The speaker will be Wellington-reared Lester Campbell, owner of a Memphis insurance business and an afterdinner speaker of note.

During one part of the program, bankers of the Association who have retired recently will be honored for their con-

Musical entertainment will be by Sandy Anderson of Canyon, who will bring his unique, specially built electric organ.

A social hour and registration will follow from 6:30 to 7:30 in the community center.

Clean-up Campaign for City Slated May 1 to 6

The most extensive clean-up campaign the city has had in recent years is slated for May 1 through 6, with the spotlight turned on abandoned cars, vacant lots, and buildings that are unusable or unlivable.

Spearheading the drive is the Chamber of Commerce, President Sandy Parsons announced after the directors meeting Monday night April 10. Mayor John Coleman gave assurance that the city will join in the clean-up drive. The county will be asked to assist, as will all civic clubs and women's clubs, Mr. Parsons said.

The Chamber directors also commended the opening of the Wellington Veterinary Hospital, discussed again trying for a water development project, heard progress report on the City's well drilling, endorsed the FM road priority set up by the county, and asked business men to attend a small business seminar to be held in Clarendon.

Heading the Clean-up campaign will be the C-C Highway Beautification committee, with County Judge Zook Thomas chairman, Robert Owens, Wayne Cudd, Glen Warrick, Bobby McAlister and Kenyard Potet.

Mr. Parsons said that owners of weed-grown vacant lots, buildings that have deteriorated beyond use, and other unsightly areas will be contracted in an effort to secure their co-operation in cleaning and beautifying the city.

Painting and repairs will be stressed.

"This is an investment in the long run," declared Mr. Parsons. "If we could all listen

Paving Street at Cemetery Sought

The east street of South Fairview Cemetery is going to be paved, due to the concern and work of a Wellington couple, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Caterlin.

They initiated and are heading the fund raising drive to pay for the surfacing.

This street, which is along the east side of the cemetery washes badly and is difficult to keep in good condition. At the Caterlins request, the county was doing fill work on it Tuesday, April 11.

"We believe there are many people, some who no longer live here, who will want to join us in this work," said Mr. and Mrs. Caterlin who have a nursery only a short distance from the cemetery.

A Cemetery Paving Fund has been set up and donations may be made at either the City State Bank of Wellington State Bank, or they may be sent directly to Mr. and Mrs. Caterlin. Several contributions have been

Sheriff Attends Jail Conference

Sheriff John Rainey was in Huntsville Thursday and Friday to attend a conference on jails, conducted by the Criminal Justice Council of Texas.

Much of the meeting was related to more complete segregation of juvenile, first offenders and women prisoners, the sheriff said.

We are in fair shape on our jail, but some of the counties with older jails are not, the sheriff said. Some of these regulations are coming out of federal rulings, he added.

Other sessions related to state inspection of jails and advising prisoners of their rights.

Mrs. Rainey accompanied her husband as far as Dallas and visited their sons, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rainey and Jerry Rainey.

Designations Made On Future FM Roads

The county's next four Farm to Market Road projects were designated by the Commissioners Court in a session Monday, April 10. This came on a split vote, however, with three commissioners voting for the designation which was offered, and one commissioner and the County Judge opposing it. Few recent sessions have covered such a variety of business.

Two of these were: - A motion asking the County Judge to study the cost of installing an elevator, air conditioning and heating system in the court house.

- A resolution asking Governor Preston Smith to designate Collingsworth County as a drought stricken county subject to all benefits and consideration of State and National government assistance available at this time or later.

The next four Farm-to-Market Roads designated in this order were:

1. The 5 miles necessary to complete FM 3070 in the northwest corner of the county. Part of this project is currently under construction.

2. A road from US 83 to the Pan Fork Baptist Encampment for a distance of 8 miles.

3. A FM road located several miles east of Wellington, extending from State Highway 203 (the Mangum Highway) south to the Childress County Line.

