Gins Hum As Record Crop Leaves Fields

Scurry County cotton farmers are in the midst of harvesting what appears certain to be Scurry County's biggest cotton crop.

A record yield per acre is virtually assured, based on reports from county gins at the end of the week.

Prospects are that the ginning season for the 1965 crop will extend well into 1966, since the harvest got a late start this season and the yield promises to surpass even the most liberal pre-harvest estimates.

The nine gins in the county had processed 22,027 bales by the time damp weather set in toward the end of the week to temporarily slow the traffic from the fields. In almost every case, ginners doubted that they had received half of the crop, and in some communities estimates were that no more than a fourth to a third of the crop had reached the gin.

Consequently, some observers who had predicted a crop of 40,000 bales had raised their estimates considerably.

County Agent Billy Roach said that a 50,000 bale estimate now does not appear to be fantastic. He said a good number of farmers had reported that they were pleasantly surprised over the yield.

"When they got their stripping machines into the fields the trailers filled up much faster than they expected," Roach said.

Most gins in the county had caught up with their backlogs by the end of the week as the damp weather halted harvest operations. However, the Paymaster Gin west of town still had about 250 bales on the yard awaiting their turn late Friday.

Scurry County's cotton acreage this year is slightly below 60,000. A total crop of 50,000 bales would mean an average yield of five-sixths of a bale per acre which is far above any previous mark.

The report by gins late Friday included the following totals: Snyder Co-op 5,210 bales; Snyder Paymaster, 4,789; China Grove, 3,361; Inadale, 3,019; Hermleigh Planters 2,110; Snyder Planters 1,400; Fluvanna Planters, 933; Dunn Planters, 735; Ira Mayfield 470.

4 Mishaps Occur During Heavy Fog

Police investigated four automobile accidents during heavy fog Friday. Three occurred within an hour of each other, and three of them were on Thirty-seventh Street, one resulting in minor injuries to Gary Dale Calvert, Route 3, Hermleigh.

Calvert was the driver of a 1955 model Studebaker which was involved in a collision with a 1961 model Rambler operated by John M. McKinney, 711 Thirtieth Street. The mishap occurred at 7:40 p.m. at the intersection of Thirty-seventh and Avenue S. Calvert was was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bolger ambulance.

The accident resulted in a fire when the gasoline tank of one car was punctured. Police and firemen cordoned off the area while the cars were separated. They had become stuck together following the impact. Damage to the Rambler was set at $600, and damage to the Studebaker at $400.

Another accident at the same intersection occurred earlier at 6:04 p.m. Involved were cars of Volga Thompson, Route 2, and Gilberto Ramos, Box 334. Damage to Thompson's 1958 model Oldsmobile was estimated at $600, and damage to Ramos' 1960 model Chevrolet was set at $400.

Officers also investigated a two-car mishap at Avenue U and Thirty-seventh at 3:23 p.m. Involved were cars of Joyce Underwood (a 1959 model buick) and Samuel Compton, General Delivery, (a 1951 model Cadillacc). Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $350.

The other accident involved the 1963 model Oldsmobile of Una Hart Wade, Route 3. It occurred at 6 p.m. at El Paso and Thirtieth. Damage was set at $75.

Weary Astronauts End History-Making Flight

SMOLDERING CRASH—A fire resulted when these two automobiles were involved in a collision at about 7:40 p.m. Friday at Thirty-seventh Streeth and Avenue S. The collision was one of four mishaps logged by city police during a one-hour period while a heavy fog enveloped the Snyder area.

Gemini 8 Plans Set

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Blackened by the fire of re-entry the Gemini 7 space ship rode a parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, bringing astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell home safely from man's greatest adventure in space.

Weary and heavily bearded after 14 long days of the weightless ordeal, they guided their tiny craft to a splashdown at 9:05 a.m. (EST), 11 to 17 miles from the prime recovery vessel, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The meteoric dive back to earth ended the most exciting and the most significant space voyage ever flown by man.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, said the flight climaxed a fabulous year in space for the United States. He said with the combined 6 and 7 missions, the Gemini program now has accomplished most of its basic goals. The only target not achieved has been docking with another spacecraft, which will be tried on Gemini 8 in March or April.

Borman and Lovell had traveled far longer than any other spacemen—330 hours, 35 minutes; flown the most miles — 5,129400, and had given the United States a long lead over Russia in many other phases of the race between the nations to be first on the moon.

And, with a skillful assist from the Gemini 6 pilots, Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford, they had achieved the first true rendezvous of orbiting space ships—an historic feat recorded graphically on color film.

The exhausted spacemen asked for a helicopter pickup, electing not to wait for the arrival of the Wasp. They climbed through the hatches into life rafts and gave the pilots of the rescue planes overhead thumbs-up signals telling them everything was okay.

A horsecollar was lowered from a helicopter and each astronaut was hauled up and flown to the Wasp, where excited sailors lined the rails waiting for a glimpse of them. They were deposited on the deck of the carrier at 9:37 a.m. 32 minutes after splashdown.

A bit wobbly, but sporting huge grins, Borman and Lovell walked to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" and—to the wild cheers of the Wasp's men—to the sick bay for their first check-up.

After five hours of light sleep, Borman and Lovell awoke shortly after midnight and stowed away the loose gear and the last of the debris collected during the long days of life in the tiny space ship.

"Are you ready to come home?" Mission Control asked.

"Ready" cried Borman. Ready!"

Deadline For Goodfellows Set Tuesday

Tuesday is the deadline for making applications for help from the Goodfellows of Snyder.

The annual campaign to make Christmas brighter for the area's needy folks is rapidly drawing to a close as contributions of money, toys and clothing continues to come in at the Goodfellows Headquarters on Twenty-fifth Street.

Monday is the last day toys are being accepted by the Goodfellows, and money contributions will end Tuesday. Anyone who knows the name of needy families should let the Goodfellows know by Tuesday. Distribution of the clothing and toys will be made Thursday, the day before Christmas Eve.

Spokesmen for the Goodfellows asked that merchants retain cardboard boxes Monday through Wednesday since they will be needed for distributing the goodies. The Goodfellows also need volunteer workers to bring the boxes to Goodfellow Headquarters and help pack them. The boxes will be packed with clothing and toys Wednesday.

A special Kiddie Show at the Palace Theatre Saturday morning brought canned goods into the Goodfellows Headquarters. Children were admitted to the movie in exchange for canned food. Contributions to the annual drive continue to come in during the last days of the campaign.

Viet Peace Feeler Called 'Fabrication'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department report of a new offer from North Viet Nam to seek a negotiated peace in Viet Nam was slapped down hard today by Hanoi, which branded it a baseless fabrication.

There was no immediate comment from the State Department or White House on the Hanoi broadcast, but it appeared to confirm the skepticism expressed by both the White House and Secretary of State Dean Rusk when the offer was reported Friday.

Besides warning against optimism in connection with the peace feeler, officials said Friday night the public announcement of the offer would further lessen its impact. They said North Viet Nam would be forced to repudiate it in order to cool the wrath of Red China. The State Department made the offer public after word of it was published by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Similar concern that premature disclosure might torpedo any peace effort was expressed by diplomats here and at the United Nations. The feeling among them is that once a contact is unmasked, for whatever reason, it can be considered dead.

The peace bid was contained in a letter dated Nov. 20 to President Johnson from Italy's foreign minister, Amintore Fanfani, who is president of the current session of the U.N. General Assembly.

Fanfani quoted Ho Chi Minh, North Viet Nam's president, as saying he was "prepared to go anywhere, to meet anyone" to further negotiations. The letter said Hanoi also called for a cease - fire and an agreement that negotiations be based on the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam as interpreted by Hanoi.

Rusk replied with a letter to Fanfani seeking clarification of the offer and Fanfani said Friday night he had forwarded Rusk's letter to Hanoi. Fanfani was not available for comment today on Hanoi's broadcast terming the offer a fabrication.

Lovell Lands Before Stork

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — It was a tense, nerve-punishing 14 days but "I'd go through it again — it was worth it," Mrs. Marilyn Lovell told newsmen today after her husband landed from space.

Mrs. Lovell, wife of Gemini 7 pilot Navy Cmdr. James Lovell, and Mrs. Susan Borman, wife of the command pilot, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, expressed excited relief after watching on television as their husbands step from a helicopter to the deck of the USS Wasp after almost two weeks in space.

"It was the most perfect mission I could hope my husband to be on," Mrs. Borman said. "I'm in an awed state."

Mrs. Lovell said her husband looked "marvelous."

Mrs. Lovell expects another landing soon—of the stork. She said her fourth child was due at any time now.

'Cong Overruns Saigon Outposts

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong overran three government outposts in the Saigon area tonight and sustained their terrorist campaign within the city with a grenade assault on a mobile police checkpoint.

To safeguard American troops from the recurring terrorist attacks, the U.S. military command ordered a dusk - to - dawn curfew until further notice for all U.S. personnel in Saigon except those on duty.

Afield, old hatreds boiled again between military units of mountaineers and lowlanders of South Viet Nam in the central highlands, though they are allies in the war against the Viet Cong.

A sharp firefight developed between U.S. paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and a Viet Cong band in the jungles 40 miles east of this city. A guerrilla bullet wounded Associated Press photographer Al Chang, 41, in the head and knocked him out for a while. Treated in the field, he returned to Saigon tonight.

The Viet Cong attack at Tan Dat 10 miles north of Saigon and overran three outposts manned by government forces.

The American curfew, twice in seven years aimed at guarding the streets of the capital of South Vietnam, went into effect at midnight tonight, was ordered for an indefinite period. But there were indications it will be reviewed after the Christmas holidays.

In other developments, mountain tribesmen in South Viet Nam's central highland sent their political dissatisfaction boiling over into violence Friday night and today and some bloodshed resulted.

Reports of developments were still sketchy, but it was learned that the Montagnards fought government troops in Phu Bon Province where a district chief was reported killed.

Our daughter was married in August, and all who attended said they had never seen a more beautiful wedding. My daughter's fiance had a college friend who was an expert amateur photographer, and he offered to take the pictures. The formal sittings as well as candid shots of the wedding, reception, etc. This friend came with cases full of cameras. (Others who knew said he had a "fortune" in equipment.) Well, this man took the pictures all right, but not one of them turned out. He said something was "wrong" with his film. Now the occasion is passed and we don't have one picture of it me. ONE. Mexico Has Moskvitch

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If your heart is set on a 1960-model Moskvitch, a Mexico City dealer has your dream car ready.

The Moskvitch is a 4-cylinder job made in the Soviet Union. It looks a little like some small Japanese entries, with a dash of 1937 Nash thrown in.

Dealer Luciano Baschuk imported 315 five years ago. At that time Mexico put a squeeze on importation of American cars and opened the door to small European models.

Sales of the Moskvitch apparently went pretty well at first, but only three or so were sold in 1964 and not many more this year. Baschuk readily admits he has "a few" of the Soviet cars left.

Under a recent law all new cars must be assembled in Mexico. The Ministry of Industry and Commerce knows of no plans to assemble the Moskvitch here. Thus Baschuk may have the last ones to be soldin Mexico for a time.

He will take 23,000 pesos or $1,840.

San Angelo Plans Shopping Complex

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Plans to build a multi-million dollar shopping complex in midtown San Angelo were announced Friday by Michel T. Halbouty, Houston oilman.

Halbouty said the shopping complex would be built on a 25-acre tract and professional offices, apartments and a motor hotel.

"This is to be a regional center," said Halbouty. "It will serve an area with more than 285,000 people," he said.

Say Soviets Didn't Down Missing Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department discounted Friday any possibility that a missing U.S. Air Force B57, which was piloted by a Texas man and missing since Tuesday, was downed by the Soviets.

The plane, which is based at Rhein Main Airport in West Germany, was piloted by Capt. Lester L. Lackey of Lubbock. Navigator for the plane was first Lt. Robert A. Yates of Ridgewood, N.Y.

