DEBUNKING THE DEBACLE (BY R. S. RAGSDALE)

In all Democratic communities is generally regarded as a healthy sign for the citizens to evidence a lively interest in public affairs. This does not seem to be the rule in, shall we say, the Democratic community of Burkburnett?

Any citizen of this City who by petition or otherwise suggests to our City Commission that certain things should be done in the public interest, is met with the accusation that he is fighting the City or has some ulterior motive. It used to be that they would say, "No, No, we can't do that because Mr. Hardin will withdraw his support from the City." Well, the old gentleman very definitely withdrew his support some time ago and almost left them without an issue—until they hit upon the idea, that they are now trying to sell to the voters, that all such persons are intending to "scrap" the Municipal Light Plant.

Some of these gentlemen who are so ready to ascribe ulterior motives to others have long been connected with the administration of City of Burkburnett affairs and do not have such an enviable record in the preservation of Public Utilities. Look at the record and ascertain who were officials acting for the City, who spent $60,000.00 of City funds for a Sewer system—and the City did not get a sewer, and again, who, acting in such capacities, built a waterworks system for approximately $50,000.00, procuring about enough water to water five dry cows in the summer-time, and which "System" now lies inundated beneath the sands on Mat Riley's farm. It might have profited the City greatly if the citizens had evidenced as much interest in the public business then as now.

It is true that our City Commission has been petitioned to do many things in past years, as many such perhaps as were presented to King George by the Thirteen Colonies (Continued on Page Five)

Funeral Services For Ellis Lee Gatewood

Funeral services for Ellis Lee Gatewood, Thrift community truck driver, who was killed in a traffic accident near Oklaunion Saturday morning, were held from the Thrift Baptist church northwest of Burkburnett Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. J. I. Gregory of Archer and Rev. G. W. Bales, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in the Burkburnett cemetery under the direction of Owens & Brumley Funeral home. Pallbearers were Tom Bush, Luther Greer, Ray Stinson, A. Bilyeau, Charlie Kirsh, Blackie Wright.

Gatewood was killed instantly about 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning two miles east of Oklaunion in Wilbarger county. Gatewood's truck crew had driven off the pavement to adjust a load. Another truck struck Gatewood.

Aunt Lucindy And Uncle Jeems To Visit Here

We have just received a communication from Uncle Jeems Rainwater of Coon Skin Crossing, Texas, saying he will positively make his appearance in

The Star will try to get a story from Jeems Rainwater telling his traveling experiences around among his kinfolks, for publication in next week's issue. We may not be able to get it; he is a contrary old cuss and is usually mad when aunt Lucindy is with him and nobody has much standing measured by his yardstick under such conditions.

We suggest that you be on the lookout for his story. If we get it, and you read it, you will at least be really entertained.

The dopesters missed a bet when J. L. Caffee, secretary-treasurer of the local golf club association, was taken out on the 18th hole in the tournament which is being played this week at the local course by Cliff (Pill Roller) Cannon. The match was hard fought from start to finish and the winner was not decided until the last hole was played. Caffee had the best of it when in the fairways but Cannon, assisted by his caddy, proved the best in the rough. In the consolation Caffee beat Grubbs in the first match and will play the winner of the Brumley-Alexander match for the consolation prize in the first flight.

Current Literature First Subscriber Roll Call Drive

A. H. Lohofener, chairman of the Red Cross roll call drive in Burkburnett, announced this week that the Current Literature club is the first donor to the cause for this year.

The drive begins officially on Nov. 11 and will last through Nov. 30, but donations will be accepted at any time prior to or after those dates, Mr. Lohofener said.

The quota for Burkburnett this year is $600. This calls for a membership of 354. Last year the local committee turned in a membership quota of 9.3% which was the highest in the county. They are expecting even greater things this year.

Mr. Lohofener calls attention to the effective posters which have been placed in the windows of the First National Bank and asks that everyone in Burkburnett consider the ever-increasing importance of the Red Cross in the present world situation.

Raymond Carl Hamilton of Route 1, Burkburnett held No. 158, the first number in the order of the national lottery drawn in Washington. Hamilton registered in draft board No. 3 and is married.

Other names from Burkburnett called early Tuesday were Horace Hinkle Patterson, whose number was 192 and was the second called. Two brothers, Milton Winkles and Ralph Winkles were also called. Their numbers were 153 and 167, respectively. Jay Bayne, Glenn Howard and Carlos Baker were others whose names were drawn during the first day.

The drawing of the capsules ended Wednesday afternoon and the names are being posted on the bulletin board at the postoffice as soon as they are received.

Date Of Burk- Graham Game Is Changed

C. J. Duncan, superintendent of Burkburnett schools, stated this week that the Burkburnett-Graham football game originally scheduled for Friday, November 22, will be played on Thursday, November 21, at 7:30 p. m.

This change was made when it was learned that the President will proclaim November 21 as official Thanksgiving day and that date coincides with the dates set for the Texas State Teachers' association which meets in Fort Worth on November 21 and 22, and will be attended by most of the local faculty.

The game will be played at night because it has been learned that Graham intends to observe Thanksgiving on the 28th and business houses in that city will remain open on the day of the 21st.

The game with Wichita Falls will be played on Friday night, November 29, probably at 8:00 o'clock.

Burkburnett fans are asked to keep these dates in mind so that a large representation of local fans will be on hand to support the Bulldogs when they play Graham and Wichita Falls.

Mayor Endorses Concerts To Be Given Here

Mayor Frank Kelley stated on Thursday that he heartily endorses the series of winter concerts which will be given here by the Wichita Falls Civic Symphony orchestra and will open with a performance at the local high school on Nov. 18th.