4. A four-mile FM Road in the Lillie Community to link FM 1981 with State Highway 203.

Commissioners W.R. Breeding, Pat O'Hair, and Melvin Seale voted in favor of these designations and carried the issue. Precinct 1 Commissioner Orville Vaughan voted against it.

County Judge Zook Thomas

voted against the motion and had this statement entered in the Commissioners Court Minutes, setting for the reason for his opposition:

"I am voting against the Road No. 3070 being the next

Hiett Heads Annual Scout Finance Drive

Dan Hiett, a vice president of the Wellington State Bank, will be the chairman of the Wellington Boy Scout Fund Drive, according to Keith Good of Booker, Buffalo Wallow District finance chairman.

Wellington's quota is $1,500. Mr. Hiett is working this week to line-up a vice-chairman, auditor and team captains.

He announced tentatively that the special gifts section of the drive will be launched about Thursday, April 20, with the general solicitation to begin Monday, April 24.

"This money goes to support the Scouting movement in Wellington and in the Buffalo Wallow District," explained the chairman.

"Wellington probably has the most outstanding Scout program of any county in the district," added Dave Agnew, district executive. "The cub pack and scout troops have achieved the utmost in the year-around program of Scouting."

There are presently two Boy Scout units, Troop 32 with Glenn McLain as Scoutmaster and Troop 75 with Jimmy Lee Barber as Scoutmaster. Bill Anders is Cubmaster of Pack 31, which has four dens, and a second pack is now in the process of re-registering under the sponsorship of the Community Action Program.

Money derived from the fund drive goes into training and camping activities; to advancements, of which the Five Eagle Scouts are examples; and to special activities, such as the forthcoming swim meet at Booker and the recent Cyclonee at Canadian.

The Quail School Board re-organized for the coming year, elected teachers for 1972-73 and initiated plans to introduce a kindergarten into the school system, Supt. James Stavenhagen announced.

One new teacher will join the Quail faculty in September, Mrs. Lynn Jenkins of Wellington. She will teach kindergarten, in which she had special training, and first grade. Mrs. Jenkins will succeed Mrs. Jim Lowe, who is retiring at the end of the present school year.

A graduate of Wellington High School, she received her degree from West Texas State University and is teaching this year in the Altus, Oklahoma, Schools. Her husband is a partner in Gilmore Locker and they have two small children, Tina, 8, and Lyn Marc, 5.

The school's music program is under a special funding arrangement and election of a teacher for that place will depend on its availability next year, Mr. Stavenhagen said.

Kindergarten will be introduced into the school at the beginning of the 1972-73 term. This is now required under Texas law where there is a request for it, Mr. Stavenhagen said. It will be taught in the same room with the first grade, while second and third will be together, as will fourth and fifth. Sixth grade will go into a block schedule along with the seventh

Students will get into the fight against cancer. These children will participate in the Send a Mouse to College Campaign. Mrs. Williamson said that a donation of 27 cents will buy a laboratory rat, so important in the search for a cancer cure in hospitals and college laboratories.

There is another source through which Collingsworth residents may give to the American Cancer Society at any time of the year, the Cancer Memorial Fund. Billy Moseley, cashier of the City State Bank, is in charge of this department.

County workers named by Mrs. Williamson include: Mrs. Don Reeves, Mrs. L.B. Bratten, Mrs. Pat McAlister, Mrs. B.L. Langford, Mrs. Larry Gollighugh, Mrs. Yvonne Brewer, Mrs. Sam Adams, Mrs. Barbara Williamson, Mrs. Gary Reed, Mrs. Thayne Amoneit, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. Elmer

Pointing out that there is more concern about cancer than ever before among Americans, Mrs. Williamson said that the local crusade will seek to reach every person through a house to house canvass through the county by May 1.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

Banquet Given by First Baptist Church Honors Seniors on Friday

"The Impossible Dream" was the banquet theme when First Baptist Church honored the graduating class of Wellington High School Friday evening, April 7. This was the first in the series of 1972 graduation activities.

