MUSIC MAKERS BATTLE WITH MUD TO REACH LUBBOCK

SHEET MUSIC DELAYED SO CONCERT IS CURTAILED

RAIN ALL THE WAY

HALF OF AUTO CARAVAN MISSES CHANCE TO PLAY

Over three thousand people gathered at and around the Chautauqua grounds east of the Lubbock Sanitarium last night to hear the concert by the 32 piece band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Gold Medal band of Colorado.

The band was scheduled to be here at four o'clock but mud and they left Colorado yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and arrived here noon after 7. Much difficulty was encountered by the mud and the delegation was cut practically into halves. The other group expect to pass through here today and tomorrow.

Gorgeous Picture
Marching into the view of the crowd in single file the band gave a pretty picture in their black and gold uniforms with white trousers. Director A. C. Hewitt then told of the difficulty on the roads and stated that although not all of the band and music had arrived the boys would do their best under the circumstances. A good concert program had been prepared for the concert but they were able to give only marches and light pieces because of the delay of the car carrying the music.

Horn Speaks
Following several excellent selections by the band, President Paul W. Horn of the Tech introduced Dr. P. C. Coleman, father of the idea of the Tech, who spoke briefly of the great rise of the west and the part played by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He paid a great tribute to the undaunted fighting spirit of the west Texans in their work for one of the greatest educational institutions in the southwest. He stated that the other parts of the state did not know of West Texas until the West Texas Chamber of Commerce began to function.

"The convention in Amarillo," he stated, "is an eye opener of what one of the greatest sections in the world is doing."

Judge Hall, legislator from that section was introduced and spoke a few words of praise for Lubbock and the Tech and promised that he would do all in his power to make this section the greatest.

The "home brew" male quartet then took the platform and sang "We're from Colorado." This unit will be one of the features in Amarillo. The delegation spent the night in Lubbock last night, most of them camping at the Tourist park. They will leave at 9 o'clock this morning for Amarillo.

TO BE HERE TODAY

AUTO CARAVAN WILL GO TO POST TO MEET HIM

Two thousand five hundred heard Dan Moody speak at the Plainview auditorium last night.

The youthful attorney general was introduced by J. N. Jordan, former resident of Williamson county who knew Moody during the days of his childhood, and who presented him as "Texas' future governor."

As Mr. Jordan made brief reference to the capabilities of the candidate and declared him to be the only candidate in the field "big enough and brave enough to meet and defeat Jim Ferguson on every issue in the campaign," the crowd cheered so that it was difficult for the speaker to continue his introduction.

Lubbock Delegation
Dr. J. C. Anderson, chairman of the Hale county Moody for Governor club presided.

Among the many plains towns represented by supporters of the candidate for governor, delegations having made their appearances at Plainview early in the afternoon and continued to arrive from all points within 150 miles of that city until the speaking program was opened. Mayor Pink L. Parrish, Robert E. Higgins, Senator W. H. Bledsoe, Lee O. Allen and Neal Douglas, Jr., of the Avalanche were there from Lubbock.

"Bailly county 100 per cent for Dan Moody" was the encouraging message contained on a placard on a car from Muleshoe, similar evidences of enthusiastic support of Moody's campaign being seen on cars that carried other supporters to Plainview to hear Moody in his bitterest denunciations against Fergusonism in Texas.

Deafening cheers greeted the attack upon the alleged objectionable features of the Ferguson administration.

When Dan Moody arrives at Post this afternoon to speak, a caravan of Lubbock citizens including the high school band, will meet him, and after the speech will escort him to Lubbock, where he speaks at 8 o'clock tonight at Broadway and Avenue L.

Too Many Liberties For British Woman Says Former Ruler

By United News
LONDON, June 18.—The liberty accorded the modern English woman, short skirts and the "society butterfly" were denounced by the Begum of Bhopal, formerly only woman ruler in India, in an interview granted here on the eve of her departure for her native land. The Begum recently came to England to secure the recognition of the British Government of the right of her only surviving son to succeed her as ruler in preference to the heirs of her deceased elder sons. The government recognized the proposed order of succession and the Begum immediately abdicated in her son's favor.

"I consider that English women should not have so much liberty, and I do not approve of the very short skirts they wear," she declared. "According to my religion, woman was born of man, as Eve was born of Adam, and therefore I consider it a mistake for modern women to strive to occupy the role of man. I think they should cultivate a more womanly spirit and in their fight for freedom should not become mannish in either speech or manners."

Referring to the "society butterfly," she said: "Every woman should have a definite occupation to keep her from frittering away her time in silly pursuits and pleasures. No matter how rich a woman may be, she ought to be able to support herself with that view every girl should be trained for some business or profession, especially in England where many girls have to remain unmarried, owing to the preponderance of women over men."

The Begum has ruled the 1,000,000 people in the State of Bhopal for more than 25 years and during her reign did much to advance the education and enlightenment of all classes. She is the only woman Chancellor of a university and regularly presides over the Council of the University of Aligarh in the center of Moslem learning. She wears a veil during her public appearances there.

In a recent proclamation General Pilsudski told the Polish Army: "If you can not love me, at least you will have to respect me." Which recalls the famed remark of an American sergeant to a squad of recruits: "All I want out of you guys is respect, and damned little of that."

Berlin, Germany.—President von Hindenburg has announced he does not favor the confiscation of properties held by the former ruling emperors of Germany, adding, in a letter, that he thinks this action will endanger all properties.

Ladies Think They Wear Smaller Shoes But Do They?

And what have been described as the "tiny trim feet" of the fair sex, getting larger. Oh has it just been a mistake all the time—this stuff about women having small feet.

Perhaps some of the fair ones will have a sigh of regret, if the statement is true, that their feet are gradually growing larger. Or it may be that they will find some consolation in what a salesman in a local shoe store has to say on the subject.

In the opinion of this gentleman, retail salesmen who have to deal with women customers, must be somewhat of diplomats. Such qualifications are much more essential in selling women than in serving men. In nine cases out of ten almost a man is much more easily suited in selecting a pair of shoes than a woman.

A woman customer, stated the salesman, will come into the store and ask for a certain shoe of a certain size. The salesman usually inquires, if she desires something for herself, and as he does so takes a casual glance at her feet. He then goes to the shelf and brings back a pair which he thinks will fit, whether they happen to be the size or not. This is the present day method, for with the manner of marking sizes on the boxes now, the average customer is unable to tell anything as to the size by the figures and letters which appear on the label.

"I did this some weeks ago," he said, "and the customer was fitted perfectly."

As a matter of fact the shoe he tried on the lady was a size or two larger than the one she asked for. However, she was pleased with the fit and decided to buy. Some days later, she came into the store furiously mad. A visitor in her home to whom she had shown the shoes, was able to read to her the correct size of the shoe. Notwithstanding the fact that the shoe fit her alright, she returned them and demanded the return of her money, stating that the salesman had sold her a size larger than what she asked for.

In former days this was not possible. All box labels carried the sizes in plain figures. In those days the salesman had to resort to other methods of confounding their lady customers as to correct sizes. Many more times than otherwise, a customer was sold a much larger shoe than she said she wore.

So, it is probably due to the confusing manner in the method of marking shoe sizes on the boxes, and the tricks played on customers which led many of the fair sex into the belief that they wore much smaller shoe than they really did.

Many of the present day shoe stores have their own private system of marking sizes on the boxes to overcome this trouble.

