Right-of-Way Work

Commissioners Take Up Business for 1960

The commissioners court, in meetings Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, January 11, 13 and 16, passed more than 40 motions and devoted much of their time to right of way work on the FM highway from Marella north to Abra and south of Quail.

They also gave their attention to salaries for 1960 and to the purchase of road equipment.

The commissioners voted to pay varying amounts as right of way for the new road, ranging from a flat payment of $480 on 18 acres to $80 per acre. The court also made arrangements to move fences along these stretches of road, and accepted bids on wire and posts. Along several farms, only the fences are being moved back and no payment was indicated in the minutes.

The court voted to employ F. E. Coan to make the 1959 audit of the county for $800 and to prepare the 1961 budget for $150.

Approval was given the purchase of a Michigan loader, and the commissioners voted to re-advertise for bids on two maintainers. The lease purchase contract with the Texas Machinery Company was extended for 1960 for

WHS Sets Up Counseling

Counseling Program Set Up For Wellington High School

With the beginning of the second semester, Wellington high school is introducing a comprehensive counseling program and setting up its program of study in a way to strengthen the school's curriculum.

Work on the program has been under way since the opening of school, and earlier in the winter the board of trustees approved the program.

The new counseling and guidance program is the work of four men, Supt. Bennett Goodloe, Principal Mack Bush, Louis Graham and J. D. Wilson, co-ordinator. Graham will be in charge of the counseling work. A classroom teacher, he has done considerable study in the counseling field. Last summer, he received a scholarship for advanced study at Texas Tech and he was invited to return for this year.

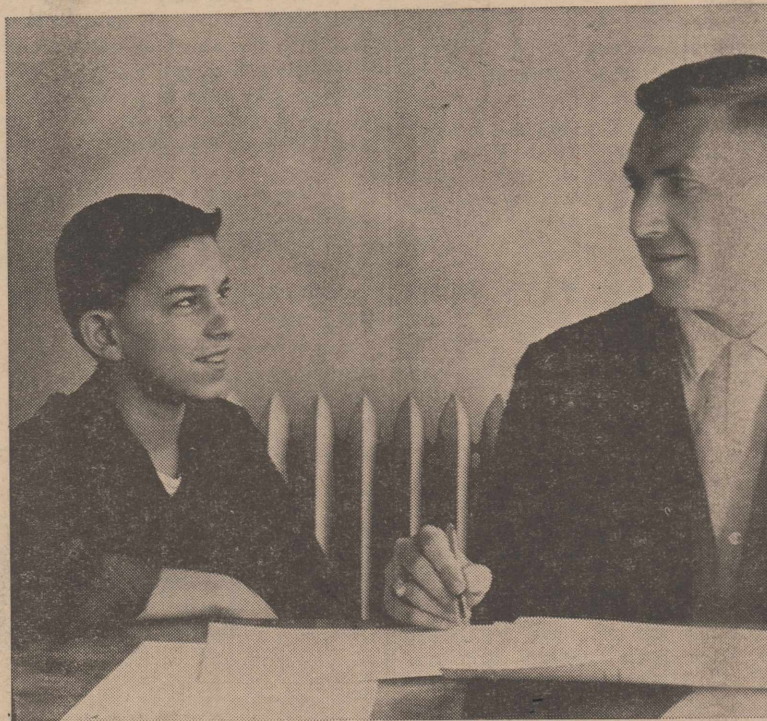

"The child is our main objective, and we think this will be a great help," Supt. Goodloe declared.

"We have set up our curriculum in three divisions to serve three types of students: those who are going to college, those who want a vocational education, and those who are going just to get out of school," he continued.

All students will take the same basic courses such as English, history and mathematics, to fulfill the requirements for graduation. But those who intend to go to college will be required to take more of some subjects, such as four years of English instead of three; four years of math for students interested in engineering and two years of laboratory science; two years of foreign language for fine arts students.

Students taking a vocational course will still be able to get in college, but they will concentrate on such electives as vocational agriculture or homemaking, typing or other commercial subjects.

Students wanting only a high school education and who do not plan to go to college will have the fewest required subjects and the most electives. This course will not get them in college.

COUNSELING PROGRAM AT WORK

In one of a series of sessions, Gene Sweat, a freshman, at left talks over his future course of study with Louis Graham, Wellington high school counselor. Gene will attend college and now thinks he would like to study engineering. Graham will help him decide which subjects he should take in high school leading up to this. Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sweat.

It is Graham's counseling program that will help Wellington high school boys and girls decide which category they fit themselves in. His counseling sessions will include not only the students, but their parents.

A testing program is set up to determine the aptitudes of the students—their strong points and weak ones. Suggestions are made in accordance with these findings.

"We make suggestions and counsel a student, but he is not forced to take the subjects we may recommend," Graham points out, explaining the program is a voluntary one. It is the students coming into high school with whom he will do most of the work, but each child will be followed through his four years of high school, receiving individual counseling on his own needs.

A child's preferences will be considered in the program. While children have a tendency to like subjects in which they have strongest aptitude, this is not always the case. For example, a child may not be especially strong in science, but his liking will be so intense that his drive will make him a superior student—but he will dig out all the knowledge he gets.

Pioneer Pastor of Wellington Dies in Shamrock

Rev. Ed R. Wallace, who was pastor of the Methodist Church in Wellington during the years of 1897 through 1899, died in the Shamrock General hospital Sunday January 17 after a long illness.

Following his pastorate here, he came back to Wellington frequently to help hold revivals and conduct services in the absence of the pastor. He was 93 years of age at the time of his death.

Funeral services were held in Shamrock at 2 p.m. Monday, January 18 in the First Methodist church and burial was in the Shamrock cemetery.

