Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The whole dairy industry of this region is threatened by the stringent rules now being enforced by Federal inspectors. The first step for every cream producer to take is to make a serious effort to keep his cream fresh and clean. Observe every rule given you in the recent advertisements in this paper. Milk your cows in clean places. Keep your cream cool. Sell it at least twice a week. And strain it with strainers approved by the Federal inspectors. An intensive effort will lay a foundation on which the dairy farmers can take action in an effort to save the industry here in the southwest. Spare no effort to live up to every requirement. Remember that it is not the local cream stations that are making these demands. It is the Federal Government.

A food such as sweet cream must be kept pure and wholesome. But even so there are some aspects of the present rigid enforcement that should be brought to the attention of our Congressmen and our Senators. This matter does not apply to the Wellington trade area alone. It applies to this whole area.

What caused this sudden clamp down on the dairy farmers of the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma? It may cover a larger area of the Southwest for all I know. The cream was taken gladly until the Japs surrendered. Then the pressure started. Surely the Federal men do not think that there has been any improvement in the farm labor situation since August 14. If anything the critical shortage of help, especially on dairy farms, has grown worse.

It can be admitted that the care the average farmer and housewife has been able to take of their cream during the last year or two may not have been up to the high standard they maintained before the war; but the least that should have been done about this would have been to give them a fair chance to get adequate help and resume their former standards. Instead the cream was turned down summarily. Heavy losses were felt by cream stations and producers alike.

One informed cream man says that the standards set are so rigid that it is doubtful if they can be met. I saw the strainers after cream from one of the cleanest farmers near Wellington had been tested. It had been rejected by the inspectors. There were a few tiny specks of sand or dust that had come from ten gallons of cream. I saw another strainer after ten gallons of water from our city wells had been tested. There were three times as many particles of sand or dust in the strainer used on our city water as had been in the cream that was declared unmarketable. Yet year after year, the Department of Health at Austin has repeatedly reported that the water of the City of Wellington is far above the average of most cities of Texas.

If our unmarketable cream has less foreign matter than our water, it makes you wonder. In a country where the wind blows, there is bound to be a little clean sand in the cream regardless of the care taken. But it was one third less than that in the water of Wellington, which ranks high in the state. And we have been led to believe that people of this area have remained remarkably healthy drinking such water.

Can this be the old Wisconsin oleomargarine deal all over again? Here we can produce a substitute for butter that is wholesome. With the addition of certain vitamins, it is just as healthy and has as much food value. But by state laws and otherwise, they have restricted the sale of oleomargarine to a startling degree. Now that the war is over, can it be possible that such politically powerful states as Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania and other intensified dairy regions are trying to freeze out the dairy producers of this area—with the help of Federal regulations. Some farmers here think so.

There is another sore spot with some farmers in the county over another kind of federal regulation. This arises from the effects of the $1.35 per hundred for pulling bolls set by the USDA

Freeing Prisoners Thrills Cavalryman

War brought one highlight to Pvt. Marvin Harris of Wellington, and that was when he, as a member of the 1st Cavalry Division, helped to liberate the American prisoners from Santo Tomas Prison at Manila, where some had been held for more than three years.

"I wouldn't take a million dollars for it. It makes you finally realize what you are fighting for just to see the expression on their faces," Harris, who has received his discharge from the Army, said in Wellington this week.

During the time he was in service, he was with the signal corps of the 1st Cavalry, a unit that since he was detached from it, has gone on to Tokyo.

"Santo Tomas was the old University in Manila, you remember," Harris said. "I was fighting around at one side of the buildings. Jap soldiers were still hiding in among the internees. They'd take pot shots at us, and we couldn't shoot back. But pretty soon, the internees of a group where the Japs were hiding would begin to fan out and leave the Jap exposed, or else fall to the ground and leave him standing, and we could pick them off.

"Those people just couldn't realize they were being freed. At first they didn't even recognize us as Americans. When they went into prison, U. S. soldiers wore the old blue fatigue uniform and old style helmets. We were wearing the new green uniforms and new helmets. But when they heard our voices, they knew who we were.

"We were there when they were loading the internees out to Grace Field and New Bilibid Prison. They were laughing and crying and eating the rations we had given them from our trucks. One woman I saw was eating sugar by the handfull. It was the first she had had."

Most were in poor condition and

Liberated Countians Due To Return Soon

WINS BRONZE STAR

Marine Gunnery Sergeant Bill Stafford recently was awarded the Bronze Star medal for action against the Japanese on Iwo Jima. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stafford, now live in Oklahoma City.

Additional word from three county men who were prisoners of war of the Japanese indicates that they are in good or fairly good physical condition, and all expect to be home within a short time. These three are Arthur Capps, a civilian prisoner; Lt. Col. John Coleman and Lt. John Roy Noles.

Arthur Capps

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Capps have received a letter from their son, Arthur Capps, postmarked from Guam September 15 saying that his weight was 165 pounds, and that he never got below 135 pounds while in prison; that his eyesight is good and his teeth are in good condition. He added that he had a slight vitamin deficiency, which he thought would be righted by food and rest. He added that all he wanted was to be home and rest and see his family.

A letter to his sister, Mrs. Frank Thomason, postmarked September 25, stated that he felt he would dock at San Francisco about October 1, and that after a few days there he would go to Salinas, Calif., to visit his sister, Mrs. Walton Gardner and her family. He plans to reach Wellington about October 20 or 25.

Mr. Capps was a civilian employee on Wake Island when it was captured by the Japanese December 23, 1941.

