West Lining Up Against Molotov's Treaty Plan

WELDING TORCH EXPLODES—Firemen are shown battling the blaze caused by explosion of an acetylene welding torch about 10:15 o'clock this morning at 301 Twenty-fourth Street. The welding machine was being used by Bob McFarland, owner of the shop and equipment, when the explosion occurred. McFarland said the bottom blew out of the acetylene welding generator, and the first explosion was followed by several other explosions of oxygen bottles. McFarland, who lives at the address, was not injured by the explosion. Damages to the building and equipment were estimated at $2,000. (Lee Watson photograph)

15 Burglaries Solved Here

Close to 15 recent burglaries in Snyder have been solved as a result of the arrest last week of a 16 - year - old youth while in the commission of one of those burglaries.

Arrested inside the yard of the Clark Lumber Co. after Clyde Thomas, police patrolman, had spotted him climbing over the yard fence, he has since then admitted many other burglaries.

About $2,400 worth of loot taken in the burglaries was recovered after youth disclosed the hiding place. It was hidden under his bed at home.

Jewelry estimated worth between $1,000 and $1,300 taken from the Martin Jewelry Store on the south side of the square Oct. 5, was recovered, the largest of the several burglaries. The loot included 16 watches, 15 diamond rings, nine birthstone rings, and some costume jewelry.

Also merchandise valued at close to $700 taken from the Western Auto Store on the east side of the square Oct. 16 was recovered. That included two rifles, two shotguns, four pistols, a pair of hair clippers, assorted ammunition, a roll of stamps, and four watches.

A Cadillac car radio taken in burglary Sept. 24 at Denson's Gulf Service was included, as were three car hub caps taken in a burglary at the same place Sept. 7.

Also included was a radio, a stapler, a hammer, and some stamps taken from Planters Gin in September.

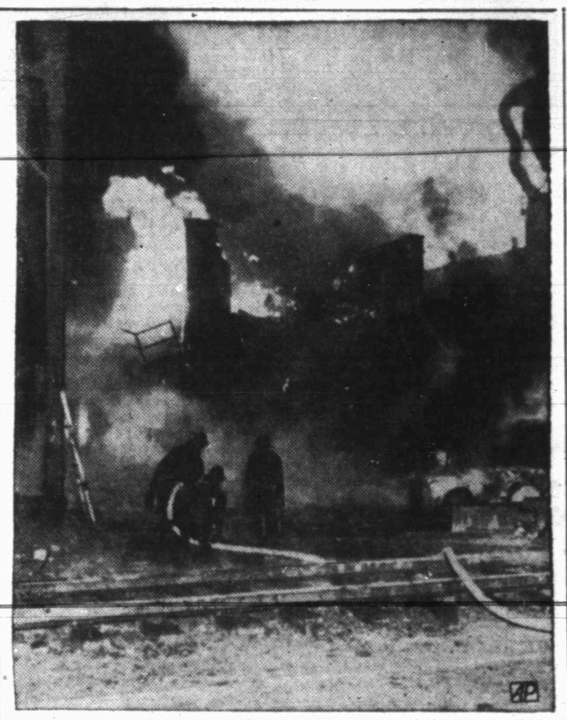
There were keys from Mixon Tire & Supply, where he had also taken some change. Also recovered were tools from the Chevron Service Station at Avenue O and Twenty - fifth Street, where he had destroyed a $150 cash register and had taken some candy and peanuts. The youth admitted breakins or attempted burglaries also at Phil's Auto Supply, where from $75 to $100 had been missing; J. C. Penney Co., with $20 to $25 taken; C. R. Anthony Co., with about $20 taken; the Needle Craft Shop, where he did not gain entrance; and burglary at Snyder Sales Co. on the same night he was arrested.

Efforts of Homer Whisnand, county sheriff; Bill Love, chief deputy; and Leonard J. White, police investigator and now sheriff's deputy, were credited with providing evidence with which the youth was confronted to admit the burglaries and direct the officers to the hiding place of the loot.

In at least two of the places, the youth hid and was locked in at closing time before he took the loot, officers said. In some others, he gained entrance through air conditioners.

The same youth was arrested in Seminole during the summer in possession of a car stolen from Snyder. He had been on probation since that time.

The case is still pending in juvenile court.



FIGHTING REFINERY FIRE—Firemen crouch low for safety while battling flames during a $500,000 fire at Seneca Division plant of the United Refining Company in Warren, Pa. A heavy explosion signalled the start of the fire, but no one was injured.

Russian Springs Surprise

GENEVA (AP)—The Western Powers lined up solidly today against Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's latest European security treaty plan. They regarded it as an effort to confuse the issue of German unity and freeze the present division of Europe.

Moscow's master diplomat sprang his proposal, which on the surface contained concessions to the Western viewpoint, at the closing stage of yesterday's session of the Big Four foreign ministers.

By his timing he made a bid to dominate the conference news throughout today when the conference is in recess.

At the request of French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay the delegates took the day off because this is All Saints Day, a holiday in France.

This official comments of Dulles, Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Macmillan on Molotov's plan therefore will not be forthcoming until Wednesday.

But within hours after the Molotov plan was launched diplomats in the Western camp passed the word that it changed in no way Russia's key position—her opposition to the unification of Germany except on her own terms.

What Molotov proposed was that the great powers, East and West Germany and nations neighboring Germany, sign a provisional "treaty on security in Europe."

It would leave the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in existence.

It would renounce war.

It would guarantee aid to any member state which was attacked.

There were two sharp differences with another security treaty which Molotov introduced only last week.

The European-wide security pact he then proposed would wipe out NATO within three years and would include all European states willing to join.

The surface impression that Molotov was shifting position was strengthened by his indicated willingness to accept what he called the Eden plan for a disarmament zone along the East-West frontier of Europe. British Prime Minister Eden had spoken of the posibility of such a zone at last July's summit conference in Geneva.

Margaret In Hiding After Her Decision

LONDON (AP)—Sad hearted Princess Margaret rested in seclusion today while statesmen, churchmen and commonfolk showered her with sympathy and praise for her decision to put duty before love.

The divorced man whose suit she rejected, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, tried to face reporters but suddenly turned away with shoulders drooping. He looked pale and downcast.

Margaret's mother stayed with her in Clarence House, half a mile from Buckingham Palace. Small clusters of curious gathered outside.

Queen Elizabeth II carried on royal duties, awarding medals and creating knights in the white and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace.

Crowds cheered the Duke of Edinburgh when he arrived in York to unveil a memorial to war dead. He flashed a smile. He is identified in many minds as an opponent of the marriage.

From all corners of the earth came expressions of admiration and praise for the 25-yearold Margaret's decision, in which she said:

"Mindful of the church's teaching that Christian marriage is indissoluble and conscious of my duty to the commonwealth, I have resolved to put these considerations before any others."

There was some anger here at what was felt to be the tyranny of tradition and convention that forced Margaret to give up marriage because of the religious views of one segment of the population.

Some newspapers predicted the commonwealth and the Church of England — the established church — would be more hurt than helped by her renunciation.

"There are women who only love once," said Sir Beverley Baxter, a Canadian-born member of Parliament who knows the Princess. "I have a haunting feeling that Princess Margaret is one of them."

He gave his views in an Evening Standard article entitled "Margaret's Sacrifice."

Ike In No Hurry To Release Plans

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower, well enough now to discard virtually all medicine, left it abundantly clear today he is in no hurry to say whether he will run again.

And Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield is the latest to indicate that most of Eisenhower's top strategists of 1952 are against putting any pressure on him for an early decision.

Summerfield came out of a 30-minute conference at Fitzsimons Army Hospital yesterday saying there had been no discussion of the 65-year-old Eisenhower's political plans for 1956.

More important, perhaps, he said the President didn't mention politics to him. Summerfield is a former GOP national chairman who managed Eisenhower's successful 1952 campaign.

Cabinet member No. 11, Secretary of Labor Mitchell, is coming out to see the President tomorrow. A social visitor Saturday will be Eisenhower's old friend and World War II comrade, British Field Marshal Montgomery.

Eisenhower's personal friends say he will serve out his present term in the presidency but will decline a second nomination. If that is his decision, the longer he withholds it the better it may be for GOP fund-raising drives. These same friends say Eisenhower will play an important role in the choice of his successor as Republican standard bearer.

Whatever his role in 1956, the President will make the issues in the State of the Union and subsequent messages he will present to Congress in January.

Among these will be a commitment of his party to the flexible price supports for farm products that have drawn fire from Democratic advocates of fixed high price supports.

Coal Mine Sealed After Explosion

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese police said 82 miners were trapped tonight after a gas explosion sealed a coal mine on Japan's northern island of Hokkaido.

Police said 27 miners were rescued and 6 bodies were recovered, but 49 others were missing two hours after the explosion.

Credit Policy Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) —The government is quietly dropping the policy of ever tighter credit restraints it has enforced most of this year.

Instead, it has adopted an attitude of neutral, watchful waiting in the belief the dangers of inflation which brought on the tougher policy may have been mastered.

If this assessment is correct, and if another inflationary blister does not appear in coming months, the possibility of a tax cut next year becomes a strong probability.

The new attitude has become evident through several changes in government actions — chiefly in Federal Reserve Board policy — and in public and private statements of government money managers.

A top government policy maker said privately today he thinks the government's efforts in recent months to head off what it considered excessive credit expansion in the stock market, home building, and other fields had "taken a lot of steam" out of the incipient inflationary pressures of last summer.

He would not talk about the future course of policy, but he agreed with a description of the government position at present as "a withdrawal to neutrality."

This does not mean necessarily that restrictions already in force will be abandoned or even significantly relaxed in the near future. It merely means that new restrictions are unlikely, and that there will be a continued effort to keep the restrictions now in force from creating any credit drought.

With inflationary pressures off, and revenues from high level business activity large enough to insure a balanced budget by next June 30, the administration would have little reason, if any, to buck the election year tax cut fever bound to be strong in Congress early next year.

United Fund Drives Kicked Off Tuesday

Two more drives of the Scurry County United Fund 1955 campaign were kicked off yesterday afternoon and this morning, and another was scheduled for kickoff this afternoon.

Tim Dennis and his captains kicked of the school drive yesterday afternoon. Dennis said the drive will officially end Thursday afternoon.

At the kickoff meeting, speakers were Stanley Noah, 1955 general campaign chairman, and United Fund officers Lyle Deffebach, Art Nicholas, and Ralph Geisenhoner.

Deffebach and Noah also spoke this morning at the kickoff of the business employe drive, headed by Steve Birdwell. Birdwell's drive will end Friday afternoon.

Opening at 5 p.m. today at the Hilander was to be the industrial employes drive, headed by Bob Wilson. The county - wide and residential drives have yet to kick off.