Rev. Wallace was born August 25, 1866 in Marion, Ky. The family moved to Texas in 1875.

He entered the ministry when he was 20 years old, and had been in the Northwest Texas Conference for about 40 years when he retired in 1931.

His first assignment to the Panhandle came in 1892 when he was designated Methodist minister for Floyd and Briscoe counties. He was later given pastorates in Memphis, Wellington, Snyder and Farmer.

He attended school at Weatherford College and preached his first sermon on Sept. 8, 1886.

During his first five years as a minister, he met and married a village postmistress at one of his county pastorates.

He served as pastor of the Shamrock Methodist church in 1924, and was a presiding elder of the Perryton district before his retirement in 1931, when he moved to Shamrock.

Upon moving to Shamrock he became a businessman and stock farmer. He cut and sold fence posts to obtain capital to invest in Hereford cattle.

At the age of 80 he was breaking and training horses.

County Gets Another Four Inches of Snow

Approximately four inches of snow fell over the county Saturday night and early Sunday, Jan. 16 and 17, adding to what was already the finest winter moisture the county has had in years.

The snow fell without drifting, but J. D. Throckmorton of Dozier reported that wind after the snow had stopped falling caused drifting, and side roads were blocked in several places.

The snow there melted out .58 inch of moisture, and the Highway Department, Weather Bureau observer in Wellington, estimated the moisture here would be half an inch.

All schools were in session, but Samnorwood dismissed early Monday so that buses could get over their routes before melting snow made some of the roads impassable.

All highways in the county were cleared by the Highway Department early Sunday.

Only one accident was reported by Police Chief Troy Marsh, a collision by Cecil Elbert and Mr. McKimmon at the corner of Eighth street and the highway. It was attributed to the ice.

Assisting Rev. Hickey in the revival will be Arthur Pray, director of music in First Baptist Church, Rosenberg, who will be the song leader here.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

In preparation for the revival, the W. M. U. and Brotherhood of the church are jointly sponsoring cottage prayer meetings. These meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday evenings.

Beautification Pays

The planting and beautification of a community is a sound business proposition, an investment that increases both the volume of business as well as revenue to the municipality.

Planting and beautification of a trading area simply is good business, anyway one looks at it. It pays for the individual proprietor. It pays for the city and for the state. Not only do sales go up, but real estate values increase.

People today more than ever prefer to trade in an attractive area. As their average income increases people upgrade their trading, journeying to the more beautiful trade zones and more often than not shying away from ugly areas.

The majority of families prefer to live in or close to towns when the living is pleasing and beautiful. As the disposable income of the family goes up, however, dissatisfaction with undesirable residential areas grows.

Planting and beautification can change many towns from undesirable as a place to live and trade to a favorite place. Hundreds and perhaps thousands of communities are recognizing this and doing something about it. Many are making master plans of community growth and beautification so their city or town ten or twenty years hence will not degenerate into a series of slum-like areas. A considerable number of downtown shopping areas have adopted large urns in which evergreen shrubs and flowering plants are planted for seasonal beauty. Some communities have containers of plants on street light poles to add a gayer look, which helps to attract shoppers.

Street tree planting programs are at an all-time high. A long range plan for community beautification with an accompanying information program encouraging people to plant and improve their properties is a sound business proposition for everyone, individual home owner, merchant and the municipality.

Efficiency Drops Farm Production

In its early days the United States was essentially a nation of farmers with a few cities of artisans and shopkeepers. In the years of westward expansion, the East slowly became urbanized as the pioneers and trailblazers opened the frontier to keep the population balanced between rural and urban. By the turn of the century, the frontier had come to its end, the industrial age was upon us and the trend away from the farm began. By 1910 our population was 67 per cent urban and the remaining 33 per cent provided the food.

The Census Bureau now reports our urbanization is so nearly complete that but one out of eight now lives on a farm. During the last ten years, the farm population has dropped 3,900,000 or more than 15 per cent to a present total of 21,200,000. This means these 21,200,000 are now providing the foodstuffs for 153,800,000 urbanites as well as themselves, whereas, in 1910 it required the labors of more than 30,000,000 to feed 62,000,000. And the farmer today produces surpluses his predecessor of 40 years ago never dreamed of.

These are simply indications of greater efficiency in production, in more expert use of the soil and in the adoption of mechanized equipment. They are also indications of introduction of mass production methods to agriculture, which means the gradual decline of the small farm. Texas provides an example of how rapid this trend is developing. As recently as 1940, Texas was but 45.4 per cent urban population, and 54.6 per cent rural. By 1957, the population had shifted to 70.3 urban and 29.7 rural. Yet Texas is still the greatest cotton producing, wool producing, mohair producing, beef producing state in the Union.

Castro Policies Aid Beet Outlook

The Hereford Brand:

Few citizens of the United States hold Cubas' Fidel Castro in high regard, but he may have helped this area achieve favorable results in a justifiable cause.

We are talking about sugar beets. Held down to a quota of 1,790 acres in the Hereford district in recent growing seasons, the U. S. has been importing 76 per cent of its sugar—with 65 per cent of the imports coming from Cuba. Now, it seems, our federal authorities might be interested in increasing the acreage on domestic sugar.

The situation goes further because, should the domestic allotment be increased, plans have already been discussed for establishing a sugar refining plant in this area. Such a development, in addition to labor and farm income, would also provide beet pulp for cattle feeding, and save thousands of dollars in annual freight to present growers.

Those who have been fortunate enough to hold sugar beet acreage quotas will tell you that the crop is dependable and substantial. An excellent crop for this irrigation area in the Panhandle.

