. The Nonsmokers' Travel Club, which I was instrumental in forming. We are an off-shoot of GASP (Group Against Smokers' Pollution), and now have 71 members. We are in the Washington D.C. area, but have members from all over the U.S.A.

We have two domestic bus trips, and three foreign trips planned for 1975. Our buses will have nonsmoking drivers and nonsmoking tour guides. Our foreign trips will travel in the nonsmoking section of scheduled airliners. Once at our destination, we will travel in our own bus with a nonsmoking driver and guide.

If you think this will be of interest to your readers, please mention it in your widely read column.

MILDRED A. POST, CHAIRPERSON

DEAR MILDRED: It's mentioned. Those interested in traveling without the annoyance of tobacco smoke may write to me (and please include a stamped, addressed envelope) for the address of the smoke-free travel club.

DEAR ABBY: Some additional information on how one can improve his credit rating. Under federal law, anyone is permitted to inspect his (or her) credit file and offer corrections and inaccuracies. Erroneous information can result in a poor credit rating.

If one is refused a loan or a charge account, he has the right to know the name and address of the consumer reporting agency or credit company that supplied the adverse information.

This law applies to investigation reports causing denial of a job and is contained in Title 15, U.S. Code, section 1681.

DENNIS B. KAVANAUGH, ATTORNEY AT LAW

DEAR MR. K.: Thanks for the addition.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Events Set Here For FCA Sunday

Over 55,000 athletes, coaches and adult participants in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will reaffirm the purpose of their organization this month as the observe "FCA Sunday."

The organization, which has more than 1,800 high school cuddles and huddles, college fellowships and adult chapters throughout the nation, will share their faith life within their respective churches on the special day, April 13.

Their participation will cover a broad spectrum of churchmanship, from assisting in various elements in worship services, Sunday Schools and youth meetings to the sponsoring of area-wide rallies.

The purpose of the FCA is "To confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of the nation, with the challenge and adventure of following Christ and serving Him through the fellowship of the church and in their vocation."

The FCA channels the spiritual dynamics generate by the witness and ministry of its members through their individual churches. FCA Sunday will bring to the attention of the church and community the tremendous lay witness and lay renewal achieved by the FCA members and provide opportunity for area-group activities, spokesmen said.

Programs of special note and community interest in Snyder will include participation in church services and an afternoon assembly Sunday. Local cuddle and huddle members will be joined by FCA athletes from Texas Tech in providing activities in the churches in Scurry County. A rally, including Dogpatch Olympics, inspiration and entertainment will be held from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Snyder High School Gymnasium. All Snyder area youth from the eighth grade through college level are invited to participate in the Sunday afternoon activities. Further information on FCA Sunday events may be obtained by calling Roy Carter or Harold Lacik.

"Skitch" Begins Serving Term

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Band leader Lyle C. "Skitch" Henderson has surrendered at a federal prison camp to begin a six-month term for filing false income tax returns.

Henderson, 57, will serve the term at the minimum security Allenwood federal penitentiary in central Pennsylvania.

Henderson, whose band played for several years on NBC-TV's "Tonight" show, was convicted in December of putting an inflated $350,000 income tax value on a collection of musical scores and arrangements donated to the University of Wisconsin.

The scores were "almost worthless," said the federal judge who sentenced Henderson to the prison term and fined him $10,000.

Henderson surrendered on Tuesday.

Carney, Burstyn, Mafia Movie Win Top Awards

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Art Carney, Ellen Burstyn and a movie about the Mafia were the stars of the 47th Academy Awards. Francis Ford Coppola's "The Godfather, Part II" won top honors with six Oscars, including best picture.

The sweep made the 36-year-old Coppola Hollywood's undisputed wonder king, but Carney was the sentimental victor of the festivities.

"I'm numb, I'm happy, why should I be embarrassed - I'm Irish!" he exclaimed after his surprise win as best actor for playing a 72-year-old cross-country traveler with a cat in "Harry and Tonto."

Carney's win was a delight to the audience, which rose in tribute to the veteran television actor. It was his first starring role in a movie.

He said his agent urged him to do the role by saying, "Do it! You are old!" But backstage, Carney, 56, laughingly said, "I'm still a kid!"

Miss Burstyn, nominated twice before, finally won as best actress for her role as the errant housewife with ambitions as a singer in "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Robert De Niro, the young Mafia don of "Godfather-II" and Ingrid Bergman, one of the suspects in "Murder on the Orient Express," won as supporting performers in the 47th annual ceremonies at the Music Center.

