The College Entrance Examination Board, which provides tests used by hundreds of colleges and universities for the purpose of evaluating prospective new students, has embarked upon a "College-Level Examination Program," which it says already has the sanction of some 500 colleges and universities.

Purpose of this program, which is supported financially by the Carnegie Corp., is to give people who do not have opportunity to attend college to acquire college credit in subject areas in which they can pass the tests. In other words, if you think you know enough about a course to pass the test on it, you may arrange for college credit at one of the participating schools.

The dry spell is becoming more and more acute on area farms and ranches, says County agent Billy Roach. A rain, or even a good snow, would look good right now.

And Tollie Faver observed that the long dry spell is setting up such animals as coyotes and racoons with fish dinners. These animals, he said, go to stock tanks which are at low level and help themselves to the helpless fish. He said that coyotes in particular delight in finding a drying tank that has been stocked with fish because they are able to knock fish out of the water easily.

Although nearly all agree that the over-all strength is probably lower than usual, most observers now believe that the high school basketball teams in District 3-AAA are so well balanced that the eventual district champion may lose as many as two or three games. So far, Lamesa is the only undefeated team in league play, and the Tornadoes have had their hands full winning at home their last two outings.

Most years, a team is considered virtually out of the race if it loses one game. Snyder has lost a conference game already, but must be considered a contender because the lone loss was to defending champion Lamesa on its home court and the locals will get a chance to even that score later on when Lamesa must come here in second round play.

At the same time, Snvder's B team has made a surprising showing when you consider the number of sophomores on the varsity rosters. If all of the sophs were on the JV unit it would be a true power house in its class.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1971. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1784, the United States ratified a peace treaty with England, formally ending the American revolution.

On this date:

In 1809, England and Spain formed an alliance against Napoleon Bonaparte.

In 1814, Denmark ceded Norway to Sweden.

In 1914, the first auto assembly line was started by Henry Ford. The time to put a car together was reduced from 12 hours to 90 minutes.

In 1942, forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur were resisting Japanese attacks in the Pacific war battle of Bataan in the Philippines.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a wartime conference in Casablanca, Morocco.

In 1953, the parliament in Yugoslavia elected Premier Tito president. The vote was 568 to 1.

Ten years ago— President Dwight D. Eisenhower issued an order prohibiting the holding of gold overseas by Americans.

Five years ago — A Soviet mission to North Vietnam returned to Moscow and pledged increased aid to the North Vietnamese war effort.

One year ago — Nigeria refused assistance for victims of its civil war from France, Portugal, South Africa and Rhodesia, saying they had been hostile toward Nigeria through the long conflict.

SUPREME COURT SAYS LAWS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Obscene Mail Laws Voided

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously stripped Post Office officials today of the power to block or detain mail to dealers in "obscene" materials.

The court's opinion, by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., said the authority, dating back to 1890, is a form of censorship forbidden by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Agreeing with federal district courts in California and Georgia the high court invalidated two laws.

Under one, dating back to 1890, the Postmaster General could have letters stamped "unlawful" and returned to the senders if an administrative officer decided the intended recipient was obtaining money through the mail for obscene or indecent articles or devices.

Under the second law, enacted in 1960, the Postmaster General had the power to obtain a court order permitting him to detain mail to a dealer the government decided traffics in obscenity.

Quoting Oliver Wendell Holmes, the late justice who was one of the most eloquent civil libertarians in the nation's history, Brennan wrote: "The United States may give up the Post Office when it sees fit, but while it carries it on the use of the mails is almost as much a part of free speech as the right to use our tongues. . ."

The heart of Brennan's opinion was that the burden should be on the government rather than on a dealer to prove material moving through the mails is obscene.

The justice said the two laws are unconstitutional because they put this burden on the dealer and hold up his mail unless he can get clearance.

Secondly, Brennan said the administrative process involved is too slow to be constitutional. He cited a 1965 ruling that upset Maryland's system for censoring movies.

The Nixon administration argued strenuously for retention of the laws. Peter L. Strauss of the U.S. solicitor General's office said in arguing for the laws before the court Nov. 10 the procedure was similar to government interception of fraudulent advertising.

Legislature Due Program Earlier

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said today he will offer the legislature a full two-year legislative program with his recommendations for new taxes Jan. 20.

However, Smith indicated he would not recommend in his speech deficit financing to handle welfare and other urgent financial problems of the current fiscal year.

"We're working night and day on the message," Smith said in an informal interview. "We're considering everything but we have not definitely made up our mind yet ... Anything like that (deficit financing) would take a four-fifths vote."

Several legislators have been quoted as favoring a suspension of the state's pay-as-you-go policy for the emergency funds to keep from having to pass two tax bills this session—one for the current fiscal year deficit and one for the next two years.

Speaker Gus Mutscher said, in comment on the reports, that he would oppose any such move. "The pay as you go provision was put there for a good reason and I think it should be complied with," he said.

Smith agreed Wednesday to help the legislature get down to work five days earlier than orginally planned by giving his official message to a joint session Jan. 20, the day after inauguration, instead of Jan. 25 as announced earlier.

Mutscher contended he could not announce the membership of his 40-odd standing committees until after the governor makes his recommendations, including gubernatorial plans for raising $800 million in new taxes.

The governor's speech will be the signal for organization of the important House committees and pre-debate action on the proposed legislative measures already pouring into the House clerk's office.

"Our view is to allow him as much of an open forum as possible," Mutscher told the House Wednesday in reference to the governor's speech. "Pre-conceived strategies would be a mistake on my part at this time."

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced the 27 Senate committees minutes after the 62nd Legislature opened Tuesday and committee hearings began Wednesday.

Smith did not give any reason for changing the date of his speech but it was common knowledge he did not relish the idea of giving an important serious message the morning after the funmaking and festivities at six inaugural balls on the night of Jan. 19.

MASS MEETING IN COLISEUM

'DID' Slated Feb. 1

Feb. 1 will be "DID" (Drug Information Day) in Snyder.

The climax of the event will be a mass meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum, with all citizens of Snyder and Scurry County, as well as all school pupils from the seventh grade upward, invited.

The emphasis at the DID program will be on information about drugs and their abuse.

Serving on a panel will be six experts from various professions who are experienced in dealing with problems in drugs, drug abuse and in the rehabilitation of drug addicts.

Plans for the program were mapped at a luncheon meeting in early December.

Members of the panel will be:

Dr. Doyle Carson, psychiatrist at the Timberlawn Sanitorium, Dallas. A native of Lubbock, Dr. Carson has had many years of experience in dealing with drugs and drug abuse. He is chief consultant on juvenile drug addiction in Dallas and supervised the establishing of the drug education program for Dallas and for the Dallas Public Schools.

Dr. John Gossette, psychologist at Timberlawn Sanitorium, Dallas. He is consulting therapist on all drug problems at Timberlawn, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country, and is in charge of the program of drug eductation in Dallas Public Schools. He has had several articles on this and related subjects published in national publications.

George Jones, Agent No.1, State Narcotics Bureau, Midland. He has had 16 years of experience in drug-related law inforcement work.

The Rev. Bill Parkey of San Antonio. A former minister of First Christian Church here, Rev. Parkey is chairman of the counseling committee for drug rehabilitation at the San Antonio Branch of the University of Texas Medical School; is consulting counselor in rehabilitation of drug addicts for the USPHS Narcotics Center in Fort Worth.

Bill Merkel, drug education consultant for the Texas Education Agency, Abilene. A former school principal and counselor, he has specialized for the past four years in drug education programs.

Ben William Warton, a man "who has been there." He was successfully rehabilitated and now holds a demanding job. He will tell how he became addicted to drugs, how it was while he was on drugs, and how he was rehabilitated.

Dr. Wilton N. Jones will serve as moderator. He will be assisted by John Short, counselor at Snyder High School who is in charge of the drug education program for Snyder Public Schools, and by Dr. Robert B. Pierce, county health officer.

