'Nobody can be our spokesman'

Militant students uninformed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The students holding the American hostages say they know nothing about foreign observers interviewing their captives, promised by Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, and that Ghotbzadeh doesn't speak for them.

"We are not here to confirm or deny anybody's statement. We have not been informed about any meeting arranged with the hostages. If anything comes up, we'll announce it ourselves and nobody can be our spokesman," a student leader said of Ghotbzadeh's pledge.

The foreign minister made the promise at a news conference Tuesday, declaring: "We are going to have international observers to go and visit the prisoners in, I hope, a very short time, and afterwards I hope that visits will be made regularly."

However, he said he has not met with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's special envoy, Zuhair Yamin of Lebanon, who arrived in Tehran Monday hoping to visit the 50 hostages seized at the U.S. Embassy Nov. 4 by students demanding that President Carter send the shah back to Iran for trial.

Ghotbzadeh brushed aside denials by his own ministry and Sen. Edward Kennedy, a critic of the shah, and insisted Kennedy sent a letter to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini expressing support for his revolution and asking permission to visit Iran. Accounts differed on whether the message was a telegram or a letter.

A spokesman for the senator denied he had had any contact "whatsoever" with the ayatollah "or anyone in the Iranian government," and a spokeswoman for the Iranian Foreign Ministry said the message was a fake. Tehran Radio broadcast reports of the purported message during the morning but dropped it without explanation after noon.

Meanwhile, Khomeini's domestic difficulties appeared to be increasing.

He announced that he was sending an investigative commission to clamp down on what he called "anarchic" elements among his revolutionary guards who he said were seizing government land and buildings.

The ayatollah did not say where the land grabs were taking place.

There was no indication that a peace mission Khomeini sent to north-west Iran was making any progress toward quieting the rebellion of the Azaris, the ethnic Turks who seized control of Tabriz, Iran's fourth largest city, in a revolt against Khomeini's one-man rule.

The Turks and their spiritual leader, Ayatollah Mohammed Kazem Shariat-Madari, are Shiite Muslims like Khomeini and his Persian Iranians, and Shariat-Madari is considered the sect's second-ranking leader, behind Khomeini.

In an interview Tuesday, Shariat Madari warned Khomeini that if he did not liberalize his policies toward the Azaris in Azerbaijan, he would have a civil war on his hands.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance wound up a two-day swing through London, Paris, Rome and Bonn, and an aide reported "very strong support" for U.S. efforts to free the hostages. But the American official said there was no agreement yet on what joint action the allies should take.

Cheer Fund hits $10,500 mark

Donations to the Christmas Cheer Fund have now soared past the $10,500 mark, thanks largely to a $1,000 gift made by D.L. Doriand.

The campaign is sponsored by the local Salvation Army post. The money is used to insure the fact that needy families will have the proper nourishment during the holidays. In addition, toys are purchased for underprivileged youngsters.

Donations can be forwarded either directly to the Salvation Army or to the Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

Defense ministers warn

NATO may be threatened by communist power surge

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization warned today that build-up of communist military power and a Soviet bid for greater global influence threaten the security of the West.

The NATO foreign and defense ministers also meet jointly today to give final formal approval to plans to station 572 new medium-range American nuclear missiles in Western Europe.

In a statement issued after their year-end meeting, the defense ministers said the communist Warsaw Pact nations' military capabilities continue "at levels well in excess of defensive requirements."

William Mumford, NATO's secretary general for defense planning and policy said after the meeting that the Soviet Union increases its defense spending by between 4 and 5 percent annually — 11 to 13 percent of its gross national product.

The 15 NATO allies have set themselves a goal to increase their defense spending by 3 percent yearly, an aim not all members are meeting.

The NATO alliance also revealed preliminary figures showing 1979 defense spending for the 15 western nations was $211.6 billion, $126.4 billion by the United States and $85.2 billion by its European allies.

The plan, which has stirred considerable controversy in Europe in recent weeks, already has been accepted by key European governments, and the ministers' approval at NATO's annual winter meeting was considered a formality only.

The 464 Tomahawk cruise missiles and 106 Pershing 2s are to be stationed in West Germany, Britain, Italy, Belgium and the Netherlands. They will have sufficient range to hit targets in the Soviet Union.

The Carter administration and other advocates of the plan say Western Europe needs the weapons to give it a "flexible response" to the Soviet's new SS-20 nuclear missiles. Opponents contend they will escalate the nuclear arms race and advocate arms control talks with the Russians instead.

The Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies have condemned the NATO plan.

Four of the 15 NATO government were still jittery about introduction of the U.S. missiles. They were the Netherlands and Belgium, each earmarked to have 48 cruise missiles on their territories, and Norway and Denmark, which have misgivings although they would not have any of the nuclear weapons.

The Dutch Cabinet conferred until late Tuesday and was to meet again this morning to formulate the position its ministers would take at the Brussels meeting. Dutch officials declined to predict what this would be.

The Belgian government was reported advocating a compromise: if arms reduction talks with the Russians show real progress in the next six months, the decision to deploy the missiles would be rescinded.

NATO officials said even if the Dutch and the Belgians refuse to admit the weapons to their territory, they will be stationed in Britain, West Germany and Italy.

The first of the 572 missiles is not expected to be in place until 1983 at the earliest. NATO planners say it will take another eight years to deploy the rest.

HC's Southwest College for Deaf draws FAA flak

The Federal Aviation Administration has put a crimp in plans to locate a Howard College's Southwest College for the Deaf at the Big Spring Airpark.

On Dec. 7, Mayor Wade Choate received a letter from Bill J. Howard, chief of the FAA's Airports District Office in Albuquerque, N.M., saying that the FAA "cannot concur with the city's proposal to give the property away."

The city had run into a similar problem when it donated two storage buildings at the park to the Federal

Camp there. In both cases, the FAA has objected to the donation because neither the school nor the camp are revenue producing facilities for the airport.

Howard states in his letter to the mayor that "this property (the former Webb AFB Hospital) was given to the city for the sole purpose of generating revenue to adequately support the operation, maintenance and development of the airport facilities."

"This letter is almost a carbon copy of the letter we received in regard to the transfer of the other two buildings.

We were anticipating it," said City Manager Don Davis this morning.

Davis has conferred with Christian Hays, president of Howard College, which will sponsor the school for the deaf, to plan a response to the FAA's letter. Hays has discussed the matter with Department of Health Education and Welfare and Board of Education officials, and Davis plans to contact FAA officials soon.

"We don't view this as a final determination, but as a temporary setback. It is not a final step," said Davis.

Additional $75 million

TESCO customers face higher bills if Gulf request okayed

Texas Electric witnesses presented testimony in a Texas Railroad Commission hearing Tuesday on a Gulf Oil Corporation request which potentially could result in higher bills to TESCO customers.

Gulf has asked the commission to allow it to increase the price of certain gas it sells to a major TESCO fuel supplier, Odessa Natural Corp., by $25 million retroactively and about $50 million between now and the expiration of the contract at the end of 1981.

"Fuel is a major part of the cost of electricity, and any increase in the price of gas fuel to TESCO would, therefore, be an increase in the costs of serving our customers," TESCO President Bill Marquardt said today.

"If the Railroad Commission allows Gulf to pass this $75 million to Odessa and then allows Odessa to pass the $75 million through to TESCO, this will result in our customers paying an additional $75 million in their electric bills through the end of 1981," he said.

Marquardt pointed out that the Odessa Natural contract is one reason why TESCO customers are still paying among the lowest fuel costs in the state and nation. Under terms of that contract, TESCO is paying 22 cents per thousand cubic feet for the Odessa Natural gas.

TESCO intervened in the Railroad

Commission hearing, Marquardt said, "in order to make every effort to see that the terms of this contract are maintained and in behalf of our customers to keep fuel costs as low as possible."

TESCO witnesses are Vice President Wes Taylor and John D. McClellan, a Certified Public Accountant specializing in public utilities with the firm of Deloitte Haskins & Sells in Dallas.

Other intervenors include the Texas Public Utility Commission, Texas Power & Light, more than 130 cities served by TESCO and TP&L and wholesale customers of TESCO and TP&L.

Snyder student dies in bus mishap today

A Snyder School bus skidded and overturned 14 miles west of Snyder, killing one of the pupils aboard.

The body of the boy, who resided in the Fluvanna Community, is at the Bell Seal Funeral Home pending identification of the body by his nearest relative. The driver, Robert Adams, was not seriously injured but is undergoing treatment for shock.

Authorities said the boy was crushed to death about 8 a.m. when the bus slid off U.S. 180.

About 15 students were aboard the bus headed for North Elementary School and Snyder Junior High. The bus was not badly damaged, however. The student apparently fell out of the bus and the bus fell on top of him.

Special box for Christmas messages to hostages set up

Big Spring postmaster Frank Hardesty said this morning he was setting up a special box for Christmas messages which are being addressed to the 50 Americans being held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Iran.

The cards will be collected until Dec. 17, after which they will be sent to Iran, Hardesty said. There is no guarantee, of course, that the hostages will receive the cards.

Cost of delivery is 31 cents per half ounce. The cards should be mailed to: American Hostages, U.S. Embassy, 260 Taleghani Ave., Tehran, Iran.

The campaign to send Christmas messages to the hostages has the blessing of Congress. U.S. Cong. Charles Stenholm, who represents Howard County in Washington, recently introduced a concurrent resolution before Congress, urging the American people to mail cards to the hostages.

Howard County Spelling Bee will be held Feb. 19 at HC

The 1979 Howard County Spelling Bee, which will be sponsored by The Herald, will be held starting at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 19, in the Howard College Auditorium.

All elementary and junior high students in Howard County are eligible to compete. The champion earns an all-expenses paid trip to the Regional Bee at Lubbock and the winner there qualifies for the National Bee in Washington, D.C.

Both the local and the regional bees are being held earlier than usual this year. The Regional Bee is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Books for the 1979 bee have arrived and are being made available to students at a cost of 35 cents each. Some have been distributed by bee coordinator Helen Gladden in the local schools. While they last, others can be purchased at The Herald.

The winner on the national level becomes eligible for a scholarship at any school of his or her choice.

Janice Rosson will again serve as pronouncer at the 1979 Howard County Bee.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Auto wreck odds

Q. What are my chances of escaping involvement in an automobile accident during 1980? Seems to me there are far too many accidents and a shortage of automobile fuel might prove to be a blessing in a way because it will take more drivers off the road.

A. You could be right. The odds against you being in a automobile wreck during the year are no better than four in five, so look to both the left and right when crossing an intersection.

Inside: Battle surfacing

THE GIRLS ARE BACK, and fiery evangelist Lester Roloff says it was a mistake ever to send them away. He says it will never happen again. But the State of Texas is just as adamant that Roloff's Rebekah Home for Girls must be licensed, so the Baptists and the bureaucrats seem headed for another collision. See page 5-B.

RACKETEERS APPARENTLY ARE winning their war with Texas lawmen, who have been told they will never have enough men or money to effectively combat organized crime or its $5 billion a year drain on the state's economy. See page 10-B.

Freezing rain socks most of West Texas

West Texas was a mess this morning with freezing rain reported from as far away as North Texas and the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex to the east.

Jim Cample, national weather service spokesman in Midland, said the agency was forecasting the freezing stuff for the rest of the day. He said freezing rain is rain that freezes when it comes in contact with the ground or other objects.

The light rain in Big Spring is still freezing on cars, buildings and trees, due to a reported 30 degree temperature here this morning. The national weather service is forecasting an 80 percent chance of continued light rain through this afternoon.

Midland weather service said chance of rain tonight will probably change to 30 to 50 percent. A Thursday high in the 50s, will clear up any freezing left over from today or occurring tonight.

He said none of the city's bridges and overpasses were particularly bad but are still "icy in spots."

Midland and Odessa reported pea sized to one-half inch hail last night. Temperature there was 33 degrees this morning and some melting was occurring. Jim Cample said roads there were passable.

"As far as we know all the roads in Big Spring are open," according to Sgt. Jerry Edwards of the Big Spring Police Department. "The only thing you have to worry about is bridges and overpasses," he said.

The Big Spring Experimental Weather Station east of the Rip Griffin Truck Stop received .53 of an inch of rain Tuesday night. However, a gauge one mile north of the station received 1.15 inches. Coahoma received half of an inch of rain.

The Wilkinson Ranch 10 miles west of Big Spring reported .5 of an inch Tuesday night. Temperature was 30 degrees there with icicles still frozen on the trees.

Woodrow Scutty, Forsan, had received .2 of an inch by 7:30 a.m.

GOLD HITS HISTORIC HIGH — Unidentified persons check gold coins at London's Spinks & Sons, dealers in art, jewels and medals, today. Gold hit a historic high of $451 an ounce in Zurich today as the dollar came under pressure on European money markets over fears of a hike in oil prices.

Cosden shares project

Construction of $15 million polystyrene plant announced

Petrofina Canada, Inc., announced today that through its subsidiary, Finchem Canada Inc., it will build, at a cost of $15 million (Canadian), Canada's second largest polystyrene manufacturing plant. Finchem Canada Inc., is owned 51 per cent by Petrofina Canada, Inc., and 49 per cent by Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc.

The plant is scheduled to begin operations in early 1981, with an annual initial production of 79 million pounds per year — the equivalent of Canadian imports of polystyrene, the base material for a wide range of plastics.

The facilities will be located on a six-acre lot adjacent to Petrofina Canada's Montreal petrochemical and petrochemical complex. Finchem Canada, Inc., an international petrochemicals marketing concern, has made tremendous strides since its inception in 1975. With the polystyrene plant, the company extends its activities into the production of plastics raw material.

In announcing this major development, Pierre Nadeau, president and chief executive officer of Petrofina Canada, pointed out that approximately one-half of the plant's output will be sold and converted in Quebec by plastics molding and extruding firms, while the remainder will be sold on other Canadian markets. Nadeau also stressed the economic impact of the project: First, Canada's balance of trade will be improved by some $10 million annually; secondly, the added value of crude oil converted into finished plastics is especially significant, for it could reach 30 times the original value of the crude. Nadeau concluded that this project is an excellent example of optimizing a natural resource, and he expressed his confidence that the plastics industry will make the most of the opportunity.