PAPA SAID DON'T

Mama Told Me Don't

Don't! Don't! It came from everywhere. Don't! Don't! This was the life from the toddling stage to the end of the toddle.
If I wanted fun—don't! If I wanted to be brave—don't! If I fell in love—don't! A basket full of don'ts was ready for papa and for mama whenever I said Oh, how I wish! Oh, please, mama! Now, dady, please!

Then there came a time when I didn't mind hearing don't, and that was when papa said don't trade with anybody except Clarence Saunders. I say the same don't to for I know that when mama and papa spend their money at a Clarence Saunders Store be some left that will buy me a new dress, a new hat, a pair of shoes, new stockings, suit and many other "cute" little things that I love to have.

HUBBERS OFF FOR FIVE GAME SERIES WITH PANHANDLE OILERS AND AMARILLO METS; QUATTLEBAUM AND BASSINGER GO

The Hubbers left yesterday afternoon for the five game series with the clubs in the Panhandle section of Texas, meeting with the Oilers of Panhandle, Texas, this afternoon and tomorrow; then with the Amarillo Mets during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Indications are that the Hubbers will meet with the stiffest competition that they have for the season in their clash with the north plains lads. Reports are that the Oilers have added, fired and hired until they have secured one of the strongest teams in West Texas. However, the Oilers are not the only ones that have strengthened their club, as the Hubbers added two valuable men to their roster before leaving here yesterday with two wrong-handers added to the crew in Quattlebaum and Duke Bassinger. The results of the game will be secured by the Avalanche today in the inning by inning and the public is invited to see how the Hubbers will battle this afternoon.

SHERROD - MYRICK GET LAUNDRY 18 TO 1

It was a batting practice for the Sherrod-Myrick nine last evening at the Merrill park when they defeated the Laundry men by a score of 18 to 1. Halbert, moundsman for the wash lads was helpless and was unable to stop the rapping of the hardware hitters—too familiar with the clubs was the only reason that could be given for their defeat according to members of the wash club.

Terry, lanky initial sacker for the hardware dealers, in four trips to the bat singled out a homer, two triples and a double. The box score:

CINCINNATI HANGS ON TO FIRST PLACE

Cincinnati clung tenaciously to first place in the National league Friday afternoon, overwhelming the lowly Phillies, 13 to 5, while Pittsburgh was beating the Giants, 8 to 3. The Reds pounded the offerings of four Philly pitchers to all corners of the lot. In only one inning, the eighth, did both teams fail to score. The world's champion Pirates, in beating McGraw's outfit broke the Giants' winning streak which had extended to four games.

In the American league, the Yanks clouted out a 10 to 2 victory over the White Sox and evened the series. Herb Pennock was in good form. Chicago's defeat dropped the Sox from second place to a tie with Cleveland for third. Philadelphia jumped into the runner-up position by virtue of a 12 to 2 victory over the Tigers. By losing, Detroit dropped to sixth place, being supplanted by the Senators who took a hard fought game from the Browns, 4 to 3.

WILLS CERTAIN TO PLAY AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, England, June 18. Major D. R. Larcombe, secretary and manager of the all-England tennis club, sponsoring the Wimbledon tennis tournament, announced Friday night that Helen Wills would play in the Wimbledon women's singles. "I have received a telegram from Miss Wills that she will positively play," he told the press. The American champion is drawn in a same half as Suzanne Lenglen, who defeated her at Cannes during the winter.

Negro Ball Game At 4 P. M. Today

Known as the two fastest colored ball clubs on the cap rock, the Lubbock Sluggers and the Floydada Sambos will meet this afternoon at 4 p. m. at Merrill park. Next Sunday Hernandez and his Mexicans will come back to try and beat the Lubbock negroes again.

When Joseph Gordin of New York tried to act as peacemaker between a man and wife, both of them attacked him and gave him a beating.

Wholesalers Whale Barbers 8 to 5

The Wholesalers lived up to their name and made tallies by the wholesale in the second inning yesterday to win from the Barbers by a score of 8 to 5. With the exception of this inning when the Wholesalers ran in seven scores, the game was very close.

McBroom pitching for the Barbers went weak in the second and was hit for seven safe blows with an equal number of runs. He was relieved in the third by T. Karr who cut the opposition down with ease striking out five out of 11 men who faced him.

A double play Johnson to Corcoran and a triple play, the first of the league, Bentley to Corcoran to Burgess featured for the winners. With two men on, R. Karr lined to Bentley and McBroom and T. Karr were caught off second and first.

Want Stores Shut For Lamesa Game

Plans are being prepared by the chamber of commerce to petition the business houses of Lubbock to close their stores and businesses from 4 o'clock until after Lamesa-Hubbers clash here on the opening of the Lamesa series, which starts on June

25. In connection with the closing of the stores the Hubbers will raise the flag which was won by them in the Denver tournament last fall. A pole has been furnished the baseball association by the New Newton Plumbing Co. It is the desire of the baseball association that a record breaking crowd will assemble for the occasion as there will be two add-on games by Mayor Pink L. Parrish and one by Colonel Clark M. Mullican, in which they will take active part in the raising of the Denver flag.

Americans Win Wightman Cup

By United News
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 18.—British sporting prestige, which has suffered from American golf victories this spring, took another decline Friday when women tennis stars from the United States won the Wightman cup, taking four matches out of seven.

With victory in her grasp, England faltered when Mrs. Sheppard-Barron was unable to run out two games in the third and deciding set with Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del. The American woman, taking desperate chances, won six straight games and the match, bringing the invaders on even terms with the English, three games apiece. Then the all-California doubles team, composed of Elizabeth Ryan and Mary K. Browne, captain of the American forces, took the deciding match from Mrs. Kitty McCane Godfree and Evelyn Colyer, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

The victory, which means that the cup will be brought back to the United States was all the more impressive because Helen Wills, America's premier player, was not able to participate. Last year at Forrest Hills, England won the Wightman cup although Miss Wills played. The Americans this year captured two singles matches and both doubles contests. The English took three singles matches.

Play was resumed Friday with the team score one-all. The invaders got off to a flying start when Mrs. Jessup and Eleanor Goss easily defeated Mrs. Lamber-Chambers and Mrs. Sheppard-Barron, 6-4, 6-2, in the contest which had been postponed from the previous day.

England squared the match when Mrs. Godfree defeated Miss Ryan, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4. The California girl made a bold bid, but was unable to accustom herself to the turf after having played on the French hard courts.

The home team went into the lead by virtue of Joan Fry's victory over Miss Browne, 3-6, 6-0, 6-4. The American captain played brilliantly in the first set, but became erratic and made double faults in the second. The deciding set was evenly fought and the English girl came through for the final points with two sharp placements to the base lines.

Mrs. Jessup's play was sensational. In the doubles she covered the court with flashing speed. Her cross court volleys and base line drives overwhelmed her opponents. With Miss Goss using her splendid forehand to advantage, the Americans had an easy time winning.

By United News
JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 18.—The illustrious name of Bob Fitzsimmons was shattered tonight when his son and one-time pupil became a toy of Tiger Flowers, dusky world's middle weight champion.
Those who came hoping to see pugilistic ability handed down from father to son like the family jewels saw a miserable exhibition by young Bob Fitzsimmons.
Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey, the old time fighters, came into the arena in time to see their old rival's son take a scientific lacing.

Thousands of words snap out each day over telegraph wires through the press associations and special services. On many days a million words in various newspaper stories are printed in papers throughout the world upon the thoughts and actions of the 96 men who comprise the upper house of congress.
A British rubber concession in Panama, a distillery raid in Pennsylvania, a primary to be investigated in Iowa, a commission to be sent to Tacna Arica, a delegate to go to the Geneva conference on something or other, a Leopold-Loeb trial in Chicago, rejection of a government in the French chamber of deputies—anything in any part of the world—calls for the attention of the senate.

