BROKER WILL TEST RIGHTS

RIGHT OF GOVERNMENT TO HOLD BUYER OF BOOZE FOUGHT

(By Associated Press)
 PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19 (AP).—A challenge of the government's right under the Volstead act to arrest on a charge of conspiracy persons who buy liquor for their own use was made in the United States district court today when Alfred Norris, New York broker, formerly of Philadelphia, was arraigned on charges based on transactions with Joel D. Kerper, convicted bootlegger.

Norris, through counsel, entered a plea of noble contumacy to the indictment, which charged him with conspiring with Kerper to transport liquor to him in New York. His counsel then attacked the validity of the indictment on the ground that the purchase of liquor is not an offense against the 18th amendment or the Volstead act. He said the buyer cannot be punished by the prosecution "calling the purchase a conspiracy or something else."

Judge William H. Kirkpatrick, in the ultimate decision in the case would establish a precedent fixing the status of the purchase of liquor. After two hours of argument by defense and prosecution, Judge Kirkpatrick requested written briefs of argument on all the legal phases.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

When all the candy canes were done, Old Santa came in on the run. He gazed upon the little canes and said, "Well say, that's great. You've done this work up very neat, and my, those candy canes look sweet. Why don't you Tynmites try one? Go ahead, and I will wait."

Of course this pleased the Tynmites much. Said Clowzy, "We have never had such good luck as this I think I'll take the biggest one of all." "Oh, you are piggyish," Scowzy cried. And then a cane each Tyn tried. "Be careful," shouted Samma. "Don't let all those nice canes fall."

He waited then, for just a while and then exclaimed, with friendly smile, "To eat those canes I guess it's going to take your rather long. So, while you're eating we'd best go down to a shop where I will show you other work that you can do. If you still feel strong."

One Tyn shouted, "Sure we do! We want to keep on helping you. It makes us glad to work upon nice things for girls and boys." Soon Santa led them to a place that brought a smile to each one's face. "Oh, look!" cried Clowzy. This room is full of funny acting toys.

"You bet," said Santa. "All these things wind up real tight, and work on springs. I want you Tynmites to see if they are all all right. If you work fast, I have no fear that you can shortly finish here. And then we'll have some food, and get a real good sleep tonight."

The Tynmites then looked around and seized the first toys that they found. Course Clowzy grabbed a jumping jack. He liked to see it jump. The others tried out this and that. Then Clowzy spied a kitty cat, that hopped along and always landed with an awful thump.

(The Tynmites see some very pretty things in the next story.)

BIG BILL NOW TO PRESIDENT

FINAL DIFFERENCES ON TREASURY MEASURE THRESHED OUT

(By Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Congressional action on the billion dollar treasury-possessive supply bill was completed in the house today after the senate proposal to increase by $257,000,000 the prohibition enforcement fund had been finally cast into the discard. This action came with approval of the conference report on the measure which now goes to the president.

The most heated debate of the house this session was precipitated by the discussion, but the conference report's approval came without the formality of a record vote. It served only to get the views of a dozen members into the congressional record.

The debate, however, brought from the west the challenge that the drys did not dare enforce prohibition upon their constituents and review upon the floor some of the contentions that were fought out in the recent election.

When the discussion approached at times the limits of debate fixed by the house rules, Speaker Longworth admonished the members to watch their utterances.

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from

HE "WILLED" THAT THE CHRISTMAS CHECK SHOULD NEVER FAIL

Christmas had always been a lovable weakness with him. How he loved it all... the tree, the candles, the presents, and the groaning table. The poor he never forgot... baskets of food and toys, he carried to fatherless tots and worn mothers. Thank Heaven his family should never want for food. Life Insurance, aplenty, provided for that.

But would it provide for Christmas... a real Christmas without skipping? By Heaven he'd see about it! He did. A special policy for Christmas purposes only. They miss him. Money can't replace his loving presence, but it does make Christmas a little merrier... and their love for his memory deeper.

Smith May Tour After Leaving Office

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 19.—The far side of the Atlantic ocean is beckoning to Alfred E. Smith and there is every likelihood he will accept the invitation shortly after he steps from the office of governor of New York state on January 1.
 Never has Al Smith, in person, been abroad. His name is said to be almost as much a household word here as it is in the United States, but political expediency has forbidden his leaving this country for a tour of Europe on previous occasions.
Plain Mr. Smith
 After January 1, he will be plain Mr. Smith for the first time in more than 25 years. And as such he is England and the continent with Mrs. contemplating an extended tour of Smith, and most likely, John J. Raskob and William F. Kenny, his closest friends.

PROTESTS

C. C. OFFICIAL HERE EXPLAINS MOVEMENT
 In answer to the request of D. Frank Johnson, manager of the Lamar county chamber of commerce that the chambers of commerce of Texas urge a change in the method of the state interscholastic league in handling protests of the ineligibility of players, A. B. Davis, president of the Texas Commercial Executive association and manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, today advised the Lamar county executive that such action would be a breach of policy of the association and outside its technical and professional scope.
 Agreeing personally that something should be done in regard to football protests, Mr. Davis explained that the purpose of the T. C. E. A. was to promote efficiency and a higher professional standard among chamber of commerce secretaries and that it was not an action body. He suggested that each individual chamber of commerce of the state be asked for an expression on the problem.
 It was further suggested that Roy Christian, secretary of the Texas Commercial Executive association, and proposed plans in the monthly newsletter that is sent to each chamber of commerce, so that the secretaries could take the matter before their respective boards of directors for action.
 M. Davis this morning received a copy of a letter from Roy Christian to Frank Johnson at Paris, which confirmed the statement of Mr. Davis that the question was not within the scope of the T. C. E. A.
 "It seems to me," Mr. Davis later read, "that your suggestion of handling protests in a peremptory one, and even though it may not be adopted in every detail it certainly should be the foundation for working out some plan that would improve present conditions."
 The policy of the T. C. E. A. has always been that the commercial executives to deal with their own particular problems" the letter continues, "and not to, in any way, represent or attempt to act on behalf of the organizations covered by the association."

