Colorful Flames Lick At Chemical Plant

Pampa fireman were called to extinguish the blaze to Price Road and the Amarillo Highway shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday to combat a blaze that began in a cleaning vat behind Crall Products, Inc.

Although the blaze was never out of control, flames burned through an electric line causing the wires to fall and sparks to fly.

Two units of the fire department responded and used foam to extinguish the blaze.

Fire department officials said this morning the cause of the fire is unknown, and only minor damages occurred.

Service units of the Southwestern Public Service Co. were called to repair the downed power lines.

Bad Photography Handicaps Probe Of Apollo 13 Blast

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The Apollo 13 accident board expressed disappointment Tuesday at the quality of specially processed photographs of the explosion-torn Apollo command module, from which it hoped to learn the cause of the mission's failure.

The photographs, shot by the astronauts after they jettisoned the module prior to re-entry, showed one whole side of the craft shredded away. But the pictures were fully and heavily shadowed by the harsh sunlight of outer space.

"It is our opinion that the photographs at the present stage of processing and analysis do not establish the condition of the No. 2 oxygen tank or even its presence," board chairman Edgar M. Cortwright said.

The side of the No. 4 equipment bay, which contained three fuel cells, two hydrogen tanks and two oxygen tanks, was completely blown away and its shredded insides dangled weightlessly in space.

The photographs were of somewhat better quality than those the Space Agency made public earlier. But the only thing visible in the center of the rectangular equipment bay, where the oxygen tank should have been, was a black void that may have been a shadow.

"The board had hoped that the photographs would establish the condition of the No. 2 oxygen tank, prime suspect in the Apollo 13 equipment failure," a board spokesman said.

The board said the photographs were processed as carefully as possible, but photo technicians hoped to further improve them using techniques developed for bringing out fine details in pictures shot from orbiting spy satellites.

"Efforts to bring out further detail in the photographs with sophisticated enhancement techniques continue here at MSC

Kopechne Report Indicates Mild Indictment Of Kennedy

BOSTON (UPI)—Little in the way of new information was expected today from the release of documents taken at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Miss Kopechne, 29, died when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy went off a bridge at Chappaquiddick Island July 18.

Those close to the case said while the report of the inquest judge might contain a mild indictment of Kennedy's actions at the time, testimony contained in the 764-page transcript was not likely to add measurably to what is already known of the accident.

Release of the documents was scheduled for 3 p.m. EDT in a spacious oak-paneled Suffolk Superior Court room.

A set of the inquest documents—the 12-page judge's report and the transcript of 27 witnesses' testimony—cost $75. Most of the 87 copies to be distributed today were spoken for by the news media.

Kennedy has told associates he is anxious to have the inquest documents made public. During the four-day proceeding which ended Jan. 8 he told newsmen his testimony added little to previous accounts of the accident.

The long wait for release of the inquest material became even longer when court stenographers who transcribed the proceeding fought through the courts to win distribution rights to the transcript.

Their 11th-hour bid to delay the documents' release—an appeal for a restraining order from the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals—was rejected Tuesday by Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich.

Pampans Taken In Amarillo Drug Raid

Three Pampa youths, one free from Gray County jail on bond on charges of possession of marijuana, were arrested in a narcotics raid in Amarillo Tuesday.

According to Amarillo officers, those arrested were Don Ray Thompson, 22, who is free from Gray County jail on $20,000 bond for possession of marijuana taken in March 16th raid in Pampa; Ronald Clyde Weidler, 20; and Laura Ann Amrhein, 21, both of Pampa.

Addresses were not available this morning.

The raid was carried out by Amarillo police intelligence officers with assistance from Pampa officers.

Police Chief Jim Conner said this morning assistant Chief George Wallace and Sgt. Gene Aufleger went to Amarillo Tuesday to assist in the raid.

Conner said the suspects had been under observation by Pampa officers for some time.

Officers said they confiscated several hashish pipes, some marijuana, and capsules containing what is believed to be LSD.

The suspects were originally booked for investigation of possession of narcotics and narcotic paraphernalia, but complaints were being arraigned this morning.

An Amarillo youth and a juvenile girl were also arrested.

Nixon Makes Economy Move, Sells Yacht

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In the name of economy President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the lights turned off at the White House. Now President Nixon is selling two of the three Presidential yachts.

At Pier One at Washington's Navy Yard Tuesday, Tricia Nixon took part in the decommissioning of the 92 foot "Patricia," which her father renamed for her after he took office.

Grueling Fight For US Senate Seat Generates Intense Heat

By United Press International

Texas politicians became more intense as they pushed their primary campaigns into the last three days. The greatest heat was generated in the grueling fight for the United States Senate.

Democrat Lloyd Bentsen Tuesday accused incumbent Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., of "resorting to his usual mudslinging assaults." He said he has filed a counter-complaint against Yarborough with the Fair Practices Committee, Inc., in Washington.

Yarborough filed a similar complaint earlier about Bentsen's television commercials, which he said implied that Yarborough condoned street violence as a political tactic.

Bentsen accused Yarborough of making false personal attacks against him and his family.

Yarborough told a Texarkana audience Bentsen entered the Senate race to protect his financial empire, which the senator said is being threatened by legislation now pending in Congress.

"No man in America has a bigger stake in beating the bill than does Bentsen, who heads a Houston insurance holding company that also has interests in Texas banks," Yarborough said.

"Someone's going to have to operate differently when that bill passes with my support," Yarborough said, "and it won't be the already overtaxed businessmen and home owners and developers in the Valley who must pay through the nose for unprecedented high interest loans to feed Mr. Bentsen's financial empire."

Republican Senate contender Robert Morris accused the U.S. Supreme Court for "opening a floodgate of obscenity" in the country. He said obsenity is being ssed by communists to subvert the nation.

Rep. George Bush, R - Tex., Morris' opponent in the Republican primary, said in Lufkin his philosophy and voting record best reflects the thinking of most Texans. He said he has voted three times against forced busing to achieve integration, and said the long-run answer to poverty lies in jobs and quality education.

He said desegregation should involve "minimum possible disruption of the educational routine of the children."

In the race for state land commissioner, challenger Bob Armstrong of Austin said incumbent Jerry Sadler's failure to campaign bespeaks his "reluctance to discuss the issues with voters." He said Sadler has remained "invisible and silent."

Fred Williams of Houston, who is also challenging Sadler, criticized the incumbent's "inefficiency and secrecy" in running the land office, as well as Armstrong's "inactivity and unconcern about the incumbent's conduct" as a member of the Legislature.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Martin of Gainesville lashed out at GOP leaders for trying to keep Republican candidates from criticizing each other.

Martin called requests that he stop blasting his opponent, Paul Eggers, "amusing and hypocritical," and said "Eggers has embarrassed the Nixon administration and Texans cannot afford to let him embarrass this state through incompetent leadership."

Nixon Waves Flag Of Optimism For Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon plans to go on television soon to urge the public to have faith in the nation's economy despite the plummeting stock market and continuing inflation.

Nixon expressed his personal optimism to a group as saying "Frankly, if I had any money I'd be buying stocks right now." He spoke as the market was at its lowest point in 6½ years after losing more than 23 points in two days.

Gerald R. Waren, assistant White House press secretary, said Nixon "is confident that his (economic) programs are working and feels the American people should share that confidence." Warren said Nixon "very likely" will make a televised address on the economy "in the near future."

Wall Street was anything but confident. The Dow Jones industrial average dropped another 10.82 points Tuesday to 724.33, lowest since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy tumbled the average to 711.49.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien made it clear his party plans to make the economic performance of the Republican administration a key issue in the November congressional elections.

"Despite Republican claims that inflation would be cut to 3 per cent by the end of 1969, we find instead that inflation rose from 4.8 per cent in 1968 to 6.1 per cent in 1969," O'Brien told the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. "I submit it is still rising."

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton, who shared the platform with O'Brien, insisted that "inflation is on the way down" and urged the public to be patient with inevitable time lags.

"If there were a magic wand for controlling inflation, President Johnson would have used it," Morton said.

man of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said he was "cautiously optimistic" about the future course of the economy.

McCracken predicted that the nation's output of goods and services, which fell in the fourth quarter of last year and the first quarter of this year, will resume "modest" growth in the present quarter which ends June 30.

Action Has Okay Of United States

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese forces have crossed into Cambodia to attack North Vietnamese positions across the border, the Defense Ministry announced today. A spokesman said the attack had the approval of the United States.

A spokesman said the South Vietnamese join general staff had "requested and has got the support of the American forces in combat support, logistics assistance and medical evacuation . . ." He did not say U.S. combat forces had entered Cambodia.

South Vietnam has carried out at least five previous sorties into Cambodia, but this was the first time the Defense Ministry had officially admitted crossing the border into the Cambodian sanctuary long used by the Communists for attacks in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Military Command in Saigon had no immediate comment on the South Vietnamese announcement.

"I have nothing on it right now," said a spokesman for U.S. military commander Gen. Creighton W. Abrams. "I assume we will have a statement later in the evening."

Although Cambodia has requested arms supplies from the United States, President Nixon has not yet replied. In the meantime U.S. military advisers and air and artillery units have scrupuously avoided entering Cambodia to aid South Vietnamese actions.

In an official statement issued April 10, the U.S. Command said senior American officers had been authorized to make "purely protocol-type visits" at the Cambodian border.

"Such visits can have no military connotation," the command said.

The latest attack, was launched today in the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia which juts into South Vietnam to within 35 miles of Saigon.

Respect Lives

The Defense Ministry said the troops involved in the operation "have received orders to strictly respect the lives and properties of the people, if any, in the area of operation."

A spokesman said the government forces had been ordered to return to South Vietnam once the operation was completed.