Each member of the panel will present brief, introductory remarks, and then written questions from the audience will be answered.

The Feb. 1 meeting here will be observed by representatives of the Texas Education Agency, law enforcement agencies, including the Federal Narcotics Bureau, and dignitaries in the medical profession. All are anxious to see how the program goes off and the experience here undoubtedly will be drawn upon for drug education projects elsewhere. This is the largest project of its type that has ever been attempted anywhere, local leaders have been informed.

Higginbotham Rites Pending

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home for Mra. A. D. Higgnibotham, 87, a longtime resident of Hermleigh.

Mrs. Higginbotham died at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Hillcrest Lodge.

A native of Celeste, Tex., she had lived in Scurry County since 1900. She was married on Aug. 14, 1903, to A. D. Higginbotham. He preceded her in death in 1966. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Atchley of Ivanhoe, Calif., Mrs. A. K. Bayless of Hermleigh and Mrs. Ruby Vernon of San Antonio; a brother, Howard Clements of Snyder; 10 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

9 Perish In Nursing Home Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fire swept through a four-story senior citizens home early today, killing nine occupants and injuring at least 48 other persons, authorities said.

The blaze began about 2:15 a.m. EST at the Westminister Terrace Presbyterian Home for Senior Citizens, and was discovered by the night nurse, Mrs. Helen Turner.

The building, southeast of Louisville, was evacuated and the uninjured residents were taken to hospitals, a nearby church and neighboring residences.

Seven were pronounced dead at one hospital and two at another. Of the injured, four were listed in critical condition.

Mrs. Turner said she heard a crackling sound, went to investigate and saw smoke pouring out of the chapel area. She alerted the fire department, then went to the home's infirmary and shut the room's doors.

A few minutes later the automatic fire alarm went off. The alarm also closed inside center hall doors, closing of the central stairs and elevators. Many residents left down stairs at each end of the building, which has a capacity of 91 occupants.

Rates Set By CRMWD

BIG SPRING—The City of Snyder's water rate from the Colorado River Municipal Water district will go up about seven cents per 1,000 gallons, based on estimates on demands for the year. The rates were set officially this morning by directors of the CRMWD in session here.

Snyder will pay a fixed fee of $10,948, plus six cents per 1,000 gallons for water used. Based on estimates of consumption for the year, this will result in a total fee of 23.29 cents per 1,000 gallons. However, if 1971 demand matches that of 1970, an exceptionally high use year, the rate would amount to 21.63 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The rate for 1970 had been calculated this time last year at 17.28 cents per 1,000 gallons, but the actual rate finally emerged at 16.22 per 1,000 gallons.

The hike in rates had been expected and the City of Snyder already had adjusted its rates to consumers to take care of the increase.

The CRMWD increased its rates to finance development of a well field in Ward County. Also, more revenue was needed to pay off bonds for Lake E.V. Spence at Robert Lee and to compensate for loss of revenue from oil companies which have been cut off from lake supplies.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, reported that the first well in Ward County measured up to expectations and that more drilling will be done. The district plans to drill some 17 wells there and has a target date of May 1 to bring the first Ward County water into the CRMWD Odessa terminal.

Cearley Rites At Hermleigh

Funeral service for W. W. Cearley was set for 3 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh.

Mr. Cearley, 56, died at 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The Rev. Bob Creswell was to officiate at the funeral service. Burial was to be in the Hermleigh Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

TO REOPEN CAMBODIA'S SEA ROAD

US Bombers Join Drive

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers have joined the campaign to reopen Phnom Penh's highway to the sea, informed sources reported today. It is the first time the eight-jet Stratoforts have been reported bombing in Cambodia in direct support of ground troops since the U.S. ground operations across the border last May and June.

The sources said the B52s pounded the Pich Nil and Stung Chhay mountain passes on Highway 4 southwest of the Cambodian capital to prepare the way for more than 13,000 South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops advancing from north and south.

Extensive enemy fortifications and bunkers were reported on the heights above Pich Nil, about 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, and Stung Chhay, 35 miles farther south. The North Vietnamese took control of the two passes last Nov. 21, cutting Phnom Penh off from the port of Kompong Som and causing shortages of fuel and other imports in the capital.

A South Vietnamese armored column was pushing north toward Stung Chhay today after smashing through a North Vietnamese pocket of resistance and killing 31 enemy troops, the government in Saigon said. A spokesman said there were no South Vietnamese casualties.

Another force of South Vietnamese marines was reported maneuvering into position for an assault on the heights of Pich Nil. Observers in Phnom Penh expected the battle for Pich Nil to be hard and bloody because the North Vietnamese have had almost two months to dig in and fortify the heights above the highway.

Elsewhere across Indochina only small skirmishes were reported.

The U.S. Command's weekly casualty report said 27 Americans were killed in combat last week and 83 were wounded, the lowest total battlefield casualties in more than five years. The death toll was the lowest in four weeks.

Another 27 Americans died from such nonhostile causes as accidents or illness.

Commonwealth Meet Opens

By MORT ROSENBLUM
Associated Press Writer

SINGAPORE (AP) — The prime minister of Singapore told government leaders of the 30 other nations of the British Commonwealth today that failure to agree on the question of British arms sales to South Africa could lead to the destruction of the Commonwealth system.

"If in the end consensus is not possible, we shall have to decide whether we can agree to disagree," Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew said at the start of a nine-day Commonwealth summit conference, the first held outside London.

"If we cannot contain our present differences over the proposed arms sales, then it is unlikely that the Commonwealth, as presently constituted, can long endure."

The plans of Britain's Conservative government to resume arms sales to the white-supremacist government in South Africa is the stormiest question facing the conference.

Dear Abby

She wants proof of adultery

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: To get right down to brass tacks, I don't trust my husband. We work different hours and I think he is fooling around with another woman.

Is there some way I can get our home telephone hooked up to another telephone somewhere else so I could listen in on his telephone conversations? I would be willing to rent a motel room temporarily and have an extension telephone from our home installed there. The suspicion is driving me out of my mind. If I knew once and for all that he had another woman I could take it, but the uncertainty is killing me. How can I get proof? LOSING MY MIND

DEAR LOSING: What you suggest is illegal, and no telephone company would assist you with your plan. Since you are willing to accept the fact that your husband has someone else, if indeed he has, I suggest you ask him.

DEAR ABBY: I wear contact lenses. I recently stayed overnight at a girl friend's house, and her little niece watched, fascinated, as I put in my contact lenses. The child had never seen anything like that before, so I very carefully explained that contact lenses were "little eyeglasses" made especially for me, and that no one should ever put anything into his eye which was not made especially for that purpose.

I made sure the child understood me because I once heard of a little child who had watched her mother put contact lenses into her eyes often. The child found a small piece of broken glass, and wanting to "imitate" her mother, she stuck the broken glass into her eye, and subsequently the child became blind in one eye.

You may think this is worth passing on, Abby. LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Indeed I do. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who was in college, had an affair with this girl and she became pregnant. He married her to give the child a name and he had to quit college to support the child.

She continued in college, got her degree and is now teaching in the same college. They divorced shortly after the baby came.

Now my son can't finish college because of having to support the child.

This is what hurts: His ex-wife lets the child [now five years old] come to visit me and this child tells me that his mother sleeps with her boy friends. My son has found that this is true.

Should he go before the school board where she teaches and tell them the life she's living?

I promised my dead wife I would educate our son. Please help me to make the right decision. WORRIED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Educate your son if you are able. Giving the mother of your grandchild a black eye, or causing her to lose her job, if that is what you would hope to accomplish, wouldn't help your son any.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONCERNED FRIEND": Don't tip off the new girl friend. If he is as big a heel as you say he is, let her find out for herself. She will regard your "wising her up" as an exercise in sour grapes. Besides, one girl's banquet can be another girl's crumbs.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Moonman Retiring

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—For one unforgettable moment in history the Apollo 11 astronauts held the attention of the world. Now, the last of them, Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr., follows his crewmates into retirement from the space corps.

