Tropic Storm Causes Damage Over Canada

(By The United Press)

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 17 — A tropical hurricane buffeted Canada's maritime provinces all night but appeared to be blowing itself out in northeastern New Brunswick and the Gulf of St. Lawrence today after causing damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 and injuring scores of persons.

The center of the storm at noon was off Chatham, N. B., its violence gradually abating as it moved toward the Gulf. The hurricane's velocity, which had been gauged as high as 90 miles an hour in places, was reported to have diminished to 40 to 50 miles an hour.

During the hours of maximum intensity the storm had smashed ships, disrupted communications and power and destroyed crops in its path. Damage to Nova Scotia's apple crop alone was estimated at $250,000. All communications between Nova Scotia and Prince Edward island were cut off.

Damage Is Reported

Sgt. W. S. Hawkhurst of the Saint John, N. B., police, reported last night by telephone.

"It's the worst blow anyone can remember. We're pretty hard hit here, but Halifax is worse, I believe. The storm has been going on for 14 hours. Street signs are rolling down roads, cars are stalled, wires are down, poles are knocked over. There's a driving rain that won't let you see your hand in front of your face and right now the wind is doing 70 miles an hour."

Halifax Hit First

The storm had to cross the Nova Scotia peninsula to reach New Brunswick. Halifax, on the eastern shores, was hit first.

The storm was of the nature of a hurricane and was of tropical origin. They rarely strike above central United States. This one had been observed in the Atlantic since Saturday, moving up the United States coast and threatening several times to turn inland. The edge of it hit eastern Maine last night, putting power lines out of commission and recording winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour.

GOP Candidate Says Tradition Being Broken

Thousands Are On Hand As Nominee Visits Amarillo

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Sept. 17 — Wendell L. Willkie urged southerners today to abandon their traditional Democratic affiliations because he said President Roosevelt in seeking a third term was breaking a still older tradition.

Addressing an audience in Elwood park, the Republican presidential nominee said "southerners say to me we believe in everything you believe in.

Have Great Tradition

"But, they say, they have a great tradition in the South, a tradition 80 years or more old, and that is the tradition of voting Democratic. They say it's difficult for us to abandon that tradition.

"No one in all this land could be more sympathetic with that viewpoint than I. Traditions have a way of being true.

"I would say that under normal circumstances for the people of the South to live up to that tradition would be a very proper and a very wise thing to do.

Conflict Of Traditions

"But the people of the South are faced with a conflict of traditions. In order to keep that 80 years old Democratic tradition they must abandon another tradition. That tradition is 150 years old.

"When the republic of Texas was established Sam Houston saw that there was written into the law a provision for rotation in office."

Saying that rotation of persons in office was necessary "for the preservation of Democracy," Willkie continued:

"The only difference between this great Democracy of ours and totalitarianism is the continuation in office of one man."

Others Found Him

As the crowd applauded, the nominee added:

"Germany found the indispensable man, Italy found the indispensable man and Russia found the indispensable man.

"The people who have lost their Democracy and their liberty are the people in countries where one man said, 'I am indispensable'."

Willkie urged the crowd to "think of those men about Roosevelt," and added, "when you continue one man

British Chief Warns Attack Is Imminent

German Invasion Fleet Scattered By Channel Gale

(By The Associated Press)

German long-range guns on the French coast, firing from a distance of at least 90 miles, have begun to shell London itself in a new phase of the 10-day-old assault on the British capital, informed Nazi quarters in Berlin said late today.

Simultaneously, the London air ministry reported that a gale sweeping through the English channel all last night scattered Germany's invasion fleet and sent her ships scurrying to shelter.

Guns Are Super Cannon

The German report of shelling London — which was unverified in London itself—said the guns were "super cannon" hitherto held in reserve and that the cross-channel bombardment was expected to increase daily.

"It is roughly 90 miles from the German occupied French coast to London.

The strictest secrecy prevails concerning the calibre of the guns.

Meanwhile, DNB, official news agency, said a "rolling" German air attack against London is continuing amidst rain and storm.

Heavy Blows Delivered

Authorized sources said heavy blows in the last 24 hours had been delivered against the British capital's traffic junctions and subway stations, and that the striking power of the Royal Air Force had been blunted.

Amid these rapid-fire developments, Prime Minister Winston Churchill warned Britons against false hopes that Hitler may have waited too long to invade England this year.

The Germans, he said, are "steadily" massing a great fleet of troop-bearing barges and other ships to assault England by land.

"We must expect that Hitler will make the attempt at what he judges to be the best opportunity," Churchill told the House of Commons. "All our preparations must be maintained in a state of vigilance."

Third Alarm Of Day

The British premier spoke as London's millions underwent their third air-raid alarm of the day.

Earlier, Britons had taken hope that the chances of invasion were

Italian Push Into Egypt Is Deeper

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Sept. 17—Italian motorized columns, driving across hot Egyptian deserts from Libya, occupied Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, and pushed onward, British military sources acknowledged today.

British officials said the Fascist advance cost the Italians heavily in men and materials, but that no large British forces had yet engaged the invaders, and no great battle had yet been fought.

Sand from the Sahara blew across the hot battlefield near the Mediterranean shores.

(Cairo dispatches said temperatures of 110 and 120 degrees prevailed and that scant water supplies tormented the soldiers.)

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani was attempting to move his huge motorized and mechanized army of natives and blackshirts into Sidi Barrani, which is noted chiefly for its dozen ancient Roman wells with their good water.

Airport Seized

From the Libyan border he had only a dirt road along the coast for his advance to Sidi Barrani. But from there he would have an asphalted highway for 100 miles to Matruh, chief British base in the desert frontier lands.

There is a military airport at Sidi Barrani, which, an authoritative source said, the Italian commander seized as an advance base from which to launch quick repeated raids on Alexandria, British naval base, and the Suez canal, the British "lifeline."

The Italian advance was described by Stefani, Italian news agency, as an "action to liberate Egypt from intolerable British dominion."

Mexicans Held In Hijacking Inquiry

One Mexican was held by city and two by county authorities this morning for investigation into a reported hijacking early today.

Police reports said Oliver Jones, 40, of route 2 Lubbock had telephoned from 400-block Avenue N, from a milling concern, that $80 and his automobile had been taken from him.

Jones had been beaten, police said, and was treated at a hospital.

Auto Is Recovered

The automobile was recovered near railroad right-of-way in the vicinity of Fourth street, police said.

Further investigation was to be made before filing of charges.

In the negro section of Lubbock a white man, 40, was arrested after witnesses had told police he had got drunk "and was catching hold of negro women and causing trouble." A bond had been prepared after the man had entered a plea in a drunkenness complaint, said B. P. Millsap, city recorder.

Seven Men Held

One man who reported a sweater had been stolen from him unfortunately could not prove his ownership, and before the investigatory smoke had cleared seven men were held, including the complainant, and an eighth man proved ownership of the sweater and left with it. The others figured in continued investigation.

In a mixup of automobiles, a machine belonging to a man listed by police as John Easton was taken. The missing machine, the keys in it, was taken by a man authorized to drive a similar model car belonging to another man, and was found parked in front of a cafe, the driver in it. "Just a mistake," said police, who had a few busy moments before the complexity was straightened.

Held After Fight

A man, 38, and a woman, 26, were jailed after, police reported, they had fought.

Harold Long, a negro, was charged with aggravated assault growing out of the stabbing of Emma Murphy, 24, a negro woman. Her condition was listed as satisfactory in a hospital.

Bond of $1,000 was posted by J. G. Hamner, charged by indictment with swindling over $50, said the sheriff's department.

Some Personalities Found In Air Raid

Boys Confess In Theft Plot

Two young men arrested in their bed early this morning allegedly confessed attempting to steal an automobile belonging to their benefactor, Bay Simmons.

Sheriff Tom Abel, who made the arrest at 1 o'clock, said he was called to the Simmons farm about 11 o'clock. He said Simmons related this story:

Relatives had gone to the Simmons residence and were singing to accompaniment of the piano.

Saw Car In Pasture

The relatives prepared to leave at 10:30 o'clock. Simmons went to the door with them and in the moonlight saw a car off in his pasture.

He suggested that the others go with him to investigate, and found it was his own, a new Ford sedan.

His garage was locked, just as it had been two or three days since his car keys mysteriously disappeared.

When Simmons mentioned the keys were lost the sheriff asked about employees on the farm, and Simmons related another story.

Several weeks ago Simmons was in a sanitarium in Lubbock, for treatment of an arm injury. Two

Mann Changes His Decision

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel does have power to use the Texas rangers, Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann ruled today correcting a former department opinion in which the governor had been advised he had only "moral suasion" as a weapon for law enforcement.

The former incorrect ruling had been made, Mann said, because one section of an act of the 44th legislature (1935) had been overlooked in former consideration of the question.

Said He Was Powerless

The earlier opinion was given in response to an inquiry from the governor about his powers. He had complained in his recent campaign for re-election that he was powerless to enforce law as that duty had been taken over by the public safety commission.

Mann today said the overlooked legislation "expressly authorizes the governor to assume the command

Police Get Warning Of Munitions Blast

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17 (U.P.)—State police disclosed that an anonymous message had been received by Brooklyn authorities, warning that the Remington Arms company's munitions plant here would be "blown up" today.

Lieut. Willard E. Bushly, commanding officer of the Bridgeport state police barracks, said the threat had been relayed to him by the 71st police precinct at Brooklyn, at 2:18 a. m. today. The message said an anonymous call had been received at the precinct and that the information was relayed to Connecticut authorities for action.

Brownfield Man Is Held After Mishap

Police at 2 o'clock this afternoon held a 37-year-old Brownfield man and sought another who had escaped, as result of a collision of the Brownfield man's car with two others an hour earlier.

The man's machine struck cars driven by E. T. Daniell, Lubbock cotton buyer, and a young man who attends business college, said B. P. Millsap, city recorder. The collision was at Texas avenue and Broadway.

Millsap said drunk driving charges might be filed.

The man sought was described to have leaped from the scene of the mishap and to have "run away."

Plane Production May Be Speeded

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 — The war department has asked Congress for approximately $300,000,000 to speed up national defense by placing aircraft and engine factories on a 24-hour day and expanding present facilities, it was learned today.

Confidential estimates for the program, proposing more facilities for some 25 companies working on military orders, have been sent to the House appropriations committee by the budget bureau. It was expected they would be given early attention in view of the present plans to have an army air corps of 25,000 planes and a navy force of 10,000 planes in 1942.

Officials said that an immediate set-up in production is necessary to attain that goal. Most aircraft factories working on military orders

Three Are Trapped By Cave-In At Mine

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Sept. 17 (U.P.)—Three miners were trapped 500 feet under the surface in an old Comstock lode mine today and rescuers were handicapped by new cave-ins blocking the narrow shaft.

The rescuers said, however, that they had dug within a dozen feet of the entombed men and, barring further cave-ins, hoped to reach them soon. The rescuers could hear the trapped men this morning. Martin Klaus, William Randolph and Tom Stosic were the victims.

Grocer Drives Hard Bargain With Bandit

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—Unawed by a pistol in the hand of a customer, Oscar E. Weber, 67-year-old grocer, haggled his way out of the situation yesterday and drove a hard bargain with the young bandit. The dialogue

Bandit: "You should give me your money."

Weber: "You can't have it."

Bandit: "I'll shoot."

"Go ahead then. Shoot."

(Some moments of silence).

Bandit: "Look. I'm hungry. Gimme some money."

Weber: "Well, I can let you have 25 cents."

Bandit: "Ain't enough. Gimme a dollar."

Weber: "Nope. Too much. I'll give you 45 cents."

Bandit: "Can't you throw in some cigarets?"

Weber: "Well, maybe I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you two packs."

Bandit: "Aw, c'mon. I know you got more money."

Weber: "Sure I have. I'm going to keep it, too. Now go on, get about your business."

The bandit got about his business.

State Rests In Theft Hearing

The state rested at noon in the theft over $50 hearing of Minnie Freeman.

The St. Paul, Minn., woman is accused of having taken two fur coats listed at $329.85 each from Hemphill-Wells Co., Dec. 18, 1939.

Witnesses Are Heard

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, introduced Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hazelwood, Mrs. F. N. Burleson, Jeanine Burleson, Mrs. George Youngblood, Mrs. Ben Maxey, Spencer Wells, head of the store, and Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police, to the stand.

From their testimony it was brought out that Minnie Freeman and another woman left the store after looking at the coats and that Miss Freeman, arrested, unlocked an automobile and disclosed the hiding place of one coat after the other had been pointed out hidden south of Hemphill-Wells Co.

Grover C. Bergdoll Must Serve Time

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Federal Judge John C. Knox today dismissed a writ of habeas corpus obtained on behalf of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll World war draft dodger, and ruled that Bergdoll must serve the full five-year sentence imposed in 1920 by an army court martial, and in addition a two-year sentence imposed in 1939 for his flight to Germany.

Judge Knox upheld the government's contention that at the time Bergdoll was courtmartialed as an army deserter a state of war existed between the United States and Germany.

"Notwithstanding the fact that at the time of sentence hostilities between the United States and Germany had long ceased," he said, "a state of war between the two countries still continued."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Marbias Correa had pointed out that Congress had not declared a state of peace until March 3, 1921.

