Following Collapse...

Five Workers Believed Still Trapped In Florida Building

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Fresh disaster crews chipped through slabs of concrete and twisted metal today, looking for workers trapped in the debris of partially built condominium that collapsed, killing 10 people and injuring several dozen others.

Most officials estimated that about five workers were trapped in the ruins, but Cocoa Beach Police Chief Bob Wicker said as many as 25 might be unaccounted for. Fire Chief Robert Walker said there was "no way" anyone caught under the rubble could still be alive.

At daybreak two busloads of fresh searchers from nearby Patrick Air Force Base arrived to relieve those who worked through the night. As they stepped off the buses, the airmen were handed surgical masks to protect them against the clouds of concrete dust kicked up by the rescue work.

The crews were using jackhammers, sledgehammers, small shovels and even their hands to get through the cement, steel bars and crushed girders.

Construction company and Brevard County Civil Defense officials said between three and five men still were missing. Wicker, who reported as many as 25 might be missing, said, "We don't know exactly, and actually we won't know until the last blocks are turned."

Brevard Civil Defense Deputy Director Howard Bennett said his people at the scene "are giving us reports of from three to five, maybe seven, unaccounted for." He said those reports were based on queries from people who have missing relatives.

Bennett said the higher figure of 25 was based on speculation on the number who could have been on the job before the collapse. He said authorities were having trouble tracking down all the contractors and subcontractors who might have had crews working at the time. He also said it was possible some workers who lived alone were trapped, "and there's no one to report them missing."

Lucille Coleman, a Cocoa Beach resident who was walking nearby when the building fell Friday, said she "heard a terrible noise, it sounded like an explosion. It really looked like a house of cards that somebody had pulled the bottom out from."

The cause of the collapse was not determined, but several workmen who survived contended that the five-story building fell apart because the construction schedule didn't allow enough time for concrete throughout the building to dry.

"Twenty-two years I've been pouring concrete, and they've never pulled the forms in two days like they did here," said James Dockett, who was on the roof and briefly trapped under the debris until a crane removed a metal girder.

The forms, supports that shape wet cement, "usually set there for a week or 10 days," he said.

The workers had just finished pouring the roof when the collapse occurred.

A New Experience...

Snyderite Helps Find Oil In South America

John Fagin, superintendent here for Newmont Oil Co. and former mayor of Snyder, just completed a new experience in his oil industry career.

He spent three weeks in Colombia, a South American country that is anxious to develop its own energy supply to ease the necessity of importing $40 per barrel oil.

Fagin was sent to Colombia by his company as part of a professional staff overseeing a drilling venture some 250 miles from Bogota. Newmont was involved in an exploration commitment that was negotiated some two or three years ago. The Colombian state petroleum company, Ecopetrol, is making conessions to American companies in order to entice American capital and technology for deveoloping their oil supplies.

Still, many of the Colombians, especially younger ones, are suspicious and openly express fear of exploitation by the Americans, Fagin said.

He told of a conversation he had with a well-educated young man who kept harping on exploitation. Fagin asked him for specific examples, but got none. It developed that the young Colombian was a graduate of UCLA.

"He was highly appreciative of his education in the United States," Fagin said. "But they have this exploitation thing drilled into them, and they have political campaigns going continually."

Fagin said he made the 250-mile trip from Bogota to the well site only once, and that on the journey they were stopped half a dozen times by teen-aged military personnel who poked guns in their ribs and detained them until their identification could be confirmed.

Fagin was in Bogota when the American linguist, Chester Bitterman, was slain on March 4. However, it did not cause much of a stir there, he said.

A number of American oil companies have operations in Colombia now because of the Ecopetrol policy that encourages them to do so. They now grant leases up to 22 years when there is production. An outside firm must make a substantial commitment for exploration. If it gets a dry hole, it absorbs the loss. If it achieves production, Ecopetrol takes half and pays its share of the cost.

Marijuana also is a big business in Colombia, Fagin said. However, they don't seem to use much of it. They grow it as a cash crop and export it. Fagin said he was told that very little marijuana is used in the country.

Another thing that attracted Fagin's attention in Bogota was the age of the automobiles. There are many cars of the thirties and forties still in use there, and some of them appear to be in excellent condition.

"I would have liked to have been able to bring some home," he said.

Fagin remained in Colombia for about half the time required to drill a well. He was relieved by another company engineer from Houston, who will see it through to the end.

Absentee Vote Still Lags Here

Tuesday is the last day for absentee voting in school and city elections, and interest continues to lag in this area.

The count Friday afternoon showed only 19 absentee votes cast in the Snyder school election, two in the Ira school election, one in the Hermleigh school election and no votes in the Snyder city election.

Next Saturday is election day and all three school districts have contested races for places on their respective boards of trustees.

There are no contested races in the Snyder city election.

Snyder School candidates include Roy McQueen, Charles Freeman and Vera Stansell for Place 6, and Joseph D. Hinton and Dr. Paul Thompson for Place 7.

Seeking three places on the board in the Ira Independent School District are Donnie Dunn, Tommy Sterling, Jim Wilson and Robert Barbee, with the top three to be elected.

The candidates for two spots on the Hermleigh School Board are Jimmy Roemisch, Allen Kuss and Jimmy Hudgins.

Candidates for city council posts in Snyder are Gale McPherson for Place 1, Ed Thrift for Place 2, John Wilson for Place 3, David Holt for Place 5 and Rod Waller for Place 6.

Ask Us

Q.—Why couldn't the appraisal district use the unoccupied Lincoln School building?

A.—A previous question touched on this. Getting the building into condition for use as offices would be expensive. In fact, it was estimated that it would require several thousand dollars to replace broken windows alone. Also, the appraisal board as well as governing boards of taxing entities indicated that they preferred for the office to be closer to the tax collector's office, which remains in the courthouse. And then there is the added expense of extending the data processing service a considerable distance. These are considerations enumerated earlier when the Lincoln building was inspected by appraisal district officials.

The SDN Column

It has been interesting to hear comments and read about arguments on pieces of controversial legislation, especially that concerning the "Blue Law."

In our opinion, this is probably one of the most misunderstood laws on the books, and it certainly is one that does not achieve, or even aim at what most people think it does. This makes discussion of it even more interesting.

Most people apparently believe the so-called Blue Law's purpose is to get more people to attend church by keeping them from working on Sunday. If you look around, of course, you will see immediately that a lot of people work on Sunday and a lot of stores are open on Sunday. The Blue Law does not prevent any business from being open on Sunday. It merely prohibits the sale of a specified list of items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays. This means that any store may remain open seven days a week, but there are a few items it cannot sell on both Saturday and Sunday.

It also means that if a store chooses to close on Saturday, it may sell any item it has in stock on Sunday. Some major chain stores who have multiple outlets in a city have some of them closed on Saturday and some closed on Sunday. By so doing, they may sell anything they have whenever they are open. If a customer wants one of the specified items on Sunday, he simply finds a store that was closed on Saturday and he can buy it there.

We have always thought the Blue Law was one of the biggest jokes on the books.

In case you want to complain about the television crew that worked the Tulsa-Syracuse game in the NIT finals last Wednesday night, Mel Gilbert has an address where you can direct your beef. Gilbert himself didn't wait to write. He called before the echo of the last cheer for Syracuse faded out.

Margie got upset over the commentary, but we thought it sort of funny. However, it was the first time we ever heard a television crew plot strategy for one team continuously for an entire game.

"I wish Tulsa could beat them 50 points," said our better half.

But we liked it the way it came out. Ask any coach, and he will tell you that those close ones, especially those that go into overtime, hurt the most when you lose.

Our nomination for the week's foot-in-mouth award goes to Digger Phelps, the Notre Dame coach, who, when Syracuse went ahead by three points, joyously observed, "Well, it's all over!"

Suffice it to say that Nolan Richardson and his crew can be thankful that the TV trio was behind the microphones with headsets on instead of on the floor wearing striped shirts.

Hijackers Hold 47 Persons

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A band of hijackers carrying grenades and small arms today forced an Indonesian jetliner to fly to Bangkok airport where they held the plane and at least 47 hostages, authorities said.

Thai officials said the hijackers have demanded the release, within 28 hours, of 20 alleged political prisoners jailed on the Indonesian islands of Java and Sumatra. The officials reported no specific threat against the lives of the hostages.

In a radio communication with Thai and Indonesian officials at Bangkok's Don Muang international airport, the hijackers demanded that the freed prisoners be flown to Colombo, Sri Lanka.

The charges claim Susan Nelles, 24, killed the babies in Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children with drug overdoses.

A brief hospital statement released Friday said it would not make any comments because the matter was before the courts.

Oil Imports Keep Trade In The 'Red'

WASHINGTON (AP) — High oil imports kept the United States' balance of trade solidly in the red in February despite rising exports of aircraft and coal and cutbacks in automobile and metal products imports.

The Commerce Department, releasing its monthly report Friday on imports and exports, said the seasonally adjusted February deficit was $3.15 billion, the second worst monthly performance since last May's $4.04 billion deficit.

The total deficit last year was about $36.4 billion, compared with $40.4 billion in 1979. The new report showed the value of auto imports down nearly 22 percent to about $1 billion in February, but analysts could give no reason for the drop other than shipment schedules unrelated to national policies.