Regular Store Hours Here This Week

We do not feel that it is fair to our people to keep our store open for longer hours during Christmas season and for this reason we will observe our usual store hours this week.

Time was, when labor worked ten and twelve hours daily. Organization among the workers has reduced these hours to eight. In this store we wish to voluntarily reduce working hours to the very minimum, especially in view of the fact that a considerable number of our employees are ladies. We believe this policy will be appreciated.

FOSSIL "MINE" IS DISCOVERED

HISTORY OF EVOLUTION CONTAINED IN 'FIND' EXPERTS ASSERT

(By Associated Press)
 BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 19.—A discovery of an area said to contain the full history of evolution" in fossils and declared to be so valuable to scientists that they would not reveal its location other than to say it is in New Mexico, was announced here last night by two University of California scientists.
 The men, who returned to Berkeley with about a ton of fossils for study, said the earth bed contained specimens from every geological age from 75,000,000 years ago down to 750,000 years ago.
 The discoveries are Professor C. L. Camp's list of amphibians and reptiles in the museum of vertebrate paleontology and V. L. Vanderhoof, museum collector. They said their find was made in a section of the state so remote that the natives had not even heard of it. Schools of 75 miles apart, the residents seldom speak English, and are deeply religious. The people castigate themselves with whips and wear cactus in their sandals by way of penance for their sins.
 The university's expedition found there a place where the continental divide had pushed up and exposed a view of the many ancient strata containing the fossils.

4 Lamps Light When You Lift the Receiver

WHENEVER you lift the receiver of your telephone four lamps light on the central office switchboard in front of ten operators. That's the reason your call is answered almost immediately. Any one of these ten operators who is free at the moment can plug into your line.

The switchboard in the Lubbock central office is one of the most modern developments in telephone engineering. It enables calls to be answered 20% faster than any other type of manual switchboard. It has the added features of automatic ringing, which is audible to the person calling. The faint buzz you hear indicates that the operator is ringing the telephone you called.

After you have given the operator the number, you may have occasion to call her back. You move the receiver hook up and down slowly. The first downward move of the hook disconnects you from your operator and when the hook goes up the four lamps associated with your line light.

Again any one of ten operators may plug in and ask you "Number, please." You will generally get another operator than the one who handled your original call. It is, therefore, necessary to give your instructions anew.

You are always welcome to visit the operating room of the Lubbock central office any week day between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The Chief Operator will be glad to show you about. The central office is located at 1408 Broadway.

RIGHT GIFT SOLVES PROBLEM

What are we going to do about Christmas this year? asks Monsieur Lucien Lelong, famous Paris couturier. The shortest route to happiness for all is the right gift for the right person. In most cases women like for gifts the small extravaganzas of life—a bottle of perfume, scarf, jewel, bag, powder, rouge, negligee, a flower—anything that is not an actual necessity. Study your friend and then select the gift, is M. Lelong's advice.

BY LUCIEN LELONG
Special Cable to Central Press and The Journal

PARIS
What are we going to do about Christmas this year? That question has found lodgment in the minds of most of us. Happiness at this season is a right not to be denied, and I think the shortest route to happiness for all is the right gift for the right person. This is easy, as simple as sunrise and as inevitable, if you know what the recipient of the gift you buy really wants. I don't mean extravagant things. Supposing everybody secretly longs for a diamond necklace, a yacht or a castle in Spain. That is not the whole story. Those same people who yearn for these impossible (to most of us) gifts, also wish—just as sincerely for something that is quite simply within reach.

I shall not speak about men at this time. Any clever woman knows well what any man wants. But for her critical sisters it is more difficult. I have had no small occasion to observe the ladies, and I find that in most cases they love best the small extravaganzas of life. Only the unimaginative like the utilitarian gift. A bottle of perfume, a scarf, a jewel, a bag, powder, rouge, a negligee, a flower, anything that is not an actual necessity, but a charming extravagance, is an agreeable gift to almost any woman. She may buy any or all of these things for herself, but the gift-giver, a diviner, selects something different, and thereby masters the secret of successful giving. We all yearn for what discretion and practical reasons may prevent us choosing for ourselves.

Women Like Perfume
If you are choosing perfume—and what woman doesn't like it?—select a scent that is famous and fine. Jewels that are novelties in reach of most of you, may be chosen for their chic, which is extremely important, as for instance the new metal daytime jewelry, or crystals, or rose-quartz. Type and style will depend on the person to receive them. In selecting scarfs as gifts you will choose between sports scarfs, daytime or evening scarfs, and you will be guided by the interests of the friend for whom you choose a gift. And bags. A capacious bag which carries a small but useful umbrella for the woman who goes out every day—an evening bag of fine old brocade for the lady who loves the correct things for evening. Choose felt flowers for the sports woman, and fragile flowers in evening colors for the friend in love. Pajamas are the smartest of gifts for certain ladies and negligees for others.

Study your friend first and select the gift afterward. This gift research will repay you in happiness for having chosen the right thing at the right time.

Living and Loving

GIRLS WRITE ABOUT THEIR WOES; DO BOYS SUFFER IN SILENCE.

To read my mail one would think that about one-half the "flappers" in the country were suffering from heartaches. They sign themselves "Despondent," "Lonely," "Broken Hearted," and countless other names, and all are in love with a handsome youngster who is no longer interested in them. How are they going to win him back? And are the girls more susceptible to the love germs than the sterner sex? Or do the latter suffer in silence while the girls, being weaker, cry their woes aloud—or by letter?