J. A. Bird, Garza Rancher, Is Dead

J. A. Bird, 72, prominent rancher of Garza county and longtime resident of that county, died of a heart ailment at 3:35 o'clock this morning in West Texas hospital.

The body was taken to Post by Davis-Mason Funeral home, which announced funeral services would be conducted at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Post Methodist church. Interment will be in Post cemetery, where Masonic rites will be held.

Mr. Bird lived 16 miles east of Post on his ranch, known as the J. Bird ranch. He had lived in Garza county "35 or 40 years," it was said in Post this morning.

He is survived by his wife; several sons, Allen, Charlie and Richard Bird, and daughters, Mrs. Mary Pumigalli and Shirley Ann Bird, all of near Post.

Mr. Bird was brought to the hospital in an ambulance last Thursday.

Secretary Knox Gives England Better Than Even Chance For Success Against Germany

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 17—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox gives England a better than even chance to defeat Germany,—feels indeed he says "quite cheerful about it."

The secretary, who arrived here by navy plane yesterday from Honolulu where he inspected naval facilities and spent five days at sea with the fleet, told newsmen he believed the chance for a successful invasion of Britain was growing weaker every day.

"To invade Great Britain," he said, 'Germany must destroy British air power, and it has by no means done that. Germany's 3 to 1 air advantage has dwindled because, as the offensive nation, it has lost more planes.

"Germany's losses usually are total—plane and pilots. Many English pilots, when their ship is disabled, can land on English soil and return to fight again."

Col. Knox said about 100 units of the fleet will return to the Pacific coast from Hawaii for overhaul.

Sentiment Watched

Since ALP contributed 275,000 votes to Mr. Roosevelt in 1936 and 420,000 to Democratic Governor Lehman in 1938, the intra-party conflict was watched for an index of third-term sentiment.

Germans Claim Striking Power Of British Air Force Is Broken

Great Attacks Are Reported

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 17—The "growing force" of German air attacks rolling on against Britain was declared by authorized sources today to have fallen crushingly upon London's traffic centers and subway stations and broken the striking power of the British air force.

Many of London's traffic arrangements were demoralized by the "most effective" attacks on vital points within the past 24 hours, authorized sources asserted, while the high command declared British planes had not even attempted to attack German territory last night.

Sign Of Weakness

German circles interpreted this lack of British attacks as a sign of a weakening of British air reserves, which now must be held in readiness to counter German attacks.

Moreover, British raids on the German-held coasts of France, Belgium and Holland could be counted on the fingers of one hand, authorized sources said.

Besides setting huge fires with bombs of all calibres in many parts of industrial London, authoritative sources said the German air force has drastically interfered with production at the Armstrong arms factory in Birmingham, and forced suspension of production at the Rolls Royce plant where 5,000 motorcycles were destroyed.

The high command said docks and industrial targets at Liverpool were laid waste with showers of bombs, and similar objectives at the Yorkshire port of Whitby were hit.

Merchant Ships Hit

Several British merchant ships were hit by a shelling of the Dover area yesterday, the high command said.

Informed sources described the raids on London yesterday and last night as the heaviest of the war, and the accompanying air battles with huge concentrations of British fighter craft as perhaps the greatest of the war.

But the high command said only four British planes were downed in these fights, and only three German warplanes failed to come back.

Meanwhile, authorized sources described the visit here of Ramon Serrano Suner, brother-in-law of Generalissimo Francisco Franco and minister of the interior of Spain, as opening up discussion of "all questions" of interest to both countries.

Presence Is Coincidence

These sources said the presence of Gen. Attilio Teruzzi, minister of Italian Africa, at the same time was a coincidence, and not indicative of an intention to redivide colonial areas.

There was no hint of any new German-Spanish understanding but it was obvious the Rome-Berlin Axis was seeking to further its friendship with the government of Franco.

(British sources viewed Serrano Suner's Berlin visit as significant in the light of reported Italian pressure on Spain to permit passage of troops for an assault on Gibraltar.)

Bargain Rates For Tech Exes Offered

Approximately $15 worth of athletic tickets can be obtained for $6.60 by any alumni or former student of Texas Technological college who has paid dues in the Alumni and Ex-Students association, according to announcement Monday.

The football season ticket for members of the association costs the same as a season ticket for any other person but the ticket will admit a former student not only to varsity football games but to basketball games, freshmen football games and other athletic events of the season, said Gwynn Dowell, graduate manager of athletics.

There will be no alumni section in the stadium. A member of the association may choose his seats from any remaining in any part of the stadium.

To obtain the ticket which will admit him to all athletic events a former student must show either his receipt or alumni card showing he has paid his $2 dues for this year.

Physical Training Quotient Is Indicated By Tests Given At University Of Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (AP)—This is not for physical morons.

But if you rate yourself above that physical level you can do some of the tests devised by Dr. D. K. Brace, University of Texas physical training expert, to gauge motor skills—physical abilities needed in work and play alike.

The tests will indicate your physical training quotient, just as mental tests check up on your intelligence quotient.

Dr. Brace says intelligence strength, ability, balance and coordination are measured by a list of tests he is completing.

Try Some Of These

In the meantime, you might try some of these:

1. Stand with feet together. Jump into air, making a full turn to the left. Land standing on same spot. Don't lose balance. Don't move feet around in landing.

2. Stand on right foot. Grasp left foot behind right knee. Bend and touch left knee to floor and stand up without touching any part of the body to the floor or losing balance.

3. Hold toes or either foot in opposite hand. Jump up and jump free foot over foot that is held, without letting go.

4. Stand with both feet together. Squat down putting hands through knees. Clasp hands in front of ankles.

5. Kneel with toes flat on floor behind you, feet together. Jump to feet without rocking.

6. Cross both arms in front of your chest. Sit down cross-legged and get up again without losing balance and without uncrossing arms.

7. Stand on your left foot. Place right foot against knee, with right knee pointing to right side. Stand thus for ten seconds with eyes closed.

CONVENIENT BUDGET PLAN

A "FOUR-ALARM" FOR THE BLUE-GRAY TRUCKS

A KANSAS CITY bridge burst into flames one morning last spring. It twisted and writhed under the terrific heat ... then stout steel spans splashed into the Kansas River.

"Voice bridges" went out of service, too. For attached to the bridge were two large telephone cables, containing wires to 1,700 telephones.

It was a four-alarm for the telephone repair crews—the men in the blue-gray trucks. While flames still soared near by, the reconstruction work began. In a fire department rowboat they got a line across the river. Emergency telephones were rigged up at strategic locations.

Then came a driving rain to make the task even harder. All night they worked against great odds. By midnight 60 telephones were working. By breakfast time three-fourths of the silenced telephones could speak. That afternoon telephone service was back to normal.

RURAL STATISTICS

The United States, in 1939, had 12,200,000 farm families and hired hands. This number declined to 10,700,000 in 1938, but a 25 per cent increase in farm products was shown over the former year.

MORE MATTRESSES FOR FARMS

AUBURN, Ala. (U.P.)—More than 100,000 home-made mattresses to make Alabama farm houses more livable is the goal set for this summer by the state home demonstration unit for its county programs.

BACK TO SCHOOL WITH 35,000,000 CHILDREN

35,000,000 children are returning to school during September and October. 2,000,000 of them will be seriously handicapped by vision faults. Some of the 2,000,000 live in our town. One or more of them may live at your house. Give the children a good start on the school year. Make certain their eyes will allow them to do effective school work.

Full Strength Being Sought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—With some vanguard detachments already at training centers and other advance units of the first 60,000 on their way, an additional 35,000 national guardsmen received mobilization orders today for October 15.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, disclosed the war department's plans last night for summoning the second guard contingent in the progressive mobilization that is expected to bring the guard's full strength of 240,000 men into active service by the year's end.

Units To Be Affected

The Oct. 15 guard call will affect units in New York, Ohio, Michigan, Mississippi, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

The start of mustering-in procedure for the first 60,000 yesterday indicated, according to unofficial reports, that resignations because of dependents or other reasons would not deplete the strength of units to an important degree.

The average number of resignations or discharges reported was less than 10 per cent. In several states, guard officers said, new enlistments had more than equalized losses.

Cops Eat Evidence Taken From Boys

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 17. (AP)—A policeman, suspecting two youngsters of shoplifting, confiscated a box of candy they were carrying and took it to headquarters. Officers, unaware it was evidence, consumed the contents.

The store owner reported the candy was discarded because it was wormy.

Seventy Thousand Pounds Of Equipment For Coronado Show Due To Arrive In City Soon; Large Cast Sought Here

With seventy thousand pounds of government Coronado equipment due to arrive here in ten days Director Larry Doyle of the famed Coronado Entrada said today he was pleased with the progress of his local cast of 500 people and expected the show here to top all previous performances.

Doyle, who arrived here about three weeks ago, has been holding practice for the big outdoor pageant almost every night in the Merchants building at the fairgrounds and every night from now on will see the local cast undergoing intensive training.

Stage Is Large

The stage alone for the Coronado Entrada tips the scales at eighteen tons and is as long as the Texas Tech football field. Over 150,000 kilowatts in special lighting is used that makes the field as light as day.

Accompanying the Entrada staff to Lubbock will be "White Star," beautiful white horse that will be ridden by Coronado in the local show. The horse is valued at $1,000 by the United States Coronado commission.

The rodeo pens at the fairgrounds have been removed from the arena in front of the grandstand and workmen in the next few days will have the field cleared for the big government stage setting that will be brought here in four big trucks or by train. The show is now at Socorro, N. M. after traveling 42,000 miles this summer in four states.

More People Needed

Director Doyle said today he could use 100 more people for the cast and it was his desire as well as that of the fair association to make it the Entrada with the largest cast.

The show has been seen in such cities as Albuquerque, Denver, Colorado Springs, Prescott and Clifton, Arizona. Earlier in the summer it was featured by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Pampa, and played to over 12,000.

It will open here Monday evening Sept. 30 and continue through Oct. 5 as the night attraction of the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

The Entrada is a dramatic production that re-enacts the 400-year old expedition of Francisco Coronado through the Texas Panhandle in his search for the seven cities of Cibola which were supposed to be built of gold.

The Entrada was brought here by special arrangements with the United States Coronado commission by the West Texas Museum association and the fair association. The museum association will receive all profit from the show here.

Spencer Funeral To Be Held At Cisco

CISCO, Sept. 17. (Special)—Funeral services are to be conducted here at 4 o'clock this afternoon for William Emmett Spencer, 61, former Lubbock real estate man, who died at his home here Monday night.

Mr. Spencer was born in Walthall, Miss., and came to Texas in 1897, settling in Cisco. He moved to Lubbock in 1927 and remained there seven years before returning to Cisco in 1934.

He had extensive land holdings in the Lubbock area.

Surviving are the wife, two daughters, two brothers and three sisters.

The game department says pheasants will not do well in Texas except in captivity.

Daily, there are about 44,000 thunderstorms throughout the world.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

There's No Law Against Sparkle In Fashions For The "Frankly Forty" Type

Suggest Color In Accessory

By AMY PORTER
Associated Press Feature Service Writer

Fashion ad writers always are at a loss in referring to the woman of 45 and over who wears size 16-plus.

The term "stylish stout" is definitely out. "Older woman" won't do. Sometimes she's called "the young in heart," "impressive dignified," "the woman of affairs." Or perhaps "frankly 40," which means of course that she's a good deal more than 40.

Saleagirls probably have the best solution to the problem. They speak of "mama sizes." And why not? Many mature women are mamas and proud of it.

So let's stop worrying about facts, and instead consider the older woman's clothes problem.

Truth is the mature woman rarely can find clothes that suit her if only she'll stop looking. Too often she's a hat- and shoe-shopper.

"Gracious, I don't want a red hat!" she says. Let her daughter buy such nonsense.

Red Is Flattering

Actually a red hat usually is flattering to the woman whose hair is entirely gray or white.

It isn't much of a problem to find a properly cut dress or suit. Designers have learned to slenderize shoulders so that waistlines aren't accentuated. Then, above, they use tucks and drapery to flatter the mature figure.

Hats which just fit the head are a problem and we've taken note of by such designers as Germaine Monteil, best, who specializes in clothes for coming to older women.

The mature woman rarely has obvious need for a focal point in her outfit; perhaps a clever scarf or a red purse to match the red lipstick in her hat will give her drama and sparkle and point interest on her town or street.

Here's a model in the Texas version of the new fall dress. Note the natural shoulder line and the [illegible] Dress and hat

Couple Observes Golden Anniversary On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] B. Pool of Canyon community observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home Sunday. Eleven sons and daughters and eight grandchildren were present. Absent were a son, J. T. Pool, who is in the navy, and is stationed at New London, Conn., and a grandson, Sgt. C. T. Pool, jr., of Fort Benning, Ga.

Eighteen friends called in the afternoon to give the family and extend good wishes to the honored couple. Their marriage took place in Brown [illegible] on September [illegible], 1890. Clubs Plan To Sponsor Talk

An original idea in fashion talks is being presented to Texas women this fall by Gail Northe, director of women's activities for the Texas State network. A five-weeks tour of Texas cities begins today.

