Soviet Action Is Described As A Move Toward Peace

FDR Opens A Sharp Attack Upon Critics

President Is Cheered By Big Georgia Crowd As He Tells Of What Recognition Means To Entire World

Pioneers Praised

Hits At Modern Tories While Telling Of Monetary Plans; Doubt Of Continuance For Gold Policy Dispelled

(By The Associated Press)

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—President Roosevelt was cheered today by a Georgia bicentennial crowd as he told the nation that the newly made American-Russian understanding was aimed primarily for peace in the war threatened world.

In his first public discussion of the recognition of the Soviet government, Mr. Roosevelt said:

Peace Is Desired

"I believe sincerely that the most impelling motive that has lain behind the conversations which were successfully concluded yesterday between Russia and the United States was the desire for peace and for strengthening of the peaceful purpose of the civilized world."

The folks standing on the wide spreading stadium field who had applauded the presiednt's previous attack on the criticss of his gold control monetary program broke into cheers on his Russia declaration and waved their flags.

Guilty Of Experiment

"It has been remarked of late by certain Tories," said the president in reference to his monetary policy, "that those who are today in charge of the government are guilty of great experimentation.

"If I read by history right, the same suggestion was used when Englishmen, protesting in vain against intolerable conditions at home, founded new colonies in the American wilderness, and when Washingtons and Adamses and Bullocks conducted another great experiment in 1776."

Mr. Roosevelt stopped here for a brief visit on his way to Warm Springs and immediately after his address under a sunny sky he departed on his special train with his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, sr., for the cross-state journey to that place. In his public stand for the new monetary policy, the president added:

"While we are deliberating the planting of the colony of Georgia,

Investigation Of Loans By RFC Soon Will Be Broadened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Chairman Fletcher said today the senate committee investigating charges of loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to companies in which Jesse Jones, chairman, is interested, would broaden its inquiry to include all members of the RFC board.

The committee, Fletcher told newspapermen, will determine whether loans have been made by the government agency to companies in which any of the other directors have an interest.

PRODUCER EXPECTED

ABILENE, Nov. 18. (AP)—Possibility that the Oplin Oil company's test, near Oplin in Callahan county, will be completed a commercial producer, loomed today after it had made two strong heads of oil in pay encountered at 4490 feet, believed to be the Ellenburger lime.

"It Was A Noble Experiment," Stude Claims As Rebellious Fires Blaze And Die At Texas Tech

AN IRON-FISTED ultimatum by the "powers that be" squelched a short-lived rebellion of Texas Technological college students Saturday morning.

Determined not to attend classes after Tech's Matadors had defeated the Baylor Bears, 13 to 0, Friday afternoon, students barricaded doors to all buildings on the campus and placed freshmen as guards. Only professors and office workers were allowed to enter the buildings before the backbone of the strike was broken about 8:30 a. m.

Hundreds of students massed about the cloisters of the administration building and yelled defiance at any idea of attending classes. "Hold that line," they chorused.

"Who's going to school?" asked a freshman.

"Nobody," echoed the others.

When Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of men and of the division of arts and sciences, arrived on the scene he found his entrance blocked by a pile of iron benches. Shoving them aside he entered the building, but returned to address the students. He informed them they would attend classes "or else." Double cuts, at least, would be given every one missing a class, he said.

Bill Stubbs, head cheer leader, then spoke to the students, advising them they might as well "take it."

They did.

With the center of the uprising put down, Dean Gordon strode briskly to the Chemical Engineering building where a group of students guarded the door. Flinging open the door he told the group what was what.

"No student enters this door," spoke up a freshman guard.

"What's that?" asked the

Credit Policy Is Barrier To Soviet Accord

Trade Adviser Says Country Would Buy $500,000,000 In American Goods If Credit Can Be Arranged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Recognition an accomplished fact, state department officials and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign minister, today leisurely approached new conversations on Russo-American affairs in which trade relations will have an important place.

Litvinoff gave a luncheon for state department officials who took part in the conferences that led to the restoration of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Bullitt Takes Part

Among the guests was William C. Bullitt, the youthful ambassador designate to Moscow, who is expected to lead future discussions with Litvinoff. Bullitt said no further discussions were scheduled until Monday although there might be meetings over the week-end.

During the day the state department was informed by Litvinoff that the Soviet government welcomed the apopintment of Bullitt, an expert on Russian affairs and advocate of Russian recognition for many years. In view of Bullitt's past attitude it had been almost certain that Moscow would have no objections to his becoming the first American ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Others To Participate

State department officials said today that Henry Morgenthau, jr. acting secretary of the treasury, who has been directing trade negotiations with Russia, and Reconstruction Corporation officials probably would participate in future talks with Litvinoff.

Outside of delicate political subjects, the question of trade is one of the most important between the

Young Joe Is To Follow In Footsteps Of Father; Seeks To Oust Connally

Cue For Major Political Battle Is Given As Bailey Announces For Senate Office

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—Joseph Weldon Bailey, jr., with his father's memorable speeches in congress still ringing in his ears, marked himself as a "chip off the old block" today as he set his cap for the seat as junior senator from Texas now held by Tom Connally of Marlin.

His announcement gave the cue for one of the major political battles in Texas next year, for Senator Connally, currently embroiled in a bitter Louisiana political situation as chairman of the senate committee investigating the election of Senator John H. Overton, ally of Senator Huey Long, was confidently expected by friends to stand for reelection.

The younger Bailey has been a "marked man" since he defeated the veteran J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Sulphur Springs last year in a whirlwind campaign for one of three seats as congressman-at-large from Texas.

As his father had done before him, more than forty years ago, the younger Bailey soon made some of the older heads in the house sit up and take notice. The late Senator Bailey's pet political belief was that a member of congress "should not be a 'rubber stamp'—that he should be a free agent and when his constituents disapproved his policies, they should recall him.

Young "Joe" echoed that belief today:

"I believe in supporting the national administration wholeheartedly, in the present situation," he ex-

Sheriff Faces Murder Charge

Farmer Is Dead As Result Of Argument And A Fist Fight Which Is Climaxed In Gun Play By Officer

(By The Associated Press)

GROVETON, Tex., Nov. 18. — Ben Jackson, 35, a farmer of the Crete community was shot to death here today as the climax of an argument and fist fight with Sheriff Joe Scott Evans of Trinity county.

Sheriff Evans, confined to his bed tonight with severe bruises, was charged with murder before Justice of the Peace W. F. Lewis in connection with the slaying. He was released under $2500 bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Argument Started

According to Special Ranger Jack Evans, brother of the sheriff, Jackson and the sheriff met just outside the city limit and when the latter started questioning Jackson an argument ensued.

"If you will pull off that gun, I'll give you a good beating," the ranger quoted Jackson as telling Sheriff Evans.

The sheriff removed his gun and for more than a minute the two men engaged in a fist fight, which was stopped by some men who arrived on the scene. Jackson got in his car and one of the spectators handed Sheriff Evans his gun, it was said.

Shot Three Times

"Jackson, we've been in a fight. We better go down and pay a fine," the sheriff said, according to his brother; and Jackson was quoted as saying he "wasn't going anywhere," and reached in the back of his car.

At this juncture, according to the ranger's version, Sheriff Evans opened fire. Jackson was shot three times in the stomach.

Officers said they found a pistol scabbard in Jackson's car but did not find a pistol.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal

Dr. George W. Graves Dies At Brownfield; Had Anticipated Death; Last Act Is To Buy Present For Wife

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 18. — With death at his side, Dr. George W. Graves shopped early for Christmas.

Twenty minutes after he had bought a Yuletide gift for Mrs. Graves this morning, he died in his office here. The heart, which for two weeks had been warning him, had failed.

Body of the 62-year-old doctor tonight was enroute to Dardanelle, Ark., for burial, but members of his family did not know the present the Christmas package held.

Doctor Graves, who came here nine years ago from Oklahoma, had suffered of heart attacks the past two weeks. He had told Dr. R. B. He had continued his practice, and a short time before he suffered an attack at about 10:30 o'clock he had written a prescription.

Children Are Present

Actress' Father Files Suit In Court To Void Adoption

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Victor Kosow, the father of Sylvia Sidney, screen actress, has brought suit in supreme court, it was learned today, to void the adoption of Miss Sidney by her step-father, Dr. Sigmund Sidney of New York, and Mrs. Sidney, the former Mrs. Kosow and mother of the actress.

The action, naming the actress and Dr. and Mrs. Sidney as defendants, asks that the adoption granted in 1922 be voided on the ground he was not notified of the proceedings as required by law and that he did not give his consent.

Business Men Ask Return To Gold Standard

Experimental Policy Causing "Confusion And Disquiet", Is Charge Of Directors Of Chamber Of Commerce

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Business men through their national agency today demanded a return to the gold standard at about the same time that President Roosevelt in Savannah, Georgia, was likening the opponents of his gold buying policy to the Tories of 1776.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States in adopting its monetary resolution called the exerimental policy of Mr. Roosevelt a breeder of "widespread confusion and disquiet."

Silver Also Speaks Up

Even as the president was speaking, new demands were being pressed upon him for a broadening of the monetary base to improve the status of silver.

On capital hill, Senators Thomas (D-Okla.), Smith (D-S. C.), and Harrison, (D-Miss.), acting as a committee representing a group of senators that met yesterday began seeking a method for wider use of silver. Their plan will be put before the chief executive.

President Roosevelt already had been asked by Senator Pittman, (D-Nev.), to provide for a limited free coinage of domestically-produced metal for circulation in the silver producing states.

Gold Price Unchanged

The administration today fixed its price for Reconstruction Corporation purchases of new-mined domestic gold at $33.56 an ounce.

The directors of the chamber of commerce, urged "that there be an immediate announcement of intention of an early return to a gold basis, with complete avoidance of monetary experimentation, greenbackism and fiat money and with complete recession from theoretical or arbitrary ideas of 'price-index' fixation of the value of gold."

Mother And Young Wife Weep As Judge Condemns Their Loved One; Mitchell Stares At Judge Unshaken As Solemn Words Come Slowly; Death Set Before The Hour Of Sunrise

By BOB McCALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ERECT, chin up, Paul Mitchell heard Judge Homer L. Pharr of 72nd district court sentence him to die in the electric chair two days after Christmas for the holdup which took the life of Robert Tharp.

Judge Pharr, in whose court here a jury returned Lubbock county's first death penalty upon the 24-year-old Mitchell's plea of guilty of robbery with firearms, pronounced sentence Saturday morning.

The proceeding required 19 minutes, during which the blond young man dressed entirely in black, stood before and looked directly at the judge.

Mitchell had admitted on the witness stand the fatal shooting October 15, 1932, of Tharp, 25, assistant manager of a grocery here. The jury returned the verdict March 8. The state criminal court of appeals affirmed the sentence and refused a motion for a rehearing.

As Mitchell, his black garb, even to black shirt and tie, accenting his fairness, arose from between his wife and mother and stepped before the judge at 10:38 a. m., he was asked the customary question. Did he have anything to say?

"I Would Go Gladly"

"I have nothing to say except that I killed him accidentally and unintentionally," the young man said evenly.

"If my death would restore him to life, I would go gladly."

Mitchell first clasped his hands in front of, and later, behind him. Occasionally he swallowed, flexed his jaw muscles, blinked his steadily-gazing eyes, and his pale face was flushed, but he seemed unshaken and his stare was ever upon the judge.

Crowd Is Silent

Sunlight, filtering through rain-spotted window-panes and their uneven shutters, latticed gold upon the somber brown walls of the courtroom and striped its yellow oak furnishings.

The crowd, more than a hundred persons, men and women, laborers and professional men, was unusually still. A cough, the dropping of a knife, were abnormally loud, ripping the painful silence as would the eery num of motors in a death house.

The slight mother, wearing a dark gray coat and a tight-fitting blue hat, with a tiny red ornament the only cheering color, sat at the left of her son's now empty chair. She turned her head sideways, as though to hear better, and looked at the judge, but she could not withstand the strain always. After a while she was crying silently.

Young Wife Chokes

Looking constantly at the mottled floor, the piquant young wife choked, bit her lips, took a handkerchief from her black purse. She wore a black coat with grey fur collar and cuffs, a black straw hat with narrow brim, dark sheer hose, and black slippers. Her chair was at the right of her husband's.

They heard Judge Pharr, in the formal, verbose language of the court, review the case. The judge said that the penalty Mitchell must pay should serve as a warning to erring youth.

At a table sat J. E. Vickers, who with W. W. Campbell, had defended Mitchell upon appointment of the court. District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and his assistant, Burton S. Burks, sat behind him and against the railing.

Final Act Of Trial

"It is my painful duty," said Judge Pharr, "to pronounce the mandate of the law, the final act of this trial."

"The object of the law is to punish or reform the offender, and as an example for future generations that they may not go and do likewise."

"That the law of Texas and the law of this land is the best friend anybody has can be seen from this

Big Reduction Is Shown In Lubbock Relief Cost

Saving Of $7,012.95 Reported; State And Federal Aid Bring Expense To Minimum

EXPENDITURES of City-County Welfare association for the 12 months' period ending Oct. 1 were $7,012.95 less than for the previous fiscal year.

The reduction was caused chiefly by state and federal work relief expenditures in Lubbock and Lubbock county, it was pointed out.

The report of Executive Secretary Joe Wilson showed that during the period closing Oct. 1 the association spent $10,183.57, as compared with $17,196.52 for the year preceding. Expenditures for office and overhead were reduced $1,194.08, or to $2,543.86, the report said.

Largest single item of expenses was for hospitalization of indigent persons, this work costing $2, 908.51.

Expenses of the association are paid by the City of Lubbock and the county, with the latter paying two-thirds and the city one-third.

Other major expenditures were as follows:

Burials, $757.52; drugs, $610.51; salaries of caretakers at old folk's home, $700; groceries and milk at the home, $599.45; cash allowances to semi-paupers, $520; transportation paid for indigents, $402.08; al-

Two Women Are Injured As They Fight Burglars

One Victim Beaten Into Insensibility By Negro; Second Is Given Terrific Blow

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Two women were injured at their homes in widely-separated sections of San Antonio today when they tried to resist burglars.

Mrs. Peggy Hauck was beaten into insensibility after a valiant defense against a negro and Miss Marion Prather, a nurse, was struck by the intruder in her home.

Mrs. Hauck had fallen asleep listening to the radio in her home near midnight. She awoke suddenly to find herself confronted by a negro man.

The frightened housewife screamed, but the negro was across the room in a bound, his hands clutching at her throat. Mrs. Hauck struggled with the man but finally lost consciousness.

Gene Knox, who rooms at the Hauck home later found and roused her. A gag had been thrust in her mouth.

The nurse's encounter with a burglar occurred about two hours after Mrs. Hauck's experience. She was alone when aroused by a noise.

Without turning on a light Miss Prather said:

"Who is it?"

An unseen hand answered with a terrific blow on her mouth.

Babson Brands Price Control Campaign As Unsound

Failures Of Past Efforts Are Recalled

Financial Observor Declares Attempts To Fix Prices Will Not Work Successfully; Plan Is Criticized

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright for Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 18.—The administration intends not only to raise the general price level but to increase prices of some commodities faster than those of others. In this connection the government has already adopted measures toward correcting the spread between agricultural and industrial prices. This spread has been one of the principal causes for the severity of the depression. Hence, Washington is attempting to push up agricultural prices faster than industrial prices. This is all right.

Roger Babson

Another Step Toward Fascism

From March to October, the country concentrated its efforts on production control. This was evidenced by the plowing under of cotton, the slaughtering of hogs, and lowering of oil output. The NRA codes, through the limitation of hours, are likewise along these lines. But when President Roosevelt recently began buying gold abroad, we attacked the price problem from another angle. This gold-buying policy goes a step further and attempts the management of prices rather than the regulation of production. It is also well to remember that the new gold-buying move controls only the price of commodities having a world market. These are principally farm products.

While I have pointed out imperfections in certain of the administration's previous measures, I have still believed that their underlying goals were economically sound. This price-control program, as now outlined, is the first major policy adopted by the present administration which I oppose as being absolutely unsound,—both socially and economically. I believe this price-fixing move cannot work successfully under our present government. Furthermore, I feel that the attempt to control a few selected commodity prices will only slow up recovery. Price control is one more step toward Fascism.

What are my reasons for such strong opposition to this measure? First, it is not a new experiment. Price control of one type or another has been tried in other countries and has been a complete "flop." Less than ten years ago the British empire tried to peg the price of rubber. The result was the stimulation of activity on American and Dutch rubber plantations. Brazil's attempt at coffee price fixing was a boon to Java coffee-growers. The growth of the sugar industry in Hawaii, the Philippines, and Porto Rico was the result of Cuba's price juggling.

My second criticism is directed at the attempt to control the price of only certain selected commodities. To be even partially successful, I believe we must go the whole hog or drop the idea of managing prices of commodities having an international market. For example, let us assume that the price of wheat will be fixed at one dollar per bushel, and that this permits all wheat farmers to make a profit. Other farmers raising peanuts, potatoes, oranges, and the like would then immediately begin to raise wheat. The nation would be flooded with wheat for which the consumer would have to pay at least one dollar per bushel. I am sure that if we were unable to eliminate overproduction at 50 cents per bushel we will not be able to curtail output at one dollar per bushel.