The value of imported oil fell 1 percent to $7.75 billion in February, but that was only because of the shorter month. Imported barrels per day rose from 7.2 million in January to 7.5 million in February, and the cost of imported oil rose from $35.15 to $36.89, the report said.

Exports of aircraft and parts more than doubled to $1.25 billion; coal exports rose about one-third to $516 million.

Conservationists To Meet Monday

Conservtionists from 17 soil and water conservation districts will be in Snyder on Monday to attend a meeting of the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

The Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District will host the meeting, which will begin at 10 a. m. in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

Tommy Hailey, wildlife biologist, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Breckenridge, will present a program on deer herd management.

Dr. Don Newbury, new president of Western Texas College, will welcome the group to Snyder and to WTC.

Presenting reports during the conference will be Joe Antilly of Abilene, member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board; Hermon Petty of Mineral Wells, president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Joe Montgomery of Abilene, vice president of the Association of Texas SWCDs; and Carl Spencer, executive director of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board, Temple.

Following a luncheon at 1 p. m., the conservationists will tour the Diamond M and Scurry County Museums.

Conservation districts included in the association are the Upper Colorado, Upper Clear Fork, Concho, Middle Clear Fork, Mitchell, North Concho River, Coke County, Runnels, Middle Concho, Sandhills, Mustang, Howard, Midland, Nolan County, Andrews, Central Colorado and Tom Green.

Census Count Is Now Over 12,700

If the Bureau of the Census had issued a few more preliminary reports, Snyder probably would have gone over the 13,000 mark in population for 1980.

Nevertheless, the gain here over the 1970 count was one of the more significant in the area.

The count announced at the end of the week gave Snyder a total of 12,705. This is an increase over preliminary totals announced less than three weeks ago, which were an increase over the original preliminary totals announced last fall.

Snyder had a total of 11,171 in 1970, which means an increase of almost 14 percent for the decade.

The first preliminary figure for Snyder announced following the 1980 census was 12,301. A subsequent preliminary total was pegged at 12,671, exactly 1,500 above the 1970 count, and now the Snyder count has gone to 12,705.

So far as could be determined, the 12,705 is likely to be final.

Car, Truck In Collision

A car-truck collison on U.S. Highway 84 and Huffman Ave., that occurred about 11:30 a.m. Saturday, sent at least two men to the hospital.

Driving the car, a 1979 Buick stationwagon was Primitivo Garcia Zamorro of Anderson, Texas. Driving the truck, a 1980 model belonging to the Eddins-Walcher Co., was Don Dwayne Johnson of 700 28th St. Snyder. Both men were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Their injuries were not thought to be serious. Other members of the Zamorro family were also transported to the hospital with possible injuries. A Scurry County EMS ambulance responded to the call.

The car was headed south on 84 and the truck was going west on Huffman when the accident occurred, according to early reports. Department of Public Safety patrolman Bob Clark is investigating the accident.

Balance On Creation...

Longview Legislator Has Single Objective

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Mike Martin says he ran for the House to try to bring the biblical creation story back into the classrooms.

"It's the very thing that prompted me to run for this office," he said.

Martin, a Longview Republican, has filed one bill this session. It calls for "balanced treatment of creation-science and evolution-science in public schools."

Church and state are constitutionally separate, but it's a Moral Majority year, and lawmakers and religious groups are trying to inject some of their beliefs into the lawbooks.

"It's very simple. We're just trying to keep the theory of creationism from being suppressed," Martin, a Baptist, said of his bill.

Martin's bill includes a finding that "only evolution-science is presented to students in virtually all courses that discuss the subject of origins, while public schools generally censor creation-science and evidence contrary to evolution."

Rep. Ken Riley, R-Corpus Christi, is pushing a bill allowing silent prayer in public school classrooms.

"In each public school classroom, the person in charge may allow a brief period of silent prayer or meditation with the participation of all consenting pupils," Riley's bill says. "No disciplinary action may be imposed on a non-consenting pupil."

Rep. Ray Keller, D-Duncanville, has a bill that would take the state out of some church schools. He wants to exempt religious day schools from the Child Care Licensing Act. A similar bill has won Senate approval.

Legislative actions are watched closely by the religious groups in the state, including some with lobbyists.

Catholics are concerned about textbooks, welfare and farm workers.

Baptists are watching bills on welfare, the Blue Law, drugs, drinking and obscenity.

Jews are keeping tabs on bills regarding the "human component" (welfare, etc.) and kosher pastrami.

Mainline Protestants are working on welfare and farm worker concerns, along with needs of children of illegal aliens.

Cathofic lobbyist Richard Daly said he is not particularly interested in Riley's public school prayer bill.

"We operate our own school system with lots of prayer," said Daly, lobbyist for the Texas Catholic Conference.

Daly said he lobbies by passing the views of Texas' bishops on to he lawmakers.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Hang on to that good doc

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When is it time to switch doctors? I am taking six pills daily for high blood pressure. About six years ago, when my blood pressure was 150 over 95, he put me on one pill daily. That was all, for three years.

I gained some weight, about 10 pounds, and my pressure increased. Since then he has been steadily changing and increasing my medicine. Now I am taking Apresoline, Lopressor and hydrochlorothiazide.

My pressure varies a lot. Whenever it gets over 145 over 90, he's not pleased. Well, I'm not pleased to be taking six pills a day either.

After my last test, he said my potassium was down, and he's thinking of adding potassium. I remember reading in your column that low potassium could be from medicines draining your system.

DEAR READER — You had better keep that doctor. It sounds as if he is interested in helping you, so count your blessings.

Your story is a good example of what weight gain does to blood pressure. It has been well demonstrated that many people with high blood pressure can decrease the amount of medicine they take if they lose weight. So, if you cut down on calories, maybe you will be able to cut down on pills.

Get rid of every extra pound of fat you possibly can and start a walking program to help improve your physical-activity level. If you smoke, stop. If you use coffee, tea or colas, stop those habits, too.

As discussed in The Health Letter number 15-8, Your Vital Blood Pressure, which I am sending you, it is important to treat mildly elevated blood pressure. We accept 145 over 90 as normal, but people who have pressure of 115 over 75 are less likely to have strokes, heart attacks and other medical problems. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You are lucky to be taking only six pills. You may be able to avoid taking potassium by including enough fruit and fruit juices in your diet, but try to get rid of those extra pounds.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am an 11-year-old girl, and I have a bump under my knee cap. My mother took me to a doctor about it, and he said it's because I'm too active and hit it on something. He said I had to stop being so active.

My mother asked if I would ever get better, because even if I kneel down it hurts so bad. The doctor said I would always have the bump but when I stopped growing the bone would harden and it wouldn't hurt anymore. He said all he could do now was to put it in a cast to stop my being so active.

My mother didn't think that was a good idea. What do you think?

DEAR READER — You must be describing Osgood Schlatter's disease that occurs in adolescence. The most accepted view is that it is a minor injury in which the kneecap tendon inserts into the top of the shinbone. This area is not calcified at that age and the strong pull when the knee is straightened induces the injury. That is why the doctor said you should be less active.

Some doctors believe in casts. Others just suggest restricting activity, particularly that involving straightening the knee as in knee bends, football, going up stairs. Avoid any knee-bend type of activity. Most knees do heal in time, near the end of the growth phase, with the calcification of the bone area.

Old Fort Big Attraction

BASSETERRE, St. Kitts (AP) — The Brimstone Hill Fortress on St. Kitts is one of the leading tourist attractions on the island.

After routing the French in 1689, the English erected a battery on the top of Brimstone Hill. In the troubled years that followed it became known as the "Gibraltar of the West Indies."

The French captured the fort in 1782 and the British regained it in 1783.

Brimstone Hill was greatly damaged by hurricanes in 1834 and 1852 and was finally evacuated.

Proclamation Launches Cancer Crusade Here

The month of April has been proclaimed Cancer Crusade Month in Scurry County. Wanda Falls is crusade chairman, Jo Sterling is president and Sherry Thompson is door-to-door chairman.

In a time when 700,000 new cases of cancer are being diagnosed each year, research on the cause of the disease is sparking new hope of finding a cure, says Mrs. Falls.

"This is the most exciting time that has ever occurred for cancer research. Work in hybrid cell production, interferon treatment and research and cell-splicing are focal points of laboratory work at this time."

On the brighter note, research is making treatment possible to reach a one-in-three death rate compared to almost 100 percent death rate in cancer cases in 1900, she said. In the treatment area, work in hybridoma technology has the potential for producing large quantities of antibodies to protect the body against cancer-causing agents. The process occurs by combining a short-lived white blood cell, capable of producing antibodies, with a longer sustained cancer cell, resulting in a hybrid capable of combating the disease.

PROCLAIMS CANCER CRUSADE MONTH—County Judge Preston Wilson proclaims April as Cancer Crusade Month in Scurry County. Wanda Falls is crusade chairman. (SDN Staff Photo)

In Texas, the money contributed to the crusade is divided into certain categories: .38 is spent for research, .13 for professional education, .24 for public education, .22 for service, .6 for program development and administration and .11 for the crusade.

"In Scurry County, we know that everyone will want to have a part in our crusade, please welcome your volunteer, be prepared to assist us in this crusade, and have a checkup, said Mrs. Falls.

Memorials are appreciated at any time of the year, she said. "These may be made at the West Texas State Bank and your gift will be acknowledged, and you can feel as if you had a part in helping someone else."

