O. H. Hedger an employee of the Texas Highway Department here for a number of years died at the home of a son, O. H. Hedger Jr., in Amarillo Friday morning, September 5, at 12:35 o'clock. He had been in ill health since suffering a stroke two and a half years ago.

Musical Program At Nazarene Ch.

Four outstanding Musical Messengers will be presented in the morning service at the Church of the Nazarene Sunday, September 14, the Rev. Samuel Sparks, pastor, has announced.

The group, from Indianapolis, Indiana, will play at one time or another during the service an accordion, vibra-harp, base violin, trombone, trumpet and guitar. Members of the group played professionally before they entered religious work.

They now are presented from church to church as special workers, Rev. Sparks explained.

Three-Quarter Inch Rain General Through County

Rain, measuring up to three-fourths inch fell generally over the county in showers through the early hours Wednesday morning, and up to noon, September 10.

Except for spotted rains that have fallen over the county since mid-summer, this is the first moisture the county as a whole has received since early summer.

The rain gauge at the city hall in Wellington measured .62 inch until 8 a.m. Wednesday, and showers continued through the morning.

The Quail area measured approximately one-half inch during the early hours Wednesday, and another shower was falling at noon.

This area had received rain earlier and crops were holding up well. This moisture will be of definite benefit, residents of that area said.

Samnorwood measured .75 inch of rain and it was still showering at noon. Crops in this section are too far gone to be benefitted by the rain, with the exception of late feed planted for bundles.

Dodson also received approximately .75 inch of rain, and there is considerable feed in that area that stands to benefit.

One observer called this a "psychological rain." While benefits to crops will not be as great as it would have been a few weeks back, the spirits of both farmers and merchants soared during the half day since the showers began.

Gholson, Brisbin Buy LeDerer Hardware Co.

Sale of the LeDerer Hardware and Furniture to Sam Gholson and Jack Brisbin of Wellington was announced this week. The business, one of the largest complete hardware and furniture stores in this section of the Panhandle, was sold recently by Fred LeDerer, owner for 40 years, to Oscar Killian of Stephenville, who in turn sold it to the present owners.

Mr. Brisbin will be manager of the business, the name of which has been changed to Wellington Hardware and Furniture. Mr. Gholson, who is owner of White's Auto Store here, will remain as manager of that business and will not take active part in the management of the new store.

Remodeling the complete lower floor of the 50-foot building has already begun and will continue through the next few weeks, although the store will remain open for business during the time.

"We plan to give the people of Wellington as modern and up to date store as anything they can find in this line in the Panhandle," the new owners said.

Mr. Gholson has lived in Wellington since 1937. He grew up at Elk City, Oklahoma, and graduated from high school there in 1932. He was married to Miss Virginia Curry of Wellington in 1937, and shortly afterward they came here to make their home.

Mr. Gholson is vice-president of the Wellington Rotary Club, a steward in the Methodist Church, and chairman of advancement of Boy Scouts for the Southern District of the Adobe Walls Council.

He graduated from high school there in 1938, after having been a member of that school's famous state-champion-basketball team. He served in the Armed Forces with overseas service in Europe during World War II, returning home in 1946.

Mr. Brisbin began work at Sullivan Hardware and Furniture in 1941 and returned there after he

Carrier Roosevelt Can Supply Town as Large as Wellington

USS Franklin D. Roosevelt
August 31, 1952

Your reporter set to sea this week, to get a firsthand look at the amazing operation of this monstrous sea-borne mobile airfield.

Every day since his departure from Norfolk to participate as an observer in Operation Main Brace in the North Atlantic, he has been astonished at what he has seen.

He has met high officials of the Navy — Adm. Lynde D. McCormick, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic; Rear Admiral Thomas H. Robbins, Carrier Division Two Commander, commanding the task group from his flag bridge on the Roosevelt; Capt. George W. Anderson Jr., commander of the ship on which your reporter and 14 other weekly newspapermen are guests and other Navy officers of high rank.

But your reporter also has been rubbing elbows daily with the rank and file enlisted men — the boys who carry out the orders, man the battle stations when general quarters is sounded, tote the hundred-odd planes back and forth on the flight deck and hanger deck, fuel, repair and service the aircraft on board and carry on the multitudinous duties required to keep this floating airport functioning.

Flight operations — as spectacular and as exciting a show as you'd pay hard-earned money to see at an airport back home — started the day after the carriers left port.

Screaming jet Banshees with top speeds up to 600 miles per hour have been catapulted off the flight deck daily and nightly, too, for even the inky blackness of the Atlantic doesn't stop these operations. Hardly less spectacular have been the self propelled takeoffs of the conventional type Corsair fighters.

