The SDN Cease-Fire In Mozambique

Column

If you're among the thousands who saw the half-time show at the National Football League game between Dallas and Kansas City a week ago, either in person or on television, you witnessed a show that was planned by a former Snyderite and executed under his personal supervision.

The half-time entertainment for the game was presented by the McArthur High School Band of Irving. And, as assistant band director there, Jerry Roe, native and former resident of Snyder, was assigned the task of planning the show. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron H. Roe, and, of course is a graduate of Snyder High School and a former junior high band director.

We are indebted to Mrs. Doyle Wemken and to W.C. Fargason for sending in information on the erection of a memorial marker at the grave of a Confederate Veteran at Lone Wolf Cemetery recently.

The grave of Andrew Jackson Farris, who died on Feb. 2, 1902, must be one of the oldest in the county.

Although Scurry County was not organized until a couple of decades after the Civil War, its history is mingled with some of the well-known personalities of that era, including the brilliant Confederate General, Robert E. Lee, who apparently "visited" this area before the "war between the states."

We just learned that Roy Dunlap, former Snyder City Manager, probably is eligible for membership in our year Round Daylight Saving Time Club.

Dunlap was quoted in Nation's Business, which made a survey concerning the popularity, or absence thereof, of Daylight Saving Time. Now head of an engineering firm, Dunlap and Associates, at Killeen, Dunlap told Nation's Business that his employes appreciated that extra hour of daylight that is available after they get off work.

Joe Reaves, who teaches psychology out at Western Texas College, has learned, or perhaps confirmed is a better word, that really big people are interested in places like WTC and that they often are "within reach." Joe started out several months ago with this idea of a forum on national affairs. He needed people with varied experience in high places of responsibility, and he needed to get them on the line without making any financial commitments. He mailed out 114 letters and got back 100 replies, nearly all of which expressed interest in the project. So far, he has firm commitments for appearances at WTC and in the community this fall by Mayor William D. Schaeffer of Baltimore and Gov. Jack Williams of Arizona. Tentative acceptances for future dates include Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, who defeated Sen. J.W. Fulbright in the primary election this year, Oklahoma Gov. David Hall, Connecticutt Gov. Thomas J. Meskell, Sen. John Tower and U.S. Rep. Kike de la Garza.

You never know what you can do on these projects until you try, Reaves observed.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Sept. 8, the 251st day of 1974. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1546, a Spanish expedition landed at what is now St. Augustine, Fla., and founded the first permanent European settlement in North America.

On this date—

In 1664, Peter Stuyvesant surrendered New Amsterdam to the British.

In 1760, Wisconsin came under English control after being French territory.

In 1855, the Crimean war ended.

In 1883, construction of the Northern Pacific railroad was completed with the driving of the last spike near Garrison, Mont.

In 1934, 134 persons lost their lives in a fire aboard the luxury liner Morro Castle off the New Jersey coast.

In 1935, Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana was shot in the capitol at Baton Rouge and he died two days later.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Dora hit Florida and Georgia, leaving a chaos of flood and destruction and causing tens of millions of dollars in damage.

Five years ago: President Nixon and Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz dedicated Amistad Dam on the Rio Grande.

One year ago: President Nixon outlined an eight-point energy program, saying the United States could not be at the mercy of Middle East oil producers.

Plans Are Taking Shape For Scurry County Fair

Plans are underway for the annual Scurry County Fair to be held Sept. 26-27-28 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

All agriculture exhibits and general exhibits should be brought to the Coliseum between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sept. 25. Art exhibits should be brought in between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sept. 24. Baked products should be brought in either Friday evening, Sept. 27, or early Saturday morning, Sept. 28. Flowers should be brought in between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Preston are in charge of the entertainment. There will be musical entertainment provided each night of the Fair for about 45 minutes.

There will be a series of programs in the southwest room of the auditorium beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 26. The name of the first program is, "Making T-Shirts." Miss Ruby Butts, county extension agent and publicity chairman for the Fair, said these shows will be held each afternoon with a possibility of some to be shown during the mornings.

All entries have to be picked up between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29.

Fair officials said they are expecting more entries in the vegetable classes this year, but less in the cotton and grain classes. They encouraged local citizens to bring their products to the Fair. They also urged communities to set up community booths.

There will be a concession stand at the Fair operated by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

"There are plenty of catalogues available in the County Extension office," said Miss Butts, "For those who would like to obtain one."

Entries in the art show must be matted or framed and wired for hanging. Paintings should not be over two years old, but it must be the work of the person exhibiting it. Paintings must not have been previously shown at the Scurry County Fair. Each artist may enter four works of art per division. There will be four ribbons given in each class. Three overall best ribbons also will be given.

All art work must be original. No copy work is allowed in any division. There will be professional and non-professional categories only in the adult division. Divisions will include pre-school to six years, elementary school first grade through third grade, fourth grade through sixth grade, junior high school, senior high school and adult.

Two-dimensional classes in the adult art division are oil paintings and acrylic, water-colors—opaque and translucent, drawings—all media; graphics—lithographs, woodblocks, serigraphs and intaglio, etc., collage, and photography. The only three-dimensional class is for sculpture.

Officers of the Scurry County Fair include H.W. Cargile, president; Mrs. Roy Hanson, secretary; and, Wilson Bright, treasurer.

Superintendents are O.P. Tate, Jr., Mrs. O.P Tate, Jr., E.L. Vandiver, Roy Hanson, Billy Roach, Miss Ruby Butts, Mrs. R.L. Drum, Mrs. L.C. Drum, Mrs. E.L. Vandiver, Mrs. Robert Swint, Mrs. E.M. Ashley, Mrs. Harold Wade, Mrs. Walter Stirl, Mrs. Forest Hess.

The Snyder Palette Club, the Snyder Twilight Garden Club and Snyder Garden Club again are helping with the Fair.

Board of directors include:

Precinct 1—Carl Williams, Mrs. Eldon Perry, J.N. Eicke.

Precinct 2—R.L. Drum, Mrs. O.P Tate, Jr., Howard Hogue.

Precinct 4—Mrs. Doyle Wemken, W.J. Fuller, E.M. Ashely.

Snyder—Wilson Bright, Mrs. Roy Hanson, Darrell Sims, R.C. Eoff, Albert Lewis, Mrs. S.L. Terry, Max von Roeder, H.W. Cargile and Mrs. Bob Dupree.

Enrollment At WTC Is Near 1,000

Enrollment for the fall semester at Western Texas College is expected to go over the 1,000 mark early in the week, possibly by Monday evening.

Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services and Registrar, said the registration for the fall term will continue through Thursday. Students may register at any time during the regular business day, or during evening registration hours, which are 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The enrollment figures are running slightly ahead of those at the same stage of registration last year, Dr. Hood siad.

Dormitories are almost at capacity. The on-campus living facilities for girls are full and space remains for only four more male students in the dormitories.

Dr. Hood said that WTC hopes its overall enrollment will show a substantial increase, since this is a state appropriation year. This means that the college's state appropriation for the next two years will be based on this fall's enrollment.

Enrollment also is continuing at extension centers at Colorado City and Haskell. Students may register Monday night at the extension centers.

Ghosts Haunt Politicians

AUSTIN (AP) — Ghosts have a way of haunting politicians. Just ask Carl Parker.

Parker, it seems, will lose his race for speaker of the 1975 Texas House. One reason is the shade of the year of Sharpstown that lurks in the corner of his campaign.

A similar revenant follows Parker's opponent, Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, but it doesn't rattle chains and howl in the night like Parker's.

Parker has credibility problems that Clayton lacks. Several liberals, ordinarily Parker's natural allies, remarked that they distrust him when asked why they rejected him in favor of the conservative Clayton.

The speaker's race became a two-man contest this week when Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, pulled out and brought a group of predominantly liberal supporters with him to Clayton, including five of the eight blacks in the House. Three other minor candidates then dropped out, with most of their pledges also going to Clayton.

Clayton's public commitments include 48 unopposed House members or nominees, both candidates in eight races and 19 incumbents who are strongly favored to defeat their opponents. That's 75 votes and does not include several non-incumbents who are expected to win their races.

FDA Is Urging Ban On TBS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many deodorant soaps make you smell good but also may be hazardous to health, according to a report received by the Food and Drug Administration.

An advisory committee's report nearing completion recommends an immediate ban on one germ killer, tribromsalan (TBS), tough new safety testing for hundreds of other chemicals and limits on advertising claims.

The outside experts' views, while not yet officially accepted by Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt, are expected to form the basis for new FDA regulations covering a wide range of antimicrobial agents. TBS was singled out for immediate attention because it apparently causes severe skin disorders in persons extremely sensitive to sunlight, the panel said.

The panel also concluded, however, that other antiseptic products may kill beneficial bacteria on the skin and allow dangerous bacteria to multiply in their place.

In another action, The FDA said Friday it is moving quickly to clear the nation's store shelves of a harmful fingernail preparation.

The preparation contains methyl methacrylate monomer, a potent chemical responsible for a rising number of consumer injuries, the FDA said. Usually packaged with a bottle of liquid and another bottle of powder, the fingernail kits are designed to make fingernails look longer.

But the FDA said the preparations may cause severe allergic reactions to skin tissue, with acute inflammations and lesions often accompanied by burning and itching.

Prelude To Freedom

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Portugal and the Mozambique guerrillas it has been fighting for 10 years signed an agreement today calling for a cease-fire in the African colony a midnight and paving the way for independence next year.

Africans in the Mozambique capital of Lourenco Marques reacted by parading jubilantly through the city waving Portuguese flags.

But whites, apparently angered over the agreement, overturned at least five cars in the city, stoned the dining hall at the national university and attacked newspaper offices.

Just before the pact was signed, small-arms fire set off an explosion at a military ammunition dump outside Lourenco Marques, but no casualties were reported. It was not known who was behind the blast.

The historic agreement was signed by Ernesto Augusto Nelo Antunes, Portuguese minister without portfolio, and Samora Machel, president of the Mozambique Liberation Front, which has been fighting the Portuguese army to achieve independence.

Under the agreement the colony will become fully independent next June 25 and a transitional government dominated by the front is to be set up next week.

The move comes just three days before Portugal formally grants independence to Portuguese Guinea — which prefers to be known as Guinea Bissau — the smallest of her three African colonies.

The Lisbon government has also offered to negotiate independence with guerrillas in Angola, Portugal's largest African colony, but the major guerrilla groups there have vowed to continue fighting "until final victory."

Diplomatic source previously has said that the Mozambique independence plans calls for a Frelimo-dominated provisional government effective Sept. 23 with Portugal retaining the ministries of defense and interior until full independence is granted next June.

Mozambique has a population of 8.5 million, among them about 250,000 whites. It was first colonized in 1505, seven years after being discovered by Vasco da Gama.

Leftists Declare War On Isabel

By VICENTE L. PANETTA
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The left-wing Montonero guerrillas have declared open war on the government of President Isabel Peron, promising arson, assassinations, sabotage and bombings.

Mario Firmenich, the 26-year-old leader of the guerrillas, told a clandestine news conference Friday that the terrorist campaign had already begun with the murder of two policemen, the blowing up of a French-owned auto salesroom, the kidnaping of a steel-mill executive and a raid on a police station.

As Firmenich spoke, the Montonero "War Communique No.1" was also read to newsmen in other Argentine cities. The statement was also signed by the main Peronist youth organization and its adjuncts.

The leftists accused Mrs. Peron, widow of former President Juan D. Peron, of right-wing sympathies and of "harboring imperialism and the oligarchy."

The guerrillas — the armed vanguard of the leftist Peronist Youth Movement, which claims 250,000 members — pledged a "popular war" until the government ends "all forms of repression."

They called upon Mrs. Peron to free political prisoners; restore freedom of expression; lift bans on reforms, on mass demonstrations and on the national labor movement; and abolish Peron's "social pact" system of wage and price controls.

At Buenos Aires University, a student assembly chanted Montonero slogans as the announcement was read. Striking auto, newspaper and steel-mill workers sat in at the session. And in Mendoza, 660 miles west of here, a Montonero leader declared "our policy is now bullets and bombs."

The guerrillas had actively participated in the drive that brought Peron back to power last year after an 18-year exile. After Peron's return, the Montonero leaders proclaimed their abandonment of violence and their return to legitimate political activity.

But friction rapidly developed between the left and right wings of the wide-ranging Peronist movement.

Robertson Rites Pend

James Truman Robertson, 75, who lived at 2501 Twenty-eighth Street, died at 5:45 a.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Robertson, a native of Bell County, was a retired cafe operator and painter.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Wanda Gean Bell of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Myrhl Catlin of Aurora, Colo.; four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Baltimore Mayor First Visitor In WTC Forum

The first "VIP" visit in the Western Texas College Forum on National Affairs has been scheduled for Oct. 7-8, Joe Reaves, assistant professor of psychology has announced.