The plane was on a routine training mission when it disappeared after being last reported about 90 miles north of the Turkish coast off the Black Sea. Search for the plane, which had taken off from Incerlik Air Base, near Adana, Turkey, continued Friday.

A Pentagon spokesman said there was no evidence that the plane was shot down. The spokesman said it was not in the vicinity of Soviet territory or Soviet waters.

Lackey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Lackey of Idalou, Tex. he attended public schools in Stephenville. He is a 1953 graduate of Texas A&M and was assigned to West Germany in August of this year. His wife and three children have been with him in Germany.

Opposes New Allowables

ABILENE, (AP) — L. W. Brooks, Breckenridge, president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assocation, Friday criticized the action of the Texas Railroad Commission's action on offshore allowables.

Brooks said the action Thursday created "bonanza allowables." He said his organization has long sought to correct "existing inequities in the state's allowable system."

"Now the commission sees fit to create further inequalities by granting huge allowables for offshore production," he said.

The independents, he said, "will be in trouble when this flood of oil hits the Texas market." He said it was an invitation to Louisiana to increase its offshore allowables because "Louisiana is not going to sit back and let Texas get the market."

ON LEAVE—Pvt. E-2 Gerald Ned Bullard is home for the holidays after completing 8 weeks of Army basic training at Fort Polk, La. He entered the Army on Oct. 11 and will report to Fort Bragg, N. C., where he will take advanced individual training in surveying. A 1963 graduate of Snyder High School, he resided with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dever, 112 Birch, and was employed by the Texas Highway Department before entering the Army.

THANK YOU!

He's Gonna Grab Tiger

ROME (AP) — Undefeated Nino Benvenuti planned to push his bid for a shot at middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria today following his successful defense of the junior middleweigh. title against fellow Italian Sandro Mazzinghi.

Although his left eye was swollen shut and he was gashed under it, the handsome, 27-year-old boxer-puncher from Trieste was awarded a controversial decision over Mazzinghi in their return 15-rounder at the Sports Palace Friday night.

Benvenuti, winner of all 61 of his pro fights, had won the 154-pound division crown by knocking out Mazzinghi in the sixth round at Milan six months ago.

Most of the 15,000 fans rooted for Mazzinghi, and many of them jeered and tossed paper and fruit into the ring during the last few rounds. Then they booed the verdict.

Benvenuti, scored the only knockdown and appeared to have deserved the decision. A left hook to the head dropped Mazzinghi in the second round. The count had reached eight when the bell sounded to end the round.

The Associated Press had Benvenuti ahead 6-4 in rounds with five even.

Have Money, And . . Line

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets, who've received a fair return so far on their $400,000 investment in quarterback Joe Namath, shelled out an estimated $300,000 for All-America linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma.

McAdams, 6-foot-3, 217 pounder from White Deer, Tex. was introduced Friday at a news conference during which Sonny Werblin, the Jets' owner, said, "As far as I know Carl's contract is the biggest one that's ever been offered to a lineman. I understand that Dick Butkus got a little less than $300,000 to sign with the Chicago Bears." Butkus was an All-America linebacker for Illinois in 1964.

McAdams, 21, was the American Football League team's third round draft choice and the first round pick of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League. "The contracts offered were about the same by both clubs," McAdams disclosed. "I thought I would have more of an opportunity in New York than in St. Louis."

Noble Nobis Kept Word?

DALLAS (AP) — All-America linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas says he broke no verbal agreement with Bud Adams, Houston Oilers owner, when he signed a pro contract with Atlanta of the National Football League.

There were reports from Houston that Nobis had promised to go with the American Football League Oilers.

"I didn't tell either party that I would sign," Nobis said Friday en route to Atlanta.

He said he picked Atlanta because he wanted to play in the NFL and that he felt the league had more to offer.

Hayes Will Race In Football Gear

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys flankerback Bobby Hayes, holder of three world sprint records, is scheduled to run a 100-yard dash at the Orange Bowl track meet Jan. 8. He'll do it in full football gear.

Meet chairman John Sullivan said Charley Paddock ran the 100 several years ago in full uniform in 10.1 seconds.

"I think Bobby can do it in 9.3 or 9.4," Sullivan said, "since he's the only man ever to do it in 9.1 in track skivvies."

The Cowboys may be in the Pro Playoff Bowl, which will be held here Jan. 9.

If so, Sullivan said, Hayes still will be able to run the 100 at the meet. "He told me he does about twenty 100s in practice every day," Sullivan said, "so it wouldn't be anything extraordinary for him to race before the game."

Have Drills In Ballroom

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Glenn Dobbs, who has played in three bowl games and coached in two, says experience has shown him that the best way to prepare his players for one of the postseason games is to use psychology instead of drudgery.

"In the games I played (with Tulsa in the 1942 Sun Bowl, and in the 1943 Sugar Bowl, and with Randolph Field in the 1944 Cotton Bowl, I had to work mighty hard and got little enjoyment out of it," said Dobbs. "I decided then that if I ever coached a team for a bowl game I was going to let the boys have fun."

That's what he did with Tulsa when it upset Mississippi 14-7 in the Bluebonnet Bowl last year, and that what's he had done with his 1965 team that played Tennessee in the Bluebonnet today.

"For instance," said Dobbs, with a twinkle in his eye, "we worked out in the ballroom of the Shamrock Hotel Friday instead of going out to the practice field. We would have done no more than we did in the ballroom and it gave the boys a pickup.

"They thought that was really something not to have to work out in the wet and cold but to be able to enjoy themselves running around a ballroom."

He said at other times he would have them play "a game" without catching or blocking and keep a record of how many passes were completed or intercepted when it was really impossible to handle them.

He would give the booby prize to the one he thought made the worst showing, with that boy getting a big charge out of it since he knew it was phony. "But I was having the boys run and that's what I wanted them to do anyway," said Dobbs. "They already knew all they could know about blocking and tackling, which are a drudgery."

Coach Doug Dickey, of Tennessee, who put his first team as a head coach into a bowl game when Tennessee met Tulsa, said he also had found that you had to make it funny and interesting to a boy in preparing for a bowl game.

Friday, in a final practice session before the Bluebonnet Bowl, Dickey had his boys do what he called "the gobble-wobble." This consisted of the scout team — the one that runs the opposition's plays to acquaint the regulars with what they have to face — doing all sorts of strange things they could stunt on defense or pull screwball plays on offense.

The boys got a big kick out of it, but they accomplished what Dickey planned — they learned how to handle any kind of play that might be tried against them. "You never know what the other team might do to catch you off guard," said Dickey.

Hurricane Stars Will Be At Miami For Blue-Grey Classic

By The Associated Press

The Tulsa-Tennessee and Mississippi-Auburn bowl battles today whetted football appetites for the big post-season picnic to come in the next two weeks.

The year's first major bowl attractions pitted Tulsa's record-breaking aerial machine against suddenly-potent Tennessee in the Bluebonnet at Houston and Mississippi's resurgent attack against Auburn's grudging defense in the Liberty at Memphis.

Next Saturday it'll be a pair of Christmas treats for armchair quarterbacks — the North-South Shrine classic at Miami and the Blue-Gray clash at Montgomery, Ala. — with each game showcasing some of the nation's outstanding senior talent.

After that there are the Big Four — Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange — as well as the Gator, Sun, East-West Shrine, Hula and Senior bowls before the goal posts come down for good.

Tulsa's pass-catch combination of Bill Anderson and Howard Twilley, who rewrote the NCAA record books for the Hurricanes last season, were bound for Miami after their Bluebonnet date with the Vols today. They're part of the star-studded South squad Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs has assembled for the Christmas Day meeting with Notre Dame pilot Ara Parseghian's North standouts in the Miami Shrine game.

The annual Blue-Gray grid war, pairing other college seniors in their first playf-or-pay outing, will have national television exposure (CBS) Christmas Day.

On New Year's Eve, still another all-star tussle, the big East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, shares the bill with the Gator Bowl meeting between Georgia Tech, 6-3-1, and Texas Tech, 8-2, and the Sun Bowl contest between Texas Western, 7-3, and Texas Christian, 5-4.

Top-ranked Michigan State, 10-0, meets host UCLA, 7-2-1, in the Rose Bowl; second-ranked Arkansas, 10-0, takes on Louisiana State, 7-3 in the Cotton Bowl; third-ranked Nebraska, 10-0, tackles Alabama, 8-1-1, in the Orange Bowl and Missouri, 7-2-1, plays Florida, 7-3, in the Sugar Bowl, all on New Year's Day.

The bowl binge concludes the following week with the Hula Bowl at Honolulu Jan. 7 and the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 9.

Usually staid Tennessee, which went to the air to outscore UCLA 37-34 in its season finale for a 7-1-2 record, was a one-touchdown favorite over Dobbs' Hurricanes in the seventh Bluebonnet game. Dewey Warren, the sophomore quarterback who passed for 274 yards against UCLA, was the Vols' answer to the Anderson-Twilley team.

Tennessee had one of the better defensive reputations in the country — despite the UCLA point parade — while Tulsa had compiled a 427.8 yards-per-game average by passing alone.

Despite their unimpressive season marks, Southeastern Conference foes Mississippi, 6-4, and Auburn, 5-4-1, figured to provide plenty of thump in the Liberty Bowl, which was shifted to Memphis' new 50,000-seat Memorial Stadium two months ago.

Mississippi, which finished with five straight SEC victories to nail its ninth consecutive bowl invitation, ruled a narrow choice over the Tigers.

Lueders Trips Buffs, 64-55, In 2nd Round

FLUVANNA — Three teams were still in the running for the championship of the annual Fluvanna basketball tournament Saturday, although Lueders was favored since it could win all the marbles with a victory over Girard.

In action Friday night, Lueders toppled Fluvanna 64-55, the Fluvanna "B" tripped the Ira "B" 37-32, Ira edged Girard 67-62, and the Ira girls whacked the Girard girls 39-30.

Vic Wilhite, a tall Freshman, led the Lueders attack with 27 points. Bobby Hall sunk 11 field goals and two gratis tosses for 24 points for Fluvanna. Only one other Buff hit in double figures: Joe Stansell with 11.

Fluvanna trailed by only two points at halftime, but the Buffs were cold in the third quarter, hitting only 2 of 16 floor shots. They had an "off night" connecting on 16 of 37 in the first half and 10 of 30 in the second half for only 37 per cent overall.

The host "B" team spurted for 5 points in the final minute after their game with Ira had been tied at 32-all. Butch White captured scoring laurels for Fluvanna with 23 points. John Ezell was high for Ira with 14.

Ira's varsity won over Girard in overtime after the contest was tied at 58-58 at the end of regulation play. Melvin Crawford was hot for Ira, sinking 25 points. Girard received 18-point performances from Ronnie Gregory and Bruce Browning.

Beth Williams notched 18 points for the Girard girls, winning high point honors, although her team lost the game. Winona Hooker thumped in 12 points for Ira.

Saturday's schedule called for the Ira "B" to meet the Fluvanna "B" at 5 p.m., the Lueders and Girard boys to collide at 6:30 p.m., the Ira and Fluvanna girls to clash at 7:45 p.m., and the boys teams of both schools to tussle at 9 p.m.

It is a round robin tournament with the title to be decided by the "point spread" in the event of a tie.

SMU Wins Swim Meet

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist walked away with the 1965 Southwest Intercollegiate Invitational Swimming and Diving Relays at SMU Friday. It broke four records and piled up 108 points.

Texas, which set two records, and Oklahoma, which posted one, tied for second at 90 points. Arlington State placed fourth with 66 points, Oklahoma State University fifth with 56 and Rice last with 16.

Among records set by SMU was a 1:28.4 in the 200-yard freestyle relay. The old record, 1:30.5, was set by SMU in 1964.