The Rev. Roy Collins, pastor, was the speaker, and the WMU was in charge of arrangements, with Mrs. C.T. Hubbard as general chairman.

"All of us have personal dreams, some are realized and some are not, but I know there are some things that if we know about, will help us obtain those things we want most and are best for us," Rev. Collins told the seniors.

He named four illusions that destroy dreams:

1. Possessing things produces happiness. 2. Peace is something that happens on the outside of us rather than the inside. 3. The illusion that man is naturally good. 4. You can be religious without a personal commitment.

In conclusion, Rev. Collins reminded that all dreams have their fulfillment in Christ. Musical entertainment was a duet, "Love Makes the World Go Round" by Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rogers.

Happy Homemaking

A metal wheelbarrow is handy when cleaning window screens. Fill the wheelbarrow with hot water and some cleanser, lay each screen in the wheelbarrow and scrub with a car brush with a handle. Rinse off the screens with the garden hose.

Screen patching can be brain-wracking if you let it go until the holes are big. Keep an eagle eye on yours and when a hole is large enough for a mosquito or fly to get through, dot the hole with household cement.

Fix-It Tip

Hard, mineral-laden water clogs pipes with scale deposits, coats the insides of hot-water tanks, stains toilet bowls, discolors laundry. Install a water-softener to cut down the damage it does. It will pay off in the long run. Costs range from about $50 for a small, portable softener attachable to your sink faucet to $300 or so for all-automatic equipment. In some communities, you can rent equipment for a variable fee per month, plus installation.

I have been advised by my physician to do this. He insisted that I should also close on another afternoon but I am going to try this for a while.

I'm very sorry if this will work a hardship on any of my patients as you have been so loyal to me.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

- Q. If there were Protestants in your own family, would you try to convert them?
- A. There are several Protestants, by marriage, in my family, and I respect their faith completely. I have never in my 15 years as a priest tried to convert anyone, but I have been, through God's grace, responsible for over 500 people joining the Catholic Church voluntarily. I think it is rude and unethical to hammer on someone's door and try to convince him that his beliefs are wrong. Their beliefs are between them and God, and are none of your business.
- Q. Where in the Bible does it mention "bishops"?
- A. Just a couple of examples would be Titus 1:7 and I Timothy 3:1-2. There are numerous mentions of ordinations of Bishops and priests in the New Testament, ever since Jesus ordained His first twelve priests.

Mrs. Clyde Drake Tells Story of Pottery to Excelsior Club Members

A discussion of Collingsworth County clay suitable for pottery, as well as a general discussion of pottery, was given by Mrs. Clyde Drake for members of the Excelsior Club Thursday evening, April 6. Miss Rose Shadid was hostess.

"Clay samples from different parts of this county were analyzed at the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology," Mrs. Drake said. "Some of it is suitable for pots if care is used in firing; some is probably suitable for lightweight concrete aggregates."

Other excerpts from Mrs. Drake's talk follow.

Pottery includes anything formed of clay and hardened by heating. The content of the clay and the temperature of the firing determines whether the end product is earthenware, stoneware, or porcelain.

The history of pottery dates from the close of the ice age; clay was first used to line baskets and this practice developed in many parts of the world at about the same time. When these clay lined baskets were fired the basket burned away leaving a pottery container.

The Potter's wheel in one of the earliest mechanical contrivances of man. The Egyptians thought it an invention of the Gods. There is a picture in Thebes painted in 4000 B.C. of the entire process of making pottery that shows one of their Gods fashioning the egg of the world on a wheel.

Clay which is to be thrown on a wheel is usually a mixture of several clays which have been ground or washed and wedged. A ball of this plastic clay is centered on the wheel which can be turned at variable speeds by the potter who, by successive pulls, fashions it into the desired shape. This piece of Green ware is placed in a draft free place to dry and harden before firing.