High impact polystyrene, a styrene butadiene rubber compound, is used to manufacture many consumer goods, such as insulation, interior and exterior household appliance coverings, various types of packaging, and toys, to name only a few. Styrene itself is a derivative of benzene, which Petrofina Canada manufactures 260,000,000 pounds yearly at its Montreal refinery.

The project has the backing of the Quebec Industrial Development Corporation (IDC) in accordance with its objective to promote high technology industry in the Province. Finally, it is expected that the polystyrene plant will eventually double its production, thus reflecting the will of both Petrofina Canada and Finchem Canada to strengthen their commitment to the petrochemical industry — a key sector of today's economy.

Canned food gains admission to 'Adventures of Jody Shanani'

Charity will benefit from a movie which will be screened twice at the Ritz Twin-screen theater Saturday. The first showing will be at 1 p.m., the second at 3 p.m.

Those attending will need only one canned food item for admission to the movie.

Featured will be the film, "The Adventures of Jody Shanani," a G-rated production declared winner of the Award of Excellence by the Film Advisory Board.

The movie features Joey Keeper as "Jody" and also stars Ron McPherson, Bart Huffman, Denise Meek and Gayle Fleury. The well-known singer, Dotsy, makes a guest appearance.

Jody is 12 years old in the film, a young boy growing into a man in a dusty little Texas town of Val Verde. It was the summer of 1884, school was ending and the long lazy days of fishing and swimming in the cool clear river were almost at hand.

Jody, and his best friend Mike, were looking forward to enjoying the peace and quiet that lay ahead, but Jody's widowed father had other plans. His Dad was a freight hauler, and was about to lead a train of wagons loaded with supplies for the isolated Fort Clark, aware that his so was now rapidly approaching manhood, he decided to take Jody with him on the long trip. He knew it would be dangerous, but since Jody would probably take over the business some day, this seemed a good time to start.

So the next morning they left, Jody, his Dad, a train of half a dozen freight wagons, a scout, and a little stowaway kitten named Wolfbait. It was an eye-opening experience for Jody, for he saw for the first time new country, grazing longhorns, and even an immense herd of Buffalo; but there was more to come, and it wouldn't be pleasant.

One of wagons broke a wheel, and had to be left behind helpless. Then the scout picked up the trail of a renegade band of Comanches led by a ruthless cut-throat known only as Blue Wolf.

It didn't take long for Blue Wolf to find the wagon train. Jody's Dad realized the danger, and had the wagons pull into a circle to defend themselves, while he rode to Fort Clark for help. He hid Jody in the wagon's foot locker, and with the instruction not to move a muscle, he gave Jody 45 as a last resort, and rode off.

Blue Wolf's was as swift as it was deadly, and soon the entire train was destroyed, leaving none alive except Jody, hiding in the locker, while the wagon burned around him. Finally the Gang left with their spoils and Jody and Wolfbait were able to escape.

With nothing more than his blanket roll for comfort and Wolfbait for company he set out across the open country for home with the sad knowledge that he would never see his father alive again.

Food became scarce in the difficult days to follow, but Jody kept on. Finally after days of survival he couldn't push himself any further, and lay down for a long rest and left fate, and the vultures, to take its course. As luck would have it, he was found by three Buffalo hunters whose horses had been stolen by Blue Wolf, and the four unlikely wayfarers set out together for Jody's town of Val Verde.

Many long days later they reached their goal, with poor Jody barely alive and shell of his former self. The town doctor was summoned to try to revive the boy, and as the doctor ran to the fallen boy's side another figure emerged from the doctor's office... Jody's Dad.

Digest

Texas man charged

RAYVILLE, La. (AP) — A Texas man has been charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of a hostage, authorities said.

Charges were filed Tuesday against Jody Ray Craig, 22, of Rusk County, who surrendered without a struggle earlier in the day when his car was trapped at a roadblock on a bridge between Louisiana and Mississippi.

Authorities said the shooting victim was one of three persons kidnapped after a bungled burglary at Tyler, Texas.

Suspended sentence given

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — The 19-year-old driver of a pickup truck that crashed and killed 10 of his teen-age friends has been given a suspended three-year sentence on an auto manslaughter conviction.

Frederick Circuit Judge Samuel Barrick on Tuesday sentenced Alan B. Cole of Baltimore to three years in prison on each of the 10 counts on which he was convicted, ordered them to run concurrently and suspended the prison term.

Cole was driving a small pickup truck with 12 passengers — nine in the bed of the truck — that crashed into a tree along a dark, rural road April 23.

Crowd control planned

CINCINNATI (AP) — A plan to control crowds has been proposed by city safety director Richard Castellini in an effort to prevent a recurrence of the Dec. 3 incident in which 11 concert-goers died in a stampede for general admission seats at a rock concert.

Castellini's proposal Tuesday to the City Council's law and public safety committee called for submission of applications and application fees for events 30 days in advance. The city would determine what services and safety measures would be needed.

He also urged immediate implementation of a ban on general admission seating.

Fighter-bomber crashes

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Another vertical-takeoff AV-8A Harrier jet has been lost when one of the fighter-bombers crashed and burned in a cotton field. The pilot escaped serious injury.

The Marine Corps has purchased 110 of the British-made fighter-bombers since 1971. Thirty-eight have been involved in accidents with 12 deaths and 27 of the aircraft totally destroyed, officials said.

The latest Harrier crash came Tuesday after it took off from the Yuma Marine Corps Air Station, about nine miles east of this southwestern Arizona city.

Right of jury upheld

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal appeals court has ruled that the right to a jury in a civil case can't be denied because of the complexity of the case.

In its ruling Tuesday, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed and sent back to federal court in San Diego a complicated case involving 20 separate suits against U.S. Financial, a real estate company which collapsed in 1973.

Feazelle first joined the city staff in December of 1974 as an administrative assistant to the city manager. In October of 1975, he was promoted to the position of Director of Community Development.

He was named Director of Housing and Community Development in July of 1976, and in August of 1978, was promoted to his present position.

Officers plan turkey shoot

The Big Spring Police Association will sponsor a turkey shoot from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

The shoot will be held at the Police Shooting Range located just east of Berkeley Homes Inc. on 11th. Contestants may use their own .22 caliber rifles or pistols, or weapons will be provided.

Entry fee is $1.50, and police will furnish the ammunition. Only open sights may be used, and no scopes will be permitted.

Big Springer had 44 books published, still UT record

The late Curtis Bishop, who was raised in Big Spring and attended public schools here, holds a unique distinction among ex-students of the University of Texas at Austin, according to the UT magazine, Acadia.

Bishop, according to the periodical, had more books published — 44 — than any other ex-student in the history of the university.

Bishop, a one-time sports writer, specialized in children's literature.

Pre-registration ends Friday at HC

Friday will be the last day to pre-register for courses during the upcoming spring semester at Howard College, said Janice Dunagan, Registrar at Howard College.

"As of Wednesday afternoon, we have had 105 students pre-register," said Dunagan. "And that is about what we had at the end of the pre-registration period last year, and we still have Thursday and Friday to go."

Students wishing to pre-register for courses may still do so from 8 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m., Friday, Dec. 14, in the Registrar's Office located in the Administration Building.

Forms for immunization records and transcript requests will be provided by the Registrar for students to fill out for registration. All students planning to attend classes full-time are asked to bring their ACT or SAT scores.

Students who have not completed one of these tests will still be eligible to register. Howard College will offer the ACT test Feb. 16, 1980. The registration deadline for the test will be Jan. 18, 1980.

Registration for the spring semester at Howard College is scheduled from 1-4 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 10, for sophomore students, and from 8 a.m. till noon and 1-4 p.m., Friday, Jan. 11, for freshmen students.

Registration for evening students will be from 6-8 p.m., Jan. 10-11.

Spring semester classes will begin Monday, January 14. For additional information about registration, contact the Registrar's Office.

For the record

In the story "Hoods" will cover Gregg traffic lights" in Tuesday's Herald, it was stated that stop signs would be erected at each intersection where a traffic signal was covered. This should have specified that stop signs would control only east-west traffic crossing Gregg.

Clark named Airpark exec

Bob Clark was named today by City Manager Don Davis as the official Airpark Manager.

Clark had been serving at that post in a temporary capacity since the retirement of former manager Harry Spannaus, this summer.

"Bob has been on there on a temporary basis for too long. This appointment as permanent director is past due," said Davis, this morning.

Probation revoked

Probation was today revoked on Manuel Lopez, 23, 818 W. 7th, according to District Attorney Rick Hamby.

Lopez had been placed on five years probation in March, 1977 after being found guilty of DWI and carrying a prohibited weapon on a licensed premises.

He was arrested Thursday on a charge of revocation of probation and was held without bond on the authority of the Adult Probation Office.

Foul weather plagues state

By The Associated Press
Hurricanes and tornadoes were about the only type of foul weather missing from the Texas weather scene today as reports of sleet, freezing rain, snow, high winds, thunderstorms, fog and hail came in from around the state.

A cold front was moving southward along a line from Lufkin to San Antonio to Presidio during the pre-dawn hours.

The front triggered snow, sleet and freezing rain in the Panhandle, the South Plains and the Permian Basin prompting the National Weather Service to issue traveler's advisories.

Roads, mainly overpasses and bridges were coated with a glaze of ice and driving was hazardous across much of the western part of the state.

Winds just ahead of the front gusted to 62 mph at Guadalupe Pass in far Southwest Texas.

Fog was reported on the coastal plains and in Southeast Texas along the coast.

Showers and thunderstorms were reported in Northeast and North Central Texas.

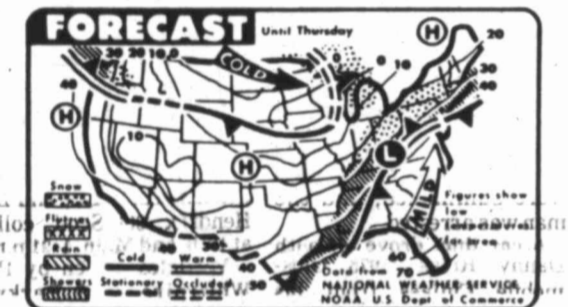

Marble size hail was reported at Odessa and Midland had reports of pea size hail.

Forecasts called for colder temperatures across most of the state. Occasional light rain was forecast for South Texas. Freezing rain and sleet was expected in Northwest and West Texas and snow was expected in the Panhandle.

Highs were to be mostly in the 30s and 40s with extremes ranging from the upper 20s in the Panhandle to the low 80s in extreme South Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s behind the front and in the 60s and 70s ahead of the front. Extremes covered a wide range from 16 at Dalhart to 74 at both Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Seasonable readings are forecast for most of the Pacific coast and Southwest.

Baby dies after admission refused

Two farmworkers suing hospital

DIMMIT, Texas (AP) — Two farmworkers, whose infant died after allegedly being denied medical treatment, are seeking $1 million in damages from the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmit and its administrator. Isidro and Raquel Aguinaga filed the suit Monday in a federal court in Amarillo on behalf of all indigent residents of Castro County.

The hospital, administrator Jack Newsom, the Castro County Hospital District and its board of directors were named as defendants in the suit, filed Monday in Amarillo federal district court.

The suit seeks enforcement of the hospital's obligations under state and federal laws that require hospitals to admit and treat needy patients despite their inability to pay. The Texas Rural Legal Aid office in Hereford has reported that the hospital received more than $700,000 in federal funds and committed itself under federal law to provide needy patients with free or reduced-cost care.

More education funds available to soldiers

ALBUQUERQUE — Up to $7,400 in education funds are now available to qualified high school seniors and graduates who complete only a two-year Army enlistment, according to Lt. Col. Thomas Schatzman, Commander of Army recruiting activities in New Mexico and West Texas.

An additional $2,000 has been added to the two-year soldier's Veterans Education Assistance Program (VEAP) fund already in effect. Through the VEAP a soldier contributes between $50 and $75 a month with the government matching funds two-for-one. If a soldier saves $75 a month for two years, he will receive $5,400 for an education after leaving the Army, added to the new $2,000 education bonus.

Challenging Army jobs in 32 skill areas are open to qualified men and women under this special two-year option," said Col. Schatzman. "Duty assignment could take a soldier overseas or anywhere in the United States."

In addition, over $17,000 could become available to soldiers enlisting for four years in certain limited job areas, continuing $8,100 in normal VEAP savings, a special $6,000 education bonus, and the $3,000 cash bonus offered for combat training. Education bonuses of $4,000 have also been added to the VEAP program for three-year enlistments.

Soldiers are also encouraged to take college and technical courses during off-duty hours, although Army duties must come before studies. The Army pays up to 75 percent of the tuition for approved courses, totalling nearly $14 million in soldiers' tuition last year.

Midland spotted a west offset to the lone dual producer in the Just Right (Ellenburger & Mississippian) Field of Borden County.

No. 1 Perryman is 750 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of Section 2, Block HB, J.D. Black Survey, nine miles northeast of Gail. Contract depth is 8,600 feet.

Local florist gains plaque

Faye's Flowers of Big Spring has been recognized as a "Top 1,000 Member-1979" by Florists' Transworld Delivery Association. Faye's Flowers received a plaque proclaiming the accomplishment. The award was based on the number of floral orders sent to other FTD shops. Faye's Flowers has been an FTD Member since Dec. 13, 1943.

Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD), founded in 1910, is the world's oldest and largest inter-city retail florist organization. It is composed of more than 18,000 member florists who directly service some 22,000 U.S. and Canadian cities and towns and provide extended delivery service to an additional 80,000 communities, worldwide, through Interflora, the international floral delivery network.

FTD is virtually unique in the American economy. Its business is the delivery — within hours — of flowers, plants and other gifts almost anywhere. It is not only a retail cooperative comprised of thousands of independent professional florists but a major business service (advertising, merchandising, research, consumer education etc.)

FTD sales amounted to over $315 million in the 1978-1979 fiscal year, highest in the organization's 69-year history. The total number of FTD orders (transactions) in 1978-79 totaled 17,904,953.

Robert Strauss big help to Carter

If you were 'making book' on the upcoming presidential sweepstakes, how would you 'handicap' the front-runners in the Democratic camp?