The awards shaped up as producer-writer-director Coppola's night, despite heavy betting on "Chinatown," which won only one Oscar, for original screen play.

The "Godfather" sequel won him Oscars for best direction and screen play adaptation (with Mario Puzo), as well as for De Niro, art direction and original dramatic score.

It was also a "family" matter, to pun "Godfather-II" — Coppola's father, Carmine, composed the score with Nino Rota, and his sister, Talis Shire, was nominated as best supporting actress in the film.

Coppola was also nominated in two other categories — best picture ("The Conversation," which he produced and which competed against "Godfather-II") and for best original screenplay for "The Conversation."

Miss Burstyn, in a New York play, and De Niro, making a film in Italy, did not claim their awards. Miss Bergman was there and she received a standing ovation from the admiring audience.

"Amarcord," Frederico Fellini's affectionate autobiographical film of prewar Italy, was named best foreign language film of the year.

Best song Oscar went to "We May Never Love Like This Again," from "The Towering Inferno." The disaster film also won for cinematography and editing.

The closest thing to controversy came when producer Bert Schneider accepted the award for best documentary feature for his film opposing the Vietnam War, "Hearts and Minds."

The producer read a telegram of friendship from the Viet Cong delegate to the Paris Peace talks.

Later in the program the Motion Picture Academy answered through emcee Frank Sinatra: "We are not responsible for any political references made on this program tonight and we are sorry they were made."

Farabee Proposes Fire-Cop

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The image was clear: an officer cruising in his squad car rushes to a fire, strips off his gun and picks up a hose. It's a fire-cop.

"Mr. Superman," scoffed Sgt. Julius Knigge of the Houston Police Department.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D—Wichita Falls, and Wichita Falls city officials supported the bill to permit cities with populations of 10,000 to 100,000 hire "public safety officers" who could do the job of a policeman and fireman.

Harry Campsey, a former Wichita Falls councilman, said it creates a "package where everybody can win-public safety officers would get more money, taxpayers would get more for their money and the public would get more protection."

Kaigge presented the Texas Police Association's opposition to the bill.

The measure also was opposed by the Texas Municipal Police Association, the Texas State Association of Firefighters and the International Association of Firefighters.

A merger would be the "beginning of a breakdown in effective fire and police service," said Louis Hebert of the International firefighters.

"I just can't visualize a policeman taking off his gun and putting on fire clothes," said Hebert, "or a fireman shaking off his bunkers (fire garments) and strapping on a gun."

Maybe the Senate Intergovernmental Committee agreed.

Committee attendance dwindled during the two-hour hearing until only three senators remained, and the measure was sent to a subcommittee.

The firemen and policemen were all smiles.

Prof Supports Marijuana Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Marijuana smoking is "a very intense, symbolic moral issue" and is not something people should be sent to jail for doing, says a UCLA professor of psychiatry.

The United States has a much bigger problem with the abuse of alcohol than with drugs, including heroin, Dr. J. Thomas Ungerlieder told the Senate Jurisprudence Committee Tuesday.

Ungerlieder served on the President's National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse. He testified in support of a bill that would make possession of up to two ounces of marijuana a maximum fine of $200, and no jail time.

Another hearing for opponents of the bill will be held by a subcommittee Monday night.

"Jail is harmful to your health," the doctor said.

Sen. Walter Mengden, R—Houston suggested the best way to avoid jail for possession of marijuana was not to possess it. Robbers and murderers could stay out of jail too, he said, if they stopped robbing and murdering.

Those crimes harm other people, the doctor said, while the use of marijuana in one's home does not.

Mengden said a Houston man, whom he did not identify, smoked marijuana, then left his house with a rifle and began shooting "kids and elderly people."

The doctor tried to answer, but Mengden twice interrupted him.

"You don't want to let me finish, do you, sir?" the doctor said.

"Not very much," Mengden said.

"This is what I mean by symbolic moral issue," the doctor said, looking at other committee members. "Many people want to remain unburdened by knowledge."

It was the last time Mengden spoke until after the doctor left the room.

Anti-Business Bias Claimed

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., says "anti-business bias" and a "regulatory mentality" are leading the U.S. toward a state-controlled economy.

Buckley told a meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists Tuesday that Congress is considering several bills which could be dangerous not only to the oil and gas business but to all businesses.

"Tomorrow's whipping boys may well be steel, or insurance, or banks or the computer business," Buckley said.