Many people have started turning pottery on a wheel or fashioning it in some other way as a hobby and these hobbies have grown into business.

Mr. Franks who has developed Frankoma Pottery into a thriving business first threw and formed pottery for pleasure. Alie Lee of Las Vegas, N.M. now has a studio from which she sees her lovely ware both whole sale and retail. The wife of a successful young architect in Houston who started potting for pleasure now makes light fixtures for many of the buildings which her husband designs. Then there is Maria of San Ildefonso who taught others of her tribe to make the lovely black on black pottery which has made this a thriving industry in the pueblo.

Mrs. Lowell Wells, president, was in charge of the business. A desert plate was served to Miss Bonnie Willis, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. Miss Hattie D. Wells, Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Mrs. J.F. Michael, Miss Marie Shadid and the hostess, Miss Rose Shadid.

Collingsworth County FARM NEWS

By Don Reeves
County Agricultural Agent

Lawn management chores such as fertilization, mowing and watering are again beginning to occupy considerable spare time of homeowners.

With temperatures beginning to climb and a shortage of soil moisture in many areas, maintenance of the home lawn can be a perplexing job.

However, by following certain basic maintenance practices, an attractive lawn can be maintained with a minimum of problems.

First, adequate amounts of plant food are important to keep a lawn green and to maintain growth and health of the grass. Start by applying a complete fertilizer in the spring as the grass begins to grow. Then follow with another application in the fall about a month before the first frost.

During the summer, an application of nitrogen every 30 to 40 days will keep the lawn green and growing. Well-fertilized grass is able to withstand dry weather considerably better than grass that is hungry.

Nitrogen is a key fertilizer element in turf production. If deficient, plant growth will be come stunted and a condition often called "firing" will develop. Lack of phosphorous will retard growth, and shortage of potassium will likewise inhibit plant growth and vigor. There must be a balance of these nutrients.

As rainfall becomes inadequate, waterings must be increased to supply needed moisture. Do not water the grass until it begins to show a need. Then soak the soil to a depth of eight or more inches to maintain a good turf root system. Frequent shallow waterings should be avoided.

In regard to mowing, removing a lot of growth at one time is detrimental to the grass. Close mowing is advisable if the homeowner can mow often.

Close, frequent mowing will cause the grass to produce a lot of leaves very low to the ground. This produces an attractive and dense sod. Since most homeowners do not mow more often than once every week or 10 days, they should mow at some greater height to avoid scalping the grass too severely.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, April 13, 1972

AUSTIN, TEX. -- County political party chairmen have been advised how they can collect state funds for paying May 6 primary election expenses.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock advised the local party officials to prepare immediately detailed estimates of their outlays.

Bullock sent out forms and these instructions immediately after Gov. Preston Smith signed a new law providing $2 million in state aid to finance the primaries.

* Only when sworn estimates are returned and reviewed will state checks be prepared in the amount of three-fourths of the total expense. Additional warrants will be drawn after the election.

* Prior expenses (before the new state financing law) which exceed the amount of candidates' filing fees and contributions will not be paid by the state -- unless cancelled and renegotiated on new contracts.

* The new state law does not permit any state reimbursement of expenditures for precinct or county conventions or for paying executive committee members for attending meetings.

* State funds can be used to pay for "necessary and legitimate primary expenses" like ballot printing, polling place and voting machine rental, purchase of election sets, stationery, telephones, office rental and compensation of election clerks and judges.

* After the primaries, the secretary of state will require sworn verification of every expenditure made out of the primary fund, together with supporting receipts and cancelled vouchers.

* Estimates of June 3 runoff primary expenses will be required at a later date through the same procedures.

VISITORS BOOM ECONOMY
-- More than 22.6 million visitors came to Texas last year and spent an estimated $1.85 billion. The number was up seven per cent over 1970 and the dollar amount 25 per cent.