WE DARESAY TEDDY Kennedy had shown 'early foot' and was out in front, granted that the Massachusetts senator has a selling job in front of him in the Deep South and the South-west.

Jimmy Carter, on the other hand, is handicapped by a couple of big issues — energy and inflation. Either one could beat him, although the way he has handled the crisis in Iran could help him tremendously.

Kennedy hit the ground running. He knows he has the ability to fire the imaginations of the young and the minorities. The liberals were out waving his banners before he came out of the wings and he has the legacy of Camelot, which, good or bad, perhaps created more emotion in American politics than any other issue in the Twentieth Century.

Mr. Carter has something, however, that Mr. Kennedy doesn't have: Robert Strauss. The salient fact was underlined recently with word that Strauss would soon vacate his present position as President Carter's chief peace negotiator in the Middle East to take a leading role in the president's re-election effort.

It is no secret that Strauss is impatient with the glacial pace at which the peace deliberations have been moving. For that reason, it wasn't too difficult to predict his move.

If Strauss were just another veteran politico, this development wouldn't demand much attention. The fact is, however, that Strauss is one of the most skilled operatives in the national political arena. It bears remembering that, as Democratic national chairman he was responsible for binding up the wounds of the party after the 1972 McGovern debacle and giving a relative unknown like Carter the victory in 1974.

STRAUSS BEARS the scars from many a political campaign. His guidance and leadership could well prove invaluable to the Carter camp.

No one would be rash enough to say that Strauss has the charisma to turn the whole business around. Mr. Carter perhaps remains the underdog. But Strauss' connections with moderate and conservative Democrats — particularly in his home state of Texas — and his finely honed political instincts should bring a sense of direction and balance to the Carter re-election effort that has been conspicuously lacking up to now.

Catchy jingle

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

La la la "Lolly, lolly, lolly get your adverbs here. Lolly, lolly, lolly, get your adverbs here" . . . la la la.

Calm down. I haven't freaked out on grammar or over dosed on the various parts of the English language. But that little jingle goes on to explain the full definition of an adverb. And if someday, for one reason or another, I should momentarily forget the definition of an adverb, all I've got to do is sing the "Lolly, lolly, lolly, get your adverb here," jingle.

And it's not just adverbs either. I know a little song for verbs, nouns, conjunctions, and nearly every other type of word required to construct a grammatically correct sentence, sure to please any hard-nosed English teacher.

Confused? Well, let me explain.

IF YOU'VE EVER gotten up on Sunday morning and turned on the television to watch a few of your favorite cartoons while everyone else rushes around the house getting ready to be late for church, you've probably caught a glimpse of "Grammar Rock" while quickly changing the channel dial looking for a Road Runner cartoon.

Now, are we all on the same wave length? Sure, you've all heard of "Grammar Rock." And by golly, I think they've got something there.

I've learned more in the last couple of years watching those little five-minute English lessons than I learned from any book while in grade school, junior high or high school in 12 years.

For those of you unfamiliar with the format of "Grammar Rock" simply because you don't watch television, you don't go to church, or both, I'll fill you in.

It's comprised of a catchy, rhythmic tune and beat; funny, easy-to-sing lyrics; and clever, moveable sketches illustrating what the words of the song are trying to convey.

All of the song lyrics are easy to remember definitions and helpful applicable situations in which to use such grammar tools such as adverbs, as I musically sang to ya'll a few paragraphs back, verbs, adjectives, nouns . . . (I won't name the entire contents of the English language, mainly because I don't know them all, but you get the idea, right?)

Over the last couple of years, a lot of fingers have been pointed at television for tearing eager-to-learn and not-so-eager-to-learn students away from their books, charging this as the number one factor in the sudden surge of illiteracy in the nation.

"Kids don't know how to read because too much information is hand-fed to them by television," so the theory goes. So, why read if you don't have to?

Personally, I believe educational programs produced in a catchy, interesting format, contradict such accusations.

I don't think simple basic English grammar could be taught any better in a public or private school.

Getting a student's attention is half the battle. And believe me, these little jingles get your attention, even if it's only to chuckle at or make fun of them. A learning process still takes place.

Still another good point is the show's brevity. It doesn't throw the entire English and half of the Latin language at you at once. Just small, easy-to-remember, one-at-a-time segments.

THIS IS IDEAL for children with zero attention spans combined with an uncontrollable hatred for English. (It probably wouldn't hurt a few adults to take a couple of minutes out and brush up on their English either. But then, maybe not. Big Spring citizens are seemingly well educated in their grammar. Ya'll must already watch "Grammar Rock" on a regular basis.)

Other educational children's shows like "The Electric Company," "Zoom," and "Sesame Street" are pretty good too, I guess.

There's only one problem. I'm afraid to sit through too many episodes of Sesame Street. I have nightmares about Big Bird. (That's the truth, too. I really did have a nightmare about Big Bird, but I want my analyst to figure out its hidden meaning before I tell anything else.)

But anyway, the next Sunday morning you beat everyone dressed for church, pass on by the Road Runner (you know that coyote's never gonna catch him anyway, so what's the use) and turn to "Grammar Rock." If you're not careful, you just might learn something.

Iran and critics

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Concerning Iran, a few meditations on other people's observations:

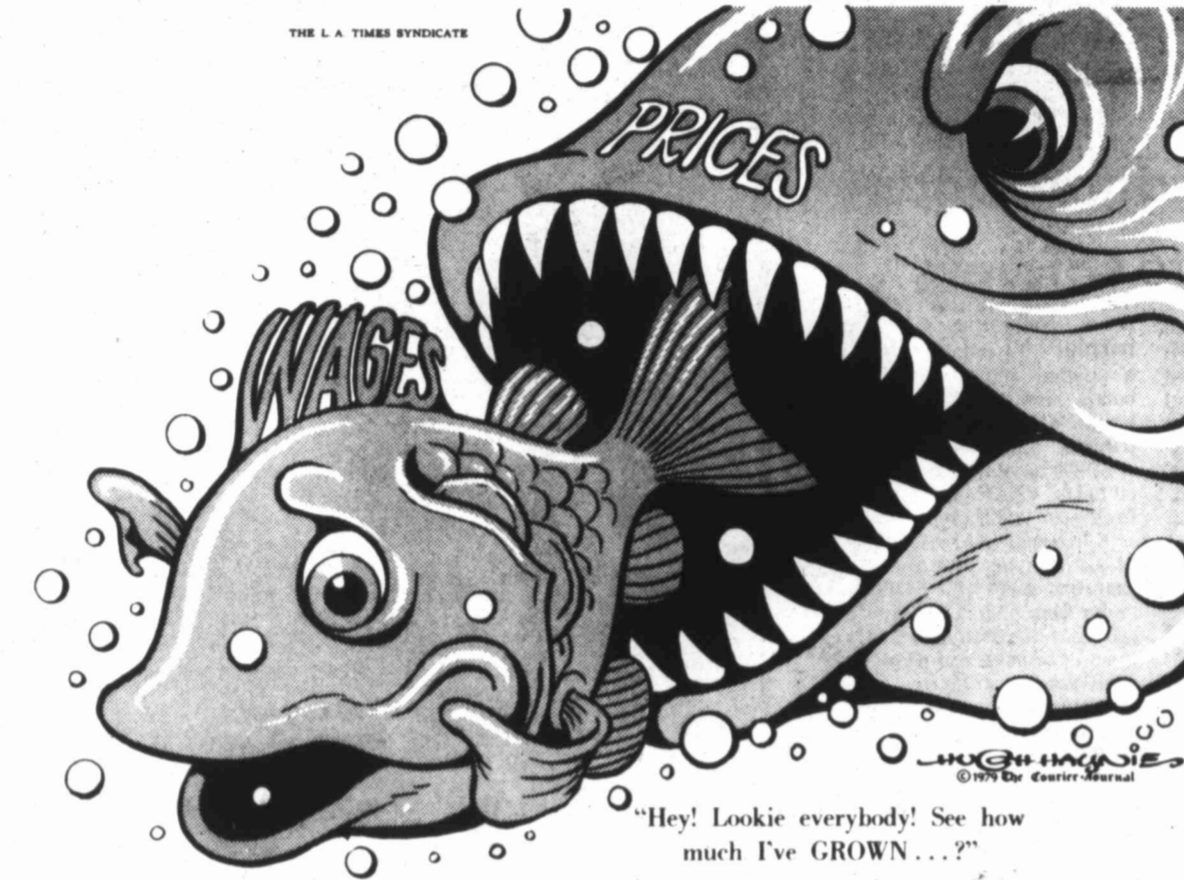

1. Professor Arthur Schlesinger has surprised the world by finding Senator Kennedy's assault on the shah an act of high statesmanship. (His previous reference to Senator Kennedy was to the effect that the experience of Chapquidick had ennobled him, much as the experience at Campobello had brought a sunrise to Franklin Delano Roosevelt.) The reasoning is that it is intrinsic to the art of diplomacy that you try to put yourself in the shoes of your opponent.

THIS MEANS, in the current situation, that we must show some sympathy for the views of the students, and indeed of Iranians in general, on the shah. By so doing, Mr. Schlesinger reasons, we separate the two questions: a) the hostages and their illegal seizure; and b) the official attitude of the United States toward the shah. But if the U.S. were to take officially a hostile position toward the shah (actually, we didn't take any official position on him; we extended to him the use of our medical facilities), we will have paid a price to the fanatics as dishonorable as deserting the hostages, or returning the shah. It should be redundantly clear that the United States does not approve torture or corruption. It should be as clear that we are powerless to extirpate evil from this world. It should be equally clear that the United States is not prepared to pass judicial judgment on a 37-year-old career of a chief of state at the prodding of a jacobinical mob.

2. Mr. Carl Rowan is upset that so many observers tend to think of Iran as a Third World country, and he is partly right. The high per capita income of Iran moves it over the line from the poor countries to the wealthier countries. That distinction was earned by the discovery and development of Iran's oil resources, primarily due to British enterprise; and to the industrialization of Iran, primarily due to the shah; and to the liberalization of many Persian institutions, substantially due to pressure by the United States on the shah.

HOWEVER, THE convulsive recidivism of the ayatollah's Iran brings back to mind the Third World image of a country in which anarchy reigns, in which a sectarian religious ferocity recalling another epoch mocks the notion of the advent of civilization. A Lesser Developed Country is not necessarily one to which one is entitled to condescend. But a country that tolerates mob rule under a self-hypnotized hater-merchant whose ideals include the re-enslavement of all women is, by common acknowledgment, a Lesser Developed Country.

3. Mr. James Reston echoes the plea (made a month ago in this column) that more be done to mobilize Islamic sentiment against the ayatollah. Mr. Reston shares with others the fear that the disciples of the Lord will, in His name, continue to give Him a bad name: the kind of thing the Inquisition did to the reputation of the Christian religion. The Koran recommends, as the Old Testament does, some rather gruesome civil remedies. But its spirit, and some of its concrete provisions, are quite simply incompatible with the temperament and the prescriptions of the Shiite spokesman of Islam in Iran. The broader Islamic community has here and there spoken, but what is needed is a central switchboard to beam the message loud and clear: the ayatollah is contradicting the clear commandments of Islam.

Germ reservoir can cause chronic rash

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In my medical book I don't find much about impetigo. Is it contagious? What medicines are used for it? What is the true cause? I've seen children who are kept really clean get it. Should clothes, bedding, etc., be boiled? What about Lysol for the bed? Should toys be boiled? — M.S.

Your questions cover the impetigo waterfront.

Impetigo is a bacteria-caused skin disease, chiefly of youngsters. The strep and staph germs are responsible. Impetigo scabs have golden crusts. The corners of the mouth and the face itself are chief targets.

Yes, it can be spread to other parts of the body and from one child to another. The face is affected because the germs can live inside the nose. Young children are notorious nose "dribblers."

So control is the key. Antibacterial soaps should be used on the infected areas, and sometimes antibiotics by mouth are needed — penicillin or its chemical cousins. Clothing, toys, and wash towels should be isolated from those of other children. Boiling is not necessary. Hot soapy water is sufficient. Lysol need not be used on the bed. Use toys that can stand washing for the infection period.

If a child gets impetigo repeatedly, you may be dealing with a reservoir of the germs — in the nose or anal area. Tests will determine this. If this is a factor then antibacterial ointments can be applied to those areas.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I want some information about a condition known as "plantar fasciitis." I know from my own experience that it is extremely painful. I have tried to find this in books but to no avail. Is it hereditary? — Mrs. M.E.B.

"Plantar" refers to the sole of the foot. "Fascia" is a collection of dense tissue at the bottom of the foot. It arises from the heel bone and fans out toward the toes, giving the foot stability.

Strain of this tissue is common in runners. The repeated stress on the foot causes an inflammatory reaction. Are you a jogger? I suspect we have seen a dramatic rise of this problem because of the jogging interest in recent years. Foot support and heel pads are sometimes helpful to relieve the stress on the underside of the foot. A shoe with a flared heel helps distribute the stress over a wider area of the foot and reduces the pain. It is not hereditary, but may occur in families (of joggers!).

Dear Dr. Donohue: My sister has Stein-Leventhal disease. She had surgery to remove growths. Please tell us about it and whether or not it is cancerous. The surgery doesn't seem to have helped, and her doctor seems unwilling to discuss the future. She is planning to get married, and has become despondent. We have had difficulty finding out about this problem. Can you advise? — Mrs. T.M.

Women with Stein-Leventhal syndrome have some or all of the following problems: infertility, scanty menstrual periods, and obesity. It is not cancerous. The problem is with the ovaries. They become enlarged and can be felt during a pelvic examination. The ovaries develop many cysts and become covered with a tough capsule. All this makes ovulation difficult, leading to the infertility.

Fortunately, effective surgery is available. The surgery is called "wedge resection." A small wedge of tissue is removed from the ovary. I assume this is the surgery your sister had. More than 85 percent of women who have it resume normal menstruation with the ability to become pregnant after this treatment.

Certain fertility drugs are also used. Clomphene is one. Recently the drug treatment has become favored over surgery by some doctors. It may be some time before the effects of surgery or the drug therapy are noted.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A friend of mine is in prison, and has just written me that he has become a Christian. The conditions are very bad in that prison, however, and it will not be easy for him. What can I do to encourage him? — F.M.