Dennis' drive captains are Miss Zaida Brown, Miss Ruth Womack, Mrs. Joanne Littlepage, Elmer Taylor, Miss Lila Dodson, Mrs. Elwanda Nall, Mrs. Nedra Hooser, Frank Wilson, Bill Watson, and Daniel Johnson.

Captains of Birdwell's drive are Billy Joe Brown, Charles Hooser, Bobby Roemisch, and Kenneth Williamson. They will have about five workers each.

Pranks Light Over Snyder

Police reported this morning that Halloween pranks were confined last night almost exclusively to harmless fun.

Travis L. Steele, police chief, said that there had been no evidence of property destruction seen by members of his department, nor any reported this morning.

However, pranksters were caught trying to place two pit toilets on the courthouse square, and were made to haul the toilets to the city dump instead, Steele said.

One of the toilets was taken in north Snyder, the other at Hermleigh.

Steele said that anyone who lost such a piece of property last night could probably find it at the city dump today.

Brownsville Man Has Trouble With Pants

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Jorge Velasco found himself standing in his shorts after a car door handle ripped off his pants.

Velasco was fined $35 yesterday for being drunk and failing to yield the right of way to a car driven by Gail G. Long.

Clary Murder Trial Moving Slow Tuesday

DALLAS (AP)—Clifton Clary's latest trial for the alleged 1948 murder of his schoolteacher wife at their ranch home near Ballinger moved slowly along today.

Clary's own account of how his wife, 56, perished—first given to a Runnels County grand jury March 3, 1948—was read last night in Judge Henry King's court.

The testimony went into the record over vigorous defense objection.

In that testimony, Clary said he noticed no odor of gas or anything unusual when he and his wife retired around 10 p.m. but he said he awakened around 5 a.m. Jan. 31, 1948, with a deep headache.

The testimony related that he walked from the bedroom to the living room and struck a match and fire flashed. Clary, 49 when his wife died, said he could feel an intense heat and knocked a screen door loose to get outside.

"I fell on the ground outside," he testified. "I could hear dishes falling, rumbling sounds. I was never completely out, but I was numb and couldn't move...."

"It was a rumbling—like under a double wall," the testimony continued. "No explosion...just a rumbling sound. Some of the windows blew out. Blazes came out on top of the windows. A kerosene lamp popped."

Clary's testimony told how he ran to the window where he slept, pulled the screen off, and broke the window pane. "There was a red ball of smoke in there," the testimony related. "Just kind of popped and flashed. A solid blaze rolled out. It was kind of red and smoking blaze. When air got in there it popped."

He told of attempting in vain to get into the house. Finally, he said he cut off the home's bottled gas supply and decided to go for help.

The grand jury had asked if he thought of his wife. "I called her," Clary replied. "I hollered all the time."

J. H. Arnett, Austin toxicologist, said no carbon monoxide was in Mrs. Clary's windpipe. He said he did not believe anybody could burn to death without some carbon monoxide being found in their body afterward.

Ballinger Police Chief Lee Moreland, Runnels County sheriff at the time of Mrs. Clary's death, and Ranger Capt. Ralph Rohatsch testified they found a can with the "unmistakable odor" of oil about it about a foot from the foundation of the fire-gutted Clary home. Both said they found the oily can with shattered glass around it. They said other windows in the house were melted.

Federal Jobholders Drop In September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) reported today the number of federal jobholders declined 18,968 in September for the first monthly net decrease since January.

Byrd, who heads the joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, said civilian employment stood at 2,366,075 in September.

Ohio Votes On Pay Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voters of Ohio get a chance a week from today to trigger into effect the supplemental layoff pay plan negotiated earlier this year in the auto industry.

In the five months since the first such union plan was negotiated, nearly one million workers have similarly been covered under agreements that employers will supplement state unemployment compensation payments.

Such labor contracts have spread from the auto industry to scattered plants in the electrical, glass, can-manufactuering and rubber industries. Most provide that the employer will augment the state's payment to give a jobless worker 60 to 65 per cent of his take-home pay, his net wages after federal tax deductions.

A condition on putting the major plans into effect as scheduled next June 1, however, is that rulings permitting the dual payments must be obtained from states in which two-thirds of a company's employes work. Many states have banned unemployment compensation payments while a worker still draws funds from his employer.

That's where Ohio comes in. Enough states have already okayed simultaneous private and UC payments, so that if Ohio voters approve the idea in a Nov. 8 referendum the condition will have been met. This is true at least insofar as the approximately 700,000 auto industry employes are concerned, including those at Ford and General Motors.

Labor unions tried to get approval from the Ohio Legislature in early summer. The legislature adjourned without acting, although it did boost maximum UC payments by $3 to $4 a month.

Then the CIO, with help from the AFL, collected more than 125,000 signatures on a petition to get before the voters in a referendum not only the dual payment plan but also considerably increased UC benefit provisions. This represents a new labor technique to get directly from the public gains it can't win from legislatures.

Queen Race Fund Raised

A total of $1,054.85 was raised in a Halloween queen race at the junior high school, according to Herman Trigg, junior high principal.

Trigg said proceeds from last night's carnival have not yet been counted. The funds will go into the treasury of the Junior High Parent-Teacher Association for use in its various projects, including provision of special assembly programs, a football banquet, Christmas party, spring picnic, medical glasses.

Halloween queen is Diane Parks who was escorted by Douglas Green. Their class raised $251.91 for first place. Other top candidates were Ginny Sims, escorted by Jimmy McFarland, $92.55; and Gradine Sellars, escorted by Roland Key, $85.54.

Dale Carnegie Dies Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Dale Carnegie, author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People," died today. He had been ill for some time.

The author and lecturer, whose book sold approximately four million copies, had for years been given courses in public speaking.

Carnegie, 66, attained wealth and fame by stressing the value of public speaking in the social and business fields.

"How to Win Friends and Influence People," based largely on personal experiences, was published in 1936.

Its tremendous popularity led him to describe himself as one of the "most astonished" authors of his time.

Another of his popular books was "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living," published in 1948.

Besides lecturing and writing books, Carnegie conducted radio programs and a syndicated newspaper column.

He formed the Carnegie Institute of Effective Speech and Human Relations to encompass his various enterprises.

Eventually he gave up actual speech teaching himself but supervised instructors carrying on his work throughout the United States and in various European countries.

"The greatest tragedy about human nature is that we put off real living," he said in expressing his philosophy. "Life, we learn too late, is in the living of it."

Carnegie, born in virtual poverty cast about at various jobs before settling on the career that made him famous.

East Texas Stills Seized By Officers

AUSTIN (AP)—East Texas still is the center of moonshining, the Liquor Control Board reports.

State revenuers seized six illicit stills last month, three in Harrison County, two in Marion County, one in Red River County.

They also made six arrests, destroyed one gallon of white mule and 710 gallons of mash.

Body Found By Officers

FORT WORTH (AP)—A body identified as that of Edell Evans, missing Richland Hills gambler, was found today buried four feet deep in a field northwest of Lake Worth.

Officers made the identification by a shirt wrapped around the bald head.

The hidden grave was two miles east of Highway 199 on city property about 300 yards west of the north tip of Lake Worth.

The officers were acting on a mysterious telephone tip from a girl to Police Chief Cato Hightower. She said she had been on a drinking party when there was some bragging about burying Evans in the field.

Report On County Diseases Is Given

Few cases of communicable diseases were reported in Scurry County during last month.

Mrs. Bradford Holt, clerk at the Snyder- Scurry County Health Unit, said physicians here reported only two cases of whooping cough and 30 of streptococcal sore throat during October.

Total for the 10 months this year so far are three cases of infectious hepatitis, 254 measles, 52 whooping cough, one paralytic polio, one unspecified polio, 722 strep throat, three tuberculosis, and 32 gonorrhea.

Postal Rate Hike Gets Even Chance

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration source on Capitol Hill today gave President Eisenhower no better than "a 50-50 chance at best" to get postal rates increased by Congress next year.

Postmaster General Summerfield yesterday gave notice in Denver of renewal of the rate battle when Congress comes back in January.

The source, declining to be quoted by name, noted that Congress has steadfastly resisted three years of administration efforts to increase postal revenues by raising rates.

Much of the opposition has centered around Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex), whose position gives weight to his stand.

After conferring with the President in his Denver hospital room, Summerfield said Eisenhower had approved a plan to ask Congress for a boost in most rates to help cut down the "staggering" postal operating deficit.

Summerfield told reporters the President may ask for an increase in the first class rate for ordinary letters from three to four cents an ounce, and in the airmail rate from six to seven cents. He said definite rates have not yet been decided upon.

Economies and changes in postal procedures under Summerfield's direction were successful in cutting the deficit to around 350 million dollars last year, from an annual average of about 500 millions. But the savings have been more than offset by a 160 million dollar a year pay raise which Congress voted postal workers this year.

The big increase in the Post Office payroll, some believe, may induce Congress to vote somewhat higher rates to help Summerfield cut down his operating losses — but not anything like the increases Summerfield is expected to ask.

Some Capitol Hill sources thought the pay raise might cause Rayburn to change his mind on proposals he has turned down in the past.

If past reaction by Congress can be regarded as a guide, resistance probably will come chiefly to proposals to raise postage rages on regular and airmail letters.

Less congressional resistance is expected to possible proposals involving second and third class mail—newspapers, magazines and advertising circulars — although rates on these were boosted substantially in 152.

Former War Prisoner Sues For Discharge

CHICAGO (AP)—A former Korean War prisoner dismissed from the Army for allegedly aiding the Communists has sued for an honorable discharge.

Douglas Stephens, 23, of Amarillo, Tex., said in a suit filed in U. S. District Court yesterday he was condemned in an "unconstitutional star chamber" by "faceless informers."

Stephens' suit is the first to question the validity of Army security field boards which have reviewed charges against 134 former Korean POWs.

Stephens said in his suit that a review board at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., ordered an undesirable discharge for his on the basis of "false" testimony of other war prisoners that he was an informer for his Chinese captors.

The suit demands that Secretary of the Army Brucker and Maj. Gen. Philip De Witt Cinder, commander of the 5th Army, expunge the findings of the board. It asked that Stephens be granted an honorable discharge, that his veteran's benefits be restored and that he be paid $1,830 he says is due in POW hardship pay.

Stephens contended the field board procedure deprived him of the right of trial by due process of law guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment. The suit said there was no opportunity to cross-examine because the government's case consisted entirely of excerpts from interrogations of returned POWs.

Receipts May Break Record

Indications are still that Snyder's postal receipt figures will break all-time records this year.

October was another record - breaking month, with total receipts of $10,371.70, according to Postmaster Dawson Moreland. That breaks a previous record for October, which was $10,343.33 in 1950, and it makes five new months' records set in 1955.

The total receipts for the 10 months so far this year amounted to $97,401.06, exceeding the previous high for the period, set last year $93.699.89. Total for those 10 months the year before was $85,259.71.