Under the rules of unlimited debate upon any subject, senators may express their opinion upon the color of President Coolidge's hair or the price of ducks at any moment they may see fit.
Senators are proud of their forum and call it the "most deliberative body in the world." There is no other senate like it. Most of the others are restricted by rules which limit their time and their subjects.

bers of the senate press gallery. About 50 are present during regular working days. The press box is perched over the vice president's desk behind the historic clock. There are revolving stools on the rows of four terraced benches.
The gallery quarters behind the press box are composed of three chambers. First is the telegraph room where the commercial companies and the press associations have their leased wires. There is the large lounge room that is used for everything but lounging. Its walls are banked with telephone booths and two old fireplaces are cut into one side. Huge gilt-trimmed mirrors hang over the fireplaces. There are writing desks in the center.
The other room is filled with typewriters and desks.
A bulletin board hangs in front of the entrance to the gallery proper and senators' statements at times are posted there. Three attendants headed by James D. Preston keep things going smoothly.
From these quarters and under these conditions the thousands of words that are read daily upon the first pages (and others) of the newspapers are sent over the wires.
Newspaper men are very cautious about permitting entry into the press galleries. The rules committee of the senate permits a standing committee elected by the correspondents themselves to guard the gallery against invasion by any lobbyists or irregular newspaper worker.
A rule has been adopted by the standing committees that only qualified correspondents of newspapers which receive a telegraph service of some kind or other are permitted.

LYNCH TELLS WHY HE WANTS JOB

WANTS TO PUT BUSINESS EFFICIENCY INTO STATE AFFAIRS

SEYMOUR, Tex., June 18.—"It is costing the people of Texas more than $60,000,000 a year to run the state government, and yet, any street corner peanut vender has a better check on his financial condition than has the present administration on state expenditures," Lynch Davidson declared here this afternoon. Davidson here the "unpalatable condition of the state's finances" and said it is imperative that an auditing department, with authority to audit each department of state, be established.

"I want to be governor because of the power the office gives to put efficiency into state affairs and because of the opportunity it affords to pay big dividends to the people in better administration and lower taxes," Davidson said. "We cannot build $20,000,000 worth of roads a year by oratory, or by voting for one man just to beat another. We can not keep our schools open eight months a year unless we employ economical business methods in spending the sum available for education."

300 Per Cent Increase
Davidson said that during the last ten years the population of Texas has increased more than 25 per cent. "The state's wealth, as evidenced by tax renditions, has increased 34 per cent," he said. "The cost of administering the departments of state government has increased more than 300 per cent, and the state tax rate is the highest it has ever been, 79 cents."

"Texas needs a business administration to insure economical expenditure of its revenue and to lower the tax rate. The only way the people of Texas can remedy present conditions is to elect men to office with training and ability, who have upon their lips the promise and in their hearts the determination to carry out a program of economy. When I am elected governor, I promise to bring about a substantial reduction in the tax rate and when I leave the office I will turn it over to my successor with cash in the treasury."

Re-organize Pen
"One of the first things I propose to do is to reorganize the present scattered penitentiary system. I would sell off most of the river bottom prison farms and, with the cash so obtained, build a modern prison plant near the center of the state. I will stake my reputation as a business man that I can do this and have at least $1,000,000 in cash left over to the credit of the penitentiary fund."

"Texas spends about $20,000,000 annually in building and maintaining highways. This sum should provide roads in this state second to none in the world. Yet not one-third of this money goes into the actual construction of highways. The rest is wasted in excess profits, errors in construction, graft, fraud, and at the political pie counter. Disclosures of a disgraceful nature, deserving the condemnation of every right thinking citizen, have appeared in the press about our state highway department. No single branch of government today is charged with matters of greater public importance than our highway department. A comprehensive connected system of highways is absolutely essential to the development of the resources of this empire state. Good highways are vital to commerce and growth and a dividend paying investment."

Revise Road Laws
"Our highway laws should be revised to safeguard against the misuse of public funds and definitely fix responsibility upon those who administer the law. The law can and should be so revised that the possibility of such happenings as have shocked the public mind under the present administration can not again occur."

"The law should provide that contractors awarded contracts for state highway construction shall file, with the county clerk of the county in which the work is done, as a part of the public record, and with the highway department, a complete sworn statement of the ways and means by which the contracts were obtained, including moneys paid or loaned to attorneys, candidates, office-holders, or other persons, affecting directly or indirectly, the securing of said contracts, and provide proper penalties for violation of any of the terms of the act."

"I favor a decided reduction in the automobile license fee with a compensating increase in the gasoline tax. I favor an equitable distribution of the automobile license fees and gasoline tax between the state and counties, so that both systems will receive their just proportion of the moneys so obtained."

"By the force of statute, the counties should have more say in the awarding of contracts for major or lateral highways constructed. Balance the awarding of contracts between the county and the state so there will be a check upon the state by the counties, and upon the counties by the state. It will safeguard the interests of the people and the taxpayer and insure the awarding of contracts to the lowest bidder and the most capable contractor."

Royal German Wealth Hangs On

By United Press

BERLIN, June 18.—The financial and possibly the political fate of Germany's former rulers, including the Hohenzollerns, will be decided at the polls today.

Balloting will begin throughout Germany at 9 in the morning in the first national referendum ever held in this country. The result of the ballot will decide whether the former German dynasties shall retain their riches, unofficially estimated at a value of $400,000,000 to $500,000,000. This treasure was largely amassed in their capacity as regents. Should the radical proposal emerge successful at today's balloting the ex-rulers entire property will be confiscated by the state.

The bill submitted to the nation was drafted by socialist and communists. In its essentials it provides:

1. The entire property of the German regents who ruled over the German federal states up to the 1918 revolution, as well as the property of all members of those former ruling houses, is to be confiscated without compensation.

2. The proceeds from the confiscated property of the former rulers are to be used for the benefit of state welfare institutions, for unemployed, war-cripples, war-widows and orphans, the victims of the inflation of German currency, for old age insurance and other similar benevolent purposes.

3. The landed property is to be subdivided and rented to farm laborers and small farmers.

4. Castles and other buildings are to be converted into homes for orphans, war-cripples and convalescents.

5. All previous decrees, arrangements and agreements regulating questions in the scope of the above bill are nullified by the passage of this bill.

According to the German constitution, 20,000,000 votes must be cast if the bill be accepted.

It remains doubtful whether this number will be attained at today's polling. Twenty million votes means almost twice as many as were cast for socialists and communists together at the last general elections, and socialists and communists are the only political parties advocating the bill.

All the rest, the Nationalists, Stresemann, Folk-party, the Catholics, the Communist party, the Democratic party and the Fascist, although from different motives, are opposing the expropriation bill and are bent on doing everything in their power to prevent its passage.

The intricacy of the constitutional provisions for the national referendum affords the means of frustrating the bill. All they need to do is to keep their followers from voting. Their propaganda against the bill has shown that they are fully aware of this advantage.

BIRTHDAY PARTY ON LAST FRONTIER

BLEDSOE WILL CELEBRATE YEAR OF EXISTENCE ON JULY 12

Special to The Avalanche.
BLEDSOE, Texas, June 18.—Final arrangements have been completed and President Thacker of the chamber of commerce has all the departments for entertainment, advertising and arrangements for the celebration of Bledsoe's first birthday, to be held on July 12 and 13. The first day is to be a basket picnic affair and on the second is to be a free barbecue. According to F. A. Tappan, ground manager, free camp sites and free wood and water will be available for tourists. W. M. Forgy, rodeo manager, reports that he is securing some riding and roping stars from eastern New Mexico. Bids are coming in daily on the various concessions to be sold June 24. The heads of the various departments are working overtime getting things into shape for the last opportunity to visit Bledsoe, Texas' last frontier, while it is yet a frontier.