John Coleman

Lt. Col. John Coleman has written his brother, Alex Coleman, that he is in as good condition as anyone could be after being starved by the Japs for three years. He added that when he was released from prison, he weighed 121 pounds.

The letter also told of his pro-

Cherry Coaches Base Grid Team

Lt. Ed Cherry has been appointed head football coach at the Navy's Submarine Base at New London, Conn., and at present his team is working out in preparation for games with some of the larger universities of the Northeast.

The team recently played a practice game with Yale, while regular games are scheduled with Yale, Holy Cross, Cornell and Harvard.

Before going to New London a few weeks ago, Lt. Cherry was stationed at Pearl Harbor. In civilian life he was director of athletics at the Richmond High School.

Sunday Services For First Christian Church Are Listed

Rev. J. F. Mathews has announced the following subjects for the services Sunday, October 7 at the First Christian Church.

11:00 a. m., "Our Craft Is in Danger."

5:00 p. m., vesper service, "God Is Not Mocked."

Fire Discovered In Methodist Church Early Sunday Morn

Fire which caught from a gas stove left lighted was discovered in the Methodist Church Sunday morning, September 30, about 3:00 a. m.

The blaze was found by Sandy Parsons Jr. and his son, Sandy III, as they were going home after moving merchandise from the Parsons Drug Co. to its new location. Seeing a light flickering through the church windows, they investigated, smelled smoke through the locked doors, and notified the fire department.

Little headway had been made when the fire was found, and the chief damage was to the altar curtain and the supporting posts.

Girl Found Unconscious On 8th Street

Miss Delia Pearl Bell, 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell of Wellington, is in a dangerous condition in St. Joseph's Hospital after being found unconscious near the middle of the street at the southwest corner of East Ward school shortly after 9:00 p. m. Tuesday night, October 2.

After an examination at the hospital, the attending doctor told Mr. and Mrs. Bell that she appeared to be suffering from a fractured skull.

Although Miss Bell had regained consciousness Wednesday morning, her condition was such that doctors would not permit officers to interview her, and no statement is yet available from the girl as to what happened.

After supper, Miss Bell and a friend had been to the carnival operating east of the business section, it was learned.

Her watch had stopped at 9:05 p. m., leading members of her family and officers to believe it was at that time the accident occurred. She was found and taken to the hospital by Mrs. Joe Alex Coleman and Miss Bessie Craven.

Miss Bell was reared in this county and for some time has been employed at McLellan's Store.

War Chest Drive Now Underway

With a goal of $4,591, Collingsworth County's 1945 War Chest Drive leaders went to work Monday morning, and results at the end of the first two days indicate that amount will be reached, if not oversubscribed during the month.

In commenting on the drive, Cameron Beam, Wellington chairman, pointed to the fine record Collingsworth County has made in all previous drives.

"Even though actual fighting has ended, we are now faced with the same responsibility that has been placed on every other county in the United States, and we must not fail," Mr. Beam said.

The National War Fund will throughout October make its third appeal to the nation for funds for the support of its member agencies. Despite the changes occasioned by the end of the war, it will seek its original goal of $115,000,000, using as its slogan the phrase "Be Generous in Victory." Success of the appeal will permit liquidation of the NWF combined budgets through the end of 1946.

Had the war continued, the total of the combined budgets would have carried through to another

Howard Holton Lands In Boston

Cpl. Howard Holton, who served overseas with the 36th Division for two years and seven months, landed in Boston Saturday, September 29. A telegram notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Holton, of this Sunday, then only a few hours later he phoned them. He said he would go to Fort Sam Houston for his discharge, and would arrive here about October 10.

Cpl. Holton landed in North Africa, took part in the Italian campaign and the invasion of South France, and when the war ended, he was serving in Germany.

Members of the family have not seen him for three years.

Slow General Rain Soaks Area Friday, Saturday

Rain that was general throughout this entire section of the state gave Collingsworth County between one and three-fourths and two inches of moisture Friday and Saturday, September 28 and 29. This was the first general rainfall the area has received in recent months.

Accompanying the rain was the fall's first cold snap, sending the temperature to a low of 40 degrees on Saturday morning. Temperature had risen to 46 degrees Sunday. It remained at that reading early Monday, was 47 degrees Tuesday and 48 degrees Wednesday. All readings were taken at 8:00 a. m.

Moisture in Wellington was recorded at 1.73 inches. Of this, .93 fell Friday and .80 Saturday. Farmers in some sections of the county estimated that the rain was heavier in their areas, believing it to be around the 2-inch mark.

Falling slowly through both Friday and Saturday, every bit of the rain that fell soaked into the ground, and a number of farmers and business men declared this rain was worth more to the land than any that fell during the summer.

While a considerable amount of cotton is open over the county, it is generally believed that no damage has resulted from the rain. Examination of several bales of cotton

Pfc. Dewey O. Hood, who became a prisoner of the Japanese when Corregidor was surrendered, was freed from a prison camp in Japan September 12, his mother, Mrs. Mittie C. Hood of Wellington was informed in a telegram from the War Department last week. The telegram read:

"The Secretary of War has asked me to inform you that your son, Pfc. Dewey O. Hood returned to military control in Japan September 12, 1945, and is being returned to the United States in the near future. He will be given an opportunity to communicate with you upon arrival. Physical condition fair. He sends following message. 'Arrived in Manila. Am O. K. Will see you soon.'

"E. F. Witsell, acting Adjutant General."