In an oddity of the war, the Viet Cong asked for and received a cease-fire in the area around the besieged Green Beret camp at Dak Seang today and said it needed a truce to release wounded government prisoners. Despite the truce, U.S. B52s carried out raids near the garrison.

Blackmun Under Senate Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Accompanied by two of the Senate's most prominent liberals, Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun presents himself, his qualifications and his stock portfolio today to the scrutiny of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

With not a single voice publicly raised against him, his approval by the committee and ultimately by the Senate appeared certain.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., went so far as to say it might be unanimous.

McCarthy and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., along with Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who is expected to be the Republican candidate for McCarthy's seat next fall, accompanied Blackmun.

"I gladly support this nomination," Mondale told the committee, "and I commend the President for choosing such a distinguished jurist to fill this

Roman Catholics No Longer Held To Education Ruling

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Non-Catholics marrying Roman Catholics no longer need make any promises concerning the upbringing of children under new mixed marriage regulations announced today.

In a 2,400-word apostolic letter, Pope Paul VI said Catholics would be required to promise to do "all in their power" to have their children baptized and brought up in the Roman church.

But he scrapped a centuries-old law excommunicating—or cutting off from the sacraments—Catholics who knowingly bring up their children in another faith.

The document falls far short of the hopes of many Protestants and liberal Catholics who argue that each couple should be free to decide the upbringing of its children.

The Pope made it clear the Roman church dislikes the idea of mixed marriages in the first place.

He ruled out Protestant and Catholic clergymen jointly officiating at a wedding ceremony or having another religious ceremony before or after the Catholic wedding.

The Pope said the church would regard marriage between a Catholic and another baptized person as legal only if the couple obtained a dispensation from the local Catholic bishop.

To get such a dispensation, the Pope said, "the Catholic party shall declare that he is ready to remove dangers of falling away from the faith. He is also gravely bound to make a sincere promise to do all in his power to have all the children baptized and brought up in the Catholic church."

Until the last revision, in 1966, the non-Catholic partner had to make the same promise. Since then he has been required to promise—either in writing or orally—not to obstruct the partner's faith or the Catholic education of his children.

75 Young Protestors Jailed For Efforts To Save Trees

HOUSTON (UPI)—More than 75 young protesters dragged from a University of Houston construction site and jailed late Tuesday were released today after they signed an agreement not to try to save campus trees.

But 25 of their compatriots spent the night in the trees and many more remained at the site, hoisting food and water by rope to their friends.

Hundreds of students have camped in and under the grove of oak and pine trees to prevent the university from felling the trees for a new fine arts building.

Some 25 persons climbed high into the trees Tuesday when a large force of police arrived, dragged away large numbers of the stubborn, nonviolent protesters and jailed them for contempt of a court order.

The police brought in a ladder and tried to dislodge those in the trees, but were unsuccessful. Hundreds locked arms in circles around the trees to ward off the police, and finally the police ladder was stolen by the laughing, boisterous students.

Police summoned one boy's mother, who tried to coax her son down by talking to him over a bullhorn. "Arthur, when are you coming down? Arthur, if you come down we will buy you a malt."

Arthur, 60 feet up, did not respond.

"Arthur, are you coming down."

"No," Arthur said.

"Well, your father's gonna drive your pickup truck home," she said, giving up.

The protesters tried to convert the scores of policemen to their cause. "This is your park too. We don't blame you for this, you're our friends," they said.

After police labored dragging demonstrators to paddy wagons, a group of students served them sandwiches and cold drinks.

Four students chained and padlocked themselves to a tree. Large iron cutters were brought to cut them loose. They were jailed.

When the police arrived demonstrators carefully removed all rocks, bottles and other objects that could be used as weapons. "Don't resist, don't resist," the demonstration leaders pleaded.

The students went passively and quietly when apprehended. As they loaded into paddy wagons they sang "America, the Beautiful" and "We Shall Overcome."

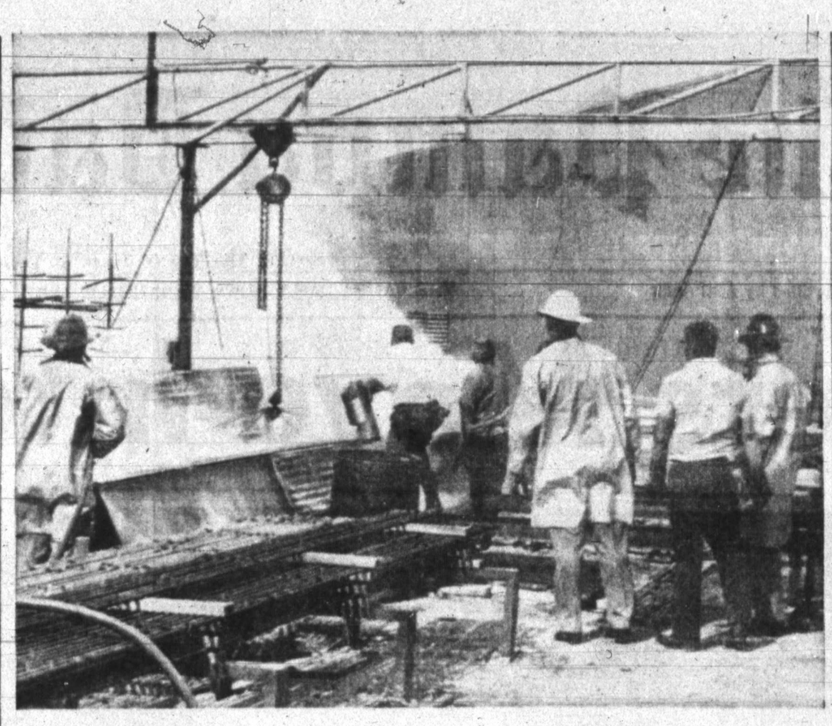

The restraining order named Jim Wisdom; Randall Chapman of Houston, a junior economics major; Miss Leslie Parsley of Houston, who wore a cast on her leg with a tree painted on it, "and all others active in collusion."

The demonstrators dubbed the grove of trees "People's Park II," after the People's Park at the University of California at Berkeley where students and national guardsmen clashed in 1968.

The court order prohibited anyone being in the area during the arrests, although nearly 1,000 onlookers gathered around. The order was signed by District Court Judge Reagan Cartwright.

At the University of Texas at Austin last year, students protested the destruction of campus trees to make room for expanding the school's football stadium. During that affair students also climbed into trees and were dragged down and arrested by police and firemen.

Secretly Immunized Emperor Celebrates 69th Birthday

TOKYO (UPI)—When Japanese Emperor Hirohito was born 69 years ago today he couldn't be vaccinated against smallpox.

Members of the royal family were the living gods of Japan's Shinto religion and it would have been sacrilege for a doctor to touch the sacred baby, much less puncture his skin with a needle.

Hirohito's father, Emperor Taisho, solved the problem by sending him to live with a nobleman of advanced ideas, in whose home the little boy could be secretly immunized.

The man who started his reign as a god emperor observed his 69th birthday by greeting the Japanese public from a porch overlooking the plaza in front of his palace in downtown Tokyo.

Thousands Shout "Banzai"

Thousands of Japanese crowded the palace grounds to shout "Banzai" greetings to Japan's 124th monarch, who renounced his own divinity publicly in 1946, ending the myth Japanese emperors were descendants of a sun goddess.

They saw a five-foot-three man with stooped shoulders and gray hair, standing with his family behind a shield of bullet proff glass. Hirohito walks with heavy ste s these days. Yet the doctors who give him the best of modern medical care says he is in good sha e for a man of 69.

Hirohito is already in the 44th year of a reign that started on Christmas, 1926. If his health holds, he may occupy the throne longer even than his grandfather, Empero Meiji, who presided oper Japan's modernization for 45 years and seven months before his death in 1912.

Hirohito has been an official chief of state longer than any man in the world today, eclipsing Ethiopia's Haile Selassie and Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek.

Duties Are Ceremonial

Today Hi ohito's duties are purely ceremonial. He entertains visiting royalty. Al floreign ambassadors call on him before leaping Tokyo. He grants audiences to distinguished foreigners, including U.S. governors who visit Japan.

Hirohito's grasp of English is slight, and he speaks th ough an interpreter.

In 1946, he told American newsmen the happiest time of his life had been his visit to England as crown prince in 1921.

Veteran Actor Dies At Party

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Veteran character actor Ed Begley, who won an Oscar for best supporting actor in 1962, died Tuesday night of an apparent heart attack while attending a party. He was 69.

Begley was at the home of his publicist, Jay Bernstein, when he collapsed while eating dinner. A Fire Department spokesman said attempts to revive him failed.

When Begley entered motion pictures, he originally was cast as the heavy and it was not until after he won his Academy Award for his appearance in "Sweet Bird of Youth" that he lost his type cast.

He later entered television and appeared in scores of shows including, "My Three Sons," "Ben Casey," "New Breed," "The Defenders, "The Virginian,' "Wagon Train," "Dick Van Dyke,' and "Invaders.

It was his "heavy" portrayal of Boss Finley, a hostile, grossly disliked Southern politician in "Sweet Bird of Youth" that won him the award.

Begley also was an accomplished Broadway actor and won acclaim for his performances in "Twelve Angry Men" and "Patterns," both later made into motion pictures.

It was in the film version of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" that Begley finally shed his heavy image. He played the boozing, singing and dancing father of costar Debbie Reynolds. He was acclaimed as a song and dance man.

Survivors include his wife, Helen, who was with him at the party, and a daughter and son by a previous marriage.

The team toured the plant Tuesday and a space agency spokesman said the inspection would last through today.

Episcopal Day School Plans Coffee Hour

St. Matthew's Episcopal Day School will hold an informal coffee at 10 a.m. Thursday. Purpose of the coffee will be for parents to learn about the school for possible enrollment of their child next fall.

Grade levels from pre-kindergarten through first grade will be offered in the 1970 fall term.