"DESPONDENT."
Under the circumstances a girl should put on her prettiest dress, her sweetest smile, keep her wits about her and go in and win. If everyone likes you why should not he? Don't be despondent any longer, unless he likes the kinds of a girl who pours her troubles into his ear. Most chaps—handsome or not—like a jolly girl.

"BLUE EYES."
Yes, dear, you are too young, and so is he, really. Better try to wait

"A WEARY LOVER."
Why don't you write her that you are very anxious to go out with her and ask her to tell you why she won't. If she refuses then to let you take her out, I am afraid you had better let her go, for the time being, anyhow. Maybe if you take another girl out she will decide that she does like you after all.

R. B.: Can't you send the little girl to live somewhere else, with a relative? It is dreadful that she should be subjected to such treatment. If you know of no one who could take her, go to the Children's Protective League and ask them for suggestions. Try to regain your health so that you can leave him and make a home for yourself and your children.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I went with a boy friend for two years and for my birthday he gave me a wrist watch. Now he wants me to give it back to him. I think that your advice is good, so please give me some of it." I suppose you have stopped being friends, so I'd give him back his wrist watch and anything else that he has given you. You don't want to keep things that the giver does not want you to have, do you? "The gift without the giver is bare," you know.

POULTRY SHOW HELD AT SPUR

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN EXHIBITS GIVEN IN DICKENS CO.

(Special To The Journal)
SPUR, Dec. 19—The Poultry Show held at Spur was the first to be held here other than the exhibit in connection with the Northwest Texas fair, and much interest was shown. Many birds were brought in from the neighboring towns, and the exhibitors were pleased with the readiness with which they were able to dispose of surplus stock, which will be used to make next year's show one of the best in this section of West Texas. Following the judging of the show, Col. R. L. Penick of Stamford lectured on the poultry industry in West Texas, and his practical ideas did much to stimulate the organization of a poultry association for Dickens county.

The Spur Chamber of Commerce and Board of County Development was responsible for the show just held, but with the new organization which will have much more time to give to the management of the show another year, it is hoped that much more attention will be attracted and many more exhibits will be secured.

J. M. Hohn, president, Mrs. V. C. Smart, vice-president, Mrs. E. S. Lee, treasurer and Wilburn S. Patrick, secretary, are the officers of the Spur country Poultry Association, and they will immediately go into the detailed work of outlining the Association's work for another year.

HALE COUNTY OUTLOOK GOOD

20,000 BALE ESTIMATE FOR COTTON CROP; WHEAT SPLENDID

(Special To The Journal)
PLAINVIEW, Dec. 19—Twenty thousand bales is the estimate placed by Hale county ginners as the total for the 1928 season's crop as they report total ginnings to date of ten thousand eight hundred bales. Cotton pulling will continue till well up within the New Year because of the extremely wet weather that has prevailed throughout the fall over the South Plains area. Business men and farmers are very optimistic over the business outlook in this section as the year draws to a close. With a good price prevailing for a cotton crop that despite several setbacks is making a fair yield, and with growing wheat never in better shape, Plainview and Hale county will enter the New Year joyously from a business standpoint.

One firm has placed a large illuminated wreath on the front of its building.

One hundred and sixty trees were furnished through the Ray Blake-More Post of the American Legion, and the Texas Utilities company made a campaign for the Christmas lighting effect. Local merchants report brisk holiday business.

CHURCHMAN IS HELD IN FRAUD

MISAPPROPRIATION OF FUNDS TO $100,000 IS CHARGED SQUIRE

(By Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 19.—"Hardboiled Squire" Nisbet, whose thundering jail sentences struck fear into the hearts of bootleggers while he was magistrate of a local court, today lay on a sick bed here with only his gray haired mother by his side, as his relatives, his friends and his church accused him of appropriating some $100,000 of their money.

From Louisville newspaper the story gleared forth today in headline and picture, but Albert Nisbet will never see it. He has been blind since he was 14 years old. The woman by his bedside saw it, however, and she rose to the defense of her son. Although 50 years old and formerly the terror of liquor law violators, Squire Nisbet is still "just a poor, blind, boy whom it is easy to take advantage of," to Mrs. Ida Nisbet.

"If my son is in trouble," she said bravely, "if he has taken any money, he has been defrauded out of it."

Tearfully Mrs. Nisbet related the story of Albert's struggle with life since the day when he rose from an illness 35 years ago, totally blind, he told how night after night she had read lesson in law to her son and how, side by side, they had one through the course together until Albert had passed the bar examination a full fledged attorney.

But there are others, it seems, to whom the virtues of the dimmer magistrate are not so apparent. There are the officials of the Baptist tabernacle who charge the man who acted as building fund treasurer for the church is short approximately $40,000 in accounts. And Mrs. Emma Kessler, an aunt, who says she loaned Albert all she had, $10,000. Others, too, claim varying losses, even the janitor of the church asserting he signed notes totalling more than $1,000 for "Squire" Nisbet.

Friends said today the market "got him," that "get rich quick" plans to be financed on other people's money proved the undoing of the "hardboiled" squire. According to the Rev. A. K. Wright, pastor of the Baptist tabernacle, Nisbet confessed as such to him.

The outcome was obscure today as no charges have been filed.

AIR PIONEER DIES IN UTAH

EDWARD HUBBARD WAS OPERATOR OF FIRST AIR MAIL ROUTE

(By Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 19.—Edward Hubbard, vice president in charge of operations of Boeing Air Transport, Inc., the first operator of an airmail line in the United States, died at Holy Cross hospital here tonight. Death came after an operation performed Sunday afternoon for ulcer of the stomach.

Mr. Hubbard was born in San Francisco 39 years ago. He started flying in 1912 and in 1920 went to Seattle where he contracted with the postoffice department to carry mail by air from Seattle to Victoria, B. C., flying the route himself in a seaplane.

