Plans Completed for 'Air Fiesta' B-25 Aerial Review Is Scheduled

All Panhandle Invited To See Day's Events

(See Mayor's Proclamation, Page6)

The greatest celebration of Army Air Force day ever held in Pampa army air field is scheduled for Wednesday, when residents of Pampa and adjacent communities are invited to inspect the local air base during an afternoon packed with activity.

Col. James A. De Marco, commanding officer, said it is in observance of the 38th anniversary of the establishment, in 1907, of the aeronautical division of the office of the chief signal officer. That was the official beginning of the Army Air Forces, which today includes 3,300,000 officers and enlisted personnel.

The commanding officer emphasized that all visitors will be admitted to the field without any formalities at the gate and that a record turn-out is expected. Supple-

B-25 MITCHELL IN FLIGHT

Shown above is a B-25 Mitchell medium bomber photographed as it flew from the Pampa army air field located near Pampa. Formations of these planes can be seen next Wednesday afternoon at the field, when "open-house" will be held as part of a nation-wide observance of Army Air Force Day. Pampa field officers hope to have a crowd of 10,000 on hand from surrounding cities to see the program which will begin at noon August 1. (See accompanying story.)

Big New Bomber Now in Action Is Consolidated B-32

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—The B-32, most recent of the American heavy bombers, is in action against the Japanese with the far east air force.

The army air forces' announcement today that the new bombers are operating with General George C. Kenny's FEAF apparently precludes possibility that the B-32 will be used by Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining's 20th airforce. This "global air force" uses B-29s, the so-called "very heavy bombardment" type.

The first of the B-32 crews to see combat were former B-24 men, except for aerial gunners who had trained with the Fourth airforce. Transition training for B-32 crews (the normal crew for the new plane is eight) was started last February at the AAF training command at Fort Worth army airfield, Texas.

A belligerent appearing pug-ugly with a lantern jaw, the consolidated Vultee B-32 is smaller in most dimensions and at least 15,000 pounds lighter than the B-29. The plane is now being built only at Fort Worth, Texas, while the B-29 continues in production at five plants.

The story of the B-32's assign-

MORE HANDS TO HEAL THE SHIPS:

The Alpine Is a Fighter-- She Will Go Back Again

SEATTLE, July 28—(AP)—All last Easter day, the 13th naval district revealed today, the navy attack transport Alpine had been backing up assault forces as hundreds of ships poured troops and supplies and heavy gunfire on Okinawa.

Just at dusk, three Japanese suicide planes roared out over the island. And then all hell broke loose as the day, sacred to the prince of peace, ended with the entire fleet and the guns ashore throwing up a dense curtain of anti-aircraft fire.

A cruiser knocked down one. The Alpine's own guns nailed a second. But the third Kamikaze closed in, circling the Alpine's stern and turning into a dive.

He careened over the port wing of the signal bridge, slashed through the rigging, left a wing and part of his landing gear in the forward starboard which and then crashed a great hole through the steel deck.

Twenty-five army men and three sailors never knew what hit them. And 37 additional army men were wounded as a thunderous explosion shook the Alpine from stem to gudgeon and a gaping hole appeared in the transport's

No Relief Seen In Food Status

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics advised civilians today to expect no significant relief from food shortages within the next 12 months.

In a report on the national food situation, the bureau — which is the agriculture department's statistical agency — said such foods as meats, fats and vegetable oil, sugar, cheese, condensed, evaporated milk, poultry, eggs, canned fruits and canned vegetables will continue short in relation to demands.

In addition, rice, dry beans, apples, and processed foods using large amounts of sugar and fats and oils may become short, it said.

On the other hand, civilian supplies of fluid milk, skim milk products, canned fruit juices, many fresh vegetables and fruits, including citrus fruits, fresh fish, and most grain products are expected by the bureau to be fairly plentiful.

Water Conservation Asked in Talley Area

Due to congested water lines in Talley addition, water rationing there may be made necessary, City Manager W. C. decordova said yesterday.

To aid in aversion of this measure deCardova said, was for the residents of that section of the city not to water their lawns, or waste water in any circumstances.

DeCordova said that the congested condition was due to the fact that the city was not receiving enough pipe to meet the demand for water.

Veteran General Says Japanese Landing To Be Less Difficult

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—An army engineer general, veteran of scores of landings in the Pacific said today he believes beaches of the Japanese home island and the China coast will be less difficult for invasion than those encountered up to now.

Brig. Gen. William F. Heavey, commander of the second engineer special brigade, just returned from two and a half years and eighty-two landing operations in the Pacific war, made these points:

The Japanese and China coast beaches do not have the hazardous coral formations that fringe the beaches of most of the southwest Pacific islands.

Landing forces ashore on Japan will have behind them long experience and better equipment.

The weather forecasting in the Pacific is so good that invasions can be timed to fit in between typhoons, making possible landings during that storm season.

Heavey said General Douglas MacArthur fooled the Japanese by landing on Leyte at a time when the enemy thought he wouldn't—in the typhoon season.

Country Leads Other Nations With Its OK

WASHINGTON, July 28 — (AP)—The senate thundered 89 to 2 approval today of the United Nations charter, setting in motion the machinery for a world organization armed with force to keep future peace.

In a history making roll call before jam-packed galleries, 89 senators voted loudly and clearly for American participation in a 50-nation league founded primarily on the principle of united action by the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China.

Only two, Senators Langer (R-ND) and Shipstead (R-Minn) said "no" to a ratification action reversing the policy the senate established 25 years ago when it rejected Woodrow Wilson's league of nations.

President Truman said in a statement tonight that senate ratification of the United Nations charter "substantially advances the cause of world peace."

Simultaneously a statement from former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, often called the father of the United Nations, hailed the senate action as a demonstration of American determination to share "in the

Attlee Joins Big Three in Churchill Seat

POTSDAM, July 28.—(AP)—The Big Three resumed their conference tonight soon after Britain's new prime minister, Clement Attlee arrived by plane to replace Winston Churchill in deliberations on which the world's future hinges.

The three leaders sat down together immediately after Attlee had made formal calls, first on President Truman, then on Premier Stalin.

The American delegation meanwhile disclosed that President Truman had dined with Navy Secretary Forrestal.

It emphasized that the plenary session began with a minimum of delay.

The conference resumed with the personnel of the British supporting delegation unchanged except for the replacement of Anthony Eden, Churchill's foreign secretary, by the new foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin.

The fact that Attlee had not replaced others in the delegation supported the belief that the Big Three sought an early conclusion of the discussions.

Ranger Amnesia Case Identified

RANGER, Texas, July 28.—(AP)—A young woman amnesia victim who has been in Ranger hospital was identified today as Mrs. Jack L. Dennis of Houston, and left for home with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lawson who made the identification.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson are from Houston and Mrs. Lawson is a sister of Mrs. Dennis. Chief of Police George Murphy said Mrs. Dennis did not recognize them.

Mrs. Lawson said Mrs. Dennis, wife of a soldier overseas, had been living in a residence of her own in Houston, working for a business office while she hired a woman to look after her 4-year-old son. The sister said Mrs. Dennis left home a week ago with 50 cents in her hand, going down the street to buy some fruit, and that they did not hear of her again until they read a news story which told of a post office boy key which the amnesia victim here had.

The young woman walked into a drug store here Monday, asked for a glass of water, and fainted.

3,500 Tons of Death Is Dropped

AIR POWER PREDOMINATES

Map above shows Kure-to-Kobe area covered with swarms of United States fleet carrier planes in slashing a Jap inland sea naval bases and idle ships. Early today (Japanese time) B-29s smashed oil refineries south of Osaka, as well as six cities on the island of Honshu, after the air force had told the Japs the names of these cities beforehand — setting a precedent for such "shot-calling." Swarms of aircraft, unchallenged, rose from flat-tops (lower map) and smashed at everything that moved on Shikoku, Kyushu, and Honshu islands. (See today's war news.)

By CLYDE BARTELL
Associated Press War Editor

Six foredoomed Japanese cities flamed today from the first of many mighty Superfortress fire bomb assaults promised Nippon unless she promptly sues for peace on Allied unconditional surrender terms.

Between 550 and 600 big bombers dropped 3,500 tons of incendiaries on Tsu, Aomori, Ichinomiya, Ujiyamada and Ogachi on Honshu island and on Uwajima, one of the four largest cities on Shikoku island. The Shimotsu oil refinery 45 miles south of Osaka, on Honshu, also was hit.

Iwo Jima Becomes Staging Base

Sixty of the B-29's hit Aomori, the farthest north target city, after stopping at Iwo Jima. This was the first use of this island only 750 miles from Tokyo as a bomber staging base. The other planes started from the customary bases of the 20th air force in the Marianas islands, 750 miles south of Iwo.

The raids were made the day after Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of the 20th AAF, boldly told the Japanese his Superforts were going to hit the six cities and five others which will come in for later blows.

Meanwhile, the once-powerful Japanese navy lay almost helpless with its major warships—battleships and carriers—sunk or damaged beyond use by combined carrier plane attacks Saturday on Kure naval base. It was the third naval air assault within the week on the enemy base on Japan's inland sea.

Far East air forces bombers, also operating over the Inland sea and Tsushima strait to the west sank nine Japanese ships totaling more than 16,000 tons in sweeps Tuesday, General MacArthur announced today.

The bag included an entire convoy of seven ships of 2,500 tons or less caught in Tsushima strait by Mitchell mediums of the Fifth air force, unit of the Far East AF.

Nagoya airfield on Japan's main island of Honshu was cratered by 1,000-pound bombs from two Seventh air force Liberators.

Other Allied planes including aircraft of the U. S. Seventh fleet ranged down the Asiatic mainland coast hitting Japanese junks off Hong Kong and blasting installations at Swatow. They also bombed Hainan island and attacked railroad facilities and docks in Indo-China.

Fliers who participated in the strike of nearly 1,500 American and British planes of Admiral Halsey's Third fleet yesterday reported a "beautiful job" in leaving the big Kure naval base filled with damaged battleships and carriers.

Without counting the results of Saturday's strike, Admiral Nimitz' communique yesterday said that 26 Nipponese warships, including six carriers, three battleships and four cruisers, were sunk or damaged in raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

For the time being Japan's active naval strength lies in light units which U. S. destroyers could handle without help, said Associated Press Correspondent Morrie Landsberg at Guam.

Airmen definitely listed the 29-

OPA To Smother Inflation Under Goods Avalanche

"The OPA is working on the principle that the best way to put out the fire of inflation is to smother it under and avalanche of goods," Earl Kerr, Lubbock district director of the OPA, said in a letter to The News yesterday.

Kerr said the OPA's entire reconversion program is designed to keep up our guard against rising prices and at the same time, to clear the way for mass production and mass sale of civilian goods as rapidly as possible.

Necessary adjustments will be made rapidly without exposing either the public or business to the inflation and crash that followed world war I.

The OPA formula provides for necessary price adjustments based on legal increases in basic wage rate schedules of factory employes and on legal increases in the prices of materials and parts, covering 90 percent of industrial costs.

For firms with less than $200,000 annual volume, the district office has a short adjustment application form which enables them to calcu-

Bomber Strikes Empire State Building, 13 Die

NEW YORK, July 28 — (AP)—An army bomber, flying low through heavy fog, punctured the 102-story Empire State building today and killed at least 13 persons in one of New York's most bizarre disasters.

Police said the death toll might exceed 15. Rescue workers continued tonight to search the burned and twisted wreckage of the fourth floor, through which the B-25 "Billy Mitchell" bomber plummeted at 9.49 a. m. (EWT).

Smokes and flames enveloped upper floors of the 1,248-foot tower —world's tallest building—and three explosions jarred midtown Manhattan, strewing broken glass and debris five blocks around.

Three of the dead were aboard the bomber, which had left Bedford, Mass. The crew had talked with La Guardia field here by radio, and was on its way to land at Newark, N. J.

Army officials identified the crew members as Lt. Col. William F. Smith, 27, of Watertown, Mass., and S/Sgt. Christopher S. Domitrovich 31, of Granite City, Ill.

The name of the third occupant, said to be a navy enlisted man, was not immediately announced.

The first civilian victim identified was Paul Bearings, 35. A former Buffalo, N. Y., newspaperman.

Committee Will Name Secretary

DALLAS, July 28—(AP)—The southwest conference faculty committee met today to name an executive secretary with broadened powers virtually equal to those of a commissioner with indications that James H. Stewart, athletic director of Southern Methodist university, would be the man with the job.

Reportedly the position will call for an appropriation of around $12,500 a year, this to take care of the office expense as well as the secretary's salary.

Stewart has been serving as executive secretary since the death last May of James W. St. Clair. He has not said whether he would take the job but it was believed that if the amount mentioned is appropriated for it he will be able to realize a salary large enough to entice him away from S. M. U.

The faculty committee as well as athletic directors of the conference schools held sessions last night. Dr. H. E. Bray of Rice Institute, conference president, indicated the committee had already made up its mind on whom to offer the job. Last night's meeting was to outline the scope of his work. Every school was represented except Texas Christian university.

The athletic directors were meeting in an advisory capacity.

It was indicated that the expanded position would remain answerable to and under direct control of the faculty committee but that the executive secretary not only would appoint all officials for athletic contests and maintain a statistical bureau but would clear protests and eligibility questions with the conference fathers.

Men Lauded for Horse Show Work

C. P. Pursley, president of the chamber of commerce, and official helping make plans for the Top O' Texas rodeo and horse show to be held here in August, yesterday commended members of the steering committee for their individual contribution in clearing the grounds for stalls at the Recreation park, scene of the show.

"Seventy stalls will be needed for the horse show," he said.

He commended the men for shoveling out stalls after they had found they could not employ labor for that purpose.