What is taught, how it is taught and why it is taught will be explained during the coffee. Slides will be shown and the children's work and books will be on display.

The coffee will be in the parish hall, 727 W. Browning. A baby sitter will be available for those who wish to bring children. A token charge will be made for each child left with the baby sitter.

DOGS ARE BANNED

CHICAGO (UPI)—The city of Chicago has banned dogs from public parks.

The new ordinance, adopted Tuesday by the City Council, provides a fine up to $200 to anyone who acts to "bring, drive, lead, carry or permit any dog" into a Chicago Park.

Chicago has about 10 registered dogs for each acre of municipal park—6,900 acres and 69,000 registered dogs. The number of unregistered hounds is unknown but reportedly large.

Wife Credits Perot For Letters From Husband

PLANO, Tex. (UPI)—An Air Force wife credited Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot with pressuring the Hanoi government into allowing her husband to write to her for the first time since he was captured by the North Vietnamese four years ago.

Shirley Johnson said Tuesday she received two letters from her husband. "Until these letters came I had no direct contact with him at all," she said. "I'm certain he's never received any of my letters."

She received a letter Tuesday postmarked March 25, which she said was carried out of Hanoi by a "Rev. Hernandez." Last week she received a letter written Dec. 13, 1969, and postmarked Jan. 23 from Hanoi.

"He wished us a Merry Christmas," Mrs. Johnson said.

Her husband, Lt. Col. Robert Johnson, was missing in action in 1966. In 1968 the Defense Department informed Mrs. Johnson her husband was a prisoner of war in North Vietnam.

Mrs. Johnson was not among a group of Air Force wives who went to Paris last year, sponsored by Perot, to ask North Vietnamese diplomats for information about their missing husbands. But she said she was positive those trips, plus the letter writing campaigns and Perot's trips to Vietnam, pressured Hanoi and resulted in the letters she received.

She said she now spends all her spare time encouraging others to write Hanoi to "apply pressure." "This is the only way we are going to get these men back," she said. "This prisoner of war thing is entirely separate from the war. This is a humanitarian thing."

"I know my husband would do this all over again if he had to. He's so patriotic he sticks out a flag at a moment's notice," she said.

Exiled Prince To Be Tried

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—A government spokesman said today ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk will be tried in absentia within a month on charges of treason and murder.

The murder charges, he said, involve Saihanouk's allegedly condemning 1,000 political prisoners without a trial. The prince was overthrown March 18 and is in exile in Peking.

Douc Rasy, a member of the National Assembly, said the charges against Sihanouk had been filed by a military court that will handle the investigation and prosecution.

UofT Law Dean To Speak Here

Byron Fullerton, associate dean of the University of Texas Law School, will be the speaker at a luncheon in Coronado Inn next Monday.

Fullerton is being brought to Pampa by the Chamber of Commerce and Gray County Bar Association to highlight local observance of Law Day-U.S.A.

The subject of his address will be 'Law—A Bridge to Justice."

The Law Day program here is in conjunction with a national observance.

Monday's luncheon will be open to the public and in urging attendance, chamber president Don Lane said:

"Every day I think we become more aware of the need of a society structured with law, fairly and firmly enforced. This will be a luncheon that should be a meaningful observance for us all."

Musical entertainment will be furnished by the sixth grade choir of Stephen F. Austin elementary school under the direction of Mrs. J.E.Gunn.

Reservations will be taken at the Chamber of Commerce offices until 10 a.m. Monday.

Rear-End Collision Nets Damages

A car-truck collision in the 700 block of East Browning Tuesday caused an estimated $450 to the vehicles involved.

According to police reports, a truck owned by Harold Barrett Ford and driven by David Leon Christian, 18, of 932 E. Gordon, were stopped for a vehicle turning into a driveway. The car, driven by Timothy Lee Woodington, 17, of 700 E. Francis, apparently ran into the rear of the pickup.

Reports estimated damages at $100 to the truck and $350 to Woodington's vehicle.

There were no injuries, but police said the car had to be towed from the scene.

Blackmun, 61, is a Minnesotan and it is normal Senate courtesy for a candidate for the nation's highest tribunal to be backed by his homestate senators.

Sharp and close questioning of Blackmun was expected despite the Senate's lack of appetite for yet another battle and the lack of criticism aimed at the new nominee.

It was expected to center on Blackmun's self-acknowledged role in sitting on cases involving the Ford Motor Co.; a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.; and Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. at times when he held 50 Ford Shares, 22 AT&T shares and 30 shares in the 3-M company.

"His stock holdings are so small that in our opinion he violated no statute or canon," the Judiciary Committee was told Tuesday by Lawrence E. Walsh of New York, chairman of the American Bar Association (ABA) Committee on the Federal Judiciary, which praised Blackmun.

Obituaries

OSCAR FOLLIS

Funeral services for Oscar Calvin Follis, 55, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Carmichael-Whatley Colonial Chapel with the Rev. Delbert Priest, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Follis died Monday at Groom Memorial Hospital.

MRS. KATHRYN WARE

WHEELER (Staff) — Funeral services for Mrs. Kathryn Inez Ware, 75, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in First Methodist Church here with burial in Wheeler Cemetery directed by Wright Funeral Home. The Rev. Wilbur Gaede, pastor, will officiate.

Mrs. Ware died Monday in Share Medical Center, Alva, Okla., where she had been hospitalized for three weeks.

A Wheeler resident since 1948, she was married to N.D. Ware Sr., in Fargo, Okla., in 1914. She was a member of the United Methodist Church of Wheeler, Order of the Eastern Star, and honorary member of Wheeler Garden Club and Wednesday Study Club.

Survivors are her husband; two sons, N.D. Jr., Wheeler, and E.A., Alva, Okla.; two daughters, Mrs. W.F. Pittman, Holtville, Calif.; and Mrs. Bob McNeil, Muleshoe; 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Runoff Election Gives Nod To Leonard Cain

LEFORS (Spl) — In a runoff election held Tuesday to break a tie vote for city councilmen, Leonard Cain won the city seat by a margin of 23 votes.

Cain received 89 votes to John Archer's 63.

Following a canvass of votes, Cain will be installed as a member of Lefors City Council May 12.

He will join a five-man board, headed by Mayor Carl Wall, composed of newly-elected councilmen A.E. Dunham and Bob Bright and holdover councilmen, W.B. Minter and Ed Brock.

PHS Names 7 Cheerleaders

After watching 28 candidates try out Tuesday for the seven cheerleader positions available, Pampa High School students selected their choices by secret ballot and will vote on the head cheerleader Tuesday.

The head cheerleader will be one of the seven PHS yell leaders named, Nan Blanda, Ellen Curtis, Carol Lowe, Sidney Mills, Valerie Olsen, Becky Taylor, and Glenda Webb, according to Mrs. Doris Erwin, PHS counselor.

Junior Service League Completes Test Program

Junior Service League members, with assistance from Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center personnel, planned to complete testing Tuesday for 230 Pampa pre-school children's speech and hearing problems.

"We contacted 350 parents with pre-school children to make appointments at our annual Speech and Hearing Clinic and tested 200 as of noon Tuesday," Mrs. Jack Curtis, Clinic chairman for the league, said.

Personnel from the Amarillo center who assisted with testing at First Christian Church Educational Building were Buddy Stephens, executive director, Pat Chudej, student teacher at the center; Jerry Williams, supervisor of speech pathology; Mrs. Lillian Blakesley, supervision of pre-school; Sylvia Harned, and Gay Elza, teachers of deaf children.

The league sponsors the clinic each year to be certain Pampa area pre-schoolers will start their first grade with as few speech and hearing problems as possible.

League members recommend children with speech and hearing problems be examined by the family's physician and receive treatment as soon as possible before school begins in September, Mrs. Curtis said.

Tests were to continue until 4 p.m. today, with about 30 children expected this afternoon for the clinic, Mrs. Curtis said.

WASHINGTON—Charles E. Brown of Newton, Mass., in testimony before the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity in which he charged American schools are so bad they are hardly worth integrating:

"Rather than seeking equality in terms of expenditures, class size, college placement, etc., we must learn to seek equality in new terms, in human terms, such as respect, dignity, trust, humanity, freedom, responsibility, integrity, joy, authenticity, compassion, empathy, tenderness and love."

The Lighter Side

The Lighter Side
By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the great problems that newspaper editors all over the country are grappling with these days is the treatment of f - - - letter words.

Earlier this month, for example, I attended a meeting of the Ohio UPI Editors Association. The program included a panel discussion on "freedom and responsibility," which sounds like a rather high-minded topic.

As it turned out, however, the panelists spend most of the period on the f - - - letter word issue.

More and more, it was noted, the old Anglo-Saxon expletives are being uttered in public places by prominent persons. How should a newspaper deal with them if they have a direct bearing on the event being reported?

Methods of Dealing

Ignore them entirely? Quote them verbatim? Substitute dashes (- - - -) or other euphemisms? Or merely report that a vulgar expression was employed, without further identification?

Good arguments were advanced for each, and I found myself agreeing with them all. Which probably is one reason why I never got to be an editor.

Another reason I never got be an editor is that if I were an editor, I'm afraid I would solve the problem the same way Jack Valenti of the Motion Picture Association solved the problem.

I wouldn't be able to decide what, if anything, to cut out of a news story. So I would leave it up to the reader to decide it was something he should read. In other words, I would adopt a news rating system.

All of the items in the paper guidelines would work:

The Guidelines

"G' — General Readership: Under this category would come engagement announcements, lists of people attending the Rotary Club picnic and other items that you never read unless they happen to mention your name.

"GP" — Parental Guidance Suggested: These are items that the average parent won't understand unless he has some guidance. They include stories about rock concerts, campus rebellions and gurus.