Meditations

Morality without religion is only a kind of dead reckoning, -- an endeavor to find our place on a cloudy sea by measuring the distance we have run, but without any observation of the heavenly bodies. -- Longfellow.

Alas! our young affections run to waste, Or water but the desert.
-- Lord Byron.

Oh, there is a blessing in this gentle breeze,
A visitant that while it fans my cheek
Doth seem half-conscious of the joy it brings
From the green fields, and from yon azure sky.
Whate'er its mission, the soft breeze can come
To none more grateful than to me: escaped
From the vast city, where I long had pined
A discontented sojourner: now free,
Free as a bird to settle where I will.
-- William Wordsworth

The heart bowed down by weight of woe, to weakest hope will cling. -- Alfred Bunn.

Life, like a dome of many-colored glass, stains the white radiance of eternity. -- Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Labour disgrades no man; unfortunately you occasionally find men disgrace labor. -- Alice Cary.

A little child, a limber elf,
Singing, dancing to itself,
A fairy thing with red round cheeks,
That always finds, and never seeks,
Makes such a vision to the sight
As fills a father's eyes with light;
And pleasures flow in so thick and fast
Upon his heart, that he at last
Must needs express his love's excess
With words of unmeant bitterness.
-- Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

Genius may conceive, but patient labor must consummate. -- Horace Mann.

What a man thinks of himself, that it is which determines, or rather indicates, his fate. -- Henry David Thoreau.

When skies are clear, expect the cloud;
In darkness, wait the coming light;
Whatever be thy fate to-day,
Remember, "This will pass away"
-- John Godfrey Saxe.

No man, for any considerable period can wear one face to himself, and another to the multitude, without finally getting bewildered as to which may be the true. -- Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Patient endurance of sufferings, bold resistance of power, forgiveness of injuries, hard-trying and faithful friendship, and self-sacrificing love, are seen in beautiful relief over the flat uniformity of life, or stand out in steady bright grandeur in the midst of the dark needs of men. -- Richard Henry Dana.

Ever let the Fancy roam,
Pleasure never is at home:
At a touch sweet Pleasure melteth,
Like to bubbles when rain pelteth.
Then let winged Fancy wander
Through the thought still spread beyond her:
Open wide the mind's cage-door,
She'll dart forth and cloudward soar.
-- John Keats.

Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul; and the heart of man knoweth none more fragrant. -- Hosea Ballou.

The truest test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops; no, but the kind of man the country turns out. -- Emerson.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

The so-called Women's Rights Amendment is being rapidly ratified by State Legislators who are smart enough to see that it is really a men's liberation law.

Many men have already liberated themselves by getting mama a job or a riding lawn mower, but this Amendment will free millions more from legal obligations like breadwinner, child supporter, and zipper of ladies up the back.

In fact, the Tricky 27th is really putting the pants on women by giving them the job of fighting our next war.

Tornado Season Calls for Preparation and Alertness

Mid-April is usually the time we enter the tornado season, and although this county has been most fortunate storm-wise for several years, not all the advances in weather forecasting have made detection of these storms 100 per cent accurate.

First, each of us and all members of our families should know in advance where we are going should a tornado be sighted. Nor should we wait any longer to get our storm cellar, or whatever place of safety we choose, ready for quick occupancy. It might be a good time to bring this shelter up to Civil Defense specifications if possible, for tornados are as much a part of the CD Program as nuclear fallout.

Not all tornados can be seen on radar screens. Most of the large ones are, but there are many tiny tornados, forming quickly and dipping to the ground briefly, that cannot be picked up. These also are deadly if the one point they touch down happens to be a building with people inside.

Our law enforcement officers will post a storm watch in all directions from Wellington whenever conditions require it. But at best, a few minutes must elapse from the time the storm is sighted until the warning can be given. If it is night and we depend on TV or radio, 10 minutes is about the shortest time elapse possible.