In the 400-yard medley relay, Texas broke the old record of 3:51.0 set by SMU in 1962 with a flashy 3:45.4.

Arlington State, in its only first place of the meet, took 344.75 points in three-meter diving. Oklahoma State was second with 311.70 points.

Oklahoma's record-breaker came in the 1,000-yard crescendo relay with 9:40.3. The old record, set by SMU in 1963, was 9:49.6.

LAKERS SINK 26 IN A ROW, BUT LOSE TILT

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers didn't lose the game at the foul line as is so often the case in basketball, but they lost it.

The Lakers hit a phenomenal 37 of 39 free throws — 36 straight — Friday night but were clobbered 127-117 by the Philadelphia 76ers in a National Basketball Association game on the West Coast.

John Havlicek scored on a jump shot with just 19 seconds left as the Boston Celtics nipped the Detroit Pistons 114-112 and Cliff Hagan's lay-up with only seven seconds remaining gave the St. Louis Hawks a 103-102 victory over the San Francisco Warriors in the only other games.

The 76ers, with Wilt Chamberlain scring 38 points and Billy Cunningham 22, racked up 53 field goals to 40 for the Lakers. Jerry West, who hit on 19 of 20 from the foul line, led all scorers with 39 points.

Havlicek's winning shot increased the Celtics' lead to 1½ games over idle Cincinnati in the Eastern Division.

Detroit had tied the game at 112-112 on Ray Scott's foul shot. Scott was high man in the game with 32 points. Tom Sanders and Larry Siegfried scored 21 each for the visiting Celtics.

The Hawks broke a four-game losing streak at San Francisco. Hagan, who finished with 32 points, scored the last six St. Louis markers. Rick Barry was high for the Warriors with 23 and Guy Rodgers netted 21.

Tonight, Cincinnati is at New York, Detroit at Baltimore and Philadelphia at San Francisco.

Western Playoff Is Possible In NFL

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will the National Football League's Western Conference race be settled in 24 hours — or 192?

That's the intriguing situation that exists as the NFL begins its final weekend of regular season action today with Green Bay, Baltimore and Chicago separated by only one game in the battle for a Jan. 2 championship berth against Cleveland.

By nightfall Sunday one of the three will be crowned the Western kings, or they will have to decide the issue in a playoff the following Sunday.

The showdown struggle begins at 4 p.m., EST, today, when the defending champion Colts meet the resurgent Rams at Los Angeles in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS. Green Bay is at San Francisco Sunday while the Bears are at home to Minnesota.

In other games Sunday, Dallas is at New York, Cleveland at St. Louis, Detroit at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Washington.

The American Football League, with San Diego and Buffalo crowned and ready for the title game next Sunday, closes out its regular season this weekend with nothing on the line but pride. The Houston-Boston clash gets the program underway Saturday in a nationally televised game — NBC, 1 p.m., EST.

In Sunday's games, Oakland is at San Diego, Buffalo at New York and Denver at Kansas City.

The NFL western race right now shows Green Bay first with a one-half game lead over Baltimore and Chicago another one-half length behind. There are these title combinations:

—A victory for Baltimore Saturday means Green Bay would have to win Sunday to nail the title without a playoff.

—A Baltimore victory and a Green Bay tie would send the teams into a playoff Dec. 26 at Green Bay.

—A tie for Baltimore would give Green Bay the opportunity to win the title by either beating or tying San Francisco.

—A Baltimore victory and a Green Bay defeat would make the Colts champions.

—Chicago must win and both Baltimore and Green Bay lose to gain a tie.

In that event, with the Bears and Packers deadlocked, the teams would meet in a playoff, Dec. 26 at Green Bay.

The Packers, with a 10-3 record and momentum, are coming off last week's 42-27 victory over the Colts in which Paul Hornung polished up his Golden Boy tag by scoring five touchdowns. The 49ers on the other hand, may still be recuperating from last week's 61-20 mauling by Chicago.

The Bears, with a 9-4 record and only an outside shot, should get by Minnesota with sensational rookie record-breaker Gale Sayers looking to stay ahead of Cleveland's Jimmy Brown in the touchdown scoring race. Sayers, who scored six times against the 4ers, leads Brown 21-20.

The Colts, with a 9-3-1 record and quarterback problems, likely will run into difficulty with the Rams, who suddenly have started winning behind quarterback Roman Gabriel. Baltimore will start halfback Tom Matte at quarterback with Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo sidelined. Recently acquired Ed Brown also is available.

Also up for grabs Sunday is the Eastern spot in the NFL's Playoff Bowl at Miami, Jan. 9. The Dallas-New York winner goes, although the Giants currently are second with a 7-6 record to Cowboys' 6-7.

The runner up spot in the AFL's Eastern sector also is undecided with New York currently holding the lead with a 4-8 record to Houston's 4-9.

Experienced Chiefs Scalp Snyder Cagers, 56-46

BROWNWOOD—Lake View's Chiefs tamed the Tigers in the fourth quarter to take a 56-46 verdict and claim the championship of the annual Bulebonnet Basketball Tournament Friday night.

Coach Ned Underwood's boys of Snyder played a good ball game for three quarters against their more experienced foes, but found themselves dropping behind in the final stanza. Lake View has four starters returning off last year's team.

The Tigers hit 11 of 30 field shots in the first half and found the range on 8 of 26 in the second half. Snyder was considerably less than 50 per cent

The chiefs, with good height, were able to beat the Tigers 50-39 on the boards. Lake View also had a better shooting percentage, hitting on 25 of 59. The Chiefs substituted sparingly. Jim Hamilton paced the Tribe attack with 20, and Rocky Woods meshed 16.

Eldon Woodward, who has been a pleasant surprise in the Tiger camp, led in rebounds with 11. Bobby Clardy was runnerup, claiming 9. Tommy Bullard paced the Tiger attack with 18 points, and Bill Blum also finished in the double column with 10 points. Blum suffered a twisted ankle in the opening round against Brownwood and has not been at full speed.

Snyder hosts Colorado City here Tuesday in the last non district game.

Dooley Ready To Announce Decision

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Vince Dooley planned to announce today whether he will remain as Georgia football coach or accept a lucrative offer to try to revitalize football fortunes at the University of Oklahoma.

Dooley and Oklahoma officials indicated Friday night that his decision would be announced sometime today.

Dooley, 33, has given no indication of whether he plans to leave. He said Friday night he wanted to talk the Oklahoma offer over with his wife, Barbara, before making the decision, which he has been mulling since visiting the Oklahoma campus for two days earlier in the week.

Reports from Oklahoma indicate Dooley would receive a salary of about $25,000 and fringe benefits that would boost his total income to around $50,000 a year if he decides to accept the challenge of rebuilding the Sooners.

Dooley has been making about $17,000 a year, plus fringe benefits, at Georgia, where in two years he has built a record of 13 victories, seven losses and one tie.

Oklahoma has been looking for a football coach since Dec. 6 when Gomer Jones quit after a 3-7 season, worst in modern Sooner history.

Bouts ending in a draw were between Felix Martinez and Richard Aleman and Eugene Morris and Doug Morris.

There will be no boxing next Friday since it will be on Christmas Eve.

A total of 474 night baseball games in the American League last season drew 5,112,235 fans.

Dobbs Says Scout Failed To Keep Word

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Coach Glenn Dobbs took time out from coaching his Tulsa team for the Bluebonnet Bowl to accuse scout Gil Brandt of the Dallas Cowboys of reneging on a promise not to sign Tulsa's star tackle Willie Townes.

Townes was drafted as a red shirt by the National Football League Cowboys and Boston of the American Football League.

Brandt denied Dobbs had talked to him about it or that he had received a letter referring to it, and said he could not promise not to sign the big lineman after the game with Tennessee today.

Dobbs confronted Brandt in the lobby of a hotel Friday night and told him heatedly he had welched on a promise not to try to sign his red shirts.

Brandt said he had not talked to Townes — that the player's lawyer had contacted him and told him Townes was ready to sign.

The scout said Townes had financial obligations that made it necessary to sign a pro contract and not take his remaining year of eligibility at Tulsa.

"I can do nothing in this case since pro football is within its rights in signing a red shirt before he registers for his final year of college," said Dobbs. "It's only a matter of his word or mine."

Dobbs did say that the colleges would try to get an agreement from the pros to prohibit the signing of red shirts.

Earlier, Dobbs had declared at a news conference that he regretted to hear that Brandt had not been truthful or honorable and that Townes himself had told him he was going to sign with the Cowboys after the game today between Tulsa and Tennessee.

Dobbs added that he was not angry with Townes and that the latter's teammates were not angry with him either. He said he hoped the big tackle, who has been injured, would get to play some.

Baylor, SMU Quints Lose

By The Associated Press

Baylor and Southern Methodist, the only Southwest Conference basketball teams battling Friday, posted identical results in their out-of-state tournament play. They lost.

Baylor fell to Arizona State 90-87 in the first round of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., while Western Kentucky easily outscored SMU 82-68 in the third annual Vanderbilt Invitation Basketball Tournament.

Baylor meets Colorado in the losers' playoff at Tempe Saturday and SMU clashes with Army in the Vanderbilt tournament at Nashville, Tenn.

Three other Southwest Conference teams have games Saturday. Texas Christian plays Houston at home, Texas Tech travels to Wichita, Kans., and Arkansas is host to Arlington State at Fayetteville.

In Friday's Sun Devil play, Freddie Lewis sparked Arizona State to a comeback victory over Baylor as he scored 35 points and was credited with 5 assists. Darrell Hardy with 27 points led the Bears, who were leading 44-32 with three minutes to play in the first half. Then Arizona began rolling over the Texans.

Western Kentucky continued undefeated when it defeated SMU in the Vanderbilt Tournament's first round. The Ohio Valley Conference team took an early lead, pushed back a rally and pulled away to a 43-32 halftime lead.

SMU's Mustangs, who committed 25 floor mistakes, were led by Charles Beasley's 20 points.

Clem Haskins poured in 25 points for Western Kentucky.

Tulsa Passer May Sign With Rams

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Tulsa's record-breaking passer Billy Anderson reportedly was scheduled to sign with the Los Angeles Rams for a $300,000 bonus from the National Football League team after the Bluebonnet Bowl game today.

The Houston Post said "a source close to the Tulsa team" reported the deal Friday night.

Anderson, who broke nine National Collegiate Athletic Association records this year, was drafted by the Rams and the American Football League Houston Oilers. The Oilers traded their AFL negotiaton rights to Anderson to the new AFL franchise in Miami.

Neither Anderson nor his coach Glenn Dobbs, could be reached for comment late Friday.

Rain Bogs Hog Practice

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) The university of Arkansas Razorbacks had to cut short their first practice Friday for the Cotton Bowl game because of rain. Intermittent showers aere forecast through Sunday.

The Razorbacks, who meet Louisiana Stae Jan. 1, stopped about 15 minutes early.

"It cut down on our passing we wanted to do," Coach Frank Broyles said. "Midway during the practice, it got too wet to throw the ball. We just concentrated on running."

Broyles said the team was "rusty" after four weeks without practice. He added that there were no standout players in Friday's session.

Broyles said he hoped the five practices scheduled in Brownsville "will put us back whre we were in November. And after a short break for Christmas, we can pick back up the week of the ball game."

The Southwest Conference champions will finish their workouts at San Antonio, Tex.

Bruins Bounce Back At Kansas' Expense

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Routed by the Duke Blue Devils on successive nights last week the UCLA Bruins demonstrated Friday night they aren't ready yet to yield their title as national champions in college basketball.

Dropped from No. 1 to No. 8 in The Associated Press weekly poll after their two disastrous road defeats by Duke, the Bruins bounced back at home to topple the fourth-ranked Kansas Jayhawkers 78-71. The defeat was the first for Kansas in six starts and kept intact UCLA's record of not losing at the Los Angeles Sports Arena in two seasons.