All in all, possibilities offered through this development afford the brightest picture this particular area has seen in a long time. It could easily be the answer to most of our economic ills. It could change the entire future outlook of the territory.

Certainly, it is a project which deserves the support of every organization, business and individual in the community.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Mr. Dick Powell says Westerns are popular on TV on account of the women, who like to watch he-men operate without having to unleash their own.

My house-broken neighbor says lots of menfolks also like these tales of the old days when status was cheap and a man could look down on nearly everybody from a $40 saddle.

Says he likes to dream of the good old days when the government send out marshals with guns to crack down on outlaws, instead of internal revenue men with adding machines to crack down on everybody.

I see where President Ike figures that national budget may have a $4 billion surplus next year.

My unthrilled neighbor says it is a little early to get excited about this, due to the large number of people in Washington and elsewhere who look on unspent money as a challenge.

Like one time he had $3 left after paying all his bills that he couldn't stall off for another month, and his wife was so happy over this budget surplus that she ran out and spent $87 of it.

I see where Congress aims to do some more probing into the high prices of miracle drugs, but my twice-thinking neighbor says he wishes they would butt out of this matter.

On account of, here for years we have been sending congressmen to Washington Bible-promised to get our taxes down, and look what has happened to same.

Says if these boys don't quit working so hard to keep down the price of living, pretty soon we can't afford to live more than about 12 hours a day.

I see where the attorney general wants a Federal law against payola, so as to stop phonograph record makers from buying disk jockey friends.

But my mixed-up neighbor says a law against using money to influence friends would just about ruin the foreign aid business.

Says, too, folks would have to quit paying the preachers, on account of the danger of getting thrown into a Federal jug for trying to corrupt the Almighty's agents.

ing to corrupt the Almighty's agents.

I see where Bishop Oxnam says we will need to send missionaries to other planets to tell the people there how to live right, just as soon as space travel opens up.

My shining light neighbor says likely the Martians, Moonians and other space heathen can hardly wait until we can get there to teach them the great moral principles that us Earth people live by.

Says likely they will be extra eager to learn about the gospel doctrine setting up our happy cult of leisure worship, and charging the cost of same to our grandchildren.

I see where some college football coaches want to go back to the former unlimited substitution rule.

My slow-ball neighbor says he notes that unlimited substitution has made the sport of matrimony more interesting, especially in Hollywood, and ought to perk up football when, says, a coach needs to send his best clipper back in the game.

But says congress is where we need this rule the most, so as we wouldn't have to wait up to six years to send in a substitute for a legislator who starts running the wrong way.

Merit Scholarship Exams Due March 8

All 1961 graduates who wish to enter the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now at the school office, Mack Bush, principal, announced today. The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given at 9 a.m. Tuesday, March 8, 1960.

To be eligible for the test, Wellington high school students must be second-semester juniors or first-semester seniors at the time of the examination. Students must pay a $1 fee on the day of the test. Any interested student who is unable to pay the fee should consult Mr. Bush.

The tests are given each year by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation as part of the nation's largest independent scholarship program. Last year 550,000 students competed in 14,500 schools for more than $3.5 million worth of four-year scholarships.

Awards are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but student financial needs determine the size of the individual stipends, which are renewable each year without further testing.

The NME exam, administered by Science Research Associates of Chicago, also is valuable to students for selecting their careers or planning their courses in high school and college, Mr. Bush said.

After the test, each participating student will receive an interpretive folder that reports individual test results for comparison with scores of high school students across the country. Thus, Mr. Bush said, students may learn their educational strengths and weaknesses—whether or not they plan to attend college.

In addition to the NMSC grants established in 1955 by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York, about 90 industrial corporations, foundations, and individuals give scholarships through NMSC.

Church Men Hold Breakfast

Thursday, January 14, the first monthly breakfast for the men and boys of the 13th and Bowie Street Church of Christ was held. The breakfast was at Jim's Dairy Mart and fifteen men were present.

Minister John Gay spoke to the group at the close of the breakfast for a few minutes.

At the meeting next month, Harvey Millsap will be the speaker.

Guess I better get busy, I am frying chicken for lunch. Some of you Texas folks stop in and we will have chicken and coffee and a real big chat.

Truly yours, Josephine Scott.

Fort Worth Ceremony Unites Miss Elinor King and William E. Sherman

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sherman are at home in Fort Worth, where both attend Texas Christian University, following their wedding which was an event of the holiday season in that city.

The bride is the former Dorothy Elinor King, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John David King of Dallas, formerly of Wellington. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton. Dr. O. E. Sherman of Longview is the father of the bridegroom.

Vows were read in Trinity Episcopal Church by the Rev. Mr. Barnard.

The altar was decorated with white carnations, and traditional wedding music was presented by Jack N. White, organist, and Glenda McKibbin, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of gleaming white silk satin, accented by imported Chantilly lace. The moulded bodice was designed with a scoop neckline applied in a scalloped lace design and sprinkled with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. The full skirt, which had panels of lace set in each side of the front, extended into a wide sweeping chapel length train. The lace motif was repeated at the center back and extended the full length of the train. Her fingertip veil of silk French illusion fell in tiers from an open scalloped crown.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Carol Jo Allen of Houston was the bride's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Karen Keliehor of Corpus Christi and Miss Laela Hill of Fort Worth. Their identical dresses were of silk peau satin, in sapphire blue, made with fitted bodices, slightly scooped necklines. Allegro sleeves extended almost to the elbow, and the skirts were bell-shaped with deep pleats unfolding at each side. They wore matching blue headbands and carried nosegays of white gladioli.

Best man was Kirk Larkin of Waxahachie, and groomsmen were John Alvin Horton of Wellington, Dave Gynn of Fort Worth, while the ushers were Frank Elder of Kilgore and Bill Irwin of Longview.