Under a price-fixing plan fair competition would disappear. This would discourage those with initiative, courage, and energy. There would be no way to eliminate the inefficient and the lazy. Moreover, in a period of commodity deflation, such as 1920, the whole United States army could not hold up the price of a raw material having a world market, such as wheat. In this connection, most of us painfully remember the Federal Farm board fiasco of only two or three years ago and the loss of millions of dollars of tax-payers' money. However, in the case of a commodity having a domestic market, such as corn, the experiment might succeed as an emergency measure.

If all commodity prices were controlled there would be no incentive for the cotton planter or the cattle raiser to begin farming wheat. While this would curtail wheat production from new sources, there would be nothing to prevent the cotton planter or the cattle raiser from producing each year more cotton or cattle than could possibly be consumed. Under our present constitution, production can be curtailed by agreement only. The principal weapon for the enforcement of production agreements is intelligent direction of public opinion. So far we have not had great success along these lines. Therefore, I feel a price-control system would only work under a dictatorship and on an international basis.

May Succeed Under Dictatorship

Production could be controlled under a dictatorship such as exists in Germany, Russia, and Italy. Our American dictator would appoint an economic advisory board corresponding to the National Recovery Administration. This board, through regional committees, would tell each farmer or miner in the United States how much cotton, cattle, or copper he could produce. If the tobacco growers in Virginia raised more tobacco than we could smoke the next year, this advisory board would order them to cut their production by a certain per cent. Then failure to curtail production would mean the administration of a pint of castor oil to the violator, not merely the removal of his Blue Eagle!

Second, I feel that a price control plan could only work if it were adopted internationally. I think it would be suicide for us to try it alone. Naturally the prices we fix would be above world prices. To prevent our markets from being glutted with foreign products, we would have to establish an embargo on the importation of goods. Other countries would retaliate with embargoes on our exports. Then who would use the 45 per cent of our cotton crop, the 19 per cent of our wheat crop, and the 51 per cent of our farm machinery output, which we exported in 1929? The loss of our foreign markets would only aggravate the problem of overproduction.

Must Not Kill Initiative

My own idea for the correction of the spread between agricultural and industrial prices is not to fix the retail price but to control the percentage which the producer and the percentage which the distributor receives. Take milk for example. Instead of placing a minimum price of 10 cents a quart on milk delivered, I suggest that the farmer receive, say, 55 per cent of whatever the retail price may be and the distributor receive 45 per cent. This would not remove the incentive for competition. The principal problem then to be solved would be the alloting of the percentage to the retailer and the percentage to the distributor. This would call for careful studies by both economists and accountants. In the end it would probably result in even more dissatisfaction than under a free market.

Accordingly, while I believe that the producer, the processor, and the distributor should all receive a fair return for the services they render, I am flatly opposed to a rigid system of price control which will put a premium on inefficiency and a handicap on initiative. Two factors have contributed very largely to the growth of industry in North America. First, fair competition, and second, the profit incentive. When these two forces for progress are destroyed we take a step backward—not a step forward. Moreover, where can we find a group of men with ability enough to attempt to establish and maintain a fair relationship between the price of a bushel of wheat, an automobile, and an appendix operation? Yes; price control means either everlasting depression or profitless prosperity—take your choice!

Business, as registered by the Babsonchart, now stands at 9 per cent above a year ago and 32 per cent below normal.

Boy Painfully Hurt In Crash

Leonard Brooks Suffers Broken Arm Saturday Afternoon When Hit By Auto; Runs Against Fender Of Car

Crossing Thirteenth street in the 1100-block, 13-year-old Leonard Brooks was knocked down by an automobile and his left arm broken yesterday afternoon.

The boy ran against the left fender of an automobile driven by Miss Wynett Copeland of Slide, Traffic Patrolman John Croft said. Miss Copeland, driving west in a Plymouth sedan, had just passed under a green traffic signal.

Croft said he saw the boy crossing the street and whistled at him just before the accident, but Brooks did not heed the signal. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Brooks, 2102 Avenue T, was resting at Lubbock sanitarium last night.

Brooks got out of a car driven by Orville Smith at the intersection of Thirteenth street and Avenue J a short time before he was hurt, Croft said.

WHEEL IS BROKEN

Left rear wheel of a Chevrolet sedan driven by Joe Young of Littlefield was broken when the car skidded into the northwest curb at Avenue S and Main street yesterday afternoon. Young applied brakes to avert a possible collision with a car driven by J. V. Wood, 1918 Avenue L, Young told police.

French Chamber Will Be Guarded

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—A stony-faced "sentinel" henceforward will guard the chamber of deputies against unruly demonstrations by the citizenry.

This "sentinel"—a miniature pillbox fort of reinforced concrete—has been erected on the Quai D'Orsay, opposite the chamber where it commands all aprpoaches to the parliament building, including the Concorde bridge over the Seine.

Equipped with telephone, with a direct line to police headquarters, it will serve henceforth as an observation post and stronghold for police called to hold off unruly manifestations.

Twice within less than a year—during the war debt discussion that overthrew Edouard Herriot as premier last December and the unpopular budget-balancing efforts more recently—the chamber debates have attracted demonstrations.

In each case, thousands of police and mounted republican guards blocked off all approaches to the chamber, even barricading the streets and sidewalks with trucks and guardsmen's horses drawn up in military ranks.

The new little fortress on the bank ofthe Seine is a hexagonal building, with tiny windows in each of its walls and a raised roof which would permit beleagured policemen to peer over the walls.

Regulation Urged For Stock Market

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP) — Creation of a federal board to regulate stock exchange practices was recommended in a letter to the senate stock market committee from Henry Goldman, jr., a member of the exchange.

Goldman submitted his recommendation in a letter to Chairman Fletcher, enclosing a letter he had written the exchange asserting "the banks and the bankers" have lost the confidence of the public.

The writer said his father for many years up to 1917 was senior member of Goldman Sachs and company.

He recommended that the government appoint a board of six men, composed of two members of the senate banking committee, two members of the exchange, and two business men to "establish rules and regulations on the various stock exchanges for trading in securities which are not only legal, but fair and equitable to all concerned."

The board should have power, he said, to "supervise, regulate and scrutinize the activities of stock exchanges, stock exchange firms and stock exchange members."

Receiver Is Appointed For Jonesboro Baptist Church

JONESBORO, Ark., Nov. 18. (AP)—The appointment of a receiver for the Jonesboro Baptist tabernacle who immediately ordered it closed was hailed today by the Rev. Dale S. Crowley, pastor, as a move that "will go a long way toward solving the factional differences in the church."

Crowley is under indictment for murder for the slaying of J. W. MacMurdo, aged janitor of the tabernacle for a rival faction, which brought a climax to bitter congregational strife.

Chancellor J. F. Gautney named C. A. (Lon) Craig receiver for the tabernacle upon petition of attorneys for creditors. Craig said "there will be only one door open and I will, as instructed by the court, employ sufficient men to guard the building."

The anti-Crowley group has been using it for services.

Miss Ida Bell Ray became the bride of Howard Cox; Miss Evelyn Vanlandingham the bride of James F. Beck and Miss Vera Nicholson the bride of Jefferson D. Callaway.

The large living room of the parsonage was decorated with late flowers for the occasion. Reverend Raney used one service for the three contracting pairs. Following the ceremony the young people left on a short wedding trip to New Mexico. The grooms are farmers near Enochs.

Winner Of Nobel Prize In Literature Asks Her 75th Birthday Pass In Silence

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 18 (AP)—Selma Lagerlof, Swedish winner of the Nobel prize in literature who celebrates her 75th birthday November 20, has expressed through the newspapers a wish that her anniversary be permitted to pass in silence.

"I herewith address a fervent appeal to all my friends and readers in Sweden and abroad," she declared, "to allow my seventy-fifth birthday pass as unnoticed as possible, without letters, telegrams, flowers, presents, visits or any other form of celebration.

"This I ask partly because my weakened health would suffer seriously from the great exertions that such a personal homage necessarily brings with it, and partly because it seems unfitting to me to celebrate a feast of joy in this time of general distress, when every penny that can be spared must be used to relieve the sufferings of unfortunate fellow-beings."

PAVING TO START

POST, (Special)—Hard surfacing of a strip of highway No. 7 through Post on D street is scheduled to begin November 20. The Womack-Henning Co., Abilene, has the contract. W. W. Hyde, state resident engineer, is supervising the work. Caliche is coming from a pit near the caprock on the Slaton-Post highway.

Stirred to immediate action by the tragic death of Robert Eugene Adams, members of the five circles of the Child Conservation league have voted to draw up a set of resolutions asking for emphasis to be placed on safety education and safety legislation, the petition to be presented to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and later to City commission.

The league met at Seaman hall Friday evening with Mrs. W. C. Wood, president of the Eleanor Roosevelt circle, presiding. Talks were made by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, chairman of the Lubbock County Children's council; Mayor J. J. Clements; W. H. Rodgers, city manager, and Wiley L. Metcalfe, chief of police.

Measures Explained

Mr. Clements explained that measures are already underway calling for better traffic control in the city. Any suggestions that league members have to offer will be considered, he said.

Mrs. Godeke told of one method of safety education that has been found successful in several cities. This is a school for men and women drivers that is conducted annually. She presented statistics covering accidents that were results of careless driving.

The resolutions are to be drawn up by Mrs. Vaughn E. Wilson as chairman, assisted by the five circle presidents. These are Mrs. Wood; Mrs. C. E. Moreman, Lubbock circle; Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, Madonna circle; Mrs. Joe Baldridge, Sunshine circle, and Mrs. C. M. Chandler, Progressive circle.

The resolutions will suggest safety measures in traffic for both pedestrians and drivers of vehicles and will pledge the support of the women in maintaining traffic control in the city.

Pampa Harvesters Humble Westerners, 26-0; Frogs Smear Steers, 30 To 0

Blocked Punt And Long Dashes Pave The Way For A Harvester Victory In District One Battle

Visitors Score In Early Part Of Game When Lubbock Punt Is Blocked; Powerful Line Play Marks Pampa Advance

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

A wide-awake steam-heated Harvester machine from Pampa High school reaped a rich crop of touchdowns here yesterday, and Lubbock High school's Westerners footed the bill.

When Coach Odus Mitchell's gridders had grown tired of making touchdowns and second stringers had gone in for replacements, the score-board notified 5,500 fans that Pampa had won a District 1 football game, 26 to 0.

As far as the district race is concerned, Pampa's cause was helped not a bit by yesterday's victory unless Lubbock does the unexpected and beats Amarillo on Thanksgiving day, thereby throwing the race into a three-way tie. Amarillo beat Pampa last week.

As a steady, heavy forward wall, in which Messrs. Owens, Pinnell, Patton and Eldridge formed powerful components, moved consistently against the Westerners to make room for backs, Marbaugh, Hamilton, Dunaway and Stevens crashed through for yard after yard and had a merry time passing to each other to result in all the touchdowns desired.

Lubbock took a bad beating, the worst it has had in a long time. Amarillo's 25 to 2 victory in 1931 is the nearest approach to such a shellacking in real modern history.

Powerless At Line

Against the dense Pampa line, or through it, the Westerners were powerless to gain. Occasionally Rufus Ryan would break between end and tackle, or around end, for short gains, but Mr. Ryan was held in check by a team that had been set for him. Weymond Newton sometimes would hit a brief opening for a minor gain.

Both lines played close to their chins, and except for two long runs by Pampa Jackrabbits, there was little to choose between "yards from scrimmage" by either team. But those two long runs meant touchdowns. So did another long run that didn't count in the scrimmage summary, a touchdown from a blocked punt.

He Ran With It

It was this blocked punt that put Pampa ahead and broke the hearts of the Westerners. Quarterback Rayburn Hale tried to punt from about mid-field. Owens, Pampa left end, charged through and blocked it, and Patton, the other end, scooped it up and scooted 48 yards for a touchdown in the first few minutes of the game.

Staging a desperate rally after Pampa had run up its quota, the Westerners went into a flashy passing game, with Hale throwing and Newton, Granbury and Calhoun receiving. Thus they marched down the field twice, posting first downs that, in the end, exceeded Pampa's total of first downs.

Halfway of the first period, Dunaway broke over left tackle, preceded by a charging line, neat blocking and fine interference, left his tacklers behind and raced 59 yards for a touchdown. As in the first case, Green's kick for extra point was wide.

Stevens Gets Loose

Late in the quarter, Stevens, Harvester halfback, broke through the same way, and was brought down by Rufus Ryan after scramming 62 yards from the Pampa 20-yard line. Ryan, the last man left in Lubbock's secondary, overcame Stevens by sheer superiority of speed, and brought him down from behind.

As the second period opened, Pampa sustained a 15-yard penalty, but a pass from Marbaugh to Owens made that up on the next play Marbaught went over for a touchdown after a short gain by Dunaway, and the same Marbaugh, a star in every respect, kicked goal to convert.

Pampa had possession of the ball through most of the first quarter, Lubbock's only sensational play being Hale's beautiful punt that rolled out of bounds on the Pampa 3-yard line.

Late in the second, Hale's punt was gathered in by Dunaway on the Pampa 2-yard line. On a succession of short gains, Pampa brought it out to their 30, where Hamilton fumbled, Ryan recovering. Here was Lubbock's first chance to score. Ryan and Newton went to Pampa's 11-yard line, and the Harvesters sustained a 5-yard penalty. Four plunges at the line by Newton gained a yard at a time, and the ball went over. Hale returned Marbaugh's kick to the Pampa 29, but again the Westerners couldn't make first down. Marbaugh and Hamilton were making headwaysin the direction of Lubbock's goal as the first half ended.

A Scoreless Third

There was no scoring in the third period, the Lubbock defense against Pampa's overhead attack working well and the line performing more capably than at first to hold the visitors nil. Most of the period was played in Pampa territory, but the closest to Pampa's goal line the Westerners were able to get was the 33.

The fourth was full of bootball. Lubbock opened up seriously with a passing attack that took the ball to Pampa's 5-yard line. Ryan returned a punt to his own 45. Hale flipped a pass to Ryan for 13 yards, and Hale threw to Griggs for 14 more. Granbury caught Hale's next pass for a gain of 11 yards, and Newton received one to put the ball on the 5. Newton was smothered for a loss when the Lubbock interference failed to function, and Hale's desperate pass to Granbury fell harmless over the goal line.

Later, Owens intercepted one of Hale's heaves near mid-field, raced to the Lubbock 45 where a drive was initiated that resulted in the final touchdown. Marbaugh and Hamilton did the bulk of the ball bearing, and Marbaugh went over for the counter, closing the Pampa offensive with a well-placed kick for extra point.

Lubbock tried more passing, a few of which counted, two of which were intercepted. Coach Mitchell sent in an almost new team of substitutes, and the clubs battled in Lubbock territory on fairly even terms.

Trojans Win Over Oregon U., 26-0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18. (AP)—The football wizardry of a great little quarterback, Irvine (Cotton) Warburton, today enabled Southern California to blast the University of Oregon out of the undefeated class as the Trojans won, 26 to 0. About 60,000 spectators saw the home team get away fast, slow down for a time, and then come back with a rush.

The defeat spoiled the hopes of the Webfoots for an undefeated season carrying with it the championship of the Pacific Coast conference, and opportunity to represent the west in the annual New Year's game in Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

ST. EDWARDS WINS

AUSTIN, Nov. 18 (AP)—In a game replete with thrilling football, St. Edward's university defeated Schreiner institute here last night, 7 to 0. Four thousand persons saw the game.

Iowa State college has inaugurated a "football field meet," with punting and passing for accuracy and distance and ball-carrying against time as feature events.

SPYING ON SPORTS
BY COLLIER PARRIS

YOU couldn't have given me a better present, fellows. I haven't got anything against you, and I'm proud you won that game. Now forget all about football till I get back home."

Thus did Coach Pete Cawthon dismiss his Texas Tech Matadors Friday afternoon before he and Coach Smith set out for Manhattan, Kansas, to scout the Kansas Aggies and the University of Oklahoma yesterday.

Compliments Earned

Coach Cawthon is not in the habit of passing out roses and orchids to his ball players. Rather, he flicks a rasping tongue over them because of wrongs committed in the game. But there were few wrongs in that Baylor game. For the first time this season, the boys clicked. The line play was superb. We have never seen them put on a better exhibition of forward action. Backfields rolled up yardage and first downs that made the game much more one-sided than the score indicated. Two hundred and fifty-five yards gained from running plays! And 55 for the opposition. That's nothing less than "sumpin'."

We salute you, Matadors, as do 4,000 other fans. We knew you could do it. You did it, and right proud of you, too.

TO mention a star in that game would be to repeat the lineups, with special attention being given to Priddy, Martin, Hitchcock (we'll take Martin and Hitchcock against any two ends the Southwest conference can produce), Captain Baker, Davis, Butts, McElroy, Price and Dowell. Those are names that just pop up without much thought.

Congratulations

It's very seldom that your correspondent gets excited over a football game. We'd make a terrible cheer leader, or rooter. There are few tense football moments in our life. The press box naturally is, or is supposed to be, a quiet and solemn spot. But when Aubrey "Professor" Butts shagged that pass and stepped over for the first collegiate touchdown of his life, we couldn't resist the temptation. You've gotta hand it to that kid. One of the nicest, most gracious and modest lads you ever saw. Butts spends a third of his time at hard work, earning board, room, tuition and enough cash to buy a new shirt once a month. His is not one of those eight-day clock winding jobs, either. A student well up in his class work and an ambitious athlete. And how he works at football! It's his fourth year now, and until Friday he had never scored a touchdown for Tech, although he has tried hard and often, and has played about as many minutes as any other halfback on the team. But he did it Friday, and against Baylor, too; against his home town institution, against former Waco High school team mates. What a wallop that provided!