Coach Johnny Wooden switched tactics with his Bruins. After they had built up a 67-58 lead with nine minutes to play, the Bruins abandoned their usual fast break and full court press. They went into a stall and passed up many chances to shoot to keep the ball.

Mike Lynn paced UCLA with 26 points. Walt Wesley was high for Kansas with 19.

The Kansas-UCLA game featured a doubleheader before 10,382. Southern California knocked Cincinnati out of the unbeaten ranks with a 77-65 victory in the opener. Tonight the Trojans meet Kansas and UCLA takes on Cincinnati [illegible] Vanderbilt, No. 7 in the AP ranking, and the only other team in the Ivy Tea to see action, retained its unbeaten status as did Kentucky, Temple, Brigham Young, Washington State and Western Kentucky.

Vanderbilt, led by Jerry Southwood's 23 points, staved off a late Army rally to beat the Cadets 71-63 in the first round of the Vanderbilt Classic at Nashville, Tenn. Western Kentucky whipped Southern Methodist 82-68 in the other first round game.

Kentucky routed the Air Force 78-58 in the first round of the UK Invitational at Lexington, Ky. Temple crushed American Univ. 82-68, Brigham Young walloped Santa Clara 103-85 and Washington State took Denver 84-73.

Indiana defeated California 71-64 in the other first game of the UK Invitational, one of six holiday tournaments.

Washington thumped Wisconsin in the Milwaukee Classic. Clemson took Alabama 76-62 and Virginia Tech edged Massachusetts 91-88 in the VPI Invitational at Blacksburg, Va. Seattle whacked Colorado 86-69 and Arizona State came from 12 points back to beat Baylor 90-87 in the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz. Centenary nipped Virginia Military 78-77 and Tennessee overcame Louisiana Tech 71-55 in the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.

Cornell snapped a three-game losing streak by beating Yale [illegible] in an Ivy League game. The Georgetown Hoyas handed Columbia its first setback 97-79.

Observers Predict French Election Will Be Close Race

By W. STEPHENS BROENING

PARIS (AP) — France elects a president Sunday, choosing between what Incumbent Charles de Gaulle calls the "stability" of his regime and opponent Francois Mitterrand's promise of a "return to democratic government."

Many observers believe the election will be close. But it is not certain to what extent Mitterrand, a lawyer with Socialist and Communist support, has been able to capitalize on discontent with the Gaullist regime.

However, the mere fact that the election is a run-off demonstrates that disatfection exists in a significant quantity.

In the first round of voting Dec. 5, when six candidates were on the ballot, De Gaulle got 45 per cent of the vote. He needed a simple majority to win.

Most opposition votes were divided among Mitterrand, who received 32 per cent, right-winger Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 5 per cent, and centrist Jean Lecanuet, 15 per cent.

Mitterrand likely will benefit from the right wing's image of De Gaulle as the symbol of the French empire's dismemberment. Tixier-Vignancour has asked his supporters to vote for Mitterrand.

Lecanuet, whose principal campaign plank was a united Europe, has asked his 3.7 million supporters not to vote for De Gaulle. But he did not openly endorse Mitterrand either.

A poll taken three days ago showed 22 per cent of the voters undecided. De Gaulle had 54 per cent of those decided and Mitterrand 46 per cent.

Mitterrand has campaigned hard for the Lecanuet vote, promising to heal the rupture in the Common Market caused by De Gaulle's withdrawal of French ministers last June.

De Gaulle has permitted himself to hint at rapprochement with the Common Market and at a European "federation" that could include Britain. De Gaulle vetoed British Common Market membership in 1963.

On domestic issues, Mitterrand has emphasized what he says are French inadequacies in housing, schools and roads. He blames them, in part, on the De Gaulle regime's expenditures for nuclear arms. Mitterrand, 49, has promised to convert the French atomic establishment to peaceful uses.

For his part, the 75-year-old De Gaulle has defended his time in office as responsible for "stability, peace, progress and independence."

The turnout Sunday should be large, perhaps as great as that of Dec. 5 when 24.4 million voted. There are 28.8 million registered voters.

Elementary Music Group On School's TV Program

Mrs. W. A. Vestal, teacher of music education at East Elementary school, and 16 members of her choral group from fifth grade classes will present the feature portion of "Know Your Schools" program Monday evening. This all - schools TV program is broadcast each Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. over SCAT, Channel 2.

Mrs. Vestal will give a resume of the Snyder Elementary Schools' music program. As a fitting prelude to the holiday season, pupils accompanying Mrs. Vestal will sing Christmas carols. The school begins the holiday period with the close of school Tuesday afternoon.

East Elementary fifth graders to appear will be David Jones, Kevin Jones, Scotty Sullivan, Wesley Neeper, Pat Minyard, Barbara Patrick, Kay McBeth, Bennie Ellington, Carl Shroyer, Marcie McCormick, Terrie Sue Sims, Shan Shaw, Jimmy Davidson, Terry Dea, Paula Baldwin and Cynthia Tullis.

Snyder schools' music training begins for all children in the first year of public school. Both the beginning of vocal experiences and the use of rhythm band instruments are introduced to first graders. Each of the seven elementary schools, including special education, emphasizes music. All elementary schools have a music teacher.

Music has become important to elementary and secondary school education. School authorities now consider it a part of the regular school program, not merely an extra - curricular or recreational activity.

A balanced elementary music program includes four main activities — singing, rhythms, listening and playing simple musical instruments. These activities are combined and integrated with other areas of school work as often as is practical.

Singing is the heart of the elementary school music program. Leading children to develop and use their singing voice properly is its primary objective. In vocal instruction, children begin singing two-part harmony in the fourth grade. Fifth and sixth graders learn to carry three parts — soprano, second soprano and alto.

Rhythm bands offer an introduction to instrumental study. Melody instruments such as bells, xylophones, tone bars and tone bells are used together with simple percussion instruments. Stringed instruments such as the autoharp, are first introduced to fourth grade pupils. Sixth graders learn to use other chording instruments such as the ukulele and piano.

Much of learning in the elementary music program comes through listening. Children are taught to listen to music in terms of melody, tone quality, rhythm, harmony, mood and form. Mrs. Vestal points out that children learn to appreciate music and be discriminating only through hearing good music.

Skill in reading musical notation grows out of experiences pupils gain through preparing for special programs, in class practice and through learning to play simple musical instruments.

Rhythmic activities in the elementary schools include responses to singing, listening and in the use of instruments. Children enjoy responding to rhythm by walking, skipping, running and through singing games. In the fourth, fifth and sixth grades pupils are coached in simple folk dances to express rhythm.

Children are encouraged to play an instrument and to sing along with their own accompaniment as much as possible," the East Elementary music teacher says. "The singing experience helps a child to play better and the instrumental experience helps him to sing more accurately."

Each spring a music talent survey is administered to sixth grade students. During the following summer months, those students completing sixth grade work who are interested in participating in junior high school band activities are allowed to rent an instrument and are given instruction. These instruments are issued on a rental basis at first. If a student finds at the end of the summer practice sessions, that he is definitely interested in learning to play his chosen instrument, he may purchase it. If the student decides at the end of the summer that he does not wish to continue this activity the instrument may be returned.

Regularly scheduled band participation begins in the seventh grade of junior high school. At the beginning of a new school year, the new recruits are integrated into the junior high school bands and begin the regular schedule of classroom practice. Both junior high schools maintain marching bands and compete often with other schools of the area.

Choral music is also encouraged in both junior high schools. Greater stress is placed on all part harmony and individual vocal solo work.

Ultimate for students of the local schools interested in instrumental music is to become a member of the Snyder High School "Black and Gold Band" or to be assigned to the high school stage band. Both bands are under the direction of M. B. Montgomery.

Students interested in continuing to train their singing voices may become associated with the high school's Concert Choir, Madrigal Singers, Boy's Chorus or the Girl's Chorus. Vocal music is under the direction of Jim L. Casey, new to the Snyder schools this year.

Both instrumental and Choral music activities in the Snyder Public School system are coordinated by the two high school music directors.

Students from the high school speech department to bring school news this week will include Lora Pinkerton, elementary schools; Donna Davis, junior high schools; Barbara Gracey, senior high school, and Lloyd Potts, administration news. Potts will be master of ceremonies for both the 10-min. news cast and for the program. Miss Cusack's journalism students gather and write news copy. Miss Payne edits news copy and is responsible for the news portion of the program.

Equipment will be operated this week by Darrel Arnold and Tom Lowe, cameras; Douglas Burney, mikes; Herbert Eades, slide projector, with Bobby Wesson in charge of audio. These high school students take time about operating the various pieces of equipment, except for Wesson, a senior this year, is interested in gaining experience in audio operation in the hope that this experience will aid him in getting part-time employment in a regular TV studio when he enters college.

Monday's TV program will be the last to be presented by the schools until after the Christmas and New Year's holidays. The next "Know Your Schools" program will be presented on Monday evening, Jan. 10, 1966. At that time, the schools' two speech therapists, Mrs. Barbara Bigham and Miss Betty Buckner, will explain the special speech program.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

I am still at Cogdell Hospital after two weeks spent here as a heart patient — the third time in five months.

I am not physically able to write a lengthy letter, nor are there words to express what is in my heart. I do know it is filled beyond measure with deep appreciation and gratitude for the wondertul kindness and consideration I receive from the doctors, nurses and the entire staff of the hospital, including the unselfish services given so gladly by the auxiliary members and the candy stripers, and the custodians.

I hope our community sincerely appreciates and consciously recognizes at all times just what tremendous sacrifices our doctors and our nurses make in our behalf. Sometimes we complain about the cost of hospitals and doctors. When we think of this, just stop and think just how valuable is the life of our wife, our child, our husband or the lives of other loved ones.

Just remember, when the food is not to your liking in quality, quantity or taste, that the dietician and other kitchen employes operate on a very tight budget. You and I, county taxpayers, are responsible for the food the hospital serves in the final analysis, because we control the purse strings if we take the interest.

Just remember that any lack of needed equipment, or any worn out equipment could mean the difference between life and death to your child or a dear grandchild or any loved one.

But, above all, remember as we celebrate Christmas with our family at home, and as we gather at our Christmas feast table, that there are doctors, nurses, cleaning women and boys, a kitchen staff, a complete PBX and telephone staff working to heal and comfort our loved ones all through the day and night on our Lord's Birthday. The life they save may be one of our own loved ones.

I am not speaking of scientific efficiency. This I am not capable of judging. I am speaking of consideration of others, human kindness and dedication to duty which I have observed in such large measure and benefitted from so bountifully.

Nearly all the Snyder doctors have stopped in a moment to say "hello," most of whom I have never used professionally myself. Nearly all the ministers, both Protestant and Catholic, have dropped by for a chat, a blessing, or a prayer. This indicates to me a warmth and brotherhood prevailing in our community.

Let's take a renewed interest and a closer look at our Cogdell Hospital. Though some of you may think you prefer the larger hospitals of nearby cities, let me remind you that any day you or those so dear to you might need care so urgently there would not be time for you to get beyond the limits of our Cogdell Hospital. Your very life could depend on its nearness, its equipment and its doctors and nurses. And let us never forget the D. M. Cogdells who helped make it possible.

Rep. Parsley Named To Tech Position

LUBBOCK (AP)—Dr. R. C. Goodwin, president of Texas Tech, announced the appointment Friday of State Rep. Bill J. Parsley as vice president for development.

Parsley will assume his new post Jan. 1. He said the plans to resign from the legislature and will also close his law office here. He is a 37-year-old graduate of Texas Tech.

DE Club Names Its Sweetheart

Some 20 Distributive Education students of Snyder High School saw Nancy Meador crowned DE Sweetheart Friday night. The occasion was the annual Christmas Party Banquet, held at the Americana.