For the landlubber the takeoffs and landing have a continuous fascination which keep your observer going back to the "topside" observation post above the captain's bridge time and again. Every landing has the suspense of an aerial tightwire artist, but the boys flying these lightning-speed aircraft take the task in daily stride.

The newspapermen have toured the various departments of this carrier, which in effect is an airfield, a fighting machine, and a giant hotel rolled into one. They have hiked the length of its 968 foot hull dozens of times in several days and have climbed and descended many miles of its endless ladders.

They have seen its hot engine rooms, boiler rooms and electrical control rooms. They have gone aft to the rudder mechanism in the stern and have slept right behind the secondary conning tower which is as far forward as one can get without getting wet feet.

They have seen refueling operations in which the carrier FDR has been the mother to the smaller destroyers, "cans", as affectionately known to the Navy boys. And they also have observed fueling operations in which the giant FDR has been the suckling babe and a tanker was the mother.

Editors have also witnessed a breeches buoy operation in which a sailor who is ill was transferred from a destroyer to the carrier along a rope. They have visited sick bay where there are facilities for treating minor ailments as well as performing major operations and taking X-rays. They have seen the dental department with its four dental chairs and equipment which would be the envy of 95 per cent of the hometown dentists.

The FDR is in reality a floating

Test of Strength

Rockets Open Season Friday Against Strong Hollis Team

The Wellington Skyrockets will open their season against the Hollis Tigers on Powell Field Friday night, September 10, at 8:00 p.m.

Coaches Maxey McKnight and Don Briggs, as well as Coaches Don Royal and Glen Cleveland of the Tigers deny they know the strength of their own teams, that each one is using the Friday night game as a gauge of this year's strength.

When the Rockets go on the field, however, there is the possibility that they will find among their opponents at least one man who is a veteran of Korean fighting, youthful Darvin Clark, who was called to active duty with the National Guard before finishing his high school work. Now released from service, he has returned to Hollis High School. Clark, however, received a leg injury a few days ago and it is not certain he will play.

"We're not hardly ready for a football game. We just haven't practiced enough," Coach McKnight admitted Wednesday. "We consider Hollis one of the best clubs we'll face this year and we'll give them all the competition we can."

"We're counting on a strong running attack, and some strong defensive play, but since we haven't scrimmaged any team in preseason play, we just don't know where our weak points are. After Friday, we can tell you something definite."

Probable Tiger starters, including weight, number, and position are: Max Claiborne, 11, 165, back; Clyde Whitman, 15, 155, guard; Dicky Dudley, 18, 133, end; Leon Hearon, 19, 160, guard; Bob Crump, 21, 155, end; Russell Scott, 25, 175, back; Billy Bilbrey, 31, 165, tackle; Billy Joe Keesee, 34, 160, back; Matt Childs, 40, 190, tackle; Billy Don Williams, 41, 175, back; and Joel Thomas, 43, 175, center.

Elusive Youth Sought Again

Sheriff Hubert Mauldin and Deputy Bob Barnett are again hunting the elusive 16-year-old, who two weeks ago knocked a hole in the north wall of the county jail and lowered himself to the ground to escape.

This time he slipped out of the jail yard, where he and another prisoner were cutting grass, Sheriff Mauldin said. Deputy Barnett, who was supervising the work, was called inside the jail momentarily to check a bond in another case, and before he could finish this, he received a phone call from Lone Star Builders Supply, Inc., asking if the boy were supposed to be running down the alley.

He was seen once more, by Paul Little in a field just north of the old Wellington Cemetery.

Officers were less than five minutes behind the youth, but "that was too much," the sheriff commented.

Yokosuka, Japan
August 28, 1952

Dear Mr. Wells,

It was a much-await pleasure to receive the July issues of the Leader, my first copies since leaving the States and arriving in the Far East. Mother and Dad have been forwarding copies to me regularly; however, because of continued operations over the past weeks, we were without mail for quite some time. Certainly the Leader is a great factor in keeping up with news and events in and around the hometown.

An LST, though not as streamlined in appearance as other Navy ships, most assuredly has its own distinct advantages. I feel fortunate in being assigned to one and in doing work in the navigation and communications departments. Morale is high, living conditions and food are good, and the ship is in fine condition. We are designated as a flagship, serving as headquarters for the Squadron Commander and his staff of officers and men. Ships of this type can easily transport considerable quantities of mobile weapons, heavy trucks, trailers, construction equipment and supplies in addition to a number of troops and officers for use in Marine or Army amphibious landings or routine operations. So it is that we find ourselves going into a number of ports throughout Japan and over into areas in and around Korea.

