Damage In Millions In Denver Flooding

Saving On Excise Eyed This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed today a compromise bill to repeal most federal excise taxes and lead the way for price cuts on a variety of goods from automobiles to lipsticks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress set up a tight schedule today to bring price cuts through excise tax reductions to U.S. consumers at the earliest possible date — perhaps Saturday.

Conferees from the House and Senate agreed Wednesday night on a compromise excise tax bill ultimately trimming $4.6 billion a year from the levies on a wide variety of goods, from automobiles to matches.

House leaders planned, barring unforeseen setbacks, to take up the compromise bill as the first order of business today. Since the conference version closely resembles the bill the House has already passed, quick approval was expected.

By early afternoon no snags had been reported.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., one of the principal Senate conferees, said that chamber will act as soon as possible after the House votes.

TO JOHNSON

Such a legislative schedule could send the measure to President Johnson in time for him to sign it Friday, bringing most tax cuts into effect Saturday.

Actually, the initial 3 per cent reduction in the automobile excise — $70 on an average car — and the repeal of the 10 per cent levy on the manufacturer's price on air conditioners are retroactive to May 15. Anyone who purchased such an article on that date or later would be eligible for a refund.

Tax cuts going into effect the day after the President signs the bill include repeal of the 10 per cent retail excise taxes on jewelry, furs, toilet preparations and luggage, and of the manufacturer's excise taxes on a variety of goods including appliances, radio and television sets, cameras, business machines, musical instruments and most sporting goods.

LATER CUTS

Most of the remaining excises, including taxes on theater tickets, cabaret checks and club dues, as well as the stamp taxes on real estate purchases, would go out either next Dec. 31 for Jan. 1.

Stock Market Plugs Ahead, Trade Slowed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market plugged ahead early this afternoon but the pace of trading was considerably slower than on the previous two days of sharp rallying.

The general pattern was irregularly higher, with gains running from fractions to about a point among key stocks.

The slightly higher trend was evident on balance from the opening. After a period of hesitation, buying pressure distinctly overcame the tendency to sell.

Motors, which wobbled for most of the morning, posted a couple of thin gains. Steels moved ahead.

Next Month Allowable At 2,885,657 Daily

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission held the July allowable today to 28.1 per cent of potential, the same as in June.

The production pattern sets allowable for next month at 2,885,657 barrels per day.

FEW REQUESTS

Only three of the 13 major purchasers of Texas crude at the proration hearing asked for higher production.

July 1964, production was held to 2,788,685 barrels daily under a 27 per cent order.

Barrels per day nominations, by percentage, made by major crude oil purchases at the commission hearing:

30—Texaco, 141,000

28—Gulf 210,000 and Humble 411,765.

27.5—Sun 102,224

OTHERS LISTED

27—Cities Service 80,000; Continental 26,700; Pan American 243,630; Shell 169,700; Sinclair 99,700.

26—Mobil 229,800; Standard of Texas 35,500.

25 — Atlantic Refining 72,000 and Phillips 121,630.

Big Crowd Expected For Aggie Feed

A thousand or more residents are expected to eat all they can hold of a giant barbecue menu at City Park Amphitheatre today at 7 p.m. as A&M Club members decide who will receive the annual scholarship to Texas A&M.

The barbecue raises funds for scholarships for Big Spring youths who want to become Aggies. Fourteen boys have received financial aid since the program was started 11 years ago. The boys are chosen on the basis of need and scholarship.

The beef is already sliced and prepared, and the beans, onions, potato salad and iced tea are being readied today, said Don Newsom, head of the food preparation committee.

A $1.50 ticket entitles one to all he can eat. Children under 12 are admitted free.

About 1,200 people were present at the barbecue last year. It is unique in Texas with its motive of student aid.

Tickets, which have been moving at a brisk pace, are being sold by all Aggie club members. Tuesday, Aggie wives sold tickets at two city banks and former corpsmen conducted a blitz-like campaign on city streets and in downtown businesses.

Barry Reveals Organization Being Formed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disavowing any third-party plans, Barry Goldwater announced today the formation of a new organization to guide "a crusade of political education" in the tenets of conservatism.

The 1964 Republican presidential nominee announced he will be honorary chairman of the Free Society Association being formed by some of his closest political associates.

"NO 3RD PARTY"

At the same time, Goldwater said he remains a foe of any third-party move.

Goldwater said the new group will provide a focal point for Americans who are determined to maintain and promote America's basic principles.

He said the research, writing and study which it will conduct "is beyond the scope, responsibility or purpose" of the Republican National Committee.

SUPPORT NOBODY

On the other hand, Goldwater said, the association will conduct no political organization tasks and back no candidates.

"I am a Republican and I intend to remain one," he said, "and in that capacity to assist the party wherever that assistance is sought in consonance with my ability to do so."

Bridges Ripped; Many Homeless

DENVER (AP) — The worst flood in more than 30 years pounded Denver and communities to the south Wednesday night and today, leaving hundreds homeless, ripping out bridges, and causing millions of dollars in damages.

Most of Denver was without power during the night and early morning as a result of flooding of the huge Public Service Co., power plant.

No loss in life has been reported.

FOLLOW TORNADOES

Floodwater roaring out of mountain cloudbursts raced down the South Platte River late Wednesday. The floods struck after tornadoes ripped through Palmer Lake south of Denver and also pounced down in an area southeast of here.

At the Valley Country Club, three golfers on the course were injured as terrific winds smashed flimsy shelter houses in which they had sought refuge.

Hundreds of persons living close to the South Platte River had to leave their homes. They were given shelter in schools and other buildings.

Water flowed into motels, restaurants and other business houses at the south edge of Denver.

TRACKS GO

Water from the South Platte overflowed into the railroad yards at the lower end of 17th Street. Union Pacific tracks at the north end of the yard were washed out. Passengers were transferred to buses and driven to a hotel.

The crest of the South Platte flood struck shortly before midnight. Another crest, three hours later, flattened out before reaching the metropolitan area.

The second crest was reported by the Colorado Highway Patrol to be about 15 feet high — roughly the size of the initial surge — when it reached Waterton, 16 miles above Denver.

WARNINGS SOUND

Even as the second threat melted away, the first crest was moving out onto the prairie lands northeast of Denver.

Evacuation warnings were sounded ahead of the rising waters and most residents of low-lying areas got out well ahead of the wave.

A power failure blacked out much of downtown Denver shortly before midnight. Other sections of the city also were affected.

Many residents of the Globeville area in North Denver were directed to evacuate their homes shortly before midnight. The city's packing houses and stockyards are located in the vicinity, although apparently high above the water line.

Denver Fire Chief Cassio Frazzini was swept from a rowboat early today in the middle of the torrent while trying to reach some of the trapped persons. He was rescued later as he clung to a tree along the edge of the raging torrent.

A crest estimated by the Colorado Highway Patrol at 15 to 20 feet high swept down the usually shallow South Platte as it roared into Denver from the south.

On the way, it tore out highway bridges, covered up roads and lapped menacingly at railroad trestles.

Johnson Pins Medals On Space Twins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gemini 4 astronauts came to the White House today to accept medals from President Johnson and hear a presidential statement that their historic feats "closed the gap in manned space flight."

Johnson, in remarks prepared for the medal presentation ceremony, said the walk-in-space flight of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II clearly indicated the United States no longer trails the Soviet Union in manned flight.

BY COPTER

And he said their achievement had done even more by raising hopes around the world for "close cooperation among all nations in exploring and using space for the common good and peaceful interests of mankind."

McDivitt and White flew in separate planes to nearby Andrews Air Force Base. Their families were with them. Helicopters picked them up and landed them on the White House grounds.

The President planned to pin on their chests the Exceptional Service medals of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Charles W. Mathews, manager of the Gemini program office of the Manned Space Center at Houston, Tex., was to receive the same award.

Deaths Of 3 Paratroopers In Dominican Fight Bared

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The toll of American dead in the Dominican Republic has risen to 23 with the announcement that three U.S. paratroopers were killed in shooting this week.

The rebel leader, Col. Francis Caamano Deno, claimed Wednesday that 67 Dominicans were killed and 265 wounded in the heavy firing between U.S. forces and rebel supporters on Tuesday.

The Inter-American Peace Force announced that a U.S. paratrooper was killed Wednesday morning and two other U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in the fighting Tuesday.

33 WOUNDED

Another 33 U.S. soldiers were reported wounded in shooting Tuesday and Wednesday between the peace force and the rebels in downtown Santo Domingo. A Brazilian officer wounded Tuesday was taken off the critical list.

Firing was heavy for more than three hours Wednesday afternoon along the northern corridor of the international security zone. U.S. paratroopers fired 50-caliber machine guns, recoilless rifles and other automatic weapons at buildings in the crowded slum area where snipers were believed hiding.

Caamano gave his report of casualties in the rebel sector at a news conference and accused U.S. troops of committing "an act of genocide without precedent in our country." The previous unofficial count of Dominican casualties was 26 dead and more than 75 wounded.

REBEL CHARGES

The rebel leader charged that a Red Cross center in Ozama fortress was "grotesquely bombed" and women and children were killed in the fortress on the west bank of the Ozama River. It faces U.S. positions on the east bank.

Caamano also repeated rebel charges that the U.S. troops opened fire on the rebels Tuesday, touching off the 12-hour battle. The mediating team of the Organization of American States reported earlier that the rebels fired first.

Rebel leaders claimed that the U.S. objective was to force the rebels into a more flexible negotiating position.

TAKE PRISONERS

An OAS spokesman announced that the American troops took 280 prisoners in extending their lines four blocks below the international corridor during the fighting Tuesday.

The Americans pulled back two blocks, but the OAS committee said the other blocks would be held until Caamano gave "satisfactory assurances that this type of violation of the

Co-Star To Quit Cast In Conflict

NEW YORK (AP) — Sydney Chaplin, co-star of the Broadway hit, "Funny Girl," is leaving the cast after Saturday night's performance.

Chaplin said Wednesday he resigned as the result of differences with Ray Stark, producer of the musical. He declined to elaborate. The musical features Barbra Streisand.

Absentee Voting On Road Bonds To End Friday

Deadline for absentee votes in the Howard County $600,000 road bond election is 5 p.m. Friday.

At 8 a.m. today, Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, said she had received 75 absentee ballots.

She warned all voters, who intend to vote by this method, they must come to her office and do so before 5 p.m. Friday.

The election will be Tuesday.

The election, to be held in all of the county's 20 voting precincts, will decide if the Howard County Commissioners Court is to be empowered to issue $600,000 in road bonds for the purchase of right of way.

The county is charged with responsibility of buying needed right of way for the expansion and improvement of major federal and state highways. The program now being pursued involves a number of road projects in Big Spring and its immediate vicinity.

Mrs. Petty said that voting boxes for the Tuesday election have been prepared and judges in the election precincts are invited to pick up their boxes and election supplies Friday.

Polls open at 8 a.m. Tuesday and will close at 7 p.m.

HIGHWAYS FOR PROGRESS

FM 700 Projects Are Needed

(First in a series of articles on the county road bond election of June 22).

Coming up next Tuesday is a major decision for Howard County citizens, regarding continued economic development, based on one of the essentials—better traffic thoroughfares.

JUNE 22

June 22 is the date for a referendum to determine whether the county shall be authorized to issue up to $600,000 in bonds to finance highway right-of-way purchases.

Under the state program, counties acquire the land, the state carries the rest of the cost—design, engineering, construction, and — thereafter—maintenance.

The land acquisition in the immediate stage involves two projects:

(1) The extension of FM 700, northward from its present terminus at Interstate 20 near the Cosden refinery, to State Highway 350 (Snyder), at the Gail Road intersection.

This is a project that has been pending for a long time. It was first sought by the county, backed by industrial leaders who have seen the need for a loop to the north and east, principally for trucks serving our industrial complex. It can be a shorter route for many people in the agricultural areas, particularly those moving from north to south.

The state accepted this project back in 1963. Actually it has $432,000 allotted for it, has done the preliminary work, and has been pressing for action. It is ready to move when the land is made available. The county has not had sufficient funds, during these more than two years, to make the purchases.

(2) Another re-design of FM 700, this the segment that circles south, west and to the northwest of Big Spring. The state has indicated its readiness to advance this project (after the other FM 700 job), but here again has been waiting for the county to show its willingness to get the necessary right of way.

Preliminary design on this segment calls for two-lane traffic, plus frontage roads, from Goliad westward for some blocks past US 87 (Gregg Street); a widening of the road thereon, and taking out the sharp curves around Scenic Mountain and near the entrance of Webb AFB. From the foot of Scenic Mountain, the new route would go directly to US 80 west, making a new intersection near the Desert Sands Motel.

NEW DEVELOPMENT

This eliminates some dangerous traffic turns and speed zone areas (including Airport School), opens new territory for development.

Both projects do this, as a matter of fact. And the story invariably has been that development follows new traffic arteries. The present FM 700 route is a striking example. It is not inconceivable that such areas as Kentwood, Highland South and the others—plus the business they have generated—would not now be in existence if it had not been for the first opening of a roadway.

A grade separation is planned at the Gregg-FM 700 intersection, one of the busiest corners in the county. By state highway count, it averaged 7,500 cars per day last year.

There were 5,500 cars per day at FM 700 and Wasson Road, 6,900 at FM 700 and US 80. Third and Fourth Streets in Big Spring are the only thoroughfares with more activity.

GET WORSE

Without road improvements, the situation can only get worse. In the past 10 years, Howard County auto registrations jumped from 18,000 to nearly 27,000—an increase of 46 per cent. If this rate holds for the next 10 years, the county will have over 38,000 registered vehicles.

It means a monumental traffic problem, unless arterial road development keeps pace. The time is now here to provide for such development.

Strike Ties Up Military Cargo

NEW YORK (AP) — A government-chartered ship loaded with American military cargo for Greece and Turkey lay stranded at the Brooklyn Army Terminal today as the Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike of ships' officers widened.

A spokesman for the owners of the ship, the freighter Attleboro Victory, said her five engine room officers had refused to sign for a voyage scheduled to start Wednesday.

In past maritime strikes, it han been customary for all unions to exempt ships with military cargo.

The two-coast walkout worsened last midnight as the deck officers' union struck 16 companies operating 65 tankers.

Twenty-four hours earlier, the engine room officer's union had struck nine companies operating 184 passenger and cargo ships.

SEEK SETTLEMENT

Top-ranking federal mediators are seeking to settle the disputes.

More than one-quarter of the American Merchant Marine of 900 ships is involved in the two-union walkout in contract disputes. But only 15 ships have been reported tied up since the strike began Tuesday night. Shipping companies had gotten most of their fleets to sea.

The striking unions are the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association. The unions are AFL-CIO affiliates and each has about 10,000 members.

MEBA hasn't said publicly why the Attleboro Victory's engine room officers did not man the ship.

The Attleboro Victory, owned by the Prudential Lines, is under charter to the Navy's Military Sea Transportation Service. The service — called MSTS — is a worldwide operation that carries armed services personnel, their dependents and military cargoes. Jesse M. Calhoon, president of MEBA, said the strike by his union has "no national significance whatsoever."

This remark at a news conference Wednesday, was interpreted in some quarters as a move to head off any proposal for a srtike injunction under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Calhoon said the lines struck by his union carry "about 2 per cent of the nation's foreign trade."

Foreign-flag ships, which are not affected by the strikes, are estimated to carry more than 90 per cent of the nation's foreign trade.

More Men Viet-Bound

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is stepping up its war effort in Viet Nam another notch, with 16,000 to 21,000 more American troops headed for the war zone.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday that nine more Army and Marine combat battalions, with supply and service units "will be in place in a few weeks."

The augmentation of American troop strength, long predicted, was taken at the request of the South Vietnamese government, the defense chief told a news conference. It will bring the total of U.S. troops in Viet Nam to between 70,000 and 75,000, he said.

Will still more go later?

McNamara parried that question this way:

"The secretary of state and I and the President have repeatedly said that we will do whatever is necessary to achieve our objective in South Viet Nam, and we won't do more than is necessary."

GROUND MISSION?

A week ago, the State Department and White House had versions about whether U.S. troops now could be committed to offensive action, rather than only defensive. The question came up again, in another form, in McNamara's news conference: What is the mission of U.S. ground combat personnel?

McNamara replied that the mission is to protect bases where there are heavy concentrations of aircraft, equipment and personnel, then added: "In addition, if the Vietnamese military commanders request the assistance of U.S. troops, U.S. combat troops, because the Vietnamese lack the necessary reserves to effectively counter Viet Cong attacks, Gen. (William C.) Westmoreland (top American commander) has authority to send our combat troops to the assistance and support of the Vietnamese. If he didn't have that authority, a situation could arise in which very heavy loss of life could occur and in which great advantage could be won by the Viet Cong forces."

The revised total of American military personnel in Viet Nam — Army, Marine, Air Force and Navy — does not include 27,000 aboard ships of the 7th Fleet standing off the mainland. About 21,000 of the new total will be combat ground personnel, McNamara said.

54,000 NOW

This compares with a present strength of about 54,000.

The difference is equivalent to something more than a full division, which averages about 17,000 men.

But McNamara has given no indication of intending to put one or more complete divisions into Viet Nam at this time.

The procedure so far is to utilize only elements — battalions or smaller — of Army and Marine divisions.