"Doc" Pursley said: "I take my hat off to Paul Carmichael, Rex Barrett, Siler Hopkins, Orville Chistopher, O. W. Hampton, Irving Cole, and H. C. Coffee for their fine spirit" in doing the needed spadework, even in the hottest weather this season.

He said the spirit the men showed in doing the work was typical of the spirit being shown by all persons in making the preparations for the show.

Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn Starring in MGM's 'Without Love'

Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn are at it again in MGM's mirthful "Without Love," showing today through Wednesday at the LaNora.

It's typical Tracy-Hepburn comedy about two people who don't believe in love but are absolutely crazy about each other and both leads are excellent in their roles.

A fine supporting east includes Keenan Wynn, rapidly becoming one of the top flight comedians of the screen. Wynn is falling in the foosteps of his illustrous father, Ed Wynn.

Lucille Ball is also in it and is very convincing in her role as an inveterater matchmaker. Carol Esmond also comes in for quite a bit of the love interest.

How these two finally decide they are really in love is told in a tantalizing, mirthful way under the direction of Harold S. Buquet.

You'll see stars of radio, stage, screen, rodeo and recording in Columbia's "Rockin' in the Rockies" showing today, Monday and Tuesday at the Rex.

Featured in the highly entertaining cast are lovely Mary Beth Hughes, The Three Stooges, The Hoosier Hotshots, Jay Kirby, Gladys Blake, Tim Ryan and Spade Cooley, king of Western swing.

The nine song hits in the picture include 'One o'clock Jump', "Wabash Blues" and "Wah-Hoo."

Another one of Universal's' mighty Technicolor productions, "Gypsy Wildcat" is showing at the Crown today and tomorrow.

This stars Marie Montez, Jon Hall, Peter Coe, Nigel Bruce and Leo Carillo. Jon Hall is full of pep and action as he goes through a series of dangerous escapades to win Miss Montez. Peter Coe, who is rapidly rising to fame, loses the girl but puts up a good fight.

You'll enjoy this kind of picture, not only for its action, but for its nice songs also.

No Dissolution Of Texas Regulars

HOUSTON, July 28—(AP)—Judge E. E. Townes, chairman of the Texas regulars, has denied a report that the anti-Roosevelt group will dissolve.

Some leaders of the organization did hold a meeting in Austin, Townes said, but nothing was done toward dissolving the organization.

He refused to comment on the purpose of the meeting at Austin, saying it was "private."

At Dallas, the Times Herold said that dissolution of the Texas regulars as a political party appeared in prospect following a "caucus" of that group in Austin.

W. H. Kittrell Jr., secretary of the state democratic executive committee, told a Dallas News reporter that members of the Texas regulars could best serve "by taking their place in the rear ranks of the democratic party."

Panhandle Soldier Given Silver Star

Clyfe Herndon

Award of the Silver Star to Pfc. Clyde W. Herndon, son of Mrs. Fay Herndon, Panhandle, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Roberts of Pampa, has been announced by Maj. Gen. R. E. Porter, 75th infantry division commander.

The award was made for gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy in Germany on April 7, 1945.

The citation accompanying the award reads; "The lead platoon of the 251st infantry was heading southeast through the woods north of Kottenburg when it encountered heavy artillery and small arms fire.

"Building up his position on the firing line, Pvt. Herndon sent heavy machine gun fire toward visible points. He was hit, sustaining head injuries from enemy fire.

"In spite of the pain from his wounds, Pvt. Herndon continued firing his machine gun until he was relieved by his squad leader. This demonstration of courage and extreme fortitude exemplifies the finest traditions of military service."

Pvt. Herndon entered the service August 7, 1944 and was trained at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas. He went overseas about February 1, 1945. He is a graduate of Panhandle high school.

New Drug Being Given To Newman

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

FORT WORTH, July 28—(AP)—Dr. F. E. Harrison, Fort Worth physician, said early today that he is treating Corp. James Newman with a new drug which he declared "easily promises to be the greatest contribution in the fight against tuberculosis."

Harrison stated that the preparation, guaimercol, was still being tried in three American clinics and had not been reported in medical journals.

"But," he said, "in 106 cases of advanced pulmonary tuberculosis, administration of guaimercol effected cures in 50 percent of the cases and definitely improved the others.

"It looks like the beginnig of the end for tuberculosis. In my judgment, guaimercol bids fair to place itself by the side of the sulfa drugs —or even better."

The drug, a compound containing mercury and guaicol, is given intravenously.

"It kills the taubercle bacillus and heals the lung tissue," Harrison stated.

Newman, battling for his life against tuberculosis of the throat, lungs and stomach, brought on by three years spent in a Japanese prison camp, is getting three injections of guaimercol a week.

"He is somewhat improved," the physician said, "but I give most of the credit to the oxygen tent. I am not prepared to say what, if any, effect guaimercol has had on him. Right now I am just trying to keep him alive. He has a fighting chance —a slim fighting chance."

Harrison declined to state where he had gotten the new preparation, saying: "I obtatined it through certain channels for the Newman case. It is the first of it I had seen but I am certainly looking forward to the day I will oe able to use it on other patients."

He said the drug is "made by a large concern and is being tried out mostly in the east."

Mrs. O. F. Newman reported that her son remained in good spirits and had received more than 8,500 messages of encouragement.

"I know he will get well," she said. "We are trusting the Lord to bring him through."

Strikers Total At Low Margin

(By The Associated Press)

Settlement of seven labor disputes involving some 58,000 workers reduced the number of idle throughout the nation today to 34,000, the lowest in more than a month.

Two of the settlements brought an end to the strike of 30,000 Wright Aeronautical workers at five plants in the Paterson, N. J., area, and some 20,000 CIO-United Automobile workers at the Dodge-Chicago B-29 engine plant of the Chrysler corportion. Neither of the two strikes was union authorized.

Four thousand of the Wright workers, at a general union membership meeting yesterday, yielded to union leaders' pleas to end their strike and voted to return to work the same afternoon. The work stoppage, which began last Tuesday, tied up production of B-29 engines and parts in five Wright plants at Ridgewood, Paterson and East Paterson, N. J. The strike started over dismissal of a union steward.

In Chicago, the CIO-UAW executive board issued a directive ordering return of the Dodge B-29 workers after the war labor board issued a similar directive urging return. The three-day Dodge strike was attributed by union officials to 'accumulated grievances."

Military Colleges To Open Overseas

By HENRY B. JAMESON
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

ESCHIVENHAM, England—(AP)—The youngest "university" in the world —where GIs are given simulated officer status and called "mister"—has been set up by the U. S. army in this picturesque little Wiltshire village of 700 population.

It is a full-fledged American university for service men and women ambitious to prepare themselves for postwar professions and industries. As many as 4,000 at a time can go to college free of charge while awaiting their return home from Europe.

Shrivenham university will be opened officially next Wednesday. A similar school will be opened at Biarritz, world famous French seaside resort city, about the middle of August.

The schools are part of the army's vast and unprecedented educational program designed to enable those whose education was interrupted to "get back in the groove" before they again become civilians. Summer course schedules already are in operation at the famous Sorbonne university and other specialist schools in Paris.

Courses to be taught will compare with those of average undergraduate colleges in the United States, said Brig. Gen. Paul W. Thompson, Alliance, Neb., chief of the army's education division.

To gain admission students must have completed high school and convinced their commanding officers they are worthy of time off from army duty to continue their studies. Gen. Thompson said his office was flooded with many more applications than the schools could handle.

Each eight weeks course will be equivalent to a normal summer course in American colleges. Thompson said "graduates" would be given full credit for their work, if and when they resume or start work in regular colleges.

While they have a choice of some 300 courses, covering every category of education except medicine, dentistry and law, students will be restricted to three hours of academic work daily. This ruling was made to afford them plenty of time for organized sports an drecreation.

Cannibalism Evident Among Isolated Japs

By JAMES HUTCHESON

WITH 38TH DIVISION, Luzon, July 25 (Delayed)—(AP)—Strong evidence of cannibalism among isolated Japanese stragglers, although possibly on a small scale, was reported today by members of an American patrol returned from the heart of the Sierra Madre mountains.

Officers told of finding one Japanese soldier's body mutilated after leaving it unwatched for an hour They said one of two prisoners taken on their grueling six-day mountain trek pleaded he surrendered to escape the same fate awaiting him as a non-combatant.

The revolting evidence was reported by Capt. Charles Yust of Batson, Texas, who commanded the mountain expedition of two hundred 38th division troops and 300 Filipino carriers.

"I was leading an advance patrol of 30 men moving along a river when we spotted five Japs," said Yust. "We killed four. The fifth escaped into the jungle but lost his pack and food. When we returned to the four bodies about an hour later we found that the skin had been peeled from the thigh of one of the dead Japs—a large piece peeled downward from the thigh."

Sgt. George Cassell of Lufkin, Texas, remarked he had "heard such rumors but never believed it until we saw it."

Col. William E. Lobit of 1620 Avenue G, Galveston, Texas, regimental commander, said, "there is no organization among scattered Jap groups, even for self-preservation. They don't even share what food they have, but hide it from their comrades."

Yust reported 62 Japanese killed on the mission and said many appeared to be still in good health, although usually undernourished. Five in one group had American K rations, which he believed probably were retried from a misplaced parachute drop.

Yust disclosed that one prisoner entered camp hands aloft, dropping to his knees and bowing. He said the man cried in gratitude after being given food and first aid, telling an interpreter he never was treated so well by his own army.

Actually, the Japanese encountered an American group far from well fed on the particular mission because planes were unable to penetrate clouds to drop supplies. The patrol carried rations for only three days and on the fifth and sixth days many men ha donly half o fone meal of canned ration for a full day. Rain and river-wading added to their discomfort.

Travel was so rugged that eight of 18 pack horses had to be turned back and many Filipino carriers dropped their burdens. The supply problem forced the expedition to turn back far short of its enemy objective across the mountains.

—BONDS KILL JAPS—

Eichelberger's Men Long Time Partners

MANILA—(AP)—The staff of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth army has plenty of experience working together and it's a good bet that if and when American battle their way into Tokyo these veteran planners will be calling some of the shots.

Most of them have been with Eichelberger through 51 amphibious operations in the march from Australia through New Guinea and the Philippines. They were his key men when he commanded the first corps of the Sixth army before the Eighth army was activated with him at its head.

All but four of the 24 key officers and a large majority of other officers and men of the Eighth army staff were originally on the staff of Lt. Gen. Ben Lear when he trained the Second army.

Eichelberger lifted the Second army staff almost intact and has kept the group together during all the operations against the Japanese. They look to him as tops in experience and ability.

The 59-year-old general, a tall, husky jungle veteran, first came in contact with the Japanese during and just after the first world war. He was operations and later intelligence officer of the American expeditionary force in Siberia. He later served briefly as military attache at the U. S. embassy in Tokyo.

He then became intelligence officer for the army's Philippine department and spent most of his time traveling through the far east studying military and political conditions. For three years he handled Siberian-Chinese-Philippine affairs in the intelligence section of the war department.

The key men who add years of staff experience to the Eighth army include: Col. George A. A. Jones of Marfa, Texas, intelligence; Col. Henry C. Burgess of San Antonio, Texas, supply.

'Oilwell' Plans To Get Pump Concern

DALLAS, Texas, July 28—Oil Well Supply company, United States Steel corporation subsidiary, Thursday announced its intention of exercising an option for purchase of the assets of the Neilsen Pump company of California. Under California law, notice of such intention must be recorded seven days prior to purchase date.

The main plant facilities of the Neilsen Pump company are located at Long Beach, Calif., with a large shop and warehouse at Taft, stores and sales offices at Bakersfield, Huntington Beach and Ventura.

The company, long established factor in California oil production circles, is owned by Karl P. Neilsen and Edward D. Storts, partners. The Neilsen Pump company was founded in 1926. In 1941 it purchased the Alford Pump company.

Under the projected purchase plan, the company's assets will be organized into what will be known as the Neilsen Pump division of Oil Well Supply company. It manufactures a line of sub-surface pumps and accessories.

"No significant changes in personnel or establishment are contemplated," Albert R. Zelt, vice president, Oil Well Supply company, said. He said Karl P. Neilsen will remain with the organization as general manager of the Neilsen Pump division.

Neilsen Pump division will continue to emphasize complete field service and high quality products. Heretofore Neilsen pumps have been sold only in California. Company officials said that as soon as adequate service facilities can be established and field personnel trained, distribution of Neilsen products will be inaugurated in other divisions of Oil Well Supply company, both domestic and foreign.

Oil Well Supply company is the oldest manufacturer of oil field materials in the world, having been established in Pennsylvania in 1862. It was one of the pioneers in the oil field materials industry in California, having set up facilities for distribution in 1896 at Los Angeles. It became a part of United States Steel in 1930. Fred F. Murray of Dallas is president of the company. National headquarters of "Oilwell" were moved to Dallas in 1732.

Congressman Worley Speaks at Shamrock

SHAMROCK, July 28—Congressman Gene Worley made impromptu talks at luncheon meetings of the Rotary club and Shamrock Boosters club this week.

The congressman, recently returned from a tour of the war-torn countries of Europe, touched on the highlights of his inspection and stated frankly that he did not know how the occupation of deefated Germany was progressing.

"I am afraid that we are so intent on wining the war that we did not give enough thought to plans of post-war procedure," Worley said.

Congressman Worley told of his visits to theo nce beautiful cities of Europe that now lie in waste. He also told of his visits to political prison camps in German-occupied countries and declared that regardless of what he had read in newspapers, heard over the radio and seen in news reels, we still could not see the picture as bad as it was.

Worley arrived in Shamrock early last Thursday morning. He will visit in this district during the weeks congress is in recess. Later in the summer he will speak in Shamrock, telling of his visit to Europe during the last days of the war.

Navy Plans New Austin Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 28 —(AP)— Plans for the new $5,000,000 naval hospital at Austin, Texas, have been approved by navy construction officials.

