The Woman's Day

Imagining that she is the lovely blonded Lady Guinevere of the play or book is about the only job which modern woman in rock. This from none less than H. G. Wells. He comments that the modern woman knows no more worthwhile career than playing the role of heroine of the latest love story.

There may be some little truth—no more—in what he says. I know one or two women in a world of several million of them who devote their days to dreaming that they are the lovely abandoned wife, loved silently by the great strong other man. But the other millions are too busy making grape jelly and writing club papers to play the favorite game of 1926.

I dropped in for tea the other afternoon—hope the boss doesn't read this—at friend Margie's. Margie has recently acquired a lacquer-rod tea wagon and tea set to match with black splashes on the bright china. I am sure some kind God inspired her to buy this glowing thing with which to cheer up her "poor working girl friends."

Margie had a red lacquer Chinese tray full of tea sandwiches. You might like to know about one which much intrigued me, sweetish and yet not too sweetish. Margie calls it her "hard up" sandwich. Says she makes it when her emergency shelf is bare. Like this: Creams powdered sugar and butter together and adds orange or lemon juice, two tablespoons of cranberry juice and one of lemon to each cup of sugar.

"You and I have failed," says Honore Willard Morrow, author and mother, in a recent magazine article. Mrs. Morrow's editor assigned her to tour America from one end to the other for three months, talking with parents, teachers, educators, flappers and their beaux, in an attempt to find out just how wild they are, and if so, why.

Mrs. Morrow reports that youth's ideals of morality today would have been scorned by the early American Indian. She blames "an archaic church," "a custard system of education," and parents who permit "the vulgar license of the country club," unchaperoned dates for their daughters, and "the innocent opportunities of the automobile."

"Why Do Women Marry?" is a question being seriously treated by the greatest minds of England, writing their opinions in daily issues of a newspaper. Some writers opine that it is woman's fear of making a living in a cruelly competitive world, her belief that she can hold down the marriage job with greater certainty of keeping a roof over her head and having bread and butter to eat than in any other job. Others say it is merely an old habit—this belief that marriage is expected of one and must be engaged in whether there is a real reason or not. Stop to think about it. Just why did you?

Post, sniff, roll thy eyes, smack thy lips, grin, and bite are the rules of the new "Exercise Your Face" cult which may do away with clay masks, beauty creams and powders. They say that in Europe street cars, omnibuses, and trains are full of face-exercising females. A few casualties have been reported from hair-pulling exercise as one face-exerciser imagines that the other is making faces at her!

Menu For Today

BREAKFAST—Fresh pears, cereal, thin cream, baked omelet with tomatoes, crisp Graham toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Pan-broiled sausage with candied apples, mollied spinach salad, whole wheat bread, baked custard, milk, tea.
DINNER—Baked halibut steaks, scalloped potatoes, buttered lima beans, jellied celery salad, corn bread, sliced peaches, sponge cake, milk, coffee.
The luncheon meat is lacking in protein so the deficiency is taken care of in the dessert.
You will like the "candied apple" for they are unusual and not expensive.
Children under eight years of age should be furnished a baked potato or buttered vegetable of some sort in place of the sausage dish.
Pan-Boiled Sausage With Candied Apples
One pound sausage, 4 large apples, 1 cup vinegar, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon 1-2 teaspoon clove, cracker dust.
Stool sausages or link sausage should be used. Dip sausage in boiling water to cover and let simmer for half an hour. Drain and put into a hot frying pan. Fry in several places with a fork and fry for 20 minutes, turning frequently. Drain off fat as necessary. Make a syrup of the vinegar, sugar and spices. Pare apples, remove cores and cut in rounds 1-2 inch thick. Drop into boiling syrup and simmer until clear. Remove from syrup and roll in cracker dust. Brown quickly in hot sausage fat and slice as border around sausage.

Dress Windows With Damaks, Chintz, Linen

Over-curtains of taffeta, edged with narrow fringes and topped by a valance cut in English scallops, were used by W. and J. Sloan in this bedroom. Glass curtains are of marquisette.

By JAMES BLAUVELT
For NEA Service
The inspired textile makers of the twentieth century have seen to it that our modern houses shall go in purple and fine lines. Our curtains, rugs and slip covers may be as rich and costly as we choose, or as simple and quaint.
For the variety of fascinating textures now available will satisfy every taste and every purse.
To be smart today, we will probably dress out windows in hand block linen, or glazed chintz or damask. The velour and mohair curtains and upholstery of yesterday are no longer in style. They were too heavy and stiff and unnecessary to please the home maker for long. And they failed to express the joyous, dynamic spirit of the present.
There was another drawback—they were too well! Every home maker knows the misery of owning a household article that simply won't wear out, and that is still too good to discard, though it has outlasted its desirability.
Old Patterns Out
The modern decorator demands furnishings that can be changed often enough to keep the house interesting. The tapestries of past centuries were exquisitely beautiful and almost imperishable. But no one could imagine wanting to discard textiles that were masterpieces of art.
Modern looms are making beautiful tapestries also; but the old conventionalized patterns, with their exquisite jewel borders are a thing of the past. Modern tapestries are more vivid in coloring, more naturalistic in design, and modernistic in feeling. I find damask, brocade or linen most satisfactory for the modern American home, with sometimes a glazed chintz for variety.
In choosing your over-curtains select a sun-fast material if possible. However, any good material will do, if you are willing to line it for protection against the sun. A lining, sateen in beautiful colors is now being made sun-fast, and an inter-lining of thin cotton flannel is an added protection.
There are three main reasons for lining curtains: to protect them from the sun, to make them hang well, and to make the windows of the house appear harmonious from the outside. Windows fitted with rainbow-colored lined draperies may make the building look like a crazy quilt from the street.
For glass curtains, the best materials are silk or wool easement cloth, net, silk, gauze or marquisette. Lace curtains are definitely passé.
Glass Curtains Colored
The glass curtains nowadays must fit into the color harmony of the draperies and the room. The old cream white and ivory are not used in the most up-to-date homes. Do not be afraid to use in your glass curtains a lighter tint of the predominant color in the over-curtains. View the material with the sunlight shining through it, before you make your selection.
Deep ocre or coffee colored glass curtains are attractive in a room which has a great deal of color. For example, you will use striped

NATION TO PAY NAVY TRIBUTE

ROMANCE OF OPEN SEAS TO BE TOLD BY VETERANS THROUGH RADIO

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON Oct 26.—All the romance and mystery of the open seas will be awakened with new meaning for Americans when the nation pays its annual tribute to its sailor folk on October 27 in observing Navy day.

Under leadership of the Navy league a nation wide program has been prepared designed to center attention upon memories of old battles that have made glorious traditions of the navy, but upon the busy, hustling merchant craft that shuttle endlessly back and forth over the sea lanes, intent upon missions of peace and good will. For wherever their thumping screws churn the waters of the trade ports of the world, they carry the flag and its renewed pledge to mankind that America is seeking its destiny through peace and hard work and the friendly rivalry of commerce.

Veterans to Broadcast
That is the purpose which will be proclaimed again on Navy day by men who have lived their lives on the sea in peace, and in war. At the request of the Navy league, senior officers of the navy, grown gray in service to the flag, will voice it to countless radio listeners, men who share the laws in Washington will reiterate it and from Washington itself, cabinet officers will say it again.

All along the tide water frontier of America, the blue gray fighting ships will be stationed to give the few out of the many millions of Americans an opportunity to look them over for themselves. But for the great bulk of the nation, the true meaning of the navy and its intimate relation to the spreading lines and the busy carriers of commerce must be told over the air, by word of mouth. The vast network of the radio broadcast system affords that opportunity.

Navy's Share Local
The navy's share in observance of the day necessarily will be largely local as its activities are scattered all along the coast lines. Each district commander has been directed to work out for himself in co-operation with state and municipal authorities the method of bringing before the American people the vital relationship of the American flag ships of commerce to the continued prosperity of American agriculture and industry and the floating bulwark of security the great fighting craft give to the ocean highways and byways of trade.

This year the importance of the merchant marine to the future economic independence of our country and its value as a vital element of national defense will be the subject stressed, said the formal order issued to all district and lesser commanders by the navy department. "It is necessary that our people realize that ships overseas are but the continuation of our railroads and that the farmers and manufacturers are dependent in the delivery of their goods under our own system of transportation. This to insure a fair opportunity in the markets of the world, both during peace and during time of war troubles."

30 Radio Stations to Aid
From Washington, the radio program will go out through nearly 30 stations, carrying the story of the Navy and the trade ships to the millions who live between the Mississippi and the Atlantic. Secretary Wilson and President A. C. Dalton of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, will share honors to bring both aspects of the day's significance clearly before their hearers. Other Naval men of distinguished accomplishments will also talk, however, to vary the radio bill-of-fare. Commander Ely will recount his sensations when he was first met to glimpse the top of the world at the North Pole from a speeding airplane just a few months ago; Commander Rosenbahl of the great non-military airship Los Angeles will talk of the navy and commerce in the air as his experience has taught him to look into the future. Commander Ellsberg will recount the thrilling, gallant story of the rescue from the depths of the sea by navy comrades of the dead and sunken submarine S-51.

Out from all the other great radio stations will go similar programs with admirals of the sea fleets taking their part. There will be no part of the country overlooked; no aspect of the subject unrepresented.

A majority of Christians in Syria believe the end of the world is coming and that the final battle will be fought in the plains of Hadracel Damascus, in the year 1934.

GOD AND HIS SAINTS—"Arise, O Lord God, into Thy resting place, thou and the ark of thy strength; let thy priests, O Lord God, be clothed with salvation, and let thy saints rejoice in goodness." 2 Chron. 6:41.

ELECTION TIME IS COMING ON AGAIN

Election time is upon us again. This time of year under the election laws of days gone by was an exciting time. Now, especially, in Texas, and a few other states that have the primary system, it means very little to the most of us, though it is really of more importance than many people think. In Texas, where the Democrats are in the majority so overwhelmingly it means very little so far as the election of men are concerned. The July primary usually settles that part of it. Very seldom does anyone feel inclined to enter into competition with the nominee of the Democratic party in this state, unless some very unusual issue is involved. The idea of importance however, is wrong. While the vote at the general election does not often change the election so far as men elected are concerned, many things come up that should have the attention of the voters and deserves an expression in their vote one way or other.