Mayor William D. Schaeffer of Baltimore, Md., is scheduled to spend two days here visiting in the community and on the WTC campus.

Reaves proposed the forum last spring, and, getting encouragement from the WTC administration and others in the community, set out immediately to launch the project. He hopes to bring well-known public figures who are identified with and experienced in many fields.

"Briefly stated, the WTC Forum on National Affairs is an effort to bring to the campus and community knowledgeable national figures to share their expertise in the fields of their interest and specialty," Reaves said.

"It is our belief that the college and community, together with surrounding colleges and communities, would benefit greatly from exposure to such prominent figures as are being sought for the Forum.

"Not only can considerable insight be gained into National Affairs by the participants, but considerable attention will be focused upon our community and campus throughout the series of meetings. Area and regional news coverage will be extensive, and much good will be generated as neighboring educational and political figures are invited to attend.

"Ramifications of such a Forum could be both numerous and far-reaching as the public relations impact is felt, and spin-off activities are generated. WTC will work with community leaders to take maximum advantage of the time, influence and expertise of the august visitors.

"Letters have been sent to 39 U.S. Senators, 11 members of the U.S. House of Representatives, all 50 state governors and the mayors of 14 of the largest cities in the nation. Other letters are still being sent to selected individuals.

"To date responses have been logged from 100 of the 114 recipients with many very encouraging comments and possibilities.

"Those firmly committed to the Forum already are Baltimore Mayor William D. Schaeffer and Arizona Governor Jack Williams. Tentative acceptance of our invitation has been indicated by Arkansas' Dale Bumpers, Senator John Tower, U.S. Representative Kika de la Garza (Texas), Oklahoma Governor David Hall,

How to raise a juvenile delinquent

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I've been carrying one of your columns around for six or seven years, and it's practically falling apart, but it still makes a lot of sense. Will you please run it again? A whole new generation of teen-agers is coming up and I'm sure it will help other fathers as much as it has helped me.

TOUGH BUT LOVING

DEAR T BUT L: With pleasure. And here it is:

TEN RULES FOR RAISING A JUVENILE DELINQUENT

1. Begin at infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words laugh at him. This will make him think he is cute.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is twenty-one, then let him decide for himself.

4. Pick up everything he leaves lying around: books, shoes, clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.

5. Quarrel with your spouse frequently in his presence. In this way he will not be shocked when the home is broken.

6. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

7. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. Denial may lead to frustrations.

8. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

9. When he gets into trouble, apologize for yourself by saying: "I never could do anything with him."

10. Prepare for plenty of headaches. You are sure to have them.

DEAR ABBY: I am 74, retired, in fairly good health and I keep active and useful. I lost my wife 14 months ago, after 52 years of a nearly perfect marriage. Naturally, I'm lonesome.

I don't impose on my children for company. They're married and have their own families and friends, so I make myself scarce.

I became interested in a nice little 70-year-old widow who lives near me. She lost her mate four years ago and we seem to hit it off real well. I asked my children what they thought about my marrying her, and they all voted it down saying: "What for, Pa? You'd be foolish to marry again at your age. If you're lonesome, ask her to live with you. You don't have to MARRY her." (How do you like that from children who were raised to be respectable?)

That't not my style, Abby. I wouldn't insult the little lady by suggesting such a thing. Besides, I'd be ashamed before my grandchildren.

Do you think I'd be foolish to marry again at my age? And what are my children thinking of?

OLD TIMER

DEAR OLD TIMER: I think you'd be foolish NOT to marry again if that's what you want. And as for what your children are thinking of – I don't know, but I'll wager it has something to do with money. Hang in there, Tiger.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ARGUING ENDLESSLY": You can end the endless argument about religion with a brilliant quote by Bradford Leavitt: "If your religion makes you kinder than I, your religion is better than mine."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasksy Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Jake Ruling May Complicate Case

DALLAS (AP) — A refusal by a U.S. District Court judge here to grant immunity to Austin lobbyist Jake Jacobsen may have complicated the government's case against former Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

Watergate prosecutors had sought to drop the charges against Jacobsen in exchange for his testimony in a bribery case against Connally in Washington, D.C.

There was no immediate reaction from Washington on how the ruling by Judge Robert Hill would affect the government's case.

The decision by Hill Friday overruled a motion for dismissal, filed by federal prosecutors, of a seven-count indictment charging Jacobsen with misapplication of $825,000 belonging to the First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo, Tex. It also charged Jacobsen with making false declarations to a federal grand jury.

Jacobsen had pleaded guilty to bribery charges in Washington and agreed to testify that he gave Connally $10,000 donated by Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI), a Texas-based dairy cooperative, for Connally's help in boosting federal milk subsidies.

In return the federal prosecutors agreed to have the federal charges against Jacobsen in Texas dismissed.

But Judge Hill ruled that the government, "in its bargain with Jacobsen made a promise that it could not guarantee. It could have promised to move for a dismissal of this case...but it could not guarantee a dismissal. This court was not a party to the bargain and is not bound by it."

The judge also reaffirmed Sept. 23 as the date for Jacobsen's trial in San Angelo.

In his decision the Dallas judge hit hard at plea-bargain deal between the Watergate prosecutors and Jacobsen, especially at the actions of the government.

Screening Program Ordered

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Warden Hal Husbands says all visitors and packages will be searched and screened by a metal detector before they come into the Huntsville Prison Unit, where a convict received weapons for an attempted breakout last month.

Husbands told newsmen of the screening program Friday while outlining the tightening of security at the unit.

He said prison officials ordered the metal detector about three months ago but it had not arrived before the 11-day prison holdout that ended in a gunbattle Aug. 3.

Convict ringleader Fred Gomez Carrasco, another convict and two women hostages died in the shootout.

Husbands said previous security measures were adequate to stop weapons from getting inside but the search procedure apparently was not followed properly by guards.

"These are the same basic security measures we have been following all along," Husbands said, "but now we've tightened them up."

Six alleged participants in the weapon smuggling were indicted this week by a Walker County grand jury investigating the shootout.

The jurors heard testimony Friday from two officers.

Ranger Capt. G. W. Burks refused to discuss his testimony with newsmen.

Walker County Sheriff Darrell White said he saw guns firing from within a shield used by the inmate gunmen and heard officers call for surrender.

MAYOR

and Governor Thomas J. Meskell of Connecticutt.

"Many of the prominent figures expressed an interest in a future visit but due to campaign activites could not commit themselves at this time. Carbon copy follow ups with handwritten reminders are planned for these.

"Ideally, we should offer to pay expenses plus an honorarium in keeping with the stature of the guest speaker, but those already approached were offered only travel expenses and have agreed to consider us on that basis.

"It is hoped and anticipated that the Western Texas College Forum on National Affairs will become an annual event, drawing a prominent array of nationally acclaimed speakers to the campus.

Planetarium Shows Resume

Sunday afternoon shows in the Western Texas College Planetarium will be resumed today, Mickey Schmidt, planetarium director, said.

In observance of the planetarium's first anniversary, every 10th person attending today's show will be admitted free of charge, Schmidt added. Tickets for the show may be purchases in the Museum starting at 3:30 p.m., with the show to begin at 4 p.m.

"Virgo, the Harvest Queen" is the title of the new show. In his narration, Schmidt explains why we have the Harvest Moon in the fall and in no other season, and why it is so called.

Public shows are also scheduled in the planetarium at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Marine Team Is Coming To WTC

The Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will be on the Western Texas College campus on Sept. 19 to inform students about the Marine Officer Programs. Interested persons may contact Mrs. Mickey Baird, director of Student Activities, for further information.

HONESTY REWARDED—Jimmy Conner mounts a new bicycle given to him Wednesday by Illinois State Police for his part in reuniting a Texas couple and the $13,000 they had lost Aug. 27. The 10-year-old found a bag containing the cash near his home and turned it over to his mother. Mr. and Mrs. Jose Gandaria had misplaced the money while leaving a motel near Collinsville. They were enroute to Chicago to get medical treatment for their son. (AP WIREPHOTO)

McBride's Paper Is Presented

Michael McBride, assistant professor of journalism at Western Texas College, co-authored a paper presented recently at the 22nd Annual Conference of the International Communication Association in New Orleans, La.

The paper, titled "Receiver Reaction to a Persuasive Message: An Empirical Test of the 'Lazy Organism' Model," was based upon a research project completed under the direction of Dr. Alexis Tan, Texas Tech University mass communications graduate advisor.

Evidence is provided that message retention is not related to source credibility or opinion change, an area of study having produced in recent years few signigicant findings from communications research projects.

Rabin, Ford Meet Twice Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and President Ford will meet twice next week, a spokesman says.

Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said on Friday the President would welcome Rabin at a formal ceremony on the South Lawn of the White House Tuesday afternoon, the hold his first meeting with the visitor.

They will meet again Thursday morning.

Minister Back From Assembly

Willie Rangel, a minister of the Church of God of Prophecy in Snyder, has just returned from the annual assembly of the organization in Cleveland, Tenn.

The week-long meeting, moderated by the General Overseer, Bishop Melton A. Tomlinson, registed approximately 20,000 delegates representing each state and over 47 mission fields.

The State Overseer of West Texas, Bishop Hector Ortiz, hosted a minister's breakfast on Saturday morning. A special guest included Bishop Felix Santiago, state overseer of the Dominican Republic, the exchange mission field. Bishop Ortiz challenged the ministers of West Texas to reach out into new fields.

Red Scientists To Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Four scientists from Red China are scheduled to arrive here during the weekend for a two-day study of cotton research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Agriculture Department.

The researchers will confer with U.S. counterparts as part of a scientific exchange, said Dr. Dudley T. Smith, assistant director for the experiment station.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Americans consume 10 to 20 times more salt than they need, which may result in excess weight despite strict dieting. Three separate studies have all shown that too much salt causes both overweight and high blood pressure. The sodium in salt acts to retain water in the body. The average American diet contains all the salt a normal person requires, so put away the salt shaker and watch the excess pounds flow off.

Unseasonally Cool Spell Concerns Cotton Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Unseasonally cool weather last week brought concern to cotton farmers in the High Plains where warm weather is still necessary to mature the crop, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

The cotton harvest is past the halfway point in Southwest Texas and will get into full swing in the Central Texas Blacklands soon, he said.

Harvesting of the first rice crop is nearing completion in the Coastal Plains and prospects look good for a second cutting, Hutchison said, adding the state's peanut and soybean crops are making good progress.

Some fields on the plains and northern sections have already been planted to provide fall and early winter grazing for livestock, he said.

Additional hay cuttings should result from the recent rains, Hutchison said.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Cotton needs warm weather to reach maturity. Sugarbeets and soybeans are making excellent progress. The fourth cutting of alfalfa is complete. Pastures and ranges are beginning to improve.

South Plains: Late cotton and sorghum will benefit from recent moisture, and wheat acreage is expected to be up in most counties. Beans and southern peas are making good progress. Pastures and range conditions are improving.

Rolling Plains: Moisture is still short in a number of counties. Insect damage is heavy in some cotton fields. Sorghum yields are generally poor because of the summer drough. Pastures and ranges are improving but stock water is still low in many counties.

North Central: About 30 per cent of the cotton crop is open and harvesting will start soon. Yields and quality of the crop are expected to be down. Peanuts and the hay crop will benefit from the recent rains. Planting of fall vegetable gardens is active.

Northeast: The corn harvest is about complete. Yields are generally good. Soybeans are making good progress. Insect damage is heavy in some cotton. Recent rains helped pastures and fall gardens. Livestock are in fair to good shape.

Far West: Widespread rains will delay development of some irrigated crops. Range grasses are making excellent growth. Livestock conditions are improving. Fall shearing is under way. Early seeded small grains are making good growth.

West Central: Boll weevils are becoming heavy in cotton. Pecan weevils are attacking the pecan crop. Spray programs are under way. Additional hay will be made because of recent rains. Shearing of sheep and Angora goats is active.

Central: Much cotton has been defoliated in the Blacklands. Harvesting will get into full swing soon. Peanut crop prospects have been brightened by recent rains. Another hay cutting also is in prospect. Range and pasture conditions are improving. Some planting of wheat and oats has begun. Stock water is still short in many locations.

East: Corn and sorghum yields have been fair to good. Planting of fall vegetable gardens is active. Pasture conditions are improving. Another hay cutting is expected. Livestock conditions are good.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: About 20 per cent of the corn and cotton acreage remains to be harvested. The first cutting of rice is about 90 per cent complete. Prospects are excellent for a second crop. Soybeans look good. Insects remain a problem in the pecan crop.

South Central: The moisture has brightened prospects for fall gardens, pastures and ranges. The corn harvest ranges from 50 to 100 per cent complete. Cotton harvesting is 10 to 50 per cent complete. The pecan crop varies from poor to good.

Southwest: The cotton harvest is past the halfway mark. Harvesting of corn and sorghum is about complete. Wet fields are delaying land preparation for small grains. Pastures and ranges are improving. Livestock are in good condition.