Pfc. Hood served with the 60th Coast Artillery. He volunteered into the Army January 6, 1940, and on March 6, 1940, he sailed from San Francisco for the Philippine Islands. He served through the Japanese attack until General Wainright surrendered Corregidor.

He was sent to Cabanatuan Prison Camp No. 1 on May 7, 1943, and in June 1944 he was transferred to Fukuoka on Kyushu Island. Mrs. Hood received a prisoner of war card from her son shortly after the surrender of Corregidor. She has since received other cards from him.

Pfc. Hood's brother, Floyd Hood, S 2-c, is serving in the Navy and at the present time is stationed at San Diego.

His mother and sister, Miss Virginia Hood, live at 113 East Avenue and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marguerite Hood, also lives here.

RELEASED SEPT. 12

Pfc. Dewey O. Hood, the son of Mrs. Mittie Hood of Wellington, was released from a Japanese prison September 12. He was captured when Corregidor was surrendered, and remained in a Philippine prison camp until July, when he was taken to Japan.

J. C. Breeding Given Discharge

Cpl. J. C. Breeding, a veteran of Pacific warfare from its coldest to its hottest, came back to Wellington recently with a point discharge. Overseas 30 months, he served in all four Pacific theaters and was in service four years, three months and 28 days.

His first period of service was in the northern zone, in Alaska and the Aleutians, where he spent 16 months. First on the mainland, he then took part in the invasion of Attu and afterward went to Adak and Kiska.

Breeding's next assignment took him to Hawaii, for three months, but this was followed by service in the Solomon Islands for six months. His final overseas assignment was in the southwest Pacific, where he helped with the

Stafford Wins Bronze Star

Marine Gunnery Sergeant Bill Stafford, 26, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for action against the Japanese on Iwo Jima. He is now at the Marine Corps Base at San Diego, Calif.

Attached to a provisional field artillery group there, he was commended for displaying great personal courage, superb technical skill and devotion to duty. A veteran also of Guadalcanal, the Gilbert Islands, Saipan, Guam and Iwo Jima, Stafford enlisted July 16, 1940.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stafford, have moved to Oklahoma City since Sgt. Stafford enlisted. His sister, Mrs. Wilson Porter, lives here.

Samnorwood Woman Recovering From Rattlesnake Bite

Mrs. W. A. Jarrard, who lives three miles south of Samnorwood, is recovering from a rattlesnake bite which she received early Monday morning, September 24. Mrs. Jarrard had started to kill a snake just outside the house, but failed to see a second snake nearby, which bit her right leg about four inches above the ankle.

She was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital for emergency treatment. Her condition, regarded as critical for a while, began improving the middle of last week.

Rockets Meet McLean Tigers There Friday

A game with the McLean Tigers, traditionally one of the stronger teams which the Rockets have to play each year, is slated to give Wellington fans their quota of excitement Friday night, when the two teams meet on the Tigers' field.

Little is known locally about the McLean eleven. That team dropped its opening game, a non-conference tilt, to the Panhandle Panthers by a narrow margin. Since the Panthers are consistently one of the strongest Class A teams in the Panhandle, this loss could not be chalked up as marking the McLean team as weak.

The Tigers followed their first defeat by a 24 to 6 win over the Wheeler Mustangs. A week of intensive training under Coach Hansard followed before the team met the Lakeview Eagles Friday, and the Tigers were leading 19-0 when the game was called at the end of the third quarter due to the weather.

On the other hand, the Rockets still stand up as trouble for any team hunting for a victory. With only one conference game played so far, they are out to keep up the record that has made Wellington synonomous with good football throughout West Texas.

All boys on the team are in good condition, Coach Al Duncan report and their full strength is to be expected against the Tigers. The game will begin at 8:00 p. m.

J. K. Porter Back In States

Sgt. J. K. Porter, who left The Wellington Leader staff to enlist in the Air Force four years ago October 15, landed in New York Saturday morning, he wired his parents, Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Porter, on that day. He served in England until after the end of the war in Europe, then was transferred to North Africa.

He is expected to arrive in Wellington late this week, and this will be his first leave since he entered service.

The Porter family received word Tuesday morning that their youngest son, T-Sgt. R. L. Porter, who has been in Germany with the Air Force, was leaving for home and would arrive in the United States within a short time. His wife and little daughter, Ila Beth, whom he has never seen, are making their home here with his parents.

The two brothers saw each other a number of times while both were stationed in England.

The third brother, Sgt. Hollis Porter, is now on Okinawa. His wife is making her home in Albuquerque, N. M.

Edith Davis Wachter Receives Discharge From Marine Corps

Edith Davis Wachter, who has been serving in the Women's Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina, received an honorable discharge from the service September 26, she wrote her mother, Mrs. A. G. Davis of Wellington.

She went from Camp LeJeune to New York City, where she is spending a month with members of her husband's family, and with two cousins, Miss Lois Langley and WAVE Betty Joe Langley. At the end of her visit she will return to Wichita Falls to enter a business college.

Mrs. Wachter's husband, Cpl. Frank Wachter, is serving in the Marine Corps in the Pacific theater.

Nazi Welcome, Quick Surrender All In Day's Work For T-5 Miller

"Germany looks like the junk pile of Europe," T-5 Clyde Miller, who has just returned from nine months overseas service declared last week. "All the larger cities I saw were badly damaged. It was just the little places that escaped. A town the size of Wellington, for instance, would pretty likely be partly destroyed."