It is very difficult to believe, in present-day Japan, that these were the people with whom we were fighting a few years ago. Certainly the American occupation and democratization program made deep inroads into prewar Japanese thought, and has aided greatly in restoring the country's foundation. The monetary system is based upon the Japanese Yen note — at the exchange rate of 360 Yen for one American dollar. Most items are cheap in cost, reliable in quality, and 360 Yen go much further here than our dollars do in the U. S. Office workers, teachers, and skilled workers subsist on salaries of from 40 to 60 dollars monthly, while the thousands of unskilled workers struggle on 20 to 30 dollars fonthly. You can see there is a decided difference in monetary values between the two countries.

The cities with their well-filled shops of merchandise and food are apparently well off. However, for the majority of the people, those not living in cities, the primary pre-war problem still exists in the postwar era. Too many people occupy too little space. There are 84 million Japanese living in a land area about the size of Montana, only one fifth of which can be cultivated and the rest of which is lacking in raw materials. Try as they may, they don't have the means to improve their standards of living in the majority of cases. Perhaps equally as pressing as the economic situation in the Communist influence which could be of major import in time. So it is that we still cannot forget Japan, even though the occupation is over.

What was intended to be a short note has become almost a volume. Apologies for the verbosity, though I hope the added thoughts are of some interest to you. With kindest regards to you, Mrs. Wells, and The Leader staff, I am,

Sincerely,
Edmond Schaded

YOUNG ANCIENT MARINERS—Tried and tested sailors, Inge Wandschneider, 11, and her brother, Bernd, 9, right, scrub the cabin of the 57-foot ketch, "Optimist," in which they crossed the Atlantic in 43 days with their parents and a crew of two. On arriving in New York from Hamburg, Germany, "old salt" Bernd announced that some day he'll be a sea captain like the one who sailed their ship on the 4,400 mile trip. Their father, a carburetor engineer, who built the boat in three years, plans to settle in the U. S.

WITH THE X CORPS IN KOREA — Pvt. Lloyd B. Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan N. Bowen, Shamrock, Texas, now is serving with the X Corps in Korea.

The X Corps, fighting in mountainous terrain, controls in combat a number of units of division strength or less which are assigned to it. It has its own command post troops, who augment the fighting forces.

Private Bowen entered the Army in August 1951. He is assigned as a radio operator in the 19th Engineer Combat Group.

Pfc. Dwayne Scott, who has been stationed at Hanna, Germany, 14 miles from Frankfort, for the last 15 months, left Monday to sail for the United States, and he is due to receive his discharge from the Army at Fort Sill around October 6, his father, Raymond B. Scott said this week.

Pfc. Scott was in the construction engineers battalion, assigned to bridge building and repairs.

A short time ago Scott, with a friend, spent a week touring France and Holland. He wrote that they found Paris too used to American servicemen, but they found the people in Holland unusually friendly.

What's the MOST SURPRISING THING about this BUICK?

2-door, 6-passenger Special Sedan.

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one—it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Stock-car racing is the supreme test of a car's true worth in stamina, safety, performance. This year Hudsons have won 35 victories in 39 starts!

This all-time record on the world's toughest proving grounds (no other car in the world can approach it) is your proof that Hudson will outperform every other car . . . that you can't choose a better family car!

The record shows which car is best!

HUDSON HORNETS SET ALL-TIME STOCK-CAR RECORD!

In 39 stock-car races held so far this year, Hudson came in first 35 times, and both first and second 19 times in these cities:

West Palm Beach, Fla.	San Diego, Calif.
Daytona Beach, Fla.	Occoneechee, N. C.
Jacksonville, Fla.	Charlotte, N. C.
Gardena, Calif.	Detroit, Mich.
N. Wilkesboro, N. C.	Niagara Falls, Ont.
Tampa, Fla.	Owego, N. Y.
Martinsville, Va.	Williams Grove, Pa.
Columbia, S. C.	Monroe, Mich.
Macon, Ga.	Milwaukee, Wisc.
Langhorne, Pa.	South Bend, Ind.
Darlington, S. C.	Richmond, Va.
Toledo, Ohio	Rochester, N. Y.
Dayton, Ohio	Asheville, N. C.
Canfield, Ohio	Terre Haute, Ind.

No other car in the world can match this record!

All makes of cars compete in stock-car races. And in these grueling tests of stamina, safety and performance, only results count. That's why, when you look at the stock-car record, you know which car is best.

To date this year, Hudsons have won 35 out of 39 stock-car races—an all-time record!