He predicted "if the antibusiness bias continues to grow, if the regulatory mentality is allowed to expand and tighten still further the federal grip on almost every facet of our economic life, I fear we may soon reach the point of no return in our drift toward a state-controlled economy."

Across town, at a meeting of the American Petroleum Institute the presidents of two major drilling companies warned that the United States cannot become energy self-sufficient unless the oil industry gets more government understanding and support.

W. Henson Moore, president of the Offshore Co., Houston, said he thinks the outlook for offshore drilling contractors is bright because of the need for the development of new energy reserves. But he said the profit incentive must be sufficient in this country "in order to attract the capital investments, manpower, expertise and equipment necessary for development of U.S. energy resources."

Robert L. Parker, president of the Parker Drilling Co., of Tulsa, Okla., urged oilmen not to be too quick to say that the recent changes in the tax laws will make it impossible for them to develop this country's oil and gas resources.

Some members of Congress have little or no appreciation of the free enterprise system, Parker said, and they would be delighted for oilmen to say they cannot do the job, because it would authorize Congress to put the federal government directly into the business of drilling and producing natural gas.

TIA Grants 21% Increase

HOUSTON (AP) — A new contract announced by Texas International Airlines with its 1,000 ground employes provides for a 21 per cent pay increase.

The increase announced Tuesday applies over a 33-month period to the May 1977 expiration of the new contract.

The settlement signed last week ended a four-month strike that had halted Texas International flights in nine states and Mexico since early December.

Resumption of flights began Friday.

Compromises were reported on issues involving part-time workers and split shifts, officials said, while the Air Lines Employes Association withdrew a demand for cutting the work day from eight to seven and one-half hours.

Anti-American Evidence Mounts In Cambodia

By DENIS D.GRAY
Associatej Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — "The Americans appear to be great humanitarians. They give temporary aid, but ultimately they think only of themselves," the former government minister said. "We in Cambodia have been seduced and abandoned."

Resentment against the United States is mounting among Phnom Penh's political elite. It is being stoked by a growing feeling that the U.S. Congress will turn down further military aid to Cambodia and that its delay on the vote is a parting act of cruelty.

The domino theory is not a debating point here in higher political circles. It is accepted as an undeniable law.

Government leaders insist that if the United States deserts Cambodia, all of Southeast Asia will go Communist. They argue U.S. honor will be spoiled and Asian allies may well side with the Communist regime in China rather than believe the bankrupt word of the Americans.

But there is little evidence of anti-Americanism among those who do not hear the latest news from Washington. Frontline soldiers and Phnom Penh's average citizens say they cannot believe there may soon be no American bullets for their rifles or rice for their bowls.

Americans are regarded as being on "their side;" such loyalties are simply not severed in their insular world.

"I don't think America will let us die," one young soldier on Phnom Penh's southern defense line says.

Among Phnom Penh's major groups, only the students have called for an end to U.S. aid, saying it prolongs the agony of war. Unlike South Vietnam, where an undercurrent of anti-Americanism has existed for years, there have been no overt acts of hostility reported against Americans in areas of Cambodia still controlled by the government.

Many government leaders see American policy in Cambodia as oddly ineffective and any U.S. withdrawal of aid as pure betrayal. A composite attitude gathered from numerous interviews runs this way:

—The United States supported the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, and its troops invaded the country in 1970 to protect U.S. soldiers and hasten their withdrawal from South Vietnam. The United States also bound itself to the Phnom Penh government through vast monetary aid and — until August 1973 — by air support.

—Americans have obviously interfered in internal Cambodian affairs, but they failed to exert the pressure needed to force out useless and corrupt generals and inert leaders, including President Lon Nol. By their almost schizophrenic approach the Americans are in large part responsible for the near collapse of the Phnom Penh government.

Cabinet ministers, legislators and former officials insist that with more aid an energetic government could be generated and peace concluded through a formula of military strength and willingness to negotiate. Their solutions, however, are vague, almost fanciful, as are their explanations why five years of such aid has produced only military and political failure.

Rats Interrupt Assembly Program

DALLAS (AP) — Screams interrupted a filmed slides program dealing with rodent control in a Hillcrest High School assembly Monday, and someone quickly turned on the lights.

Jan Loven, a rodent control specialist there as a guest from Texas A&M, stood bewildered as several shrieking girls scrambled to leave the auditorium.

As half a dozen baby rats scampered to avoid capture, Loven suggested, "They must have been driven in out of the rain."

Efforts to corral the creatures were unavailing. A second assembly with the same program was canceled.