During the war Mr. Hubbard was a civil instructor, being stationed at North Island, San Diego. Before the end of the war he joined with William E. Boeing of Seattle in building planes and this connection was continued until December, 1926, when the Boeing Air Transport, Inc., was organized and a bid placed for carrying airmail on the Chicago-San Francisco section of the transcontinental line.

Interesting stories have been told of that 22-year-old drummer who is still traveling, but we have as yet seen no mention of the time when he had to stop at the farmer's house overnight.

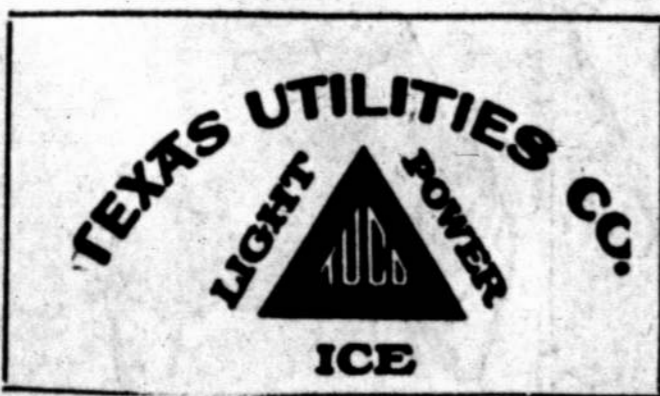

Prescribe Rates On Winkler Road

AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—Differential rates were prescribed by the state railroad commission today for the new Texas-New Mexico railroad, a short line which is to tap the Winkler county off field from the main line of the Texas and Pacific railroad in West Texas.

This means that on all freight shipments originating on lines other than the Texas-New Mexico, when shipped to points on that line will take the regular rates, plus a charge for the distance move on the short line. The requirement that shipments must go a certain distance before differential or added rates are charged, will be waived in this case. Thus no matter how close another point is to a Texas-New Mexico point, on another line, the differential rate will be added.

HUNDRED ROOKIES TO REPORT TO BIG LEAGUE TRAINING CAMPS, VAUGHN CORLEY NAMED TO CAPTAIN MATADORS NEXT SEASON

BRAVES HAVE LARGE SQUAD OF MATERIAL

CUBS ALSO HOPING FOR BETTER THINGS FROM LIST OF ROOKIES

(By Associated Press)
 NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—At least 100 ambitious young players will drop in on baseball training camps of the eight National League clubs next spring trying to break into major league boxers.

The Boston Braves, with a chance to make 19 changes in its personnel, will have the largest crop of new talent. Some critics of the Braves' baseball behavior last season, may be unkind enough to say they need it.

In addition to the hard-hitting Hornsby, who came to them by the trade route, The Chicago Cubs have combined the best of the Braves and the Cardinals in their list of rookies. The Boston Braves, with a chance to make 19 changes in its personnel, will have the largest crop of new talent. Some critics of the Braves' baseball behavior last season, may be unkind enough to say they need it.

Changes of clubs as a result of trades have sent Rogers Hornsby from the Braves to the Cubs and transferred Fred Marcellino, Percy Jones, Louis Soggett and Harry Siebold to Boston. Pittsburgh gave Glenn Wright to Brooklyn for Jess Petty and Harry Rendon. Tommy Thayer will take the place of Sam Rice at shortstop for the Phillies.

Cardinals Get Fewest
 The St. Louis Cardinals will attract fewer players to the club than any other major league outfit but unless plans miscarry two of the infielders brought on from Cardinal farm, Shortstop Cochrane and Second Baseman Smith will find steady jobs awaiting them. Two other new Redbirds were recalled, Marcellino, a catcher, comes from Minneapolis and Herman Bell, right handed pitcher, from Rochester. Elliott, from Waco and Hatcher from Houston.

In addition to the four former Cubs and Catcher Pat Collins from the Yanks, the Braves will be privileged to inspect the wares of many up and coming youngsters. E. B. James, a second baseman, batted .323, stole 26 bases and hit 16 home runs for Omaha last season. C. Fitzberger, a first sacker, was recalled from York and E. B. Clark is on his way back from Providence with an impressive batting mark of .373.

Clarence Mueller, with Toledo gets another chance as does A. J. Moore, from Buffalo. G. V. Leverett, a pitcher, from Indianapolis and G. A. Perry, pitcher, from Wichita. R. W. Wertz was recalled from Buffalo and C. Touchstone was purchased from Providence.

HOPPE SEES TITLE AHEAD

BILLIARD WINNER FOR QUARTER CENTURY MAY ADD LAUREL

(By Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Willie Hoppe, who, for almost a quarter of a century, has been winning billiard titles, tonight gets a chance to win the only one that has escaped him—the world's three cushion crown.

Hoppe has stroked his way to two triumphs in the championship round robin tournament at Orchestra Hall winning the right to meet the defending champion, Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., in the deciding match.

Ralph Greenleaf, New York, has clinched at least a tie for the pocket billiard championship, which he is defending at the two-title tournament. Victorious in his two matches, Greenleaf alone remains undefeated. Should he be upset tonight by Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., in the final match, the tie he can get is a tie. Taberski, Pasquale Natale, and Erwin Rudolph, challengers, have been defeated.

The defeat of Taberski by Pasquale Natale, Baltimore, 87 to 125 last night was the upset of the three cushion play.

PORT ARTHUR ENGINEER FIVE OFF FOR TILT CINCHES TITLE

Engineers of the Tech won the college intramural championship last night by trouncing the Liberal Arts quintet, 35 to 25, in a fast and furious basketball exhibition. Deadlocked for leadership in the school cage title race, the two teams fought bitterly through 40 minutes of basketball that made the outcome seem dubious until the last gun was sounded.