Out of McNamara's news conference arose the possibility that elements of an entirely new division, the formation of which he announced, might be sent to Viet Nam at some point.

He said that the Army has been authorized to organize a new airmobile division as part of its current 16-division structure. Taking the name of the old 1st Cavalry Division, the outfit will have a strength of 15,787 — and be transportable by a swarm of 434 aircraft, about four times more aircraft than a conventional division possesses.

McNamara said the division, shaping up at Ft. Benning, Ga., could be ready for deployment in eight weeks if necessary.

He preferred not to answer a question of whether the division or portions of it would be sent to Viet Nam.

McNamara was asked how the command would be worked out if U.S. troops were sent to the assistance of endangered South Vietnamese forces.

INTO SEGMENTS

What he described in answering seemed to be some form of a side-by-side system: "The battlefield will be split into segments and the South Vietnamese forces will operate under their own commanders in one segment and U.S. troops under their command in support of Vietnamese forces in another segment under command of U.S. officers."

Left unexplained was how the over-all joint command for an operation would be handled.

'Deficiencies' In Eagle Pass Schools Cited

AUSTIN (AP) — State education commissioner J. W. Edgar said today unless there is substantial improvement in Eagle Pass schools by July 1, 1966, state accreditatin should be stripped away.

He cited "many serious deficiencies" in the schools, checked in April by the Texas education agency's staff.

Edgar's remarks were in an 11-page report to J. I. James, school superintendent, and was a supplement to a February ruling by Edgar upholding James' job as head of the Eagle Pass Independent School District.

Edgar said of 193 professional personnel employed by Eagle Pass schools, seven had no teaching certificate or permit and 15 had no college degree or plans to obtain a degree. "In addition 72 elementary and secondary teachers lacked required training for their assignments," the report said.

He also said that "the emphasis upon athletics in this school system had been great and it was reported that funds were more readily available for athletic equipment than for instructional aids and materials in the academic areas."

Edgar added that salaries of 14 coaches employed by the school system were supplemented by $15,183 from local funds, an average of $1,084 each, while classroom teachers received a salary supplement of $135 each.

Belly Dancing Class Started

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight women, three of them housewives, are starting a new hobby. They are learning the art of Mideast belly dancing.

All said they were doing it just for fun and that they would be afraid to perform in public.

Teaching the intricate maneuvers of the belly dancing is Susanne Hoffman, 23, a secretary. When she's teaching her speciality, at the school (The Penn Center Dance Club) however, she's known as Princess Neila.

The class, besides the three housewives, includes a student, two dancers, a ceramics teacher and a photographer.

"I'm doing it for personal satisfaction," said one student, Marie Vartanian, 30, the mother of three children.

Moon Landing Before Late '69?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Office of Manned Space Flight says the Gemini space program is ahead of schedule. But he said it is too early to say if the date for a landing on the moon can be moved up from the late 1969 target.

Dr. George E. Mueller, who is also associate administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, noted that the 4-day Gemini 4 mission just concluded had originally been scheduled for the third quarter of the year.

He also said the United States has a long way to go before it can safely say it is ahead of the Soviet Union in space research.

Economy Said Not In Danger

NEW YORK (AP) — Gardner Ackley, chief economic adviser to President Johnson, said today there is little danger the nation's economic engine will either overheat and boil over or will run out of gas.

He said the nation must be wary of pitfalls during prosperous times but the current lengthy expansion "seems destined to continue many, many months into the future."

BIG DIFFERENCE

In a speech prepared for meeting of the American Marketing Association, Ackley also said that there are great differences between the present economic period and the boom-and-bust era of the late 1920s.

However, he made no direct reference to a speech two weeks ago by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who saw "disquieting similarities" between the two periods. Martin's speech preceded a sharp slide in stock market prices.

FEDERAL ROLE

Ackley said many "stabilizing structural changes" have been built into the economy in recent years, and most important is the increased economic role played by the federal government.

In the 1920s Ackley said, "a drop in spending in one segment knocked down the whole row of dominos of spending in every other segment. Today there is one big domino (the federal government) that stands firm against declines in private spending."

Business Spending Gain Noteworthy In Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — Can it be that the businessman is getting the king treatment? Is he replacing the consumer in that role? Washington, at least, seems a lot more attentive to the businessman both as a present ally and a future asset.

For some time now Americans have been reassured regularly that the consumer is king. That is because he has more money now and businessmen have been competing for it. This has made the consumer choosy, or what some like to call king. It also has helped keep prices from running away.

But of late prices have been rising a bit faster. This may be temporary although most people suspect that it's always easier for prices to rise than to fall back again.

OTHER FIELDS

There are other fields than prices in which the role of favorite may be shifting from consumer to businessman. One is in the task of keeping the economy climbing at home, and another in solving the nation's problems in its international monetary dealings.

Consumers are pretty well aware by now that what the planners of the economy expect of them is to make more money, if possible, and in any event to go on putting out almost all of this income, either on current bills or as downpayments on new ones. This keeps the economy rolling prettily.

Right now it appears that personal income and expenditure will continue to rise, but perhaps with less of a rush than that which sent the economy soaring in recent months.

So those hopeful of substantial economic growth are now looking to business as a likely source of stimulant. Business spending is going up this year and that enhances businessmen in the eyes of government economists.

CURB OUTFLOW

Industrialists and bankers also are holding down voluntarily on sending dollars abroad for investment in overseas plants or foreign securities, or for loans to foreign governments or corporations.

This is credited with turning the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments in the early weeks of this year into a surplus in March and April. This gives businessmen and bankers considerable stature in some official circles.

Stepped up spending for plants and equipment also is pleasing to those who fear a showdown in other sectors of the economy, such as a possible reversal of the recent piling up of steel inventories and the record production of new cars.

Such business spending for expansion is now estimated as high as $51 billion this year, compared with $45 billion last year and $37 billion in 1962. The increased spending will help keep the economy rolling.

New Courts Bill Signed

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally reluctantly signed a bill creating five new state courts Wednesday.

The measure creates the 137th District Court at Lubbock, and other District Courts in Dallas, El Paso, Houston and Fort Worth.

"I have signed this bill reluctantly and only after being assured of a compelling need for new district courts in these areas," Connally said.

He emphasized that the next legislature should consider realigning judical districts.

"When the state is taken as a whole, there are sufficient judges to carry the existing workload," the governor said.

Plans Workshop

James Haston, a junior leader in the Knott 4-H Club, has organized an electric workshop, which had its initial meeting Tuesday night. Haston plans to teach the young club members the proper way of repairing electrical hazards in the home after they have been found. Plans are under way for an awards night this fall for the outstanding "young electrician." Haston is also planning various contests to stimulate interest in the workshop.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ◇	3 ♠	4 ◇
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of ◇

A deft bit of card handling by South, the declarer at four spades, enabled him to make three plays from the dummy which apparently had only two entries.

South's jump to three spades is ostensibly a preemptive bid; however, he hoped that his apparent announcement of weakness might lure the opposition into overextending themselves. West mustered up a free raise of his partner by bidding four diamonds, and North competed to four spades. Altho he did not have much, he reasoned that his two high trump honors should prove useful to South.

West opened the three of diamonds, East put up the ace and continued with the queen. Declarer ruffed and paused to survey the rather barren landscape presented by the dummy. South was confronted with several potential losers in hearts and clubs, and the only hope for restricting the opposition to their book was to make repeated leads from dummy toward the high cards in his hand.

Inasmuch as the North hand was short of entry cards, it was essential that declarer make the most of his limited resources. A spade was led to the queen and the three of clubs was returned. South put in the jack from his hand and West won the trick with the king of clubs.

A diamond was returned, which South ruffed, and then he crossed over to the ace of spades to put the ten of clubs thru. Since East had nothing to gain by covering, he followed with a small club, and South played the eight from his hand. When the ten held the trick, dummy switched to a heart. East ducked again and declarer put up the king to score his 10th trick.

In all, South lost one heart, one diamond and one club. The key play on the deal was dummy's lead of the three of clubs on the first round of that suit. By getting the jack of clubs out of his hand, South is able to underplay North's ten on the next round of clubs, and thus retain the lead in dummy for the heart play.

Eubank Is Waiting For Key To Turn

Jack Eubank, ordered released from custody by a Wednesday ruling of the Texas Criminal Court of appeals, today was waiting the hour when the jail door key will turn in his favor.

Sheriff A. N. Standard will not be able to release the prisoner until an official copy of the court ruling is received. Normally such rulings are sent by regular mail and should be here before the weekend.

Eubank, who admits he is an escapee from the New Mexico State Penitentiary, won a release from custody here when the high court held the New Mexico extradition proceedings failed to track Texas law.

Eubank, in jail here since early March, could face a new problem in his effort to evade return to New Mexico penitentiary. He was serving a life sentence for murder when he walked off from the prison in 1957.

Peace officers believe that New Mexico will undoubtedly file a new request for the man's removal from Big Spring to Santa Fe and it is felt that this time, the New Mexico officials will make sure all essential papers in the case are included in the file.

However, until some new order is received, Eubank will probably be released from jail as soon as Sheriff Standard has a copy of the court order in his hands.

Mrs. Shell's Funeral Today

Services were to be held today at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Porum, Okla., for Mrs. Della Shell, 82, who died Tuesday in Muskogee, Okla. She was the mother of Mrs. Irene Kincaid, Big Spring.

The survivors include 10 grandchildren, among whom is Mrs. Jack Hopper, Big Spring, and one great-grandchild, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hopper.

Mrs. Shell was born Nov. 5, 1882 at Prairie Grove, Ark., and had lived at Porum 50 years.

Burial was to be in Coleman Cemetery near Porum under direction of the Mallory Funeral Home, Stigler, Okla.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Kincaid, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Muskogee, and Ruby Shell, Porum; three sons, Willis Shell, Wyandotte, Okla., Jack Shell, Altamont, Kan., and Alonzo Shell, Tulsa, Okla.; the 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Forgot To Address It

Nelda, Mark and Marcia are probably wondering why they haven't heard from Bill.

And Bill, very likely, is wondering when he will get a letter from Nelda, Mark and Marcia.

Well, unless Bill writes another postal card or letter, the trio will not be hearing from him anytime soon. And if Bill doesn't intend to write again until he gets a letter from Nelda, et al, there'll be a long break in correspondence.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, called attention to the situation. A postal card, on which was depicted the full face portrait of a very sad-eyed Beagle, was dropped into the mail May 27.

On examining the card, Boatler found that the sender had become so interested in his message that he used up all of the space on the back—and then posted the card with no address.

There is no clue as to Bill's last name nor where he lives. Nor, for that matter, is there anyway to know where Nelda, Mark and Marcia reside.

One thing Mark will not find out—Bill had a horned toad for him but it got away. Since Mark never heard about the horned toad, he won't be too disappointed.

Grand Jury To Meet June 29

Howard County grand jury will convene on June 29, District Attorney Wayne Burns said today.

He said he has about 20 cases on hand for presentation to the grand jury and anticipates a number of others will be filed before Jun 29, when the grand jurors are selected.

Burns said that the majority of the cases he now has are more or less mill-run complaints. It is expected the grand jurors will be able to complete their work in a day and a half.

W. Berliners, Ired Over Shooting, Note Holiday

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners, still indignant over this week's shooting of two boaters by East German guards, paid tribute today to the victims of the revolt against communism in East Germany 12 years ago.

Because of the nature of this holiday and the latest shooting, in which Hermann Doebler, 42, was killed and his woman companion seriously wounded, police were alerted for possible disturbances along the wall.

June 17 is a national holiday known as Unity Day.

Anger over the machine-gunning Tuesday of Doebler and his fiancee continued to dominate public opinion here. All West Berlin newspapers played up the unusually sharp protest letter of U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee to Pyotr Abrassimov, the Soviet envoy in East Berlin.

McGhee warned the Russians that the United States would take measures to protect the West Berliners. Officials declined to divulge what these measures might be.

Tuesday's shooting occurred on the Tetlow Canal when the boaters apparently strayed into East German waters by mistake.

Buried Money Totals $113.35

The bag of tarnished nickels, dimes and quarters, dug up in the back yard of a Midland residence and identified as funds stolen from Southwestern Bell Telephone Company pay boxes, totalled $113.35.

This means, Jo Barbee, district court clerk deputy, said, that her account is now 15 cents long. The court had ruled the money found can be credited to the restitution George Beard, former phone company employe, has been ordered to make to the company.

She said that Beard, now on a probated sentence, has already paid in all but $113.20 of the $375 he had to pay. That means, she said, that there is 15 cents left.

The bag of money was turned over to the police by the finders. Since Beard, who had confessed to the looting of phone boxes, formerly lived at the address, it was established that the money was some that he had buried.

The police turned the bag over to Sgt. John Wood of the Texas Rangers. He brought it to the district court clerk's office.

'Mermaids' Remains Found Recently In Texas

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP) — Portions of a skeleton uncovmachinery here have turned out to be ribs of a manatee, whose bones of solid, ivory-like material differ from those of most creatures by having no marrow.

The last one of these ugly beasts in this area was seen eight or nine years ago by R. R. Rice, who, in his younger days, saw manatees in Central American waters, and hence was sure of his identification.

He said, however, that he could hardly believe his eyes when the beast reared its head from the water in front of his boat while he was fishing near Mud Island.

Manatees are dark gray, docile, one-fin hulks with a single objective in life: eating. They are so good at it that scientists have suggested that herds of captive sea cows, as they are called, could be used to clear canals of water hyacinths and similar pests as they consume up to 100 pounds of vegetation a day.

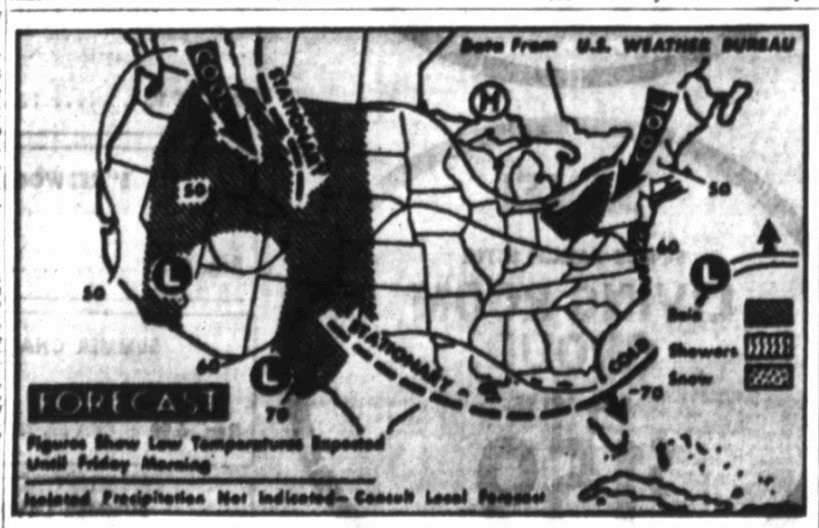

They have fish-like bodies with tails like a whale, but the head is divided from the body by a slight constriction similar to a neck.

Their forelimbs are flattened oval paddles with three small nails like fingernails near their extremities, and they nurse their young, a circumstance which led early sailors to transform them into mermaids. But conditions which would lead a sailor to look at a manatee and see a mermaid are difficult to imagine.

Manatees formerly frequented the Texas coast in some numbers, though this is normally a little too far north for them. Spaniards saw them in the Rio Grande 150 years ago, and were frightened by the grotesque beasts.

About July, 1911, a 15 - foot male, weighing about 1,300 was caught in the Laguna Madre, near Port Isabel. Others were seen or caught in the Port Isabel area the same year and the year after.

And in July 1928, Ben Earp, a resident of Rockport, discovered a dead one that had washed ashore near Bayside. Earp said it was about 10½ feet long, and judged that it must have weighed around 1,000 pounds.

Weather Forecast

Showers and scattered thundershowers were forecast for Thursday night over western sections of the Plain states, the central Rockies, the Cascade and Sierra Nevada range and the Great Basin. Generally fair weather was predicted for east of the Mississippi Valley except for a few showers in the lower Lakes region. AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Appeals For Support Of Forthcoming Road Bond

"As long as we're trying to build a growing community, we have to keep traffic arteries open." Robert E. Whipkey told the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles. He appealed for personal and missionary support for the $600,000 roadway bond issue set for next Tuesday.

"This is, he said, a case where apathy could do irreparable harm. Road bonds must carry by a two-thirds majority, and voters who give assent to the idea, but stay home, could put the issue at a disadvantage.

The speaker, a member of the roads and highways committee of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined highlights of the immediate project — the construction of a leg of FM 700 from its present terminus at Interstate 20 northward to an intersection with the Snyder highway at the Gail Road; the redesign of all and reroute of part of FM 700 from US 87 and Marcy westward to an intersection with US 80 west.

Any residue of bonds not required in getting roadway either not be issued or else will be available for future demands upon the country for roadway purchases, he said. Cost per year will approximate a couple of theatre tickets for the average homeowner.

Within the past five years, Howard County's policy of providing right of way required by the state has resulted in $8,560,000 of highway work completed in the county. In the past 11 years, the highway work completed in Howard County has exceeded $20,000,000. The county can ill afford a disruption in this continuing program of development. More important than the construction value is the development that new arteries invariably open. This is several fold the cost of the highways and many, many times the cost of right of way, he said. In addition, providing roadway as it is needed puts the county in a position to seek other highway projects.