DEAR F.M.: Recently I spoke in a large prison (as I have done many times), and I was impressed again with the spiritual hunger of so many of the people there. I am thankful that many, many prisoners are finding Christ across our nation, just as your friend has.

First of all, pray for your friend, as I am sure you are doing. He needs God's strength (as we all do), and God can help him in this difficult situation. Pray that God will give him the courage to face temptations, and that God also will give him a hunger to grow as a Christian. Remember: "The prayer of a righteous man is powerful and effective" (James 5:16). Then encourage him to get into the Scriptures. If he does not have a Bible you might consider getting one of the good modern translations and sending it to him. The Bible is God's Word and will fortify him with God's truth and teaching. We are commanded to "take . . . the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" as we battle against evil (Ephesians 6:17).

Also, encourage him to seek out other Christians in the prison, if there are any. (He may be surprised to find there are many there who, like him, want to stand for Christ.) He should take advantage of any opportunities for fellowship with others. If there is a Christian radio station he can listen to, he can learn from the teaching of other speakers. The prison library also may have Christian magazines which will help him with some of the basics of the Christian life.

God has given you an opportunity to help this friend grow in Christ. Encourage him, even if he stumbles and falls. God loves him and wants him to become a strong disciple of Christ — just as He does every other believer.

Denies stories

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Big bluff John Connally may be both the best and the worst of the presidential candidates.

The tough-talking Texan has impressed political reporters as a man of charisma and intelligence, the kind of decisive, take-charge president many Americans seem to be yearning for. If he has any uncertainties, he has kept them pretty well hidden.

BUT AT THE SAME time, Big John is widely perceived as the darling of Big Business, the mouthpiece for Big Oil and the buddy of the Arabs who are picking American pockets at the gas pumps and burning American flags throughout the Moslem world.

Connally purports to be mystified at the perception that he is the candidate of Big Business. "I am concerned about . . . the picture of me as a rich man's candidate," he says. "The idea that I am the tool of corporate board rooms is pure baloney."

Unfortunately for Connally, the record shows that this particular baloney has a lot of meat in it. From the public record, still-secret documents and dozens of knowledgeable sources, my associate Gary Cohn has compiled evidence that belies Connally's disingenuous protests.

In fact, the nation's corporate fat cats haven't had such an unabashed champion of their point of view aiming for the presidency since Calvin Coolidge, who asserted that "the business of America is business." And their affection for Connally has been demonstrated in practical, dollars-and-cents fashion.

Federal Election Commission records show that Connally has raised huge amounts of campaign cash from oil company executives, bankers and investment brokers. If there's an oil company whose top brass hasn't kicked into the Connally coffers, it must be 3-in-1 or Progressor Olive. The roster of Big Oil contributions includes executives at Mobil, Gulf, Exxon, Texaco, Standard of Indiana, Standard of California, Getty, Occidental, Shell and Superior.

A YEAR BEFORE the election, Connally had raised a whopping $4.3 million for his campaign, due mainly to the largesse of Big Business and Big Oil. By comparison, his Republican rival, Ronald Reagan, had collected $2.8 million, and Jimmy Carter had raised $2.4 million.

Despite Connally's claims of "baloney," it's no secret that the business community considers him their man. At a recent banquet in New York City, 26 of the sleekest corporate fat cats in the country were asked whom they were supporting for president. Every single one named Connally.

It's also no secret why Connally has been able to milk the board rooms so successfully. He has promised businessmen that they would have "a friend in the White House" if he's elected. More specifically, he has spoken out in favor of turning the anti-trust statutes — already pretty much of a paper tiger — into a thoroughly tame pussycat. He also opposes the law that forbids U.S. businessmen to bribe foreign officials, on grounds that the ban puts American businessmen at a competitive disadvantage.

The issue of corporate bribery, of course, has figured in Connally's past. He was indicted — though eventually acquitted — for his involvement in the milk-fund scandal during the Nixon administration.

Although he got out of that particular quid-pro-quo predicament, Connally has profited from his past performance — and his future promise. As secretary of the treasury under Richard Nixon, Connally pushed successfully for the $250 million loan that bailed out the Lockheed Corporation. Not surprisingly, the Texan's fund-raisers were blessed with the maximum $1,000 contribution from Lockheed's board chairman, Roy Anderson.

Connally's rise from a barefoot boy in Floresville, Texas, to wealth and influence in Austin and Washington had a certain Horatio Alger flavor — it was accomplished largely on the coattails of two powerful patrons, Lyndon Johnson and Texas oilman Sid Richardson. Johnson taught him how to wheel and deal in politics; Richardson made him wealthy by hiring him as his attorney.

Though Connally now makes little attempt to mask his obvious affinity with the money boys, it was not always that way. When he was governor of Texas, he denied that he was receiving any money from the Richardson estate. The fact of the matter, when finally brought out, was that he had received the bulk of a $750,000 executor's fee from the estate while he was sitting in the governor's chair.

Connally's Big Business connections have proved valuable when it comes to fund-raising for his presidential bid. Whether they'll go down with the voters remains to be seen.

An even bigger question is whether his profitable links to the Arab oil moguls — which we'll detail in a future column — will prove too bitter a pill to swallow by an American public outraged at the financial misery and national humiliation the United States has been suffering at the hands of the Middle Eastern petroleum potentates.

TOUGH MATERIAL — These rows of ribbed polyethylene battery separators manufactured by W.R. Grace & Co., in Owensboro, Ky., are converted to sealed 'envelopes' surrounding each battery plate and then enclosed permanently in today's maintenance-free auto batteries. The separator material is tough enough to withstand acid attack and insulate the positive and negative plates for the rated life of the battery while allowing electrolyte to flow freely through millions of tiny pores. Grace, an international chemical company with related natural resources activities and selected consumer services, maintain an agricultural chemicals plant (now inactive) on IS 20 east of Big Spring.

Local candidate for governor

Youths plan takeover of government offices

By EILEEN McGUIRE
Word has reached the Herald that Texas youth are planning a takeover of government offices in Austin.

The takeover will occur Feb. 27-March 2 when Big Spring high school students join other Texas youth in Austin to try their hands at running the state's governmental affairs.

The event is the annual highlight of the YMCA's Youth in Government program. In the program, the students study Texas law and the legislative and judicial systems of their state. Saturday, Big Spring participants will travel to San Angelo to attend a Youth in Government District Conference that will prepare them for their days in government.

Also at the district conference, a slate of government officials will be elected from nominations made by each group of students.

Beverly Wheeler, the Big Spring students' candidate for governor, could find herself sitting in Governor Bill Clements' seat if she is elected Saturday, enabling her to run for governor at the state conference in Austin.

Other local candidates are K.K. Griffen for speaker of the house, Carrie Little for house clerk, Lynn Ivy for senate clerk, and Misty Johnson for Hearing Committee chairman.

About 40 students from Big Spring will be attending the San Angelo conference Saturday, accompanied by volunteer advisors Ken and Liz Edwards, and youth supervisor Hanna Coleman.

According to Ms. Coleman, the youth will not be playing the roles of government in Austin; they will be living the roles. The Big Spring group has already been assigned a legal case by the junior bar in San Angelo and they have prepared their case.

One of the students, senior Mark Matthews, will serve as the judge during hearings in two completely different courtrooms. Attorney teams have been assigned to represent the parties involved in the case.

"For two days in Austin, they will be judges and legislators," said Ms. Coleman.

The YMCA program gives high school youth an opportunity to not only see first-hand, but also to feel their government in action.

Employers should file wage, tax statements with SSA

Employers should file Copy A of Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," furnished to their employees with the Social Security Administration (SSA) and not with the Internal Revenue Service. Texas employers should send these copies by first class mail to Social Security Administration, Albuquerque Data Operations Center, Albuquerque, N.M. 87180.

Form W-3 should accompany all mailings of Form W-2 to the SSA. Both Forms W-2 and W-3 are available from local IRA offices and should be filed by Feb. 29, 1980 for wages paid in 1979.

If an employer's payroll includes several individual business establishments, the copies of Form W-2 should be grouped separately for each establishment. Each group should then be sent to the SSA with its own Form W-3.

An employer may use several packages if the number of forms to be mailed is unwieldy. The number of packages being sent should be written below the title on Form W-3 and placed in the first package. The employer's name should be put on each package which should also be numbered in order.

Employers who wish to learn more about Federal employment tax responsibilities can attend Small Business Tax Workshops sponsored by IRS and area colleges. Call IRS toll-free for further information about the Small Business Tax Workshops.

Sheriff to use $9,000 surplus to pay deputies for overtime

MIDLAND — Midland county commissioners have agreed to let Sheriff Dallas Smith use a $9,000 surplus from his 1979 budget to pay for over 2,000 hours of overtime accumulated by sheriff's deputies after being reassured by Smith that he would develop a plan to avoid a similar problem next year.

Up to now, the district attorney's department here has been the only county department to pay overtime to employees.

Smith had the problem in 1979 was caused by the fact that his department was operating with an average of two men short much of the time.

The sheriff's department here operates with a 48-hour week. Officers below the rank of sergeant will be paid the overtime first.

Berry farmer turns 90

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Walter Knott, the berry farmer who turned his roadside stand into one of the nation's biggest amusement parks has celebrated his 90th birthday.

A family party was held Tuesday at Knott's Berry Farm amusement park in the luxurious mobile home where Knott lives, "within a stone's throw of the first berry stand," according to his son Russell Knott, 63.

The elder Knott, who is also credited with the success of the boysenberry, is no longer active in the management of the 150-acre farm, now operated by his four children and six grandchildren.

Nearly 60 years ago, Knott leased 10 acres of land and grew berries which his family sold from the roadside stand. The stand evolved into a produce market, a tea room, a restaurant and eventually a ghost town attraction and other amusements, including thrill rides.

Baez wins CLA for 1979

The award is presented annually to acknowledge contributions to the advancement of civil liberties. Previous winners include Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Carey McWilliams, editor of The Nation and feminist Harriet Tilpel.

Sermon subs for lecture

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The spiritual poverty of the West is harder to overcome than the hunger of the poor in India, says Mother Teresa, who substituted a heartfelt sermon for the traditional Nobel Peace Prize lecture.

"Today there is so much suffering, and I feel the suffering of Christ is being relived. Not only in the poor countries but in the countries of the West, and I've found poverty in the West more difficult to remove," the 69-year-old Nobel laureate, who has spent more than 30 years helping the poorest in Calcutta's slums, said Tuesday.

Minnelli has miscarriage

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer-actress Liza Minnelli is resting at a friend's midtown Manhattan apartment after suffering a miscarriage, according to a friend.

Miss Minnelli, who was two months pregnant, was rushed to New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center on Monday morning and was released late that night. She was recently married to Mark Gero.

"We are both heartbroken," she said. "It's a big setback. But we intend to try again, possibly in January."

Dickinson receives praise

NEW YORK (AP) — Television "Police Woman" Angie Dickinson met with real-life policewomen in New York, and was presented an award by the Policewomen's Endowment Association.

Miss Dickinson, who visited police headquarters Tuesday, also won praise from Police Commissioner Robert McGuire, who has been rumored to be preparing to leave his post.

"If you join the department, I will stay indefinitely," he said.

470,000 cotton samples classed

B. B. Manly reported that 64,000 cotton samples were classed at the U.S.D.A. Cotton Marketing Services Office in Abilene during the week ending Friday, Dec. 7. This brought the season's total to 470,000. An additional 87,000 samples have been classed at the sub-office at Munday, Texas.

Local cotton prices were steady to higher during the early part of this past week, but were weak to steady late in the week. Bid prices ranged from 10 to 12½ cents per pound over CCC loan values. Low micronaire cotton sold at mostly 4 to 8 cents over the loan. Most mixed quality lots of cotton sold at physical prices ranging from 56 to 60 cents per pound. Demand continued good for base mike cotton, and light to moderate for low mike cotton. Producers offered cotton freely, and trading was active.

Cottonseed prices paid producers at gins ranged from 105 to 120 dollars per ton.

Flee oppressive conditions for 'liberty'

Nicaraguan refugees worried

PORT ISABEL, Texas (AP) — Twenty-six Nicaraguans who arrived in the United States safely, after fleeing what they considered oppressive conditions at home, are worried about three friends who didn't make it.

Kent Ellis Gordon, 27-year-old Captain of one boat carrying the refugees, said Tuesday three boats started the journey from El Bluff, Nicaragua but one turned back with three persons aboard.

"We have had no communication with them since last Saturday," Gordon told KGBT-TV at the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service detention center.

The men, women and children with Gordon traveled for nine days aboard two 80-foot shrimp trawlers.

They requested political asylum and are being processed by INS officials, said INS District Director Hal Boldin of Harlingen.

Processing usually requires a month, Boldin said. Six Nicaraguans are being held in a detention area while the others were allowed to return to the boats, where they have adequate food supplies, Boldin said.

Gordon said he left his wife and five children to escape confiscation of private property by the new government formed after President Anastasio Somoza was ousted by Sandinista rebels.

"You have something and work and own something and they take it away from you," said Gordon, who owned the boat he guided to the United States.

When asked what he wanted out of the trip, he answered, "Liberty."

Life was easier under Somoza, the shrimper said.

"It was a lot better than now. They are confiscating a lot of homes," he said.

Gordon was one of a few refugees who spoke English. He said he hopes to send for his family and is worried about what will happen to them now that he is gone. He said his wife gets seasick easily and could not make the voyage.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Tom Reston declined comment on the groups arrival and complaints of conditions in Nicaragua.

San Antonio minister to head Baptist radio

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A San Antonio minister, hailed as "one of the more effective and powerful Christian workers of this generation," has been named president of the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission.

Dr. Jimmy Allen, pastor of the First Baptist Church in San Antonio, said he expects to assume his new duties Jan. 15.

Fred Isaacs of Cosby, Tenn., chairman of the commission's trustees and head of the search committee, announced the appointment Tuesday following a meeting of the full board.

Allen is immediate past president of the Southern Baptist Convention, the world's largest evangelical denomination. His 9,000-member congregation in San Antonio is the sixth largest in the SBC.