SOMEBODY else got an unusual bang out of that game. Coach Cawthon showed us that he's not always the iron-bound, non-smiling, hard-driving and unappreciative coach a lot of people think. He was plenty tickled, and mighty proud of his boys.

Come On Aggies

The Matadors are in for a rest now until Thanksgiving. There'll be a few tough scrimmages, but there'll be plenty of light drills. The Kansas State Wildcats, or Kansas Aggies as they sometimes are called, are the next opponents.

That doesn't mean there will be no football here this weekend. Coach John O'Dell Morgan's Picadors tangle with the University of New Mexico freshmen Friday afternoon here. It ought to be a dandy game.

No Boxing Monday

Promoter Dee Puckett has announced that there will be no boxing show under his direction this week. Contrary to the announcement last Monday night of Prof. Ben Condray, famous radio announcer and impersonator, the card will be postponed, maybe until the football season is over. Promoter Puckett believes that two many cards is not good for one's business, and prefers to string them out over a longer period of time. But there'll be plenty of wrestling Wednesday night. Tommy 'Sunshine' Heinz, who hasn't been beaten in a local ring, will be in the main event. Jack Van Bebber will stage a return, meeting Sailor Moran again in a one-fall finish fight. Each will give the other some valuable pointers, we are suggesting.

In all our experience and historical studies as a sports writer, we have never run across an occasion comparable with the discourteous mistreatment extended members of the working press by Lubbock High school officials yesterday. It climaxed a long siege of disgusting wrangling. By the time sports writers, statistics keepers, telegraph and telephone men had charged through the line of staunch gate-keepers and gained the press box, the game was 10 minutes gone, and a touchdown had been scored.

Mustangs Hold Centenary For A Touchdown

Robert Lee Wilson Almost In A Scoring Way, But Play Is Called Back; Gents Cop A 7 To 0 Win At Shreveport

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18. — Harold "Shorty" Oslin, whose flying feet have carried Centenary college to victory on many occasions this fall, broke loose in the fourth quarter today, after Southern Methodist university Mustangs had successfully checked the Gents for three periods, and with a mighty off-tackle thrust that carried him 19 yards to the Texans' scoring station gave his team a victory in its final home game of the season. Manning Smith added the extra point with a kick from placement. The seven points represent all the scoring that was turned in before a home-coming crowd of about 8,000.

Gents Are Scared

The young Southern Methodist university team sent the undefeated Gents reeling in the first period and it appeared that the long run of unscored on games for Centenary would end. Robert Wilson caught the first Centenary punt of the game on his own 30 yard line and tearing along the east side of the field race 70 yards to the Gents' goal. It was the first time the Centenary scoring station had been invaded in 13 contests, but an SMU player committed a foul on the play and the touchdown was wiped out. The ball was put in play 15 yards from where the "clipping" had been committed. Play was in Centenary's territory throughout the first period. The second quarter was even.

It was late in the third quarter that the Gents started their touchdown march. It carried them from their own 42-yard line to the visitors' 19-yard stripe as the quarter ended. On the first play in the last period Oslin scored.

Mighty Purdue Crushed By Iowa Hawkeyes By 14 To 6

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 18. (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes arose to heroic heights today to crush mighty Purdue, 14 to 6, and wreck the Boilermakers' chances for the 1933 Western conference gridiron championship.

As the teams left the field at the half, deadlocked in a scoreless tie, the loud speaker blared the news that Michigan and Minnesota had fought to a tie at Ann Harbor. A victory for the favored Boilermakers would give them the lead in the title race, and a mighty cheer went up from the crowd of 16,000.

But the Hawkeyes, who had thoroughly outplayed the Boilermakers in the first two periods, came back twice as tough and about midway of the third session, scored the first touchdown. Another came in the fourth, while Purdue was able to score only through an unusual break in the fourth quarter.

KANGAROOS SMEAR BILLIES

SHERMAN, Nev. 18 (AP)—Austin college's football famine of two-years' duration on the gridiron ended last night as the Kangaroos smeared a 25 to 0 defeat on the Daniel Baker college Hillbillies of Brownwood.

It was Austin college's first victory in 19 starts and the crowd of hometowners gave the team an ovation.

The Kangaroos scored first in the third period. A punt by Hickman, Hillbilly halfback, was downed by the 'Billies on Austin's 39-yard line. The Kangaroos opened a furious assault which ended in Vallee passing to Clements, end, for a touchdown. Cox kicked for the extra point.

Arkansas Gridder's Eligibility To Be Queried; May Take Porkers From Race

Southern Methodist Officials Seek Investigation

DALLAS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Dr. J. S. McIntosh, chairman of the Southern Methodist university athletic council and the university's representative in the Southwest conference, revealed tonight that he had written to the chairman of the University of Arkansas athletic committee, asking an investigation of the eligibility of an Arkansas football player.

Dr. McIntosh declined to divulge the name of the player but it was understood the man was William Solvey, 195-pound lineman. If the player in question were found ineligible, the Razorbacks' chances of winning the Southwest conference football title, for which they are now leading the race, would be threatened seriously.

"Nothing has been done in the form of an official protest," said Dr. McIntosh, "but certain reports have come to me and I feel it my duty to call them to the attention of the Arkansas officials. I did this in a letter mailed a few days ago.

"The foundation for this action was a series of rumors floating about our campus. One of our students saw a picture of the player in question in a newspaper and said he recognized him as a boy with whom he had played in prep school and who played with the University of Nebraska against S. M. U. last fall. The newspaper clipping, containing the picture, also listed the player's home as in Nebraska. In view of these circumstances, I felt it was up to me to ask Arkansas to investigate, although I am positive if anything is wrong, the Arkansas officials are not conscious of it."

Dr. D. A. Penick of the University of Texas, president of the Southwest conference, also was advised and asked for information regarding the player.

Dr. McIntosh was unable to predict the probable result in the event the disputed athlete is found ineligible but said the only parallel case within his memory was in 1915, when Baylor university was found to be playing a man under an assumed name and forfeited all of its games, after winning the conference championship.

McMurry Indians Nose Out Southwestern Pirates, 16-13

GEORGTOWN, Nov. 18. (AP)—The McMurry college Indians battled their way to a 16 to 13 victory over Southwestern university's Pirates here last night. The teams were well matched and the ball moved up and down the field continuously.

The Indians started the scoring early in the first period by putting the ball in position for F. Smith, left halfback, to kick a field goal.

Before the period ended, the Pirates gained the lead by driving for a touchdown. After several long gains by Fikes, Newton and Thomas, Jennings plunged across the goal line. The try for point missed.

Despite the desperate defense of the Pirates, the Indians scored a touchdown and regained the lead. A pass from Harliss to F. Smith was good for the score but Pratt failed to kick the extra point.

O'Donnell Gridders Smother Andrews Team By 27-0 Count

O'DONNELL, Nov. 18. (Special)—O'Donnell high school's football forces effectively stifled Andrews high school, 27-0, here today in a viciously contested game.

Holding Andrews to a single first down, O'Donnell amassed 12 first downs from scrimmage. Moody, McLaurin, and Greenlee played outstanding games for O'Donnell. The game was exceedingly rough, and marred by frequent penalties.

SUL ROSS IN LIE

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Sul Ross of Alpine scored in the first quarter to take a 7 to 0 lead here last night that held good until the third period when Westmoreland junior college tied the score.

Oregon State Slips Fordham By 9-6 Count

Young Red-Head Gathers Opening Kick-Off And Rushes 93 Yards For Touchdown; Field Goal Proves Win

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The rolling hips of Norman Franklin, and the size twelve right hoof of burly Ad Schwammel, shattered Fordham's dream of a trip to the Rose Bowl today as Oregon State slaughtered the Rams 9 to 6 in a sensational intersectional duel.

A crowd of 40,000, shiverine in the dampness and gloom of the Polo Grounds, were as stunned as the mighty Fordham array at the suddenness, then the sustained power of Oregon State's beautifully balanced offense.

Red Head Travels

Smack dab under the opening gun, this 160-pound red-headed Franklin, the youngster they say is the best ball carrier on the Pacific coast, tucked away the open'ng kickoff on his own seven-yard line and never did stop until he had danced his way 93 yards through the Fordham defense for the first touchdown of the game.

It was a magnificent exhibition, the most dazzling broken field running display New York has seen this season, and it completely disorganized a burly Fordham defense that had bowed this fall only to one other team, and that another West Coast invader, St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, 13 to 7, on the same field.

Fordham Takes Fumble

Fordham came back in the second quarter, capitalized one of the fumbles that sprinkled both attacks, and tied the score at 6-6. Hal Joslin let the leather go, giving Fordham the ball on the Oregon State 34-yard line, putting the Beavers in a hole they never did get out of until Ed Danowski plunged over from a yard away for the score. Both tries for the extra point went wide.

Schwammel's try for Oregon State's point had been wide from only 15 yards away. Later he cut loose with a tremendous boot and the ball descended squarely over the cross bar 47 yards away, just good enough for the field goal and Oregon State's winning three point margin.

Princeton Tiger Breaks For 13 To 0 Victory Over Navy

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18. (AP)—For approximately 44 minutes today, a hard tackling Navy team kept Garry Le Van, a restless spirit from Steubenville, Ohio, so well bottled up he had difficulty getting out of his own tracks.

Then the Princeton sophomore turned on the heat, and before spine - tingling fourth period ended a crowd of 40,000 roaring fans saw the 153-pound sprite tear loose on a series of spectacular dashes that set the stage for two touchdowns and gave Fritz Crisler's roaring Tigers their seventh consecutive victory of the season, 13 to 0.

Barney Ross Retains World's Junior Welterweight Title

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—The junior welterweight championship of the world still is the property of Barney Ross of Chicago, also holder of the world's lightweight title.

Ross, engaging in his first battle since he defeated Tony Canzoneri last September, successfully defended his synthetic 140 pound championship against Sammy Fuller rugged Boston Italian, in their ten round battle last night. In the opinion of the majority of the ringside experts Ross was credited with winning eight of the ten rounds, and always master of the situation.

Tommy "Red" Heinz To Tangle With Well-Known "Strong Man" Wrestler Of Detroit, Kanthe, On Wednesday

Two mighty middleweights furnish the main attraction for Lubbock's regular Wednesday night wrestling show this week.

Dick Kanthe, of Detroit, besides being a spectacular performer on the wrestling mat, is also a professional strongman, amazing the fans throughout the country with his feats of strength. Wednesday he comes to grips with Tommy "Red" Heinz, formerly of San Diego, now of Lubbock.

Heins' wrestling career in Lubbock, has been uniformly successful. Opening against Pat Garrison, of Borger, and pinning the oil city grappler, Red has since taken Gorilla Pogi and Andy Tremaine to the cleaners before local audiences. Last week he threw Tremaine, the scientific college boy, after some 23 minutes of close fighting.

A strong semi-final attraction will start proceedings, according to promoter Sled Allen.

WASHINGTON BEATS U. C. L. A.

SEATTLE, Nov. 18. (AP)—Washington's big All-American end candidate, Bill Smith, gave the University of Washington a 10 to 0 victory over the University of California at Los Angeles on this fog-shrouded field today. He scored a touchdown in the first period, tallied the extra point and kicked a field goal in the fourth.

Casper Scrams 103 Yards For First Marker

Fleet-Footed Frog Flyer Runs Back Opening Kick-Off For Touchdown; Christians Outclass Steers All Way

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 18.—A deceptive, fast charging Texas Christian university team ran rough shod over a badly demoralized University of Texas eleven today, to take a brilliant 30 to 0 victory.

From the first kickoff, Texas never had a chance.

Standing three yards behind his goal, Casper, fleet-footed Christian back, took Arnold's high kick and rambled for a touchdown. Time after time in his long journey he wiggled free of would-be tacklers and reached the goal about ten yards ahead of any of his pursuers.

Longhorns Go Cold

This score alone would have been sufficient for a T.C.U. victory, Texas never seriously threatening to score, so cold was their vaunted power offensive stopped by the alert Frogs.

Casper's long run aptly took the heart out of the Texas team. At times Texas fought valiantly, but it was to no avail. The Steers could gain consistently neither through the air nor on the ground. They would gain on one play and lose on the next. The Steers' net gain from running plays was only 25 yards while their overhead offensive was good for only 45 yards.

The Frogs amassed a net total of 279 yards from scrimmage.

Two of the Christian tallies came as a result of intercepted passes which Texas backs were throwing desperately to all corners of the lot.

Field Goal In Second

Wallace kicked a goal from placement in the second period to give the Frogs a ten to nothing lead at the half.

The Frogs scored their second touchdown near the middle of the third period. Taking the ball on their 20 yard line they ran it over a touchdown in six consecutive plays. Featured by line drives by Kitchen and Lawrence and end runs by Casper, who finally took it over.

On the first play Texas attempted after receiving the kickoff, Lester intercepted Johnston's pass and the Christian started another touchdown parade from the Steer 22 yard line, Lawrence taking it over from the seven yard line.

Again Texas sought to recover by taking the kickoff. Again the Christians repeated by intercepting a Texas pass on the first running play and drove to the Texas one foot line as the period ended. Kline took it across on the first play of the last quarter.

The Frogs were credited with 12 first downs to four for Texas. T.C.U. attempted four passes, three of which were incomplete and one was completed for eight yards. Texas tried 13 aerials, of which six were incomplete, three were intercepted and four completed for 45 yards.

Texas lost 61 yards from scrimmage to 22 yards for the Frogs.

Denver Sweeps Utah Out Of Rocky Mountain Grid Power

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 18. (AP) — The University of Utah football dynasty was swept out of power in the Rocky Mountain conference here today by an alert, defensively-brilliant band of Denver Pioneers. The score was 13 to 0 and marked the first conference defeat of the Redskins since 1927.

The dethroned Indians had a wide statistical edge, and except for the pair of touchdowns the Pioneers were on the defensive.

Oklahoma Aggies Winners Of Missouri Valley Title Flag

OMAHA, Nov. 18. (AP)—The Cowboys of Oklahoma A. and M. won the 1933 Missouri Valley conference football championship today by scoring an easy 33 to 13 victory over Creighton. Scoreless until the fourth quarter, Creighton opened up a savage attack against a patched lineup that netted two touchdowns. A Creighton victory would have given the title to Drake.

Michigan Tied By Minnesota; Notre Dame In Victory

Texas Aggies Show Departing Coach They Can Go; Trounce Rice, 27-0

Kipke Men Are Outplayed By Hefty Gophers

Scoreless Tie Knocks Hopes Of National Title; Wolves Still May Win Big Ten Rag In Remaining Game

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18. (AP)—Michigan's dream of a football empire for 1933 was jolted today as the Wolverines were held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota in a desperately fought football duel, waged on a slippery gridiron before 65,000 roaring spectators.

Unbeaten since 1931 in sixteen previous games, Michigan was outplayed by the rampaging Gophers and lucky to escape defeat in one of the biggest upsets of the college season.

Meet Northwestern Next

The tie automatically knocked the Wolverines out of the race for national championship honors, as the list of unbeaten and untied teams was further curtailed, but they remained in the running for the Big Ten championship, nevertheless, with only one more game to play, against Northwestern.

Today's battle sustained the tradition of hard fought rivalry between Michigan and Minnesota. What little there was to choose in a hard-charging struggle between two great lines favored the Gophers as, with one exception, the offensive efforts of both teams were kept between the opposing 30-yard lines.

Northwestern Drops To Ramblers, 7-0

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 18. (AP)—Andy Pilney, the sophomore poet from Chicago's west side, led Notre Dame out of football's wilderness today, with a 7 to 0 victory over Northwestern.

Out of a battle that raged so fiercely between the traditional rivals of the gridiron that three players were helped off the field, Pilney dashed over for the only touchdown in the second period after an "old guard" of the Notre Dame forward wall, Ed Krause, had blocked one of Ollie Olson's punts.

It was the first victory, the first score, for the leg weary Ramblers from South Bend in five games, but it was probably the sweetest of all. It was well deserved, too, as the Ramblers pushed the Wildcats all over the field and piled the impressive total of 256 yards from scrimmage by passes and a slashing attack to only 46 for the Wildcats. They made 13 first downs to only one for their opponents.

ILLINOIS BEATS CHICAGO

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 18. (AP)—Illinois held off an infuriated Chicago team in a last minute goal line stand and won their final Big Ten home game 7 to 0 today.

A pass from Quarterback Jack Beynon to Halfback Crain Portman in the second period from the 19-yard line provided the score.

BUCKEYES TRIUMPH

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 18. (AP)—A 55-yard run in the first two minutes of play by Jack Smith, right halfback, provided the margin for Ohio State's 6 to 0 victory over Wisconsin today.

The Buckeyes threatened early in the second period but the Badgers held on the two-yard line. Wisconsin got into Ohio State territory only three times, once getting to the 15-yard line before a bad pass from center stopped a 55-yard drive.

HERE'S AN UPSET

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18. (AP)—Scrappy little Xavier university upset all the dope today, overturning the massive Indiana football eleven 6 to 0. The touchdown came on the second of four goal-ward drives. The Indiana team was almost helpless to parry.

Nebraska Drops From List Of Unbeaten Teams As Pitt Wins

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18. (AP)—The fighting Cornhuskers from the Nebraska plains stood off a relentless attack from Pittsburgh's football powerhouse for three periods today but weakened against a fresh Panther backfield in the final quarter, yielded a single touchdown and tumbled from the narrowing list of the undefeated and untied. The score was 6-0.