The announcement was made last night by Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, (D-Texas) who said work on the project should begin late this fall. Johnson joined three representatives of the associated architects of Austin in conferences at the navy department.

"An agreement was reached on the type of construction and the go-ahead signal was given," Johnson commented. "Work will start as soon as materials can be obtained and some details in architectural designing completed.

The hospital will be constructed so that it can be used by the veterans' administration in future years after its need by the navy has passed.

Pampan Sees Home Even Though He's 15,000 Miles Away

It wasn't a marvel of modern American engineering but this Pampan saw home even though he was 15,000 miles away.

He is Sgt. Kenneth Wayne Kennison, son of Mrs. J. D. Kennison, 411 N. West. Kennison told his mother in a letter how he saw pictures of Pampa and the Panhandle in a GI newsreel shown at his South Pacific base.

The letter reads, in part:

"Boy, did I get the surprise of my life last night. I went to the picture show and in the GI newsreel they had a part called "A Report from Texas" showing how the state was doing her part to help win the war and showing pictures of some of the towns and cities over the state.

"Well, here is the surprise. One of the first towns that was shown was Amarillo and directly after that was Cuyler street of Pampa, the carbon black plants in Pampa and some wheat fields that I know were in the Panhandle.

"Believe me, it really felt good to see the old home town even if it was for just a few seconds."

Cockneys Regret Churchill Defeat

By GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, July 28—(AP)—The general reaction of London's man-in-the-pub to the election returns yesterday was approval of the labor victory, but regret at the blow to Prime Minister Churchill.

"Well, old Winnie is out and that's a shame that is," summed up the expressions of many. "But we'll get along all right."

A tall man in a black derby said Churchill, whose oratory and two-fingered "V" sign were a whiplash and symbol of the British war effort, "should have just put on his hat and walked out on V-E day."

"He'd done his job well and could have gotten out gracefully," the tall man commented.

A pale barmaid came up to draw another pint of bitter for a fat man on theo ther side of the room who was loudly celebrating the labor party victory.

"We showed the blasted tories," he said.

"Yes, you showed them," retorted the barmaid. "After poor Mr. Churchill took us all through the war, you showed him, too."

Another worker added: "Poor old Winnie. I bet he could stand a double Scotch right now."

FIGHTING FOOL

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—A 221,000-mile frontline tour — the war's longest for any major naval unit—put the light cruiser Santa Fe through 42 air strikes, 12 shore bombardments and four surface actions.

And during those 25 months, the Santa Fe sank seven Japanese ships and downed as many enemy planes.

Telling the story today of her record tour of active duty without a major overhaul, the navy said the Santa Fe did not lose a man or suffer any serious battle damage.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—The stock market concluded another bad short week on a selectively firmer note in Friday's final session.

The list slipped on dwindling volume Monday despite the buoying of investment sentiment by the quick sale of American telephone's $175,000,000 of 2¾ per cent debentures at par, one of the largest deals in financial history.

Buyin cropped up Tuesday and Wednesday iwth the idea that a technical revival was a likelihood but most leaders failed to get anywhere in particular.

The market suffered one of its worst nose-dives of the year Thursday. The sweeping victory of the British labor party touched off a wave of bearishness that caused the unloading of accounts in virtually all departments.

The selective come-back Friday was credited to the lessening of worries over British politics and to more consideration being given business prospects at home.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off one full point on the week at 63.8, where it was around the lows of mid-april.

THIS NEWS: "IT'S ABOUT OVER"—

The reaction of the most of us to the news of the past few days is "Well, the war is just about over." "I don't suppose John will even have to go across."

Unfortunately, that probably will not be the case, and the news spread to that effect is going to make more mothers and sweethearts and wives much sadder than they would be if the news was not spread to that effect.

Slowly, that sentiment is sweeping every neighborhood. Mrs. Jones' boy got it up town this morning that the thing is just about over. Mrs. Jones told Mrs. Gardner, and there it goes—on down the street—and into the quiet confines of a parlor where a mother sits waiting for her son.

Such news is deplorable, because when it is proven to be false, the "let-down" is much worse than the constant knowledge that the war is far from won.

We all hope the Japanese will quit, and many people think they will. At least, we know that they just as well. But—

That is not what the Japs forthwith have told us since the ultimatum was delivered to them by every possible means this week.

We here at home will have to do as the government does. The government acts at all times as if the war had just started. Its men are trained to think that way, the factories are geared to operate that way—even though there might be signs that the enemy was just about ready to fold up. So, that is the way we here at home will have to do—act as if the war had just begun. The enemy finds consolation in any other attitude toward the war of survival in which he finds himself.

We here at home must become hardened to the sound of good news, just as the people of the British Isles inoculated themselves against such news as would cause them to relax in their herculean task of resistance. Perhaps the Japanese are chuckling right now over something a doting relative on this street is saying about how soon the war will be over.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

What Is Progress?

We hear a lot nowadays about this or that man being progressive.

In order to determine whether or not a man is progressive, we would have to first define what progress is from a social and political standpoint.

It would seem that any act is progressive if it tends to enable each and every man to get all that he produces, and have the right to freely exchange it for anything with anybody he desires, without any interference from any individual or any government. In other words, progress is a condition where each man is owner of himself and all that he produces. He is free to keep it or give it away. Progress consists of the right to be let alone.

All history gives evidence that to the degree a government approaches bringing this condition about, to that degree are the people prosperous; to that degree do they satisfy a human want with less human effort and less sacrifice.

So we could conclude that any law which interferes with any man freely exchanging goods and services is the opposite from progress. It is regressive.

But the usual interpretation of progress during the present century and especially during the last decade has been more government interference with man's freedom. To use the word progressive with that meaning is to misuse the English language. It is to say exactly the opposite from what the word really means.

There are in fact very few progressive people. Most of them want the government one way or another to give them some power over the lives of other people.

Yes, we want progress but we want it in the direction of setting man free from men and from government's of men. As Ann Rand asks in her great novel, "The Fountainhead," "What is civilization but the process of setting man free from men?" That is Progress.

The Stubbornness of Socialists

When one analyzes most defenders of an enlarged state, it is usually found that they are very stubborn people. Besides, they are very conceited.

They are so stubborn that they will not even read anything that an individualist suggests that they read.

And why should they, because they use themselves, instead of axioms and the Rule of Law, as a norm of rightness. They regard themselves as the standard by which to measure whether a thing is right or wrong. They think there is no need for them to read; they are infallible. They are so sure they are right, that they even are willing to use force to compel other people to do good.

Frederic Bastiat aptly described these collectivists, these socialists, who will not read anything but socialistic literature when he paraphrased the writings of the socialists; "We (Socialists) pretend to believe in God, but in reality we believe in ourselves; seeing that we have no faith in the maxim, laissez faire, and that we all give forth our social nostrums as infinitely superior to the plans of Providence!" So why should these Socialists, who are so stubborn that they put their will above God's will, read anything? They do not desire to learn to know the truth, they only desire to learn how to get power through the state to control the lives of other people.

Yes, these people are socialists and collectivists because they want power without responsibility. They are so sure they are right that they are willing to use force to establish their will in preference to God's will. If they were in harmony with God's will, they would not want to use force to make other people do good.

Switzerland has achieved a high degree of industrialization without creating large factory centers.

REWARDING AGGRESSION
(The Chicago Tribune)

The senate's foreign affairs committee has voted unanimously to recommend ratification of the San Francisco charter. The committee gave five days to the hearing of testimony for and against the treaty, but it has been apparent from the start that the members' minds were made up.

It is only fair to the senators to say that most of them are well aware that the treaty is a fraud in the sense that it isn't going to accomplish the avowed purpose of preventing wars, and big ones in particular. Obviously it isn't going to do that because the method relied upon is joint action against the aggressor and each of the great powers is given a veto against joint action directed against it and its satellites. This amounts to legalizing aggression. The senators defend the treaty with the baby blue argument that if the arrangement can't do any good, neither can it do any particular harm.

The most useful testimony the committee received came from Mr. John T. Flynn because he addressed himself precisely to this proposition. He called attention to the fact that if we accept the treaty, we shall take to our bosom not only the imperialisms of western Europe but also the ruthless totalitarianism of soviet Russia. Our political alliance will be accompanied by the economic alliance outlined in the Bretton Woods proposals and supplemented by huge loans.

Mr. Flynn reminded the senators that we shall not be comfortable in this association. The false promise that the treaty will prevent wars masks the real purpose to bleed us of our wealth for the benefit of Europe and Russia in particular. The cardinal dogma of our Russian allies is the inevitability of conflict between their economic and social system and ours. They believe that both systems cannot survive and for their part they mean to bring the whole world to communism.

Any one familiar with communist attitudes and scriptures is familiar with the avowed purpose of destroying political and economic liberty as we know it, wherever it exists and by whatever means are available. Mr. Flynn wanted to know if the senators, after ratifying the San Francisco charter, intended to pour money into Europe and into Russia in particular, with the result that we would face financial ruin while Russia would be immensely strengthened economically for the conflict she regards as inevitable.

Mr. Flynn was a leading spirit in the old America First movement. Friday was a proud day for him. He could say to the senators with complete candor that he did not believe a war with Russia necessary or desirable. The same reasons which led him to oppose the drift into the war that began in 1939 inevitably lead him to oppose a future war against Russia.

The inconsistency is all on the side of the one-worlders. They who howled for war against an aggressive, totalitarian Germany are today in bed with aggressive, totalitarian Russia. When Hitler, having taken Austria and Czechoslovakia, marched against Poland, America was told that our country's safety required that we side with the victims. Today Stalin has Austria and Czechoslovakia and Poland, not to mention Latvia, Lithuania, Esthonia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, and half of Germany; yet the same people who demanded war by America on Germany are insisting that Russia's military potential be strengthened with loans and gifts intended to build up her munitions industries.

Mr. Flynn's testimony obviously had no effect on the committee's decision to approve the San Francisco treaty. We may hope that his words will not be forgotten when the lending program is under consideration.

Keep garden hose away from oil or gasoline which rots ruybber.

The National Whirligig

HIROHITO—A sharp division within the Truman adminstration over the treatment to be accorded a defeated Japan accounts for the current failure to furnish a more specific definition of the Roosevelt-Churchill demand of "unconditional surrender." It is believed in some circles here that a formal offer a capitulation by Tokyo awaits only particularization of the formula framed at Casablance.

The existence of a similar state of confusion in London and Moscow also makes it difficult for the Allies to issue a more clearcut ultimatum to our tottering foe in the Pacific. Britain's belated reinforcement of ourforces now attacking Honshu and Hokkaido served notice that Churchill wants to sit in when President Truman plays showdown poker with Hirohito or his successors. Stalin also wants a hand in the game.

There is no debate on the question of crippling Tokyo militarily or of stripping her of stolen territory. The Nips must abandon Korea, Manchuria, North China and the Anglo-Dutch - French possessions they seized in the months after their Pearl Harbor victory; they must also surrender the islands absorbed under pretext of administering a League of Nations mandate.

They must turn over the remnants of their fleet, air squadrons and merchant marine, and, as with Germany, industries that would enable Japan to rearm will be destroyed or supervised.

The stumbling block lies in the disposition of the Emperor and elimination of the system of imperial divinity. The more hard-boiled school maintains that Japanese aggression was pursued by the whole nation, and not solely by a militaristic caste. They place full responsibility on the reigning family, the nobility, the bureaucracy, the business men, the industrialists, the peasants.

They insist upon a complete revolution in Japan's social, economic and political system. Advocates of this policy include army-navy-air men, Secretaries Will L. Clayton and Dean Acheson and an influential congressional delegation.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who was known as the "Great Compromiser" when he served on Capitol Hill, is still studying the problem. President Truman expected to reach a decision on his trip to Potsdam and after conferences with the other members of the Big Three.

EMPEROR—The other American group, which consists of a small but powerful faction of state department chiefs, believes that we should discriminate between certain cliques and invidiuals. It holds that Hirohito never wanted war, and that he was the prisoner of the war lords.

In his book, "Ten Years in Tokyo," Under Secretary Joseph C. Grew frequently mentions high Japanese officials with western ideas and sympathies. He regards them as a race apart with whom the United Nations can make terms and recognize as rulers of a peace-loving Japan. Other diplomats who live in the Far East during the twenties and thirties are swayed by memories of kindly and hospitable natives.

The British, with a few exceptions, favor retention of the imperial household. They fear that abolition of the creed of emperor-worship would cause chaos in the Orient, where England has such vast interests. Moreover, the toppling of thrones which world war II has produced does not set well with lovers of a constitutional monarchy.

Although Russia has not yet entered the Far Eastern struggle, Stalin also wants a voice in the argument. Japan's future establishment and aims will be of utmost concern to Moscow, especially if the Soviet Union presses her demand for control of Korea and Manchuria, and possibly the area of North China dominated by the communists.

Incidentally, Washington has given Tokyo grave warning that if she quits now, only the United States will enforce whatever peace is negotiated. This notice may have escaped general attention, but it can be found in the recent radio broadcast to Tokyo by Navy Captain E. M. Zacharias, who speaks the Japanese language.

CROOKS—Black market specialists and war profiteers who haven't done right by Uncle Sam may save themselves some grief—and also lower the tax touch on millions of honest citizens—by reading the latest thriller by Alan Hynd. It is entitled "The Giant Killers," a description which a federal judge applied to Elmer L. Irey's areasury agents, and it explains how their use of the income tax law as a prosecuting weapon makes it viruatly impossible to withhold payment of this levy.

The fascinating book reveals official secrets never before known to the public. It tells how the treasury sleuths convicted such contrasting crooks as Al Capone, Tom Pendergast, the Huey Long gang, "Waxey" Gordon, Bruno Hauptmann, brothel keepers, gold brick artists etc. No matter what methods the cheats adopted, they were caught. And the writer warns that the same statutes can and will be employed against world war II and postwar tax evaders.