South: Soil moisture remains short. More than 180,000 bales of cotton have been ginned in the Rio Grande Valley. A fall sorghum crop along with cowpeas, cucumbers and other vegetables are being planted in some counties. Citrus fruit is sizing well. Many pastures are still need rain. Marketing of calves is heavy.

Hurricanes Miss Scientists' Lab

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — Associates jokingly credit three Oklahoma scientists with warding off hurricanes since 1971.

No hurricane has made a direct hit on one particular oil platform 90 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico since a large number of scientific instruments were installed there to measure wind and wave activity.

Continental Oil Co. decided to add the instruments while the Eugene Island 266F platform was under construction.

Included are 125 strain guages, two current meters, a wave-force transducer, wave and wind sensors, a diesel generator, and an instrument house.

The scientists, Bob Ohmart, Ron Gratz, and Gerry Mallery of Ponca City, Okla., started the project in 1970 and had it in operation in 1971.

Information from the instruments is recorded on tape and then fed into a Ponca City computer for detailed study and analysis.

Despite no direct hits, the scientists report near misses have provided information that indicates platform construction can be improved.

The platform that is in 176 feet of water had two near misses in 1971.

Hurricane Fern caused waves to rise to 15 feet before veering 100 miles to the northwest.

Edith, spawned before Fern, threatened seven days later. It passed 50 miles to the west of the research outpost but lashed the platform's legs with 35 foot waves.

No significant storms approached in 1972 but another near miss, tropical storm Delia, caused churning waves last year and supplied data still being processed.

The scientists report Edith's waves, and presumably the waves of all storms, were more irregular than had been expected. Inside the swirling waters were forces pushing in a multitude of directions for many different lengths of time.

Gratz, in reviewing the recorded data, said most of the waves exerted an average amount of force but mixed in were much more powerful waves exerting nearly twice the average force.

The project's objective is more efficient platform design, much of which currently is based on theory.

"Right now we design and build to withstand the biggest wave we can forsee in 50 to 100 years and then we add extra stress factors," Grantz says. "This study will help pinpoint some of the unknowns in the theory."

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. KELLER

Wedding Vows Unite Couple

Miss Brenda Lou Cowart and Robert W. Keller were united in matrimony on August 16 at the First United Methodist Church of Huntsville at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Levi Gentry and the Rev. J.A. Chapman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Cowart of Huntsville. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bassett D. Keller of Snyder.

Organist, Marjorie Rex, accompanied soloist, Dr. George Vick, in selections which included "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with brass candelabra entwined with English ivy. Three candles stood on the altar near the kneeling bench.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a fitted gown of white crepe with a scoop neck and chapel-length train, which she had designed herself. The bodice was distinctively fashioned from a single piece of fabric which formed the elbow-length sleeves and the hip-length, lace-edged cape. Her layered chiffon and lace veil was held by a white velvet bow.

Her only jewelry was a pearl drop, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses, blue carnations and English ivy.

Joan Henson Walters of Goodrich served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Patty White, cousin of the bride from Huntsville, Kathy Simmons, also of Huntsville and Vera Kamerbeek of Big Spring.

The matron of honor was gowned in baby blue, while the bridesmaids wore royal blue. The dresses featured cape sleeves and collars. Their headpieces held shoulder-length baby blue veils enhanced with royal blue bows and ribbons. They carried long stemmed white roses accented with ribbons and streamers.

The best man was Steven Holbrook. Groomsmen were Karl Keller, brother of the groom, David May and Clay Cowart, brother of the bride.

Mark White, cousin of the bride, and Bobby Sanders served as ushers, while Stephen Cowart, brother of the bride, was the candlelighter.

The mother of the bride wore a royal blue street-length dress with long sleeves and white double-layered lace cuffs and collar. The mother of the groom chose a sky-blue short sleeved shantung dress. Both mothers wore corsages composed of white roses circled with blue carnations.

The reception was held following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Members of the houseparty included Anita Toole, Ruth Taylor, Diana Holbrook, Roxanne Brown and Stella Crooks.

Following a short wedding trip to Galveston, the couple will live in Huntsville. The groom is employed as the classified advertising manager of the Huntsville Item, while the bride is an inhalation therapist at Huntsville Memorial Hospital.

Out of town guests for the wedding were from Deer Park, Crystal Springs, Miss., Fort Worth, Houston, Nederland, Dallas, Abilene and Snyder.

Double Ring Rites Unite Smith, Fondy

Dayna June Smith became the bride of Marvin Tate Fondy on August 31 at 7:30 p.m. at the Western Texas College Christian Student Center.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Dean Morgan, director of the Center.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice E. Smith of 3718 Austin. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Fondy of Slaton.

Mrs. Wayne Bethel presented selections of wedding music as guests were being seated. Those selections were "Arioso," Handel; "Moonlight Sonata", Beethoven; "Adadio", Franck; "Evening Prayer", Humperdinck. Mrs. John Baker, soloist of Abilene, sang "Walk Hand In Hand" as candles were lighted by Miss Darla Smith, niece of the bride, from Kermit and Charles Bethel. Little Miss Smith wore a formal length gown of pink double knit trimmed with white lace. The processional was "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner.

Escorted down the stairs by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white imported Swiss eyelet, featuring a high round neckline with stand up collar, long set-in sleeves gathered to wide nine holed button cuffs. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a Juliet Cap of white imported Swiss eyelet matching the dress fashioned by the bride s mother. The bride carried a white bouquet of snowwhite miniature carnations in a cascade bouquet atop a white Bible. Lace streamers flowed from the bouquet. A touch of blue satin roses accented the bouquet.

The traditional "something old" was an antique yellow gold locket given to her by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. June Irion; "something new" was her gown; "something blue" was a blue lace garter fashioned by her great aunt, Mrs. Julian Hammond and "something borrowed" was pearl earrings belonging to Mrs. Wayne Bethel.

Miss Shirley Glasscock of Snyder served as maid of honor Flower girl was Miss Darah Smith, niece of the bride, from Kermit. Miss Glasscock wore a sky blue formal length gown of double knit trimmed with blue and white embroidery. A blue colonial picture hat of straw trimmed as the dress completed the ensemble. Little Miss Smith's gown was of pink double knit trimmed with white lace. She carried a white satin basket trimmed in wedding lace filled with rose petals.

Serving as best man was Wesley Fondy, cousin of the groom, of Slaton. Ushers were Joe Wayne Fondy of Slaton and Terry Creswell of Wilson.

The bride's mother wore a floor length long sleeved gown of blue double knit with sleeves in matching blue lace. Mrs. Fondy wore a floor length gown of beige polyester knit featuring high neckline and bodice of ecru knit. Their corsages were white carnations.

The altar was centered with a fifteen branch candelabrum holding cathedral tapers complimented by boxwood garlands. On either side was hanging baskets of begonias and grape ivy. On the floor were black wrought iron containers holding white caladiums.

A reception was held in the Christian Student Center immediately following the wedding ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white Swiss eyelet cloth. A crystal candelabrum set in a crystal bowl contained a burning taper with an arrangement of carnation and baby's breath. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with blue roses and scallops topped with white satin bells. Crystal and silver appointments adorned the table. Mrs. David Smith of Kermit, Mrs. Dar Smith of San Angelo, sisters-in-law of the bride and Miss Laurie Bethel of Snyder served at the table. Miss Judy Fondy, sister o the groom, registered guests from Amarillo, Abilene, Kermit Slaton, San Angelo, Wilson Colorado City and San Diego Cal.

Guest tables were covere with white linen cloths an decorated with milk glass bu vases holding pink carnation and greenery.

Serving in the housparty wer Mrs. Zula Miller, Mrs. Ot Glasscock, Mrs. Dan Smith, Mrs. David Smith, Mrs. Wayne Bethel, Laurie Bethel, Judy Fondy, and Shirley Glasscock. Mrs. Bethel played favorite songs of the bride and groom during the reception.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a navy street length three piece ensemble of polyester knit with red stitching and navy accessories. She wore a white corsage taken from her bouquet.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Snyder High School and a recent graduate of the Western Texas College LVN program. She received the Thelma Leslie Memorial Scholarship and Mrs. J.E. Shipp Scholarship while attending Western Texas College.

The groom is a 1971 graduate of Slaton High School and attended Western Texas College. Presently he is enrolled at Sul Ross State University majoring in Animal Science.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple will be at home in the College Apartments at Alpine.

Parents of the groom were hosts for the rehearsal luncheon Saturday at the American Restaurant. Shasta daisies and greenery adorned the tables covered with white linen cloths.

QUOTABLE WOMEN

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I'll show them how to run an orderly house. I think it takes a madam of an honest bordello to show them how to run an honest system." Beverly Harrell, madam of the Cottontail Ranch in Lida Junction, Nev., who is in a run-off for Nevada State Asembly to represent her district.

"It's the greatest thing that's happened to this country. I think all the politicians will be true blue again. They're not going to be dishonest." Martha Mitchell, speaking of President Nixon's resignation, during a party for her son, Jay Jennings, before his marriage in Tylertown, Miss.

"I don't think men find it odd getting orders from a woman. I think I'm taken seriously." Rita Marshall, named the first woman news editor in the 186-year history of The Times of London.

"I don't consider myself a woman's libber, but I do believe in equal opportunity. I know many people are watching me to see how I do. I won't get up on a soap box and speak out, but I hope my performance as a pilot can speak out for me." Lt. Judy Neuffer, who piloted a Navy P3 weather reconnaissance plane into the eye of a Caribbean hurricane, the first woman Navy pilot to do so.

(Photo By Craft)

Couple United In August 31 Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony which began at 7:30 p.m. on August 31, Zeela Dee Peveler and Timothy Don Fuston were united in marriage by the Rev. James S. Terry. The couple was wed in the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Peveler, W. Thirtieth St., are parents of the bride. Parents of the groom are Mr. Arthur Fuston of San Antonio and Mrs. Joan H. Fustop of Dallas.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight A-line gown of satin overlaid with candlelight chiffon. The full sleeves were trimmed in heavy Irish lace with a cathedral train encircled by the Irish lace. She carried a bouquet of tropicana roses, stephnotis and gypsophila atop a white Bible. For something old the bride wore the wedding ring of her great-grandmother. Something new was her wedding gown. Something borrowed was carved ivory earrings from the groom's mother and a blue garter was something blue. She wore pennies minted in the year of the birth of the bride and groom in her shoes.

Nita Lou Earle served as Maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Sears and Betsy Cook of Houston. They wore A-line dresses of brown linen and carried bouquets of apricot glamellia and gypsophila.

Flower girl was Lou Alice eveler of Abilene, cousin of the bride. She wore a gown of embroidered organza over apricot taffeta. She carried a brown basket filled with apricot carnations and pom mums.

Don Douglass Hurt of Snyder served as ring bearer. He wore a brown crushed velvet suit with ecru shirt.

Mr. Gene Fuston of Dallas, uncle of the groom, was Best man. Groomsmen were Elbert Bukcler of Dallas and Ted Chase of Fort Worth. They were attired in brown tuxedos. Ushers were Gary Gardiner of Dallas and E.G. Peveler of Abilene, uncle of the bride.

A large bouquet of apricot gladiolus flanked by brass candelabra decorated with lemon leaves and holding forty apricot candles decorated the church.

These organ solos were presented by Mollie Walker: "Herzlich tut mich erfreuen" by Johannes Brahms, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by J.S. Bach, the processional "Nun danket alle Gott" by Sigfrid Karg-Elert and the recessional "Trumpet Tune" by Henry Purcell.

Vocal solos by Trina Taylor and accompanied by Mollie Walker were "Bist du bei mir" by J.S. Bach and Flor Peeter's "Wedding Song."

The congregation joined in the singing of the hymn of praise, "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee," and in the recitation of The Lord's Prayer.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered silver epergne filled with white gladiolus, white carnations and gypsophila. Completing the setting was the three-tiered all white wedding cake. Mrs. Bill Dryden and Mrs. John Jarrell presided at the bride's table.

The groom's table was covered with ecru cut-work table cloth centered with a brass candelabrum with apricot candles and fresh fruit. Entwined rings of chocolate cake were served by Mrs. Howard Harrington and Mrs. Gary Gardiner. Miss Patricia Ann Peveler, cousin of the bride, registered guests. Piano selections were played by Miss Wendy Monroney during the reception.

To leave for a week long wedding trip to northern New Mexico and Colorado, the bride chose a brown and white two-piece suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of tropicana roses taken from the bride's bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 13978 Peyton Drive No. 206, Dallas.

The bride is an August, 1974, graduate of North Texas State University and a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, Omicron, NTSU Chapel Choir and Mary Arden Club.

The groom is an August, 1974, graduate of North Texas State University. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, Talons, Arnold Air Society and a commissioned 2nd Lt. in the Air Force in August, 1974.