He was quoted as saying that he sincerely hopes that everyone in Burkburnett will avail himself of the opportunity which has been provided by local citizens interested in the cultural development of this town who have subscribed to the concerts that the public may enjoy them free of charge.

Mr. Kelley said that he was very impressed with the concerts given here last year by the orchestra and that he feels that the continued sponsoring of such concerts will prove of inestimable value to the community.

Tex Theatre To Open Friday

The Tex Theatre, which was damaged by fire recently, will open Friday for a three day attraction, featuring Bill Boyd in "Showdown" and "River's End."

The show has been remodeled and new equipment installed, new lighting units and new sound units, according to Buck Zimmerman, manager.

SHALL WE SELL BURKBURNETT'S FUTURE DOWN THE RIVER

(BY PAUL BROWNING)

Our good citizen, W. A. Roberts, should be complimented on his article, "A Community Debacle," which appeared in the Burkburnett Star, October 24.

Within the past five years Burkburnett has suffered the loss of many valuable citizens—men who have been largely responsible, through their wealth and community loyalty, for the fine worthwhile things we, as a community, now enjoy.

It was through the influence and wealth of such men as J. G. Hardin, I. E. Harwell, and J. R. Chatham that the Baptist, Methodist and Christian church buildings were made possible as permanent places in which the membership can worship. Today these fine buildings stand in our community as monuments to a life which has passed on—a life filled with an undying loyalty to a community where he lived for many years and accumulated a huge fortune only to be passed on to the people of this community and generations yet to come.

The bonded indebtedness of our school district was discharged in full upon the death of the late John G. Hardin, and today our community should be proud of the two fine school buildings left by him. These buildings will be enjoyed by our children and our children's children.

Yes, there is another monument standing in our little community made possible by Mr. Hardin and dedicated to the future generations of this city—it is the "Hardin Municipal Light Plant." The revenue from the plant will, forever, assure us a community far better than the average of this size. We, the people of this community, are its keepers; and Mr. Hardin intended that it be protected and operated (Continued on Page Five)

Mr. Short stated that quite a number of his Burkburnett friends called during the day and were served with free coffee and ice cream for the kiddies.

In an add in another part of the paper Mr. Short thanks his many Burkburnett friends for the patronage of the past 14 years. He stated that the people of Burkburnett and surrounding communities had helped make his business what it is, which is greatly appreciated.

Watch Your Lawmakers

Today the public's attention is largely focused on national politics. But that should not result in a general disinterest in local election and local government. Local policies which must be made in state capitals are of the utmost and immediate interest to us all.

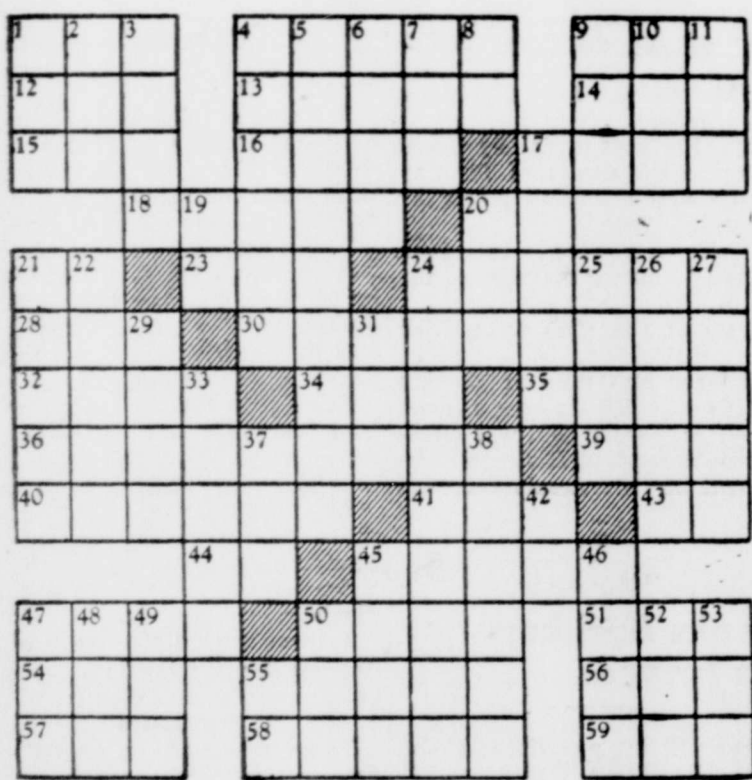

Next year will be a heavy legislative year—the legislatures of 43 states will meet in regular session. If past precedent is any arbiter, every one of those legislatures will be deluged with proposed laws—good, bad, indifferent and plain crack-pot. And every law proposed would affect in one way or another the well-being of local people.

There is one kind of law against which the people should be rigorously on guard next year—the kind of law whose ultimate effect is to increase the cost of living artificially. Laws which penalize one kind of merchant on the theory that another will be helped, laws which legalize price-fixing, and laws which levy special or class taxes, fall into this category. Many of the states have such laws on their books now. Efforts should be made to repeal rather than increase such price-boosting and job-killing legislation.

When your legislature convenes, scrutinize every law. Make your wishes known. Only if that is done, can the people protect themselves against ruinous legislation.

Puzzle No. 33 Solved

Burkburnett History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 years ago.

A customer at McCreary's grocery store Tuesday night purchased a package of cigarettes and as Mr. Vaughn was making change for him, raised a heavy weapon and demanded all the cash. He escaped in a small sedan.

At a regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening plans were made for the year 1931 which will include the continued support of a new battery telephone system for Burkburnett and the erection of a $25,000 textile plant here in Burkburnett.

County Commissioner F. R.

Knauth was in the office Thursday displaying a branch from a mulberry tree growing in his yard which has just borne its second crop of fruit this year.