Nancy, a senior student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meador, will compete in the Regional Sweetheart contest in Odessa in February. She is employed at Snyder Drug Co.

Jon Bruce, DE co-ordinator, gave the welcome, and Don Lee, club president, served as master of ceremonies. He introduced Jim Heath, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who was the main speaker.

Heath told the students, in substance, a good employe should base his working relationship with his boss on efficiency, diligence and loyalty while the personal relationship should be based on mutual respect. The chamber manager frequently illustrated his points with anecdotes. Today's business requires better educated employes than ever before, he said. It takes teamwork betwen the manager and his staff for a business to function properly, Heath stated.

The Queen was crowned by the club president. She also was presented with a bouquet of flowers. Other candidates for DE queen were Barbara Scarborough, a senior, and Retha Vincent, a junior student. All were introduced to the club members and their dates. Barbara is employed at West Texas State Bank. Retha is an employe of Bennett Office Supply.

Other club officers who also were present were David Lester, vice president, and Evelyn Bailey, secretary. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kayser appeared at the banquet as special guests.

Canada Sends Yule Trees

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is sending Christmas trees to about eight million U.S. homes.

This export business was worth $5 million last year, and officials say indications are that this year's figures will be comparable despite inroads of artificial trees in some areas.

Most of the trees are balsam fir, but Scotch pine produced in Ontario is in heavy demand. New Brunswick, a major producer of balsams, reports all its graded trees have been contracted for since September. In general, rigid control of the quality of exports has held down the total sent from Canada and this has tended to raise prices at some U.S. retailers.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The travelers get to Zabazara. The Princess tells them she cannot help them because the Voodoo man has a magic greater than her own.

CHAPTER TWELVE

MR. D's PLAN

The beautiful Princess of Zabbazara had tears in her eyes as she explained to Santa Claus that she did not have the power to break the spell the Voodoo man had cast over Santa Land.

"Oh my," moaned Mr. D. "To think there'll never be Christmas again! How can he do such a thing!"

"He has a secret power," said the Princess. "He is using it to get rid of all happy spirits and all good fairies. He wants to be king of all Fairyland and not even Zabbaraza will escape."

The little lost boy couldn't stand to see the Princess cry. "Don't worry," he blurted out. "We will protect you. Won't we, Santa? Won't we, Mr. D?"

Santa shook his head helplessly but Mr. D said, "Of course." He flapped his ears with excitement. "I'm not afraid of that old Voodoo man."

"You are right not to be afraid of him," said the Princess. "He has no power over real life people. But you can't stop him from casting his spells over fairyland creatures."

"We could find out his secret," exclaimed the boy.

"Sure," said Mr. D. "I've heard a lot of secrets in my time. Folks like to tell bus drivers their secrets."

All this time Santa had been standing there not saying anything but just thinking and worrying about the awful power of the Voodoo man. Now he said, "We've got to find out what his secret is. Maybe we can do it."

The Princess took the little boy's hands in hers. "Oh, could you?" she cried.

The little boy felt 10 feet tall. "We've GOT to do it," he said. And Mr. D said, "Come on, boy, let's get back to the bus and find the Voodoo man."

But, alas! the Voodoo man had already found them.

A crowd of children burst into the place crying, "Someone's coming! A black-cloaked creature is on his way."

They rushed out of the place and down to the edge of the sea. Far away they saw the Voodoo man holding a black balloon. He was just taking off from the distant shore.

"Get back," cried the Princess to the waiting children. "Run and hide quickly and hide."

The children looked at her in astonishment. They could not understand why she was so afraid. Nevertheless they did as they were told.

Then Santa said, "We must try it. It's our only chance."

But the Princess said, "It's no use. He will find us wherever we are. Oh, the poor children! Whatever will become of them?"

Suddenly Mr. D's ears began to wiggle. Whenever he had an idea his ears flapped wildly. He put both hands over his ears to still them and then he burst out.

"Change clothes!"

"WHAT?"

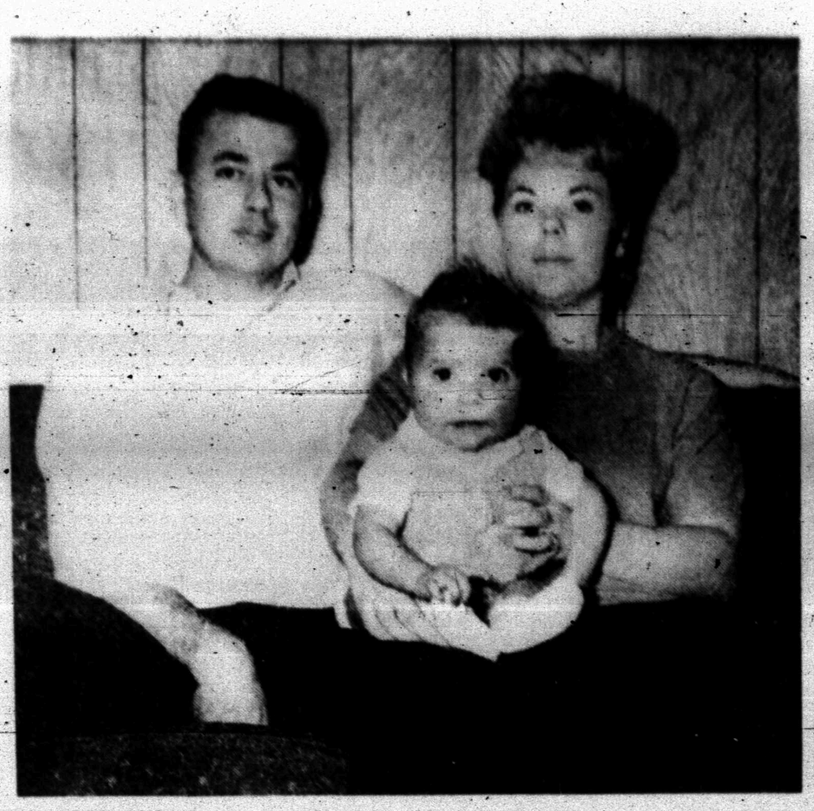
"Change clothes. I'll be Santa Claus and the boy will be the Princess. The Voodoo man's power won't work on us, and you two will be safe."

"But you don't have whiskers," protested Santa. "And you're thin—I'm fat!"

"And how can I be a girl?" scoffed the boy. "I don't look anything like a girl!"

But the Princess said, I still have some powdr. I can provide wigs and whiskers and such. We must try it. It's our only chance!"

Tomorrow: Dressing Up



NEW ARRIVALS—Jimmy Don Hardy and his wife Colette arrived in this country from France in Oct. Jimmy, a 1958 graduate of Snyder High School, met his wife during the three years he was stationed in France with the U.S. Air Force. The nine-month-old infant is their son, Stephen Lane. (Staff Photo).

Snyderite Helps US-French Ties

Jimmy Don Hardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hardy of 3009 Denison, is doing his share to improve French-American relations. He married a French girl.

Jimmy Don met his wife, during the three years he was stationed in France with the U.S. Air Force. He married the former Colette Halipre of Abbeville, a village in the north part of the European country, about 100 miles north of Paris.

Married on April 25, 1964 in Abbeville, the Hardys are parents of a 9-month old son, Stephen Lane. Jimmy was stationed at an electronics post near Abbeville. That is how he became acquainted with Colette.

Jimmy joined the Air Force four years ago, taking his basic training at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. The 1958 graduate of Snyder High School then was assigned to Keesler Air Force Base for about a year. There, he studied electronics and French.

With some training in the language before he arrived in France, he didn't have much difficulty in learning to speak it with fluency. Jimmy attended college at Texas A&M and Arlington State before he went into the service.

The young couple has been in this country since Oct. 9 following his discharge from the Air Force. They are staying with his parents while he gets settled. His father is district supervisor for the Texas Electric Service Co., and his mother, Mrs. Irene Hardy, is employed in the office of the County Treasurer.

Colette is a pretty blonde. She says the village where she lived in France is "more hilly" than West Texas. She speaks some English, but her husband sometimes acts as interpreter.

Discussing some of the main differences in France and the United States, Colette observed there are more apartments in French towns. The people live more closely together with many apartments located over shops and stores in the downtown area," explained Jimmy.

Abbeville, he said, is no larger in area than Snyder, but due to the many apartments has a population of about 25,000. He added there is a more relaxed atmosphere in France. French people enjoy attending the theatre, although they also enjoy many recreations that are popular in the United States, such as dancing.

Colette, in answer to a question, said that styles in womens clothing in France are about the same as they are here. She studied art and design two years after finishing high school. Unlike some American housewives, Colette enjoys cooking, knitting and sewing.

She feels a woman's place is in the home, although it is all right for women to work if they need the money or after the children are grown.

The young couple plans to make their home here.

The elder Hardys also have a daughter, Mrs. Mickey (Sandra) McGrew. She and Her husband are parents of two girls and a boy and they reside in Gillette, Wyoming.

More species of flowering plants are found in California than any other state. Of some 20,000 different plants in the United States, a sixth grow in California.

Speech On Draft Draws Few Students

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — University of Arizona students appear to be nonchalant about the draft.

Less than a dozen students showed up.

Kennedys Visit Slum Christmas Parties

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kennedys spent another day of bringing Yule cheer to children in New York's slum neighborhoods.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, his wife, Ethel, and six of their nine children made a hectic, happy round of Christmas parties in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn Friday night.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—Science is crowding around us here in the big city. We have a rough time, it says here in the journals, and the medical men are concerned.

We must learn to handle the stress of modern living. Dodging traffic, standing in line and having people shove in front of you. This is bad for us and we must cope with it.

Apparently, man's first big mistake was in coming down out of the trees. His second was in learning to read and write.

Do you BRUX when watching television? Heavenly days, I may plimkel a little but I don't think I brux. The scientific gentlemen say you brux when you grit your teeth.

Maybe this is only during the commercials but it is a sign of stress. Rigor mortis may set in later. That is considered bad, too.

Reduce problems to size. Business executives used to worry about how things were going. Today, it says here, they worry about deuces and soft living.

Ask yourself, "How do these problems affect me?"

"They kill me," you will answer. Then lie down and die but do it quietly and with dignity.

Prepare for the unexpected. People suffer stress when they get bad news, a crisis in business, an injury or only an unexpected caller. Probably the bill collector you have been dodging for three months.

The answer is simple. Avoid bad news, crises, injuries and collectors.

There are two other excellent recommendations. Talk about it and seek solitude. This is easy.

Just tell everybody all your troubles when you can button hole them for five minutes and they will begin avoiding you. You get solitude in this manner.

When your load seems overwhelming, remember that some things can always be set aside until later. True. And I never do today what I can put off until several days later. Especially work.

I am alergic to work. Work is fraught with tensions and anxieties. If I forget myself and work, I may find I am begining to brux. Instead of taxing my brain on a column I get the little washing machine out and fly about the country-side. Or spend the day playing chess or sit in the shop and grind a sapphire.

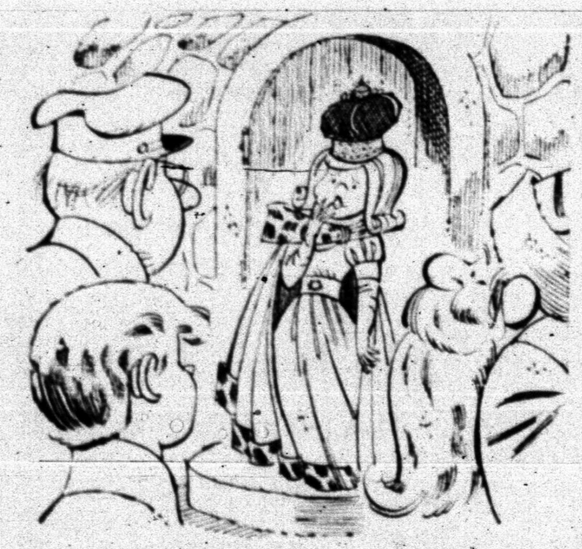
This is relaxing and relaxation has been called nature's own tranquilizer. I don't know who called it that but he has my vote.