DONATE WORK ON TAHOKA CHURCH

Work on the new First Presbyterian church has been started at Tahoka. The building is of stucco. Local workmen donated their services one day this week, and the women of the church served lunch to the workers in the basement of the First Baptist church.

Bledsoe Starts A Little Boom

BLEDSOE, Texas, June 18.—While there never has been a boom of any kind in Bledsoe, nor any local excitement, there is considerable activity in these lines at this time. Roy V. Jones, editor of the Cochran county News is to start a modern six room residence. Workmen are just completing a modern dwelling for H. N. King. Oil excitement here is altogether on the outside, yet one can not overlook the fact that there is considerable trading in leases and some drilling contracts being made.

GAINS SIGHT, LOSES ILLUSIONS

BLIND GIRL, WHO THOUGHT WORLD BEAUTIFUL, NOW SEES

By United News
OAKWOOD, Ohio, June 18.—A queer paradox of life has been revealed in this little town. Octa Terry, 25, was born blind, but she had so felt her way about that her fingers were her "eyes" and her imagination pictured the world, from which she was veiled, as a beautiful and entrancing place.

And now, that modern medical science has opened her eyes to life, Octa is terrified, and really is "blind"—blind with this thing called sight—Octa, who "saw" with fingers and ears imagined beautiful things.

"First of all," she says, "the sight of my face startled me. I thought I was rather pretty. Now—she pathetically declares—I know I am not."

Until she was told that trains and automobiles were trains and automobiles, they were to her, strange apparitions—terrible monsters.

The face of Octa was the first thing Octa wanted to see when physicians removed bandages from her eyes and told her she could see.

Asked as to the most beautiful to her, who has not seen for twenty five years, Octa states "dandelions—they are the most beautiful things I have seen."

One ray of happiness, however, has come into Octa's eyes. She will no more be a burden to her family—she feels she can now become self supporting. Already $18,000 is supporting. She already has been hemstitching 1,000 towels for a local factory.

"That means $15 for mother," she proudly says.

POLAND AND SPAIN MAY QUIT LEAGUE

FURTHER THREATS TO RESIGN DISTURB GENEVA COURT

By United News
GENEVA, June 18.—Following the resignation of Brazil from the league of nations have come threats of two other league members to resign and demand from a third which many consider a similar threat.

Statements from Spain and Poland that they will quit the league unless granted permanent council seats, and the demand from China that she receive a similar place, have caused league leaders to indicate that an emergency session of the council may be called late in August to consider measures for preventing further losses of prestige. Members of the league have been advised officially that the Polish government's favors resignation from the league unless its claim at Geneva is acted upon favorably. In the meantime, China, as the representative of the Asiatic continent has announced definitely that she will accept a non permanent seat only condition that Germany alone receives a permanent place in the new apportionment.

Leading members of the league feel now that the call for a special council late in August to attempt solution of controversy is assured. In the time intervening King Alfonso of Spain will visit London, and he is expected to use his utmost efforts to persuade Great Britain to support Spain's claims. Poland also will be busy with her friends among European nations and China too is expected to enumerate reasons for her stand.

Will Discuss Vice And Its Causes

Next Friday, June 25, at 8 p. m., J. T. Upchurch will speak of the work of the Bereahah Home for girls at Arlington, Texas, and will discuss vice and its causes, under such heads as "Who runs the movies?" "Shall we strip our girls and feed them to the vultures of vice?" "Is mixed bathing conducive to good morals?" "Is the world getting better?" With him will be the Bereahah gospel band of redeemed girls and workers, directed by Colonel Earle D. Irons, who will play sacred music.

His case had centered around the active interest of members of congress, a priest, and social workers. Probably no foreigner ever had such distinguished support as he obtained. The government decided to nolle prosequere.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted

DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED, with Irene Rich in a picture-roman of this week.

SYNOPSIS

John Manning, district attorney, has just returned by telephone that his wife, Eileen, was seen in a notorious inn when it was raided. Then comes word that Eileen is now in the apartment of Jerome Wallace. His opponent in the approaching election, Mrs. Manning has gone there to demand from Wallace a written pledge that, if elected, he will release young Bob Manning, accused of causing the death of a woman in an automobile smash.

As he turned to the table and produced paper and pen she paused at his elbow watching his movements eagerly. But even as the pen touched the paper he hesitated, waited deliberately, as if with calculating cruelty, to play upon Eileen's overwrought nerves. Suddenly a great tenderness seized him, he reached for her hand and drew her towards him. "Eileen," he murmured softly. "Horrid!" she pulled away. "He looked closer, his manner insistent and all pretense cast aside. She recoiled from him, her scorn of him plain. His jaw set and with a glint of anger in his eyes, he laid the pen aside. "Eileen watched him aghast. She had lost—Bob had lost—ah, yes, and John had lost. "Please, please," she pleaded, growing hysterical again. "Why should I trouble? If you can be making so vain a claim. "I shall tell my husband," she cried frantically. Wallace laughed.

Wallace pressed warm kisses on her hair. "I shall tell the newspaper—the world—everyone—how you have tricked me." He looked her steadily in the eye. "I shall deny it, say that you did it of your own volition." She received his answer with the utmost contempt. "Who would believe you? What possible motive would I have for doing it?" "My love," he retorted, and more deliberately that his meaning might sink home, "My dear, you loved me enough to betray your husband so that I could win the election." She laughed scornfully but it was uncertain before his calmness. "Why," he went on, "you haven't even been so kind as to furnish me your admission." From the table drawer he drew forth a picture. There was the old mat bearing the inscription, "To Jerry dearest—success and all my love, Eileen." But now in place of her girlish portrait appeared her latest picture, the one she had sent him that very morning. "You see, I hold all the trump," said Wallace with a note of triumph. "But if you had not tried to drive me I would have given you that statement." She seemed to find a ray of hope in his tones, for her sobbing lessened. Her tears ceased to flow and as she busied herself with her vanity case she even managed a shy half-friendly smile. Suspicious of the sudden change in her, he watched her. As she gazed down at the picture on the table, clearly at a loss to account for the presence of her writing there, he never took his eyes off of her. Finally satisfied, he produced the old print he had replaced on the mat and laid it before her. Understanding leaped into her

CHICAGO BECOMES BABEL OF TONGUES

EUCCHARISTIC DELEGATES FROM ALL NATIONS ARRIVE

CHICAGO, June 18.—"Floating churches" will be docked at municipal pier during the Eucharistic congress to accommodate those who come by water and desire to live on the lake. Two large steamers are en route with Eastern delegations. Five hundred persons are aboard the Seandubh, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, who was sent here to study the animals and make plans for a general roundup for the last 30 years against on Antelope island. A. H. Leonard of South Dakota bought the herd recently with the intention of shipping it to his ranch and splitting it up for breeding and show purposes. But William Powell, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, who was sent here to study the animals and make plans for a general roundup, has reported to his employer that the buffalo are too wild to be caught. The expense of shipping the herd also entered into the decision to kill the buffalo and send the meat back to eastern firms which have agreed to handle it for the holiday trade. The idea was to make a gala sporting event of the slaughter and it is true that hunters would be taking great chances in running down the wild beasts. The date for the big hunt was put far in advance and now Dr. W. F. Carver, Omaha sportsman, has proposed. Carver wrote to Governor Dern of Utah, enclosing a copy of a letter which he had sent to President Coolidge. In this latter message $500 was offered as the foundation of a fund to be used in preserving the historic herd. Others have backed Carver in his plea and final disposition of the herd placed on the island originally by William Glassmann of Ogden, but now practically as wild as the buffalo which dotted the western plains a half-century ago, is in doubt.