Former Coke Fiddler Vaults Into Classics

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Elmar Oliveira no longer has to support himself by playing backup music for Coca-Cola commercials, Broadway plays or West Coast singers.

In 1978, Oliveira took his violin to Moscow and won the Tchaikovsky International Competition, the first American violinist to break the Russian hold on the coveted Tchaikovsky Medal.

The feat made him a celebrity in the world of classical music. He now plays 100 concerts a year as a soloist with the best orchestras around the world. Composers write concertos just for him.

"It has provided me with the opportunity to play with a lot more major orchestras. It has opened a career for me in Europe. And it has made me a big box-office draw," said Oliveira, 31, in a recent interview.

"The most time I've had without anything to do is a week or two in the last three years. I am taking a month off for the first time since the competition just to relax and work on new material."

Oliveira spent the month-long competition in Moscow listening to people tell him that he had no chance to win, that the judges always favored a Russian and that he had picked his musical selections poorly.

When he returned to Binghamton, where he teaches at the state university, 500 people greeted him at the airport, and he was invited to the White House.

Oliveira first began playing seriously when he was a 9-year-old boy in Connecticut.

"It was almost inevitable that I would pick up the violin because I heard music in the home," he says now. "Hardly a day went by when I did not hear either recordings, my father playing or my brother practicing."

His father was a "pretty good mandolin player" back in his native Portugal. Oliveira's brother, John, is a violinist for the Houston Symphony.

Oliveira's father used his carpentry skills to make a violin for his son. Now Oliveira plays a 1730 Stradivarius. The rare instrument can cause travel problems, Oliveira said.

"I've had some fantastic arguments with airline people about putting my instrument in their baggage section, but when I tell them it is worth the tail end of their plane they come around."

As it did in his own boyhood, Oliveira says, music appreciation begins at home. But the violinist is outspoken in his criticism of music commonly available today. He said most of today's young parents were brought up on rock music and cannot pass on an appreciation of classical music to their children.

Rock Musician In Hospital

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — British rock star Eric Clapton, undergoing treatment at United Hospitals in St. Paul for an ulcer, is responding but is still in serious condition, a Clapton spokeswoman said.

Clapton was admitted to the hospital early Saturday after performing in Madison, Wis., Friday night as part of a scheduled four-month U.S. concert tour.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Frying foods isn't as healthy as baking or broiling them. Yet, if you must fry, there is a way to minimize the addition of extra fat to the food. By adding a teaspoon of vinegar to the frying oil, less fat is absorbed by the food. The result is a fried meal that contains less grease and fewer calories, so it is much better for you.

Two Policemen Fired For Dumping Possums

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Two policemen were fired Friday for dumping dead opossums outside a black-owned soul-food diner, but black leaders said other patrolmen were involved and that more discipline was needed.

Police Commissioner Charles Jordan and Chief Bruce Baker told a news conference that officers Craig Ward, 28, and Jim Galloway, 32, were dismissed for depositing the creatures outside the Burger Barn in northeast Portland March 12.

Jordan and Baker said they believed the incident was not racially inspired but was meant as a prank. But they said citizen outrage had hurt the department and the officers had to be fired.

"How can you say it was not racially motivated?," asked Jeri Abram, a black resident of northeast Portland who attended the news conference. "We've known for 400 years what possums and coons represent to us."

George Powe, 54, who owns the diner, said police have harassed his patrons for several months and hurt business.

Ward and Galloway, who said they killed the opossums by striking them with their squad car during a burglary patrol, claimed earlier this week that they were solely responsible for the incident.

But several witnesses told police 10 officers in four squad cars drove up to the restaurant, at least four men participated in dumping the creatures on the sidewalk and all drove away laughing.

March 29, 1981

You will probably be more successful this coming year in projects you can handle by yourself. Accept help only if your cohort can add a different dimension.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are going to cut it today, chances are you'll have to do on your own what you hope to achieve. Assistants may be too sluggish to aid you. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unfortunately, you may find more reasons today for why certain tasks should be postponed than for why they should be performed. Don't let work accumulate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Sometimes you are rather fortunate with calculated risks, but today even a well-thought-out gamble could backfire. Don't expect something for nothing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today, others may be as insistent as you are on having things done their way. Unless a middle ground is found, little will be collectively accomplished.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You know your own limitations and capabilities, so be careful about taking on things today that you might not be able to handle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Extravagant whims may surface today and try to gain the upper hand. If victorious, they could seriously throw your budget out of balance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're a pretty good starter today, but there's a chance you'll run out of gas in the homestretch and leave unfinished that which you begin.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) For one who is both bold and self-sufficient, you may concern yourself needlessly today about the opinions of others and fail to do what needs doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Certain acquaintances know you are generous and easygoing, and from time to time have taken advantage of you. You could be a target again today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is a possibility today that you'll take competitive situations too seriously. Enjoy challenge for challenge's sake without getting uptight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Profit from past mistakes rather than repeating them. You might find yourself in a situation today similar to one you didn't handle too well previously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A friend who is quite fond of you may have a secret he or she would not like you to know. Asking prying questions could chill the relationship.

Your Birthday

March 30, 1981

You've always had a knack for making friends, and this coming year your circle of pals will be greatly expanded. Some of your new relationships will prove helpful in unexpected ways.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Progress can be made today if you update your methods and techniques. Keep what's good from the old, but add the fresh twist experience has taught you. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Concentrate your efforts and energies on goals that really count for something once they are achieved. You're lucky in dealing with important issues today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a real talent today for dealing with difficult people or managing sticky situations. You'll do it with such ease it may amaze even your friends.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't be intimidated today by sudden changes or shifting conditions. If you keep your cool, they should work out advantageously in the long run.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Because of your desire to treat others as you'd like to be treated today, you will win admiration and come out with a good bargain in the process.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your possibilities for personal gain are very good today and tomorrow. Stay atop situations which could add to your income or enhance your security.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your friends may have difficulties in getting a handle on things today, but you shouldn't. Your leadership qualities will stand you in good stead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't rock the boat today in matters which are proceeding smoothly. Try to stay out of your own way. Let your luck and circumstances dictate the course of action.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Others may hope for substantial things to happen at this time. Their dreams could be empty wishes. With you, however, it's another story. Dare to think big.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today and tomorrow you could be a bit luckier than usual in financial and career matters. Don't be so timid and cautious that you let opportunities slip away.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be more concerned today about things you're doing which might affect your future rather than about those which satisfy your immediate needs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a chance you could participate profitably in a situation for which another has already done the spadework. Be alert for opportune proposals.

Burnett Savors Court Victory

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES(AP) — Carol Burnett, savoring her $1.6 million victory in a libel action against the National Enquirer, celebrated at a dinner party with her lawyers and friends including entertainers Tim Conway and Dinah Shore.

"She was getting calls of congratulations from a lot of people," said Miss Burnett's spokesman, Rick Ingersoll. "Marlo Thomas called and Loretta Swit. She was receiving flowers and telegrams from everywhere."

Ingersoll said the buffet dinner Thursday night at Miss Burnett's Beverly Hills home was held hours after the verdict to honor her attorneys for winning the celebrated libel case, which had been pending for five years.

"There were about 40 people at the dinner," said Ingersoll, including Miss Burnett's husband, Joe Hamilton, and their eldest daughter, Carrie. "Tim Conway stopped by and so did Dinah Shore," he said.

In the aftermath of the Burnett victory, another superstar, Elizabeth Taylor, and her husband, Sen. John W. Warner, R-Va., threatened a lawsuit if the Enquirer doesn't retract an article which says their marriage is "crumbling."

Should Miss Taylor file suit, she would join a growing list of celebrities waiting to battle the Enquirer in court. Among those who have filed suit are comedian Marty Ingels and his wife, actress Shirley Jones and singer Helen Reddy and her manager-husband Jeff Wald.

While Miss Burnett celebrated her legal triumph, attorneys for the National Enquirer were planning to file a motion for new trial and seek reduction of the $1.6 million damage award.

Save Bags, Cups For Garden Use

EMMAUS, Pa. (AP) — Plastic bags and yogurt cups are just a couple of the throwaway items that can help make your garden bloom this year.

Some resourceful readers of Organic Gardening magazine offered these tips on starting seeds.

With a pie or cake tin you can germinate several seeds at once. After planting the seeds, enclose the tin in a ventilated plastic bag and place on top of the water heater.

Or poke a few holes in the bottom of a clean, waxed-paper yogurt cup. Plant a seed in each cup and when it is time to transplant, gently tear the cup away.

Off-Duty Deputies Paid To Guard Daniel House

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Liberty County Chief Deputy Clay Autrey, while supervising the investigation of the death of Price Daniel Jr., was being paid by the former Texas House speaker's sister to provide off-duty deputies to guard Daniel's residence.

The revelations came at the end of the second week in a child custody suit filed by the sister, Jean Daniel Murph, who is trying to gain custody of Vickie Daniel's two children born during her four-year marriage to Daniel, fatally shot Jan. 19.

Mrs. Daniel is charged with murder in the case, but has pleaded innocent, claiming Daniel beat and threatened her before the shooting.

Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, Mrs. Daniel's lead attorney, Friday probed tenaciously into Autrey's investigative methods, suggesting law enforcement authorities were biased and tried to protect Daniel's reputation.