How does this help you choose your family car? Well, consider this:

- It proves that Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design (with America's lowest center of gravity) gives you road-hugging stability and sureness of handling no other car can match!
- It proves that Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame* is the safest, most durable automobile construction known!
- It proves that Hudson's high-compression engines deliver tremendous power, that Hudsons have the stamina to take punishment equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving in tests where other cars fail.

All these important qualities are yours in a Hudson . . . for your pleasure, for your pride, for your protection. There's sleek, streamlined beauty, too, and you don't have to look at the record to see that.

Stop in and try a Hudson, or give us a phone call and we'll pick you up at your door. You've got a real thrill in store.

Miss Doyle New County Employee

Miss Sarah Doyle recently was hired as stenographer for County Judge R. L. Templeton and the Department of Public Welfare Office here. She will spend the mornings in the latter office and the afternoons working for Judge Templeton.

At present the county is without a supervisor for the welfare work, Monroe Ritchie having recently been transferred to a similar job in Fort Worth.

John Hessy of Pampa, district supervisor, has told local officials that another worker for Collingsworth County is being sought.

Mrs. J. H. McNabb underwent minor surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital September 8.

Cars Collide Near Wilson Ranch

Cars driven by Murry Dodson of Dodson and Mrs. Louis Boyett of Mangum, Okla., collided near the Wilson Ranch in the west part of the county, on highway 203, Saturday afternoon, about 1:30 p.m., Sheriff Hubert Mauldin reported.

The sheriff said that Mr. Dodson told officers he fell asleep while driving along.

Neither driver was injured, but Mrs. Boyett's uncle, riding, with her, received several cuts about the head and was taken to Hedley for medical attention. Mr. Dodson, returning from Amarillo, was alone.

Sheriff Mauldin estimated that damage to both Mr. Dodson's Buick and Mrs. Boyett's Studebaker would amount to at least $450 or $500 each.

R. H. Hill of Shamrock entered St. Joseph's Hospital September 5 for medical treatment.

Instructions for Students Under Korean GI Bill

Veterans with service since the start of the Korean campaign who are planning to go to school under the Korean GI Bill were advised today by the Veterans Administration to take along enough money of their own to tide them over for about two months.

The reason, VA explained, is that under the law, GI education and training allowances can't be paid until sometime after a veteran actually completes each month of training. Therefore, one month of the delay will be caused by the veteran completing his initial month of training.

The law also requires that both the veteran and his school or training establishment submit a certification to VA — after the end of the month — to the effect that the veteran actually was enrolled in training during that period.

This, too, takes time, so VA urged schools and establishments to get the certifications in as quickly as possible after the end of the month to keep the time at a minimum.

Finally, after VA receives the certifications, it must compute how much GI allowance each veteran is entitled to, and must mail out the payments. This process, VA said, normally will be kept down to 20 days from the date VA receives the certification.

Because of all these factors, post-Korea veterans would be wise to allow for two months before they can expect a check from the Government, VA said. Afterwards, of course, checks will come regularly each month, so long as they remain in training and their certifications are in order.

A veteran who starts GI training after the 20th of a month will have to wait several days longer for his initial payment, VA pointed out. The reason is that VA can't process his certification until after he has completed his first full month of training. Payments for both periods — the complete month and the few days of the preceding month — will be included in his first check.

The allowances for veterans training full-time in schools and colleges under the new Korean GI Bill are $110 for those without dependents; $135 for those with one dependent, and $160 for those with more than one dependent. Allowances for part-time training, on-the-job training and institutional on-farm training are somewhat lower.

The GI allowances are paid directly to veterans, and are the only payments made under the new Korean GI Bill. They are for the purpose of assisting veterans in meeting the costs of their training.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

HOME BUYER'S ATTORNEY PERFORMS VARIED FUNCTIONS

When the real estate sales contract provides that the seller is to furnish to the buyer an Abstract of Title, then it is up to the latter to employ an attorney who will examine the abstract. After the examination, the lawyer will give the buyer a written opinion as to whether or not the seller has a good marketable title. If the title is defective, then his opinion will state what action is necessary to bring it up to par.

In addition, the attorney usually advises on important matters not revealed by an abstract. He will ascertain whether any delinquent taxes exist against the property. He will check on the possibility of some third party being in possession, claiming the property as his own. He will determine whether a survey has been made so that the buyer may know that required footage is there and that the neighbor's fence, driveway, etc. is not encroaching upon the property being purchased. He will explain the practical effect of each legal paper which you sign or accept in closing the deal.

