Seeks Republican delegates

Ford arrives in Texas

By The Associated Press

President Ford arrived in the historic Texas city of San Antonio today and began a tour of the Alamo as an estimated 50,000 persons jammed the streets outside.

Ford, bidding for the big Texas Republican delegation, was greeted by some 30 persons carrying signs protesting the reduction of the work force at Kelly Air Force Base.

One sign said, "We need jobs not Ford" and another read "Heaven help us because Ford won't."

The President said the job cutbacks at military establishments were the work of Congress "and something I didn't ask for."

The Kelly work force has been reduced by 1,875.

In answer to a question on his arrival Ford, said former Texas Gov. John Connally "is a very good friend of mine but I don't ask people to support me. I want them to do that on their own."

Connally, a Democrat turned Republican, has remained neutral in the Ford-Ronald Reagan battle for Texas' 100 convention delegates.

The next stop on the agenda is Dallas, where Ford was to speak to the Southern Methodist University School of Business Management at the Fairmont Hotel. A fund raising reception was next, followed by a speech to the Irving Bar Association's Law Day Dinner at Texas Stadium.

Ford also may accept an invitation to throw out the first baseball opening the American League season for the Texas Rangers at Arlington Stadium early this evening.

Ford will rise early Saturday morning for a breakfast with campaign workers and then attend a news conference sponsored by the Dallas-Fort Worth chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi.

He is to leave Dallas before noon for El Paso, where he will have a question and answer period after a speech to the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

Late Saturday, the President will fly to Amarillo for a speech at West Texas State University before returning to Washington.

Ford's visit follows Reagan's trip to the Lone Star State by two days. Both are actively seeking the 96 of Texas' 100 presidential delegates to be chosen in the May 1 primary.

Reagan attacked Ford's signing of the energy bill, which Reagan says will be detrimental to Texas.

Meanwhile, Ford's national campaign manager, Rogers C.B. Morton, said in Houston Thursday that the primary race in Texas will be close but that Ford has a "good chance" of winning. Morton said he agreed with some that Texas would be a make-or-break situation for Reagan.

Ford may toss first Ranger ball

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — President Ford may toss out the first ball of the Texas Rangers' baseball season tonight in Arlington Stadium, Rangers General Manager Danny O'Brien said.

The stadium was surveyed Thursday by Secret Service agents and 50-50 that Ford would accept a first pitch invitation.

HEADING TOWARD TEXAS — President Ford, right, escorts Sen. John Tower R-Texas, aboard his helicopter on the South Lawn of the White House this morning for a flight to Andrews Air Force Base where they were to board the presidential jet for a trip to Texas. The President will spend two days in the Lone Star State campaigning in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination. They arrived in San Antonio shortly before noon.

Budget passes Senate test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A budget that gives President Ford virtually all he seeks in defense money but rejects his plea for less domestic spending today survived its first test in the Senate.

By a 53-21 vote the Senate killed an amendment by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., that would have added $800 million for veterans' benefits to the proposed 1977 budget.

Howard County girl to interview Ford

A Howard County girl, Annette Couch, will be among reporters interviewing President Ford at West Texas State University in Canyon Saturday night.

Annette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Couch of Gail Route, Big Spring, is a senior student majoring in radio and television at the Canyon school. She is a news reporter for radio station KGNC in Amarillo, majoring in news about Canyon and the college.

The interview will get under way at 8:30 p.m., on the WTSU campus.

President Ford will wind up a two-day campaign tour of the state at the Canyon meeting. His party will depart on the return trip to Washington at 10:05 p.m.

The president will visit San Antonio, Dallas, Irving and El Paso, as well as Amarillo and Canyon, on this trip. He likely will return to the state before the Republican primary May 1.

First in city's history

McLaughlin, Watkins run-off election scheduled April 23

April 23 was set as the date for a city run-off election when the city council held a special meeting at City Hall Thursday afternoon.

City Attorney Jim Gregg told the council that this was the earliest possible date for the election, to allow drawing of names for the ballot on Monday and absentee voting from Tuesday, April 13 through April 22.

The run-off is for place two on the City Council and will be the first in the city's history. Prior to changing the charter to running by position, winners were determined by the way they finished in one election.

Ralph McLaughlin, who led the ticket in the election here Saturday, and Jack Watkins are the two candidates in the run-off.

In the meeting Thursday, Mrs. Mary Thomas brought sworn affidavits from her and Jack Thompson objecting to the manner the election was conducted at Northside Fire Station. Her complaints centered around such items as the fact that everything was not ready when the election began and that the judge, Mrs. Rufus Davidson, was trying to handle too many details herself.

The council read the affidavits in silence and posed no questions. Mrs. Davidson, who is 76 and an experienced election judge, had already told Mayor Wade Choate that she did not want to serve as election judge again, following the criticism she received on Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas also said that she wanted to make a public statement that she left the polls at 9:05 p.m. long before the police chief came to the box Saturday night.

Jack Watkins asked permission to review the ballot before it would be printed. He did not give any indication as to having any preference as to a run-off date.

He did request reviewing the ballot, pointing out that he thought the original ballot should have said "Vote for One" in place two instead of simply, "Mark the Candidate of your choice". He claimed that some persons voted for two people in that position.

Mayor Choate granted permission to both Watkins and McLaughlin, if either desired, to review the ballot.

The official canvass of the election was approved by the council that was present, including Mrs. Polly Mays, Harold Hall, Charles Tompkins and Mayor Choate. Acri did not attend the meeting, although he remains as councilman in place two until after the run-off.

Gathering raw data in Big Spring

Taylor, Wrinkle to supervise work of impact study panels

The wheels were put in motion Thursday on an impact study on the proposed closing of Webb Air Force Base with the appointment of co-chairmen to head up the 22 committees.

Named to head the Big Spring study were Jimmy Taylor, president of First National Bank, and Winston Wrinkle, owner of KBST Radio.

The two men were appointed by Mayor Wade Choate, who chairs the Legislative Affairs Committee of the Century Club.

Taylor and Wrinkle will each supervise the work of 11 sub-committees each which will be gathering raw data on what impact the closing of Webb would have on various segments of the community.

These committees will be working from forms that seek dollar and per cent information on the impact, as well as employment and unemployment figures. The information on individual persons or businesses will be kept confidential.

Mayor Choate set May 10 as the cut-off date for gathering the data. Then it will be computerized through the help of the regional planning council.

After the computer has organized the data, an impact report will be prepared. This report will be used to compare with the environmental impact study now being done by the Air Force as a part of the closing procedure.

The Legislative Affairs Committee, the group spearheading the community's battle to save Webb, will have its report on hand when the public hearing on the closing of Webb is held — most probably sometime in July.

The public hearing will not be held until after the Air Force publishes its study and procedures on closing the base. This is estimated to be in the Federal Register during June.

The Air Force proposed on March 10 to reduce Webb to a caretaker force by Oct. 1 and close the base completely by Dec. 31.

No final decision on this can be made until the National Environmental Policy Act requirements, which include a public hearing, have been met.

Taylor and Wrinkle will appoint chairmen of the 22 sub-committees to begin gathering data in Big Spring. Some of this work is already under way.

Taylor's sub-committees include: banking and savings and loan; schools and colleges; city and county government; real estate; ministerial alliance; used car dealers; insurance industry; legal profession; agriculture; unions; and military affairs.

Wrinkle's sub-committee are: oil industry; restaurants; merchants; hotel-motel; medical; new car dealers; moving and storage; news media; Webb sanitation and janitorial services; and transportation.

Fighting breaks out in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Fierce fighting erupted in the mountains 35 miles east of Beirut today, and reliable government sources said regular Syrian soldiers disguised as Palestinian guerrillas were taking an active part in the battle.

Casualties were said to be "very heavy," but figures were not immediately available.

Egypt's semioffical Middle East News Agency reported from Beirut, meanwhile, that Syria has imposed a complete land and sea blockade of Lebanon to stop arms supplies from reaching the Palestine Liberation Organization. There was no independent confirmation.

The mountain battle flared in the Bekaa Valley near the Syrian border region as food-laden Syrian trucks tried to resupply the surrounded Christian town of Zahle, police and Palestinian officials said.

The government sources said the fighting, still going on, pitted the disguised Syrian soldiers against renegade Moslem Lebanese troops of the "Lebanese Arab Army."

On the political front, the special American envoy trying to help bring peace to Lebanon predicted that President Suleiman Franjieh will resign soon.

Woman charged for Ford threat

DALLAS (AP) — Sharon Denise Jones, 27, was arraigned today on federal charges of threatening to kill President Ford.

U.S. Magistrate Bailey Rankin set bond at $50,000 which Mrs. Jones did not post and she was jailed.

Secret Service agents arrested the unemployed woman at her home in Greenville, some 50 miles northeast of Dallas, Thursday night.

The charge against her alleges she made a "direct threat" on Ford's life during a telephone conversation with Greenville police Sgt. David Ewalt.

Ford arrived in San Antonio, Tex., today to begin a two-day Texas campaign swing.

'Interim reply' received from Air Force Plans chief

Congressman Omar Burleson has received an "interim reply" to the letter he and the two Texas senators sent to the Secretary of the Air Force Thomas Reed requesting another mission for Webb Air Force Base.

The reply, dated April 6, came from Col. Hal Howes, chief of the plans group at the Air Force secretary's office.

Col. Howes replied: "This matter (Webb) is presently under active consideration, and we anticipate a fully responsive reply in the near future."

Burleson, who represents Big Spring in Washington, conveyed in "interim reply" to Mayor Wade Choate, adding, "Be assured I will continue to try to be of all possible assistance in retaining the base."

The "interim reply" was the Air Force's first official response to a March 30 letter from Burleson, Sen. John Tower and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen which urged the Air Force to search for possible alternative missions or realignments to save Webb.

"It is our firm belief that in the long run," the lawmakers said, "the contributions which Webb can continue making to the strength and readiness of the Air Force will far outweigh any savings in near term outlays which might result from shutting down this valuable facility."

The meeting will get under way about 5:30 p.m. Other members of the committee are Dr. Floyd Mays, Dr. Charles Warren, Dr. J. H. Fish, Edna Womack and Harold Bentley.

IRS seeks $45 million from Billie Sol and wife

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — More than a decade after financier Billie Sol Estes went to prison for mail fraud and conspiracy, the government is still trying to collect $45 million plus from the paroled West Texan and his wife.

Two civil petitions naming the couple were filed Thursday with the U.S. district court clerk's office here. They were sent to Abilene by mail from Fort Worth.

Filed for the Internal Revenue Service, the petitions seek judgments against Estes for $21,094,955 and his wife Patsy for $24,558,025 in back taxes, penalties and interest for 1959-62.

In addition to the federal court moves, the IRS has refiled notices every five years since 1963 of Taylor County (Abilene) tax liens against the Estes family, who live here. A Justice Department spokesman said the refiling is done to keep the liens from expiring.

The petition against Estes states that in 1962 he was declared bankrupt and, while numerous demands for payment were made, he "has neglected and refused to pay over the said amounts assessed against him."

A legal source said the government put off seeking judgment against Estes in hope it would be able to collect. He added, "It means they waited just as long as they could to get judgment," explaining that judgment can be sought only once.

The Justice Department spokesman said the filing of the petitions was a routine step and there were "no new developments" to prompt it.

Estes was paroled from federal prison in 1971 after serving six years of a 15-year prison term. He remains under probation until 1980.

Austin men nabbed with two tons of pot

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Two Austin, Tex., men and a Tennessee man were in the city jail today under $200,000 bond each while federal law enforcement officers planned a very large bonfire of about 9,000 pounds of marijuana.

That amount was confiscated Thursday on a ranch east of Balmorhea in Reeves County about 140 miles southwest of Midland.

Drug Enforcement Administration agents, backed by Department of Public Safety and local police officers, swooped down on the ranch early Thursday after a plane loaded with 4,000 pounds of marijuana landed there from Mexico. A search of the ranch yielded another 5,000 pounds of the weed, a DEA spokesman in Dallas said.

Jailed were Robert James Dodd, 25, and Richard Mark Hoefs, 25, both of Austin, and, Fred Rayburn Worsham, 55, of Crossville, Tenn.

U.S. Magistrate Don Williams in Midland said the trio was charged with possession with intent to distribute marijuana.

Agents confiscated $7,660 in cash, a .38-caliber revolver and a high powered rifle, but not the airplane.

FBI asked to probe jail break

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Gus Krausse said today he has asked the FBI to investigate a Cameron County jail escape in which three prisoners fled.

Krausse said he requested FBI assistance because Juan Manuel Arredondo, 21, of Reynosa, Mexico, one of the men who escaped Thursday night, was a federal prisoner being held pending a $500,000 bond on a heroin smuggling charge.

Michael Nathan Shoulders, 30, of Harlingen, who had been sentenced to 25 years in prison for murder, and Adrian Harper, 32, who was being held for Florida authorities on a theft charge, also escaped.

Jailers said Shoulders pulled a .38-caliber pistol on them after he was allowed to leave his maximum security cell to use a telephone.

The escapees stole a pickup truck belonging to a jailer, officers said.

The sheriff said he believed the trio fled to Mexico.

White school ban sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is urging the Supreme Court to outlaw segregated private schools that allow white parents to avoid sending their children into integrated public classrooms. Allowing such segregation to continue could bring about "two school systems — one private and white, the other public and desegregated," the department contends. The justices have agreed to review the issue in a case involving two black youngsters denied admission to private schools in the Virginia suburbs of Washington, D.C.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Jury duty

Q. Why do some people seem to be called for juries all the time while others who are willing to serve are never summoned? I have never been called, but I have friends who have been on numerous occasions. I thought the process was supposed to be random.

A. "Petit jury panels are selected totally by chance in a drawing from the jury wheel," District Judge Ralph W. Caton said. The jury wheel contains the names of all registered voters in Howard County, Judge Caton added.

In both county court and district court jury selection, the procedure is the same. A deputy sheriff draws the names from the wheel or container, and a deputy clerk types the names in the order they are drawn, Judge Caton said.

Petit jurors are those who sit for trials.

Before voir dire, the examination of prospective jurors, the names are scrambled again, Judge Caton said. Then, prospective jurors are seated in the new order.

The judge dismisses those who are not qualified to serve, according to state law, and those who are exempt and do not wish to sit on a jury. Also, Judge Caton Caton may excuse some.

"During the voir dire, the judge may accept a challenge for cause voiced by state or defense to any juror whose testimony indicates that he or she has preconceived opinions as to guilt or innocence or maintains a bias or prejudice such as would affect the verdict."

Then, in private, the defense attorney and prosecutor may strike a certain number of prospective jurors without cause, Moore noted. The number of "preemptory" challenges permitted depends on whether the offense is a misdemeanor, felony, a capital (punishable by death) or non-capital case. Also, the number varies if multiple defendants are being tried, Moore added.

State law provides a different procedure for grand jury selection.

Judge Caton said he selects three citizens of Howard County to serve as jury commissioners.

Judge Caton said he seeks to "constantly shift to people in all walks of life" in naming grand jury commissioners.