Serving as flower girl was Marla Jon Stevens, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. King, mother of the bride, chose a beige embroidered satin sheath dress with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. T. O. Monroe, aunt of the bridegroom, chose a dress of white satin brocade with yellow metallic leaf print and a white orchid corsage.

The reception was held at Cross Keys Restaurant. The bride's table was decorated with bouquets of blue and white carnations sur-

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

The State of the Union Message

On January 7, 1960, President Eisenhower appearing in excellent health and good spirits, delivered to the Congress his State of the Union Message for the second session of the 86th Congress. It was not unlike most all of the other State of the Union messages heretofore delivered by President Eisenhower and his predecessors in office, of both parties. The Chief Executive did not hesitate to take credit on behalf of the Executive Branch of the government for all of the good things that have happened and to blame the Congress for all of the bad things that happened. Although such conclusions were not factually correct, there was a minimum of concern over this approach, because previous performances caused the members to anticipate what was to come. The big problem this year, as in other years is not who did what or who is to receive credit. The big problem is how to correct the ills and difficulties which continually beset the nation.

I was greatly encouraged by some of the early remarks in the President's message, which I quote:

"Our surplus from foreign business transactions has in recent years fallen substantially short of the expenditures we make abroad to maintain our military establishments overseas, to finance private investment, and to provide assistance to the less developed nations. In 1959 our deficit in balance of payments approached $4 billion.

"Continuing deficits of anything like this magnitude would, over time, impair our own economic growth and check the forward progress of the free world."

These remarks indicate that the Executive Department is well aware of one of the most dangerous problems which we will face in the next decade.

The President had said earlier in his speech:

"... we note that recent Soviet deportments and pronouncements suggest the possible opening of a somewhat less strained period in the relationships between the Soviet Union and the rest of the world."

This reference was undoubtedly to the possibility of relaxation of the arms race. We all hope there will be less strained relationships in this particular. However, we should not permit such possibility to lull us into a false sense of security. The probability of the Soviet relaxing the tensions in the arms race does not mean the Soviet does not intend to push forward on the economic front. When this is done, and we can expect it in the very near future, it will be an impact added to the impact to which we are already sensitive and which was pointed up in the President's references to the $4 billion deficit in our international balance of payments. It is interesting to note that the foreign aid program expenditures last year could very well account for this deficit in the balance of payments.

I am indeed happy that the President is alarmed about the situation and I sincerely hope that he will cooperate with the Congress to correct it.

Other Items

It would be impossible in the space provided in this newsletter to touch on all the other items, but I did want to call attention to the reference of the President to sound fiscal policies. I heartily agree with his conclusion that the government can counter inflation by reducing expenditures below its revenues. I am glad he intends to do that this year. I thought he intended to do it several years ago, but discovered to my dismay that such was not the case. The result was that attempts were made to raise revenue by raising taxes.

To this I was opposed and am still opposed. The President predicted a balanced budget this year. I sincerely hope that his figures are more correct this year than they have been in some previous years. For instance, it was estimated by the President for the 1958 fiscal year that receipts would amount to $72.4 billion and that expenditures would amount to $72.8 billion, leaving a deficit of $400 million. However, the actual figures subsequently proved that the receipts amounted to only $67.1 billion and the expenditures amounted to $71.9 billion, leaving a deficit of $2,800 million or seven times greater than had been estimated.

Another case at hand is that on January 13, 1958, the President estimated the receipts for 1959 fiscal year would be $74.4 billion and that the expenditures would be $73.9 billion, leaving a surplus of $500 million. However, on January 1, 1959 this estimate had undergone some changes. At that time the President estimated that the receipts for fiscal 1959 would be only $68 billion and that the expenditures would be $80.9 billion, leaving a deficit of $12.9 billion. This is just to show you that high-sounding, honeyed words about government financing do not prevent an estimated surplus from changing into a staggering deficit.

And words alone are not going to balance the budget. The fact is that the national debt has been increased in the past several years by almost $20 billion. This increase has been due to the actions of the same people who claimed to be advocating reductions in expenditures and balanced budgets. Let us hope that we can get the actions and the words coordinated this time and set the record straight.

Salt Fork SCD Gets Standard Soil Survey

Technicians assisting the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District have begun a farm by farm Standard Soil survey of Collingsworth county. The main purpose of this survey is to help technicians determine land capability and enable them to give farmers better assistance in planning proper use of their land. Work was first begun on June 30, 1958 with the initial Field Review which established what the main soils of the county were and described their physical characteristics such as color, structure of the subsoil, and depth of soil to a layer that holds back root growth.

Actual field work was started on the E. A. Hays farm on the Donley county line. Soil Scientist Paul Mohle began field operations in May 1959. The survey should be completed in about four years. A published report of the survey will be made showing the types of soil throughout the county, including range as well as cropland, yield data for different soils, pictures of conservation practices in the field, and many other interesting facts about the county. The soil scientist contacts the land owner or tenant when convenient before starting work. In the field, the soil scientist digs a small hole, examines the physical characteristics of the soil type, slope of land, and the apparent erosion.

Technicians feel that the Standard Soil survey being made will prove to be more useful and accurate than any previous system used. Progress to date covers the area from Quail west to the county line between Buck Creek and the Salt Fork of Red River plus a two-mile wide strip from the W. Smith estate south to Buck Creek.

29,000 Americans Pass 95th Year

There are now 29,000 Americans 95 years old or older. Though 115-year-old Charles Washington of Cincinnati said he always drank as much whiskey as he could afford, most of a group of 402 of these when interviewed ascribed their advanced age to moderation in almost everything. Being married also seemed to help. Only 18 of the 402 had been divorced.