There were 76 men present Sunday at the Men's Bible class of the Baptist church.

According to Benson Buckalew, chairman of the entertainment committee of the B.P.O. Elks, everything is in readiness for the annual Halloween dance to be held here Friday night.

2058 bales of cotton have been ginned here to date.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Most vivid memory brought away from Laredo on a visit last summer during the American Legion state convention was the sight of a gray-haired veteran, seated at a piano in a hotel lobby, his eyes sightless but a smile on his features as he played "Ramona" and lifted his voice in rollicking song with the words of a parody, "Kimono." That example of cheer and courage, in face of a night that will not disappear until life ends, should make any man—blessed with eyesight, hearing and sturdy legs and arms—ashamed at having allowed petty troubles to dismay or anger him.

Reference to the recent election of a former schoolmate, Clifford Davis, of Tennessee, to Congress brought to mind the fact that another schoolmate of mine has served in that august body. Webber Wilson and I went to school together in Coldwater, Miss., though he was a senior and I was only in the seventh grade; but we became comrades as we waited down at the depot in the late afternoon for "Ole Miss" (the I. C. train) to arrive with the evening News-Scimitar from Memphis and he quoted the poems of Poe and of Tennyson.

All of us knew that Webber was going to be a statesman or a great lawyer, or both. Once, a mock trial was held and he was the prosecutor. He made such a ringing speech that some of the students took the rope from the school bell and threatened to "lynch" the "defendant."

After Webber had been elected prosecuting attorney in the county to which he moved after graduating from the University of Mississippi, he came back to his old home town. He had not yet taken the oath of office, so when some of his ex-schoolmates were charged in city court with "shootin' craps," he volunteered to defend them.

The first trial resulted in a hung jury; so did the second and so did the third. Webber made practically an entirely new speech each time and spoke to capacity houses. Then it was found that there was not an eligible juror in the little town and so the boys were turned loose. And then the three sets of jurors "fessed up"; each one would have brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty" but they wanted to hear Webber make another speech!

He was elected to congress at 30; once he preceded Calvin Coolidge on a program and the President referred to "my eloquent young friend from Mississippi." Wilson ran for the United States senate but fell a few thousand votes short; served as chief justice of the Virgin Islands supreme court and now is on the Federal Board of Pardon and Paroles.

When the village miser died, somebody asked, "How much did he leave?" My Grandpa said, "He left it all."

School furniture and theater seats made in Texas are shipped to Mexico, Puerto Rico and almost all parts of United States. Only recently the American Desk Manufacturing Company (located in Temple) provided the chairs for a new theater in Salt Lake City. Of the five big trucks owned by the concern, one is on the Temple-Chicago run continuously some 20,000 desks a year going to the latter city.

The only plant of the kind west of the Mississippi River or south of Chicago, the Temple concern is locally owned and is actively directed by two native sons of Bell county—A. P. Brashear, manager from the beginning and C. V. Griggs, assistant manager. These two men and two others comprised the entire personnel when the factory started just 12 years ago. At the height of the season now, 200 workers are employed, besides the office and sales force.

A market for many Texas products is provided—Texas hardwoods, Texas cotton and Texas paints. This observer found a trip through the big factory a revelation. Wood is curved into all sorts of shapes by means of water and steam and pressure. Solid sheets of steel are cut in strips and fabricated into chairs, desks and tables by skilled workers using powerful machines and, by means of a paint gun, the pieces are colored with amazing speed. Just another proof of the industrial possibilities of this state.

This-and-that: A Fort Worth coffee shop lists a "Farm Hand Special" consisting of "seven eggs, ham steak, fried potatoes (heaps), loaf of bread, toasted, and coffee till you say stop."

One Texas hotel—if you leave a call—will ring you at the designated time and then, five minutes later, call you again to make sure you've gotten up. Imagine having no more confidence in the guests than that! They had the effrontery to do me that way, doggone 'em. Yes, I had gone back to sleep.

One of the doe's fawns was picked up in the woods by a ranch hand several months ago and taken to the ranch house. It was not long before the mother appeared, jumped the fence of the enclosure where her baby had been placed, and nursed it. She has continued to do so daily every day since. She returns to the woods immediately after nursing the fawn held in captivity and nurses her other offspring, which is extremely wild. The captured fawn is very tame.

Not only does the mother deer continue to defy civilization in feeding her tame fawn, but any time a dog gets anywhere near the wild fawn she gives battle.

Nurses Wild, Tame Fawns. A doe on the H. J. Bussa ranch in Bandera county has defied civilization in order to continue nursing one of the two fawns born to her this year and yet also nurses the wild one, a member of the Texas game department reports.

Electricity Has Made Poultry Raising
Highly Profitable for Modern Farmers

Ed Zirkel is seen feeding the battery hens

POULTRY raising is "big business" on the modern, scientifically operated farm.

The part electricity plays in making possible the income of more than a billion dollars a year the American farmer receives from eggs and chickens is practically demonstrated in the poultry section of the Electrified Farm at the New York World's Fair.

In this exhibit of the electric light and power companies at the Fair, the most up-to-date equipment for the modern, efficiently operated poultry farm is shown in actual use.

Larry Eller, formerly with the New York State Egg Laying Contest at Farmingdale, Long Island, is in charge of the poultry exhibit. He finds that city visitors are as much interested in the way eggs and chickens are produced on a mass production scale as are the Fair visitors from farming communities.

Visitors see the complete poultry farm cycle—from the egg in the incubator to the preparation of poultry for market.

The incubator, electrically operated, has a capacity of nearly 3,000 eggs and is designed for taking off a twice-a-week hatch.

After the chicks are hatched go from the incubator to the battery house. Two types of battery houses are shown—the electric company type, with ultra violet light to keep the young chicks warm and a battery brooder.