Last year's total was the all-time high so far. Total for the entire year was $121,137.91. This year's receipts lack $23,736.85 reaching that figure, and indications are that the record will easily be broken.

Domestic Crude Oil Production Drops

TULSA (AP)—Losses in Oklahoma, North Dakota and Wyoming dropped the daily average production of domestic crude oil by 33,500 barrels to 6,743,075 during the week ended Oct. 29, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma fell 12,200 barrels to 547,100 barrels. The largest gain was Arkansas' 1,000-barrel advance to 74,000.

The week's output boosted 1955 production to 2,034,228,350 barrels compared to 1,915,318,185 a year ago.

Louisiana was off 1,150 to 754,250 Colorado off 300 to 150,000; and New Mexico was up 300 to 228,500.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 2,811,600 barrels.

Curbs On Oil Imports Will Be Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has indicated it may curb imports of crude oil from all countries except Venezuela and Canada unless importers do the job voluntarily.

Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming said yesterday that imports since April have been about 7 per cent above the level which the government regards as the maximum compatible with national security—that is, without unduly harming domestic fuel sources.

In a letter to 24 oil companies, Flemming said imports during the rest of 1955 should be cut to make up for the "excess" imported since April. He estimated the excess at 50,000 barrels a day.

Specifically exempted from the voluntary cutback program were imports from Venezuela and Canada, which supply about half of U.S. crude oil imports. These exceptions, Flemming wrote, were based on the assumption "that imports from these areas do not rise appreciably above present levels."

Apart from those two countries, the principal source of crude oil imports is the Middle East.

Flemming told importers they'll be asked within 10 days to begin reporting their imports "on a systematic basis."

Under the extension of the Trade Agreements Law voted by Congress earlier this year, the government is authorized to adjust imports whenever the defense mobilizer finds they threaten to "impair" national security.

In the case of crude oil, Flemming decided some time ago that imports should total about one-tenth of domestic production—the ratio in effect last year. This had been recommended by the Presidential Advisory Committee on energy supplies and resources policy.

Prisoners Riot In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Some 250 prisoners rioted in the city workhouse last night, smashing windows and burning furniture.

Police brought the yelling inmates under control early today, herding them out of their cell blocks under guard of riot guns. No one was reported injured.

The Fire Department quickly doused the fires that had been started with paper, benches and mattresses.

Warden Harold E. Baynes said about 10:30 p.m. some inmates broke out of their cells and released others.

The warden said he didn't know what caused the riot.

There was no estimate of damage.

It was the second riot at the workhouse in five months. Tear gas was used to put down a disturbance June 8.

LAST DAY FOR UNCLE SAM—T. Coleman Andrews cleans out his desk in his office in Washington, D.C., during his last day as revenue commissioner. White Named Field Deputy Lenoard White, investigator for the Snyder Police Department, has been appointed a field deputy for the sheriff's department here, Sheriff Homer Whisnand announced today.

White had been employed by the police department since December, 1952, and had served as a captain, sergeant, and investigator during that time. Prior to that he was a sheriff's deputy for 13 months, and before that time he was with the police department here several months.

The new deputy has nine and one-half years of experience in law enforcement work, including work with police departments at Jacksonville and Palestine and the sheriff's office at Palestine.

Other members of Whisnand's staff are Bill Love, Lowell Holt, and Howard Gibbons.

Young Half Sisters Are Burned To Death

NEWARK, Tex. (AP)—Two young half sisters burned to death last night when fire destroyed their trailer home.

The victims were Sandra Corden, 9, and Jennifer Berend, 2½, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Berend, who lived in Cleburne and Abilene before moving here several months ago.

The trailer was parked on a lot about a mile west of this Wise County town. The Berends, outside pushing their car to start the engine when the 8:30 p.m. fire occurred, had recently bought the lot.

Foy Brown of the Newark Fire Dept. said the blaze apparently started from an explosion. The flames spread rapidly. Brown and two other firemen, Don Box and Cecil Simmons, pulled the bed on which the girls slept from the trailer.

The children were already dead, their bodies badly charred.

Brownfield Negro Released On Bond

Ree Thompson, 50 - year - old Brownfield Negro man, pleaded innocent in county court yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

County Judge Edgar Taylor set Thompson's bond at $250, and he was released on the bond yesterday afternoon. Sureties were John Baker and Charlie Hunter.

"The Private Life Of Adolph Hitler"

Written By

Heinz Linge, Adolpf Hitler's Personal Valet . . . The Man Who Saw Adolph Hitler Die.

Don't Miss His Most-Sensational Revelations.

Hitler's valet, Major Heinz Linge, shown delivering a message to the Fuehrer in the field. The single chevron on his right arm as a Nazi party service stripe. Note the crease in the picture; Linge carried it in his wallet for many years.

WOMEN

MRS. JACK MURPHY

Jo Ann Walker Becomes Bride Of Jack Murphy

Jo Ann Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Walker, Jr., Houma, La., became the bride of Jack Murphy, former Snyder resident, in an informal church wedding in the First Presbyterian Church of Houma, La., with the Rev. M. J. Blackburn officiating. Rev. Blackburn is a retired minister, who married the bride's mother and father 20 years ago.

The bride wore a periwinkle blue velvet dress with navy accessories. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by feathered white carnations.

Large baskets of white Chrysanthemums were placed on either side of the bride and groom.

Lois Remont, Houma, La., was the maid of honor. She was dressed in a rose velvet dress with black accessories.

Wiley Brice of Snyder was the best man.

Mrs. F. F. Murphy, mother of the groom, Mrs. John M. Walker, Jr., mother of the bride, Mrs. Wiley Brice and Lois Remont assisted the couple in receiving guests at the reception, which followed the wedding. Mrs. Wiley Brice cut the wedding cake for serving.

For their wedding trip, the couple went to New Orleans and then plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Brice and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Murphy here in Snyder.

Church Group Meets Here

About 50 women from several cities in this area gathered at the Union Methodist Church yesterday for an annual meeting of District 22, United Church Women of Texas.

Mrs. Charles Tyer of Snyder was re-elected district president, while other district officers elected were Mrs. A. W. Partain of Lamesa, first vice-president in charge of the fellowship fund; Miss Nell McFall of Abilene, second vice-president in charge of devotional; and Mrs. Jack Riley of Snyder, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. F. F. Salser of Lamesa gave the devotional at yesterday's program, while Mrs. B. C. Hill of Abilene, state vice-president, led the group in leadership training. Reports were submitted from Snyder, Lamesa, Big Spring, and Plainview. The meeting included a covered dish luncheon.

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 5-5488.

Recently we heard an old-timer say, "I remember breakfast in those golden days gone by, when it was my favorite meal. While Mom ladled steaming, hot oatmeal from the old ironstone tureen, and indescribably wonderful aroma from the kitchen—a mingled scent of sizzling bacon frying in the pan, fragrant hot coffee, and spicy apple coffee cake gave tantalizing promise of pleasure to come.

"Breakfast had a special pattern and the menu changed according to the season. In the late summer and fall, I remember particularly an unforgettable kind of Swiss cheese pie and a great pot of fragrant coffee on the back of the stove."

Next Sunday why don't you try these well remembered Swiss Cheese pies for your family breakfast?

SWISS CHEESE PIES:
PASTRY
1 cup sifted enriched flour
cup corn meal
1½ teaspoons salt
1-3 cup shortening
1-3 cup cold water
FILLING
½ cup diced cooked ham
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
6 eggs beaten
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon onion juice

Sift together flour, corn meal and salt cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle water over surface and mix lightly until dry ingredients are dampened. (Add a little more water if necessary to make dough hold together.)

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Divide dough in six parts roll each out to form a circle about 7 inches in diameter. Fit in 5-inch pie plates. Fold under edges of pastry; flute.

Place a layer of ham, then cheese in shells. Mix together eggs, milk, salt, pepper and onion juice; pour into shells. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes reduce to slow (300 degrees) and continue baking 30 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

P.S. Fix filling and pastry the night before — then all you have to do in the morning, is to combine, and bake!

For 1956_

Lincoln proves a big fine car can be both long and lively

LMDA

This 3-door hardtop is one of 3 models in Lincoln's new Premiere series. There are also 2 Lincoln Capris to choose from.

THE BARRIER is broken. The new 1956 Lincoln shatters the myth that a big car, a long car, need be hard to handle.

For the 1956 Lincoln, for all its new length, for all its luxury, is as lively as a made-for-action sports car.

Lincoln's new V-8—the most powerful Lincoln engine ever—turns out 285 horsepower. Lincoln's automatic drive translates that power from command to action so fast, so smoothly, you almost feel this car is part of you.

And Lincoln's advanced ball-joint suspension teams with its optional power steering to help you thread through traffic with effortless ease, to keep you steady and relaxed on the most winding roads.

Come in soon to see the new length of this Lincoln. Come in to see its new luxury—inside and out. Then come drive the new long Lincoln for 1956.

The new 1956
LINCOLN
The only completely new fine car

Bible Thought

And he did evil, because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord. II Chronicles 12:14.

EDITORIALS

Teach English—First

A lecturer, dropping in on a University of Texas gathering of the South-Central Modern Language Association, urged a vigorous foreign language program, starting in elementary schools and carry forward systematically through high schools and colleges.

That is a fine idea, of course. Texas kids in particular should be exposed to Spanish in the elementary and high schools, and in the colleges as well.

But in our opinion what we really need is a vigorous program at all levels in behalf of English. Anyone who listens to the radio and television where people make talks or get exposed to interviews must come to the conclusion that English is a sorely neglected subject. And we are not talking about ordinary people, but important politicians, business and civic leaders, and successful career people of all kinds with what passes as a modern education. Many of them can't express a thought in plain English, without misusing words, messing up the syntax, or mixing up the tenses.

The same goes for the written word. Other day we came across the biographical sketch of a prominent politician in which it was asserted "he vigorously prosecuted crime and organized vice in Texas." Of course, he didn't actually "organize vice" in Texas, but that is what the sentence makes it sound like. A simple transposition would say what that writer was trying to say: "He vigorously prosecuted organized vice and crime in Texas."

How often have you heard, "Let's you and I"? Oftener, we daresay, than you've heard, "Let's you and me."

And "ten a.m. Tuesday morning" is often used in the very best speaking and writing circles. That's much worse than saying "Rio Grande River."

From Here And There

Life still has its lighter side, a fact that contributes a great deal of making existence endurable and keeping the customer in smiling good humor.

Take that fellow with a parrot at Tampa, Fla., for instance. The parrot fell sick and the master took him to the vet's for treatment. On the way home the master ran a red light, and explained to the arresting cop that he was afraid to make a sudden stop lest the sick parrot be thrown to the floor and injured. He was getting away with it too until the parrot poked his head out the window, looked the cop straight in the eye, and sounded off: "You dot dot dot dash dot dot dash dot dot dash dot dot dot dot dot!"