In any event, our best defense remains our own eyes, especially if we are outside the area where the fire department siren warning can be heard.

Day Dreams and Memories

Our daydreams are sugared hopes for a happier tomorrow and our memories are relived moments of what has happened to us in the past. We need both daydreams and memories to keep from becoming prisoners of today's hard hours.

Some of you can trace your memories back to when you didn't wonder what a stranger was trying to get from you if he smile at you in passing. Or perhaps you can recall when it was difficult to drive far from town on a rainy day without you car sinking hub deep in mud.

Then there are those of you that remember when a woman used more yards of cloth to make herself a single dress than she now has in her whole wardrobe, and having a backyard garden wasn't a hobby in a large family--it was a necessity.

There was a time when dogs engaged in more street fights than people, and a juvenile delinquent was a kid who pulled the pig-tails of the girl who sat in the classroom seat in front of him--and caused her to cry.

And some will remember when many of the townspeople drove down to the station in the evening or on Sunday to see the train come in. A cynic was a fellow who didn't believe in the almanac's long-range weather forecasts.

There was a time when more men chewed tobacco than there were girls who chewed gum, and the chief sources of air pollution in America were visitors who insisted on lighting up nickel cigars in the parlor.

AG OPINIONS -- The Texas Department of Public Safety may administer certain tests to determine whether accident-prone drivers can operate cars safely on completion of a rehabilitation program, and courts can require attendance at the latter, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded: * A new law prohibiting reproduction for sale of sound recordings without consent is constitutional.

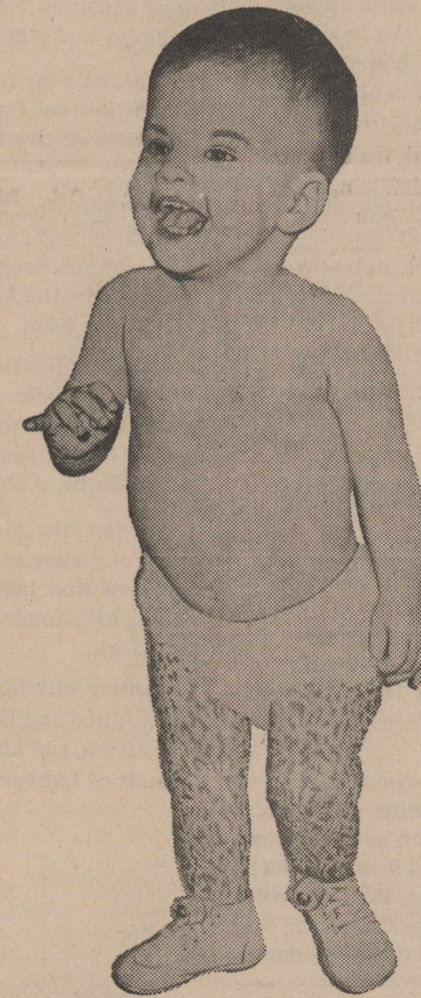

Price ceilings on raw agricultural products won't keep food costs down, claims Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. Texas State Department of Health has started a pilot study to find out what additional health and safety standards are needed in industry. Atty. Gen. Martin asked the U.S. Senate judiciary committee to review granting of immunity to Frank Sharp.

Both figures were new records according to Texas Tourist Development Agency and Texas Highway Department. Last year's visitors paid $166 million in direct state taxes. The Highway Department figured average spending per person per day among auto travelers was $14.92. Visitor spending has increased 170 per cent since 1964.

SHORT SNORTS
A complete reorganization and modernization of the state court system should be submitted to voters, Texas Supreme Court Associate Justice Tom Reavley stated.

Att. Gen. Martin asked the U.S. Senate judiciary committee to review granting of immunity to Frank Sharp.

THE BATTLE over no fault insurance continues to rage in many states although it has not attracted much attention in Texas yet. Probably they have had too many other things to think about down in Austin.