Miller, a jeep driver with the 35th Infantry, served first with the 4th Armored Division of the Third Army, then with the 6th Armored Division of the British Ninth Army. Now on 30 day leave, he is visiting his wife and small son, Michael, who have made their home here, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Miller. When he lived here, Cpl. Miller was on the staff of The Wellington Leader.

Leaving Boston on December 22, 1944, Miller's unit landed and went on the lines in the Ardennes sector of the Belgian Bulge, against Von Rundstedt's winter offensive on January 8. Of the short platoon of 27 men that first went into combat, 20 were casualties after three days fighting.

"Some men no farther away than from here to across the street from my foxhole were captured, but they missed us," he said.

Around February 1, the men of the 35th Infantry were called in and told they were to go on a secret mission.

"We took all insignia off our clothes and painted over the insignia on all vehicles. Even the men didn't know where we were going. Then we made a quick move of considerable distance to relieve a British unit that had been under fire for some time. Just after we got in the lines, German shells began coming over, and when they burst, dropped leaflets that read something like this: 'Welcome men of the 35th! As usual you have been

Back Broken In Crash; Batson Here From India

T-Sgt. B. A. Batson was a visitor in Wellington, his old home town, for the first time in over two years on Monday of this week. T-Sgt. Batson has recently been returned to the States after 17 months with the 20th Air Force in the China-Burma-India theater. He was an aerial engineer on B-29's and participated in many of the daring raids over Japan.

On return from one of their missions his crew made a forced landing on one of the emergency landing strips made out of one of the streets of Calcutta. Their landing gear jammed, and their plane crashed into a nearby building with terrific force. Sgt. Batson received a broken back, but five of his fellow crew members were killed. He has spent several months in a hospital and has just been released from medical care to be shipped back to the States.

Sgt. Batson returned to the United States on a Coast Guard ship by his request. "I was glad to see all that water from anything but the air," he stated; "I don't mind flying as long as all of those four motors are purring in front of me, but if one of them stops, I am really ready to get out of there."

While in Collingsworth County, Sgt. and Mrs. Batson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clubb and other relatives and many friends. His mother, Mrs. B. A. Batson Sr. now lives near El Paso. They moved from here about three years ago.

Sgt. Batson is expecting to receive his discharge from the Amarillo Air Field within a day or two; and he and his wife will be back through here within about a week on his way to El Paso to vis his mother.

Rockets Lose To Bobcats 13-6 On Rainsoaked Field

Playing on a cold, rain-soaked field, the Wellington Skyrockets lost their first game this season to the Class AA Childress Bobcats Friday night, September 26, by a score of 13 to 6.

Although outweighed considerably, the Rockets held the Bobcats in the center of the field during much of the game. The first Bobcat score came late in the first; the second touchdown was in the latter part of the third quarter.

The Rockets scored in the second period, then late in the third they began a drive into Childress territory that took them to the 8 yard line before they were stopped on downs.

This game was the first in which the entire Bobcat first team had played, since injuries had dogged them during the early part of the season.

I. D. Russell and Tim Hatch again held the spotlight, and with Barry of Childress, provided the highlights of the rain-drenched game. But behind these two stellar Rocketmen was the close coordination of the remainder of the backfield and the line.

The game opened unspectacularly, although fairly early the Rockets took the ball on their own 40 yard line, and a pass from Russell to James Winter, back, was good for about 20 yards. The advance died there and Childress got the ball on downs.

Later in that period, with Childress in possession of the ball, Kitchens threw a pass to Barry, who snatched it and ran a short distance before he was downed, giving the Bobcats a gain of about 20 yards that set up Barry's touchdown run of approximately six yards. The Bobcats failed to make the extra point.

Early in the second quarter, Wellington took the ball on their own 40 yard line, and with Russell doing most of the carrying, six plays later they scored the only Rocket touchdown. A pass from Russell to O'Neil was good for 15 yards, and from there Russell slid over the goal line. Try for the extra point failed.

Neither team threatened during the remainder of the first half.

Childress launched a running attack during the third period that late in the quarter paid off. On a series of inside tackle runs, Kitchens, Watkins, Hunter and Barry took the ball down to the 8 yard marker, from where Barry went over for the touchdown, then made the extra point.

Just before the third quarter ended, the Rockets pushed the Bobcats down to their own 20 yard line, where the latter took over. The Rockets then held the Childress boys for three downs, when they punted to the Wellington 20.

The Rockets ran a series of plays with Russell and Hatch carrying the ball, first swinging around right end, then around left, until they forced the ball down to the Childress 8 yard line. Tightening their defense, the Bobcats held the line until the fourth down, when an attempted Rocket pass failed and the ball went over.

During the remainder of the game the ball was swapped back and forth, with neither team able to gain any material advantage.

Future Farmers Attend District Meet At Lakeview

By DONALD BRADLEY

"Save your soil" was the advice given to the Future Farmers of the Greenbelt District by Representative Hubert Lee of Paducah, who was chief speaker at the third annual FFA district banquet at Lakeview September 25. The Lakeview FFA boys and their advisor, T. H. Seay, were hosts, while the Future Homemakers of the school prepared the banquet.

The program opened with the regular FFA opening ceremony, led by the district president, Roy Grundy. Toastmaster was John Gillham, adviser from Clarendon. "The Eyes of Texas" was sung by the entire group. Junior Poyner of Lakeview gave the welcome address, and the response was given by a Clarendon member.