If the contract of sale provides that the seller is to furnish the buyer a Title Insurance Policy, then the latter should employ an attorney to examine the policy offered and advise him on other details in closing the transaction. The fact that an attorney designated by the Title Insurance Company examines the title is not sufficient to protect the purchaser in every respect.

A title insurance policy is similar in principle to a fire insurance policy. Just as you insure against damage caused by fire, so you can insure yourself against damage caused by failure of title. As is also common with fire insurance policies, you must be named as the insured in the policy, in order to collect the proceeds. You cannot recover more than the amount stated on the policy even though the damage caused by the fire or the title failure is greater than that amount. The property insured must be accurately described in the policy. There are exceptions to the coverage which may cause harm to a particular buyer who is not aware of their meaning, or even of their existence.

Insurance companies, in order to stay in business, cannot afford to accept too great a risk in proportion to the premium changed. A fire insurance underwriter decides whether your house is a safe fire risk for his company in view of the coverage provided by the fire insurance policy. An attorney hired by the title insurance company decides whether your property is a safe title risk for his company in view of the coverage provided by the Title Insurance Policy. Making such decision is the sole obligation of that attorney in the transaction. He is not in a position that enables him to advise you as to the quality of the title you are acquiring — his only duty is to his client, the title insurance company.

It might also be said that an attorney who passes on the title for the mortgage lender is in the same position. His main obligation in the transaction is to advise his client on whether your title is adequate security for the loan, which is for quite a different purpose than if his client was buying the place, as you are doing, for use as a home.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gordon this week are their nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Roady and two sons, Larry nd Billy of Visalia, Calif.

The time was spent in visiting and in honoring Mr. Langford, who celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday, September 8. He shared this honor with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Maggie Rountree, who had a birthday September 6.

Mr. Langford came to Collingsworth County in 1907. He is still active and spends part of his time here and part of the time with his other children, who have moved away from this county.

Wed in Impressive Ceremony

Miss Patsy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith, became the bride of Dillon Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Bowden, 3101 Meadowbrook Drive, Fort Worth, Sunday, August 31 in the First Baptist Church here.

Miss Patsy Smith Weds Dillon Bowen August 31

A white archway entwined with trailing ivy served as a frame for the picturesque nuptial ceremony uniting Patsy Smith and Dillon Bowden, Sunday, August 31, at 6:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. In flanking positions were candelabras and baskets of creamy white gladiolas and fern.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith of Wellington. Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Bowden, 3101 Meadowbrook Drive, Fort Worth, are the parents of the groom.

The Reverend Chester O'Brien read an impressive ceremony in the quiet candle-lit sanctuary, and Mrs. Truman Estes provided appropriate music on the Hammond organ. Miss Phyllis Powers sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because" after the ushers had lighted the candles, and the "Lord's Prayer" at the close of the vows.

Her father gave the bride away. She was lovely in an original gown of French imported Chantilly lace sleeves and bodice over bridal satin and double-tiered handkerchief skirt and train of nylon tulle. The long sleeved closely fitted bodice featured an off-shoulder neckline outlined with seed pearls and crystal teardrops. Her headdress was a crown of bridal jewels and her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by white carnations and fern. Tiny satin streamers knotted with "flowers of love" fell from the bridal bouquet.

Feminine attendants for the bride were Miss Delma Deaver of Alvord, maid of honor; Misses Mattie McClintock of Chillicothe, Ina Jane James of Amarillo, Veda Mae Kiker and Tanya Smith, sister of the bride, of Wellington. Misses Deaver, McClintock, and Powers are sorority sisters of the bride.

Miss Deaver was dressed in blue net over blue taffeta. Her headdress was also of blue net, with tiny pink rose buds of velvet. The bridesmaids' dresses were all of pink net over pink taffeta, fitted bodices with low scalloped necklines, tiny short sleeves, full gathered skirts, and cummerbunds of the pink taffeta. They each had headdresses matching that of the maid of honor. To complete their attire, each carried nosegays of orchid carnations.

Little Misses Louvette Jones and Jackie Barton were flower girls and were dressed similarly to the bridesmaids.

Attending the groom as best man was Buddy Baldwin and the ushers were Don Frazier, Wayne Henderson, Chrit Brown, and J. D. Nichols, all fraternity brothers of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore navy blue crepe with matching gloves, purse, and hat, which was velvet and veiled. The groom's mother selected a navy blue dress with matching hat and purse, with white gloves. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

The wedding was followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith. The refreshment table was particularly outstanding with its cloth of white organdy, made by the bride's mother. Designed with shadow work of clusters of oak leaves and interlaced with tiny narrow lace insertion, it was placed over pink.