Wednesday was the last day for Roy Smith, who is moving to Corpus Christi where he has acquired a school supply business.

Unit Here For Blood Donors

A mobil unit from Fort Worth will be at the auditorium at the Big Spring State Hospital June 23, at 8 a.m., to receive blood from donors for the blood bank in Fort Worth.

Robert Harrison, son of Dr. and Mrs. Preston Harrison, is in a Fort Worth hospital suffering from hemophilia, and has drawn on the blood bank for plasma. Replacement of the plasma is badly needed, and at least 100 donors are asked to consider giving blood while the mobil unit is in Big Spring. Blood type is of no concern for plasma replacement.

"We hope that Big Spring people will respond to this call and make blood available for this cause," Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, said Thursday.

"Robert was unable to attend school during the past couple of years because of hemophilia, but was graduated with honors through the "home" program of Big Spring schools. He was salutatorian of his class, although he could not be present to receive his diploma."

Dr. Lloyd said the blood bank personnel suggested that donors going to the hospital in the morning refrain from eating breakfast until after they had given blood, and that those going in the afternoon leave off their lunches until afterwards.

Tools Stolen

A theft of a tool box containing sockets and electrical tools was reported to police Wednesday. Jerry Don Stephens, 1111 W. 2nd, told officers the items were taken from his pickup truck and valued them at about $95.

Herald Circulation Checked

As a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, a national firm which independently checks distribution figures of the nation's major magazines and newspapers, The Herald is subject to regular field audits by ABC. An ABC representative from Chicago, Robert McSweeney (foreground), has just completed such a check here, and ABC subsequently will issue a report giving the actual net paid circulation of The Herald. Checking figures with McSweeney is Jack Kimble, Herald circulation manager.

Two Officers Injured As Pupils Brawl

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Five persons were injured, including two policemen, in a fight between Negro and white youths Wednesday in front of McKinley High School.

Police said the fight began as students were leaving the school. The cause was not determined. Those involved in the brawl were students, police said.

About 1,000 persons, mostly students, watched the melee.

About 25 policemen stopped the fighting and arrested a 14-year-old Negro boy for violation of the juvenile code. The other youths involved escaped.

Injured AF Pair Improve

PARIS (AP)— Two U.S. Air Force officers injured Tuesday in the crash of a B58 bomber at the International Air Show were reported recovering today.

Maj. Harold Covington of San Angelo, Tex., suffered burns over 25 per cent of his body. He is in good condition at the Percy French Military Hospital, an Air Force spokesman said, and is expected to be transferred to the U.S. base at Evreux, northwest of Paris, early next week.

Maj. V. S. Karabas of Phoenix, Ariz., suffered a burn on the back of his right hand.

The bomber pilot, Lt. Col. Charles Tubbs of Cisco, Tex., was killed as the plane crashed while landing.

Plane Crash Burns Fatal To Man, 25

FORT WORTH (AP)—Charles Singleton, 25, of Haltom City, burned the day before in the crash of a light plane, died Wednesday.

He was a passenger in a small craft piloted by Brian Powers, 28, of Arlington.

Paintings By Ted Kennedy Show Talent, Expert Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talented, the eminent art director mused, as he looked at a sample of the young fellow's work. Talented. All he needs is some years to develop himself.

The young artist is Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy of Massachusetts and the sample of his work is a painting of a couple of sturdy fishing boats, one green, one blue, tied alongside a brick building at Marblehead, Mass.

Now the art connoisseur, John Walker, director of the National Gallery of Art, rendered his judgment with full recognition of the circumstances under which this and other Ted Kennedy paintings were executed.

A year ago June 19, Kennedy and friends were on a plane trip to Massachusetts. The plane came down — "like a toboggan ride through the treetops" as Kennedy later related.

BACK BROKEN

Kennedy fastened his seat belt but his back was broken. The pilot and a Kennedy aide were killed, everybody else aboard was hurt..

So it was six months in a Boston hospital for Kennedy, strapped onto a thing called a Stryker frame. This holds your back immobile but if you get tired looking at the ceiling, it will flip you over on your stomach.

So what did Ted do? For his blonde wife Joan he did a winter landscape with a covered bridge and New England farmhouse. For Mrs. John F. Kennedy a red cottage on a spit of sand with a sailboat on the horizon. And so on.

The picture of the two Marblehead boats was presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. When the Washington Post printed a color reproduction of it, an Associated Press newsman submitted the print to gallery director Walker for his comment.

HAS TALENT

Walker dictated the following statement, and note what a diplomat he turns out to be:

"Sen. Kennedy is a talented painter. Like Winston Churchill, he may not have all the time he wishes to develop this talent until his retirement, which we hope will be many years hence."

All told, the senator did seven paintings in the hospital.

Right now, Kennedy doesn't have too much time for painting. Politics is his main work, and many of his Senate colleagues figure he is a comer.

Kennedy, now 33, was first elected to the Senate in 1962 to fill out two years in a seat once held by his brother, the late president. While in the hospital, he was re-elected to a full six-year term in 1964.

"The best politician in the family," John F. Kennedy once called him — and some experts figure he has even more command over Massachusetts politics than his brother ever did.

Quotes Prove 1st Grade Has 'Some Characters'

GARDNER, Mass. (AP) — "A honeymoon," explained the first grader, "is a place you go after you get engaged. If you have a good time there, you get married."

"Gravity" intoned another, "is an awful big hole in your tooth."

ARE IMAGINATIVE

Margaret R. Bunjnicki teaches these tots and other first graders. They are, she says, "a delightfully responsive and imaginative primary class."

To prove it, she prepared a pamphlet of some of the things the children had been saying and sent it to their parents.

Other examples:

"Engaged means talking silly to each other and the girl gets a ring so she won't marry anybody else."

"If you believe in integration, you like everything well cooked" and "I play with a colored boy, and he doesn't seem to mind that I'm not colored."

"The brake makes the car stop immediately. That means pretty soon."

FUTURE DRIVER

Yep. A future woman driver of America said that.

"The reaction among the parents was fabulous," said Mrs. Bunjnicki. "Most of the parents said we must have some real characters in the class, and we sure do."

She said the quotes came from a year-long series of afternoon discussions covering most anything of interest to the children.

Tigers Riding High On Horton's Mace

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

C'mon, William Wattison Horton, this is getting monotonous.

You drive in four runs, three on a clinching homer, and Detroit wins Saturday. Then you get two more RBI on a homer and double and the Tigers win again Sunday. Then it's another decisive three-run homer and another victory Tuesday.

And Wednesday night you lead the Tigers to their fourth straight — 9-4 over Boston — with four runs knocked in with a homer, double and single.

That's four homers, 14 RBI and seven hits in 14 trips through the four games. That brings Willie Horton's American League-leading homer total to 15, his RBI total to 46, and his batting average to .363.

That kind of monotony Horton and the Tigers can stand.

NEARS LEAD

While Willie was devastating the slumping Red Sox, the Chicago White Sox climbed to within a half game of first-place Minnesota by handing Camilo Pascual his first loss, 3-1; Cleveland beat Washington 5-0 on Luis. Tiant's one-hit pitching and Leon Wagner's batting; Baltimore trimmed the New York Yankees 5-1 with a spree of early homers; and Los Angeles knocked off Kansas City twice, 7-1 and 5-4.

Detroit pulled out its game against Boston with five runs in the last of the seventh inning, two scoring on Horton's double. The bulky slugger added a two-run homer in the ninth as Boston lost its sixth straight and ninth in the last 10.

Mickey Lolich blanked the Red Sox until the seventh, then was knocked out in a four-run rally that included Carl Yastrzemski's homer with two on. Detroit reliever Fred Gladding picked up the victory while Bob Duliba was charged with the loss.

Washington's only hit off Tiant was Woodie Held's single leading off the seventh. Wagner, meanwhile, drove in four of the Indians' runs with a three-run homer off loser Phil Ortega in the fourth and a single in the ninth.

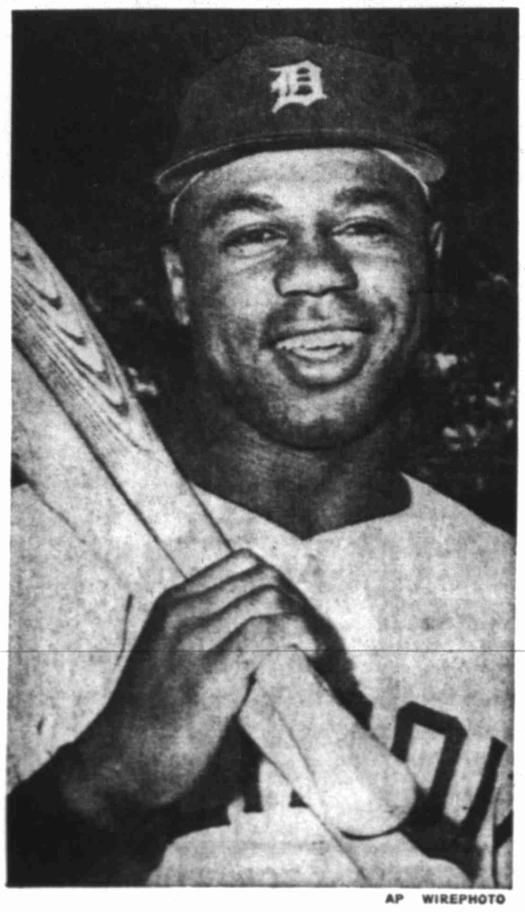

CHASE CAMILO

The White Sox chased Pascual, winner of his first eight decisions, with a three-run fourth after the curve-balling Cuban had allowed only a scratch single by Floyd Robinson over the first three innings.

Robinson started the Chicago uprising with a single, Pete Ward doubled, and they scored on singles by J. C. Martin and Ron Hansen. Pascual's bases-loaded walk to Smoky Burgess forced in the third run.

John Buzhardt, 6-1, was the winner with late relief from Ed Fisher.

Jerry Adair, Sam Bowens and Jackie Brandt socked Al Downing for homers in the first three innings and the Orioles coasted in against the Yankees. Adair added a two-run double in the ninth for his third hit.

Talons Decision Sabres, 6 To 4

Fine relief pitching by Frankie Peralta, who came on in the third inning and shut the opposition out without a hit the rest of the way, enabled the Talons to defeat the Sabres, 6-4, in an International Little League game here Wednesday night.

The win was the fifth straight in second half play for the Talons. The Sabres are now 1-4.

Peralta now boasts a 9-1 record for the season.

Mike Parrott led the Talons' seven-hit offensive with two doubles and a home run. His round tripper came in the fifth with one on and sealed the victory.

Bobby Davis, Ronnie Meek, Peralta and Steve Holt had the other hits for the winners.

The Sabres collected four blows, George Dean leading the way with two. George Cole and Don Boyce drove out the other hits for the Sabres.

The Comets square off with the Rockets in tonight's game.

Wills, Koufax Bearing Down On Records

By The Associated Press

Maury Wills and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers have put themselves into position to knock two guys out of the record book—Maury Wills and Sandy Koufax.

Wills singled twice, stole second twice and rode home on singles by Jim Gilliam twice while Koufax limited San Francisco to six hits and struck out eight as the National League leaders edged the Giants 2-1 Wednesday night.

The performances left Wills well ahead of the pace he set when he stole a record 104 bases in 1962, and kept Koufax out front of the pace he set when he established a strikeout record for left-handers by fanning 306 in 1963.

AHEAD OF PACE

Wills now has stolen a major league-leading 41 bases in 62 games and is 16 games ahead of his own pace. In 1962, he did not pilfer his 41st base until the Dodgers' 78th game.

Koufax, meanwhile, brought his strikeout total to a major league-leading 135 for his first 15 appearances. In 1963, Koufax did not chalk up his 135th strikeout victim until his 18th time out.

The Dodgers' victory boosted their first-place edge over Milwaukee to 3½ games as Philadelphia knocked off the Braves 6-2 behind the hitting of rookie catcher Pat Corrales.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh outlasted St. Louis 10-9, Cincinnati belted the New York Mets 8-4 and Houston ended an eight-game losing streak by edging the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 13 innings.

Wills legged out an infield hit in the fifth inning, stole second and scored on Gilliam's single, then the duo did a repeat for the winning run in the seventh inning off Bob Shaw after the Giants had tied the score.

HOLDS OWN

Koufax, 10-3, was touched for a run in the top of the seventh when Willie Mays tripled and Jim Hart singled, but held on to whip the Giants for the first time since 1963.

Corrales, called up from Arkansas of the Pacific Coast League last Sunday, stroked three hits, including a two-run homer in the third inning that triggered a decisive five-run outburst for the Phillies. Corrales now has five hits in seven trips to the plate.

Jim Bunning brought his record to 6-5, keeping nine Milwaukee hits well scattered while striking out 10.

The Pirates used 23 players — all but pitchers Bob Veale and Don Cardwell — before finally Stargell's three-run homer in the ninth.

It was Stargell's 14th of the season and followed a dropped third strike by Tim McCarver that enabled Bill Virdon to reach base and an error by Jerry Buchek on Manny Mota's grounder.

Leo Cardenas hit two homers in a single game for the first time in his six-year major league career and Jim O'Toole, a 17-game winner last season, won his first game in six decisions as the Reds downed the Mets.

The Astros broke a runless streak of 33 innings in the third inning, tied the Cubs 2-2 on Walt Bond's run-producing single in the sixth and won it, the 13th on a double by Joe Morgan, a walk to Bond and a single by Bob Aspromonte.

Morton's Is Winner Of 2

Morton Foods took a practice softball double header from a WAFB team Wednesday, 10-4 and 5-2.

In the first game the Morton players touched Webb pitching for 10 hits, including two triples and four doubles, while Spec Franklin gave up but four hits. But two of these were home runs, both by Webb third baseman Tex Mainord.

Morton's got the home runs back in the second game when first baseman John Terry socked two, one in the third and one in the second. The latter scored three runs, breaking up a tie and winning the game.

Cotton Mize was the winning pitcher, Lambert the loser. The Morton team plays the Midland Drillers in Midland Saturday night.

Lions Nudge Giants, 4-3

The Stripling Lions held off a Giant rally in the sixth to preserve a narrow 4-3 win in a Texas Little League baseball game Wednesday.

The Giants took a 2-1 lead in the third inning, but the Lions immediately came back to take a 4-2 lead. Santos Olague struck out the first two Giants to face him in the sixth, but a John Cardenas double scored Zeke Flores to put the Giants within one run of an extra inning game. Then losing pitcher John Yanez grounded to second and was put out to end the game.

Palmer Strips Bag For Skinny Caddy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Arnold Palmer appeared to be more concerned about his caddy's welfare than he was about Jack Nicklaus today when he set out in quest of the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The Open is one of the four major tourneys that support Palmer's throne as this country's premier golfer, a position that is shaky and insecure in the face of the challenge by the bull-strong 25-year-old from Columbus, Ohio.

Palmer, however, mentioned Nicklaus not at all and his caddy several times after his final preparations over the vast, rolling acres of the Bellerive Country Club course, at 7,191 yards the longest ever for an Open.

"I hope he makes it," Palmer grinned. "He's a kind of skinny kid." The caddy is Jack Wallace, a lanky, 15-year-old who is greatly impressed with his good fortune.

Palmer's first act after sizing up his caddy was to strip his bag. He discarded a No. 4 wood and at least three irons then had the boy heft it.

"How's that?" he asked. "Too heavy? Lemme see what else I've got in there."

But underlying his casual banter is the certain — though unspoken — knowledge that he desperately needs to win this 65th Open; that he needs not only to finish higher than tourney favorite Nicklaus but win the whole shooting match.

The last year and a half has been a continuing frustration for the powerful, Ligonier, Pa., master — he has won only once in a year — but he mentions it only obliquely.

"My game is not as good as it has been," he said, "but it's better than it has been recently. It still needs a lot of work.

"But," almost defensively, "it's not that bad, hasn't been for about a year. I'm just finishing second instead of first, that's all. Second four times in a row."

One of the seconds was a tie with Gary Player, nine strokes back of Nicklaus' record-shattering 271 victory in the Masters, a triumph so overwhelming that many feel it vaulted the bulky blond to the No. 1 position held by Palmer for many years.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Through nine holes in last Sunday's round of the Big Spring Golf Open, Lubbock's Roland Adams acted as if the Country Club course had been tailored exclusively for him.

He was four under par at the turn, and his putts for birdies on the other five holes lipped the cups. He was five under through 13 and, with a little luck, could have been 12 under at that stage. His game didn't go to pieces, after that, but he ran into a couple of bogies and settled for a 68 — which is still three under regulation figures.

For the two days of golf, the Lubbock plumber posted a medal score of 140 — which tied him for second place among the pros and earned him an extra $50.

In each of the previous two tournaments here, Adams had emerged as the medalist.

Steve Russell, the Midland youth who teamed with Jim Hicks in the True Amateur division of the local meet, signed a letter-of-intent with TCU shortly after completing play here. He was captain of the 1965 Midland High School links team.

Gale Shed of Abilene entered the Open here as a pro and, of course, still pays his PGA dues. He's in construction work with an Abilene firm now, however.