Norwood Splits With Claude and Hedley

The Samnorwood boys basketball team coasted to a 58-34 victory over the Claude Mustangs Tuesday night at Claude.

Norwood jumped into a quick 17-3 first quarter lead and was never pushed as Randall Murry poured in 20 points. Harry Wood was high for Claude with 13 points.

The tall Claude girls rambled past Norwood 59-44 for Norwood's first conference loss. Betty Ranson was high for Claude with 29 points, while Barbara Stenbridge was getting 22 for the losers.

Before the largest crowd of the season Samnorwood divided games with the visiting Hedley Owls on Friday night, winning the girls game 54-47 and losing the boys game 56-45.

Norwood girls trailed most of the first half but just at the buzzer tied the score at 25-25. At the three-quarter mark, Norwood led 40-37. Barbara Stenbridge led all scoring with 33 points while Toba Sanders was high for Hedley with 26.

Hedley boys handed Samnorwood its first conference loss of the season as they broke open a tight game in the last five minutes to beat Norwood 56-45. Norwood had led by as much as 3 points in the third and early part of the fourth quarters. Bobby Roland led the tall Hedley team with 21 points while Joel Lowry and Kenneth Martindale were getting 15 and 12 points for the Eagles.

This week's playing left Norwood boys and girls teams with identical 3-1 conference records. For the season the Norwood girls stand 22-3 while the boys are 21-4.

Girls Take First Win

Dodson Teams Split With Two Opponents

Dodson basketball teams split doubleheaders with two opponents during the last week, meeting Quail in district play and Eldorado, Oklahoma on that team's court. Dodson girls won their first game of the season when they defeated Quail Bobwhites 37-33. On the same night, the Dodson Mustangs lost to the Quails 55-44. In the Eldorado games, the Dodson boys walked off with a 4-point victory, 37-33, while the girls lost 31-23.

The girls game with Quail was nip and tuck all the way, Coach Ted Parker reported, with Dodson guards doing an outstanding job containing the Bobwhite forwards. Melva Miller of Dodson was high scorer with 25 points and Amelia Morgan was high for Quail with 13.

Starters for Dodson were Melva Miller, Gwen Lemons and Jerry Whitfield, forwards; Kay Norman Ina Green and Sherry Crownover, guards. Substitutes were Sharon Ford and Carolyn Wilkerson, guards.

Quail boys jumped off to a big lead and held it through the game. Wheeler of Quail put on a dazzling exhibition of shooting in the first half when he scored 15 points, but a good defensive job by Kenneth Hunt, Dodson center, held him scoreless in the second half. Bobby Boyce and Wheeler scored 15 each for Quail and Joe Lennon and Benson Hernandez 12 and 11 respectively for Dodson.

Dodson starters were Eddie

Hunt, Lennon, Kenneth Hunt, Hernandez and Tommy Hunt. Substitutes were Johnny Gollhair and Kenneth Norman.

Quail starters were bobby Boyce, Danny Wheeler, Jimmie Peters, Travis McGuire, John Kimbro. Substitute was Ernest Maxwell.

The girls game with Eldorado was fairly slow, with both teams cold shooting and missing lots of easy shots. Melva Miller led the scoring with 19 points. Players were the same as in the Quail game.

The Mustangs built up a big lead early in the game and held it with little trouble. Reserves played most of the time. Lennon led the scoring with 15 points, followed by Eddie Hunt with 10.

All the Mustang squad saw action, including Eddie Hunt, Lennon, Kenneth Hunt, Hernandez, Tommy Hunt, Gollhair, Norman, Glen Hunt, Mack Balentine, Louis Wilkerson and Garth Lewis.

Quail Girls to Tournament

Quail girls basketball team, the Bobwhites, will play in the Esteline invitational tournament this week end, Coach W. C. Smith has announced.

The Quails will have an open date.

Both teams will meet Claude in a double header there on Tuesday, January 26.

Drilling Picks Up in North Part of County

Drilling picked up in the shallow gas field in the north part of the county shortly after the first of the year, with five locations announced so far. Four of these were by El Paso Natural Gas company and the other by Walter Pendleton Jr.

El Paso has filed an intention to drill the No. 1-F Wischkaemper (160 ac) 1568 feet from the south and 1648 feet from the east lines of section 78, block 16. This is 17 miles due north of Wellington. The proposed depth is 2,200 feet.

This land is owned by Edgar Wischkaemper, and it is interesting to note that one of the first wells drilled in Collingsworth county, in 1924, was on this section and only a few hundred feet from the present location.

Other El Paso locations are: No. 1 Cantrell, 660 feet from the north line and 2310 feet from the east line of section 64, block 16. One mile west and 16 north of Wellington. Proposed depth, 2,200 feet.

No. 1-A Cantrell, 660 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 63, block 16, proposed depth 2,200 feet.

No. 1-A Collins, 2,292 feet from the south line and 2,298 feet from the east line of section 81, block 16, proposed depth 2,200 feet. This is 18 miles north of Wellington.

The Walter Pendleton Jr. No. 1 McDowell Ranch, is staked 400 feet from the south line and 660 feet from the west line of section 24, block 23, two west and 21 miles north of Wellington.

Kid Baseball Leaders Meet

Leaders of the Kid Baseball program accepted nominations on rules and regulations in a meeting Thursday, January 14, the Rev. Frank Weir, commissioner, announced.

Presenting the recommendations was a committee composed of Eli Wolf and Doc Barjenbruch.

Plans were made for the annual meeting Thursday, January 28, which will be open to baseball officials, parents and players.