Aldrin, lunar module pilot on the first moon landing flight and the second man to walk on the moon, confirmed plans to retire in his characteristic military manner Wednesday: "It would be correct to state that I have a change in status coming up."

He declined to elaborate, explaining, "I had rather do it in an orderly fashion. I'll have a press conference next Tuesday."

A spokesman in Washington said Aldrin, an Air Force colonel, will be commander of the aerospace reseach pilots training school at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The other two Apollo 11 astronauts retired from the space program last year.

Neil A. Armstrong, commander of the mission and first man on the moon, transferred to another department in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He's now deputy administrator for aeronautics.

Michael Collins, the command module pilot, is assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Welfare Crisis Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' doomsday predictions on welfare overshadowed the opening hearing of a five-member Senate subcommittee working on a $7.5 billion proposal to finance state government for two years.

Barnes told the subcommittee Wednesday state public welfare costs are rising so rapidly that hundreds of thousands of Texans on welfare may not get a check in June.

He said the money could run out that month for medical assistance and for Aid to Families with Dependent Children. A total of 593,947 Texans were on welfare in December—all eligible for medical assistance and 331,866 of that total was in the dependent children program.

Barnes said the state welfare department failed to estimate correctly the increasing welfare cases, and the legislature failed to grant enough money for welfare—"some of both."

He said Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin had been asked whether the state could count local welfare expenses toward obtaining more federal money on a 2-to-1 matching basis, a move which Barnes estimated could provide an extra $150 million in federal welfare funds for Texas.

SEC Corp. Profits Up

S. E. C. Corporation, and El Paso based chemical distribution and processing firm, today announced an 85 per cent increase in net income to $123,602, for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1970.

Jonathan D. Schwartz, S. E. C. President, said that sales had increased nine per cent to reach a new high of $7,537,000. In addition, cash provided from operations, in profits and non-cash items reached a new high of $494,000.

The corporation manufactures liquid carbon dioxide and dry ice and also repackages chlorine and distributes a variety of agricultural and industrial chemicals.

S. E. C. offices are located in Albuquerque, Belen, Bueyeros and Solano, N.M.: Billings, Mont.; Corpus Christi, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Odessa and Snyder, Tex.; Denver, Colo.; Kansas City, Mo.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Wichita, Kan.

Schwartz said that the increased profits were gratifying, considering a tight economy and the hurricane destruction of their Corpus Christi Plant.

He added that S. E. C. plans to increase the existing profit structure through the promotion of new uses for existing products and improving efficiency.

The corporation has recently entered into specialty chemical manufacturing and processing with the signing of a contract for the recovery of spent mineral values from a major Southwest refinery. A plant for this purpose is scheduled for completion this year.

The company is also conducting research in other inorganic and organic chemical fields.

Baker Enters Federal Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Robert G. "Bobby" Baker, who traded on his friendship with former President Lyndon B. Johnson, entered federal prison today to begin serving a sentence for cheating the government.

Handcuffed and escorted by two U.S. marshals, the tight-lipped Baker walked through the iron gate of the high-walled Lewisburg Penitentiary to start a 1-3 year term for larceny, income tax evasion, fraud and conspiracy.

"I shall do my duty and I shall do it with honor," Baker told newsmen shortly before he surrendered to a federal official at the courthouse in this small college community in central Pennsylvania.

After signing the commitment papers, Baker was driven by the marshals the three miles to the penitentiary which houses approximately 1,400 men.

A light freezing rain was falling and the skies were heavily overcast as the hatless Baker, carrying an attache case and wearing a black overcoat over a grey pinstriped suit, walked up to the prison, which he had sought to avoid for nearly four years of legal battle.

"Do you still maintain your innocence?" he was asked.

"Sure," he answered softly, shrugging his shoulders.

Baker will be eligible for parole on Dec. 28, 1971. If parole is not granted he would be released mandatorily on April 23, 1973.

Siamese Twin Boys Separated

HOUSTON (AP) — Ten-month old Siamese twin boys from Peru were reported in satisfactory condition today at Texas Children's hospital following successful separation surgery.

Jose Luciano and Jose Casimiro Mendoza were separated Wednesday in a six-hour operation.

The babies were being cared for in a special post surgical unit of the hospital.

The surgical team included 10 doctors and five nurses.

A hospital spokesman said the twins were joined at the bottom of the spine in a back-to-back position. Contrary to appearance, the spokesman said, the two babies were found to have almost complete lower intestinal tracts so that separate and distinct tracts could be constructed.

The infants' vital signs remained good throughout the surgery, the spokesman said.

The twins were born March 4 to a teen-age mother from the town of Catacoas, Peru, 520 miles north of Lima.

They had been cared for in a children's hospital in Piura, Peru, prior to their arrival in Houston Dec. 13.

They underwent intensive studies at Texas Children's Hospital here before the separation surgery was attempted.

The twins were the fifth set of Siamese to be referred to Texas Children's Hospital.

OLD-FASHIONED SALAD — Green cabbage, finely shredded, is mixed with a cooked dressing and given a garnish of scarlet pimiento.

Cabbage Slaw Is Versatile

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

So many reasons for serving slaw.

The raw green leaves of cabbage are an excellent source of vitamin C.

Cabbage is ever available and inexpensive.

Slaw is a fine accompaniment to main dishes—meat, poultry, fish and cheese.

And there are so many varieties of slaw that you can serve it week after week and yet have it interesting.

There's the basic cabbage salad made with French dressing. The dressing may be your own refrigerated variety. Or you can make it on the spot by mixing the shredded cabbage with oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, dry mustard and—if you like—a suspicion of sugar.

Then there's the relish type of slaw. For this shredded cabbage is mixed with grated carrot, slivered green pepper and chopped sweet onion or scallion (green onion). The dressing is made with equal parts of vinegar and sugar plus salt; celery seed or mustard seed (or both) may be added.

The mayonnaise type of slaw is popular. Mayonnaise, as is, or doctored with sour cream or sugar and vinegar is used with the shredded cabbage.

Fruit slaw is usually applauded. For this French dressing or a mayonnaise-type dressing is used and pineapple tidbits, seedless grapes, diced red apple or plumped golden raisins are added to the shredded green cabbage.

A fifth variety is an old-time favorite, shredded green cabbage sauced with a savory cooked dressing. And here's one of our favorite recipes for this extra-delicious combination:

CABBAGE SLAW
WITH COOKED DRESSING

3 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup milk
6 cups (or more) finely shredded green cabbage, not packed down
¼ cup distilled white vinegar
Drained canned pimiento for garnish, if desired

In a medium mixing bowl whisk egg yolks enough to break up well; set aside.

In a 1½-quart heavy saucepan over low heat, melt the butter. Stir in the flour; remove from heat. Add the sugar, salt and mustard; slowly stir in the milk, keeping smooth.

Over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, cook until thickened and bubbly.

Remove from heat and, spoon by spoon, whisk about ½ cup of the hot mixture into the egg yolks; return yolk mixture to saucepan, whisking constantly as you do so.

Cook, stirring constantly, without boiling, for a minute or two to cook yolks. Remove from heat; slowly stir in vinegar.

Cover and chill. Add dressing to cabbage and mix well. Add extra salt, if desired, to taste. Serve at once or cover and refrigerate for several hours or overnight.

If used, garnish with pimiento strips before serving.

Makes about 8 servings.

NOTE:

For this slaw, knife-shred only the green part of the cabbage; do not shred any of the heavy-ribbed white portion next to the core.

The heavy-ribbed portion may be used for another meal by shredding it coarsely, discarding the core, and pan-cooking it in a large covered skillet with a few tablespoons each of water and butter just until tender-crisp.