"In addition, we give commissioners lists of most recent grand jurors to urge them not to duplicate them" and get new names for grand jury service, Judge Caton said.

The three grand jury commissioners name 20 prospective grand jurors, whose names are drawn to determine the order in which they will be listed.

The first 12 not exempted or excused serve as grand jurors, Judge Caton said.

County dads will quiz senior tax appraiser

County Commissioners Court will meet with Carlton Harry, senior tax appraiser, Monday.

First on the agenda is a 9 a.m. conference with Max D. Green, who will present his 1975 audit.

County Judge Bill Tune said he will propose the court set guidelines for renting the county fair barns and leave administration to the county extension office.

Pete Jones and Jim Ashworth will tell the court about conflicting plans for use of the structures April 24.

Canvassing votes cast in the Howard County School Board election is on the agenda.

Installation of additional wiring for the catwalk in the county jail will be discussed.

VD awareness drive begun

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Health officials will hand out sun visors and Frisbees to thousands of vacationing college students on Florida beaches next week to spread their message about venereal disease.

"Catch a Frisbee; Not VD," is the message, and it will be carried on a banner towed by a light plane over the Atlantic Coast beaches each afternoon from next Monday through Easter Sunday.

Dr. Clifford M. Cole, administrator of the state's VD control program, said the Easter-week project is part of a program to take the facts about venereal disease to the people.

"VD awareness is crucial to VD control," Cole said.

Hijack vigil continues

By The Associated Press

Sharpshooters kept an uneasy vigil around a hijacked jetliner at sweltering Bangkok Airport today, awaiting the arrival of spare parts so that three Moslem gunmen holding 12 Filipino hostages could continue their seven-stop transcontinental trip from The Philippines to Libya.

In an unusual twist, the pilot and two hostesses were allowed to shop briefly at the airport terminal building before returning to the Philippine jet.

Teen shot in hand

Richard Fannin, 15, 3905 Hamilton, was to undergo surgery on his right hand, after he was accidently shot at 12:30 a.m. today.

The youth told police officers that he was approximately 1½ miles east of Big Spring and was pulling a 12-gauge shotgun from a vehicle when it went off and struck him in the hand.

In a new development this morning, the mother of another youth called police and asked if they knew the whereabouts of her son. She told police she thought he was with the Fannin boy Thursday night.

Police were investigating this morning to find out if the missing youth had been with the youth shot in the hand.

Widow entitled to $21,500 for cotton tenant farmer grew

AUSTIN — Without comment, the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday upheld two lower courts that said a widow Terry County landowner was entitled to $21,500 for cotton a tenant farmer grew on her land.

Mrs. Faneta Graham had brought the suit against the tenant farmer, S.M. Dill, and Keaton McCrary Cotton Company, owner of the Fonter Gin, alleging she was being denied the money.

A Terry County trial court, and later the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, agreed with her arguments, and awarded her $21,500 for cotton which Dill had grown on her land in 1973. The cotton had been processed by the McCrary gin.

Dill had agreed to farm the land, paying one-fourth of the cotton grown as his rent.

After 41 bales had been ginned in 1973, Mrs. Graham asked Dill for her share of the money, but the farmer refused, as did officials at the McCrary gin.

The Amarillo appeals court wrote in its opinion that, "Unless their agreement provides otherwise, the tenant owns the entire crop prior to harvest. Nevertheless, the landlord has the fixed right to become owner of his share when the time for segregation and delivery arrives."

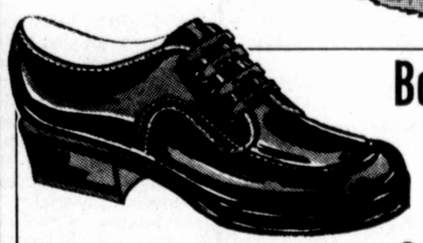

The Brownfield jury found that Mrs. Graham was entitled to $2,600 for the initial 41 bales of cotton, and $18,900 for her rent, based upon the cotton produced after the dispute with Dill and McCrary arose.

Quake hits Ecuador, at least seven dead

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A strong earthquake struck Ecuador early today. At least seven persons were reported killed and others were feared buried in the ruins of collapsed buildings, an official said.

Early reports said the major damage was in the port city of Esmeraldas, where some buildings crumbled and at least 120 were partially destroyed.

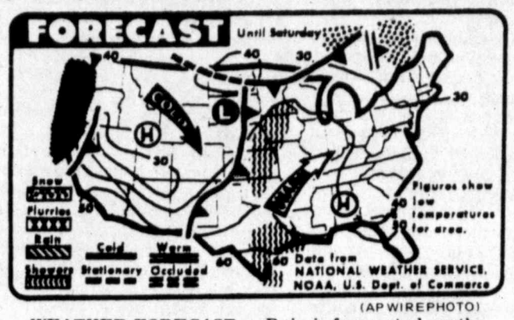

Radio broadcasts quoting an Esmeraldas city official said seven persons died and about 50 were injured in the city, located on the Pacific Ocean about 70 miles south of the Colombian border.

Normal communications with Esmeraldas were cut off. A radio station in the city reported panic and confusion after the quake struck and said a small three-story hotel was among buildings leveled.

The quake was also felt strongly in Quito, the Ecuadorian capital about 110 miles to the southeast, but no victims were reported here.

The Quito observatory said the quake struck at 2:09 a.m. EST and was centered in the ocean, near a cape about 35 miles southwest of Esmeraldas.

Esmeraldas, a city of some 60,000 people at the mouth of the Esmeraldas river, is a trading center in a fertile agricultural and lumbering region that produces cocoa, tobacco, coconuts, rubber and balsa wood. The city is the home of several import-export houses.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast along the Pacific Northwest coast today with showers in the Plains and the Texas Gulf coastal area. Colder temperatures are expected in the northwest with warmer temperatures moving into the Middle West.

Must face up to problem

If you don't understand the recent flap over tax classifications which has been going on, don't feel bad. I don't either.

IT'S AN interesting controversy but one that is not easy to understand. Although I haven't had time to do any first hand research on what happened, Herald reporter John Edwards has, and he has done some excellent articles on this baffling development in which everybody seems to be pointing the finger of blame at everyone else.

For background, here's my understanding of how this problem came about:

The city, the county, the school district and the college use the same tax appraisal office. At one time this was handled by a contract with an outside firm, but about two years ago it was decided that the four local taxing agencies could hire an appraiser and do the job better and cheaper themselves. It was a good idea.

To keep politics out of the property tax game, some local governments decided that the elected officials would not serve on the board that supervises the appraisal office. Instead, the board was filled mostly with employes of the various local government agencies. The appraiser hired was Richard Fleener.

RICHARD FLEENER

In this county the valuations of property for tax purposes are based on 1958 costs. This is a situation that must be changed, and the four taxing bodies realize this. Valuations need to be updated and based on current market values to be equitable, and these valuations should be reviewed at least every five years.

A couple of years ago, the four taxing bodies got a bid on what it would take to revaluate the entire county by an outside firm. The figure was a staggering $200,000 which all four felt they could not afford.

So it was decided that as the hired tax appraiser looked at property, he would note on the card houses that needed to be reclassified.

The appraiser studies 20 per cent of the property each year, so every five years he will have viewed the entire county. At the end of five years, he would have had notes on all the tax cards about how the property should be reclassified.

THEN, IF the elected bodies had voted in public meeting to do so, the reclassification could have been accomplished in one sweep. This would have been fair to everyone, and it would not mean that one subdivision pays four years of revalued taxes while another pays only one.

At the same time, the tax rate would need to be adjusted (most likely downward) so approximately the same amount of tax money would be collected by the four bodies.

In addition to being fair, revaluation has many good effects for local government. It helps with bond ratings and other things that save taxpayers money.

But revaluation sounds like a dirty word because people don't understand it. It doesn't mean more taxes, only a fair distribution of the tax load.

The tax appraiser does not have the authority to revaluate taxes without the approval of the elected officials.

The tax appraiser apparently does have the authority to upgrade a house where major improvements have been made or where one house in a row of 10 is badly over or undervalued. However, he did not have the power to reclassify entire neighborhoods of houses. This could not be done without the approval of the elected officials from the four taxing bodies in a public meeting.

Fleener was fired as tax appraiser last November, and Carlton Harry was hired in February. Harry thought that Fleener had permission to reclassify, and so he "jumped in."

The problem was discovered by Jack Watkins, a local businessman and a city council candidate. Watkins, also a former councilman, watches the city like a hawk. Though I often disagree with Watkins' criticisms of the city, he hit the nail of this problem squarely.

Watkins discovered that some neighborhoods were being reclassified, but the elected officials of the city, school district, college and county said they knew nothing about it.

I believe this is true. They honestly thought that any reclassification would come only from a major addition to the house.

BUT THE appraisal board, made up mostly of appointed employes and not many elected officials, had not been doing its job of watching and supervising the tax appraisal office. The tax cards on various houses in the courthouse were actually being changed to reflect higher valuations — even though it had not been authorized.

The tax cards were not being changed at the city or schools, only at the county. The problem would have been discovered at some point, but the appraisers are happy that it came out in time for them to get it straightened out before tax time.

But the basic problem of a much needed revaluation has not been solved. In a revaluation the overall tax bill would not go up. One rule of thumb is that about one-third of the houses would go up, one-third would go down and a third would remain the same.

In Big Spring the older houses to the north side of town would most likely see their taxes drop down. The newer ones on the south would probably go up.

Our four local taxing bodies are going to have to come to grips with revaluation before long. To be fair, property must be brought to current market value and kept that way, and the rate of tax should be cut to bring in the same amount of money that taxes are right now.

The revaluation need is not going away. It will only get worse until the city, county, school and college move to resolve it.

Candidates' taxes

Around the rim

John Edwards

The city council candidate who disclosed that some high-value house values had been "reclassified" for property taxes was not one of those facing higher taxes.

NOW, THE TAX appraisal office is returning to the classifications used computing taxes for statements mailed last fall.

Jack Watkins, who opposes Ralph McLaughlin in the race for council place two, revealed the reclassification work.

His home at 1200 Pennsylvania St. had not been appraised since 1970, records show. And the former tax appraiser, Richard Fleener, has said he did not start reclassifying until after the last summer.

Watkins' house in the North Park Hill Addition is being taxed on the basis of a $14,190 market value.

Nor was the value of McLaughlin's house at 112 Cedar Road changed. Records in the appraisal office indicated it was appraised at $16,610 in 1972.

Eddie Acri, who has been sitting in place two but ran unsuccessfully for place one, lives in a house set for reclassification previously. The house at 2500 Larry Drive in the Kentwood Addition was taxed on the basis of $12,450 last year. Now abandoned reclassification work had pushed the tax value to $14,105.

Harold Hall, who defeated Acri, lives at 407 Hillside Drive. His was not one of the houses reclassified. The structure is being taxed on the 100-per-cent value of $11,420. Also, Hall pays taxes for $300 worth of vacant land with 14 frontage feet next door.

MAYOR WADE CHOATE, who won re-election, owns a house valued at $33,430 for 1975. The 100-per-cent tax value slated for this year originally was $37,820. Choate's home is at 2707 Crestline Road and in the Coronado Hills Addition.

Councilman Charles Tompkins, 3 Highland Cove, was levied taxes for a $44,410 house in 1975. The also discarded plan to tax differently for refrigerated, central air conditioning would have pushed the value to $45,220.

Plans to shelve the reclassification work might cost Mayor Pro-Tem Polly Mays and her husband, Dr. Floyd R. Mays Jr., more money. The value of their home at 602 Highland Drive in Highland South was set at $58,335 for 1975. It had been reclassified, lowering the value to $53,060.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled recently on the question of the legality of a search which uncovered drugs. A summary states:

"GIVEN PROBATIONARY sentence on conviction of possession of marijuana, probation was revoked on basis that defendant had among other things possessed controlled substance, to wit: biphetamine.

"Officer stopped defendant when making an illegal turn, found he had no driver's license. He was placed in back seat of patrol car while one officer sat in front seat.

"Second officer went to defendant's car, looked through window at objects lying on front seat. Among other things was coat in which officer found bottle containing pills, possession of which is basis for revocation.

"Defendant did not consent to search. Court of Criminal Appeals majority said he was clearly not in position to leave or lunge for any weapon or seize and destroy any evidence.

"Trial court was in error in finding officers had probable cause to enter car. They had no prior information about defendant or his car . . .

"Stop was for traffic offense and defendant made no furtive gestures . .

"Facts and circumstances in officer's knowledge at time of initial stop and prior to search of car would not warrant belief defendant had committed or was committing crime other than traffic offense . . . .

"Search of car was not incident to arrest. Officer testified defendant was being detained while traffic ticket was being written and was not placed under arrest until after pills were found . . .

"He was not in custody at time of search and thus search was not incident to arrest for traffic violation.

"Seizure of pills cannot be upheld under plain view doctrine.

"Prescription drugs are not inherently contraband, stolen goods or objects dangerous in themselves . .

"Mere viewing of bottles with drugstore labels on them did not authorize officers to enter car and search jacket or seize pills.

"Reversed and remanded. Dissenting opinion filed."

Turns informer

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In a solitary, fourth-floor cell in the San Mateo County jail, a frail, frightened Patricia Hearst is prepared to tell all she knows about terrorist activities. She desperately fears she may have to pay with her life.

She has pleaded through her attorneys for protection for herself and her family. Several threats have been made against the Hearsts by such terrorist groups as the World Liberation Front and the Red World Family.

PATTY'S CONCERN about her family, according to sources with access to her most intimate conversations, is genuine. Her 39-day court ordeal brought her closer to her family than she has been since she left home. She was deeply moved by the way they stood by her.

Her parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, have encouraged her to cooperate with the government. They are willing to go into seclusion, they have indicated, if this should become necessary to permit their daughter to assist the authorities.

Government sources have confirmed to us that the Hearsts would be in real danger if Patty turns informer. Terrorists and crazies have tried to intimidate them with death threats. As emphasis, terrorists have set off bombs at Hearst headquarters in New York City, the Hearst mansion at San Simeon and the family's rustic retreat in the foothills of Mount Shasta.

Patty has already given the full details of her life in the underground, meanwhile, to two probation officers. But their report is intended for the eyes only of Federal Judge Oliver Carter.

Through her attorney Al Johnson, Patty has also offered some preliminary revelations to the federal authorities. She has identified the participants, for example, in a fatal bank robbery in the Carmichael section of Sacramento.

She learned about the robbery directly from the participants. Yet our sources say her account differs from the recollections of two eyewitnesses. According to the information Patty has provided, the eyewitnesses have identified the wrong people.

The government is going ahead, nevertheless, with the trial of Patty's former underground lover, Steven Soliah, for his alleged part in the robbery. Our sources insist that the Justice Department has scrupulously notified the defense attorney's of Patty's revelations.

Not usually involved

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When I have my annual physical from my doctor I always inquire about my potassium. He tells me it is normal. Recently I went to the hospital for minor surgery and was alarmed when told my potassium was low.