Get out of that groove. This one, I love. And the medic who thought it up is indeed a man of science.

"Give in to your natural craving for variety," he says, "and safeguard from stress caused by sameness."

In a flash of brilliance this gentleman suggests a change of outlook; perhaps a vacation.

I will avoid stress by following his suggestion. A two week visit to Acapulco should get me out of the groove and solve things nicely. I haven't seen a stress or heard a brux in Acapulco since the Spaniards left.



"He has a secret power," said the beautiful Princess.

CHRISTMAS DINNER—Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Parker were hosts to their annual turkey-ham Christmas dinner recently honoring their employees and their families of Rainbow Market, and guests. Soft background music was played throughout the delicious meal served at Sallie's dining room. A short but delightful program of piano music was presented by the McCann sisters. Some of the children present for the gala evening are pictured above. From left, Earl, David and Sheila McCann, Cindy Pickering and Theresa Austin.

Activities In Full Swing In Snyder

DOLLS DRESSED—Girl Scout Troop 327 received a big "Thank You" from Goodfellow chairman Don Adams Wednesday afternoon. The girls took old dolls donated to Goodfellows and completely renovated them and gave them some very pretty wardrobes. One worker at the Goodfellow office said it was unbelieveable that they were the same dolls taken a week ago by the troop and returned Wednesday. This is just another of the community projects by our young ladies in Girl Scouting. Pictured above from left, Mary Moss, Barbara Lacik, Hollye Crenshaw, Vicki Terral Deborah Pruitt, Marchia Shields, Rebecca Groves and Lisa Groves, Mr. Adams stands behind the girls.

Apple Trees Take Long To Grow

If you wonder why so few new varieties of apples appear on the market consider:

There is a minimum waiting period of 10 years before a population of seedlings has fruited and can be evaluated. To have an adequate breeding program, nearly 8,000 seedlings must be planted annually, 700 trees to an acre.

From the seedlings, fewer than 10 plants per 1,000 usually are worth propogation for further observation. Of these few, only two or three in a hundred may be introduced for commercial testing. This means there may be one to three good prospects from 10,000 seedlings.

The New York State Agricultural Experiment Station has produced 67,000 seedlings since 1945. Three varieties, Wayne, Spigold and Monroe, promise to be of real value, researchers say.

Dr. John Einset, head pomologist, said the present world apple industry was based on varieties that originated in the 18th and 19th Centuries as chance wild seedlings. The experts urged development of new varieties because technological advances with existing varieties eventually would reach a saturation point.

Library Notes

Only when the individual "makes the time" to dip into the accumulated wisdom of mankind, as recorded in books, does he leave the ranks of the molded and become a thinker on his own. For the man seeking the whole truth the Scurry County Library — with its thousands of books and other useful materials — is a wonderful institution. Here, under one roof he finds such a wide sampling of mankind's recorded thoughts that he can reach his own conclusions about the big and little things in life.

New books received in the library that will make life more pleasurable are: "Give joy to my youth" by Teresa Gallagher, who was a co - worker of Dr. Tom Dooley. Miss Gallagher knew his methods, plans, hopes and whole public career. She shows that Dr. Dooley, though he died in 1961, is still very much alive in the minds of many readers. As Dr. Dooley's own tragic illness took its toll; he was able to draw on seemingly superhuman reserves of strength and energy. In Eric Sloane's "Reverence for wood" the author relates in text and illustration the important role wood has played in the development of our country. Wood is not merely a highly useful material but also an inspiration—gentle to the touch, exqusite to comtemplate, tractable to creation, exciting to work with, and stronger by weight than iron. As William Penn said, "Wood is a substance with a soul." Clark Mollenhoff's "Tentacles of power" is the story of Jimmy Hoffa. On the humorous side is Martin Levin's "Bedside Phoenix nest". Twenty - one nights with America's humorists as they strike back at aerosol cans, plastic shrubbery, Barbie dolls, the telephone company, rapid reading, Betty Crocker, art critics, and extol the good old days.

The unsurpassed color and spectacle of professional football have made it one of the most popular spectator sports in America today. No one team has exemplified this extraordinary renaissance of pro football more than the Cleveland Browns, from its founding by taxicab magnate Arthur McBride to its stirring victory in the NFL championship game of 1964.

In Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas' conservation has found the advocate and defender it so desperately requires. In his book "Wilderness bill of rights", Justice Douglas eloquently enlists the reader in his fight - our fight - to defend our national heritage against the disfigurement of natural beauty, the pollution of rivers and streams, and the decimation of wild life. "Flying Fortress" by Edward Jablonski is the illustrated biography of the B-17's and the men who flew them.

New best seller in the library is "Kennedy" by Theodore C. Sorensen. In January, 1953, freshman Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts hired a 24-year-old Unitarian from Nebraska as his Number Two legislative assistant - on a trial basis. Despite the differences in their backgrounds, Sorensen in the eleven years that followed became known as Kennedy's "intellectual blood - bank," "top policy aide" and "alter ego." Sorensen knew Kennedy the man, the Senator, the candidate and the President as no other associate did throughout these eleven years. For any reader interested in animals, and especially in wild pets, "Sauce for the mongoose" by Bruce Kinloch, will be an unforgettable addition to his list of favorite pets.

New fiction in the library: "Take now thy son" by Mac Hyman, is an absorbing and deeply moving story of a man who holds too rigidly to his ideals. Written with insight and understanding — particularly in its revealing but sympathetic portrayal of life in a small southern town. "Say yes" by Ralph Caplan is a romantic satire, the comic dilemma of a man of principle who sets out to expose what he considers an immoral system of philosophy and finds himself propelled toward success by that very system. Others are "Man from nowhere" by Elspeth Huxley and Gladys Hasty Carroll's "Road grows strange". New mysteries are "Police blotter" by Robert L. Pike; Red Stout's "Doorbell rang"; and "Case of the grand alliance" by Christopher Bush. New for the western fan is Max Brand's "Guns of Dorking Hollow"; and for the science fiction reader is Amis Kingsley's "Spectrum".

One trip to your public library won't make you a "thinking man," nor a doren, for thinking is a lifelong discipline. But every trip to the library will definitely add to your "thinking tool kit." Use your Scurry County Library regularly—it pays!

Hermleigh News

By MRS. O. W. RICHBURG

Mrs. Durwood Watson really thought that Christmas had come early recently, when she visited Mrs. Warren Fargason to see her new room that had just been completed, all unaware that the ladies of Central Baptist Church had planned her a birthday party and began to sing "Happy Birthday" as she walked through the door. Mrs. Myrtle Bowen presented her with a beautiful rose bud. She received an array of lovely gifts. Cake and coffee was served to Mrs. Finch, Cambell, Nolin, McWright, Bowen, Voss, Brock, Fargason and Watson.

Last Friday Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Paul made a trip to Brownfield where they visited his brother Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Paul. They returned Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ammons and Mattie Mae made a trip to Seagraves during the weekend, where they visited their niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Bryan who is a patient at the hospital there.

The FFA boys and Mr. Frank Barnes attended a banquet in Sweetheart Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Robbins and Tina of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kitchens of Midland visited Saturday with Mrs. Jess Holderidge. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Odis Jenkins of Wink visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Veron.

The "family night" supper at the community center Saturday night was enjoyed by a big crowd.

Mr. Donald Tate, who is on the board of directors, made the suggestion that Family Night be changed from second Saturday night to the 4th Saturday night of each month, which was voted on and carried with no oppostion.

Those who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Paul Sunday were, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Paul and Mike, and Mr. Donald Gee Paul of Sand Springs.

The MYF group met Sunday night with Scott Richburg for refreshments after their program at the church. Those present were Sandra Fritz, Sandra Ward, Larry Swartz, Burton Sandifur, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sandifur and Deneise, Rev. and Mrs. Ernie McGaghey and Susanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnes are newly elected leaders for the MYF group of the Methodist Church. They are both teachers in Hermleigh High School.

Mrs. Grover is a medical patient at the Johnson Hospital in Loraine. She was hospitalized Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Vernon and son Mike of Sweetwater visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ulmer Vernon and Sharon Sunday.

Mrs. Mattie Bowling returned home Sunday after visiting several days at Abernathy with her son, Mr. & Mrs. Hugh Vaughn. She also visited her other sons while there, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vaughn and Judy of Idalou and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vaughn of Morton.

Little Curtis Tate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tate celebrated his 5th birthday Dec. 8. He enjoyed a big birthday cake.

Mrs. Grant Groves and Don and Mrs. Johnie Paul spent Tuesday in Snyder doing some Christmas shopping.

Mrs. Faye Robbins spent last weekend visiting with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Bishop of Wilson, who is a patient in the Slaton Hospital, having recently suffered a stroke.

The Freshman class will have their Christmas party Monday night at the community center, sponsored by the room mothers, Mrs. Melvin Calhoun, Mrs. G. E. Chorn, Mrs. Alfred Davis and Mrs. Pat Sandifur.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Paul visited this week with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymon McNeal of Loraine.

Mrs. Faye Robbins has recently been employed at the garment factory in Snyder.

Mrs. W. L. Martindale of Sweetwater spent Friday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Lofton. Mrs. Lofton returned to Sweetwater with her for the night.

Mrs. Bill Miller and Terry of Snyder visited her parents, the K. P. Loftons during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Henry and children of Roscoe visited Mr. and Mrs. Foster Watson Sunday. Von Dale remained to visit her grandparents during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chitsey who were married during the Thanksgiving holiday was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon at the community center. Mrs. Chitsey is the former Miss Judy Rodgers of Colorado City.

The Lions Club will have their Christmas party Thursday night at the school cafeteria. Loraine Lions will be their guests.

B&PW Meet And Party Held

The Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday evening at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their annual Christmas party, with Frances Brown, Laura Holladay, and Eunice Weathersby as hostesses. Florence Leftwich gave the collect.

The dining area was decorated in traditional Christmas style which enchanted the evening of fun and fellowship. Place favors were Santa Claus mugs.

The program was delightfully presented by Mrs. Travis Rhoades and Miss Vera Periman. Mrs. Rhoades presented a travelogue of Norway with comments on each colored slide. She stressed the fact that Norway, although mountainous, was one of the most forward of the European countries she had been priviledged to tour, and at this season of the year was Santa's dreamland. The travelogue carried the group to within 100 miles of the Arctic Circle, and included the Norwegian Laplanders.

Miss Periman colorfully presented a travelogue of her recent visit to Hawaii. The pictures and comments were so vivid, informative, and interesting that one felt as if they were on Wakiki Beach.

The group voted to pay their annual contribution to the American Field Service.

Female sea turtles seem to weep copiously during their visits to land to lay eggs. Actually a special gland between the eyes is ridding the turtle's body of salt absorbed from food taken at sea.

MRS. FRED M. FOSTER

Miss Hurst, Dr. Foster Exchange Doublering Vows In Dallas Church

Marsha Kay Hurst became the bride of Dr. Fred M. Foster Saturday December 11th at eight o'clock in the evening. The double ring ceremony was held at the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Dallas.

Rev. Peter G. Bithos officiated.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Hurst of Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Foster of Dallas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk peau de soie with re-embroidered bodice and skirt. The bell skirt was accentuated by sunburst pleats which fell to a chapel train. She wore a pearl necklace; a gift of the groom. Her finger-tip veil of imported silk illusion was caught by a lace and pearl coif. She carried white gardenias and an old Greek coin belonging to the mother of the groom.

Mrs. A. L. Sarris sister of the groom was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of forest green velvet and chiffon and carried a spray of long stem yellow roses. Maryann Sarris, niece of the groom was flower girl. She wore an emerald green velvet dress and carried yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore Dogwood beige silk and brocade suit with brown accessories. The groom's mother wore a lime green lace dress with contrasting green accessories.