The volume divulges many human interest and political tidbits: Herbert Hoover ordered Mr. Ivey to "get Capone" because the gangster's next-door estate at Miami was more luxurious than the President's. Huey Long was to have been indicted for criminal withholding of a tax on more than a million dollars. He was assassinated a month before the grand jury was to act.

Although Tom Pendergast helped to nominate F. D. R. at Chicago in 1932, the late President approved the investigation that sent the Kansas City boss to jail. Colonel Lindbergh proved to be a "difficult person" to handle in the kidnapping base, and at first refused to let Mr. Ivey's men take the numbers of the ransom bills, which was the trick that caught Hauptmann.

UPTON CLOSE:

Stalin Is Only 'Demigod' Left On 'Stage' Now

The demigods pass. Some of the demigods have been thoroughly vicious, at least so we believe, and our success against them this far proves our opinion. Other demigods have been our heroes called good by the majority of us ,tremendiously doubted by many of us, hated by not a few of us.

The least hated of the demigods has been Winston Churchill, but he, too, has his twilight, and will have his night. The most controversial was Franklin D. Roosevelt, who attained a premature apotheosis the day he died, but already, three and one-half months later, his successor, regarded by his own most ardent followers as a mediocrity, has been shown by the Gallup poll to surpass him in popularity. However, it is not important any longer to wrangle over or discuss the virtues or the lack of virtues, the true popularity or the false build up, of the demigods.

What is important is to recognize that the epoch of the demigods has passed, and we are entering a period of quite different expression of mass power. During the epoch just closing, mass power was expressed through single individuals who captured the imaginations of their millions, and hence became demigods. They played for stakes which were the destines of their respective nations, and the wealth and lives of those millions. They played "blind", although pretending to see. Mussolini promised a reconstruction of the Roman empire. Hitler promised a thousand years of German supremacy. Roosevelt promised a reduction of federal expenditures, an increase of liberty, catalogued as "four freedoms". Avoidance of foreign war, and better food, clothing and housing. Churchill, the most earthly of the promisers, pledged blood, sweat and tears, which the British people delivered, and preservation intact of the British empire, which is challenged beyond hope of delivery by active rivals and the tide of the times in the twentieth century world.

Churchill and Roosevelt, together, promised a world of equal treatment for little nations and under races and equal access to the world's resources to all, including the vanquished in these wars. These promises are quite discarded for the world security charters, vague compromises and ratifications of the selfish advantages of the powerful. The world was still in the hands of the demigods at Yalta, but there they made a mess of it apparently, bringing to a climax the confusion they had already got into at Cairo and Teheran. Yet is looked as if a still greater apex of power and importance has been reached by the demigods at Potsdam—although really only two of them remained. Now, one of those who is reduced to the status of a mere negotiator by the political action of his own people, expressed at their own free polls. Church is no longer a demigod, nor will he ever be again, whether or not he still gives years of pubcial life.

lic service or disappears from offi-

There are little demigods—quarter gods, perhaps we should call them—such as Chiang Kai-shek and De Gaulle and the lad who bossed Argentina but only one of the big demigods is left. He is Joseph Stalin. To his devotees the Marxists here as well as in his gigantic realm, Joseph Stalin is more than demigod—he is god, but he too will pass—not through political action of a free balloting people as did Churchill, but through the natural laws that set to every man, be he peasant or priceling, a limited span of strength and life.

The demigods began with Lenin, and Stalin is his successor. Hitler and Mussolini were imitators, and Roosevelt and Churchill were the expression in free countries of authoritarian reaction—literally reaction—to what started in Russia. Now as the world goes a little back toward normal, a lonely demigod remains in the land of demigods. In the freer parts of the world, men who cannot claim to be more than just politicians negotiate as best they can with one another on behalf of the rest of us.

There's an old Oriental proverb much quoted in Japan that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

That sums up the precarious position of the Mikado's wretched government. It is striving frantically to find a way—short of unconditional surrender—to disengage itself from the war which it precipitated, and there are many signs that nerves are badly frayed.

We can say without fear of exaggeration that Japan already is suffering from shell-shock. Taking advantage of this, the Allies are pouring both material and psychological warfare into the enemy.

The Potsdam ultimatum, demanding unconditional surrender with the alternative of "prompt and utter destruction," has been followed by an unprecedented warning that certain specified cities are to be destroyed by incendiary bombs. In short, we are calling our shots.

Now the strength of this phychological warfare lies in the fact that we can and will implement it—and the Japs know it. They know there's exact truth in Lt. Gen. James Doolittle's forecast that American bombers will level Japanese cities and transform the country into a nation of nomads.

To be sure, the Japanese news agency, Domei, says Nippon will choose "utter destruction' 'to unconditional surrender. But that lacks the seal of supreme authority and is surrounded by tacit admissions that Japan is beset by superior forces. The Tokyo government still pursues its treasure hunt, looking for some opening that will soften that "unconditional surrender."

So we needn't take Tokyo's present mild defiance of the Potsdam ultimatum as final. There certainly is a possibility that we shall hear far more conciliatory words before many more of Nippon's cities have been blown into dust.

EDITORS: Hollywood notables have volunteered to serve as "guest columnists" while Erskine Johnson is on vacation. The column below was written by star Humphrey Bogart.

HOLLOWOOD. — Listen, Charlie, let's get something straight—I DON'T call her "Baby." Any more than I call her "Junior," or "Charlie," or "Creep," or "Hey, you!"

I don't even call her "The Look." But sometimes, though, I'll say to her, "Give 'em the from-down-under look, Baby." Like the time Jack Benny came onto the set when we were shooting "The Big Sleep" and wanted to meet her. She bobbed her head, and let him have it. "Now make him the Monkey Face." (Oh, we Bogarts are charmin' people!) So my bride gave Jack an imitation of her best simian. Benny? Oh, we never saw him after that!

She takes to water like a duck, if I may wearily lean upon a tired metaphor. I think she'll make a pretty good sailor, because she likes boats and boating. Particularly ours, down at Newport, where we spend all the free time we can.

WHAT! SADDER THAN BOYER?

She kids me about what she calls my "cocker-spaniel" eyes, which she says are even sad when I'm happy. I dunno. Can they be any sadder than her pal's from "Confidential Agent," Charlie Boyer?

That reminds me—I think I'll bash in the head of the next person who asks me how it feels to have Boyer making love to my wife before the cameras, or how, Bob Taylor felt when I wooed Barbara Stanwyck in "The Two Mrs. Carrolls." An actor has his job to do and that's that.

I'm sure Betty's the same way. We both admit she's not the world's greatest actress. But she's got the application — and those years of kicking around on Broadway, flop-shows and all that—have sharuened her up.

That's why she came over the way she did in "To Have and Have Not." That's why she's taken all this commotion about her, the interview and the magazine covers, and our marriage and everything, without letting it throw her, like it would a lot of new kids out here.

SOFT LIFE!

I guess the onuly time I've really seen her in a stew was the other night in our new house we've just moved into. Things were just beginning to settle down for us. But at 1 a. m. our servant awoke us frantically with the news that our living room and bar was flooded! A pipe had burst; the furniture and rugs were awash, afloat in two feet of water. We baled and swept till daylight. When it was all over, we had a good laugh out of it—and then got into our cars and drove out to Warner Bros. for that 7 a. m. "call"! Soft life for us actors, eh Junior?

She doesn't like night clubs very much. We occasionally "do" Mocambo and when we do the autograph kids sworm around her and I've noticed—it takes her a little longer than me to sign their books. That's because she gives it the full treatment: "Lauren Becall Bogart." But I guess I can't squawk about THAT. It's pretty nice, as a matter of fact.

Well that musical jam session in Potsdam certainly started something in the world of politics. If President Truman can play Beethoven, you can bet those smart Republicans are already looking for a White House prospect with wider musical appeal to the masses. If you catch Governor Dewey hanging around wth Harry James, or Senator Vandenberg being palsy with Benny Goodman they're a cinch to be candidates for the 1948 convention.

Sgt. Eugene List did a wonderful job playing the piano at Potsdam, but I can't help thinking how the course of history might to if the President had my husband George there to sing.

Important people are always impressed with George's talent. For instance, I know Nelson Eddy would like to have George's voice. At a party once I heard him say he'd certainly love to get his hands on George's throat.

European Countries To Use German Labor

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 28. —(AP)—A reliable informant said today that at least five countries beside Russia would use German labor in repairing war damage. These are France, Holland, Belgium, Norway and Luxembourg.

France is reported intending to use nearly 2,000,000 Germans.

Norway plans to use about 23,000 who already are being held in camps there, the informant said, and Holland expects to use 10,000. Belgium 60,000 and Luxembourg 5,000.

The forested area of Canada is estmiated at 1,220,405 square miles.

Kiss and Tell

An Actual Movie Shooting Script

XVIII

INT. PORCH—ARCHER HOME

Corliss goes to the screen door, opens it, and listens for a moment. From the Franklin garage comes sounds of hammering.

CORLISS: (yelling) Dexter!

DEXTER'S VOICE: (o.s.) Whatcha want?

CORLISS: (grimly) I want to talk to you!

DEXTER'S VOICE: (o.s.) Shut up—I'm talking to Mildred!

EXT. ARCHER GARDEN

We are SHOOTING PAST the Franklin garage toward the porch where Corliss is swinging on the screen door.

CORLISS: (eagerly) Is Mildred there?

Mildred emerges cautiously from the Franklin garage. Corliss beckons to her.

CORLISS: Hi, Mildred. Come on over. Coast's clear for about 20 minutes.

REVERSE ANGLE

Mildred, with Dexter at her heels, comes onto the porch.

DEXTER: (bitterly)—and there, if you please, in this drug store, who do I see but Corliss and this soldier! (Mildred looks questioningly at Corliss) And if you don't believe me, ask Betty Campbell! She was in the drug store with me having a coke.

He is interrupted by a highly indignant Corliss.

CORLISS: Were you treating Betty Campbell to a coke—that frizzed-out blonde?

DEXTER: Huh? I was—gee whiz—we just happened to meet—I only—as a matter of fact, it was a root beer.

CORLISS: (icily) Dexter Franklin, kindly leave this house! (she points to the screen door, dramatically) At once!

DEXTER: Holy cow—I tell you we only—

CORLISS: There's one thing that I will not stand for—and that's fragrant infidelity!

MILDRED: (amused) The word is "flagrant," Corliss.

CORLISS: What'd I say?

DEXTER: (chortling) You said "fragrant."

CORLISS: (savagely) Well, I meant it. Your behavior stinks! (giving him a shove) Now get out!

Dexter doesn't like being shoved around and a mild scuffle ensues during which Corliss gets punched on the shoulder. The blow would not harm a fly.

CORLISS: (dramatically) Dexter—you struck me! I'm going to tell my father!

DEXTER: Don't be a dope! I only—

CORLISS: You've been warned before that you're getting much too big to slug me. I'm going to tell Daddy, and he'll forbid you to come to this house. Now —get out!

Without further ceremony, Corliss shoves him out of the door.

CLOSE SHOT—CORLISS AND MILDRED

MILDRED: Honestly, the way you treat that poor boy!

CORLISS: (airily) Oh, he always comes back for more.

And sure enough he does, for at this moment Dexter reappears at the screen door.

DEXTER: (reasonably) Look, Corliss—don't tell your old man —he might get sore.

CORLISS: (inexorably) I most certainly will. Now beat it.

With a resigned, hopeless sigh, Dexter disappears from sight. The moment Mildred is sure that he has permanently gone, she crosses to Corliss eagerly.

MILDRED: (confidentially) I came to tell you that I had a lovely letter from Lenny.

CORLISS: (eagerly) Oh, swell!

CLOSE SHOT—MILDRED AND CORLISS

Mildred produces a V-mail letter from her blouse and hands it to Corliss who reads it avidly.

MILDRED: (an excited sigh) I can't wait to see what he'll say when he knows. I sent him a cable last night, Corliss. I just had to!

CORLISS: Golly! Poor Lenny! He'll go nuts.

EXT. ARCHER GARDEN FULL SHOT

Raymond is just scrambling madly over the rear fence which separates the Archer garden from the alley. He races across the garden and arrives at the screen door of the porch panting.

RAYMOND: Hey—Mildred.

INT. PORCH REVERSE ANGLE

Both girls jump up at sight of Raymond.

RAYMOND: (urgently) C'mon —better scram while the scramming's good.

MILDRED: Why? What's the matter?

CORLISS: What's up?

RAYMOND: (to Mildred) Mother's on her way over here.

MILDRED: (alarmed) Here? What for?

RAYMOND: (breathlessly) I don't know. She was talking on the phone to Mrs. Wilcox for half an hour, and then I heard her say she was coming right over here.

MILDRED: (apprehensively) Did she—did she seem upset?

RAYMOND: No. She seemed very pleased about something. We hear the front doorbell ringing o.s.

CORLISS: Oh, golly—I bet that's her.

Raymond grabs Mildred by the arm and pulls her out of the room.

MILDRED: (as she is pulled out) Corliss—swear you won't tell!

CORLISS: I swear. I already swore in blood.

RAYMOND: (impatiently) Come on. (in resigned tone) One crisis after another!

THESE PROBLEMS OF WAR FRAUD

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—When your Uncle Sam's government gets defrauded by crooked war contractors, he has a tough time getting his money back.

Recovery of $8,780,000 in war frauds false claims suits decided in the past year has just been announced by the department of justice. That isn't much, when compared to the seven billion dollars recovered by direct renegotiation of war contracts. It's only, roughly, one dollar out of every 28 thousand dollars in the 210 billion dollar cost of the war.