His last pro job was at Las Vegas, N.M.

In that Lubbock Monterey-El Paso Austin Regional baseball game at El Paso, which went 15 innings and gave the title to Austin, three of Monterey's better players were ejected from the field in the 11th inning for disputing an umpire's decision.

Coach Bobby Moegle of Lubbock refused to say anything for publication about the incident but it's obvious he was upset.

Quite probably, the die was cast in the series when Austin won the right to be the host in two games of the series.

Upwards to 250,000 persons, most of whom will come from points far removed from Houston, are due to be taken on tours of the Astrodome this year, at which time the baseball team will be busy on other fronts.

More than 60,000 persons have gone through the fabulous stadium in the past six weeks and they have come from every state in the union, Canada, Mexico, Japan, England, India, Egypt, Germany, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

On a recent tour of the stadium, the tour director asked how many people in the group were from out of the state and 75 per cent raised their hands. Another 20 per cent said they hailed from outside Harris County, home of the stadium. The tours take place at 11 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. on days when there isn't any event in the stadium and at 11 and 1 when there is a night event planned. There are no tours when a day game is scheduled. Groups are usually limited to 35 for each tour guide.

One visitor told the Houston club she traveled over 700 miles to see a wedding in Houston "but this is more exciting." A child who made the rounds remarked that he would like to play a game of hide-and-seek in the cavernous place.

Although she has been doing better recently, Marlene Bauer Hagge hasn't prospered on the women's golf tour as she had been expected to do.

When she stopped here years ago to give a golf exhibition with her sister, Betty, Marlene was considered the likely successor to the late Babe Zaharias to the title of Queen of the Links.

Ronnie Wrightsil, who spelled Billy Scott on the mound, received credit for the mound victory.

The Optimists outhit the Indians, 11-7, Don Gray, Simon Terrazas, Frank Sherman and Randy French collecting two hits each for the losers.

Terrazas drove in four tallies and Sherman three for the Optimists while Almazon accounted for three of the Indians' runs with his bat.

Samuell Wins 4A Baseball Championship

AUSTIN (AP)—Dallas Samuell and Waxahachie came to the state schoolboy baseball tournament for the first time and they did mighty well for beginners Wednesday night.

Samuell not only won the Class AAAA championship but set some records, scoring the most runs in a final game for one. The Spartans thrashed Brownsville 14-0 in a game that had to be halted after six innings because of the Interscholastic League 10-run rule.

Waxachachie, which back in the twenties when there was no Interscholastic League baseball had the greatest winning streak in the game's history anywhere —65 straight — beat Alvin 6-3 for the Class AAA crown. It was the second high finish of the year for Waxahachie — the Indians were runnersup in Class AAA basketball.

Brownsville got only one hit off Robbie Ellis but the Spartans clubbed 11 with Glenn Hill, the Samuell second baseman, getting four for a record. It was the first time for a player to collect four hits in a single game in the tournament's 17-year history.

EARLY FINISH

Samuell scored eight runs in the sixth inning to bring the game to a close an inning earlier than scheduled. The Spartans had gotten two runs in the first inning to win early. They jumped on unbeaten Tony Barbosa for six runs in 3 1-3 innings. Barbosa had 12 victories going into this game.

Waxahachie jumped on Alvin's 20-game winner, Nolan Ryan, for three runs before he could get a man out in the first inning and went on to its comparatively victory.

Randy Moseley pitched all the way for Waxahachie and gave up eight hits. But only one run was earned off him.

Harvey Huffstetler hit a triple and single to lead Waxahachie's attack, driving in two runs.

El Paso Austin beat Galena Park 4-3 for third place in Class AAAA, rallying for three runs in the last inning with Alton Stellye and Benito Perez hitting singles that brought in the vital tallies.

South San Antonio, the Class AAA favorite because it had won five state championships in the last six years, had to be content with third place. South San Antonio beat Snyder 6-2, getting all its runs in the first two innings.

Waxahachie beat South San Antonio 2-0 in the opening round of the tournament.

Pampa Cager Inked By HC

Kerry Roper, 6-4 Pampa star, has been signed to a basketball letter-of-intent by coach D. E. (Buddy) Travis of Howard County Junior College.

The agile Roper, an all-district performer, led the Harvesters to the District 3-AAAA and bi-district championships the past season.

Travis said Roper was the best of a good Pampa team and he regarded the boy as one of the best he had singed in recent years.

Roper's high school coach was Terry Culley.

HCJC had previously signed Jackie Thompson, Ysleta High School; Leon Smith, Austin Anderson; Lee Leonard, Eunice, N. M.; and Henry Willis, Levelland, to letters.

Puzzle of Wednesday, June 16, Solved

Colonel Leads Anti-Beatleism

LONDON (AP) — A colonel set a record for anti-Beatleism today by sending 12 medals back to Queen Elizabeth II.

Col. Frederick Wagg, 74, veteran of two world wars, joined the protest movement against the award of the M.B.E. — Member of the Order of the British Empire — to the lank-haired pop quartet.

He also resigned from Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party and canceled a $33,600 bequest to it.

"A MOCKERY"

"Decorating the Beatles," said the colonel, "has made a mockery of everything this country stands for.

"I've heard them sing and play and I think they're terrible."

At least six holders of the M.B.E. already had mailed their insignia — a heavy silver cross — back to Buckingham Palace.

Wagg's gesture dwarfed them all. Along with protests to the queen, the queen mother and Prime Minister Wilson he sent:

The Mons Star, the General Service Medal and the Victory Medal from World War I; The North West Frontier Medal from Indian Army service between the wars; The 1939-40 Star, Battle of the Atlantic Star, North Africa Star, Defense Medal and Victory Medal from World War II; And the Belgian Order of Leopold, and the French Croix de Guerre and Croix de Resistance.

He said he sent back the foreign decorations because they were granted with royal approval. Britons may not accept foreign medals without royal permission.

The only medal he is keeping, he said, is the Croix de Lorraine which Gen. Charles de Gaulle handed to him personally after World War II.

Hundreds of letters about the Beatles award cascaded into the prime minister's office at No. 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace. Officials said roughly two in three opposed it — but some of the opposition came from supporters of rival pop groups.

'Head Start' Grants OKd

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally today approved five more Project Head Start grants, to enable 871 underprivileged children to receive special educational training this summer.

The programs, in Amarillo, Hale Center, Paint Rock, Pleasanton and Van Alstyne, bring to 159 the Head Start projects for Texas.

The U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity is operating the Head Start projects on a crash program basis this summer, for children entering first grade this fall who lack the medical, educational or cultural backgrounds of their future classmates.

The latest grants total $110,112 federal money and $16,697 local funds, bringing the total federal money granted to $4,926,574 for 39,521 children.

The grants were to: Amarillo (Panhandle and South Plains venture for aiding Needy Children's Education, Inc.), $85,389, 720 children; Hale Center school system, $8,870, 4 children; Paint Rock (Concho County public schools), $5,842, 35 children; Pleasanton school system, $7,785, 56 children, and Van Alstyne school system, $2,225, 15 children.

Valley Field Yields First Bale In U.S.

HARLINGEN (AP) — A 50-acre field 12 miles southeast of Brownsville beside the Rio Grande yielded the first bale of new cotton in the United States this year.

C. C. Crowe and his son Bill are the growers. They won an annual race by delivering the 452-pound bale at the Harlingen police station Wednesday night.

Bill Crowe said 50 field hands worked from 1 to 5:30 p.m. and picked the entire field to gather the cotton. It was grown from Tideland 69 seed planted Feb. 1-2, the first legal planting dates in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As a reward the Crowes are promised at least $2,500 for the bale by the Harlingen Chamber of Commerce.

The first new crop cotton comes from the Lower Rio Grande Valley almost without fail each year.

Negro May Be Housing Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to pass within a month the administration bill aimed at turning a national spotlight on city problems by creating a Cabinet-level Department of Housing and Urban Development.

If it does, Senate sources wouldn't be too surprised if President Johnson names Robert C. Weaver, a Negro who heads the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the first secretary of the new department.

HOUSE APPROVAL

This was the educated guessing on Capitol Hill in the wake of House approval of the bill Wednesday by a 217-184 vote.

Johnson has never even hinted who he would name to head the new department, which would be the 11th of Cabinet rank and the first added since the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was established by executive order in April 1953.

President John F. Kennedy, who originally suggested an urban affairs department, had announced he would name Weaver.

This was considered instrumental in House defeat of the proposal in 1962.

COMBINE JOBS

The bill would combine the activities of the Federal Housing Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Administration, both within Weaver's HHFA. In fact, Republicans suggested during the two days of House debate that all the legislation would accomplish would be to upgrade the housing agency.

Democrats rejected this argument.

The Senate has completed hearings on the bill and its Government Operations Committee is expected to endorse the measure toward the end of next week. But there is no great rush to bring the bill to the floor. Still, passage by mid-July is considered likely.

A total of 208 Democrats and 9 Republicans voted for the bill; 66 Democrats and 118 Republicans voted against it.

Jews Protected After Graveyard Desecration

BAMBERG, Germany (AP) — Extensive security precautions were put in force today to protect the lives and property of Bamberg's dwindling Jewish community in the wake of one of Germany's most vicious anti-Semitic outbreaks since World War II.

Police took special steps to insure the safety of the city's approximately 100 remaining Jews.

Two visiting Americans discovered Tuesday that vandals had desecrated 23 tombstones in Bamberg's ancient Jewish cemetery with yard-high swastikas and slogans such as "six million Jews too few," a reference to the six million Jews murdered during the Third Reich.

The desecration was discovered by Dr. Michael Wachtel of Alameda, Calif., and Dr. Martin Lang of Los Angeles, natives of Germany who had returned to visit the graves of their parents.

Last Sunday a swastika and anti-Semitic slogans were found on a monument at the site of a Bamberg synagogue destroyed by mobs in 1938.

Flags were flown at half staff throughout the city to demonstrate sorrow for the desecrations. Residents signed their names to protest statements drawn up in City Hall.

Amounts In Military Pay Plan Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)— Everyone in the armed services would get a raise under the billion-dollar-a-year pay raise bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee this week.

The amount of each raise would vary for rank and length of service.

The base pay of any private or a seaman with more than 4 months of service but less than 2 years would be raised from $83.20 monthly to $93.90, or 13 per cent. For service beyond 2 years, the increase would be a flat 8 per cent.

A general or an admiral would get an 8.9 per cent boost regardless of length of service, to a maximum of $1,192.30 a month after 26 years.

The percentage of increase would not vary after two years of service within a rank, although take-home pay would rise with longevity.

AMOUNTS GIVEN

Here is how the bill would apply to personnel with 2 or more years of service:

Generals and admirals — 8.9 per cent increase, monthly salary $1,467.60 to $1,992.30 depending on longevity.

Recruits and recruit seamen—with more than 4 months' service—8 per cent increase, salary raised to $121.80, with no longevity raises.

Recruits and seamen recruits with less than 4 months' service would get a 13 per cent raise to $87.90.

For all ranks and services below general or admiral, the percentage of increase would be larger for personnel with less than two years of service.

All these figures are for base pay and do not take into account any allowances or special pay such as that for combat duty.

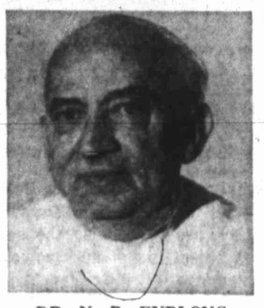

Youth-Job Plea Seen Paying Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor says about 250,000 young people are getting summer work because of the federal government's appeal to the business community.

Dentist Retires Today From VA Post Here

Dr. Norman B. Furlong, one of two dentists at the Big Spring Veteran's Hospital, is retiring today after 43 years of pulling, filling, cleaning and making other people's teeth and dentures.

A resident of Big Spring for 10 years, Dr. Furlong will live in Orange, "away," as he jokingly puts it, "from the desert." But, he says, he has thoroughly enjoyed living in Big Spring, where, he has made "many great friends."

DR. N. B. FURLONG

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1900 (he celebrates his 65th birthday Tuesday, he took his DDS degree from Western Reserve University in Cleveland in 1923. While he was at WRU he specialized in prosthetics — a toothsome dental phrase for dental plates—making and other restorative work. After graduation he was invited to teach at the dental school, but preferred to "try my wings on private practice."

He practiced in Norwalk, Ohio, for 23 years, until 1946, when he moved to Texas. While in Norwalk, he was, among other things, president of the Kiwanis Club, president of the Norwalk school board, a master of the Mt. Vernon Masonic Lodge and president of the North Central Ohio Dental Society.

Dr. Furlong came to Baylor Dental College in 1946, where he taught future prosthodontists for a year, then moved to the Dallas Veteran's Hospital, where he stayed for nine years. He came to the Big Spring VA in 1955.

He has been a member of the board of the national Academy of Maxillofacial Prosthodontists, a prestigous, highly selective group whose members are admitted by invitation only.

"People," says Dr. Furlong, "are taking much better care of their teeth than when I first started practice," and of course their teeth are in better shape, generally speaking, when they present themselves to dentists for check-ups. "Of course we have better materials to work with now—I mean the things we use to repair and replace teeth with," he says.

He demonstrated a Cavitron, which is the latest thing in cleaning devices. It is a file-case sized, metallic grey box, with dials and a flexible instrument which is placed near the patient's teeth. It cleans by ultrasonic (high - frequency) sound waves, never touching the teeth.

Nowadays dentists have ultra-high - speed drills which whisk away cavity material rapidly and usually without that nerve-wracking noise and (usually imagined pain most people with metal in their mouths know so well.

Dr. Furlong has four children, all grown and away at their mostly scientific occupations. His daughter, Mrs. James B. Cook, lives in Waynesboro, Va. One son, Dr. Richard Furlong, teaches at the School of Engineering at The University of Texas in Austin. Another, Dr. N. B. Furlong Jr., is a biochemist doing cancer research at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Another son, James Furlong, is in business in Miami, Fla.

Kiwanis Picnic Slated Tonight

Big Spring Kiwanians and their families will hold their annual summer picnic at the Big Spring City Park tonight. Wives of the club members are preparing the food and making arrangements.

The club members met at noon Thursday in regular session despite the scheduled picnic. This was to permit the club to hear an important report on the scheduled $600,000 road bond election slated next Tuesday.

Bob Travis, president of the club, is in an Oklahoma City hospital recuperating from surgery. Clyde Hollingsworth, vice president and program chairman, will officiate in Travis' absence.

A Fragrant Air Pollution?

DETROIT (AP) — If you can't get rid of air pollution, at least make it smell nice, reasons Lucas S. Miel, general manager of Detroit's municipal bus system.

His department is planning to experiment with an odor-control chemical which makes motor-bus exhaust fumes smell like flowers, Miel said Wednesday.

He said Santa Monica, Calif., uses the chemical in its municipal buses and that authorities there are pleased with the fragrant change.

Center's Drive Totals Over $6,000 Thus Far

Gifts totalling $595 were reported Wednesday and Thursday by the Howard County Rehabilitation Center in its drive to equip its offices at Third and Lancaster with therapeutic devices. The total in gifts pledged has now reached $6,386.77, still far shy of the center's goal of $20,000.

Wednesday's and Thursday's donors were the Boykin Brothers, $200; the McAllister Trucking Co., a foot placement ladder worth $42; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cauble, $5; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Div. 212, a pair of Keystone splints for adults worth $68; the Big Spring Five-Watters Club, $10; the Big Spring High-Heel Slipper Club, $115.15; Nannie R. Garrett, $25; George W. Peck, $10; Mrs. Josie Prather, $5; Mrs. H. H. Thames, $5; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby, $5; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Morgan, $5; Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bryant, $5; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Echols, $25; the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Local 375, $5; the Luther Home Demonstration Club, $5; S. D. Faulkenberry, $15; the BPO Does, Big Spring Drove 61, $5; Merrill Creighton Oil Co., $25; Mrs. Foster L. Kemp and family, $5; and Gold Star Mothers, Big Spring Chapter, $15.

Center officials have asked that prospective donors consider actual rehabilitative devices as gifts, although donations in any amount are welcome. Those interested in aiding the center may call AM 3-2880.

Ex-Mayor In Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sam Hoover, 57, former mayor of Pasadena, Tex., and once candidate for Harris County judge, became a state prison inmate this week.

Hoover, convicted in August of masterminding the torture-robbery of a Houston couple, began serving a 60-year term.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals turned down his final plea last week and he was ordered taken from the county jail in Houston to prison.

Hoover and two other men were convicted of the robbery in the home of Mair Schepps, a tobacco merchant. Mrs. Schepps testified she was tortured and shot in the leg by gunmen who took jewels and money.

Calvin Sellars and John Young, the other two men, were assessed the death penalty and are appealing.

Schepps later was charged with conspiring to obstruct the collection of taxes through distribution of illegally stamped cigarettes.

Lonely Women Offer Good Life To Escorts

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Charlie is a reasonably presentable fellow with a sun-lamp tan, a careful wave in his hair and teeth as white as his doeskin gillies.

He was a part of the crowd on a chartered plane to a New York area social resort recently where a round of weekend parties at the country club and the beach houses opened the summer season. His lady friend, patting his hand, teasingly introduced him to the others as her 35-year-old son.