Children particularly are attracted to the sight of newly-hatched chicks and about 700 chicks are constantly on hand.

Another feature of the exhibit is a battery laying unit, or cage, accommodating 48 hens. This type of keeping poultry allows the farmer more hens on a minimum space. A modern floor plan keeping laying hens in battery surroundings is also shown.

Eggs are weighed and tagged on a combination scale and are of 2000-eggs-per-hour capacity before being packed for market. Of special interest to the Fair visitors is the electric scalding and semi-scalding water and the exact temperature required for this method even the smallest feathers are removed.

The Electrified Farm is a typical demonstration of electric many uses on a modern farm.

Hot Rolls That Are Different

By Katharine Fisher

Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

Even though your baker may have a wide variety of bread and rolls, we're sure he won't have these specialties which are picked from among many recipes we've been trying out in our Institute kitchens. You'll find them delicious. What's more, they don't call for overnight raising. The dough grows light and feathery as you go about your other work, and you'll have all the ingredients on your pantry shelves.

Orange Bread

(All Recipes Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons.

Measure level.

1 large, thick-skinned orange
1/4 c. granulated sugar
1/4 c. butter or margarine
1 1/4 tsp. salt
1 compressed yeast cake
1 egg, beaten
About 3 c. sifted all-purpose flour

Cut orange in quarters, remove white core, and grind, using fine blade of food chopper. There should be 1 c. of pulp and juice. Combine with sugar, butter, and salt, and bring to a boil. Cool until lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast, and beat with a rotary beater until well-blended. Add beaten egg and enough flour (about 2 1/2 c.) to make a stiff dough. Knead on a well-floured board for 5 min., adding flour as needed to keep it from sticking to board. Cover with clean towel, and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) until double in bulk. Then knead for 1 min. on a floured board. Shape into a loaf, and put into a greased loaf pan, 10" x 6" x 3 1/4". Cover with clean towel, and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) until a little more than double in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven of 375° F. for 50 min. Brush with melted butter, and cool on cake rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Statter Rum Rolls

1 c. bottled milk, or
1/2 c. evaporated milk
and 1/2 c. water
1/2 c. granulated sugar
1/4 c. shortening
1 1/4 tsp. salt
1 compressed yeast cake

Pour scalded milk over 1/4 c. sugar, shortening, and salt. Cool to lukewarm (80° F.). Soften yeast in lukewarm water, and stir into milk mixture. Add well-beaten egg and enough flour to make a thick batter. Mix thoroughly. Brush surface of dough with melted fat or salad oil. Cover with a clean towel, and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) until double in bulk. Roll dough into two strips, each 12" long, 1/2" thick, and 4" wide. Brush top with melted butter, and sprinkle with 1/4 c. sugar and raisins. Roll up, pulling dough out at edges to keep it uniform. Should be 15" long when rolled. Cut rolls in crosswise slices 3/4" thick. Place in place (80 to 85° F.) until double in bulk, and let rise in a warm place of 400° F. for 15 to 20 min. As soon as rolls are removed from oven, brush top with icing made of 1 c. confectioners' sugar, 2 tbsp. hot water, 1 tsp. rum extract. Makes 12 rolls.

Jam Buns

2 c. bottled milk,
or 1 c. evaporated milk
and 1 c. water
1/2 c. melted shortening
1/4 c. granulated sugar

Scald milk; add shortening, sugar, and salt; mix well. Then cool to lukewarm (80° F.). Soften yeast in lukewarm water, and stir into milk mixture. Add well-beaten egg and enough flour to make a thick batter. Mix thoroughly. Brush surface of dough with melted fat or salad oil. Cover with a clean towel, and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) until double in bulk. Turn it onto a well-floured board, and knead, adding flour as necessary until it can be easily handled. Then break off small pieces to form into 2" balls by folding the edges under until the top is smooth. Arrange in a greased pan, 13" x 9" x 2", with the rolls just touching. Cover with clean towel, and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85° F.) for about 15 min. Then make an indentation by pushing the handle of a wooden spoon held upright halfway down into the center of each roll. Fill each hole with jam, and let rolls rise for about 25 min. longer. Bake in moderately hot oven of 375° F. for 25 to 30 min. Makes about 2 doz. rolls.

 (1) Thiamine: 1 microgram = 1/10 International Unit.

Information is available on thiamine (B₁), riboflavin (B₂), and nicotinic acid. The findings of Dr. Elvehjem and others have revolutionized the whole vitamin picture. The accompanying chart, carrying the seal of the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association, is a brand new one. The figures show the vitamin content of many of our common foods.

Vitamins Have Many Functions

The vitamins featured in this chart are all necessary for growth and health. In addition, vitamin A increases general body resistance and protects against night blindness and a severe eye inflammation. Thiamine stimulates the appetite, aids in the utilization of starches and sugars, and prevents beriberi. Riboflavin is necessary for normal functioning of body cells, protects against certain nervous disorders, and a type of eye inflammation. Nicotinic acid prevents and cures pellagra. Vitamin C prevents and cures scurvy, and protects gum tissues. Vitamin D, sometimes known as the "sunshine" vitamin, is essential in preventing rickets.

A Lot Of Potatoes

J. S. Gore brought a sample of his sweet potato crop to the Star last week which was very impressive. Six potatoes were found springing from the same root, the total mass weighing almost 12 pounds.

Mr. Gore has found that rotating crops is largely responsible for the quality and size of his potatoes.

Devol Farmer Combines Pea Crop

The unusual method of harvesting field peas with a grain combine was employed last week to harvest a 30-acre field of whippoorwill peas belonging to J. W. Jackson, whose farm lies 1 mile north of the Burkburnett bridge in Oklahoma.