The nation's law-makers will be elected Tuesday at general elections in 47 states. Thirty-five senators will be picked by majority vote of the citizens of 35 states to fill vacancies caused by death and by expiration of six-year terms, and the entire 435 members of the House of Representatives will be selected anew. State legislators, governors and other state officers in many states, also will be elected. These off-year congressional elections will decide control of the congress President Coolidge will have to deal with in the last year of his elective administration, and its control may decide largely the presidential campaign personalities and issues of 1928. Republican control of congress which President Harding gained in 1920, retards and enlarged by President Coolidge in 1924, is endangered in the balloting Tuesday, most observers hold. Capture of nine out of 14 doubtful senate seats would enable the Democrats to organize and direct the Upper House in the Seventy-ninth Congress, and election of 33 more Democrats in the House would have a similar effect there. The congressmen elected will take office in December, 1927, 13 months hence. The election will have only an indirect influence upon the short, 11-week session of the Sixty-ninth Congress, which meets next month, except for the selection of senators from Missouri, Iowa and Indiana, to fill vacancies caused by death. As the campaign draws toward a close optimistic statements were issued by many candidates in cities all over the country, special emphasis being laid on the necessity of all public-spirited citizens casting their ballots. The campaigns so far have stressed variously prosperity, economy, the world court, the Coolidge administration taxation, prohibition, and local issues, but the chief efforts of the political leaders and lieutenants for the next three days will be devoted to getting their supporters to the polls. The important decision of the election—whether or not the Republicans will control the next congress—depends on the results in 14 doubtful states—Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nevada, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania and New York. The senators from these states whose terms are expiring, most of whom were renominated, are all Republicans. The present Republican senators from Illinois and Pennsylvania were defeated in the primaries, the expenditures of which caused a sensational investigation by a senate committee. Six democratic senators up for re-election are all from states regarded as safely Democratic—Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Louisiana. Hugo Black, Democratic nominee in Alabama, also seems certain to be elected. Republicans in 12 other states are more confident of success, although Democrats are waging hot battles against the majority party nominees. These states are California, Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin. National attention is centering on the Massachusetts and New York battles as of utmost significance, although much public interest was given to the Pennsylvania and Illinois contests because of the senate investigations which disclosed expenditures in the Republican primary campaigns.

For the fact that the number of congressmen in Texas as well as other states is determined by the number of votes cast in the general elections and not in the Democratic primary elections we should try to show each two years the largest possible vote in order to get the correct number of senators and representatives in the United States Congress. In Texas there are usually several constitutional amendments to the state constitution. The first being an Amendment to Section 33 and Section 40 of Article 16 of the Constitution so as to permit officers of the National Guard the National Guard

Reserve and the officers' reserve Corps of the United States, and enlisted men of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve of the United States to hold public office in Texas.

The second, third and fourth are:
For an Amendment to Section 58 of Article 16 of the Constitution abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners, providing for the supervision and management of the Prison system under such laws as may be provided for by the Legislature.

For an Amendment to Article 7 of the Constitution by changing Section 3, eliminating the provision authorizing the Legislature to create special districts.

For an Amendment to Section 6 of Article 7 of the Constitution for taxation of school lands owned by Counties.

These are matters that pertain to the constitution of the State, and most of the proposed amendments either carry or are defeated as the case may be by a very small percent of the votes of the people of the state for the reason that many people do not go to the polls in general election times, because the state is so decidedly Democratic that there is no competition in the election of county district or state officers. There are other things, however, that should be taken into consideration with equally as much interest as the election of officers.

Next Tuesday is the day, and you should go to the polls and vote. Let us show the strength of Texas at the ballot box. The general election is the only time this can be done, as all parties are represented on the ballot, while in the primaries none other than Democrats are expected to vote. This year the Republicans held primaries but heretofore it has been strictly a Democratic privilege.

NO NEED FOR CALAMITY HOWLING

There is really no need for calamity howling. There is one thing about it, it will buy grief, and this will come anyway whether it is invited or not. In this section of the state here is less reason for calamity howling than most any other part of the state. We have so many things that this great country can produce that there is a real market for, and that the people really have to have and are willing to pay a good price for, that there is no good reason that we should take the "blues" because of the low price of cotton. Some people act like the entire nation hinged on the high price of cotton. Some of the farmers seem to think that there is nothing that they can sell but cotton. This is the mistake that a lot of folks are making. Real estate men went into the "cotton" districts of the South and brought to this country men who have never raised anything but cotton, and they have not learned yet that there is anything else that will produce money. In some sections of the state it may be that cotton is about all they can raise to any advantage, but this is not the case with the South Plains. This country will produce nearly anything that any climate in the South will grow, and we think the next set of folks that will make the very best citizens will be the fellows from some of the northern states where they do not know what a stalk of cotton looks like. These kind of people can come in here and raise corn, and the kindred diversifications.

Much has been written about dairy products and hogs as mortgage lifters and we are convinced that they are very helpful in that way. We read recently a very encouraging report of the revenues derived from the poultry source in Taylor County, which we are confident is no better for that production than the South Plains. Mr. Masterson who is the county agent in that county says: "Poultry is the key that will unlock the door of prosperity and the organization of a County Poultry Association is planned. Much interest in standardization of birds, in production of infertile eggs and in better marketing is being manifested throughout the county, according to poultry raisers. The poultry is a betting place in the farmer's eye."

In the community fairs of the county a year ago the average exhibit consisted of only 20 birds," Masterson said. "This year the five fairs had an exhibition around 1,000 birds, or an average of 200 to the show. At Bradshaw last year probably 25 birds were shown. This year the number increased to 200. At Lavin last year 24 birds were entered and in September this year the number had increased to 150. At Tuscola in 1925 only four coops were brought. This year there was a total of 216 birds. Only at Merkel, where oil overshadows everything else, no poultry was shown this fall."

At Trent, boys and girls clubs held a contest recently for a prize of $50 offered by bankers and business men. Masterson reported an excellent quality of stuff shown there.

"At all other fairs the quality of the birds was excellent," he said. "In no instance was a single bird disqualified on account of lack of quality. Boys and girls especially are showing great interest in poultry this year. At the West Texas Fair this year they exhibited 154 which the judge pronounced very high quality."

With the splendid poultry market that we have in Lubbock, and in fact in all of the South Plains counties, we cannot but feel that if the farmers will raise all the chickens that the market will handle there will be no need for calamity howling. Numbers of families have made good money the past year on poultry alone, and a thousand other families would not furnish more poultry and poultry products than the market here will take care of at good prices. We are glad to know that there will likely be a mid-winter poultry show at Lubbock, and we believe it will be a great help in educating the people in the production of poultry that will not only supply a market that needs the fowls, but will furnish a very fine means of support and financial help to thousands of people. Poultry will get quick results too. You do not have to wait for six or eight months to bring it to a marketable stage and then maybe lose it, but within a few short weeks you have a chicken that is large enough to market, and in less time than that you are gathering thousands of eggs, that are always a splendid price in this country. The South Plains is particularly fortunate in having a climate that is very favorable to the raising of poultry, and we are of the opinion that the sooner the farmers of this section are sold on the idea of producing poultry in large quantities in preference to cotton the sooner they will become prosperous.

OUT OUR WAY

LAUGHS

Reggie—Hope I won't leave a vacancy by going just now. Miss Sharpe.
Miss Sharpe—I think you'll take it with you, Mr. Sapp.

Wrong Number
I pleaded with her for an answer, My brain was all in a whirl, But I pleaded in vain for an answer— For she was the telephone girl.

So To Speak

"I see a woman arrested in Washington gives her occupation as that of a thief."
"Well, she's honest about it."

Glad Of It

She (complacently)—You are not like my first husband.
He—No, thank goodness, I'm alive.

The Poet—Nowhere in nature can such coloring as adorns thy cheek be found.
The Girl—And I'm not telling anybody of the only store in town that keeps it in stock, either.

This Is Queer

I've often stopped to wonder At fate's peculiar ways; For nearly all of our great men, Were born on holidays.

"Jim lent me a five spot for a moment—only for a moment."
"Quite sure you only want it for a moment?"
"Quite sure—only for a moment."
"All right. Wait a moment, and then you won't want it."
"Fruit Dispatch."

The One-Way Mind

Girl (to motorist): Give us a ride, mister?
Motorist: You're walking north, and I'm driving south.
Girl: Well, don't you know how to turn around yet?

SO THINK WE

We think that a thirst for knowledge is seldom ever quenched with a "dry" text book.

We think the investigation committee is about to get the whole Ferguson family mixed up in the highway contracts.

We think that marrying for money should not be recommended except as a last resort.

We think that most any tax assessor is pretty certain that there is "untold" wealth in the city.

We think that since the circus has come a gone, we can now look forward to Armistice day, Thanksgiving and Christmas, and then come a new year with a new page to begin all over again.

We think there is one thing that Lubbock can say for Jim Ferguson, he has always been nice to the Tech, and though he makes us think we are not going to get any relief from him, he always tells Ma to write us a check when we just have to have it.

We think the boy that makes a habit of taking time off to smoke cigarettes, sooner or later has to take time off the cigarettes to look for a job.

We think a person who very little heart to dig up relief funds for a beggar who comes around asking alms with a cigarette in his mouth.

We think that a great many of us should be thankful that the murder law does not apply to the use of the English language.

We think even if Prohibition is not perfect in its operations that it is worth keeping, and if we as believers in the practice of prohibition will do our part at all times, it will be much more effective.

We think we can fill one little space in this column profitably by reminding you that it is now only two months till Christmas, and that you should do your shopping early.

We think some folks have a knack of saying a little with a whole lot of words.

We think that a lot of men are so conceited that they take credit for a lot of things that the Lord and their wife have done for them.

We think that about all that is left of some women to admire is the very many appearance they possess.

We think we have discovered that one and one does not always make two. Just take for instance some men's wives. There is only one that really amounts to much.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that Babe Ruth is asking $150,000 for his services during the baseball season next year. We believe that if a prize fighter can make $400,000 in an hour by letting some fellow beat on him, Babe ought to be worth that much to a baseball team, and we move that he be paid that much.

It is reported that the American people pay $12,000,000,000 annually for amusement, and this is in addition to the free entertainment that the politicians put out. The American people are strong for amusements.

It is reported that there are $50,000 students enrolled in the colleges of our land. What if they should all develop into commencement orators.

It is reported that we will have a sandstorm in Lubbock. Friday—the Amarillo high school football team has finally consented to come to Lubbock, where the Westerners will subdue them. The Westerners have come out triumphantly through many sand-storms and we are sure they this will be no exception to the rule. They will subdue another sandstorm Friday.

It is reported that one of our Lubbock citizens says in order to avoid an automobile accident he is going to buy an airplane.

It is reported that the peace officers are not going to tolerate the operation of automobiles by men or women while intoxicated. Now for folks that will back the officers in their efforts to make it safe for pedestrians and sane drivers.

It is reported that the duty on lip sticks has been considerably reduced. This will no doubt be good news to the fellow that has to pay for those used.

It is reported that the reason the seats in the League council are no more comfortable than they are is because there are too many "tax" in them.