Foreign delegations are arriving in such numbers that Chicago has become a babel of tongues. The latest foreign arrivals include groups of prominent clergies, and clerics from Poland, South America, the Azores, and Syria. China's delegates are here with dazzling liturgical vestments, many of them encrusted with rubies and gold braid. These will be worn by the high priests during the celebration at Mudelein.

Sixty thousand children's voices will be raised in singing praises at Soldiers field Monday. The entire strength of American legion posts here will be recruited to guard to and from the stadium.

Several protestant churches have announced their desire to aid with the congress by offering their buildings to be used for overflow meetings. Solemn pontifical high masses were celebrated Friday by Cardinals Piffi of Vienna, Charost of France and O'Donnell of Ireland.

Beggars have appeared in hordes to take advantage of the benevolent spirit of the million-delegates. Police are arresting them as fast as possible, but they reappear again with violins or accordions thus evading the rule against common begging.

One of the biggest attractions of the congress thus far is the exhibit of ecclesiastical art in municipal pier. The center of the display is Ernst Hellenmann's portrait of His Holiness Pope Pius XI. It is life size and according to Cardinal Bonzano, the papal legate, is the best likeness of the holy father ever made.

The police department set up a special bureau of missing children with four detectives and three nurses to search for tots who may lose their parents in the vast throngs. C. A. Donnell of the ether bureau predicted unsettled weather for Sunday and the following four days of the congress.

In addition to several hundred in emergency stations for those who may become ill, the congress committee has established three strategically located "obstetrical bases" in anticipation of visits from the stork.

WANTS CHILDREN TAUGHT COURTESY

SPAWN ALSO WANTS YOUNG FOLKS TO BE MORE CAREFUL

SAN ANTONIO, June 18.—"There should be instilled into every child a feeling that carefulness and courtesy are attributes of safety, not only as a part of personal safety, but as a part of the general problem of human progress in civilization," declared President W. M. W. Spawn of the University of Texas in an address on Safety Education before the recent meeting of Safety Council of Bexar county here. "The percentage of fatal accidents in the United States is more than twice as great as that of England, and almost fifty per cent greater than that of Canada, which is next to the United States on the list," Dr. Spawn said. "In the year 1924 were 85,000 fatal accidents. Twenty-three thousand of these were traffic fatalities. Other public fatalities numbered 19,000 and the fatal accidents within the homes of America totaled 20,000, equalling in number the fatalities from traffic accidents. Non-fatal personal injuries were estimated at from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000, and the economic loss resulting from these accidents ran into many millions of dollars. "The Safety movement," Dr. Spawn said, "may be regarded in one sense as an attempt to catch up with our mechanical development. Traffic accidents traceable to drivers, he said, may be attributed to four principal causes: Mental or physical unfitness, ignorance, indifference, and recklessness. "Education is now regarded as the most important thing in the further development of the safety movement," said Dr. Spawn, showing the steps taken by various cities in giving comprehensive instruction in methods. "In an educational program there are two things to accomplish: First, the giving of useful information, and second, the training of the individual to a sense of responsibility."

Protest Slaying of 300 Buffalo

By United News.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 18.—A lively controversy has been aroused here by the proposed slaying of some 300 buffalo in a huge hunt directed against the herd which for the last 30 years has roamed on Antelope island. A. H. Leonard of South Dakota bought the herd recently with the intention of shipping it to his ranch and splitting it up for breeding and show purposes. But William Powell, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, who was sent here to study the animals and make plans for a general roundup, has reported to his employer that the buffalo are too wild to be caught. The expense of shipping the herd also entered into the decision to kill the buffalo and send the meat back to eastern firms which have agreed to handle it for the holiday trade. Looks Like Hiram Wants White House

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United News Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, who has come close enough to the presidency to keep his pulses always tingling, has emerged from a comparative retirement of several months to joint with his old-time enthusiasm in support of the Hagen farm relief bill. His speech, advocating the bill Thursday gave rise to a suspicion that the Californian has hopped aboard the farm relief band wagon with vice-President Dawes, former governor Lowden, of Illinois, and Senator Watson of Indiana. All are credited with using it as a presidential vehicle. It chances of actual passage by the senate have dwindled considerably, but it affords a good talking-point still.

Miss Freda Bliss, 19 years old, of Mansfield, Mass., runs the largest chicken hatchery in New England, with an output of more than three million chicks a year. After Rev. Arlie Brown of Whitesburg, Ky., had preached a sermon against bobbed hair, Miss Martha Drew slapped his face and drew a jail sentence of 30 days. Miss Evelyn Nair and Vivian De Vaul, topophores in a Los Angeles high school, appear in the evening as members of a musical comedy chorus at a local theatre.

JOSEPH IN POWER

International Sunday School Lesson for June 20th

Golden Text—"A broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."—Ps. 51:17.

(Lesson Text—Genesis 44:18-34)

Joseph rose to great power and authority in Egypt, being second only to Pharaoh himself. Other Jews in more modern times have done likewise. The prime minister of Britain has been a Jew and a justice of our own Supreme Court is a Jew. Steinmetz, the late electrical expert, came to America, ignorant of our language and handicapped by a physical deformity, but was recognized as second only to the great Edison as an electrical genius. Our present lesson finds Joseph in prison, but leaves him triumphant.

While lodged in prison, under the false charge of Potiphar's wife, Joseph came in contact with two high officers of the throne, the baker and butler. By reason of their peculiar dreams and his correct interpretation of them Joseph was subsequently, after two years, remembered by the butler when Pharaoh was puzzled to know the significance of two dreams he had just experienced. Consider Joseph's situation at this period of his life, how cruelly and unjustly fate had dealt with him, for, as he himself says, "for indeed I was stolen away out of the land of the Hebrews and here also have I done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon." No bitterness apparent against his brothers or his false accuser, but in all patience Joseph fulfills his destiny!

The ruler of Egypt had called all his wise men to solve the riddle of his dreams, but they had failed. Seven fat kine eaten by seven lean kine, seven full ears consumed by seven blasted ears, what did they portend? Joseph called from prison interprets the dreams, and gives the advice that a responsible man be placed in charge during the seven years of plenty that reserves of food may be stored away for the famine years to follow. Pharaoh, impressed by his knowledge and wisdom, gave unto Joseph this authority and his administration of the task must have been efficient and satisfactory because when the lean years came corn was on hand in Egypt.

Dreams, what of them? Last week we raised the speculation. Let us see what Joseph said of them. He asked, "do no interpretations be long to God?" Later, before the powerful Pharaoh he said, "God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace." That is by an interpretation stop his anxiety. Then, the dreams were two but their meaning one, signifying that the thing "is established by God," and will shortly come to pass. Joseph attributed the dreams and their interpretation to God. Throughout the Bible there are striking occasions when God used dreams to send a message to his servants. We will not specify, except to name a few characters to whom dreams came, and leave it to the reader to see if the circumstances are familiar: Abimelech, Solomon, Nebuchadnezzar, Jacob, Joseph (husband of Mary), wise men, Pilate's wife, Peter, and Paul. The years of famine brought about a reunion of Joseph and his family. No story could be more dramatic. Driven by need of food all of Joseph's brothers save Benjamin, appear before him to buy corn. Joseph accuses them of being spies and questions them, making the reality of the younger brother referred to the test of their sincerity. All save one, a hostage, go back to old Jacob, and when hunger presses again persuade the old patriarch to let Benjamin go back into Egypt with them.