Hitting the basket from all corners of the court and passing the ball with uncanny accuracy, the Engineers assumed the leadership early in the contest and piled their lead to a commanding advantage until a final rally by the Arts team came back to reduce this margin. The losers were gaining rapidly when the game ended.

Robertson, Engineer forward, led both teams in scoring with 15 points. Marshall of the Liberal Arts team came next with eight points.

LETTERS AWARDED AS ANNUAL BANQUET IS HELD AT COLLEGE

Vaughn Corley of Lubbock, center and three year letter man of the Matador football eleven, was named captain of the 29 Tech. football team at the annual banquet held yesterday at the college cafeteria by letter men of the college, members of the coaching staff and athletic council.

Without the usual elaborations accompanying such an occasion, the wearers of the Scarlet and Black initiated the new members of the "T" association and named their leader for next season with only the inner circle present.

The newly chosen chief, who has just finished his third season on the Matador squad, has been one of the outstanding performers for the Freeland-Payne aggregation. Coming to Tech after three years of football at Chillicothe high school and one year with Lubbock high, Corley has stamped himself as one of the most consistent line-men with the local college team.

Mascot Given Sweater
 In addition to electing their captain, the Matadors voted to present Frank Skinner, mascot of the Tech eleven for the past four years, with a Scarlet and Black sweater.

Speakers at the banquet included Coach E. Y. Freeland and W. L. Snelson.

Letter men who were present for the occasion were: W. H. Carpenter, Bruce Reed, H. C. DeWitt, Jack Durham, Vaughn Corley, Sidney Knowles, Dennis Vinant, Amersal Payne, Raymond Westerfelt, Levi Walker, Charlie Woodrider, J. D. Wallis, Paul Marr, Clarence Hodges, Orville Brothers and Clayton Bartoot. Ransome Walker, retiring captain, and Henry Hempel, end, were the only letter men who were not present. Walker is on his way to San Francisco to take part in the East-West football game on Dec. 29.

Golfing Veterans Plan Own Tourney

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Although golf, especially the professional variety, has become a young man's game, veterans of the pro ranks are planning to have their fling at tournament play. Plans for a senior professional association, with the qualifications for membership based on length of service, are being made by Maurice J. McCarthy, veteran professional at the old Flatbush club.

Only those who have served as professionals for 20 years will be eligible. A regular tournament program for the veterans is included in the plan. For the present it is expected that the organization will be a metropolitan affair but later it will be extended.

HUGO AND SLIDES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

Using' the Old Bean
 Lefty Grove, until two years ago, had a bad habit of pitching too fast and heaving the ball when he was off balance. Kid Gleason went to work on him and the other ball clubs observed that he was timing himself. Between the time when he got the sign from the catcher he went through almost a paced movement before he delivered the ball and his fast one was working perfectly.

Jack McAllister, who was then managing the Cleveland Indians, figured out after watching him several times that he was counting to himself and it was then up to him to find out exactly how many beats he was counting before he let go of the ball.

"I told Jamieson to go up there and just stand and count him and he counted on the bench. It took about three innings to figure out that he would count 15 as soon as he had nodded on getting the sign and then we started to work on him.

The batters went up, counted 14 and stepped out of the box. If he tried it again they would step out of the box again and the umpires would start squawking at him. Then he couldn't get his count in he would fire the ball from any position. We also worked on him by counting on the bench and when we got to 14 we could yell—"There it comes now." And I think you will find that Grove hasn't been good against Cleveland since that time."

Hug Got Smart Too
 Walberg and Earnshaw, of the Athletics' pitching staff, have the same fault of being unable to pace themselves. This particular fault in Walberg may have been responsible for the loss of the pennant this year by the Athletics.

Walberg pitched one of the first games of the crucial series in which the Athletics and the Yankees were playing virtually for the championship and he was standing the Yankees on their ears.

Walberg may not have been counting to get his pace but Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, observed that he was pitching too fast and putting too much on the batters.

"Get up there and wait him out," Huggins told his hitters. "He's working too fast and getting tired every minute. Make him pitch."

The Yankee batters made him work so hard that he blew up toward the end of the game and blew the game with him.

His defeat after the fine start he had made took out of the A's what little heart was left in them and it is plausible to assume that that observation by Mr. Huggins may have won the championship for his club.

Wait and See
 Georgia Tech, finishing the regular season without having been beaten or held to a tie, is the one major team in the country to enjoy a perfect season. The far west is accepting Georgia Tech as a representative of the east against California in the Tournament of Roses game, and the east, no doubt, is glad to have a team of Tech's ability carry its flag to the coast. That is, unless California should beat the southerners. Then they will be a southern team.

DUGAN GIVEN HIS RELEASE

(By Associated Press)
 NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—"Jumping Joe" Dugan's baseball career, so far as the New York Yankees are concerned, appears to be at an end.

The third baseman, veteran of 12 American League campaigns and of five World's Series, was in conference with Ed Barrow, Yankees business manager, yesterday and it was commonly understood that it had been agreed that since Dugan was a 30-year man his unconditional release would be given. He expects to be able to land a major league berth despite the fact that his legs have failed him of recent years. Brooklyn or Chicago, of the National League, it is understood, would be glad to obtain the former Holy Cross star's services.

SUBSTANTIAL BOOST IN PRODUCTION SHOWN FOR PAST WEEK

(By Associated Press)
 TULSA, Okla., Dec. 19 (AP)—Breaking a trend towards constancy which has held true for a number of weeks, light and heavy oil productions in all fields of the United States during the week ended Dec. 15, showed a total estimated increase in daily average production of approximately 28,792 barrels, according to the current report of the Oil and Gas Journal, released today.

Of this amount the estimated daily production in light oils totaled 19,500 barrels, leaving an increase of approximately 9,262 barrels in heavy oils. The grand total estimated daily average production for all fields in the United States during the week was 2,548,226 barrels as compared to 2,519,434 during the week ending Dec. 8.