Allen was selected from an initial list of more than 60 names.

Trustees had expressed displeasure during the year with the direction the commission was taking with its films and recordings. Dr. Paul Stevens, the former head, took early retirement.

Allen urged the denomination to use the radio and television commission in Bold Mission Thrust, first in developing deeper relationships with Southern Baptist agencies and announced his intentions of working with local churches.

Veteran's benefits are not property, court says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A veteran's disability benefits are not property, subject to division in a divorce, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today in ordering William Johnson discharged from the McLennan County jail.

The Supreme Court said Johnson had been sentenced to 30 days in jail for failure to comply with a portion of a divorce decree requiring him to turn over one-half of his monthly check from the Veterans Administration Retirement Fund to his former wife.

Johnson, the court noted, joined the Navy in 1947 and was married in 1951. In 1959 he was given a medical discharge. He was suffering lateral sclerosis and arthritis of the spine "which were service connected and 100 percent disabling at the time of his discharge," the court said.

Johnson received disability retirement pay but in 1970 waived his retirement pay in order to receive the larger disability compensation benefits from the Veterans Administration.

It is apparent, the court said, that the compensation is a payment for service-connected disease and is not the result of an "earned property right."

Congress expressed "strong intent," the court said, that such benefits were intended for the use of the recipient.

Awarding Johnson's ex-wife part of his anticipated future disability payments "conflicts with the clear intent of Congress that these benefits be solely for the use of the disabled veteran," said Justice Charles Barrow's opinion.

State's largest teacher groups move closer to consolidation

The 126,000-member Texas State Teachers Association and 38,000-member Texas Classroom Teachers Association, largest teacher organizations in the state, have moved closer to a proposed consolidation.

The TCTA-TSTA Consolidation Task Force completed "consolidation proposals" for submission to the memberships of both associations.

TSTA President Cecile Russell praised the task force for its efforts on behalf of Texas teachers. Mrs. Russell pointed out that the TSTA elected house of delegates and the TCTA elected representative assembly will have the power to consider, alter, and ratify a final agreement, as stipulated in the proposals document.

She praised the task force proposals as "providing us with a basis to move onward

Will arrange new elections

British rule restored briefly

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (AP) — Lord Soames was arriving in Salisbury today to restore British rule briefly over its former African colony after 14 years despite warnings from guerrilla leaders that the move was premature.

Although the son-in-law of the late Sir Winston Churchill was coming as a caretaker governor to arrange new elections and manage the transition to legal independence as soon as possible, the Zimbabwe Rhodesian government laid on a full program of pomp and ceremony for his arrival.

The highlight of the airport ceremony was the playing of "God Save the Queen" and the raising of the Union Jack for the first time since former Prime Minister Ian Smith's all-white government unilaterally declared independence from Britain in 1965 to forestall black rule.

In preparation for the governor's arrival, Zimbabwe Rhodesia's first black-majority Parliament met Tuesday and voted to dissolve itself and restore governmental power to Britain.

Although the vote was a formality ratifying agreements reached at the 13-week-old London peace talks, the session stretched late into the night as black and white legislators took advantage of their last opportunity to voice fears and hopes for the future.

The British government decided to dispatch Soames to Salisbury despite a deadlock in the peace talks over organization of a cease-fire in the seven-year war between the Patriotic Front guerrillas and Rhodesian government forces.

The conference agreed in principle on a cease-fire last Wednesday, but guerrilla leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe have objected to the proposed massing of their troops at 15 camps encircled by British peacekeeping forces while government forces remain at their regular bases.

Gag order upheld by state high court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today upheld a San Antonio judge's order prohibiting newspapers and radio and television stations from making public the name of a juvenile accused of murder.

The Express-News Corp., Harte-Hanks Television Inc. and three reporters — Tom Nelson, Frank Patrick and Ed Gonzalez — appealed the order of State District Judge Carol Haberman.

The Supreme Court, however, refused to grant a hearing.

Court records show that a juvenile — "P.R." — appeared with his father at a Nov. 12 open court hearing before Judge Haberman and pled "not true" to a murder allegation in the death of William Barnett.

After the hearing, the judge entered an order forbidding the use of P.R.'s name or photographs or film showing his features. The order also prohibited the identification of the youth's parents.

The newspaper corporation and TV station protested that their information was "legitimately obtained not only from court records, but also from disclosures made by public officials. An order restricting the use of the information so gathered is beyond the power of the court and should be vacated and set aside."

BUMPER STICKERS GOING FAST — John Rosen with a display of Anti-Iranian bumper stickers and U.S. Flags which he said were selling well as he set up business on the sidewalk near the City Hall in San Antonio Tuesday. Five Iranian students from San Antonio College staged a sit-down hunger strike in protest of the deposed shah's presence at a nearby air force base as well as the city denial of a permit for them to stage a demonstration parade.

Iranians begin fifth day of strike

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Five Iranian students who withstood a day of taunting and insults from an angry mob today huddled under umbrellas on the steps of City Hall as they began the third day of a hunger strike.

"I like the people of San Antonio. What happened yesterday was led by four or five persons," said Farshad Rafizadeh, one of the five San Antonio College students. "We all love them."

The Iranians, protesting the presence of the deposed shah at nearby Lackland Air Force Base, were whisked through a back door of city hall to the police station late Tuesday after the threatening mob swarmed around them.

Rafizadeh said they remained at the police station for about 30 minutes before going home.

The sudden overnight drop in temperature may keep the mob, spurred on by a local country-western disc jockey, from returning today, according to City Manager Tom Huebner.

"They're sitting there in the cold and rain. Very few people are attracted to that situation so it's no problem right now," Huebner said, peering out the front door of City Hall at the students. "They can just sit and freeze...I was glad to see the cold and rain. I wish we'd get more cold and rain."

The Iranians appeared tired this morning and Rafizadeh said he is beginning to feel weakened.

They had new signs after their other ones were ripped apart by the crowd Tuesday.

During Tuesday's confrontation, the police used more than 50 officers to keep the crowd from the students.

It was the most serious confrontation here since the deposed shah of Iran was brought Dec. 2 to nearby Lackland Air Force Base for an indefinite period of recuperation.

The demonstration began when Ricci Ware and Jud Ashmore, two local country-western disc jockeys, called on their listeners to gather at City Hall to oppose the students and demand the Iranians be forced from the steps.

Ware and Ashmore arrived, ordered the students to leave and then began ripping up the students anti-shah signs and a poster of the Ayatollah Khomeini. Police escorted Ware away and formed a protective ring around the students.

The students sat quietly all day as insults, obscenities and threats were showered on them.

Crowd leaders packed the city council chambers Tuesday night as the city council refused an appeal of the city manager's refusal to allow permission for an anti-shah parade.

The fast is in protest of the shah's presence and the denial of the permit.

Ware told the council the crowd was not causing the problems outside the building. "I ain't causing nothing. It's the Ayatollah Khomeini and these yo-yos who are causing this," he said, pointing to the five students seated on the front row. At that, the students stalked out of the chamber, one raising his hands in a triumphant gesture.

During the council session, City Manager Tom Huebner said the parade permit was denied because of potential violence between the students and Ku Klux Klansmen who planned a counter-rally.

After the unanimous council vote upholding Huebner's decision, the crowd squeezed through a city hall door and returned to taunt the Iranians, who were again perched on the steps. The crowd screamed, "Get them off our steps," as more than 40 police officers formed a human wall around the students.

Ware had threatened to personally resolve the impasse by throwing the students off the steps.

"I guess I might have to do it myself," he said. "They are going to come off those steps this afternoon if I have anything to do with it. And I might end up with my head busted, but if I do, I do. I've been there too, I guess."

Bonn last stop of four-nation tour

Vance finds 'very strong support'

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance in his tour of America's major European allies has found "very strong support" for U.S. efforts to free the 50 American hostages in Tehran but no agreement yet on what joint action they should take, a spokesman for Vance reports.

"They were very much interested, but they did not commit themselves," the high-ranking U.S. official told American reporters on Vance's flight from Rome to Bonn, the last stop of the secretary's four-nation swing before the NATO winter meeting in Brussels.

The official said options discussed with the British, French and Italian leaders ranged from a total embargo on trade with Iran to blocking food shipments and oil equipment.

"In all three stops there was a great sense of outrage about the continued flaunting of international law and practices," the official said. "We are operating against a background of very strong support for the United States."

The results of Vance's meeting with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt Tuesday night were the same, Schmidt's spokesman indicated. He said the chancellor reiterated West Germany's support for the United States and promised his government would do as much as the other European allies to help resolve the crisis.

The high-ranking American official, who refused to be identified by name, said he had no doubt that the major countries would cooperate if the U.N. Security Council voted sanctions against Iran. But he conceded that the Russians, though they joined in the council's resolution calling for the release of the hostages, might veto sanctions. He said the United States would seek Soviet cooperation before it tried to get a U.N. boycott.

In the past, the Security Council has voted a total trade embargo against Rhodesia and an arms embargo against South Africa. The Rhodesian embargo crippled that country's economy but did not strangle it, while the arms embargo against South Africa has not reduced its military strength appreciably.

As a nation that relies heavily on exports, West Germany in principle is opposed to trade embargos except in extreme situations.

Administration likely to appeal decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration probably will appeal a federal judge's ruling that it cannot deport Iranian students illegally living in this country, a Justice Department official says.

U.S. District Judge Joyce Hens Green ruled Tuesday that the administration's program, launched after the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, violates the equal protection clause of the Constitution by singling out Iranians for deportation.

Within two hours, the Justice Department filed a notice of appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals. That filing, said department spokesman Robert Stevenson, keeps the administration's options open while it considers the next move.

Stevenson said attorneys working on the case had indicated "they would recommend an appeal."

On Nov. 10, President Carter ordered the Immigration and Naturalization Service to begin checking the student visas of more than 50,500 Iranians allegedly studying in the United States.

So far, 50,437 have appeared for interviews with federal officials, who have determined that 6,042 are subject to deportation. At least 41,254 are complying with their visas, say officials, who have asked for additional information from more than 3,000 others.

The officials said 405 requests for asylum have been forwarded to the Justice Department. Of those subject to deportation, 778 have agreed to leave the country voluntarily and 47 have already left. Nine have been deported.

But any further deportations were blocked by Mrs. Green, who also relieved any other Iranian students from reporting. The administration had set a Thursday reporting deadline.

While the reporting requirement was an "understandable effort" to respond to the embassy seizure, Mrs. Green said, the presidential directive cannot "excuse the wholesale nullification of the rights of the students."

She said constitutional protections cannot be overturned by the government's concern for the safety of the 50 Americans taken hostage Nov. 4. Government lawyers had said violence against Iranian student demonstrators in this country could lead to retaliation against the American captives.

An attorney for Iranian students who sued the government said Americans should not be upset by the ruling.

"It's a decision by a court of the United States saying the Constitution prevails for the president, for the attorney general, even in a time of crisis," said David Carliner, the attorney.

"The court has said that in the conduct of foreign policy, and in the conduct of any policy, the president of the United States has to act within the limits of the United States Constitution. It's a victory for the American people, not a defeat."

Hawk Queen High School Classic begins tomorrow

The Third Annual Hawk Queen High School Girls Basketball Classic opens Thursday morning at 8:30 a.m., initiating a three-day run with the finals Saturday night. The tournament is sponsored by and operated by the members of the Howard College Hawk Queens basketball team. Coach Don Stevens is tournament director.

It promises to be an interesting tournament in that it will feature large schools and small schools pitting their strengths against one another. Teams also will be in attendance from a wide geographical area, which will offer the opportunity to compete against unknown opponents.

Large schools make up the bulk of the field with entries from Odessa High, Snyder, El Paso Parkland, Fort Stockton, Midland High, Big Spring, El Paso Address, Odessa Permian, and San Angelo Central.

Stanton, Denver City, and Forsan High Schools are the only three smaller high schools that will make up the twelve team field.

A clear-cut tournament favorite is difficult to designate. Slaton, last year's champion and the Class AA state champion, will not return. Among the large schools, Midland High and El Paso Parkland may be the class of the field. Denver City, coached by former Coahoma High School and Howard College star Sherrie Griffin, will bring an experienced and talented group that showed to advantage in last year's tournament. This is Coach Griffin's first coaching stint after having finishing her playing career at Hardin-Simmons University.

Ron Taylor's Forsan team may be as good as the best in the tourney. The Buffalo Queens have sacked up tournament championships in both the Crane and Sterling City tournaments and field a balanced, aggressive, depth-blessed team.

Each team will be guaranteed three games, win or lose, with trophies awarded to First, Second, Third and Consolation winners. In addition, ten all-tournament trophies will be awarded as well as the selection of the outstanding player of the tournament.

Tickets will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students per day. This is for a full day of basketball which will be in continuous session.

As an added feature The Hawk Queens will take on the Texas Tech Red Raiders in a Friday night exhibition game. Tip off time for that game will be 8:00.

Former HC All-American Archie Myers now MC assistant

Hawks host unbeaten Midland College

ARCHIE MYERS IN PLAYING DAYS WITH HAWKS — Former Howard College All-American Archie Myers has a word with Coach Harold Wilder during Myers' playing days in old Poverty Pavilion during a 1971 contest. Myers, who owns the Howard College career scoring records, was the second leading scorer in the nation during his sophomore year here with a per game average of 36.8. In his freshman year, which was also Wilder's first year at the HC helm, the play of Myers led the Hawks into the Region V finals.

Myers is now in charge of the Intramural Athletic Program at Midland College, and also serves as an assistant basketball coach for the undefeated Chaparrals, who play Howard College tonight at 8:00 in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Howard College Hawks will be hoping to be the first team to defeat the high flying Midland College Chaparrals tonight when the two schools meet in a Western Conference game at 8:00 p.m. in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Howard is coming off a disappointing 82-81 loss against Western Oklahoma Monday night, while the Midland College team held on for an overtime win over Amarillo College.

Midland College is currently 13-0 on the season and 4-0 in WJC play. Coach Tony Stone returns four starters from last year's team that made it to the regional semifinals before losing to Western Texas. The Chaps are not an extremely tall team, but rely on their quickness and outstanding jumping ability, which should make tonight's affair against the full-court press of the Howard College a high scoring and exciting affair.