Can you understand the difference in the opinions of these two doctors?

What effect does low potassium have on your body? Eating potassium-rich foods has not done anything for me. — F.R.J.

Potassium deficiency develops chiefly from loss of the element from the body. Examples of this are urinary loss (resulting from kidney disease), vomiting and diarrhea. It can also be the consequence of taking diuretics. Not knowing the reason for your recent surgery, it would be difficult to comment specifically on your case. However, if any of the above factors apply to you, you can suspect it as the reason for the different assessments of your potassium levels — the one from your annual physical and the other made during your hospitalization.

Understand, also, that sometimes a single test is insufficient to prove a mineral deficiency. Obviously the test should be repeated once or twice.

Since most common foods contain some potassium, diet is not usually considered a factor in potassium deficiency. Potassium deficiency can occur with administration of corticosteroid drugs, in which case supplements are given under careful supervision.

The chief result of potassium deficiency is muscular weakness. Potassium supplements must be used with care lest the opposite condition (hyperkalemia) result, a condition as serious if not more serious than potassium deficiency.

Normally, the body rids itself of excess potassium chiefly through the stool.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you know of an operation for emphysema, in which nerves in the neck are cut to improve breathing! — A.B.

Such a procedure is known, but it has fallen into disuse because it was found to be generally ineffective. As you know, emphysema cannot be "cured," only controlled.

In some cases of emphysema surgery is indicated, as when large air cysts form and interfere with the working of other normal parts of the lung. Surgery to remove these can improve the efficiency of the lung areas.

Except for such cases, nonsurgical methods are used to control emphysema.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Would you explain the statement in Acts 15:20, 29 that says Christians are to "abstain" from blood. Does this mean Christians should not undergo blood transfusions? — Mrs. D. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: No, this is not the meaning of the passage at all. No principle of Scripture prohibits blood transfusions. In fact, I believe it could be wrong to forbid a transfusion when its used might save a life.

Acts 15 deals with a question that arose in the early Christian church about the admission of Gentiles. Some Jewish Christians felt that a person had to become a full Jewish convert and obey all Jewish laws before becoming a Christian. Others felt this was wrong, and a Gentile could become a Christian by simple faith and trust in Jesus Christ.

It was finally decided that the Gentiles would be urged to respect certain Jewish customs to avoid giving offense to some Jews. To "abstain . . . from things strangled, and from blood" was to follow Jewish dietary regulations found in the Old Testament (e. g. Leviticus 17:10). Gentile Christians were urged to obey this rule, not because they were living under the Old Testament law, but because they sought to live at peace with Christians from different backgrounds.

I hope this clarifies the meaning of this passage from Acts 15. Regarding blood transfusions, I believe we should thank God for all medical discoveries that make healing possible.

Dear Editor:

Let's give credit where credit is due. According to the U.S. News & World Report Ronald Reagan accomplished more for the common people while Governor of California than any governor ever did before him. When entering office he inherited an inflation rate of 44 per cent. He inherited a Democratic budget deficit of $700,000,000. When he left office he turned over to his successor a $400,000,000 surplus. During his administration the State of California was accorded a Triple A bond rating for the first time in 31 years. He sponsored the largest tax increase in the state's history because of the budget deficit that he inherited.

He reduced the state's welfare case load and raised the grants to the poorest recipients to the highest level in the nation and reduced by more than one-half the worthless welfare recipients. He reduced local property taxes on the homeowner an average of $225 per family and while the state was enjoying an 11 per cent increase in population, the state employes were increased a fraction less than six per cent from 102,000 to 108,393.

It makes no difference whether we are Republican, Democrat, Independent or what. I think what Ronald Reagan did for California should be done for the nation as a whole.

Dear Editor:

President Ford says that times are getting better, unemployment and cost of living are both going down. But, at the same time, the postal department is still going in the red and the taxpayers will have to bail it out.

I suggest if all the unemployed in the United States would write the president a letter that would help solve both problems, with the revenue on the stamps the post office could operate out of the red, also it would give us the truth about the unemployed.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

April 4, 1776:

Sailing for Naragansett Bay with a valuable cargo of ordnance captured in Nassau, Esek Hopkins' squadron encounters several British ships off Block Island, New York. Today the 20-gun Columbus, commanded by Abraham Whipple, makes the Continental Navy's first capture of a British warship, the Hawk.

On the 5th, Hopkins' 24-gun flagship Alfred easily takes the British bomb brig Bolton. But about 1 a.m. on the 6th, the Alfred and four other Continental ships encounter the 20-gun British frigate Glasgow (under Captain Tryingham Howe). After a fierce engagement, the Glasgow, badly damaged, escapes. Hopkins' reputation suffers as a result. In June Congress censures Hopkins for disobeying orders; subsequently, Congress dismisses him from the Navy.

SEALING A FRIENDSHIP — French actress Brigitte Bardot, on a fishing boat in Le Havre, France, harbor Wednesday, pats a baby seal brought back by sailors from Newfoundland, Canada. Last week, she took part in a demonstration in front of the Norwegian Embassy in Paris protesting the "killing of baby seals."

Rebels attack Cuban vessels

MIAMI (AP) — The voice shouted out of the dark, "Get closer, get closer." Machine-gun fire raked the Cuban fishing vessel, hitting one of the crewmen and eventually sinking the boat.

That was the story told by four Cuban survivors of the episode on the high seas between Cuba and Florida last Monday night. The Cubans and a dead colleague were picked up in the Florida Straits by a passing Norwegian freighter and brought into Miami Thursday.

Responsibility for the attack was claimed by the Cuban exile Front for the National Liberation of Cuba, which said commandos from that group and Brigade 2506 had machine-gunned two "fishing spy ships" belonging to Fidel Castro's government.

There was no immediate comment from the State Department.

The survivors "don't know what happened to their sister ship," said Edward T. Sweeney, district director of the U.S. Immigration Service, who interviewed the Cubans after their arrival in Miami.

"They heard it being fired on, but they never saw it after they were hit."

The Cubans want to return home, Sweeney said.

"We're going to arrange that through the Czech Embassy in Washington. Meanwhile, they will remain here in protective custody because I think their lives are in danger," he said.

The Czechs handle Cuban affairs in this country. There was no official reaction from the Castro regime.

Sweeney said the men had identification cards backing up their story that they were from the Cuban government's fishing cooperative. They left from the port of Matanzas last Saturday and were attacked Monday night, they said.

The Front's communique, telephoned to newsman Osca Angulo of the Spanish-language radio station WRHC, said the attack was carried out Tuesday night about 65 miles north of the Cuban port of Sagua La Grande and was in "recognition of all the political prisoners in Cuba."

There was no immediate explanation for the discrepancy in the two versions about when the attack took place.

The Front has claimed responsibility for bombings and other attacks on Cuban and Soviet interests in a number of foreign countries in the past two years.

Ford's manager predicts victory

HOUSTON (AP) — President Ford's national campaign director says the President will defeat former California Gov. Ronald Reagan in the May 1 Texas Republican primary but it will be a "very close proposition."

"We think we can get a majority of delegates," Rogers C. B. Morton said at a news conference Thursday.

Morton said he feels that currently undecided voters will decide the outcome in Texas.

He said Democrats and independents who want to support the GOP nominee in November should vote in the Texas Republican primary and back Ford because Ford will make the strongest national candidate.

Reagan, who ended a three-day Texas campaign swing Wednesday, also made a broad pitch for independent and conservative Democrat voters to cross over and vote for him in the GOP primary.

"Texas always has furnished Republican president a large vote," Morton said. "We hope everyone who plans to vote Republican in November will in May.

"I think Texans have so much to gain in terms of resource development and the economy of this state, they're going to want a Republican president.

"And I think most Texans are convinced President Ford has the best shot this fall."

Morton conceded that Reagan was strong in Texas, especially in Houston.

Ford honors 'Boy of Year'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, who also happens to be honorary chairman of the Boys Clubs of America, presented a plaque to the clubs' "Boy of the Year" — Robert Lee Fisher.

Ford congratulated Fisher, 18, of Pasadena, Calif., in a White House Rose Garden ceremony on Wednesday.

When his mother suffered a stroke last August, Fisher worked two part-time jobs and became "the sole support of his mother and two brothers for many months," the clubs' statement said.

He also served as student body president at Pasadena's Blair High School, is in the top 15 per cent of his class academically and is an outstanding athlete, earning letters in track, basketball and football.

Fisher will receive a $4,000 scholarship check and $2,500 will go to his home club, the Boys Club of Pasadena.

Sgt. Hone saves Uncle Sam $2,244; collects $175

Sgt. James N. Hone, base fire department, topped this month's suggestion money winners at Webb AFB, collecting $175.

His idea was for a tool to check fluid levels.

Saving the government an estimated $2,445; Sgt. Hone's suggestion accounted for more than half of the money saved in March's suggestion program. The base received $610 in awards for the $4,652 dollars saved. That brought the fiscal year statistics to $5,000 in awards for $36,381 saved. So far, 143 suggestions have been adopted.

Others receiving cash awards in March were: Janice Ware, Manpower, $110; Col. Harry A. Spannaus, Maintenance, $105; SSgt. Herbert E. Bridges, Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS), $50; Rubin E. Steadmon, Civil Engineers (CE), $35; TSgt. James M. Wheland, OMS, $35 and A1C Russell B. Campber, 2050th Communications Squadron, $25. Others receiving $25 were SSgt. Ronald R. Spalding, Field Maintenance Squadron, Mackie L. Hays, Civilian Personnel, and A1C Timothy M. Donovan, Supply Squadron.

Thirteen individuals received certificates for their suggestions. Those earning certificates included: MSgt. Jimmie L. Christian and SSgt. John K. Gieselman, Air Base Group; Amn. Juan J. Vargas, A1C Sandra L. Harrison; A1C Keith M. Stevens and Sgt. Rebecca S. Simerly, SS; Joy Dugan and George L. Moore, CE; 2nd Lt. David F. Todd, 83rd Flying Training Squadron (FTS); 2nd Lt. Bennie D. Little, USAF Hospital; A1C Edward A. Hart, OMS; Sergeant Hone, fire department and Capt. Robert P. Hayden, 82nd FTS.

Midland bids top estimates

MIDLAND — Bids to air condition the Midland public schools, reviewed by the board of trustees earlier this week, range from $4.5 to $5 million, far above estimates.

Last September, Midland voters approved issuance of $4.2 million in bonds to finance the project. In all, eight bids were received to air condition 20 school buildings.

Of the $4.2 million approved by voters, at least $224,000 is obligated as fees to the architectural and engineering firm laying out plans and specifications for the project.

Bids came from Austin, Quanah, Abilene, Odessa and Dallas, as well as Midland.

Hunt suit moved to Dallas court

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A woman claiming to be a spouse of late oil billionaire H.L. Hunt has had her suit against the Hunt estate moved to Dallas.

Mrs. Frania Tye Lee moved to Baton Rouge from Atlanta eight days before filing the suit last November.

"There can be little doubt that the plaintiff does not now or ever has had an intent to make Baton Rouge her permanent home," U.S. District Court Judge E. Gordon West ruled Thursday in moving the case.

Mrs. Lee had filed suit here seeking recognition as the putative spouse of the late Texas oilman — and millions of dollars.

Although Mrs. Lee had taken a number of steps to acquire Louisiana residency, the opinion said that Mrs. Lee continues to maintain her home and safe deposit box in Atlanta, where she lived more than 30 years.

The judge also cited her testimony in the deposition, in which she said she plans to stay in Baton Rouge "until I see this ... lawsuit over."

Mrs. Lee contends she was married to Hunt in 1925 in Florida and moved with him to Shreveport in 1930 and to Dallas in 1934, where she found that Hunt had married another woman in 1914 and never divorced her.

Mrs. Lee seeks her community property share of Hunt's oil revenues from 1925 to 1934, the years he was putting his oil empire together. She estimates her share could reach $50 million.

But Judge West said the claim did not arise in Baton Rouge but in Florida where the marriage ceremony was performed.

He said that Mrs. Lee could have filed suit in Georgia, where she has her domicile; in Florida, where her cause of action apparently arose; or in Texas, where the defendant has his domicile.

Defendant in the suit is Ray Lee Hunt of Dallas, executor of Hunt's estate.

'PRIVATE' TRIAL — Rockland County Judge Harry Edelstein arrives at court in New City, New York Thursday for the arraignment of West Point cadet Lavell McNutt. Edelstein threw a cloak of secrecy around the trial of the 18-year-old plebe, declaring that all future proceedings would be held in private. McNutt, who is from Columbia, Maryland, is charged with the March 29 rape of a housewife in Bardona, New York, near West Point.

'Stable' cabinet named in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new prime minister has chosen a safety-first cabinet expected to steer a steady course as it struggles with one of the country's worst economic crises.

Denis Healey, the chancellor of the exchequer who presented an austerity budget earlier this week, remains in that key post in the government announced Thursday by Prime Minister James Callaghan.

No crusading firebrands were among the new appointments, and the cabinet balance achieved by former Prime Minister Harold Wilson between the Labor party's left and right wings was maintained.

The biggest surprise in the reshuffled pack of ministers was Callaghan's choice of Anthony Crosland, 57, to succeed himself as foreign secretary. Roy Jenkins, 55, the leader of the party's right wing and an ardent pro-European who had been expected to get the job, continued as home secretary instead.

"It is sad that the influence of Mr. Jenkins should have been deliberately sidetracked, and he is sidetracked at the Home Office," said an editorial in The Times of London.

Runaway plane causes $150,000 in damages

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A twin-engine private airplane got away from its pilot before takeoff Thursday afternoon and caused an estimated $150,000 in damages to the plane and four others, officials said.

John Wright, chief of the Federal Aviation Administration's district office here, said the runaway Cessna Skymaster was piloted by Ben Moss of Winter Park, Fla.

Moss refused to talk about the accident except to officials who were still investigating late Thursday.

"The man's airplane just got away with him," said Wright.

There were no personal injuries.

Jim Craig, line manager for Memphis Aero, estimated damages to the five airplanes involved at $150,000.

He said the pilot started his airplane, which had engines mounted on both the front and rear, and apparently got out to pull the chocks from behind the nose wheel and it got away from him.

Before the airplane was brought under control, it hit four more aircraft parked nearby on the ramp, said Craig.

Officials identified the owners of three of the damaged airplanes as Jack Shelton of Vernon, Tex., who was flying a Beechcraft Debonaire, and Barry E. Dobson Realtors, Inc., and McKellar Aero, Inc., both of Jackson, Tenn., owners of identical Cessna Skyhawks.

One of the single-engine Cessna Skyhawks suffered the heaviest damage, officials said. A wing was destroyed.

Dorothy Crosno, president of Memphis Aero, said the fourth owner, Dr. Noel Ferguson of Harrison, Ark., "was in a state of shock" when he returned late Thursday to find his single-engine Beechcraft Baron damaged.

The Memphis Fire Department was called to wash away gasoline which gushed from one of the planes after it was struck, but there was no fire.