Out of town guests for the wedding were from Dallas, Lubbock, Ennis, Houston, Abilene, Corpus Christi, Baytown, Carlsbad, N.M., and Lovington, N.M.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the American Restaurant and hosted by the groom's mother.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PETER ANDERSON

Vows Repeated In Abernathy

Miss Judy Carol Henley and James Peter (Pete) Anderson repeated solemn wedding wows at 7:30 p.m. on August 16 to the North Side Baptist Church of Abernathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Don Henley of Abernathy are parents of the bride. The groom's parents are M. J.R. Anderson of Florida and Mrs. Robert Borden of Ohio.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long gown of bridal satin with a V neck line. From bodice to floor was satin over lace. The short sleeves were also of lace. The veil and train were of of silk illusion trimmed with lace. The veil was gathered at the crown by a cluster of sweetheart roses. The bride wore a single strand of pearls. Something new was her dress, something blue was the garter. The ensemble was designed by the bride. She carried a bouquet of white and purple roses and baby's breath.

Robin Marr of Abernathy served as Maid of Honor. She wore a deep purple long gown accented with a white bridal hat and carried a long stemmed white rose with a purple streamer. Carolyn Caulde of Abernathy was bridesmaid. Her costume was the same as the Maid of Honor.

Jimmy Henderson of Abernathy served as Best man and Darrel Belvins of Abernathy was groomsman.

The bride's mother wore a floor length pink sleeveless dress with a white carnation corsage.

The musical program was provided by Miss Silvia Pace. She played "Love Story" and "The Wedding March."

The reception was held in the bride's home. A purple tablecloth trimmed with lace and a vase of purple and white flowers centered the bride's table. A three-tiered white cake with deep purple roses completed the table. Mrs. Jack Elam, aunt of the bride, served punch and Mrs. T.J. Henley Sr, grandmother of the bride, served coffee. Peggy Wilson, sister of the bride, also served.

Following the reception the couple left for Montana where they will reside. The groom will be employed there.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Henley Sr. of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Lee of Snyder.

Out of town guests were from Worford, Snyder, Brownfield, Lubbock and Montana.

Honey Vanilla Ice Cream

HONEY VANILLA ICE CREAM

Great natural flavor and fine texture.

4 eggs, separated
1-3rd cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups light cream, scalded
1-3rd cup mild honey
4 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
2 cups heavy cream

In the top of a double boiler whisk together the egg yolks, sugar, salt and scalded light cream. Cook, stirring constantly, over simmering water until mixture coats a metal spoon — about 15 minutes. Off heat, stir in honey and vanilla until blended. Without pressing down, lightly place a round of plastic film directly on custard mixture so film covers it; cool. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into cool custard. Pour into freezer trays without dividers. Freeze until frozen 1-inch from edges — about 2 hours. Beat heavy cream until thick. Turn partially frozen castard into a large mixing bowl. Without washing beaters, beat custard until smooth; fold in whipped cream. Return to freezer trays; freeze until firm — at least 4 hours. Makes about 2½ quarts.

Healthy Lakes Growing Things

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What is needed in the world is to have healthy water bodies, not pure ones. According to fresh water researchers at the Academy of Natural Sciences here, healthy streams and lakes are those which have a great diversity of plant and animal life.

In a balanced aquatic system, it is the aquatic life which assimilates wastes and maintains high-quality water. An important goal in efforts toward water quality improvement is the protection of freshwater plants and animals.

In a laboratory bioassay, scientists use selected test aquatic organisms and measure how they are affected by certain substances, such as waste materials.

Economy Summit Meet Spotlighted Last Week

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford's first summit meeting of leading economists on inflation held in Washington during the past week appeared to agree the government should ease its tight-money policy.

Private economists of widely different views felt that a continued policy of monetary restrictions, with its accompanying high interest rates, would only tend to aggravate unemployment and push the country further into a recession.

Ironically, the consensus developed only a day after the Federal Reserve Board, the nation's central banker, announced a reduction in the bank reserves required for large certificates of deposits — a move many on Wall Street saw as an indication that the Fed may be letting up its credit reins.

Meanwhile, the stock market, testing 51-month lows, bobbed up and down in violent swings as brokers said investors sought to fathom the government's emerging anti-inflation policy and whether it would work.

Opening the first in a series of 12 planned summit meetings, President Ford called for a "battle plan against a common enemy, inflation," and asked the experts for "the unvarnished truth" about the state of the economy and what should be done.

Ford said he hoped the outcome of the meetings would be an economic plan that would gain bipartisan support from members of both major parties in this election year.

The economists in general appeared united in their analysis of the present economy. Inflation will remain high for six months to a year, and then begin to taper slightly. Unemployment will reach a possible high of 6.5 per cent within a year. (On Friday the government reported a one tenth of a per cent rise in the workless rate to 5.4 per cent in August.)

Economic forecasts, as summarized by former White House adviser Arthur Okun, were for "flat to slightly falling" economic output over the next three quarters.

To offset this expected flatness or downturn, many economists at Thursday's meeting agreed with former Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz who said, "We are approaching, if not at, the point where there should be some easing in monetary policy."

In his first official remarks as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Alan Greenspan said he saw no signs for extreme economic pessimism, and on Friday came out against any significant easing in monetary policy by the Federal Reserve.

After a deep and sullen slide, following the resignation of Richard M. Nixon as president in early August, the stock market moved sharply but indecisively during the week, closing only slightly lower from where it began the four-day week.

After the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped more than 15 points on both Tuesday and Wednesday, the market came roaring back on Thursday, with the Dow closing up a strong 22.76 points in moderate trading. On Friday the popular blue-chip index finished up 7.12 at 677.88.

Brokers said they saw little substantive news behind the market's fluctuations, attributing much of the movement to technical factors and the low prices of many stocks.

Thieves Stealing Used Grease

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — You might call it a well-oiled crime machine, striking at random, then slipping away in the week dark hours of the morning.

The target: grease.

Not new grease, but used grease, the cooking kind, a waste product normally stored outside restaurants in metal barrels in compliance with fire and sanitation codes.

Thieves use trucks specially equipped with hydraulic hoists, bolt cutters and portable pumps.

They normally strike, it appears, one jump ahead of legitimate grease collectors.

Authorities are not unconcerned, they say, but how do you identify pilfered second hand shortening?

And then, too, who cares?

Well, Anthony Wommack of Fort Worth is one who does, and he's angry enough to post a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the nocturnal bandits.

Wommack has 30 trucks on the roads picking up grease from 3,000 restuarants in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

"I would say that probably restaurants we serve lose approximately 20,000 pounds of grease a week," he said. "At the current price we pay the restaurant owner for it, this would be around $2,000 a week."

The scrap grease is processed and delivered to feed manufacturers for fat additives to cattle and poultry feed.

Wommack said thieves always have been a blight on the used grease business, but to a lesser degree when prices were lower.

The market boiled over about a year ago, he added, and the problem escalated with the price. Tom Blanton, vice president of Wommack Grease Service, said cooking grease at one point rose from $12 to $48 a barrel.

Wommack said he tried securing the barrels with chains and padlocks, so the thieves used bolt cutters and welding torches.

Some victims attached special lids on the grease containers, but the thieves turned to special suction devices to siphon away their booty.

In some cases, Wommack said, thieves using hydraulic lifts stole barrel and all.

He said he once hired an off-duty detective who actually caught a man in the act of stealing grease.

"We were able to obtain a full confession from the suspect, and the case went to trial," he said. "Due to the fact that the suspect was in possession of a weapon, the court chose to drop the charge on the grease theft and to pursue the firearms charge."

In other instances, he said, "we were able to get a conviction ... but the fines were minimal. In a short period of time—two or three days—these people were back out on the streets, stealing grease again."

Spy Pardoned

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Stig Wennerstroem, a former Swedish Air Force officer, has been pardoned after serving 10 years in prison as a spy for the Russians.

Wennerstroem was sentenced in 1964 to life in prison for turning over Swedish and NATO military secrets to the Russians. At his trial he admitted to selling the information during his tour of duty as air attache in Washington.

His life term was reduced to 20 years, and the pardon after serving 10 years is standard Swedish practice.

Centurian Has Received $20,000

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP) — Ida Fuller, the first person to receive a social security check, has celebrated her 100th birthday.

Miss Fuller, whose birthday was on Friday, received the $22.54 check from the Social Security Administration on Jan. 31, 1940. Since then, her niece said Miss Fuller has received a total of $20,000.

Miss Fuller said her checks, now up to $109 a month, "come pretty near paying my expenses...."

FALL NURSERY BARGAINS

Everett Janne, Extension Horticulturist with the Texas Agri. Extension Service, sends this information on nursery bargains.

The fall planting season is almost here and many nurseries are featuring "bargain" plants. But before rushing off to buy those bargains, stop and think for a moment.

A bargain is only a bargain if you get something that gives enough personal satisfaction to make you feel it was worth the money you spent.

Good bargains do exist within the retail nursery trade, but how does one know if he is buying a bargain?

The first rule in buying nursery stock is to always buy quality. Quality is the prime consideration of any bargain. Unless the nurseryman has been quality-conscoius throughout his entire operation, the plant may not be a bargain at any price.

By the time you have planted it, the initial cost of the plant may be only a fraction of the cost of material and labor needed to do the job properly. You will probably have to purchase peat moss or other organic matter to prepare the back fill. Topsoil, fertilizer, tools, tree wrap and pruning equipment are other items you may need.

Keeping this in mind, if a plant fails to grow and flourish, much less survive because of poor production and harvesting techniques or improper handling before you bought it, it is no bargain even if it was given to you. You would actually be losing money.

Quality in nursery stock is difficult to define. The best way to be assured of good quality plant materials is to always deal with a local established and reputable nurseryman who takes pride in providing good merchandise.

To help identify a bargain the next time you are in the market for nursery stock, ask yourself the following questions:

1. Can you recognize quality nursery stock? If not, does the firm have a good reputation for quality?

2. Are the plants tagged and identifiable with specific variety names?

3. Are the salespeople able and willing to offer opinions on what plants might best fill your landscaping needs?

4. Do you have a varied choice of sizes, colors and shapes from which to choose?

5. What type of guarantee is mentioned, and is the salesman willing to discuss any inquiries you make about guarantees?

6. Most important of all, does the plant fit into your landscape plan, or are you buying it because the price is cheap?

If you can give yourself a satisfactory answer to each of these questions, in all likelihood you have a bargain.

PECAN SHEDDING

Lately there has been some concern with pecans falling off trees. Some shedding will be natural due to a very heavy set of pecans this year. Other reasons can be poor fertility, disease and possibly some insect damage.

Insect damage is probably the least evident at this time.

Low fertility, climatic and agronomic factors are probably in second place as far as causes for shedding. If you feel this is your problem a good application of fertilizer containing both nitrogen and phosphorus would be in order. 5 - 10 lbs. per tree of 1-1-0 ratio fertilizer should be sufficient. This probably will not stop the shedding of pecans this year, but will aid in preventing this in the future.

Disease is probably the main cause of pecans dropping at this time. The scab disease has been noted in many of the fallen pecans. An application of a fungicide at this time will be useless, since scab cannot be controlled after it becomes established.

Fungicides should be added to sprays in the early spring and summer to prevent scab. Sulfur, Du-Ter, and Benlate will do a good job if applied early in the season. Consider adding one of these spring, and using good sanitary cleanup practices this winter to cut down on scab.

US Spacemen To Soviet Union

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — Another group of Johnson Space Center engineers and scientists left Friday for the Soviet Union for training for the first international manned space mission.

Glynn S. Lunney, technical director of the Apollo Soyuz Test Project (ASTP) led the group of 46 that will join more space center personnel who have been in Russia for two weeks.

The exchange continues Monday with 15 Russians, including nine cosmonauts due to arrive here.

Thirteen Space Center flight controllers are scheduled to go to Russia Sept. 15 to begin training in the Soviet control center.

The Russians are to be here through Sept. 27. The Americans will be in Russia for two weeks.

ASTP spacecraft are scheduled to be launched in July 1975. An Apollo with three astronauts aboard is to rendezvous and dock with a Syouz with two cosmonauts. They will spend two days docked.

From mid-1967 to mid-1968, the world's population increased daily by an average of 180,000 persons.

Panthers Put Down Ira, 25-20

HOBBS—The Host Panthers outscored the Ira Bulldogs 25-20 in a non-district Six-Man football clash here Friday night.

Hobbs took a 12-0 lead in the first quarter, but Ira fought back and tied it up at halftime. Hobbs went back ahead, 19-12, early in the third quarter, but Ira gained the lead, 20-19, later in the period, before Hobbs posted its final 25-20 margin late in the stanza. The fourth quarter was scoreless.

In the initial period, tailback David Martinez, operating from the spread formation, completed a 15-yard scoring toss to running back Mike Martin. Also in the same frame, David Martinez scored on a 20-yard gallop. Neither of the extra points attempts was successful.