"R" — Restricted: These would be marked "G," "GP "R" or "." This is how ti items are restricted to reade who are only interested in se Examples would include a S. Francisco cable car accident a congressional speech urgi the impeachment of Justi Douglas.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If pro basketball is to be the big sport of the 1970s, as many predict, then it is about time it made its television arrangements first class.

As of the moment, the National Basketball Association is in the midst of its world series, but it sometimes seems hard to realize it because of the spotty, inconsistent arrangements to televise the various games.

When baseball has its World Series, everyone knows it, and everyone sees it who wants to, and it has precisely the time it desires on the home screen. But because of contractual tangles that need undoing, the New York Knickerbockers-Los Angeles Lakers basketball finals are getting the short end.

As an example, BC-TV, which carries the NBA games throughout the season, will broadcast the fourth contest this Friday night, and the sixth encounter, if there is one, next Wednesday. But thus far the network has made no announcements about carrying the fifth game next Monday.

This undoubtedly means, as matters currently stand, that viewers around the nation who want to see the fifth game (and the others not on the network) simply have to hope that the off-network arrangements to telecast it are picked up by local stations. Tonight's third game, for instance, is not being broadcast by ABC-TV, but by Sports Network Inc., which means it is syndicated.

Furthermore, there are such problems as television blackouts where games are played—despite sellout crowds. And here in Los Angeles, when we get a telecast of a contest from New York, it is on a one-hour tape delay because the later showing is considered more convenient for most viewers.

When baseball has its World Series, it gets straight, full-scale network coverage on all action, has absolutely no blackouts and is presented coast-to-coast precisely as, and when, it happens.

One of the NBA problems is the strain between those trying to get the upper hand in televising the games—for example, ABC-TV and some teams that have profitable video arrangements with local stations. But these are things that the hierarchy of pro basketball should realize are harming the sport's ascendancy, and need quick clearing up to take full advantage of the enthusiasm for this great game—the most perfectly suited for television.

County Levies DWI Fines

Taree persons were sentenced by County Judge Sherman Lenning Jr. in County Court Monday on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Thomas William Johnson, Route 1, Pampa, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50, given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and placed on six months probation.

Charles E. Stevens, 213 E. Kentucky, entered a plea of nolo contendere, was fined $50, given a 30 day suspended jail sentence and placed on six months probation.

Roger Dale Fly, 1038 N. Wells, entered a plea of nolo contendere, was fined $75, given a 30 day suspended jail sentence, and placed on six months probation.

Curtis Taken Off Television Commercials

NEW YORK (UPI)—The three major television networks and a number of independent television stations have canceled the antismoking television commercials filmed by actor Tony Curtis because of his conviction in London Monday for possession of marijuana.

The antismoking spots, filmed for the American Cancer Society, had been carried by the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. as well as scores of independent stations throughout the country.

Spokesmen for all three networks said their stations would no longer carry the antismoking spots but would substitute others made by the Cancer Society.

The action of the networks and independents in canceling the Curtis spots came almost immediately after Curtis pleaded guilty in a London court to having been in possession of less than one ounce of marijuana when he arrived at Heathrow Airport from New York on Sunday. The 44-year-old actor was fined $120, the minimum amount.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—World War III may be a replay of the War of 1812 and the disturbance of 1776 with the English and the American colonies going at it again.

The reason: "Patton."

The movie biography of flamboyant Gen. George S. Patton is less than flattering to Britain's Field Marhal Sir Bernard Law Montgomery, who was England's version of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower at the battlefronts.

When the picture is released in England May 7, Britons are liable to declare war—at least on 20th Century-Fox and producer Frank McCarthy, himself a retired brigadier general and onetime secretary to General of the Army George C. Marshall in World War II.

McCarthy admits Montgomery comes off second best, but with reason.

"We didn't attempt to present an American view of Montgomery, or even a 20th Century-Fox interpretation McCarthy said.

"The disparaging and unflattering references to Montgomery are made by Patton. We see Montgomery through Patton's eyes. And they hated one another professionally and personally."

McCarthy is in a position to know. He knew Patton in action and in his various homes in Europe during the war. His assignment as Marshall's top aide made it possible for McCarthy to film "Patton."

"In order to compensate for Patton's view of Montgomery, we have nine separate instances where other characters speak glowingly of the British field marshal," McCarthy said.

"Then, too, I hope the British will note that Patton said uncomplimentary things about Ike and Gen. Omar Bradley as well as Montgomery."

McCarthy hopes that "Patton" is as well received in England as it has been in this country where doves and hawks alike have written their approval of "Patton" with George C. Scott mgnificent in the title role.

"Some people have written saying the film is a great antiwar picture," McCarthy related. "Others praise it in the belief that we should have leaders like Patton in Vietnam right now."

Barnes Favors Stiffer Drug Penalties

DALLAS (UPI)— Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes recommended stronger penalties for drug pushers and for possession of LSD, but backed away from an outright plea for lower marijuana possession penalties in remarks to a conference on drug abuse.

Barnes had earlier endorsed reducing the penalty for first offense possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor. But in a speech to about 100 local law enforcement personnel and prosecutors, Barnes today recommended only that judges be given "considerable flexibility" in handing down a sentence on any first time drug offense.

"Each case has so many variables that our judges must be given the leeway to provide punishment which will most effectively deter a second offense," Barnes said.

The meeting was the third in a series of 23 seminars to be held across the state to better acquaint law enforcement officials with the drug problem, and to get their ideas on how to solve it.

Barnes also recommended raising the minimum penalty for selling drugs from two to five years in prison." These agents of destruction must be put out of business swiftly, and with finality," he said.

In calling for the increased penalties for possession of LSD, Barnes said "there is a positive evidence that use of LSD has serious psychological and chromosomal effects which are often permanent and against which our young people should be protected."

Barnes said the recommendations are based on conclusions he reached after a statewide tour of drug treatment centers in Texas.

CBRs Plan RC Refresher Class

Members of the Citizen Band Radio Club met Thursday and discussed the club's role during the tornado that struck southeast Pampa April 18.

Club members discussed plans to set and announce a date for Red Cross refresher courses in first aid and disaster training. Plans were also discussed for beginning courses for new members.

All CBR Club members are members of the Red Cross Disaster Units.

The next meeting of the club has not been announced. Club officers said they will have to find facilities other than the Optimist Club for the next meeting.

WILL VISIT SCHOOL

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) —Gov. Preston Smith visits West Texas State University Wednesday to address a conference on revitalization of small Texas communities. County, city and special district officials from a 25-county area in the Panhandle have been invited to participate.

DRAW PRISON TERMS

BROWNSVILLE (UPI) — Two Houston men who pleaded guilty of conspiring to sneak eight pounds of heroin into the country drew prison terms Monday. Robert Munoz, 25, was sentenced to five years and Santos Castillo Fernandez, 26, drew a 30-month sentence.

Hollis Awarded Bronze Star

A Pampa soldier has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for service in Vietnam.

Specialist 4 Lee T. Hollis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hollis, 1905 Coffee, was awarded the medal for service in the war zone during the period of Oct. 23, 1969 to March 22, 1970.

The citation accompanying the medal said Hollis "consistently manifested exemplary professionalism and initiative ..... despite many adversities."

HICKLE AMBASSADOR

Police said seven persons were deteained and later released.

Holland was jeered by a crowd as he arrived for the first time last month. One heckler yelled "nigger." Holand is a Negro.

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (UPI)—An organization calling itself the "Ecology Guerrilla Group" says it pasted false signs in Door and Lincoln counties durir e weekend.

The "guerr ," said Monday in a statement they were protesting development of "wilderness suburbs" in Northern Wisconsin.

The statement said the action was intended to "call attention to the legal rape of wilderness areas by lake developers and other quick-buck land peddlers."

H. Rap Brown Trial To Begin

ELLICOTT, Md. (UPI)—The Howard County Court Tues. directed the long-delayed riot and arson trial of H. Rap Brown to begin here Monday but a possible defense appeal to Chief Justice Warren Burger of the U.S. Supreme Court could bring another postponement.

The clerk of the county court announced the new trial date following the rejection Monday by a three-judge U.S. Appeals Court in Baltimore of the defense request to switch the case to the federal courts on grounds Maryland could not give the black militant a fair and safe trial.

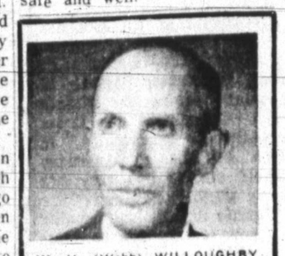

Defense attorney William M. Kunstler said earlier he would file an appeal for an emergency stay of the trial with Burger but the defense team said late Monday they were not sure they would go ahead with the appeal.

Brown, charged with arson and inciting to riot for a speech he made nearly three years ago in Cambridge, Md., has been missing since March 8, the night before his trial was to begin in Bel Air under a change of venue from Cambridge.

The trial was moved to Ellicott City after two of Brown's associates were killed in a car explosion near Bel Air and another blast damaged the Cambridge courthouse.

Brown, free in $10,000 bail, is not required to appear in court until the state of jury selection. If he is not present then he faces revocation of bail, a possible contempt citation, up to seven years in prison and $7,000 in fines.

Kunstler reiterated Monday his appeal to Brown to release a statement telling his wife, lawyers and friends that he is safe and well.

ABA Endorses Blackmum's Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The American Bar Association today endorsed Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun as a man with "high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity."

The ABA's Committee on the Federal Judiciary characterized Blackmun as "sincere, frank understanding and cooperative."

He is one who "conscientiously and with an open mind weighs every reasonable argument with careful knowledge of the record, the arguments and the law," the report said.

The assessment was contained in a letter from the committee chairman, Lawrence E. Walsh of New York, to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of te Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Judiciary Committee begins hearings Wednesday on Blackmun—the third Nixon nominee for Supreme Court vacancy created last May by the resignation of Abe Fortas.