Weather modification signals synchronized

Representatives of several agencies got their signals together on the HIPLEX weather modification project at a meeting Wednesday at the Colorado River Municipal Water District Headquarters in Big Spring.

During a morning session, John Carr, Austin, who heads the weather modification division for the Texas Water Development board, together with Ted Smith, who represents Meteorological Research, Inc., which contracts with TWDB for evaluation of the CRMWD's program, John Reggio of the TWDB staff, and O. H. Ivie, general manager, R. A. Schooling, coordinator, and John Girdzus, meteorologist for the CRMWD, of the water district staff, discussed operational matters.

The afternoon session was devoted to coordination of responsibilities under the HIPLEX modification project sponsored by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. Dr. James Scoggins and Jim Arnold of the Texas A&M University staff, and Dr. Donald Haragan and Dr. Gerald Jurica of the Texas Tech University staff, talked about operation of a rawinsonde launching program to be instituted at Post and Robert Lee starting May 1.

A preliminary test period will be from April 2 until May 1. The regular launchings, which will be coordinated with increased ones under contract with the Midland station of the U.S. Weather Station, will be operative for 30 to 45 days. Dr. Scoggins will be in charge for A&M and Dr. Jurica for Texas Tech.

The MRI data gathering phase will be operative May 1 through July.

NEW LIFE — Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander, and Mrs. Rayma Hawkins eye the citation presented to her for volunteer work during "Operation New Life." The citation was signed by Gen. Russell E. Dougherty, commander of Strategic Air Command.

Volunteer recalls helping refugees

Rayma Hawkins remembers confusing names, suffering people, lost families and happy smiles last summer at Andersen AFB, Guam.

While there with her husband, Capt. Keith Hawkins, she was one of many Red Cross volunteers who joined in to aid the mass of fleeing Vietnamese refugees during "Operation New Life."

For her efforts, she received a special meritorious achievement citation signed by Gen. Russell E. Dougherty, commander in chief of Strategic Air Command. The citation was presented to her April 1 during the Webb AFB Officers' Wives Club luncheon.

"I was working out of the Red Cross Communications center on the base itself," she recalls. "We were mostly trying to get families back together before they came to the United States. It was really confusing because some families had 40 to 50 members. Also, many of the Vietnamese have the same names or similar ones. Even men and women had the same names which added to the confusion."

In addition to reuniting lost families, she helped give out supplies and, in general, helped the refugees "adjust and make it for a short while before they came to the refugee centers in the states."

Mrs. Hawkins arrived here March 8 after getting a master's degree in business education from the University of Central Arkansas. Her husband, an instructor pilot with the 83rd Flying Training Squadron, has been assigned here since August.

"It was really an unforgettable experience," she concludes. "I got a humble feeling from seeing all those people suffer. I'll never forget the happy smiles of those reunited families."

Greenhouse damage listed

Mrs. Frances Hock, 1400 Main, reported that someone broke into her greenhouse, tore up pot plants, and smashed several window panes.

Damage was estimated at close to $400 by city police.

Spending, contributions in county races revealed

With campaigning for the May 1 primaries just beginning to expand, the latest campaign finance reports filed with the county clerk's office revealed little.

The period covered runs from the date the candidate filed for nomination to county or precinct office to March 22, Chloie Newton, chief deputy county clerk, said. Candidates had to file with party chairmen by Feb. 2.

Spending and contributions dating up until 10 days before the May 1 primaries must be filed April 23, Mrs. Newton said.

Candidates and what their reports revealed follow:

COUNTY TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR

Zirah L. Bednar, the incumbent — No contributions received. Expenditures totaled $580. Of the $370 used during the last period, various sums for political advertisement matches went to M. F. Hodnett, Helen Dawson, Mattlyn Merrick and Jack Roberts. Also, she paid the Big Spring Herald $50 for announcement. Previous expenses included the $200 filing fee.

Helen Eggleston — No contributions collected. She spent a total of $474. This included the $200 filing fee given to the Howard County Democratic Party, $94 paid a Kansas City, Mo., firm for bumper stickers, $50 for a newspaper announcement and $74 to the Diamond Match Co.

SHERIFF

A. N. Standard, the incumbent, being unopposed did not have to file a statement. But he did. It shows no contributions received, and $5 more than the $200 filing fee spent.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER OF PRECINCT ONE

O. L. (Louis) Brown — No contributions of $50 or more. But $145 collected in contributions of less than $50 each, which need not be itemized for the report. The $200 required for filing with the party is the only itemized expenditure. Another $154 was expended on items costing $50 or less.

Simon (Cy) Terrazas, the incumbent — No contributions received. Only one itemized expenditure appears on his latest report. That was the $65 used for printing done by McMillan Printing Office Supply, Big Spring. Combs, emery boards, and matches from Nationwide Advertising and a newspaper announcement were purchased in an earlier reporting period. These prior expenses bring the total campaign cost to $521 for Terrazas.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER OF PRECINCT THREE PRECINCT THREE

William B. (Bill) Crooker Jr., the incumbent, is unopposed in the Republican Primary and not required to file a finance statement, Chloie Newton, chief deputy county clerk, said.

Aubrey S. Goodwin — He notes no donations received. Lists $374 spent with the Herald. Nationwide Advertising, Arlington, Tex., and McMillan Printing.

Oliver (Bud) Nichols Jr. — No contributions. A total of $280 spent filing for the nomination, with Tallant Printing and elsewhere.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, PRECINCT ONE PLACE ONE

A. G. Mitchell — No contributions. Expenditures totaled $186, including the $150 filing fee.

Bobby J. West, who was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Walter Grice — No contributions totaled more than $50, but West counted $110 in smaller donations, plus $25 loaned earlier.

Spending came to $380. This amount includes the filing fee, $58 for cards printed by McMillan Printing, and $167 for emery boards and matches obtained from Nationwide Advertising.

CONSTABLE OF PRECINCT ONE

Robert C. (Bob) Smith — No contributions received. A total of $200, the $150 filing fee included, spent.

Lee Young did not file a campaign finance report.

Beef confab to feature Dr. Lofgreen

AMARILLO — The lead speaker for this year's Texas Beef Conference in Amarillo's Villa Inn is Dr. Glen Lofgreen, a member of the University of California cattle research organization and nationally-recognized beef feeding expert. The conference will be held April 29.

During the day-long meeting, experts in the cattle industry like Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of the West Texas State University school of agriculture and Dr. Max Lennon, head of the Texas Tech department of animal science will present crystal ball perspectives of last year's and the coming year's beef industry. They will be followed by various representatives of the beef industry who will talk about developments in retailing, packing, feeding, cow-calf production and grading services.

The afternoon session will include reviews of research being done at WTSU, Tech and Texas A&M, three of the eight cosponsors of the fourth annual conference.

The annual T-Bone Club dinner will highlight the day. Allan Grant, the new president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be the featured speaker for the affair.

Over 400 representatives of the beef industry attended last year's meeting in Amarillo.

EPA denies sewage dumping permission

HOUSTON (AP)— A permit to dump up to 210,000 tons of sewage sludge a year into the Gulf of Mexico has been tentatively denied the City of Houston by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA said Thursday it looks with disfavor on the ocean dumping proposal because alternate disposal of the deluge in landfills is possible and the sludge contains toxic mercury and cadmium in amounts exceeding federal ocean-dumping regulations.

Houston can appeal the preliminary decision by requesting a public hearing on the permit but a city official said any appeal will hinge on a thorough analysis of the EPA's position.

Mrs. Loper to serve as chairman for cerebral palsy funds drive

Mrs. Pansy Pearl Loper, 2912 Cherokee St., will serve as chairman for the United Cerebral Palsy of Texas campaign for funds which begins here the first of May. The announcement of Mrs. Loper's appointment was made by UCP County Chairman Ted Ferrell.

Mrs. Loper said the campaign will involve residents, business and industry, professional and community organizations, along with house-to-house solicitations in support of the United Cerebral Palsy agency's programs of service for children and adults with cerebral palsy and their families.

Mrs. Loper will oversee the recruitment of volunteers and the general organization of the fund drive. She called on all residents of Big Spring to telephone her at 263-7037 to offer their services.

"We offer immense satisfaction to everyone who serves in this campaign," Mrs. Loper said. "Whatever assignment the volunteer undertakes," she said, "he or she can be assured of assisting us to provide and increase vital services of the cerebral palsied in Howard County."

GIVES PRESIDENTIAL VIEWS — California's Democratic presidential hopeful, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., chats with Associated Press reporters during an interview in his Sacramento Capitol office Thursday. Brown said he doesn't want new federal taxes but it would be unrealistic to promise not to raise them if elected President.

Proposal rejected

Frisco employe strike continues

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Union leaders have rejected a proposal to end the 10-day strike by municipal employes that has crippled public transit in San Francisco.

Representatives of 10 crafts unions sent a letter to the Board of Supervisors Thursday denouncing the panel's surprise settlement proposal calling for an immediate end to the strike and a public vote on union wage demands.

Supervisor Quentin Kopp had no comment on the rejection, but he said the board planned to place the union wage issue on the June ballot anyway.

No negotiations were held Thursday, and no talks were scheduled.

The strike began March 31 over union protests to $5.7 million in pay cuts for some municipal craftsmen approved by supervisors and Mayor George Moscone. Supervisors refused labor requests to reconsider.

About 25 per cent of the city's 18,000 employes have honored union picket lines, including 1,800 Municipal Railway drivers, idling city cable cars and buses and forcing 250,000 daily riders to find other transportation.

The walkout also has idled most public school buses, closed four museums, the city zoo, swimming pools, and disrupted other city services. Police and fire services have not been affected.

Strike officials announced a one-day-only moratorium effective today to allow school buses to roll, "so that school children can have a chance to catch up on homework they've missed and get future assignments."

There were these other labor developments:

—Representatives of the National Broadcasting Co. and the striking National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians resumed talks in Washington aimed at ending a strike that began April 1.

There was no report of progress.

About 1,700 union members are involved in the contract dispute.

A federal judge issued a temporary restraining order in New York, ordering some pickets away from an entrance to the Ed Sullivan Theater to allow First Lady Betty Ford inside. She was honored as one of 10 "Women of the Year" in a program on NBC.

—In Kansas City, meanwhile, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes scheduled a news conference for today to announce the outcome of a vote on whether to stage a strike or work slowdown.

A memorandum of understanding between the union and the city expires at the end of the month, and union leaders say some sort of action will result if there is no satisfactory progress on a new contract by April 15.

Customers of CRMWD purchasing more water

Member cities and customers of the Colorado River Municipal Water District used substantially more water through the first quarter of 1976 than for the same period a year ago.

The initial three-months total was 4,154,771.023 gallons, up 12.29 per cent over the initial quarter of 1975. Of this, 2,513,618,900 gallons were for municipal use, an increase of 17.34 per cent. The mining and industrial portion was 1,516,103,240 gallons, up 9.07 per cent.

During March, member cities and other municipalities used 934,505,900 gallons, an increase of 9.17 per cent over March a year ago.

Odessa took 380,777,000 gallons, up 61 million; Big Spring 227,000,000, up 10 million, Snyder 66,409,000 gallons, up six million; Stanton 8,533,000, up six million; Midland 251,370,000 gallons, down five million; and Robert Lee 185,900 gallons.

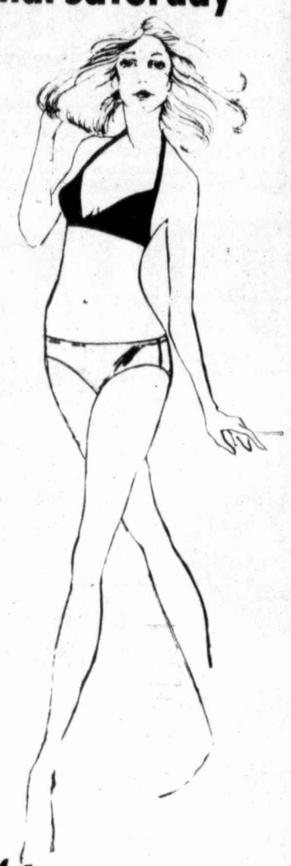

The mining and industrial total of 581,597,340 for March was up 47 million gallons, thanks mostly to 66 million gallon increase to TESCO's Ward County unit and a five-million gallon increase by American Magnesium, which now is in full production in Scurry County.

LEAVING THE ARRAIGNMENT — French-born singer and actress Claudine Longet holds ex-husband Andy Williams' hand as they leave the Pitkin County Courthouse in Aspen, Colo., Thursday. Miss Longet, 34, was arraigned on charges of reckless manslaughter, a fourth-degree felony, in the March 28th shooting death of skiing star Vladimir "Spider" Sabich.

Dallas black leaders disagree over appeals

DALLAS (AP) — The leaders of the three National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) chapters here have disagreed on the appeal of a portion of the Dallas school desegregation order.

E. Brice Cunningham, NAACP attorney, said Thursday the organization will appeal the pupil-assignment portion of the school desegregation order handed down recently by U.S. District Court William Taylor Jr.

But The Rev. Mr. H. Rhett James, president of the John F. Kennedy branch of the NAACP, said Cunningham's announcement was premature and the "decision is not firm."

Marshall Hodge, president of the Oak Cliff NAACP branch, said he thought The Rev. Mr. James' objection to the appeal was based on the feeling that members of the Kennedy branch had not been canvassed about the appeal.

Hodge said he thought the apparent rift would be quickly resolved and the appeal would be made.

Cunningham said the organization was concerned over the plan which left a district in the South Oak Cliff area all black and cut predominantly black South Dallas into two attendance districts.

Meanwhile, the Dallas school board delayed until next Wednesday a decision on whether to appeal the desegregation order.

After a 3½ hour closed door hearing Wednesday, Hunter told newsmen, "At this time there is no action."

Judge Taylor's desegregation ruling called for the busing of 17,328 students, 8,918 of whom are black. It also ordered the assignment of top school administrators on a strick racial ratio.

Hunter spoke Thursday at a meeting of some 100 city leaders and asked them to provide "aggressive leadership" to make the desegregation order work.

Supt. Nolan Estes echoed the theme, saying the city leaders alone have the ability to see that the court order is implemented smoothly or they alone "could plunge the city into great turmoil."

Claudine Longet charged with reckless manslaughter

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker says he has evidence of "unusual discord" between actress-singer Claudine Longet and her lover, former professional skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich, who she is accused of killing.

Tucker made the comment in acknowledging news reports of trouble between the 34-year-old Miss Longet and Sabich, who was shot to death March 21. The two had lived together for two years.

Miss Longet was charged Thursday with manslaughter, but her attorney told reporters a short time later he is optimistic his client will be cleared.

Weedman, taking issue with Tucker, said he is confident the evidence will "fully show that it was a tragic accident and nothing more."

But Tucker said his office "does not believe her (Miss Longet's) story that the shooting was accidental.

People make statistics

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Your own analysis sometimes is as valid as that made by those who are paid to dissect statistical America and from it derive insight into our behavior patterns.

There are, in fact, some critics who maintain that government and industry and other gatherers and users of data merely document what people already suspect, because it is people, remember, who make statistics.