Autrey admitted that while investigating the Daniel case, he received two checks totaling $1,860 from Mrs. Murph to provide guard services for the Daniels for two weeks after Daniel's death.

Autrey said he filled in the name of the Liberty County Sheriff's Department as the payee on the checks.

The chief deputy said he contracted to pay the deputies $7 per hour, but paid them $6 per hour and kept the remainder as his fee. He said Sheriff C.L. "Buck" Eckols was not aware of the agreement, which was verbal and not written.

Haynes also suggested that Autrey failed to follow up on the discovery of a box suspected of containing marijuana found in the attic of the Daniel home because it would corroborate testimony by Mrs. Daniel.

Mrs. Daniel testified her husband went into the attic to get some marijuana shortly before he was fatally shot.

Autrey said he did not go into the attic the night of the slaying and did not check the trunk of one of Daniel's cars to search for traces of marijuana.

"If she said there was marijuana in the attic and you found some in the cars, wouldn't that be supportive of her statement?" Haynes asked. Autrey said such evidence could support Mrs. Daniel's contention.

Officers also did not take photographs of whisky bottles found in the Daniel home or of a fifth of whisky in the seat of Daniel's pickup, although other items in the truck were photographed. Mrs. Daniel said her husband drank excessively.

Display Rig Strikes Oil

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Civic leaders wanted to do something dynamic to reflect the heritage of this West Texas city during its centennial celebration, so they set up a working oil drilling rig on the county fairgrounds.

You can guess the rest. Yep, they struck oil.

Not a whole lot, maybe, but oil nonetheless.

The drilling started Monday on the "Abilene Chamber of Commerce Foundation No. 1-100, City of Abilene-Taylor County." Since it was only a fun-type project, drilling was limited to normal work hours, and not around-the-clock as in serious drilling. They were going to go down to 2,000 feet and quit. Most producing wells in the area are from 3,000 to 5,000 feet.

But on Friday, at 1,800 feet, Bandera Drilling Co. had seen enough to convince it to take a core sample, a time-consuming task requiring that the entire 1,800 feet of pipe be pulled up and another special bit be inserted to take a sampling at that depth. Results of that sample will be analyzed to determine if sufficient oil is there to justify production.

The Chamber of Commerce, whose idea it was to drill the well, may laugh all the way to the bank since it's in line to get one-fourth of the profits on any oil production.

Indictments Due In FBI's Probe

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A former lumber dealer in southeastern Oklahoma and a semi-retired material supplier in north Texas are key witnesses working with the FBI's investigation of county commissioners' purchasing practices, a newspaper here says.

Meanwhile, federal grand juries in both Oklahoma City and Tyler, Texas, are expected to return indictments against some commissioners and suppliers the week of April 6, a story in The Saturday Oklahoman and Times said.

Although the Oklahoma probe involves more than 100 commissioners in at least 40 counties, initial indictments are expected to include only 10 to 12 county commissioners, the sources said. The Oklahoma investigation has lasted 2½ years.

Dorothy Griffin, who operated the now-defunct Griffin Lumber Co. Inc. in the Atoka County community of Farris, gave key information about alleged kickbacks, sources said.

The kickbacks allegedly were made in return for purchases in both states, the newspaper said.

A Dallas newspaper account had quoted Mrs. Griffin as saying financial problems at her lumber company had prompted her to begin making payoffs to county officials in return for purchase contracts.

But on Friday, a sister who answered the telephone said Mrs. Griffin was out of town.

"She said some of the things that she said have been twisted around" in the Dallas newspaper's account. "She left here upset shortly after receiving a telephone call this morning," the sister told a reporter.

In Texas, Dallas Thompson, a semi-retired supplier from Arlington, has been cooperating with the FBI and a federal grand jury in Tyler about alleged payoffs to county officials in several north Texas counties, sources said.

Neither Mrs. Griffin nor Thompson could be reached Friday.

Thompson was described as semi-retired by grandson Dwight Thompson, vice president of Texas Steel Culvert Co. in Arlington. The younger Thompson said his grandfather is not an owner or an officer of the company, though he has purchased — and occasionally still buys — materials from the firm.

Paints Portraits Of The Deceased

HOUSTON (AP) — A forensic artist has painted portraits of 27 people, most of them victims of traumatic deaths and buried in pauper's graves, in an effort to help Harris County medical examiners identify the remains.

Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph A. Jachimczyk distributed photographic copies Thursday of the paintings done by artist Mary Mize, of La Porte, who created the portraits from photos of the victims.

"We hope that by publishing these ... we might get some additional clues" to establish the identities from some of the people," Jachmiczyk said.

APRICOTS, PEACHES, PLUMS—

This is the time of year when we begin to get serious about spraying our fruit trees. True we still have the danger of a late frost or freeze, but if we plan to have quality fruit, control measures for insects and diseases of fruit must be started now.

Some insect eggs and disease spores are deposited during or soon after the first petals of blooms fall. These pests will probably not be noticed until later in the growing season when holes will appear in the fruit or the area around the seed will rot or contain a larva which has developed from the egg but was laid during the bloom period.

To grow a large quantity of quality fruit, a producer must manage fertilizaing and watering practices well, but most important, he must follow a regular spray schedule for both insects and diseases. The following schedule does not guarantee a large crop of good quality fruit, but it will aid the producers if followed diligently.

The first spay should be done when 75 percent of the petals have fallen. This spray should include a combination of Zolone or Malathion insecticides plus Captan or Benomyl fungicides. Follow recommendations on the container for the amount to mix with water.

This spray mixture should be continued every 10-14 days for at least four applications during the growing season.

APPLES, PEARS

Control measures for insects and diseases for apples are almost the same as for peaches. The main difference is that the first spray for apples and pears should be delayed until all petals have fallen and then begin the regular 10-14 day schedule.

PECANS

Mature and bearing pecan trees in our area usually will not need spraying until the pecan nut casebearer spray, which usually hits our area the last week in May.

Young pecan trees that need growth probably will need the first application of zinc when leaves are half to three-fourths grown for best results. Young trees will respond to as many as five applications of zinc during the growing season. These should be applied at monthly intervals. The two materials to use as a source of zinc are sulfate (68 percent) or NZN. These materials should be mixed at the rate of two teaspoons per gallon of water.

If we can avoid a late freeze or frost, prospects for a fruit crop appear to be real good.

Houseplants Find Home In Bathroom

STREAMWOOD, Ill. (AP) — Many houseplants are finding a home in the bathroom, where there is high humidity and often fluorescent lighting.

"It's an ideal place for plant growth," say the makers of Garden Scene planterware.

"Our study shows that onethird of all households with plants have at least one plant in the bathroom," said Dick Husby, marketing manager.

Ten plants that grow well there, according to Husby, are fittonia, kangaroo ivy, grape ivy, lipstick plant, myrtle, nautilocalyx, Swiss cheese plant, peacock plant, prayer plant, and snake plant.

Memphis On Gulf Possible

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The city of Memphis may some day be on the shore of the Gulf of Mexico, if the ice which now covers a 10th of the earth ever melts, according to studies by marine scientists.

They estimate that the ocean would rise by as much as 200 feet, completely flooding New York City, Washington, Miami, Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

There's no need to panic, however, as the ice isn't expected to start melting for several thousand years, or longer.

New Drilling Rigs Being Pressed Into Service

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 3,600 domestic oil and gas drilling rigs are in use and George J. Matetich says more are on the way.

"And these new rigs are coming with the full realization the saturation point can come anytime," says Matetich, the International Association of Drilling Contractors president from Tulsa, Okla.

"Because of the unprecedented nature of this boom, it is practically impossible to predict when overbuilding will occur. But it will come."

Hopefully, he added, there will not be "the roller coaster ride down the other side that the drilling contractor has experienced before."

"Possibly, there will be only a flattening of the demand curve," he said.

"Personally, I believe this will be the case, in part, because for the remainder of this century and well into the next, the search for energy resources will be the guiding force behind not only the United States but all of the industrialized world. And, in almost all cases, drilling rigs will be a vital tool in this search."

In a recent appearance before the Texas Railroad Commission, the state's oil and gas regulatory agency, Matetich said the current surge in drilling activity has strained to the utmost the capabilities of each and every company and individual involved.

"And I'm not talking just about the drilling contractor," he said. "Service companies, supply firms, and rig manufacturers have been right in there with us. After almost two decades of stagnation on the domestic scene, we have all had to reach and maintain an almost frantic level of operation. All in a relatively short time."

Matetich said one needs only to look at the "riches to rags and back to riches" history of the drilling contractor over the past 25 years to truly appreciate the current vitality of the industry.

In 1955, he added, weekly activity peaked at a record 3,338 rigs and industry leaders were predicting a bright future.

"And they were right," he said. "Their timing was just a little off, that's all. About 25 years off."

In 1957, the rig count declined 8 percent.

"It was a trend that was to continue the next 15 years," Matetich said. "During the 1960s, rigs were stacked, cannibalized and sold at auction for a fraction of their worth. It was a very discouraging time for drilling contractors, especially since it came at a time of vigorous growth for the rest of the American economy."

The low point came in 1971 when an average of only 975 rigs were operating. And the all-time weekly low came on March 15, 1971, when only 814 rigs were making hole.

"If, during those years, you wanted to take a look at a modern rig with all of the most up to date equipment on it, it was most likely you would find it drilling abroad," he said.