The scheduled tour will include the cities comprising the Texas State Network and several others, and Miss Northe will give a fashion lecture illustrated with Harper's Bazaar color slides before a joint meeting of the federated women's clubs of each city. The color slides will show the important fashion trends from the American Fall Collections created by American designers for American women. Twenty cents will be charged and the entire proceeds received will be given to the local Red Cross chapter of each city.

The talk will be presented before the Federated clubs of Lubbock and Lubbock county at the Palace theater Sept. 23 at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Gail Northe is one of the foremost radio fashion commentators in the county. Her Fashions-Personalities broadcasts which have been heard in the Southwest for the past five years have brought national recognition from leading fashion and radio authorities. She has just returned from a ten-day trip to New York where she goes each season to cover the important fashion openings.

Among the noted guests she has presented have been Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alexander Woollcott, Sonja Henie, Jessica Dragonette, Edward Sens, Dr. William Beebe, Elsa Maxwell, Esther Lyman, Madame Lilly Dache, Father Flanagan and John Frederics.

In April of last year Miss Northe married the noted art authority, Charles Mackaye Muskavitch conservator of art for the Dallas Museum.

Members of the local committee in charge of arrangements are Mesdames H. P. Godeke, chairman, N. [illegible], [illegible] and Mrs. W. R. Dean.

[illegible] taught the lesson. A box of cookies were packed and sent to the Orphans home at Waxahachie.

Mrs. J. B. Wages presided for a business session. Eighteen members were present.

Charter Signed

The charter meeting of St. John's Methodist Woman's society of Christian Service was held at the new church with Rev. R. L. Kirk directing the program. Thirty-three charter members signed the roll. Mrs. Carl Scoggin directed songs accompanied by Mrs. Clifford B. Jones at the piano.

Mrs. M. B. Hilburn talked on charges in the society.

Officers installed were president, Mrs. J. W. Houston; vice-president, Mrs. Kirk; recording secretary, Mrs. C. V. Blake; corresponding secretary, Mrs. V. T. Brady, treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Slagle, secretary of missionary education, Mrs. T. C. Porter, secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities, Mrs. J. D. Strickland, secretary of literature and publications, Mrs. C. E. Love, supplies, Mrs. S. H. Scott.

Refreshments were served.

The circle of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary met at Seaman hall with the following guests present: Mesdames W. W. Rix, M. V. Gray and J. R. Hand, president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Rix talked on the United Thank Offering work.

The Mercury circle of the Calvary Baptist W.M.S. met with Mrs. A. A. Swatcher with five members present. A Bible study was conducted.

The young women's circle of the Asbury Methodist church met and elected the following officers: secretary-chairman, Mrs. J. E. Richards; president, Mrs. Ruth Luttrell; vice-president, Mrs. James Martin; secretary-treasurer and reporter, Mrs. Alfred Hollon; program chairman, Mrs. Clayton Enger and visiting chairman, Mrs. E. J. Smith.

OUR COUNTRY

Seventh of 16 articles on "Our Country," written exclusively for NEA Service and Lubbock Evening Journal by the nation's most famous authors.

BY PHILIP WYLIE
Author of "The Murderer Invisible," "The Big Ones Get Away," etc.

A NATION is no different from an individual. Its nature is a composite of human natures, whether its policies are expressed by one man or by all. People associated in states cannot long maintain either subhuman or superhuman appearances. In a restless effort to make a better world, mankind has often tried to invent and impose upon himself a "government" superior to himself. Such boot-strap lifting has ended inevitably in failure because of the nature of us all.

Philip Wylie

We have hitherto guessed instinctively and now we can show scientifically, that to be in harmony with an environment each individual must be able to exercise certain biological functions. He must have a purpose that is not out of reach of his particular capacities. He must constantly struggle toward that purpose. He must be free to make his own choices. Such freedom can come only from an intrepid inspection of all motives, lofty and base, cerebral and animal. Those are the elemental conditions for one man and thus for many. They form the basis of our Constitution.

MANY nations have now gone mad for the same reasons that drive individuals crazy: frustration, defeat, avarice, vengeance, delusions of grandeur and so on.

Fascism and Communism are not "revolutions." They are escapes—the same "escapes" which rob individuals of their reason by not taking into consideration all the actualities of human living. Fascism is an attempt to compel economic order from a minority down. Communism is to compel it from the masses up. But man does not live by economics alone.

The duped radicals among our youths and the pension-salivating morons among our old people naively imagine that man can be legislated into being someone else. So do many other reckless nitwits. But every attempt to outlaw a frailty of the human species or to administer a synthetic virtue into it has run through immemorial phases of enthusiasm, dictatorial enforcement, and debacle. We remain neither black nor white, left nor right, but an evolving breed that is at once both altruistic and competitive.

In these terrible weeks we dimly see why most of mankind is so dissatisfied. His new forward step—the machine—has given him so much so quickly and with such a tangle of illogical distribution that it has made him variously smug, spellbound, submerged and desperate. Some men have decided machinery is a god and invented Communism for its universal worship. The Nazis have atomized science into devil-worship and set out to destroy with it. They have no better plan for individuals than total subjugation to their tools. In America people have continued to keep man's character in command of his material. The most ineffectual experiment of the New Deal, the most passionate protest of the reactionary are both in essence expressions of that one, single human way of life. To ask ourselves now for a statement of the American case is to show some absorption of the poisons being force-fed to us. There has never been any other case for man than democracy.

In that clear certainty we will maintain ourselves. Since it is wiser to seize initiative than to build barricades against them, we will establish Union by land that is ours, not merely a fortress, but a great base from which to strike every mania at its source. Human reason has not yet prevailed; therefore our arms must. We will give to this effort our brains, our blood, our treasure, because to do so is to conduct with dignity the painful process of our evolution and to achieve one further step in realizing man's unshakable self-confidence.

Jonathan Daniels sounds a warning to those who hear only confusion in America, in the next article of this series on "Our Country."

Club Members To Parade In Fall Fashion Show

Marguerite Wood Graham Is Bride Of Cecil McSpadden

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Wood Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Graham of Morton, and Cecil McSpadden, son of Mrs. John McSpadden of Lubbock, took place Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, 1511 Arnett street, with Mr. Thomas, Church of Christ elder, performing a single ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Heston Havens, cousin of the bride, sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a teal blue tailored wool dress and black Persian lamb jacket with black accessories. For "something old and borrowed" she wore a seed pearl necklace belonging to the bridegroom's mother. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Doris McSpadden, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a soldier blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty rosebuds.

Keith Black was best man.

After the ceremony, the wedding guests went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Black, 2413 Twenty-sixth street, where a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was cut and served with ice cream.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. V. L. Ward, sister of the bridegroom, Mr. Ward, Mrs. Granam and Mr. and Mrs. Prebble Adams, all of Morton; Mrs. Sonny Willingham of Seagraves, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Willingham. Lubbock guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Orville McElroy Havens, E. A. McSpadden, J. T. Stanfill, Jess R. McSpadden, Misses Verlene McSpadden, Joyce Black and Joy McSpadden, Messrs. Charles Sanders, Joe Sanders and Douglas McSpadden.

Auxiliary Has Party Monday

American Legion auxiliary attended a bridge and forty-two party at the Legion hall Monday night. Mrs. J. H. Hackfield scored high in bridge and Mrs. S. H. Bain made high score in forty-two games.

Mrs. W. L. Daniel, president, announced she will give an award to the member having the best attendance record during her term of office. Mrs. C. I. Kuykendall was named memorial chairman.

Mesdames Daniel, Herbert Stubbs and George Brewer were hostesses and served refreshments to those named and to Mesdames T. A. Baber, E. P. Norwood, Hugh Slagle, W. B. Richards, C. H. Thompson.

Britons Have Good Cause For Cheer As Autumn Weather Arrives

Hitler Still Holding Off

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Britons had good cause for cheer today as the first of the autumn storms set the bad-tempered English channel churning so fiercely as apparently to preclude an immediate Nazi invasion by sea.

Many English people, their nerves raw from the terrific and protracted hammering of the German bombers, wondered hopefully if Hitler had delayed his invasion too long. This would seem to me, however, to be wishful thinking which really hasn't much solid foundation.

More Good Weather

Unless this is a phenomenal year there will be more good weather before the really bad period sets in. It's true that Herr Hitler is cutting it pretty fine and that he is rather rapidly approaching the time when the gates will be closed against him—but there is no reason to believe he has abandoned his project at this juncture.

Whether he will attempt the invasion undoubtedly depends in large degree on his success in gaining control over the hard-hitting Royal Air Force and breaking the morale of London in the immediate future. That he very definitely has been straining every nerve to make an opening for invasion there cannot be the slightest doubt.

We have the oft-repeated word of Hitler and his lieutenants for that. More conclusive along the continental coast ready for the onslaught are Nazi troops. Reichs Marshal Goering's flight over London Sunday night presumably was for the purpose of estimating the prospects.

To my mind Hitler still will strike if he sees a likely opening. He is perhaps the world's foremost opportunist among the big fellows and is a colossal gambler. But he also is shrewd, and it wouldn't be surprising to see the threatened invasion put over to the spring. If that is done it will be due to the magnificent defense made by England against the air assault, and particularly the really great work of the Royal Air Force both in defense and offense.

The Nazis during the past twenty-four hours staged their heaviest air assault of the war on London. The clash between the rival fleets resulted in what Berlin described as probably one of the greatest mass air battles of history.

And London's now famous anti-aircraft barrage reached unprecedented proportions.

The main mission of the anti-aircraft gun is to keep enemy bombers flying so high that they can't do precision bombing.

It is true that if England had many times the number of guns it now possesses it couldn't prevent German planes from coming over at a great height and dropping bombs indiscriminately. But the fire from the British batteries certainly has vastly reduced precision bombing and saved London from a more terrible punishment than it has endured.

Picture Of River Gambler Softens With The Telling Of A Story Book Romance

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 17 (U.P.)—All the well-mannered professional gamblers who divided their winnings with captains of luxurious Mississippi river steamboats apparently were not heartless crooks.

David Holmes, who piloted steamboats when they were the chief means of travel, remembers one of the oldtime card sharks who parted with $3,000 of his winnings to aid a good cause—and, incidentally, win the hand of the woman who once jilted him.

Jim Baxter was the gambling hero of a story-book river romance. He became a gambler when the girl he loved, Ruth Ann Robinson, married another. When her husband was killed in the Civil War, Ruth Ann was left with two children to manage a plantation.

"She was doing all right until the Yankees took all of her slaves," Holmes said. "One of the leaders of those slave raids was Ike Sommers, I've been told. When he found Ruth Ann in need of money, he lent it to her from time to time, securing it with a mortgage on the plantation.

"After the war, Sommers was holding a note for $3,000 on the plantation, and he warned her that when it was due he would foreclose unless it was paid."

Ruth Ann went to Memphis, but failed to obtain aid. Returning to her plantation on a packet named The Autocrat, she met Jim Baxter.

"Well, sir, Baxter decided to let Ruth Ann have the money," Holmes continued. "But he made her promise that when Ike Sommers showed up to collect the money that she would stand at a window in her house and wave to him.

"Ruth Ann kept her promise. Just when Sommers left, she stepped up to the window and waved a handkerchief.

"Next morning, a stranger rode up to Ruth Ann's house, dismounted and approached her on the porch. He handed her a package."

Ruth Ann opened the package—and found the same $3,000 that she had paid Ike Sommers.

Jim Baxter played the winning hand in his game with Sommers, and from that day on Jim didn't put much faith in the old saying, "lucky at cards, unlucky at love."

He and Ruth boarded The Autocrat at Memphis a few days later and went to New Orleans on their honeymoon.

DIREST CALAMITY DEP'T

GREELEY, Colo., (AP) — Recently they decided the Prairie Dale school, isolated in northeastern Weld county, needn't be opened this winter, because there was only one student. Then the school burned down.

American vanadium production represents about 15 per cent of the world total, with her consumption being 25 per cent of the world output.

Motion Pictures To Be Shown Tonight

Showings of three motion pictures for automobile dealers, service men and others interested will feature the annual meeting of Prestone anti-freeze dealers of the area in the east ballroom of Lubbock hotel tonight at 8 o'clock.

Quicksall-Pryor company and Lubbock Hardware and Supply company will be hosts. Refreshments will be served.

The program rivals good theater entertainment with such stars as Ralph Morgan, Dorothy Peterson, Andy Clyde, and Raymond Hatton, along with Bill Stern, celebrated sports announcer, taking part. The pictures make up what film reviewers call the most ambitious project of its kind. It opens with a comedy, followed by a sports picture and then comes "The Age of Experts," specially made by Paramount, with the story based on science's developments in the automotive field.

Next, Bill Stern is the star of an announcement film. This year's advertising and merchandising program for Prestone anti-freeze are treated in newsreel fashion. "Meet the Watkins Family," the feature picture, is a Hollywood production with a cast of sixteen principles and 100 extras.

The meeting is one of a series of 900 to be held over the U. S. by the company.

Hot American League Fight May Go To Last Day To Get Decision

Indians Hold Narrow Lead Over Tigers

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The scrambled American league pennant struggle may go to the last day of the season before it's settled.

A glance at the standings would convince almost anybody the fight has narrowed to two teams, but a glance at the remaining schedule would show that more is yet to come.

Cleveland divided a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, winning the first 8-3 and losing the second 3-2. This was good enough to hold the lead, but the Detroit Tigers gnawed the margin down to half a game by routing the Washington Senators 9-2.