It is reported by slandering the state in debt that the children of Texas will have the benefit of fourteen dollars worth of "new credits" this year. This is one way that the governor-by-proxy has of being nice to the school children.

It is reported that some one has said that a contented citizen is a town's best asset. The town that has them however is not a growing town.

It is reported that the fellow that wanted to burn four million bales of cotton will have to increase it a million and a half more now in order to check up the additional numbers discovered since he proposed the "burning" remedy for low priced cotton.

SOUTH PLAINS PRESS

TURNIPS:

Big Spring Herald: "Walter Robinson is thinning out his turnip patch of one-fourth of an acre. Last Saturday he brought to market some of the surplus 'greens' with their attached young turnips, big enough to go into a separate pot. He got $1.45 for them. But he sold on that trip and there were more to be brought in. Mr. Robinson was a watermelon grower also, in season. He planted a melon patch of one and a half acres. From this planting he sold $40 worth of fine melons and in addition gave lots of them away to neighbors and friends. The only minor demonstration of what most any farmer might do to add to his income and his family's enjoyment of 'something different' from the store-bought victuals. The list of eatables that might be raised and in part sold for good profits is almost as long as a seed catalogue has listed. Mr. Robinson's farm lies about six miles east from Big Spring and his main crop of turnips is yet to come on."

The people of this great country are learning fast that this will produce enough stuff to keep the family fat and then divide with the market. The South Plains can raise enough good eats to keep the entire population happy and healthy if they will only try. The main thing we should be working on right now is a market for the stuff. The folks know that Lubbock will buy the produce in any quantity and see how it will roll in.

McLean News: "Some of these days McLean will experience a typhoid epidemic, and when some half hundred citizens have died, the rest of us will awake to the necessity of enforcing sanitary regulations."

Most of us believe that Lubbock is a very clean town, and in most cases it is, but we believe that there are some conditions that affect the health of the community that might still be improved. There are some of the back yards and the back alleys in this town that seem to us to be unusually bad. Some of the down town alleys not half a block from the square either are anything but sanitary looking to us. The health of the community should be one of the most important things for the people of the town to be interested in. Begin at home or your own office and let it spread over the entire community.

WET AND DRY

Mr. Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is reported as calling to this country that America has won the first step in the fight to rid society of the "menace" of heroin, a widely used drug. It is stated that Mr. Porter's resolution, urging all nations to enact laws prohibiting manufacture and distribution of the drug, was adopted with minor changes by the humanitarian committee of the Inter-parliamentary Union.

Beer consumption in Germany, says a press report, has been cut from 102 liters for every man, woman and child to 75 liters. High prices are the cause says the government. Cocoa and chocolate are in greater demand.

"With our high speed competition we must have cheap, sober drinks to clear, sober heads to get there. We must either support prohibition or go back to buggies. A drunken man can't twist the reins about the dashboard of an automobile and expect to get home as he did with old Dobbin." This was the statement of Budget Clerk, cowboy poet of the old west, to the students at Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, recently.

The automobile registration in the United States increased from 7,545,445 in 1919 to 19,954,347 in 1925. Some may disagree that prohibition was responsible for this increase, or had a good part in it, but common sense must dictate the decision that no man's life would be safe on the street if the old saloon days prevailed.

Governor John Hammill, of Iowa, is reported as saying that those seeking admission to this country should either get under the American flag or get out.

The American issue quotes Sheriff Ham, of Jefferson County, Kansas, as saying in a recent address: "You will not find booze and the Bible in the same house," says the issue. "Sheriff Ham said he had learned that wherever he found a family Bible on the 'enter table and it showed usage and the lids were not covered with dust, there was no booze on such premises. It is in communities where the church is placed in the background that the sheriff's force has to look, he declared."

"Girls won't carry umbrellas."
"But this is too small to keep off any rain."

Dr. Hugo Kupesky of Vienna has calculated the fact by ten years' research, that the brains of suicides average 4 ounces heavier than those of people who die a natural death.

Henry Fuller of Duluth when summoned for not having a license for his dog said he had given the animal away four times but it always came back.

Nine hundred patients at the Oberlin hospital in Prague were poisoned, presumably by a janitor working in the kitchen, but none died.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CONTENTMENT

Money and fame and health alone, Are not enough for a man to own. For healthy men are heard to sigh, And men of wealth go frowning by, And men with fame will play his part with a troubled mind and heavy heart.
If these three treasures no joy possess, How shall a man find happiness?
Health comes first in the famous three, But cripples can smile we all must see.
Fame is sweet, as we all must own, But the happiest hearts are not widely known.
Money is good when its truly earned, But peace with fortune is not concerned.
For the bravest and loveliest souls We know, Have little silver or gold to show.
Yet, there must be a way to the goal we seek; A path in peace for the strong and weak.

WESTERNERS WORK HARD FOR BIG TILT OF GRID SEASON; AMARILLO GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE NEXT FRIDAY

With only a few days left prior to the battle of their careers and truly the game of the season, the coaches of the Westerners, Von Tunen and Frnka, are putting the high school youths through arduous and hard work.

Friday's contest now, and that is should we lose to the Amarillo eleven they will realize they have gone through a game, stated the coaches.

Shaping the club up of the rough spots shown in their last performance, and shooting a few new plays to the high school aspirants of the grid.

Two of the mainstays of the local high school aggregation, Magee and Hardberger, who have been missed in the line-up for the past few games, will be ready for action Friday afternoon.

Hardberger, a consistent ground gainer, who is capable of presenting a great ability in winning the defense with his Goety side-stepping, will mean much to the work of the Westerners with the Amarilloans.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

It is going to be a merry crowd on the trip to Fort Worth to help the Matadors put over a victory on the T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

The time is drawing near—the Matadors are getting ready for their banner clout with the Matty Bellmen of the Texas Christian University.

It is the deep-seated desire of the Matadors to show the members of the Southwestern Conference that they deserve a berth in the conference—there is one way to do that and it is to meet with a conference eleven.

"Bull-fighters" is right—Tech has participated in fourteen gridiron events and has lost only one—with three tie games to her credit—it is a record that few schools in the nation may boast of.

Wearers of the Green in the Eastern grid circle, Dartmouth, is having a hard time of keeping her record up—she has lost to both Yale and Harvard in the 1926 performances.

It is the Westerners best chance that she has had for years to win the Panhandle championship in the meeting with the Golden Sandstormers her Friday. Hard work, consistent drilling, and real old fight is the thing that will put the Westerners on top.

The football fans of Lubbock should boost a bit more for her own sake, the Westerners. The high school eleven consists of Lubbock's own youths, and certainly deserves more attention than heretofore given them.

Conches Von Tunen and Frnka are both working hard with the Westerners. If possible they will shoot every thing they have.

Friday's high school game puts at stake the Panhandle championship in the gridiron circles.

For the past few years every Amarillo high school team has successfully but over a victory on the Westerners. Last season the Westerners were beaten last after they had held the sandstormers to a close game in the initial half.

The Texas Steers have rolled up 203 victories since 1903. That is nothing to boast of—Texas Tech has rolled up ten victories and is still playing in their second season.

Do the Matadors have any offense? That is the problem wearers of the Scarlet and Black have been puzzled with for some time; but a difference one will be some after the T. C. U. clash, for hard work and much drill is the offense department is being worked the Matadors in this week's bouts.

Hope that some Frog slaps "Satchel" Hill on the ear in the first play—and while he is going, chances are he will carry the oval for a few yards.

With Hill at full "Red" Hamilton and Woodbridge at half, and "Duke" Cassler directing the crew—it is likely that the Tech will make at least one first down in the game.

How is this for a line—Captain Carpenter and other Westerfold or Fern Aldridge at tackles; "Ox" Reed and "Red" Smith or DeWitt at guards and Corley at center—you know fans that is a tough bunch—and not many yards can be made through that wall.

Look at these ends—"Frascher" Calloway, "Dope" White, Vinzant, and Parks. A pretty fair lineup.

The old tee, and great defense work if Al Jennings will be greatly missed in the contest Saturday—but with Al out it gives the Matadors as a team only more reason to fight harder—and they will.

Percy Walker, who has been out of the "bull-fighters" backfield due to injuries in the St. Ed game—will more than likely show up in a part of the game Saturday.

M. CLAY ROUNTREE DIES

MATTY BELL THREATENS TO WAVE RED FLAG BEFORE HIS HORNED FROGS TO GET THEM PEPPED UP FOR MATADORS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 26.—Like the pendor, who rides in a Spanish arena pricking a bull with a lance and otherwise exciting him to charge, the dashing matador, coach Matty Bell this week is drying his T. C. U. Football team in practice for their tilt with the Texas Tech Saturday.

Stiff workouts were given the frogs Monday and Tuesday afternoon and more hard work is scheduled for them for the next two days.

The Tech Matadors have met Indiana and Cowboys this season, trouncing the McMurray College Redskins and battling to a tie with the Sumner University Cowboys.

Cowh Bell daily impresses on his men that the Matadors are going to be hard to manage and that he intends to send the best team against them that can be mustered from the Frog camp.

Hoosier Grand Jury Wants to Find If Ku Klux Klan Had Anything To Do With Taggart

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—Attention of the grand jury investigating the allegations of Indiana political corruption apparently will be turned tomorrow from the Ku Klux Klan activities within the republican party to any efforts the hooded order may have made to gain a stronghold in the democratic ranks.

At the conclusion of a day of questioning of former local Klan leaders, subpoenas were issued tonight for appearance in the grand jury room tomorrow, of Thomas Taggart, a democratic party chief; Charles A. Greathouse, democratic national committeeman for Indiana; and Earl R. Peters, of Fort Wayne, state chairman.

Army Mule After Old Eli Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Army mule stalks into the bowl at New Haven on Saturday scenting its first victory over a Yale team in fifteen years.

Not since 1911 have flying West Point hoofs left the imprint of a defeat on the flanks of the Bulldog.

Yale's defeat by Brown and Army's string of four successive victories supply the basis upon which critics have installed the "red team" as a favorite. Traditional fans will grouse in at least four other outstanding games, with Brown primed to turn the tables on Dartmouth after six straight defeats.

Double Tragedy in Ohio Town Culminates Friendship of Fifteen Years

DELAWARE, Ohio, Oct. 26.—The bodies of O. H. Betts, postmaster at Garrett, Indiana, and Mrs. Grace Brown, Columbus schoolwoman, were in a Delaware morgue tonight while police pieced together the story of a friendship of fifteen years standing which ended in swift tragedy in Betts' automobile on a country road near here.

The bodies were found today, each pierced with a bullet.

Betts shot Mrs. Brown, then killed himself, probably last night, the police believe. He was in need of attention Mrs. Brown received from another man.