Matetich said American contractors, those that stayed in business, had barely enough money to meet payrolls and almost none for expansion or technological improvement.

"But, in 1973, along came the Arab oil embargo and a rude awakening for the Western World," he said. "The U.S. rig count had shown some improvement since its low point in 1971, but not much."

The shutoff of Middle East oil, he said, turned out to be the primary factor that turned around the domestic drilling industry.

Technology, he said, may not have progressed as rapidly in the 1960s as it might have had the industry been healthy but some significant strides were made.

Casbah Now Overcrowded

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — If you "come with me to the Casbah," you will see overcrowding, windowless homes and crumbling buildings.

In pre-colonial times, prior to 1830, the Casbah was the City of Algiers, with 30,000 population.

Today, some 90,000 people live in the Casbah, out of the more than 2 million living in Algiers.

Republicans In Senate Standing Firm On Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unmoved by eruptions of heated rhetoric from Democrats, the Senate's Republican majority is standing united in defense of the budget cuts President Reagan is asking Congress to enact.

In two days of debate on the proposed cuts, Republicans have turned back four Democratic attempts to restore money to social programs.

Consideration of the measure resumes Monday, with debate on an amendment by Sen. Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., that would restore $800 million in 1982 to finance the minimum Social Security benefit of $122 a month that the Reagan administration is seeking to cut.

In all, Reagan wants to slash $2.8 billion from the budget for the remainder of 1981, $36.4 billion for fiscal 1982 and $47.7 billion for fiscal 1983.

Fiery exchanges were touched off Friday when the outnumbered and frustrated Democrats were confronted with a move by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., to transfer $200 million from the foreign aid budget to domestic nutrition programs.

Reagan proposed $1.6 billion in cuts for child nutrition, particularly school lunches, and a $1 billion cut in foreign aid.

Democrats wanted $400 million of the child nutrition money restored, double the amount Helms' amendment would put back.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., angrily accused the Republicans of rearranging the cuts in a way that would "pit the poorest starving children of the world, of Africa and Asia ... against American children and coming up with a pious answer that we're going to protect the budget."

"If that is what the cost of fighting inflation is, it's unacceptable," Kennedy shouted, banging his fist on his desk.

"I don't know anything in this amendment that says we're going to take food out of the mouths of children," Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., shot back.

When Dole, who supports food stamps and other nutrition programs, complained about "tired liberal voices who got us into this (economic) mess," Kennedy retorted he was a "young Democrat who was proud to be associated" with the programs under discussion.

Unwilling to vote against restoring at least some money for the nutrition programs, Democrats were boxed into going along with the more modest Republican measure. The Senate passed the Helms amendments to cut $200 million from foreign aid and add it to child nutrition on votes of 87-9 and 70-26.

Democrats lost another round later when a move by Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., to cut $104 million from foreign aid programs and transfer it to veterans' health care failed, 48-44. And an attempt by Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., to restore another $200 million to the school lunch program in 1982 — on top of the Helms proposal — was rejected 54-35.

Two Democratic admendments aimed at restoring money for veterans medical benefits were defeated Thursday.

Explode In Sixth Inning...

Tigers Cage Panthers

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers put together five sixth-inning runs to zip past Fort Stockton for a 7-5 victory in their first 2-AAAA baseball contest of the season here Friday. The Tigers, now 9-5, were to trek to Levelland on Saturday for non-district doubleheader action beginning at 1 p.m.

Down 5-2 after an error-riddled top of the sixth, Snyder began to reach a tiring Merle Bowen, starting pitcher for the Panthers. Tiger hurler Tony Degrate opened up the bottom of the stanza with a ground rule double which bounded over the left field fence. Next up Jesse Hernandez popped out to short center, but Curtis Gafford drew a walk to put the tying run at the plate.

Gary Don Edmiaston then slapped a stinging bouncer which caught Fort Stockton shortstop Tracy Pasqua in the face to load the bases.

Snyder got its third run six pitches later when Degrate strolled home on a Neil Evans walk. Brent Roemisch came through next, sending Bowen to the dugout with a two-run double down the third base line. Relief pitcher Freddie Fierro didn't fare any better however, as his third pitch was returned through the hole at shortstop by Perry Echols, scoring two more runs for the winning margin.

Degrate, who started for Snyder and went six innings to earn the win, gave way to Mike Roemisch for the final three outs. Roemisch got Roy Garcia to pop out, but walked Jack Sitton on six tosses. That put the tying run holding the bat, but Nathan Fuller knocked it back up the middle to substitute shortstop Gafford, turned the double play with a toss to Brent Roemisch who then fired it on to first baseman Barry Davis.

Degrate opened the game with five strikeouts in two innings, despite suffering through shoulder problems that have plagued him all season. Pitching without his usual "heat", the University of Texas bound tackle still limited the Panthers to five hits, and notched nine strikeouts for the afternoon, enroute to his fourth win in five outings.

Bowen, whose low velocity breaking pitches moved even more with a 25 mph wind, shackled Snyder until the fourth inning. The wind also did its work in carrying several solid hits foul, and possibly pushed two or three would-be Tiger homers into outfielder's gloves.

Fort Stockton scored first in the contest, bringing in two runs in the third inning. First-up Eddie Durate walked to open the door. Pasqua then singled him home, and an error to Ronnie Chavez moments later accounted for another run.

Snyder tied the game in the fourth as Davis got on via an error. Degrate singled and Hernandez pushed them along the basepaths with a sacrifice bunt. Gafford and Edmiaston then singled back-to-back for the runs.

In the top of the sixth Sitton walked and consecutive errors loaded the bases. Snyder aborted one run when Joe Gonzales hit into a fielder's choice that nailed Sitton at home, but Durate retaliated with a double to score two, and a third error gave the Panthers their brief 5-2 lead.

Gerald Don Hicks, 2-1, was to get the call in the first game against Levelland on Saturday. Edmiaston, 0-0, was to start the second. Ralph Hernandez, Tommy Gressett and Brent Roemisch were also scheduled to see pitching action in the twinbill.

Western Texas College will hold its annual spring booster club breakfast at 7 a.m. April 1 in the college cafeteria, it has been announced.

The breakfast, dutch treat, is open to anyone interested in WTC athletics. The program will center on the discussion of projects for the upcoming year.

NOTCHES FOURTH -- Snyder hurler Tony Degrate picked up his fourth victory in five outings Friday as he out-battled Fort Stocktor for six innings. The senior pitcher got in trouble in the sixth as the Panthers came up with three runs for a 5-2 lead, but he retaliated with a bottom-of-the-inning lead-off double that sparked Snyder for five runs and the 7-5 victory. Mike Roemisch recorded a save in the game, mounting the hill in the final stanza. (SDN Staff Photo)

Fishin' Report

High winds kept most fishermen off Lakes E.V. Spence and J.B. Thomas last weekend and during part of the past week.

However, black bass fishing continued good at Lake Thomas and channel and blue cat fishing steady at Lake Spence. Bass were being caught on artificial lure in three to five feet of water at Lake Thomas, and white bass were biting with increased tempo along the dam, either trolling or casting. Catfish were being caught on trotlines in deep water.

A few reports from Thomas included Billy G. Berry, Snyder, a 4-12 black bass; Pee Wee Newman, Snyder, six white bass to 3-8 on artificial bait; and Herb Gardner, Slaton, 14 yellow catfish on trotline.

From Lake Spence at Triangle Grocery and Bait, Doug Taylor, Odessa, reeled in a 3-0 black bass, baiting with minnow; J. Hubbard, Robert Lee, six blue catfish to 4-0; and Mark Williamson, Odessa, four blue catfish to 4-0 on trotline.

At Skinny's Hillside Grocery, Mrs. Shirley Bohannon, Robert Lee, 100 channel cat to 2-0 on trotline; also 20 crappie from 1-8 to 2-0.

Water temperatures were rising, and recreation personnel at both lakes anticipate more activity by fish as the spawning season begins.

Texas Floods Collegiate Swim Championships

AUSTIN (AP) - Nobody told Eddie Reese it was going to be this easy.

The Texas Coach bordered on being flabbergasted Friday night after his Longhorns, seeking the first NCAA swimming and diving title in the school's history, built a 63 point lead over their closest pursuers, the Florida Gators with just one night to go in the 58th championship.

Texas, which finished second last year to champion California, had 181 points to 118 for Florida and 113 for UCLA. Southern Methodist was fourth at 108 and Auburn was fifth at 93 points.

"I figured that 220 points would win the meet and now we really have a shot at it," said a beaming Reese. "I also figured out on paper before the season that we could score as many as 350 points. All I know is that if we swim as fast as we have been, it looks like we might win."

Scott Spann and Clay Britt shattered American records Friday night as the Longhorns gave the 2,500 fans in Texas Swimming Center plenty to shout about.

Spann swam the 100 yards butterfly in 47.22 seconds to erase his record of 47.60 he established in the preliminaries. The senior also shattered Par Arvidsson's U.S. Open record of 47.36. Arvidsson, a gold medal winning member of the Swedish Olympic team, was second. Arvidsson, who swims collegiately for California, was timed in 47.39.

Britt swam the backstroke in 49.08 seconds to smash his record of 49.11 which he established in a relay event Thursday night. John Naber of Southern Cal had the old record of 49.31.

There were two other American records Friday night.

Southern Methodist sophomore Steve Lundquist splashed the 100 yards breastroke in 52.93 seconds. He owned the old record of 53.14.