12 Foods Of Month Are Plentiful

COLLEGE STATION—The U. S. Department of Agriculture's January plentiful foods list may equal the length of your list of New Year's resolutions, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Pork and applesauce are featured for the month, and represent a real treat in flavor combinations. In addition to the featured items, fresh oranges, frozen concentrated orange juice, canned orange juice, dry peas, fresh apples, apple juice, fresh grapefruit, canned grapefruit juice, onions and potatoes will be plentiful.

The plentiful foods list is part of USDA's program to inform the public and the food trade about foods expected to be in abundant supply in the immediate future and in need of merchandising aid. The list is developed by USDA commodity specialists in cooperation with various segments of the food industry.

Pork production during the last few months has been running well above a year ago—and October output was the largest for any month on record.

A record production of early, midseason and navel oranges will keep supplies plentiful, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. This season's grapefruit crop is estimated at around 150 million boxes, down from last year but still a large production. Keep plenty of apples on hand for out-of-hand eating and cooking.

A record-large summer onion crop and a record fall potato crop are sending large supplies of these popular vegetables to market. Potatoes and onions keep well, so you may want to stock up.

Altrurian Club Plans For Convention

The Altrurian Club met Jan. 8, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Nellie Smith as hostess.

Mrs. W. P. King presided in the absence of the president. A letter was read from the district president announcing the district convention to be held at Colorado City March 24-25.

The club discussed entries in the poetry contest and also the fashions for fun which are a part of the convention program.

The corresponding secretary read a letter of thanks from the Big Spring Hospital for the gifts and money sent to the hospital for Christmas.

The program was presented by the conservation committee.

Mrs. Minnie George spoke of means of conserving peace of mind and lack of compromise in choice of reading material.

Then she asked for a round table discussion of the control of pollution in the physical environment.

The subject of Miss Evelyn Boones talk was "Guided Youth Activity". She began by saying that the younger generation has always presented a challenge to its elders. New times and new ideas made environment unlike the ones their parents coped with when they were young. This plus notional desires of children to be different from their fathers and mothers. Now parents meet the challenge presented by the healthiest and most intelligent young people in the history of our country.

Miss Boone pointed out that Snyder offers many capable adult-sponsored youth activities such as the Christian Athletes, Future Farmers of America, Future Home Makers of America, Future Teachers, Future Nurses, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Choral Clubs, Student Council and Social Clubs, youth church organizations and others.

Designers Say Shorts Are Next For Nurses

By ANN HENCKEN
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Rex Morgan would keel over in a dead faint if he could see nurse June Gale's latest uniform—and its variations.

As quick as you can say acetylsalicylic acid, a nurse can change her new pants-suit uniform into an ensemble fit for off-duty fun. She just adds a feather blouse to her white nurse's slacks, or she can wear her tunic over multistriped short shorts.

The trend to pants for hospital nurses started last year and caught on at hospitals across the country.

Younger nurses with highly active jobs in specialized units were generally the guinea pigs—and for good reason. As skirts crept higher and higher in the 1960s, nurses with short skirts risked exposing their stocking tops.

However, now that nurses are winning the fight for pants suits in many places, designers are saying long pants are becoming a part of the past. Short shorts, yes. Knickers yes. Long pants, yawn.

Nurses' costumes from 1865 were shown during an all-white uniforms presentation Thursday at the New York Couture National Press Week-just as an interesting contrast. But with their long skirts and white aprons, these old uniforms looked more like 1971, for better or for worse. Who can keep up with it all?

In Pakistan: Maxicoats Are The Rage

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — No argument about maxicoats in Pakistan. They are the rage, from the tip of m'lady's nose to her ankles.

The Pakistani version is centuries old and is called the burqa. It started as a shroud but has acquired sufficient style for such variations as the Shuttlecock, the Teddy and, even, the miniburqa.

Millions of women in this sober, predominantly Moslem society of nearly 130 million persons wear them as part of the tradition of purdah, which requires females in public to veil themselves from the male gaze.

The burqa has a measurable effect on girl watching. However, a determined male still can draw inspiration from the flash of a well-turned instep, usually the only expanse of flesh exposed when a burqa glides by.

Despite the inroads of modern life, most Pakistani women wear this traditional covering usually over bloomer-like white trousers called shalwar. Some university girls wear them to school, doff them for the classes they share with male students, don them for the return home. They usually wear burqas in deference to conservative parents.

Girls who won't wear a burqa in one place will wear one in another. Modern girls in gaily patterned trouser suits arriving at the airport in Peshawar, capital of the Northwest Frontier, often pause to cover themselves in black burqas before venturing into a town where women are among the most cloistered in the country.

Few foreign women wear burqas but many buy them as souvenirs, said G.M. Khan who sells them at a busy Bunder Road emporium in Karachi. New York writer Margaret Marcus, who has converted to Islam in Lahore under the name Maryam Jameelah, is pictured in a new book under the caption "The Author" draped completely in a black burqa, with only her hands visible.

The oldest style is the Shuttlecock, so called because its square cap and generous gown reminded people of the badminton bird. The cap covers the face, the wearer peering out through a grill cut in it.

The Teddy has become the most common style. It is a long black coat that is almost form fitting. The wearer throws a gauzy black cloth over her head, hiding her face while still able to see a somewhat dim world. Many women wear the cloth over the tip of their nose or as a headkerchief, with or without dark glasses, depending on the depth of one's modesty. The Teddy comes from the Teddy Boy style popular about the time this version of the burqa appeared.

The miniburqa doesn't quite get down to the knee which is always well covered by the shalwar, in any case. Some minis have a fru-fru flounce, like a ballerina skirt.

Khan believes business will be good for 50 years despite some young women renouncing burqas. Where once the coats were available only in white cotton or in black crepe, they now come in peach, ivory, sea blue or canary yellow and decorated with embroidery that raises their price from the usual 35 rupees—$7—to 100 rupees—$20. Most women have at least two.

Despite the young urban woman's usual distaste for the burqa, some have found them useful. Examiners must watch that burqaed students are not smuggling test answers under their garments. The burqa allows some young ladies to find welcome obscurity, such as when slipping from a dormitory to meet a boy friend.

"You would be surprised at what you can get away with in a burqa," said a pretty student at Lahore's Fatima Jinnah Medical College, a school for girls.

PROSPECTS HIGHLY DEPRESSING

Job Market Has New Meaning For Ph.Ds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The uncertainty of the job market has a new meaning for Ph.D's these days: Prospects Highly Depressing.

In almost every field, jobs are scarce for the hundreds who have studied four to eight years for a doctorate, once an all but certain ticket to academic or professional success. And educators say the forecast for the next decade looks bleak.

"Jobs are tight now and going to remain tight," said Robert L. Farrell, planning officer at the Smithsonian Institution and co-author of an article on the economics and financing of American higher education.

Colleges and universities, citing increasing financial burdens and cutbacks in federal funds for scientific research, are dropping research projects and cutting the curricula.

Nancy Clancy, who has charge of the American Historical Association's professional register, said she has 245 jobs listed by 175 schools, compared to last year's 403 jobs by 197 schools, a number then considered low.

However, not all areas of history feel the pinch. While there are too many historian specializing in Modern Europe and the United States, said Mrs. Clancy, there are jobs available in African and Asian history.

According to U.S. Office of Education statistics, the number of Ph.D's awarded annually has tripled in the last 10 years -from 9,829 during the 1959-60 school year to 29,300 in 1969-70.

The Cooperative College Registry in Washington, a placement service for college teachers, reports the number of Ph.D candiates is up 25 per-cent over last year and the number of job vacancies is down 25 per-cent.

As of the first week in January, the Registry had 3,742 Ph.D registrants for 399 vacancies. These figures include people who have jobs and are looking for better ones, as well as those who are entering the job market for the first time.

Educators report it is most difficult to get jobs in English, history, philosophy, political and religious studies.