ELECTION TIME IS COMING ON AGAIN

Election time is upon us again. This time of year under the election laws of days gone by was an exciting time. Now, especially, in Texas, and a few other states that have the primary system, it means very little to the most of us, though it is really of more importance than many people think.

The nation's law-makers will be elected Tuesday at general elections in 47 states. Thirty-five senators will be picked by majority vote of the citizens of 35 states to fill vacancies caused by death and by expiration of six-year terms, and the entire 435 members of the House of Representatives will be selected anew.

At Trent, boys and girls clubs held a contest recently for a prize of $50 offered by bankers and business men. Masterson reported an excellent quality of stuff shown there.

"At all other fairs the quality of the birds was excellent," he said. "In no instance was a single bird disqualified on account of lack of quality. Boys and girls especially are showing great interest in poultry this year.

With the splendid poultry market that we have in Lubbock, and in fact in all of the South Plains counties, we cannot but feel that if the farmers will raise all the chickens that the market will handle there will be no need for calamity howling.

For the fact that he number of congressmen in Texas as well as other states is determined by the number of votes cast in the general elections and not in the Democratic primary elections we should try to show each two years the largest possible vote in order to get the correct number of senators and representatives in the United States Congress.

Reserve and the officers' reserve Corps of the United States, and enlisted men of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve of the United States to hold public office in Texas.

The second, third and fourth are: For an Amendment to Section 58 of Article 16 of the Constitution abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners, providing for the supervision and management of the Prison system under such laws as may be provided for by the Legislature.

For an Amendment to Article 7 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to create special districts.

For an Amendment to Section 6 of Article 7 of the Constitution for taxation of school lands owned by Counties.

These are matters that pertain to the constitution of the State, and most of the proposed amendments either carry or are defeated as the case may be by a very small percent of the votes of the people of the state for the reason that many people do not go to the polls in general election times, because the state is so decidedly Democratic that there is no competition in the election of county district or state officers. There are other things, however, that should be taken into consideration with equally as much interest as the election of officers.

Next Tuesday is the day, and you should go to the polls and vote. Let us show the strength of Texas at the ballot box. The general election is the only time this can be done, as all parties are represented on the ballot, while in the primaries none other than Democrats are expected to vote.

NO NEED FOR CALAMITY HOWLING

There is really no need for calamity howling. There is one thing about it, it will buy grief, and this will come anyway whether it is invited or not. In this section of the state here is less reason for calamity howling than most any other part of the state. We have so many things that this great country can produce that there is a real market for, and that the people really have to have and are willing to pay a good price for, that there is no good reason that we should take the "blues" because of the low price of cotton.

It is reported that one of our Lubbock citizens says in order to avoid an automobile accident he is going to buy an airplane. It is reported that the peace officers are not going to tolerate the operation of automobiles by men or women while intoxicated. Now for folks that will make the officers in their efforts to make it safe for pedestrians and sane drivers.

It is reported that the duty on tin stocks has been considerably reduced. This will no doubt be good news to the fellow that has to pay for those used. It is reported that the reason the seats in the League council are no more comfortable than they are is because there are too many "tax" in them.

It is reported by slaming the state in debt that the children of Texas will have the benefit of fourteen dollars worth of "per capita" this year. This is one way that the governor-by-proxy has of being nice to the school children.

It is reported that some one has said that a contented citizen is a town's best asset. The town that has them however is not a growing town.

It is reported that the fellow that wanted to burn four million bales of cotton will have to increase it a million and a half more now in order to check up the additional numbers discovered since he proposed the "burning" remedy for low priced cotton.

Governor John Hammond, of Iowa, is reported as saying that those seeking admission to this country should either get under the American flag or get out.

The American Issue quotes Sheriff Ham, of Jefferson County, Kansas, as saying in a recent address: "You will not find booze and the Bible in the same house." Says the issue: "Sheriff Ham said he had learned that wherever he found a family Bible on the water table and it showed usage on the lids were not covered with dust, there was no booze on such premises. It is in communities where the church is placed in the background that the sheriff's force has to look, he declared."

Henry Fuller of Duluth when summoned for not having a license for his dog said he had given the animal away four times but it always came back.

Nine hundred patients at the Oberlinerkov Anstalt in Prague were poisoned, presumably by a janitor working in the kitchen, but none died.

James Brown's $100,000 residence at Steeling, Scotland, was destroyed by fire the day after burglars had robbed it of $25,000.

OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

SO THINK WE

We think that a thirst for knowledge is seldom ever quenched with a "dry" text book.

We think the investigation committee is about to get the whole Ferguson family mixed up in the highway contracts.

We think that marrying for money should not be recommended except as a last resort.

We think that most any tax assessor is pretty certain that there is "untold" wealth in the city.

We think that since the circus has come on again, we can now look forward to Armistice day, Thanksgiving and Christmas, and then come a new year with a new page to begin all over again.

We think there is one thing that Lubbock can say for Jim Ferguson, he has always been nice to the Tech, and though he makes us think we are not going to get any relief from him, he always tells Ma to write us a check when we just have to live it.

We think the boy that makes a habit of taking time off to smoke cigarettes, sooner or later has to take time off the cigarettes to look for a job.

We think a person has very little heart to dig up relief funds for a beggar who comes around asking alms with a cigarette in his mouth.

We think that a great many of us should be thankful that the murder law does not apply to the use of the English language.

We think even if Prohibition is not perfect in its operations that it is worth keeping, and if we as believers in the practice of prohibition will do our part at all times, it will be much more effective.

We think we can fill one little space in this column profitably by reminding you that it is now only two months till Christmas and that you should do your shopping early.

We think some folks have a knack of saying a little with a whole lot of words.

We think that a lot of men are so conceited that they take credit for a lot of things that the Lord and their wife have done for them.

We think that about all that is left of some women to admire is the very many appearances they possess.

We think we have discovered that one and one does not always make two, just take for instance some men's wives. There is only one that really amounts to much.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that Babe Ruth is asking $125,000 for his services during the baseball season next year. We believe that if a prize fighter can make $400,000 in an hour by letting some fellow beat on him, Babe ought to be worth that much to a baseball team, and we move that he be paid that much.

It is reported that the American people pay $12,600,000,000 annually for amusement, and this is in addition to the free entertainment that the politicians put out. The American people are strong for amusements.

It is reported that there are 850,000 students enrolled in the colleges of our land. What if they should all develop into commencement orators.

It is reported that we will have a sandstorm in Lubbock Friday—the Amarillo high school football team has finally consented to come to Lubbock, where the Westerners will substitute them. The Westerners have come out triumphantly through many sand-storms and we are sure they this will be no exception to the rule. They will subdue another sandstorm Friday.

It is reported that one of our Lubbock citizens says in order to avoid an automobile accident he is going to buy an airplane.

It is reported that the peace officers are not going to tolerate the operation of automobiles by men or women while intoxicated. Now for folks that will make the officers in their efforts to make it safe for pedestrians and sane drivers.

It is reported that the duty on tin stocks has been considerably reduced. This will no doubt be good news to the fellow that has to pay for those used.

SOUTH PLAINS PRESS

TURNIPS: The Spring Herald: "Walter Robinson is thinking out his turnip plot of one-fourth of an acre. Last Saturday he brought to market some of the surplus 'greens' with their attached young turnips, big enough to go into a separate pot. He got $2.45 for the lot he sold on that trip and there were more to be brought in. Mr. Robinson also has a watermelon grower also, in season. He planted a melon patch of one and a half acres. From this planting he sold $80 worth of fine melons and in addition gave lots of them away to neighbors and friends. These are only minor demonstrations of what some of our farmers might do to add to his income and his family's enjoyment of something different from the store-bought victuals. The list of staples that might be raised and in part sold for good profits is almost as long as a seed catalogue has listed. Mr. Robinson's farm lies about six miles east from Elk Spring and his main crop of turnips is yet to come on."

The people of this great country are learning fast that this will produce enough stuff to keep the family fat and then divide with the market. The South Plains believe that Lubbock will buy the produce in any quantity and see how it will roll in.

Most of us believe that Lubbock is a very clean town, and in most cases it is, but we believe that there are some conditions that affect the health of the community that might still be improved. There are some of the back yards and the back alleys in this town that seem to us to be ununsanitary. Some of the down town alleys are not half a block from the square either are anything but sanitary looking to us. The health of the community should be one of the most important things for the people of the town to be interested in. Begin at home or your own office, and let it spread out over the entire community.

WET AND DRY

Mr. Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is reported as calling to this country that America has won the first step in the fight to rid society of the "poison" of heroin, a widely used drug. It is stated that Mr. Porter's resolution, urging all nations to enact laws prohibiting manufacture and distribution of the drug, was adopted with minor changes by the humanitarian committee of the Inter-parliamentary Union.

Beer consumption in Germany, says a press report, has been cut from 182 liters for every man, woman and child to 75 liters. High prices are the cause says the government. Cocoa and chocolate are in greater demand.

"With our high speed competition we must have clear, sober heads to clear, sober heads to get there. We must either support prohibition or go back to huggies. A drunken man can't twist the reins about the dashboard of an automobile and expect to get home as he did with old Dodge." This was the statement of Bobbie Clark, cowboy poet of the old west, to the students at Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, recently.

The automobile registration in the United States increased from 2,545,445 in 1919 to 18,554,347 in 1925. Some say disagree that prohibition was responsible for this increase, or had a good part in it, but common sense might dictate the decision that no man's life would be safe on the street if the old saloon days prevailed.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CONTENTMENT

Money and fame and health alone, Are not enough for a man to own. For healthy men are heard to sigh, And men of wealth go frowning by. And one with fame will play his part with a troubled mind and heavy heart. If these three treasures no joy possess, How shall a man find happiness? Health comes first in the famous three, Eut cripples can smile we all must see. Fame is sweet, as we all must own, But the happiest hearts are not widely known. Money is good when its truly earned, But peace with fortune is not contented. For the bravest and loveliest souls we know, Have little silver or gold to show. Yet, there must be a way to the goal we seek, A path to peace for the strong and weak.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

It is going to be a merry crowd on the trip to Fort Worth to help the Matadors put over a victory on the T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

The time is drawing near—the Matadors are getting ready for their banner bout with the Matty Bellmen of the Texas Christian University.

It is the deep-seated desire of the Matadors to show the members of the Southwestern Conference that they deserve a berth in the conference—there is one way to do that and it is to meet with a conference eleven.

"Bull-fighters" is right—Tech has participated in fourteen gridiron events and has lost only one—with three tie games to her credit—it is a record that few schools in the nation may boast of.

Wearers of the Green in the Eastern grid circle, Dartmouth, is having a hard time of keeping her record up—she has lost to both Yale and Harvard in the 1926 performances.