Setbacks Are Suffered

The case for a two-team finish comes from the crushing setbacks of the third-place New York Yankees and fourth place Chicago White Sox, leaving this standing:

Club—	W	L	Pct.	GB	TP
Cleveland	82	60	.577	...	12
Detroit	81	60	.574	½	13
New York	77	63	.550	4	14
Chicago	78	65	.545	4½	11

In the short time left to play the chances of the Yanks or White Sox overtaking the leaders might seem remote, except for the fact that Cleveland and Detroit still have six games to play against each other.

They might easily stand each other off and in any event there is little chance of any club clinching the pennant till their final series.

Browns Crack Yanks

The only club that has cracked so far is the Yankees, who were shattered 16-4 by the St. Louis Browns yesterday. This was the sixth loss in seven games for the champs.

The White Sox 6-2 defeat by Boston was their first loss in nine games and could be charged jointly to the five-hit pitching of Jack Wilson and the five errors made by Chicago.

The Cincinnati Reds almost sewed the final stitches in another National league pennant by beating Brooklyn 4-3 in ten innings to drop the Dodgers ten games behind the pace.

The Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the New York Giants 7-6 in a home run battle, getting three circuit blows to two that Mel Ott hit for the Terrible Terrymen.

The St. Louis Cardinals preserved a slim hold on third place by dividing two games with the Phillies, losing the first 3-2 and capturing the second 7-1.

Beaumont Exporters Two Down To Buffs

BEAUMONT, Sept. 17. (AP)—Beaumont's Exporters already two down—tried their home field today to see what could be done about stopping Houston's dash toward the Texas league playoff championship.

Sam Nahem, who pitched Houston to two victories in the opening round of the play-off against Oklahoma City, was Skipper Eddie Dyer's choice against the Exporters today.

Virgil (Fire) Trucks was due to go to the mound for Beaumont. Trucks beat San Antonio in the deciding game of the first round.

Houston made it two straight over Beaumont last night with a 5-2 decision behind Howard Pollet's fine relief hurling.

Recruit No. 1,000 Is Accepted Here

Recruit No. 1,000 since the establishment of the Lubbock sub-district of the army recruiting service a little more than three months ago was accepted for enlistment Monday, according to Lieut. George T. Coleman, sub-district commander.

He was Wallace M. Smith, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Smith of Spur, where he graduated from high school. He was assigned to Brooks air field, Dallas.

Recruits accepted here, Lieut. Coleman said, have included those for the infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, air corps, quartermaster corps, ordnance department, signal corps, engineering corps and medical corps.

Freshmen Look Good, Too!

By Collier Parris

'TWAS A FINE SHOW of gridiron majesty, that "dress parade of Lubbock's football squads" at Tech Stadium last night, and the promoters are to be commended.

True, the Red Raiders didn't take off their wraps and extend themselves, and the 4,000-odd fans there didn't find out a lot about their potentialities, but there might have been some "scouts" in the stands, and "th' good lawd knows we're scouted enough in regular games."

The spectacle of seven different squads, including more than 200 uniformed boys, lined up from end zone to end zone and doing calisthenics at one time, under direction of one man, was something to see. Boys of the same age are doing group exercises, also in uniform, in other countries, but the uniforms are all the same color, with many misfits, and they don't wear shoulder pads, and they are drilling to make shoot-downs instead of touchdowns, and the boys of this country will be doing that same thing pretty soon, but right now it's football, which is a good thing to keep your mind off things.

There were numerous squads and reasons to attract the large number of fans to Tech Stadium last night, but we suspect that several hundred of them came out to see what kind of squad Coach Berl Huffman and his broad-shouldered assistant, Dixie White, would be coaching this season.

Now it can be told, because school has started and the boys have registered and are now bona fide Texas Tech students. We could have "guessed" before, but we have seen and experienced so much stuff about where a certain well-known high school grid grad is going to college that we resolved some time since to include ourself out of that category.

Truth of the matter is that J. R. Callahan, the most sought-after boy in Texas high school football last year, from Wink, is now an enrollee at Texas Tech, and very much a member of the Texas Tech freshman football squad. It is also true that Jay Francis, the great halfback from Midland, is a member of the Huffman squad. So is Pat Farris, fine tackle, and Howard Alford, great back, off the 1939 state champion Westerners; Jack Everetts, the popular back from Texarkana, and Maxey McKnight, the Littlefield star who could have picked his school and made any freshman team.

They're all in Texas Tech now, and so are about 20 others who had coaches and "friends" from big and little universities camping on their doorsteps all spring and summer. There are the two Williams boys, Earl and Albert, 205 and 212 pounds respectively, the tackle twins from Childress.

The stories about Callahan, the Wink Warhorse, are many and varied. Every school in the Southwest conference has tried to land him, using every ruse and offering every salary in the books. Some of the yarns are too rough to tell, and coaches of the "big shot" schools should be grateful and obligated to sports writers for not telling them.

But through it all, Callahan made it known that he had a mind of his own, and if you don't believe it, you ought to be around him some. He's one of the finest specimens of young manhood in West Texas, not alone for his athletic or football prowess, but for just about everything you could want in a model American boy.

Only yesterday, in his office, Berl Huffman said: "It's not his (Callahan's) football ability that strikes us coaches so much; it's his attitude, his spirit, his outlook."

Callahan, and maybe it has been said here before, was an honor, Grade A scholastic pupil in high school, was president of the National Honorary Scholastic body, a school leader as well as a football leader. So the coaches and the fans need not fear that he will fail to make his grades in college.

One thing, perhaps THE thing, we like best about Callahan—and we scarcely know the boy when we see him—is the fact that he didn't put himself on the football market, offer himself to the highest bidder; did not "shop around" for a college football job, did not allow himself to be spoiled by the many "offers" made him, and finally wound up by taking probably the poorest "job" from a money-making standpoint, that was offered him.

Callahan may make a great star at college, as great as he was in high school, and you're likely to hear from him. But it would suit him just fine to be "let alone," to be counted as just one of the boys trying to make the freshman team this year, the varsity next year. He probably wishes we hadn't said these things. So from now on until he makes the headlines, we're considering him just one of the boys trying to make the team, and the headlines. There are some other fine college prospects on his squad, and you'll be hearing about them, too.

THE COFFEYVILLE JUNIOR College, of Coffeyville, Kansas, is due to be heard from in a football way this season, partly on account of a group of Lubbock boys who have gone there to study gridiron tactics under Demp Cannon, who is one of the coaches there. Among the most recent of former Westerners to enroll at C. J. C. are Joe Bob Foster and Rusty Johnston. Others are R. E. Jones, Clifton Hill, James Barker, Jimmy Williamson and Arlie Chism. There may be another one or two.

Left on our desk by Miss Edgie Jones, of 1514-A 19th street, is a note (found it too late for Sunday's paper, Miss Jones) containing the following:

"We received a letter from R. E. (Jones) stating that the entire gang of Lubbock boys who went to Coffeyville . . . qualified for the football squad. Said they certainly had plenty of competition but guessed that we Texas boys must be some better, or at least the toughest." R. E. says he will have to admit he is a bit homesick, but has taken on so much work he won't have time to study about home."

Lew Jenkins Takes Nod Over Negro

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17. (AP)—Slugging Lew Jenkins, boss of the 135-pounders, proved he can take one on the chin but he had to turn boxer to beat Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery.

The slender Texan who belted out eight lightweights in a row including Lou Ambers in his drive to the title, weathered a nine-count knockdown last night to decision the Pennsylvania negro in 10 rounds.

Montgomery weighed 137 so that Jenkins' crown was not at stake. Lew hit an even 135. The decision was unanimous.

Colorful Grid Jamboree Is Held In City

Lubbock's football forces—all seven of them—this afternoon returned to the serious business of preparing for approaching battles, satisfied that the spectators "got an eyeful" at Monday night's colorful "gridiron jamboree" at Tech Stadium.

Surpassing all previous such fall football premieres, last night's display of gridiron talent was something of an unusual treat for nearly 5,000 persons awaiting the arrival of the new campaign in force.

Seven squads, containing approximately 210 uniformed footballers, were introduced in this order:

The Lubbock Junior High Calf Ropers, under Coach Gordon Thompson; the Lubbock Junior High Cowboys, under Coaches Mule Davis and Lovic Liston; the Lubbock High Cowhands (B squad) under Coach Cy LaMaster; the Lubbock High Westerners, state champions of 1939, under Coaches Goober Keyes and Walker Nichols; the Dunbar High school (colored) Panthers, under Coach Hill; the Texas Tech freshmen, under Coaches Berl Huffman and Dixie White, and, finally, the 1940 Texas Tech Red Raiders, Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith.

It Was Colorful

Practically every color of the rainbow was represented on the grassy gridiron as the squads took places for introduction, then marched off to designated spots, lined up for calisthenics. Lewis "Doc" Spear, trainer of the Red Raiders, directed the exercises via the public address system, and as one man, the more than 200 boys did their daily dozen, and more. It was one of the darnedest spectacles ever perpetrated on the Tech sod.

A more solemn moment, but one fraught with traditional importance, saw C. L. Storrs, Tech varsity backfield star, former Lubbock High sensation, receive the annual Standefer-Canon scholarship award, a prize which goes to the most proficient "scholar" among the Texas Tech football players each year, the player who, in the course of regular studies in the class rooms, attains the highest scholastic rating among the varsity athletes. The scholarship is given by Drs. Fred Standefer and Bob Canon, of the West Texas hospital.

Comedy Too

Following the presentation and the exercises, the Lubbock Westerners were allowed 15 minutes to stage their display, and they gave the folks an eyeful of colorful black, gold and white uniforms, and a mindful of something to think about before counting them out of the 1940 race.

Each squad represented ran through a bunch of signal formations, the comedy effect being furnished when the Red Raiders varsity men "scrimmaged" against Coach Hill's dusky lads from Dunbar High. The negro team went to work with vim, in varicolored uniforms.

Tech Teams Scrimmage

Highlight of the scrimmage session was provided by the Tech teams, the varsity first working against the freshmen, then varsity team working against each other in what passed for the official Tech workout of the day. The freshmen had worked out Monday morning, after "registering in college," and in the afternoon the varsity boys took the field for a limbering up workout. They took things easily, never even donning shoulder or blocking pads.

But they went at it with a lot of kick last night, and the backfield composed of Bill Brown, Don Austin, Charles Dvoracek and Clyde Stone looked more impressive than any other combination Coach Cawthon put on the field. He kept the teams shuttling back and forth, parading three complete varsity outfits, then mixing 'em up. Fans had opportunity to see the much-advertised Red Amonett, Walter Jumbo Webster, C. L. Storrs, Tyrus Bain, and others, do their stuff in the backfield, while Captain Lonnie Primo McCurry, Ed Irons, Red Ledbetter, Robert Duncan, E. J. McKnight, and others named many times before, cracked heads in the line.

And now that school has started, the boys have officially registered and everything's legal, it may be said that Coach Berl Huffman's freshman squad of 1940 possesses some of the most outstanding high school players of last year's race.

There is, for instance, the much publicized J. R. Callahan of Wink, and the all-state Jay Francis of Midland, heading a list of Picador prospects whom every college in the state and many out of the state have tried to attract.

But Callahan is here, has been for several weeks in fact, and so is Francis, and so is Pat Farris, fine tackle off the state championship Westerner team, and Howard Alford, halfback off the same team, and Maxey McKnight, great backfield star from Littlefield.

There are Harold Crossen, end from Dallas; J. L. Bates, halfback from Mangum, Okla.; Jack Everetts, fullback from Texarkana; Vernon Ray, end from Hughes Springs; James Reed, guard from Crosbyton; Jim Duggers, end from Santa Rosa, N. M.; Leroy Mealey, tackle from Dallas; Roy Williams, guard from Abernathy; Garland Head, center from Clovis; Earl Williams and Albert Williams, giant tackles from Childress; Robert Baker, quarterback from Dallas; Wayne Rowden, end from Brownfield; Avon Sewalt, guard from Lubbock; Carl Scott, tackle from Clovis; Brison Smith, halfback from Cumby; Marvin McKown, halfback from Altus, Okla.; Joe Merrell, guard from Frenship High; Billy York, guard from Spur; Billy Hale, center from Amarillo, and George Odom, halfback from Lubbock.

And there's a freshman squad to conjure with.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 — Dick Chapman, the national amateur winner, tossed his caddie a $200 tip . . . Auburn and Alabama do not meet at football because of an ancient feud, but that doesn't keep Coaches Jack Meagher and Frank Thomas from going scouting together . . . Nomination for a red hot baseball town: Johnstown, Pa., which drew 78,000 customers in 55 home games in winning the Penn. State association bunting. Any time a team draws more than the population of its home town, that's something . . . The Brooklyn papers are gleefully asking if the Giants are still in the league. No answer yet.

More Scores Posted In Golf Tournament

Additional qualifiers were reported this morning in the Meadowbrook open golf tournament, match play for which will be started Thursday.

W. C. Foote and C. E. Martin, both of Petersburg, posted a 93 each. Others included: Halsey Lee Hackett, 84; Charles Akey, Country club pro, 73, and W. L. McAfee, 80.