The Oklahoma and Mid-Continent fields showed the lowest estimated total increases. Each had approximately 1,000 barrels. West Texas showed a 3,000 barrel increase; South Texas and Rocky Mountain 2,000 barrels each and Gulf Coast 7,000 barrels.

California led in the amount of production with an estimated increase in daily production of 17,200 barrels during the week.

SUBMARINE BASE, NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 19 (AP)—The submarine S-4, once the undersea tomb of 40 men today was the prize for which navy divers fished with new lifting hooks in the gale-swept waters of Long Island Sound.

Sunk deliberately without a crew yesterday on the first anniversary of the crash with the Destroyer Paundling in which the submarine sank off Provincetown, Mass., the submersible rested in mud at a depth of 55 feet as divers worked to attach massive chains to four lifting hooks or "padeyes" designed to hitch the submarine to huge pontoons for the raising operation.

In the transaction, control of the 101 Ranch Wild West show passed to the American Circus Corporation, a combination which includes also the Hagenbeck-Wallace, the Sells-Floto, The Sparks, and the John Robinson shows.

SEARCH FOR PAIR LOST IN CANYON

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Dec. 19 (AP)—A triple search, conducted by airplane, boat and afoot was organized today along to lower reaches of mighty Grand Canyon of the Colorado for Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hyde, of Hansen, Idaho, now two weeks overdue at Needles, Calif., on a venturesome trip down the river.

They are believed to have drowned or been stranded while navigating the treacherous rapids in a scow.

Major Millard Harmon, commandant at March Field, Riverside, Calif., announced last night that a trimotored army plane carrying two pilots and a mechanic would take off at 9 a. m. today to join the search. A searching party has left Bright Angel station by boat to travel down to Needles and, Indians took up the foot search.

Thought For Today

Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.—Amos 5:22.

Music, of all the liberal arts, has the greatest influence over the passions, and is that to which the legislator ought to give the greatest encouragement.—Napoleon.

Life's Lost Chances

Science will never be able to remake an old man into a young one, and no normal adult would want to undergo such an operation if it were possible.

That, at any rate, is the opinion of Dr. Serge Voronoff, the famous rejuvenation specialist.

"My experience," said the doctor, "is that people who have lived full lives and have exercised their intellectual and emotional faculties have no desire to be thrown back into youth."

The only trouble with that is that there are so many people who do not know how to get that full life of which Dr. Voronoff speaks.

Even the smallest hamlet has its quota of people who have never experienced all that they might have experienced, and whose lives for some reason, have missed the richness of thought and feeling that they might have had.

To be sure, it is probably just as well that there is no chance to go back and live everything over again.

We should probably make a wonderful lot of things on second attempt. But that is not the way you would like to try it, even so.

One of the aspects of life that is hardest to understand is the fact that nearly all four important decisions and selections have to be made when we are young, immature and ignorant of the world.

The man of 45 or thereabouts is prone to look back over his life and wish that he might have shaped certain parts of it differently. And it is seldom the downright blunder that causes regret; it is the missed opportunity—the time when a different course of action would have brought some higher, sharper, emotional or spiritual experience.

We live briefly, and much of our time must be taken up by trivialities; what a pity to lose out on any real moment of ecstasy or vision!

If Dr. Voronoff could really turn age into youth he probably would have many, many clients, despite his prediction to the contrary. But he can't, and there is no use in thinking about it. The fortunate men and women are those who, as he says, have managed to achieve lives so full and rich that they do not feel the need of reconstructing them.

The Christmas Tree

The season in which ones thoughts turn to Christmas trees is just about upon us. And so much has been written about forest conservation recently that many people feel that cutting down young fir trees for Christmas constitutes a needless drain upon our forests.

Such fears, however, are ungrounded. This comes on the authority of no less a person than Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, and a last-ditch defender of our forests if ever there was one.

The type of tree used for Christmas, says Pack, would not be worth a great deal even if it were allowed to mature in its native setting.

In addition, an ever-increasing proportion of Christmas trees comes from private forests that are re-planted yearly, so that the supply is

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says Christmas and Thanksgiving days are those when back seat drivers give way to back seat carvers.

As these lines are being typed something more than $180 has rolled into the Christmas Cheer coffers of the Lubbock Kiwanis club. To most of us who are worrying about how to meet Christmas bills that sounds like a pretty large sum but when we realize how far the total must be stretched if Yuletide happiness is to blanket Lubbock, it appears painfully insufficient.

It is the opinion of this writer that $300 or perhaps $350 would be raised by the clubmen for this good holiday work but even that good will not be enough.

Another several hundred dollars will probably be donated to the Salvation army pots, churches and similar funds, while a few people will make individual gifts. All in all, Lubbock will probably spend $2,500 on charity this Christmas, which is remarkable considering that Red Cross and Salvation army drives have just been concluded and every business man knows that it won't be long before the Scouts, Campfire girls and other organizations will stage their campaigns.

All this brings The Plainsman to the point of this discussion. It is briefly—What Lubbock needs is a Community Chest Fund.

For years generous Lubbock has kept its pocketbook open throughout the fall and winter as numerous organizations have asked for help and the summer it has been baseball, latent organization campaigns, bonuses for this, that and the other enterprise, the acquisition of which meant a bigger and a better city. In fact there is scarcely a month in the year that the business men are not called upon to support some plan or another.

When the antiquated Chamber of Commerce plan of "passing the hat" was dumped upon the ash heap and the Board of City Development, rightfully based upon taxation, took its place, there was some respite from the campaigns. But now that the city has grown and there are more worthy organizations than ever, it begins to look like "cash paignitis" is going to get Lubbock in its toils again.