It is the Westerners' best chance that she has had for years to win the Panhandle championship, in the meeting with the Golden Standarders her Friday. "Hard work, constant drilling, and real old fight" is the thing that will put the Westerners on top.

The football fans of Lubbock should boast a bit more for her own lads, the Westerners. The high school eleven consists of Lubbock's own youths, and certainly deserves more attention than heretofore given them.

Coaches Von Tungen and Frnka are both working hard with the Westerners. If possible they will shoot every thing they have.

Friday's high school game puts at stake the Panhandle championship in the gridiron circles.

For the past few years every Amarillo high school team has successfully put over a victory on the Westerners. Last season the Westerners were beaten but after they had held the Standarders to a close game in the final half.

The Texas Steers have rolled up 203 victories since 1902. That is nothing to boast of—Texas Tech has rolled up ten victories and is still playing ten years ago.

Do the Matadors have any offense? That is the problem wearers of the Scarlet and Black have been puzzled with for some time; but a different one will be sung, after the T. C. U. clash, for hard work and much drill in the offense department is being handed the Matadors in this week's work-outs.

Hope that come Frog slaps "Satchel" Hill on the ear in the first play—he will but through for revenge—and while he is going, chances are he will carry the oval for a few yards.

With Hill at full, "Red" Hamilton and Woodridge at half, and "Duke" Cassler directing the crew—it is likely that the Tech will make at least one first down in the game.

How is this for a line—Captain Carpenter and either Westerfeldt or Fern Aldridge at tackle; "Ox" Reed and "Red" Smith or DeWitt at guards and Carley at center—you know fans that is a tough bunch—and not many yards can be made through that wall.

Look at these ends—"Precher" Calloway, "Dope" White, Vinzant, and Parks. A pretty fair lineup.

The old toe, and great defense work of Al Jennings will be greatly missed in the contest Saturday—but with Al out it gives the Matadors as a team only more reason to fight harder—and they will.

Percy Walker, who has been out of the "bull-fighters" backfield due to injuries in the St. Ed game—will more than likely show up in a part of the game Saturday.

MATTY BELL THREATENS TO WAVE RED FLAG BEFORE HIS HORNFROGS TO GET THEM PEPPED UP FOR MATADORS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 26.—Like the picador, who rides in a Spanish arena pricking a bull with a lance and otherwise exciting him to charge the dashing matador, coach Matty Bell this week is driving his T. C. U. Football team in practice for their tilt with the Texas Tech Saturday.

Stiff workouts were given the frogs Monday and Tuesday afternoon and more hard work is scheduled for them for the next two days.

The Tech Matadors have met Indians and Cowboys this season, trouncing the McMurray College Redskins and battling to a tie with the Simmons University Cowboys.

Coach Bell daily impresses on his men that the Matadors are going to be hard to manage and that he intends to send the best team against them that can be mustered from the Frog camp.

HOOSIER GRAND JURY WANTS TO FIND IF KU KLUX KLAN HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH TAGGART

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—Attention of the grand jury investigating the allegations of Indiana political corruption apparently will be turned tomorrow from the Ku Klux Klan activities within the republican party to any efforts the hooded order may have made to gain a stronghold in the democratic ranks.

At the conclusion of a day of questioning of former local Klan leaders, subpoenas were issued tonight for appearance in the grand jury room tomorrow of Thomas Taggart, a democratic party chairman; Charles A. Greathouse, democratic national committeeman for Indiana; and Earl R. Peters, of Fort Wayne, state chairman.

ARMY MULE AFTER OLD ELI SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Army mule stalks into the heart of New Haven on Saturday seeking its first victory over a Yale team in fifteen years.

Not since 1911 have flying West Point hoofs left the imprint of a defeat on the flanks of the Bulldog.

Twice since then, however, Army has drawn off with honors even, the records showing tie games in 1922 and 1924.

Yale's defeat by Brown and Army's string of four successive victories supply the basis upon which critics have installed the rednet team as a favorite.

Traditional foes will engage in at least four other outstanding games, with Brown primed to turn the tables on Dartmouth after six straight defeats.

Betts shot Mrs. Brown, then killed himself, probably last night, the police believe. He was incensed at attentions Mrs. Brown received from another man.

President Can "Fire" Appointees

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The right of the president of the United States to remove postmasters and other executive appointees from office without the consent of the senate was upheld today by the supreme court in the Myers case from Portland, Oregon.

In an opinion by Chief Justice Taft, the court held that federal statutes which have been regarded as withholding that power from the president are void.

Involves Portland Man
The case, involving removal by President Wilson of Frank S. Myers as postmaster at Portland, had proved a focal point upon which the executive and legislative branches of the government had come, to a notable trial of constitutional rights before the highest court.

So important was the question that the court designated Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, a former president of the American Bar association, to represent congress in an argument of the case.

The point directly at issue was whether congress had exceeded its power when, in the act authorizing presidential appointment of officers, second and third class postmasters "with the consent of the senate." It also declared that such postmasters could be removed when the senate consented.

Must Be Free To Act
Answering this question, the court declared that congress has not constitutional authority to restrict the president in the removal of officials from office it created, but that the chief executive, charged with the administration of the government's business, must be free to act on his own discretion.

Taking up specifically that section of the law which makes the term of postmasters four years, the court held that the president could remove them during that period for the good of the service.

The court added that in case of a removal from office, it was not necessary for the president promptly to submit to the senate, the name of a successor, and that he could hold the office vacant indefinitely.

Congress And Minor Officials
It was held, however, that congress could control the removal of minor officials not appointed by the president.

Justices Holmes, Brandeis and McReynolds dissented from the opinion of the majority. Justice McReynolds read a dissenting opinion in which he described the limitations of the president as revolutionary. Under it, he said, the president would have authority to remove members of all commissions, although it had been supposed they could only be removed for malfeasance in office. He argued that the right of presidential removal thus established would extend even to the comptroller general, about whose tenure congress had sought to throw every safeguard.

Historical Account Given
The majority opinion, read by Chief Justice Taft, contained an exhaustive historical account of the relationship between congress and the president, including the circumstances of the passage of the act in question, just after the civil war.

Unusual terms were used by Justice McReynolds in his protest against the views of the majority. A lone point he asserted that in his opinion, today's decision would absolutely overthrow the form of government planned by the nation's founders.

"Yesterday we had a government of limited specific powers," he said. "Today nobody knows what it is."

Toledo Gets After Mentally Deficient When Woman Is Brutally Beaten to Death

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 26.—A round up of mentally deficient persons was ordered by chief of police Harry Jennings tonight in the search for the attacker and slayer of Miss Lily Dale Crox, 23, Toledo school teacher.

The tactics of the murderer, who brutally beat the teacher to death in a school yard two blocks from her home last night, so resembled the operations of the notorious Toledo clubber of a year ago that police prepared for another wave of hysteria.

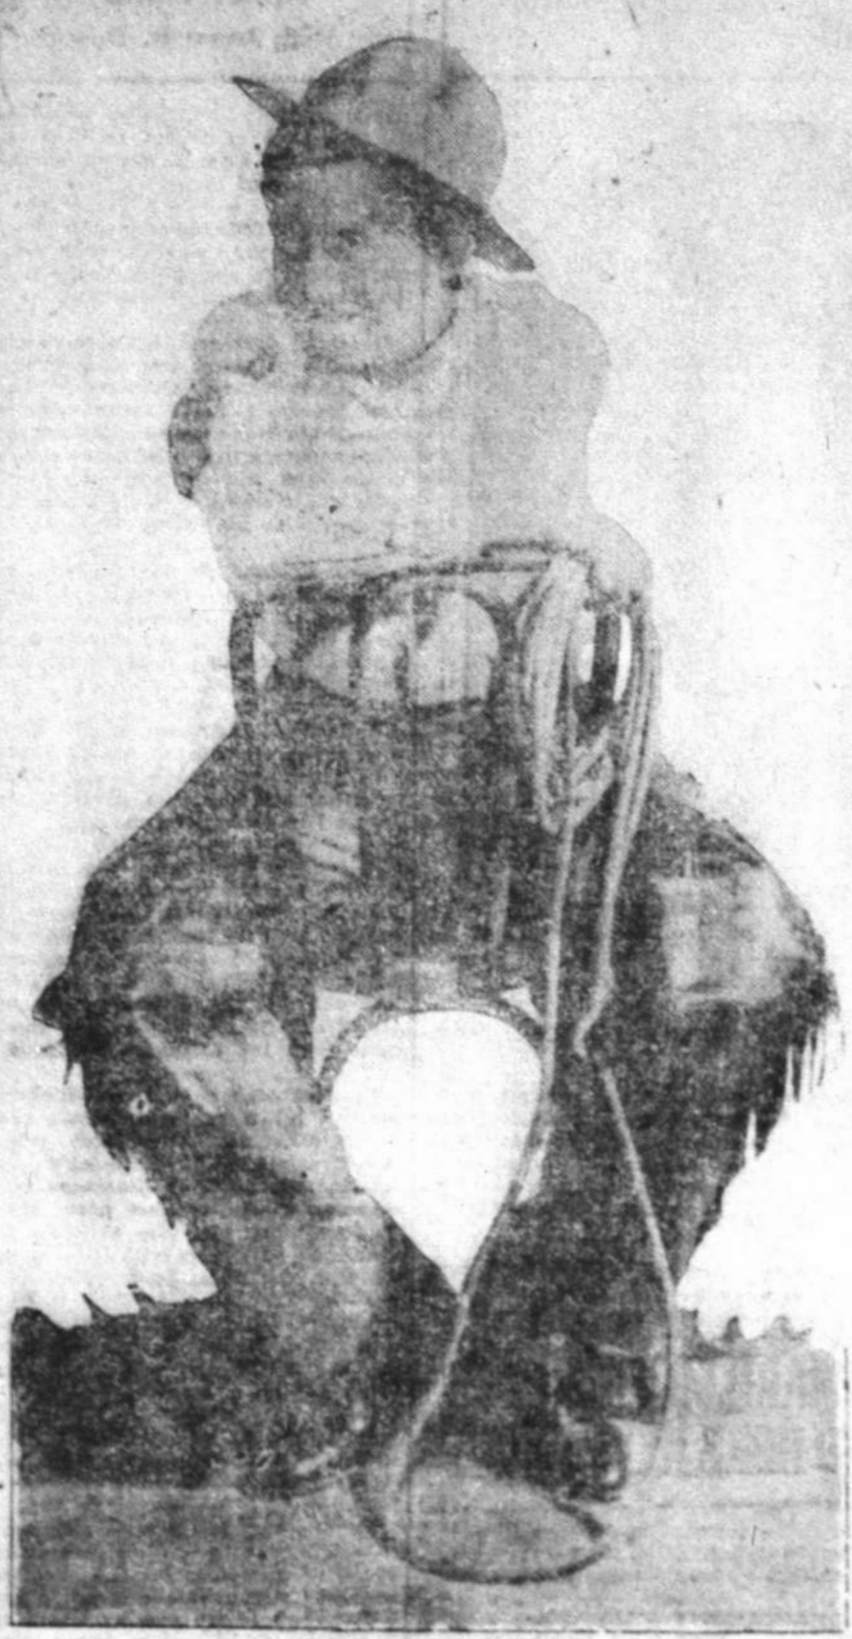

ANOTHER WOMAN IS SLAIN IN TOLEDO

TOLEDO, Oct. 26.—The second woman murder mystery in Toledo in the past 24 hours was thrust upon police for solution tonight following the finding of the body of Mrs. Mary Alden, 46, in the dining room of her home. The first victim was Miss Lily Crox, school teacher, who was murdered and criminally attacked Monday night.