Lofton Burnett and Murrell Tripp, two other Country club hotshots, were shooting a practice round this morning and were expected to post qualifying scores this afternoon.

Texas A. & I. Downs San Jose State 10-0

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 17. (AP)—Texas A. and I.'s football forces rolled homeward today with the first intersectional decision for a southwest team this season.

Last night the Javelinas defeated San Jose State college 10-0 on a field made slippery by a first-quarter rainstorm.

Johnny Vargo, on a quarterback sneak, crushed over for a touchdown from the three-yard line in the second quarter. J. P. Hilliard added the point.

Hilliard in the third period kicked a field goal from the four-yard line.

Whitharral Panthers Are To Tackle Sudan

WHITHARRAL, Sept. 17 (Special)—Whitharral's Panthers, with a 6 to 0 victory over Ropes already under their belts, tackle Coach Phillip Harmon's Sudan eleven in Sudan Friday.

First conference test will come a week later, Amherst furnishing the opposition. Both machines compete in Conference 4-B.

The Panther eleven has an incomplete schedule and would like to fill a few open dates.

A long pass, McClure to Stewart, worked the ball into scoring position against Ropes, Weldon Newsom plunging for the counter.

Crain Again Leads Attack For Texas

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 17—Briefly, the University of Texas still has Cowboy Jack Crain and an improved protective armor to throw around him.

No one laughs off Jack Crain. He is something tangible—a stumpy 170-pound bundle of magic who is liable to run off two or three touchdowns a game.

So, Texas, which started beating its way out of the jungles on the coattails of this lad last season, comes back with a still better team in the opinion of Coach Dana X. Bible.

"The sophomores we had last year now are juniors," says Bible. "We're building up now. There is no substitute for experience. We'll have that needed experience."

Wet fields almost completely stopped Crain and Texas last year. No power was available to take up where Crain left off. But Bible explains there is weight and power available now, both in the line and backfield.

"Frankly, we didn't have a good team last year," solemnly quoth the veteran mentor. "We weren't prepared for any condition on any kind of day. Perhaps there will be a change this season."

And what about Orban (Speck) Sanders, the publicized transfer from Cameron agricultural college of Oklahoma?

Sanders To Be Help

"Sanders, a 200-pound fellow, will help us," said Bible. "Maybe not before mid-season, but he will help us. Naturally, he must make adjustments and wear off the new in fresh surroundings. He is a little rough now; needs polish. But he has strength—and do I like to see a big, tall man playing the safety position?

"He will run behind Crain in the tailback position. He will be a valuable man in the safety position where he can aid on pass defense with his height and use of his power and weight on running plays."

The quiet giant is fleet. Recently, in a 50-yard dash, he finished only a step behind Crain.

Power in the backfield comes in the person of Fullback Pete Layden, the top kicker and passer. Two fine sophomores are there to back him up, Roy McKay and Lewis Mayne.

Veteran Wingbacks

Wingbacks include two veterans, Nelson Puett, high-strung runner and fiery player, and Noble Doss, a defensive bulwark and a slick wide tackler runner. But just a step behind comes Ralph Park, a sophomore growing steadily in favor with Bible.

The front back will be manned by Jimmy Grubbs, experienced and fast; Vernon Martin, the very tough line backer injured in the Wisconsin game last season and out for the remainder of the season, and Johnny Gill, the smartest signal caller on the squad. Still another soph, Fritz Lobpreis, is liable to come in and play lots of football.

Veteran ends Mike Sweeney and Malcolm Kutner are due to start, with Preston Flanagan, Wally Scott, Jess Hawthorne and two more Oklahoma junior college boys, Charles Richardson and Harry Gower, giving fine reserve strength.

Switched from center, Stanley Mauldin, a great high school player two years, will move in at starting right tackle with veteran Don Williams on the left side, just a step ahead of rough Bo Cohenour. Bible will use Durwood Peveto, a good junior, as replacement tackle on both sides.

"Just keep your eye on that boy Daniel. He is really a great lineman. Strong, fast and aggressive."

Steady, plugging Red Goodwin will start at center, with Glenn Jackson, former first string center, bringing up the rear on the second string.

Watch for this surprise on the Texas team—Jack Crain as a passer.

If he comes through in that department, Texas could gain strength, strength that could make them extremely troublesome in the conference race.

Millions Of Young Americans Given Orders To Register Oct. 16

Guardsmen On Way To Camp

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—In "the factories and fields, the cities and towns," 16,500,000 young Americans, 21 through 35 years old, got their orders from President Roosevelt today to register October 16 for possible service in a great new citizen army.

With quick strokes of a couple of cheap, scratchy pens, the chief executive signed the nation's first peacetime conscription bill at 2:08 p. m. (CST) yesterday.

To Fend Off War

Then, laying the history-making law aside, he put his name to a proclamation which said this marshalling of military strength was "to fend off war from our shores," to avoid "the terrible fate of nations whose weakness invited attack."

This new call to arms came as 60,000 national guardsmen were donning uniforms for a year's active duty and the war department announced 35,000 more would join the colors on Oct. 15, the day before conscription registration.

The draftees, also to be called up for a year, will receive their training with some 240,000 guardsmen, who will be mustered into federal service by Jan. 1, and with the regular army, now recruiting toward a strength of 375,000.

Executive Order Awaited

Only the issuance of a presidential executive order, expected within the next few days, was left before the draft machinery—officially—is set in motion.

Actually, those who will aid in administering the peacetime conscription act already were working at high speed against registration day and an undesignated date in November when—Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, announced last night—the first thousands of draftees would be summoned. This first group is expected to number 75,000.

Marshall's announcement was predicted on the belief Congress would approve the recent presidential request for an additional $2,000,000,000 defense appropriation, largely to defray the cost of the draft. The law limits the number of trainees to "no greater number" than provided in appropriations Congress may vote for that purpose.

Limit Is Placed

It also places an absolute limit of 900,000 on the number of draftees in training at any one time, and that means that the vast majority of those who sign registration cards will never learn the manual of arms or see the inside of a tank.

The president, in a statement issued when the proclamation was signed, said that many of these others "may serve their country best by holding their posts on the production line."

Still others, he said, would stay at home because of "individuals dependent upon them for support." Thousands more will be deferred for failure to meet physical tests.

The president called the method "fair . . . sure . . . Democratic . . . the will of our people."

Can't Remain Indifferent

His proclamation went on to say that "we cannot remain indifferent to the philosophy of force now rampant in the world."

General Marshall in a radio address added that the threat of military danger to this country "trembles on the verge of becoming a probability."

The president's statement, accompanying the proclamation, dealt with the processes of the draft and said that America, in adopting a peace-time selective service system "has broadened and enriched our basic concept of citizenship."

The chief executive signed the bill and proclamation in the presence of Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) and May (D-Ky) of the Senate and House military committees, Secretary of War Stimson and Marshall. Sheppard and May each received one of the pens.

Elections Held

the several opposed by the administration in 1938. O'Connor seeks to regain the nomination from James H. Fay, administration stalwart.

In Massachusetts, Senator Walsh, Democrat, and Henry Parkman, former Boston corporation counsel, Republican, were without opposition for U. S. Senate nominations. Major interest centered on the Democratic gubernatorial contest between Attorney General Paul A. Rever and former Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly.

LaFollette Is Unopposed

Voters in Wisconsin, where Senator LaFollette is unopposed for the Progressive party's nomination, found the name of a dead man among the candidates for the Republican U. S. Senate nomination. Dr. Glenn Frank, one of the seven entered in the contest, was killed in an auto accident Sunday night after the ballots had been printed.

State officials said that if a vote plurality should be cast for Dr. Frank, the Republican state central committee would have to select a senatorial candidate.

Theft Plans

young men, those held by the sheriff, went to the sanitarium and one received treatment for injuries suffered when they jumped from a train.

Simmons became acquainted with them and told the one who was not injured that there was a job for him on the Simmons farm. "The other boy can lie around and get well while you work," Simmons offered.

The men, about 17 and 18 years old, went to the Simmons farm. One lay around treating his injuries and the other cut feed with a row binder and did other work.

Then the case of the automobile found in the pasture.

The sheriff "awakened" the men, who denied complicity, and took them to jail. There, Sheriff Abel said, they told Ross Berry, jailer, where the keys to the car could be found.

They were found — under two mattresses of their bed.

According to Berry's version, the men said they had stolen the keys and, when the noise of the piano and the singing was sufficiently loud to hide their noise, they unlocked the garage and drove the car into the pasture. They meant a few hours later to get out of bed and take the car and return to Missouri, their home state, they admitted.

Charges were to be filed later, by Burton S. Burks, district attorney who was busy trying a criminal action in 99th district court.

Stock Market

ANOTHER MILD RALLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — Selective bidding was sufficient to give stocks another mild rallying fillip in today's market.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, rails and industrial specialties managed to tack on fractions to a point or so despite scattered profit selling in the last hour.

Slow-downs were plentiful, but flurries of activity put the day's transfers to around 400,000 shares.

Sentiment seemed a bit more optimistic, brokers said, as bulletins told of bad channel weather possibly stemming the long-threatened Nazi invasion of England.

Domestic spending for defense, it was said, remained as the principal argument of those who contend this "pump primer" ultimately would put new life in industry.

Among better share performers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, Boeing, Great Northern, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, General Electric, Dupont, Johns-Manville, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Standard Oil of N. J., Packard, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge.

are on a one or two shift per day basis. The new proposal would put them on three shifts. It was estimated that this would increase overall costs per plane about 20 per cent over a single shift. Aircraft contracts provide that the government shall pay the extra costs of any speed-up necessary to obtain planes at dates earlier than those specified in the contracts.

It was learned that a plan similar to the army's present program of establishing about 60 munitions plants would be followed. Under that procedure, private industries are constructing and operating the plants with federal funds on a fixed fee basis. The title remains with the federal government.

Successful completion of the new speed-up plan will result in boosting present military aircraft production capacity from about 10,000 planes per year now to 13,000 by Jan. 1, 1941, to 24,000 by mid-1941, and 36,000 by 1942. Engine production capacity is expected to expand from 19,000 a year last March to 30,000 by Jan. 1, and climb thereafter.

Rioting In French Morocco Reported

TANGIER, Internationalized Zone, Morocco, Sept. 17 (AP)—Daily rioting in Casablanca, French Morocco, between supporters of the Vichy government and of General Charles De Gaulle, leader of the "free French" faction still fighting with Britain, was reported today in usually reliable quarters.

French Moroccan authorities were said to view the situation anxiously and Spanish troops were reported concentrating this weekend at all frontier zones.

Mighty Guns Shell London

dimmed by the first autumn storm raging over the channel.

The 10-day-old air siege of London went ahead with undiminished ferocity, however.

Air-raid sirens screamed their warnings twice during the morning, and the air ministry reported Nazi bombs had wrought considerable havoc in London's exclusive Mayfair district and in the smart west end shopping streets.

More Expensive Tastes

The targets included Bond, Regent and Oxford streets, Piccadilly, Park Lane, Berkeley and Sloan squares — corresponding to New York's Fifth and Park avenues—and prompted the semi-official press association to remark:

"Hitler's bombers are cultivating more expensive tastes. Today fashionable shopping streets were carpeted with glass as thick as snow."

Storm winds blowing at 35 to 40 miles an hour whipped the English channel waters, and defenders of the islands kingdom promptly dubbed it "Churchill weather" in contrast to the clear, dry weather which aided Hitler's conquests in Poland, Holland, Belgium and France.

An Associated Press correspondent posted on the Dover coast telephoned London:

"There's a nasty cross sea running and the channel would be bad for regular steamers in peacetime, let alone for any flat-bottomed troop barges."

Siege Is Hampered

Elsewhere over Britain, the skies were thick with fog, further hampering the Nazi aerial siege.

Even brighter news was reflected in the headlines of London's great metropolitan dailies, which told of new RAF assaults on German barge concentrations and invasion bases along the channel coast.

"Invasion armada in chaos!"

"Havoc in channel bases!"

"Invader Hitler gets big battering!"

But Nazi quarters in Berlin asserted that the German luftwaffe launched the heaviest raids of the war on London during the night, with dive-bombing Stukas smashing at the empire capital's traffic junctions and subway stations especially.

New Fires Burning

"Many of these were incapacitated," the Germans said, reporting also that many new fires were burning in London's bomb-ravaged industrial areas.

An official British communique acknowledged the fury of the night-long German raids "spread over many parts of the country, but mainly concentrated on London."

"Bombs were dropped in many parts of London and surrounding suburbs," the communique said.

A German spokesman said the Nazi storm over London had reached "unparalleled intensity" during the past 24 hours and that the attack had been countered by a large force of British RAF planes in what was probably one of the greatest mass air battles of history. Details were withheld.

Crashes Into Cable

One of the German night bombers was reported destroyed by crashing into a cable attached to a British barrage balloon.

Two famous London squares and a west end shopping district—presumably the so-called "shop window of empire" which centers around Bond street, Regent street and Piccadilly—were bombed, and firemen battled scores of fires.

Doctors and nurses worked frantically in the attack to remove 160 patients from a London hospital hit by a delayed-action bomb. The time missile smashed through the roof of one section of the hospital and buried itself in a ward floor, while a high explosive bomb wrecked an empty receiving ward 50 yards away.