The previous two choices, Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell—both federal appeals judges from the South—were rejected by the Senate.

WASHINGTON—Sen. William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, commenting on the amount of American aid sought by Cambodia for its war effort:

"Hundreds of millions of dollars worth . . . far beyond the capacity of Cambodia to absorb."

DISCOVERY CLOSE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Albert Ghioroso, a nuclear scientist at the University of California at Berkeley, told the American Physical Society's spring meeting Monday researchers may be close to the discovery of elements No. 106 and 107.

He said that after a lapse of almost a decade, researchers discovered No. 104 and 105 recently. He said 106 may be something heavier than anything known.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After my eighth baby was born, I asked my doctor to "tie my tubes" so I wouldn't have any more children. It's nothing new. Lots of women have it done.

Well, that was two years ago, and yesterday my husband came home and announced that he had gone down to the doctor's office and had his tubes tied! It sure sounds to me like there's another woman in his life.

Maybe I'm just dumb, but I can't understand why he had to have that done when there was no danger of getting me pregnant.

Do you think he's off his rocker, or just plain don't like kids. Please don't use my name. Four of my kids can read.

"OVER BEARING"

DEAR OVER: No matter what your husband's faults may be, "gambling" isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FLAT AS A PANCAKE": Don't be dissappointed in your measurements. I am stationed on Okinawa now, and the average chest size for a fully-developed woman here is 27 inches. So, cheer up! Age will help.

Respectfully,
A "GI" in THE PACIFIC

DEAR "GI": Thanks for the comforting words for "FLAT" and all her flat sisters. Its good to know that our men in the Pacific are so compassionate, informed — and observing.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14 years old and I have a problem. All my friends call me "conceited." I'm not really, but they think I am because I can't pass a mirror without looking at myself.

So what can I do about myself, Abby? Do you think I'm conceited or not?

NOT CONCEITED

DEAR NOT: Looking at one's self in the mirror does not necessarily indicate that you admire yourself. Perhaps you lack self-confidence and are seeking constant reassurance. Try to pass a mirror without looking into it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "CAN'T SLEEP" whose conscience is bothering her over her neglect of an elderly mother, recently deceased.

Go the the nearest Old Folks home and take on a "mother" or even a "mother and father." Do for them what you wish you'd have done for your own. Think how much pleasure a ride on a sunny day, a small gift or even a bouquet of flowers would mean to the elderly "forgotten-by-family" people who are in these homes. If you can't take them out, you can go and talk with them, and listen to them reminisce. You will gain a lot. I know. I've tried it and it works. It's fun! (Sign me)

Episcopal Church Group Schedules Play Reading

Women of St. Matthews Episopal Church will have a brunch and play reading in the Parish Hall, 727 W. Browning at 10 a.m. May 2.

Mrs. Mary Ann Smith of Dallas will present the play "Forty Carats" by Jay Allen. It's currently on Broadway and once starred Julie Harris in the leading role. The play is about a May-August romance between a divorcee of 40, in the prime of her life and a discerning youth in his early 20's, according to Mrs. Katherine Reeve.

"Mary Ann Smith has a distinguished background in drama, music, and civic activities in Dallas. After winning the State Declamation Silver Cup Award while in high school, she graduated from the Cocke School of Drama, and attended the University of Texas, where she was a member of the Curtain Club, and winner of the Samuel French Award for acting," Mrs. Reeve said.

She has a B.A. Degree in Speech and Drama from SMU. While attending the Hockaday Institute of Music, she studied the harp for six years.

Mrs. Smith has performed leading roles with the University Summer Stock Players and the Dallas Little Theater.

A former Dallas debutante, she is a member of the Junior League and has performed with the League's Children Theater.

"She was chosen by the Dallas Times Herald as the Dallas Woman of 1963. Since her marriage to ugene Braagg Smith, Jr. she has become the mother of two daughters and a son and has turned her talents to bringing Broadway to clubs in Texas and the surrounding states in the form of "one woman presentations"," Mrs. Reeve said. "To make reservations, contact the church office at 5-8994 or Mrs. Bill Cornman 5-4044."

Wheeler Faculty To Honor Teacher

Women on the grade school faculty of Wheeler schools will honor Mrs. Lola Weems at a reception Sunday in honor of her retirement after 39 years teaching.

The reception will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Fellowship Hall of United Methodist Church in Wheeler. All friends and former pupils of Mrs. Weems may attend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weems have both taught several years in the Wheeler County schools. Mr. Weems retired as county superintendent in 1967 after eight years service. They were employed with Wheeler County schools as the faculty of the Davis school on the Davis ranch east of Kelton, and later taught at Ramsdell. They lived in Kelton from 1946 to 1951. Mr. Weems, minister, has held pastorates during his teaching career.

Mrs. Weems has taught primary grades in Wheeler since they moved there in 1951. In 1963 she was named "Teacher of the Year, "by the Federated Women's Clubs of Texas.

They have two adopted daughters, Linda, a senior at Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, and Francis, who is taking a business course at Amarillo Junior College.

Mrs. Weems is an active charter member of the '54 Study Club of Wheeler. Both are members of the Wheeler Church of Christ.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, APRIL 30

Your birthday Thursday: In a year of normal progress, direct your life in the most practicable manner within your own set of people and its resources. From large families in thriving communities individuals have a great range of opportunity. Others have to create their own advantages as they go.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Wind up your month-end business details with little fuss and fanfare. Patience will bring you a chance to improve finances and money matters in general. Somebody near you teases, hoping for reaction.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20); Diplomacy with both friends and career contacts is needed more than ever.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20); Much help and advice is all around you. Be discreet and very selective in what you accept of it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22); Apply for positions, improvements, better situations at home and at work. Settle any differences with relatives, friends, neighbors.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22); Aggressive ecquaintances are striving to rush you into unwise expenses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22); Patience and tact are as important as your steady drive Thursday.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22); Find some way to get other people together for important cooperative or group efforts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21); Instead of squabbling, simply attend your health care, supply-gathering, inventories, shopping, and other routines.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21); Take a middle course Thursday, neither overbuying nor speculating.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19); Travel requires continued caution but all other factors see a to be looking up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-feb. 18); Your mood is more toward extravagance, a test of your limitations. Accept matters as they are; you will last longer and feel more satisfied.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20); If you will only refrain from impatience with things and people, everything turns around to benefit you and those you care about. Put in a good word for them.

Pampa Deanery Attends Diocesan Meeting In Borger

GROOM (Spl) — The Pampa Deanery of the Council of Catholic Women of the Diocese of Amarillo met in St. John's School at Borger for their annual Spring meeting recently. Theme of the meeting was "In the Spirit of the Gospel."

Mrs. Bill Bohr, president of St. Mary's Christian Mothers and Altar Society; Mrs. Mike Homer, past president; Mrs. Amos Britten and Mrs. Jerry Kotars attended and served as delegates.

Mrs. Britten was elected vice-president of the Deanery to serve for two years and Mrs. John Quirk was re-elected to the office of historian for two years. Father J. Arnold Carlson also attended.

Quivira Council ..... Girl Scouts Win Camporee Prizes

Singing around the campfire, camping together, exchanging ideas and making new friends highlighted the fourth annual Junior Camporee of the Quivira Girl Scout Council.

After the 400 campers and adults set up camp Friday at Camp Mel Davis, near Lefors, a campfire of singing and introduction of each troop followed. Special events were Wide-Game awards and Sunday church service.

In the Wide Game, for competition in skills and knowledge held Saturday, troops were rated on knowledge of uniform insignia and flag courtesy, nature identification, first aid and skills in use of the compass. Points were given also for neatness and use of campcraft skills at each troop's campsite.

Saturday's all-camp campfire consisted of Wide Game awards, and a ceremony in which each troop burned a friendship faggot, making a special wish as each log burned, Mrs. T.M. Whiteley, field advisor, said today.

Receiving Honor Camper Ribbons from Pampa were Troops 87, led by Mrs. N.G. Kadingo; 73, led by Mrs. Ronald Lloyd; 61, led by Mrs. Wayne Jones; 23, led by Mrs. Claude Ferrel; and Troop 10, led by Mrs. Ben Holland. Mrs. Bob Tipps' Troop 106, Canadian, also received an Honor Camper Ribbon.

Troops from Pampa receiving Capable Camper Ribbons were: 187, led by Mrs. David Bronner and 90, led by Mrs. Louis Jones. Troops receiving Participating Ribbons from Pampa included 95, led by Mrs. Oren Carter and 18, led by Mrs. Daniel Ginardi.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —You remember George McSanguine? I introduced him to you during the Johnson administration. He was at that time a civilian employe of the Defense Department and he was working in Vietnam as a tunnel end lighter.

Every time there was an escalation of the war, you'll recall, some U.S. official in Saigon would say he could finally "see the light at the end of the tunnel."

Well, ol' George was the guy who had charge of the light.

Perhaps you've been wondering whatever happened to him

Bumps Into George

If so, I can tell you that he has been transferred to Washington and given another assignment. The reason I know this is that I happened to bump into him on a downtown street the other day.

I recognized him immediately because he was the only man on the block who was skipping along the sidewalk whistling "Everything's Coming Up Roses."

"Hi there, George!" I called.

McSanguine leaped up, clicked his heels together and said "Howdy." We shook hands.

"Are you still lighting the ends of tunnels over in Vietnam?" I asked.

"No," he said. "I trained a native to handle that job as part of the Vietnamization program. So they sent me back to Washington. Now I'm working at the Treasury Department as a corner turner."

"Every month, as you know, the Bureau of Labor Statistics releases a new consumer price index showing that the cost of living has risen six-point-something per cent during the past 30 days.

Operates Corner-Turner

"And each time that living costs rise another six percent, somebody in the Treasury Department says this means that we have finally turned he corner in the fight against inflation.