Other Charlies arrived at the resort driving Rolls - Royces, Bentleys and Jaguars, all without sous in their silk linen slacks. Beside them sat carefully coiffed and heavily perfumed ladies who would pick up their tabs.

Compared with the number of men who at least pay their own ways at this summer playground of the rich, the Charlies are very few. But they are there, just as they were ever-present at the New York parties during the spring season, and at Palm Beach and Miami this winter—wherever the fun is, the money is, and the lonely women are.

Almost all Charlies are amusing, natty, mannerly, manicured, grammatical, hip to the swingers and "in" places, and unless they have had too many cocktails, gallant. And broke.

A few are unabashedly jobless, totally supported by the women they escort. Some are crew-cut college kids temporarily tasting the hedonic society. Many are frail lads with shaggy manes and tight pants, artists, actors, decorators, hairdressers, guaranteeing sexless escort service in exchange for the change to make valuable social and business contacts.

One Palm Beach escort with a paidup house and a pittance pension candidly admits he is able to live well and cheaply because "all the groceries I need are instant coffee and frozen orange juice to get me through the mornings.

"I have to spend a lot of money on thank-you postage or I'd stop getting luncheon and dinner party invitations. My function is to even up an otherwise lopsided seating arrangement, to waltz with an unattached lady now and then, and see her home. Sometimes this gets pretty dull because I never meet anybody outside the group. But it's not a bad price to pay for the very good life I lead."

Lions Auxiliary Sends Cash To Kerrville Camp

A collection for the crippled children's camp at Kerrville was made during a Wednesday morning coffee of the Downtown Lions Auxiliary.

The coffee was held in the home of Mrs. Schley Riley, 1708 Johnson. She was assisted by Mrs. John Dibrell, Mrs. Joe Pond and Mrs. Choc Jones.

Tones of pink were stressed in room decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a pink linen cloth, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of pink roses. Refreshments featured a punch made from strawberries, and a wicker basket arrangement of pineapple halves filled with fruit balls.

Mrs. Berdane Barnes of Nashville, Tenn., was a guest.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Offers Suggestions On Coffee Making

Dear Folks:

We published a plea from a new homemaker concerning the metallic taste of coffee made in her electric coffee maker.

The following are some of the replies received most often:

HELOISE

Many metal coffee pots have a cooper inner-lining which is plated or coated with another metal. Scouring with steel wool, or any abrasive, will wear off this lining and expose the copper, causing a metallic taste to permeate the coffee. And, even though you don't scour your coffee pot, sometimes the plating in the well of the pot (where the stem sets) will wear off.

Do you ever drink a glass of water directly from the tap in the morning without letting the water run a little? Tastes awful, doesn't it?

After water has remained in the pipes over night, it is apt to have a metallic or rusty taste . . . so let the water run a minute or so before you fill the coffee pot.

Be sure the stem and pouring spout are clean. You'd be amazed at the amount of black, gooey residue that accumulates in them.

Many writers suggested putting a heaping teaspoon of cream of tartar in the pot, filling it about three - fourths full of water (it might boil over if filled too full), and letting it perk through the full cycle. Let is cool, then wash and rinse the pot, being sure all the soap or detergent is rinsed out thoroughly.

Never use baking soda to clean an aluminum pot, as it will turn the pot black. Also, soda is not compatible with aluminum and might cause "pitting," and the coffee oil may seep into the pits and become rancid.

Others suggested adding about one-half cup of vinegar to the water and perking it. After all, we do know that cooking spaghetti sauce or other acid foods, in an aluminum pan tends to remove discoloration from it.

Only aluminum only you can use a soap filled pad to brighten the stem, basket and basket lid.

A heart-felt "bless you" to all who took time out from your busy day to write about your experiences in trying to overcome this problem. . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I just found out how to clean white linen shoes, and want to share this information with you and others.

A shoe salesman told me to use white vinegar. I tried it, and my last year's shoes look like new. Even the black marks came off. . . . Mrs. T.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

If there are still any old-fashioned cooks around, or some who are young and would like a helpful hint about making their own bread crumbs, why don't they try my suggestion:

Fill an insulated, paper ice cream bag about half full of dry bread, fold over the open end and close the bag tightly. Then, gently step on the bag! The thick bag will not break or split.

This is a quick way to make bread crumbs for a meatloaf, etc. . . . Mrs. J. G.

• • •

And the top of the heavy bag may be folded over and the remaining crumbs kept for next time! . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I wish to suggest to mothers whose babies wiggle and squirm in their highchairs, to put a harness on the baby and hitch it to the sides or arm rests of the chair. With a little ingenuity, this can be adapted to any type highchair, and baby will be quite safe.

I used this method after one child fell from his chair. . . . Daily Kelly

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I discovered another use for nylon net "poufs" . . .

They are grand clothes brushes, and also wonderful for cleaning suede shoes. . . . Lillian Smith

MRS. A. M. ANDERSON

Mrs. A. M. Anderson Tells About Canning

By JO ANN PHINIZY

"Sure am glad my bunch likes to eat, because I enjoy working in my garden, and there isn't much sense in wasting all that food," said Mrs. A. M. Anderson, Gail Rt.

Then, with characteristic aplomb, she quoted her yearly canning statistics. This is what she said:

"Well now, I usually have about 100 quarts of blackeyed peas and around 50 or so of green beans. There's about 230 jars of jams and jellies, and something like 75 quarts of peaches, plums and things like that. Sometimes there's more—just depends on the weather.

The Anderson contingent consists of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Anderson, their son, Milton "Sonny" Lewis, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Powell. They are all out-door kind of folks. That their profession is farming is strictly incidental. Even if they lived in downtown Chicago, they would find a way to work with the land and watch plants grow.

As it is, the Anderson home is on the north edge of Howard County, just below the Caprock. In their spot of country, there must be an added tonic. Whatever it is, in the Anderson backyard, wild mistletoe grows in the tops of extra large mesquite trees.

"One of the best things about living in the country," Mrs. Anderson continued, "is that we do things together. We are interested in the same type of things, and we just naturally help each other."

ROCK COLLECTORS

For example, the Andersons, en masse, have become intrigued with what looks like ordinary rocks, the kind most people would kick aside or ignore completely. Not the Andersons. With the help of university text books and an up-to-date work shop, they have taken to polishing rocks until the multi-colored erosion history of each stone is revealed or it glistens and glows.

"It's almost like magic," Mrs. Anderson explained. "Its the most fascinating hobby in the world."

Gardening is another of Mrs. Anderson's hobbies. Her garden reflects the care and attention that is her custom.

In answer to the question of what makes your garden grow, Mrs. Anderson looks over her well-terraced vegetables and fruit trees and scoffs at the green thumb theory. She will tell you there are only three tricks to garden care: fertilizer, insecticides, and a dash of elbow grease.

Whatever the formula, Mrs. Anderson's garden produces every imaginable variety of fruits and vegetables except a walnut tree. "One of these days, I am going to plant some of those," she said.

CANNING HINTS

When it comes time to commit her gardening efforts to the jars and the deep freeze, she had some specific hints. A few items about canning that she has learned by trial and experiment are:

—Use cider vinegar for pickling fruit, and distilled vinegar for pickling vegetables.

—Use enamel-lined lids when canning pickles or fruit. They will prevent food from turning dark around the edges.

—To prevent jelly from losing its color and flavor, turn the jars bottom-side-up for about five minutes while they are still hot.

—Never let fresh fruit or vegetables stand for more than half a day before processing.

—When making jelly from wild plums, to avoid a bitter taste, never boil the plums. Instead cover plums with water and simmer for about 20 minutes.

Those are a few suggestions from an expert who really knows. Not that Mrs. Anderson is opposed to canning companies. It's just that, well, who needs them . . .?

While Mrs. Anderson wouldn't trade one towering cloud or a single brilliant sunset for all the tall buildings in the universe, she does share some of her favorite recipes.

Her recipes may not be "pound wise," she says. "But they are easy to prepare and will last until supper time."

SWEET PICKLES

7 to 10 lbs. cucumbers

Heat vinegar, sugar, salt, and spices and pour over pickles. Let stand for 24 hours. Place in large pan and simmer for one hour. Fill hot jars to brim and seal.

Fresh Green Beans Make Menus Bright

Look at the abundance of fresh vegetables at your local market, farmers' markets and, if you have one, in your backyard garden.

This is the season for easy-to-prepare spring vegetables that add vivid color, brisk flavor and essential nutrition to your menus.

Take snappy - fresh green beans for example. They're one of the many vegetables listed as "plentiful" by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, this month. And because they're in season, they most likely are of better quality and available at most attractive retail prices.

Green beans go well in almost any menu. They're ideal as accompaniments for any fish, meat or poultry entree. Serve them with bacon. Try them with onions, bacon and cloves. Or, cream them with celery. They're delicious in so many ways.

Here's a recipe for Buttered Dilly Beans that will prove its worth. The dill seeds accent green beans refreshingly.

For 4 to 6 servings, you'll need 1 pound snap beans, 1 cup boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and ¼ teaspoon dill seeds.

To prepare Buttered Dilly Beans, wash and tip the green beans. Cook in covered sauce pan, using water to cover and salt, until beans are tender. Cook an additional 10 minutes, stirring beans occasionally to keep them green. Drain. Melt butter in fry pan, add dill seeds. Cook together until butter browns, then toss with green beans.

For another vegetable treat, try Green Bean Sticks. For 6 to 8 servings, have ready 2 pounds fresh green beans, washed, tipped and cut into narrow sticks; 3 tablespoons salad oil; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; ¼ cup water; and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

To prepare: Heat salad oil in large fry pan, add beans, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly until beans are slightly sauteed. Add water. Cover pan tightly. Steam 10 to 12 minutes, or until beans are just crisply tender. Melt butter and toss lightly with the beans. Serve immediately.

Because they're so easy and quick to prepare, green beans are an ideal vegetable when you have lots of company. Green Beans Parmesan, a baked dish, will find favor. And, to save time on the big day, the beans can be cooked a day early, refrigerated and then baked just before serving time.

For 24 servings, you'll need 3 quarts cooked green beans (allow 4 to 5 pounds uncooked green beans for 3 quarts when cooked); ¾ pound bacon, diced; 2 cups diced onion; 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese; and paprika.

To prepare: Fry diced bacon until almost crisp. Add onions and saute. Drain fat from bacon and onions. Combine cooked beans and bacon - onion mixture in large baking pan. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven for 15 minutes. Garnish with paprika.

SOUR CREAM SAUCE
Ideal for appetizers and dressings

Fresh Vegetables Need Sour Cream Addition

One food, perhaps more than any other in recent years, has captured the fancy of cooks. Sour cream: Once sold chiefly in large cities and certain regional markets, nowadays it's here, there and everywhere.

Sour cream is particularly popular for use in appetizers, main dishes, salad dressings and desserts. Let's call the roll.

For appetizers, sour cream is delicious combined with various varieties of cheese to use as spreads and dips.

When it comes to main dishes, two stand out: Beef Stroganoff and Chicken Paprika. For the first, thin strips of tender beef are skillet - cooked with onion and mushrooms; sour cream makes the sauce. For the second, cut-up chicken, onion and paprika are often braised and sour cream finishes off the sauce.

Most popular of sour cream salad dressings is that made with blue cheese. For this the sour cream is often mixed with mayonnaise; then part of the cheese is beaten into the combination, and the rest is added in small distinguishable pieces.

Desserts? Sour cream may be used as a topping for cakes and puddings. But probably its greatest dessert-time use is with fruit. One combination that has become a favorite of sophisticated cooks is made with seedless green grapes, brown sugar and sour cream—mixed together or layered and thoroughly chilled.

How about vegetables? Here's where cooks can really improvise. If you want to start off with an exact recipe, we suggest the one that follows. It's an interesting combination of green peas and celery that are given a sprinkling of almonds and a topping of seasoned sour cream. Definitely a company dish! When we came on this recipe and tried it out on our family, they were for it.

COMPANY GREEN PEAS

¼ cup water
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen green peas
2 cups very thinly sliced celery, cut diagonally crosswise
½ cup commercial sour cream
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. crushed dried rosemary
Dash of garlic salt
½ cup slivered toasted blanched almonds

In a saucepan, bring the water to a boil; add the peas and celery. Cover and boil gently just until peas are tender and celery tender - crisp — about 5 minutes. If necessary, drain off liquid. In a small bowl, stir together the sour cream, salt, rosemary and garlic salt.

Turn the hot drained peas and celery into a serving bowl and sprinkle with almonds; top with sour cream, or pass it separately. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Hints For Vegetable Cookery

More spring vegetables are moving to your market now as more production areas are shipping produce.

So reports the Consumer and Marketing Service which makes a daily count of truck and rail shipments from commercial areas.

Here are some tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to help in preparing and cooking these fresh vegetables to get the most nutrition from them.

Trim sparingly such greens as cabbage and head lettuce. Remember that dark outer leaves are rich in iron, calcium, and vitamins.

Cook potatoes in their skins to start such dishes as hash-browned potatoes or potato salad. The jackets help retain the nutrients.

Fresh vegetables are best when cooked quickly and served hot. The longer they are exposed to heat and air, the more vitamin C they lose.

When boiling vegetables, use as little water as possible. Some vitamins and minerals cook out into the water, and losses are greater when a large amount of water is used. Whenever practicable, serve any remaining cooking liquid with the vegetable, or use it in a sauce, gravy, or soup.

When using boiling guides for fresh vegetables, keep in mind that vegetables may require shorter or longer cooking than given, depending upon quality and variety. Geographical altitude will also affect boiling time.

Be especially careful not to overcook vegetables when using a pressure cooker. Follow the cooking times that come with the cooker.

Good Dollar Buys For Mid-June

COLLEGE STATION — Buy goods during seasonal production peaks to get quality at its best — and at the same time stretch your food dollars.

Many locally - grown vegetables are coming to market now. The quality is good and the prices are more attractive than a few weeks ago.

There's an ample supply of snap beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, bell peppers, hot peppers, eggplant, and new red potatoes. Head lettuce remains in the high price bracket.

Good buys also are to be found on carrots, fresh corn, radishes and green onions, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.

Cantaloupes of good quality are selling at moderate prices and there's a likelihood of even lower prices in the near future. Watermelon and honeydew supplies are increasing. Other good fruit choices are pineapples, bananas and juice oranges.

Beef prices are about the same as last week. Features will be found on chuck cuts, round and sirloin steaks and liver.

Pork specials vary from market to market, so check ads and meat counters before you make selections. Thrifty buys may be found on boneless pork butts, shoulder steaks and skinless franks.

Some markets are offering special prices on fryers, although wholesale prices are up slightly. Egg prices are attractive now, but an upward trend is expected in the next several weeks.

Raspberry Sauce Makes Ham Glaze

This glaze for ham makes a delightful sauce.

BAKED HAM WITH RASPBERRY SAUCE

One-half (5 to 6 pounds) fully-cooked ham
Whole cloves
½ to 2-3 cup raspberry jam
2 tbsps. cider vinegar
2 tsps. prepared mustard

Cut away surplus fat from ham surface so there is a layer about ¼-inch deep; score in diamond shape. Insert a whole clove in the center of each diamond. Bake on a rack in a shallow foil-lined pan in a slow (325 degrees) oven about 2 hours.

Remove from oven; remove foil and fat; place clean foil under ham on rack. Meanwhile in a small saucepan stir together over low heat the jam, vinegar and mustard; strain to remove seeds.

Spoon raspberry mixture over ham; return to a hot (425 degrees) oven for about 10 minutes. Serve slices of the ham with the glaze-sauce spooned over them.

JUICY TOMATOES
Save now for wintertime eating

Fresh Tomato Taste Preserved In Jars

When red juicy tomatoes are at their full blush of ripeness, it's wise to can some for wintertime enjoyment. It's easy to do at home with simple canning methods for cold or hot pack tomatoes. The secret is in the seasoning; Tabasco liquid red pepper spice and salt are the only flavorings needed.

Use only perfect, ripe tomatoes. To loosen skins, dip into boiling water about ½ minute, then dip quickly into cold water. Cut out stem ends and skin tomatoes.

COLD PACK

Leave tomatoes whole or cut in halves or quarters. Pack in glass jars to ½ inch of top, pressing gently to fill spaces. Add no water. Add ⅛ teaspoon Tabasco and 1 teaspoon salt to quarts. Process in boiling water bath (212 degrees) pint jars, 35 minutes; quart jars, 45 minutes.

HOT PACK

Halve tomatoes. Do not add water, bring to a boil, stirring often. Pack in hot glass jars to ½ inch of the top. Add ⅛ teaspoon Tabasco and ½ teaspoon salt to pints; add ¼ teaspoon Tabasco and 1 teaspoon salt to quarts. Process in boiling water bath (212 degrees) pint jars, 10 minutes; quart jars, 10 minutes.

Suggestions Made By Herb Experts

A group of herb - growing cooks introduced us to this delightful soup years ago, and we have treasured the recipe ever since.

Salt to taste

In a saucepan melt the butter; add onion and garlic; cook gently until onion is wilted and golden. Add parsley, thyme, basil, marjoram, chicken stock and spinach; simmer for about 10 minutes; add salt to taste. Heat cream to the boiling point; pour into individual soup plates; pour spinach mixture over cream. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Did you know that codfish cake mix is available in a can? All you have to do to prepare it is to add a beaten egg and some butter and then deep-fat fry.