Ira narrowed the gap to 12-6 when tailback Tom Daves plunged across from the two to cap a 50 yard drive. A long run by Daves set up the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

Before the first half ended, Ira tied it up when fullback Carl Smith plunged across from the two to climax a 40 yard drive. A run for extra points failed.

Hobbs went ahead in the third frame on a 15 yard scoring pass, David Martinez to Raymond Soto. The same combo clicked for the extra point and a 19-12 advantage.

Ira took the lead 20-12 later in the third quarter on a 15 yard scamper by Carl Smith and a two-point kick by Tom Daves.

With five minutes remaining in the game, David Martinez got Hobbs' winning touchdown on a 10 yard run. The try for extra points failed.

Next Friday, Hobbs hosts Hermleigh and Ira will be at Trent. Ira has added another game to its schedule. The Bulldogs will host Paint Creek Sept. 20.

Hermleigh Rips Trent

HERMLEIGH—Scoring in every quarter, the Hermleigh Cardinals successfully inaugurated the 1974 football season with a 38-6 triumph over the Trent Gorillas here Friday night.

Steve Mason returned the opening kickoff 50 yards for Hermleigh, and Pete Garcia scored the first touchdown on a 20-yard gallop.

On the second TD, Robert Luna set it up with an interception and 35 yard return. Pete Garcia took it in from 15 yards out.

Ronnie Roemisch tallied from eight yards out to put the hosts ahead by three TD's in the second quarter.

Trent narrowed the gap in the second stanza on a touchdown pass from Tommy Stevens to Bobby Brazelton from 15 yards out.

Roemisch scored on a four-yard caper in the third quarter. He set up the TD with a 30-yard return of an intercepted pass. He also scored on a 30 yard run in the fourth quarter.

Also in the fourth quarter, Robert Luna completed an 8-yard scoring strike to Ricky Stahl.

Hermleigh got extra points on a run by Roemisch, a kick by Kruger, a pass from Steve Mason to Roy Holdridge.

Offensively, Roemisch did an excellent job of blocking and running. Defensively, Mike Kruger, Roemisch and Tim Peterson were outstanding.

Hermleigh will be at Hobbs next Friday night.

Wolverine Co-Captains

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — University of Michigan quarterback Dennis Franklin and safety David Brown have been named co-captains of the 1974 Wolverine football team.

Franklin, of Massillon, Ohio, was All-Big Ten last year. Both he and Brown are seniors.

Michigan also announced Friday that fullback Chuck Heater's twisted knee may sideline him for the Wolverine's season opener against Iowa in Ann Arbor Sept. 14.

DEFENSIVE STANDOUTS—Snyder High School's Welton Cobb (44, on ground) and David Mayes (21) were outstanding on defense for the Tigers in their 21-6 romp over Monahans Friday night. Here, they bring down Lobo fullback Steve Herbold (31) after a short gain. Cobb is a linebacker and Mayes is a defensive end. Other Tigers coming up to assist are Chester Cobb (81) and Bernie Weems (40).

Fighting Tigers Blast Monahans Loboes, 21-6

MONAHANS—The luck of the Irish, the speed of a talented tailback, and an overall good team effort propelled the Snyder Tigers to a 21-6 triumph over the Monahans Lobos in the season opening non-district football clash for both teams here Friday night.

One might prefer to argue it was not so much a case of Snyder luck as a case of snakebite that dogged the Loboes through the night. But, the other ingredients in the Tiger success are unarguable: It was a good opening-game effort by the Black and Gold, and senior tailback Welton Cobb, a 195-pound speeder, turned in an outstanding individual effort.

Cobb scored touchdowns on runs of 66 and 50 yards and collected 173 yards on 15 carries for an average of 11.5 paces each time he carried the ball. Moreover, he turned in several key plays from his right defensive linebacker spot. Cobb's offensive display overshadowed the performance of heralded all-state tailback, Wayne Pettis of Monahans. Still, Pettis sparked the Lobo attack with 120 yards on 22 carries. And he completed a 38-yard pass that put the hosts in scoring position.

While the Tigers were executing at mid-season form, the Lobos found themselves victims of three crucial first-game mistakes. Fumbles wiped out two long Lobo drives and set up one of the Snyder touchdowns.

Snyder held Monahans after the opening kickoff, then scored on its first possession of the game, marching 94 yards in seven plays. Short runs by fullback Rickey Howell, an end run by Cobb, and a short burst by halfback David Mayes moved the Tigers from their six to their 34. Then lightning struck. Cobb headed left on a power sweep and raced 66 yards to the goal. Good blocking wiped out most of the defenders, but a couple of Lobos had a shot at him at midfield. Another block wiped out one of them and Cobb wrenched loose from the other would-be tackler and scooted the last 40 yards untouched. Sophomore Ricky Beard kicked the first of three conversion points accurately, soccer style, to give the Tigers a 7-0 lead with 4:31 remaining in the initial stanza.

Neither team scored again throughout the remainder of the first half. Snyder marched from its 42 to the Lobo 31, mainly on the strength of an 18-yard burst by Howell, but Monahans' defense held. Another Tiger threat was stopped when Donnie Scott intercepted quarterback Win Bunch's only pass attempt of the night at the Lobo 22.

At this point, the Lobos launched a drive that carried all the way to the Tiger 20. Pettis gained most of the yardage in this march, but a 15-yard penalty helped. Then disaster struck. The Lobos' were halted when Tiger defensive tackle Tim Sonnier recovered a fumble.

Snyder marched from its 21 to the Lobo 42 but the Lobos stopped them again. Big gainer in this drive was a 21-yard bootleg around right end by Bunch.

Snyder took the kickoff opening the second half and drove from its 23 to the Lobo 45, mainly on the running efforts of Howell. Monahans held, and Dane Witherspoon kicked the ball into the end zone. On the first offensive play in the second half by Monahans, wingback Blake Cox fumbled the ball, and rover Bernie Weems recovered for the Tigers at the 25 to set up a touchdown.

The Tigers spanned the 25 yards to the goal in four plays. Bunch kept for a one yard gain to the 24. Cobb swept right end to the six, then went around the other end to the one. Howell plunged over for the touchdown, and Beard's extra point kick made it 14-0 with 7:25 remaining.

Stung by adversity, Monahans made a determined 65 yard drive for its only touchdown following the kickoff. Pettis and fullback Marvin Harris, a 212-pound senior, got most of the yardage in this drive which required 14 plays. Biggest gainer in the march was a 26-yard gainer around left end by Pettis.

Snyder made the Lobos fight for every yard after they reached the 14. It took them four plays to get a first at the four, and it took them four downs to get into the end zone from there with Harris plowing over left guard on fourth down for the touchdown. Only 27 seconds remained in the third quarter as Lobo quarterback Marty James attempted to get two points on the conversion play with a pass.

But, Weems intercepted for Snyder to leave the count at 14-6.

Back in the ball game, the Lobos fought furiously in the fourth quarter. Snyder was unable to gain a first down in the first seven minutes of the period.

However, a penalty stopped them once with a 12-yard scamper by Bunch into Lobo territory being wiped out by a clipping infraction.

With a little over five minutes remaining, Pettis connected with his long pass to wingback Blake Cox to set up first and 10 at the Tiger 42. Pettis gained four to the 38, then Harris plunged up the middle, was hit hard, and fumbled the ball. Halfback Danny Brumley recovered for Snyder at the Tiger 32 to spell grief to another Lobo drive.

Snyder marched for its final touchdown at this point, moving 68 yards in five carries. Cobb got all of the yardage in this march and the payoff was a 50 yard scamper around left end. He appeared to be in the clear after

SMOOTH EXECUTION—The Snyder High School football team got off to a good start in the 1974 season with a 21-6 victory at Monahans Friday night. One of the reasons for the Tigers' success was smooth execution by the offensive team. Here, quarterback Win Bunch (10) hands off to fullback Rickey Howell (31) while tackle Tim Sonnier (60) and tight end Roy Lee Carter (20) lead the blocking. Top-Rated Teams Win First Games

By The Associated Press

Top-rated teams in all five classes of Texas high school football rolled to first-game victories Friday night, and two defending state champions withstood severe tests.

The 1973 state champion in Class 4A Tyler John Tyler, and the defending titleholder in Class B, Big Sandy, are rated No. 1 again. Tyler outscored Waco Richfield 20-13 and Big Sandy toppled Winona 26-14.

Other class kingpins had easier times. Class 3A leader Brazosport blanked El Campo 34-0, Class 2A No. 1 Newton shattered Orangefield 51-0 and Falls City beat Nixon 19-8.

Only one of the Top Ten Members in Class 4A was beaten, as San Antonio Roosevelt edged No. 4 Corpus Christi Moody 13-7. Second-ranked Fort Worth Arlington Heights toppled Grand Prairie 29-12, third-rated Conroe beat perennial powerhouse Austin Reagan 20-7, No. 5 Brazoswood clobbered Angleton 50-0, No. 6 San Antonio Churchill nipped Temple 14-7, seventh-rated Odessa Permian shattered Lubbock Coronado 28-6 and 10th-ranked Plano shut down South Garland 10-3. Wichita Falls Rider, tied for eighth with Houston Washington, which met Port Arthur Lincoln Saturday, defeated Iowa Park, the third-ranked Class 3A team, 54-0 Thursday night.

Beaumont South Park, the No. 2 team in 3A, whitewashed Beaumont High 43-0, fourth-ranked McKinney whipped Waxahachie 30-7, No. 5 Cuero, the defending 3A champ, crushed Yoakum 36-0; No. 6 Mount Pleasant burned Paris 15-7, seventh-rated Donna bashed Pharr-San Juan-Alamo 33-7, No. 8 Sinton nipped Refugio 14-6, ninth-ranked Friendswood, which is jumping in class after winning 2A last year, cracked Liberty 42-6 and 10th-ranked Huntsville shut out Cleveland 20-0.

Three Class 2A members of the Top Ten lost their first games Friday. Hearne and Alpine, tied for fourth, lost to Belton 28-7 and Kermit 28-20, respectively; and ninth-ranked Magnolia was shocked 28-0 by Hamshire-Fannet. Second-ranked Coahoma toppled Big Lake 20-6, third-rated Linden-Kildare blanked Jefferson 26-0, No. 6 Hooks nipped Hallsville 13-12, No. 7 Hull-Daisetta shattered Tarkington 47-0, eighth-ranked Cisco unmasked Ranger 44-12 and 10th-rated Alvarado outscored Everman 26-14.

Other Class A scores included: No. 2 Schulenberg 23, Hallettsville 14; St. Augustine 12, No. 3 West Sabine 0; Morton 20, No. 4 Plains 18; No. 5 Aledo 20, Cedar Hill 2; No. 6 Barber's Hill 28, Huffman8; No. 7 DeLeon 46, Gorman 0; No. 8 Crowell 24, Quanah 0; No. 9 Vega 6, Groom 6; and No. 10 (tie) Hale Center 7, Frenship 0; and No. 10 (tie) Whitewright 26, Farmersville 0. Groom is the fifth-ranked team in Class B.

The other results in Class B were: No. 2 Celina 28, Pilot Point 12; Aspermont 27; No. 3 Rule0; and No. 10 Ben Bolt 26, San Isidro 0.

Law Grabs Ticket Scalper

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two hundred fans were able to buy seats Friday for the sold-out three-game series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Los Angeles Dodgers — thanks to a man accused of ticket scalping.

Dale Crooms, 23, of Cincinnati asked the Reds to sell the tickets for the benefit of St. Joseph Orphange. He was arrested Friday on a complaint by the Reds outside Riverfront Stadium.

Crooms told police to arrange the sale rather than have the 200 tickets sitting in the police property room as evidence.

TIGERS

he got past the line of scrimmage and simply outraced the defenders. Beard's extra point kick accounted for the final 21-6 margin with 2:41 remaining.

To their credit, the Lobos refused to give up. They fought back hard and drove from their 43 to the Snyder 22 before the game ended. The Tiger pass defenders stopped their final drive.

Snyder put forth a great team effort. There was good execution on offense, and the defense proved hard to move when the chips were down. Left defensive end David Mayes had a particularly outstanding game. But all of the boys looked good. Rickey Howell gained 73 yards on 16 carries.

Harris was outstanding on defense for Monahans at his middle linebacker post.

Next Friday, the Tigers host tough Midland Lee.

Eagles Could Surprise In Eastern Division

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys and Washington Cowboys remain the class teams in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference, but if Bill Bergey does as much for Philadelphia's defense as Roman Gabriel did for its offense, the Eagles could pull a surprise.

Dallas and Washington, proven quantities, are showing signs of wavering. George Allen's "Over the Hill Gang" of Redskins is one year further over that hill, while the World Football League has made considerable inroads into the talented cast of Cowboys.

Which lends hope to the other clubs in the NFC East — and of the three, the Eagles seem to be more likely to challenge than the St. Louis Cardinals or New York Giants.