Midland's returning stalwarts include forwards Tim Shelby and Chuckie McGill, post Kenneth (Downtown) Young, and guard John Tate.

Howard College, currently owning a season mark of 8-4 and a WJC record of 1-2, needs a win badly tonight in order to not fall too far behind in the WJC title chase.

Hawks Coach Harold Wilder is expected to start a lineup featuring guards Rocky Rawls and Bobby Word, forwards Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones, and center Mike Wallace.

Wallace has been on a scoring streak in his last four games, averaging just under 35 points per game.

Cowboys still having problems with math

DALLAS (AP) — America's Team is still having trouble with simple math.

It all started Thanksgiving Day when 12 Dallas Cowboys were caught on the field during a Houston punt. The penalty setup the Oilers' game-winning touchdown.

There were angry arguments along the sidelines, including a clipboard spike by specialty teams Coach Mike Ditka.

After 10 days of and numerous practices, the Cowboys were guilty of not having the legal 11 players on the field thrice Saturday against Philadelphia in a 24-17 Roger Staubach led victory.

Coach Tom Landry said

Tuesday that injuries and the modern age of specialization are giving coaches and players nightmares.

"Things are much more specialized and teams are shifting in and out," said Landry. "Then if you get a lot of injuries like we do you have a situation where there can be a breakdown in communications."

Landry said the Cowboys had 12 men on the field during an extra point against the Eagles and added "We didn't even block it and got a roughing penalty."

Another time Dallas had 12 players on defense but officials overlooked it.

Yet another time the Cowboys had only 10 players on defense, permitting Wilbert Montgomery to flee 34 yards with a short pass because the wideback linebacker was a no show.

Cowboys Assistant Coach Ermal Allen said "it's tougher than you think" to get 11 players on the field.

"I look at films every week and there's not a week that goes by that you don't have a big laugh by seeing some team without the right number of players," said Allen. "People accuse you of not being able to count."

"Well, it's just more complicated than that. If a player gets hurt, then it is up to the trainer to notify the coach. A lot of times an injured player will go back into the game without telling his replacement."

Lamesa topples Steers

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tors broke open a tight game in the fourth quarter against the scrappy Big Spring Steers to take a 69-54 win in a non-district clash here Tuesday night.

Big Spring, who pressed from the word go, got themselves into foul trouble early in the contest and were forced to play catch-up basketball. The Steers continued to stay close, but their foul troubles finally proved to be too much to overcome in the final stanza.

Victor Spencer paced the Lamesa effort with 18 points, while teammate Eddie Arrendondo added 16, with eight coming from the free throw line.

Big Spring was led in the scoring column by junior James Doss, who had 20 points. Mike Domino added nine and Cesar Espinose seven for the Steers.

Big Spring returns to action Friday at Plainview.

Score by quarters:

Dunbar rallies by Steer fems

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Dunbar rallied from an eight point deficit in the final quarter to take a 44-42 win over the Big Spring Steers in a girls basketball game here Tuesday night.

The Steer fems held a 36-28 lead entering the final stanza, but the quick Dunbar team employed a full court press that forced numerous turnovers by the Big Spring team.

Big Spring was led by the efforts of Pam Banks, who scored 21 points. Shirley Dixon added eight for the Steers. Dorkus Perkins was the high point scorer for Dunbar with 20 points.

Big Spring Coach Barbara Fletcher had mixed emotions about the contest, stating: "We didn't handle the press very well in the final part of the game, throwing it away four times in the final minute and a half," but then continued, "but we are showing improvement by rebounding well on defense and getting our running game started off of this."

Fletcher praised the play of Big Spring guard Delia Billalba in the contest.

Dunbar won the junior varsity game by a score of 51-23. Yolanda Allen paced the winner's with 19 points, while the Shorthorns were led in scoring by Rochelle Rutledge, who had seven points.

The Big Spring ninth grade girls basketball team suffered a loss to Seminole. Cindy Fulmer had 11 points to lead the Big Spring fish, with Sylvia Randle adding eight. The Big Spring varsity, who now sport a season record of 4-7, will enter the Hawk Queens High School Classic this weekend that is starting tomorrow in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Big Spring will meet Stanton on Thursday morning at 8:30 a.m. in first round play.

CALLS IT QUILTS — San Francisco running back O.J. Simpson, a legend in his own time, smiles as he acknowledges applause in San Francisco's Candlestick Park Sunday. Simpson announced his retirement in pre-game ceremonies. Then, the 49ers went out and downed Tampa Bay, 23-7, for their second victory of the season.

Klondike shoots by Forsan Buffs

KLONDIKE — The Klondike Cougars swept three games from Forsan High School in basketball action here Tuesday night.

The Klondike girls junior varsity took a 36-28 win in the opening game. Forsan's Vickie Baggett scored eight points to lead Forsan.

The Klondike girls then handed the Forsan girls only their second loss in 10 games, with both coming from the Cougars, by a score of 53-39. Sisters Dana and Cynthia Cave led Klondike in scoring with 21 and 15 points, respectively. Christi Adams had 11 to pace Forsan.

The Klondike boys then capped off a perfect night for the Cougars by taking a 48-43 win over the Forsan boys. Airhart and Holcombe had 14 and 12 points, respectively, to pace Klondike. Vance Stevens was high point for Forsan with 19 points, with Weldon Nichols adding 10.

In the girls varsity game, Forsan connected on only 26 per cent of their shots. Forsan Coach Ronny Taylor commented: "We shot such a low percentage due to Klondike's good defense, and this was caused by the fact that they simply outplayed us."

Both Forsan teams return to action tomorrow in tournament play.

The Forsan boys play Whiteface at 2:00 p.m. Thursday in the Plains Tournament.

The Forsan girls will meet San Angelo Central at 4:00 p.m. Thursday in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum in the first round of the Hawk Queen High School Classic.

Bum won't question officials call

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bum Phillips isn't interested in singling out for scrutiny a controversial call on an on-sides kick attempt by Pittsburgh Monday night in the Oilers' 20-17 victory.

The short kick came with 1:18 left in the game and although the boot appeared to travel the required 10 yards, side judge Willie Spencer ruled the kick too short and penalized the Steelers five yards.

On the subsequent kick, Oiler tight end Mike Barber cradled the ball and the Oilers held on to win one of their most important games of the season.

"You don't think I'm going to say that was a bad call do you?" Phillips said Tuesday in reviewing the play. "If I'm going to question that call, I'd have to question some other ones that went against us."

The Steelers had been building momentum throughout the fourth quarter and had just scored on a 34-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to John Stallworth, climaxing a three play, 71-yard drive.

What would have happened had the Steelers retained possession on the on-sides kick will never be known and Phillips doesn't really care.

"If I questioned that call, I might also have to question two pass interference calls on (Ken) Burrough and (Rich) Caster, so if the officials were right then, they must have been right on the on sides kick too," Phillips said.

Phillips won't allow the Oilers to spend too much time dwelling on any play in the Pittsburgh game. The Oilers must prepare for their final regular season game in the Astrodome Sunday against Philadelphia, also playoff bound.

The Oilers go into the game with an 11-4 record, and a chance to emerge with the best record in the National Football League this season and the American Football Conference Central Division title.

Phillips would like to think the Oilers are on the road to the Super Bowl and if they are, he figures there'll be another meeting with the Steelers.

"The road to the Super Bowl runs through Pittsburgh," Phillips said. "Sooner or later you've got to go to Pittsburgh."

Forsan JHS beats Kittens

The Forsan JHS boys defeated the Kittens by a 42-13 count. Daniel Bristo scored 18 for Forsan.

The Forsan JHS girls defeated Garden City JHS by 24-11. Dana Cannon and Connie Strickland led the Buffs in scoring.

Spurs comeback falls short

DENVER (AP) — It looked like a cinch. Denver led by 34 points early in the third period and San Antonio didn't seem to have a chance.

But it's never over until the final buzzer and, in the end, the Nuggets had to scramble to pull out their 127-121 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night.

NBA scoring leader George Gervin tallied 41 points and teamed up with Larry Kenon in the last period to bring back the Spurs. San Antonio had trailed 82-48 earlier and 97-74 entering the fourth quarter.

"We made a run at them and we still had a chance to win it," San Antonio Coach Doug Moe said later. "We needed David (Thompson) to miss one of those free throws (with 10 seconds left) so we could come back with a 3-pointer and tie the game."

"If you play with a lack of defense and a lack of effort like we did for the first three quarters, you can't win," Moe said. "The other team sees you playing like that and it gives them confidence and they start playing much better."

San Antonio now is 15-14. Denver Coach Donnie Walsh was bitter about the referees' calls, but also said he thought the Nuggets were sleepwalking in the final period.

"I think we're coming around," Walsh said, referring to the dismal first month of the season that is mostly responsible for Denver's 11-20 record.

He noted that George McGinnis had his second straight 30-point game against San Antonio, and he said, "We're seeing the real George McGinnis out there now."

McGinnis, who averaged a sluggish 13.2 points a game until Sunday at Los Angeles — when he hit 32 — was delighted with his 35-point showing against the Spurs. "The problem's more psychological than physical," McGinnis said. "I've played the last two games with the attitude that I haven't played with for the first 30 games of the season."

The Spurs out-scored Denver 25-10 to pull within 107-99 with 6:43 to go. When Gervin scored 15 points in the final 6½ minutes, San Antonio trailed by only two. Gervin scored two of those points on free throws with 17 seconds showing on the clock, trimming Denver's lead to 123-121.

But Thompson hit two free throws with 10 seconds left and teammate George Johnson added two more with 3 seconds to go to salt away the victory.

ELBOW ROOM — San Antonio Spurs George Gervin moves Denver Nugget Dan Issel away from the basket as Spurs' Paul Griffin takes a shot. Gervin did more than block though as he scored 41 points to lead the Spurs from a 34 point deficit to within two points before falling 127-121 to the Nuggets.

Giving Thought To Gift-Giving

DEAR ABBY: Last year you devoted an entire column to what and what not to give for Christmas gifts. I thought it was one of the most helpful columns you ever wrote. Please run it again.

OVER 80 IN OKMULGEE, OKLA.

DEAR OVER 80: That column was so well received I've updated it. And here it is:

DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas (or Hanukkah) shopping early.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Bessie or Grandpa, who don't get out much, let me tell you what NOT to give them:

No dusting powder, after-shave or cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes, or other bric-a-brac.

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Bessie doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets.

With the price of groceries so high, folks who live alone on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes, or other bric-a-brac.

Another thoughtful gift is lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

Shut-ins would appreciate a box of greeting cards for all occasions so that they, too, can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport! Stamp some envelopes.)

Don't give anyone a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for the color and style, too.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some other useless little doodad you received for Christmas three years ago, please don't. It's a pretty fair bet the recipient will find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, YOU might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for ANY amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting his pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he'll enjoy.

Please, don't ever send a gift in a box bearing the name of a store unless you bought it there. Should the recipient want to exchange it, he will be embarrassed, the store clerks will look bewildered, and it won't make YOU look too good.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate since if the recipient tries to take it back he will be told, "Sorry, Sale merchandise is not returnable."

Don't give a pet to anyone unless you're absolutely sure it's wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin of cat or dog food for the pet.

Love,
ABBY

TWEEN 12 and 20 — Girls—hit the weights

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Over the years there has been a popular assumption that since men who lifted weights developed big, bulky muscles, women who lifted weights would develop the same way. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Women have 10 percent more fat than men in their total body weight, which makes it physiologically impossible to build the same muscle masses as males, says a leading teen magazine. Also, women don't produce the male sex hormone testosterone, which promotes muscle growth.

So though the myths persist, young women are learning to ignore them and are now taking to weight training in growing numbers.

Among the female athletes who use weights are tennis players Margaret Court, Martina Navratilova and Billie Jean King. "There's a feeling that women don't want muscles, that it will make them less feminine, but we're overcoming that," King says.

"Weights give you definition instead of flab. They keep my mind and body together, ease tension, help me feel better and get along with less sleep."

While lifting weights may add pounds to the frame, that doesn't mean fat. Experts stress that muscle is twice as dense as fat, so numbers can be deceptive.

At Indiana University, where all 10 of the women's intercollegiate teams now use weight training, the girls of the athletes' thighs and calves were measured before and after the program began. According to Marge Albohm, a trainer at the school, "There was a gain in strength and muscle tone, but no appreciable increase in bulk. In fact, many times the thighs and calves were smaller."

Weight training for women is no longer taboo, and athletes' performances are improving because of it. Besides, Albohm says, "a well-toned body is much more attractive than one that's skinny or fat."

So gals, if your boyfriend lifts weights, you no longer have to stay home and wait. Now you can join him.

Dr. Wallace: We are not writing, but to give you some information. We are two girls, 13 and 14 years of age, and are going with the most considerate, sweet, handsome guys who respect us and treat us like queens. The 14-year-old girl is going with a 19-year-old guy while the girl, 13, has a 26-year-old boyfriend.

In many columns you said such relationships wouldn't work and that the guys who date young girls are "sick." We are proof you are wrong. After reading this letter, I hope you will change your attitude! — Twins, Columbus, Ohio

Twins. Of course, there are always exceptions to everything but I still oppose older guys dating younger girls. I still feel 13-year-old girls who date 19-year-old guys have problems. I still would forbid my 13-year-old daughter from dating an older guy and I still won't change this attitude.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 24-cent stamped, large self-addressed envelope to Dr. R. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Christmas card tips for working women

If you're a working woman, you may be pressed for time this holiday season. But there's one tradition you shouldn't break and that's the sending of Christmas cards.

Most important, of course, are the holiday wishes you'll send to family and friends. But, sending such greetings to business associates can build prestige and enhance your professional reputation as well.

The Christmas card can be a friendly and effective way to communicate with clients and colleagues, said Jeanette Lee, vice president of corporate design for Hallmark Cards. "A growing number of working women are discovering the value of sending Christmas cards as they reach top-level management positions," she explained.

Mailing holiday cards to clients and business associates is vastly different, however, from the familiar personal greetings you send to a friend. The key is to choose an appropriate style and select the recipients with care.