In Kentucky, where a general election is coming up November 8, voters are being tempted to the polls with the old lottery bait. Voters in 50 precincts of Knox County will be given a chance on 50 turkeys when they cast their ballots. In Henderson County a 1956 model car will go to the voter who holds the lucky number. And in Woodford County the prize will be a $460 food freezer.

In the same state, at Louisville, the winner of an auto race came out on the minus side in the cash department. He was doing 80 mph on a street calling for a 30-mile limit, and was fined $80. His opponent, who was doing between 70 and 75 when the cops intervened, was let off with a $70 fine. Interfering with the pleasures of the people, it seems like . . .

In the Cawood elementary school near Harlan, still in the land of the mint julip, pretty women and fast horses, the kids got an unexpected holiday. Seems a mama dog decided to raise her latest litter under the schoolhouse floor. The dog warden cut so many holes in the floor trying to oust the intruders that chilling drafts were set up. The principal decided to dismiss the class until repairs could be made . . .

But it was in Scituate, Mass., that the johndarms met with a backset. They had been providing free coffee to imbibers, to sober them up. Had to stop when a higher authority said he believed in the slogan: "If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive."

Played Back

STONY CREEK, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Prince, who filled a whole community with music had it played back to her.

Pupils who learned from her during 48 years of her teaching music here, gave Mrs. Prince and her husband, I. A. Prince, a big reception and a silver service. A number of ex-pupils put on the musical program.

Trick Or Treat

Real Issues In '56 Campaign To Be Dull, Unless Later Events Change The Picture

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1956 presidential campaign will probably be pretty dull — so far as real issues go — unless events change the picture before campaign time next summer.

Both parties will do the usual: Talk about the differences between them. But year by year those differences have narrowed until now they are arguments more on details than on basic issues.

The Republicans, for example, have accepted — they'd be committing political suicide if they didn't — the major legislation of the New Deal and "Fair Deal": Social security, minimum wages, collective bargaining, and so on.

In some cases they have expanded on them. In foreign affairs President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have followed the broad policy of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

Eisenhower, whether or not he himself runs again, has set the tone for both parties in 1956. His moderation, in policies and personal dealings, made him look, before his heart attack, like a sure winner again. Further, a time of high prosperity does not call for boat rocking innovations.

It's no wonder then that both parties seem to be preparing to present themselves to the voters in 1956 as "moderate." But a campaign based on moderation hardly holds out promise of excitement or extremes.

With Eisenhower unlikely to run, his Republicans seem able to think of nothing but running on his record. And if any of the Democrats who so far look like candidates have big ideas they haven't said so. Their talk has been very moderate.

For this reason the voters may again, as they have in the past two elections, find a lot of difficulty recognizing real differences between the parties.

In 1952, although they picked Eisenhower overwhelmingly, the voters gave his party control of Congress by a hair-thin margin. And in 1954, when they put the Democrats in charge, it was by the same kind of margin.

Yet, some of the issues in those two elections were more bitter and emotional than anything appearing so far on the 1956 horizon.

In 1952 the Republicans banged at their rivals with the then unended Korean War and the charge of Communists-in-government-under-the-Democrats. In 1954, with the war suspended, they trotted out the shopworn Communist theme again.

They can hardly hope to run that one around the track as a major issue again in 1956 unless some how Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) can emerge from the political limbo into which his own Republicans threw him.

Unless the West suffers disasters, foreign policy may not be much of an issue. The Democrats may complain about the Eisenhower handling of it, but only on details since the basic policy was theirs to begin with.

At the moment the farm problem seems the one most apt to be overheated in the 1956. Farm income is declining but Eisenhower sticks to the flexible price support program, promising efforts in other ways to help the farmer.

Adlai Stevenson, making sounds like a candidate, has come out for fixed supports at 90 per cent of parity, but he did that after a lot of hemming and hawing.

1 YEAR AGO

Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, was appointed head of the 1954 general campaign of the Scurry County United Fund, which was to start in a few days.

Hallowe'en vandalism was very light in Snyder, police reported, adding that no major property damage was reported.

5 YEARS AGO

Howard County voters, in a record turnout at the polls, put prohibition into effect in the county after Big Spring had been wet for amost 12 years.

Extra precautions were initiated for protection of the U. S. president after two Puerto Rican fanatics attempted to assassinate Harry S. Truman.

Criticism Will Overshadow Praise Almost Every Time

By INEZ ROBB

In my salad days out where the West begins (where the handclasp is a little stronger, the underwear a little longer), we undergraduates used to gather around the ukulele and raise our voices in a plaintive madrigal whose refrain was: "Don't send my boy to Harvard, the dying mother cried."

This was an early day rock-and-roll guaranteed to send the Dartmouth, Princeton and Yale contingents. But I am now at work on a revision of this lieder whose reprise will be: "Don't send my boy to Yale, no time, nowhow, the dying mother cried."

In a recept composition, I congratulated Yale on the fact that its current undergraduate students are so much smarter than previous Yale generations that the university has been forced to upgrade sharply the requirements for the dean's list, or the egg-head honor roll.

Now you would think that Elis, young and old, would be delighted —wouldn't you? — by such widespread publication of the university's status as a brain trust (jg.).

But the way of a columnist is hard. Merely in passing, toward the conclusion of the essay, I hinted at my private reservations regarding the real intelligence of Yales, past and present, who persist in singing the Whiffenpoof Song, even when sober, as their favorite school anthem.

It is one woman's unshakeable opinion that there is something embarrassingly juvenile about grown men bleating at each other and at innocent bystanders in public. Baa, baa, baa, black sheep, go 'way from my door!

Oh, I have received a passel of letters, all right, from Yales, both young and old. And did any of them say, "Thank you for pointing out how intellectually superior Elis are?" Ha! Are you kidding?

The boys, old and young, are in a snit because of my grievous attitude toward that mauldin whiffenpoof mergingue. Without exception their letters fall into that professional category known as, "Dear Sir, You Cur" epistles.

Lor'me! Such language addressed to a member of the fair sex! (If chivilry is dead, I know where. New Haven!) However, it is not the reflections on my ancestry, harsh and personal though they be, that worry me. Or even the angry denunciations of all Westerners (i.e., anyone born West of the Housatonic) as base clods.

Even the dubious English in which most of the letters are couched can be excused on the basis of the emotional stress of the moment and, perhaps, a weak English department.

What really alarms me is that not a single Eli who took pen in hand could write his own name. There is a great hue and cry currently because many persons can't read when they reach college. Apparently, there is another pitiful group unable either to write or print its name. My angry Elis belong to this group, for not one of their letters was signed.

Only one Eli gave me any clue to his identity. A resident of New York's 1165 Park Avenue, he included not his name but his telephone number. And admonished me to hang up if a woman answered.

Report On One Important Project Missing From Pentagon Release On Far East Policy

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

The most important American military project to aid the Chinese Communists was one of the more conspicuous omissions from the recent Pentagon release of documents concerning U. S. policy in the Far East in the last war.

The elder of these reporters has personal knowledge of this project, which constitutes one of the major unsolved mysteries of the Far Eastern war. In the summer of 1945, shortly after the Japanese surrender on Okinawa, the reporter accompanied Maj. Gen. C. L. Chennault to the China Theater headquarters of Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, at Chungking.

While there, Gen. Wedemeyer decidedly flatteringly asked the reporter's advice on a highly confidential telegram which had just been received from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington. The telegram requested Gen. Wedemeyer's opinion of a truly extraordinary proposal.

* * *

In brief, Gen. Wedemeyer's predecessor in the China Theater, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, then held the Okinawa command under Gen. MacArthur. Why not, asked the telegram, let Gen. Stilwell land from Okinawa on the North China coast, possibly on the Shantung peninsula? Because of the expected requirements of the invasion of Japan, Gen. Stilwell could not be allowed more than a couple of American divisions. But he could make a junction with the local Chinese resistance forces; he could strengthen them with American arms; and he could lead them against the Japanese armies in North China.

Gen. Stilwell, of course, had been dismissed from the command in China by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and was well known to be the generalissimo's bitter personal enemy. Equally, of course, the Chinese forces of resistance in the North were almost exclusively composed of Communists, and Gen. Stilwell was a professed admirer of the Chinese Communist movement.

The J. C. S. proposal, in short, was tantamount to an American declaration of war on Chiang Kai-shek. The reporter, perhaps frivolously, suggested to Gen. Wedemeyer that he answer the telegram by inquiring whether the Joint Chiefs really meant to go to war against Chiang. Gen. Wedemeyer, who concurred in the reporter's analysis, in the end wired the Joint Chiefs that such a landing in China could hardly be made without Chiang's consent, which would not be forthcoming. No more was heard of the proposal thereafter.

* * *

There is still interest in this proposal, however, in the present context of heated controversy about Gen. Douglas MacArthur's role in that difficult and distant time. Stilwell himself was then Gen. MacArthur's subordinate and the forces he was to lead into North China would have come from the divisions available to MacArthur for the Japanese landing. Stilwell's landing on the China coast would have drawn its logistical support from MacArthur's Pacific Theater. Even after landing in China, Stilwell would have remained under MacArthur's command.

The aim of the proposed landing by Stilwell, moreover, was to counter a threat which Gen. MacArthur then estimated far too highly. This is shown by the papers already published by the Pentagon, and particularly by two key memoranda of conversations with Gen. MacArthur in 1945, written by Col. Paul Freeman, Jr., and Brig. Gen. George A. Lincoln.

In both these contemporary documents, Gen. MacArthur is portrayed as warmly endorsing very great concessions to the Soviets in Manchuria--such concessions, in fact, as were made at Yalta—as the worthwhile price of a Soviet offensive against the Japanese forces on the mainland. Although Gen. MacArthur has since declared that he did not want a Soviet intervention in 1945, Col. Freeman further described Gen. MacArthur as strongly urging that the Soviets ought to be persuaded to move against the Japanese in Manchuria at the very first possible moment after the German surrender.

* * *

The reason given, in both instances, was that Gen. MacArthur believed the Japanese armies on the mainland to be very powerful and thought they constituted a serious menace to the success of the landing in Japan. The Freeman-Lincoln memoranda fit, in turn, with a precisely similar account of a conversation with Gen. MacArthur by the late New York Herald Tribune correspondent, Bert Andrews, which is preserved in the Forrestal papers.

A question therefore arises about the origin of the remarkable porposal to send Gen. Stilwell and the Chinese Communists against the Japanese mainland armies that were then giving Gen. MacArthur such grave concern. Was it a mere J. C. S. pipe dream? Were the Joint Chiefs, who always hated a row with Gen. MacArthur, really proposing to divert forces under his control, at a most crucial moment and without his prior concurrence? Or had the proposal in fact originated in Gen. MacArthur's own headquarters, as seems more natural. These questions also deserve answers.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—What is it that watches the baby, catches shoplifters, helps the doctor, the preacher and the teacher, and even keeps an eye on the gambling tables in a certain Reno establishment?