Dallas Cowboys

The Cowboys have as much talent as ever, but morale could be a problem. The WFL has signed a host of Dallas stars to future contracts, and how well these lame ducks perform could be a key to the season.

"I want them to help us win the Super Bowl," Coach Tom Landry said. "If they are willing to do that, then they're acceptable to me."

By the same token, Landry is not about to make exceptions. Wide receiver Otto Stowe had been a lame duck, but when Landry felt he was not going all-out in preseason practice, he was released.

Another WFL future, running back-receiver Mike Montgomery, is gone, but six prominent ones remain: Calvin Hill, Rayfield Wright, Pat Toomay, Jethro Pugh, D.D. Lewis and Craig Morton.

Roger Staubach is entrenched as the No. 1 quarterback, while Hill, a 1,000-yard gainer in 1973, heads a fine crop of backs that includes stumpy Robert Newhouse and dependable Walt Garrison. Despite the loss of Stowe, there's no shortage of receivers with Bob Hayes, Drew Pearson and Golden Richards at the wide spots and Billy Joe DuPree and Jean Fugett at tight end.

The offensive line is solid, as is the entire defensive unit, which has been bolstered by Ed "Too Tall" Jones, a defensive end from Tennessee State who was the No. 1 draft pick in the NFL this year and who should break into the starting lineup.

New York Giants

Bill Arnsparger, former chief aide to Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula, inherited a host of questions when he took over as head coach of the New York Giants. Going into the final week of preseason, Arnsparger estimated that 13 starting jobs still were up for grabs and added, "Some of those decisions will go down to the wire."

Norm Snead is the No. 1 quarterback, but he's coming off a disappointing season. Veteran Randy Johnson has ability but is committed to the WFL next year.

Ron Johnson is a proven star at running back, and Charlie Evans returns at fullback. Among the newcomers, Doug Kotar has been most impressive.

More than half the players on the squad are over 30 years old, which is the way Allen says he likes them. He recently sent a handful of draft choices to the Kansas City Chiefs for 35-year-old Jim Tyrer, whom he hopes will replace injured Terry Hermerling at offensive tackle.

One man Allen has yet to replace is dependable fullback Charley Harraway, who jumped to the WFL. First he tried Duane Thomas in that spot, but after an altercation with an assistant coach, Thomas was placed on waivers, then reinstated.

Moses Denson, former Los Angeles Ram Larry Smith and kick return specialist Herb Mul-Key are other top candidates to join premier runner Larry Brown in the backfield.

Billy Kilmer is the No. 1 quarterback, and Joe Theismann, the ex-Notre Dame All-American who spent three years in Canada, is the heir apparent. There also is Sonny Jurgensen, 40 years old but still a passing threat.

Wide receivers Charley Taylor and Roy Jefferson and tight ends Jerry Smith and Alvin Reed are experienced and talented targets.

But the heart of the club is its defense, which allowed only 198 points last year. About the only unsettled position is middle linebacker, where Harold McLinton, who had the job at the start of last season, appears to have the edge again.

A pleasant surprise for Allen has been the kicking of free agent Mark Mosely, who connected on 11 of his first 14 field goal attempts in exhibitions and has more than made up for the retirement of Curt Knight.

Tight end Bob Tucker is the best of a good crop of receivers, while rookies John Hicks and Tom Mullen have moved into the starting offensive line and should improve throughout the season.

Defensively, Arnsparger still is feeling his way. End Jack Gregory and tackle John Mendenhall are two solid linemen, but the other spots are wide open. And going into the final week of the exhibition season, assorted combinations of linebackers and secondary personnel still were being tested.

Philadelphia Eagles

Coach Mike McCormack calls Gabriel, the quarterback obtained from the Los Angeles Rams, the "catalyst" who made the Eagles' offense one of the most potent in the league last season.

Unfortunately, the sieve-like defense allowed a whopping 393 points. But McCormack feels he may have the solution to that problem in Bergey, a talented middle linebacker obtained from Cincinnati.

"That's like the 'plunk' in a pool," said McCormack. "It makes Steve Zabel and Dean Halverson (the other linebackers) better."

McCormack hopes the defensive unit will coalesce around Bergey and star free safety Bill Bradley. He doesn't have many worries about the offense.

Gabriel proved last year that there was considerable mileage left in his passing arm. For targets, he has Harold Carmichael, tops in the NFL last year with 67 catches, and tight end Charley Young. Leading the running backs is Tom Sullivan, one of football's most productive performers last year with 968 yards rushing plus 50 receptions.

St. Louis Cardinals

Coach Don Coryell likes a wide-open offense, and the Cards have the tools for it. Unfortunately, the defense looks equally wide-open.

Jim Hart is the incumbent at quarterback; he has all the tools, but Cards fans still are waiting for him to put them all together. In the off-season, Coryell sent wide receiver Ahmad Rashad to Buffalo for quarterback Dennis Shaw, whom he had coached at San Diego State. Shaw, a former starter who was a disappointment for the Bills last year, could press Hart for the top spot.

Veteran fullback Ken Willard was acquired from the 49ers and joins Donny Anderson and Terry Metcalf at running back. The trading of Rashad means Mel Gray and Walker Gillette will get full shots at the wide receiver spots, while No. 1 draftee J.V. Cain joins aging Jerry Smith at tight end.

The defense will have to tighten up, however, if St. Louis is to have a winning season. Much depends on the continued development of players like Dave Butz and Bonnie Sloan on the line, and the emergence of Mark Arnason — or someone else — at middle linebacker. Roger Wehrli is a first-rate defensive back, but the rest of the secondary is suspect.

Washington Redskins

The Redskins tied for the NFC East title with a 10-4 record last year, but were knocked out in the first round of the playoffs. In order to make the playoffs again, Coach George Allen will have to coax one more year from his cast of aging veterans.

Adopted Fighting To Break Seal On Records

By KAY BARTLETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"Oh, why does the wind blow upon me so wild? Is it because I'm nobody's child?"
—Phila Henrietta Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Katrina Maxtone-Graham is 39 years old, the mother of four. She has wealth, a blonde sort of Ali McGraw beauty, a devoted husband, wit and intelligence, a Manhattan townhouse, summers in Europe — or wherever — and all the household help she wants.

Katrina Maxtone-Graham was also becoming suicidal.

She wandered in front of cars, she was terrified of elevators, she isolated herself from her children. She invested over 13 years on a psychiatrist's couch and $15,000 in legal fees in search of her identity.

Katrina was adopted.

She grew up as one of three adoptive children of a wealthy Michigan family. Her adoptive parents are now dead. But there were shadow memories of another place ... a piano ... a certain field ... a woman yelling at her.

Katrina wanted desperately to find her real mother, just to touch her, to see her, to find out who she really was. It was becoming an obsession. She said didn't care if her mother turned out to be the proverbial 42nd Street lady of the night. "At least she would know. She also wanted to find the foster homes in which she had lived until she was adopted at age 3½.

She asked for her records — sealed by law since the day her mother signed the papers to give her away.

Katrina Maxtone-Graham and others involved in a fight to get such records opened maintain that, as adults, they have a constitutional right to know the identity of their natural parents. They say they don't want to intrude on their parents; they just want the truth. More importantly, they say there is a strong psychological need to know one's roots, one's ancestry, the history of the genes one carries.

The issue is fought with strong feelings on both sides. Some say adoption records are a Pandora's box which, if opened, could rock the entire concept of adoption. How many women, now middle-aged, would fear the child they bore at 16 or 17 — and perhaps never mentioned to their husbands — would come knocking at the door? Or, how many women would welcome the chance to look once again upon the child they were forced by circumstances or society to give up, a baby whom they never gave up in their hearts?

The agency that handled Katrina's adoption predictably denied her request for records. In most states, such records can be opened only by a court order. Adoption agencies say the records are sealed to protect the confidentiality of the mother, child and the adoptive parents.

Then Katrina discovered the Adoptees Liberty Movement Association, (ALMA), founded in 1971 to help the adopted and their natural parents find each other. At last she had found someone sympathetic when she explained she simply wanted the answer to a very simple question: "Who am I?"

She took the adoption agency to court. Her psychiatrist testified that she was becoming more and more despondent, that the court would have the blood of her self-destruction on its hands if the records remained sealed.

But the social worker assigned to the case wrote that Katrina "has hostile feelings towards her natural mother and a reunion would have a detrimental effect on the natural mother and her family."

The two sides agreed an investigator would look for the mother and the mother would be able to choose whether she wanted to see Katrina. Katrina agreed to pay for the search.

But investigators turned up nothing.

So Katrina independently hired Tracers Co. of America. It found her mother in seven working days.

Katrina's mother was living in Mexico City. She received the first contact — a telephone call — in the middle of a dinner party. It was long distance from New York, and a strange voice asked to speak to Ruth Williams Ketladze Jason. The caller, hearing the voices of the guests, suggested the recipient might wish to take it in another room.

A sixth sense told the mother who the caller was.

"I hope this is what I think it is ..." were Mrs. Jason's first words. "I hope I have found my little girl."

Ironically, Mrs. Jason had written a letter the week before to ALMA, which is Spanish for soul. Their letters — and the mother and daughter — would have found each other anyway, and without a court fight.

In the letter, Mrs. Jason wrote: "Perhaps my baby, now 39, will never look for me ... But please tell other adoptees that sometimes they are relinquished from love — and not from rejection at all."

Mrs. Jason caught the first plane from Mexico City to meet and hug the daughter she last saw when the child was two years old and calling another woman "Momma."

As Ruth Williams, she had wanted desperately to keep the baby born out of wedlock. But it was 1936, and her family had insisted that sort of thing was simply not done. It was arranged that she sign adoption papers at birth. She refused. Instead, she volunteered for work in a Salvation Army hospital to be near her daughter. After three months the baby was put in foster homes. Ruth Williams got passes to visit her on Saturdays.

One Saturday, she went to a home with her white slip of paper to visit the daughter she had named Judith Virginia Williams. But the baby wasn't there. She had been moved, once again, to another foster home. She would have six homes in all.

"What an awful, awful life for this infant, this lovely little child, to be shunted from one place to another," Mrs. Jason says. So she signed the papers — out of love, not rejection — papers that would assure her daughter a stable home, papers that would assure she would not see her again.

Until the plane from Mexico City landed in the United States.

Katrina's case is still in court. Katrina and her mother say they want the records opened. But the adoption agency says no. It says it must protect the confidentiality of the foster parents. The adoptive parents are dead.

"What nonsense," says Florence Fisher, founder of ALMA. "Whoever heard of the confidentiality of foster parents?"

The agency, Children's Aid Society, declines to discuss the case until after final litigation.

Katrina's case is a dramatic one — and a happy one. On the other hand, a young woman who lives on Long Island tracked down her mother recently. The mother upon hearing the news that her child had found her, said: "My god, I wish you had told me I had terminal cancer instead."

Junior Editors' Quiz on AMPHIBIANS

QUESTION: [illegible]

ANSWER: The word amphibian comes from a Greek word to classify animals that like to live on land and in the water. They have to respirate (breathe) either by breathing in air and water, e.g. lungs and gills. Zoologists place amphibians between fish and reptiles on the basis of their structure and development.

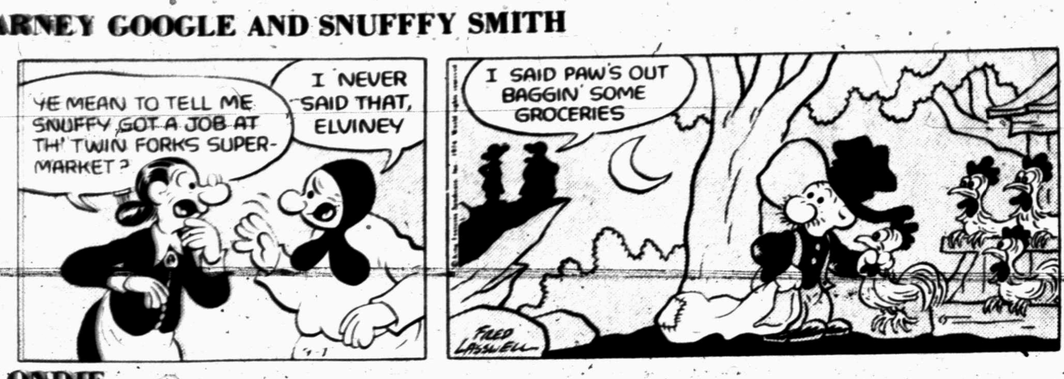

It is thought that the ancestor of amphibians was the ancient lungfish. Many millions of years ago amphibians first ventured out of water to live on land. Most are poorly adopted to terrestrial life and spend part of their lives in the water or in moist surroundings. The amphibian group includes frogs, toads and salamanders. There are about 2,000 species.