Jesse Vassallo of the University of Miami lowered his American record in the 400 yards individual medley with a time of 3:48.16. The old record was 3:48.24.

Sampson Realizing Dream

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Bobby Knight remembers Ralph Sampson as a gangly 17-year-old, fresh out of high school, who was too inexperienced for the coach to risk using him in the rough-and-tumble 1979 Pan American Games.

"When I first saw him he had worlds of talent, but he was naive about basketball and good players, how they come at you," Knight said of the 7-foot-4 Sampson. "The Pan American team was the first time he had seen 6-5 and 6-6 people really go after him.

"But he has adjusted very well. A lot of people have that kind of talent but never develop it. He has made great strides."

Today Sampson led fifth-ranked Virginia, 28-3, against Atlantic Coast Conference rival North Carolina, 28-7 and rated sixth, in the second semifinal of the NCAA Basketball Championships.

In the opener of the double-header, Knight sent his ninth-ranked Indiana Hoosiers, 24-9, against No. 4 Louisiana State, 31-3. The final will be played Monday night.

Asked about sitting on the bench for the Knight-coached Pan Am team, Sampson said: "It was a great experience for me. It was like a year of college. I learned that I had to adjust my game and develop my skills - and not just rely on being tall."

In two years, Sampson has developed into a towering force in college basketball. Last year he led Virginia to the championship of the National Invitation Tournament. This year the club held the No.1 ranking for some time, won the title in the rugged ACC, earned an NCAA bid and advanced to the Final Four.

And Friday, Sampson was awarded the Adolph Rupp Trophy as the Associated Press' college basketball Player of the Year, selected in a vote by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The award is a reflection of how far Sampson has come in the last two years, emerging as a dominating force in his sport.

Rockets Repay Kansas City

HOUSTON (AP) — For Moses Malone, Houston's 91-84 National Basketball Association victory Friday night over the Kansas City Kings erased some embarrassing performances.

"At the first of the season, Kansas City had us standing around like a bunch of landmarks. They beat us four straight. But we won the last two, and that's what really counts now," Malone said.

Malone and Robert Reid together pumped in 40 points and paced the Rockets to a crucial victory that gave them an upper hand in a three-way race for two spots in the Western Conference playoffs.

Reid, who tossed in 19 points, said the Rockets deserved a special name for their efforts.

"Everybody has a nickname for a team. This year, the big one is the Bruise Brothers of San Antonio," Reid said. "They ought to call us the Baskin-Robbins team. We come at you in 12 flavors, and can give you just about anything you want."

Tower Favors Head

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, said today he has recommended that Corpus Christi attorney Hayden Head Jr. be nominated by President Ronald Reagan as federal district judge for the Southern District of Texas.

Head's appointment would be subject to Senate confirmation.

He would fill the vacancy created when U.S. District Judge Owen D. Cox assumed senior status on his 71st birthday.

Head, 36, will serve on the Corpus Christi bench within the 41-county district that includes divisions in Houston, Brownsville, Galveston, Laredo and Victoria.

A graduate of the University of Texas law school, Head has practiced law in Coprpus Christi since 1972. He is a member of the Grievance and Admissions Committee of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District.

Ernie Banks Makes Record

CHICAGO (AP) — For years, he sang in the sanctuary of locker rooms after a big win on the diamond. Now Mr. Cub is going to sing on the record.

Ernie Banks, the baseball Hall of Famer who clouted 512 home runs in a 19-year career as first baseman and shortstop for the Chicago Cubs, has batted in a 45 rpm single, "Teamwork." Banks' baritone is backed by the Chicago Bear and Chicago Bull cheerleaders and a horn section, guitar, keyboards and drums.

The disc will be released on Wanna Records next month to coincide with the opening of the major-league baseball season.

Couple Wed In Lubbock

MR. AND MRS. JOHN STUART SMYLIE

Mary Bernadette Dunaway became the bride of Glenn Stuart Smylie March 14 at 2 p.m. at St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Lubbock. Rev. Joe James officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dunaway of North Little Rock, Arkansas. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Smylie of Snyder.

Matron of honor for the ceremony was Sheila Dunaway Bathke of Atkins, Arkansas, sister of the bride. John Smylie, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Taylor, aunt and uncle of the bride, followed the wedding.

The bride attends South Plains College at Lubbock and the groom attends Texas Tech University.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple now reside in Lubbock.

Scouts To Attend Camp For Special Tawasi Event

The annual six-council Senior Girl Scout event, Tawasi, will be at Camp Boothe Oaks March 27-29. The West Texas Girl Scout Council will be the host council.

Tawasi is an Indian word meaning friendship. The event offers each girl an opportunity to make new Girl Scout friends, share program ideas, learn about wider opportunities and develop outdoor skills.

This year a special emphasis will be "Handicap Awareness." Senior and Cadette girls will experience some of the physical and emotional feelings of a handicapped person.

Welcoming the girls to Camp Boothe Oaks for Tawasi, will be Linda Walker, camp director; Dorrie Cook, Tawasi coordinator; and Peggy Sturrock, executive director of the West Texas Council.

Out of Council guests will include girls from Senior Troop 15, Alamagordo; Troops 81 and 58, Wichita Falls; Troop 70, Burkburnett; Troop 394, Plainview; and Troops 114 and 132, Lubbock.

West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

DO YOU FALL FOR SUPERMARKET GIMMICKS?

Have you ever gone to the store for strawberries — but went home with the little shortcake package and whipping cream, too.

Perhaps you bought the extras just because they looked so good in the supermarket display.

Do your children find great delight in picking out all the sugar-coated cereals the store has to offer?

This may happen because those cereals are displayed at children's eye levels.

If so, you fell for marketing gimmicks.

Not so bad, since all that is fun occasionally — but not so good if you sacrifice family nutrition with frequent gimmick buying — impulse buying.

To avoid this, take time to plan purchases. Shop with a list so you aren't vulnerable to "point-of-purchase" influences at the supermarket.

Read labels and study food advertisements.

Understand as much information as possible about nutrition and needed serving sizes.

Also learn about the "cost per serving" method of buying meats and produce. "Cost per serving" starts with "cost per pound" or "cost per ounce" — and then you must figure how many servings that pound will make or how many ounces will make a serving.

In addition, seek information from your County Extension Office about food buying and nutrition. Many booklets and pamphlets are available to the public at no charge through the County Extension Offices across Texas.

Finally, be aware of supermarket gimmicks such as the strawberry shortcake displays and the sugar-coated cereal shelf placement.

Other gimmicks include colorful banners, slogans and marketing products themselves — all of which induce a mid-hypnotic-trance in many consumers, according to one study.

Remember, unless you're careful, these gimmicks can lead to the purchase of more high-profit, eye-appealing, self-gratifying — and less nutritious — buying.

Vidal To Try His Hand At Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — Saying he'd like "to abolish the Presidency," Gore Vidal may "quit writing novels and concentrate on politics before the dummies we've got running the country succeed in burning it down."

The writer is quoted in the latest issue of People magazine as saying he is serious about running for a Senate seat.

Since 1960, the output per hour worked in agriculture has risen 172 percent, or nearly three times as much as in nonfarm business.

MRS. STEVEN GEORGE CARTER

Hatter And Carter Are Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Kim Yevette Hatter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll G. Hatter of Clovis and formerly of Snyder, and Steven George Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Carter of San Bernardino, Calif, were united in marriage during a candlelight double ring ceremony on March 14.

Performing the ceremony at Parkland Baptist Church in Clovis was Rev. James Tidenburg. Kim is the granddaughter of Mrs. Clarence Wade of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Hatter of Willow, Okla.

- Vows were exchanged before a heart-shaped candelabrum trimmed with palm leaves. Brass candelabras and bouquets of red and white carnations, gladiolas and lemon leaves completed the setting.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a formal gown of silk chiffon featuring a Queen Anne neckline with French medallion lace inserts, full bishop sleeves with lace cuffs. The bouffant skirt fell to a chapel-length train. The dress belonged to her cousin, Mrs. Ricky Erlandson.

The bride carried a silk cascade of white roses, miniature red roses, lily of the valley, baby English ivy and gray pussy-willow atop a white Bible belonging to the bride's mother.

Mrs. Wade Lancaster, sister of the bride, of Clovis, served as matron of honor. Mrs. Ricky Erlandson, cousin of the bride, of Sanger, Tex., and Leesa McKinney of Clovis were bridesmaids.

They wore identical red silk chiffon dresses designed by Mrs. Edwin Althop, a close friend of the bride. Each carried a long stem red silk rose with red satin streamers and love knots.

Wade Lancaster served as best man. Ricky Erlandson and Kent Ware were groomsmen. Cade Walton of Snyder and Bryan Watt of Clovis were ring bearers.

Ushers were Tom Watt of Clovis, John Callaway of Gainesville, Travis Hatter of Mt. Pleasant and Dalton Walton of Snyder. Kristen Walton of Snyder registered guests.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the church. The bride's table was covered with a white Quiana cloth. The overlay of white chiffon was pulled to drape with white satin ribbon and love doves. Silver appointments were used to serve red slush punch and red velvet cake.

In the center of the table was a bouquet of white satin roses in a silver compote and white candle in silver candleholders on either side. The all-white three-tiered cake was divided with six white Roman columns above a lighted fountain surrounded by English ivy and baby's breath. Serving the cake and punch were Paula McKinney, Lisa Megarty, Jami Ingle and Diane Rierson.