Why, television, of course. Closed-circuit television.

Rather quietly, with a word here and a hint there, the closed-circuit TV age has suddenly descended upon us. What is closed-circuit television? Don't bother with the technicalities. Just think of the TV camera as an extension of human visition, able to perceive and transmit to selected viewers miles away or in the next room scenes and information that cannot otherwise be readily seen.

"This is the point," says John R. Howland. "If I can see in that other room it's going to save me time or effort or money."

Howland is general sales manager of Dage Television Division, Thompson Products Inc., of Michigan City, Ind., a major producer and pioneer in closed-circuit TV. A year ago there were about 100 such installations in the country. Today there are about 1,500. By the end of 1956 there will be 5,000, says Howland.

Here are not just some of the things closed-circuit TV is capable of doing. Here are some actual accomplishments:

Department stores in certain cities have installed cameras which keep an unobtrusive eye on shoplifters. Banks are using the system to speed signature verification and customer balances between drive-in tellers' offices and centralized accounting divisions.

Churches are using it to televise services to overflow crowds, thus doing away with the need for two Sunday morning services.

Closed-circuit TV is making enormous strides in higher education. It's used in lectures to huge classes, in teaching operating techniques, and even to enlarge microscopically small objects in laboratory courses. At Penn State, for example, about 4,500 students are being taught in part with the aid of the method.

In hospitals closed-circuit TV keeps a watchful eye on baby areas, narcotics cabinets, and even back doors. It teaches operating techniques to nurses who cannot crowd into a sterile operating room. In certain hospital wings patients can be watched in case of a nurse shortage.

In a Reno gambling casino there's a camera installed in a chandelier to make sure that the proper money ends up in the proper pockets. The Potomac Railroad Yard in Alexandria, Va., saves thousands of dollars annually by using it to check boxcar numbers. . . . Bay Meadows Race Track in San Francisco installed it over the parimutual windows so that late bettors could see the track.

Husband's Work Often Too Technical For Family Talk

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Traditionally, a dutiful wife is expected to ask her husband, "Well, how did it go at work today?"

Yet all over the nation thousands of wives have this problem: The husband's work is so technical and complicated he couldn't explain it to her even if he tried.

This marital reflection arose while thumbing through a program for the first annual technical meeting on electron devices, held here this week. To the unscientific mind the titles alone are more frightening than a halloween mask.

"Vacuum - baked encapsulation techniques and improved reliability of NPN alloy transistors."

"High-power S-band pulsed traveling wave tube."

"Ferromagnetic resonance absorption devices."

What a treasure trove for after dinner conversation pieces!

Yet a couple in such a spot, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Liimatainen, says things can be worked out satisfactorily.

Liimatainen is with the government's Fiamond ordnance fuse laboratories.

"We develop new types of proximity fuses for bombs, rockets and mortars, that sort of thing," Liimatainen said. "Not only is some of the work too technical for my wife to understand, but it's secret, so I couldn't say anything anyway."

"When technical talk starts," Mrs. L. said, "I listen and do the best I can."

"You know," Liimatainen said, "the wives aren't the only ones in trouble. It has reached the place where if one of us—even with our training — goes into a meeting that's a little out of our line, we can get lost in no time."

Before her marriage, Mrs. Liimatainen was an interior decorator in Schenectady, N.Y., and she still goes back there to take care of old customers.

"The family has a furniture store there," Liimatainen explained. "She's the gyroscope around which it revolved."

Difficulties arise even here.

"My wife is interested in the psychology of colors," Liimatainen said, "whereas to me color is a different thing. It's a lot of different wave lengths."

But Liimatainen laments the trend toward becoming too technical.

He thinks that now the average person, and presumably the average wife, assumes he or she can't understand basic principles and doesn't even try. Nor does the technical man bother to explain what he's doing in simple English.

"We should explain how things work so that everyone can understand," Liimatainen said. "Why, right now, I'll bet I can explain how the vacuum tube works so that you could understand it easily."

It seemed like an easy way to pick up money, but time was running out. So, regretfully, the Liimatainens were left to discuss those psychologically colored wave lengths.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Family Has Big Treat When Mrs. Nixon Cooks

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON — The biggest treat these days in the lives of Vice President Nixon's family is a night at home with dinner cooked by Mrs. Nixon.

Pretty red-haired Pat Nixon did all the family cooking and housework until the 1952 vice presidential campaign, when she went out on vote-seeking trips with her husband. Since the election she has had a housekeeper so someone will be at home with the two Nixon youngsters, Tricia, 9, and Julie, 6, the many nights the vice presidential couple have to go out to official events.

Now that President Eisenhower has to take it easy to recover from a heart attack the Nixons can't add an even heavier social load. Even so Mrs. Nixon tries—actually schemes—for time for her small family to be at home maybe one night a month.

On these rare occasions she prepares dishes her family especially likes. A recipe for one of these—California date nut bread—she sent into the Congressional Club, an organization of wives of senators and representatives, for its 1955 cookbook. Here's the recipe:

1 lb. package dates
1 cups sugar
1½ cups boiling water
2 tsps soda
1 tbs butter
1 egg
2 cups flour
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp vanilla

Add soda to boiling water and pour over dates, which have been cut into small pieces. Let this mixture stand.

Cream butter and sugar. Then add egg. Strain water from first mixture into sugar mixture. Add the flour and beat well. Add the dates, nuts and vanilla.

Pour into greased loaf pans. Bake in 350 degree oven for one hour.

This is the Congressional club's fourth cookbook. It can be obtained by writing your congressman's wife—and enclosing $2.50, plus 25 cents for postage —or by sending an order to the Congressional Club, Washington 9, D. C.

Michigan Area Is Vacant Wilderness

ISLE ROYALE, Mich. (AP)—This untouched wilderness — jutting out of blue Lake Superior — is one of the few public sites in this country where one can wander without tripping over beer cans and spotting cigarette butts.

Instead the island's trails that winds through the primeval woods are littered with thimbleberries, clintonia, wild orchids and trillium.

You don't see much of man because he's uncommon and most of the time is outnumbered by moose. For instance, only 2,830 people visited Isle Royale in 1952 while 41 million toured the entire national park system.

But then, there isn't much to do. All you can do is pull 10-pound lake trout out of the ice clear water, hike along paths framed by stately pines and birches, look for greenstones along Lake Huron, watch an eagle soar above or a family of mink at your feet.

The trip from Grand Portage, Minn., takes only a couple of hours Available boats can carry only a few passengers per trip. And the island's two lodges can handle only 125 persons.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

HITLER. By Otto Dietrich. Translated from German by Richard and Clara Winston. Regnery.

Adolf Hitler's publicity man devoted 12 years to glorify the Fuehrer. But in Allied prisons after the war, Dietrich was troubled by many second thoughts. With his own trial as a war criminal still to come, the former Reich press chief wrote in his cell:

"The majority of the German people had put their trust in a single man, had revered him like a saint and loved him like a father. This man then led them into the greatest catastrophe in their history.

"Only a true portrait of this man can explain the tragedy . . ."

Behind bars, Dietrich attempted the explanation with a 268-page biography, intended for publication after his own possible execution. Eventually, he was convicted of atrocities, sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, but granted amnesty after a few more months. He died in 1952.

Half of his book is taken up by a sweeping condemnation of Hitlerian policy, with benefit of hindsight. Like others facing trial at Nuernberg, Dietrich was bitter over his former idol's failures, and felt himself to be an innocent dupe.

But he filled out the remainder of the biography with gossipy tidbits on the Fuehrer's private life, halting just short of the boudoir which Hitler shared for years with Eva Braun.

The gossip still has a macabre spice.

Surgery Fee Study Slated

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP)—Do some or many surgeons charge fees that are too high?

The American College of Surgeons today announced it is launching a special study of surgical fees.

A comittee of "six or seven distinguished surgeons" will investigate the fee matter, making a preliminary report to regents of the college about mid-December, said Dr. I. S. Ravdin, of Philadelphia, chairman of the ACS board of regents.

"Statements have been made that in many instances exorbitant fees have been charged. We intend to look into this matter, and find out if it is so," Dr. Ravdin told newsmen.

He said the regents had unanimously approved appointing the investigating committee. He declined to name the members, saying they could best do their work if their names were not made public.

"This is not a white-washing committee" Dr. Ravdin declared. "We will make public whatever it finds, if there is anything to make public. We won't hide anything when we get the report."

The College of Surgeons made news several years ago in announcing its opposition and a campaign against fee-splitting. It defined fee-splitting as a sharing of a fee between a surgeon and a physician who referred the patient to the surgeon, without specific billing for the services that each had performed.

"We believe we have made a very wealthy dent in that practice," (fee-splitting) Dr. Ravdin said. "We will study this matter of fees as it affects all other practices, and particularly as it affects fellows of the college."

To become fellows of the college, surgeons "take an oath that they will not participate in what are considered immoral practices," the chairman of regents said. Surgeons judged guilty of disobeying these ethics are dropped from membership "and a number of fellows have been dropped for irregular practices."

Dr. Ravdin declared that if complaints of over-charging are found substantiated, "we will see to it that the public interest is protected so far as our own fellows (of the ACS) are concerned."

"It is not our function to police American medicine. It is our function to see that our own fellows do not participate" in practices considered immoral or unethical by the college, he said.

In the fee investigation, the ACS will ask for cooperation or help from other medical groups "if the evidence points in the direction of our needing additional help" Dr. Ravdin said.

Abilene Talk Scheduled By Price Daniel

ABILENE—Senator Price Daniel heads a list of six speakers on the program for the annual Technical Day Sessions of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association here Thursday.

The 22nd annual meeting of the 1,500-member organization is a one-day affair, beginning with a breakfast for visitors at 7 a.m. in the Petroleum Club and closing with the annual membership banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Abilene High School Gymnasium.

Sen. Daniel will speak on "Future for Oil and Gas." His address is scheduled for 11 a.m., climaxing the morning technical sessions.

P. W. Pitzer, Jr., of Breckenridge, president of the association, said the public is invited to hear Sen. Daniel. A special public address system will be arranged for the Windsor Hotel Mezzanine in case the Ballroom will not hold the crowd.

Technical sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. with M. M. Brantly, Midland drilling contractor, as first speaker. His subject will be "Principles of Air Drilling."

He will be followed by Tom McMahon, well-known Abilene attorney, who will discuss "Rights and Liabilities with Respect to Surface Usage by Mineral Lessees."

Directors will hold a luncheon at 12:30 p.m., and simultaneously, a luncheon and style show is scheduled for the ladies at the Abilene Woman's Club.

Afternoon speakers for the technical sessions, and their subjects, are:

Frank Appleman, Fort Worth attorney, "Production Payment and Its Role in Income and Estate Planning."