The table centerpiece was a large heart of florist foam encircled with shirred maline. Tiny wedding bells hung from an archway over two love birds surrounded by pink carnations and sprayed with pink snow. The three tiered white wedding cake was decorated with tiny pink rosebuds. Pink and white candles accented the serving table. Crystal appointments were used.

Miss Smith is a 1950 graduate of Wellington High School, and has attended North Texas State College in Denton for the past two years. Her major study was voice, and she was a member of the Phi Sigma Alpha sorority.

Mr. Bowden graduated from Poly Technical High School in Fort Worth and will take a Bachelor of Music degree at North Texas State in January. He is a member of the Chi Sigma Phi fraternity.

After a two weeks wedding trip to places of interest in Utah, Nevada, California, and to Mexico, the couple will make their home at 1728 Chesnut, Denton.

School and Home

As the schools of the nation open for another nine months' run, the National Education Association, in its seventh annual report to the public, calls attention to some of the things that must be done in the home to complete any child's education.

Willard E. Givins, secretary of the report, writes: "American enterprise and ingenuity are known around the world. They are envied by some, misinterpreted by others, respected by all. At work in a free nation they have produced the wealthiest and most powerful nation in the history of mankind.

"These traits must be consciously cultivated. One of the purposes of the modern public school is to keep them vigorously alive. The public does not regard the three R's as the whole of education. It places great emphasis also upon those robust qualities of initiative, self-dependence, and imagination which have meant so much to the materal success of America."

The report discusses the necessity of close cooperation between the school and the home in the changed America of recent years.

"Modern life takes the members of the home to the office and shop and factory as well as the field in search of a living. Even many of the mothers are employed. The public school has taken over in some measure many of the educational activities of the home.

"However, parents have not abdicted their responsibility. No school operates very long effectively without a high level of community understanding, interest and participation, which involves not only parents but other citizens.

"Its program supplements and reinforces the educational opportunities which the home and community afford. The public school is not a detached institution. The close relationship of the public school to the home and community is a protection against its use to promote the interests of a powerful party or the propaganda of a dictator."

Since the schools are attended by homes of all religous creeds, the curricula cannot include any teaching of a dogmatic nature. The schools can, however, supplement the moral training of the home by enforcing the rules of fair play in the classroom and on the campus.

Lack of these fundamental traits of character reflects upon the home, and not upon the schools instructors. Parents who do not establish the proper moral foundations in their children cannot expect others to do so, least of all teachers whose duties confined to guiding those who are prepared to receive instruction.

Double Anniversary

Early September is marked by two important World War II dates—the beginning of that bloody and meaningless conflict, in 1939, and its end in 1945.

The anniversaries have called forth considerable speculation as to whether or not War III isn't beginning in similar fashion—a "liberation," followed by a long stalemate, or phony war.

To a certain extent, the two hostile forces in Korea are waging a phony war—they both hestitate to do anything which might extend the war. A similar condition prevailed on the Western Front in World War II, when German and Allied armies faced each other for months without firing a shot.

There isn's anything about the fighting in Korea which could be called phony. It has taken a heavy toll of life on both sides, already costing the United States more blood than World War I. Few observers doubt that another blobal conflict is in the cards—they wonder of it has started, or will grow from, the Korean debacle.

Poor Politicians Are Elected

Vern Sanford, manager of the Texas Press Association, announced last week that the Association would make an intensive drive this year to get out the vote at the various elections. Slogan for the drive will be "Poor Politicians Are Elected to Office by Good People Who Fail to Vote."

The more one studies that slogan the more apparent becomes the truth contained in those 13 words. One need but reflect on past elections andn recall the number of times persons have been named to office by minority vote. The recent President of the United States, for instance, is holding office by a choice of only about 25 per cent of the voters of the country.

And the "good people" portion of the slogan is indeed an indictment of our failure as citizens, because it is a known fact that those individuals who expect toprofit by the election or defeat of certain candidates make certain that their votes are cast. It is the person who can't be bothered; the person who doesn't want to engage in politics; the person who can't take time to study government and men who aspire to government positions, that makes possible the type of corrupt administration with which we have recently become familiar.

Good people do vote, and there are enough good people to control elections if they would but express their opinions. Let's all turn out this year—The Italy (Texas) News-Herald.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on 'Buck Creek discusses thinking this week, a subject it's easy for him to get over his depth in.

Dear editar:

Every once in a while lately I've been readin where the candidates for President and other major offices mention the importance of gettin out and gettin the grass roots opinion on matters of vital importance in the conduct of this nation and the world also.