Reuben offered his own sons as sureties and Judah likewise pledges himself for his return. At length, they stand before the powerful and to them unknown Joseph. Joseph practices a shrewd stratagem to test their present hearts. He wants to ascertain whether or not they would make any sacrifices to rescue Benjamin from threatened evil, or would they callously abandon him as in previous years they had been heedless to Joseph's fate. The test proved happily the fidelity of the brothers for when Benjamin was arrested for the theft of the cup, every one came back with him to Egypt. Judah, in particular, made an impassioned appeal that he might be allowed to enter into slavery instead of the younger Benjamin, in a speech which moved Joseph powerfully. He reveals himself to them, allaying their fears of vengeance, and causes Jacob to be sent for. All the household of Israel settles in Egypt.

An interesting topic is the effect of Egypt on Joseph. How far did he enter into Egyptian life? He married the daughter of the Egyptian high priest, who did not worship Jehovah, but in all his utterances Joseph appears to have retained his faith and allegiance to the God of his fathers. He remained to a certain extent aloof from the Egyptians, for they ate at separate tables. Even in his high tide of authority and power he was not ashamed of the shepherd family from Canaan, and was proud to present them to Pharaoh, although it is stated that the Egyptians held shepherds in abomination.

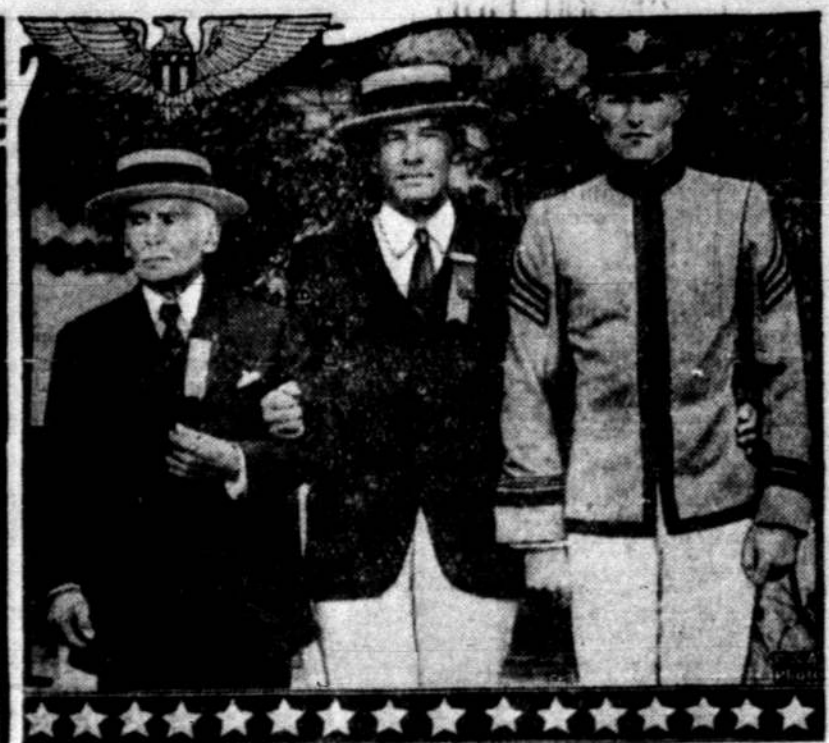

There are some who work a parallel between Joseph's life and Christ's. This is not altogether justified. Joseph lived cleanly and no great sin is recorded against his character. He was able and willing to forgive the wrongs done him by his own family and by the Egyptians thus showing an absence of hatred and vengeful purpose. He was full of faith and true to every trust, but with all of that he lacked greatly reaching an elevation justifying any parallel with Jesus. For, Joseph revealed no great love for mankind as such. Where Christ fed the five thousand because he was sorry for them, Joseph, as Pharaoh's agent, took advantage of the people's great needs during the famine to accumulate for himself all money, later all animals, and eventually all land, reducing the citizens to servitude. No great humanitarian spirit there—perhaps, the word was too young, but its absence shows the impossibility of linking Joseph with Christ.

HAIL DAMAGES LYNN COTTON

TWO INCHES OF RAIN WITH ACCOMPANYING HAIL SWEEPS COUNTY

Special to The Avalanche.
TAHOCA, June 18.—A number of crops in the west part of Lynn County were destroyed by hail last night, with slight damage reported from places in the southeast section of the county.

Replanting will be started as soon as the ground is dry—again, two inches of rain that fell with the hail putting such abundance of moisture in the ground to insure good first growth of the replanted acreage. Cotton suffered more than did the feed crops, but a large supply of planting seed is available, and the section visited by the hail will be the center of real activity during the next few days.

Wants Separation

New York.—Dr. Ralph Armour has asked the Supreme Court to decide whether or not a wife is justified in slapping the face of her husband in a bridge game because he objected to her taking a trick with a lower card, in initiating a suit for separation from his wife, Marion Armour.

Man-O-War's Sons Carry His Laurels

By FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 18.—When Samuel D. Riddle, sportsman, retired Man-o-War, the greatest horse that ever trod the American turf, he dreamed of the day when the unbeatable colt's progeny would be running one-two-three in the big racing fixtures, carrying the Glen Riddle farm colors to further glory. Recently in the suburban handicap at Belmont park, two of Man-o-War's fleetest sons ran one-two spread engulging a field of high class thoroughbreds: It was Crusader, a chestnut, three year old, whose mother was Star Faney, which showed the way, with American Flag, a stable mate, second.

This duplicated the feat of Col. E. D. Bradley, whose horses ran one-two in both the Latonia and Kentucky derbies this year. It is not often that a three year old wins the suburban, only five other colts of Crusader's age having turned the trick since 1884. But the Glen Riddle farm flyer was out in front by four lengths. Old Man Johnny Callahan had the colt in hand all the way.

BUSH LEAGUER HELPS CUBS WIN GAME

By FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 18.—Before the current big league baseball season opened, the experts thought the management of the Chicago Cubs had done them a favor by providing the dopeters with a certain eighth team.

President Veeck had entrusted the club to the management of Joe McCarthy, who had never even played in the big league. It was not so much that Joe was considered incapable, but the Cubs as he took them had no pitching staff, no infield, no hitters and only a mediocre bat boy.

Before mid-June McCarthy had the Cubs fighting for first place, and never out of the one-two-three holes. He had inspired Hack Wilson to become the idol of Chicago fandom and the most dangerous hitter in the league. He was winning ball games with skill, hitting, pitching and occasionally luck. But mostly with guts.

McCarthy is 37, somewhat of a baseball curiosity. He has had 20 years experiences in the bushes. In the American Association, he proved a capable leader, after a hard career with nine different clubs. Joe is a college graduate and played 111 years ago for dear old Niagra University.

"In 1914 I was with the Brooklyn Federals" replied McCarthy when asked if he ever had played ball with the Majors. "That's the closest. When that league broke up I went to Louisville. I was 26 then, too old to be a big league rookie, or so I thought."

"Down in Louisville I had pretty fair success, a couple of pennants and a team that was usually up with the leaders. Now I've got the job of my life—and you bet I appreciate the chance."