Clyde Fife, district geologist for Miami Operating Co., Inc., Abilene, "Recent Petroleum Developments in West Central Texas."

Phillip L. McLaughlin, Cardwell Manufacturing Co., Wichita, Kans., "Industry Attitudes Toward Slim Hole Drilling."

Henry King and his orchestra, plus an "all-star" show, will provide entertainment at the banquet. It is informal and there will be no speeches.

Reservations for the ladies luncheon and the banquet should be made in advance with R. J. (Bob) Tiffany of Abilene, association secretary-treasurer.

Daniel Praises Campaign To Promote Beef

FORT WORTH (AP)—Texas cattlemen heard praise last night from Sen. Price Daniel for organizing the Texas Beef Council and its campaign the last year to promote the use of beef.

Daniel spoke at a dinner of the council launching Beef Week in Texas.

The Senator said he did not believe that any of the current government farm programs will solve the pressing problem of huge surpluses. He said that intensification of marketing activities, such as those of the Beef Council, would help the problem more than any support program.

Daniel said any announcement about his candidacy for governor will be made after Jan. 1.

Daniel visited the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital during the day, a visit he promised to make when he conducted an inquiry into the narcotics traffic at Fort Worth and Dallas recently.

Daniel said Veterans Administration patients should be removed from the hospital and all possible beds devoted to treating drug addicts.

Daniel told the Beef Week audience farmers need a parity of income because, he said, a prosperous agriculture is necessary for the good of the nation. A situation such as now exists when farm income is dropping is not healthy for the rest of the economy, he added.

The importance of livestock men supporting the efforts of the Texas council was stressed by Jay Taylor of Amarillo, president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn. and the National Beef Council.

The dinner was attended by 300 livestock leaders from over the state.

Beef Week runs through Saturday, featuring a promotional effort to raise beef sales.

Martin County Men Acquitted

COLORADO CITY (AP)—Three former Martin County officials were acquitted yesterday on instructions of Judge A. S. Mauzy, who ruled they were indicted improperly as principals rather than accomplices to theft.

They are Joe Froman and Oliver Vaughn, former county commissioners, and former County Judge James McMorries, who is serving five years on three other similar charges.

The three were charged with stealing $500 in county funds April venue.

McMorries testified to this story: He loaned the two men $500 while they were fishing at Corpus Christi in 1951. They brought the matter up at a meeting in 1952 and the three decided to reimburse Froman and Vaughn from county funds. Four precincts were charged $125 on April 3, 1952, and $100 April 15, 1953. Vaughn is charged with stealing $167.80 July 6, 1953.

Dist. Atty. Eldon Mahon said no decision has been reached on disposing of those charges. The three can't be re-indicted on the $500 because the statute of limitations has expired, he said.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Gen. Dean In Tears As He Leaves Army

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, hero of Taejon, blinked back tears in the ceremony ending his 32 year Army career.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, pinned on Dean's blouse at the Presidio Parade Ground yesterday the combat infantryman's badge.

Dean won the Medal of Honor also in the Taejon fighting. After the city's fall he was captured and endured three years in Communist prisons.

Dean will make his retirement home in Berkeley, Calif.

The students are recommended by both civilian and military professors. (Air Force photograph)

Norther Whips Across Texas During Night

By The Associated Press

A biting norther whipped temperatures to freezing in the Panhandle Tuesday and raced southeastward across Texas toward the Louisiana border. The norther was due in Central Texas by dusk.

Blowing off of Colorado snowfields, the norther knocked temperatures to 30 degrees at Dalhart and 36 at Amarillo shortly before dawn. It had already reached Lubbock and Wichita Falls and moved fast toward the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Temperatures down to 35 degrees were expected in North Central Texas Tuesday night, forecasts indicated, and as low as 25 across the Panhandle and South Plains. Forty degrees was the minimum thought possible in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The Weather Bureau said it doubted that much rain would precede the "little front," but forecasts called for widely scattered thundershowers in East Texas and South Central Texas late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

As the sun came up skies over cool West Texas were fair. Partly cloudy skies extended from the middle and upper Gulf Coast northward into Central Texas.

Temperatures drops up to 20 degrees were expected as the norther moved toward the Louisiana line, but the Weather Bureau emphasized that there would be little, if any, severe weather.

Minimum temperatures during the night showed Lubbock with 41 degrees; Odessa 50; Van Horn 57; El Paso 60; Del Rio 61; Abilene 62; Lufkin 65; Beaumont 69; Dallas 70; San Antonio and Houston 71; Brownsvile and Galveston 74; and Corpus Christi 75.

Generally cool weather prevailed in most parts of the country today.

The fresh mass of cool air which moved into the Northern Rockies yesterday spread eastward and southward over the Northern and Central Plains, Central Rockies and the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures fell 10 to 20 degrees in the cool belt, with readings this morning in the 20s and 30s. Ahead of the leading edges of chilly temperatures ranged from the 40s over the Great Lakes region to the 70s southward to Texas.

Readings were in the 30s and 40s in areas east of the coolest weather with 50s in southern Florida. They were in the 40s and 50s west of the Continental Divide and in the 30s in the Great Basin region.

Snow flurries were reported eastward through the Northern Rockies, Northern Plains and Upper Mississippi Valley. Light showers fell in Washington and Oregon while rain diminished in most of the Northeast, with light falls continuing in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Daughter Of Chief Justice To Marry

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A marriage license was obtained yesterday by Nina (Honey Bear) Warren, 22, daughter of Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, and Dr. Stuart O'Brien, 33, Beverly Hills, Calif., physician.

Miss Warren said of wedding plans: "We haven't even thought about it yet." It will be the first marriage for each.

Nina was stricken with polio Nov. 7, 1950, the day her father was reelected for his third term as governor of California. For a time her legs were paralyzed but she recovered fully.

Police Open Fire On Mobs In Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Pitched battles between police and demonstrators raged in the city of Patras today. Police opened fire on the stone-throwing rioters who stormed and badly damaged the British Institute Building.

Press reports said at least 50 police and civilians received treatment for injuries in hospitals or first aid stations.

Mobs demanding an end to British rule in Cyprus ran riot through the city as Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Union-with-Greece movement, had a two-hour meeting in Athens with the Greek Premier Constantine Karamalis.

Demonstrations were also reported from other Greek towns.

Russian Power Move Is Made By Molotov

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was reported today to have made a new move to inject Russian power and influence in the troubled Middle East.

Israeli informants said Molotov's strategy was indicated when he answered Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett's protests against the flow of Red arms to Egypt.

At Molotov's insistence, Sharett and his aides refused to disclose the precise nature of his reply. But this much did come out of the meeting last night between Molotov and Sharett:

The Soviet foreign minister did not turn a completely deaf ear to Sharett's complaint that the sale of submarines, tanks, guns and MIG fighters by the Soviet bloc imperiled Israel's existence.

Talks on the military and other aspects of the Middle Eastern situation will be continued between the two countries, probably in Moscow through diplomatic channels.

Molotov sidestepped Sharett's direct appeal to stop the sale of arms to Egypt, Israel's bitter and avowed enemy. He explained it was Czechoslovakia, not Russia, which was selling the arms, and anyway the deal was a "normal" commercial transaction.

But he expressed some appreciation of Israel's opposition to the Baghdad pact. This is the alliance of Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan, the so-called "northern tier" of countries in the Middle East, to which Britain is linked and which the United States may join in 1956 or 1957.

Russia previously has bitterly protested against the creation of this alliance.

Janitor Gets Cover Charge On His Party

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A municipal court judge has presented bank janitor Edmundo Costa with the "cover charge" for the party Costa threw for two friends at the bank last weekend, after hours. The tab came to $10 per person.

Costa and companions Manuel Holguin and Refugio Seveseves held their party Sunday at a Bank of America branch where Costa works. A pedestrian spotted the trio drinking and called police.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IT SEEMS TO US THAT Abilene's three colleges "goofed" in setting up their Homecomings.

All three of the post-high school institutions in Abilene, Hardin-Simmons, McMurry and Abilene Christian, are holding their Homecoming this weekend.

And, as is the case each year, a football game highlights the Homecoming festivities.

So, after this weekend, Abilene will have footballs running out its ears. There's to be a college football game in the Key City Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night.

Hardin - Simmons, apparently, got the raw end of the deal. The Cowboy school would up having to play its Homecoming game Friday night. The Cowboys will meet Texas Western before the "exes."

Many ex-students, especialy the former footballers who are in the coaching business, can't make a Friday night game whereas they could make a Saturday afternoon or Saturday night game. Ex-students who are high school coaches are tied down Friday night's with their own teams.

ACC's Homecoming game falls on Saturday afternoon and Mc Murry's Saturday night.

Maybe the three schools drew straws for their game dates.

But we're wondering if it all couldn't have been avoided in the first place, that of three Homecomings the same week.

H-SU Didn't Have Alternative

In glancing over the schedules of the three teams, Hardin-Simmons didn't have an alternative. The Cowboys only scheduled two home games for the season and this week's game is the last nome tilt on the H-SU slate.

The other Cowboy home game was Oct. 1, against New Mexico A&M, far too early in the season to perform before the ex-students.

But McMurry and ACC could have easily chosen other dates. Both have home games Nov. 19 which one could have selected. McMurry hosts Missouri Valley on that date while ACC is host to Youngstown, O.

ACC could have chosen the McMurry game (Oct. 15) for its Homecoming game.

Then McMurry could have selected last week's game with Eastern New Mexico for its Homecoming. The latter, however, isn't a very formidable foe to play before the Homecoming fans.

It looks like the Abilene colleges could have arranged their Homecomings in this manner:

ACC—(ACC vs. McMurry), Oct. 15.

H-SU—(H-SU vs. Texas Western), Nov. 5.

McMurry—(McMurry vs. Missouri Valley), Nov. 19.

This way, all three schools would have had good games on tap for their exes and for the benefit of John Q. Fan in Abilene, they would be on separate weekends.

The gate receipts at the three college tilts this week will suffer as result of the three-game card. Not too many fans can afford the price of a ducat for three games in a single weekend.

Plainview Scribe Praises Tigers

Bob Carroll, Plainview sports scribe, holds high regard for the Snyder Tigers.

Carroll, in a column following the Tiger game at Plainview, wrote:

"After Friday's game (Oct. 21) with the Tigers, this writer rates the Snyder club as the best team the Bulldogs have played this year, even a better club than the Lubbock High team which stopped us, 67-13, in the opener.

"Snyder has the hardest running bevvy of backs we have seen in a long time and we would not hesitate to name either Jack Spikes or Joe Baxter to our all-state AAA team right now.

"But perhaps the Tigers' greatest claim to fame is their defense, which is outstanding. The Bulldogs actually moved the ball as well against the Snyder defense as any team this year. The defense power could carry them all the way."

In quoting Carroll, we sincerely hope we don't put a "hex" on the Tiger eleven.