Jackson has 200 bushels of threshed peas. "Just 200 bushels more than I would have if I had depended on trying to get the peas picked," he declared. It is customary to give half of the peas for the picking, but peas that are ready to harvest during the cotton picking season usually waste. It is almost impossible to find people to pick them.

Jackson plants peas every year to build up his soil and he had an unusually good crop this year. The combine left some in the field.

"I believe I have learned enough about it," Otho Gammill, who combined the peas said, "to do a much better job next year. I think I will grow some peas myself."

Gammill explained the combine would have to be adjusted before it would do the job with the same perfection that grain is harvested.

Jackson believes that the peas, ground and added to other feed will be valuable to feed for his cattle.

Rains Beneficial To Burk Area

A strong north wind swept into Burkburnett and surrounding area Wednesday night accompanied by a driving rain that measured approximately 1.55 inches early Thursday morning.

Reports from the local M.K. & T. dispatcher reports that the rains were general over the entire area.

This rain, which followed a light rain earlier in the week will be of untold benefit to the grain farmers of this section. Wheat which was dusted in several weeks ago was needing rain badly.

Some men think it's their work that is burdensome, when it's the chip on their shoulder that's holding them down.

The ten best years of a woman's life are between 29 and 30.

Home Guard Appeals For Old Army Rifles

Wanted: Old army rifles. The Burkburnett home guard unit needs something to drill with until Uncle Sam issues new arms and ammunition.

Following the last war, approximately 374 army rifles were sold at cost in this area.

Wednesday Leo Dudley, American Legion commander here, sounded an appeal for a loan of some of these rifles to the home guard.

The guns will be returned to their owners, when home guard equipment arrives, Dudley said.

Wildlife As A Crop

Wildlife on farms in the wooded areas of East Texas is worth $140.81 in food for the farmer, his family and part of his stock, a survey, one of several to be made by the Texas game, fish and oyster commission, discloses, according to the executive secretary. In addition, insectivorous birds do far more good in capturing insects which destroy crops.

Squirrels rank first in importance in many sections of East Texas, the survey made in Woods county, shows. Families kill on an average of 154 squirrels per year. At 35 cents per squirrel this totals $53 a year. Each family catches an average of 153 pounds of fish, which, at 20 cents is worth $30. Of families questioned, 31.5 per cent trap fur-bearing animals, earning $30 a year.

Rabbits, opossums, ducks, quail, doves and various fruits made into preserves, make up the remainder of the natural resources used by the average farm family. The total of $140.81 does not take into consideration that 36.7 per cent of the farmers own an average of 18.47 hogs that feed on acorn mast, nor of the timber used on the farm.

Various other methods of turning natural resources into income were found in the survey. The evergreen spineless greenbrier with red fruit from Wood county was used to fill a $1,000 contract.

for the decoration of buildings at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show.

One farmer, with a six-acre lake near Gilmer earned from $17 to $25 an acre each of four years since the lake was constructed. He charges 50 cents per day. None of the other acres on his farm yield as much easy cash.

More Ducks This Year

Texans will have an opportunity to shoot at from 20 to 30 per cent more ducks this year than last, according to surveys by state and federal biologists. The U. S. fish and wildlife service biologists who travel the flyways from far north to as far south as Cuba estimate there will be from 20 to 30 percent more migratory waterfowl in the Lone Star State this year.

There were a large number of ducks and geese in Texas especially on the coast, last year, but poor hunting weather held down the total kill. Sportsmen are fervently hoping for colder weather this year.

Reel Fishing

Reports concerning salt water fishing on both the Gulf and Atlantic coasts seem to be looking up for the fall months. During the month of October, reports of huge tarpon caught from the Texas coast to the tip end of Florida have increased blood pressure of many salt water fishermen. And for these big game fish, you need a reel that won't let down. The Ocean City Manufacturing company, 1349 Noble street, Philadelphia, Penn., informs the writer that they have out a new catalog on salt water reels of all types that they'll be glad to send anyone who will take the trouble to write them for it.

Good Lighting Adds Much To Dining Room Pleasure

Despite Her Small Budget, Light Conditioning Is on the Menu.

By Jean Prentice

MAKING A ROOM PRETTY on a small budget is relatively easy, particularly if the lighting is given a thought or two.

In a recent survey of one thousand homes, lighting engineers found that many dining room lighting fixtures are not used to best advantage. But, fortunately, there are new inexpensive ways to modernize these fixtures.

For example, it took but a jiffy to improve the fixture and light condition the room illustrated here.

Before the changes were made the colors in the room appeared dull. They were distorted by the lighting from bare amber-colored bulbs in the candelabra over the table. The bulbs were also too small in size to contribute lighting cheer.

Then the turquoise and coral tints in the wall paper and deep greenish blue of the rug were lifted into lovely rich jewel tones with new lighting. The inexpensive but well-designed maple furniture took on new honey-tints.

The change was a simple one, a step that can be taken in many homes where there are candelabra fixtures or candle wall brackets. Regular 40-watt inside frosted bulbs were substituted to provide clearer light for easier seeing and clearer colors. On the bulbs were clipped new shades, shown above, to soften the light, prevent glare and direct some illumination downward on the table.

of the lunch room. An average of 130 children eat in the lunch room each day.

Mrs. Minnie Young spent the week-end in Oklahoma City with friends.

Serial numbers for 1486 young men of Cotton county between the ages of 21 and 35 inc., were announced by the county draft board last week. While the actual number of registrants in the county was 1661, the paring down to 1486 was caused by the fact that more than 50 cards were forwarded to areas outside the state. Thirty-six Indians, 20 negroes, and three Mexicans were registered, and assigned serial numbers along with the whites. Robert Dale Tisdale, of Devol, Rt. 1, was number one in the shuffle for serial numbers.