Amphibians are cold blooded vertebrate animals. Their temperature varies with the environment. They lay jelly-covered eggs singly, in clumps or in strings, in quiet water or in some moist place.

Job School For The Deaf

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: My wife and I are writing to ask what careers you can suggest for our deaf son? Do you know of a school that would prepare him to earn a living other than Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., which is more of a liberal arts college? -- A.V., Cleveland, Ohio

Tom V. works as an architectural draftsperson in the Environmental Services Department of the State of Minnesota Highway Department, and impressed his supervisors from the very beginning.

Jeanne B. is a medical records technician in a Los Angeles area hospital, and came to her job with "superb training," according to her boss.

Richard M. is employed as an electrical engineer for a national photocopying firm in Dallas, and expects "upward mobility."

ALL 3 ARE RECENT graduates of the National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID). Congress established the Institute in 1965 and placed it on the upstate N.Y. campus of Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT). It was the first major assault on deaf employment which historically has been characterized by underemployment and unemployment.

Since NTID opened in 1968, it has sent some 200 deaf grads to technical jobs commensurate with their training in 31 states. Enrollment grew to 450 students last year, and with completion of a new $30 million complex this fall, enrollment will expand to 750 by 1977, representing every state in the union.

STUDENTS can take special training leading to certificates, diplomas and associate degrees in business technologies (office practice, data processing, accounting), visual communications technologies (applied photography, printing, art); engineering technologies (architectural or industrial drafting, electronics, machine tool operation, numerical control programming, architectural or civil or electromechanical technology); technical science (medical lab technician, medical records technician); and optical finishing (optical laboratory technician).

ALSO, students may elect to study for a bachelor's degree through RIT cooperation. For students who qualify and have an interest, all of the other 8 colleges within RIT are accessible through cross registration. Extensive support services of interpreting, tutoring and notetaking are available to deaf students who are attending classes with hearing students. There are also developmental programs in English, math and science that help deaf students overcome the educational lags caused by deafness. NTID operates a comprehensive, highly individualized job placement program for its grads, and thus far has a track record of 96 percent placement. Tuition, room and board is less than $2,000 per year, and last year was about $1600.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, write: Office of Career Opportunities, National Technical Institute for the Deaf, Rochester Institute of Technology, 1 Lomb Memorial Dr., Rochester, N.Y. 14623.

NUTS—The Official Squirrel Feeder of the White House plans to relinquish his title. Ensign Richard Feeney of Atlantic Fleet headquarters in Norfolk was appointed to the post at age five by President Harry S. Truman in 1949 (left photo). He was given the job after he complained to Truman that the squirrels in Lafayette Park, located across the street from the White House, were fat and the White House squirrels were skinny. He plans to write President Ford, telling him of the post and asking him to find someone better to fill it. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Marker Erected At CSA Vet's Grave

A memorial marker has been erected at the Lone Wolf Cemetery at the grave of Andrew Jackson Farris, a veteran of military service with the Army of the Confederate States of America.

Farris was born in 1829 in Tennessee, and he and his three brother, Isham, John and Joseph Farris, fought in the Mexican War.

Andrew Jackson Farris joined the Confederate Army in 1862 at Waco. He served in a special detail as a teamster until he joined McGruder's Regimeny at Houston in 1864. He served there until the end of the war in 1865.

Farris died on Feb. 2, 1902, on a Scurry County farm and was buried in the Lone Wolf Cemetery. His grandon, Harvey O. Farris of Stephenville, remembers his grandfather's death.

Relatives at the ceremony and memorial service when the marker was erected include Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O. Farris of Stephenville; a granddaughter, Mrs. Elba Farris Stapp, and her husband, of McAlester, Okla.; two great-granddaughters, Mrs. Marie Farris Moore and husband of Bandera and Mrs. Alta Farris Cole and husband of Midland; a great-grandson, Harold O. Farris and wife of Lubbock; and a great-great-granddaughter, Linda Anne Cole of Midland.

Others attending were W.C. Fargason, Walter Stirl, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haygood and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Wemken.

Graduate Record Exam Is Planned

The Graduate Record Examination will be given on Oct. 26 at Western Texas College if the required number of 10 persons has registered for the test by Sept. 11, Dr. Mary Hood, director of testing, said.

Registration forms may be secured from the office of Dr. Hood in the Student Center or from Mrs. Mavis Brumbelow in the Administration Building.

Under current procedure, the registration forms are to be returned to Dr. Hood. If there are not 10 persons to take the examination, Dr. Hood will notify those wishing to take the test and they can take it in Abilene, or at WTC at a later time.

A fee of $10.50 is required for entrance at most graduate schools. Students who take the advanced test also pay $10.50.

Business Indicators Move Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas business activity showed a definite trend upward in July amounting to more than a six per cent increase, the Bureau of Business Research said.

The bureau said that one of the two most basic business indicators was based on bank debits which reflect the flow of money through banks in the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank region. "This index has maintained a margin above comparable 1973 data considerably greater than the rise in the index between 1972 and 1973, which amounted to 8.3 per cent," the report said.

The bureau said the other basic indicator was industrial production which "has moved modestly upward during most months in 1974. The total has remained consistently above comparable levels for 1973.

The bureau said the percentage change in business activity of 1974 compared to 1973 was: Abilene up 16 per cent; Amarillo up one per cent; Austin up 17, Beaumont up 20, Corpus Christi up 22, Corsicana no change; Dallas up 19, El Paso up nine; Fort Worth up five, Galveston up two, Houston up 14, Laredo up 13, Lubbock up 20, Port Arthur down nine, San Angelo up 10, San Antonio down three, Texarkana down 10, Tyler down three, Waco down three, Wichita Falls up 21.

It was reported on Dec. 7, 1968, that a book on febrile diseases checked out in 1823 from the University of Cincinnati Medical Library was returned by the borrower's great-grandson. The fine was calculated as $22,646, but waived.

Not Short Of Water

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — "Water is one natural resource that we'll never run out of," according to Robert B. Hilbert, president of the American Water Works Assn.

"Unlike other natural resources," says Hilbert, "we have as much water available today as we did thousands of years ago. And we'll have just as much in 2074 as we have today."

He noted that the increasing need to recycle water is generally not because of water shortages. "Economically," he says, "it is more feasible to repurify and recycle water after it has been used once than to develop new water sources."

Chinese Exhibition Popular

TORONTO (AP) — A 385-piece collection of ancient Chinese treasures is attracting record crowds to the Royal Ontario Museum after similar popular showings in Paris, London, Vienna and Stockholm.

The collection spans more than a half a million years of ancient Chinese history. It has had the highest consistent attendance of any show in the history of the Toronto museum, with 4,000 to 5,000 visitors daily, officials say. The exhibition of items varies in the collection — from the skull of the Lant'ien man, dated 600,000 B.C., to items such as the porcelain Buddha of the Yuan Dynasty, 14th century A.D. — were unearthed within the last 25 years.

"The enormous amount of archeological activity that has been going on all these years in China has been a surprise to the Western world," said Barbara Stephen, associate curator of the museum's Far Eastern Department.

Many of the finds, especially from the Han Dynasty, 206 B.C. to A.D. 220, come from the tombs of the wealthy. The provisions for the dead, left in underground palaces, reveal a luxurious life style.

One of the most popular pieces of the show is the 2,100-year-old jade funeral suit of Princess Tou Wan.

The ancient Chinese believed magical powers of jade prevented body decay. From robot-like boots to an eyeless face mask and cap, the suit is 5 feet, 7 inches long and made of 2,160 jade tablets, joined together with fine gold wire.

The Chinese estimate the worth of this collection at about $50 million.

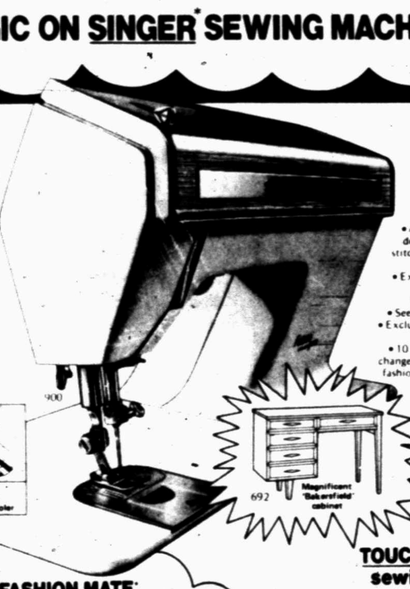

The exhibition will come to the United States in early December, according to a State Department source in Washington.

Suggs Named To Labor Post

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Jackie W. St. Clair, commissioner of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards, says he made only a temporary appointment when he named a state labor leader's son as assistant commissioner.

St. Clair said Bob Hubbard, son of Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard, will return to his old job as administrative assistant at $13,500 a year.

Earlier this week, St. Clair had told reporters that he had appointed Hubbard to replace Tommy V. Smith, who was fired from the $16,000-a-year assistant commissioner's job. He discussed the appointment in several interviews with reporters Wednesday and Thursday without saying it was temporary.

"I have today appointed Mr. Kirby Suggs as the assistant commissioner of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards," St. Clair said in a statement Friday afternoon.

Suggs, who has been with the department for 10 years, is director of the department's Houston office.

"Mr. Suggs fills the position that has been temporarily filled by Mr. Bob Hubbard. Mr. Hubbard will continue as the department's administrative assistant," St. Clair said.

Hubbard, 28, has been with the agency three months.

The shuffle in assignments started last Friday when St. Clair unexpectedly fired 10 persons, including four executives. He said Wednesday that Hubbard had replaced assistant commissioner Tommy V. Smith.

Fired with Smith were Simmie Ward, head of the division that regulates private employment agencies; boxing and wrestling division chief Leonard Booth; and Jim Miller, regional manager at San Antonio.

St. Clair would say only that their performance had been unsatisfactory.

Smith, a former commissioner of the agency, and several of the other dismissed employes complained to the Texas Public Employes Association Friday. He said either Sen. Lloyd Doggett or Rep. Sarah Weddington, both Austin lawyers, would be asked to represent the group.

"We want to know a reason. That's all we are asking. We would like to know why," Smith said.

Rain Forecast For Southeast

By The Associated Press

Contained fair, cool weather was forecast for most of Texas today. Some rain was expected to move into Southeast Texas tonight.

Dawn temperatures ranged from 71 at Galveston to 51 at Junction. A high pressure ridge pulled light winds over West Central and East Texas.

Sunrise brought readings in the lower and middle 60s to many areas.

Early morning fog in parts of East Texas lowered visibility in some areas to less than a quarter of a mile.

Hurricane Carmen appeared to be keeping a northward course toward the Louisiana and Mississippi coasts Sat. posing no immediate threat to the Texas Gulf Coast. Hurricane warnings were in effect from Grand Island, La., to Mobile, Ala., and gale warnings and a hurricane watch in effect as far west as Morgan City, La., and as far east as Panama City, Fla. Carmen was packing winds up to 130 miles per hour and moving forward at 12 to 15 m.p.h.

A new cold front was headed for North Texas late today.

Computer Used To Fight Fires

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A computer is being used for the first time to cut the toll of death and damage by fire in Glasgow, one of Britain's major cities. Information stored at the city fire headquarters is linked by radio to small recorders in the cabs of fire trucks. Within seconds of an alarm call, details of the occupants, structure and layout of the burning building are transmitted.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

More than just an entertainer, Bob Hope—like apple pie and cotton candy—is almost an American institution. Born Leslie Town Hope in Eltham, England on 7-9-03, he came to the U.S. with an avid interest in show biz. Though Bob's never won an Oscar, he's still the greatest! Since '32, he's been happily married to Dolores Reid and they have 4 adopted children.

MAURICE: You've been involved in every facet of show business for so long that a lot of people now thing of you as an American institution. Do you think of yourself as one?

HOPE: Hardly—although I have a few jokes I'm leaving to the Smithsonian. Then I think maybe if they went up on Mount Rushmore and retouched Lincoln a little bit and gave him a ski nose, I could sneak in there. You know, I can't take a question like that seriously. I'm just worried about my next show.

MAURICE: Aside from the young men you've played to in Army camps, do you think you're popular with young people? Do you feel close to them?

HOPE: NBC took a poll recently and found that, because of my pictures' being on TV, even little kids of eight and nine buy me. The other night, when we taped our first special for the new season, I looked out into the front rows and there were all these kids screaming. I grab all of them. I go and I play the colleges and afterward we have a kind of forum and talk about everything.

MAURICE: What about some of the things young people are into—such as open marriage and women's lib and the gay liberation front? Can you relate to all that?

HOPE: I'm an excited spectator, and they're all great monolog subjects. Like: I haven't known any open marriages, though quite a few have been ajar. And: When those women throw away their brassieres and then ask for support—I love it. But I think people can get too carried away with this sort of thing. I can't understand why Raquel Welch would want equality with Don Knotts. And I haven't noticed any big changes in Dolores yet. She still hasn't burned her credit cards.