With that preface, your interpretation of the following nuggets is invited:

—Relatively few industries were strong enough to put together outstanding earnings increases in both 1974 and 1975, the years of the worst recession since the 1930s. That was just too big an order.

But in its Monthly Economic Letter this week, Citibank notes, "Increases in profits of the amusement and entertainment industry were among the largest in both 1974 and 1975, primarily because of the rise in movie attendance."

Last year the amusement industry's profits after taxes rose 39 per cent, to $273.9 million from $196.9 million in 1974. Compare that with a 9 per cent decrease for the nation's corporations generally.

The baking industry last year enjoyed a 45 per cent increase in after-tax profits. Soap and cosmetics manufacturers reported a 13 per cent increase, to $811.2 million from $719.6 million.

Your assignment is to determine the reasons why. If you're inclined to list escapism as one of the reasons you'll be in the mainstream of much published analyses of the phenomenon.

—The Conference Board, a nonprofit business and economic research organization based here, reported this week that personal health spending has increased almost tenfold in the past 25 years.

The specific figures: $10.4 billion in 1950 and $103.2 billion in 1975.

"While inflation has fueled much of the rise, other important contributing factors have been the increase in population, changing age mix, growing use of medical resources and technological advances," the board said.

To these, one must certainly add the increases in medical industry incomes, some of which were close to the lowest for any major industry before massive union organization efforts began.

But a tenfold increase! Such an investment must show up in the life expectancy tables, and it does. Health figures show life expectancy at birth in 1950 was 68.2 years. Now it is more than 71 years.

—The home mortgage delinquency rate, as compiled by the U.S. League of Savings Associations, is now at its highest since June 1966. The league said 1.06 per cent of mortgages were 60 or more days late in February.

At the same time, the league was reporting for January-February the heaviest two-month inflow of savings in history.

One report suggests financial distress, the other affluence. The league attributes the rising delinquency rate to the fact that consumers are now buying cars and other big ticket items they had held off buying during the recession.

You, the consumer, are the person behind those numbers. Do you agree?

Sailor faces capital murder

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — A Charleston, S.C., sailor has waived extradition and will return here to face capital murder charges in the death of a Georgia man, police said.

Orange County, Tex., officials Thursday identified the dead man as Sonny Dale Tootle of Savannah, Ga. The body of Tootle, said to be in his early to mid 30s, was found with a crushed skull last month in a nearby bayou.

Orange County officers said Arthur Bradley Gonas, 25, surrendered to police Wednesday in Webster Grove, Mo. He was identified as a sailor absent without leave from the Charleston Naval Base and a traveling companion of two women also held in the case.

Blonnie Cooper, 24, and Sherry Stalvey, 25, were in jail Thursday under $50,000 bond each after surrendering to police in Phoenix, Ariz.

Authorities said they found Tootle's van in a Houston motel parking lot Thursday.

Orange County officers said the two women told Phoenix authorities they killed a motorist who had given them a ride by hitting him with a concrete trowel.

Deputies said Tootle's skull was fractured six times.

Standard firecrackers banned

Smaller 'bang' for Fourth after '76

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's 200th Fourth of July birthday blast may be the last in which Americans personally salute Uncle Sam with anything much stronger than ladyfingers.

A Consumer Products Safety Commission spokesman said preliminary federal regulations banning firecrackers containing more than 50 milligrams of powder have not attracted significant opposition and are expected to become permanent in September.

These rules, aimed at the backyard variety of fireworks, would make all but the smallest firecrackers — those called ladyfingers — illegal.

The new federal regulations, drafted after a four-year study, won't effect the display business. Nor will they alter bans on firecrackers now imposed in 32 states. Eighteen states still allow firecrackers, but current federal rules limit the size to 130 milligrams of powder.

However, John Conkling of Chestertown, Md., secretary of the American Pyrotechnics Association, said the state bans have not prevented a "healthy" black market in very large firecrackers — cherry bomb-size and larger.

Reports from the fireworks industry indicate the Bicentennial has helped spark a modest manufacturing upturn.

"I wouldn't say it's a booming year," the president of one large fireworks company said in an interview. "But it's going to be much better than last year or the year before."

Conkling said most factories are working at full capacity. APA membership, about 60 firms, accounts for more than 90 per cent of the fireworks industry in the United States, he said. APA members already observe the 50-milligram limit voluntarily.

The fireworks industry keeps its production figures secret, and even the APA can't say what annual sales are. That makes it hard to gauge the Bicentennial business boost.

"Most of the members are sort of quiet about their volumes," Conkling said. "We've never taken a survey."

But Anthony Fabrizi, president of New Jersey Fireworks of Vineland, N.J., and Elkton, Md., estimated a 15 per cent increase in output of retail fireworks this year. It could go to 20 per cent, he said, if the economy continues to improve.

"Fireworks is a luxury item," he said.

Conkling said the APA agrees with the federal commission's findings and that the industry has no interest in seeing anyone hurt by fireworks.

On July 4, 1975, the commission said, about 3,300 people required hospital emergency room treatment for firecracker injuries. None of the injuries, the commission found, was associated with firecrackers as small as 50 milligrams.

MH/MR centers must coordinate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Mental Health-Mental Retardation, (MH-MR) community centers and hospital programs must be more closely coordinated to meet federal laws, says Dr. Kenneth Gaver, state's MH-MR commissioner.

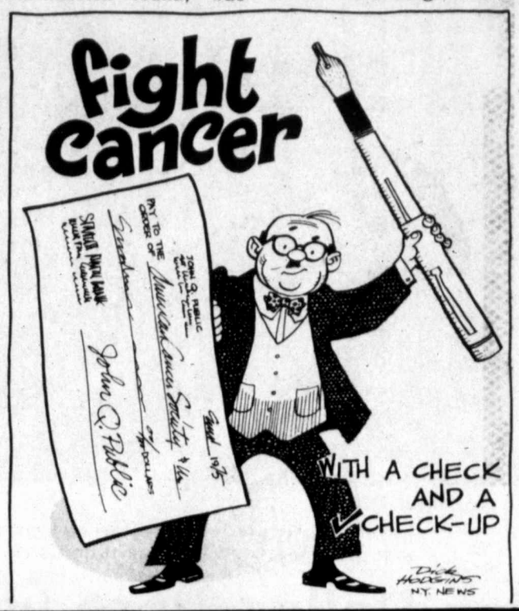

"Texas has hundreds of mental health service providers," he said Thursday at a luncheon of state hospital social workers. "Our main problem is to coordinate our efforts so patients don't get lost in the shuffle."

About 30 per cent of state hospital admissions never received previous treatment at community centers while only 16 per cent of hospital discharges receive treatment at centers within 60 days of release, said Gaver.

"We're going to have to link the community centers with our hospital programs to improve meeting the patient need we're missing now," he said.

The commissioner said also that all requests for new facilities and programs will be channeled through the state Health Facilities Commission for determination of need.

"With the National Health Planning and Resources Act setting up regional health centers, we in MH-MR must look toward presenting a well-formulated master plan for our services," he said.

Defendant disappears from trial, convicted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An Arlington, Tex. man remained at large Thursday after he failed to show up near the end of his six-day trial on charges of bomb extortion conspiracy.

Paul Douglass Methven was found guilty Tuesday, although he was not in federal court. He disappeared Monday after appearing for the first four days of the trial.

"He saw the weight of the evidence and took off," Asst. U.S. Atty. Jerome J. Froelich Jr. said of Methven, who had been released from jail without bond March 1 under provisions of the Speedy Trial Act.

Under the law, a person held in jail on a federal charge has to go to trial within 90 days or be released until trial is held.

Methven, one of four men arrested in September, was indicted along with the others in October by a U.S. grand jury and charged with conspiring to extort $6.5 million from major oil companies by threatening to blow up oil facilities.

Two small bombs were detonated at Chamblee service stations in September but authorities said there was little damage.

Methven was accused of writing extortion letters and planting bombs during his trial.

The other three men have not gone to trial yet.

After Methven failed to appear in court Monday, U.S. District Court Judge William C. O'Kelley issued a bench warrant for his arrest and ordered the trial to continue.

The FBI has been searching for Methven since Monday.

"It was our opinion," said Froelich, "that the defendant had voluntarily absented himself." Under federal law, Froehlich said, a trial can continue without the defendant after the jury has been sworn in.

Froelich said Methven wore a cast on an ankle and walked with the aid of crutches during the first days of his trial and when he failed to appear Monday authorities thought he might have had trouble because of the ankle.

"We figured, with the crutches and everything, he was late," said Froelich.

After waiting for 30 minutes, Froelich said, "We knew that he wasn't coming."

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eleven persons were expected to surrender today to FBI agents on racketeering and gambling charges levelled Thursday by a federal grand jury in U.S. District Court here.

The charges stem from bookmaking and gambling that operated for two years in Missouri, Kansas and Texas and took in as much as $2,000 a day in bets on football games and other sporting events.

Those indicted: Dr. Dale Ewing, Kansas City; Dr. Bernard Kindred, Kansas City, Kan.; Charles Walden, Jr., Mission, Kan.; William Olsen Jr., Kansas City; Donald Carroll, Gladstone, Mo.; Marion Hunter, Dallas; Richard Jones, Olathe, Kan.; James Brewer, Raytown, Mo.; Roger Reed, Independence, Mo.; Herbert Moore, St. Joseph, and John Nevin, Prairie Village, Kan.

Judge restores Boston schools

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge has restored control of the public school desegregation program here to the Boston School Committee.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. four months ago stripped the then newly elected school committee of authority over the school system's Office of Implementation and turned the integration program over to School Supt. Marion Fahey.

He restored the committee's authority Thursday, once again putting it in charge of the trouble-plagued desegregation program he ordered in 1974.

Only racially troubled South Boston High School remains under the sole authority of Miss Fahey.

Garrity said the decision expressed "a measure of hope and confidence in the new committee."

"I'm very pleased with the ruling," said John J. McDonough, school committee chairman. "It removes one of the points of division between the committee and Miss Fahey."

"But I hope he (Garrity) won't step back into the picture every time he disagrees with personnel and policy decisions effected by the committee," McDonough added.

The committee, elected in November 1975 and in office since January, has two new members, moderate David Finnegan and mandatory bussing opponent Elvira Pixie Palladino.

Garrity said his December order placing the Office of Implementation in Miss Fahey's hands was aimed at the old school committee, three of whom are on the present committee.

Boston schools have been under court order to desegregate since Garrity ruled in 1974 that previous school committees had contributed to school segregation by official action.

Grand jury reindicts two

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has reindicted two men and charged them with additional counts of misapplying some $100,000 of funds from the Security State Bank of Navasota, Tex.

Abe William Greenwood Jr., 49, of Houston, former chairman of the board and president of the bank, and Cecil Crockett Boulware of Montgomery, Tex., were named in the indictment returned Thursday.

The two already had pleaded innocent to charges contained in a January indictment.

The FBI said Boulware was a business partner of Greenwood outside the bank at the time of the allegations.

Both men are charged in a 12-count indictment including a charge of conspiring to misapply bank funds and to make false entries in bank books with intent to defraud.

Ford could pick Reagan — if necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is saying that, if nominated for election, it is conceivable he might pick Ronald Reagan as his running-mate. Some interpret this as meaning, "only if necessary."

Ford has expressed no particular enthusiasm for a Ford-Reagan ticket, and some of his close associates say they can think of only two circumstances that might bring it about:

—If the former California governor mounts such a formidable challenge that Ford would feel compelled to make a deal with Reagan forces in order to get the Republican presidential nomination for himself.

—If the Ford-Reagan rivalry becomes so divisive that Republican harmony only could be restored by offering the challenger a place on the November ballot.

The Ford aides and advisers who privately express these views say they regard both possibilities as unlikely and expect their candidate to go into the GOP convention with a free hand to select the running-mate of his choice.

Undeniably, however, the sharpness of the Ford-Reagan exchanges over national security policy has intensified significantly in recent days, which could have carryover impact in the autumn campaign against the Democratic ticket.

Fords will host Danish royalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Ford will host a luncheon on May 11 for Danish Queen Margrethe II and his royal highness Prince Henrick, the White House says.

The queen and prince will be on an extensive tour of the United States in May.

Lie down and be counted.

In America, 3% of the people give 100% of all the blood that's freely donated.

Which means that if only 1% more people—maybe you—became donors, it would add over thirty percent more blood to America's voluntary bloodstream.

Think of it!

But forget arithmetic. Just concentrate on one word.

The word is Easy.

Giving blood is easy. You hardly feel it (in fact, some people say they feel better physically after a blood donation).

And, of course, everybody feels better emotionally.

Because it's a great feeling knowing your one easy blood donation has helped up to five other people to live.

So how about it, 1% of America? Are you going to lie down and be counted?

CHIPPING TO THE GREEN — First-round leader Ray Floyd chips to the green during Masters Tournament play Thursday in Augusta, Ga. Floyd shot a blazing seven-under-par 65 as he toured the famed Augusta National course, placing him two strokes ahead of defending champion Jack Nicklaus.

Reformed Floyd leading Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Listen, all you young guys who aspire some day to be a great athlete. Heed the words of Ray Floyd, who outshot Jack Nicklaus to take the lead going into today's second round of the Masters.

Shun strong drink. Turn your back on riotous living. Dedicate yourself to the game.

"I wish in my youth I had had the good sense and knowledge to train," Floyd said. "I would like to do it all over again. I would do it differently. You never know, but I think I would have won a hell of a lot more times."

Floyd, a one-time Army brat and renowned playboy, unleashed a brilliant seven-under-par 65 in ideal conditions at the Augusta National Club Thursday for a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the prestigious golf tournament.

He was just a stroke in front of Andy North, one of the least known of the game's "young lions," who used a $2 junk-yard putter in fashioning a 66, two shots ahead of the great Nicklaus, defending champion and five-time winner who was tied with veteran tourist Larry Ziegler at 67.

On a day when Nicklaus' chief title threats — Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf, Hubert Green and Gary Player — failed to get it going and others shattered the reputation of Augusta's 7,030-yard, par 72 monster, U.S. Open champion Lou Graham followed with 68 while Dave Hill and Buddy Allin tied at 69.

Ben Crenshaw, who became a legend before he hit his first professional stroke, shot a 70 and blinked when he came into the press interview room. "Looking at the leader board, I felt like I had an 80," he said.

Reds, Brewers win openers

New season, but familiar

By The Associated Press

It's a brand new baseball season but some things never change.

Like Hank Aaron, for one instance.

Like the Cincinnati Reds, for another.

Aaron, 42 years old and in the twilight of a magnificent career, got Milwaukee off on the right foot by driving in three runs with a pair of singles Thursday as the Brewers opened the new season with a 5-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

"He may be 42, but whatever 'the Hammer' does doesn't surprise me," said Brewers' first baseman George Scott. "He's still one of the all-time greats. Just look at the record book. His name is all over it."

The Reds, who terrorized enemy pitching last season en route to the world championship, picked up where they left off by hammering out 15 base hits in an 11-5 romp over the Houston Astros.