Older and larger cities have discovered that the Community Chest plan—which means one big financial drive each year to support all worthy enterprises—is not only less expensive for the business men but at the same time is a more practical way of handling the situation. Incorporated in the Community Chest plan may be the Boy Scouts, the Campfire Girls, the Red Cross, the Salvation army and any other similar organizations.

Each to draw from the total donation the part which committees agree upon before the drive. A Community Chest drive in November, for instance, clears the way for the following twelve months and the business man knows when he contributes to it that he has contributed to organizations dear for all.

Most people enjoy doing something extra in the way of charity at Christmas time and the Community Chest drive, out of the way in November, leaves several weeks interval before any Christmas Cheer fund needs to be started. Following a Community Chest drive one good and general Christmas Cheer fund is sufficient for any city, be it large or be it small.

It is the opinion of this writer that the Kiwanis club's Christmas Cheer fund is filling a decided need and should be carried on year after year, either by the Kiwanis or by some other responsible organization if the clubmen do not care to continue their labors. And it is also The Plainsman's idea that the Christmas Cheer fund should not be held down by drives which precede it only by a few days.

From the standpoint of an outsider it appears that the Red Cross and the Salvation army conflict in the lending of a helping hand, at least to a certain extent. If this is true—and workers in both campaigns have indicated by their sales talks that it is—then the Community Chest plan is certainly one which should help to iron out the difficulties.

It is interesting to note that cities which have adopted the Community Chest plan of "Give Once and You Support Everything," have continued to follow it year after year. That fact alone should offer food for thought among the civic leaders of Lubbock.

Before 1929 gets out of its swaddling clothes, The Plainsman would like to see a committee, composed of representatives of the Red Cross board, the Salvation army directorate, the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, maintained constantly. So go ahead and plan on having an old-fashioned tree—you can do it with a clear conscience.

Allene Sumner Finds In Coolidge An Embryo Wit With Wonderful Opportunities For A Successful Jokester

BY ALLENE SUMNER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—It may be epiphany next, but my first interview with Calvin Coolidge, president of these United States of America, brought forth the fact that he had hair on his pin-striped blue serge suit—two hairs, to be exact—that his hair is red (so were the ones on his suit)—that his sense of humor has been most underrated, and that one can imagine him a swell jokester if freed from a few inhibitions due to the dignity of his office.

"Interviewing" the president is not exactly an exclusive affair. The game begins with a doughty unit—formed policeman at the door of the executive wing. He very politely opens the door, but he fixes one with a glittering eye that says "thus far shalt thou go and no farther till I know whence you came and why."

He is quite accustomed to the answer. "I want to see the president." He hears that several hundred times a day. He separates the sheep and the goats—those who are armed with letters from their congressman and are to shake the presidential paw at high noon and those who can't just see him anyhow.

Proper identification, registration in the press book, and introduction to the chairman of the White House reporters, gives one permission to attend a press conference, which is as near to "interviewing" the president as even the loftiest come—and they say that the president has pointed out from time to time that he is under no obligation to be even that accommodating, and that if the newspaper boys and girls don't stop yowling for more and bigger favors he may do as his predecessor Wilson did and not even see them for five minutes at a time twice a week.

For McKenna, chief door-man and sergeant-at-arms for the executive offices, claps his hands much in the manner of Aladdin summoning the genii of the lamp. Three minutes past 12. Three minutes late.

The 30 or more reporters, all of the most persuasion but your humble reporter, begin surging forward like lambs to the slaughter. They are strangely silent. One senses that there is no time for wassail and revelry.

The crowd pushes us into the private sanctum—the president's inner office. I find myself bumping the most famous desk of the nation—peculiarly orderly. I note that the paper clips are arranged in a design on a tray, and that even the business pins follow a pattern on their standard.

There is a flint arrowhead, Crosbyton and Crosby county is only in line with all of the balance of this great territory. There is a marked growth in every town on the South Plains every year. Some more than others, but all enjoying a very nice growth. This is in line with the development of the rural sections. The agricultural development has been rapid. It has been steadily going forward for the past few years, and with the coming of new rail lines and factories, and enterprises that will make a market for the products of this country, the development will be still more rapid in years to come.

There is yet a very large territory that is to be put under the plow, and with the new method of farming in which dairying and poultry raising is taken seriously, there is no need to fear for the future of this great, rich agricultural section of Texas.

That man on Avenue Q says he who laughs last is, generally an Englishman.

In New York By Swan

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—All New York dogs, thank heaven, are not pampered Pekingeses. Nor do they all wear jeweled collars and sleep on monogrammed robes. To be sure a great many of them do—quite too many, if you ask me.

But there are New York dogs that can be as devoted to their masters as the dogs of Kalamazoo, for instance. True, a New York dog may not be quite so well acquainted with its master as a dog in Munich, Ind., or Columbia, S. C., where master-have yards for dogs to play in and me and opportunity to form close attachments. The play life of the Manhattan dog is greatly limited.

On those routine occasions when a New York dog does get into the outdoors, he's held tightly in leash and his inclination to romp is not encouraged. He's supposed to surrender to strict discipline. Also his "the very lively" is to be when in the custody of the house and/or maid, or a small boy trying to turn a quarter.

There's no particular reason why a dog should love a New York apartment yet, day upon day, 'll read stories in the paper where "me dog played a hero in a big apartment house fire."

But the story that inspired this particular contribution to dogology, concerns a noble dog.

The police dog is owned by Konrad Bercovici, the writer of gypsy tales.

Bercovici was driving to his Fifth Avenue apartment from his Connecticut country place. The dog was in the car. There was a sudden crash—the machine upset—the dog was crushed and Bercovici was taken to the hospital where he lay, in a serious condition, for several days. Meanwhile, the usual curious crowd had thought the dog dead. They notified the health authorities to come and get the animal. But when the authorities arrived, the dog wasn't there. He had lived, and although suffering from his hurts, had managed to drag himself away.