"What this country needs to solve its problems is some down-to-earth, grass roots thinking," one candidate announced recently.

I am afraid he is on the wrong trail.

If anybody is closely associated with grass roots, I'm it, but if he thinks I got the solution to any national or world problems, he's badly mistaken. I can't even solve the problems right around me out here on this grass roots farm, let alone the problems of inflation, debt, world turmoil, etc. If anybody's lookin to a man who can't manage his own farm to where it even suits his wife, to think up a solution to the world's problems, he's pretty certainly doomed to disappointment.

Grass roots thinkin I guess is about as good as brick pavement thinkin or skyscraper thinkin or ocean side thinkin or mountain top thinkin or Congressional thinkin or Presidential thinkin, but up to now as far as I can tell ain't none of em been good enough to solve some of the problems we got.

I don't mind any of the Presidential candidates or Vice Presidential candidates comin out here to sample any grass roots thinkin he can find, but if he thinks he's gonna find any solution for example for inflation or Korea or the Russians or traffic accidents or hot weather, he might as well stay at home with his own thoughts, even if he's already discovered they ain't satisfactory neither.

Understand, I'm in favor of thinkin, beats plowin ten to one, hoein twenty to one, and helpin with the washin fifty to one, in fact it's the next best thing to holdin office, but thinkin, grass roots or top of the stalk, up to now ain't been no absolute cure for what ails us. I've thought all my life and this farm out here is in worse shape now than it was when I started.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

When some men discharge an obligation you can hear the report for hours.

The dime may not be as good as the dollar, but we bet it goes to church more often.

Science says the moon affects the tide. Lovers maintain it affects the untied.

There is one woman in this world who is always glad to see her husband down and out. She's the flier's wife.

Regardless of what an education costs, it will never be as expensive as the cost of ignorance.

Most people who marry for money find out they could have borrowed it cheaper.

Mumble a few words in church and you're married. Mumble a few words in your sleep and you're divorced.

Money and man are much alike. The tighter each gets the more it talks.

People used to marry for better or worse. Today it's for more or less.

Bible Dispute No Basis for Intolerance

In the King James version of the Bible the Epistle to the Hebrews is attributed to Paul, but from early days in the church there has been much questioning regarding its authorship.

But one fact concerning the Pauline Epistles, those by James, Peter and John, which Paul certainly did not write, and the Epistle to the Hebrews, is that they are all agreed in a common faith in Jesus as the Messiah, in belief in his saving power, and in their conception of the Christian life.

James, for instance, emphasizes works as evidence of faith, where Paul puts more emphasis on faith, but in Paul's more extensive writings one would find many passages that, as strongly as James, stress the practical nature of Christian life. So, also, though John is the apostle of brotherly love, all that he says only strengthens what Paul wrote of love in I Corinthians 13. And when Peter writes of believers as "partakers of the divine nature," it is precisely what Paul has written in Ephesians 3:19.

This unity is emphasized in the conception of God's better revelation in Jesus, as presented by the writer of Hebrews, and as presented by Paul. Both are intense in their conviction that Jesus is the fulfillment of the Messianic hope. But Paul is chiefly concerned with doctrine, while the writer of Hebrew emphasizes the priestly character of Jesus, and the fulfillment of the ritualistic side of the Old Testament heritage.

Belief in Jesus as the Messiah is dominant in the Christian church; and it is here that the devout Christian and the devout Jew differ. The devout Jew may regard Jesus as a great teacher, a view now more widely held than formerly, but he looks still for the coming of the Messiah and the fulfillment of the prophecies.

It is a difference of belief that is not unimportant, but it should not in any sense occasion intolerance or unbrotherliness. If the Jew lives up to all that is good in the Old Testament and the Christian to all that is best in the New the spirit of both would make intolerance and prejudice impossible. It is in ideals of peace and good will that Judaism and Christianity both find their highest expression.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

SHALL WE PAY OUR DEBTSi

Sometime next year a new milestone is expected to be reached in Washington, D. C. The national debt, according to several official estimates, will reach the legal limit of $275,000,000,000. If it wishes, Congress may lift the limit to some new astronomical heights. If Congress doesn't, whoever is President next year will be obliged to operate the government within its income.

This will be an important milestone. It will bring a decision on whether to place additional mortgages on earnings of future generations or whether we citizens of today shall begin paying our own way. I've been studying the budget for this fiscal year — "House Document No. 285." It weighs five pounds, one ounce. It contains 1,222 pages. Two paragraphs, 15 lines of type, are devoted to "Borrowing and The Public Debt." Those two paragraphs predict that the $275,000,000,000 debt will be reached next year.