Seven times the thin red line, which had held at bay the best of the Big Six, stopped the Pittsburgh attack within the 20-yard line, twice on the two yard marker, but it was not equal to the task of halting an air raid and it was through that medium Pittsburgh struck for its score.

Brownfield And Crosbyton To Meet Again Friday Following 7-7 Tie Played Last Friday

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 18. (Special)—Having played a 7-7 tie here Friday afternoon, Brownfield and Crosbyton football teams will meet again next Friday afternoon here.

The two teams were runners-up in districts 4 and 3, Lamesa having defeated Brownfield and Spur having beaten Brownfield.

Blackwood scored for Crosbyton in the first part of the second quarter here yesterday afternoon. In the last minutes of the game, Brownfield scored and converted to tie the contest.

Cowboys Lose 10-0 To Miners

Muckers End Home Season With A Flashy Win

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Nov. 18.—Doing everything just about right for the first time this season and flashing a new fight that has been sadly lacking during early season games, the College of Mines eleven closed its home 1933 season today on Kidd Field with a brilliant 10 to 0 victory over Simmons university, of Abilene.

Crippled early in the first quarter when he severely sprained his left wrist, Carl Pee, flashy Cowboy back, was removed from the game and re-entered only once—to kickoff at the start of the second half—and his loss reflected in the Cowhand offensive during the remainder of a hard fought tilt.

Muckers Get Break

A fumble by Thompson, Cowboy safety man, in the second quarter, when he failed to hold Wilson's punt, gave the Muckers the first break of the contest and an opportunity to score. Unable to penetrate the Simmons forward wall in three tries however, and gaining only five yards, Wilson dropped back to his 21-stripe and booted a field goal from placement for the first score.

About midway of the third quarter, Tony Hernandes, midget Mucker back, returned a Cowboy punt deep into Simmons territory, Wilson went off his left end and down the sideline to the Cowboy 12-yard stripe. Hernandes picked up five off right end, Wilson added five and Weaver cracked the line for the touchdown. Wilson chalked up point after from placement to end the scoring.

Creighton Almost Away

Throughout the remainder of the game, the teams battled on fairly even terms in midfield, fumbles and penalties marring the play. Creighton, Cowboy fullback, made a sensational run just before the third period ended when he sucked the Mucker defense in on a fake pass on the Mines 49, lashed off his left end and cutback to be brought down on the Mines six-yard stripe. A 15-yard clipping penalty drawn by the Cowboys backed them up and virtually nullified the gain, however, and the most serious threat of the visitors had been turned back.

TULANE BEATS KENTUCKY

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Tulane put on a power-house offensive in the first half of the game with the University of Kentucky today to score a 34-0 victory. The Wildcats held the Greenies scoreless in the last two quarters.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 18. (AP)—Displaying surprising power, Auburn's Plainsmen today knocked Georgia out of the national championship football picture by administering a decisive 14 to 6 defeat to the Bulldogs.

CRIMSON TIDE WINS

ATLANTA, Nov. 18. (AP)—Georgia Tech's attack failed twice in the shadow of the Alabama goal today and the Crimson Tide won 12 to 9 in a game featured by the play of Howell for Alabama and fruitless long drives by Tech.

VOLS SMOTHER VANDY

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 18. (AP)—Tennessee ran rough shod over Vanderbilt here today to win 33-6. The Volunteers scored three of their touchdowns in the third period. One of them came when Vaughn intercepted a pass and ran 79 yards.

East Texas Lions Win Grid Title In Lone Star Chase

COMMERCE, Nov. 18. (AP)—The East Texas State Teachers college Lions won the championship of the Lone Star conference last night by scoring a 6 to 0 victory over the Southwest Texas Teachers college Bobcats. More than 8,000 spectators watched the game.

The only score of the game came early in the third period. Stevens punted for East Texas to the Bobcats' 11-year line. On the next play the Bobcats were penalized to within one yard of the goal line. Horton made a bad punt for the Bobcats and the ball was grounded on the Bobcats' 12-yard line.

Stevens gained eight yards on a fake pass. Morgan hit the line for two more and then Stevens carried the ball over for the touchdown. Coffey's attempt to convert the extra point from placement failed.

HARVARD BEATS BROWN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 18. (AP)—With the score tied, a Brown center heaved the ball yards over the head of his kicker and gave Harvard a 12-6 victory over the light but scrappy Bears today before a skimpy crowd of 1800.

This fluke enabled the potentially powerful but unimpressive Crimson, which winds up against Yale next week, to gain its first major decision of the season. It outweighed its triple wingback rivals in almost every position, but was out-rushed and out-played most of the distance.

Farmer Aerial Attack Blasts Institute Club

Stopped At Line, Aggies Run Forward Pass Game, Marking Up Four Touchdowns Result Of Overhead Heaves

BY HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 18. Grimly determined to make Matty Bell's final season as football mentor at Texas A. & M. at least a partial success, the Aggies laid down a devastating aerial barrage here today and overwhelmed the Rice Owls 27 to 0.

This was the Aggies' first appearance since they learned that their likable coach would be relieved of his duties at the end of this season. Southwest conference football followers were anxious to see how his players would react. They saw a fighting Aggie eleven take charge of the game from the start, score in second quarter, then turn the affair into a rout.

Owls Are Warned

The contest was only a few minutes old when a long Cadet pass placed the ball on the Rice 25 yard line. The Owls turned the Aggies back on that occasion but that was an indication of what was to come.

The Farmers discovered that they could make long gains through the air when they were stopped at the line. Before the afternoon was over the invaders had passed for four touchdowns and one point after touchdown.

It seemed that virtually every Aggie back could throw far and with uncanny accuracy. Couser did most of the damage to the Owls but he was given able assistance by at least a half dozen teammates. Kimbrough, Barfield and Murray, all rangy players, were on the receiving end of the touchdown aerials, the first named catching two while the dazed Owls looked on helplessly.

The Aggies' air record for the afternoon was 13 completions for 203 yards out of 26 attempts. In addition, Couser raced for long gains through the tackles and around the ends with Randow and big Ted Spencer picking up considerable yardage.

The Owls were not greatly inferior to the Farmers in their running attack but they did not have the deadly passers or the elongated receivers to continue the advance when their ground offense was halted. In addition fumbling, the same weakness that has characterized their play in almost every game, contributed to their downfall.

Fowler Starts Drive

The Aggies started their first touchdown drive from deep in their own territory. "Muggins" Fowler, recovered from injuries which had kept him from the game since early in the season, picked up 11 yards around end. A pass from Randow to Kimbrough advanced the ball into Rice territory.

Kimbrough was on the tossing end of a heave which was good for 26 yards to within nine yards of the Rice goal. Fowler and Randow could make but seven yards on three plays, but Fowler's southpaw flip to Murray in the end zone was good for a touchdown. The Aggie end had a hard fight with a Rice back for the ball and won it.

Thompson kicked goal.

Bell must have told the Farmers something between halves which helped them because they scored in the first two minutes. The Owls received, then lost considerable yardage on running plays. Their punt went out on their 38-yard line. On the next play, Couser passed to Kimbrough for a touchdown. Spencer passed to Murray for the extra point.

A few minutes later, Couser's dashes and a flip from Spencer to Kimbrough, placed the ball on the Rice 33-yard line. Couser gained some more, then passed to Murray for a first down on the Rice 13-yard stripe. A fumbled backward pass set the Aggies back, but Spencer's flip to Murray offset the damage, then Couser passed to Kimbrough for the touchdown, Thompson missed goal.

The Aggies were content to let that margin stand until late in the fourth period. Then Couser swung into action again advancing the ball on straight football to the Rice 13-yard line. Varying his signals, he passed to Barfield for the final touchdown. Godwin kicked goal.

The Aggie line stopped every Rice advance before it reached the stage of a threat. Murray and Robertson, ends, Jordan and Cummings, tackles, and Woodland, guard, showed to good advantage. The left side of the Rice forward wall, Fred Lauterback, tackle, and Haley, end, halted several Aggie marches in the first half. Lagow turned in a neat performance at guard.

Defeat Just On The Horizon

The educated toe of Bill Corbus, Stanford's All-America guard, spelled defeat for Southern California for the first time in more than two years when he kicked two field goals. The picture shows the first of the goals in the air. The second gave the Indians a 13-7 victory.

Army Finds Stubborn Defense In Penn Cadets; Win, 12 To 0

Texas Jack Buckler Again Is Pain To Cadet Enemies; Goes Over For Both Touchdowns After Solving Defense

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 18. (AP)—Halted time and again by the surprising defensive strength of Pennsylvania Military college, Army came on with a rush in the fourth quarter today to score two touchdowns, earn a 12-0 victory and stretch its winning streak through eight successive games without defeat or tie.

Blanked for three periods in a contest the West Point Cadets had been expected to win decisively without the necessity of calling on its regulars, Army finally came to life in the final quarter to save itself from what threatened to develop into one of the major upsets of an already bewildering season.

And as has been the case in nearly every other one of the Cadets' victories, it was Texas Jack Buckler who finally solved the problem Penn Military's tight defense had presented.

Buckler Gets Started

Buckler started late in the third quarter with a series of smashes off tackle and end sweeps and had carried the ball to the P. M. C. 21 yard line as the period ended. As the fourth opened, Buckler swirled through tackle for the rest of the yardage and the first touchdown of the game.

A few seconds later, just to make it decisive, Buckler and Paul Johnson alternated in smashes at the Pennsylvanians' line to carry the ball from midfield to the P. M. C. eight - yard marker. Then Buckler flew wide around end for the second score.

Indoor Play-Off Series To Start Tomorrow Night

The regular scheduled season at an end, the four leading members of the Lubbock Indoor baseball league will inaugurate a three-game play-off series, according to the "Shaughnessy system." Monday night at the Auditorium.

The season ended last week with the J. & J. Sports, champions of the summer outdoor softball association, in top place, having won eight games while losing two. The team beat the Lydick Roofers and lost to Huie-Ribble last week.

Mitchell's Cafe team is second, with seven wins and two losses. Third and fourth places go to Avalanche-Journal and Lydick Roofing Co., each with six victories and four defeats.

Huie-Ribble finished in fourth place with five victories and as many defeats, but the tie for third eliminates the Huie-Ribble team from the play-off foursome.

Trailing next in order are the Federal Employees, Peoples Ice and J. C. Penney, the latter team finishing without winning a single game in eight starts.

Mitchell's Cafe will meet the Lydick Roofing company in the first game Monday night, with J. & J. playing Avalanche-Journal in the second. On Tuesday night, the same teams play, reversing the time. In other words, J. & J. will play the Publishers in the first game.

If third games are necessary, they will be played Friday night, otherwise the play-off between the winners will start, to be continued a week from tomorrow night.

Dougal Russell Gets Loose On Two Occasions To Run 48 And 39 Yards For Winning Touchdowns At Manhattan

(By The Associated Press)

MANHATTAN Kas. Nov 18—Dougal Russell, a swivel-hipped will o' the wisp from McDonald, Pa., faded like a phantom through the Oklahoma Sooners on two long touchdown dashes to give Kansas State college a 14-0 victory here today and the runnerup honor in the Big Six football race, the highest mark Bo McMillin's Purple crew ever achieved in the conference.

The ace 178-pound halfback raced 49 yards for his first touchdown, in the second period, and 38 yards for the other and his remarkable, careening sprints completely overshadowed the smashing line charges manned by Captain Ralph Graham.

JAYHAWKERS WIN

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 18. (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawkers turned back the Cyclones of Iowa State here today, 20 to 6, breaking a jinx which had kept the K. U. eleven scoreless in five games. A pass, Manning to Casini, a 35-yard run by White and a 40-yard dash off tackle by O. Nesmith, scored Kansas' touchdowns. Allender made a pretty 56-yard broken field run to count for Iowa State.

BEARS BEAT MISSOURI

ST LOUIS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Led by Halfbacks Brown and Droke, who scored three and two touchdowns, respectively, the Washington University Bears swamped the University of Missouri Tiger, 33 to 7, before a home-coming crowd of 9,000 here today. BOWIE OF EL PASO

EL PASO, Nov. 18 (AP)—By trouncing Ysleta 38 to 0 at Ysleta yesterday, Bowie High school of El Paso won the District Four championship.

The Bowie Bears an all Mexican eleven coached by Guy Davidson, former Denton Teachers footballer, have not lost a game this season in competition with other high schools but dropped a six to two decision to the New Mexico Aggie freshmen. In winning the district title, the Bears scored victories over El Paso high, Austin (El Paso) High, Fabens and Ysletas, winding up the regular season today.

Razorbacks Thump Hendrix College For 63-0 Victory

(By The Associated Press)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. Nov. 18. — An Arkansas scoring machine which gained momentum as the game progressed ran roughshod over Hendrix college here today to pile up a lopsided 63 to 0 score. Running wild, the Razorbacks scored seven touchdowns in the second half.

Hendrix threatened to score on the second play of the game when Glenn, halfback, passed 40 yards to Bush, who was downed on the Arkansas 5-yard line. There the startled Razorbacks stiffened and repulsed the Hendrix line smashes.

After this failure to break through the Arkansas defense, Hendrix never again threatened.

Arkansas' first score came when Geiser and Biddle carried the ball to the Hendrix 5-yard line, where Biddle bucked it over.

Geiser, diminutive Arkansas back, took a short pass from LaForge and raced 56 yards for the Razorbacks, second score.

Biddle tore through the line for Arkansas's third touchdown, Criswell made a 55-yard run for the fourth and LaForge stepped over the goal line on a short play for the fifth.

Jordan Scores Twice

G. Jordan scored Arkansas' sixth and seventh touchdowns, one on a 39-yard sprint through a broken field. Criswell converted an intercepted pass into the eighth score after running it back 39 yards. LaForge climaxed the free scoring with a 55-yard run just a few seconds before the game ended.

Both teams resorted to frequent passes, Arkansas completing eight out of 21 for a total gain of 171 yards. Hendrix made six good out of 15 for 116 yards.

P. Rucker and Lake, Arkansas ends, wreaked havoc on the defense against Hendrix running plays.

Score by periods:

Arkansas	7	7	21	28	—63

Arkansas scoring: Touchdowns, Biddle 2; LaForge 2; Criswell 2; G. Jordan 2; Geiser. Points after touchdown, Geiser 7 (all placements); Hagen 2 (placements).

Alabama has played ten intersectional games since 1922, winning seven, losing two and tying one.

two countries. It involves not only credits but tariff matters; charges of dumping against the Soviet union and counter charges surrounding American rulings on gold.

Russia wants to buy machinery, cotton, meat products and other goods in this country. The United States is anxious to sell. But to buy, the Soviet union must be given satisfactory long term credits and both sides have been bargaining over this and interest rates for months.

To Buy Heavily

Former Senator Smith W. Brookhart, a trade adviser to the farm adjustment administration, who has acted as intermediary in some of the trade parleys, has asserted that Russia would buy over $500,000,000 in American commodities in the near future if credit could be arranged.

He indicated that he looked for the conclusion soon of a deal involving between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 in American cotton; about $30,000,000 in textiles and possibly $30,000,000 in railroad equipment.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP) — Excitement continued to abate in the financial markets today and Wall street trading had a rather routine appearance.

With dollar fluctuations narrowing — their extreme changes were the smallest in some time—the share market was quiet and steady. U. S. government bonds, which had made fairly sharp recoveries yesterday, drifted downward, treasuries closing with net losses of three to seventeen thirty-seconds of a point though two liberties showed small gains. Chicago wheat weakened. Silver futures rallied here while spot metal declined 1 1-4 cents to 43 3-8 cents an ounce. Cotton was narrowly changed.

American currency ruled under the foreign monies, but the confused and wild gyrations had disappeared. No doubt the impression had gained weight that with the R. F. C. gold price unchanged at $33.56 since Tuesday the present policy was toward dollar steadiness, and speculators seemed to have lost interest.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18. (AP)—An early advancement week-end liquidation and some hedge selling in cotton today but offerings were absorbed at setbacks of 13 to 16 points. Shorts covered at the lows and there was some support induced by a firm closing of stocks. Prices rallied moderately and the market closed steady, net unchanged to 2 points up.

The opening was steady as Liverpool cables were a shade better than due and sterling rallied to 5.28. First trades here showed no change to 2 points down and as stocks opened slightly firmer and sterling maintained its gain December advanced to 9.99 and March to 10.25 up 5 points over yesterday's close.

Later a recession in wheat caused considerable week-end liquidation with some hedge selling and December droppd to 9.86 and March to 10.11 down 13 to 16 points from the early highs and 8 to 9 points under yesterday's close. In the final trading however, shorts covering and a firm closing of stocks caused prices to rally 9 points from the lows. December closed at 9.95 or 1 point net higher for the day and March closed at 10.20 or net unchanged for the day.

Port receipts 35,131, for season 4,240,754, last season 4,208,512. Exports 17,236, for season 2,964,651, last season 2,671,425. Port stock 4,029,373, last year 4,650,124. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 168,503, last year 143,590. Spot sales at southern markets 31,124, last year 42,913.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Cotton traders evidently found little of a stimulating character in today's news and business was quiet.

After selling up to 10.29 early, March reacted to 10.16 under liquidation and scattered selling, but recovered to 10.22. The general market closed steady, net 2 points lower to 3 points higher.