"The fields easiest to fill are in math, sociology, athropology and psychology," said Mrs. Ruth A. Armstrong, head of the office of teacher placement at Yale Graduate School.

Demand for Ph.D's also exceeds the supply in astronomy, earth sciences, some areas of biology and some medical sciences, but these are relatively small fields.

Mrs. Armstrong said Yale had dropped geographic preferences from its registration cards for job applicants. "One interesting consequence of all this," she said, "is that people who have wanted to stay on the east or west coasts will find they have to go to the Midwest to find work. This is good in a sociological way. It's spreading the talent, attitudes and customs across the country."

Another effect is that many Ph.D's will take jobs at junior and community colleges instead of the more prestigeous four-year institutions.

The profusion of Ph.D's was forecast almost six years ago by Dr. Allan M. Cartter, chancellor of New York University, in an article written for the American Statistical Association.

"No one believed it then," Cartter said. "I wish they had listened.

"Now I'm worried about their personal discouragement. When most of them started working for their degrees six and seven years ago, the job market was much different. Now a much larger proportion of them will be taking jobs as a stop-gap, hoping something better will come along. Very frequently, it doesn't."

In a recent paper on scientific trends for 1970-85, Dr. Cartter said, "We have created a graduate education and research establishment in American universities that is about 30 to 50 per cent larger than we shall effectively use in the 1970's and early 1980's, and the growth process continues in many sectors. The readjustment to the real demands of the next 15 years is bound to be painful."

Class A All-State

DALLAS (AP) — Four of the reasons rugged Sonora won the state Class A football championship in 1970 are listed on the Texas Sports Writers' Association Class A All-State football team.

Sonora and state semi-finalist White Oak led selections to the mythical team with four players each.

Representing the champions on the offensive first team are Mike Taylor, a 6-foot-2 senior end and running back Scott Jacoby. Kerry Joy is a first team linebacker and Sammy Perez is a second team defensive back.

White Oak placed guard Ronnie Screws and running back Joe Stephens on the first offensive team and quarterback Mike Barberand linebacker Danny Denton on the second units.

Taylor was the biggest vote-getting with 78 and Dripping Springs lineman Pat Lyle had 76.

Rounding out the first offensive line are Crespin Moreno of Three Rivers; tackles Ricky Thurman of White Deer and Edwin Skloss of Poth; guards, Keith Elliott of Barbers Hill; center Roger Luttrell of Honey Grove. Moreno also is a first team defensive back.

Joining Jacoby and Stephens in the first team backfield are quarterback, Larry Tidwell of Sanger and back Richard Ramirez of Poth. Tidwell also was named to the second team defensive backfield.

FIRST TEAM

Cheng Is Female Athlete Of Year

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Twinkle, twinkle little star" was one of the few English phrases Chi Cheng could say when she came to this country seven years ago.

Twinkle she does—except when she gets her dander up before a race. A star she is—so much so that the 26-year-old Taiwan sprinter who cracked four world track records in 1970 far outdistanced nine other competitors to become The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year.

Miss Chi, who recently was married to her American coach, Vincent Reel, drew 572 votes in a poll of AP sports writers and sports broadcasters, nearly 400 more than Debbie Meyer, the record-smashing teen-age swim star who was the 1969 winner.

Behind Miss Meyer, who talled 176 votes, was Margaret Court of Australia who scored a grand slam in tennis by winning the U.S. Open, Australian Open and Wimbledon, with 154; and professional golfers Kathy Whitworth, 87, and Sandra Haynie, 40.

Others receiving votes were Diane Crump, Martha Wilkinson, Billy Jean King, Yoshimi Mishigawa and Doris Brown.

Miss Chi, the first non-American to win the honor since swimming ace Dawn Fraser of Australia won it in 1962, earned the title in style.

At the Portland, Ore., Rose Festival in June she shattered the outdoor 100-yard world record with a 10 seconds flat clocking and the 220 with a time of 22.7.

In July in Munich, site of the 1972 Olympics, she smashed the 200-meter sprint with a time of 22.4 then went on to Vienna where six days later she wrapped up her fourth world mark, an 11-seconds flat clocking for the 100 meters.

In addition she holds 11 Asian records and six American marks, the latest in June when she clipped the 440 to 52.5.

The third of seven children of a grocer in Hsin-Chu, a city of 564,000 near Taipei, started her career when she entered high school—first as a high jumper, then as a sprinter.

"I'm really a sprinter," she would say later. "That's what I do best."

It was at the Rome Olympics in 1960—where she finished last in the hurdles—that Reel, assigned by the State Department to coach the Indian team, first saw her.

They met again two years later when Reel, head track coach at Claremont-Mudd College in California, again was on government assignment, this time as coach of Nationalist China's track team.

So impressed was he with the long, lithe runner that he wrote her government saying she could be better trained in the United States.

Her country agreed to the move and financed her schooling at Cal Poly Pomona where she is majoring in physical education.

It was then that her professional and personal relationship with Reel, 30 years her senior, began to blossom.

"Chi looks like a delicate flower," Reel once said, "but she's as hard as a fortune cookie."

It's her tough side that makes her run. She has to be angry to compete—so angry that she works herself into a real rage before each run. In fact, she and Reel, whom she still addresses as "Coach" play a game called "making Chi mad."

When she's mad, she wins.

In 1969, despite a shoulder separation and various leg injuries, Chi lost only one race of 71—to Olympic silver medalist Barbara Ferrell.

In the past two years she has been defeated only two other times—the last coming in December at the Asian games when she collapsed with a painful leg injury while leading the 400-meter.

Both Miss Chi and her husband are now in Claremont where she is continuing her education and recovering from her leg injuries. When informed of the AP honor, the 5-foot-7½, 135-pound dark-haired beauty expressed surprise even though she called 1970 her best year yet in track. "But I hope it's not the best in my life," she added.

She plans to start training again in February when "the muscles in my legs are completely healed" and hopes to compete again by the end of April. Her biggest goal, though is the 1972 Olympics,

"We will work slowly and try to get in shape. I would be better to stick with a race or two. When you spread yourself on three or four, you may end up with nothing because everyone running in the Olympics is so good."

Tom Landry Is Grid Gambler

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Ask most professional football fans for their opinion of Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry and the most frequent description would be that he's an emotionless human-computer.

At times Landry keeps this false theory afloat.

Like when he's asked about the big Dallas turnaround Landry answers: "Well, the players started playing relaxed."

Asked if this came from the head coach, he said "I never relax."

At 46 Landry is the dean of the National Football League coaches with 11 years' service as the only headmaster the Cowboys have ever known.

He is indeed a football genius. Landry invented the 4-3 defensive alignment as an assistant coach for the New York Giants. And when he came to Dallas as coach in 1960. Landry began work with castoffs and suffered through an 0-11-1 season.

Dallas now has a 77-69-6 record in the Landry years, including five consecutive playoff trips and now a Super Bowl game with Baltimore.

Landry's physical appearance itself is stoic.

But cold Landry is not.

He can be quick with a quip and has a good sense of humor.

This has been the toughest and yet most fruitful year for Landry, who took what he admits was a gamble and turned Dallas from a finesse team into a physical, run-oriented club this year.

The gamble stemmed from a questionnaire he sent out during the summer which frankly asked the players what they thought was wrong with Dallas' failure in the playoffs.

"It gave me an insight into their mental attitude," Landry said.

He said most of the players agreed Dallas needed to take it more physically to their opponents.

Landry decided that's what had to be done and he stepped on toes to do it. He set performance levels and even if your name was Bob Hayes, Craig Morton or Ralph Neely, you could find yourself on the bench if you weren't putting out. And that's what happened early in the season.

Things got bad. The Cowboys sank to 5-4 on Nov. 16 after a 38-0 whipping by St. Louis.