New officers will be elected and a nominating committee composed of Buster Hughes, and Arlois Holtman was appointed by Rev. Weir. Attending the meeting were Rev. Weir, Wolf, Hughes, Barjenbruch, Holtman and Frank Lindsey.

Clay Wilson of McLean is here this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Light.

Mangum C - C Picks Dam as Top Goal

Development of the Salt Fork dam west of Mangum will be the foremost chamber of commerce project for 1960, Ralph Wade, president, said in announcing the annual membership drive.

Wade pointed out the proposed dam will provide many jobs for Greer county people as well as irrigation, wildlife conservation and recreation.

The chamber this week will mail pledge cards to all Mangum business firms. Payment of chamber of commerce dues may be monthly, quarterly, twice a year or once a year.

"We want every business firm in Mangum to help us with our community building program," Wade declared. "No chamber can be successful without a representative membership."

MYF to Meet at Trinity Church

The MYF sub district meeting will be held at Trinity Methodist church, Wednesday night, January 20, according to Robert Weir, president.

Registration will begin at 7 o'clock, followed by a recreation period. During the business session the sub district queen will be elected. The program will include a panel discussion on "Christian Stewardship."

Attending the meeting will be young people, their adult counselors, and pastors from the Methodist churches of the sub district, which includes Clarendon, Hedley, Lakeview, Lelia Lake, Memphis, Estelline, Dodson, Kelley and Wellington.

Dodson-Arnett Games Cancelled

A doubleheader between the Dodson and Arnett basketball teams, scheduled Tuesday, January 26, has been cancelled, Coach Ted Parker said. Arnett will be in a tournament.

The Dodson B team boys will meet the Wellington B team Tuesday.

Guilty

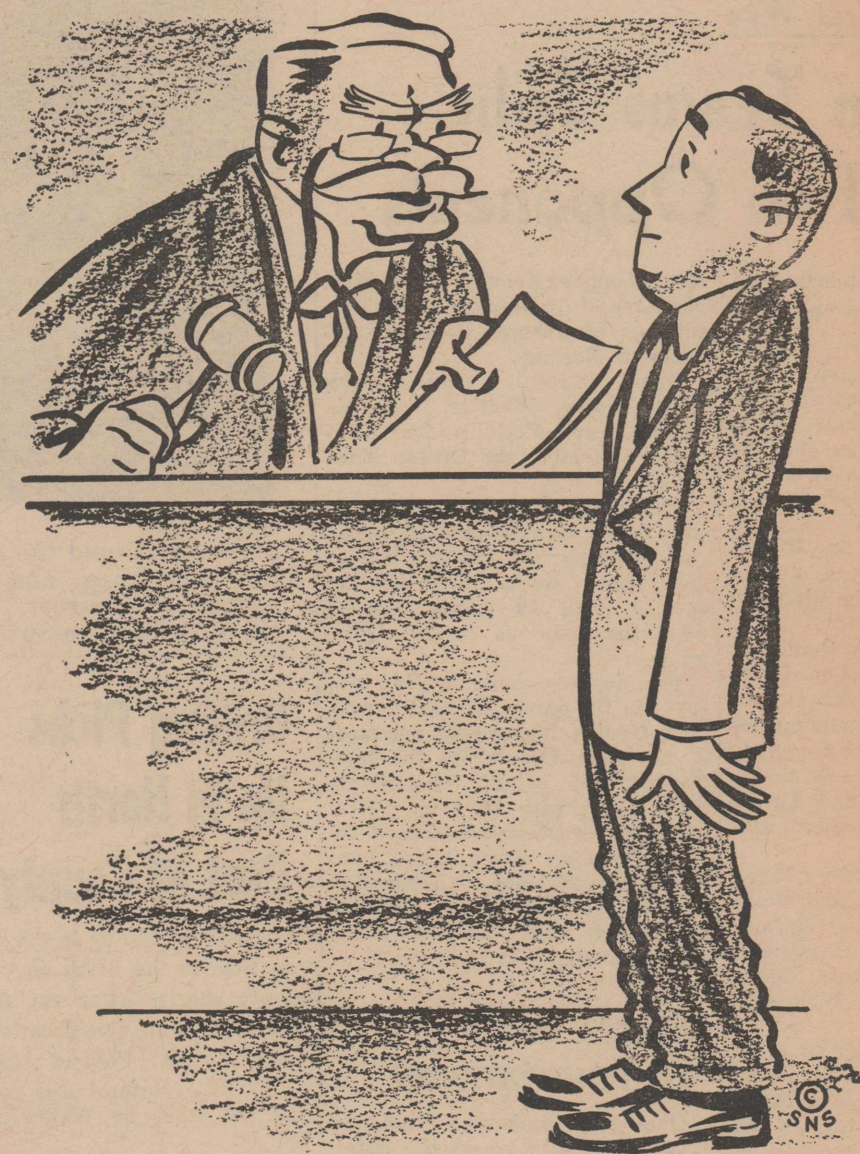

of Self-Embezzlement?

It's a serious charge. But lots of us are guilty . . . although very few people cheat themselves intentionally. Yet that's just what we're doing when we fail to shop our home stores before we buy.

Often enough the deals are better at home, dollar for dollar. Always they're better when you consider that Trade Builds Communities . . . and that Trade is the sole source of prosperity for an area and for those who live within it. Even great natural resources benefit only a few people if that wealth gets away from the community's regular trade channels.

When we buy from those who buy from us . . . either our labor or our products . . . when we trade with the neighbors who help us to support our local social facilities . . . when we spend our money where Trade creates opportunities for us and our children . . . then we're getting full value for the money we work to earn.