The German bombers flew through a murky channel mist, the coastal fog, and wind driven clouds over England last night and again beginning soon after daylight today in attacks on battered London, the midlands and the heavily-guarded east coast.

Terror Is Spread

Despite the unfavorable flying conditions, expected to grow steadily worse as winter nears, two Nazi raids spread terror over nine hours and seven minutes from dusk to dawn in the tenth consecutive overnight attack.

Firemen trying to put out flames that lit a Nazi target were blown to bits by a bomb. A residential district was hit.

German spokesmen predicted for Britain "no pause for breath."

The grim reality of war showed on through the mirages of the western Egypt plateau where the British defenders acknowledged an Italian advance of 40 miles in three days.

The British said however that repeated bomber attacks on the slow-moving column twisting along just inland from the Mediterranean and sharp advance guard skirmishes took a heavy toll of the invaders.

Some of the battles were fought in 110 and 120 degree heat by parched soldiers whose nearest water supply was miles away.

The Italians were said to have passed the port village of Buqbuq—with 250 miles of hot white sand and British defense units still between them and Alexandria.

Plans For Ticket Sales Made Here

Plans for a one-day campaign to start immediately after a breakfast at Hilton hotel Friday morning at 9 o'clock to sell strips of four general admission tickets to the Panhandle-South Plains fair Sept. 30-Oct. 5 for $1 were made at a meeting of sales chairmen at the chamber of commerce this morning.

Ten per cent of the proceeds of sales will go to Lubbock Boys club, inc., which is supported jointly by service luncheon clubs of the city.

O. W. Ribble is general sales manager. Managers for the individual clubs are C. E. Hunt, Optimist; Bill Collins, America Business; John Halsey and Marion Sanford, Kiwanis; Clarence Whiteside, Rotary; and Rayford B. Hills, Lions.

Each club manager is to name a committee of 15 more members who will participate in the drive. All will be expected at the Friday morning breakfast.

The committee directing the campaign is composed of S. E. Marbut, chairman, and Dr. M. M. Ewing, Ray Farmer, Harry Morris and Halsey.

lott, J. W. Richardson, H. P. Musgrove, W. T. Gentry, and C. E. Lilley, jr.

R. M. Green was convicted Monday afternoon of two cases of forgery and passing — not of robbery, as had been previously reported — and was given two years in the penitentiary in each case, to run concurrently. Leroy Hudson was given two years in the penitentiary for arson.

Their cases made a total of five convictions Monday in Judge Pitts' court, each defendant having to serve a two-year sentence. Hudson, a negro, was the only defendant who demanded a jury, the others entering guilty pleas before the court.

Three other cases had been set for this afternoon, but it was doubtful if the Freeman case would be completed in time to call them.

Bugler Is Assured Of A Year's Job

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Any gent who can bugle and will take a year's military training to boot has a job right now.

When the Stillwater national guard unit assembled to prepare for its year's training with the 45th division it was discovered there wasn't a bugler in the outfit.

First Lieut. W. A. Woodward issued a general call for anyone who can blow reveille, taps and other military calls.

Reasons For Boost In Mishaps Given

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 17 (AP) — Claud R. McCamment, state safety engineer, came up with these answers from motorists after investigating an increase in traffic accidents:

"Worrying about conscription."

"Listening to newscasts on the war."

Kansas traffic fatalities in August were 37, an increase of 13 over August, 1939.

in office, you continue a group in office."

He asked:

"Whom do you want as your spokesman?"

Many in the audience replied, "Wendell Willkie." A few shouted, "Roosevelt."

Takes Rap At Flynn

"Who speaks in answer to what Wendell Willkie says? It is that silver-tongued orator, Boss Flynn of the Bronx?

"Who are his associates? Well, there's Mayor Frank Hague of New Jersey, and then there's that other great statesman, Mayor Kelly of Chicago, who sneaks through the sewer system there.

"The president says he doesn't have time to discuss the problems of the day. He is too busy. And you people of the South are asked to follow an old tradition and the political philosophy of Ed Flynn."

Amarillo Sun Hot

Willkie's voice held up well after his recovery from laryngitis. His face was wet with perspiration as the sun beat directly down upon him.

Most of the men in the audience removed their coats, and women held newspapers over their heads.

Willkie declared that a spokesman for Argentina had announced that the administration would modify a sanitary regulation "after election in order to let Argentine cattle come into the United States."

Then, the Republican nominee said, the president declared that he had been misunderstood in a talk with the Argentine representative.

"How can cattlemen or anyone else know how they stand in a situation like that?" Willkie asked.

Willkie brought his campaign to the Democratic southwest to the strains of "Dixie" and "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Big Crowd Present

Leaving his special train he rode through a mile and a half of crowds in the business district to shaded Elwood park. A bright sun beat down upon the bunting-draped platform.

Two years ago the park was the scene of an address by President Roosevelt during his campaign to defeat anti-New Deal members of Congress.

The Amarillo high school band, resplendent in gold and black uniforms, sat directly in front of the platform.

Capt. Mike Hogg of Houston, general chairman of "no third term Democrats of Texas," told the crowd:

"We find our country being bombed by fear, a fear deliberately manufactured by that small group in power for the purpose of keeping themselves there.

"These fear tactics of this billion dollar political machine make the danger of being frightened and stampeded into this third term humbuggery more imminent than is the danger of invasion."

Chief W. R. McDowell of the Amarillo police force estimated that 50,000 persons were in the city and 10,000 were at the park.

Amazing Results Reported In Surgery On Insane Patients

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17—A surgical operation that brought "truly amazing" results in the treatment of insanity cases where all other methods had failed was described today to the bicentennial conference of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker, chairman of the university's department of psychiatry, said the operation was the first attempt at surgical treatment of insanity. It indicates, he added, that some ideas of the hopelessness of long-standing cases of insanity can be revised.

Operations were performed by Dr. Francis Grant on the brains of eight persons who had been insane more than ten years. The operation itself is not new but had not previously been used on insanity patients.

Through an opening in the region of the temple a fan-shaped cut is made in the upper foreward part of the brain known as the frontal lobes.

Doctor Walter Freeman and Doctor James W. Watts of George Washington university school of medicine, Washington, D. C., discovered that this operation would control the melancholias of late middle life.

This led Dr. Strecker to reason that the forward portion of the brain might be a key in long-standing insanity known as schizophrenia.

"The results," he reported, "were interesting and sometimes truly amazing. The aggressiveness, in some instances homicidal in degree, disappeared; mental material which one would have believed irretrievably lost was apparently salvaged by the operation; panic reactions were terminated. While the operations did not effect complete cures, life became bearable and pleasant for patients who before were living in veritable misery."

She Couldn't Trust Herself And With Very Good Reason

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 17 (U.P.) — Aware of her reputation for absent-mindedness, a Memphis woman let the contractors handle all details of her new home.

Proudly she saw it built. It was half finished the day the real estate agent telephoned her.

"You're building a house on my property," the agent protested.

"No, I'm not," she answered. "I bought the property from you."

"You told me you wanted to buy the land," the agent said, "but you never did anything about it."

"I forget," she confessed weakly.

Law Is Quoted

The overlooked section of the law reads as follows:

"Upon the occurrence of a public disaster, riot, or insurrection, or the formation of a dangerous resistance to the enforcement of the law, or for the purpose of performing his constitutional duty to cause the laws to be enforced, the governor of this state shall have the authority to assume the command of and direct the activities and functions of the department during the existence of such an emergency or necessity. WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (By Air Mail) — For the benefit of those readers not familiar with present-day Washington, but familiar with the Texas state capital, Austin, let us suggest that Washington is only Austin, but on a much, much bigger scale.

Because of ever-expanding departments and agencies and ever increased appropriations; because of the centralization of government here and because jobs means votes, your Uncle Sam today has the biggest payroll in history and more people working for him here than ever before.

The tens of thousands who "slave" from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. with Saturdays and Sundays off, make all the way from $1,000 to $75,000 per year and, like the rest of us, spend what they make as fast as they make it.

That's a great back-log for business, as anyone will tell you and that's the principal reason why this city of 700,000 souls has never known depression except as a word in the newspapers.

Too, a great proportion of these federal workers are young people and, as all and sundry know, young people need—or think they need—to spend more money than old people.

Hence the cash registers jingle merrily here from dawn to dusk and Washington, on the surface at least, is carefree and gay and its citizens are the best fed and the best clothed in all the land.

Of course, Washington has its quota of wretchedly poor and down-and-out folks, and the city's never publicized slums are something less than lovely to behold.

But the percentage of extremely poor and the areas given over to slums are much less than those of any other big city in the land.

WASHINGTON, too, is forever building and improving. You can't travel over any portion of the city at any season without noticing the constant construction, improvements of parks and streets, general growth and paving.

The city, of course, does not have its own local government—a mayor, a city council, or anything like that. It is part and parcel of the federal government and is run by a commission of congressmen whose legal residences may be a thousand miles removed.

Administration of local affairs is in the hands of a Congressional committee, not locally elected but appointed, as are all Congressional committees, by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Most striking recent addition to the Washington scene is the harshly plain, but impressively handsome Mellon Institute of Fine Art.

Located on Pennsylvania avenue, about halfway along the mile stretch from the White House to the Capitol, the Mellon building, a gift from the whacking big estate of the late GOP Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, will cost, upon completion, around $8,000,000.

When opened to the public, the building will house, for exhibition, something like $39,000,000 worth of paintings.

* * *

ATTRACTING much attention currently in the rotunda-topped entrance way of the capitol is a large painting by Howard Chandler Christie, who is enjoying life as a resident of the swank Mayflower hotel.

The painting is approximately 300 feet wide and 20 feet high and depicts the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

A marvelous piece of work, the giant canvas is located only temporarily in the capitol rotunda; it is not hung on the wall but, instead, reposes in a plain wooden frame fenced off from the public by a chain.

When the Mellon building is completed, the Christie masterpiece will be hung there.

Incidentally, upon completion of the work, Mr. Christie gave each member of the House and Senate a miniature reproduction of the work.

Congressman George Mahon, of Lubbock and Colorado City, sent his to the Hon. J. Doyle Settle, of the Texas Tech Museum, for the permanent possession of the museum.

If Doyle has it hung up by now, you doubtless can drop by and see it.

* * *

The complexion of the United States Senate has gradually been changing the past several years and as time goes on it bids fair to bring further change.

Gone is the great Lion of Idaho, Senator William E. Borah.

Gone are California's William Gibbs McAdoo, Louisiana's "Kingfish Huey" Long, and Oklahoma's Thomas P. Gore.

The Senate, to The Plainsman, seems gradually to be getting younger, although it is doubtful if gentlemen like Nebraska's Octogenarian George Norris and Virginia's 80-year old Carter Glass ever are caught dancing jigs.

* * *

AMONG the younger men serving in the upper house here, mark down the name of Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., of Massachusetts.

Illustrious grandson of an illustrious grandsire—the late, great Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts—Lodge The Younger is one of the finest looking, cleanest cut young men to be seen anywhere.

A liberal Republican with a great New England background and fine education and training, Senator Lodge has all the ear-marks of a "comer."

Although a Back Bay Bostonian, Senator Lodge doesn't reserve either his interest or his conversation to the Cabots and the Lodges, long famed in stiff-necked Boston circles as speaking only to each other and to God.

Tremendously popular with his colleagues, studious in his work and of great energy and talent, Senator Lodge bids fair to carry on his grandfather's great name and great record as a statesman.

Only thing surprising to The Plainsman is that Massachusetts, with a heavy foreign-born and radical population, ever elected him.

Another "comer," who will continue to grow in stature as long as Franklin Roosevelt and his ideas are continued here, is Oklahoma's Joshua Bryan Lee, 46-year old former farmer and later University of Oklahoma professor of public speaking.

The Plainsman has known Josh Lee intimately since 1915; lived with him at the University of Oklahoma and had him as a guest in Lubbock in 1930. Therefore, we know whereof we speak when we say that the overwhelming duties of the Senate, plus the responsibilities of being a leading New Deal spokesman in the upper house, have weighed heavily on Josh Lee.

In the past several years he has grown in stature, but the growth has taken its toll.

From a fresh-faced youngster in 1935, he has grown gray about the temples and his face shows the lack of sunshine.

Still attractive and handsome and still the best dressed man in the Senate, Josh Lee, however, is no longer the boy who delighted Oklahomans with his home-spun poetry and chalk-talks, and later with rip-roaring sermons in Baptist churches over the state.

Unless the forces of conservatism in Oklahoma wash him back into private life in 1942, Josh Lee stands near the threshold of the mythical circle of Elder Statesmen in Washington.

ON the trains coming up, in conversations with members of the Congress, bell-boys, elevator operators, taxicab drivers, newspapermen and others up here, The Plainsman has tried to get an unbiased idea on how people are thinking on the current presidential campaign between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie.

While the only thing certain about the campaign at this writing is "we're bound to have a Republican Vice-President regardless of which way the election goes," tomorrow—after a little more digging around—The Plainsman will tell what he has picked up to date.

Don't miss tomorrow's: "What About Willkie?"

Memory Of The Moon

YESTERDAY: Constance goes into Pedro's arms, then remembering her bargain with John, explains that if she fails with the farm she loses everything. For the first time she faces the possibility of being defeated by her refractory personnel.