"Sparky Anderson believes in hitting," said Cincinnati first baseman Tony Perez, "and we got more than enough of it."

Sixteen more clubs got underway today. In the American League, Boston was at Baltimore and Kansas City at Chicago in day games, and Minnesota at Texas and Oakland at California in night action. In the National League, Montreal was at New York and Los Angeles at San Francisco in afternoon action, and Atlanta at San Diego and Chicago at St. Louis under the lights.

Milwaukee jumped on New York ace Catfish Hunter for five runs over the first two innings and right-hander Jim Slaton coasted by the Yankees with a four-hitter. Aaron drove in two runs with a single in the first inning and another run with a single in the second.

Cincinnati built a 4-0 lead after three innings, added two in the fifth on a two-run double by Perez and wrapped it up with five more in the sixth with the help of a two-run single by George Foster.

Perez drove in four runs, Pete Rose and Joe Morgan had three hits apiece and right-hander Gary Nolan picked up the victory with relief help from Pedro Borbon.

In today's action, The Red Sox, last year's American League champs, sent veteran right-hander Ferguson Jenkins, picked up from Texas over the winter, against Oriole ace Jim Palmer, last season's Cy Young Award winner.

Kansas City and Chicago matched left-handed pitchers in their game, Paul Splittorff of the Royals and Wilbur Wood of the White Sox. Chicago has been completely revamped by new owner Bill Veeck, who marked his return to the game with an outburst of trades.

Minnesota's Bert Blyleven was to face Texas veteran Gaylord Perry; and Oakland's Mike Torrez, picked up in a deal with Baltimore last week, was to go against California's Frank Tanana in night action.

In the National League, Tom Seaver opened defense of his Cy Young Award by squaring off against Montreal's Steve Rogers and Don Sutton of Los Angeles took the mound against John Montefusco of San Francisco. Knuckleballer Phil Niekro got the call for Atlanta against San Diego lefty Randy Jones and Chicago' Ray Burris faced Lynn McGlothen of St. Louis.

No, Messersmith is not an Angel

ANAHEIM (AP) — The California Angels were so close to signing free agent pitcher Andy Messersmith that the club's owner all but announced the signing before it didn't take place.

Gene Autry, former roper of calves on the prairie, failed to rope Messersmith when the pitcher and his agent, Herb Osmond, apparently demanded too much money. But though the Angel negotiations with Andy were amicable, the pitcher's dealings with the San Diego Padres' president were not.

San Diego's outspoken hamburger king Ray Kroc bitterly accused Messersmith of being arrogant and greedy, and he said, "He can work in a car wash."

Rumor began to rumble at noon Thursday when Autry told an Angel preseason luncheon: "We have a lot of superstars on this club, and you can look forward to more superstars before the season starts." The season starts tonight against Oakland.

Since Harry Dalton wasn't at the boosters' luncheon, it fell upon club President Red Patterson to say his absence was significant. So at least two newspapers who were covering the luncheon speculated that Messersmith once again would wear the halo of the Angels, the team he broke into the major leagues with in 1968.

Late in the day, Dalton said talks between California and the pitcher had broken down. "A new proposal by Andy Messersmith to become an Angel pitcher was discussed at great length by Andy, his representatives and officials of the ball club," said Dalton. "We have reached no agreement and have discontinued our discussions."

The 30-year-old pitcher, who became a free agent via an arbitrator's ruling after challenging baseball's reserve clause, turned down an offer from San Diego just one day earlier.

Padres' owner Kroc was irate he came so close to signing Messersmith yet failed. Kroc said Messersmith demanded $1.2 million for four years and turned down an offer of $1.15 million. "It was the most amazing display of arrogance I've ever seen," said Kroc.

The Angels didn't reveal what they offered Messersmith. Kroc said he offered Andy a $200,000-a-year pact plus a $300,000 bonus.

"Finally, I said let's just split the difference and make it $1,150,000," said Kroc. "Then his two-bit promoter said it's $1,200,000 or nothing. That did it. We said it'll be nothing. I wouldn't take that guy now at any price."

Dalton, however, said both sides "made a sincere effort," and that talks were cordial but fruitless.

In eight major league seasons, Andy's record is 112-77 with a 2.65 ERA.

Reds hit, hit, hit

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are off and running to a ringing start.

"There's something about Cincinnati on Opening Day," said pitcher Gary Nolan. "It's a spark ... the whole atmosphere is excitement."

The Reds, responding to an all-time record regular season crowd of 52,949, opened defense of their world championship Thursday with an 11-5 victory over the Houston Astros.

Tony Perez got caught up in the fever of the spring inaugural, driving in four runs while Pete Rose and Joe Morgan rapped out three hits each.

"Spring training was short but Sparky make sure we are ready," said Perez, referring to Manager Sparky Anderson's spring training theme of hit, hit, hit.

"We catch up fast," said a smiling Perez, showing a pair of freshly-calloused hands to prove his point. He had a tworun double, a run-scoring ground out and a bases-loaded walk.

"I stress it," admitted Anderson. "With this club, if we hit, we're going to win."

The Reds wasted no time taking command. A three-run second inning staggered Astros' starter J.R. Richard and a five-run outburst in the sixth put things out of reach.

"Against the Reds you need a lot of luck," said Richard. "A lot of luck."

Nolan, who had pitched only three innings during the spring against major league opposition, flashed his old form for four innings, blanking the Astros on one hit.

The Reds' 15-hit attack was not the sole property of big name batters. Nolan chipped in a run-scoring single in the three-run second. Then reliever Pedro Borbon added insult to injury when he blooped a bunt into center field over a drawnin infield, triggering the five-run uprising.

Valuters top meet

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Defending NCAA indoor and outdoor pole vaulting titlist Earl Bell of Arkansas State will be on hand April 15-17 in an effort to add the Kansas Relays to his list of vaulting victories.

Bell, who set a collegiate record of 18-3½ last month, will be accompanied by Larry Jessee and Roland Carter, who both have cleared 18-0½. Former Kansas vaulter Terry Porter, who has leaped 17-6½, has also entered.

"Earl Bell is a definite Olympic prospect," said Kansas Coach Bob Timmons, who is directing the meet.

"He's one of the best young vaulters in the world. In the same respect, Jessee and Carter are top-flight performers and Terry Porter is ranked in the top 10."

Bell, a junior whose outdoor best is 18-0¼, leaped 17-6½ to win the event at the Texas Relays last week. Carter, a former Michigan State star, was second with 17-0.

Jessee, a graduate of Texas-El Paso, has cleared 18-0 four times and is currently ranked the world's 10th best vaulter.

NFL draft

A stampede of backs

NEW YORK (AP) — It was, as advertised, the Year of the Running Back — and, as advertised, the guy whose job it is to stop running backs got picked first.

Leroy Selmon, Oklahoma's All-American defensive tackle who gobbles up runners — and anything else in his path — was, to the surprise of absolutely nobody, quickly chosen No. 1 Thursday by the expansion Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the opening round of the National Football League's annual college draft.

His being the top choice restored a bit of "tradition." In four of the past five years, the No. 1 pick has been a defensive lineman, a string broken only by quarterback Steve Bartkowski last year. Before him came Walt Patulski, John Matuszak and Ed "Too Tall" Jones.

After Selmon came the running backs — a stampede of them with California's Chuck Muncie, Oklahoma's Joe Washington and Purdue's Mike Pruitt at the forefront — and the rest of the players who may someday make a team a champion.

The league went through seven of its 17 rounds Thursday — 487 players are eventually to be picked — with the rest of the names, most of them best described as "who's he?" to be called today.

"Being chosen No. 1 has to be the highlight of my college career," said Leroy Selmon, the 6-foot-2, 260-pounder who had a few other highlights, like winning the Outland Trophy, emblematic of college football's premier lineman. "Playing for an expansion team will be good experience. There's a lot of work involved — but that's what life is all about."

Dewey Selmon, who had played noseguard with his brother on the Sooners' national championship team, was reunited with Leroy as Tampa Bay's third pick, the last one in the second round. They're the fifth set of brothers to be picked in one NFL draft and the third to go to the same team.

With Leroy Selmon the first new pro from the class of '76, Seattle, the other expansion team, figured to go for Muncie. Instead, the Seahawks vacillated for all but two seconds of their allotted 15 minutes in the opening round, then raised a few eyebrows by picking Notre Dame defensive tackle Steve Niehaus.

Seahawks' Coach Jack Patera explained his sudden switch in signals by saying: "It's harder to come by quality defensive linemen. He'll anchor our whole defensive line. Muncie will be a premier running back ... but I think we can get better running backs than we can defensive linemen in the later rounds."

Patera's decision left Muncie up for grabs — and New Orleans grabbed him immediately. The rush for running backs was officially on. In all, 11 of the first 40 selections were runners. After Muncie came the No. 4 pick, and San Diego used it to take Joe Washington.

New England used the first of its three first-round picks to take defensive back Mike Haynes of Arizona State and the New York Jets — looking to Joe Namath-less days — selected Alabama quarterback Richard Todd, then Cleveland added Purdue runner Mike Pruitt to its backfield, which already has Greg Pruitt.

Chicago took Wisconsin tackle Dennis Lick, then Atlanta picked running back Bubba Bean of Texas A&M. Before the first round was complete, two more runners ran into the rosters, Detroit taking Wyoming's Lawrence Gaines and Cincinnati, with the 24th of 28 first-round picks, snaring two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin of Ohio State.

The selection of Todd as Namath's ultimate replacement brought a cheer from the Jets' fans, particularly one holding a sign proclaiming: "Don't Blow It. Take Todd In The First!" in the balcony overlooking the Manhattan hotel.

Same old Cowboys, pull two shockers

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, as is their history, pulled two shockers out of the National Football League draft grab bag Thursday.

The 16-year-old franchise, which has placed three teams in the Super Bowl by building through the draft, selected a defensive back in the first round—something super scout Gil Brandt's braintrust has never done before.

The name of cornerback Aaron Kyle of Wyoming put a lot of quizzical expressions on the faces of writers and broadcasters jammed in the plush 11th floor Central Expressway Tower offices of the Super Bowl runners-up.

Kyle's smallish 5-foot-11, 177-pound size ordinarily would have given Dallas' talent computer a blowout.

But Coach Tom Landry, a rather small defensive back himself decades ago with the New York Giants, said "He (Kyle) has the ability to start the first year. His weight is light but he's wirey and tough. I watched films of him in the East-West, Blue-Grey and Senior Bowl games and didn't see him back off from anybody. He will attack you."

Drafting 27th, Brandt said the Cowboys were particularly pleased because Kyle was rated in the club's top 10 prospects.

"He can cover, he's quick and an excellent athlete," said Brandt. "There's no question in my mind Kyle can play the corner and I think he can start."

The previous highest defensive back selection was veteran Mel Renfro, who was taken in the second round. Renfro is expected to play at least another season with the Cowboys.

"I have every reason to believe Mel will come back and have another good year for us but Kyle will give us the depth we need at the position. He's not big but those people sometimes tend to make better cornerbacks."

Dallas selected running back Jim Jenson of Iowa as its No. 2 pick. The 6-foot-4, 226-pound Jensen was used sparingly in college but the Cowboys feel he has the potential to develop.

Kyle, who says he has 4.5 speed, said he also had been contacted by Los Angeles, Atlanta and Green Bay.

"Dallas called me three times Wednesday night and Brandt called me Thursday morning and told me to hang by the telephone," said Kyle. "I was surprised I went in the first round. I figured I might go in the first three rounds."

Kyle was on a 2-9 team last year at Wyoming. He led the team in tackles.

"I'm kind of known for my hitting ... I get a kick out of it," said Kyle.

Tight 5-4A Golf Title concludes in BS today

The 5-AAAA Golf Championship has ground down to its final week of five matches with four teams in contention for the two berths open in the regional tournament and it will all be decided today in Big Spring at the Comanche Trail Public Golf Course.

A school's score each week is taken from the best four of five player's scores. After four weeks San Angelo Central leads with 1258 points, Odessa Permian is second with 1260, Midland High and Midland Lee are tied for third with 1267 points apiece.

The Big Spring Steers had their best day last week with 320 points and are expecting a good day today on their home course. Their first team has 1340 points and is ranked ninth for the season.

While all five team efforts count (the district will have played 18 holes after today at each city having a school or schools in 5-AAAA) in team standings, the district medalist and runner-up will be decided on the basis of the best four of five scores. Those two — if they play for someone other than the winning or second place team — will also go to region. And, the low five individuals will be named to the all-district team.

Right now, Kirk Branum of Midland High leads with right at a 75 average for four rounds — a total of 301 strokes. That's four better than San Angelo's Mark Mattingly. They shot 72 and 75, respectively, in their last competition at Abilene.

Kris Howard of Permian is third at 309, followed by two tied at 312 — Cooper's Mike Orren and Lee's Chris Brown — and three at 316 — Greg Lutke of Midland High, and San Angelo's Billy Sitton and Joe Terrazas.

440 families live in soggy uncertainty

Baytown neighborhood sinking into sea

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — The summer nights are the worst. Those balmy, "easy livin' " evenings along the Texas Gulf Coast are long, dark hours of uncertainty and fear for Baytown's Brownwood subdivision, a neighborhood under seige.

The subdivision is sinking, slowly, centimeter by centimeter. The once picturesque waters of Crystal Lake and Scott's Bay have become relentless threats of life and property.

It takes only a strong southerly wind out of the Gulf, whipping across Galveston Bay and up the long channel toward Baytown, to send high tides lapping over roads, across yards and into houses.

"Volunteer firemen will come in the night, knocking on doors and warning us that the tides are coming up," says Mrs. Victor H. Appelt, whose family has lived in Brownwood for 16 years.

"We woke up one night and heard sirens," she recalled "My husband and I got in the cars and drove out through fender-deep water, dodging floating logs."

During the summer months, she said, "the outside lights burn all night and people worry about every little storm."

"Most people keep things ready to move away from rising water during the summer," said Mrs. Doc George, a neighbor of the Appelts. "It's an everyday threat and you worry about getting a warning. I know some who have heard too late and were trapped. They had to spend the night in their attics."

One couple awoke in the night to find their home awash. They splashed through darkness to their baby's room and found the infant floating on a crib mattress.

Boats are parked in the driveways at some residences. Some park their cars on nearby elevated streets.

"It's all been a gradually intensifying way of life for many Brownwood residents for several years now. And there's no hope of improvement.

Brownwood is slowly being wiped out by a phenomenon called earth subsidence. The ground is literally sinking, collapsing like a leaky balloon. Since the community is beside an arm of Galveston Bay, the sea nibbles away at the shoreline, slowly claiming broad expanses of land.

Once Brownwood was a gracious neighborhood of large, comfortable waterside homes. Tall trees arched gracefully over roadways and shaded wide, verdant lawns. The backyards of many homes sloped gently to the water. The bay was a peaceful playground for fishing and sailing.

"It was just beautiful," Mrs. Appelt said.

But subsidence has turned the playground into a battleground.