Walter Frye raised a fine corn crop this year. He has reported an average of 35 bushels an acre.

Claude Sykes is reported to be recovering from a bruised wrist which he received while working in the gin. The wrist was infected.

The Devol school will have a school carnival Oct. 7, in the school auditorium. Each class has elected a queen to be represented at the carnival. Votes will be one penny and the winning queen will be crowned right after the carnival is over. The following ones have been elected: Grades, Bobby Lin McCullough; Freshman, Cleeta Joy Dillow; Sophomores, Mary Lucille Stevens; Juniors, Eva Lou Doty; and Seniors, Blanche Wright. Everyone is invited to come out to the carnival and help one of the queens win. There will be all sorts of amusement.

Dramatists Start Work On Plays

Dramatic club got under way for the 1940-41 season by electing officers and starting work on three plays which will be presented during the year.

Jonita Majors was elected president; Weldon Minick, vice president; Mary Jane Patterson, secretary; and Valta Brookman, reporter. The club is under the direction of Miss Billingslea.

The three plays are "Knave of Hearts," "A Lady of Character," and "The Dispatch Goes Home," the latter to be presented in an assembly program, November 14. Those in the cast are Helen Graham, Louis Faulks, J. M. Martin and Weldon Minick.

Such shades can be secured in white, ivory and beige. They are quite inexpensive. Some even come in sets which include clean new candle husks and inner diffusing bowls to sift out glare as do the larger bowls in the floor lamps. These candelletes, are particularly nice for wall brackets.

Lighted urns were also added to the Welsh dresser in the room illustrated here. They are particularly handy for soft room-light when wax candles are the only other light used.

In some dining rooms the ceiling fixture is the type in which bare bulbs hang downward. This style can be readily modernized with silver-bowl bulbs and metal shades to give indirect lighting.

Sometimes, however, a dining room has simply a single socket in the ceiling or a drop cord over the table. Then the answer is a new streamlined adaptor fixture which can be screwed in like a bulb. Some of these use a silver-bowl bulb for indirect lighting. Among others are parchment shades with an inner diffusing shield and 150-watt inside frosted bulb.

The lighting designers and engineers have worked out any number of inexpensive ways in which dining rooms and dinettes can be blessed with the new modern lighting. I have described only a few but doubtless they suggest interesting possibilities to the homemaker.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. Scarlet Fever Still A Menace

Austin, Oct. 30.—Prevalence of scarlet fever in Texas during October has increased 93.9 per cent over September's total cases, according to reports reaching the Texas State Department of Health.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer, points out that this is a characteristic seasonal rise in prevalence, as the number of scarlet fever cases increases simultaneously with the opening of school and remains more or less constant during the school year, and recedes in marked fashion during the summer vacation.

"Scarlet fever continues to be a menace to children," Cox said. "Many cases are slight, but they may infect others who will become seriously ill. Even the mild cases may be dangerous, as post-disease complications may be severe."

"Children between the ages of five and ten years are most susceptible to scarlet fever—cases are more virulent and more deaths occur in this age group than any other. Therefore, the younger the child is, the more dangerous are the complications and the greater the likelihood that the disease will run a severe course."

"The incubation period (time between exposure to the germs and manifestation of the first symptoms) may be from one to seven days, usually from two to four. The first symptoms are headache, sore throat, vomiting, fever. With very young children, the attack may begin with convulsions and a sudden high fever. Twenty-four to forty-eight hours after the original symptoms the rash begins to appear and in two more days increases in brightness until it becomes a vivid scarlet, and covers the entire body. Symptoms which may indicate scarlet fever demand immediate medical attention and quarantine to prevent the spread of the disease. Appearance of scarlet fever in the home should be followed immediately by a rigid quarantine for at least three weeks."

"The public is warned against exposing young children to those exhibiting acute catarrhal symptoms of any kind. Take no chances for scarlet fever is spread by the transfer of the infection in discharges of nose and throat, ears or abscesses of persons ill with the disease and those who are carriers of the infection."

Boys and girls in our room making perfect score in spelling this week are Glen Allen, Billy Parker, Roy Baumhardt, Thomas Bryan, Kenneth Freeman, Jimmie Moore and Ramon Scruggs. (Miss Majors.)

The pupils that make G's in spelling this week and made the honor roll were Ruth Mitchell, Virginia Millar, Donnie Cejda, Rex Shuffler, Joe Sampson, and David McNeill. Joe Sampson brought a nice big "jack-o-lantern" to school this week. It is made out of a big pumpkin that they raised. (Miss Jackson).

Pupils in the 7th grade have decided to compose their own class song. Each pupil will compose the words to a song. The best composition will be selected by members of the class. Each pupil is very anxious to know who will be the lucky one to have their composition selected. (Miss Allen.)

The boys of the physical education class have been spending most of the time of the past week learning how to handle a football and kicking of extra points. I talked with the Fairview junior boys coach about playing an intra school game. He is to let me know the first of next week if he has a team that we may play. (J. R. Burnett.)

Row 2-3 tied in our cleanliness contest this six weeks. We are sorry to lose a pupil this week. Reba Snow has moved to Wichita Falls. Melvin Gragg, Gloria Minick, Wanda Simpson, Juanita Klinkerman, Carolyn Rose Boyd, Vivian Suttles, Evelyn Evans, Bobbie McClure, Ernest Nolan, Mary Cagle, Roy Jackson, Jr., Reva Green, Billie Askins, and Buddy Whitney are on this weeks spelling honor roll. (Miss Solomon.)