Royce Laycock, Samnorwood, talked on "Aims and Purposes of the FFA," and Marion Baumgardner, Wellington, who has been approved for the American Farmer degree, discussed "Are You an Active Member?" Following Mr. Lee's address, the program was closed with the regular closing ceremony. A guest of the Future Farmers was Ray Chappell, head of the department of agricultural education of Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Attending were 212 members and visitors.

Earlier in the evening, district Future Farmer officers were elected and plans formulated for the district program of work. Officers are:

Roy Grundy of Quitaque, president; Don Hancock of Lakeview, vice-president; Lynn Leathers of Clarendon, second vice-president; Don Kutch of Wellington, third vice-president; J. W. Sweatt of Estelline, secretary; Paul Collins of Childress, sentinel; Wayne Martin of Memphis, parliamentarian; Donald Bradley of Samnorwood, reporter; W. R. Bradshaw of Turkey, treasurer; and Bill Etter of Childress, area officer.

The chapters voted to have a district project livestock show next spring at one of the schools of the district; to conduct a judging contest at Clarendon in March; and to hold the annual encampment and leadership contests at Childress in May. At the close of the business session all chapter and district officers attended the officers' training school.

GOOD? IT OUGHT TO BE GOOD!
Sure, the New Phillips 66 is a swell gasoline
Why Not?
We'd be ashamed of ourselves if it wasn't! Since Pearl Harbor we've put every ounce of sweat and energy we possessed into perfecting the finest combat fuels the world has ever seen.
Millions of dollars worth of new equipment ...hundreds of thousands of man-hours and brain-hours . . . weren't spent in vain!
Good gasoline? Man, it ought to be good!
And if you're one of those who aren't surprised that Phillips research and Phillips know-how have produced a world-beater of a gasoline, here's a little thought you can tuck in your hatband:
The most important thing about a Phillips 66 Service Station is still the man who runs it. Yes, he can give you fine gasoline. But he'll also give the consistently high standard of thoughtful, courteous service that has always characterized the sign of 66.
We didn't forget how to deliver that during the war, either!

ISN'T Good Living JUST A MATTER OF CHOICE?

Good foods carefully selected and properly prepared are the basis of good living. Among all the foods you serve, good coffee is probably the most important. It's the "backbone" of many menus, notably breakfast and supper; it's the one part of any meal that must be good if other foods are to be enjoyed. Hence don't take chances by trying to save a penny or two a pound. Buy the choicest, most skillfully blended coffee the market offers. Such a coffee is Admiration—superb in quality, rich in flavor, delightfully aromatic and inviting. More people in the Southwest drink it than any other brand. There's a reason.

Wage Board. It came about in a regularly prescribed manner. A meeting was called here in the county courthouse. A full story was run in the paper. The meeting was held and those there voted for $1.25 and then went to Vernon to vote. Since then the rate has been set at $1.35; with a penalty for any picker or producer who pays or receives more than this amount.

The result has been a drastic shortage of pickers. Pickers from Wellington are going over to Oklahoma to pull cotton where there is no OPA ceiling and where they get $1.50 with no questions asked. Daro Camp reports that he contacted three colored families and asked them to pull on his farm. They would not for they were on their way to Oklahoma. They told him that they didn't want no trouble with OPA; but they did want that $1.50 a hundred for pulling. Grover Graham had the same experience with two families. Ernest Nunnelley and several others ran into the same thing when they went to get their old pickers in another part of the state.

There were others who took a more moderate view such as Wilbur Ketchum. He said, "Well, if we agreed to pay $1.50 they would immediately start asking for $2.00. If I can't get pickers, I intend to wait until the first frost and sled my cotton."

It seems to me that there is an easier solution of the picking situation than the cream situation. Under the law the county committeeman of the AAA have the right to increase the amount an individual may pay if circumstances or undue hardships such as difficulty in securing pickers warrant the increase in their judgement. Why not call a meeting of all farmers and have the committee members there. Take a vote and see if the majority are or are not having an extremely hard time in getting pickers.

A Federal official is here this week investigating violations. There is also a report that Western Oklahoma counties have gone under the ceiling, but I have not been able to verify this.

The best news that has reached here in the last few weeks is that of the release from Jap prison camps of such men as John Coleman, Arthur Capps, Dewey Hood and John Roy Noles. Relatives hope that they will be back in the United States before long.

Rev. Hubert Thomson, pastor of the Methodist Church, is a faithful member of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department. Saturday evening he went to the church to finish preparing his Sunday morning sermon. The text was "The Sins of the Saints." As one of these he intended to point out the sin of laziness. Late in the evening he turned out the light but left the gas stove burning. At 2 a. m. the fire siren sounded. He raised up in bed, remembered that he had a hard day ahead. The boys can put this one out, he thought to himself. It was a little later that a neighbor came by to ask him if he knew that the Methodist Church was on fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry Hobbs of Seagraves were here last Saturday visiting with his mother, Mrs. D. M. Hobbs.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

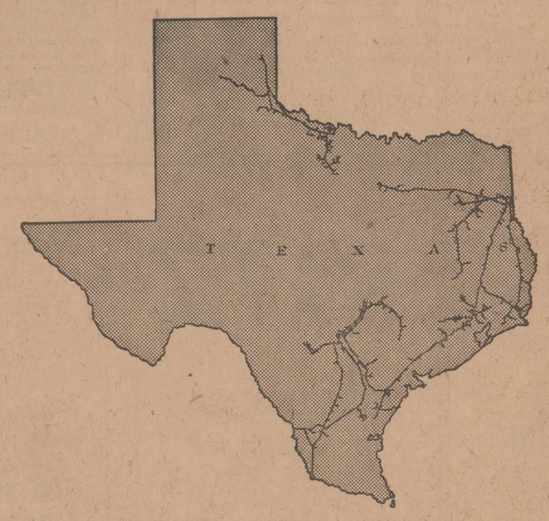

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

WE Recommend
ADEQUATE VENTED AUTOMATIC AVA METHOD OF GAS HEATING
GAS HEATING FOR YOUR HOME
★ Here's Why

Ordinary room heaters have served a good purpose, but just as the horse and buggy have been replaced by the automobile, ordinary heating equipment is being replaced by newer, improved types, which are more fully protecting the health of the family and preventing damage to walls and furniture.