Lee offered the following suggestions to businesswomen contemplating a Christmas mailing.

Establish an up-to-date mailing list. To send a card to every name on your address roster is bad form and costly. If you haven't had any business dealings with the person over the past two years, a Christmas card is unnecessary.

Visions of sugar plums dance in their heads

Is it really better to give than receive? Not if you're harboring a tantalizing Christmas fantasy.

Noble sentiments aside, a recent survey at a national public relations firm revealed yearnings for rather posh presents.

High on the list of Christmas fantasy gifts were trips to faraway places, either alone or with a suitable companion. Cruises around the world or jaunts to Paris, Athens, Hawaii and Choose a style of card that's in good taste. Since your mailing list will probably include people with a variety of religious affiliations, Lee recommended a card with a general message like "Best Wishes for the Holiday Season." The traditional holiday symbols such as poinsettias, trees or holly are always good.

Make your card a personal message. If you choose to have it engraved, you must still sign your name. Lee suggested you add a friendly note to the recipient. The envelopes must be hand-addressed, too. Finally, keep the cards out of the office postage-meter machine and use stamps instead.

Buy the best you can afford. A Christmas card calls attention to the giver and should do so in the best way possible. The paper weight and the quality of the printing all reflect your level of taste. "A working woman should take great care to develop a positive image," said Lee. "A card invites contacts and draws attention to your activities."

Keep it simple. Since you've probably never met the members of the recipient's family, it's not necessary to mention them. Accordingly, keep your house members' names off the card.

Above all, advised the Hallmark consultant, take time to give your Christmas mailing the attention it deserves. Don't pass the task off to a subordinate.

Christmas Gift Shop successful

The Baptist and the bureaucrats

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The girls are back, and fiery evangelist Lester Roloff says it was a mistake ever to send them away. He says it will never happen again.

But the State of Texas is just as adamant that Roloff's Rebekah Home for Girls must be licensed, so the Baptist and the bureaucrats seem headed for another collision.

Roloff — who built a nationwide following through a radio program — was forced to close his home for wayward girls in June after a three-day standoff during which 300 Bible-waving supporters formed a human wall to separate the girls from state welfare workers.

It was the climax of a six-year battle with officials, but Roloff still refuses to bow to what he calls "unconstitutional, unscriptural and un-American" regulations the state says he must follow to house children younger than 18 at his Rebekah Home.

"I'll never sacrifice my girls on the altar of an unrighteous decree," vowed the 65-year-old Roloff in an interview at his house.

But on June 22, Roloff had to surrender to a court order that he close the home. Some girls went to Roloff's summer camp in Culloden, Ga. Others returned home to parents or drifted away, he said.

Brother Roloff, as he is popularly known, spent the summer restructuring the home's management, transferring ownership and control from Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises to his Peoples Baptist Church, which is adjacent to the girls' home.

Roloff reopened Rebekah on Sept. 13.

Fifty of the original 180 girls arrived on a bus from Georgia after what one girl said was a "summer of sadness."

Now the home houses more than 100 girls — most of whom Roloff says are "terminal cases" with backgrounds of prostitution or drug and alcohol abuse. Some judges send girls to him rather than sentence them to prison.

As a church-run institution, Roloff claims, the home is protected from state regulation.

Texas Attorney General Mark White disagrees. He said it doesn't matter who operates the home — it still must be licensed. White has filed a second suit to shut down the facility.

Roloff says that amounts to state meddling in church affairs.

The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld the Texas law that requires all institutions providing 24-hour care to persons under 18 to be licensed and inspected by the state.

A Nueces County grand jury indicted Roloff June 28 on charges of operating a child care home without a license. Hearings have been postponed several times and one is now scheduled for January. The maximum penalty would be a $1,000 fine and six months in jail.

Still closed and up for sale is Roloff's Anchor Home for Boys in Zapata, Texas. That facility closed in June, before the Rebekah brouhaha. Roloff said he plans to build a new Anchor Home.

A third Roloff home, the Lighthouse for Boys, is located about a mile from the Rebekah Home. It is not subject to state child care regulations because its residents are 18 or older.

The girls live in a two-story building within a compound just outside city limits. Also included are a farm, a landing strip, staff quarters and the church.

The Rebekah rooms are carpeted and kept immaculately neat. The girls' education is divided between self-paced instruction and regular classes. Heavy emphasis is placed on Bible memorization, a chapter at a time.

Roloff administers what he calls Bible-based discipline with "licks" and solitary confinement, which the girls call lockup.

A year stay at the home is considered the minimum. Some girls remain longer.

During a tour of the home, 16-year-old resident Judy Burnett of Dallas said she ran away from Roloff and tried to kill herself before "getting saved."

"I was in lockup and Mrs. Cameron (wife of the home superintendent) piped in music," she said. One song inspired her to ask forgiveness for her rebellious behavior and go straight, she said. The girl is now trusted to look after new girls who might try to run away. She chats eagerly about her boyfriend at the Lighthouse.

Roloff said he's still deciding what he will do if the state tries again to shut him down. He said residents of Louisiana have offered an 80-acre tract "loaded citations" have come from Tennessee, Florida and Alabama, he said.

When his girls left in June he called them "prisoners of war" and termed the faceoff "the Christian Alamo."

Never again, he says.

"It was a compromise when I closed, but it's a compromise I'll never make again," he said. "The news media uses the words 'Brother Roloff defies the state.' But that's not it. To me, it's a matter of not defying the Lord."

Hindu Untouchables killed

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Police reported unidentified men killed 14 Hindu Untouchables and wounded eight others in a raid on Jadonpur village, in Uttar Pradesh state 200 miles southeast of New Delhi, the United News of India reported.

HITS HIGH — Chart shows gold prices during the last four years.

Gold hits $451-high

LONDON (AP) — Gold hit a historic high of $451 an ounce in Zurich today as the dollar came under pressure on European money markets over fears of a hike in the oil price.

Gold opened in London and Zurich just below the previous all-time high of $447, recorded in London at the close of trading Tuesday.

But by lunchtime, it had advanced to $451 in Zurich, where it closed Tuesday at $445.50. London's major bullion houses "fixed" the price for the morning trading session at $449.75.

Gold closed Tuesday in New York at $451, an all-time high.

Fears of a 30 percent increase in the price of oil next week helped push gold up and depress the dollar on European foreign exchanges. Gold is an investor's haven in times of monetary uncertainty.

In Tokyo, however, worries over oil seemed to have a reverse effect, and the dollar strengthened. Japan imports around 99 percent of its oil and the yen tends to suffer more than the dollar amid gloomy oil news.

The dollar closed in Tokyo at 237.35 yen, up from 235.85 Tuesday.

The Japanese central bank reportedly sold $30 million to curb the rise of the dollar.

Morning dollar rates in Europe, compared with Tuesday's late rates:

Frankfurt — 1.7305 West German marks, down from 1.7375.

Zurich — 1.5940 Swiss francs, down from 1.5967.

Paris — 4.0575 French francs, down from 4.0790.

Milan — 811.65 Italian lire, down from 814.80.

Amsterdam — 1.9070 Dutch guilders, down from 1.920.

In London it took $2.20 to buy a British pound, compared to $2.1903.

Carter bringing presidential campaign to him

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Iranian situation has kept President Carter off the campaign trail, but it has not prevented him from actively using the lure of the White House to bring the campaign to him.

Today, for instance, he arranged an afternoon in Washington for more than three dozen leaders from Manhattan's network of neighborhood Democratic clubs — a level of political workers not accustomed to being briefed by the president's top domestic and foreign policy advisers or having the president himself "drop in" on their meetings.

Kennedy falls behind Carter in Gallup poll

CHICAGO (AP) — President Carter has moved ahead of Sen. Edward Kennedy as the Democratic voters' choice nationally for the 1980 presidential nomination, the latest Gallup Poll reports.

The survey, completed Dec. 9, shows a dramatic jump in Carter's popularity as he became the choice of 48 percent of the Democrats, compared to Kennedy's 40 percent.

In mid-October Kennedy led Carter by a 2-1 ratio, and in the Nov. 16-19 poll, Kennedy led by a margin of 55 percent to 36 percent.

The president's increasing strength among the voters is due, at least in part, to Americans' support for his actions in the hostage crisis in Iran, and a renewed faith in his ability to lead the country, poll officials said. Seventy-five percent of those surveyed approved of the president's handling of the Iran situation.

The poll, published in the today's editions of the Chicago Sun-Times, also cites Kennedy's criticisms of the deposed Shah of Iran as a factor helping Carter.

The president's standing also has improved among independents, and he now holds a 25-percent lead over Kennedy in that group. The previous poll showed Kennedy with a 50-37 percent lead over Carter among independents, but Carter now leads 56 percent to 31 percent.

The dramatic change of Carter's fortunes in the poll is the largest increase in a president's popularity in the last 40 years, except those following Pearl Harbor and the signing of the Vietnamese peace treaty, poll officials said.

Poll results are based on inperson interviews with 1,303 persons age 18 and older in selected localities throughout the country during Dec. 7-9. The nomination results are based on interviews with 530 Democrats and 423 independents.

A telephone poll of 525 adults taken Dec. 5-6 by Gallup reaffirmed Carter's renewed strength, with 61 percent of the respondents approving of the way he is handling his responsibilities.

Planes bump in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials say no one was injured when a Braniff International Airways jetliner, with 58 persons on board, brushed wing tips with a commuter plane Tuesday night while taxiing on a ramp at Houston Intercontinental Airport.

"The flight was taxiing for takeoff to Tulsa when the incident occurred," said Braniff spokesman Mike Kaeser of Dallas. "The airplane returned to the gate and passengers were put on another aircraft and sent on their way."

Minor damage was reported to Braniff's Flight 352, a Boeing 727, and to the twin otter operated by Commutair, a small Houston-based airline.

It was not immediately known how many persons were aboard the commuter plane and Commutair officials could not be reached for comment.

Both planes were taxied back to hangers so the damage could be surveyed, an air controller said.

Although White House staff members say Carter is no more accessible than usual, his activities are provoking criticism and frustration among supporters of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in much the same way then-President Ford's "Rose Garden strategy" was attacked by Carter during the 1976 campaign. Kennedy is challenging Carter for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

"He is not devoting 24 hours a day to Iran," responded Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell. "If he can't travel — and in our view he can't — I don't think he should be placed in the position of doing nothing for his re-election efforts."

More than just county chairmen in Iowa, the first state to choose national convention delegates, are reporting calls from the White House.

"He must be spending two hours a day on the phone," said one political aide whose boss is still uncommitted in the Democratic contest.

"City councilmen in Buffalo, (N.Y.) John Deere factory managers in Iowa, these calls are turning up everywhere," said the aide who also requested anonymity.

The Iranian crisis forced Carter to cancel a long-planned campaign tour last week that would have put him on television stations and front pages across the country. Instead, he has had the cameras in to catch him greeting visitors from out of town in the Cabinet Room or some other White House setting.

'Adequately trained teachers' big problem in bilingual education

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A shortage of "adequately trained teachers" who are fluent in both English and Spanish is the primary obstacle to the education of Spanish-speaking children in Texas, according to a bilingual consultant to the Texas Education Agency.

"There are 155,000 teachers in the state of Texas and only 7,860 are certified bilingual teachers," Robert L. Tipton said Tuesday.

He said only 37 of 63 higher education institutions providing teacher education in Texas offer programs in bilingual education. And he said only a few of the approximately 15,000 Hispanic teachers in the state are certified as bilingual teachers.

Tipton was the state's only witness Tuesday in a suit brought against the Texas Education Agency by the federal government. Government lawyers will cross-examine him today. He showed a 55-minute videotape taken of the highly regarded bilingual program at Brownsville. Tipton praised the procedures used, as did Dr. Jose Cardenas of San Antonio, who had testified previously for the government in its attempt to force Texas to expand its bilingual program.

"I wish I could assure the court all school districts have this good bilingual education program," Tipton said about the film. "It is difficult to get teachers in the bilingual program. They must compete with students who are majoring in foreign language and linguistics," he added.

Cardenas, executive director of Intercultural Development Research Associates in San Antonio, was recalled by the state's attorney, Susan Dasher. He said the film of the Brownsville program showed successful teaching and special training skills. Language techniques, use of native language, materials and equipment were necessary in the program," he said. "The tape showed Brownsville has made a good effort to provide bilingual education. Anyone who says there is no additional cost to bilingual education programs doesn't know what they are talking about," Cardenas said.

Balance of police safety is discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Black and Hispanic leaders, pointing to the looser trigger finger they believe police use in their communities, are discussing with law enforcement officials ways to balance police safety and the use of force.

Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, proposed Tuesday that guidelines be developed for police use of force and stiff penalties be imposed when they are broken.

Vernon Jordan, the National Urban League's president, said a national code should be developed for police use of firearms.

They spoke Tuesday at the opening of a conference billed as a first-of-its-kind gathering of the nation's two largest minorities and law enforcement groups.

"Please keep in mind that Hispanics wish to be the allies of law enforcement, not their victims," Bonilla said. "We are urging law enforcement agencies to police their departments before attempting to police society."

Although Hispanic complaints of police brutality have increased dramatically in recent years, the Corpus Christi, Texas, lawyer maintained that it represents nothing new.

"The full scale assault on dignity of Hispanic Americans began centuries ago, when our ancestors who discovered and explored our American terrain had their property rights literally stolen from them by fraud and deception," he said.

Bonilla acknowledged that police officers are killed in the line of duty and said he found it deplorable.

He added, however, that the apprehended killer of a police officer gets a death penalty or life imprisonment while a police officer who kills a minority citizen may escape without prosecution or receive a minimal prison sentence.

Gilbert Pompa, a San Antonio native who heads the Justice Department's Community Relations Service, said conflicts between citizens and police present an "explosive" problem.

"No other issue provokes more minority resentment or has more awesome potential for open conflict than this one," Pompa said.

He said the number of complaints to the department has increased.

Jordan, calling for more minority recruitment and better cross-cultural training programs, said it was significant that few police conflicts with minority youths involve black or Hispanic police officers.

"Without the kind of training and understanding of minority group culture and behavior patterns, policemen are deprived of an essential tool of their trade," he said.