Defensive line coach Ernie Stautner said "Tom wasn't surprised. He had warned us this was coming. He said this team would sink and would either show character or stay under. It happened ... and thank goodness they showed the character he thought they would."

Dallas won its last seven consecutive games.

"It would have been tough if the gamble had failed," Landry said.

Landry also has the reputation of being aloof from his players.

His answer to that is "well, we're all professionals, but a coach can't be buddy-buddy with his players and get the job done."

But Landry does have the respect of his players, even the ones he has benched.

It was significant in Dallas' 17-10 National Conference title victory over San Francisco that Hayes and Morton were the first two players to rush up and hug the broadly beaming coach.

Derby Nominee

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The first nomination for the 1971 Kentucky Derby was received Wednesday by Churchill Downs.

The horse is Pink Dust, a 3-year-old colt by Royal Gunner out of Dance All Night.

Pink Dust is owned by Wilma Franklin of Los Angeles and trained by Lou Carno.

SPORTS

Tigers Vie At C. City

Sporting a 14-4 season record and a 3-1 district mark, Snyder's Tigers take their quest for the District 3-AAA basketball title to Colorado City Friday. Tipoff is on tap for 8 p.m. in the Wolf gym following the B team clash at 6:15 p.m.

The Wolves' record isn't nearly as impressive as the Bengals. Colorado City has a respectable 13-6 season record, but they stand only 1-3 in district play.

Coach Caddo Matthews has a veteran crew of performers, led by David Matthews and Larry Williams, who consistently hit in in twin figures. Other Wolf starters are Jerome Hopkins, Stan Bracy and Kimbrell. Bracy, however, missed the last game due to knee injury, and may not be sufficiently recovered to see action.

The Wolves and Tigers have met two common opponents—Dunbar and Lake View. Snyder has two 1-point victories over Dunbar, including a 56-55 district triumph. Colorado City, on the other hand, lost to Dunbar 67-77. The Tigers beat Lake View 74-32 while the Wolves defeated the same team 76-60. Thus the comparative statistics would seem to favor Snyder.

The Wolves are always dangerous at home and especially aganist Snyder. So the contest could be closer than the comparisons would indicate.

The Tigers were without the services of Dubby Preston, their leading scorer, in the Lake View game, but the talented junior returned to school today and could be ready again by tomorrow night.

"We certainly need him," said Coach Underwood, who listed the other probable starters, as follows: guards Bid Cooper and Tommy Washington, forward Jerry Brooks and center Kent Horsley. Cooper is the only senior on the Tiger team.

Also ready for service are David Thompson, Gary Brooks, JimFredLiner, Kevin Jones, and Jackie Murray.

Laver Makes Comeback

BOSTON (AP) — To borrow Mark Twain's phrase, it looks as though those reports of Rod Laver's demise as the king of tennis may have been greatly exaggerated.

The victory before 3,632 fans at Boston Garden was a typical all-out battle between the two Aussie southpaws, with Laver forced to survive match point in the fourth set before coming on for a 7-5, 4-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1 decision.

Laver, the defending champion in the classic, has now knocked off Ken Rosewall, Newcombe and Roche so far in this year's $10,000 matches. By winning Wednesday night he earned the right to continue playing, and will now meet Roy Emerson in the next match at Philadelphia Saturday night.

Namath Parks Appear On Stand

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — San Francisco 49ers' quarterback John Brodie was expected to testify today before a federal grand jury here investigating the National Football League for possible antitrust violation.

Controversial quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets and New Orleans Saints' tight end Dave Parks appeared before the jury Wednesday and were critical of the powers of NFL owners and of Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"There is no doubt about antitrust violations," Namath told newsmen. "They (the jury) asked for my opinion and I told them."

He cited the common draft of college players and standard player contract as examples of antitrust violations, saying, "A college player may not be happy about being drafted by a certain club, but he can't do anything about it. The same with a player who's not happy with his contract."

Namath said the jury asked him "about owners, players, coaches and the commissioner. They asked most about the option clause." The 27-year-old quarterback, who led the Jets to victory over the Baltimore Colts in the 1969 Super Bowl, would not say whether the jurors questioned him about the controversy with Rozelle in 1969 over Namaths' part-ownership in the Bachelor's III Lounge, a New York night club.

Namath said that he was looking at the NFL "only from one side .... the side of a player," and admitted that "looking at it from the owner's viewpoint," he thought that club owners deserved the right to do what was necessary to run their teams.

Asked if he thought owners or Rozelle should be jailed or convicted of antitrust violations, Namath said, "I don't know about that. It's above me."

Parks, 29, said the jury queried him on his transfer from the San Francisco 49ers to the Saints in 1968.

He claimed that Rozelle used his case as an example to discourage other players from playing out their options and to discourage owners from signing players who become free agents by playing out their contract. Parks said Rozelle's powers should be curtailed.

Parks played out his contract option with the 49ers to become a free agent. After signing with New Orleans, Rozelle ruled that the Saints had to compensate the 49ers and gave the 49ers the Saints' top draft pick in 1968 and 1969.

"Rozelle tried to put a stop to players playing out their options," Parks said Wednesday. He said the Saints' forfeiture of the draft picks "put a lot of pressure on me" because he felt he had to prove he was worth the price paid for him.

He suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his first season with the Saints and has never reached the peak he attained at San Francisco, where he was an all-pro selection twice.

Cougar Golfers Win 9th Straight

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston golf team has won its ninth straight tournament of the season.

The Cougars added the sixth annual Atascocita Intercollegiate Tournament to their list Wednesday. The Cougars took the title with a 54-hole total of 1,769, a team record, beating their previous best of 1,781 last year in the tournament.

Tom Kite of the University of Texas won medalist honors with a 66-73-74—213.

Texas was second with a team total of 1,805 and St. Thomas was third with 2,099.

Modern Factors Make Economic Balance Hard

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's concerned response to the price increase by Bethlehem Steel Corp. could represent a belated recognition of what many authorities claim is the special nature of the present economy.

It is beset, they say, by such great obligations, responsibilities and expectations that some of the conventional fiscal and monetary controls cannot be employed or are less than effective.

That is the thinking behind many of the suggestions recently that the nation may have to adopt an "incomes policy," or more administration guidance on what it considers unacceptable wage-price increases, to supplement other measures.

Judged by past experiences, for example, the administration had a right to expect that by now the inflationary psychology would have been broken. Instead, as judged by wage and price demands, it is very much alive.

The problem is exemplified by union demands while unemployment remains high and by big price increases despite sluggish sales. Both labor and industry seek their increases partly because they feel inflation will persist.

But only partly. Americans have been fed for many years now on a "new era philosophy," and millions of them believe that a new level in comfort and affluence is within their grasp, if they grasp hard.

Government policy has also played a large role in making the control of excesses less easily achieved. Republican or Democrat, any modern administration now adheres to a full employment philosophy.

Such a concept means continual flirtation with inflation, and it means also that wholesale unemployment as a means of correcting inflation is becoming less and less acceptable.

The huge social responsibilities assumed by government in recent years also makes efforts to control economic imbalances a ticklish job and perhaps an impossible one with the old tools.

The needs of minorities, the plight of cities, the obligation to provide adequate housing, the growing battle to survive in a polluted environment all tend to make tougher the battle for economic equilibrium. They demand spending.

One method of controlling inflation is to cut government spending. But how is this to be accomplished when such problems as those listed demand solution? It is a dilemma that sometimes is resolved by foresaking old beliefs.

President Nixon, for example, has abandoned hopes of a balanced budget. He has, in fact, conceded that he is a Keynesian in economics, which means he is now less opposed to expansionist public spending and deficit budgets.

There are many modern factors, therefore, that make the achievement of economic balance a far tougher chore than it might have been a few years ago.