We are very proud of our new library books. We only wish there were more of them. We are going to have a "Book Friends" chart on which will be put our names and every book that we read. We are anxious to know who will read the largest number of books this six weeks. In our contest in spelling Row 1 is still in the lead. We organized a "Safety Club" this week, so that we will be more careful in crossing the streets. (Mrs. Vann.)

The 7th grade division of geography, spent last week in the study of minerals. Two of the pupils worked together on a chosen subject, as a reporter and the other as a helper. Alice Millikin illustrated her report with pieces of steel, tin, copper and iron. Bobby Hall and Donald Mills used pictures to explain the development and uses of copper and iron. (Miss McGinnis.)

We are learning some safety rules in L1-1. Last week we learned how to cross the street safely and how to turn in a fire alarm. We are busy getting ready for a Halloween party Thursday. We have our room decorated with black cats, witches, and jack-o-lanterns and we are going to have a real jack-o-lantern for our party. (Miss Billingslea.)

Dale Woodward and Verna Jean Pogue joined the band this week. Dale plays alto horn and Verna Jean is a twirler. Ernest Nolan has a fine new King baritone of which he and the band are very proud. It is still not too late to join the band. (Mr. Reed.)

Gwendolyn Snow, pupil in L 6-1 withdrew last week. This is the first person to withdraw from our room. She moved to Wichita Falls. Leon Duke has gone to Georgia where his grandmother is ill. Kenneth Triglith spent the week-end in Fort Worth. Billie Wimberly went to Vernon over the week-end. (Miss Gibson.)

We've decorated our room for Halloween. We enjoy making black cats and jack-o-lanterns. We went to the fire station last Thursday. We learned so many worthwhile things. We've made a chart about the fire station. We've drawn pictures and will do quite a bit of work pertaining to our trip. (Mrs. Kimbrow.)

During art period we have made play money and clock faces. We think these were worth while because we used the play money in learning to make change, and the clock faces in learning to tell time. Our room is decorated with Halloween witches, bats, cats and owls. We think we are ready for any "Halloween 'Spooks' that may be around this week. (Miss Isbell.)

The 7th grade students have been working on flower compositions in colored chalks and have found it to be very interesting. American Rodeo and Horse Show To Have Double-Header First Night

Ft. Worth, Oct. 30.—So fast and furious are reservations pouring in for the Will Rogers Day celebration Nov. 15, marking the Premier All-American Rodeo and Horse show, a precedent has been established by the rodeo officials in declaring a double-header for opening night.

Realizing from advance reservations that the Will Rogers memorial coliseum will be jammed by out of city visitors T. E. Robertson, president of the Southwestern Rodeo association and producer of the All American Show, announced today that advance sales for opening night would have to be for the second show in order to accommodate the crowds.

From Chicago came the first reservation for box seats, 550 of them, from the National Electrical Refrigeration Engineers who close a national convention here on opening day, Nov. 15th. This association has played up the Buffalo Barbecue and Rodeo attraction through their magazine until the delegates voted the show a "must-see" attraction of their convention.

More than 750 reservations have arrived from newspaper men of the five Southwestern states and as many more are expected from the Fourth Estate before show time.

With 128 queens having been announced to date from as many cities of the area, huge delegations, bands and boosters have asked for tickets for the evening's opener.

Round-up clubs of Oklahoma in promising 500 horses and riders state an equal amount of boosters will attend, taking another block of seats in the coliseum.

An estimated 6,000 will line up at Buck Dowe's chuck wagon following the parade that afternoon to eat Buffalo barbecue, beans, onions, apricots, pickles, bread and sip coffee before entering the Will Rogers Memorial coliseum for the dedication ceremony headed by Amon G. Carter and the premier show to follow.

Plans are now being arranged that when the first show is over the audience may transfer to Pioneer Palace (only a few yards from the coliseum) for the Top Hat & Stetson Revue and Queen's Coronation ball while other thousands enter the coliseum for the repeat performance. The second show audience will also have an opportunity to see a complete Revue in the Pioneer Palace following the night cap rodeo, Robertson said.

Out of town visitors will be accommodated first for the Premier Show, officials have announced.

Defends Mourning Doves

Mourning doves have been accused of pulling young corn, especially after it has just shot up out of the ground. However, investigations by game department biologists have shown that the mourning doves do very little, if any harm to young corn. Not a grain of corn was found in any of the crops of fourteen mourning doves taken in and around the corn fields in Robertson county in April and May. Croton, Johnson grass and a variety of other seed were found. Farmers had claimed depredation.

Wednesday, the 5th grade pupils will make a two minute talk on fire prevention. These talks will be on loss of property and lives in the United States and Texas in the past year and causes of fires in the homes. We hope to find out how to prevent many fires. (Miss Goodwin.)

Pupils in our room are engaged in a clean hands campaign with Lifebuoy soap. Each child has a small bar of soap for his own use, a card to check each day, a button to prove his membership in the club, and names of those qualifying for the place will be printed on an honor roll sheet to be placed in the room.

Jack Garner spent the week-end in Lubbock with his grandfather. Opal Brownlee has brought three plants to school to beautify the room. Scranton Peevey brought a nice geranium cutting which we are rooting. We are proud of our plants. Plants make a room cheerful and they help us to be healthy. Paul Watson brought a cactus plant. (Miss Smith.)

THE QUESTION BOX

O. D. DIAL, Minister

What constitutes true greatness in men?

It is true that men have always desired distinction. They have wanted to "stand out" in whatever sphere they have lived. Even the disciples of Jesus demonstrated this desire. They wanted to be distinguished from their fellows, by being considered greater.

In Mt. 18:1, they asked the Savior, "Who is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" In Mk. 9:33-34 they disputed among themselves, while on the way to Capernaum, who should be greatest. The wife of Zebedee had somewhat of a selfish interest in her two sons, and thought she could definitely settle the matter concerning their greatness by going to the Savior with this request. "Grant that these, my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, the other on thy left hand, in thy kingdom." Mt. 20:20-21.