Dr. Foster was attended by Dr. A. L. Sarris, brother - in-law of the groom.

Guests were seated by Peter Chantilis, Jimmy Lontos, Nick Zellios, all of Dallas. Stephen Hurst served his sister as crown bearer and Jimmy Lontos lighted candles.

Mrs. Jimmy Lontos was organist.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School. She attended Southern Methodist University and graduated from Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Dallas. The groom is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School of Dallas and graduated from Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas Medical School, where he was a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

A reception was held in the church hall. Serving in the house party were Miss Cathy Hurst, sister of the bride, Miss Claire Sheridan of Eunice, New Mexico, Miss Pat Presley of Austin, Mrs. Frank Kallus and Mrs. Roy Thorn, both of Dallas.

Out-of-town guests were from Eunice, N. M., Houston, Fort Worth, Pasedena and Austin, Texas.

Following a trip to Mexico City the couple will make their home at 6284 Richmond in Dallas.

Destroy The Poison Ivy Plant

The best protection against poison ivy is to destroy the plant. And when you finish destroying the plant, clean the clothing you wore in the process and the tools you used. You may get rid of the irritating plant by spraying with such herbicides as amizol, amino triazole and others.

Poison ivy always has shining dark green leaves in groups of three but it may grow as a small erect shrub or as a vine. You may become infected not only by touching the leaves, but by contact with any of the greenish - white flowers or waxy white berries, or even by smoke from plants being burned.

Sweet Date Tea Bread

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
¼ cup molasses
1¼ cups finely chopped baking-type apple (unpeeled)
¾ cup chopped pecans
2 packages (each 8 ounces) chopped dates
¾ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
¾ cup bran
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
4 eggs, lightly beaten

Combine first 9 ingredients in a saucepan. Over medium heat, stir until butter and sugar have dissolved. Simmer, covered, for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. (Mixture should be quite thick and measure about 1 quart.) Cool to lukewarm. Add milk to bran; let stand. Sift together the flour, baking powder and baking soda into a bowl; make a well in the center; add eggs, bran and date mixtures; mix well. Turn into 6 well - greased 5½ by 2¼ inch loaf pans. Bake on lower shelf of preheated slow (325 degrees) oven for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool in pans. Turn out, wrap and freeze. To serve, remove from freezer and let stand at room temperature for 3 hours or until completely thawed; unwrap; [illegible]

Lamb Chops And Tomatoes

4 loin lamb chops, ¾ inch thick
1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 small onion, finely grated (1 tablespoon pulp and juice)
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 medium tomatoes, halved crosswise
1 teaspoon sugar
Paprika

Broil chops on a rack 3 to 4 inches from high heat until brown on one side — 5 to 7 minutes. Mix together the salt, pepper, onion and garlic salt; turn chops and spread with half of mixture. Spread remaining mixture over tomatoes; sprinkle with sugar. Sprinkle both chops and tomatoes with paprika. Add tomatoes to pan. Continue broiling until chops are cooked through — 4 to 5 minutes. Use wide spatula to remove tomatoes. Makes 2 large servings.

Youthful Dedication In Combat

TRIAL BY BATTLE. By David Piper.

Piper's novel falls into the category of war stories, but it takes a special, individualistic view of modern combat. It really is a tale of the desperate psychological changes forced upon a young English officer.

The young officer's name is Alan Mart. He has left Cambridge (and a possible romantic affiliation) in the early years of World War II to attend a cadet officers' school. When the story begins he has been sent to steaming India as a very green subaltern, assigned to a hopeless battalion of teen-age Indians who are being mock-trained for desert warfare.

Alan has come out of a world of soft security and theoretical superiority into a harsh, shattering military life. His new guide and psychological nemesis is an acting captain named Boll, a boozy Army regular who exudes the spirit of gutsy combat and feels it is his duty to "de-educate" the campus - weakened Alan for his own sake.

Boll's project of giving Alan a pragmatic, fighting know-how is almost interrupted by the chance that Alan will catch a soft, behind-the-lines job. The young officer, without really knowing what he is doing, refuses the soft chance.

Then comes Pearl Harbor, and when the Japanese pour into the Asiatic mainland, the ill-trained desert battalion is hustled off to Malaya to screen off the invaders as best they can in the jungles. The roughly combative Boll, a man of crude integrity and dedication, and the young Alan are caught in a disastrous retreat. It is the final test.

This is a vividly written narrative, with final passages of disturbing power. But is is also a wrenching tale of young dedication.

The scorpion uses its poisonous stinger both to defend itself and deliver a lethal jab to insect prey. The poison causes a painful wound in man, but generally has no serious effect.

Cosmic ray particles coming mysteriously from outside the solar system have millions of times more energy than a physicist can give similar particals on earth.

MRS. SUE MAHOOD

Sorority Names Sweetheart

The December business meeting of the Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held Monday evening in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan. Virginia Johnston presented the program of the month on "Self Expression in the Social World".

The sorority elected Mrs. Sue Mahood as their "Sweetheart" and she will represent the group in the competition to be held in January at Midland.

Ann Mathews, hostess of the evening, presented a gift for Christmas remembrance and served coffee and brownies to Beverly Ainsworth, Virginia Johnston, Helen Breeden, Betty Hunter, Sue Mahood, Etta Wilson, Anna Stephens, Faydean Hart, Virginia McMillan and guest, Laverta Lovell.

Architect Skillfully Related

WHAT'S UP IN ARCHITECTURE. By W. G. Rogers.

The author's forte is a skill of interpretation, the ability to convey to the lay reader the understanding of a complex subject.

He recently wrote a book on modern painting, "A Picture Is A Picture," a work of streamlined simplicity that appealed to many puzzled individuals for its common - sense explanations of the visual arts in our day.

This is a similar book on the subject of modern building.

Rogers explains the line of development in the new building materials, through the sequence of cast iron, steel and reinforced concrete, as pioneered by the designers Richardson, Sullivan and Wright.

He describes the not always practical dreams of LeCorbusier, who believed a house is a machine, and discusses the chief exponent of the so - called International tyle (glass -boxes), Mies van der Rohe. He concludes with some observations on the current experimentalists and their major works.

The book presents a well - rounded, nontechnical view of its subject, enlivered by some salty passages on many of the creative personalities involved.

The rose is one of the oldest cultivated flowers. In 600 B. C., the Greek poet Sappho called this plant "queen of flowers." Cleopatra bathed in rose water, and probably slept in a mattress stuffed with rose petals.

MISS VEE ANN JOHNSON

Senior Christmas Recital Set Today At Martha Ann Club

Miss Vee Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, 3105 Denison Avenue, will be presented in her Senior Christmas recital Sunday afternoon, December 19, at 3 p.m. in the auditorium of Martha Ann Woman's Club. Miss Johnson is a piano and organ student of Mrs. Wayne Bethel.

Vee Ann began taking piano at the age of 6. Having moved to Snyder last year from Artesia, N.M., she was entered in District Piano Contest with a I rating. Also she was a member of Artesia High School choir and band. In the summers she attended Camp Kickapoo in Kerrville.

After moving to Snyder, Mrs. Bethel entered Vee Ann in National Piano Guild last year. She is a member of the High School Acapella choir, FHA, Vivace Junior Music Club and Worthy Advisor of Rainbow.

A member of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, Vee Ann plans to major in music at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. Her hobbies are water skiing and horseback riding.

Biographer Tries For Objectivity

THE WORLD OF CYRUS EATON. By Marcus Gleisser.

In recent years Cyrus Eaton, now in his 80s, has become known as the man who sponsored the famous Pugwash Conferences of distinguished thinkers; the Cleveland capitalist who was on friendly terms with Khrushchev and Mikoyan; the puzzling advocate of an "understanding" with Russia; the man whose wife took part in crusades against nuclear testing; the man who long has dared criticism to say that the Soviet people are not as stupid as we think they may be.

This Eaton, as the author makes clear, has always been a "maverick tycoon and gentleman farmer, noted clam in business dealings and outspoken crusader in national and international affairs, longtime battler with the press and Wall Street."

Gleisser records here many of the dollar battles of this enigmatic and controversial man. Eaton was a Midwestern fighter (hating Wall Street) for financial power; a profit-minded utility expert who fought the famous Insull to a standstill; a maker of steel mergers who fought a prodigious court battle against another steel merger; one of the few capitalists who favored the New Deal; an investor whose pyramided millions disappeared in the Great Depression and were renewed again by shrewd trading; a friend of labor's John L. Lewis; a political independent, an outspoken critic of men, policies, beliefs, economic assumptions and international misunderstandings.

Gleisser has tackled a subject of extreme complexity. He has fought valiantly for objectivity in his report. Capably he has avoided the pitfall of getting bogged down in yesterdays corporate fights. There may be times when the author is too close to the sticks to see the fireplace. But he has composed a report that summarizes well the remarkable exploits of an individualist who has made his indelible mark on the international transactions of our confused times.

France's great western peninsula of Brittany was settled from the 5th to 7th centuries by British Celts. They gave it a name meaning "Little Britain."

Detailed Viking Narrative

WESTVIKING. By Farley Mowat.

Mowat's book had been completed before the recent announcement from Yale University that it had acquired a map of the mid-15th Century (that is, pre-Columbian) which shows a land called Vinland, with legends in the margin crediting the Norsemen Bjarni and Lief with finding that portion of North America.

The map serves as icing on the cake of the Norse scholars.

What Mowat has done is to use the old Norse sagas as a framework for a reconstruction, in narrative form, of what it must have been like for the westward-pressing Norse seamen to probe the new land.

As a detective - scientist he has made many deductions, such as: The trader Bjarni, heading for Greenland in 985, was blown off course and saw the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador, but did not land. Lief, son of Erik the Red, having bought Bjarni's ship, in 995-996 made a landfall and wintered at Newfoundland's Trinity Bay. About 10 years later his brother Thorvald and Thorfin Karlsefni explored another part of Newfoundland and built a temporary settlement, where archeologists recently found Norse remains.

The author's reconstruction stands midway between technical scholarship and lay understanding—intentionally so. To make his story intelligible to the lay reader, he was relegated much of his supporting evidence to the appendices, some descriptive and some analytical.

The book is, perforce, too detailed to catch the fancy of a casual reader seeking intertainment. But for any diligent layman interested in exploration it is a fascinating study.

Here we have an excellent example of a highly articulate writer who knows scholarly ways, but who cuts across the cramped specializations of the academicians to bring together the really significant contributions of many studies. There are elements of history, sociology, ecology, meteorology, navigation, climatology, archeology and literary etymology combined in [illegible] adventurous chapter of man's story.

Christmas Open House for leaders and assistants will be held on December 20th at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Charles McCaleb. All leaders and assistants are cordially invited to attend.

Junior Troop 85 and leaders, Mrs. Shelby Graham and Mrs. Junior Duke, held their Christmas party Friday evening, Dec. 10th, at the Girl Scout House.

The girls decorated the tables and prepared salads. They made fruit salad, vegetable salad, and pear and peach salad; they served in an assortment of crackers and potato chips. The girls brought cookies that they had made at home.

Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Duke would like to thank the girls for doing a fine job with the salad supper for their mothers.

Mothers attending were: Mrs. Charles McCaleb, Mrs. Marvin Dozier, Mrs. Wesley Graves, Mrs. J. D. Traugott, Mrs. Barber Martin, Mrs. E. M. Menges, Mrs. D. H. Lockhart, Mrs. Marvin Roark, Mrs. Eddie King, Mrs. Pat Ainsworth, Mrs. G. A. Parks, Mrs. Robert Lane, Mrs. Coy Rhodes, Mrs. Fred Beard, and Mrs. Ralph Yielding. Miss Harriet Redwine was a guest.