There was some buying on relatively steady Liverpool cables but it was offset by liquidation and some overnight selling orders from the south. Offerings were light however, and markets was steady throughout the session. Closing prices showed rallies of 3 to 8 points from the lowest.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at U. S. ports was estimated at 175,000 bales against 150,000 last year.

FDR Speaks

we remember that if the early settlers had been content to remain on the coast, there would have been no Georgia today.

"It was the spirit of moving forward that led to the exploration of the great domain of Piedmont and mountains that drove the western border of the colony to the very banks of the Mississippi river itself.

"In all those years of the pioneer, there were the doubting Thomases, there was the persistent opposition of those who feared change of those who played the part of the mule who had to be goaded to get him out of the stable."

This left no doubt among listeners that he intended to go ahead with his world gold control policy in his pursuit of a managed currency and commodity dollar.

plained, "but where I think its policies are at fault, I expect to try to win the party leaders to my view. It would destroy my usefulness to do otherwise."

Drilled in the presents of Bailey senior, who was regarded as one of the greatest constitutional lawyers of his generation and once refused an offer of President Taft of a place on the supreme court, young "Joe" is a firm believer in the ultimate soundness of the federal constitution, as a test of new governmental tendencies.

As to the national recovery act and the various governmental functions set up under its authority, Bailey says the final test of that authority will rest with the supreme court.

Although he took a stand of stern opposition when present farm relief measures were being drafted in congress, Bailey is willing to see them tried out but thinks "there will be no real relief so long as we have a high tariff." He once described the agricultural recovery act as "a shot in the arm, which will make dope fiends of our farmers."

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18. Around 70,000 fat steers entered in the American royal livestock show will be sold next week and carlot entries at the international in Chicago this year are expected to be large. dean.

"This is a holiday."

"Who said it was a holiday? You're not running this school. Not by a long ways. What's your name, young man?"

"I don't know."

The student told his name after the dean pushed him away from the entrance and asked him again. None entered the building, however, until Stubbs came over and announced that the other students had decided to give in. As the students started toward their classrooms, one yelled "Somebody keep me out."

The trouble all began during the football game Friday afternoon when two freshmen carried a placard before the grandstand announcing: "Beat Baylor! No school Tomorrow." College officials saw it and had a cheer leader announce that there would be school, regardless of who won the game.

Last year after Tech had defeated Baylor, 14 to 2, students carried a similar placard, barricaded and chained the doors. It worked then, school authorities allowing a holiday. But yesterday it was a different story.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, was out of the city yesterday, leaving the various deans in charge of school affairs.

"It's utter foolishness," opined Dean Gordon.

"It was a noble experiment," voiced a student.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Wheat tumbled almost 3 cents today, influenced by trade reports that no stabilization of the dollar would be attempted based on the price of gold.

Downturns of wheat values were in disregard of unofficial explanations that the gold value of the dollar would not be permanently fixed until commodity prices were at a level which satisfied the Washington administration. Stop-loss selling of wheat developed, and lowest prices both of the day and the week were reached just at the last.

Wheat closed unsteady, 2 3-8 to 2 7-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 down, oats 3-4 to 1 cent off, and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Paul Mitchell Must Die On Dec. 27; Sentence Is Pronounced On Saturday

case," said Judge Pharr, referring particularly to Mitchell's having counsel although he could not afford to pay defenders.

First In This County

"This is the first such sentence to be pronounced in this county after more than 40 years since the beginning and organization of the county," the judge continued.

Today, he commented, "young men disregard, disrespect, and disobey, and trample under their feet, the laws of their state, their nation, and their God."

"May the record of this case be a warning to those that might be prone to violate the laws of this state, that they may know that they can not disobey the laws of their state, their nation, and their God and creator, and 'get away with it' always."

Solemn Words Flow

At 10:55 a. m., Judge Pharr began the awaited sentence, which had seemed hours rather than minutes in the reaching:

"It is the order of the court that the defendant, Paul Mitchell, who has been adjudged to be guilty of the offense of robbery with firearms, and whose punishment has been assessed by the verdict of the jury at death, shall before the hour of sunrise on Wednesday, the 27th day of December, A. D., 1933, at Huntsville, in Walker county, Texas, be electrocuted by causing to pass through the body of Paul Mitchell a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death, and the application and continuance of such current through the body of Paul Mitchell until he is dead."

Wincing, the young wife, who had been choking convulsively in an attempt to suppress tears, began to cry. There was no outburst. She looked at the back of her erect young husband and then turned her gaze to the floor again. The mother was weeping too.

Time Purposely Delayed

Judge Pharr, after completing sentence, said he had "purposely placed the time after the Christmas holidays to give you more time to think and to prepare to meet your maker and your creator."

Between his wife and his mother, accompanied by J. P. Posey and Bedford Carpenter, deputy sheriffs, Mitchell left the courtroom, speaking to the two women in low tones.

Sheriff Tom Abel whose information led to Mitchell's arrest in Kingsville, January 29, after an accomplice had confessed, was in the courtroom.

Mitchell's home was at Amarillo.

The sheriff and Judge Pharr will take Mitchell to Huntsville this week, possibly Wednesday.

Remainder of the sentence follows:

"And the clerk of this court shall within ten days issue a death warrant in accordance with this sentence and direct the same to the warden of the state penitentiary of the state of Texas at Huntsville, Texas, and deliver same to the sheriff of Lubbock county, Texas, to be delivered by said sheriff to the warden of the state penitentiary who shall execute the same in accordance with the law in such case provided. And the said defendant, Paul Mitchell, shall be delivered to the warden of the state penitentiary of the state of Texas at Huntsville, Texas, with the death warrant in this cause to await the execution of this sentence."

Let us ask that when driving in Lubbock THAT YOU PLEASE DRIVE CAREFULLY . . . help avoid tragedies, like the one which happened Tuesday afternoon, when little 8-year-old Robert Adams lost his life. The accident was unavoidable . . . . STILL A CHILD DOESN'T understand the meaning of fear toward automobiles, for that reason we must be more careful in driving near any of the schools in Lubbock. We have cautioned our drivers to drive slowly when nearing any of the schools.

CROSSED EYES

Made Straight And Useful Without Surgery

WILLIAM WATSON
Age 5

The above represents condition of eyes, December 19th, 1928, when brought to me. An extremely bad case of converging squint, combined with a pronounced case of left Hyper-Esetropia.

Really, I did not want to accept the case. I guaranteed no satisfactory results as I was afraid it was too bad for my method, but at the request of the boy's father, I accepted case subject to possible results, which finally proved highly satisfactory, and I was paid in full for services.

Dr. A. F. Woods

WILLIAM WATSON
Age 8

Above photograph represents condition of eyes soon after I took the case showing how quickly I put the eyes under control, causing him to begin using both eyes, giving him bi-nocular vision. My system of treatment for straightening crossed eyes is successful without drugs, operation, or mechanical devices. This little man has near normal vision in both eyes now, with my correction. This is only one of many past and present patients.

SIMPLE CASES CAN BECOME COMPLICATED, if neglected too long. And while we invite complicated cases, we much prefer to have them before they become serious and difficult.

Due to the large volume of business given us, we have been unable, at times, to give our usually prompt SERVICE, which we regret. BUT WE NOW HAVE ADDED some new and latest equipment which will make it possible, we hope, to serve you with our customary promptness.

ONE THING IS CERTAIN

The outright ownership of good land is safe and enduring. Regardless of the value of the dollar, land which produces the essentials of life can demand its proportionate share.

Every other form of wealth is only temporary at its best. In times like these, its rapidly changing value is highly speculative.

PLAY SAFE

Campaign For Funds Begins At Breakfast

Hundred And Fifty Workers Will Receive Instructions And Prospect Cards When They Meet Tuesday Morning

AN ANNUAL financial drive for Lubbock Boy Scouts will begin Tuesday morning when about 150 men workers meet at 7:30 o'clock in the Lubbock hotel for breakfast, for which each will pay from his own pocket, and to receive instructions and prospect cards.

Goal of the drive, which will continue through the week is $3,000 for a year's upkeep of the Boy Scout movement in Lubbock. Dr. F. B. Malone is commissioner of the campaign.

For Lubbock District

"The campaign is for the Lubbock district, to maintain scout headquarters and to give service to volunteer leaders, the men actually handling the boys," said D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council executive here.

"The organization can not be maintained by those who have boys in scouting, for the reason that a great majority of the boys in scouting come from the families of laborers, mechanics clerks, widows, teachers, and so forth, people who are unable to contribute anything or at least very little to the support of the organization for training of, and service to, the scout leaders."

The area chieftain added that "there are a few boys in scouting whose parents are able to contribute to the support of scouting and these people are doing so."

Referring to advancement in rank, organization and membership, civic service, and training in Lubbock and other area scout ranks Executive Jennings commented:

"Benefits Community"

"Scouting is not just for the benefit of the boys who are scouts. Indirectly it benefits the entire community through its service to the boys who are in scouting."

Illustrating, the executive said first class scouts seldom were delinquent in behavior. Thirty per cent, or 8 per cent more than the national average, of scouts in the council have attained first class rank, and Lubbock's percentage is even higher, said Executive Jennings. One hundred 10 scouts have been advanced to the rank of Eagle, highest in scouting, in this council.

"Boys who advance to first class and beyond," the area chieftain reminded, "are receiving excellent training through the merit badge program, gaining knowledge of a great many different useful arts, crafts, sciences, and so forth."

Scoutmasters Listed

Scoutmasters in the drive, corps which is organized on a troop basis, will be Dr. C. C. Craig, R. J. Allen, Amos Howard, G. E. Damewood, and Roy Furr. Each of five scoutmasters has five patrol leaders, each of whom has five workers.

J. A. Raley, jr. is chairman of the district finance committee. County Judge E. L. Pitts and W. C. Woods are the other members.

Lubbock has eight troops with 171 scouts.

With the council's 13th training course under way here and two others scheduled for the year, Executive Jennings commented:

"Without proper financial support, training of volunteer leaders, one of the major functions of the headquarters office, can not be carried on."

A Sea Scout ship is in process of formation here.

Men and women having boys of Cub age, 9, 10, 11 years old, and other persons will meet at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the First Presbyterian church to form a Cub leaders training class, in which Executive Jennings, Doctor Craig, and T. F. West will be instructors.

The Cub movement is for boys of pre-scout age, with the home and neighborhood as its centers, mothers playing an important part in supervision. A Cub pack is to be organized here soon.

Program Plans For P-TA Convention Announced

BY MRS. J. M. CRAIN
Special Correspondent

CLAUDE, Nov. 18, (Special)—"Make the convention of practical help for every delegate" has been the watchword of the executive committee of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers who planned the program for the twenty-fifth annual convention to be held in Sherman, November 20-23, with headquarters at the Grayson Hotel. Instead of so many formal addresses as heretofore, much of the time will be given to conferences and discussions of the actual problems and needs of delegates interested in the organization and administration of parent-teacher associations.

The convention for the delegates will open informally Monday afternoon with the registration of delegates, a luncheon for the board of managers, meeting of the state board, a study and interpretation of exhibits presenting a visual answer to the question, "What are the services of the state and national congress to the parent-teacher associations and individual members?" Registration of board members and a meeting of the executive committee are scheduled for the morning session.

Mrs. A. F. Wood, Athens, state president of Texas congress, will preside at the formal opening to begin at 9 a. m. Tuesday. Greetings, reports of credentials, rules, election and convention committees, treasurer, and nominating committee, are the chief features on this part of the program.

Talks on Theme

"The Child and His Community," the central theme of the convention, will be introduced by the national representative, Mrs. Chas. E. Roe, Denver, Colorado, at the banquet Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, founder of the Texas congress and national chairman of thrift, will extend greetings.

Mrs. Roe will speak on the subject, "Leaders and Members," at the afternoon session. Other speakers and the topics for this program are: Mrs. L. E. Ledbetter, state chairman of Summer Round-Up, and Dr. Edythe Hershey, Dallas, on the Summer Round-Up; Dr. E. M. Perry, Dallas, problems of the adjustment of the Child in the school.

Giving of numbers to the city and county councils whose by-laws have been approved since January, 1933, is an innovation for this convention. In case any council has not had its by-laws arpproved by the state board since January, kindly attend to this important matter at once and be ready to receive a number at the designated time.

Informal "at-homes" are to be held both Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 8:00 until 9:30 so that ample time for the delegates to meet the direcors and state chairmen for consultation and informal conferences will be given. Formal conferences on parliamentary procedure, high schools, and city councils will be conducted at this same hour with the respective state chairmen presiding.

Other outstanding features on program for Wednesday morning are: A parent education conference with Miss Evelyn Eastman, parent education specialist of Dallas public schools, listed as the main speaker; report of life membership chairman; balloting on election of officers; a discussion conference on character education. Miss Marian Telford, national chairman of safety, will speak at the evening session and Miss Eastman will conduct the radio listening group. Organization meeting of the board of managers

Christmas Parties Are Being Arranged By Clubs; Many Are To Have Thanksgiving Dinners

Organization Affairs Are Prominent On Calendars For The Weeks Between Now And The First Of The Year; Gifts To Be Exchanged At Yuletide Affairs

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Of The Woman's Staff

BETWEEN now and the first of the year there will be, in all probability, more organization socials than during any of the months of the year following. Holiday parties are on the calendar for most societies.

Thanksgiving dinners will soon be followed by Christmas parties and a number of these events have already been arranged. Some of them are annual occasions.

In needle clubs, particularly, it is the custom for members to draw names early in the fall. This is a preliminary to the exchange of gifts at the Christmas parties. Dinners are more popular now than at almost any season and many of these meals will be featured by turkey with "all the fixings." Holiday occasions are festive ones and the warm colors traditionally associated with the season allow hostesses an opportunity to make their entertaining colorful.

Men To Attend

A Thanksgiving covered dish supper is being arranged for 6:30 o'clock Friday evening by members of the Woman's class in First Christian church. Husbands of the members will be guests and the hostess groups will be those led by Mrs. R. S. Mays and Mrs. L. W Squyres.

The Rainbow Assembly has planned a Thanksgiving dinner for Tuesday evening, November 28, at the Masonic hall. On the same evening, members of the Calvary Baptist Young Women's auxiliary are to have a Thanksgiving dinner at that church. Lindy Needle club members will have a Thanksgiving dinner that day at the W. L. Bradshaw home.

An annual Thanksgiving banquet is being planned by members of the young people's department of the First Presbyterian church. The meal will be served in the church basement Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

These Arrange Affair

Group leaders are chairmen of various committees arranging for the affair. These are the following: Program—Pat Marse; tickets and invitations—Miss Helen Eiland; membership and place cards—Miss Myrtle Marian Shaw.

The Pilgrim theme is to be carried out in appointments.

The Merry Sixteen Needle club Thanksgiving party is to be this week with Mrs. W. G. Lofland and this club will have a Christmas party on the third Friday in December with Mrs. Frank Lovelace.

The Stitch and Chatter Needle club Christmas party is to be on or near December 19. Members of this club have already drawn names for the exchange of Christmas gifts.

Madonna circle members of the Child Conservation League are to have a Christmas party on December 15 and members of the Sunshine circle are planning a Christmas party for their children on December 20.

On Tuesday, a Thanksgiving covered dish luncheon will be attended by members of the First Baptist Gleaners class. This event will be at 1 p. m. with Mrs. Ford Benham.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

"LUBBOCK, the Tulip City of the Southwest."

How does that sound? And what do you think of the idea?

* * *

Mrs. A. B. Cunningham has visions of Lubbock as a city of color in the spring and she feels that some concerted action of the citizens might bring pleasure to people here as well as fame and visitors—and all through the planting of tulips.

She thinks this town might become analogous to Bellingham, Washington, "the tulip city of the Northwest", or to a town in Michigan that bears the same title. She believes, too, that we might become famous for something beside sand storms along in March and April.

Between now and Christmas, tulips should be planted. It is better to plant them now than later and Mrs. Cunningham is hoping that every citizen will plant tulips to help make this town a place of beauty during those cold days next spring. She, along with many others, has found that tulips grow well here.

* * *

Now that is a grand idea and if we work at it for several years there is no reason why this can't be a city that is noted for its tulips. If you plant a few bulbs this year, you will have blossoms in the spring. Then on the following year you will have just as many blossoms again, because the bulbs multiply. If people have enough flowers to draw attention next spring, others will admire them and plant them on the following fall—because it has been pretty well demonstrated here that beauty encourages more beauty.

There are some flowers for which this place will never become famous. There are others that grow well and produce beautiful blossoms. We should encourage these latter. That is one reason why Mrs. Cunningham's dream should receive support. Why not a city that is famous for beauty in the spring, rather than one that has a reputation for nothing better than sand? If Bellingham and other places can draw visitors from hundreds of miles to look at the tulips, why couldn't we do the same thing?

It is a good idea. Your part is to buy tulips and plant them now.

No florist has been consulted on this, but I have an idea that if the demand is great enough they will sell the bulbs at better prices than even you have anticipated. Mrs. Cunningham has an excellent suggestion and one that should be supported by citizens, for everyone is going to benefit from things that help bring beauty to the city. Buy your tulips today.

NO AUDITION

THERE will be no Atwater-Kent radio audition this year—such as has been held every year recently to select outstanding young singers. Mrs. O. K. Peters, who is the audition chairman in the Lubbock Music club, has received word from the Texas headquarters office in Dallas that there will be no audition.

PLANT LILIES, TOO

THERE is another idea on flowers that Mrs. Cunningham has. She wants people who are looking for beauty to plant regal lilies, which bloom in June.