The groom's table was covered with red cloth and decorated with red silk roses in a silver compote. Spiced tea and coffee were served from a silver coffee service by Melissa Jameson. Jill Davis served the double heart German chocolate cake.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Clovis High School. She is employed at John Deer as a bookkeeper and he works for Farmers Coop Elevators. The couple went to Lubbock for their wedding trip.

Joyce Carol Oates' Volume Has Something Original

A SENTIMENTAL EDUCA-TION. By Joyce Carol Oates. Dutton. 196 Pages. $11.95.

Joyce Carol Oates' latest collection of stories, "A Sentimental Education," comprises six works. The longest, a novella, gives its title to the volume.

Those familiar with Miss Oates' work will recognize many of the familiar elements which characterize her writing, and are responsible for her reputation. The subject matter derives from the writer's interest in the terrible and wonderful workings of the human mind. There's an intensity of mood, clear and direct phrasing, density of meaning and economy of expression.

There are also always surprises in Miss Oates' work. It is never simply more of the same. Precisely because of her powerful imagination she can create for the reader totally original characters, whose strange inner lives she can make understandable.

In this collection, each work is vividly coherent. "Queen of the Night" deals with the strange second marriage of an older woman to a young man, who eventually emerges as the ruler of his own kingdom of darkness. "The Precipice" introduces Wesley Sterne, with his troubling tendency to get into fights, with his vision of a mysterious opponent who will one day materialize and provoke a fatal fight. What seems at first just one more harmless extramarital affair, with Annie, the girl "with puppy's eyes," involves John Reddinger in a shocking suicide attempt in "The Tryst."

Daniel Seeley in "A Middle Class Education" witnessed a murder, and cannot get free of the terror that haunts him. "In the Autumn of the Year" describes the shattering of the memories an aging woman poet had kept of a love affair earlier in her life. In the novella, there's an account of a young man's summer at the beach, of the agonies of immature love.

These stories concentrate fiercely on the darker possibilities of life.

ENGAGEMENT—Mr. and Mrs. Max Preston announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Max Ann to Ben Bowlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowlin of Stanton. They plan a June 6 wedding at the Bowlin home.

Trace Minerals Are Still Significant

The term "trace mineral" is misleading, says Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist. It refers to the fact that humans need only small amounts of these minerals, rather than meaning that the mineral has an insignificant role in the body. Some of the trace minerals are zinc, copper, chromium, iodine, manganese, flouride, selenium and molybdenum, she explains.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M System.

Dear Abby

Spellbound Woman Wants Hex Relief

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been "witchcrafted." This evil is more serious than people realize. I would not have believed it could actually happen until it happened to me. My doctor laughed and said it was all in my head. He said he had no idea how to treat this kind of problem and I should just forget about it. Well, I tried and I can't. It keeps getting worse.

Abby, you help people with all kinds of problems. Can you tell me where to go to take this evil spell off my body? I am tortured by this hex on me day and night. I am not imagining things. I know that I am under the control of some kind of witch, but nobody believes me. I am not making this up and I am not crazy. Please help me.

E. IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR E.: I believe you. Since the problem exists in your mind, in order to be cured, you need to see a psychiatrist — or psychologist — or some kind of therapist who specializes in problems of the mind. Your physician should have recommended several, but since he did not, consult your local mental health clinic. Explain your problem and let the clinic help you.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband retired two years ago, we moved into a nice, friendly mobile-home park. Once a month, about 15 couples in our immediate area get together for a potluck supper, each bringing a salad, casserole, cake, pie, etc.

Everything looks delicious, but here's the problem. In visiting some of my neighbors, I've seen their kitchens, and the thought of eating their food turns me off. One widow has two cats who walk all over her kitchen counters. Another neighbor has chronic eczema and prepares her food with some kind of ointment on her hands. One couple cooks together, and the husband never washes his hands after using the toilet. The lady next door lets her parakeets fly around freely, distributing their droppings all over her kitchen! I've seen her squash insects with her fingers and scratch her dog while she bakes.

My husband and I enjoy the company of these neighbors, but what excuse can we use for not eating their food? Or are we too fussy?

SANITARY SUE

DEAR SUE: Too fussy? Not in my book. You could eat first, or eat only what you bring to the potluck supper.

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I read a book by a so-called "expert" on how to beat the crap tables. It fascinated me, so after reading it several times, I built a crap table, bought some dice and poker chips and practiced this system until I had it down pat. After six months I showed a considerable profit on paper.

Now, common sense caused me to ask myself, "Why isn't the author of this book in Nevada cleaning up at the crap tables instead of sitting at home writing books to sell to people?"

On the other hand, his system worked for me at home when I played just for fun.

I am kind of old and living on a fixed income. Would you invest $500 on the crap table if you were me?

PUZZLED IN TACOMA

DEAR PUZZLED: No. If anyone ever figures out how to beat the crap tables, I'm betting he will be promptly barred from the casinos. Stay home and save your money.

More on missing king-ten

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Last Saturday we discussed the situation when you, South hold: A Q 9 x x and dummy holds J 8 x x. The best play is to lead to the queen and finesse. This gets you five tricks if East (to your right) holds K, K x or K x x and guarantees four tricks against any distribution.

With A Q 9 x x opposite dummy's J 8 x, you also lead to your queen. If it holds and you are trying for five tricks it is an exactly equal play here to lay down the ace, which will now pick up five tricks if the king is singleton to your right, or to return to dummy to lead the jack, which will produce five tricks if the ten is now singleton to your left.

If you want to give yourself the best possible play for four tricks, give up the play for five and lead low back to dummy's jack-eight. If West shows out, play the jack from dummy and you can finesse against 10-x up to your ace-nine.

Let's look at A Q x x x opposite J x x. Your best play for the maximum is to lead to the queen, but it is not your best play if your only interest is to make sure of four tricks in the suit. If either opponent holds K 10 9 8, there is no way for you to get four tricks. If the suit breaks 3-2 you are sure of four tricks. Now suppose the singleton king is opposite 10 9 8 7, take the finesse and you will lose to the singleton king and later to the 10. Play the ace and you still lose to the 10, but you have picked up the king.

Suppose you hold: A x x x x opposite Q J x x. The play for the maximum is to lead the queen for a finesse. It will give you all five tricks just over 20 percent of the time. But if you want to take the best play for four tricks, lay down the ace. This gets you four tricks if the missing K 10 9 8 are in back of the ace. No play gets you all four if they are in back of the queen-jack.

Your financial circumstances change from year to year. The form you used last year might not be the right form this year. H&R Block can help you determine which is the best form to use.

The answer is FALSE, since the IRS can't know of tax related changes which might have occurred in your situation last year.

phones competitive

An increase in first class postage rates to 18 cents is official, so the next question is how soon they will go to 20 cents, or higher.

That may depend on whether the unions representing postal workers heed the plea of Postmaster General William F. Bolger for "moderation" in their contract negotiations opening in April. Future rates also may be affected by the outcome of the Postal Service efforts to introduce a nine-digit Zip Code as a means of cutting corners in the mail-sorting process.

Mr. Bolger has asked for a 20-cent rate effective now on the theory it would allow the Postal Service to keep rates fixed for as long as three years. That's how long the present 15-cent rate has been in effect. But the Postal Rate Commission believes an 18-cent rate is sufficient to keep abreast of rising costs for the foreseeable future.

Rising postal rates arouse nostalgia for the purple three-cent stamp bearing George Washington's picture that was sufficient for many years to send a personal letter. But is it the stamp we miss — or the letters? Postal rates have reached the point where a long-distance phone call is not only more convenient than writing a letter but almost as cheap.

Technology has so benefited the economics of telephone communication that a one-minute call can be made to almost any point in the United States for 21 or 22 cents at the most, by direct dialing at the late-night or weekend rate. When Johnny is scolded for doing so poorly in English class that he can't write a decent letter, he can point to the phone and say, why bother?

no liability, no drive

Texas Legislators are considering a measure which some people feel is long overdue.

A bill by Rep. Gene Green would require a motorist to be able to show proof of liability insurance coverage upon request by a peace officer. Failure to have the insurance could result in a fine up to $200 on first offiense and up to $1,000, plus a 180-day jail sentence, on subsequent violations.

As they exist now, the state's motor vehicle liability requirements are a farce. The Department of Public Safety estimates that at least 25 percent of the state's motorists have no liability insurance. Opponents say Rep. Green's bill would be a hardship on poor people. On the other side, proponents have declared that if they do not provide such protection, they should not be on the road, regardless of their financial status.

Indeed, a person merely able to own a motor vehicle these days must make a significant fiancial outlay. And the cost of liability insurance in relation to the cost of a car is small.

And, if simple economics are to be considered, that of the motorists who already carry the insurance should get some attention. In order to assure themselves full coverage, they must carry insurance to protect them and their property against uninsured motorists with whom they might be involved in an accident. They would appreciate knowing that the other fellow had liability coverage, just in case the accident might be his fault.

We think it is time to say, "No liability, no drive."

shame of two cities

While national attention and some world attention has been focused on the child killer in Atlanta, a similar situation in Chicago, if less noticed, has caused no less anguish -- and shame.

For twenty months Atlanta blacks have been terrorized by somebody -- or sombodies -- preying on young black boys.