• • •

Mrs. Coy Rhodes' Cadette Troop met on Wednesday, Dec. 15th.

During their business meeting they discussed the work they have done on the Good Grooming and Hostess badges and planned a style show for after Christmas.

They have made a number of stuffed toys for small patients in Cogdell Hospital, also.

Saturday afternoon the Cadettes will have their Christmas party at the home of Diana Mccants.

• • •

Cadette Troop 325 (Mrs. H. P. Redwine) met Wednesday, Dec. 15th, for further study on their Junior Red Cross First Aid course. Their next meeting for this purpose will be Monday, December 20th.

The girls plan to help with packing boxes for the Goodfellows during the next week.

TURNER, BOLTON AND WEBB. By Wilbur R. Jacobs, John W. Caughey and Joe B. Brantz (University of Washington Press, $2.95)

Southwesterners, particularly Texans, sometimes are inclined to forget there is any concept of history except the one expounded by our own, late Walter Prescott Webb.

For one thing, you can read Webb instead of wading through his writings. He considered history a form of literature and, surprising to laymen, was criticized for it.

Southwesterners think a great deal of Webb and are happy to accept pretty generally his view of things.

J. Frank Dobie, another Texan who wrote a different sort of history, once quipped, "Webb never lets facts stand in the way of truth." What he meant is that never let the trees keep him from seeing the woods.

"Turner, Bolton and Webb," just published by The University of Washington Press, is an examination of three historians of the West. They are Webb, Frederick Jackson Turner and Herbert Eugene Bolton.

The slim volume is highly valuable if for no other reason than it will expand the concepts of persons previously confirmed in one viewpoint of the West.

Bolton, for instance, saw the frontier of North America not as the West but as the North. When you consider this a moment, you find you can't dismiss it lightly.

Turner saw no single great West but a number of little Wests, and was much interested in the influences these newly developed areas had on the East.

Bolton, who was at the University of Texas and left for further research in Mexico City, wrote more than the other two. Turner found it painful to write and his output thus was small. Webb is pictured as a man who wrote for everyone, not just his fellow historians and the critics.

Webb sometimes wrote in quantity, in bursts, then stopped for long periods while he contemplated the scope of history.

While these three took differing views of the West, each contributes a valid picture. There never will be any end to the subject. People in the West are living history as rapidly as the historians can absorb and write about it.

BARREN LIVES, By Graciliano Ramos (University of Texas Press, $4.75)

"Barren Lives" is a translation of a novel by Graciliano Ramos, a noted author of Brazil and published by The University of Texas Press as part of the Pan-American series.

It is an interesting story of how peasants live and their problems of illiteracy, poverty, drought and exploitation by the landlords.

The obvious comparison would be with "The Grapes of Wrath," but the Brazilian novel has no such depth of excitement or drama. It is a curious, probably of considerable social significance in Brazil.

Certain young animals play games that are favorites with children. Lambs and gribbons like to play "follow the leader." Young otters and deer enjoy "hide and seek." Badgers prefer "king of the castle."

West Pakistan has harsh deserts and mountains. East Pakistan, nearly 1,000 miles away, is a flat, waterlogged world of bayous, swamps and rice fields.

Signs Suggest Soviets Are Fed Up With Communism

EDITOR'S NOTE — Preston Grover has served 25 years as an AP foreign correspondent — in Germany, India, France and the Soviet Union. He spent 1959-64 as chief of The Associated Press bureau in Moscow, then traveled through the East European Communist countries. Recently he has been back in the Soviet Union and traveled to Siberia. This analysis depicts the U.S.S.R. of today as he sees it.

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP) — There is a strong impression in Moscow among foreign observers and many Soviet as well that a high-water mark has been reached in Soviet Communist leadership, especially within the country, and that life there will never be the same again.

Outside Russia, Soviet leadership has taken such a battering in recent years that the old talk of "Moscow first" among party equals has lost meaning.

The pioneering zeal that swept communism from one end of Russia to the other has largely gone. The old Communists still feel it, but are tired; and many top leaders are physically ailing. Many of the younger ones simply don't feel it. Party publications virtually admit that. Party officials often concede it in talks with East European colleagues, and even with some Westerners.

If there remains any disposition among Russians to build a new frontier it doesn't show up in that part of Russia where the frontier is, in Siberia.

An engineer who has spent much of his life out there told this correspondent in Irkutsk that the whole atmosphere has changed.

"Many young people came out here after the war to make homes for themselves. Now they insist that we build homes for them before they come," he said.

The word Siberia chills people who haven't seen it, but it contains some of the most beautiful country in the Soviet Union. Nonetheless, Russians are not going for it.

The hard fact is that in general many Soviets are fed up with the hard life and are increasingly aware everybody lives better than they do, except in the truly depressed countries.

Disenchantment has set in. The mystique of communism, which made remarkable advances in the Soviet Union until recently, no longer enthralls. It has suffered too many buffetings.

Looking back on it from the hindsight of three years, it would appear that the great shock to party ascendancy in the U.S.S.R. was administered in 1962. That was the year the big Soviet rockets installed in Cuba had to be taken out under threat of American countermeasures that looked too awesome to face.

Many Soviets accepted then, and some still accept, their government's explanation that the backout was a noble move that saved the world from a nuclear war.

To observers in Moscow and in several other European capitals, both East and West, it was, however, the Gettysburg of Soviet communism.

To Soviet peoples the setback was driven home even harder the next year when the harvest failed and the country had to buy wheat abroad. Ironic stories circulated.

"Khrushchev is a miracle man," went one story. "He plants wheat in Russia and harvests it in Canada."

A discouraging round came again this year when the Communists had to go to capitalist granaries for bread.

A real stock-taking has begun. People, young and old, have begun looking around more closely at what they are getting for their risks and deprivations. There are more goods in the shops but the quality is poor and the Soviet people are aware of it. They have stopped buying the poor stuff in the stores, particularly clothes and household equipment, and are clamoring for a better break.

The Soviet experiment, 48 years of it, hasn't worked well enough to impress either the Russians themselves or sympathizers outside the country. Too many things that go wrong can't be blamed on the weather, or on some local official who hasn't done his job.

Although Soviet leaders have long boasted that the country has solved unemployment, every American farmer who visits the big collectives and state farms is staggered by wastage of manpower. Foreign industrialists find it equally true in factories.

The surplus of farm labor exists despite a steady flight to the city for a more interesting life.

"For the past three years," said Pravda in reporting on the Kursk oblast, "not a single secondary school graduate has stayed on the collective farm."

The same paper reported massive absenteeism in factories and a large labor turnover, in many plants up to 30 per cent a year. The paper quoted a steel-plant manager saying:

"It must be said quite frankly that the primary reason for which people change their places of employment is the unsatisfactory pay for labor."

Present Soviet leaders are aware of the slippage, as was Khrushchev before them, and have launched another experiment to try to get the economy going better and to improve administration.

Among the limited number of Soviets who meet freely with Westerners these days there is more apologetic talk than in any time in my six years' experience there. They see, and Westerners see that writers in the Soviet Union appear to reflect failures or weaknesses that are surprising after all these years.

Two Soviet writers have been jailed, accused of exporting critical comments about the government. Genuine political comment simply doesn't exist. Advanced art and much free-thinking literature still exist only underground, although that has improved lately.

The system of selling food across the counter was so ridiculously slow and time consuming when I arrived in Moscow over six years ago that it was impossible to think it might continue. Yet it hasn't improved. People spend half their leisure afternoon hours standing in queues buying food. A simple ice cream cone is laboriously weighed, a little added, a little chipped off, a little more added, in an operation that can take two minutes while a queue waits. With a common ice-cream scoop it could be done in 10 seconds, accurate to a gram. That system hasn't changed in 15 years.

Every year tons of fresh fruit and vegetables rot in the fields or on railroad sidings in the south while Moscow and northern cities go without. I have never seen a refrigerator car in the Soviet Union. Each year wastage is reported, and each year nothing is done about it.

Junior Editors Quiz on PLASTICS

QUESTION: How are plastics made?

• • •

ANSWER: Plastic means able to be moulded. Since the first plastics were shaped by pressure, this name was adopted by the inventors. Articles made from plastic are different from other man-made objects. Take a wooden log and you can make paper from it. But the paper is still wood pulp — wood in another form. But in making plastics, the basic raw materials are changed into something new and different.

Many plastics start with simple raw materials such as water, air, coal, limestone and salt. These are treated in different ways — by squeezing, heating, distilling and so on (suggested in pictures to right) producing other materials such as ethylene, ammonia, formaldehyde, etc. In the process, the tiny invisible building blocks of matter, the molecules, are rearranged in new ways. This process, called polymerization, produces new products, the synthetic resins, such as those of the important urea, vinyl, phenolic and polystyrene groups. Taking these, the plastics manufacturer, by various processes of heating, casting, squeezing and so on, makes the amazing variety of light, waterproof, tough objects we use in our everyday lives.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Write down a list of the qualities you think plastics have. You will write 'hard' and 'tough', but then think of the plastic cheeks of Liza's doll which she is pinching to make the doll purse her lips, and you will also have to write "flexible." 12-18

Deborah Armstrong of Chicago, Ill., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.

Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children

THESE THINGS YOU WILL WANT TO KNOW ABOUT THIS HOSPITAL . . .

Founded: It was founded and first opened for operation at its present location in Dallas, Texas, 42 years ago, by Texas Masons.

Supported: It has been supported from its very beginning by the free-will gifts of many. These gifts are inspired in no small measure by the immortalizing honor they cast upon the names of the donors. (This institution accepts no money from any governmental agency, local, state or Federal.) No help is received from any foundation or fund drive. Funds are accepted only through the voluntary contributions, donations and bequests of the friends of this institution.

TEXAS SCOTTISH RITE HOSPITAL FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Debt Free: For many years now the Hospital has been free of debt so that every penny of each gift is used explicitly to provide for the rehabilitation of Texas crippled children.

Volunteer Services: There is a host of volunteer workers who give of their time and talents to the Hospital's program of continuing rehabilitation.

Admission: Texas crippled children are admitted on the basis of need. The prime requirement for admission is a rehabilitative need on the part of the child, and a contemporary inability on the part of the parents or guardians to pay for treatments at a pay institution.

Record of Miracles: During its 42 years of operation this Hospital has treated over 26,000 Texas crippled children; and, in addition has provided over 144,000 out-patient treatments (for children whose ailments do not require hospitalization).

GET INSTANT DIVIDENDS that will compound miraculously through the years with a gift now to crippled children of Texas

SIX WAYS TO GIVE . . .

1. CASH TODAY: Gifts of cash today provide the Hospital with the all-important current operating revenue that makes possible the day-to-day activities of the Hospital.
2. MEMORIALS: In honor of loved ones through a gift to the Hospital result in both the names of the donor and that of the memorialized one being permanently recorded in the Hospital's memorial records.
3. LIFE INSURANCE: can aid the Hospital through either a new policy, or by making the Hospital beneficiary on any existing policy.
4. BEQUESTS: in your last will and testament will convey to the Hospital whatever gift you may desire to bequeath. (In connection with living trusts and bequests it is important to consult an attorney.)
5. LIVING TRUSTS: can be established to benefit the Hospital during your lifetime by naming the Hospital as beneficiary of your trust. This can consist of property, money or other assets you set aside for that purpose.
6. IN LIVING TRIBUTE: This is in the form of a "continuing fund" that is established in tribute to some person or persons who are now living. Such a Fund may be added to in any amount at any time. Living Tribute Funds may be established by individuals or by groups of employees. Living Tribute Funds become a part of the Hospital's General Endowment Fund and do, therefore, begin immediately to earn dividends which are compounded annually.

The Administrator of the Hospital will be pleased to visit by mail with you regarding any phase of your gift.

ALL GIFTS TO THIS HOSPITAL ARE TAX DEDUCTIBLE