A Junior Editors Quiz About VITAMINS

Vitamins keep us on the jump
coulton waugh

QUESTION: Where do vitamins come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Vitamins are complicated substances important to us because, as our picture suggests, they help to give that feeling of well-being which makes us want to jump just for the fun of it. Also shown in the picture are some of the foods which provide these vitamins. Experts in nutrition speak of two general kinds of vitamins: those which dissolve in fat, and those which dissolve in water. "Vitamin A" is an important fat-soluable vitamin which we get by eating carrots, milk, sweet potatoes, spinach, egg yolk, liver and green and yellow vegetables. It helps in growth because it builds body cells. About 15 vitamins which dissolve in water are called, as a group, the "Vitamin B Complex." These contain important substances such as thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, all needed in our bodies to keep them working well. Many of the foods we eat give us these and other important vitamins. Doctors have found out a great many things about vitamins and often prescribe special ones for certain of their patients who may need them. Manufacturers extract vitamins from various substances and make them into pills or capsules.

Boyle Interviews Himself

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the last 27 years as a columnist I have interviewed more than 1,500 people. Most were celebrities, some were unspeakable bores, and others were simple men and women with life stories so touching they'd make a stone burst into tears.

During this period many readers have written in suggesting that, since I had put so many others on the spot, that I do the same thing to myself. For a columnist to interview himself seems to me an exercise in vainglory.

But, since it is a dull day down at the depot and my barber tells me he doesn't have any haircuts planned that are worth watching, let us bow to the public will.

So here goes:

Q. What would you be if you weren't a columnist?

A. Probably unemployed.

Q. Does it take any special equipment to be a columnist?

A. Not particularly, except an interest centered on people rather than on events. People themselves are the main event. Since a columnist spends a great part of his time in a swivel chair starting at the ceiling waiting for ideas, it is wise for him to buy suits with two pairs of pants.

Q. Will Rogers said he never met a man he didn't like. Is that true of you?

A. No indeed! I think every human being has a story worth telling, but that doesn't mean he is worth liking. I feel sorry for everyone alive, because life scars us all, but I like only about three out of four people I meet. The other one I try to understand.

Q. You often ask people to say what life is to them in one word. What is your word?

A. Love, spoken or unspoken, is everyone's first word for life. My other word is hunger—a reporter's hungry curiosity to find out everything, to turn the next corner and see what's there.

Q. What is your philosophy?

A. To confront my fate with whatever courage, gratitude, cheerfulness and courtesy that I can—and to avoid self-pity.

Q. What are your likes?

A. Watching and listening to people—harmless scalawags and hopeful dreamers—walking and window shopping—any food or drink that makes me fat—girls who can belly laugh but don't overdo it—poetry that rhymes and any music with a melody— success when it smells sweet—the sound of waterfalls and money—old faces and old friends—the mystery of God—and the wonder that shines in children's eyes.

Q. What are your dislikes?

A. Suits with wide lapels that invite bores to cling to them—dieting—wonder drugs—girls with bruises on their legs— the sad sour smell of failure—aggressive careeer women and wives who try to compete with their husbands—adagio dancing—blue pencils— deadlines and days without ideas—the tired sound of querulous voices—anyone who enjoys stepping on the dreams of others—and people who can't see God in a shoehorn as well as in a temple.

Offices Unavailable For Doctors

DALLAS (AP) — Many doctors in the Dallas area say office space for them is almost unavailable, although it is plentiful for the businessman or other professional men.

W. D. Hill, executive director of the Dallas Building Owners and Managers Association, said all medical buildings are almost filled.

Doctors—even those with established practices—say they are concerned.

They say they are special cases, requiring such facilities as examination and treatment rooms, not available in all buildings. They say they are at the mercy of building owners.

Rental contracts upon renewal can be changed at any time and doctors, they say, are in no position to move if they don't like the terms. So they pay.

One such incident already has occurred and is causing a stir. A multi-story medical building constructed in the 1950s was sold for $2 million. The new owners required the tenants to sign new leases which called for a $1 a square foot increase in monthly rents. Doctors say it is the highest priced professional space in Dallas, 25 cents a square foot higher than in new buildings.

The new owners also require a "death clause," making the doctor's family or other heirs responsible for the payment of the lease.

Sign Multiplies

HOUSTON (AP) — A.D. Downer, 44, wants to sell his Houston home, so he put a "for sale" sign in his yard.

Somebody else decided to lend a hand Sunday night.

Downer heard a racket in his front yard, ran out and found 13 "house for sale" signs added to the one he had posted.

The pranksters also left a large home-made sign which read, "Why?"

Why, indeed, asked Downer.

Revised Capital Gains Law May Hurt Or Help

(This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1970 Federal income tax returns.)

* * *

With the number of stock market investors having risen above 31 million in 1970 and the stock market having gyrated as it did, more income taxpayers than ever before will be affected by the revised tax laws covering capital gains and losses, says Miller Montag, President of Texas Society of CPA.

Long-term capital gains and losses realized in 1970, which will be reported in income tax returns to be filed by April 15, 1971, are subject, Montag says, to new rules that may adversely affect taxpayers in medium and upper brackets.

The tax ceiling of 25 percent, exclusive of the surtax which applied for 1970 but has now expired, continues to apply to long-term gains, Montag says, on the first $50,000 of such gains ($25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return). However, the tax ceiling on gains above $50,000 has been raised to 29.5 percent plus the surcharge, and will climb to 32.5 percent in 1971.

And the tax on long-term gains above $50,000 (or above $25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return) is scheduled to go up even more. After 1971, one half of such gains will have to be counted as regular income. The top bracket on regular income is still 70 percent, so that after 1971 the ceiling on each year's long-term gains over the $50,000 or $25,000 mark will be 35 percent.

Effective with long-term losses incurred in 1970, two dollars of loss are required for each dollar of deduction. Thus, in order to deduct the $1,000 of loss allowable in any one year it is necessary to have incurred $2,000 in long-term losses. Pre-1970 long-term losses are still fully deductible at the rate of $1,000 a year until the entire loss has been written off.

Short-term losses incurred in 1970 or those carried over from previous years can still be applied, net of short-term gains, against ordinary income dollar-for-dollar up to the $1,000 maximum allowable in any year.

Taxpayers with unusually large long-term gains for 1970 can in some cases ease their tax burden, Montag says, under new, more liberal conditions for income averaging. That is the subject of his next discussion.

Oil, Gas Program Urged

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The move of Middle East oil producing nations to raise crude prices and taxes "means that foreign governments in the future will determine oil prices instead of oil producing companies, says the president of the American Association of Oil Drilling Contractors.

"This development," said President H. B. Harkins, coupled with the shortage of U. S. oil and gas, presages an end to cheap oil and gas supplies."

In a speech to the Permian Basin Chapter of the association Wednesday, Harkins called upon the federal government to clarify its basic oil and gas policies.

He said the Middle East development was final proof that the United States must launch a long-range program to encourage the discovery and development of domestic oil and gas producing abilities.

Haas Requests Investigation

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A full investigation by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin of all seven trustees of the Moody Foundation has been asked by Paul R. Haas, foundation chairman.

Haas, a Corpus Christi resident, made his request Wednesday in response to recent charges levelled at him and three of the trustees.

Louis Dugas Jr., chairman of the House Committee on Charitable Foundations, said Monday that Haas, S. Marcus Greer, J.M. Lykes and W.L. Moody IV used their positions as trustees to enrich themselves.

"I am deeply concerned about these charges...(which) have given a completely distorted picture of the foundation and its role in the Texas community," Haas said.

"I also request that any findings of incompetence, conflicts of interest or any wrongdoing on the part of any of the seven trustees be made public opinion upon completion of the inquiry," he said.

Haas said he would make available all his personal records and the records of all businesses with which he is associated.

Moody is the largest foundation in Texas. Haas said it has assets of $200 million. Dugas said it has assets of $400 million.

Texas No. 1

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has released figures on the number of livestock Texans exported in 1970 and predicts that Texas will continue to rank No. 1 among the 50 states in the export of beef cattle, swine, sheep and goats.