A couple of days ago, a phone call came to the precinct police station.

"Say," began a voice. "There's been a dog acting mighty queer around here lately. He's been walking around and around the same spot. We've all tried to feed him, but he refuses to take food. And he won't take water either. He's starving to death and he seems to be hurt and there's nothing any of us can do about it."

And so they found the author's dog haunting the scene of the wreck, waiting for his master to appear; waiting and looking and refusing to eat, drink or sleep; just going about in circles near the site of the wreck.

And this, it seems to me, is as much devotion as you could ask of a dog—say, in Oklahoma, Kansas or Nebraska.

The composer of three of the most intriguing songs to be heard on Broadway is a millionaire who writes music as a hobby. His name is Cole Porter, and he's to be found most of the time on the Riviera or in a Venice villa. He generally appears in Manhattan once each year with a new crop of melodies, all ways of a high calibre. New York theatrical folk, when in Europe, generally accept his hospitality—and a few have the good sense to use his compositions. This year he wrote the song hits for Irene Borowick. The money received for his successes would be considered a comfortable income to most folk—but Porter already has all the money he needs.

Bomb Explodes At Home Of Chicagoan

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP)—A black powder bomb exploded on the porch of Lawrence F. King, sanitary board trustee early today, doing $900 damage and endangering the lives of Mr. and Mrs. King and their five children.

Police were inclined to link the bombing with the recent discharge of approximately 3,000 employees of the sanitary district. King elected at the November 6 election, introduced the original motion before the board providing first for reductions in payroll.

Better ask Congress about that—they know more about that than the president."

A touch of sly humor at the end. The president removes his shell-rimmed glasses, holds them deftly twixt two fingers, and optines:

"Well, you'll be busy with big news in Congress today. Guess that'll give you copy. You'll need me more some other day."

A terse nod. Dismissal. The pack scuttles out. None stays for a private word of greeting. It just isn't done.

Turning, one sees the red-headed president really standing in the triple window, looking into the sun-drenched back yard. Then he glances at the clock. Twelve-ten. A long line of people are waiting in the corridor to shake hands, so that they can add one more presidential paw grip to their collection.

SKIN TEST DETERMINES CAUSES OF IRRITATION IN DISORDERS

Skin Tests W.—There are some persons who are sensitized to certain foods, poisons, animal dander, emanations from weathers, wool, etc. The offending substance may cause skin eruptions such as hives, a sthmatic attacks of hay fever. This condition is known as "allergy" or "idiosyncrasy."

There is a skin test which the victim can take which will determine the offending substance or substances which will cause the irritation. Those which offend cause a reddening of the skin on the site of the injection, possibly a slight swelling and itching; while the others leave no effect.

Once the cause of the discomfort is found, you can try to avoid it or try this out. Some persons are sensitive to certain foods, poisons or other substances can be cured, but there are enough to make it worth while to try this out.

If your physician is not equipped to make these tests, you can find one in the nearest large city.

Mayonnaise in the Reducing Diet. "I am very fond of mayonnaise. How much can one eat when on a reducing diet?"

One rounding, table-spoonful of mayonnaise made with vegetable oil approximates 100 calories. You can't have many table-spoonfuls, you see, for it will limit the other needed foods.

You can make a mayonnaise of mineral oil by the same recipe that you use for the ordinary mayonnaise, and while it has the oil of an egg in it, the proportion in an ordinary serving is so small that it can be ignored. However, too much of this mineral oil mayonnaise

The World And All

A CABINET SUGGESTION Doubtless Mr. Hoover will find several suggestions awaiting him when he settles down for his first good day of office work after his long hard trip.

Here's one. (I told you I'd talk politics after the election, you know.)

I suggest that Mr. Hoover incorporate in his first message to congress a request for a law creating a department of aviation. Call it that or anything else that may seem suitable.

As a corollary to this, I suggest that Charles A. Lindbergh be asked to come sailing back from Europe, I to take the post.

Long ago, when Lindbergh first suggested in this column that such a department should be created, and that Lindbergh take the portfolio of the air, I believe events since that time have had a renewal of the suggestion very appropriate at this time.

Lindbergh has worn well. He went through his period of hero-worship better, I think, than anyone else has ever done in the history of the world, considering the duration and intensity of the period. From those close to Lindbergh I hear that the young man's modesty has been retained, and that the flyer has grown greatly in mental and spiritual stature as a result of his experience.

I believe there is nobody alive so competent for the position of secretary of aviation as Lindbergh. Doubtless he has a better-paying job I have heard fabulous tales of the wealth Lindbergh has acquired since his famous flight. I hope they are all true. If he has made much money, perhaps he can afford to work for the people at the head of a new government department that has to do with flight.

Really, I'd like to see this great young man safely hooked for the public service while he is young, for I believe he could be of incalculable

YEGGS LOSE IN JARRELL RAID

BANDITS RIFLE TEXAS BANK BUT GO AWAY EMPTY-HANDED

(By Associated Press)
JARRELL, Tex., Dec. 19.—Yeggmen who tunneled a hole through the vault into the First State Bank of Jarrell, unlocked the vault door and ransacked the banking room, got nothing for their trouble, a check-up by state banking department representatives revealed today.

Pick axes apparently were used to dig the hole through the wall of the bank building, and a blow torch was applied to the safe, but for some reason the job was not completed. A hole was not made in the safe which contained approximately $4,500 in cash.

About $2 in pennies was all that was left in the banking room when the institution was closed Tuesday and even these were overlooked. The floors were littered with papers, records, ledgers and other things, indicating the would be robbers made a thorough search of the building.

Their operations were carried out without awakening anybody in the town. The hole in the wall of the building was not discovered until this morning.