This is the time to plant the bulbs and they grow well in this particular soil and climate. They bloom later than the tulips but are no less beautiful and she believes that people will get a great deal of enjoyment out of their cultivation.

* * *

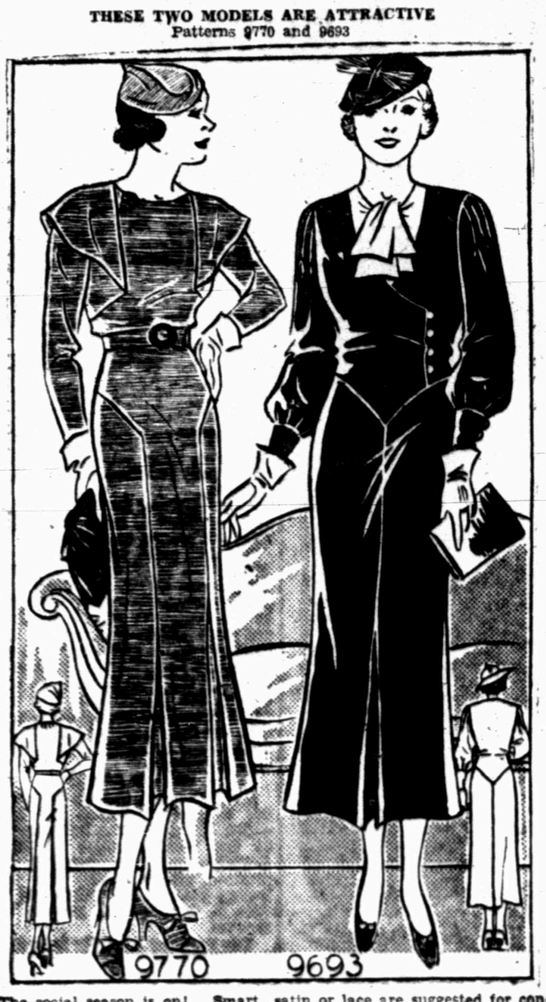

There once was a tradition, you know, that very little would grow in this section. Women who came from other sections of the country often sighed because they believed that they could not have beautiful flowers in their gardens here. Now, however, it has been discovered that it all depends upon what you attempt to grow. There are flowers that bloom as beautifully here as they do in any section, so it is up to flower lovers to make a choice.

* * *

If you aren't convinced about these things, get some tulip and lily bulbs and plant them this fall. Then, if you like the results, plant more next fall. In a few years we might have enough beauty spots for any town and person. Let's try it.

Marian Martin Pattern

THESE TWO MODELS ARE ATTRACTIVE
Patterns 9770 and 9693

The social season is on! Smart women choose their frocks with an eye to style and to the utmost in use. This year fabrics are really wearable as well as lovely to look at. As to color, black remains a first choice with green, reds, and browns close seconds. Here are two of the smartest things we've done in some time!

Pattern 9770, as sketched, is fashioned of a mossy crepe, and is a perfect bridge or matinee gown with a jeweled clip or ribbon bow to accent its broad neckline. If you spend many days in town, you'll like it tailored of wool or bengaline with a nobby wooden clip for trim; or if you dine out, dance or play cards in the evening a great deal, velvet, or satin would give just the correct note of formality—and choose rhinestones. You see how this one frock can fill any niche in your wardrobe by the proper selection of fabric? Simple lines are most flattering—we specially stress the graceful capelets and slender skirt panels.

Pattern 9693 would be smart in wool, and equally charming in satin, crepe, faille or velvet. Bengaline, satin or lace are suggested for contrast. And when your figure is a bit too heavy, you can't choose better lines than this coat-like bodice, slim skirt and lovely sleeves.

Pattern 9770 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4 1-4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Pattern 9693 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric and 1-2 yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

The winter edition of the Marion Martin pattern book shows all the new style highlights This book will guide you to a distinctive wardrobe at little cost. Send for it today, price of pattern book fifteen cents, book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Send your order to The Morning Avalanche Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

President Dines Out Once

President Roosevelt will attend only one official function outside the White House—the dinner given by the vice-president, an affair usually held at the hotel where the vice-president resides. Ordinarily, the President also attends dinners given by cabinet members.

Old members of Washington society recall that these cabinet dinners became so dull that President Theodore Roosevelt decided to shake up matters when his postmaster-general gave a dinner. The President waited uptil the affair was well advanced whereupon he ordered everyone away from the table, and then ordered them to scramble back for new chairs.

Refreshments Served

In recent years there have been no refreshments, other than glasses of water, served those attending the receptions. But, Mrs. Roosevelt will serve something light — probably chilled fruit juice and small cakes.

The social season is being carried out despite the nation's emergency, because Mr. Roosevelt feels that some social gatherings are necessary for the men who meet otherwise only under the strain of office pressure.

The change will be made in the tone of the affairs—"simple, very simple," Mrs. Roosevelt emphasizes.

Drab Colors Of Laboratories At Tech Are Being Eliminated

As decreed by the Gargoyle club of the Texas Technological college architectural department, the drab colors of laboratory aprons which have been worn in the past have been put aside and a colorful array is taking their place. Smocks of blue, orange, lavender, and brown are being worn by the architectural engineers, architects, commercial artists, and textile fabric designers, respectively. Seniors of all groups wear gray.

The Tech architectural department, a member of the International Print Guild, received its first print this week—a lithograph of grain elevators and railway trains. This is to be added to the Carnegie collection now almost complete.

Stressed in New Styles of
EVENING GOWNS

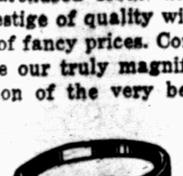

A favorite fashion magazine says, "If you have good curves show them" . . . and so these evening Dresses, that fit like a glove. But if you don't cut such a fine "figger" then it's the crisp stiffened fabrics for you. They do things for any woman.
They're all here, anxious for the gay whirl.

Twin Brother Of Pastor To Preach

The Rev. J. A. Welch of Oklahoma City has arrived to begin a revival today at the Central Baptist church. He will be assisted by his twin brother, the Rev. J. D. Welch, pastor of the church.

The revival will continue through Sunday, December 3.

The Oklahoma minister and his brother studied for the ministry at the same time. The Rev. J. A. Welch is pastor of the Central Baptist church in Oklahoma City.

Cost Is High

12 Cents Used To Collect Tax

BIG SPRING, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Each year 12 cents at least is spent in collecting a 15-cent tax from the Atlantic Oil Producing Co., which has an "undeveloped royalty" acreage in Kennebec Heights, in the Big Spring Independent School district.

The company each year writes the district collector for a statement of taxes on the property; the collector sends his claim, the oil company sends the check and the collector mails back a receipt.

Stationary costs probably increased the expenses to at least 15 cents, the value of the assessment. Value of the rendition is given as $15.

Poisoning Work To Begin In Area

Plans for a raven or crow poisoning campaign for South Plains counties to start about January 1, are being made by J. M. Hill, jr., junior biologist of the U. S. biological survey. Authority for the campaign has been received from state headquarters in San Antonio.

Counties included in the campaign are: Dickens, Scurry, Jones, Taylor, Howard, Martin, Lynn, Dawson, Terry.

"We will do some trapping for ravens, as well as poisoning work," Mr. Hill said. "We have made one or two traps that have been successful."

To Be Done By Counties

The work will be done through county agents and the commissioners' courts, for ranchers and farmers. There has been heavy damage to growing crops and to harvested crops this past late summer and fall, Mr. Hill said. A trap was built by Mr. Hill some months ago in Lynn county and 14 ravens were caught the first few days.

To Poison Prairie Dogs In Childress County

Poisoning of prairie dogs in Childress county, with federal funds from the RFC being used to pay for labor, is to begin on January 8, according to J. M. Hill, jr., junior biologist of the U. S. Biological Survey in charge of work in Northwest Texas.

J. E. Boog-Scott, Lubbock, state biologist assistant, is to be in charge of the work. Six hundred working days have been alloted to Childress county and those employed will be paid on a daily basis.

Martin, Howard and Dawson counties also have been given authority to stage poisoning campaigns but plans are not complete for the work. Scarcity of suitable men as foremen in charge of the projects is delaying the completion of plans for the work.

Mr. Boog-Scott will work with the county agent at Childress in planning and executing the drive.

Changes Made In O'Donnell School Administrative Group

O'DONNELL, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Several changes have been made in the administrative force of the O'Donnell school district.

Following resignation of W. A. Tredway as secretary, E. E. Gilbreath, superintendent, was named to that post. Mr. Tredway resigned after five years of service. By appointing the school superintendent to the post, additional expense of a paid secretary is removed.

Mrs. Pauline Campbell, editor of the O'Donnell Index, was named collector.

SCOFIELD BIBLE CLASS

The lesson for next Monday evening in the Scofield Bible class is The Time of the Gentiles or the period from 606 B. C. down to the present time. It is the time when Israel is set aside and the rulership of the world is in the hands of the Gentile nations. This time of the Gentiles will not last forever but the scriptures plainly tell us that God will give the rulership of the world in to the hands of Israel. The question is, How long will it be until this time comes? What has the present world crisis to do with it? Is Israel coming to her own? What meaning has the fact that thousands of Jews are returning to Palestine? The class meets every Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Church of the Nazarene.

Discussion On Codes

It was impossible for the fair practice codes signed in Washington to be perfect, however eagerly the government may have sought this goal.

Some of the codes have been in operation long enough for their defects and shortcomings in various directions to be revealed.

An example of this now is the subject of discussion in Boston. It involves the dairymen's code. The director of the Massachusetts division on the necessities of life, a state organization apparently formed to look after the interests of the customer, says milk prices prescribed in the code are exorbitant. Certain stores are willing to sell at prices less than the code prescribes and claim they can realize a fair profit. If they do this, though, they will invite the disapproval of Washington and the charge of being unpatriotic.

This and other situations of like kind eventually may be cleared up. They need to be if the code system is to have the degree of public support required for its success.

LAWS' LOOPHOLES

Daniel G. Roper, secretary of commerce, believes that lawyers who are ready to resort to "every loophole and technicality" to aid their clients must bear a share of responsibility for the unprecedented crime situation that exists today in the United States.

"Lawyers must be honest," he says in deploring this tendency, "and honesty has no double meaning. The lawyer's duty extends, it has been stated, to an honest presentation of his client's case, in accordance with the rules of procedure and evidence. He is not expected to secure acquittal by any means within his power. The end does not justify the means if the means are dishonest or dishonorable and corrupting to the public welfare."

Sharp dissent no doubt will be registered in legal circles, and even among laymen the secretary will not find solid support for his views.

The legal profession has its share of men willing to commit acts of unquestioned criminality in behalf of a client where the fee is sufficiently large. To place in this class, though, all lawyers who take advantage of technicalities seems a too extreme view. It is the law's fault that loopholes exist. Taking advantage of these is not itself a violation of law, and that a lawyer is justified in going to any legal lengths in protecting his client's interests is a matter scarcely open to doubt or dispute.

The remedy lies with the legislative agencies which frame the laws. More care in preparing bills would reduce the loopholes. The situation could be further improved if legislatures would be more alert in correcting defects subsequently disclosed in the bills that had become law.

TREATY DENOUNCED

In giving notice of the termination of its extradition treaty with Greece, the United States has sound reasons for its action.

Refusal of the Greek courts to order extradition of Samuel Insull, it charges, was "a clear violation of the American-Hellenic treaty of extradition." Greek authorities "attempted actually to try the case instead of confining themselves to ascertaining whether the evidence submitted by the United States government was sufficient to justify the fugitive's apprehension and commitment for trial."

There could be no corresponding value to the United States in continuing to be a party to a treaty so flagrantly violated by the other contracting party. The guilt of Insull was not involved, except indirectly. It was not for the Greek authorities to determine his guilt. The sole question before them was if the evidence presented was sufficient to raise the question of his guilt. Most persons who followed the proceedings must feel convinced that this was done.

But the fugitive power magnate was able to hire lawyers who confused the issue or otherwise swayed the court in favor of the American, thus proving that justice in Greece may, in some cases, be on a par with that which occasionally crops out in the United States.

A woman is supposed to be a vain creature that likes to be looked at and admired, but perhaps you've noticed who does most of the marching in parades.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

By REV. MARSHALL RHEW
Of The First Methodist Church

WORD OF GOD

"This word of God is not bound." 2 Timothy, 2:9.

This is a truth which many so-called religious folk overlook. Some think the Bible is the first and last word of God. They forget that God is speaking through nature and through present-day man to this modern world of ours.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

WHEN CONGRESS gets back into its official seats in January a lot of Roman candles were due to pop around the head of Henry Morgenthau, jr.

Members of both houses drifting back here from the farm sections ahead of the grand opening say the Farm Credit Administration hasn't done right by their constituents.

Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri—pal of Huey Long—swears he is going to introduce a bill immediately it's possible for abolition of the Farm Credit administration.

The ex-governor's office has figures aplenty to show he has cut miles of red tape and is dealing out loans on farm mortgages at better than a million dollars a day.

Gentlemen on Capitol Hill demand to know who's getting it. They swear it hasn't been going into their particular states. Clark says FCA has milked more money out of some Missouri counties in examination fees than it has poured into them.

Clark denies he is forming any bloc to swat this farmer's agency out of existence but he insists all the senators and congressmen from his section of the country are right with him.

In light of this the young Morgenthau has been lifted out of a tough spot.

The farm loan bank serving Missouri also handles Arkansas and Illinois. Senator Joe Robinson, the majority leader, is from Arkansas, and Speaker Rainey is from Illinois.

If these two are in Clark's corner (and he thinks they are) the matter can still be counted on for a lot of debate on the floors of both houses.

JOININGS: In 1931 and 1932, Japan was at China's throat. Practical annexation of Manchuria was the result.

Today State Department students privately are becoming more and more convinced an alliance between Japan and North China is in the not-too-distant future.

Already the opening move has been accomplished through the resignations of Foreign Minister Lo Wen-kan and Finance Minister T. V. Soong from the North China Government. Both were unfriendly to the Japs. Their places have been so filled as to now make Nanking friendly.

A Far Eastern union including Japan, North China and Manchukuo wouldn't make the Soviet Russians any too happy and Japan at the moment seems intent on just that thing. It is foreshadowed in the oft-quoted Tanaka memorial.

Tokyo could win the North Chinese over in a minute by restoring the emperor to his gold throne at Peiping. If the Nanking Government would sing the dotted line of a treaty embodying political and economic unity the Japs would be sitting pretty with the restoration.

North China already has given Manchukuo de facto recognition by permitting revival of train, mail and customs services between the two.

The experts here explain it thus:

The North Chinaman is a physical giant stepped in the lore of his ancestors and handy with the sword.

He has no use for his short, pudgy brother to the south whence come all of the Chinese anarchists, communists and gunmen.

It's to be remembered that when the Japanese invaded Manchuria it was necessary to import armies from South China to fight them. The Northerners were content to let them go their way unmolested.

SOCKED: Washington gets its latest report of plain and fancy chiseling under the Blue Eagle from Chicago.

Out there a firm adhered to a code and promptly boosted the wages of its typists to a $15 weekly minimum.

Then charged the girls $5 a week for the rent of their typewriters.

NOTES: NRA got a plenty fast comeback to its suggestion the proper charge for dry cleaning a suit was $1.50 . . . This was to have been worked into the dry cleaners' code to break up racketeering . . . The squawks from the consumers representatives quickly indicated the people would think the code was racketeering against them if such a price was set . . . Former President Hoover keeps up a steady correspondence with his former aides now located here and in New York . . . They ruefully admit the information all flows one way and Mr. Hoover carefully refains from expressing any opinions on current affairs.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

WESTCHESTER COUNTY—New York City's residential neighbor—is hot at Washington's treatment of its pet public works project.

Its plan for a toll express highway from the city to Connecticut to cost $12,000,000 has been ready since February(AP) It would create 4,000 jobs for 2 years. Its sponsors state it is an A1 public works set-up both for quick job-giving and self-liquidation.

The original application was presented to the RFC on March 8 by Al Smith and Robert Moses. RFC engineers gave the plans full approval. When PWA came along it was transferred there and passed by PWA engineers also. But here it is November and still not action.

How come? Because the project has been three times vetoed by the President himself—not Ickes—on the ground that it isn't self-liquidating. This explanation doesn't jibe with reports by the government's own experts. There is rough talk about political favoritism.

Mr. Roosevelt is said to have shown obvious distaste for Westchester while governor, perhaps because of the county's Republican background. Bills introduced from Westchester nearly always got squelched. And critics stress the speedy approval given an Oregon irrigation project applied for much later while Oregon farmers are being paid to curtail crops.

Westchesterites say they're getting a raw deal and are willing to tell the world.

PUBLIC WORKS: There are other yells about public works from this sector too. The Passamaquoddy application for a federal power development in Maine (mentioned here a month ago) has been tackled for no gain. Engineer Dexter Cooper has camped in Washington to tell everyone about it who would listen but so far he hasn't been invited to explain.

Then there's the New York Central. It had a PWA application in for construction work but action was so slow it finally had to spend its own money.

A New Yorker just returned from the West says that around Cleveland they talk about public work allotments as "easy money." West of Chicago they call it "gift money" with the repayment angle laughed off in advance. Around here you hear references to the forgotten East.

THE NEW BOOKS

L. A. G. Strong, John Held, Jr., Mark Sullivan, And John Masefield Add To Writings In Past Week's List Of Books; Themes Of New Novels Varied; Texas Couple Collaborate On Book

"SEA WALL," by L. A. G. Strong: (Alfred A. Knopf, New York).