The actual paid attendance of Friday night's game with Sweetwater here was 5,248, an alltime high for Snyder, according to Art Nicholas, school business manager.

Nicholas estimated the full attendance was around 5,700 as the above figure doesn't include either band and many others who get in on passes.

Notre Dame Shuns Razzle-Dazzle Play

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame, shunning razzle-dazzle football, is relying on old fashioned power and ball control in pounding away to another successful season.

Hopes of an undefeated season vanished with a 21-7 loss to Michigan State but Notre Dame appears well on its way towards duplicating last year's 9-1 record.

Navy was a big hurdle Saturday for the Irish who now face weaker opposition in Penn and North Carolina before finishing up against Iowa and Southern California.

After the 21-7 triumph over Navy Irish Coach Terry Brennan said: "The main difference was in those seven guys up front. They opened the holes and we controlled the ball."

Rush On For Train Tickets

Tickets for the special train to Amarillo were still going at a rapid pace today, according to officials of the Snyder Quarterback Club, sponsors of the special.

The special will carry Snyder football fans to Amarillo Friday for the Tiger-Palo-Duro game.

At least 500 fans are expected to ride the special but there is no limit on how many can ride the train.

Tickets will remain on sale for the special all week and up until the train leaves. But QB officials urge all fans who can to purchase your tickets at once so as to give train officials sufficent notice on how many cars will be needed.

The tickets are selling for $5.67 adults and $2.86 for children between ages of 5-11. The train will leave at 2 p.m. Friday and return immediately following the game.

The tickets are available at the County Clerk's office, Chamber of Commerce Office, West Texas State Bank or from Bill Morgan, chairman of the speical train committee.

The train tickets will also be available at the Quarterback Club meeting tonight.

Tickets to the game Friday are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Local Tourney Team, McM, Opens Drills

ABILENE, Nov. 1 (Spl) — McMurry College's basketball Indians opened practice today under the helm of a new coach, Tommy Ellis.

Ellis, a native of Cleveland, Tenn., takes over the McMurry resigned to enter the insurance business. The new coach is a former three-sport letterman at McMurry. He is returning to his Alma Mater after a five-year stint of public school coaching in which he won 86 games and lost 36 for a .704 percentage.

Ellis expects to have five lettermen, six squadmen, six transfers and three freshmen out for opening drills at McMurry Nov. 1.

The Indians, defending champions of the Texas Conference, will play four games apiece with their TC rivals, Howard Payne and Eastern New Mexico. Last year McMurry compiled a record of seven wins and one loss in conference play, and then dropped a 104-96 decision to Wayland in the first-round of the NAIA playoffs at Plainview. The Tribe had an over-all season record of 8 wins and 17 losses.

The Indians will open the season against Corpus Christi Dec. 2 in Abilene. They will participate in the annual Snyder tournament with Midwestern, Wayland, and Trinity on Dec. 9 and 10.

Uncle Sam Seeks Podres' Services

WITHERBEE, N.Y. (AP)—Johnny Podres, the Brooklyn Dodgers' lefthander who pitched them to two World Series victories, has been ordered by his draft board to report for a physical examination.

Miss Mary Podres, his sister, said last night that Johnny had been ordered to take the examination in Albany Nov. 14.

Podres pitched Brooklyn to an 8-3 victory in the World Series on his 23rd birthday and went on to shut out the New York Yankees 2-0 in the final game last month.

Johnny was rejected by his selective service board because of a back injury when he was called up in 1952. He was playing with Montreal in the International League then.

The real name of Tony De Marco, welter weight champion until stopped by Carmen Basilio in his first defense, is Leonard Liotta.

Nasrullah, sire of likely 3-year-old champion Nashua, has 10 offspring eligible for the Garden State to be run on Oct. 29.

Baxter, Spikes Above 600 Mark

Berry, Ham Top Passer, Receiver

Joe Baxter and Jack Spikes, the Tigers' 1-2 punch in the ball carrying department, have passed the 600 mark in net yards gained through the first six Tiger starts.

Baxter, the Tiger leader, went into last week's game already above the 600 mark (608) and added 58 more in the Sweetwater tilt to give him 666 for the season.

Spikes, by rolling up 159 yards on the ground in the Sweetwater game, hiked his season total to 605 yards. The two together have combined for 1,271 yards rushing in 157 carries for an 8.1 yard per carry.

Baxter has toted the mail 71 times for his yardage for a 9.3 average while Spikes has carried 86 times for 7.1.

The entire Tiger team has gained 1,617 yards in 250 carries for a 6.4 avgrage per carry.

Powell Berry, with one completion in to attempts against Sweetwater, held his passing leadership among the Tigers with 145 yards gained on nine completions in 13 attempts and three touchdowns. Berry has had two passes intercepted.

Close behind Berry in the passing department is Jerry Taylor with seven completions in 16 attempts for 115 yards.

Milton Ham caught one pass for 12 yards in the Sweetwater game to increase his lead in pass receiving. Ham has now caught eight aerials for 105 yards and one touch down. Two others have caught touchdown passes, Tommy Pritchard and Don McNew.

Alan Snead punted one time for 35 yards in the Sweetwater game to put his punting average at 37.3 in 11 kicks, tops among the Tigers.

Baxter and Spikes are also running 1-2 in the scoring. Both tallied two touchdowns apiece last Friday, giving Baxter 68 points for the season and 30 for Spikes.

The Tigers began preparations yesterday for next Friday's engagement at Amarillo where the Bengals will meet the Palo Duro Dons in another District 1-AAA contest.

Coach John Conley and his assistants worked the Tigers out until about dark yesterday.

Barring injuries this week, the Tigers are expected to go into the Palo Duro game in near top strength. Only reserve back Bud Morgan is definitely out of Friday's game. Morgan is out with a broken hand.

Starting halfback Alan Snead is still favoring an injured shoulder but Conley doesn't plan to use Snead in any contact work this week in hopes that it will speed Snead's recovery.

DEFENSIVE STALWARTS—Three reasons why the Snyder Tiger defense has been so tough this season is shown above. The trio pictured played a big hand in stopping Sweetwater's high-geared offensive machine Friday night, they combined their efforts for 19 unassisted tackles. They, are left to right, Joe Reaves, Don McNew and Milton Ham. Reeves made nine unassisted tackles. McNew six and Ham four.

QB Club Meets Tonite At 7:30

Weekly meeting of the Snyder Quarterback Club will be held tonight in the high school cafeteria starting at 7:30.

Film of the Sweetwater-Tiger game will be shown.

Also Coach John Conley and his staff will report on last week's games.

A scouting report will be the Tigers' foe this Friday given on the Palo Duro Dons, night.

Quarterback Club president J. B. Davidson said special train tickets to Amarillo will be available at the meeting tonight.

Refreshments will be served following tonight's meeting.

All sports enthusiasts are invited to attend the weekly meetings of the club.

Rex Baxter Reaches Mexico Q-Finals

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Defending Champion Rex Baxter of Amarillo won two tough matches yesterday to gain the quarter finals in the Mexican Golf Tournament against Doug Sanders of Cedeartown, Ga., who got in the hard way.

Baxter beat Homer Blancas, 17, of Houston 5 and 4 and then subdued Jose Vazquez of Mexico, 2 up.

Sanders played six extra holes before beating Jim Hisky, University of Houston player from Twin Falls, Idaho, on the 24th hole. Sanders earlier eliminated Guillermo Sepluveda of Mexico City 3 and 2.

In the women's quarter-finals, Lee Coffman of Houston defeated P. Madero, Mexico, 2 and 1, after her upset yesterday of defending champion Kathleen Gammage.

Cotton Bowl Holds Drawing Today

DALLAS (AP)—Sports writers conducted the annual drawing today to determine the order in which Cotton Bowl ticket applications will be filled.

About 40,000 tickets have been asked by mail. Only 25,000 are available to the public.

Applications this year were 7,000 fewer than last year, apparently because of the unsettled situation in the Southwest Conference football race.

Negro 11 Has Potent Record

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Four undefeated football seasons in the last seven and well on the way to another is Maryland State today.

That's Maryland State—not the University of Maryland which you might think at first glance. Maryland State is the poor, Negro relation of the university which also wins a lot of football games but gets more national recognition.

This year they're going side by side down the football victory trail with seven apiece and no defeats. Maryland State has scored 176 points to 19 for the opposition.

Behind the team which was unbeaten in 1949, 1950, 1953 and 1954 regular season schedules is Coach Vernon McCain. In his seven years he has the imposing record of 61 victories, one tie and five defeats. And he's only 36 years old.

A modest man, he prefers to talk about a 67-19 game. That was one he lost to Florida A&M in a postseason game in the Orange Bowl last December.

Julius Boros, 1952 U. S. Open golf champion, ran his 1955 earnings to $61,971 when he won the world crown at Tam O'Shanter.

Jim Doran, star defensive end for the Detroit Lions, is concentrating on offense at end this season.

Aggies, Mustangs Closely Matched

By LEDGERWOOD SLOAN
The Associated ress

The SMU Mustangs, sore over their 19-18 loss to Texas, took it easy Monday while the Texas Aggies, unhappy over the 7-7 tie with Arkansas, turned on the steam for Saturday's game at College Station between the two.

The top game of the Southwest Conference will be played at night to avoid conflict with afternoon games of Baylor at Austin and Arkansas at Houston, the latter telecast regionally.

The Aggies, who usually rest on Mondays, went through a snappy practice under the lights.

Paul Bryant refused to name an Aggie star, as he usually does on Monday, after the Arkansas tie, adding: "I had boys sitting on the bench that I should have played more."

Bryant said films showed the Aggies played 30 per cent below their top efficiency in the first conference game they failed to win this season.

The team is in good shape, Bryant said.

SMU had a routine drill while those who played against Texas were excused from rugged work until Tuesday.

Woody Woodard said all his players would be ready for the Aggies. Herman Morgan, freshman coach who scouted the last two Aggie games, was impressed by how hard the Cadets hit.

The teams are closely matched. The Mustangs have made 309.8 yards per game, and A&M 302.3. A&M has allowed 214 yards per game and SMU 211.

Injured Texas players appeared recovered as the Longhorns worked for Baylor with running drills.

Quarterback Charles Brewer, who left the game with leg cramps, and halfback Mickey Brewer, who got a solar plexus blow, went through light workouts in sweat clothes. They'll be ready.

End Allen Ernst, junior letterman from Temple, quit for the season because of the knee injury. He undergoes surgery this week.

The Baylor Bears concentrated on getting five injured players back in shape for the Texas game. They saw films of the game they lost to TCU.

Terps Hold No. 1 Spot; Sooners 2nd

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

Maryland, Oklahoma and Michigan, continuing a race that's knotted up like a coach's nerves on the eve of a big game, still are 1-23 in the national college football ratings.