"My job is to operate the inflation corner-turning machine that stands in the basement of the Treasury Building."

I said, "What does an inflation corner-turning machine look like?"

"Strangely enough, it looks a great deal like an end-of-the-tunnel lighter," George replied.

"It sounds like very interesting work," I said.

LBJ Questiones JFK Slaying

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has questioned the "single assassin" conclusion on the slaying of President John F. Kennedy, but at his request the segment has been deleted from a forthcoming, pre-taped television interview, the Washington Post said today.

The newspaper said Johnson requested deletion of his comment on the Warren Commission findings "on the grounds of national security." The interview, final of a series with the Columbia Broadcasting System, is to be aired at 7:30 p.m. EDT May 2.

The Post quoted a CBS source as confirming that Johnson had expressed reservations about the Warren report conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, shot the President to death in Dallas. But the source was said to have declined to disclose the wording of either the question or Johnson's comment.

Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, said this message will be given at the outset of the telecast:

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent penetration of the year's low on the Dow Jones industrial average may turn out to be only a token one and will not be followed by a new downward leg as many fear, according to E. F. Hutton & Co. The analyst suggests that selling "will then dry up" and this could stimulate the buyers to "become more aggressive."

"All the makings of a major selling climax are at hand," Spear and Staff Inc. says, adding that such a development "would be most welcome" to "an increasingly large number of analysts." Its suggestion to investors is to continue to lighten holdings of "lesser quality issues," if a major selling climax develops, it adds, "Blue chips will probably outperform the rest of the market in the initial phase of the subsequent upturn."

Walston & Co. says that despite the fast pace of inflation, "the government must discover some method whereby the economy can stop growing again." It goes on to say that "at least the bond market is attracting more attention than it has since the 1920's," adding that a "huge supply" of tax-free municipal bonds affording "almost unbelievable" yields are available to investors.

Altrusans Translate Hippy Language Into Service Areas

Any resemblance between their everyday lives and the roles Altrusans portrayed in a "Love-In" spoof Monday night is strictly coincidental.

The skit was presented in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn during an observance of the 53rd anniversary of the orgaization of the executive and professional women's service club, on April 11, 1917 in Nashville, Tenn.

Titled "A fresh approach to entertainment," the original script was adapted by Mrs. Van Vanderberg from a skit presented at a district meeting last Fall in Fort Worth.

Keeping just this side of hysterical laughter, action throughout the play depicted the types of service, classification, and goals of the international club.

Three hippies seated on the floor discuss an Altrusa "love-in" as other hippies parade and protest.

Protesting to the chants of "yah .... yah.... yah...." protestors carried signs of "Patriotism - Efficiency- Service"; "Vocational Services"; "Community Service; "Information".

In a strictly non-documentary manner, the seated hippies managed to get across pertinent information about the club with one saying, as she reads from a "hippie" news paper: "Says here there are 550 clubs with a total membership of 17,411 professional and executive women, and they are all classified."

Another hippie replies, "Sure looks like these birds from all over."

A third one asks: "Do they come from the moon and heaven, too?"

"No," says Hippie No. 1, "but they working on that." And to illustrate that point, a spacegirl, an angel appear, plus a devil" who is described as a computerized mistake.

Pampa Bops Horns, 13-10

By DAN PACKARD
Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa's Harvesters moved into undisputed third place in the District 4-AAAA baseball race here Tuesday with their fifth consecutive loop victory, 13-10, over Caprock's Longhorns.

A fierce wind raked the diamond and turned the contest into a battle of hitters and before it was over, a total of 25 safeties were registered, 12 for extra bases.

Harvester rightfielder John Jenkins presented a remarkable hitting exhibition, rapping four doubles in as many times to the plate and driving in five runs.

Also showing hitting strength for Pampa, sophomore Gregg Schulz extended his string of consecutive hits to seven with two singles before grounding out in the third. The centerfielder came back in the sixth with a run-scoring triple, however.

Doug Thompson started on the hill for Pampa but was relieved in the fourth by Jeff Hogan, who lasted until the seventh when Mike Edgar came in.

Thompson, 5-3, received credit for the win.

Caprock's Kerry Morgan was tabbed for the loss.

Schulz began the free-for-all in the first with a single, followed by back to back doubles by Wyatt Earp and Jenkins.

Caprock shortstop Jay Petty overthrew first on Tommy Hawkins' grounder to allow Earp and Jenkins to score.

Steve Scott, centerfielder, brought in the fourth Harvester tally with a double to center.

In the Longhorn first, Jay Petty smacked Thompson's first offering to left-center for a triple and Gene Marcum brought him home with a single.

The winners increased their lead to 9-1 in the second on the strength of five Harvester hits from Thompson, Schulz, Earp, Jenkins (a double) and Hawkins.

Morgan allowed only two other Harvester hits until the four-run sixth. Vernon Johnston laced a single in the third and Jenkins notched his third double.

Caprock tallied three in the third without the aid of a single basehit.

Four walks, a hit batter and a sacrifice spelled the end for Thompson. Hogan took over with two out, the bases loaded and the count 3-0. His first pitch walked in the final run of the inning, but he got out of the jam when Marcum grounded out.

Thompson gave up only three hits in his three two-thirds innings stint.

Jody Crawford posted the fifth Longhorn run with a towering homer to right-center in the fifth.

Pampa took a 9-5 lead into the top of the sixth and entered the bottom half with a 13-5 advantage.

Providing what were to be the winning runs, Schulz drilled a triple, Jenkins whacked his fourth two-bagger and Hawkins and Scott both singled.

Caprock cut the margin to 13-7 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth as Petty singled and Joe Crownover followed with a single to center which escaped Steve Scott and allowed both runners to score.

Caprock made a late effort to catch up in the final frame as Greg Day's triple and a double by Petty drove in three runs but the 'Horns were still three runs short when Mike Edgar, who came in after one was out, caught Crownover looking at the final strike of the ball game.

Pampa collected 15 hits in the slugfest, Caprock 10.

With the victory, the Harvesters bettered their district performance mark to 8-6, hopping over Borger and Coronado in the loop standings.

Borger fell to Amarillo Tuesday, 8-4, and Coronado succumbed to leader Monterey, 5-2.

In other games, second-place Tascosa edged Palo Duro, 12-10 and Plainview beat Lubbock, 8-5.

Only three games remain on the Harvester schedule. Coronado will invade Optimist Park Friday for a 4 p.m. tussle, Plainview will be here Saturday at 1 p.m. and coach Buddy Williams' charges will host Tascosa in the Monday finale.

Knicks, LA To Clash In 3rd Playoff Game

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers, with the momentum and home court advantage now on their side, host the New York Knicks tonight in the third game of the championship playoffs with Wilt Chamberlain talking about the chemistry of it all.

The Lakers evened the best-of-seven National Basketball Association finals at 1-1 with a 105-103 victory at New York Monday night as Chamberlain outplayed the Knicks' Willis Reed.

"I was able to do things I wasn't able to do the last time," the 7-foot-1 Laker pivotman said Thursday, referring to New York's 124-112 opening game win.

"I was able to adjust better. Maybe it's a chemistry thing with me. But I did get more help. Everyone was doing a job."

After two games of the series, Chamberlain has been outscored by Reed, his more agile rival center, 66-36, but the 11-year pro from Kansas has a 48-31 rebounding edge.

Walt Frazier, the third-year guard from Southern Illinois, promised New York would come back.

"This will make us a tougher team," he said after the Los Angeles victory. "We seem to play better when we're down.

"And the pressure is really on us now. We just can't let them win two games on the coast."

One of the matchups in the series has pitted the oldest Laker, 35-year-old Elgin Baylor, against 6-6 Davie DeBusschere. DeBusschere has the advantage after two games with 37 points and 30 rebounds to Baylor's 34 point sand 25 rebounds.

Jerry West, the NBA's regular season top scorer with a 31.2 average, has paced the Los Angeles attack in the series with 67 points.

At 31, West knows his time is running out as far as the championships that has eluded him throughout his career is concerned.

"It's hard to describe what it means to me," West said. "Everybody talks about the money but peace of mind is very hard to get."

The fourth game will be played at the Forum Friday night with the series moving back to Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Grand Slam Powers Mets, 5-2

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

When Mets' Manager Gil Hodges shook up his lineup this week and benched three regulars, Dave Marshall suddenly found himself starting in left field in place of Cleon Jones. And Thursday night he found himself starting against his old teammates.

All he did was hit a grand slam homer in his first at bat to power the Mets to a 5-2 victory over the Giants.

"I'd never hit a grand slam in my life," Marshall bubbled. "I never even came close, even in high school, junior high and Little League."

"It didn't feel special because it was against my old teammates," he said, "it just felt good."

The new lineup will get a tough test today when it faces Juan Marichal of the Giants. Rookie Mike Jorgensen and Wayne Garrett, replacing Tommie Agee and Joe Foy, are the other two new starters with Marshall in the shuffled lineup.

In the other games, Cincinnati downed Houston, 4-2, Pittsburgh beat Chicago, 6-1, Atlanta downed St. Louis, 3-2, Philadelphia edged Los Angeles, 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal swept a doubleheader from San Diego, 4-2 and 7-3.

Tony Perez hit his 10th homer of the month to tie a major league mark as the Reds beat Houston. Perez tied the mark of 10 homers in April set by Frank Robinson last year. Gary Nolan pitched eight innings to get the victory.

Manny Sanguillen, whose error let in the only run in the Pirates loss to the Cubs Monday night, hit two homers as Pittsburgh snapped Chicago's 11-game winning streak. "You can't let yesterday's mistakes bother you," Sanguillen said and then proved it.

Hank Aaron hit the 561st homer of his career in the first inning and Clete Boyer hit a two-run homer in the ninth to give Atlanta its win over St. Louis. But the homer everyone was talking about was a two-run slice by Richie Allen that accounted for the two St. Louis runs.