But $8,780,000 isn't to be sneezed at either, and it's just a start. It represents the kick-back on only the first 89 cases, making the average case recovery a little under $100,000. Of these 89 cases, 74 were settled without U. S. attorneys having to go to court, so conclusive was the evidence of fraud.

Seventy-five additional cases are now pending in court and 200 more are under investigation, some of which will go to trial and some won't. Actions of this kind will be going through the courts for three years or more after the end of hostilities, however, so it's entirely possible that the war frauds civil section in the department of justice claims division now operating under Joseph M. Friedman will eventually get back the equivalent cost of a battleship with maybe a couple of destroyers to boot.

FALSE CLAIMS STATUTE BASIS OF ACTION

How the department of justice has had to go about recovering this money makes better reading than the stories of the frauds themselves. Basic legislation for this kind of action was the false claims statute enacted during the Civil War. In those days patriotic Yankee contractors didn't hesitate to sell the northern army bullets stuffed with sawdust, maggoty beef, weevily flour, shoddy wool and to charge all the traffic would bear. The scandals of those days beat anything dug up by the Truman and Mead committees in this war.

To correct the Civil War frauds, congress passed a complicated law which provided for court-martial of defruauders in the army, fine or imprisonment to recover damages. In addition, any private individual might bring suit in the name of the U. S. government to get half of the money recovered.

Informer suits were not much used, however, until 1940 when one smart New York attorney filed an informer suit to collect from a group of contractors who had defrauded the government through collusive bidding on a PWA job. This lawyer had no direct link to the case. He simply took information from a criminal indictment previously filed by government attorneys and attempted to cash in on the old Civil War law.

The case finally went to the supreme court which in 1943 upheld his right to his gravy. To date, he has collected $130,000, or half of the $260,000 recovered from a $315,000 judgment against 40 contractors.

TROUBLE FOR THE CLAIMS DIVISION

The case put the claims division of the department of justice in hot water up to its eyebrows. Using newspaper clippings, factory rumors or scraps of information picked up from reports of congressional investigations into wasteful practices of war contractors, sharpers from all over rushed into court to file claims on fraud money. For a time U. S. attorneys spent more effort fighting off these informer suits than they did in prosecuting their own war fraud claims. Late in 1943, congress had to change the law.

Today, private claims for war fraud money based in information collected by the FBI or other government agencies are outlawed. And whenever a real informer files a suit, the government has 60 days in which to take over prosecution. In a suit begun by an informer and taken over by the government, the maximum which theinformer can collect is 10 per cent of the amount ernment doesn't take action and the informer carries through his own prosecution, the most he can collect is 25 per cent of the sum recovered. It's still a nice piece of business for any informer who can crash in on it.

Chicago Cubs Blast Cincinnati for 11th Straight Time

Tigers Stretch Lead to Four Games With Win Over Chisox

CHICAGO, July 28—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, sparked by the hitting of Stan Hack and Don Johnson, defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-3, for their third straight win of the current series and the eleventh of the season over Bill McKechnie's charges. Paul Derringer gave up nine hits, holding the Reds scoreless until he weakened in the eighth and was rescued by Paul Erickson. Rain halted the contest with one out in the Cub side of the eighth.

The victory gave the Cubs a temporary five-game lead over the St. Louis Cards, who were playing the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game.

Hack and Johnson both hit doubles and Johnson contributed two singles while Hack was hitting one.

The win was the second in a row for Derringer since he was bedfast with an attack of influenza. The big righthander has won 11 games.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—An article on the Braves' Tommy Holmes in "Baseball Digest" points out that when Tommy can't muster the credits to enter Duke U. at the Yankees' expense he went to the Piedmont leaku instead and "never has regretted it." . . . It also detailed several jobs, none very lucrative, that Holmes has held during the off season . . . by way of contrast, we offer two Yankees who went through college and who played against Holmes in the minors — George Stirnweiss (North Carolina) and Bud Metheny (William and Mary) . . . In the off season both are coaches and teachers — Stirnweiss at a Connecticutt prep school and Metheny at a big Norfolk, Va., high school — and while they may not make any more dough than Holmes does in a shipyard, the future is a lot more secure . . . Seems that Wally Roettger said a mouthful at the recent college coaches' meeting when he remarked: "Our problem is to get more baseball men interested in the benefits of college education."

Candid Caller

At the recent Florida semi-pro baseball tourney at Jacksonville the umps were taking quite a riding from the players, mostly soldiers and sailors, for the calling of balls and strikes . . . Finally one exasperated hitter turned around and remarked: "You know, ump, you're totally blind." . . . The man in blue drew himself up in all his majesty and replied: "I know darn well I am; otherwise the army would have nabbed me a long time ago."

Sports Pourri

Red Patterson's newest baseball teaser: "What major league team started a game under one manager and finishd under another — and won the game?" . . . The Phils' June 3 game against the Pirates was suspended after six innings with Philadelphia leading 11-0. Fred Fitzsimmons was manager then, but Ben Chapman was boss on July 13 when the contest was completed.

When Marine Lt. Hugh Gallarneau, former Stanford and Bears star, returned to the U. S. after taking part in eight Pacific invasions, winding up with days on Okinawa, the big question he wanted answered was: "Has Don Hutson retired yet?" . . . Bill McCahan, former Duke ace who has won 13 games and lost none for the Maxwell Field, Ala., Fliers, has walked only 33 batsmen in 18 games. He belongs to the Athletics . . . The Fliers' staff, incidentally, has whiffed 570 in 524 innings.

Stewart Is Virtually SWC 'Commissioner'

By HARLOLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, July 28—(AP)—James H. Stewart, for almost a quarter of a centry identified with Southern Methodist university as player and official, today was appointed full-time executive secretary of the southwest conference with expanded duties virtually equal to those of a commissioner.

In this position he will have an office in Dallas where he will operate a statistical bureau for conference sports, appoint football and basketball officials, keep all conference records, serve as public relations director, represent the conference in its dealings with the cotton bowl and assist the conference president by serving as a finder of facts in rulings and interpretations.

Stewart's appointment was by unanimous vote of the member schools and was announced at the close of a called session of the faculty committee, conference governing body.

Dr. H. E. Bray of Rice, conference president, said expansion of the organization's scope and the many complexities that will arise as the result of the war as relates to athletic participation and eligibility were reasons for building the office from the office of treasurer and appointer of official and into a full-time job carrying a schedule touching all phases of the athletics program.

It was principally because of the heavy duties that have fallen on the conference president the past two years that the expanded office was voted.

Stewart was offered a three-year contract but said he preferred the job on a year-to-year basis because the position in its present scope is a new experiment both to him and to the conference.

Dr. Bray said that the job as planned would eventually mean a material increase in emolument for Stewart from his present job as director of athletics at Southern Methodist university.

No salary was announced and neither was the appropriation that was voted for conduct of the office but last spring the committee freely talked of a $12,000 figure. From this Stewart will pay for operation of the office.

Stewart will enter into his duties gradually in order to give S. M. U. opportunity to fill the athletic directorship with the least handicap of its athletic program. He will work half-time during August and three-fourths time from September 1 until such time as S. M. U. has filled his position except that he will assume full-time duties not later than Jan. 1, 1946.

In furtherance of friendly relations between the conference members, he will visit each school twice a year. Stewart will also serve non-member institutions where solicited.

He will participate actively in operation of the cotton bowl, with which the conference has a tie-up whereby its champion is the host team each year.

One of Stewart's heaviest duties will be to assist the conference president in rulings and interpretations. In this way his duties will differ from those of a commissioner to this extent; the commissioner makes his own rulings; Stewart will report his findings to the conference president for rulings.

Dr. Bray said no business other than the appointment of Stewart was considered at the meeting here last night and today.

TEXANS AROUND THE CAPITAL

Between the time his foreign relations committee wound up hearings on the United Nations charter and the time of its consideration on the floor, Senator Tom Connally slipped off for a few days rest with Mrs. Connally at a spot in Virginia where even closest friends couldn't find him. For nearly six months he had been going full speed, first on the Mexican water treaty and then at San Francisco as a leading member of the United States delegation to the conference.

Griffith Demands Action on Sale Of Hank Borowy to Chicago Cubs

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Clark Griffith today formally requested the major leage to take immediate action on changing the present waiver rule, as a direct result of the "Hank" Borowy case.

The white-haired 75-year-old owner of the pennant-contending Washington Senators wired Will Harridge, American League president:

"Stronly urge immediate telegraphic vote of major leaves on changing present waiver rule back to old rule where clubs can only withdraw once on a player."

He also intimated that Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler might have grounds for action under the commissioner's power to handle anything "detrimental to baseball."

Chandler said he will "find out the facts" to see if "any subterfuge was involved" for his "personal guidance."

His study will not be in the form of an official investigation, however, he told a reporter:

Chandler disclosed that he talked with Griffith "about another matter" and Griffith mentioned the Borowy case, but "nothing was said about it beting detrimental to baseball."

Borowy, star pitcher of the New York Yankees, was sold yesterday to the Chicago Cubs of the National league for an estimated $100,000 and several players after American league clubs waived on him.

Griffith then led criticism of the deal. He said it was detrimental to the welfare of the (American) league;" that the waiver rule was "lousy anyway," and criticized Larry MacPhail, Yankee head, saying MacPhail should be "fairer" to the American league.

Martin Takes Sly Poke at Owners For Borowy Deal

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP)—The fields of waving grain have nothing on the major league club owners waiving ball players, and the Hank Borowy deal was a most astounding and scandalous bit of mutual back scratching, with the owners aware of the goings-on and agreeing to keep mum in the hope of future similar favors.

There are two main methods of disposing of a player out of a league. One, as mentioned, is the back-scratching arrangement, or you-help-me-and-I'll help you. The other is through sheer boredom, or lulling rival owners into a coma by a mootonous submitting of waiver lists.

The other owners glance at a list which might contain, say, the names of Hank Greenberg and Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout. They figure they would have no chance to claim those men, and the others listed they don't want, so they don't put in a claim. And the first thing they know one of those big names is waved out of the league. Waived bye-bye, so to speak. Or maybe it should be buy-buy.

Anyway, the Borowy deal is astonishing in more than the fact that an outstanding pitcher was waived on: the clubs involved, for one thing, as you seldom find pennant contenders in rival leagues involved in such a transaction.

It also is astonishing in that Larry MacPhail, renowned as a purchaser, suddenly becomes a seller.

The other American league club owners can blame nobody but themselves if the deal was slipped through unbeknownst to them. If they got tired checking the lists day after day it was their own tough luck.

If the deal was made with their approval through silence, they are making a travesty of their own law. Which, it seems, is pretty much of a joke anyway.

Kimboys Gain on Leaders With 5-2 Win Over Cargray

Two long home runs by Muraczewski were enough for the Kimboys to beat Cargray 5-2 in a city softball league contest last night after the Knights of Pythias had won from the Skellytown Odd Fellows 14 to 5.

The triumph put the Kimboys only one full game behind the three undefeated teams that are tied for first place, the Pampa Odd Fellows, the Merchants and the Knights of Pythias.

The Knights, taking advantage of every Skellytown error, poured it on the opposition for ten runs in the last three innings of play Chris Walsh hurled good ball.

Three games are on the league schedule tomorrow night, two of them at Roadrunner park and the third at Magnolia diamond.

In the single game at Magnolia the Junior Oilers and Cargray will battle it out for seventh place in the league. Both teams have won one and lost three.

The doubleheader at Roadrunner park will match the Kimboys against Cabot and Phillips versus Base Communications. The first game will start at 7 o'clock as will the contest at Magnolia.

late their own ceiling prices adjustments.

Unless they head from OPA to the contrary within 15 days after filing, Kerr said, they may begin production at prices derived from their own calculations.

"The dangers of artificial price increases that would inflate costs and deplete buying power upon which sustained production and employment depend are tremendous now," Kerr contiuued.

"Our reconversion pricing policy is aimed at keeping prices and operating costs in line with what people and business can pay," he said.

Kerr continued by saying that there is always a great temptation to be impressed by the temporary and artificial paper profits that are possible during periods of inflation. Experience has shown the American people how rapidly they turn to losses, unemployment and suffering.

"During the months ahead this country will have to take bold steps to lay the foundation for peacetime prosperity," Kerr said. "Our reconversion price program must help clear the way for volume production and good profits."

"It is my hope that we can understand these facts during the coming months when inflationary pressures will be so strong."

Airforce Day

menting the general invitation, officers of the base have contacted many organized groups in Pampa and Borger urging attendance at the "open house".

Plans for the celebartion were revealed Friday at a meeting attended by Col De Marco; Col. Lloyd L. Sailor, deputy commander; Lt. Col. Wilburn R. Causey, director of administration and services; Jam. Gilbert F. Friederichs, assistant director of administration and services; and Maj. James T. McKinney, director of supply and maintenance.

One B-25 will be parked on the athletic field for close inspection. A ramp will be built to enable visitors to inspect the cockpit and bombardier's compartment.

Several other types of combat airplanes also will be exhibited, including the B-26, B-24, B-17 and the A-26.

000-ton battleship Hyuga as sunk at Kure.

The whole score of the Tuesday-Wednesday strikes, Nimitz said, was 238 Japanese warships and merchant craft and 290 planes destroyed or damaged. The list included 72 merchant ships and smaller vessels sunk. Inland sweeps over airfields and rail lines accounted for the smashed planes and the damaging of 21 locomotives.

Forty American airmen and 42 U. S. planes were lost in the forays, while the cost to the British was 12 fliers and 10 planes.

The Japanese radio acknowledged that the Allied carrier fliers had returned to the Kure area in southern Honshu island yesterday, and likewise reported that 100 or more U. S. Mustang fighter-bombers from Iwo Jima raided airfields north and east of Tokyo.

Chungking jubilantly hailed the Chinese high command's announcement that Kweilin, one-time big U. S. air base city in northern Kwangsi province, fell to Gen. Tan Gen-Po's troops Friday night and that remnants of the Japanese defenders were fleeing northward toward annihilation.