SICK HEADACHE

No Pleasure, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Lansville, Ohio.—"For years and years I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Jane Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have these headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go."

"About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for these headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It sure is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by treating the cause of the trouble and in such a case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Thedford's Black-Draught.

TECHNICAL TOPICS

$200 PRIZE OPEN TO TECH SOCIOLOGY STUDENTS

For the past several days Dr. John C. Granberry, head of the department of social sciences, has been calling the attention of the students of sociology to the $200 prize offered by the Commission on Inter-racial Cooperation for the best essay to be submitted on the subject by any qualified college student of the United States. The first prize is $100 and the others follow closely.

Dr. Granberry believes that there are a number of students of the Tech who are capable of winning a place in the contest and is urging them to enter.

MACHINE SHOP LABS TO BE GIVEN SOON

With the completion of the machine shop just north of the textile engineering building, the Tech will soon have regular laboratory classes in machine and shop work. The students of the school are helping assemble the machinery which is being installed in the building this week. According to Dean J. M. Miller of the school of engineering, regular lab work in mechanical engineering will be held in this building also.

J. C. Hargrove, expert machinist and shop man will be superintendent of the building and will direct all classes. The building will be steam heated and have power wiring, each machine having the best motor for power.

TECH PROFESSORS TO ATTEND STATE TEACHERS MEET

Plans are being made by a number of Tech faculty members for attendance at the State Teachers convention which will be held in El Paso during Thanksgiving week. The railroads are working on a plan of reduced rates for the meet. President Paul W. Horn will be one of the principal speakers at the meet.

PI GAMMA MU TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

The first official meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society which is giving a local charter, will be held this afternoon at 4:30 at the home of Dr. J. C. Granberry. A number of students have been admitted to the membership roll and several more are expected. The faculty members of the society will be at the meeting this afternoon also.

BEAT T. C. U. PEP MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

With the time for departure for Fort Worth drawing nearer, the students are beginning to become more and more engrossed in the idea of beating T. C. U. Thursday night at 7:30. Yell Leader C. A. Deane will gather the students and citizens together for a giant pep rally before embarking for Fort Worth. Every student in school is pledged to be there and the town people who are making the trip on the special train are urged to attend also and learn the Tech Fight Yell.

BAND CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

The Tech band gave a concert last night before a good audience at the high school, the proceeds of which went to help pay their way to Fort Worth. With 30 members in the organization, Prof. Harry Le Maire and John Young, manager, are confronted with a serious situation, that of sending them all to Fort Worth for the trip. The girls of the pep squad did a great deal of work yesterday by selling tickets for the concert. A large sum is yet needed to take the band to Fort Worth and all Lubbock citizens as well as students are urged to help send it.

The Tech and Lubbock will be many times repaid by the band in advertising when they broadcast to the nation over WTEAP at Fort Worth Saturday night.

THEY FIND OIL IN FUNNY PLACES

Queer Names Are Tacked to Communities By Well Drillers

By HAMILTON WRIGHT Special Correspondent

ABILENE, Oct. 25.—Some names are just aleuginous and can't help it. Even the word Noodle Creek, which the most recent big gusher obliterated the "wild" of the wildest, seems unctious now.

Experienced etymologists may in time supersede the geologists as the reliable informants of operators waiting to drill and don't know where to set their rigs. The text for etymologists library is being enhanced almost monthly by discovery of oil in places that bear names a bit "different."

Now to prove that this word "key" to new oil pools infrequently fail to unlock the golden treasures we point with pride to the fact that Caddo in Louisiana years ago became a sensational field. And if etymological geologists had been wise enough they might have figured their geographies black and scuffed and discovered another Caddo in Texas. And sure enough, Caddo, Texas, became a center for drilling operations that focused the eyes of the oil world upon it for months and months. The "dough" was at Caddo—that's known.

"Way back in the 90's Texas' first oil field was developed at Corsicana. That field has never failed. And a little later on, Beaumont swam in oil from the Spindle Top field. And then Goose Creek and Sour Lake. Then Deadman. In every one of those names the letter "o" occurs. And more recently we have the Hutchinson county "ocean." And it has an "o" in it. And more recent than any of them we have Noodle Creek. And if our etymological theory is right, the Noodle Creek field should prove a better producer than any of the rest of them because of its double "o" in it. Now we'll see if our etymological geology doesn't play safe for us.

And there is Olney—with that necessary "o" in it. Jacksonville—just see the "o" twice. Look out lease holders in Jack County—bit 'em hard around Jacksonville. And Ringgold—note the "o" in "gold." Symbol of wealth. And even the names of the States of New Mexico and Oklahoma, oil producers.

And then there's the Colorado City field—can't get away from the "o" again. And Upton county field—got an "o" in it, too. Years ago near Corpus Christi a world famed gusher blew in. It's got an "o" too. And then there's the Laredo field, the Lockhart pool, the Rosalia shallow field, the Amarillo field. And Brownwood should develop into an immense field, for it has three of these "o's" in it. And what about Cross Plains—there's that ubiquitous "o" again. And down at Goosebeck, they've got "o" in "o" in there. And what can we say about Iowa Park, Los Angeles, Tampico, Elora—well they're all of the genus "o."

But there's the reader that's always taking the joy out of life. He pops up wanting to know why in Sam Hill oil was found in Ranger, Breckenridge, Wichita Falls, Electra and Burkburnett when no "o" at all occurs in their names.

That's where we fall down like the fly-by-night geologists—we just don't know. There are examples of occasional deviations from the known laws of the Kingdom of Olo. Probably the Ranger field should be included under the head of Caddo, likewise the Breckenridge pool. But Deadman could well take the place of Ranger and Eastland, for it was a good one in its day. In order to contend for our "o" theory we'd say that the Wichita Falls, Electra and Burkburnett field should come under the charm of the "o" that appears in Iowa Park and Vernon. But the reader can readily see that, like petroleum geologists, the fellows that pretend to read the rocks, the anticlines and the synclines, are going to be hardheaded and admit no flaws in our etymological system of oil detection. Though in time we expect to make a stake as other geologists do by charging for their professional services, we are willing to vouchsafe to the geowriters this little word as a sign of advice—never drill in any section that hasn't an "o" in its name. It's awfully dangerous. It means a depleted pocketbook, an idle derrick and rig and a lot of cursing stockholders back in the old home town.

GIRLS AID DRUG STORE ROBBERS

FLAPPERS WAIT WHILE BOY FRIENDS STEAL COSMETICS

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 26. (AP)—While their girl friends waited in striped-down cars for the get-away, four youths entered drug stores and took perfume, face powder and cosmetics for the beautification of their female companions.

The youths, Sperry Parker and Andrew Donohue, of West Hartford, Barkan Wattenhoff of this city and Howard Beaumont of Rocky Hill, all are in their teens.

The boys were said to have confessed that in the last five months they made twenty breaks in Hartford and at least ten more in surrounding towns, specializing in drug stores, chain grocery and provision stores and roadhouses.

On each of these raids they were said to have been accompanied by five or six Hartford girls, none more than 15 years old.

Parker and Donohue were arrested yesterday when they were recognized by an officer as youths' previously convicted of taking automobiles without permission of owners. Their alleged confession led to their arrests.

JACKSON PARDON

are all of the attorneys who at any time had any part in the prosecution of any one of the cases growing out of the hanging of Jackson in Williamson county and we did not make any such agreement, but a protest was filed instead with the pardon board by a representative of those who had been interested in the prosecution of these cases.

"The statement was further made that this pardon had been granted on request of Senator Wood. The papers have carried Senator Wood's statement that he did not request the pardon. We would not criticize Senator Wood's request of the pardon, had he done so, because he was one of those employed to assist in the defense of Murray Jackson and appeared as one of the attorneys in the trial of the case.

"Mention is made in the statement of affidavits of other participants in this assault to the effect that Jackson was not guilty of such offense."

"A grand jury indicted Murray Jackson and he was tried before a jury of citizens of Williamson county, and after hearing the testimony, the jury retired and in less than fifteen minutes returned in court a verdict finding him guilty of the assault and fixed his punishment at the maximum provided by the law."

"In granting the pardon, the statement was made that there was doubt of guilt. A jury who heard the testimony was convinced of his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. Now that the period of limitation for the prosecution of others in connection with this case, has run, in an effort to secure his release, it is said that one who had testified that he had no part in the assault now makes an affidavit that Jackson was not there and the jury's verdict is nullified by the statement that there is doubt of his guilt.

"We neither requested nor agreed to Jackson's release at any time, and we believe that the testimony in this case is such that it merited the conviction of Jackson.

"And we may further add that we regard the clemency extended to Murray Jackson a misapplication of the pardoning power.

TO INVESTIGATE THE INVESTIGATORS

HALL-MILLS INQUIRY IN NEW JERSEY GETS NEW ANGLE

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 26. (AP)—A bitter quarrel between the Somerset county grand jury and special prosecutor Alexander Simpson, which relegated to the backwoods the Hall-Mills case itself, was climaxed today by an invitation from the prosecutor to the grand jury to investigate the grand jury room by resolution followed. The grand jury clerk was put out by a second resolution.

The jury met in opposition to wishes of the prosecution and reports had reached Simpson that it was to "investigate the investigators."

After the heated session, Simpson announced he would probably return to Hudson, his home county, for indictment against two of the alleged accessories, which he has been seeking from the Somerset county body.