• • •

You don't have to get out your deep-fat frying kettle when you are making clam fritters; they may be fried in about an inch of fat in a heavy pan or skillet.

• • •

Nice to begin with: grapefruit sections (fresh, canned or frozen) plus a garnish of fresh or frozen berries.

• • •

White wine vinegar comes plain or flavored with tarragon. Wonderful for marinating cut-up chicken that is to be dipped in biscuit mix and oven fried. Dribble the prepared chicken with lots of melted butter or margarine and turn once during the oven frying.

• • •

Want a gourmet omelet for a company lunch? Add cooked lobster meat and paprika to a cream sauce and serve as the filling for the omelet. Garnish with watercress or parsley.

• • •

Some outdoor cooks like to charcoal-broil frankfurters wrapped in aluminum foil. Count on cooking these about 10 minutes.

• • •

A leg of lamb may be boned and broiled over charcoal outdoors. You can marinate the meat in a mixture of salad oil, grated onion or crushed garlic and oregano if you like.

• • •

Next time you are skillet-frying hamburgers, place a slice of cheddar cheese over the top of each burger a few minutes before the meat is done.

• • •

For a savory sauce for steak, add catchup, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of tabasco to butter and heat.

• • •

You can serve leftover meat loaf with a cheese sauce and utilize the liquid that's often in the pan after the loaf is baked. Just make a medium white sauce using the meat liquid for part of the milk and add grated cheddar cheese.

• • •

For a gourmet soup heat equal parts of homemade green-pea soup and clear green turtle soup. Top with a fluff of whipped cream.

Good Film Maker Just Won't Quit

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You can't keep a good film maker down. So Harry Joe Brown is preparing yet another Western after recovery from an auto accident that nearly ended his career.

It has been quite a career. For 45 years he has been making movies, mostly with horses and cowpokes. His zest for work remains undiminished. At 72, he can attack a script with the enthusiasm of a new-wave director.

You can find him at Columbia Studios, on the same street where he started as king of Poverty Row. For the benefit of newcomers, Poverty Row was a collection of shoestring producers who ground out movies at bargain prices.

Brown's new project is "The Long Ride Home," a post-Civil War Western for which he has big plans.

AUTO CRASH

"It's good to be back at work again," he said. "I was put out of commission for 16 weeks by an auto crash down at Palm Springs."

"This will be my first picture in Hollywood for a few years. I spent three years abroad making pictures with Sean Flynn. We did three of them — in Italy, Spain and India. I have great faith in the boy; he's no great actor but he has an appeal for the women like his father (Errol). And he's the best athlete on the screen since Doug Fairbanks."

Harry Joe knows picture making as few others do, having carved up budgets from the days when they were numbered in hundreds, not thousands of dollars.

A Pittsburgh boy who dabbled on the New York stage, Brown came out of World War I an infantry captain and was hired to produce pictures for the old Equity Company. In 1922 he was sent to Hollywood to film Westerns for Monogram.

TOM MIX

"I had no idea how to make a Western," he recalled. "So when I got out here, I asked somebody who was the best in the Western field. I was told Tom Mix. For a whole week I looked at Tom Mix movies, then I figured I was ready."

But he needed a star and a horse. He found both: Fred Thompson and his palomino Silver King. They became top favorites with the horse opera fans. It was during this period that Harry Joe won his title of king of Poverty Row because of his profligacy with budgets. While his fellow rowers were spending a top of $6,000 for movies, Brown laid out a whopping $13,500.

Brown came up from Poverty to produce for Warner Brothers, Fox and RKO, and his name appeared on such movies as "Captain Blood," "Ceiling Zero," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "The Rains Came" and "Down Argentine Way."

But the hankering for Westerns persisted. He hooked up with Randolph Scott for a string of independent productions that stretched 17 years. "Randy finally said, 'I've had it'," said Brown. "He quit to play golf half a day and at oil investments the other half."

Would Harry Joe quit? "Don't think so," said he. "I don't want to be on the outside looking in."

Baptists Name Texas 'Father'

DALLAS (AP) — Burlington James Davidson of Seagoville has been named Texas Baptist father of the year. He has six children.

Davidson, 88, was born in Morgan County, Tennessee, but was brought to Texas in 1881 by his mother and father, who fought for the Union during the Civil War.

The Father of the Year award is sponsored by the Baptist Standard and the public relations department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Davidson married Minnie McKee in 1901. They retired to Seagoville after "finishing 63 crops in Dallas County."

New Defense Building Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Defense Department building will be named for the late James V. Forrestal, the nation's first secretary of defense, according to an announcement made by President Johnson.

Johnson unveiled a model of the structure which will actually be three buildings tied together by plazas and walkways. It will span 10th Street in southwest Washington by special permission of congress.

The building is expected to cost $30 million to $32 million and will house some 6,600 Army and Air Force employes now scattered around Washington. Construction is due to start this year with completion in 1967.

Crude Production Is Holding Steady

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — U.S. production of crude oil and lease condensate held steady at a daily average of 7,675,000 barrels last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

TPA Pushes Building Plan

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of the Texas Press Association will further plans for a quarter of a million dollars headquarters building in Austin during their 86th annual convention which opened here Wednesday.

Vern Sanford, manager of the TPA, said land already has been purchased for the building, which will house the association headquarters, the staff of its magazine, "The Texas Press Messenger," and its press clipping service.

Some 400 members of the TPA and 400 members of the National Editorial Association are in a joint four-day convention.

The TPA is made up of representatives from 545 of the state's 650 newspapers. With 85 daily newspapers represented, the majority of the TPA members are from weekly newspapers.

First TPA offices were established in the Baker Hotel here in 1947. The association moved to Austin in 1948.

Space Stroller Wows Crowd

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Astronaut Edward H. White II, this country's first space stroller, bubbled with humor as he talked about the historic four-day Gemini 4 space flight.

And the crowd loved it.

The worst part of launch June 3, he said, was "to ride up that rickety elevator."

He and his space twin, Maj. James McDivitt, were lifted atop the powerful rocket at Cape Kennedy, Fla., by a small elevator on the outside.

White, smooth talking but sometimes reserved, cracked his wit during a 20-minute color film of the launching, his space walk and recovery during a homecoming celebration here Wednesday.

He said McDivitt, because of his size, had more trouble being lifted into the capsule.

LITTLE RITUAL

"Jim has to go through a little ritual to get in," White said as the film showed them entering the craft. "Thump. There he goes."

The hatch closed. "There's the last opportunity we had to leave," he said with a laugh.

As his preparation for the space walk appeared on the screen, White recalled what President Johnson told a crowd in Houston Friday—that when an event like this was to be carried out, "leave it to a Texan to put his foot into it."

"There it goes—there goes the glove," White noted when his now famous thermal glove accidentally floated from the capsule into its own orbit.

"Don't be concerned about it," he said, explaining the glove eventually will disintegrate as it is dragged back into the earth's atmosphere.

White chose to use only one of the gloves for protecting his hands against heat and cold as he left and re-entered the spacecraft in order to maneuver better.

LIKE FIREFLIES

"When I saw the glove go out, I knew for sure all I needed was one," he said with a smile.

Once White saw what he thought were millions of stars, but "Jim told me rather disgustedly: 'We are pointing right straight down to the ground.'"

What he saw, it turned out, was spray from the thruster system reflecting sunlight. Previous astronauts have likened the spray to "fireflies."

As he floated behind the capsule and looked closely at the thruster system, he warned McDivitt: "Don't fire those thrusters now."

"With a high degree of cooperation he said he wouldn't," White recalled.

He said the thrusters shoot out flames about a foot to a foot and a half.

"The earth turns pretty fast out there," he said at another point. "Unless you know what you're looking for, you're going to miss it."

After splashdown in the Atlantic and they had been hoisted into a helicopter en route to the aircraft carrier Wasp, a closeup of McDivitt flashed on the screen.

"Kinda raunchy looking," White said, "but I tell you, he looked good enough to kiss about then."

Commission Gets Job Bias Plaints

WASHINGTON, (AP) — "Our policy," said the tall man — his blue eyes red-rimmed for lack of sleep and his hair untrimmed for lack of time — "Our policy is 'No persecution.'"

The tall man is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 50. The reason for the sleeplessness and the uncut hair is that he has just been appointed and confirmed to one of the toughest jobs in the federal government, and he has little time to lose.

He is chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and his path-breaking job is to administer Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. This title, which takes effect July 2, outlaws job discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Already complaints of discrimination have begun to arrive at the commission, and unless it acts fast it is sure to be under fire. But first there is the problem of selecting a commission staff, setting up offices around the nation and drawing up rules and regulations.

Roosevelt took a few minutes out to sit with a reporter on a big black leather couch at the Commerce Department, where he has been undersecretary, and define his general approach to the new job.

"We seek to persecute no one," he said, "but will appeal to the highest sense of fair play and equality among all groups."

He explained how he is trying to pick a staff — "trying to get people of good will with the highest talent."

This takes time, he said. If it is done in haste, "we might get six months down the road and find we had the wrong people."

So for the time being, he is negotiating for the temporary loan of persons from other government agencies. For one thing they will form task forces on rules and regulations, and on relations with state and local Fair Employment Practices Commissions.

HANDS TIED

The new federal law lays heavy stress on cooperation with these states. In fact, the Roosevelt commission's hands are largely tied until a complainant has time to appeal to these states for corrective action.

Another headache for Roosevelt is the word "sex" inserted in Title VII at the suggestion of Southern foes of civil rights legislation, and with the fervent backing of several women in Congress. (It got through over administration opposition, because many legislators did not want to vote against the fair sex.)

Did Man's Radio Just Walk Off?

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Daniel G. Audiewlo, 57, reported to police here that he fell asleep in an easy chair in front of his home while listening to a portable radio.

When he awoke, the radio was missing.

Increase Reported In Daily Allowable

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission said today the total average calendar day oil allowable is 2,885,657 barrels, an 18,159 barrel-a-day increase since June 1.

Bolstered Wallets Ahead For Many

NEW YORK (AP) — Two weeks from today the government is set to give many of you a lift where it counts — in your pocketbook. Washington hopes this will go a long way toward offsetting or even blocking the general economic slowdown that stock traders and others have been fearing.

For some the increased income will come as a boost in Social Security benefits, with a lump sum due shortly to make the larger old age payments effective from the first of this year. The total will be around $1.5 billion this year.

EXCISE CUT

For many others the lift will come in a cut in federal excise taxes on a wide list of goods and services. The windfall totals around $5 billion a year for consumers and manufacturers.

For the military there is a pay boost in the making.

And this year you are getting the benefit of the second stage of the cut in personal income tax rates. The money withheld from your paycheck isn't affected because this was cut the entire amount last year. But in figuring what's due the Internal Revenue Service, you'll be using lower tax rates for the same income bracket. Your personal income this year should be affected by one or more of these measures —whether it will be larger payments by the government or smaller tax collections.

But the government expects that people will respond to the increased money in their pocketbooks, or the lower prices on goods and services freed of excise taxes, by spending more.

AID ECONOMY

In turn, this spending can ripple out through the economy. Example: If lower prices on cars because of reduced taxes leads more persons to buy them, then the car makers will be producing more, buying more from their suppliers, hiring more workmen.

And all those benefiting from this will also be getting more money — and will be expected to spend more.

This is counted on to give the second half of 1965 a lift [illegible] Wall Street apparently thinks it will be needing.

But also in the weeks and months ahead the government will step up its spending in many other lines — aerospace and defense contracts, or federal aid to schools, highway construction, and new and old forms of social welfare.

Some will benefit directly. Others will gain because communities will get contracts or increased federal funds, and local business is stimulated.

Business firms, large and small, have stepped up their plans for spending on new plants and equipment. This, too, can ripple out through the economy. For many it can mean jobs, or longer work weeks, or increased sales on goods produced or new contracts and subcontracts.

Argentina's Surplus Grain Sold To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Foreign Agricultural Service said today Argentina's surplus wheat problem has been greatly eased by surprisingly large sales to Communist China and Russia this year. Nearly 37 million bushels of wheat was recorded sold to the Red Chinese and about 26 million to Russia.

DEAR ABBY

Enough Of That

DEAR ABBY: Six girls in our office go to coffee together twice a day. One girl (I'll call her Trudy) has been having trouble with her husband and for the past year every coffee break has been devoted to listening to Trudy run him down. She says he needs a psychiatrist, is involved with a married woman, etc. She asks us for advice, but never takes it. She continues to live with him and complains daily. At first we were all very sympathetic to Trudy, but our patience has run out and we would like to talk about something else for a change. How can we let her know without hurting her feelings that we are bored with her domestic affairs?

THE OTHER FIVE

DEAR FIVE: Get together and appoint the girl who is closest to Trudy as "Chairman of the Bored." She should tell Trudy privately that the other girls deserve a break with their coffee, and she should lay off the subject. Trudy should also be advised to take her problem to her clergyman or a marriage counselor if she seriously wants to resolve them. Some people don't really want to DO anything about their problems. They just enjoy talking about them. Trudy could be one, so don't delay.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the man who complained about his wife being too fat. He said this was the reason for many marriage breakups. I want to set him straight. He's lucky he's never had to live with a woman who constantly lives and talks diets. And in order to keep herself thin she starves, and so does her poor husband. Women like her are always crabby and irritable. THEY cause more marriage break-ups than fat women. I know because I almost lost a good husband trying to diet myself into a size 12. I woke up just in time to save my marriage. Ten years ago I weighed 115. Now I'm—

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the writer who signed herself "Disgusted" because her daughter-in-law's baby still had a bottle at 13 months: She must be more concerned about appearances than what the child actually needs. It seems to be "in" to have your child more "grown up than someone else's. Many children give up the bottle at 9 months or younger. But some need it when they are 18 months and older. Most will give it up of their own accord.

I am the mother of four and each was different. In other countries babies often nurse until they're two years old and suffer no ill effects. Children suck because they need to. Take the bottle away too soon and they'll find something else to suck — thumbs, toys, blankets. Tell "Disgusted" to let the baby be a baby. It'll grow up soon enough. MOTHER OF FOUR

Jury Convicts Former Mayor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — O. A. Cargill Sr., 80, self-styled "boy from the hills" who rose to prominence as a mayor of Oklahoma City, was convicted in federal court Wednesday on three counts of perjury arising from a grand jury investigation of State Supreme Court justices' financial dealings.

Cargill was found guilty of lying to a federal grand jury last year about his financial transactions with Supreme Court justices and his knowledge of bribes being paid to court members.

The jury returned the guilty verdict at 1:03 a.m.

Maximum sentence is a $2,000 fine and five years imprisonment on each of the three charges.

Cargill's attorneys asked a hearing to file a motion for new trial and U.S. Dist. Judge Roy W. Harper of St. Louis set a tentative date of July 9.

Cargill showed no emotion as the verdict was read.

Cargill was indicted by the same federal grand jury which launched a probe of Oklahoma's Supreme Court that resulted in two justices losing their jobs and a former justice going to prison.

A Devotional For The Day

Our God whom we serve is able to deliver us . . . But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image. (Daniel 3:17-18)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for great biblical characters who remained true to Thee. May we so live that when the greatest test comes we can confidently believe Thou wilt deliver us. In Thy Son's name we offer our prayer. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Now For A Corresponding Cut

The matter of an excise cut, estimated to be in excess of four billion dollars, is now in conference committee between the Senate and House. The House, by a lopsided vote, had put through its version for 4.8 billion dollars, and Tuesday the Senate came through with its plan for 4.7 billion dollars in cuts. So not too much separates them, although there is a wide difference in several sections. One is in that dealing with automobile excise taxes, and this is a 1.9 billion dollar slash. The House wanted to do away with it altogether, the Senate in stages down to $190 million a year.

Both houses are eager to report out the final version as soon as possible, so action may be expected, especially since it has been assigned as a priority item by the President.

Certainly the unusual spectacle of reduced taxes is something to cheer the heart of every taxpayer; and it should do what it is supposed to do—stimulate business tempo.

But there also is another side of the coin—old fashioned or not—and that is a reduction of spending to compensate for the net loss in revenue. Otherwise, this becomes another bit of deficit financing, and about the most charitable thing that could be said about it would be that it is temporizing or is slightly inflationary. Balance is still a worthy goal, and it should be an almost imperative goal, for in public as well as private financing, there must sometime come a day of reckoning.

Limitations Of Freedom

"It's a free country" is a sentence heard often when there is disagreement among individuals or organizations. It was heard in defense of a group of farmers who blocked legitimate deliveries of livestock by lining up rows of trucks with just one animal in each. It is heard on both sides in civil rights discussions. Young persons quote it rebelliously when asked to conform to certain standards of conduct.

"It's a free country" is a sentence that needs evaluation. The fact that this is not a free country, if by freedom one means the right of every citizen to do exactly as he pleases. That is mere license, and it is intolerable.

Civic responsibility and concern for the rights of others have built a nation where individual citizens have more liberty than anywhere else in the world. But they are not free to steal, kill or otherwise abuse their fellow men. They are not even completely free to assault the sensibilities of others—for example, with pointless obscenities.