CHAPTER 22
Letters From John

If Pedersen was the adviser, Pedro was the quiet executive. He laid a colored chart of El Cabrillo before them, showing open fields; degree of slope, drainage, and sections liable to be affected by highwater. He had a gangplow ready for delivery and crews appointed. Soy bean, mangel and alfalfa seed stored against advance in prices.

"If you'll authorize the plow purchase and let me hire another, I can have the winter ploughing finished before the rains, then we can give the land another turn-over before seeding and spring rains."

Constance remembered Pedersen saying the land must be worked deep the first season. She looked out of the window to the east. Difficult to think of it being winter, but the peak upon which she and Pedro had stopped that memorable day was covered with snow.

"Gentlemen," she said, as they were leaving for a ride to the proposed barn site. "I don't see how I can fail with you around me, each doing your part."

"And you riding herd on us to see we do," teased Peter Taylor, senior.

Constance, who had slipped out to give Pancho an apple, earlier, found her favorite hard to control. He wanted to run. She gave him rein, knowing Pedro was not far behind, and when Pancho was satisfied, Pedro rode up.

"Do you mind my saying you look particularly stunning in that outfit, Miss Cabrillo?" asked Pedro.

Constance felt the swift flash of color in her cheeks. Resolutely she looked at him. "Thank you. A Christmas gift from John Raskthorne."

"Raskthorne?" Pedro's voice rasped on the name. "Oh, yes, Juliano showed me his picture one time. Polo game, you standing with him while somone handed him a trophy."

Constance nodded. "That was taken a long time ago. He hasn't ridden since his father's death. He was thrown, hunting. His mother died from shock."

Pedro stared ahead a moment. "Then it's this John who handles your estate in the east?"

"Yes, he . . . he's been a very fine friend to the family since his father's death . . . and before, too, of course."

They rode on in silence, Constance noting the silver sheen of winter grass and the sharp white line above the peaks like a reflection on the sky.

"May I ask if he approved of your decision to take over the ranch?"

Constance looked up, relieved. "Yes, oh, yes, he did . . . he does. He's very interested. You see, he agrees with me that we Cabrillos must have some kind of an income or we'll, as my brother would say, 'shoot the works in one play.'"

The clop-clop of horses hoofs measured time, then Pedro rode close, lifted Constance's left hand and srtipped off the gauntlet. "No ring, Michael?"

"No ring, Pedro."

"And youre not wearing one on a chain, someplace?"

"Only a heart on a chain, Pedro. The one you gave me . . . I mean the locket, of course."

Wordless Melody

Pedro's laugh rang out, free and happy. "At that, you have my heart dangling, Michael," he lowered his voice as the others rode up, "do you know how many seconds there are in three years? Three million, sixteen thousand, eight hundred . . . That many heartbeats, Michael, and mine beats double when I'm with you, think of the wear and tear—"

"Then I must stay away from you, Pedro," she retorted, and welcomed the other men so gaily that they turned to look at her again and again.

It was Pedro, however, who stayed away from Constance, though not willingly. The ploughing under way, he drove his father south to sell the cattle, and then he was off with Pedersen to buy dairy herds.

He dropped from her mind to heart, to remain there like a wordless melody and left her thoughts free to write John; long letters full of the details of progress on the ranch.

"—one cow palace is completed, John, and such a palace, as clean and white as a modern mansion; aid conditioned; private compartments for each of the bovine blue-bloods. There's even a nursery and maternity ward off the chemists' laboratory.

"Pete Taylor, a nice old grumbler, says we should have dotted swiss curtains with baby-blue tie-backs, but Pedersen told him cows doted on dotted swiss and we might find our milk troughs flowing with polka dotted milk, so we refrained."

Judge Franck had convinced John Raskthorne that it would be better to bargain railroad right-of-way than sell it, and one day Constance wrote.

"They're here, the tractors. One with its crew arrived here today to start from the ranch and lay the roadbed north to meet the other started two months ago from Beachport. Next time I turn around I'll hear a whistle, and down from the hills will come fat cars loaded with timber. It's fun, John, watching things grow."

From John came all news of her family. Her mother did write an occasional perfumed note, brief and filled only with warnings:—

"Do look after your hands, dear, they coarsen so when youre riding. I'll send you gloves to wear at night, they have some new medication guaranteed to soften and whiten—"

The gloves never arrived, neither did the eye-wash to be used religiously every rest period. But then, thought Constance, I wouldn't have bothered to use them.

John reported their gradual dropping of servants until only Lamson and the cook remained; reported Don's refusing to borrow on his car to pay for Donna's spring wardrobe.

Spring, thought Constance, looking out at the cold drizzle, splashed against her windows by the wind from the sea. There would be snow in the east.

And then John's letters protested:—

"I believe, if dear were not the accepted opening of a letter, you would never spare a word of affection for me.

"Admitting I am interested in the ranch, I confess that interest sec-

A REAL ATTRACTION FOR THE FAIR

One of the most important and most appealing features yet arranged for the approaching Panhandle-South Plains fair promises to be the model army camp to be established by some 120 members of the famous Second division from Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, on the grounds during the entire week.

The fact that permission was obtained to bring the unit here demonstrates that officials of the fair association are very much on their toes. They sought and obtained an attraction which deals with the most urgent subject before the American people—that of the national defense. Incidentally the cost will be next to nothing to the association, although that was not the primary consideration when efforts were initiated seeking the unit.

The model camp is something which should be of interest to all Americans in this area, regardless who they may be. It gives them at least a tiny peek into the realities of what is going on in the national defense. But it will be of very close personal interest to the great numbers of young men in the Lubbock territory who may find themselves in uniform and in camp before very long.

The fair association officials are to be congratulated on their alertness, and the entire area owes its appreciation to the army officials who have made the attraction possible.

Today's Thought

I the Lord have spoken it; it shall come to pass, and I will do it; I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent; according to thy ways, and according to thy doings, shall they judge thee, saith the Lord.—Ezekiel 24:14.

THE Private Papers of a Cub Reporter—In the Tavern last night this one convulsed some of us . . . An elderly man had a dog named Rover, which he loved dearly. He also had a son at college. The son got into trouble gambling and needed $500 to cover his debts. He wrote his Pop saying he'd found a professor who could teach the dog to talk, for 5 C-notes . . . The old fellow sent on the $500 and Rover.

WINCHELL

A few weeks later the wayward lad's indiscretions had him writing father for another $500 as "Rover is getting on fine, he's learning to talk, but the prof says he can teach him to read for $500 more" . . The check was sent at once . . . Then papa decided to pay the boy and Rover a visit by surprise. When he arrived he phoned his son, inviting him to bring Rover to the hotel.

"Oh," said the wicked one, "Rover's not so good today, Pop. You know that long razor you gave me for my birthday? Well, I was shaving with it and Rover was sitting alongside me reading Winchell's column. I said: 'Rover, I wonder if you miss Daddy as much as I do,' and Rover said: 'Yes, but I was just wondering if your old man is still making love to that French maid at home?' Well, Dad, when I heard Rover say that about you I took the razor and slashed him, and do you know—I think I killed him!"

"Pergoshsakes!" screamed the old boy, "aren't you sure?"

In the foyer waiting for "No Time for Comedy" to be unveiled, a clown told about the girl from the Midwest who was visiting Boston . . . She attended a party, and one of the membahs from the uppity set asked the visitor: "Where are you from, m'deah?"

"I'm from Iowa," she replied.

"I'm sure," purred the Bostonian condescendingly, "that you won't mind my telling you that in Bahstin we call it 'Ohio.'"

ADD literary lace, the authorship of which eludes us now: "A political platform is just like the one on the back of the street car—not meant to stand on, just to get in on" . . . E. Ceuno's: "When you see the Vermont hills you look at God Himself!" . . . A truck driver's sassy retort to a pedestrian who yelled curses for almost being run down: "Take it easy, Greasy!" . . . Senator Tydings' comment in Congress about conscription: "I would rather have it and not need it, than need it and not have it!"

The Pasadena (Cal.) Post's Charley King colyums: "Friends returning from the East report that the war hysteria is quite something back there. Westerners are not clearly as alarmed. Some have chortled at the alarmist note in Walter Winchell's voice, and have discounted reasons for alarm on the part of Easterners. Had a conference Saturday with a New Yorker, now here. He is an American, educated at Munich. As a result of the World war, he is an American reserve officer. And he has contacts with American intelligence operators. And said that Easterners have every reason to be disturbed. In New York alone, he said, Nazis and Fifth Columnists are working openly, boastfully. So it is that we in the West should knit our brows over the situation as well as knit sweaters for The Red Cross."

The American newspaperman can take it. When a reporter arouses controversy about a problem, he knows Democracy is working well. When a controversy arouses argument about a newspaperman, he knows Democracy is working at its very best. Your newsboy is not alarmed about being called an alarmist. But he is alarmed that you may lose the right to call him anything you please. This reporter will continue to warn you that not every voice raised in warning belongs to an hysteric. At midnight Paul Revere was a wild alarmist disturbing a peaceful New England countryside. At daybreak he was the American who made his beloved country's resistance possible.

NO nation ever lost its life by a false alarm of attack, but Europe, in our time, lost its liberty by the false alarm of security. The fates of the lost nations prove that those who won't face the facts at first, will never be able to face the enemy at the last. The first military asset of a criminal ruler, who wants war, is the knowledge that all good men want peace. The dictators have proclaimed anew—the jungle law of old—that those who prowl by night are the natural masters of those who must work by day.

The Reality

Defense Program Boom Won't Cut Relief Rolls Much

WPA Waiting List At Second Highest Total

BY BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Despite the re-employment expected to come because of the defense program, there seems to be little chance WPA rolls will go down much at any time in the very near future.

Catton

There are now about 1,690,000 people on WPA, with a mid-winter peak of something like 2,300,000 anticipated. Employment in private industry is increasing, and close to 100,000 people leave WPA for outside jobs every month; but the catch is that WPA's "back log"—its list of registered relief clients awaiting WPA jobs—hasn't been shrinking a bit.

On the contrary, it has actually been rising. It stands now at about 1,000,000—second highest total in WPA history, exceeded only by the waiting list built up after the 1937 crash. What that means is simply that every time one man quits WPA there are 10 more waiting to take his place.

Defense Hasn't Helped South

Various explanations are offered. Chief immediate reason for the rise in the waiting list is a recent increase in reliefers in the south, which so far has received few benefits from defense spending, which has virtually lost its cotton markets overseas, and which has lately been hit by a number of floods and tornadoes.

Beyon that is the fact that defense-industry re-employment is both spotty an dslow. It is noticeable in industrialized areas, almost invisible in other places. Such important defense industries as shipbuilding, aircraft, machine tools, aluminum manufacturing, explosives and the manufacture of engines currently employ fewer than 350,000 men all told; they could double their labor requirements without making a real dent in the total of jobless.

Lastly, Congress last spring forced WPA to make a drastic cut in its rolls, the labor market wasn't able to absorb all of those cut off, and many of them are back waiting for reassignment to WPA jobs.

Barring a basic change in the work-relief policy, there is little chance of a real cut in WPA until re-employment is extensive enough to dip into that million-man waiting list of certified relief clients.

Super-Ships For Navy

Uncle Sam's projected two-ocean navy will boast the most formidable battleships ever designed, if current stories about the navy's plans are correct.

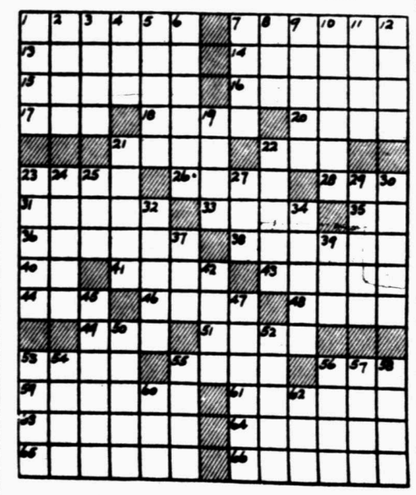

According to these reports (which have every evidence of being reliable) the navy is considering building battleships of enormous size—58,000 tons without stores, or approximately 65,000 tons fully equipped and ready to go. Protective armor heavier than anything yet seen is said to be contemplated, including deck armor that would make the ships invulnerable to air attacks; batteries might include tremendous rifles of 18-inch or even 20-inch caliber, able to outsmash and outrange anything else in existence.

By upping the tonnage so greatly—largest warships now under construction are of 45,000 tons—much higher speeds could also be obtained. One estimate is that the projected ships could travel at 35 knots, which is almost up to the speeds of modern destroyers.

Memory Of The Moon

ondary. What of yourself? Do you miss having me around? Do you never think of me . . . John?

"Conchita, I'm wondering why you never mention the younger Taylor. Isn't he around your age? There is something . . . ominous . . . in the omission."

"Nothing To Mention"

Constance was relieved that she could reply honestly.

"I don't mention the younger Taylor because there is nothing to mention. As far as I know, he's been here at the ranch only two days since New Year's . . . and John, he doesn't corresponod with me. Now maybe that is the ominous omission. Shall I take up with him when he returns?"

John's answer came air-mail—

"I have a dandy ivory-handled crop that should be used on fresh little girls like you. By all means, correspond with young Taylor, keep track of him, watch him, then you'll know what he is up to."