The Cubs probably will not finish in the first division, since room must be made for the Pirates, Reds, Giants, and Robins, to say nothing of the Cardinals, but it will be a fighting sixth place team that finishes the season under Joe McCarthy, more power to him.

Miss May Walkey of the University of Manitoba was awarded the governor-general's gold medal for excellence in her first three years of work.

HOPPER WINS MAXEY AWARD

"MY TOWN" TALKER GETS $20 GOLD PIECE AS PRIZE

Hubert Hopper, winner of the local "My Town" contest which will represent Lubbock in the contest at Amarillo during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention is also winner of a twenty dollar gold piece which was offered by J. B. Maxey, local contractor and member of the board of directors of the Board of City Development to the winner in the local speaking contest. A brand new twenty dollar gold piece has been deposited at the Citizens National Bank with F. A. Norman, cashier, and young Hopper will call for the prize this morning according to his statement last night.

Hopper has been working diligently for the past several weeks preparing his speech regarding Lubbock which will be delivered before the thousands at the convention at Amarillo.

He will board the special train with the Lubbock delegation Monday morning at six o'clock to go to Amarillo where he will enter the contest in competition with other West Texas speakers.

Hopper took fourth honors in the State Intercollegiate League contest at Austin recently and local critics who have heard his "My Town" address expect him to make a good showing at Amarillo.

In offering the prize to the winner, Maxey's aim was to interest a greater number of boys in oratory and to encourage the best speakers in Lubbock to make a trial for the contest.

Not Ashamed of Receiving Fees, Say Dry Solons

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
United News Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 18.—Dry senators and congressmen who have been named by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league, as having received fees for making prohibition speeches, said Friday that they see nothing improper in the practice.

"I am proud of being counted worthy of going out to speak under the auspices of such a patriotic and unselfish organization as the anti-saloon league," said Representative William D. Upshaw, Georgia, democrat. Wheeler told the senate campaign fund investigating committee that Upshaw had made probably 50 speeches in the East and South.

"There is no analogy between such work as I sometime do on Sundays and the advocacy of commercial or economic legislation," Upshaw said. He suggested that Senator Reed call Captain W. E. Stanton of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment before his committee. He has seen letters, he said, in which one wet organization stated that money was needed from big business and that more than a million already had been raised.

Another of those named was Representative Lowry, Mississippi, democrat, who said he had been making prohibition speeches for forty years but that the only time in which he received a fee was for an address in Baltimore, two years ago.

"For forty years I have been making speeches in favor of prohibition," Lowry said. "I expect to continue. In nearly all of this work I have contributed outright my time and my service."

"In so far as my records show and my memory serves, I have made just one speech for the anti-saloon league for which I received any pay whatsoever. "That was a speech made at a great rally in Baltimore in January 1925. I agreed to make it without knowing just what fee, if any, would be attached. The Wednesday following the Sunday speech, I received a very cordial letter from D. W. Crabbe of the Maryland anti-saloon league, enclosing $60 which he figured was $60 more than my expenses.

"I accepted this fee. I have no apology to make for having accepted it; and Mr. Crabbe does not need to make an apology to anybody for having offered it. Every public man receives a fee occasionally for making a public address. I have made addresses, and sometimes have received fees from the Y. M. C. A., from churches, schools, organized bible classes, women's clubs, men's clubs and similar organizations. For nineteen out of twenty of these speeches I have received nothing."

"And if anybody wants to investigate these organizations named above for considering the laborer worthy of his hire in matters of this kind, I can give the same damaging testimony against the advocating prohibition in my own state," he said. "It was customary, he said, to accept expenses and pay for speeches in other parts of the country."

Senator Willis, Ohio dry who is up for re-election this year, was so much concerned over the mention of his name by Wheeler that he rose in the senate Friday and denied that he ever had been on the anti-saloon league's pay roll.

Senator Fess, Ohio republican, said he was paid $150 for a dry speech in Pittsburgh last April. He spoke at the request of Bert Smith, a member of the Methodist church and did not understand it was connected in any way with the national anti-saloon league.

"During my 40 years fight for prohibition in Ohio, I have never received a penny for advocating prohibition in my own state," he said. "It was customary, he said, to accept expenses and pay for speeches in other parts of the country."

Senator Jones, Washington republican, another of those mentioned, confirmed Wheeler's statement that he had been paid for dry speeches.

One of those named, Representative Cooney, Ohio, republican, denounced Chairman Reed as "spokesman of the liquor interests," who was trying to blacken the reputation of members of congress speaking in the interest of prohibition and law enforcement.

Cooper said he filled only one engagement, a Sunday afternoon speech at Baltimore, under the auspices of the Maryland state anti-saloon league.

For these speeches made outside my congressional district I have received my expenses and in some cases modest honorarium paid by local organization or churches," Cooper said.

Representative Barket, Kentucky, democrat, said he felt there was nothing improper in having been paid for prohibition speeches.

Wheeler was asked by the committee to step aside Friday while witnesses connected and the Penner-Fisher campaign in Pennsylvania were examined.

DAILY MARKETS

New York Finance

By United News

NEW YORK, June 18.—For the first few hours Friday the stock market carried on at the pace set all during the week but in the last hour or so profit taking on a major scale suddenly developed and the market turned abruptly lower.

Steel common dropped more than four points under the weight of this selling, while other leading issues, such as General Motors, General Electric, Hudson Motors, Dupont, American Locomotive, Studebaker, New York Central, Southern Railway and a host of other stocks which had been especially prominent on the recent advance.

The action of the market was rather disconcerting to bulls who, as usual, figured that previous tops would be exceeded. There was nothing, however, in the day's results to prove that the rise has definitely been checked. Considering the strides made by the market during the past week alone, profit taking on a major scale was justified and would not be at all surprised if this were to run further before being checked.

When the uncertain state of public sentiment is taken into consideration, almost anything might happen in a market such as this. On the one hand the general public was just beginning to come back into the market and professional element which had been accumulating stocks for some time was perfectly willing to distribute these holdings to the country at large. Other stocks were accumulated by bankers after the initial break when such demand was absolutely necessary to steady the market. It is fair to presume that many of these stocks have since been reloaded, or have been available for resale in as much as every substantial profit has accumulated on the great mass of such stocks.

After the noon hour the market was a matter of give and take, with sellers having slightly the better of the argument. One wave of selling was swept back about 2 hours before the close when strong fresh buying appeared. When this buying power had been expended, however, the market again turned lower and the second wave of selling was successful in breaking prices. Here and there various specialties such as Kresge, Postum, Cereal, Dodge B. and United States Distributing and

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—Cattle supplies were about normal for Friday and the quality was much the same as usually shown at the end of the week. Few fat killers of any class were to be had. Hardly enough changed hands to fairly quote prices. Most steers sold around $7.75.

There was no quotable market on sheep and hogs. Hog supplies here and at all western markets were light. Trade at all points was active with prices generally higher. The market here averaged from 10 to 15 cents. Stock pigs were in limited supply and steady.

Sale of pigs ranged around $15 @15.75; top fat hogs brought $15. Heavies sold from around $14.10 to 14.45; mediums $14.35 @14.75; lights $14.60 @15.

from a cousin of Stephen F. Austin, John K. Strecker, librarian of Baylor University, an authority on snakes of the southwest, has contributed two articles, one on "Reptiles of the South and Southwest in Folk-Lore" and another "On the Origins of Reptile Myths." Mr. Strecker is now engaged in writing a book on the reptiles of this region.