Twenty murdered and two missing.

Police, despite help from Washington, from psychics and from thousands of volunteer searchers, are utterly frustrated.

Now the tenants of the city's largest public housing project are arming themselves. Protesting that police protection is inadequate, they vow to protect their own children -- with baseball bats, guns -- whatever.

Mayor Maynard Jackson and Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown are pleading: "Vigilantes are not the proper response!"

But the armed citizen patrols are organized and spreading.

But while Atlanta's shame has beem everybody's concern, a comparable situation in Chicago's largest public housing project, Cabrini Green, has received virtually no mention or attention -- even locally in Chicago.

There have been more black-on-black killings in Cabrini Green in Chicago this year than in all of Atlanta's public housing projects — but even Chicago papers give more space to Atlanta's killings.

In Cabrini Green, since the first of the year, 47 persons shot -- 10 dead. in just two months!

To displace snipers from upper windows, the city has sought to fill empty rooms with tenants transplanted from lower floors.

Chicago's Mayor Byrne, with ample armed escort, toured Cabrini Green promising law-abiding residents that they would be protected. "You are going to live in peace and security," she said.

She designated a new unit of 48 police to patrol the project, to try to monitor the movements of known gang members and ex-convicts thereabouts.

Chicago Housing Authority Commissioner Renault Robinson calls the mayor's plan nothing more than "a Band-Aid on cancer;" he predicted her efforts will have no effect.

If you and I are angered and embarrassed by this flagrant profaning of the purpose of low-cost housing, imagine the terror of the decent people who live there.

We took people out of the slums with resources we might better have spent getting the slums out of the people.

Missionaries -- come home!

saints and sinners

george plagenz

LYNCHBURG, Va.—These were the little people, I suppose you could say — blue-collar workers, small businessmen, housewives who are happy being housewives, young parents, people who put the milk bottle on the table at home (only now it's the carton).

But when you get nearly 12,000 of these little people trooping to church on a Sunday morning — 12,000 people who think alike — suddenly they are not little people anymore. You had better pay attention to them.

These were "Falwell's Followers" who filled Thomas Road Baptist Church here, where Rev. Jerry Falwell is pastor, for three Sunday morning services — at 8, 9:15 and 11.

There were 4,000 here for the early service, 4,000 for the second service and about 3,500 for the nationally televised service ("The Old Time Gospel Hour") at 11. I attended all three.

I liked these people. I would like them for neighbors. They looked like the kind of people who would bring over a lima bean and ham casserole if they found out your wife was sick.

But something Falwell said in his sermon at 11 made me nervous about these people.

"We have decided," he said, "that we have an obligation to be our brother's keeper."

Falwell, the founder of Moral Majority, may be right that those who would like to see an improvement in the moral tone of society today are a majority (one hopes so, anyway).

But to have someone else decide what is best for you — unless it is someone whose ideas you respect — can be unsettling. And this is what worries many of us in the Moral Majority about the Moral Majority.

Yet nothing gives vitality to a worship service more than a preacher and a congregation who know where they are going and what they are going to do.

The minister and parishioners at Thomas Road Baptist Church are not wine-and-cheese intellectuals sitting around discussing an idea. They are "shock troops of the Lord" girding for battle.

If this can be frightening, it also makes for a lively hour of worship.

Falwell set a mood of excitement right at the start by telling the people he was going to talk later about Playboy magazine and the article in it about him.

"We've got the other side shook up," Falwell told his people.

The service had only just begun but Falwell already had the congregation charged up. They sensed they were part of something big, something on the march. He was giving them a sense of purpose which few ministers seem able to do with their congregations.

But you get religion at this service too — simple, down-home religion. There is none of the theatricality of Rex Humbard's Cathedral of Tomorrow in Akron, Ohio. There are no portable stages which move back and forth electronically, no slick production numbers, no floodlights.

The atmosphere is low-key with touches of humor.

Falwell told us he had missed the church's donkey basketball game Saturday night because he was afraid of riding a donkey.

He said he had been riding jackasses "all my life — liberals, humanists, pornographers."

The long TV "commercial" for the local building fund at Liberty Baptist College (which the church operates), bordered on the crass, I thought. People were asked (and asked) to send contributions to build a prayer chapel on campus.

When you make a pledge, a memorial brick in the name of some loved one you designate will be put in place in the chapel as it goes up. You yourself get an "identical brick" to keep for your very own.

I had always thought every brick in the world was identical to every other. But don't laugh. Falwell raises $56 million a year with these TV pitches.

In his 30-minute sermon, Falwell said Jesus wants us to be not only "the light of the world" but "the salt of the earth."

If you put salt on a sore, it causes pain and burning. It stings the eyes. "We must be salt too," said Falwell.

Then, to illustrate, he lit into Playboy and rubbed salt into this "sore" on the face of America. "I don't know of any Christian who reads this magazine," he said.

It was hard to believe that this was true of the 12,000 Christians at Thomas Road Baptist Church on this Sunday morning.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "No person is any better than another until someone does something to prove it."

Last week we referred to the previous Tuesday's sandstorm as at least an eight. Now someone wants to know what the conditions would have to be to rate a ten.

Several years ago, while living in sandy Gaines County, we saw a ten. The way to know if the storm is a ten is to open the refrigerator. Look inside and find the light bulb. If you can see dust inside the light bulb, you know the duster was a ten.

Bad weather, sand storms in particular, is sort of like other problems we experience. We have a tendency to only remember the bad ones.

It happens in every office. An employee can deal with a difficult customer and when the employee goes home, all he or she can remember is that demanding person. It is easy to forget the scores of nice people you came in contact with that same day.

Weather is the same. We remember days like Tuesday and Saturday, but we forget days like Thursday and Monday. It would be impossible to have much nicer weather. In fact, if it was like that year-around, Snyder really would have a housing shortage with all the newcomers flocking here.

Texas Tech did some research recently concerning the blowing dust. An article in the student newspaper reassured those from other parts of the country that there is very little health hazard from inhaling the top soil.

In fact, dust is a lot more healthy than smog. We were interested to learn that during the period from 1949 to 1980, Lubbock experienced an average of 145 hours of blowing dust per year. March and April were the months in which the most storms occurred, but they came as early as January and as late as June.

In 1953 Lubbock had 438 hours of blowing dust-- defined as dust which lowers the visibility to under 7 miles. Lubbock had 168 hours last year, slightly above the average.

Since we have less dust here, that means we experience less than a week of blowing dust a year. Not bad for West Texas.

fear to compel passage of cuts

HOUSTON (AP) — Fear will compel Congress to approve "80 to 90 percent" of President Reagan's proposed budget cuts, predicts Arthur Burns, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Burns, who serves as an economic adviser to Reagan, said "congressmen on both sides of the aisle" realize the president's plan to revitalize the economy, reduce inflation and build up the nation's defense "fits the nation's mood."

"His budget cuts are very dramatic, but he'll probably get 80 to 90 percent of what he's asked for," Burns said. "Even the most liberal Democrats likely will approve them, not because they like them or because they believe in them, but because they're fearful if it's not successful, they'll be blamed."

However, Burns said, the president probably will have more difficulty with the proposed tax cut.

Although he predicted a tax cut ultimately will be approved, Burns said, "It will be tilted more toward business than the individual."

Burns, who outlined the president's economic package Thursday night to local business and civic leaders, said the Federal Reserve Board will again feel the burden of fighting a hefty inflation rate alone if Congress fails to approve a practical economic plan.

"In the past few years, the federal reserve has been practically alone ... If we abandon the anti-inflation policy, the budget cuts ... the problem will once again entirely — or at least very largely — to the federal reserve. That would be unfortunate," he said.

thoughts

The term "flesh pots" meaning abundance of luxury dates back to the Children of Israel under Moses. The modern use of the term includes sordidness and sensual indulgences.

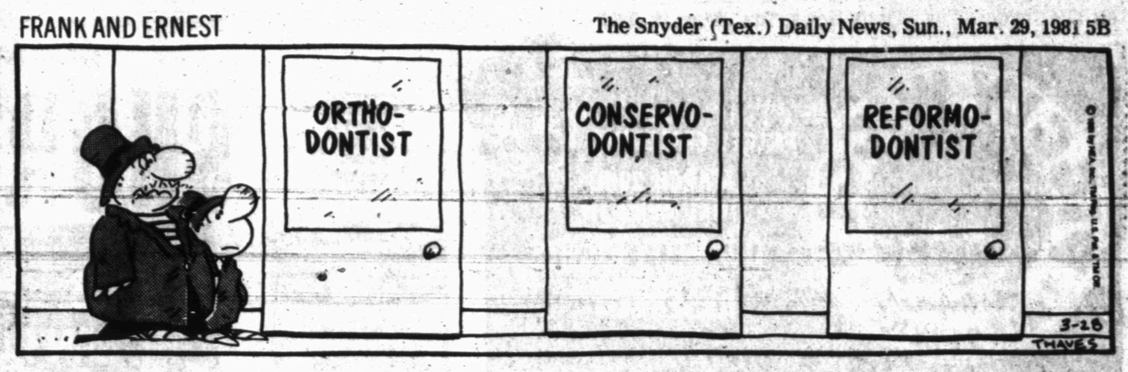

"...Would to God we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh pots, and when we did eat bread to the full." — Exod. 16:3