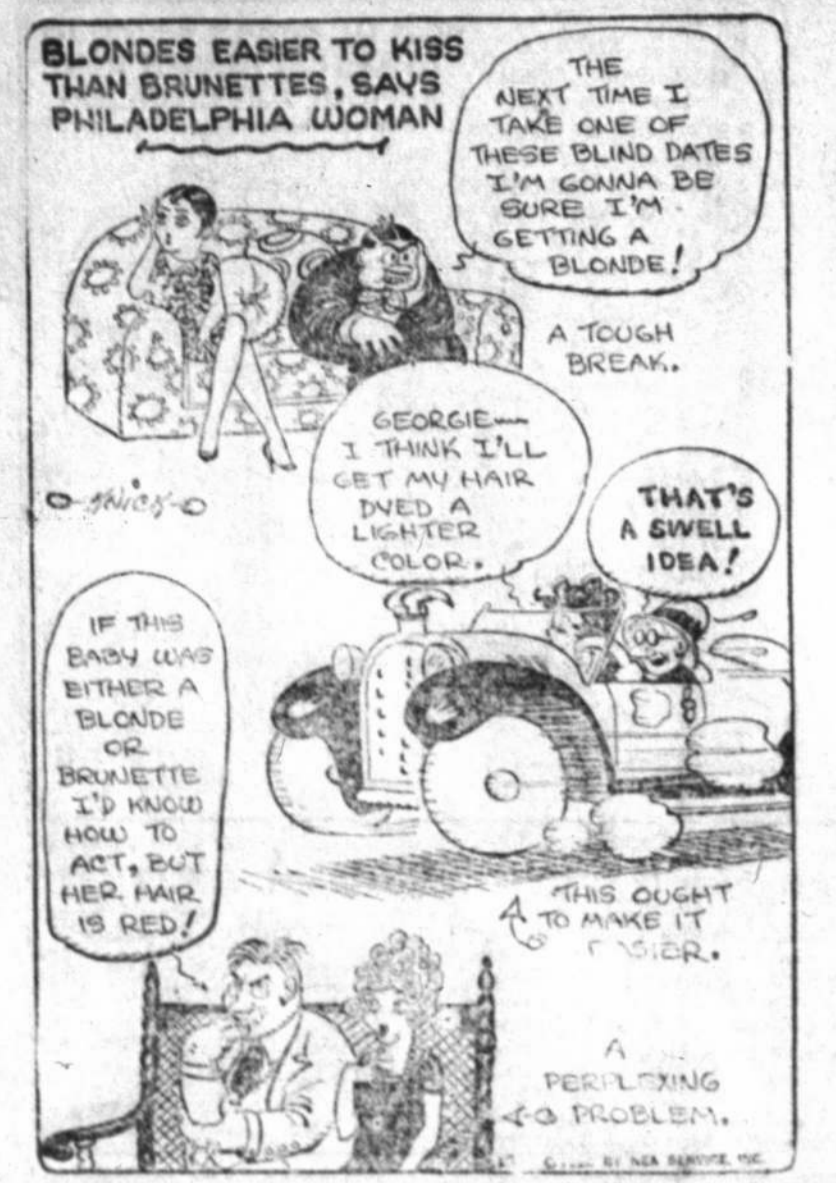

"These two, he said, would be Felix J. Martins, private detective who was employed by Mrs. Frances Stephens Hall and Ralph V. M. Gurdine, veyerman of the slain man's church who after being questioned 24 hours admitted he was at the scene of the slaying with Mrs. Catherine Rostoll.

Coming from the grand jury room Simpson told reporters of his words with the jury.

"If they indict me," he said, he told them "you've got to indict my boss, the attorney general of the state as well as supreme court justice Parker and Governor Moore, as they all know what I have been doing."

"There was young cut in there," he added. "It was a regular cat and dog fight; they were calling each other bars."

THE PAPERS SAY By Knick

The squabble will have no effect on the case itself, nor on the four persons indicted for murder in the slayings of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills four years ago.

The trials of the four, Mrs. Hall, widow of the minister, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry Carpenter, will open Monday. The woman and her brother will be tried jointly first and Carpenter separately later.

CHARGE WITNESSES BOUGHT AND SOLD

BRIBERY ALLEGED IN AIMEE McPHERSON HEARING AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26. (AP)—The charge that witnesses were being purchased and aliens corrupted was made by E. J. Dennison, assistant prosecutor in the conspiracy hearing of Aimee Semple McPherson in municipal court here today.

Forest Murray another deputy prosecutor, aroused the fire of W. L. Gilbert, chief of defense counsel, when he persisted in questioning defense witnesses as to who was paying their expenses here from Douglas, Ariz.

When H. E. Irwin, photographer of Douglas, left the stand, Gilbert leaped to his feet and ordered Murray to take the witness stand.

"You often being witnesses from outside this county and sign vouchers for their expenses don't you?" Gilbert demanded of Murray.

Dennison challenged the materiality of the question and Judge Samuel H. Blake sustained it. Murray left the stand, but Dennison remained on his feet.

"Your honor," he spouted, "what the state does is different from purchasing witnesses and taking up collections for the purpose of paying aliens and corrupting them."

"That's utterly false, if he is referring to this case," retorted Gilbert.

England is fighting to keep the open spaces along the picturesque seashore of the island from being turned into developments by enterprising realtors.

BOMB FOUND IN N. Y. COURT HOUSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (AP)—An "infernal machine" containing dynamite sufficient to snuff out many lives, was found on the lobby of a window in the county court house this morning, and was at the bottom of New York harbor tonight.

The "infernal machine" was a cheap tin suit case, it sat innocently on the window ledge, as clerks entered the building early today. One more curious than the rest took it inside the clerk's room to examine it. Deputy county clerk Thomas A. Farley was more suspicious than curious. He notified the bureau of combustibles. Three members of the bureau sifted the side of the suit case and removed a clock mechanism, a tin of fulminate of mercury, which explodes by pressure, and a wooden box filled with granulated dynamite.

The dynamite, estimated at from 15 to 25 pounds, was sufficient to damage not only the county court house, but city hall and other buildings, some of the investigators said. There are usually many people in the vicinity of the court house and city hall.

One of the theories of investigators as to the presence of the "infernal machine" on the window ledge was that some one who intended to place it elsewhere had become frightened by an approaching policeman, put the suit case on the window ledge and fled.

The theories included the supposition that radicals had placed the bomb or that a disgruntled person had decided to blow up the court house.

As the dynamite was being taken from the suit case, police captain John J. Donnelly, saw a newspaper photographer trying to take a flash-light photograph of it. Captain Donnelly said:

"There would have been a number of new faces among the snafus if that maroon had exploded his flash."

LUBBOCK PIONEER DIES NEAR HERE

W. G. NAIRN LIVED TO BE EIGHTY YEARS OLD; TO BE BURIED TODAY

W. G. Nairn, 80, pioneer resident of the Plains, died at his home about five miles northwest of Lubbock at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning following an illness of several months, and will be buried in the Lubbock cemetery this morning following funeral services at 10 o'clock at the home of Rev. H. Sanders, veteran minister of the Church of Christ here.

Mr. Nairn was born in Dunlop, Kilwinning, Scotland, on May 7, 1846, coming to the Plains from Hamilton county when this section was still known as the Llano Estacado, and although he clung to his horse and buggy as a means of transportation while others resorted to the now more familiar automobile, has been a picturesque figure and has always done his part in the development program in this part of the state. He settled in this county about 1883, coming here from Howard county, and was engaged for a while in herding sheep, then turned to cattle raising and later to farming.

He is survived by his wife, a brother, and four children as follows: Mrs. F. Brown, of County Superintendent E. F. Brown, and Mrs. R. S. Collins, both of Lubbock; Mrs. Janie Hendricks of Glendale, Arizona; and Dave, a son who lives near San Angelo.

Wilbur Pictures Vital Kinship Between U. S. Navy and Merchant Marine

By CURTIS D. WILBUR
Secretary of the Navy

When Napoleon said, "An army marches on its stomach," he epitomized a truth of broad application. An army is limited in its operations by the extent of its commissary and this fact is equally true of a navy.

Curtis D. Wilbur

The ordinary slow-moving cargo carrier will not average much better than one round trip from our west coast to Manila in 60 days. The same ship can reach Hawaii, our naval base in the Pacific, and return to our west coast in about 20 days.

Among other factors, distance determines the number of supply ships essential to fuel and provision the fleet. It follows that at least three times as many cargo vessels would be required to supply a fleet based on Manila bay as one operating from Pearl harbor, Hawaii.

In time of peace our navy maintains only a modest number of vessels for transport, supply ships, tankers and colliers. For the tremendous tonnage that might be required in case of war, the navy and the national defense must depend on an American merchant marine.

Emergency Resources

Another point to be kept in mind is the possibility of transporting troops overseas. It is a consideration which hardly seems possible at this time. But neither did it at the beginning of 1914. It required 272 merchant vessels of 3,766,418 gross tons to carry 2,986,000 of our troops to France.

In time of peace merchant ships belong in the carrying trade, earning a return. Now is the advantage which would come from the ability to deliver the products of our farms, forests and factories to foreign markets the sole remaining consideration. The least appreciated reason for an American merchant marine is to insure the many imports so necessary and important to our daily lives.

Self-Dependence Best

It has been estimated by the chairman of the committee of commerce, United States Senate, that during the World War the lack of a merchant marine cost the United States something like seven and a half billions of dollars. It is good business judgment, therefore, in addition to sound national defense, to develop a merchant marine that will both support our navy in defending the nation and provide a reliable system of sea transportation for exports and imports.

The maintenance of our present standard of living largely depends on our ability to market abroad our surplus products and to import essentials for farms, factories and industries. It is wise not to depend on others for this service. In time of war, whether this country is engaged or not, it is of the utmost importance that there be an adequate merchant marine under the United States flag.

Problem of Carriers

In time of peace the matter of supporting our warships from home ports is a large but relatively simple matter. In time of emergency, however, the supply facilities required by the United States navy is a problem of colossal proportions—fuel, ammunition, food and replacements ranging all the way from radio tubes to airplanes for 18 battleships and several hundred lesser warcraft.

Take one item—food. To feed a battleship's crew one month requires 25 healthy head of cattle, 20 sheep, 25 calves and the bones of 200 hogs. Other items include 65,000 pounds of fresh vegetables, 29,000 pounds of fruit, 24,000 pounds of flour and 8,700 dozen eggs.

GIN AND COTTON BURN AT MONROE

N. W. SMITH GIN PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE LATE MONDAY NIGHT

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the N. W. Smith gin at Monroe north of here late Monday night, according to reports reaching Lubbock Tuesday, and in addition to the gin and equipment, 15 bales of cotton also were lost.

The flames had gained such headway before discovered that efforts to extinguish the flames, with adequate water supply or equipment available nothing, and practically nothing was saved, the reports said. One more gin is in operation at Monroe, but it is believed will not be able to handle the crop.

MAKES 720 BBL. OIL SATURDAY

PHILLIPS JOE WINTER IN ABILENE FIELD HOLDS UP RECORD

By HAMILTON WRIGHT
Special Correspondent

ABILENE, Oct. 26.—The Phillips Joe Winter No. 1, discovery well in the Needle Creek pool, made 720 barrels of oil Saturday, bringing the total since it was brought in about 40 days ago to around 4,000 barrels.