Despite the mounting pressure of war disasters, Tokyo radio continued broadcasts of defiance toward the Allied ultimatum calling on Nippon to surrender unconditionally or be pounded to ruin.

Gen. Jiro Minami, president of the political association of Great Japan, the empire's totalitarian political party, said the Nipponese would continue to fight "even if their homeland should be thoroughly devastated and ravaged."

The Japanese broadcaster said Premier Suzuki soon would make his first public address since coming into office, "expressing determination for sure victory and firm measures" to meet the final, decisive battle on homeland shores.

A Domei agency dispatch broadcast from Tokyo claimed without confirmation that "enemy" troops tried again Thursday to land on Puket island, off the west coast of Malay, but were driven off. The Japanese previously had told of an attempted invasion of the island Wednesday.

Hull's text:

"By its overwhelming approval of the United Nations charter, the senate has given the world a striking demonstration of the determination of our people that this country shall meet fully its share of responsibility in the maintenance of future peace and security and in the advancement of the well-being of mankind. The senate is to be commended for the high plane of its debate on the charter and for the fine spirit of nonpartisanship manifested throughout.

"May this resounding vote of the senate be followed by speedy approval of the charter by the other United Nations and its early entrance into force to carry out the noble purposes for which it was conceived."

Grew said millions have died "because nations took to the naked sword instead of the conference table to settle their differences."

He added:

"The charter itself is the foundation and cornerstone on which the international organization to keep the peace will be built. This organization can survive only through the faith and labor of the citizens of all these nations.

Senator Hiram Johnson (R-Calif), aged and ailing member who opposed the league then and voted against this charter in committee, was absent. He is ill in naval hospital.

Four others, Senators Bailey, (D-NC), Glass (D-VA), Reed (R-Kans), and Thomas (R-Ida) were absent when the vote was taken after six days of discussion. Johnson was paired against the ratification resolution with Thomas and Reed, who favored it.

So complete was the senate's approval of the charter that not a reservation or amendment was offered to the document drafted at the San Francisco conference of 50 nations.

When Senator McKellar (D-Tenn, the presiding officer, announced the vote, the galleries were unexpectedly silent. Spectators packed two deep around the walls, including many men and women in uniform.

Just before the vote was taken, Langer, who had waited for the dramatic moment, arose and announced that he would not support the charter. He said he believed it was "fraught with danger toward American institutions and the American people."

His colleague, Senator Young (R-ND), arose a moment later to declare that he would vote for the charter. He disagreed with Langer's contention that the senate ought to act while members of the armed forces are away from home.

Shipstead made no statement today, contenting himself with a thorough-going criticism of charter provisions made earlier in the week.

Fifty-three democrats, 35 republicans and Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) supported the charter on the final vote. The requirement of two-thirds approval for ratification thus was far exceeded.

New Bomber

ment may lie in the design of its bomb bays, which adjoin and provide space for longer bombs that can be carried in the B-29s separated bays.

The B-32 is non-pressurized, but capable of operating at nigh altitudes and at very long ranges. It is extremely fast.

It is powered with four Wright cyclone 2,200 horse power engines, each equipped with two turbd-superchagers. The propellers are Curtiss electrics with a diameter of 16 feet 8 inches, the largest in quantity production.

The propellers are controlled by automatic synchornization and are fully reversible for use as brakes in landing.

The plane is a high wing model with cylindrical fuselage and tricycle landing gear. Its normal gross weight is listed at 100,000 pounds, its overload weight 120,000 pounds, and empty weight 60,272 pounds.

The wing has a span of 135 feet, the fuselage is 83 feet 1 inch long and 9 feet six inches in diameter and the single fin tail rises 32 feet 2 inches from the ground. Normal accommodations are for a crew of eight.

The army has called production at San Diego, and under recent orders production at Fort Worth, Texas, will be completed by next Dec. 31.

NEW DUTY FOR DAVIDSON

DALLAS, July 27—(AP)—Col. Fred H. Davidson, Jr., of Fort Worth, builder of the Denison dam, has assumed duties with the staff of the office of the army-navy liquidation commissioner, Thomas B. McCabe, the commissioner, said here today.

Bomber Crash

he had been employed by the National Catholic Welfare council, in whose offices the death toll was highest.

Other bodies were burned beyond recognition. Of the hundreds who fled to safety, some in panic, at least 20 were injured by burning gasoline and falling debris.

Anxious friends and relatives of persons believed to have been in the building streamed into the nearby West 30th street police station for information tonight while attempts were being made to identify the bodies in Bellevue hospital morgue.

Three explosions were heard as the plane sheared through the stone exterior of the 102-story structure, which swayed like a tree in the wind. Flaming gasoline spread through offices and corridors and down elevator shafts. The screams of trapped persons, many badly burned, spread panic in the upper stories.

Great chunks of debris were hurled from the flame and smoke wrapped tower for five blocks around. Fire trucks and ambulances converged on the building as thousands gathered in the streets. Mounted policemen and patrol cars bumper to bumper kept the crowds away from the immediate area.

Striking with terrific force, portions of the bomber drove from the north wall to an elevator shaft in the west end of the building, causing two elevator cars to plummet to the basement. The fate of several persons in the cars was not determined in mid-afternoon.

Joseph Bernstein, an employe of the Empire state public relations office, said at least 1,500 persons were in the building, Saturday being a holiday for many of the 5,000 tenants and 550 building employes.

Witnesses said one of the bomber's engines apparently had cut out and that the plane seemed to be trying to gain altitude. None of New York's many sckyscrapers ever had been hit by an airplane before.

One flaming engine of the B-25 sheared through the south wall of the building, fell atop a 12-story building at 10 East 33rd street and set the roof afire. These flames were quickly extinguished and the fire that enveloped the Empire State building was out 40 minutes after the crash.

Eleven of the bodies recovered in the first few hours were burned beyond recognition.

The point of impact was outside the offices of the National Catholic welfare conference on the 79th floor, 913 feet above 34th street. Among the hundreds of other tenants of the building are office of Price Administration, War Production board and other government agencies.

21 Years on Bench, Verdict Astounding

CHICAGO, July 28.—(AP)—A verdict by a criminal court jury of six men and six women acquitting two ex-convicts of a $2,000,000 vault burglary last night was termed by Judge Frank M. Padden "as the most astounding" he ever had heard in his 21 years on the bench.

"This verdict is an indictment of your intelligence," Judge Padden told the jurors after they reported the acquittal of Patrick (Patsy) Flaherty(43, and Willie Neimoth, 54, on charges they participated in the burglary of the E. H. Rumbold Real Estate company safety deposit vaults last Jan. 20.

"The conclusion you have reached is beyond understanding," Judge Padden told the jurors as he dismissed them from further duty. "The jury system is the bolwark of our judicial system and juries have often been criticized for their peculiar verdict, but in my 21 years on the bench this is the most astounding I've ever heard"!

JUVENILE PROFITEERING

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25—(AP)—An 11-year-old boy who bought a package of gum for a nickel and sold it to a man for a dime hurried up to Governor Ralph M. Gates in the statehouse yesterday and asked for some advice.

"The man said he was going to tell the OPA", the boy said. "Can they do anything to me for that?"

The governor assured him he wouldn't get into trouble and sent him on his way for four more packages of gum, a pat on the head and this advice:

"Go make yourself some more nickels."

Costumes Borrowed From Gallant Crusaders Give Important and Decorative Interest to Fashions

Almsbags, Armor Adapted for Fall

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Costume ideas borrowed from gallant crusaders, noble ladies and court pesters of the 12th and 13th centuries give museum importance and fresh decorative interest to fall dress fashions.

Alms bags, replicas of those which swung from the girdles of knights and ladies from which they dispensed coins to the poor, are ornamentations frequently used by Eta in a significant collection. Delving into authentic source material for her ideas, she comes up with a welcome new point of focus—the "almoneta" —and accents it with steel beads, jet, applique or braid. The big pouch pocket on the dress, center, accented by braid, is typical. This monk's gray crepe frock is also black braid trimmed to simulate the shield and epaulets typical of the medieval period.

In the same collection color contrasts and padding, which played so meaningless a part in the science of heraldry, are adapted to wearable modern designs. At right and left are eloquent examples. Both dresses represent period themes, upon which a line of modified designs is based.

Reminiscent of knightly armor is the two-piece black crepe dress, left, of Dupont yarn. A jet-buttoned beige satin front, padded and studded with jet nail heads, simulates the protection from enemy's lances required by a 13th Century knight.

Inspired by a court jester's suit, the two-piece dress, right, carries out the 13th Century theme in a combination of gray crepe and black satin. Faithful to the theme is an heraldic motif of black satin which decorates the gray side of the jacket.

Charging he deserted her Jan. 24, 1944, Elizabeth Bald Heinz, 26, above, won a divorce from pickle heir Cpl. Clifford S. Heinz II, 25, after a long Hollywood court battle over custody of their 5-year-old son, Clifford III.

Gray County Home Demonstration Clubs Hold Camp at Lake McClellan

For the first time in several years, Gray county home demonstration clubs participated in an overnight camp at Lake McClellan with approximately 39 women attending.

Registration began at 4 p. m., Thursday, July 26 with Mesdames Harold Osborne, J. C. Steward, and Vern Savage as hostesses.

The camp was then divided into three groups according to army personnel. These groups drew from camp duty and meal service.

Immediately following registration the recreational committee composed of Mrs. Vard Smith and Mrs. S. E. Waters, supervised various games and presented them to the group.

At 5:30 roll was called and each home demonstration club was represented. The Victory club had the highest percentage present and received a game book as prize. The Merton club had the largest number of members present.

Mrs. Vard Smith was in charge of the stunt hour which began at 9. The Belle club was winner with their mock wedding ceremony. The first prize was a recipe book.

Perhaps the most impressive part of the camp was the candle lighting ceremony, which was conducted at 10:30. Following the ceremony, "Taps" was sung and the camp was divided. Half went to bed and the others went swimming. A midnight snack was served after the swim.

Breakfast was served at 7:30 Friday morning and at 9 recreational games were led by the club game leaders. At 10 demonstrations were presented by the clubs of which the Victory club was winner.

The regular council meeting was held at 11 with summary reports from each club given by club presidents. The council committee reports were also given.

Lunch was served with Mrs. Ernest McKnight in charge of the meal. Camp was broken about 4.

According to Miss Millicent Schaub, this was a most successful camp and another is being planned for next year.

IMPOSTERS

The following poem was written by John Robert Lane, while a senior in Pampa high school. It has received national recognition and is being printed after numerous requests from readers.

IMPOSTERS

And I want to live?
Live in a world of war,
A hell on earth where brutal death
Is the only thing life has to give?

Live in this world of death and decay,
Where man can think of naught but himself,
Yet moralize freely and homage pay?

Why no—only imposter these.
Life's real picture is not all
Stroked in sin and strife;
True life presents a sightly frieze—

A moonlight night that floods your room,
The stars up there, so bright, so high,
The thrill you get from doing right,
The flood of emotion from a skillful tune.

'Tis these for which a life I save;
For death and strife can never live;
Beauty, love, and a will to work,
These things are what to me life gave.

—John Robert Lane.

Luckiest Guys in the World Are on Okinawa

OKINAWA, July 27.—(Delayed)—(AP)—the crew of a Seventh Airforce Liberator, came home on a prayer today—"The luckiest guys in the world to be alive"—in their own wounds.

Their plane limped home a mere skeleton, riddled with nearly a thousand machinegun and 20-mm. cannon holes after a savage half-hour over northern Kyushu and Japan's island sea with ten Japanese fighters.

A few minutes after unloading their bombs on an airfield target the Liberator was attacked. With brakes and instruments shot away amud the entire ship a mass of holes the crew succeeded in settling the plane safely on an Okinawa runway, using parachutes ripped open outside the shattered windows to slow the craft.

Lt. James Hurley, 22-year-old pilot of Buffalo, N. Y., making his 39th mission with only one more to go before being reassigned to the States, gave one of the neatest performances of iron-nerved courage to come out of the Pacific war.

"Two fighters aimed straight at us," related Hurley. "I heard shooting and at the same time an explosion on the flight deck. Flames came up between the co-pilot and myself. The controls went flabby and I drove under our formation with the plane half of of control.

"We dropped four thousand feet before I was able to straighten her out and pick up speed.

While Lt. William Fleming of Rutherford, N. J., the navigator, put out the fire, Tech. Sgt. Herman Paul of West Columbia, Texas, spiced a broken elevator cable which holds altitude for the ship. Working while the ship swerved crazily he made the splice with antenna wire and chewing gum.

"That saved our lives," said Lt. Fleming.

A blast from Japanese guns knocked out the electrical and hydraulic systems.

"The gas tank got it next and stuff flew all over," said Staff Sgt. Paul. "It was the damnedest feeling I ever had. I grabbed a piece of wood and plugged the hole and sealed the tank with gum."

Pilot Hurley said that to make the landing he had the men crop out the waist windows and hook five parachutes to the gun mounts. When the plane neared the runway the crew pulled the ripcords. Blossoming chutes slowed the brakeless plane.

Stealing Food Points Is Form Of Sabotage

By RUTH MILLETT

There is something wrong with the American conscience. In Chicago bogus ration stamps have so flooded the city that one official has pointed out their number is enough to sabotage the nation's program. A check of stamps turned in by 10 Chicago merchants picked at random showed that 85 per cent were counterfeit.

Ruth Millett

Certainly the great majority of persons who turned in those bogus stamps for meat wouldn't pass a bogus check in order to buy fine clothes. Not one of them would deliberately slow down the war effort by placing a time bomb in an airplane factory.