Texas exported 111,083 goats, 75,820 sheep, 10,916 swine, and 7,352 cattle last year, White said Wednesday.

BOUND FOR THE BANK — Pascual Martinez shows off $75,000 check for winning New York State Lottery last month as his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maria Martinez looks over his shoulder. States Pushing Nixon's Revenue Sharing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Financially pinched states are mounting a new effort to cut a slice of the federal pie for themselves.

They hope to pressure a reluctant Capitol Hill to pass President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan or, in an end-run approach, force Congress to convene an unprecedented constitutional convention for the same purpose.

The New Jersey Legislature started the ball rolling last month by adopting a resolution calling for a convention to amend the U.S. Constitution to require the federal government to share its tax money with the states.

"The effort is being made in almost all state legislatures," said Early Mackey, an official of the National Legislative Conference, which is pushing the proposal.

He predicted 10 to 20 state legislatures would quickly approve the resolution.

Congress would be forced to convene a convention if two-thirds (34) of the state legislatures ask for one. The convention could only write an amendment, which would have to be ratified by the states.

Congress could choose between two forms of ratification: by two-thirds of the states in separate conventions or in three-fourths (38) of the state legislatures.

Mackey said the states' drive for a revenue-sharing amendment might prod Congress to enact a tax-sharing plan through legislation.

Barnes Denies Statement

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes denied Wednesday a statement by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena that Brooks was promised the chairmanship of the Education Committee.

Brooks said he is resigning from the committee because he was not made its chairman. He said Barnes promised it to him if Sen. A.M. Aiken of Paris did not want it.

Aiken gave up the chair to become chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"It was an obvious slight..." said Brooks.

"As presiding officer of either House, I never promised any chairmanship to anybody," said Barnes, obviously annoyed when asked about the promise.

Brooks said he had "10 times as much experience with education legislation" as Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy, who was named Tuesday as the Education Committee chairman.

"Education was the one committee that I felt I was qualified for," Brooks said. He resigned to avoid any personal conflicts among himself, Mauzy and Barnes over education legislation, he said.

Barnes named Brooks chairman of the Committee on State Departments and Institutions and vice chairman of the Banking Committee when he assigned committees Tuesday.

Trucker Sacrifices Own Life

DALLAS (AP) — State police said a Fort Worth truck driver sacrificed his own life Wednesday to save two others who would have died if his vehicle had struck the wrecked car they still occupied.

Instead he sent his tractor unit hurtling off a Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike bridge to a spot two feet off a usually busy boulevard 50 feet below.

John K. Derden, 57, was thrown clear and killed as he landed in the street Wednesday.

The tractor ripped free of a 40-foot trailer and flipped over as it descended. A trailer axle snapped on a bridge railing and kept that unit suspended beside the bridge.

One officer said, "There's no telling what would have happened if the tractor had landed in the street."

Inside the wrecked sports car which Derden swerved to avoid were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Boyd of Athens. Officers said it spun on paving slick from drizzle and hit the bridge railing moments before the truck arrived.

Derden had entered the turnpike from Dallas' Stemmons Freeway and was en route to Fort Worth. He worked for Southwestern Transportation Co.

In Memorium of
Mrs. B. W. Hudgins

One who has lived worthily for ninety-five years deserves a tribute paid to her memory. Such was Mrs. B. W. Hudgins of Dallas. She was laid to rest beside her husband in the Snyder Cemetery, Wednesday.

Mrs. Hudgins is survived by five sons, eleven grandchildren, and twenty great-grandchildren. Also, a large number of nieces and nephews and many friends who hold her memory as an incentive to worthy living.

Two Boys Found Hanging In Tree

HOUSTON (AP)—Two young boys were found dead—hanging by the neck from opposite ends of a rope over a tree limb—in a suburban Pasadena back yard Wednesday night.

They were Travis Donald Stuckey, 12, and James Roland Miles, 11.

Police said a nylon rope had been thrown over a seven-foot high tree limb in the Stuckey boy's yard. A noose had been tied in each end of the rope.

Lt. Charles Holt of the Pasadena police said neither boy's feet were off the ground. He said the young Stuckey's hands were tied behind him and he was almost lying down while the Miles boy's hands were tied in front of him. He was on his feet but slumped over.

Holt said there were no objects around from which the boys could have jumped.

It appeared to be an accident, he said, but added, "We just don't know. We haven't been able to round up a single witness."

The Stuckey boy's stepfather, James R. Essray, and the dead boy's younger brother discovered the bodies.

Noah Sanders, stepfather of the Miles boy, said he felt it was an accident.

"I think one boy fell and when he did it raised the other off the ground," Sanders said. "They had been playing with that rope for the last couple of days, tying each other up with it. We told them two or three times about playing with ropes."

Essray did not agree.

"There must have been a third boy involved," he said, "because both boys' hands were tied. The police will just have to find him."

Both boys were star Little League baseball players. Their stepfathers coached them on rival teams.

Pollution Costs Trout Streams

DENVER (AP) — An official of the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department has estimated that pollution, construction of reservoirs and irrigation and power uses have cost Colorado 2,800 miles of trout stream.

Direct Distance Dialing Starts Sunday For Snyder and Hermleigh Telephone Customers

Starting Sunday, telephone customers in Snyder and Hermleigh will be able to dial their own Long Distance calls direct to more than 100 million telephones throughout the United States and Canada.

This improvement in telephone service, at no increase in rates, has taken years of planning and engineering.

When you dial your own Long Distance numbers, calls always go through at low station-to-station rates . . . about one third less than person-to-person.

HERE'S HOW TO MAKE A DDD CALL . . .

1. Dial "1" . . . this connects your phone to the vast DDD network.
2. Dial the Area Code only if it's different from your own.
3. Dial the number you want to call . . . just as you would a local call.

Suppose, for example, you want to call 825-4199 in Denver. The Denver Area Code is 303 (see the front pages of your directory.) So you'll dial:

1 (DDD Code) + 303 (Area Code) + 825-4199 (Telephone Number)

To make a call within your home 915 area, you will not need to dial the Area Code. To call 672-4351 in Abilene, for example, you would dial:

1 (DDD Code) + 672-4351 (Telephone Number)

In a few seconds, you'll hear the phone ring in the distant city.

Some Questions and Answers About Direct Distance Dialing

Q—"Will I be charged if I reach a wrong number?"

A—There is no charge for a wrong number. If you get a wrong number, try to find out what city and number you have reached. Then hang up, dial "Operator" immediately and report it to her. She will see that you are not improperly charged for the call.

Q—"Will I be charged if the number I call is busy or there is no answer?"

A—No. Just hang up and try again later. DDD calls are recorded and billed by electronic machines which record only completed calls (when someone answers the distant telephone).

Q—"What if I run into trouble on a call?"

A—Most DDD calls go through quickly, efficiently, and trouble-free. However, if you should be cut off, if you cannot hear well on the connection, or experience any other trouble, please hang up, then immediately dial "Operator" and report it to her. She will take steps to correct the difficulty.

Q—"How do I call collect or person-to-person?"

A—Your DDD calls are station-to-station calls. For other types of calls—person-to-person, collect, credit card calls, those charged to another number, or those from coin phones—dial "Operator." She will handle the call for you.

Q—"How do I get the area code for the city I want to call?"

A—The front pages of your telephone directory have a list of area codes for frequently called cities. Cities called less frequently are omitted to shorten the list and save you time. If you cannot find the area code for the city you wish to call, dial "Operator" and tell her the city you want.

Q—"What if I don't know the telephone number I want?"

A—Just dial "1", plus the area code if it's different from your own, plus 555-1212. The distant Directory Assistance operator will answer. When she gives you the number, jot it down. Then hang up for a few seconds before you dial your call. There is no charge for the call to Directory Assistance.