It was still raining when the letter arrived. Constance had turned one room into an office. She was to be her own bookkeeper. She had spent most of the day making copies of a skeleton form of report. It wasn't a stupid procedure to her, this leaving space for the name of a cow; her age, wright and the amount of milk and percentage of butter-cream she was giving.

She had enjoyed the day; enjoyed the beating rain, the dreary sound of trees soughing, and the coziness of fire and red leather chairs, deep and inviting. She'd sent coffee royals to the carpenters and ordered brandy for the herders. Riders from the ranch had carried it to the hills when the round-up was going on. The last round-up.

Now she went to a deep chair, re-read John's letter and was worried. She was being completely honest with neither John nor Pedro. Yet how could she be?

There was really nothing she could tell John, unless she wanted to confess that Pedro was the incarnation of El Cabrillo, fasciating, romantic, and that each moment with him was an intoxicating madness. She couldn't tell that to a man who had invested fifty thousand dollars in her common sense. Especially when nothing would come of it.

And she couldn't tell Pedro he must not think of her because, while she had never promised, John expected her to marry him some day. And in the meantime she had promised to marry no one else.

Exactly what had she promised?

Constance sat rigid in her chair. She had promised John Raskthorne that she would marry no one but him until she had repaid his loan.

She couldn't do that without selling El Cabrillo!

The three-year limitation was only to show profit. If she did, the note would be extended for twenty years, but only if she could meet the interest out of her one-fourth of the net income of the ranch. Terms of the will precluded her taking more for any outside indebtedness. And she could not depend upon the family helping her.

John Raskthorne was giving her a three year moratorium on marriage to him.

The other alternative was sacrifice of El Cabrillo Rancho.

"And I thought I was shrewd," cried Constance.

The room grew husky with twilight, as Constance sat huddled in the deep chair, thinking. An approaching car threw yellow bars into the room, intensifying the darkness as they disappeared abrutply.

Pedersen home from Beachport, thought Constance.

"Michael!" The door was flung open. Cold, wet, salty air rushed in and with it Pedro. He kicked the door closed with his heel, strode across the room, lifted her from the chair, and laughed down at her. "I'm borrowing ten minutes out of three years hence," he explained. "Or have I been away little years?"

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals addressed to Hon. Mayor and City Commission of Lubbock, Texas, will be received at the office of W. H. Rodgers, City Manager, until 6:00 p. m. Sept. 30th, 1940 for furnishing all necessary materials, machinery, equipment, superintendence and labor for constructing a sewage treatment plant, outfall line and treated sewage discharge lines for the City of Lubbock, Quarter of Lubbock, Texas. The work is divided into two divisions, Division I, the sewage treatment plant and Division II the outfall line and treated sewage discharge line. Bidders may submit proposals on either or both Divisions.
Bidders must submit cashier's or certified check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, for 5% of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock, or a proposal bond in the sum of the same amount, from a reliable surety company, as a guaranty that bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or proposal bond will not be considered.
The successful bidder must furnish bond on the attached form in the amount of 100% of contract price from a surety company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as surety, or other surety as may be acceptable to the Owner.
All lump sum and unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities in case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the prices in the bids. The Owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof or to reject the bid. Unreasonable or unbalanced unit prices will authorize the Owner to reject any bid.
Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.
Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 45, Article No. 5159A, Civ. Statutes 1925, concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing wage established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing minimum wage is set forth in the specifications.
Instructions to bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file at the office of M. R. Smith, Jr., City Engineer, of Lubbock, Texas.
Copies may be secured upon deposit of $30.00, to be returned to the Contractor on submission of a bona fide bid on the work with such plans and specifications, or upon returning the plans and specifications immediately after examination of same, and advising the Engineer that bid will not be submitted, otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited.
CITY OF LUBBOCK, TEXAS,
Owner.
R. C. E. SLATON, Mayor
W. H. RODGERS, City Manager.

News Briefs

Mrs. George Confined—Mrs. Joe George, 1920 Sixteenth street, who suffered a broken bone in her foot as she stepped on a rock from a downtown curb Saturday night, will be unable to walk for approximately six weeks, a friend said today. She is at her home after receiving emergency treatment at West Texas hospital.

Gragg Son Born—Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gragg of Abernathy route 1 are parents of a son born at 6:40 o'clock Monday night in St. Mary's hospital. The infant weighed 9 pounds 4 ounces. A Caesarean section was performed.

Joplins Have Son—A son weighing 6 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. Archie Joplin of 3605 Avenue W at 11:45 o'clock Monday night in Lubbock sanitarium. The father is a trucker for the Santa Fe.

Gore Rites Held—Funeral services for Dashea Gore, 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gore of 302 Washington avenue, were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Sanders chapel, with Rev. C. J. McCarty of the Calvary Baptist church officiating. The infant died at 11 o'clock Monday night in Lubbock sanitarium. She is survived by a brother, Ronnie, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Gore of Littlefield, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Varner of Lubbock. Sanders Funeral home reported this morning burial would be in a Lubbock cemetery.

Rooms Constructed—Construction of two additional offices to be used by the business manager, J. H. Pelton, and others employed in the business department at Lubbock sanitarium opened this morning. The rooms will be located to the south of the present business office in the east wing of the sanitarium.

Two Degrees Conferred—Ben Jenkins and A. L. Harris received masters degrees Monday night at a meeting of Yellowhouse Masonic lodge, according to Hugh J. McClellan, secretary. Two more degrees will be conferred Wednesday night, he said.

Espionage Meet NOT Tonight—Peace officers in Lubbock announced this morning there will be no meeting tonight of law enforcement agencies to discuss fifth column activities. Rather, they said, the meeting will be conducted at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, in federal district courtroom. E. E. Conroy, FBI special officer will speak. It erroneously had been announced this morning that the meeting would be tonight.

Lions Hear About Accidents, Football—Texas Highway Patrolman E. B. Underwood talked on accidents and safety and Line Coach Dutchy Smith of Texas Tech on football at the luncheon of the Lubbock Lions club today noon at the Hilton hotel. Underwood announced the conducting by the patrol of a safety lane here Thursday and spoke briefly on how and why accidents take place on the highways, giving statistics on the causes and time of accidents. Coach Smith explained football formations from a chart, pointing out the various strengths and weaknesses of each. Berl Huffman was program chairman and introduced Head Coach Pete Cawthon who talked briefly and introduced Smith. Miss Coyla Prosser, blind girl protege of the Lions who operates a newsstand in the postoffice, was a guest of the club on her second anniversary in the work.

Undergoes Surgery—Condition of W. H. Crenshaw of Dallas, who underwent an appendectomy this morning in Lubbock sanitarium, was considered satisfactory early this afternoon. Mrs. Crenshaw and their son, Billy, are visiting Crenshaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crenshaw of 1901 Twenty-ninth street.

Hand Amputated—The right hand of Glenn Lesley, 22, farmer of Shallowater, was amputated at the wrist after he entered Lubbock sanitarium shortly before noon today. The hand was mangled when he fell into a feed grinder when he fell into a trench silo while working this morning.

Condition Critical — Mrs. W. H. Meador of 1631 Main street was critically ill at her home at noon today. Her daughter, Mrs. Roy N. Hagerty of Bloomington, Ind., arrived Monday night.

Dr. Underwood Speaks—Dr. R. S. Underwood, professor of mathematics at Texas Technological college, gave an illustrated speech on astronomy before Lubbock Optimist club, of which he is a member, at the club's luncheon today in Lubbock hotel. Slides were used in illustration. M. A. Sanders presided as program chairman.

Tech Registration Is Slowing Down

Rate of issuance of permits to register slowed this morning at Texas Technological college, and the number of permits at noon was only approximately 100 more than Monday night's total of 3,746, said Registrar W. P. Clement.

Classes of the fall semester will open Wednesday morning. Students not contemplating registration today will have no further opportunity to begin or complete the registration procedure until Friday. There will be only two late registration periods. The first on Friday and the second the afternoon of Sept. 24.

Chavez Grabs Lead In Race

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 17. (U.P.)—Rep. John J. Dempsey, who piloted the Hatch clean politics law through the House of Representatives, today sought to invoke it in the Democratic senatorial primary which he apparently had lost by a narrow margin.

He trailed Sen. Dennis Chavez, who, in his fight for renomination, had the backing of the state Democratic organization.

Counting of the ballots in Saturday's primary continued today but with each return from the scattered Spanish-speaking northern counties, Chavez strengthened his hold on the lead he wrested from Dempsey only yesterday.

Returns Are Given

Returns from 864 of the state's 914 divisions, gave Chavez 46,803; Dempsey 45,114.

Dempsey announced last night that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were en route here to investigate "reports of intimidation and political coercion by political bosses."

He refused to say whether the "reports" had been tendered the bureau by him but said he "presumed the agents would investigate reports on intimidation and coercion by political bosses in Santa Fe, Rio Arriba, Socorro, Taos and Mora counties."

The investigators coming here are the ones who investigated the Pendergast machine in Kansas City, Dempsey said. Chavez said he was unconcerned by the investigation.

Texas Awaiting Formal Notice For Registration

Machinery Is Ready To Go

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (U.P.) — Official steps in Texas to carry out the registration for military training will be taken as promptly as formal notice is received from Washington of the president's proclamation.

The procedure already has been set up by the state staff of the national guard of Texas. Adj. Gen. J. Watt Page is expected to be designated as director of the program for the state. Col. John Townes of Houston acted as draft director during a large part of the World war induction.

As quickly as the president's proclamation is received, it is contemplated that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel will issue his proclamation directing the precinct election officers who have been named for the general election to conduct the registration at the accustomed polling places.

Staff To Make Tour

Members of the state staff probably will make a tour instructing these officials in their duties.

Later boards will be set up in each county (with additional boards in large counties) to handle exemptions and deferred classification for the men who register.

The boards will be recommended by the governor and will be appointed by the president. In preparation for conscription the state staff already had listed approximately 5,000 persons who would be available for these duties. At that time it was contemplated the work would be paid. Letters now are going out to find out if the persons on the tentative list are ready to serve without pay.

United States investments in Europe at the beginning of this year totaled $2,278,000,000.

Liberty Parade And Plymouth Rock Are Newest Innovations; Dancing Now Goes Patriotic

BY JUNE GREENE
NEA Service Special Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17—Dancing goes patriotic.

Not the dawnse as practiced by metropolitan esthetes, but the dance—the common garden variety routines you'll be seeing next winter at college proms, in night clubs, ballrooms and juke joints.

Young America may not know it yet, but its favorite terpsichorean traipsings in the near future are going to have a distinctly American flavor.

Take the titles, for instance. "Liberty Parade" and "Plymouth Rock" are the two routines, say the Dancing Masters of America, which are destined to be most popular in the coming year.

"Liberty Parade" which got the teachers' official sanction at their recent 17-day convention held in Pittsburgh, is danced to "God Bless America," "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie" and "California, Here I Come," in that order.

Death For Lambeth Walk

The convention sounded the death knell for the London-inspired "Lambeth Walk" and the "Boomps-a-Daisy," both of which were in vogue during the last two years.

Many factors influenced composition of "Liberty Parade," says Leroy Thayer, of Washington, D. C., the dancing masters' president.

"With a war in Europe, the draft controversy and national defense major issues in this country, the dance naturally took a patriotic air," he says.

"Too, the steps of 'Liberty Parade' are not too conspicuous; couples won't be hesitant to try them."

Steps Are Given

The routine, composed by Mrs. Edna Rothard Passapae of New Jersey, can be danced by a group or by couples.

Here are the steps of "Liberty Parade".

Figure 3: Take partner for four two-steps. Three steps forward, face forward, swing leg forward and backward.

Meet partner, take partner for polka circle and repeat from Figure 1. If dancing in group, partners are changed after Figure 4.

"Plymouth Rock," also sponsored by the Dancing Masters, reverses the jitterbug trend, for its keynote is smoothness.

Danced to a fox trot, the routine combines smooth rhythm with steps not too difficult for the average ballroom dancer.

It goes like this:

Dancers take positions and with the rhythm of the music point heel, point toe and step, close step forward for the next three counts.

Clap hands. Then with outstretched arms rock left, then right for counts 2, 3 and 4. Girl turns under partner's arm for two counts. Face each other and clap hands. Then take dancing position for eight counts of polka. Then the set of steps is repeated.

Work Of Big Gifts Group Is Outlined

Work of the big gifts group of the annual Boy Scout membership campaign here was outlined at a luncheon in Hilton hotel at noon today.

Members of the committee, as announced by Chairman Spencer A. Wells, are Hubert L. Allen, Morris Levine, Neil Wright, Paul Sherrod, M. C. Overton, Jack Randal, E. J. Parsons, Arlie Crites, Homer D. Grant, H. L. Kent, Arno Dalby, J. D. Hassell, jr., M. B. Hilburn, K. N. Clapp, Alex McDonald, Chas. H. Read, George Dupree, Sam Rosenthal, Charles Maedgen, Hurley Carpenter, Ray Hinchey and Daniel A. Blair.

The general membership campaign to obtain sustaining club members to support Boy Scout activities has been set for Oct. 8 and 9. George A. Simmons is general chairman of the drive.

The work of the big gifts group will be completed before the general campaign begins, Wells announced.