The seventh weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters drew the season's heaviest vote, but it left the situation unchanged with Maryland on top by a scant handful of points.

The tabulation of 220 ballots brought Maryland 74 first place votes and a total of 1,884 points—counted on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc. Just behind came Oklahoma with 54 firsts and 1,852 points, then Michigan with 63 for 1,774.

A week ago, with fewer votes cast, Maryland topped Oklahoma by just 30 points.

Navy, soundly beaten by Notre Dame, lost their fourth place rating to Michigan State but salvaged ninth place. And the Irish hopped from ninth to sixth and almost drew even with UCLA.

All-winning West Virginia, a 39-0 winner over Marquette last Saturday, held onto seventh. Resurgent Georgia Tech and Texas Christian took over the eighth and tenth places as Auburn and Southern California dropped out.

The top 10 teams with won-lost records:

1.	Maryland (4)	1884
2.	Oklahoma (54)	1852

Santee Fights Suspension

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Marine Lt. Wes Santee, America's star miler, was poised today to fight a permanent suspension as an amateur athlete which would bar him from the 1956 Olympics.

Santee, a former University of Kansas runner, said last night he planned an immediate appeal of the suspension voted Sunday by the Missouri Valley AAU Registration Committee. It said he had accepted excessive expense allowances for competing in three California track meets last May.

An official of the registration group said it was found Santee received $1,200 in all from sponsors of the three meets, whereas AAU rules allow amateur runners up to $15 a day in expenses, plus travel costs.

Word of the suspension action reached Santee yesterday at this Marine Corps base where he is stationed. He said he had never done anything to violate amateur athletic standards.

Cisco Andrade, 25-year-old lightweight, won his first 28 fights. Then he lost to Ralph Dupas in New Orleans.

Woodward's Widow Explains Shooting

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ann Woodward says it was a noise rather than anything she saw that prompted her to fire the shotgun blast that killed her wealthy sportsman husband, William Woodward Jr.

Propped up in a hospital bed, the attractive blonde widow last night gave authorities details of events leading to the shooting of her husband early Sunday. She broke down when she came to the actual shooting, Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said, and the questioning was discontinued for the night.

On the day of the shooting, police reported the sobbing and hysterical woman had told them she fired at a figure or shadow, believing it to be a prowler and not recognizing it as her husband.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau County detectives, said the new information that the shot was prompted by a noise was the "major discrepancy" between her original account and her later story.

However, Pinnell had said earlier her original story was virtually "useless" because of her highly disturbed state at the time.

When police arrived at the 15-room Woodward home on a 60-acre Long Island estate, the sobbing and incoherent Mrs. Woodward was clutching in her arms the unclad and bloody body of her husband.

Investigators said she was quickly given a sedative and some hours later was wakened by an injection of a stimulant so police could question her.

Mrs. Woodward, a former model and show girl who married her socialite husband 12 years ago, is still listed as 32 years old by investigators. However school records and relatives in her hometown of Pittsburg, Kans., indicate she is about 39.

Her millionaire husband was 35. Tall, quiet and reserved, he was a member of one of New York's most blue-blooded families and the owner of the famed racehorse Nashua.

Just an hour or so before the shooting the Woodwards had returned from a party given for the Duchess of Windsor at an estate near their own weekend home at Oyster Bay on Long Island's fashionable North Shore.

Pinnell said the investigation would include questioning of other party guests and of Woodward's mother, who might shed light on the relations between her daughter-in-law and son.

Gulotta said the marital background of the Woodwards was one of the aspects of the case that still needed investigation.

There were newspaper reports the marriage had been a stormy one, with separations and threatened divorce. There were also reports that both had employed private detectives to keep an eye on each other, but neither turned out to be involved with other men or women.

UNAWARE OF IMPENDING TRAGEDY — William Woodward Jr., and his wife, Ann, made a smiling couple on the dance floor at a New York supper club party just a few days ago. Woodward was shot accidentally and killed when, according to Nassau County, N.Y., District Attorney Frank Gulotta, Mrs. Woodward mistook her husband for a prowler and fired two shotgun blasts at his moving figure. Gulotta said the Woodwards were investigating a noise outside their Oyster Bay, N.Y., residence at the time.

Woman Hunter Is Rescued

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP) — Rescuers struggling down a steep, tortuous creekbed in a blinding blizzard brought to safety last night a woman hunter ill since Saturday in the mountain vastness of Wyoming's Washakie Needles formation.

Mrs. Mildred Ernst, 55, of Worland, Wyo., was whisked to a hospital here by ambulance after the ground party took her to the Col. Tim McCoy ranch, 35 miles west of here.

Her doctor said Mrs. Ernst's condition was good. He said she had "blacked out" from lack of oxygen due to high blood pressure. At first it was believed she had suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Ernst collapsed at 11,000 feet mark on a steep mountain face after a four and a half hour horseback ride. Her descent by litter took a little more than three days. She spent two nights on the mountain, often under blizzard conditions.

Artifical Quake

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — Seismologists touched off an artificial earthquake with TNT, then gazed wide-eyed at the result. Shock waves were clocked over a 93-mile distance at 17,280 m.p.h.

Unknown Passenger Pays Big Taxi Bill

BOSTON (AP)—There's a $100 bill waiting at police headquarters for the man who overpaid his taxi bill by $99.

Cab driver William Epstein of Revere gave the $100 to police yesterday with an explanation of how he got it.

He said a man handed it to him for a 65 cents fare. Neither noticed the denomination, so Epstein returned 35 cents change and drove off.

Later he discovered it was a $100 bill and not a $1 bill.

Police said they are holding the money for its rightful owner.

Strange Sounds Come From Police Radio

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Police Department's radio-teletype equipment may have sounded a little like an off-beat mombo yesterday.

Chief Radio Technician Warren Lane said the equipment picked up interference he figured came from Central America because radio-teletypes there are on a wave length close to that of the Louisville department.

Lane said the noises sounded of an old man's false teeth."

Game Birds Offer Very Small Returns

By DION HENDERSON
The Associated Press

If hunters were horsemen, how far would they bet on artificially stocked game birds that paid off only cents on the dollar, even when they're lucky?

The payoff is the kind of sporting proposition offered by game birds produced in hatcheries to be released for hunting, in the view of some—but by no means all—wildlife experts in the various states. There are few areas of game management where official opinions vary so widely.

If you translate Louisiana's experience with Bob White quail production into a pari-mutuel parable, you come up with odds like these quoted by state expert Calude Gresham:

"The tote board shows the odds on Mr. Bob White at 1 to 100. For every 100 bucks you lay on the line you can reasonably expect to get four bits back. Would you lay your hard-earned cash on brother Bob on a proposition like that? We think not."

Louisiana figured the odds this way: During the four years from 1949 through 1952, the state raised and released 144,029 quail. All were banded prior to release. But only 855 bands were recovered from hunters, and field biologists reported that only three per cent of the pen-raised birds survived six months after release.

At a cost of two dollars per bird for those released, the 855 reported taken by hunters cost about $400 each. Louisiana, which found its band return figures echoed in old tests of Pennsylvania and Oklahoma, has given up large-scale quail stocking.

Instead, the effort now is to build up wild bird propulations by improving food and cover conditions.

Some states already are well along on major programs to do just that. Michigan biologists have prepared wildlife plans for 2,600 farms and the game division supplies seeds and shrubs to carry out the improvements.

Virginia has a similar project, with the soil conservation districts cooperating. Nearly 5,000 Virginia farmers, holding about one-twelfth of the state farm lands, did habitat improvement work last year.

Ohio is concentrating on working the wildlife crop requirements into general agricultural improvement plans, with projects completed so far on 323 farms.

South Dakota has always been a shining example of the theory that if you provide a place for game to live, the game will take care of its own populations. That state planted a few thoudsand pheasants, land use conditions turned out to be just right, and presto, a few years later there were millions of pheasants.

READY TO BLOW UP AGAIN—Firefighters plan to touch off a nitroglycerin charge in this flaming oil well at Kaplan, La. Myron Kinley, directing the operation, says the blast may extinguish the flames. Shooting flames as high as 50 feet, the well fire has raged for four days.

Tonsils Of Family, Dog To Be Taken Out

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The three children of Earl Williams, plus the family dog, will have their tonsils out today.

Mama Williams stayed at the Richmond Eye Hospital to comfort Earl Jr., 11 David, 8, and Elizabeth, 4.

Papa Williams, a bread salesman, went over to the animal hospital nearby to be with 9-month-old Danny, a collie pup.

Fire, Explosion Sweeps Refinery

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — Fire—started by an explosion and fed by oil—swept a $500,000 path of destruction through the Seneca division of the United Refining Co. yesterday.

The explosion — a blast that rocked the neighborhood and shattered windows—occurred in either a chilling tank or the pump house. The cause has not been determined. No one was hurt.

The Secret's Out, Woman Tells Age

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—It was disclosed at Miss Judie McKellar's birthday party that she isn't really the age she always claimed to be.

More than 250 friends and relatives gathered yesterday at the home in which Miss McKellar has lived for 85 years. It was supposed to be a party for her 100th birthday. But a nephew, Wallace McKellar, decided the time had come to disclose her closely guarded secret.

He told her friends that somewhere along the line she had fudged a little and actually she

Weird Notes Coming From Polish Tower

By TOM REEDY

CRACOW, Poland (AP)—It's noon in Cracow and from the tower of the Cathedral of St. Mary a trumpet blares a weird series of notes.

The trumpeter repeats the performance from each of the four apertures.

For 700 years this has been going on, commemorating the heroic trumpeter who warned the populace that the Tartars were approaching.

That's the atmosphere in which Cracow still lives, despite occupation by the Nazis, war and now domination by a Communist government. The Reds call the "City of a Thousand Churches" a reactionary town. They grumble about "reactionary bars" where oldfashioned Poles sit around and speak French in an odd kind of resistance.

Cracow is Poland's shrine city and the Communists wisely make no effort to change it. Here in the Wawel Castle are buried all the Polish kings except the first two, Mieszko and Boleslaw, who are entombed in Posen. Hans Frank, the Nazi butcher of Poland, lived in the castle to show his power.

But Frank pleaded guilty at Nuernberg and said his crimes would stain Germany for a thousand years. He was converted to Catholicism and the Poles of today will tell you it was Wawel that did it.

Above the alter in the golden chapel of the castle is the silver casket containing the bones of St. Stanislaus, murdered on the altar by a Polish king.

In the catacombs, a place of honor is given the tomb of Thaddeus Kosciusko, aid to Washington in the American Revolution and leader of the Polish fight for independence against the Russians and the Germans in 1794.

Directly in front of the altar is the resting place of Cardinal Sapieha who won lasting fame among the Poles for his conduct during the Nazi occupation. The cardinal invited Frank to dinner and served him the miserable black bread and porridge ration the Nazis were giving the suppressed Polish population. Frank was enraged but helpless. He had to eat it.