But somehow they ease their conscience when it comes to stealing and sabotaging with ration stamps. Maybe they haven't enough imagination to realize that when they get meat for nothing they aren't being smarter than the next guy and therefore doing something of which they can be proud as family providers, but instead are actually stealing from the honest folks who play fair and square.

WARTIME THIEVES

And maybe they haven't enough imagination to see that if the whole meat rationing program fails because of their crooked dealing, they are sabotaging the war effort as definitely as though they were consicous enemies of America. Perhaps we haven't been harsh enough in our judgment of the folks who cheat rationing in small ways. Perhaps we should have called them from the start by the names that they deserve.

Perhaps the folks who play square shouldn't have been quite such ladies and gentlemen in dealing with the crooks who brag, "I got a pound of butter without points" or "My butcher just winked when I told him I didn't have enough points for steak." The proper answer:

"Didn't it ever occur to you that you are stealing from my family and me, and everyone like us who is willing to share and share alike?"

Tossed Salad Is Summer Delight

Flavor is developed quickly in new recipe for Tangy Salad Dressing.

Tossed green salad is a year-'round favorite, but is especially good during the summer months.

The good tossed salad depends on two things: the greens must be very fresh and very crisp, and the dressing must have a fine flavor.

Lettuce, chickory, escarole, watercress, spinach leaves or dandelion greens make a good basis for this type of salad. Wash and drain any combination of these and place in the refrigerator to crisp at least an hour before serving time.

Green salads call for a French-type dressing, preferably home-made. Most French dressings improve with keeping, but a new recipe for Tangy Salad Dressing puts the ingredients together in such a way that flavor is developed very quickly and the dressing may be used at once. Bottled salad oil and vinegar, of course, are the basis of this dressing. To make one cupful, get out the salad oil and vinegar bottles and use these proportions:

Tangy Salad Dressing: Grate half a clove of garlic into a bowl. Add 4 teaspoons sugar, 3 teaspoons salt, 3 teaspoons paprika and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. Rub these together with the back of a spoon. Now add ⅔ cup bottled salad oil and 6 tablespoons vinegar. Mix together, place in a jar, cover tightly and shake until well blended. Chill and shake again before using.

To any combination of mixed greens, add pieces of tomato, green onion, green pepper, radishes or avocado pears. Pour Tangy Dressing over all and toss until every leaf is coated. Bits of cheese and meat, when available, are delicious in this salad.

These Timely Tips Will Make Toes Twinkle During Barefoot Season

MONICA LEWIS: Relaxing.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Ameriacn legs may be the prettiest in the world but the feet attached, say the chiropodists who take them in hand, seldom walk off with any prizes. This criticism is frought with reminders, now that summer is approaching and feet will be unveiled to the public gaze.

But the trouble with feet—improper care and a bad choice of shoes—can be prevented or corrected, and the National Association of Chiropodists tells you how.

Straight across is their rule for filing or cutting nails—not into prettily rounded corners. Nails should be left long enough, these foot doctors say, to guard flesh from injury. Cuticle should be pushed back—not CUT.

Shoes? If you need chiropodists' warnings, you'll choose yours to serve the purpose intended—work, play, dress or rest—and will insist that they give feet the best possible protection. Best fit gives you one-half inch leeway from tip to longest toe (not necessarily the big fellow) to the inner tip of the shoe, so that the ball of the foot will find its proper niche when you walk.

Best type of shoe for walking in health and comfort is an oxford or lace tie with medium weight sole, lightweight upper and military heel.

Exercise is recommended to keep feet strong and supple. If toes feel cramped, pick up a pencil with bare toes or curl bare toes over the edge of a thick book, on which you have taken a stand.

Best exercise to rout tensions from heel to thigh is this one: Stand about a foot away from a chair back, and keeping feet parallel and about six inches apart, knees and body straight and arms outstretched to grasp chair, incline forward until your tummy touches the chair, as radio's Monica ("Music That Satisfies") Lewis demonstrates. From that position snap back to your original stance, and repeat several times.

Belt exercise.

Another exercise which gives leg and feet muscles a workout—and offers a beauty bonus in shapelier gams—calls for a belt or a sash to be held tightly at each end, and used to hook the sole of one foot firmly in the center, as shown in cut. Keeping yor belt taut and your legs straight, pull with your hands and push with your foot, inching hands down the belt to your foot.

Hospital Payment Plan Is Popular

Records continue to be broken in the number of Americans joining voluntary nonprofit plans for prepaying hospital bills. A total of 2,282,482 new members joined during the first six months' period of 1945 and thus exceeded by more than 500,000 the previous record membership growth established during the corresponding period of 1944.

The total Blue Cross membership in 43 states, the District of Columbia, 7 Canadian provinces, and Puerto Rico now numbers 18,700,000 Americans.

Whereas, a year ago, new members were enrolling nationally at the rate of approximately, 12,000 per working day, the rate has now increased to almost 17,000 persons daily. More workers and family dependents joined Blue Cross during the first six months of 1945 than joined during the entire year of 1942.

The growth in women's independence, if it is coupled with a like growth in acceptance of responsibilities toward the nation's welfare, should make this a better country.—Gary, Ind., Post-Tribune.

Surrender Likely If Hirohito Has Last Say So

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—In theory, the issue of the Potsdam ultimatum for Japan's immediate unconditional surrender, goes straight before the Emperor.

He is, in the eyes of his loyal subjects, the source of all authority in Japan—the all-highest from whom all decisions flow.

In truth, however, Hirohito, Emperor of Japan, 124th ruler of his line, likely will have little to do with the reply, if any, that is sent to the Truman-Churchill-Chiang-Kai-shek pronouncement.

Instead, Japan's warlords, long since run amok and leading their nation to its doom, likely are the ones who will say quit or continue fighting.

For generations Japan's emperors have been little more than figureheads, and Hirohito can claim no better rating. Should the big decision to admit defeat or cast the empire to its destruction really fall into Hirohito's lap he will carry little political and moral strength with him for its making.

Hirohito is the son of Yoshihito, who died in 1926 after five years of insanity.

It is widely accepted that had Hirohito had his way his country never would have attacked Pearl Harbor, and likely would have refrained from the quest for far-flung empire. For Hirohito is at heart an unassuming and unambitious person.

If the answer to Mr. Truman, Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek is to come from the heart of Hirohito, then the winds are blowing toward a speedy end of the war. But if the Tokyo militarists still retain their conviction they are not whipped then more bombs and shells will have to go crashing down on that misguided land.

Most Children Deaths Attributed to Heart Disease---Health Officer

AUSTIN, July 28 — Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged 10 to 14, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its epidemiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results may be prevented.

Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads it to the others. Oftentimes a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop bits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

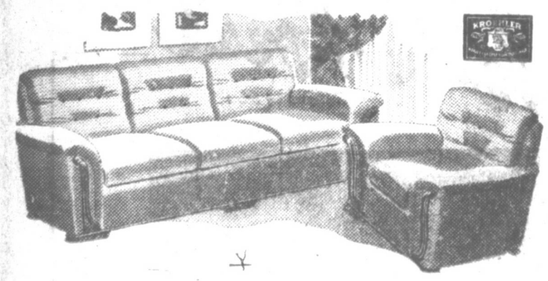

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kinds of food and plenty of rest. When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once, and if he prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be implicitly followed.

First fruit trees were sent to Quebec in 1608.

Sen. George Sees Budget Tailoring Following War

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—A federal budget of $22,000,000,000 to $25,000,000,000 a year after the war—about one-fourth of current expenditures—was visualized Friday by Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee.

However, George said in a news conference on general revenue matters, it does not necessarily follow that all that sum could be matched by tax receipts.

He declared the post-war revenue program must be tailored to ability to pay, particularly in the case of business, which will be expected to provide "reasonably full employment of adequate pay."

At the same time, the senator cautioned that the nation would be indulging in a great risk if it continued governmental deficit spending after the war.

"It would weaken the gold reserve, and might eventually raise doubts in the minds of Americans as to the coundness of the currency and the value of the dollar," he said.

George said the 22 to 25-million dollar spending rate might continue for a year or two after the war. After that, the amount spent will depend on changing conditions and various factors now incalcuable.

He set as "an irreducible minimum" of government spending $14,000,000,000 to $16,000,000,000 a year, to meet such commitments as interest on the public debt, payments to veterans, administrative costs of government, and maintenance of necessary armed forces.

Certainly there will be some spending on top of that, he said, adding that the legislative and executive branches could run the outlay very much higher.

George made clear that he stands for general reduction of taxes—corporate, individual and excise. He placed the greatest emphasis, however, on the need for reducing the tax burden on business enterprises so they will be able to furnish employment.

He said he thought it highly important that a tax program be formulated and passed—or at least held in readiness for passage—as the end of the war comes into sight.

"It is very essential that all taxpayers know what their burdens are going to be," he said.

Pair Charged in Death of Sheriff

LAMAR, Mo., July 28.—(AP)—First degree murder charges were filed today against George Sylvester Huston, 38, and Victor Monroe Rush, 24, in the slaying last August 17 of Sheriff Roy Patterson and his son, Sam.

The charges were filed before Justice of the Peace Elbert Berry by Special Prosecutor Lynn Ewing.

Sgt. Chester Oliver of the state highway patrol said Rush was arrested early today near Dallas, Texas, where he had been living with his wife and three children.

Patterson and his son were found dead in the sheriff's car on a road between Lamar and Jasper. Both had been shot to death and the state highway patrol men said they believed they were slain by men who had robbed the Jasper filling station earlier the same night.

Nip Navy Captain Prefers Death to Capture by Allies

By JAMES HUTCHESON

WITH 38th DIVISION, Luzon, July 28—(AP)—Filipino troops wanted to capture alive a Japanese navy captain, dubbed "The Beard" because of the shaggy black facial adornment so rare among the Nipponese, but they finally had to kill him when he ran.

Plans to take "The Beard" alive started after American officers learned he fled from his headquarters area 12 miles north of Infanta on Luzon's east coast when gunboats made it a target.

"We figured if he ran once, he'd do it again," explained Col. William E. Lobit of (1620 Ave. G) Galveston, Texas. So we worked out a trap to take him alive."

Filipino troops under their own officers were used to work the difficult terrain. They landed near "The Beard's" headquarters Wednesday at 6 a.m. and crept inland to set an ambush along his favorite escape trail.

The ambush was in two parts. The first trap had orders to let "The Beard" through when the shooting started, but to eliminate the officers expected to accompany him on his latest flight to safety. The second was to grab him.

Gunboats started firing rockets into the Japanese area. Sure enough, "The Beard" took to his heels with three other officers. The latter were killed at the first ambush. Then the plan went awry.

The quarry raced up a side path before reaching the final trap. Filipino troops pursued. He resisted with a pistol. The Filipinos killed him.

One hundred other Japanese were killed by the expedition. But the hunt was only a partial success—they'd wanted "The Beard" alive.

Skirmish With Jap Causes Loss of Left Arm by Saber Slash

TEMPLE, Texas, July 28.—(AP)—In the grassy foothills near Bagio a vicious hand-to-hand battle raged between a Japanese major with a razor-sharp saber and a GI medic with an unloaded rifle.

The 25th division medic, Pfc. Carl M. Bean of Beaumont, Texas, told at McClooskey General hospital how he lost his arm in the one-sided battle.

"Our unit, moving toward Bagio had to go through one of the mountain passes," he said. "Two companies moved through the pass and then our medical unit started about an hour later. There were about 15 of us. About middleways I looked down the hill and there stood a Jap approximately 50 yards away.

"He threw a hand grenyade at us, then hid in the tall grass. Our colonel came along the road in a jeep, and we told him that Japs were below the trial. Because of the importance of his mission he commanded us to lay down a line of fire so he could reach the forward elements of the unit.

"After the colonel passed we began to pull back from the top of the ridge. I had just emptied my gun and started to pull back with the others when this same Nip officer raised out of the grass only about 20 feet away and charged me with his saber raised. Since my gun was unloaded I just had to use it as a club.

"The Jap hacked away at me, but my rifle butt deflected the blows. He hit at my head, and the saber slid off the side of my helmet. With the next blow he hit my leg, but I turned enough of it to slide along my pant leg. Then he hit my right arm, and it rolled out beside on on the ground. When I saw my arm fall I knocked him in the stomach hard enough to knock him down. As he fell I called to the men behind me to shoot him.

"I got immediate first aid."

Bean's mother, Mrs. W. M. Bean, resides in Beaumont.

New Poliomyelitis Record Set in State

AUSTIN, July 28—(AP)—Sixty-one new cases of poliomyelitis in Texas for the week ended July 21 sets a record for the year, the state health department said today.

Incidence was more than seven times the seven year median for the week. It brought to 418 the total cases reported in 1945.

"In all probability the attack rate may increase and strict vigilance must be maintained," the department said in a bulletin.

New cases this week were reported from the following counties: Austin 1, Bexar 8, Brazos 3, Burleson 1, Colorado 2, Dallas 5, Eastland 1, Ellis 1, Galveston 2, Grayson 1, Harris 10, Hidalgo 1, Hunt 1, Jefferson 1, Lamb 2, Medina, 2, Montgomery 1, Nueces 2, Rusk 1, Tarrant 8, Travis 3, Upshur 1, Webb 1, Wilbarger 1, Williamson 1.

There has been a marked lowering of the level of water in wells over large parts of the United States in recent years.

Iwo's Major Rocky Believes in Speed

IWO JIMA—(AP)—"Rocky" stone is an unconventional host on Iwo. He speeds the arriving guest, the whole slogan of his war effort is: "Here's your hat, what's your hurry?"

Officially known as Maj. Charles A. Stone, he welcomes crippled or gasoline-thirsty American Superforts, going on or returning from Japanese bombing missions. He tries to get them under way again to their Marianas bases as quickly as possible.

He is chunky, good-natured 27-year-old from Bellflower, Calif., whose official title is maintenance controller for the 20th air force, Iwo branch.