Award Given Youth Who Saves Life

DENTON.—Tommy Horton, a North Texas State college senior from Cleburne, has received the Certificate of Merit, highest award given by the American Red Cross, for saving the life of John Alvin Horton of Wellington.

NTSC President J. C. Mathews presented the award Friday.

The two Hortons, who are not related, were on opposing teams in a college intramural football game here October 12.

John was struck in the throat and swallowed his tongue, blocking his breathing passages. Tommy immediately reached down his throat, restored the tongue to normal position and administered artificial respiration. Witnesses said John would have died if this had not been done.

Tommy Horton was recommended for the citation by Dr. L. O. Hayes, college physician; W. A. (Bill) Cooper, safety education instructor, and by witnesses to the accident.

Horton is the 123rd Texas resident to receive this award, which was begun in 1913. To qualify, a person must have been trained in Red Cross first aid or water safety. Horton holds the Red Cross Safety Instructor's certificate.

Rural Heroism Award Explained

COLLEGE STATION.—The first Texas Rural Heroism Award will be presented this spring by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council to a person who during the past year has exhibited exceptional bravery at the time of a crisis or disaster in his or her local community. The award will be made annually by the Council.

To be eligible for the award, according to the Council, a person must live in a rural area of the state or in a community of less than 2,500 population. The award may go to a person credited with removing another person from a burning building or to one who has saved another from drowning or has rescued someone involved in a machine or tractor accident. A person who has rendered exceptional service in the case of a tornado, flood or other disasters or accidents should make a most worthy nomination for the award.

The award, an engraved plaque, will be presented as a feature of the annual meeting in March of the Texas Safety Association.

The award winner will be chosen on a nomination basis. The material which must accompany the nomination includes a narrative giving full details of the incident along with full names of all people involved and with news clippings and pictures, if available. The winner will be chosen by a panel of judges, based on evidence submitted on the nominee.

All nominations should be submitted to Calvin Pigg, chairman, Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, 3900 Barnett street, Fort Worth, by February 15, 1960. Local county agents or any member of the council can supply full details on the award and on submitting nominations.

By recognizing heroic rural service in this manner, the award will serve to stress the continuing need for improved safety conditions in rural areas—at work, in the home, or at play, says the Council.

Windbreak Tree Seedlings May Be Ordered Now

Applications for windbreak trees are now available in the office of County Agent Bob Lynch and orders may be placed up to March 1, he said this week.

Trees available are Austrian pine, ponderosa pine, red cedar, Chinese elm, cottonwood, sycamore, Osage orange, Arizona cypress, mulberry, slash pine and loblolly pine.

The cost will be $1.50 per hundred, Lynch said, and the trees will be shipped shortly after Mar. 1.

The seedlings will be packaged bare-rooted in moss and moisture-proof paper, rather than being individually wrapped in burlap. Lynch pointed out that they may be used only for windbreaks, not for shade or ornamental purposes.

These seedlings are made available each year by the Texas Forest Service. They are shipped directly to the individual ordering them.

Duck Hunters Can Give Information

AUSTIN.—Some 4,500 Texas duck hunters will have an opportunity to provide information that will be helpful in setting up seasons and bag limits on waterfowl, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

A random sample of 4,500 license buying hunters have been sent a questionnaire designed to help the Commission regulate the annual game harvest, at peak efficiency.

This fact-gathering questionnaire will provide grass-roots information on the yearly kill from the only people who can supply it—the hunters. This information, coupled with game population counts and habitat information, forms the foundation for a sound state-wide wildlife conservation program.

Hunters who receive the questionnaire are asked to fill out the card and return it to the Texas Game and Fish Commission in the Walton State building, Austin, as soon as possible.

The biologists who have been making a census on the coast with the help of game wardens will then have this additional information as a basis for future regulations, according to the Director.

New Oil Test South of Town

Drilling will begin early this year on the Russell Maguire No. 1 Earl Vest wildcat test about 14 miles south of Wellington.

The drilling contract has not been let, according to available information.

Site of the test is in section 56, block 9, H&GN survey, 330 north, 2310 from east lines of section 56, and is located about two and one-fourth miles south of the paved road leading from Highway 83 to Memphis, and about one and one-half miles east and two and one-half south of the old Texas test that brought in gushing salt water several years ago, a Childress report said.

The test is scheduled to go to 5,600 feet.

Load of Papers Brings $111.53

The Wellington Baseball Commission sent a truck load of old newspapers to market Tuesday, January 12. The papers brought $111.53 which makes a total of $253.70 in the Youth Baseball fund Mrs. John Coleman said.

As a contribution to Kid Baseball, Cudd Brothers hauled the papers to market without any charge, and also furnished a man to help load the truck.

The mothers and little boys who pick up the papers are adding about $40 a month to the baseball fund, Mrs. Coleman reported.

Quail Juniors Down Norwood and Lelia Lake

Quail junior high basketball team has won both games played in January. Coach Richard Gilbreth reports.

Their first victory was a 27-24 win over Samnorwood and the other a 19-16 win over Lelia Lake.

The tight victory over Norwood was played at Samnorwood, and was a team affair, with no one star standing out, Gilbreth said.

Carroll Kennedy was high scorer for Quail and Martindale for Samnorwood.

The game with Lelia Lake was played at Hedley.

Lelia Lake jumped off to an 8-4 lead early in the game, but Quail had whittled it down and gained a two-point lead, 10-8, at half time.

Going into the fourth quarter, the teams were tied 15-15.

Indication of another team victory was the fact that Joe Harris, high scorer, got 7 points while the remaining starters got three each. These were Robert Russell, Dale Morris, Carrol Kennedy and David Phipps.

Minister John Gay attended the meeting at Sentinel, Okla., for preachers of the Church of Christ on Monday, January 11. Accompanying him were Bill Craig of Childress and John Makin of Mangum, preachers of the Churches of Christ.