EXAMINING THE FACTS

If the people of America knew and understood all the facts involved in the decision to be made on the limit for the national debt they would flood Congress with requests not to permit a further increase. For the past week I've been examining some of the facts. In 1900 we had a public debt of slightly more than one billion dollars. Fifteen years later the debt was smaller. The Federal Government borrowed money throughout World War I. But beginning in 1920 and for the next 10 years the budget was balanced and the debt been the rule since our Federal government was founded.

In 19 of the 22 years from 1930 to 1952 the government each year spent more money than it received, and thus the debt grew—in peacetime as well as wartime. The budget for our present fiscal year called for expenditures of $91,400,000,000. Congress whittled this down to $80,300,000,000, which is more than the average spent during each of the four big spending years of World War II. The approved budget will necessitate the borrowing of about $10,000,000,000 and will push the debt close to the $275,000,000,000 limit.

NOT EASILY DONE

So we're not paying our way today. We didn't pay our way in 19 of the last 22 years. Since 1930 we the people, through our government, have borrowed $260,000,000,000—a quarter of a trillion dollars. How much of it will today's earners pay? How much will this adult generation leave to be paid by today's children? These are fair questions. Some political orators answer: "Forget the national debt; forget the fact that we're borrowing; we're doing all right, aren't we?"

Debts have to be repaid — by someone, sometime. If we do not pay this debt made during our lifetime, who will? Future generations will have to. If we are to pay it we must do three things that aren't easily done: (1) reduce government spending; (2) balance the budget; and (3) begin immediately a program of debt reduction. When the debt reaches $275,000,000,000 next year the interest alone will require $7,000,000,000 a year from the taxpayers.

CAN WE BE PROUD?

If in addition to paying the interest we desire to reduce the debt itself by $10,000,000,000 a year, that would mean the national debt alone would be costing each citizen with an income, an average of $261 a year. And it would require 27 years to wipe out the debt. When we add taxes for this year's $80,000,000,000 budget, we have a yearly tax bill averaging $1,500 a year for every person with an income. That's the outlook immediately ahead when fe wace up to the hard facts on the budget and the national debt.

The most important first step citizens could take in this situation would be to prevail upon their Congressmen to balance the budget. This is a proper function o Congress. And it is the only way through which the citizens can exercise any control over government finances. The second needed step would be to draistically cut government expenses. Then the taxpayers could support a program of debt reduction that would permit us, 20 or 30 years from now, to say to the youth of America: "Here: This is your nation. We have enjoyed its blessings. Our stewardship now is ended. We are passing it on to you free of debt."

On such an occasion we could be proud. But can we be proud of the situation today? reduced each year—following the pay-as-you-go practice that had ing city of 3600 inhabitants. For the benefit of these inhabitants there is a library, laundry, tailorship, post office, two barber shops, cobbler shop, two soda fountains and four stores which sell almost anything (except chewing gum) from shower clogs to hobbycraft airplane and automobile kits.

Some idea of the immensity of this carrier can be obtained from the fact that the mess halls and officers wardroom serve some 10,000 meals a day. And the ship can remain at sea from 75 to 100 days without worrying too much about where its next meal is coming from.

Aboard are many radio stations, two of which are as large as anything in the United States.

The ordnance minded among the editors have not been disappointed either for on Friday the ship along with its destroyer and cruiser escort, engaged in anti-aircraft firing practice. The FDR's three inch and five inch guns lifted the editors inches off the deck and made the ship, as well as the newsmen's teeth, rattle. The guns fired at a sleeve towed by an airplane.

All of the editors have found men from their hometowns or towns nearby, as one would expect in a transient "city" of 3600. But you'll hear more of that later when the mail begins to get through again after the FDR and its group of colleagues dock at Glasgow.

In the meantime the editors are hoping that their wives and families will understand when they receive no mail because no one leaves the ship from the departure from Norfolk until the arrival in Scotland.

BACK INJURIES

Thousands of working men know what Chiropractic can do for back injuries. They know that when other methods fail to give them relief, Chiropractic was successful.

It is important for employes, compensation insurance carriers and the public in general to recognize this fact. Actual studies have been made of injured workers cared for by different systems of therapy. Chiropractic brings the worker through with less chance of the charge of malingering, less cost to the insurance company, less cost for insurance coverage to the employer, as well as less interruption in the production line.

Several large industrial firms are now employing chiropractors on a full time basis to care for their injured workers.

To the chiropractor, the spine represents the keyboard, as it were that locks up and unlocks the inherennt curative powers of nature.