THE adjective "tawny" inevitably comes to mind when one considers the prose of L. A. G. Strong: there is strength and flexibility in it, and a quality of suavity that is not vitiated by "slickness."

L.A.G. STRONG

It is precisely the prose in which to consider Irish characters and problems and temperaments. An Irishman writing about Ireland and her people in the characteristically hyperbolic manner of the island's inhabitants is often disconcerting.

The new Strong novel is called "Sea Wall" because it has to do with a certain part of Dublin bay that is protected by a sea wall, about which are to be found houses and families that have been heard from in earlier books by the same man.

Nicky Is The Peg

Nicky is the peg upon which the book is hung, and in a sense its chief character. But, as is usual with Mr. Strong, the novel speedily becomes a complicated wed of interlacing strands; character impinges upon character, and presently one is able to see an entire section of life rather than one strand beginning at a point, and continuing according to the laws of plane geometry to the denouement.

Thus weaving together Nicky's story, those of the strange parents of Nicky, of the Doctor and the Duchess and several others would be a dangerous business for most men. As Mr. Strong handles the loom, however, there is visible at every point in the weaving a pattern of real interest.

Finally, Mr. Strong has managed without speciousness or prettiness to picture a real boy, and to let him grow into a youth without, to this reader, a single false brush stroke.

From Poverty To Riches

"CROSSTOWN," by John Held, jr.: (Vanguard Press, N. Y.).

IN "Crosstown," John Held, Jr., traces the progress of a New York girl from poverty to riches, and writes a story which probably will make a very flamboyant movie.

The girl in the case is a child of the West Side tenements. She grows up amid all the sordid squalor that you might expect, and in her early 'teens she gets a job in a department store.

Seeks Fairer Fields

Then, seeking fairer fields, she runs away from home (domestic troubles involving a drunken father) and begins what only can be described as a steady drifting toward success.

First she's a taxi dance girl, and then she is a chorus girl, and then she gets a couple of lines to speak, and presently she's a great actress.

She has a heart of gold, too, this young lady. She's kind to unfortunates, and she sends money to her mother. Furthermore, she's a good girl, retaining her virtue amid temptations which leave her practically frigid.

In the end she gets her name in the bright lights and finds the love of a good man; and, mellowed by the years, she abandons her old plan to get even with all the men who have sought to do her wrong by her in the course of her struggles.

Volume No. 5

"OVER HERE," by Mark Sullivan: (Chas. Scribner's Sons, N. Y.)

IT is almost enough to say that Volume No. 5 of Mark Sullivan's "Our Times" is being published, for the preceding four are at least as well known as any other recent American historical effort.

Mr. Sullivan takes us through the war years in this volume, which he calls "Over Here." And its greatest value is that instead of concentrating his forces on the European events, he concentrates them on what happened in this country.

The entire series is really a compilation of source material; sometimes, indeed, one suspects that when the eight or nine books that will make up the set are finished, Mr. Sullivan will summarize them in one swiftly moving story. Because it is only too obvious that few readers, however photographically minded, could hope to retain all the detail or even to sort it out into a connected narrative as well as could Mr. Sullivan himself.

Touch And Go System

As in past volumes of "Our Times," the new one proceeds by what one might the touch and go system. That is, Mr. Sullivan gives the thing a push with a section of the text, and then introduces exhibits that clarify his narrative. The exhibits are chosen with extreme care, and although "Over Here" is close enough to the present for most of us to remember many of the pictures which illustrate them, it still is exciting to see what astute use Mr. Sullivan has made of the material.

For many who now are seeing more clearly than they did a decade and a half ago, the pages on war hysteria will be among the most interesting. Some of the exhibits are almost incredible even now — one can only guess what they will seem like 50 years from today.

And as an example of first rate reporting one might cite the story of the Lusitania as retold in the early pages of "Over Here."

Not Just Another Sea Tale

"THE BIRD OF DAWNING," by John Masefield: (The MacMillan company, N. Y.)

BY no means pass up John Masefield's "The Bird of Dawning" as just another sea tale.

To be sure it is a story of the clipper days of a tea race in fact and there is a good deal of that almost idolatrous love for ships and the sea that forms the backbone of most sea stories.

But it is no landlubberly attempt to use an always ready tool—rather the story of a man who knows ships and the sea, loves them, and can make them too real for comfort when he wants to. Even when he has his captain rail against "steam" that always strained prejudice of the old timer, Mr. Masefield still is convincing.

The story begins in China. It begins a little confusingly, inasmuch as the book is half done before there is anything about the ship called "The Bird of Dawning." Before the reader reaches that point there have been a collision and a harsh experience in a small boat; when the "Bird" finally appears it is in a strange manner, and there are stranger circumstances to follow.

"It is not "cricket" to tell Mr. Masefield's story. But he is a strong man who can put down the book before the end.

Murder In Connecticut

"THE DEVIL'S DEN," by Burton and Clare Ogden Davis; (Covici-Friede, N. Y.)

THOSE two jovial Texans who write as Lawrence Saunders are telling now about "The Devil's Den." The original of the Den is visible from their Connecticut house, and, one suspects, most of the people in the book could have been found at one time within a few miles of the Den itself. Although there are no literal portraits.

Murder happened in the Den. It happened after one of those sultry parties in which the Connecticut "liquor set" is presumed to indulge nightly. And the upshot is furious for a murder mystery, inasmuch as the effort of Wylie King and his ex-fireman friend, Nels Lundberg, goes quite as much toward keeping the evidence from the police as toward finding the evidence in the first place.

The tale is far richer in characterization than the usual mystery, the problem itself is cleverly put and solved, and the locale is amusing.

Side Glances —By George Clark

Jaunts Into The Skies

This is another of the series of articles on popular astronomy, written expressly for The Sunday Avalanche-Journal by Dr. R. S. Underwood, of the faculty of Texas Technological college. Doctor Underwood teaches mathematical astronomy and is regarded as an authority on the subject.

8. THE SUN

IN this series of tabloid sallies into space we have more than once had occasion to cast aspersions upon the girth, poundage, brilliancy and general cosmic dignity of the particular star known familiarly as "Old Sol", or the sun. This was due to the necessities of comparison, and not to any lack of respect for dimensions which are far from puny by any earthly standard. Even as suns go our own is probably about average in size, and it shows up badly only if one gets mean and points superciliously to the sky giants. The latter are largely frauds anyway—being sometimes thousands or even millions of times as big as our sun, only to weigh out less than a hundred times as heavy! When it comes to the actual amount of cosmic stuff present there isn't so much difference between the stars after all.

To get a rough idea of our own fair-sized sun, let's imagine it replaced by a hollow ball of the same outside dimensions, with its center at the center of the earth. Striking out from home in our space-ship to find the rubber surface we travel constantly at a hundred miles an hour for long days and weeks. In about one hundred days we pass the pock-marked moon, and not until nearly three months after that do we reach our far-flung goal! The planet earth back somewhere near the center seems now too small to be worth anything but disdain—at least until we get off our imaginative high horse and start hopefully to walk around that "tiny" sphere.

Here's One For You!

As to the distance from the earth to the sun, if our recently-used space-ship were to head sunward with plenty of fire insurance it would plump into trouble at about the time when the original cabin-boy would be celebrating his hundred-and-fifteenth birthday. It will be inferred correctly that the mileage is quite staggering—until one begins to talk about stellar distances and learns that he has previously been practically right at home. Big or little, it all depends upon the point of view. In any case, this particular distance is one of the most important units with which astronomers have to deal, since its value enters into the determination of a great many other astronomical quantities. For this reason it is measured with extreme care by six or seven independent methods. The results agree with remarkable precision when one considers the difficulty of the problem, so that we need have no doubt as to their essential accuracy.

THE brightness of the sun is a deceiving attribute that we tend to underestimate by far. If the whole visible sky were a dome with each part of its surface as bright to us as the full moon, the light we would receive would be less than a quarter that of normal sunlight. Since one glance at the sun through the eye-piece of a telescope used for stars would injure or destroy the vision, it is necessary to use special darkened eye-pieces. Even solar study—a study to which is devoted continuously much elaborate and costly machinery in various part of the world.

Let us examine some of the outstanding results of this investigation. We learn that the sun is an intensely hot ball which rotates on its axis in about twenty-five days near its equator and thirty-five days near its poles, thereby showing incidentally its gaseous nature. The highly useful research instrument called the spectroscope analyzes sunlight and shows that some fifty of the elements known on earth are also found in the surface layers of the sun. In the deepest of these visible layers great whirling storms called "sun-spots" break out periodically. Frequently in connection with these storms scarlet streamers of flaming gas called "prominences" shoot outward with incredible velocity, sometimes traveling at the rate of 200 miles a second for many hundreds of thousands of miles from the surface.

Sun Spot Activity

The periods of sun-spot activity run through cycles averaging eleven years in duration, though the intervals differ considerably. When the spots are most numerous there are auroral displays and magnetic storms on the earth, interfering sometimes with telegraphic communication. At the same time more heat is received from the sun, with a probable effect upon the weather, the crops, and hence all human activities on this globe. The ancient sun-worshippers, it seems, must be given credit for a considerable degree of acumen. Even today the respectful investigation of their god constitutes the life-work of a considerable number of highly trained human beings.

Chucks In The Hopper

Some Of The Things Standing In The Way Of Recovery Are Explained; Changes Are Necessarily Slow

BY BURTON KLINE
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A West Coast editor writes in to say my articles rise too h'gh from the ground, stick their heads in the clouds, and take a too rainbow view of things. "Where's all this Recovery?" the editor asks. So far in his neck of woods it hasn't been noticeable to the naked eye. On the contrary if, in particular, the smaller business houses survive they have the supply of horseshoes to thank, not NRA.

Doubtless this note of impatience crops up elsewhere. But if at times the Recovery mill appears to be grinding slowly, think of the things stuffed into its hopper. This thing for example:

The Eastman Letter

You didn't see it in your paper but recently Railroad Co-ordinator Eastman got a letter from the president of a railroad labor group. The gentleman didn't rage or snort. He wrote the calm words that talk out louder than thunder. In consequence his letter had not only Eastman but the President himself by the ears.

You who have lived through other depressions have seen for yourselves what the letter referred to—those lines of locomotives in railroad yards, nailed up and capped down as if forever. Millions of dollars in intricate machinery rotting and rusting away.

For months, for two years perhaps, these engines are out of repair or out of demand. The roads have too little business to keep them in use, too little money to keep them in trim. Then business revives and the roads must scour their yards for every available locomotive.

THE grab for engines soon swamps the roads' own shops, and hundreds of these cripples must be peddled out to private shops for poor repair at exhorbitant costs. Too many months go by in these scrambles for usable motive power and new engines have to be bought. These run into stacks of money and whether you know it or not your freight bills tell you the fact.

Meanwhile the railroads themselves are slowed down and reviving business with them. The worst of it is that all this while idle railroad repairmen have had to beg.

Again this situation impends. Again long lines of repairmen awaiting work, long lines of engines awaiting repairs. Not even the engines down on the records as available for service are all in that shape. All have taken on rust, and 60 per cent have lost parts required for engines in use. In a word the only immediate availables are the ones in service.

Time To Repair Is Now

It is plain to any one possessed of his senses that the time to fix these crippples is now, with business currents beginning to flow, with the roads the main arteries for these, and with thousands of jobless repairmen eager for wages and eager to spend them.

All this was foreseen and foreshadowed in the Recovery act, in a clause providing RFC loans for just these repairs. Yet few of these loans have been sought because, to railroad managers warned to economize, the interest looked too high.

Very well. As the Recovery act can't be amended in time, and granting this interest to be stiff for present conditions, this rail labor president stepped forth with a proposition—all hands to get together and borrow from Public Works, the government to take as security a low-interest mortgage on every repairable locomotive, while thousands of the reemployed bring the smaller business men horseshoes in the form of wages.

SUCH is one of the chunks in the hopper that have slowed up NRA. This one is due to be ground through the works. First aid for lame locomotives has more than the President and Eastman behind it. It has behind it the force of logic—so much so that Eastman shot out experts to learn why the roads themselves hadn't long ago taken this course. Or why, if the roads were too broke, the banks hadn't loosened up.

The experts' trail is said to have led to another tough chunk in the hopper—the "No" of a certain master of finance.

Here are still others. You take the railroads to own their own bridges and big city stations as a matter of course. Some of them do. But some of the biggest of these indispensable utilities are owned by favored directors and others in inner financial circles. For every train that crosses a bridge or enters a terminal these charge the railroads "wheelage" — usually a penny a wheel.

Pretty Swell Stunt

In these dull times deficiencies in revenue are sometimes met by running trains into and out of stations —empty. No one checks the performance since the courts have ruled that the Interstate Commerce commission has no jurisdiction over local stations or stream-crossing bridges. The result is a gold mine for bridge and station owners, in the hardest of times.

A famous railroad figure built a last-word terminal in a mid-West city and to bring his railroad into it he spanned a great river with a curved stone-arch bridge that was one of the wonders of engineering. The assumption was that he did it all for his road.

He himself owned both bridge and station, and as president of the road he signed a contract with himself at

A CONSCIENCE is an expensive thing sometimes. Arthur Johnson, screen song writer, found his dog chewing up one of his pencilled compositions the other day and was so angry that he gave the dog a sound whipping.

John L. Sullivan, "Chuck" Conners, Steve Brodie and Carrie Nation, four real-life figures of the past century, are characterized in the picture. Brodie again does his famous leap from Brooklyn bridge, Connors' famous honky tonk is seen in full blast, Sullivan appears in the ring, Carrie Nation wields her hatchet, and the girls of the Bowery Beef Trust have their fling. The picture is said to have caught the real atmosphere of the giddy bowery days.

"Havana Widows"

Joan Blondell, Lyle Talbot, Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly and Allen Jenkins appear in "Havana Widows," sparkling First National comedy booked at the Lindsey for Wednesday and Thursday. The story concerns the adventures of two Broadway chorus girls who go to Havana to pick a couple of millionaires to shake down for breach of promise money. Their experiences with a supposed millionaire and his son who falls in love with one of them form the basis for many hilarious situations.

"The Masquerador," one of the world's most popular plays, will be screened at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday. Ronald Colman, who plays dual roles, Elissa Landi and Juliette Compton appear in the principal parts. It is the story of a young Canadian journalist who, finding he is the living image of his dissipated, drug-crazed cousin, agrees to assume that political leader's place during England's great crisis. A jealous mistress and an adoring wife have a part in exposing his masquerade.

"The Mad Game"

"The Mad Game," Fox film dealing with the kidnap racket, starts a three-day run at the Palace today. Spencer Tracy heads a cast which includes Claire Trevor, Ralph Morgan, John Miljan and Kathleen Burke. The story concerns an ex-gangster who is doublecrossed and railroaded to prison. His former partner in crime turns to kidnaping, terrorizing the whole country. The gangster is released from prison to help the government wipe out the new menace. He loses his life but exposes the kidnaping gangs.

Something new in entertainment is promised in Mrs. Wallace Reid's "Sucker Money," which will be offered at the Palace Wednesday and Thursday. Based on facts taken from the police files of a large American city, the picture is a startling expose of the kidnaping and psychic rackets. Earl McCarthy, Mae Busch and Ralph Lewis head the cast in the film, which is said to contain romance, comedy and suspense. It is heralded as both educational and entertaining.

"The Trail Drive"

A thrilling chapter from the old west will be presented in "The Trail Drive," Universal picture starring Ken Maynard, which will be screened at the Palace Friday and Saturday. The story deals with adventures on a cross-country trip with 3,500 head of cattle. Cecelia Parker is the heroine.

"Out All Night," Universal picture co-starring Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts, will be offered at the Texan today and Monday. A pampered, henpecked "mama's boy" suddenly is propelled into a hectic love affair and is bundled off on a honeymoon trip. And "mama" goes along to make it a honeymoon for three.

"Parachute Jumper"

Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in "Parachute Jumper," a Warner Bros. picture, will be the attraction at the Texan Tuesday. It is a comedy romance, punctuated with thrilling air scenes. Bette Davis, Leo Carrillo and Frank McHugh head the supporting cast.

Ruth Chatterton has the starring role in "Lilly Turner," First National production booked at the Texan for Wednesday and Thursday. George Brent, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee and Ruth Donnelly appear in the main supporting parts. Miss Chatterton is seen as the "come on" lure in a medicine show.

"The Western Code," with Tim McCoy is the leading role, will be shown at the Texan Friday and Saturday.

At the THEATERS

George Raft, Jackie Cooper and Wallace Beery as they appear in "The Bowery," which starts today at the Lindsey.

Al Jolson who has the starring role in "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," which opens today at the Broadway.

Gloria Swanson who will be seen in the leading role in "Perfect Understanding," current Lyric attraction.

Spencer Tracy and Claire Trevor in a scene from "The Mad Game," which starts a run at the Palace today.

Ronald Colman and Elissa Landi in a scene from "The Masquerader," which starts at the Lindsey Friday.

Al Jolson Is To Appear At The Broadway

"Hallelujah, I'm A Bum" To Start Engagement Today; "Perfect Understanding" Is Headliner At Lyric

AL JOLSON returns to the talking screen in Lubbock this week in "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," his starring vehicle for United Artists. The picture starts a three-day run at the Broadway today. Madge Evans, Frank Morgan, Chester Conklin and Harry Langdon head the supporting cast.