In the last decade, homeowners have spent thousands of dollars on seawalls to hold back the water and on home repairs when the walls failed. Their efforts have been brushed aside by the invading sea.

Some homes are now inundated for several days each year. One brick two-story home stands surrounded by water.

Experts say Brownwood is paying the price for the massive thirst of nearby Houston and its industries.

Houston is atop an aquifer in the Beaumont Clays, a geologic formation deposited thousands of years ago. A huge underground reservoir of water is trapped in pockets of sand within the clays.

About 170 billion gallons of water annually are pumped from the aquifer to quinch the needs of the area's flourinshing population and its industrial complex.

As the water is pumped from the sands, water flows from the clays. The fine sand compresses in an effect similar to that of a sponge shrinking as it dries.

The result is subsidence. As the deep pockets compress, surface ground above sinks steadily.

Since Brownwood was built, some areas of the neighborhood have sunk as much as six feet. Subsidence also has affected other areas around Galveston Bay.

The cities of Kemah, Seabrook, Pasadena and La Porte all suffer some effects of subsidence flooding. The San Jacinto Battleground State Park, just across the channel from Baytown, has lost many acres to subsidence flooding. Some park roads are constantly under water. At the Johnson Space Center, buildings are sinking up to five inches a year.

But Brownwood is the worst.

The Army Corps of Engineers conducted months of complex studies on ways to rescue the subdivision. But experts determined there was no economical salvation for Brownwood.

"We decided the best thing to do would be to permanently evacuate the residents, level the land and surrender it to the sea," said Chester Pawlik, a government chief engineer. "There are 750 acres and 448 families involved. The cost is estimated at $16.9 million."

After the homes are razed, he said, the area would be used as a park. But eventually it will be covered by water.

The homes would be purchased by the government, which would pay "fair market value," Pawlik said.

This value, he said, would be based on "a comparison of recent sales in the area."

At that rate, Mrs. Appelt says, "we'll be getting peanuts for our property."

Baytown Century Twenty-One Co. realtor Jim Setley agrees.

"Those properties are selling for about half of what they would bring in another area," he said. "While houses have doubled in value elsewhere, just the opposite happened in Brownwood. And some of it was really exceptional property."

A lot of people there, he adds, "are going down the tubes."

Some subdivision homeowners have already abandoned their houses in despair, Mrs. George said.

"They've been forced out and are still making house payments on homes they can't even live in," she said. "Some of them are just ruined."

Pawlika said the government is empowered by the Uniform Relocation Act to award grants of up to $15,000 to "help make up for the loss" that some of the homeowners will experience.

But even this grant would not be enough to equalize the loss by some, Setley said.

"Many of them will never be able to afford houses as big as the ones they're leaving," he said.

The Texas Legislature created a Subsidence District, the first in the state, for Harris and Galveston counties. The district is limiting the number of water wells and the amount of water pumped.

Man 'teaches' computer to print Arabic script

SEATTLE (AP) — In a modern day equivalent of decoding the Rosetta Stone, Dr. Pierre A. MacKay has taught a computer to print Arabic script.

Dr. MacKay says the move also "cracks the code" to permit computer versions of texts printed in Persian and Ottoman Turkish.

The breakthrough means many classicists "will be able now to publish the texts they have been working on for years," MacKay says.

Previously, such scholars have been forced to send their manuscripts to Cairo or Beirut for printing. He says the cost of that method has been prohibitive for lengthy texts. Authors also found it difficult to supervise printers half way around the world.

MacKay estimates his method for typesetting Arabic will cost about $5 a page. "Cheaper than in Cairo," he said.

The Rosetta Stone was a tablet containing an inscription written in Greek and ancient Egyptian hieroglypics. A French scholar unlocked the key to the long-forgotten language of ancient Egypt in the 19th Century by using the Greek text as a guide to the hieroglypics.

"A computer works fine for a language like English," Mackay explained. "But you can't put English in the computer and expect Arabic to come out.

"The problem was getting the answer from the computer in a language you could read. In order to do that, I had to develop a typesetter and make the computer write Arabic for me."

MacKay, an associate professor of classics, Near East languages and literature and comparative literature at the University of Washington, taught his lesson to the university's computer.

He first began investigating the problem in 1968, worried like many of his colleagues that their work could not be shared by other schlars if their research could not be published in Arabic.

He decided the difficult job could be accomplished by a computer. To teach the computer to create Arabic script, MacKay assigned a number to every Arabic character.

The language has 35 characters, but each can take as many as 25 shapes. To cope with that problem, he programmed the computer to look at the eight letters preceding and the two letters following each character so it could decipher the context and insert one of the 25 shapes correct for each character.

After his initial experiments, MacKay wrote two master computer programs. The first maintains the alphabetic qualities of the text, breaks the text into pages and is capable of selecting words in the text for analysis.

The second is purely to set type and can be done at a rate of one page each 18 seconds. He estimates it would take a person at least 10 minutes to write a page of Arabic.

With that problem solved, MacKay has turned once more to his own translation of a 10-volume travelog written by a 17th Century Turkish traveller.

Boyle begins serving term

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle has begun serving three life terms for arranging the murder of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, a UMW rival, and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

"He'll be handled just like any other prisoner," said Western Penitentiary Supt. James Howard as Boyle arrived Wednesday.

The 74-year-old Boyle was released early Wednesday from a federal medical center for prisoners in Springfield, Mo., where he had been serving a three-year term for illegal campaign contributions. He was flown to St. Louis and then here on a commercial flight.

'Celebrate Life' Set Easter Morn

"Celebrate Life!" will be presented by the youth of the First United Methodist Church in an Easter Sunrise Service April 18 at 6 a.m. in the Amphitheatre at Comanche Trail Park.

"Celebrate Life!" is a musical drama that tells the story of Jesus in simple, dramatic terms. In this drama Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John share their faith and some of their experiences. This beautiful portrayal of the Resurrection of Christ was composed by Buryl Red, one of the foremost church music composers. Another of Buryl Red's great works is "Cool in the Furnance".

"It is hoped that the message and music of "Celebrate Life!" will communicate to young and old alike in a way that will permit all persons to celebrate together the life of Jesus Christ, our Lord," spokesman from the church stated.

The youth of the First United Methodist Church have done an outstanding job in the production of "Celebrate Life!" They have devoted themselves to this program by making banners, attending an interpretive movement workshop, and spending many hours in singing rehearsals in preparation for this moving program.

The singers for the program will be "Psalms of Praise" of the First United Methodist Church. This group consists of Beverly Beil, Brenda Beil, Cindy Fowler, Jodi Grant, Gail Mathews, Mary John Cherry, Kent Cook, Brad Springer, David Fowler, Bill Hart, and Richard Moren. Reina Hamby will accompany on the flute. The narrators will be Brad Carr, Tom Shugart, Mike Tarleton, and John Riherd.

To insure the comfort of everyone attending it is suggested that they wear casual clothes and to bring folding lawn chairs or cushions to sit on with a blanket for warmth. The Methodist men's class will be serving hot coffee, hot chocolate, and doughnuts before and after the service. The youth will greet all arrivals at their cars and give assistance if needed to their seats.

"Celebrate Life!" will be a joyful act of praise for this Easter season for the entire community. The program which begins at 6 a.m., will last one hour. Come and share your love of the Lord at this Easter Sunrise Service," the youth group urges.

Church leaders of world eye areas of concern

By The Associated Press

Quietly, without public announcement, Christian leaders from Communist Eastern Europe and from the capitalist United States met in a secluded Maryland center of a Roman Catholic order of nuns to compare situations.

For four days, they talked in friendly, analytical terms of relations of the churches to their differing governments and societies. They traded criticisms, common problems and mutual concerns.

"American church leaders raised very serious questions about freedom in Eastern Europe in light of restrictions placed on them by their governments," reports the Rev. Dr. Robert Moss of New York City, who chaired some of the sessions.

"The Eastern Europeans raised serious questions about the freedom of American churches in view of our involvement in the economic and social structures of society."

Disclosure of the meeting, held in Mariottsville, Md., March 31 to April 3, came this week from American participants, who said previous notice was withheld at the request of U.S. security officers assigned to protect the visiting Eastern Europeans.

The affair was the first such meeting held in this country, but followed others of similar makeup in Karlovy Vary, Czechoslovakia, in 1962, and a second in Prague in 1974.

This time, "there was much greater openness and frankness," says Dr. Moss, president of the United Church of Christ, who shared presiding responsibilities with Metropolitan Nikodim of Moscow, representing the Russian Orthodox Church.

Collegiates fail scripture

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP) — Catholic college and university students are "theologically ignorant," according to a recent study involving questionnaires filled in by freshmen at two Catholic colleges.

William J. O'Brien, University of Notre Dame assistant professor of theology, says the survey found that student acquaintance with Scripture is "roughly that of pre-Reformation Christians before the advent of the printing press."

Assembly of God slates Holy Week revival crusade

He served churches in Mansfield, Ohio, Akron, Ohio and is presently serving as minister of education in Whitter, California. Ball is pursuing his studies at Biola College in Los Angeles where Hebrew and Greek are his major pursuits.

Pastor and Mrs. Randall Ball invite you to share the ministry of their son and daughter in-law during this special week.

Services begin Sunday at 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. The weekly services begin at 7:30.

Wesley Methodist history related

In Dec. 1930 a group consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Jack King, Marcella and Pauline King, Mrs. Fay Newton, Mrs. Emma Pearl Smith, Mrs. Mable Hartman, Mrs. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robertson, Mrs. Jewel Inscore, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Smith — with perhaps others — met in the basement of the Nazarene Church to discuss organizing a Methodist Church.

They later met in the South Ward School Building. A Sunday School was begun; the church was called Wesley Methodist, at the suggestion of Marcella King and Loraine Whatley. Bro. W. M. Whatley was appointed pastor under the supervision of Bishop Boas and Presiding Elder O. P. Clark.

The church was officially constituted in March 1931 and Rev. J. B. Crawford was named as pastor. Plans were soon under way for building a church; Mrs. Dora Roberts donated 2 lots at 12th and Owens Sts.; a small one-room building was erected. The building was completed on a Wednesday afternoon and a prayer meeting was held that night with the faithful few sitting on boxes and nail kegs.

RAPID GROWTH

Bro. Crawford went back to college in the fall, but returned in November, 1932. During the interim, Bro. Marvin Boyd served for six weeks; the church grew from 16 to 57 in number and Rev. James Culpepper served for almost a year.

The Women's Missionary Society was organized in 1931 with Mrs. Jim Reeves as president. The Jack King's home on Owens St. was a meeting place for old and young. Her home has always been opened for good work, and she is still active in her 83rd year. (1975)

During Rev. Crawford's tenure the church continued to grow and in March 1933 the building was raised on jacks and a basement was begun. Most of the work was done by the men who worked after their regular day's work had been finished, with the women standing by to serve coffee, cake and ice-cream. The first funeral was held in the church while it was jacked up; some of the boards gave way; pall bearers stepped over the broken boards while Tommy Lovelace propped the boards up from the basement.

NEW LEADERS

Rev. J. E. Peters and family were the next leaders. The Young People's League was very active during his time with us. A great revival was held in the church with many souls being saved and many lives rededicated for Christ's work.

Rev. Ansil Lynn was sent to Wesley in 1947. During his time he helped start the Bible Class in high school. He, as did most of the Wesley pastors, served Center Point, Lomax, and Corney (north of Stanton). Rev. Lynn was instrumental in Davis Eden, of Center Point, giving his life to the ministry. He is now a minister in the Northwest Texas Conference.

Rev. John English came in Nov. 1939. During his time, a new sanctuary was built, with the men again doing much of the work. Mrs. Roberts helped, as she had promised, after the members had "shaken the bushes to get all they could."

The Women's Missionary Society helped place furniture in the parsonage. (The Society's name was changed to Women's Society of Christian Service that year.)

Billy Porterfield, the next pastor used his artistic abilities in drawing pictures as he preached — holding the paper in front of him and drawing on it "up-side down". He was also a musician and many times of good fellowship are remembered from his time here.

NEW PASTOR

Rev. Aubrey White was appointed to Wesley in 1947. During his pastorate Elra Phillips, who had been a long-time teacher of the Men's Bible Class, surrendered for the ministry. He has continued serving in the Northwest Conference until the present time. A building from Webb Air Force Base was bought during this time and made into an addition to the church for use as a Boy Scout hut and for Sunday School classes.

In 1949, under Rev. Cecil Haraway, the membership increased to 160; the first floor of the present Educational Building was built.

Rev. Marvin Fisher came in May 1951. During his tenure 40 new members were added to the church family, the organ was paid for and dedicated, the parsonage was redecorated, a new Sunday School class was organized and a new circle begun in the women's work and Alvin Smith surrendered for the ministry.

While Rev. Wayne Parmenter who came in 1954 was here, 6,400 square feet of floor space was added for the education building, 600 square feet were added to the sanctuary, the sunday school reached a new high of 334 persons present, the Scout program increased and the boys took many honors at the Comanche Scout Camp. The women brought a foreign student Christine Bonney, from Malaya and suported her for three years in McMurry College. Part of the money for this project was raised by serving the Night-Lions organization every Monday night.

June 1958 brought Rev. Royce Womack who led in the building of the new sanctuary. The Dora Roberts Trust Fund again helped with a donation which was used in making the old sanctuary into a Youth Department. Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Browder, retired, moved to Big Spring, made their church home at Wesley Methodist and Rev. Browder became a visiting pastor. He was not only an aid to the pastor, but he was a spiritual blessing to the congregation.

Rev. Jim Sharp came in 1963 and was followed by Rev. Jerrell Sharp. During those pastorates we helped finance a missionary couple, Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Bloomquist, while they spent a year here, visiting and speaking in the area. They were on leave from their post in Rhodesia. The church supplied them with an unfurnished house, but since they had no furnishings, these were loaned to them by members.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

The Youth group grew greatly under Rev. Tom Strother, who came in 1967. We had a fine youth choir and many activities for them. The women became active in Church Women United and Rev. Strother was active in community and conference work.

Our 600th member was brought into the church while Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, who came in 1969, was pastor. It was during his pastorate that the name of the church was changed to Wesley United Methodist Church as the Methodist and United Brethren Churches united.

Rev. Bob Ford had been named pastor when this history was first written, but Rev. Jene Greer has been sent since that time.

Some of the members who have been remembered as being especially active during the life of the church are: Marcella King, church secretary and pianist, Mrs. Jim Reeves, first president of the Missionary Society, the Jack Kings, Johnnie Drakes, the W. W. Colemans, and Ed Robertsons; Lloyd Montgomery was an early superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. Montgomery was a pianist; Uncle Riley Lovelace put the younger men "in the shade" while working on digging the basement; J. D. Stembridge, chairman of the building committee for the first sanctuary.

Ministerial Association hosts special services

The Howard County Ministerial Association is sponsoring special Holy Week services at the First United Methodist Church starting at noon Monday.

Citywide participation is anticipated for the noon meal and service. Lunch will be served daily from 11:30-12 and the service will be from 12:05-12:35 p.m. with a second lunch served until 1 p.m.