MAURICE: What about the trend among the young to turn back to Jesus?

HOPE: Anything that gets them into a straight line helps kids like that, as long as they don't overdo it. About three years ago, Dolores and I—Dolores is so religious, you know, she's something else; we couldn't get fire insurance for a long time because she had so many candles burning—well, anyway, we're getting off this plane and this kid comes up to us and he says, "Get with Jesus!" When we get outside, he comes up to us again and says, "You gotta get with Jesus, because that's where it's at!" I call him over and I say, "Look, you got with Jesus and it's a great thing and we know all about it. But don't sell people off it. Play it cool!" Because, you know, this guy is yelling. Anyway, he hasn't heard the good news and the bad news. The good news is that Jesus is coming back.

MAURICE: You've always been a quick man with a quip, but it's been said that you rely heavily on your writers. How many do you have working for you?

HOPE: Seven right now. If I do a picture, I might add three or four more. I've had a lot of good writers working for me and two or three of them have been with me for years—one guy, Les White, since 1932, off and on. At one Writers Guild show, they asked all the writers who had ever worked for Bob Hope to stand up and about 100 guys came up on stage. I've had bavulous writers. I put them to work in teams and then they bring it in and we put it all together and rewrite whatever we want to do and rehearse and see if it plays and then rewrite again. We can come up with jokes in 15 minutes just talking in my dressing room and save a situation.

MAURICE: What's the secret of your comedy? The material?

HOPE: The material has a lot to do with it, but the real secret is in timing, not just of comedy but of life. It starts with life. Think of sports, even sex. Timing is the essence of life, and definitely of comedy. There's a chemistry of timing between the comedian and his audience. If the chemistry is great, it's developed through the handling of the material and the timing of it, how you get into the audience's head. The other night I was at some big dinner here and the guy who was introducing the acts had this very high voice. Well, when I got on I said, "I'm glad I was introduced before his voice changed. He sounds like Wayne Newton on his wedding night." Well, you can't get a better start than that. Here was something that was in the minds of all those people sitting there and when you deliver it to them with the right timing and the right delivery, the light goes on in their heads and you're coming down the stretch. All the good comedians have great timing.

MAURICE: Do any of the younger comics make you laugh?

HOPE: God, yes. Mort Sahl and Woody Allen, they're great. But my favorite was Lenny Bruce. The first time I ever saw him was about 14 years ago. I was working at Paramount in a picture and he was playing in a little Hollywood club, sort of a converted grocery store. I went over there for the first show and the place was about half filled and we had a great time. He did one routine where he called the Pope on the phone and told him he could get him on the "Ed Sullivan Show" if he wore the big ring and would send him some eight-by-ten glossies, and two or three people got up from the audience and walked out. Of course, today that seems so tame.

MAURICE: What about sex? Is there sex after 60?

HOPE: You bet. And awfully good, too. Especially the one in the fall.

Field Day Is Scheduled For Tuesday

Final preparations are underway for the 65th Annual Field Day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station north of Lubbock, set for Tuesday, Sept. 10, according to County Extension Agent Billy Roach.

Highlighting the occasion will be special interest tours of research plots and machinery display.

Members of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, ARS-USDA, National Weather Service and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be on hand to explain and demonstrate research efforts being conducted on the sprawling 275-acre site known as the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center. These agencies are based at the center, except for NWS whose agricultural meteorologist is officed there.

The site is located 7½ miles north of Lubbock on Hwy 87, just north of the Lubbock Regional Airport.

Field tours will begin at 1:00 p.m. with special evening tours from 5:30-6:30.

Stops along the 35-minute tractor-trailer ride around the Station's research plots will include discussions about new developments in soil water research, soil fertility, short season, narrow row cotton, weed control research, and sorghum insect pest management.

The tours will depart from the station headquarters every 15 minutes throughout the afternoon, allowing visitors to get on or off at any of the five field stops, the agent explains. A five-minute talk will be presented at each of the five stops.

Gregory To Chair Baylor Campaign

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Milton T. Gregory of Houston has been chosen to chair the Baylor University fund-raising campaign, a school spokesman said.

Baylor Friday launched the one-year $22.5 million capital fund-raising campaign.

The campaign will be the largest in the history of the 8,000 student institution.

Sutherland-Gould Live Selves Off-Screen

EDITOR'S NOTE — Sometimes they dance on the edge of doubletalk. Other times they make startling sense. "If it's special to be yourselves, then we are special," says Elliott Gould of his movie teamwork with Donald Sutherland. To which Sutherland adds the price of rice.

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Donald Sutherland and Elliott Gould seem to specialize in movie roles with a distinct manic edge.

Some think they live those roles off-screen. Not so. Serious matters, such as the price of rice or politics, pop into their discussions of acting and what's funny (chicken is, goose isn't).

Lounging at opposite ends of a long, beige sofa in their hotel suite, the actors Robert Altman first paired as stars in "M-A-S-H" talked about life, work and interviews.

They've been promoting a new film, "S-P-Y-S", their third together, in which they play CIA men in trouble with almost everybody.

"We've been doing a lot of interviews, talking to journalists so they'll know what to talk to us about. Evidently some actors have given the impression doing interviews is an unpleasant task," Gould said.

"I like to be taken on. It's really very nice to be taken on and to respond. But anybody who wants to take me on had better be prepared. He'll have to give himself away, too."

"We've got a lot to share," Sutherland interrupted. "Everybody wants to be in movies. Everybody is the central character in their own movie. It's a very social business. So it's really joyful, interesting to participate in interviews, particularly when the two of us are together."

Sutherland is a lanky blond, 6-foot-four and 185 pounds, mustachioed and born in Canada. At 39, he has a string of film credits, including "Klute" with Jane Fonda and "Don't Look Now" with Julie Christie.

Gould, 35, looks heavier. He's 6-feet-3 and weighs 205, has dark eyes and brown electric-shock-curly hair, and is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y. He appeared on Broadway in musicals and drama before he went to Hollywood for movies.

Once married to Barbra Streisand, by whom he has a son, Jason, 7, Gould is divorcing Jennifer Bogart with whom he has two children. He prefers discussing the children to the former wives.

"I mean what I say and I say what I mean," Gould quipped. "And my kid says to me 'You are what you say.' Of course, that's because I replied 'Bull-' to something he said, and he said 'Daddy, you are what you say.'"

Sutherland lives in a Quebec farmhouse with French actress Francine Bisset, who recently gave birth to their first child. He has two children from two earlier marriages. They are growing up in California. Sutherland worries that they will have no conception of regular weather or changes of season.

Gould keeps an apartment in California and Sutherland "a telephone in a closet." Neither of them owns anything anywhere.

"To tell the truth, it's sad sometimes. I'm from the street. I live where I'm put. Frances Ford Coppola lives in San Francisco. I like it there, but Francis Ford lives there. Who can say where you live?" Gould asked.

That philosophy inspires Sutherland. "Once in California I parked my camper in a shopping center and when I came back there was a note on the window that said 'You are in my space.' And I thought, 'Wow, heavy.' Then I realized I was occupying his parking space."

The terrible twosome make the most sense when talking about their work.

"If it's special to be yourself or yourselves, then we are special," Gould said. "Once we were walking up Second Avenue after seeing a film of Donald's looking for Elaine's (a popular actor-writer-type restaurant.)

"People were great. I mean, you can walk through a crowd and be invisible. But this was like a party."

When Sutherland wants to change the subject, he mentions the price of rice, which he says has risen 120 per cent in the past year.

Then he's ready to talk about future projects.

"We want to work together. There's a pirate film which we wish to do, and a western, 'Rattlesnake Dick,'" he said.

In the meantime, he has completed "The Day of the Locusts," and is working on "The Defense," based on a Nabokov story about a chess player.

Gould is especially proud of "California Split," which he did with Robert Altman, and the "The Long Goodbye," a spoof of private detective films of the '40s.

Canadian politics and problems, inflation, pollution — all draw passing comment from Gould and Sutherland.

"Science is finished," Gould asserts. "We can't screw up the atmosphere any more."

He's writing a check to contribute to a New York senatorial candidate, Ramsey Clark, who is accepting no contribution greater than $100.

"Even if he loses, I think he's great. Think what that means! The attention he focuses on campaign finances, win or not," is very good.

Sutherland, off to another interview, wants to know where to buy a chair for the new baby. He puts on his pale straw hat, Gould picks up his dark glasses and they're off to continue promoting their film. They are, Sutherland says, "after all, in the business of selling motion pictures."

ART SHOW—Ceramics by Mike Thornton and paintings by Warren Cullar will be featured in an art show at Western Texas College beginning Sept. 9. Thornton (below) will be featuring pieces of a sculptural quality. Most of Cullar's paintings were done during the past summer. He is shown (above) with a painting titled "Knottin' Time," showing a fisherman working on his nets.

Cullar, Thornton Set Show

Watercolor paintings by Warren Cullar and ceramics by Mike Thorton will be exhibited in the annual faculty art show at Western Texas College Sept. 9-Oct. 4.

The show will be in the Fine Arts Building and will be open from 8-12 noon and 1-4 p.m. Monday frough Friday. There is no admission charge.

Cullar will be showing 25 transparent watercolors, most of them done during the past summer while he was in Massachusetts and Maine. This was Cullar's first trip to that area, and he spent 10 to 12 hours painting each day. Many of the paintings depict seascapes and ocean crafts.

Thornton will be exhibiting about 15 ceramics works done in the past year. The pieces include some traditional wheel-thrown pieces but the show is primarily devoted to whimsical sculptured pieces. "It's a demonstration of fun with art," he said, "while also showing the comtemporary trend in ceramics."

The sculptured pieces are fired and later painted, in contrast to the traditional method of glazing before firing.

Amnesty Review Board Planned

By CARLYLE SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says he will establish a national review board to consider amnesty for Vietnam-era draft fugitives and deserters.

The panel, patterned after one created by President Harry S. Truman after World War II, is one of 11 to 15 points, which on one said will be included in an amnesty plan Ford will announce on Tuesday.

The President personally will instruct his attorney general to set up the review board in talking with newsmen on Friday, Ford aboard the plane while on a fund-raising trip to Philadelphia where he had addressed a joint session of the 200th anniversary of the First Continental Congress.

He said he had not decided who would be chairman of the panel, which officials said would have three to seven members.

White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said the review board would be composed basically of nongovernment members. He said it would not include military representatives.

He said the panel would deal with amnesty cases both individually and by categories such as military deserters, young men who left the country to avoid the draft or individuals who refused induction and underwent federal prosecution.

The President personally will set the broad guidelines for the board to follow as it takes up what terHorst described as the "knotty cases."

Ford disclosed last month that he favors leniency and a system of "earned re-entry" for Vietnam war resisters. Since then, he has received suggestions from Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe on how to implement an amnesty plan.

Aides said that the plan now is taking final shape. Ford told reporters he would disclose its details on Tuesday.

By Ford's estimate, about 50,000 young men either deserted the military, were charged with draft evasion or are still being sought for violating federal law.

"French Connection" May Be Reassembling

PARIS (AP) — The French Connection, which for a time seemed to vanish from the list of plagues-on-America, may be reassembling for another crack at the U.S. heroin market.

Turkey's lifting of its three-year-old ban on the production of opium poppies, the raw material traditionally transformed in the south of France into heroin, has created signs that some of the fine old hands of narcotics chemistry are trying to revitalize their trade.

"We are betting that a lot of that Turkish morphine base is going to get through," said Paul Knight, Paris-based European director for the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration. "We have every indication that the bad guys are betting exactly the same way."

Knight said the drug producers appear to have little interest in returning to their labs in the suburbs of Marseille, but are searching elsewhere.

"There are signs that some of the people have already opted for Corsica as a new base of operations," Knight said. "We know the drug people considered working from Spain, Belgium or Germany, and that these points have apparently been rejected. We're watching them — and we assume they're watching us."

The so-called French Connection began to peter out in 1972, the year after the narcotics agent vs. pusher film of the same name appeared in the United States.

The flow was squelched through a combination of factors, including the Turkish poppy ban and a major French police effort that followed years of American goading and strained relations between Paris and Washington.

Knight said the strength of the reconstructed opium connection will be determined in the next 12 months. He said Turkish dealers might try to take over some of the refining business for themselves.

After the decline of the French Connection, the primary sources of heroin for the United States became Latin America and the Far East. In Europe, Amsterdam replaced Marseille as the major point for drug trafficking, but the dealers there have mainly the European market in mind, Knight said.

Warden Takes White House Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran newspaper correspondent Philip Warden is joining the White House staff as editor of President Ford's daily news summary, a spokesman has announced.

Warden, 61, has been a congressional correspondent for the Chicago Tribune since 1957. He joined the newspaper in 1940 and covered the administrations of seven presidents, beginning with Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The spokesman said on Friday that Warden takes the post held by Morton Allen during former President Richard M. Nixon's administration.