Written especially for Jolson by Ben Hecht, the story is of the pathetic and poignant sort of comedy rather than slapstick. It is presented in "musical dialogue" and "photographic music," only about 10 per cent being spoken dialogue. Johnson sings throughout the picture, which is laid in New York against a background of Central park, Wall Street and the tenement district.

"Devil And The Deep"

Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper are co-stared in "Devil and the Deep," a melodrama of the gay nineties, which is scheduled at the Broadway Wednesday and Thursday. The story deals with the early-day coast guard service. Cooper appears as a country hick who gets into plenty of trouble before he gets wise to himself, but he does succeed in capturing the heart of the tough waterfront mistress of another man.

In a makeup more grotesque and terrifying than in "Frankenstein," Boris Karloff appears in "The Old Dark House," booked at the Broadway for Friday and Saturday. Caught in a storm, a group of travelers seek refuge in an old house, only to find the inhabitants tainted with insanity and ruled over by a gigantic, brutal servant. The situation is heightened when the evil brute also goes mad and decides to loose a murder-crazed man on the household. Charles Laughton, Melvyn Douglas and Lilian Bond are in the supporting cast.

"Perfect Understanding"

Playing a dramatic role, Gloria Swanson is starred in "Perfect Understanding," United Artists production which starts a three-day run at the Lyric today. Laurence Oliver plays opposite Miss Swanson, and the star's husband, Michael Farmer, has a supporting role.

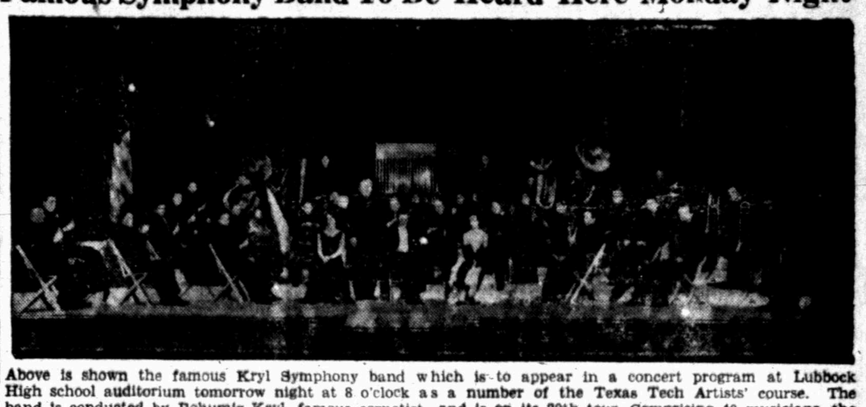

The story concerns an American girl who falls in love with the son of an English peer, but they are afraid of marriage because of the unhappiness of many of their married friends. However, they do become man and wife, and the pitfalls appear almost immediately. The marriage drifts perilously near to rocks, but in the end a perfect understanding is reached.

"Humanity" Coming

With Boots Mallory, Ralph Morgan, Alexander Kirkland and Irene Ware in the leading roles, "Humanity," a Fox picture, will be screened at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. The story embraces the elements of romance and sacrifice as it depicts the adventures of a young doctor who is blind to the ideals of his physician father and who follows the lure of money because of his infatuation for a luxury-loving woman.

Jack Hoxie in "Trouble Busters" will be the attraction at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

Famous Symphony Band To Be Heard Here Monday Night

Above is shown the famous Kryl Symphony band which is to appear in a concert program at Lubbock High school auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock as a number of the Texas Tech Artists' course. The band is conducted by Bohumir Kryl, famous cornetist, and is on its 29th tour. Comprising 40 musicians, the band is the surviving star of a former galaxy of traveling bands which Pat Gilmore set in the American firmament. As most of the seats are taken by season tickets held by students and faculty members, a limited number of tickets will be available to the public.

Want A Bison?

Park Animals To Be Sold

MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS, Wyo., Nov. 18 (AP)—For as little as $35 to $70, provided you live nearby, you may add a yearling or adult bison to your private menage — assuming your estate is spacious enough for one of the lumbering survivors of the old west.

To keep the Yellowstone park bison herd within easily controlled limits a number of the animals are to be sold after the January roundup to zoos, parks and private estates. Others will be butchered and the meat distributed to Indian agencies in Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

Prices quoted are for capturing and shipping them from the park to the railhead at Gardiner, Mont.

W. H. Cunningham, Pure Seed Breeder, Boasts Of Yield Of Pure Feterita; Yield Good

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 18.—What is claimed by the grower to be the only state certified Spur feterita field in the state, is on the farm of W. H. Cunningham, a state certified breeder near here.

"It is the only field of state certified seed that I know of outside of the experiment station at Lubbock," said Mr. Cunningham. "I have 15 acres in the patch and it looks like it will yield around 1,000 pounds to the acre."

Mr. Cunningham has 65 acres of Red Top cane that is threshing out between 30 and 40 bushels to the acre. He also has 65 acres of milo that is expected to make 100 tons of heads to the field.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Recovery

a penny a wheel for every train that crossed the one and entered or left the other. As president of the road he then ordered the conversion of every 4-wheel truck on his engines and cars into a 6-wheeler, and so, as also owner of bridge and station, he jacked up his personal profits by 50 per cent. The public paid it all.

SO then, if the West Coast editor so objects because Recovery is nowhere in sight, it is because this sort of thing must first be stopped.

A few days ago a man on the threaded side of the tapestry of events in Washington wrote to a friend one of those private beliefs that ought to be news in the newspapers and that rarely get there. Said he, "The Recovery Act is an effort to put the Sermon on the Mount into legislation. For a civilization founded on greed it's a stiff translation."

Ethics—And Then Some!

The case could scarcely have been better put. A few years ago the acts above detailed got by through being so slick, so clever. The fact that American business ethics had dropped through the Bottomless Pit, the fact that their own pockets were being emptied, was lost on the people, the slight-of-hand by which it was done was so amusing ,the show was so worth what it cost.

Now, in this year of grace 1933, a year devoted to feeling in empty pockets, the people have waked to a fact at last—that ethics mean, among other things, money and wages. They may hate the word ethics, but they mean from now on to own their own pockets, and the Recovery act is the expression of that resolve. It is ethics and much more, and it never could have become the law except for that popular resolve.

This depression will end with the exit of those who brought it about. The West Coast editor wants the fade-out sudden. Instead it is coming about in the American way, by legislaton in NRA.

Like the mills of the gods, the Recovery mill may be slow, but the chances are that in not very long it will be found to be grinding exceedingly small. Those who would stop it have this to think of—a lot of people see for themselves what is going into the hopper, and are smacking their lips over what's to come out.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, NO. 25—

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At Kaviri's village, Tarzan paused only long enough for food and to arrange with the chief for several strong warriors to help man the canoe in place of those apes who had been done to death. He had decided to follow the strange white people of whom Kaviri spoke. So it was with a sigh of relief that the chief saw Tarzan's canoe, with its weird crew, disappear up the river.

Most of the apes had finally learned the secret of the paddles. Three days the strange company continued farther and farther into the heart of savage Africa. Then Tarzan made a landing. He explained to Mugambi the thing he had in mind and bid the apes of Akut remain with the black man. "I will come back in a few days," he said, "after I find the very bad white men." Then he vanished into the trees.

Two days later Tarzan came upon a large village. From their wicked-looking chief he learned that Rofoff's party had passed up the river a week before. He decided to rest a few hours that he might be fresh and strong when he caught up with the white men. The sharp-filed teeth of this tribe denoted they were cannibals. But knowing no fear of man, beast, or devil, the ape-man curled himself up and was soon asleep.

Scarcely had he done so than the chief called two of his swiftest warriors to whom he whispered a few instructions. A moment later these sleek, black bodies were racing along the river path, up-stream toward the east. Three hours later several canoes came silently into view. Upon the river bank stood the chief, his spear raised in a horizontal position above his head, as though it were a signal to the boats.

"Great Improvement" In Grade Of South Plains Cotton Is Reported

Grade Report Is Issued On 11,154 Bales

Only 8.2 Per Cent Of Cotton Ginned In Nine Counties Of Area Untenderable, Report On Ginnings Says

GRADES of 11,154 bales of cotton grown on the high plains of Texas and ginned up to the first week of November, were announced by the division of cotton marketing of the bureau of agricultural economics of the U. S. department of agriculture. A "great improvement" for the cotton produced on the South Plains was reported by the bureau.

"The 11,154 bales named were ginned at nine gins in Lubbock, Lynn, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Hockley, Terry and Dawson counties," said a statement prepared by the bureau. "Only about 8.2 per cent of the cotton grown in this area has been classed as untenderable to date this year. The untenderable cotton ginned at these representative gins varies from 1.3 per cent to about 14.7 per cent to date.

Great Improvement

"This is a great improvement over cotton ginned in the high plains area in 1928 when some gins ran about 50 per cent untenderable cotton for the season.

"The cooperating ginner takes a sample of cotton from the bales he gins and after classification, the class of each bale is returned for his and his customer's information. If the samples are sent in promptly, about one week is required for the farmer to get a class on his cotton after it is ginned."

Grades Are Listed

Grades for the 11,154 bales, classed according to Universal Cotton Standards, were announced as follows: extra white and white: strict good middling, two bales; good middling, 1,094 bales; strict middling, 3,857 bales; middling, 2,293 bales; strict low middling, 938 bales; low middling, 161 bales; strictly good ordinary, four bales; according to the spotted standards as good middling, 421 bales; strick middling, 1,543 bales; middling, 779 bales; strict low middling, 56 bales; low middling, five bales and one bale strict middling gray.

Staple designations were: 3-4 inch, 35 bales; 13-16 inch, 851 bales; 7-8 inch, 1,743 bales; 29-32 inch, 1,850 bales; 15-16 inch, 2,405 bales; 31-32 inch, 2,067 bales; one inch, 1,599 bales; 1 and 1-32 inch, 510 bales; 1 and 1-16 inch, 75 bales and 1 and 3-32 inch, 10 bales.

Good Percentage Of Cotton Is White

A good percentage of white and extra white cotton was ginned on the South Plains for the week ending November 9, says a report of the division of cotton marketing of the bureau of agricultural economics. The report covers the entire state, divided into 11 districts or groups.

"About 36 per cent of the cotton from district No. 2 (the high plains) was white and extra white and graded strict middling," says the report. "About 40 per cent of the cotton from that section fell in the spotted group. Some 15 per cent was strict low middling in grade and equivalent to the white and extra white standards. Fifty-four per cent of the cotton from that area was 15-16 and 31-32 inch in staple length. Twenty-four per cent was inch and inch and 1-32 inches. Only one per cent was shorter than 7-8 inch. About four per cent was untenderable on futures contracts.

Spotted Still Showing Up

"This week 49 per cent of the cotton from Texas was classed as equivalent to some one of the grades of the spotted and yellow tinged standards; however, there was a negligible quantity of yellow tinged cotton classed this week, and thus for this season there has been very little yellow tinged cotton classed from Texas. Bulk of the cotton classed so far this season as equivalent to the spotted standards has shown a light spot.

"Extra white and white cotton of the grades strict middling and middling made up 33 per cent of the cotton classed from Texas this week. Nine per cent of the cotton classed this week was low middling in grade on the white and extra white standards. About 15 per cent of the cotton was one inch or longer. Slightly more than four per cent was shorter than 7-8 inch. Ninety-four per cent of the cotton classed this week for Texas was tenderable on futures contracts."

Results Of Tech Feeding Experiment Show Good Profit; Summary Of Work Is Given; To Conduct Project Again

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

NET profit on feeding of $485 for 40 steers fed out last winter and spring in the first annual cattle feeding experiment of Texas Technological college was reported by W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry of the division of agriculture. The profit was exclusive of labor, interest and depreciation. The total included a net of $67.40 for 20 hogs which followed the steers.

There were four pens of 10 head each. Initial cost was $35 per head. Costs showed that the experimental feed costs ranged from $11.20 per head in lot 4 to $14 in lot 1, with $1.83 preliminary feed costs.

Good Price Received

Ten steers were cut back and sold for $5.50 per hundred; the remainder brought $5.75. Sale was made to Alex McDonald, Lubbock packer. Jot Smyth, Lubbock breeder, sold the animals to the college.

In the feeding Lot 1 was given self fed heads, with hand fed cake; lot 2, self fed heads and hand fed cotton seed; lot 3, hand fed heads and cake; lot 4, hand fed heads and cotton seed.

Objectives Listed

Objectives of the tests were: 1—comparative value of cotton seed cake with cottonseed when fed with milo heads and sumac fodder; 2—economy of grains as affected by hand fed or self feeding of milo heads.

The animals went on feed January 19 and were taken out of the feed lots June 15, a total of 147 days.

Records Kept

Records were kept by periods, there being four 28-day periods and one 35-day period. Daily gains ranged from 2.12 pounds to 2.29 pounds. Costs per 100 ponuds ranged from $3.60 to $4.15.

Professor Stangel plans in this year's feeding to follow each steer with a hog. He believes that the results last year showed that a hog per steer is necessary and profitable.

Bundles were available before all of the steers all the time. The hogs cleaned up on the grain not consumed by the steers.

Lamb County Woman Boasts Of Excellent Pantry; More Than 1,000 Cans In Storage

By Staff Correspondent

AMHERST, Nov. 18. — One of the largest and best arranged farm pantries in Lamb county is that of Mrs. M. M. White, who resides in the edge of the sand hills north of town and who has been a club demonstrator for several years for her club.

The pantry contains this year more than 1000 pounds of preserved foods of various kinds and is valued at slightly under $600.

On the shelves are to be found fruit, vegetables and home grown items for the fruits, the fish and other sea foods, honey, etc.

"I tried to get a well-balanced pantry and what I felt I needed for my family and did not have I traded for," Mrs. White said. "I will have 52 pounds of honey this year that I got that way.

"For four years, ever since I have been a pantry demonstrator for my club, I have exhibited at the Amherst fair and have won prizes. I have won prizes every year. I do not know what I would do, or my family, without a well balanced menu for our table."

Motion picture films influence foreign trade; demands come for American furniture, clothing household goods, etc., similar to those seen in the movies.

Lamb County Farmer To Feed African Cane To Livestock

AMHERST, Nov. 18.—G. V. Coker, well known Lamb county farmer living near here, has a small patch of white African cane that he expects to use in his feeding program this winter.

The cane, imported from Africa in 1929, is yielding around 1,000 bundles to the acre. The stalks are 10 and 11 feet tall and are exceptionally sweet. Cattle like it, Mr. Coker said.

He has been feeding the stalks to his livestock since his first crop and keeps his seed from year to year.

Terry County Has One Crop Measured By Gallons To The Acre And It's Not Corn Either; Cane Syrup Yield Good

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 18. (Special)—Terry county has one crop that is being measured by the gallon instead of the bushel or ton, and it is not corn, either.

R. C. Reed, county agent, reports a yield of 125 gallons of cane syrup to the acre from the farm of W. H. Hare, six miles east of here on the Tahoka highway.

Mr. Hare reports an estimated yield of $728 profit for his 13 acres of seeded ribbon cane. This is in addition to the seed.

A special burner, perfected by Mr. Hare, is being used and about 80 to 90 gallons per day are evaporated. The burner uses 50 gallons of oil per day, with an air and water mixed, being forced into the burner by air pressure.

Seven sons of the farmer are assisting in the work. The boys and their father learned their trade in East Texas.

Hockley Poultry Show Scheduled

LEVELLAND, Nov. 18. (Special)—The third annual Hockley County Poultry show will be held some time in January, C. M. Elder, secretary of the Levelland chamber of commerce stated following a meeting of directors of that organization.

The show was announced early in order that farmers and breeders could have time to prepare their birds for the show, Mr. Elder said. Farmers are being urged to prepare their birds for the show..

Dates last year were January 13 and 14. This year's show will probably be about the same time. A premium list will be prepared.

The first show was held in 1931. W. T. Magee, county agent, will probably be show superintendent. A competent judge will be secured for the affair.

The Shasta daisy was developed by the union of three different species of flowers from Europe, America and Japan.

Barn Of Oil Well Casing Is Being Constructed On Ranch Of J. S. Birdwell In Crosby

CROSBYTON, Nov. 18. (Spcl.)—A unique barn, especially for the South Plains is under construction on the J. S. Bridwell ranch near here. It is being made of oil well casing, from the Archer county properties of Mr. Bridwell.

The structure is 80 to 90 feet and will be entirely of fireproof construction. A granary, 80 by 20 feet, will be a feature of the building. The walls are being welded together.

"I had no further use for the casing, so rather than see it rust away out in the fields, I decided to put the casing to some use," Mr. Bridwell explained. "I had pulled the casing from some of my wells in Archer county.

"Later I plan to build a similar barn on my ranch in that county."

Lloyd Carson, with an electric welding machine, is welding the pipe together with Andy Anderson assisting. K. Shaw is foreman and Charlie Crowley of Archer county is general superintendent of the job.

Food had become so scarce that migratory water fowl passed by Wisconsin without stopping; the state planted many pounds of wild rice in its lowlands this year to attract the birds.

Aged Father Of Big Spring C.-C. Secretary Is Active

BIG SPRING, Nov. 18. (Special)—P. J. Watson, 81, of Miles, father of C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, is the champion cotton picker of his age, his son believes. The elder Watson, in his 82nd year, averaged better than 100 pounds of cotton per day.

"If you have any men in or around Big Spring, as old as I, and who can pick more cotton per day, I'll take them fishing," Mr. Watson wrote his son. The elder Watson has been a farmer all of his life. He continues his activities around the farm to a great extent.