Powell's Homer Carries Orioles To 4th Consecutive Victory, 4-2

By FRANK DE GEORGES
UPI Sports Writer

The Baltimore Boog, a notoriously slow bloomer, is beginning to sprout a few buds.

Boog, the Oriole first baseman, who also goes by the more formal title of John Wesley Powell, blossomed Tuesday night with a three-run homer and double as Baltimore won its fourth straight game, a 4-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, New York whipped California, 7-5; Cleveland trimmed Minnesota, 3-1; Boston edged Oakland, 2-1; Detroit mashed Kansas City, 8-3, Washington clubbed Milwaukee, 9-5.

Powell's homer came after first-inning singles by Mark Belanger and Frank Robinson while his fifth-inning double scored Robinson, who had singled and reached second on a wild pitch. Mike Cueller pitched his third complete game for Baltimore to run his record to 3-1.

Fritz Peterson helped his own cause by driving in three runs with a two-run single and the first homer of his major league career as he notched his second victory. He needed relief from Steve Hamilton in the ninth, however, when California scored three runs. Ron Woods also homered for New York.

Kentucky Derby Picture Cloudy As Ever

By United Press International

With only three days until the Kentucky Derby, the picture remains as clouded as ever.

Tuesday's $15,000 added Derby Trial at Churchill Downs was supposed to help establish some sort of favorite as several of the Derby entrants went to the post. But Admiral's Shield, one of the longshots in the field, put on a strong stretch run and may have regained a starting berth in Saturday's Derby after faring poorly in the Blue Grass Stakes six days ago.

Admiral's Shield rallied along the rail and plodded through a sloppy track to beat favored George Lewis by a length. Panicum Repens was third, seven lengths further back. Admiral's Shield paid $42.00.

High Echelon was fourth, followed by Supreme Quality, Fish Market, Fathom, Air Song, Native Royalty and Frank 'N Jesse.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Pretending To Be Patriots

"Patriotism," wrote Samuel Johnson, "is the last refuge of a scoundrel."

Just before World War II, there was a small radical minority who "heiled" Hitler and thought the Gestapo was groovy. They always draped their speaker's platforms with yrrds and yards of red, white and blue bunting. Great patriots — or so they pretended.

Now we notice signs that the pinks and punks of the "new left," hate-America minority are about to pose as "patriots," by identifying themselves with the early American revolutionists. "In six years," reads one such news item in the Washington Post, "It will have been two centuries since unruly, long-haired Americans took to the streets, staged violent confrontations and declared their independence from established law and order."

Bunk.

The so-called "long-haired" Americans 200 years ago were FOR law and order, not against it. They declared their independence from a tyrannical disregard for the law, not independence from the law itself. Their revolt was not against the law, but against oppressive measures which were in violation of the law. Their slogan was: "Liberty under law."

The first three complaints in the Declaration of Independence open with the words: "He (the King of England) has refused his assent to laws .... He has refused to pass other laws .... He has forbidden his Governors to pass laws ...." The King was accused of "obstructing laws;" of obstructing "the administration of justice;" of "abolishing our most valuable laws," etc.

Those who believe in law and order today are in accord with the Whigs, the Minutemen, the Sons of Liberty, and the revolutionists of 1776. Those today who would obstruct justice, who defy and break the law, who bomb courthouses and destroy private property, are in accord with the Tories of 1776, not the Patriots. And, just as the Tories two hundred years ago stood with the British Empire, so the Tories of today side with the Red Empire — except that Communist imperialism is far worse than was British imperialism.

"Patriotism," wrote Samuel Johnson, "is the last refuge of a scoundrel." He was right.

On Learning About Life

On occasion we spot a ray of hope beaming from amidst the murky clouds of immorality, drugs, dropouts and general alientation that seems to darken the lives of too many youth in our society. One sage has predicted that because of the permissive behavior of modern youths, they will, when they attain maturity, turn out to be among the most strict parental generations in recent history. We hope that this turns out to be the case; and there are some signs to indicate that maybe he is right.

In the March 23rd edition of the National Observer, there was a report on a visit to a so-called "commune" in the State of Washington. The reporter was greeted at the door of the most elaborate house in the commune by a very nude young man. They entered the living room for the interview, where they were joined by the wife, also stark naked.

During the discussion the young couple displayed the typical, and predictable, "anti-establishment" motivations. They claimed to be both anti-capitalist and anti-communist; they just don't want to live under any authority of any kind.

But the most interesting — and we believe, significant — part of the reported conversation was the fact that many of the things that society has learned over the years to be best for all, are now being "discovered" by the commune residents.

They confessed to the reporter that their experimental ventures into mate swapping and "group marriages" had failed. "Monogamy seems to create the least amount of tensions and provides more stability for raising children" is the way one resident put it. Now, isn't that a remarkable "discovery" for a college graduate!

On the theory of sharing all: a female resident told of the utter and complete failure of the system. "True communal life just didn't work out," she said. "Everyone contributed according to his ability, all right; but those who had less ability seemed to have more needs." She noted that a worker would chop firewood to heat the house — and a drone would leave all the doors open.

On drugs: addicts with drugs invaded the commune a while back and didn't work at all. Now some of the residents will not even take aspirin or coffee, much less liquor.

Well, maybe from a coldly scientific view such "communal" life is instructional. We'll be ready to believe it when they begin to wear clothing when greeting guests at their door.

Passing Of Penny Arcade

Score one more for inflation.

The galloping increase in the cost of amusement, as well as living, has done in another great American institution — the penny arcade. The last one-cent machine at New York's Coney Island has been retired from service, replaced by one that charges a nickel.

Appropriately enough, it's a fortune teller.

The High Cost Of Complaint

Congressional correspondence runs hot and heavy. A lot of letters from the folks back home have been inspired by concern over taxes, inflation and government spending, including no doubt, the 41 per cent pay raise Congress voted for itself. Some congressmen complained they were being swamped by the volume of mail.

The result: The House of Representatives authorized the hiring of 535 extra clerks, one for every member. The cost: $3.8 million a year.

Sometimes you can't win for losing.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Roger Bollen

H. L. Hunt Writes

CUBA IN THE OAS?

In February 1961, the members of the Organization of American States (OAS) voted to expel communist Cuba from that organization. Now some Latin American political leaders are calling for the re-admission of Cuba to the OAS. This would be a serious mistake.

The OAS expelled Cuba primarily because of the communist-inspired campaign of subversion throughout Latin America. This subversion included outright guerrilla warfare with Cuba as its base. It certainly provided ample justification for terminating Cuba's membership in the OAS, since the purpose of the organization is to promote peace and prosperity throughout the Western Hemisphere while Castro's goal is to extend communist influence, by force if necessary.

There has been no change in Cuba's policies which would justify re-examination of the question of Cuba's membership in the OAS. Castroite subversion continues throughout the Western Hemisphere. In Bolivia, in the countries of Central America, and elsewhere communist guerrillas have been and continue to be active.

Castro has given no indication whatever that he intends to leave his neighbors alone. So long as Cuba is under communist control, there is almost no prospect that its policies will change.

Most nations in the Western Hemisphere maintain an economic boycott against Cuba. This should be continued. Cuba's economy has been in serious trouble. If Castro could trade freely with other Latin American countries, his economy would be bolstered and his hold on the enslaved people of Cuba would be tightened. Our representatives in the OAS should make every effort to insure that communist Cuba is not re-admitted to that organization.

Boy! There are more pink slips flying around Washington these days than there are cherry blossoms.

It seems that Atty. General Mitchell of the Justice Dept. hired a press aide for his wife Martha, then up and gave the ax to his image maker, Jack Landau.

Sitting in the department's information office, Landau admitted he was looking for another job. He's got a problem, sort of in the same boat as the Gunner's Mate who spent 20 years on a battleship, then was thrown out into the cruel, cold world.

It was reported that Landau was told he didn't fit the mold of what a spokesman should be — beastly old square peg in a round hole sort of thing, eh, what?

After the firing of Landau, Kay Woestendiek was hired for Martha. Then - TV station, WETA, lowered the boom on Willie Woestendiek, Kay's hubby, pending "futher consideration of his duties" as editor of their newsroom program ...

This came as Carswell was being relieved as a judge for the high court before he got started, and Martha had called Arkansas in an effort to undermine Sen. Fulbright ...

Just one big fun and fantasy land — Washington, the harbor for nuts and bolts.

It seems that in this clamor for Public Relations, the public and the relations suffer equally .....

THE GLOBAL VIEW

Battle For Kremlin Power Reported To Be Wide Open

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — (NEA) — Who are the antagonists in the Kremlin's new struggle for power? On the answer may well depend the success or failure of President Nixon's effort to reach agreement with Moscow on the limitation of nuclear arms.

Soviet political rivalries are, as usual, shrouded in mystery, but there is increasing evidence that the Brezhnev-Kosygin "collective leadership," which engineered Premier Khrushchev's fall in 1964, is falling apart.

According to some East European diplomats, there is no real control in Moscow.

This, in their view, explains Russia's erratic policies on Vietnam, the Middle East and Germany. It also explains the Kremlin's unbelievably incompetent handling of the political side of the Czechoslovak invasion in 1968, which struck a sharp blow at Russia's international prestige even among loyal Communists.

The latest conflict has been brewing for some time. The chief protagonists seem to be the more moderate faction led by Premier Aleksei Kosygin and the neo-Stalinist hardliners who back Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev.

The aging and ailing Kosygin is believed to have ruled himself out as supreme "vozhd" (leader), but he is backing for the job his younger deputy, Kiril Mazurov, a rising star in the all-powerful Politburo.

Another contender is Aleksandr Shelepin who ostensibly favors a revival of Czarist Pan-Slavism as an instrument of Russia's foreign policy.