The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl, pastor at St. Paul's Lutheran, will give the message Monday. Music will be provided by the Bell Ringers. Walter Wheat will also give a vocal solo.

On Tuesday, April 13, the Rev. Harland B. Birdwell pastor at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, will be speaker. The Howard College Choraliers will provide the music.

Wednesday, Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will bring the message. The Meistersingers from the high school will furnish the music.

The Rev. Louis Moeller, pastor of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, will speak Thursday April 15. Horace Hise will present the special music.

The Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor-emeritus of First Presbyterian, will speak Friday. David Norvelle Sr. will bring special music.

Music scheduled Sunday

Special music will be performed at First United Methodist Church Palm Sunday, April 11 from 6-7 p.m. in the sanctuary at 4th and Scurry.

Two eloquent presentations of "The Passion" will be presented in music by the 50-voice channel choir, with guest instrumentalists.

The first half will be the cantata, "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison" by J. S. Bach. Soloist will be Mrs. Joyce Bradley and Mrs. Marilyn Newsom.

The second half of the service will be "God's Trombones" by Roy Ringwald. This dramatic, exciting cantata was written by Ringwald for Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians who first presented it on television in 1952.

The unique and pre-eminent place of the Negro spiritual in American religious folk art is widely recognized.

Arnold Marshall and Mrs. Newsom will be narrator-speakers in this production.

Accompanying the choir will be a 25-piece orchestra of the local and out-of-town musicians.

Charles Parham is music director for the special Palm Sunday presentation. The public is invited to attend.

BAD GANDERSHEIM, West Germany (AP) — A pastor should stay where he is needed, says a Lutheran bishop from Communist-ruled East Germany.

Bishop Werner Krusche made the comment in regard to reports that an increasing number of clergymen want to leave East Germany. He told a conference of European church leaders here that the established church is dying out in East Germany, but "preaching of the Gospel" will go on.

Couple's honesty nets them no reception invitation

DEAR ABBY: I feel just terrible. A friend of ours brought a young woman over for us to meet. (His wife died about a year ago.)

She was very loud, talkative and bossy, which was disappointing to us because we knew his first wife, who was a real lady.

The following day, the man came over alone and asked us what we thought of his lady friend. We told him the truth.

Well, you guessed it. They are being married, and we are not invited to the reception!

Were we wrong in being honest? My husband thinks we were.

CAN'T LIE

DEAR CAN'T: Honesty is always the best policy, but you should know that no man wants an honest opinion of a horse after he's bought it.

DEAR ABBY: We've been married for two years, and for the last 18 months we've had in-law trouble. We are both employed, have no children and live 250 miles from our familes.

The problem started when my husband's parents, who are retired, invited themselves to our home for a three-day weekend. That particular weekend, we have invited my brother and his wife, who were flying 700 miles to be with us. After I very courteously told my mother-in-law that our guest room was spoken for, the cork blew!

My in-laws have now accused us of rejecting them and have as much as said that our door should always be open to them at all times—regardless.

Now my husband's family (mother, father and sister) are very hostile toward me and believe that I alone am to blame, even though my husband agrees with me and has told them so.

I want to be friendly with my in-laws but find it difficult to apologize for not welcoming them that weekend or for not having an open-door policy at all times.

What do you recommend?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: No one is expected to have an "open-door" policy for guests to visit whenever they feel like it. Your in-laws should have understood. And if they had their heart set on that weekend, they could have opted for a motel.

I say, forget it. If they can't see your point, they don't want to.

DEAR ABBY: Believe it or not, this letter is coming from a man who is in Hawaii on his honeymoon!

Right now my bride is busy writing thank-you notes for our wedding presents, so since I have nothing else to do I thought I'd write to you and ask you what you think of this situation.

If it makes any difference, I am 24 and she is 22. I wouldn't complain if she took off an hour or two to write those notes, but it seems that she is devoting more time to that than to anything else.

When our friends get thank-you notes from a bride who is on her honeymoon, don't you think they'll suspect something is wrong with her?

BORED ON MY HONEYMOON

DEAR BORED: No. They might suspect something is wrong with you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Story of David' surprisingly good show

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of us think of the well-known Biblical figure named David as only a harp-playing shepherd boy who became sort of a warlike John Denver after fetching Goliath a shot in the head.

There's quite a bit more to him than that, and it's being dramatized tonight and Sunday night on ABC-TV in a two-part, four-hour movie called "The Story of David."

We only had time to see tonight's episode, which covers David's life as a young man up to the moment he becomes the second king of Israel, but it was so good we'll probably tune in again Sunday.

Timothy Bottoms is excellent as young David, likewise veteran actor Anthony Quayle, who turns in a fine, understated performance as King Saul, David's mentor at first and later his tormentor.

Tonight's show, filmed in Israel, starts off quietly enough with young David going about his shepherding chores, dispatching a lion threatening his flock and mildly chiding his brothers for refusing to do battle with the hated Philistines.

In due course, he gets his first peep at the biggest Philistine of them all, Goliath, who each day rolls out in a chariot to strut around, shout insults at the Israelis in the hills and challenge any one of them to a fight to the death.

David, having become the first harpist of the court of the moody King Saul, hears that no one will fight Goliath and persuades the king to let him have a go at the guy with his sling.

Result: Instant fame. The giant will have no more headaches, ever, King Saul's tribe is roused to take on the rest of the Philistines and David becomes a warrior hero, idolized by the masses.

Which sort of ticks off King Saul, who morosely observes, "All he lacks is the kingdom."

Kingly jealousy turns to paranoia, despite David's subsequent marriage to the boss's daughter and his close friendship with Saul's son. And David is forced to flee for his life.

The show ends when both Saul and son are killed in battle and David becomes the leader of the tribe of Judah.

I'm not usually too keen on Biblical epics, but this program, written by Ernest Kinoy, seems ideal for the small screen.

The dialogue is natural-sounding, the actors aren't pompous and the emphasis is on individuals, not the usual cast-of-thousands humbug we're used to in theatrical movies about the Bible.

So give "The Story of David" a look tonight. It's a surprisingly good show.

Kepone causes cancer in mice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kepone, the pesticide that sickened dozens of workers at the Hopewell, Va., plant where it was made, causes liver cancer in laboratory animals, a new study shows.

The National Cancer Institute, which fed Kepone to mice and rats in an 80-week experiment, said Wednesday the results indicate Kepone may be carcinogenic in humans, although the risks are uncertain.

The institute said direct extrapolation of test results from animals to humans is not possible, but it added that "the identification of this compound as a carcinogen in animals ... serves as a warning of its possible carcinogenicity in humans."

Government authorities shut the Life Sciences Products Co. plant in Hopewell last July and banned Kepone, used as a roach and ant killer.

The study showed that among animals fed large quantities of Kepone, liver cancer developed in 43 out of 49 male mice, 23 of 49 female mice, 3 of 44 male rats and 20 of 45 female rats. At lower doses, 39 out of 48 male mice and 26 of 50 female mice also developed liver cancer.

Among animals which were not fed Kepone, liver cancer was not found in any rats or female mice, but was present in 8 of 49 male mice.

Scientists also found that, in addition to cancers, the animals developed extensive noncancerous liver damage called hyperplasia and displayed tremors, skin changes and anemia.

Symptoms among several dozen Life Science workers ranged from tremors to sterility. All 135 persons who worked at the plant had traces of Kepone in their blood.

A federal grand jury in Richmond, Va., is investigating. More than $100 million in civil law suits have been filed by the former Life Science workers and their families against Allied Chemical Corp. and Hooker Chemicals and Plastics Inc.

Kepone also polluted the James River, according to the state of Virginia, which has closed the waterway to commercial fishing. The state is suing Life Science and Allied Chemical for $3.6 million.

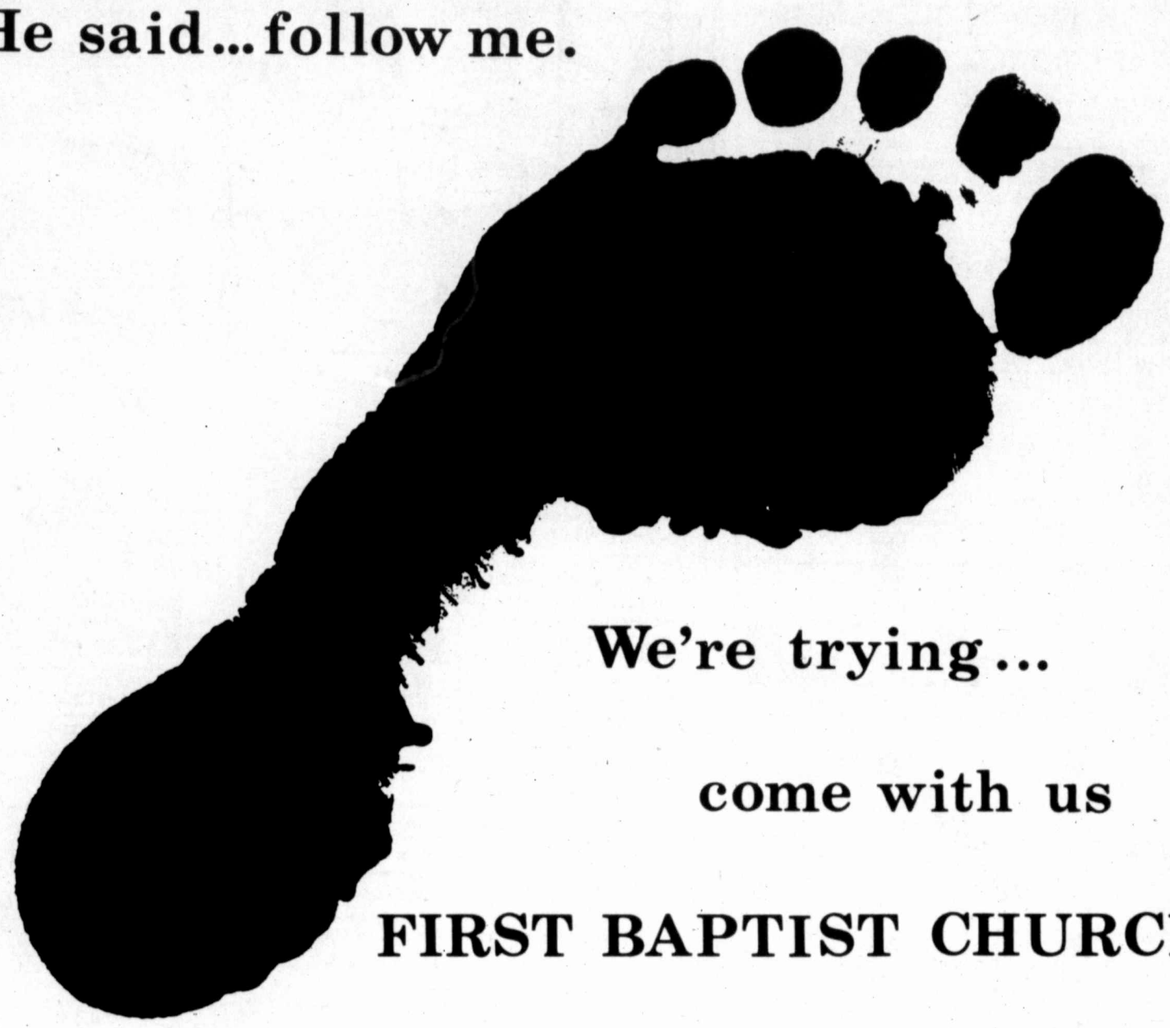

Shoplifting not due to poverty

PRAGUE (AP) — Sweets and high quality coffee are the most frequent target of shoplifters in Bratislava supermarkets, a local paper reports.

Alcohol, which holds third place, represents about one third of all the thefts.

Shoplifting is not due to poverty, the daily said. Among recent culprits were an engineer, a philharmonic musician, and a lawyer.

A STATION WAGON THAT BOASTS ABOUT GAS MILEAGE.
With the high efficiency SEEC-T engine the manual transmission Subaru station wagon gets 33 highway and 27 city miles to a gallon of regular, according to EPA test estimates. Your mileage may vary because of the way you drive, driving conditions, the condition of your car and whatever optional equipment you might have. But this is one station wagon that's kind to you at the gas station.

Vets urged to apply

GI loan eligibility restored to 12,300

GI loan eligibility was restored to more than 12,300 veterans and servicemen who were released from liability for their former GI loans during 1975, and the Veterans Administration is urging others to apply. VA says all veterans should request releases when they sell homes purchased originally with GI loans.

The agency issued 12,200 releases during 1974, and has given 76,200 over the years. The GI loan program was established shortly after World War II.

"There's a good reason for obtaining a release," Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, explained, "since without it, the seller could be held financially liable should the purcharser default on mortgage payments."

It was noted that through December 31, 1975, some 8.9 million veterans and servicemen had received home loans valued at $118.3 billion since the inception of the program. More than half, or nearly 4.8 million loans, have been repaid.

VA grants releases provided the veteran's loan is current, the prospective purchaser agrees to assume the veteran's liabilities and the purchaser is a good credit risk with sufficient income to meet assumed mortgage payments.

Prior to December 31, 1974, veterans could qualify for restoration of loan eligibility if VA had been relieved of liability and if the property was disposed of for what was described as "compelling reasons."

In that year, however, Congress removed the "compelling reasons" restriction and a veteran's entitlement may now be restored if the property has been disposed of and the loan has been repaid.

The law also provides that the original veteran's liability will be removed automatically if another veteran purchases the property and substitutes his VA loan eligibility for that of the seller.

Candidate claims interest conflict

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, a candidate for the Texas Railroad Commission, says financial statements filed by two of his opponents in the May 1 Democratic primary show what he called "a clear-cut and irreparable conflict of interest."

Denton told a news conference Thursday that Terence O'Rourke and Jon Newton have "actively sought" oil and gas money and have accepted more than $130,000 in contributions from industries which the commission regulates.

By their own admission, Denton charged, 80 per cent of Newton's campaign has been financed by the oil and gas industry and 50 per cent of O'Rourke's money has come from the same source.

"You can't serve the public interest when you are indebted to the private interest," Denton said.

'Sour gas wells' to be discussed

LUBBOCK — Hydrogen sulfide gas in an oil well poses problems for both employe safety and drilling procedures. Solutions to the problems include improved understanding and monitoring and safety equipment and better employe safety education.

Two representatives of Schlumberger Well Services, Shreveport, La., will discuss the hydrogen sulfide problem during the 23rd Southwestern Petroleum Short Course, April 22-23, at Texas Tech University. "Logging Operations in Sour Gas Well" will be presented by James G. Connell and Robert M. Shapiro.

Midland driver free on bail

Milton Goosby Jr., 48, Midland, was released from jail on $2,500 bond with charges of possession of stolen property and speeding.

Goosby was arrested six miles west of Big Spring on IS 20 Thursday by State Troopers Bill Priest and Ken Joyce on a speeding charge. He allegedly had a stolen .38 pistol in his possession.