Bomb rocks U.N. mission

NEW YORK (AP) — Demolition experts said they hoped to get inside the Soviet Union's U.N. Mission today to examine fragments of a powerful bomb that rocked the building and injured two occupants and four city policemen.

"It was a very, very big bomb," Lt. Charles Luisi, a police bomb expert, said Tuesday after the 9:51 p.m. blast shattered windows all along East 67th Street between Third and Lexington Avenues.

Meanwhile in Moscow, the Soviet Union registered a "strong protest" with the U.S. today, accusing local authorities of being unable to protect United Nations diplomats from the acts of "reactionary terrorist organizations."

Responsibility for the bombing was claimed by Omega Seven, an anti-Castro terror group that also claimed responsibility for last Friday's bombing of Cuba's Mission to the United Nations.

First woman elected San Francisco mayor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wearing one of the large, floppy bows that are her trademark, Mrs. Feinstein, appointed to guide the city after the slaying of George Moscone, turned back a strong conservative challenger to become the first woman elected mayor of San Francisco.

“What this victory means is that the people’s voices all over the city are going to be heard,” Mrs. Feinstein told a cheering crowd Tuesday night after Supervisor Quentin Kopp conceded he had lost the runoff election. Mrs. Feinstein got 102,233 votes to 87,266 for Kopp — a margin of 54 percent to 46 percent.

As president of the board of supervisors, Mrs. Feinstein assumed the title of mayor and then was appointed to the post by her colleagues after the Nov. 27, 1978, City Hall assassinations of Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk.

In winning the election, the 46-year-old doctor's widow finally gained the office she had failed to win in 1971 and 1975.

Wearing one of the large, floppy bows that are her trademark, Mrs. Feinstein, appointed to guide the city after the slaying of George Moscone, turned back a strong conservative challenger to become the first woman elected mayor of San Francisco.

“It was indeed a hard-fought contest and now that the contest has drawn to a close, all that matters now is that we serve the city,” said Mrs. Feinstein, who shepherded San Francisco through the aftermath of the assassinations and the Peoples Temple massacre that claimed the lives of hundreds of San Franciscans a few weeks earlier.

“This is going to be a victory for all of the people,” said Mrs. Feinstein, whose supporters danced to blaring disco music under a 65-foot Christmas tree during the post-election celebration.

Kopp forced the runoff when he collected 40 percent of the vote to 42 percent for Mrs. Feinstein in the Nov. 6 general election. Neither gained the majority necessary for victory.

Connally will not use public money in bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally will not use public money in his bid for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination, thus sidestepping federal campaign spending limits, sources say.

Connally believes he needs that financial leeway to finance a catch-up race against the GOP front-runner, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, knowledgeable sources who asked not to be identified said Tuesday.

Candidates accepting federal funds are limited in the amounts they may spend. For example, they can invest only $280,000 in New Hampshire, site of the nation's first primary election.

On the Light side

Out of the dog house

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Richard Dunn followed his cat right into the dog house, but an understanding judge let him out.

Dunn was arrested for windowpeeping one night last month after he was found kneeling by neighbor Clark Bingham's lighted basement window. Dunn says he was stalking his run away cat.

“If you are a victim of circumstance, I don't know how you could have set yourself up any better,” said Circuit Judge David Roth, who found Dunn innocent.

Bingham, worried about prowlers in his yard, had asked police to keep an eye on the place. While Dunn was on his knees coaxing his cat to come home, Weber County Deputy Sheriff Archie Smith was watching from a motor home across the street.

Dunn told the judge that as he passed the stakeout, Smith burst from the door and shouted, “I've got you!” Dunn made a run for it, with Smith in pursuit. Dunn told the judge the wind in his ears kept him from hearing Smith's shouts of “Halt! Police!”

When Dunn got home after a trip to the police station, his cat was waiting for him on the front steps.

Santa sees kids change

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — After 12 years as a shopping center Santa, Earl Tyler can tell you it's not all candy canes, tinsel and ho, ho, ho.

“One boy about 8 years old pulled out a cigarette lighter and tried to set fire to my whiskers,” Tyler remembers of his first years on the job.

A 78-year-old ex-farmer, Tyler says he's seen changes in the nation's psyche mirrored in its children.

“They didn't have any discipline,” he recalls the children of the 1960s. “They didn't know how to behave with Santa. We had that kind of environment here at the time.”

Now, he says, the children “come in neatly dressed and well-mannered. I haven't had any trouble with them for the last three years.”

Trafficking of narcotics most prevalent

Racketeers winning war with lawmen?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Racketeers apparently are winning their war with Texas lawmen, who have been told they will never have enough men or money to effectively combat organized crime or its $5 billion a year drain on the state's economy.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council received a staff report Tuesday that outlined the volume of narcotics trafficking, detailed the rise in illegal gambling operations and included for the first time information on “white collar crime.”

“Trafficking of narcotics and dangerous drugs into and through Texas is by far the most prevalent form of organized criminal activity,” the staff said in its report.

Last year there were 75,500 heroin addicts in Texas and 406 drug overdose deaths were reported.

“The ‘Mexican Mafia’ is one of the most significant family (crime) operations,” said G. K. Maneus, council program director.

Mexican drug smuggling peaked in 1976, the report said, but an “excellent marijuana crop is now reaching staging areas near the border in multiton quantities approaching those available in 1976-77.”

Authorities seized illegal drugs with a street value of well over $100 million last year. But the report said that narcotics trafficking was responsible for a $1.5 billion drain on the Texas economy in 1978.

White collar crime was included, the report stated, “because of its rapid growth in the state and because of its suspected links to organized criminals.”

In 1977, an estimated 2.3 billion was lost as a result of this type of crime, the report said.

Gambling also remains a major organized criminal activity in Texas, the report said. Six of every 10 Texans wager to some extent, betting an estimated $1 billion per year.

Over $50 million was wagered in the Dallas area alone on Super Bowl XII weekend, an illegal casino-type gambling has “notably increased” in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Data indicate that almost $259 million in stolen property “was either consumed by criminals or rechanneled — primarily through fencing operations — back into the economy,” the report said.

Although prostitution “has had organized crime links in the past,” the report said, “it is believed that present-day prostitution is not necessarily associated with organized crime.”

In 1978, 3,109 prostitutes were identified as operating in Texas and there were 5,133 arrests for prostitution and commercial vice.

It said it has become increasingly apparent that the pornography is controlled by syndicated crime, and the industry flourishes in Texas with Houston a distribution center.

The low recovery rate for stolen cars indicate that organized rings are involved, the report said. The recovery rate dropped from 86 per cent in 1967 to 70 per cent in 1977.

White collar — or “economic crime” — is characterized by fraud, embezzlement, deceit, stock manipulation, misrepresentation and other non-violent acts, the report said.

“Every time I meet a self-made millionaire, I chuckle to myself and wonder if his bookkeeper, or purchasing agent, might be one, too,” said director Jim Adams of the Governor's Criminal Justice Division.

Welfare fraud alone was estimated as high as $27 million over the past four years.

The report said although no complete La Cosa Nostra family lives in Texas, nine family members and 57 associates do live in the state.

In addition, the report said, at least 125 members and associates of Mexican Mafia families live in South Texas alone and 220 suspected members of the “Dixie Mafia” operate in 11 states, including Texas.

Adams was asked if he had detected a trend in organized crime and he replied, “I don't see any slowing down, so to speak, of organized crime.”

Asked if Texas had “enough bodies” to halt organized crime, Adams said, “No. There will never be enough bodies ... we will never have an economy that will fund a total criminal justice effort.”

“As the Gross National Product and population go up, crime rates go up — you just got more crime — that's all there is to it,” said Gov. Bill Clements, who presided over the council meeting.

Court of Criminal Appeals upholds murder conviction

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the murder conviction of Robert Lee White in the Jan. 12, 1975, shot slaying of Warren Andrew McKay in Lubbock County.

A jury found White, then 26, guilty of capital murder but sentenced him to life imprisonment rather than assessing the death penalty.

White signed a statement saying he and two other men robbed McKay and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. McKay were killed and their bodies left on a dirt road.

The appeals court upheld lower court findings that White willingly signed the confession and was mentally competent to stand trial.

White's lawyers attacked the competency verdict because they were allowed only 10 peremptory challenges of prospective jurors. Since 15 such challenges are allowed in capital murder trials, the attorneys said the same number should be given at a competency hearing for a capital murder defendant.

But the appeals court, ruling on the issue for the first time, said a competency hearing is a civil matter and, therefore, only six peremptory challenges - the same as in a civil case - were permitted.

White also attacked his conviction on the ground that his confession was not voluntary and he did not know what he was doing when he signed it. His lawyers produced evidence his IQ was between 75 and 86.

The high court, however, noted that White had obtained the equivalent of a high school diploma and offered "lucid" testimony when he testified at a hearing on the voluntariness of his confession.

ROSES FROM "GREASERS" — Marilu Henner, co-star of the TV series "Taxi," sits amid 296 roses presented to her by Ken and Maxine Weissman, producers of "Grease," Tuesday at the Los Angeles studios of Paramount. The roses were sent for Henner's part in organizing a reunion of "Grease" cast members for a celebration marking the production's passage of "Fiddler on the Roof" as the longest running musical in the history of Broadway. Each rose represents every cast member to perform in the many productions of the play.

Trial of Florida man continues
Knowledge gained from newspaper

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Lawyers for a Florida teenager, who boasted to friends about a Texas killing he participated in, contend he learned everything he knew about the case by reading about it in a Fort Worth newspaper.
The jury listened Tuesday to the tape-recorded voice of Donald Edward Smith of Tampa, Fla., as he described the scene of an early August triple murder near Brady.
"The more I talk about it, the more I remember. I can see it all in my head, man," Smith said on the tape, which a Florida sheriff's office detective said he taped secretly about two weeks after the slayings.
Smith is charged with the shotgun slayings of Molly Farr, 55, and her daughter, Tandy Bennett, 25. They played cards until 2 a.m. with Robert Shirl Gandy, 40, a former Brady high school football star.
The bodies of all three were found the next morning — the women in one room and Gandy in another. No charges have been filed in Gandy's murder.
The defense introduced as evidence on Tuesday a story from the Aug. 3 Fort Worth Star-Telegram and said Smith could have gotten his information about the murders and slaying scene from it.
Defense attorney Richard C. Mosty questioned Hillsborough County (Fla.) Sheriff's Detective Al Luis about the newspaper story, which Luis said Smith gave him as "proof" he killed the two women.
Mosty implied Luis had claimed to be connected with organized crime and had promised Smith a job as a "hit man" if he could convince him he was involved in the Brady killings.
The state rested its case about 5 p.m. Tuesday after the second day of testimony by Luis, who said he taped his conversation with Smith while working undercover, buying stolen cars from him.

Carter Publications has new chairman of board

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Amon G. Carter Jr. has been appointed chairman of the board of Carter Publications, which publishes the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, it was announced Tuesday.
The newspaper also announced three other position changes and the retirement of Jack W. Campbell, its senior vice president.
Campbell's retirement is effective Jan. 31; the four other announcements are effective Jan. 1.
In actions approved Monday by the board of Capital Cities Communications, Inc., parent company of Carter Publications, the newspaper announced:
— Phillip J. Meek, 42, will succeed Carter as president and will also serve as editorial chairman of the Star-Telegram.
— Jack L. Butler, 62, who has been vice president and editor since December 1975, will become senior vice president.
— Luther P. Adkins, 53, who has been vice president and assistant general manager, will become vice president for administration.
Carter, 59, has been associated with the Star-Telegram all his life beginning as a carrier salesman when he was a boy.
He was elected president of Carter Publications in 1962 and succeeded Amon Carter Sr. as publisher upon his father's death in 1955. He became a director of Capital Cities Communications in 1974 when Carter Publications became a subsidiary of that firm.
Carter is also a charter director of the Texas Rangers American League baseball franchise.

Body of U.S. soldier to be returned to U.N.
TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said today it had recovered the body of a U.S. soldier who strayed into the communist side of the demilitarized zone and would return it to the U.N. Command, the North Korean Central News Agency reported.
The report did not name the soldier. But Sgt. 1st Class Thomas L. Anderson, 36, was reported missing Friday following an explosion on the North Korean side of the DMZ.
The news agency said a North Korean investigation had shown "a large number of U.S. armed military personnel intruded" into the North Korean side "under cover of a dense fog that day, but many of them were killed or wounded."

White House joins support of tax bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is joining Senate Democratic leaders in urging support for what probably will be the Senate's last chance to stiffen a weakened "windfallprofits" tax on the oil industry.
At stake is an amendment by Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd that would add $30.8 billion to the tax over the next decade, raising the total in the Senate bill to about $185 billion.
President Carter prefers the $77 billion tax passed by the House, but his spokesman, Jody Powell, said Carter spent a considerable amount of time Tuesday seeking support for today's vote on the Byrd amendment.
Both supporters and opponents of the measure were predicting a close vote, but the issue might not be settled immediately. The vote was on whether to table — or kill — the amendment. Even if Carter and his supporters won that test, further debate could delay a final vote on the amendment.
Also on tap today was a vote on an effort to speed up passage of the oil tax bill by limiting debate and barring consideration of unrelated amendments. Senate aides predicted that effort would fail because so many senators have amendments still to be debated.
One of those is a measure offered by Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., that would impose a 50-cent-per-gallon tax on gasoline in an effort to encourage conservation. It probably will not be considered this year if the Senate decides to bar unrelated amendments.
The Stevenson amendment would cost motorists $39.6 billion a year starting in 1980. It would exempt gasoline for commercial and farm uses. The administration is considering such a tax to force conservation.
Byrd's amendment would impose a 20 percent tax on three categories of oil that the Senate Finance Committee, in an effort to spur increased domestic oil production, voted to exempt from any windfall tax.
Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a sponsor of the amendment, noted the proposal would impose less than one-third the $110 billion windfall tax the House voted for those three categories of oil.
With troubles in the Middle East, high inflation and an impending recession, argued Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, it makes no sense to impose a tax that would drain away billions of dollars the oil industry could be investing in the search for more energy.
The biggest share of the revenue from Byrd's "minimum tax" would come from "newly discovered oil," which is from any field discovered after 1978.