His desk is near a quonset hut door. At intervals, he aims a stream of tobacco juice at that door—across his desk. Sometimes he misses the door and hits the floor, but not once does he stain his desk or papers.

Rocky is a precisionist in other ways, too. When mechanics come in with their problems, he greets them with "shoot, Joe" or "shoot, Harvey," and answers their questions with exactness.

But most often during a day—or night—you'll find him out on the repair strip, checking this job, hurring that one, looking through his graveyard of wrecked B-29s for a needed part. But he likes to say, grinning all over, "I still don't know anything about the damned planes."

One day Rocky, sitting in his jeep by the emergency strip, saw an empty, burning Superfort running wild on the runway, its crew already out. It was headed for another group of Superforts, total value several million dollars. Rocky sped in his jeep, chased and caught it, jumped in and stopped it short of wholesale destruction.

"That?" he says. "Aw, that wasn't anything. Anybody standing around would've done the same thing."

ATTENTION FEMALE GI's

AUSTIN, July 28—(AP)—Honorably discharged servicewomen are entitled to reinstatement in former civilian positions if they meet the requirements and desire employment State Selective Service Director J. Watt Page asserted today.

General Page said state selective service headquarters has received numerous inquiries in regard to reemployment.

Despite widespread war conversions, $90,500,000,000 worth of civilian goods was available to Americans in 1943 as compared with $82,000,000,000 in 1942.

14-Inch Pipeline To Be Built From Texas to Calif.

DALLAS, July 28—(AP) — L. M. Glasco, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., Dallas, said the district three petroleum industry committee had recommended, with reservations, construction of a 14-inch oil pipeline from Monahans, Texas, to Los Angeles, Calif.

Glasco said the company's president, Angus Wynn, was informed of the action in a letter from George A. Wilson, director of supply and transportation for the petroleum administration for war, Washington.

The proposed line would be 986 miles long, would cost an estimated $47,000,000 and would transport 50,000 barrels of oil daily. With additional pumping stations 75,000 barrels daily could be transported.

The district committee, appointed by the PAW, recommended that PAW approve the pipeline on two contingencies:

1. "If the military authorities determine that planning for the Pacific war should be based on a period sufficiently beyond the estimated time of 12 months required for construction of the line to justify the expenditure and steel and other critical materials.

2. "If a study of the various supply and transportation alternatives indicates that the pipeline provides the best solution to the problem."

At Austin, Texas, Chairman Olin Culberson of the Texas Railroad commission proposed in a telegram to President Truman that orders be issued for immediate construction of the line to relieve railroads.

In another telegram to Sen. James Mead (D-N. H.) Culberson asked the senate war investigating committee to consider an investigation of the need for such a pipeline.

Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission in Session

EL DORADO, Ark., July 28—(AP) The state oil and gas commission in session yesterday set allowables for the production of oil in the controlled Arkansas fields during August, September and October.

It was estimated that 85,942 barrels of oil will be produced daily during the next three months as compared with the 88,213 barrels per day in the last three months.

A move to change the spacing rules in the Texarkana gas condensate pool of Miller county was not approved.

Humble Oil Refinery Controlled by PAW

HOUSTON, Texas, July 28—(AP) —The Humble Oil & Refining company's Ingleside refinery near Corpus Christi remained firmely in the hands of the petroleum administration for war after the fifth circuit court of appeals in New Orleans had dismissed without prejudice an appeal of the Humble to set aside the seizure approved by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly in Houston about a month ago.

The plant was seized by the PAW on order of President Harry Truman because it was threatened by a strike which might tie up production of war-needed 100-octane gas.

It was laerned from Humble's executive offices here that no further action by the company was likely.

Synthetic Oil Plant Talked

SAPULPA, Okla., July 28—(AP)—Location of a $10,000,000,000 plant for making synthetic gasoline out of coal in one of a half dozen Eastern Oklahoma cities, was discussed here at a conference between state and local officials and federal representatives.

High on the list considered are Sapulpa, Muskogee, Tulsa, Hoidenville, Poteau, Henryetta and McAlester, H. M. Snead, one of the investigators, said.

Governor Robert S. Kerr, Reps. Lyle H. Boren, of Oklahoma, and John Murphy, of Pennsylvania, and President H. G. Bennett, of Oklahoma A. & M. college, and C. I. Pontius, of Tulsa university, attended the conference. with investigators from the bureau of mines.

Unusual Finance Story Related

DALLAS, July 28. — (AP) — Dallas Detective Henry Lemmond said Friday a young ex-service man from Oklahoma, charged on three counts of theft over $50 and two of forgery, told an involved story of illegal finance.

He said the youth after receiving a medical discharge last year, went from Oklahoma to Baltimore, Md., married, and brought his wife to Dallas.

The officer quoted the youth as telling this story:

He brought a wrecked automobile for $75, did not remove it, but took title. About July 2 he stole a car and with his wife went to Fort Worth where he sold it at a used car lot for the ceiling price, giving the title of the wrecked car.

The carlot owner paid the youth by check, but stopped payment on it when he discovered the motor number failed to tally with that on the title. When the bank at which he called refused to honor the check the youth returned to Dallas and practiced the dealer's signature on the check.

Then he returned to Fort Worth and secured some cashier's blanks on the bank in which the used-car man had his account. He forged a check for $700 and deposited it in a Dallas bank. He cashed two checks on the account for $125 and bought at a Dallas store a diamond wedding set worth $40.

The boy and his wife went to Waco; pawned the wedding set for $200; then went to Austin where the youth opened a $900 account with a check forged on the Fort Worth dealer. Hhe cashed several checks. One Austin dealer called Dallas police. Austin police arrested the youth.

"Even there shall thy right hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." Psalm 139:10.

We wish to thank our many friends, the Masonic Order and the Eastern Star Order of Ardmore, Oklahoma, The Ladies of the Moose of Borger, the Business and Professional Women's Club of Pampa, the minister and membership of Methodist Church, for their comforting expressions of sympathy in words, deeds and floral offering which we so deeply appreciated at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our loved one, J. C. Carroll.
Mrs. J. C. Carroll,
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cangelosi.
Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Greenwall.
Miss Jessie Carroll.
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ritchie
Mrs. Vernon Fuqua.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

"Even there shall the right hand lead me, and the right hand shall hold me."—Psalm 139:10.

Hattie Sherwood Dies at Shamrock

SHAMROCK, July 28—Mrs. Hattie Sherwood, resident of Shamrock for 37 years, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oletta Moore, in Miami, at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The 65-year-old pioneer resident of Wheeler county had been ill about 10 days.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church of Shamrock this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Rev. Clifton R. Tennison, pastor, in charge, assisted by Rev. J. W. Lummus.

Interment was in the Shamrock cemetery with Womack Funeral home in charge.

Mrs. Sherwood was born in Texas on March 4, 1880. In August, 1901, she was married to A. T. Sherwood. The couple came to Shamrock in 1908, and Mr. Sherwood established the Red Ball bus line, that later became the Cap Rock bus line, between Pampa and Childress.

Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, one daughter, Mrs. Clemmie Galbreath, passing away April 12, 1935. Mr. Sherwood succumbed May 12, 1939.

Survivors include three children, two daughters and one son, Mrs. Oletta Moore of Miami; Mrs. Loretta Herrington of Lampasas, and Pfc. A. T. Sherwood, Jr., who is serving with the U. S. armed forces in France.

Also surviving are five grandchildren, four sisters and one brother: Mrs. N. A. Welson, Shamrock; Mrs. Bob Barton, Pollette; Mrs. Lucy Anders, California; Mrs. Bertha Dismuke, Fort Worth, and George Wallace, Tolar.

Mrs. Sherwood had been a Christian since early womanhood and united with the First Baptist church 15 years ago.

Since her husband's death, she had resided with her children, but still considered Shamrock her home.

"LABELS ARE DECEIVING"

DALLAS, July 28.—(AP)—Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, member of Congress from the Thirteenth district of Texas, said today that the proposal to make the fair employment practices committee a permanent agency of the government is "the most radical and dangerous movement ever seriously undertaken in the Congress.

Gossett was in Dallas on official business and en route to Alaska as a member of the committee on territories.

Discussing FEPC, the congresman declared that "this is another case where labels are receiving."

Barge Lines Ask Congress To Reimburse

NEW ORLEANS, July 28—(AP)—Congress will be asked to reimburse eleven Gulf coast barge lines for approximately $1,000,000 which the lines claim they lost by the cancellation of navy contracts to haul fuel from Texas to Florida.

At a meeting here yesterday with James Kenny, executive-director of the American Waterways Operators association, Inc., th barge line operators said they had been assured by the navy in May that the contracts to expire July 1 would be extended through December 31. The contracts called for the delivery of oil from Port Arthur, Texas, to Lynnhaven, Fla.

They said they had gone to considerable expense in repairs and improvements to tugs and barges but that the navy cancelled the contracts suddenly "leaving the 11 barge lines involved holding an open bag."

Kenny said his association had no comment to make on the matter "other than to say that the action of the navy will be presented to the authorities in Washington in the manner requested by the operators."

Eighth naval district headquarters here refused comment.

During the conference with Kenny, Capt. W. A. Kohlmeister, general manager of the Southern Tug and Barge company, New Orleans, said the operators had been informed that no more gasoline or petroleum products would be received after July 31 at the oil docks at St. Mark's, Carrabelle and Port St. Joseph, Fla. He said the information came from the Defense Plant corporation and the Defense Supply corporation.

The action would practically shut down these pipelines from Florida to the northeast, he said.

For Your Information

(Editor's Note: The following is a list of questions and answers furnished by the American Association for the United Nations. These questions pertain to recent world affairs and subjects taken up at United Nations conferences and at other forums of national interest.)

Q. Will the international bank and fund, set up at Bretton Woods, be brought within the United Nations?

A. Yes. The charter provides that the specialized agencies, such as the bank and fund, the food and agriculture organization, the international labor organization, should be brought within the framework of the United Nations. It will be up to the general assembly and the economic and social council to work out the arrangements. The United States has already accepted the Bretton Woods agreement, and is now to act on the charter.

Q. What is meant by the "trusteeship system" of the United Nations?

A. The charter outlines a new deal for all dependent peoples. First, it sets forth a general policy regarding all non-self-governing peoples, including a promise of self-government. Then, it establishes a system for administrating and supervising territories placed in "trust" under the United Nations. This is called the "trusteeship system" of the United Nations.

Q. What territories will be placed under the trusteeship system?

A. The San Francisco conference did not attempt to name the specific areas to come under trusteeship. That is left for future negotiation. The charter states what kinds of territories can be placed under the system. This includes (1) territories taken away from enemy states; (2) territories mandated under the League of Nations; (3) territories voluntarily placed under the system by a member of the United Nations cannot come under trusteeship.

Q. Why was a new world court set up?

A. Some of the United Nations at San Francisco, including the United States, were not members of the old court. Also, there are countries, not members of the United Nations—like Spain, who are members of the old court. Therefore, the statesmen thought it best to create a new court. All members of the United Nations organization will automatically be members of the court.

Doolittle Issues Warning to Japs

OKINAWA, July 28—(AP)—American bombers will level Japanese cities and transform the country into a nation of nomads, Lieutenant General Doolittle predicted yesterday.

The stocky little general who led the first air raid on Tokyo three years ago personally raised the flag over his newly estabilised Eighth airforce headquarters here and predicted his Superforts would be striking at Japan by late next month. They will use six or seven Okinawa airdromes, augmenting the 20th bomber command B-29s operating from Marianas island bases.

Nippon will be plastered mightily from the air by 5,000 planes in one day, he told newsmen, until their industries and air force are wiped out.

"The actual tonnage dropped on Japan will be about twice that which was dropped on Germany from England," he said.

Doolittle echoed comments of other air generals that Japan undoubtedly has a considerable number of planes but is saving them to repel the feared invasion. "Germany did the same thing," he observed.

NINE INJURED

SAN ANTONIO, July 28—(AP)—Nine persons were injured, three perhaps critically, late yesterday near Fratt on the Austin highway when a station wagon and two automobiles collided.

Tire Shortage Critical Here

Frank Dial, local tire dealer, told Rotary club members at the regular luncheon Wednesday that there were hundreds of people in Pampa who had certificates but there were not enough tires on hand to fill these orders.

Dial said that dealers were doing there best to get more tires but strikes at the various manufacturing plants and increased orders from the army have played havoc with the civilian tire supply.

He continued by saying that there was very few prospects for the situation clearing up within 60 or 90 days.

Dial said that the dealers in the small communities were especially hard hit by the situation. This was especially true of the larger truck tires, used by farmers on tractors and other farm equipment.

These types of tires, Dial said, were almost impossible to obtain, and, if the situation does not improve soon, nearly 10 percent of the nations cars and 25 percent of the trucks will be off the road.

Hugo Olsen made a report on the district Rotary conference at Amarillo. The conference was held to spur Rotary work in this section and to further impress upon the member clubs that many of the clubs in the smaller towns are becoming too inactive.

Negroes' Right To Vote Upheld in Court

TALLAHASSE, Fla., July 28—(AP)—The right of negroes to vote as democrats in Florida primary elections was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The decision was based squarely, and with little discussion, on a ruling by the supreme court of the United States by which Texas democratic party primaries were opened to negroes on the theory that a primary is an integral part of an election in which the constitution guarantees all citizens the right to vote.

Florida law does not specifically prohibit negro voting in party primaries but leaves to the democratic party itself the authority to prescribe qualifications of its members.

For many years, the democratic party in Florida has confined its membership to white persons. Negroes always have been able to vote in republican primaries and to cast their ballots for candidates of their choice in general elections.

A few negroes in some Florida counties voted in democratic party primaries last year after the U. S. supreme court had handed down its decision in the Texas case.