Our winters are damp, and regular type heaters cause condensation, known as "house sweating." To eliminate this condition we recommend the installation of modern ADEQUATE, VENTED, and AUTOMATIC heating equipment.

VENTED heating equipment passes the moisture, which is a product of all combustion, to the outside air through a vent. This reduces "house sweating" to a large extent.

To eliminate "house sweating" further, the heating unit must be ADEQUATE. Condensation can't take place where all areas within the home are kept at an even temperature, so when ADEQUATE heating is used, all surfaces are warm and there's no opportunity for damp air to condense.

To do the complete job, however, AUTOMATIC heating is necessary. By this method a small, inexpensive thermostat controls the temperature in your home 24 hours a day. Winter colds and other illnesses, which are caused by quick changes in temperature, are no longer a problem. With AUTOMATIC heating you enjoy, to the maximum, the benefits of the world's finest fuel—Natural Gas.

Many dealers offer ADEQUATE - VENTED - AUTOMATIC gas heating equipment, and there is a type for your home, whether it be large or small. AVA heating is adaptable to any floor plan, and it may be installed in your attic, closet, floor, or an adjoining garage. When you buy, there is only one thing to remember—insist on ADEQUATE - VENTED - AUTOMATIC heating equipment.

MEMBER TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Editorial

It gives your editor a good feeling to cancel certain subscriptions on the paper he publishes each week and to meet those overseas subscribers again face to face on the street, see discharge buttons shine in their lapels, and hear of their plans for returning to the old job, or going to college, or opening their own businesses here in our town.

Your hometown newspaper has done quite a bit of travelling these past few years—it's been mailed to training camps down South and in the West; it's been shipped out to the Pacific and followed our boys to Hawaii, Guadalcanal, Australia, China and the Philippines. It's flown to Africa, cruised the Mediterranean on a destroyer, invaded Italy, slogged through France with the Infantry, and been waiting back at the base in England when the boys came back from the "milk run" over Berlin. . . .

Not a bad war record for a small town paper, especially when you consider that it's been kept so busy on the home front, too.

Your paper, and the thousands like it across the nation, has spearheaded war bond drives in which America purchased forty billion dollars worth of bonds. The nation's weekly newspapers gave more than 29 million lines of advertising and editorial comments to these drives, in addition to printing sponsored war bond advertisements.

Your hometown paper has helped collect waste paper, fats, scrap metal, and clothing. It has backed the war relief drives, the Red Cross drives, and a dozen other nationwide campaigns.

At the same time, to be sure that our town would keep on being the same fine place our boys dreamed of returning to, your newspaper has taken an active part in local politics and civic improvements, voicing our honest and, we hope, constructive opinions and criticisms.

Now that the war is over your newspaper may discard some of its military flavor and not do as much travelling about as it has this past four years. But like our returning veterans, your paper has learned many lessons that will not be forgotten.

Like our veterans, your newspaper returns to peacetime living with the knowledge that while our town is a small place in terms of the world-wide community of nations, the democratic way of life that it represents is one of the most precious and most encouraging things in our world today.

With this thought, looking toward a future of peace and freedom for all, your hometown newspaper is observing the sixth annual National Newspaper Week by reaffirming its pledge to support "A Free Press—Torch of World Peace!"

Other Editors Say

• No Excuse

Ben Clark, owner of two liquor stores in Texas City, was only kidding but he sounded the keynote of future business relations when he said to me, "Listen, fellow, the war is over, you've got to start giving better service."

How true, Ben, that applies to all of us who have been hiding behind the skirts of war as an excuse for not giving the service we did before. Too often too many of us carelessly gave the shortage of labor and materials for not doing better jobs. A little more effort and ingenuity could have produced better service.

It will be wonderful to get rid of that worn-out phrase, "Dontchanothwarzon" and get back to work.—Orlando Blackburn in The Texas City Sun.

• Economy

Some of the world's greatest examples of waste are blooming in shameful little gardens of economy, watered only by the dews of duty and tilled by the hoes of mistaken plans. Wise spending of money, talent, effort and friendship is the only true frugality.—Douglas Meador in The Matador Tribune.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(Jimmie Duke, grandson of Mrs. R. W. Duke, wrote the following letter to Jackie McPherson from the Philippine Islands.)

September 3, 1945

Hi-ya Jackson,

Have you started to school yet? Bet you are glad to get started again, huh? I sure wish I was there to start again. I think I will go to West Texas State College or Texas Tech when I get back. May be quite a while but maybe someday.

I can tell you now that I am on Corregidor Island, you know, the big jungle covered fortress that guards Manila Harbor. This place has more history mixed up with it than George Washington's bed. Remember, this is the last place that fell back in 1942. This is where the "Death March" began. The 200th Coast Artillery from New Mexico was here. All were killed or taken prisoners.