Civilization might almost be defined as that condition in which a multitude of people can live together with the least loss of liberty to the individual. This condition is impossible without some restraint on absolute freedom. "It's a free country" is a sentence used when sound arguments fail or emotional overrides logic. This country has more freedom than most, perhaps more freedom than any other, but that is true only because Americans have traditionally accepted the responsibilities and limitations that go with freedom.

TRY US — WE MIGHT UNDERSTAND!

Around The Rim

She Runs His Life

The master of our household runs a tight ship. There is a place for everything, and everything must be in its place, at least as far as the rest of the household is concerned. In her own case, this is not necessarily true.

WHAT IS MORE comfortable than kicking off the shoes and gaping at the home screen? But she decides that if shoes are kicked off, they must be trundled back to the closet—even if it is at the climactic part of the program.

And if the evening newspaper is dropped at the side of the chair while I take a brief catnap, she insists I come back from dreamland long enough to put the paper on a table, the couch, or in any place off the floor. And if one of the hounds forgets to hide a bone, she invariably finds it and insists it be carried to the food dish—though heaven only knows why, as the dogs wouldn't consider chewing a bone unless it is supported on one of my shoes.

AND LIKE MORTICIA of the Addams Family, she insists that the rose blooms are to be picked off and destroyed, leaving those lovely green stalks, covered with thorns. And she gets much more water on the sidewalk and driveway than on the grass. As it's worked out, it doesn't seem to make much difference, however.

SOMEWHERE along the line, she decided I read every time I sit down—thus, I get a magazine, a catalog, a book, a week-old newspaper, or something brought handy to elbow no matter what may be my preoccupation. If I should lay one of these down for a second, while I reach for a cup of coffee—whisk—it's taken back from whence it came, my place handily lost.

OF COURSE, she helpfully lays out my clothes each morning—who cares that the socks don't match. Indeed, sometimes the shoes don't match. But she emphatically demands that I wear them as she prepares them. (I draw the line at a cowboy boot for the left foot and a thong sandal for the right).

And the list might be lengthened considerably, because she never slows down, being perhaps the busiest person I know. But I suspect she will soon begin to ease up. After all, she's not quite two-years-old.

Head-Knocking On Foreign Aid May Pay Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators and representatives will now knock their heads together over foreign aid. Out of this may come something more imaginative and practical than this country has seen in years.

Except for its part in World War I, and some spurts afterwards, this country stuck to its ancient isolationism until, for sheer survival, early in 1941 it began helping the foes of fascism with lend-lease.

This truly got it involved in World War II and before the year was out the United States was all the way in.

President Harry S. Truman ended lend-lease right after the war but this was a mistake. It deprived Europe and Asia of much-needed help when nations there were flat on their backs.

THE UNITED States extended various kinds of help but in 1948 set forth on a worldwide program of help. Altogether since the war this country has handed out over $100 billion in foreign economic and military aid.

Undoubtedly this blood transfusion, plus American military might, stopped the march of communism to which chaos and poverty are a "come on in" sign. But as the years passed there was growing American discontent about this aid.

It wasn't always successful, as Viet Nam shows.

Starting there more than 15 years ago, when the French were fighting the Vietnamese Communists, this country has put about $5 billion in economic and military aid into the country. And the result isn't pretty.

THE GUERRILLAS and Communists there are stronger than ever.

Out of all this foreign aid, unmatched in the history of the world, the United States threw off its isolation and at once became the leader of the non-Communist part of the earth.

But — the United States is a newcomer on the international scene with perhaps no more than 25 years of experience in deep involvement with countries everywhere.

In short, it still has a lot to learn when compared with the British and French who were up to their international necks for centuries.

So, because it is just a beginner with no more than a quarter of a century in distributing aid, it would seem time for a good, stiff look on how it has been doing and where it is going in this field.

Confrontation Coming?

WASHINGTON—This is a signal from the closed world of the Kremlin in Moscow. It is sent by a responsible Western statesman long familiar at firsthand with the course of world affairs.

Several hours spent with Premier Aleksei Kosygin brought a sense of dismay and alarm. The propaganda intention was there, of course—the desire to spread the Kremlin line as widely as possible through the chancelleries of the West.

BUT WITH THIS discounted to the limit the impression was of a man searching almost desperately for a way out of an impossible box. Kosygin talked about the United States for virtually the entire time. Washington was ruining any hope for coexistence. The policy of the Johnson Administration would soon leave the Soviet Union with no alternative but to join the war in Viet Nam in full force.

The attack was obviously part of the propaganda. But a major theme that seemed to come out of a genuine and deep-seated concern was the lack of communication between the two worlds. While he did not say it in so many words, the visitor brought away the impression that the private and personal exchange begun between Nikita Khrushchev and John F. Kennedy after the Cuban missile crisis and continued by President Johnson with Khrushchev and later with Kosygin had been suspended. A further impression was that Kosygin continued to hope for some overture from Washington, although hope had almost run out.

A REPORT BASED on this extended conversation is currently being circulated in Western capitals at the highest official level. What influence it will have is uncertain. But it does tend to confirm the basic fear of Allied statesmen—that communication between the two nuclear giants has been all but broken off.

The answer of the top men in the Johnson Administration to the plaint of the Kremlin is one often repeated. We have tried and tried, and there is no response.

SINCE THE formal proposals have come to nothing, so goes the comfortable assumption, Moscow must not be too concerned over the future of the war in Viet Nam. A gloss of optimism that seems to foreign observers at times almost frivolous is put on this aspect of the conflict. At the level of the Kremlinologists the answer, given with far less optimism, is that nothing can be done about the Soviet Union until Viet Nam is out of the way.

The optimistic gloss—customarily reinforced by the conviction that Russia and China are irrevocable enemies—does not take in all top policymakers. There are those with access to full intelligence reports who see a grave threat in the not-too-distant future. Their reasoning is as follows: Because of the split in the Communist bloc Moscow will feel compelled to send more and more materiel into North Viet Nam. Technicians and specialists will go with it. Then will come, as American bombing edges farther and farther toward Hanoi, a direct confrontation between the two great powers. After that anything can happen.

IT MAY BE too late. It may be the divisions are so deep that nothing can now be done. For Europeans this is a counsel of despair. They are beginning to argue the need for a dramatic new overture that would not rest on formal proposals. Such an overture might take the form of a high-level meeting. Without it the drift will continue, and there are worried individuals who can hear the sound of the falls.

Protecting Value Of The Dollar

WASHINGTON — When the stock market broke a couple weeks ago, it was widely assumed that this reaction was due to an address on June 1 at Columbia University by the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin Jr. He had pointed out that there are "similarities" between the situation today and that which existed in the 1920's. Probably few people in the stock market world, however, really read the speech. For more significant than the "similarities" were the "differences" which Mr. Martin emphasized but which got scant attention.

MOST IMPORTANT today is for people in the banking and financial communities to read carefully all of what Chairman Martin said. For it was one of the most constructive pieces of economic and financial advice that has come out of the government in many years. It was by no means pessimistic. In fact, after reviewing some of the "similarities" between the 1920's and the current era, Mr. Martin laid stress on what he called "important differences" between the present situation and that which prevailed in the 1920's and 1930's. He said:

"THE DISTRIBUTION of our national income now shows less disparity than in the early period. In particular, personal incomes, and especially wages and salaries, have kept pace with corporate profits, and this has reduced the danger of investment expanding in excess of consumption needs. Perhaps related to that better balance, the increase in stock market credit now has been much smaller."

Mr. Martin added that "the worst defects in the structure of commercial and investment banking and of business seem to have been corrected," although he mentioned that not all abuses have been eliminated.

WHILE MR. MARTIN indicated concern about the rise in government expenditures, he placed most of his emphasis on what is going on internationally. He demolished the arguments being made for a return to the gold standard or for tinkering with international currencies. He declared that the "inflationary and deflationary effects of an increase in the price of gold would be most inequitably and most uneconomically distributed among nations."

Mr. Martin stated unequivocally that "any impairment of the value and status of the dollar" must be avoided. He spoke hopefully about the President's program for voluntary methods for handling the international payments problem, but warned again that "a stable dollar is indeed the keystone of international trade and finance" and "the keystone of economic growth and prosperity at home."

TO SUM UP, Mr. Martin's whole thesis was that the international financial situation is a delicate one, and that care must be taken by the principal nations to collaborate and co-operate. He argued against the theory that the international problems could be solved by a "governing body of some supranational bank of issue rather than by discussion and negotiation" between the banking authorities of different nations.

THERE IS NO single answer to all the questions involved, but progress will be made by examining dispassionately the entire speech of June 1 by the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. For, while it seems to have affected the market adversely, it was not by any means an attempt to intimate that stocks have gone too high or that a readjustment in the market has become necessary. Rather, the whole address was based upon international finance and the future of the American dollar. These factors could, of course, affect the market but need not necessarily have an adverse impact if the banking authorities throughout the world are alerted to the importance of working together in regulating money problems.

Sarge Misses Milk Most

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — It was his first day of liberty in more than a month.

He had planned to spend it in town seeing the sights.

But it was 11 a.m. when Sgt. Daniel F. Hall, 22, of Pottstown, Pa., returned from a six-day patrol to the tent area of Able Company, 3rd Regiment, U.S. Marines.

By the time he had showered, shaved, put on his summer khakis, and hitched a ride, it was after 2 p.m. Since he had to start back by 7 o'clock, his day of liberty had dwindled to only five hours.

THAT WAS more than enough for the tall, hazel-eyed young sergeant, who is third in command of his rifle platoon.

"I thought it would do me good to get into town and have a change of scenery," said Hall, whose cheekbones have been burned cherry red by the dozen or more patrols he has been on since he came here March 10.

Sipping a cup of coffee at the USO building here, Hall told of his big day off from the war:

"I've spent most of it trying to find some milk or ice cream. No luck. When I get home the first thing I'm going to do is to go to a supermarket and buy a gallon of milk. That's what I miss.

"I WALKED around the streets looking for something to buy. I bought a tin trunk for $3. I wanted to get something nice as souvenirs for my wife, Suzanne, and our children—Daniel F. Jr.—he's 4—and my daughter, Lisa Marie—she's 2½. But I couldn't find anything worth sending. Just a lot of junk.

"I walked along the waterfront and saw the old ladies selling bread and straw mats and quarreling over fish the sampans had just brought in, and a bunch of kids followed me hollering 'Hello, Kay.'"

"I was feeling kind of weird. I just wanted to get away from everybody, and maybe listen to a few records. I wasn't exactly homesick. Everybody wants to go home.

"THEN I passed a hotel where another Marine and I had lunch together the last time I had liberty. That made me feel blue, because it wasn't long after that he was killed, one of only two guys our company has lost. He was a nice guy. I remember we talked about home.

"You know, this is the first war I've been in, and it is kind of hard to classify. One of the enemy's village recruits can take a few potshots at you, then hide his gun, and you can't tell him from a rice farmer. We have to be awful careful about firing."

The sergeant looked at his watch. He still had an hour and a half liberty.

I asked the sergeant if he minded returning to the hills after so short a leave.

"Well, I'm not crazy about batting around those hot hills and being shot at," he replied slowly, "but that is the job we were sent over here to do.

"I think about life quite a lot when I'm sleeping out there on the ground under the stars. And it seems to me the trick in life is do do well whatever you set out to do. If you do, you're fat."

Billy Graham

If I am a Christian and commit a sin, am I no longer a Christian? Is it necessary for me to be "born again" to find forgiveness? I have been told that this is the way it is, and I really want to know. H. P.

There is an encouraging promise in I John 1:9 given to Christians: "If we (children of God) confess our sin, He is faithful and just to forgive our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

When we experience the New Birth, God is our Father. The analogy is clear. If an earthly father forgives his children, would not our Heavenly Father? If an earthly father gives good gifts to his children—our heavenly Father is much more generous. As our Lord said: "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give good things to them that ask Him."

This, of course, does not mean that we deliberately and overtly commit sin. Paul said: "Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound? God forbid." But, the promise is given, "If any man sin he has an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." He pleads our cause: He intercedes for us; He is our advocate. And because of Him, and His finished work on the Cross, God forgives us.

The Hair Doesn't Grow After Death

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a hairdresser and often hear stories about hair growing after a person had died. I know this is not so, but I have a hard time explaining it to my girl friends. Please help.

They also go on to say that they know of people whose hair turned gray overnight because of shock. I suppose a shock can cause this in a month or two, but not overnight.—N.U.

On your first question you are right. Hair does not grow after death, any more than other parts of the body can continue to live and grow after death.

However, this belief that the hair grows is based on more than mere imagination. At death the soft tissues of the body (fat and skin) begin to shrink somewhat. This exposes more of the hair shaft which has been below the normal surface of the skin. Thus a man's beard become more noticeable and appears to have grown even though it actually has not.

As to the other question, hair turns gray or white as it gradually loses the melanin, or pigment, which is the coloring matter. This nearly always is gradual, taking place at the root, as a hair grows.

There are medical reports that under extreme shock or stress, as in battle, pigment can be lost very rapidly from the hair itself. Such cases are very rare, and I am not inclined to believe the casual reports we hear about it happening under the ordinary shocks and griefs which we encounter in civilized existence.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our 12-year-old son has the "kissing disease." Can it cause leukemia? How long does it last? Is it contagious? How does one contact it? Is there another name for it? — MRS. P.G.

There is no valid reason for calling it the "kissing disease," since it obviously spreads by other means. The technical name is infectious mononucleosis. No, it doesn't cause leukemia. It may last for a number of weeks. All of your questions are answered in detail in my booklet, "Mononucleosis." (For a copy, send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self - addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper. With just reasonable care, the disease disappears, leaving no damage afterward.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 10 weeks old, was born with an ugly birthmark on the side of her face. The doctor said it might go away by itself or might not. Do you agree? —MRS. T. W.

There are enough different kinds of birthmarks to make it impossible to answer your question categorically. Some marks gradually disappear, which partly accounts for the folklore about home remedies credited with removing them.

Actually I don't know of anything that can be applied to such a mark to get rid of it—not safely, anyway. If the mark does not disappear by itself, surgical removal is the answer.

I would consult either a skin specialist or a plastic surgeon to determine whether the mark is of a type which might efface itself. If it isn't, the specialist can advise you as to know long to wait before removal, keeping in mind a time which will permit the least possible scarring. Such birthmarks can be removed with little if any blemish afterward.

Culture Day At The White House

WASHINGTON — Last Monday was Culture Day at the White House and it certainly was an impressive sight to see. There was sculpture on the lawn, paintings in the hall, singing in the East Room, dancing in the Rose Garden, and, except for McGeorge Bundy's daily briefing to the President, everyone had a wonderful time.

Nobdy is quite sure how the White House Festival of the Arts came about, and now that it's over I can reveal the background.

ONE EVENING last winter President Johnson was reading a book. Suddenly he turned to Mrs. Johnson and said, "Say, this fellow Robert Lowell writes some mighty pretty poetry. We ought to have him over to the house for lunch."

Mrs. Johnson replied, "What a wonderful idea. Who should we invite with him?"

"How about that fellow Saul Bellow who wrote that best seller, 'Her,' about my dog."

"Herzog," Lyndon, and it wasn't about your dog."

"Well, it reminded me of my dog."

"Why don't we have John Hersey?" Mrs. Johnson said.

"DID HE WRITE 'For Whom the Bell Tolls?'"

"No, Lyndon, he wrote 'A Bell for Adanc.'"

"Yeah, let's have him."

"We can't just have writers," Mrs. Johnson said. "Why don't we have some musicians?"

"Lady Bird, are you escalating on me again?"

"No, I'm not. But it would be sort of fun if we asked people from the other arts."

"You make up the list, Lady Bird, and I'll think of a nice toast after lunch."

A MONTH LATER the President said, "You ever heard from Robert Lowell about lunch?"

"Not yet," Lady Bird said, "but I've invited the Louisville Symphony Orchestra, Marian Anderson, Helen Hayes, the cast of 'The Glass Menagerie,' Duke Ellington, Gene Kelly, and Charlton Heston."

"Gee, I'm not going to get much chance to talk to Robert Lowell, am I?"

"Now, Lyndon, you have to be nice to all the creative people. You can't just single out one poet."

"I guess you are right. I am the President of all artists."

"SPEAKING OF artists, I've arranged to have not only the artists come, but they're going to send their pictures on ahead. I've made an art gallery out of the ground floor of the White House."

"Lady Bird, I wish you'd stick to planting rose bushes on Pennsylvania Avenue."

"Now, hush, Lyndon, and tell me where you want to put the sculpture."

"What sculpture?"

"We've got to show sculpture if we're going to show art."

"This lunch is getting out of hand. I think I'll send Hubert in my place."

"NO, YOU WON'T. This is our party."

Several weeks before the big event, which had now become known as the White House Festival of the Arts, Mrs. Johnson said:

"Lyndon, I have something to tell you if you promise not to get mad."

"All right, I won't get mad."

"Robert Lowell doesn't want to come to lunch."

"Why not?" the President shouted. "He doesn't like your foreign policy."

"Well, neither do I! But it's the only one I've got."

Cook Cited For Rescues

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Ella V. McGee, 55, a cook, was cited today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for saving two small boys from a burning guest house on a ranch near Bandera, Tex.

She rescued Steven T. Carter, 1, and C. Michael Carter Jr., 3, who were trapped in the three-story building last Oct. 31.