The rig of the Mason No. 1 of the Marland Oil Company, effecting the Winter well, was skidded twenty feet south Sunday and will spend in in a few days. The old hole was given up at 1,500 feet when a joint of casing was jammed in the hole.

The race for the pay now is between Midwest's Thornton No. 1 and the Phillips Tussie No. 1 on the Walling land. These are the south and west sides of the Joe Winters well.

The Midwest now has a decisive chance to bring in the field's second producer. Its Thornton No. 1 was drilling at 1,500 feet yesterday with the Tussie No. 1 at 1,700 feet.

The Hurley Oil Company's Sears No. 1, three miles west of the discovery well, is drilling at around 1,800 feet. This well is being closely watched, should it become a producer it will initiate a great drilling campaign along the east backbone that runs from the Joe Winters well to the east, it is said.

One and one-half miles northeast of the Winters well the Lancaster Rig Company is erecting a derrick for the Western World Company's test. It is in the southeast corner of the Goodman farm.

The Huron Gas Company's Johnson well on the Arthur Sears land south of Yakota, is cleaning out following a severe cave Sunday. The well was drilling at 2,500 feet through hard time when it went into the blue shale, causing the casing. A light showing of oil was encountered around 2,600 feet. The well will be drilled to the 2,600 foot level, contract depth.

This well has been watched closely for days due to its rather close proximity to the Joe Winter No. 1, 600-barrel producer, about six miles east.

LAMESA COTTON WILL BE POOLED

EACH THURSDAY AT 1 P. M. STAPLE WILL BE SOLD TOGETHER

(Special to The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Tex., Oct. 26.—At meeting of directors and officers of the Dawson County grading and marketing association it was decided that Thursday of each week at one o'clock would be set as pooling time. At this time farmers would have on the table such cotton as they desire sold in pool. Buyers will be on hand and bid on the grades of cotton according to staple value. The work of the association in grading and classing cotton is resulting in the saving of much money to farmers in this section. Since the establishing of this service Lamesa has maintained the highest cotton market of any town on the plains. Neighboring towns and counties are using Lamesa as a grader and are getting satisfactory results. J. B. Hearrell is the bonded grader.

Concrete Streets, like Concrete Roads, are a good investment—not an expense

Galveston Invites You to Look at Its Concrete Streets

When you go to Galveston again, take time to look at the concrete pavement on Broadway and Twenty-fifth Streets—the Treasure Island's famous residential streets.

Thousands of motorists have admired the concrete on Broadway which was laid in 1914. Its pleasing salmon pink color was obtained by adding red oxide to the concrete mixture. No one who has tested out its riding qualities will forget the pleasure of driving over this firm, rigid, unyielding surface.

It is even because it was built that way; and once in place concrete remains as built—firm, rigid, unyielding, unaffected by traffic and changing seasons. Concrete streets are also safe streets because they are skidproof. You know what that means.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

BAPTIST REVIVAL HERE IS PRAISED

ONE LUBBOCK MAN SAYS IT IS BEST HE'S EVER SEEN;
FOND TO DALLAS

"It is the greatest revival I have ever had occasion to attend," said one Lubbock citizen Tuesday, while speaking of the Baptist revival now in progress here.

The meeting began on Sunday, December 17 and since that date, more than one hundred people have made public professions. On Sunday alone, there were 65 conversions and more than 100 young people surrendered themselves for special work. Four of these will go to foreign fields. Up until Tuesday 136 people have united with the church and more of 50 of this number are candidates for baptism. There were 55 additions to the church Sunday.

Sunday Service Good One

The service Sunday morning was one of the greatest services ever held in Lubbock, according to many people who were in attendance. Rev. Pond, of Dallas, who is doing the preaching, stated yesterday that the service was one of the greatest he had ever witnessed. "It was one of the highest hours of my life," he said. The speaker told of his experiences as an alcoholic engineer and his call to the ministry, and many young people were moved to higher aspirations—were willing to surrender their lives to their master.

Services will continue daily up to and including the Sunday night service. "The last message will be short," said Rev. Pond, "as we plan to have our baptismal service on that occasion. So far there are more than 50 candidates for baptism, and I hope this number will be increased to more than 100 by Sunday."

The minister will leave Lubbock Sunday night for Dallas, where he will begin a meeting Monday evening.

MORE MONEY FOR COUNTY SCHOOLS

PER CAPITA RAISE BRINGS $21.
007.50 ADDITIONAL, SAYS
BROWN

Lubbock county schools will receive $159 more for each of the 8,462 children who attend them as a result of the raise of the per capita state apportionment from $11.50 to $14, by the bill passed in special session of the legislature and signed Monday by Mrs. Ferguson. The total addition to the state school apportionment thus brought to Lubbock is $21,007.50, and the total of the entire $14 apportionment to the county is $117,642. In addition to this the county has in application for additional state aid for all of the schools, which aid last year totalled for Lubbock county $8,970, but which P. F. Brown, county superintendent, estimates will be larger this year.

6,000 VISIT NOODLE DOME, NEW OIL CITY

(Special To The Avalanche)
ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 26.—More than 6,000 persons visited the new town of Noodle Dome, under the shadow of the Winter No. 1, producer, Sunday. The towns of Merkel and Trow, near the field, presented a holiday appearance with streets cluttered with automobiles.

Noodle Dome, newest Texas town, welcomed the thousands with cold drinks, hamburgers and a forest of shiny derricks.

Preparations are being made in all these places for an anticipated tremendous "play" in the next fifteen or twenty days when a companion well of the Phillips Joe Winters No. 1 is expected to blow in. The nearest drill is down to the 1900-foot level or about 500 feet above the pay vein.

SPEED DEMONESS EXCEEDS

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Whizzing down Michigan avenue at ten miles an hour, a woman bicyclist was arrested by a special bicycle policeman detailed to curb the cyclist speed mania. It happened 25 years ago but attention was called to it today when the woman recited the experience in the column of a newspaper and Tom Haney, now a federal officer, recalled he was the man who made the pinch.

GOOD PECAN SOIL

Taylor County Creek Bed Called Ideal
Ground for Planting of
Nut Trees

(Special To The Avalanche)
ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 26.—The alluvial creek valleys of Taylor county have been pronounced especially adapted to the propagation of the pecan, the native species of which thrive. A number of tracts of land along the Elm Fork of the Brazos in the county are now being set aside for large pecan orchards. In the territory north of Abilene—in the celebrated "shinners" country—pecan culture can be carried on with a high degree of success, according to J. R. Masterson, county farm agent, who has already planted a number of trees in his sandy-land farm near Nugent, Jones county.

BUILDS SIDING TRACK TO NOODLE CREEK

(Special To The Avalanche)
ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 26.—Sensational development centering about the Noodle Creek oil pool, five miles northwest of Merkel, the Texas and Pacific railroad company has just let a contract to the C. K. Russell Company for 2,100 yards of grading for a switch the company will install to accommodate rig and reel yards, foundries and general oil well supply houses.

RE-AFFIRM STAND ON SNAP COTTON

DAWSON COUNTY GINNERS AND BANKERS REFUSE TO HANDLE IT

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, Tex., Oct. 26.—Ginners and bankers of Dawson county have reaffirmed their stand against ginning and marketing snapped and lollie cotton. At a recent meeting of these bodies it was decided that no snapped nor lollie cotton would be ginned in the county until twenty days after a general freeze. It was promised that the gins would not gin and the bankers would not finance such cotton. It was pointed out that by such a move the grade of Dawson county cotton would be helped up and the county would be saved money. The move came about at the request of farmers.

SOME SCHOOLS OF COUNTY WILL OPEN NEXT WEEK

Several of the county schools which have been closed recently to allow children to pick cotton, will open again for a switch the county superintendent said yesterday. While others, he estimated, will remain closed until late in December.

THEY'RE STILL AFTER LABOR BOOTLEGGERS

ADDITIONAL ARRESTS ARE EX-PECTED IN COTTON PICKER
WAR

ABILENE, Oct. 26.—Additional arrests are expected within the next 24 hours of members of a "ring of labor bootleggers" that has been operating extensively in Jones county. It was announced today by J. Lee Turpley, chief deputy of the State Department of labor, who left for Abilene and Hamilton to investigate further violations of the state labor laws.

One man has been indicted and fined and three others will be tried at Abilene this week, with a number of suspects probably to be apprehended in the next few hours.

"Bootleggers" had things pretty nearly their own way until Turpley got on the job. They were bringing in thousands of Mexicans and disposing of them at the rate of $5 a head and transportation without state license and central office. It is alleged that after the Mexicans were placed, they were immediately induced to quit and return to their hearer of the next week. P. F. Brown, county superintendent said yesterday, while others, he estimated, will remain closed until late in December.

"This is the most insidious labor scheme that I have witnessed in some time," Turpley told a newspaperman today. "Farmers who recently went to San Antonio expecting to find labor, discovered that Mexicans would not sign up to go back with them until they had been authorized by a leader, to whom $2 to $5 a head was paid. Then the Mexicans were released. It saves somewhat of postage."

The Mexicans who come to this section for jobs of cotton picking seem to be under the control of leaders who hold them like a vice. Just what sort of magic they hold over them has not been discovered. It has been found in several sections that unless the $2 to $5 a head tax is paid the Mexicans will not work, though they appear not to be under obligation to the man who farms them out.

In the wild country between the Congo and Senegal there still remain a few tribes where slavery and cannibalism still reign supreme. A white mission in enroute to emancipate the last of the slaves.

It's a richer coffee to start with—
THERE'S NO MIDNIGHT OR MYSTERY ABOUT THE ECONOMY OF M·J·B. It's as simple as ABC! M·J·B is a richer coffee to start with. It has more body, more flavor, more concentrated strength to the pound right off. We blend it that way—always have!
This is why you can use less of M·J·B to the cup and still enjoy a rich, rare cup of coffee.
Isn't this, after all, sensible economy? You get much more in the way of coffee contentment; and it costs you less in the long run.

Castles & Kings
TODAY, castles are rather passe, and kings are in the discard, but even in their heyday they could boast of no such things as you take for granted.
No king could command the services which are at your beck and call. No castle contained the comfort and conveniences which are intrinsic features of even the smallest apartment or the modest bungalow. Few even had a clock.
Yet some people today dwell in medieval inconvenience. There are hundreds of homes without a telephone!
Is your "castle" up-to-date, or do you have to run over to your neighbor's to telephone?
You will find that the cost of telephone service is much less than it is worth, so valuable that you'll wonder how you ever got along without it.
Better apply for a telephone today.