On liberties we go into Manila which is about 30 miles by boat. We hardly ever go because there is hardly anything left of it. Just a million people with no homes or anything. They really messed the place up. Tell your Mom where I am or let her read this. You write when you can, and I know you can, so you better do it.

Jimmie Duke.

Dear Mr. Wells,

Just a word to let you know that I haven't forgotten Wellington or the fine people there. Many readers may know me there, and I would like to tell you a little about myself. In 1943, I joined the Navy, later was discharged, and in 1944 I went into the U. S. Marines, and was shipped overseas. I was with the First Marine Division on Okinawa, my first campaign. While on the front lines I saw Myers Alexander who once lived in Wellington, but his folks now live in Wichita Falls. He and I met on the front lines, and it was so good to see someone from your old home town; we had so many things to talk about. We are still together, and he said for me to say hello for him to his friends. Myers heard from a girl in Wellington while he was on Okinawa, and he was sure happy to get it.

So long for now, and we both hope to be back in Wellington real soon.

Pvt. Roland G. Carter,
First Marine Division.

J. M. Tindall Gin

Independent Ginner

—Where ginning is an art and service is a pleasure—

The interest of John Bevers in this gin, formerly operated as Tindall and Bevers, was bought recently by J. M. Tindall. C. L. Carlisle will manage the gin during the coming season, and Mrs. Eunice Nunnelley will be in charge of the office.

Our gin is ready to serve you with the same high quality ginning that has been traditional of this plant during the many years it has operated in Wellington. We have an experienced crew that knows how to handle Collingsworth County Cotton, and our plant has been put in tip-top condition.

As the cotton harvest season rolls around, we again invite all our patrons to be back with us this year, for it's the same gin that has always had the interest of the farmers at heart.

Rev. Austin Moore New Pastor Of Nazarene Church

Rev. Austin Moore arrived in Wellington recently as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, replacing Rev. Odell Brown, who was moved to Abilene as pastor of the church there. Rev. Moore and his family come here from Post.

The new pastor entered the ministry seven years ago, serving churches at Ropesville two years and Calumet, Okla., a year before going to Post three years ago. A West Texan, he was reared at Ropesville.

He and Mrs. Moore have two children, a son, Gene Austin, age 15; and a daughter, Jackie, age 12.

In going to Abilene, Rev. Brown will take over a larger church than the one he served here, and his move is regarded by the church as a distinct promotion. During the time they lived here, both Rev. and Mrs. Brown were active in civic as well as church life.

NAZARENE PASTOR

Rev. Austin Moore has arrived here to serve as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, replacing Rev. Odell Brown who was transferred to Abilene. Rev. Moore comes from Post.

Former Resident Dies In Crash

Mrs. Harold W. McConnell, a former resident of the Quail community, and her husband were killed Tuesday night, September 23, when their plane crashed on a ranch about ten miles south of Petrolia, near Wichita Falls, during a severe wind and rain storm.

Mrs. McConnell was a sister of C. L. Morgan of Wellington, while Mrs. John D. Simmons and Mrs. Wallace Biter of this county are nieces.

The couple lived at Amarillo, where he was a civilian flight instructor at English Field.

Mrs. McConnell, age 23, was the former Irma Kate Morgan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Morgan who moved from California to Wichita Falls recently. She was born in this county and lived here until she was about 12 years of age, attending school at Quail for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan went from here to attend the funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. McConnell.

Mrs. W. L. Needham and Mrs. Gorman Owens were in the St. Joseph's Hospital this week to have their tonsils removed. Mrs. Owens is from Quail.

George Scott, S 1-c, left Saturday for Norfolk, Va., after an eight day leave spent with his wife and two daughters. Scott, who has been in the Navy for eight months, is assigned to a destroyer, the USS O'Hair. He received his training at San Diego and Norfolk.

motion from captain, the rank he held when he became a prisoner in the Philippines, to lieutenant colonel. At the time he wrote he was expecting to leave Manila for the United States within a few days.

Col. Coleman's wife and children, Lennie Lou and Spencer, are living here.

John Roy Noles

A telegram which Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winn received from their son, Lt. John Roy Noles, September 25, stated that he was in Manila and had received letters from them. His weight is 146 pounds, and he has no injuries. He expected to sail for home the next day.

Mrs. Winn said that Lt. Noles' health must be better than average, since he was not more than 10 pounds under his normal weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn now live at Stephenville, and in her letter, Mrs. Winn expressed their appreciation for the many letters they have received from friends at Wellington.

Mrs. Lena Miller and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and two children were called to Fort Worth Wednesday, September 26, by the serious illness of Billy George Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller. The child's father is the son of Mrs. Lena Miller and a brother of Mrs. Dodd.

Mrs. Norman Barr and two and one-half year old daughter, Norma, have returned to San Antonio to be with T-Sgt. Barr, who has just returned from Nome, Alaska. Mrs. Barr has been here since May 1 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson.

Mrs. E. W. Jenkins returned last week from San Diego, Calif., where she has been visiting with her daughter and family, Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. James Darrel Crooks and son.

Nell Gholson was in the St. Joseph's Hospital several days recently, but returned to her home Tuesday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gholson.

mopping up operations on New Britain.

"Attu was the worst because of combat fighting in cold weather, with the fog and rain. We used rifles mainly, and mortars, and these were the heaviest things that we could move," Breeding said. "I took part in 21 days actual fighting, and of the 2,700 Japs on the island, we took only 7 prisoners."