Mrs. Lola Lee Roark and daughter Mary Ann and her aunt, Mrs. Howard Riggs were in Dallas and Denton over the week end visiting with Mrs. Riggs daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wildman and boys at Dallas and Mrs. Charles Holman and daughters at Denton.

F. C. Fuson Sr. Has Surgery

F. C. Fuson Sr., was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock on January 5 for surgery. Going to Lubbock to be with him was a son, Major F. C. Fuson Jr., of Lake Charles, La., and two daughters, Mrs. Bob Hardin of Canadian and Mrs. J. B. Cook of Kermit. He is reported to be doing as well as could be expected and Major Fuson came by here to visit with his mother, Mrs. F. C. Fuson Sr., and friends before returning to Lake Charles. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Hardin remained in Lubbock with their father.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Painter of Dodson visited friends in Sayre, Oklahoma, recently.

One columnist says that Senator Lyndon B. Johnson will be forced to turn left by pressure from the northern liberals. I doubt it. Johnson's position has been a center one or as he calls it, moderate. It is certain that Lyndon Johnson would accept the Democratic nomination if offered. It is also obvious that he does not want and probably would not accept the nomination for vice president. He is already in a position of greater power than the vice presidency. The Johnson for President campaign has strengthened his hold on the leadership of the Democratic party in Texas regardless of what may come out of the national convention. He achieved this position of power as a moderate. It is unlikely that a man as astute as the Senior Senator from Texas will change a winning game.

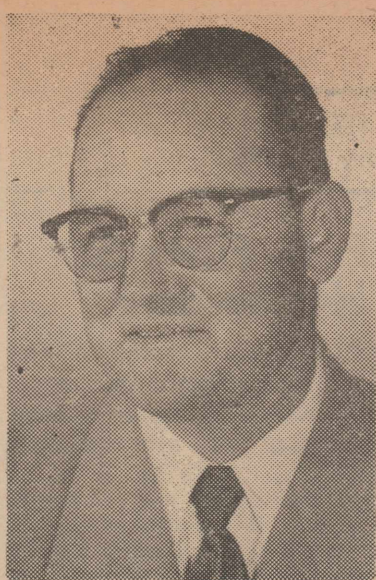

The time is short in which to pay your poll tax. Better look in your bill fold or where you keep your receipt and make sure you have paid it this year. Statements for your poll tax are not listed with your property tax and as a result many people think they have paid when they have not. There will be a lot of issues and candidates on which you will want to vote in 1960. Hmm—after writing this I got to doubting myself and went to look. Yep; there it is, right in my bill fold.

In case you have been thinking about it in other years, this would be an ideal one to put out a fruit orchard. By the same token it is an ideal year to plant shrubs and grass on a new lawn.

Met Gorman Owens trudging through the snow Monday and he remarked: "This is a postman's winter." Perhaps so—R. T. Savage was stuck for an hour and a half while delivering the mail in the Fresno community. Be that as it may I know of no jobs except other positions with the government that give so much time off with pay as the postal employees receive. Any of them seem like very desirable positions to me regardless of hardships due to weather. There are a lot of other people who have to get out in the weather, such as telephone workers, plumbers, firemen, police officers, cattle feeders and even advertising salesmen.

John Holton received a bill for a comb and brush from a local drug store right after the holidays and had some sharp words to say to his wife about paying that much for a comb and brush. His wife became angry and went down to Fleet Pruden's to tell him that she had not bought a comb and brush from him during the entire year. He said: "I know you did not. That bill was for a curry comb and an expensive brush for John's Horses."

Pastor Ends Year in City

Rev. L. C. Conner recently completed one year as pastor of the Faith Baptist Church of Wellington. He became pastor of the church here December 20, 1958, but did not move his family to Wellington until January 26, 1959, after completing study at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

A good year is reported by Rev. Conner, with 17 coming into the church on profession of faith and baptism, and 20 by letter. The first Brotherhood was organized, and also the first Royal Ambassador Chapter. Both Sunday school and Training Union increased in attendance.

"I do not take credit for these and the many other wonderful things that have happened at Faith Church, for the people have made it possible by their faithfulness and hard work," Rev. Conner said.

Family Honors B. T. Johnston

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Harris last week were a number of relatives from out of town, some of whom were early day residents of this area. They were here to visit especially with B. T. Johnston, father of Mrs. Harris, who has been staying in their home since being ill for some time.

Mr. Johnston came to this area 73 years ago, when he was ten years old, before the county was organized, but in later years moved to Shamrock, where he has lived almost continuously since. He and the late Mrs. Johnston were married on January 1, sixty years ago.

Among those visiting with Mr. Johnston were Mrs. Doris Taylor and children of Tatum, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Johnston, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cochran, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Melvin Asberry and daughter, Melva, of Groom; B. T. Johnston, Shamrock; Clesley Johnston, Panhandle; George Keeton, Amarillo; Mrs. Fred Keeton, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Keeton and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dickerson, all of Dallas.

S. C. Keeton and Mrs. Dickerson, brother-in-law and sister-in-law of Mr. Johnston, were also early day residents of this area, their father, S. W. Keeton having filed on land on the old Red Bluff of Buck Creek in 1890.

Born Again

"Except one be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." (John 3:5.)

Conversion is necessary to enter the kingdom of God. (Matt. 18:3.) The new birth is necessary to enter the kingdom of God. (Jno. 3:5.) It follows that the new birth is conversion.

The new birth is necessary unto salvation, and faith and baptism is necessary before salvation. (Mk. 16:16.) The new birth, therefore, involves faith and baptism.