There is one thing that we should realize and that is, that our standards of greatness is not the same as God's standard. Usually men measure greatness by the amount of material wealth one possesses, his social standing, or his education. God measures man's greatness by the sincere desire and intentions of his heart. His ideals and desires, rather than his money and social standing, determine his greatness.

True greatness is measured by those qualities that make us a Christian. Christ taught that if one would be great, he must be a servant and a minister of others. Mt. 20:26; Mk. 9:35.

If we truly want to be great, let us realize that we must be of service to others. The most noble desires are those desires that cause one to sincerely want to be of service and aid to those who need help.

Remember, "the Question Box" wants your questions. If you have a question you would like to have answered, send or hand it to this writer. We are sincere when we say we want to help you. So send your questions or problems without delay.

Come to the Church of Christ and study with us. Be sure and go to Church Sunday.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 3.

The Golden Text is: "Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way; but wickedness overthroweth the sinner" (Proverbs 13:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands" (Psalms 9:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Remove error from thought, and it will not appear in effect" (page 40.)

IS A COMBINATION OF BOTH!

Fluid Coupling is fine, as far as it goes. But it won't eliminate gear shifting! It takes Fluid Coupling plus a four-speed, fully automatic transmission to give you shifting that is completely automatic under all conditions.

NO OTHER type of drive gives you the performance thrills that you get with Hydra-Matic! Proved by thousands of owners, it's more sensational than ever in 1941! Hydra-Matic Drive is optional on all models, Sixes and Eights, Custom Cruiser, Dynamic Cruiser and low-priced Special.

Fluid Coupling alone will not eliminate the clutch! You need Fluid Coupling plus a completely automatic transmission to do away with all clutch pushing! With Hydra-Matic, there is no clutch. You use one foot only.

Bulldogs Lose Costly Game To Vernon

More than 2,000 football fans saw Burkburnett go down in defeat to the Vernon Lions last Friday night when the Lions and Bulldogs tangled in their first conference game but not until the Bulldogs had put up one of the most courageous games of their career. The game was fast and furious from beginning to end and the difference in the score was a back named Maxon of Vernon.

The game was costly to Burkburnett due to the fact that Glen Wood, Burkburnett's star backfield man received a concussion of the brain late in the first quarter. Bobby Hayes, another backfield man was taken out of the game when he wrenched his knee. Burkburnett received the first kickoff, which Woods ran back 45 yards. The Bulldogs then rushed to the Lion's 19-yard mark, where Woods fumbled, and Vernon recovered. The Lion attack then formed with Maxon as the spearhead and drove straight downfield to the Bulldog's 15-yard line.

Maxon Runs 90 Yards
Maxon dropped back to pass, found no receiver open, started his deceptive legs churning, and wiggled his way through the Bulldogs for a touchdown. Davis missed his try for extra point from placement.

Early in the second quarter, Vernon was pushed back to its own 10-yard line. Maxon slipped off tackle, detoured to the sideline, and scampered 90 yards with the aid of deadly blocking for the last touchdown.

During the third quarter, the Bulldogs twice rushed to the Lion's 12-yard mark. On the second such stab, Woods was seriously hurt, was removed from the game and to a Wichita Falls hospital.

The Bulldogs led in the first downs, 12 to 5.

Wood Improving
Wood was rushed to the General hospital in Wichita Falls after the game and according to reports Thursday morning he is much improved but will probably be out for the season. Hayes has shown a decided improvement and will be able to start against Childress when the Bulldogs engage them at Childress, Nov. 8th.

blue cylinder. An army officer opened it, took from it a number slip. He handed it to the President.

"The first number drawn by the Secretary of War," Roosevelt slowly announced, is "serial number 158."

There was a sharp, quickly repressed little scream from a woman at the rear of the hall. Her son's number had been the first drawn in the great peace-time draft lottery of 1940.

Other officials, cabinet officers, members of Congress, and a long procession of veterans, each drew a capsule from the bowl. Then, expert little crews from selective service headquarters, especially rehearsed for the momentous job, took over, and the drawing settled down to a precisely and mechanically executed operation destined to run far into the night.

Draft Lottery Faced With Legal Test

Washington, Oct. 29—Facing a possible legal test because the great draft lottery ended with six missing numbers, selective service officials pressed forward Wednesday with plans for getting the first contingent into camp.

It is to consist of some 30,000 young men drawn from regions where camp facilities are already available. Officials intimated that voluntary enlistments might cover that entire number, but beyond that point, plans were to have 400,000 in uniform by Feb. 28, and 800,000 by June 15. Estimates were that this would involve an

Kay Miles played the role of Prof. Wise, and Mrs. Hough was his bride. Mrs. Williams was the trouble-making mother-in-law. Songs by a quartet of Fairview students and a reading by Bruce Williams and piano music furnished entertainment between acts.

Proceeds from the play will be

When after 17 hours and 31 minutes, the drawing of the now familiar blue capsules from the long famous goldfish bowl was completed early Wednesday, it was discovered that six capsules and their numbered slips had been lost. First Texans May Not Be Called This Year

Austin, Oct. 30—Although word has not been received as to the number of Texans to be called in the first selective draft quota, state selective service headquarters speculated Wednesday registrants from this state might not be called before next year.

This is because of the large number of volunteers for the varying armed forces which are to be credited on the state's quota.

Headquarters expects to learn the state's quota within a day or two from Eighth Corps Area headquarters in San Antonio. Also unknown at this time is the number of volunteers, but the group is large and has been increasing rapidly since assignment of serial numbers by local draft boards.