IN BRIEF no fault automobile insurance is a plan under which the insurance company pays the person and property damage regardless of who is at fault. The injured party gives up the right to sue for pain and suffering.

THUS FAR there is no pure form of no fault insurance in effect in the United States; but Massachusetts and Florida have modified no fault insurance laws and other states have ordered the insurance companies to offer such insurance on an optional basis. The advantage of no fault insurance, its supporters contend, is that it guarantees payment to an injured person without going to court to collect.

ACCIDENTS cost $16 billion dollars in the U.S. last year; yet over half of the victims did not collect a cent. No fault bills are under consideration in ten state Legislatures at the present time according to The National Observer. Do not expect these to pass too quickly. Most of the legislators are lawyers. And trial lawyers are the main opponents of no fault insurance. Last year they collected $1.4 billion in traffic negligence cases.

ONE disadvantage of no fault insurance is that it restricts the right to sue. And another is that it forces the careful, sober driver to subsidize the reckless driver and the drunken driver.

NOT ALL lawyers are against such bills. The American Trial Lawyers Association says: "We would look with favor upon no fault insurance which would allow practically every accident victim to recover all of his economics from his own insurer without proving fault, and which would retain his right to recover full compensation for all his damages from the wrong doer." That seems to be a sensible statement on the problem.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce is planning a more intensive and extensive clean up campaign than has been held in recent years. It is scheduled for early May. It might be wise for most of us to start on our own premises now. It takes constant work to keep a place clean. It also requires a concerted community effort to keep a town clean.

ELECTION time is nearer than you think. Only three weeks remain after this one in which the candidates can tell their story to the voters.

MAY is also the time when the City of Wellington will make the vaccination of dogs and the wearing of a collar compulsory.

veterinary hospital the county has had, and the owners are the first veterinarians to have offices here in about 15 years. The Wellington Veterinary Hospital is built of structural blocks, and is 36 x 52 feet in size, with additional dog kennels and shed space. The offices are in the west end and included here is a small animal treatment room.

The receiving area is open on the east for easier handling of animals. In addition to this large area containing treatment and calf processing facilities, there are 5 outside stalls and two large pens. The kennels, located in a room with air conditioning and heating for year around comfort, contains four runs for dogs. Cages for small dogs and cats will be added.

Wellington business and community leaders regard it as significant that two of its young men have chosen to come home to work in the areas's growing livestock industry.

Farmers Co-op Elects, Hears Finance Report

Members of the Farmers Co-op Society elected directors for the coming year, heard a report on the operation of the gin plant, and then saw a film on the uses to which the dollar-per-bale checkoff is put.

Four directors were re-elected: Fred Cox, Carl Wischkaemper, J.I. Morgan and R.L. Mabery; and three new members were named: Dan Henard, Jr., Louis Allred and Carthel Lewis. Later, in a meeting of directors, Mr. Wischkaemper was named president of the board, Mr. Allred vice president, and Mr. Lewis secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Cox was the outgoing president.

W.E. Marchant, gin manager, announced that plans to install a "stick" machine on top of the burr machine to further clean the cotton as it is ginned. This will enhance the grade, and therefore the price the producers receive from their cotton.

During the last season, he noted, it took an average of 2,775 pounds of seed cotton to make a 525 pound bale. He also reminded the members that the Farmers Co-op has not gone up on its ginning cost since 1961.

The new plant, located a mile east of Wellington, was built in 1965 at a cost of $545,000, Mr. Marchant said. Now a similar plant would cost $625,000.

Members approved one amendment to the by-laws, which would provide for carrying forward operational loss from one year to the next, to satisfy tax requirements.

Bill Hallman of Sweetwater, representative of the National Cotton Council, explained that some of the research financed by the dollar per bale checkoff includes narrow row cotton; breeding to achieve more bolls per plant, higher yield per acre, and more fibers per seed, and short season cotton.