Breeding was returned to the United States about eight months ago, and since then has been assigned as a guard in prisoner of war camps.

picked to relieve the English when the going got too hot for them. We kept them pretty well entertained while they were up here, and we'll try to make your stay as interesting as theirs, etc.' We never did know how they found out who we were. That German intelligence was something," Miller said.

The 35th fought around Venlo, Holland, then up to the Rhine River. They were pulled back to Venlo for a 10-day rest period, again went up to the Rhine and crossed over in March, in the sector where the 17th Airborne Division had jumped.

In Germany, the fighting took them down into the Ruhr pocket, where they fought through the little towns of that section. Another jump took them in the direction of the Elbe River. They fought to within 50 miles of the Elbe when contact was made with the Russians on April 27, only 12 days before V-E Day.

Cpl. Miller is credited with capturing eight Germans.

"And I wasn't looking for any of them," he declared.

Describing his first capture, Miller said:

"One morning I was driving food up to the men in the front lines for breakfast, and that was the only time I didn't carry a weapon. The mess sergeant with me was armed, however. All at once we came on a German who was lost from his group. He came up ready to surrender and we took him back and turned him over to the guards."

Five other Nazis were taken near the Elbe. "We weren't looking for them either," Miller recalls.

A liaison plane had spotted a German motor pool, and sent back its approximate location. Miller, accompanied by a lieutenant in the jeep, and followed by three men in a two and one-half ton truck, set out through wooded territory to find it, since the 35th was short on fuel.

"We went around through the woods and never did find the German vehicles, but we did spot some deer. The lieutenant suggested we stop and shoot them. He got out and walked off, then motioned to me to go around down farther where he had seen some. I got out with a gun that looked about like a Buck Rogers gun and circled off below. I shot once, and two Germans popped up to surrender. Then we got two more. Pretty soon we ran on to the 35th reconnaissance squadron and they told us they'd been clearing out the forest and had just taken 60 prisoners right in the territory where we were. We let that motor pool go and got out of there in a hurry."

Cpl. Miller recalls with chuckles the first towns the Americans reached after they crossed into Germany.

"They turned us loose, and you should have seen some of those soldiers. The people usually retreated along with the German Army and the towns were empty. The boys would come out of those fine German houses wearing top hats and tails, or driving fine cars or riding on motor bikes. But that soon stopped. The Air Force had a way of strafing all vehicles that weren't plainly marked with the U. S. Army insignia."

After the German surrender, the 35th began making its way back toward France, stopping at Hannover, where they were soon relieved by the British, then near Muenster, where the French followed, and at Bassenheim, where they were again relieved by the French. It was at one of these stops, near Geldengarden, that the soldiers came onto a huge barn where the Germans had burned hundreds of their prisoners when they were cut off by allied armies.

Miller spoke of the beauty of the country, and the care with which the fields were tended.

"But the women and girls were doing all the work. They were down on their hands and knees doing it, too," he said.

Miller returned to the United States on the Queen Mary, landing September 9. Six days later he reached Wellington. He has been in service since November 16, 1943.

At the end of his furlough, Cpl. Miller will report to Camp Brackenridge, Ky., for further assignment.

campaign next year, probably in October. It is obvious that a "War" Fund appeal at that time, 14 months after the end of the war, would be completely out of the sphere of a temporary war-related organization. It was decided, therefore, to maintain the objective at its original figure so that the remaining member agencies would have funds for the last three months of 1946.

Certainly, it was also decided, no cuts could be made in the present budgets of the foreign relief agencies, for it is true that the coming six months will without fail be the time of greatest trial and suffering for the countries most recently liberated. It was felt, at the same time, that USO can in no way abate its efforts to ease the lot of the men and women of the armed services who need fully as much entertainment and recreation while awaiting return home as during combat.

The final aim of the National War Fund is simple: "To aid our liberated friends to get back on their feet and to keep bringing a touch of home to those who have won the victory, at least till most of them are finally at home once more." No effort will be spared to achieve this aim, according to the leaders of the appeal, and it is felt that the American people will once again lend their unlimited support to a cause so dear to their hearts.

Freeing Prisoners-

didn't have much energy or pep. About two weeks later Harris saw some of these same people at the New Bilibid prison, where they were trying to get used to their new food and to contact relatives.

North of Manila, the 1st Cavalry chased the retreating Japanese soldiers into the mountains, then they stayed to dig them out.

Harris was in service four years and two months, and overseas 26 months. He first went into combat in the Admiralty Islands, after having been stationed in Australia and New Guinea.

On Leyte, where he was assigned as a linesman to install and repair communications, he recalled that he and other signal corpsmen turned up approximately two miles ahead of combat troops, in enemy territory. "We scatted out of there when we found it out, too," he laughed.

Harris recalled, also, the good work of the loyal Filipinos, who not only smuggled clothing into Americans held prisoners, but who, after the Army had landed, served as guides to the men, taking them along short-cuts and keeping watch out for Japanese patrols.

This soldier is one of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris to serve in the armed forces. The other three, Herman, Clifford and Kenneth, served in the European theater. The latter docked in New York Thursday. The others are still overseas.

His wife made her home in Childress while Harris was in the Pacific, and he has been living there since his discharge.

brought in Tuesday revealed that the grade was off very slightly, but that for the most part it still held the middling grade as before the rain.

Wheat farmers and ranchmen of the section declared the rain invaluable. Some wheat is already coming up. Other growers feel that this moisture will put the ground in just the right condition for sowing.

A light rain was falling again Wednesday morning as The Leader went to press.