Mazurov, 55, and Shelepin, 51, belong to the middle generation of top Soviet officials who joined the Communist party between 25 and 30 years ago. It is this generation that can be expected to take over almost all top policy-making positions in the Kremlin within this decade.

However, the dynamic and ambitious Shelepin, a former chief of the secret police, is distrusted by Red army officers who fear his continued connection with the KGB.

And it is the marshals and generals who are likely to make the final decision on who is to be Brezhnev's successor. Their numbers and influence are on the rise in the Central Committee of the Communist party.

The army officers, including Defense Minister Marshal Andrei Grechko, are concerned more with the Red Chinese threat in the Far East than with Moscow's advance in the Middle East.

They apparently believe that Russia's economy and the Soviet people are inadequately prepared for a protracted conflict with Peking.

They blame Brezhnev for the stagnating economy and Russia's loss of international prestige.

He is also suspected of trying to become, like Stalin and Khrushchev, a dictator whose decisions would be accepted — in Lenin's words — "once and for all, without any conferences and without any formal voting."

This is seen as the reason why his partisans are making a pathetic effort to groom the mediocre Brezhnev for the role of a Marxist-Leninist authority.

A two-volume edition of his articles and speeches were recently described by the Soviet theoretical journal Kommunist as a "brilliant analysis" of the Russian revolution and a "convincing characterization of the huge achievements of the Soviet people."

To be sure, many of Brezhnev's "literary" efforts are unworthy to be printed. His "collected works" cannot include his pre-1964 speeches and articles which were imbued with sycophantic praise of Khrushchev, whom he subsequently betrayed.

Nevertheless, the neo-Stalinists are well on the way of creating a "Brezhnev cult." Who will emerge as winner in the Kremlin is still early to predict. As secretary general of the Communist party, Brezhnev wields enormous power.

To consolidate his position, he recently postponed the party's 24th congress. Meanwhile, he is purging local party secretaries, propagandists and members of the KGB and replacing them with loyal men.

We may be witnessing the drama of Brezhnev's decline — and ultimate fall — but he is fighting hard to stay at the helm.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

. QUESTION: — How come the entire House of Congress is up for election this year? I thought both Senate and House staggered terms somehow, so as to avoid this condition, by the Constitution, the same one that our Supreme Court twists to suit its whims. Is this just a twist by the House?

—M.R.D.

ANSWER: — Senators serve six-year terms, with one-third up for election each two years. The House members serve two-year terms, and are up for election every two years. This was provided as part of the original Constitution.

The Founding Fathers believed the Senate (then chosen by the state legislatures) should have a continuity, so only a third were up for election each biennial period. The House of Representatives, selected directly by the people, was mandated to return to the people every two years. It was presumed this would give the people a better control over their direct representatives.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Chickenpox Virus Is Cause of Shingles

Q—What causes, shingles? What are the usual symptoms? Will they leave scars? What treatment is best?

A—Shingles, or herpes zoster, is caused by the chickenpox virus. According to the prevailing belief, it occurs most often in persons over 40 who had chickenpox earlier in life and in whom the virus has lain dormant for years. What triggers the attack is not known.

The victim may have pain over the course of a nerve, usually on only one side of the body and most commonly a nerve running between two ribs. From two to four days later, small, painful, red papules and blisters occur in groups along the skin over the involved nerve. They dry up in about 10 days but new outcroppings may appear for four or five weeks. When the lesions have healed, they may leave areas of pigmentation or scarring. There is no second attack but a common and very disturbing complication is a persistent neuralgia in the involved area. This occurs most iften in persons with hardening of the arteries.

In the acute stage, spraying the area with a freezing solution such as ethyl chloride relieves the pain and promotes healing. Covering the lesions with zinc oxide ointment is also helpful. Aspirin may be taken if the pain is severe but narcotics should be avoided because of the danger of dependence with prolonged use. In severe cases, spinal puncture and injection of ice cold normal saline solution into the spinal canal has given relief.

Q — What is the best treatment for post-shingles neuralgia?

A—The better the pain is controlled during the acute stage, the less chance there is of developing neuralgia later. Blocking the nerve early in the course of lhe neuralgia, if other measures fail to relieve the pain, is a good procedure. This will not help if the neuralgia has persisted for a month or more.

If, in spite of all efforts to prevent it, post - shingles neuralgia develops, an infusion of procaine into the vein usually gives relief. As a last resort, cutting the involved nerve may be advisable.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt can't answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Rites of Brezhnev Spring At Lenin Centennial?

WASHINGTON — In the festivities attending Russia's celebration of the V.I. Lenin centennial, party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev has moved to center stage as the Kremlin's number one spokesman.

Brezhnev has grabbed the of top Kremlinologists here. That development is apparently tension and uncertainty in Moscow — weeks in which a number of Russia's top leaders were "ill" or otherwise dropped from sight.

There is a feeling among the top experts here, however, that there may be more to come with respect to the Kremlin's shifting power structure.

Brezhnev's emergence, as reflected by the Russian propaganda machine, has been truly impressive. Three of his speeches last week were nationally televised and given a big build-up in the Russian press. He had not made a national address since November.

In the pre - centennial celebrations, other members of the Politburo made speeches too. President Nikola V. Podgorny spoke in Orenburg. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin spoke in Kursk and Politburo member Andrei P. Kirilenko spoke in Yerevan. None of those speeches got the Brezhnev treatment, however.

It can be argued that Brezhnev, as the top party official, should be expected to figure prominently in festivities honoring Lenin, whose writings charted a political course for the Soviet Union. In his speeches, however, Brezhnev did not confine himself to politics but covered a wide spectrum of Kremlin concerns.

OTHER SIGNS — Beyond the big publicity build-up, there are other signs that Brezhnev has been enlarging his power base. Two agriculture experts, viewed as Brezhnev associates, were recently reassigned to the top-level committee for science and technology.

That seems, to experts here, to constitute a high-level endorsement of Brezhnev's thesis that agriculture must lead the way in a resurgence for the flagging Soviet economy.

While the Lenin celebrations have dominated the recent news from Russia, it is clear that Kremlin leaders are looking beyond the centennial to other events which could precipitate shifts in the ruling hierarchy this year. A month ago elections were announced in June for the Supreme Soviet.

In addition, the 24th Communist party congress is to be held later this year, and a Central Committee meeting is expected within the next couple of months to set a date for the congress.

There will, in short, be plenty of opportunity for changes in the Kremlin high command if, as suggested by some sources in Eastern Europe, the Lenin celebration has been exerting a don't- rock- the- boat influence up to now.

LONG EXPECTED — Some changes of that sort have been expected — if not predicted — by Kremlinologists here. Most of the members of the Politburo are old Communists — 60 years old and more.

Some of them, like Kosygin, have frequently been reported as ill, and authorities here are inclined to believe that some are in poor health. So there are good reasons to expect changes, if only from a natural attrition.

In addition, however, recent economic ills have fostered wide speculation that some of the younger Russian bureaucrats were becoming disenchanted with the leadership of their elders. There has been unrest of a more public sort among Soviet writers and intellectuals.

Experts here are also puzzled about some aspects of the Lenin centennial itself. They say the arrangements for the festivities, centering on the April 22nd Lenin birthday, lacked the careful preparation which is usually associated with such events in Russia.

Except for one jubilee observance this week, experts here report that no advance announcements of the usual public shows had been made at all. As of late last week, for example, Moscow's man in the street had no word to indicate that the birthday itself would be other than a regular work day.

That is the sort of development — or non-development — which makes for speculation among the 'Kremlin-watchers.

WASHINGTON

Investigation May Delay Next Blast-Off To Moon

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Apollo 13 power failure could cause a delay of one year in the manned moon space program.

This was the time lost after the disastrous Apollo fire.

The problem is this: Virtually all detailed evidence of what went wrong was irretrievably lost on the way down from space — the batteries that failed, the breakdown in the oxygen containers or oxygen feeder system (one or another of which probably caused the batteries to fail).

Something may be learned from photos taken by the astronauts, from a detailed study of the telemetering of the space ship's gadgetry during flight as monitored on earth, from X rays of the equipment made during manufacture, from checks made in preflight testing and from other inspections made in construction and checkout.

But these may not tell much.

If the data on what went wrong does in fact, prove insufficient, the scientists will have to guess the cause. This means an extraordinarily great amount of redesigning. When you don't know what's wrong, you are forced into over-designing and overcompensating generally to make sure the next time. This is slow and very expensive.

The most worrisome fact is that the breakdown took place in a part of the system no one expected to give trouble. The shock of this will lead inevitably to some lessening of confidence in all components in the Apollo.

But this need not be a year lost. What's needed now is time to rethink the space program to make certain the priorities are right.

It may be that a stretch-out in the moon program would be better all around.

Considerable evidence is accumulating within the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Congress which indicates to some specialists that it would perhaps be wise to divert more of the space money to earth applications.

Here, the evidence suggests, there can be large and fairly rapid pay-offs:

—In relatively inexpensive TV schooling systems using space satellites. These can provide a steep increase in education for youngsters and oldsters in developing countries with large populations and little money to spend.

—In worldwide comprehensive storm data collection satellite systems providing information early enough to save lives in times of crisis.

—In satellite measurements of snow depths and snow melting that could save hundreds of millions of dollars a year in electric power costs in the U.S. alone.

—In satellite-aided geological prospecting and in crop yield and disease monitoring by satellites providing data that could be translated into emergency action to meet crop shortages and handle crop surpluses in whatever country they occur.

U.S.-sponsored programs along these lines could dramatically and effectively provide aid for other countries, rich and poor, and win the U.S. that respect and prestige essential for effective foreign policy.

Again, this aid- from- a- distance will be less likely to get the U.S. involved in local rivalries and politics than aid as now provided.