Lore concerning the social life of early Texas is brought out by several articles. These are "Familiar Sayings of Old Time Texas," by Mrs. Mary Jourdan Atkinson of Austin; "The Tournament in Texas," by J. Frank Dobie, "Episode at Ranch Community Dances," by Branch Isbell of McKinney. Isbell drove up the Chrisobolm rail from Texas to Kansas in the seventies, and has given an account of his early day experiences in the book "Trail Driver of Texas." Mary Duggett Lake of Fort Worth, descended from one of the oldest families in the Texas cattle business, the Daggetts, is the author of "Pioneer Christmases, Customs of Tarrant county." Mrs. Daggett is now compiling a history of superstitions of Bexar county. It is given by E. R. Bogusch. "Buffalo and Goshaw Literature" is soon to be published.

Negro songs are claiming more attention than heretofore. In this volume three articles deal with the negro songs. "Old Time Darky Plantation—Melodies" is by Mrs. Natalie Taylor Carlie, a prominent woman of Houston. R. C. Harrison head of the department of English at the Texas Technological college who was president of the Folk-Lore Society during 1925-26, has written on "The Negro as Interpreter of His Own Folk-Songs." "South Texas Negro Work-Songs, collected and uncollected," was contributed by Gates Thomas, Professor of English in the Southwest Texas State Teachers college at San Marcos. Thomas' father used to entertain Sam Houston on the Thomas plantation below La Grange. The proceedings of the Folk-Lore Society for 1925 are also included in this publication.

City Hall Riot

Perth Amboy, N. J.—A riot developed in the City Hall between citizens and the members of the city administration after it had been announced that the taxes would be raised due to a $181,000 deficit in the city treasury and a $150,000 paving bill.

According to a press dispatch, a number of New Castle, Del. citizens have purchased caskets on the installment plan and will "use them as chests" until they are needed for permanent occupancy. The owners would hardly refer to them as hope chests.

TRAVELING FISH DROWNED OUT

SHIPMENT OF 20,000 TO STOCK
LAKES HERE DELAYED
BY RAIN

Even the fish got rained out yesterday. County Agent D. F. Eaton received a telegram from Dallas yesterday morning to the effect that a truck load of about 20,000 young fish were en route to Lubbock from the state office at Dallas, for stocking lakes and tanks in the South Plains. They were expected to arrive here at 9 a. m. Friday. They were not here last night and Mr. Eaton concluded that the same big rain which had stopped the Colorado band at Post had stopped the fish. He said that if the fish could be kept alive long enough, he expected them in today. Ten thousand of the black bass, croppie, and perch were for the Floydada County Club. Others were for lakes around Lubbock, and for various privately owned tanks.

RADIO

BY WILLIAM J. FAGAN
United Press Radio News Editor

NEW YORK, June 17.—There are millions of radio fans in the United States and Canada and thousands of them would undoubtedly gladly sacrifice a year or so of their lives were they able to boast of receiving London and New York with equal facility. Few, though, would wish to be isolated on the Arctic Coast, Yukon, where the mail leaves semi-annually, just to gratify this ambition. Yet, the Rev. A. W. Geddes of Shingle Point Mission on the Arctic Coast has reported reception of WJZ, stating further in his letter: "Atmospheric conditions on New Year's Day somewhat marred the opening program from your new superpower station at Bound Brook and we missed hearing Big Ben. However as we get London direct, we are not so disappointed as we other wise might have been."

A calm, matter-of-fact statement like that comes as a relief to the listener who considers himself lucky if he can squeeze outside local territory and get anything more than 100 miles away. Shingle Point, measured on the office Rand-McNally is approximately 2,800 air miles from New York. It is situated 100 miles east of the Alaska-Yukon border. The letter, suitably framed, hangs in the office of WJZ, and the Rev. Geddes states that quite good reception is permissible if the weather conditions are favorable. "Our work is among the Eskimo people who live along the Arctic Coast," the letter continues. "Needless to say, the Eskimos are filled with wonder at the possibility of the human voice being carried thousands of miles through the air and then reproduced by the receiving set. As we have not seen the sun for nearly two months (now January 15) we have enjoyed and appreciated the radio very much."

Radio broadcasting continues to make its indelible impressions.

Harvard Crew Has Difficulties

By FRANK GETTY
United Nes Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 18.—If Harvard's varsity eight oared crew should happen to defeat Yale at New London next week the crimson will have certainly triumphed over difficulties. The extraordinary occurrence of a college crew coach resigning within three weeks of the most important race of the season was one of these. Edward A. Stevens, Harvard's rowing mentor, tossed up his job declaring: "The men are not behind me. I'm through."

John Harvard's navy was practically scuttled by this shot. Then, on the way to Red Top from Boston the two crimson coaching launches, Patricia and Pep, were mistaken for rum runners by the coast guard and fired upon. At least a solid shot flew across their bows and a revenue cutter bore down menacingly upon them. After a thorough search the Harvard men were permitted to proceed. Then to make matters more embarrassing for all concerned the Pep was put out of commission and the coast guard cutter had to do the honors and tow her in to New London. The defection of Coach Stevens is a severe blow to Harvard's otherwise slender hopes for a victory over Yale but it recalls the incident of Guy Nichols' resignation on the eve of the big race four years ago.

Nichols was an Englishman who had taught the Blue crews a rather unsatisfactory stroke which the Eli oarsmen had grown accustomed to using in the back wash of victorious Harvard shells. With the boat race a few hours distant the coach quit. "This crew has no guts," he said. Whereupon eight stalwart youngsters were roused to righteous wrath and rowed Harvard's vastly superior crew into submission in a driving finish.

FOUR HUSBANDS WERE MURDERERS

BUT CALIFORNIA WOMAN HOPES FIFTH WILL BE BETTER

By United News
MARSVILLE, Cal., June 18.—Four husbands of Mrs. Eva Neff-Damon-McMarkey-Bollinger-Williams were murderers but she has married for the fifth time.

"My luck has turned at last," she believes, and her newest husband, Calvin Williams, who knows all about the other four, nods, in assent. The story of the tragic episodes in the life of Mrs. Williams was told recently when she and No. 5 were encamped at the Marysville Motor park after a season in the Yuba County peach orchards. Mrs. Williams first husband, Charlie Neff, whom she married in Tacoma, Wash., July 3, 1906, killed a man in a drunken brawl and spent eight years behind prison walls. Her second mate was a double murderer and a suicide. Roe Damon whom she married at Northport,

Wash., in January, 1913, killed George Bruen and Eddie Sanburger, neighbors, who informed his wife that he abused her child by the first marriage. He slew with a hammer and then shot and killed Sanburger, later turning the gun on himself.

"A hop field romance" brought Mrs. Williams to the altar as the wife of her third "murderer husband." She was working as a cook in the hop fields near Marysville, Cal., when she met Jim Mellarkey, a jovial Irishman. It was not until after her marriage that the woman learned that the laughter hid a heavy heart, and that Mellarkey had served seventeen years in prison for killing a man named Douglas in a saloon at Bloomfield, Nev., in an argument over 50 cents. "Handsome Jim" Mellarkey died in April, 1923.

Again a widow, the much-married woman was wooed and won by Jack Bollinger in Sacramento. The Bollingers were encamped on Nigger Jack Slough near here an dthe husband, with jealousy apparently the motive killed a camp mate, Alex Summers with an axe.

The body was hid in a swamp, and the murderer might never have been disclosed had not Bollinger's wife broken down under police questioning. Bollinger was hanged at Folsom Prison, Cal., more than a year ago.

Then came Williams and another marriage. "Cal heard about the others and was willing to take a chance so I married him," said Mrs. Williams.