The commission awarded her a bronze medal and $500. It gave these details:

Fire broke out at night in the living room of the frame structure, where three first floor bedrooms were occupied by the owner and his wife, three of their grandchildren and the Carter youngsters, whose parents were away.

FLAMES SPREAD

Smoke awakened Mrs. McGee in her second floor room as the flames spread swiftly downstairs. She ran into a hall seeking to rouse several adults and two boys in other second floor rooms but smoke drove her back.

Mrs. McGee then climbed through a window onto a flat roof and jumped down to the concrete top of a cistern six feet below, fracturing a vertebra in the fall, and rolled off the cistern onto the ground.

Unable to stand erect because of her injury, Mrs. McGee awakened others by shouting and struggled to the back door. Gasping in pain, she tried to reach a telephone but the acrid smoke again drove her back.

HEARS CRIES

Cries from Steven and Michael drew her groping down a hallway to their bedroom. She carried Steven and led his brother outside.

All the other occupants escaped except the two boys on the second floor. Flames blocked efforts to reach them and the building was destroyed.

Mrs. McGee recovered after hospital treatment.

Star-Tracking Payload Okay

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A 1,000-pound experimental payload carrying an "electronic navigator" rocketed 400 miles high Wednesday and used a telescope-eye to lock onto the North Star for guidance.

The Air Force announced success of the test, the first for a new star-tracking guidance system which might steer future missiles or spacecraft.

The payload later plunged to a fiery atmospheric friction death 225 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

It carried a compact inertial guidance system which literally steered itself by a star. The telescope peered into the heavens, sighted the North Star, and hitched onto it for a reference.

Metropolitan Designation For Hidalgo County Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Designation of Hidalgo County in South Texas as a metropolitan statistical area with Edinburg, McAllen and Pharr as principal population centers was urged Wednesday by Rep. Eligio de la Garza and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Texas Democrats.

Such action would put Hidalgo County on a plane with neighboring Cameron County. That designation was made in 1960 with Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito as the population centers.

A federal committee on standard metropolitan statistical areas, composed of representatives of various federal agencies concerned with the nation's economy and functioning through the President's Budget Bureau, sets the criteria and makes the designations.

The committee has given no indication how it will act in the present case. Its chairman, Walter Ryan, said in a recent letter to de la Garza:

"The general concept of a metropolitan statistical area is that of an integrated economic and social unit with a large population nucleus . . .

"Because of the intense interest expressed by users of metropolitan area statistics, the Bureau of the Budget, in defining standard metropolitan statistical areas, has adhered strictly to the published criteria in order to avoid charges of undue administrative latitude."

FELL SHORT

The reference to "undue administrative latitude" would rule out any chance of immediate designation of Hidalgo County, because the 1960 census figures did not show sufficient population to meet the existing criteria.

Ryan pointed out, however, steps which could be taken to meet requirements — including application for a special federal census to be financed by local interests.

Ryan noted that federal standards for metropolitan area designation have been uniform since 1950. The purpose is to enable federal statistical agencies to use the same boundaries in publishing data useful for analysis of metropolitan problems.

This information is also relied upon by many private industries, especially when considering establishment of plants or initiation of new services.

Under present criteria, in order to be designated a city must have a population of at least 50,000, or two continuous cities if the smaller of the two had at least 15,000 and their combined population totaled 50,000 or more.

The 1960 census credited McAllen with 32,618 residents and adjoining Pharr with 14,106. The combined population now is estimated at 53,000.

HEAVY COST

There will not be another regular census until 1970. A Census Bureau official said it would cost local interests at least 20 cents a head to finance a special census.

"Under the present criteria we can't qualify for the designation," de la Garza said. "They (the committee) are holding strictly to regulations, and in that regard I think they are making a real contribution by staying out of politics. There are no pressures exerted.

Respite From Storms Noted

By The Associated Press

Recurring storms finally gave Texas a night off and the weather promised today to level off into normal early summer heat.

A few showers fell before daylight in the northwest corner of the Texas Panhandle. Skies were clear to partly cloudy as other sections stayed dry.

The forward edge of a feeble cool front lay along an east-west line near Beaumont and another extended from El Paso toward the north.

Forecasts promised sweaty warmth for all parts of the state, failing to mention any prospect for rain except a few thunderstorms by evening in the Panhandle.

Wednesday's top temperatures ranged from 81 degrees at Dalhart up to 100 at Laredo and 108 at Presidio.

Republican Wins Race In S. Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Political switch-hitter Albert W. Watson carried his new Republican pennant back to Washington today, the landslide winner in a race to regain the House seat he won twice as a Democrat.

In the conservative, Republican-minded 2nd Congressional District, Watson proved that among Southerners, there is still political glitter in the name Barry Goldwater.

He trounced Democrat Preston H. Callison Tuesday, 55,849 votes to 24,781. Special election returns from the eight-county district, the state's most populous, were complete but unofficial.

Watson wasted no time in reclaiming the House seat he quit Jan. 27 after Democrats took away his slender seniority because he supported Goldwater's Republican presidential bid.

With Watson's election as a Republican, the GOP holds 141 House seats. The Democrats have 294.

Watson argued Northern liberals had sought through him to punish the people of South Carolina for backing Goldwater.

Goldwater carried the 2nd District by a 2-1 margin over President Johnson. Watson's victory was even more one-sided.

Watson became the first Republican elected to Congress from South Carolina since 1893.

Houston School Integration Pushed

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston school board committee is expected to recommend Monday night that total desegregation of the nation's sixth largest school district be completed by September, 1967.

The current grade-a-year plan calls for complete desegregation in 1971.

Texans Refute 'Claim' State Lacks Beauty

WASHINGTON (AP) — New evidence that President Johnson watches closely what columnists write is seen in the exception he took to unflattering remarks about his native Texas that appeared in a New York (Daily News) newspaper.

Discussing the President's beautify America campaign, the article said it would be interesting to see what impact the drive would have on Texans since its "landscape is drab and without one scenic beauty worth touting."

A note to the Texas members of Congress, signed by Jake Jacobsen, legislative counsel at the White House, said: "The President asked me to call your attention" to the enclosed column.

REFUTE CLAIM

It went on to suggest that the individual congressmen might like to place in the Congressional Record a rebuttal to the column, because of their awareness of the beauties to be found in their own districts.

Quick to act was Rep. Richard White, D., of El Paso, who told the House that the journalist must have drawn his conclusions from the dark recesses of a Manhattan cavern.

"He needs to enter the cool recesses of McKittrick Canyon, behind that peak, the heart of the proposed Guadalupe National Park . . .

" 'Not one scenic beauty worth touting' says this columnist. If he has ever visited Texas, he surely did not stop to look. We hope he will stay longer next time."

TEXOMA EXTOLLED

And nearly a thousand miles away but still partly in Texas, the scenic and recreational area of Lake Texoma was extolled by Rep. Ray Roberts, D., McKinney.

"In the 20 years that Lake Texoma, on the northwest border of my district, has been in existance, more than 100 million visitors from all over the nation have testified to its beauty. It has been the No. 1 tourist attraction in the nation for nine of the last 10 years."

Then, mindful of the beauties to be found in an area of East Texas which will be incorporated in his district under the recently enacted redistricting legislation, Roberts said:

"Tyler is world famous for its roses that bloom in the summer and is the home of the famous Azalea trail in the spring."

The seascapes of his gulf coastal district stirred Rep. John D. Young, D., Corpus Christi to say:

many spots of natural beauty in the South Texas area there is Padre Island with its magnificent, world - famous beach, steeped in the history of the Southwest from the days of the Conquistadores."

GOP Gains In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Republicans and Negroes have gained their largest representation this century in the Georgia House of Representatives as state voters completed the final stage in House reapportionment.

Although they were soundly beaten in populous Fulton County (Atlanta) in Wednesday's general election, the Republicans won 17 of 47 contested races and now hold 22 of the 205 House seats. They gained 13 over the 1964 House seating, plus two unopposed seats.

Negroes won eight seats, gaining representation in the House for the first time since 1907.

Ninety-four races were settled in primary elections and reapportionment last March under federal court order allowed 64 representatives to retain their seats without running.

After the court ruled the House had to be reapportioned on a population basis, the legislature took away the lopsided rural weight and gave urban areas a greater voice.

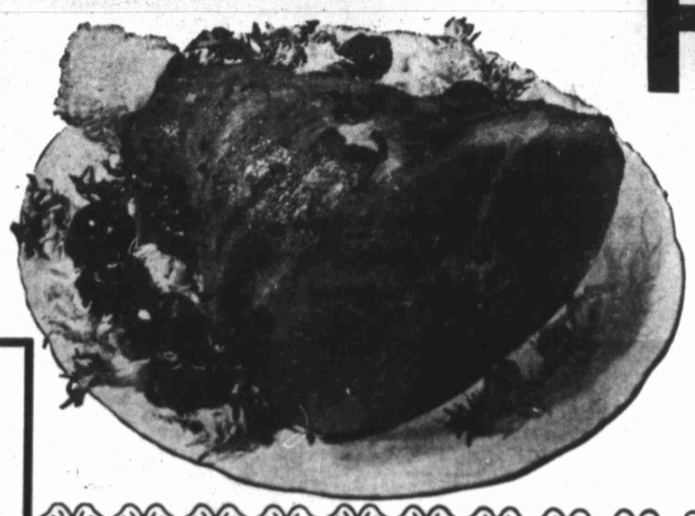

The biggest surprise in the election was the victory of a Negro Democrat, Attorney Albert W. Thompson, over a white Republican, Dr. I. A. Maxwell Jr., in Muscogee County (Columbus). The county went heavily for Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in the 1964 election.

Teacher Pay Hike, Trimmed Appropriations Bills Signed

AUSTIN (AP)—The $101 million teacher pay raise bill and the $3.6 billion general appropriations bill for 1966-67 became law Wednesday.

Gov. John Connally signed them after vetoing $2.6 million from the money bill, including $1,158,941 for an administration and general services building at Angelo State College in San Angelo. In 1963, Connally struck $12 million from the spending bill.

Representatives of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Texas Classroom Teachers Association mingled with sponsors of the compromise teacher pay bill in the governor's reception room.

There were no speeches, but in informal conversations all sides congratulated themselves on the compromise, which channels more money into public education than either the original TSTA or Connally bills would have provided.

$553 RAISE

Teachers get an average increase of $553 a year, with the biggest raises rewarding experience and graduate degrees.

Connally said the record spending bill goes a long way toward grappling with crucial problems in the fields of mental health, water, tourism, public and higher education and vocational-technical training.

In his veto message, Connally said the Angelo College building he disapproved would have housed a theater, dressing rooms and band instrument storage space in addition to administrative offices.

He said that although Angelo's need was critical, the building was not justified when compared with needs of other state colleges. He approved a million-dollar library building and a $1.3 million science building.

ITEMS VETOED

Other vetoed items:

$200,000 for Dam B State Park, which a Senate resolution proposes to rename "Martin Dies State Park" in honor of the state senator. Connally said the state will spend $511,050 on the park this biennium—more than the amount authorized for all other state parks. He said the original request for $6,000 for repairs and maintenance at the park was raised to $200,000 in the Senate appropriations bill.

$300,000 of a total appropriation of $800,000 for a museum at Washington State Park, sponsored by Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham, chairman of the House Redistricting Committee. Connally said a lack of planning and project analysis was evident. He directed the State Building Commission staff to study the proposal.

$275,000 for a boll weevil program, part of a $550,000 appropriation. Connally said the remaining money is more than he originally recommended.

$149,000 for Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation jobs; $138,000 for water system improvements at Rusk State Hospital; $30,000 for a museum at Texas A&I in Kingsville; $39,200 for doctoral level instruction at East Texas State University and $110,000 for forestry research at Stephen F. Austin State College.

NEW COLLEGES

Connally said he would act in the next two days on bills to create new four-year colleges at Texarkana and Odessa and on a bill raising to 17 per cent the interest allowed on bank installment loans. He also faces decisions on about 300 other bills.

He vetoed seven bills Wednesday, including a measure to put the lieutenant governor on the building commission and to prohibit cities from requiring employes to live within city limits.

Reds May Be Faring Worst Of All In Dominican Trouble

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States, the Organization of American States and the Communist movement all have managed to look bad in the Dominican Republic crisis.

The Communists may yet prove to have fared worst of all.

When the crisis broke late in April, the immediate fear in Western hemisphere capitals was that U.S. military action in the Caribbean island would present the Communists a golden opportunity to provoke riot and confusion.

The extremists were credited with having a blueprint for Latin-American revolution supposedly drawn up last November in Havana marking priority targets in the hemisphere. Perhaps, the word was at first, they would lie low for a while to take fullest advantage of the Dominican events before striking.

GEM FADES

The glittering opportunity began to fade, however, as the Dominican civil war bogged down into a glaring match between the two sides and efforts by the OAS and the United States to win some sort of peace. The Latin-American public recovered from the initial shock. After nearly two months it no longer is a sensation. In many areas it is regarded with fairly widespread apathy by a public intent upon its own immediate troubles.

This has provoked speculation about the extreme left and its potential. Has it been given credit for more strength and power than it really possesses?

The strength of the extreme left has come from young, reckless hoodlums, some of them in their teens, some of them spoiled brats of middle- and upper-class families—products of university campus recruiting grounds.

STIR CONFUSION

Often, a few dozen of these hoodlums can stir up so much confusion in a Latin-American city it may seem to outsiders that a whole country is about to take fire. On domestic issues they are able to rally crowds and sometimes provoke them to violence.

But so far as violence for the sake of violence is concerned, the Dominican crisis seems to indicate such activities are beginning to lose some of the glitter which attracted young men in the past.

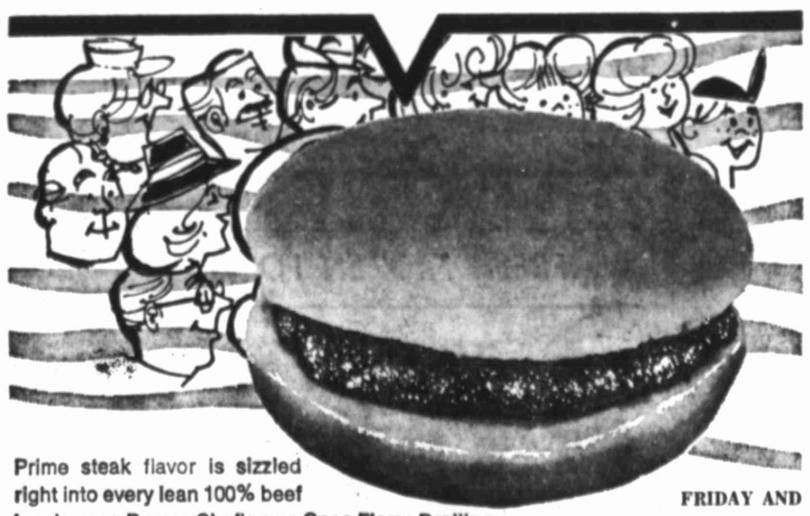

If the Communists and Castroists get some place in Latin America, it probably will not be because of the Dominican crisis. It will be because terror and mayhem are effective against irresolute politicians of the center.

Since World War II there have been about 75 coups and government explosions in Latin America. If governments fall now, if crowds riot in the streets, if revolution strikes, it will be because the ingredients for explosion long have been present: Politics based on concepts of the distant past, widespread illiteracy, poverty, and the power struggles of small groups.

There is little question that U.S. prestige has been damaged by the Dominican situation, more so because of the situation dragged on so long. Many Latin Americans, even friends of the United States, express conviction that Washington acted from panicky fear of the Communists and created in the Dominican Republic something worse than was there at the start.

But Latin Americans also ask what happened to the Communist threat? Why were the Communists unable to capitalize on the Dominican crisis? Why did many extremist efforts fizzle? There are those in Latin America who say the crisis hurt the Communists by exposing their weaknesses.

There still is a threat and a serious one. But if the Dominican crisis was an indicator, the cohesion necessary to provoke widespread riot in the cities has dwindled. Governments now display increasing confidence that their police and armed forces can deal with the plots and threats which remain.

Seven Felled By Lightning

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP)—Seven Fort Worth area residents were knocked unconscious by lightning near the Turner Falls resort.

They were found by Larry Cain, 18, of Davis, a life guard. He summoned help and began giving artificial respiration.

One of the women, Mrs. Leta Kate, 20, was reported in very serious condition at the Sulphur hospital.

Her husband Gene, 25, and Dale Moore, 30, were said to be less seriously injured.

Treated and dismissed were Moore's wife Lupe, 26; her child, Ladell Moore, 3, and two Kate children, Debra, 2, and Allen, 3. Mrs. Kate and Mrs. Moore are sisters.

A park spokesman said the two families had spent the day exploring caves in the Arbuckle Mountains.

Cain said he heard thunder and a few moments later the cries of a child and a woman.

All seven regained consciousness quickly. Their homes are at Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb.

Lazy 'Rush Hour' Bop?

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Can rock 'n' roll music on car radios lead to a different kind of rush-hour bop?

It's possible, says John Anello, cultural director for Milwaukee County parks and music director of a local opera company. Anello suggests stations should soothe the driver with soft music.

He said, "When you have music with a certain tempo and certain dissonances and you are irritated with automobile traffic, you may step it up to keep pace with the music. It's amazing how certain pulsations of music affect you."
