Winters Council tables pension request

The Winters City Council tabled a request from the Winters Volunteer Fire Department for the adoption of a new pension play Monday.

The new pension plan, authorized by Senate Bill 411, is far superior to the present pension plan. The cost of entering the new plan would be about $144 per year per fireman, or a total of $3,888. City Administrator Glenn Brown said the amount was based on 27 firemen.

One of the big questions concerning the new plan is what is termed buy-back. For firemen with a number of years with the department the buy-back would cost the city approximately $53,871. That amount would include accrued time. At the present time, the city is already paying about $5,000 per year for the volunteer firemen that have already retired under the old retirement plan.

The buy-back could be payed out over a 10-year period at six percent interest at a cost of $7,702 per year. Brown said that that amount along with the $5,000 now being payed for retired firemen and the $3,888 per year for the new pension play would cost the city about $16,590 per year.

The council agreed that the main question would be where to get the money to pay for the plan since the city will be operating on a "bare bones" budget this next fiscal year.

The request was tabled to allow the council time to study the proposal to see if it could be adopted, how it could be paid for, and when it could be done.

In other business, the council conducted a public hearing on the proposed Revenue Sharing Budget for 1983-84. The Revenue Sharing funds will total approximatly $56,312 according the the city administrator.

Of that amount, $16,100 is the estimated beginning balance and included $39,012 in allocations from Entitlement Period XV and $1,200 income from interest.

The proposed use of the funds are: Adminstration Office equipment, $1,200; Animal Control Miscellaneous Capital, $500; Codification of City Ordinances (to complete the project), $5,500; City Hall Building maintenance, $1,500; Computerization, $12,500; Police Department (patrol car and miscellaneous), $10,000; Parks improvement, $5,500; Street Department (maintainer payments), $6,000; Street Department (paving materials), $8,000; Fire Department miscellaneous capital, $1,000; Community Center furnaces, $1,200; Public Library, $1,400; Alcoholism Council, $600; OEO Building, $600; and Contigency, $812.

The council gave approval to advertise for bids for a new patrol car for the Police department to replace the 1982 model vehicle now being used.

The Police Department currently is using a 1981 vehicle equipped with the police package and a 1982 vehicle with only standard equipment. The older car is holding up better than the one not equipped for police use and the recommendation from the city administrator was to trade the newer car in on a 1984 model equipped with the police package.

The council heard a request from Bill Henning of Glen Cove to buy

Sunday fire

Fire heavily damaged a mobile home in the 500 block of West Dale Sundy evening.

Firemen said that the fire apparently started in the kitchen area of the mobile home. There was no one home at the time of the fire and the only injury was a small puppy which apparently died from heat and smoke.

The home was owned by Hally Sims and was used as rental property.

Search suspended for Odessa man

The Civil Air Patrol has suspended the search for an Odessa man whose plane disappeared October 8 while on a flight from Wyoming to Texas.

A CAP spokeswoman in Denver, Colorado, said the search was suspended Sunday night.

The CAP had searched for the Piper Cherokee flown by Richard "Buck" Kruse. The 57-year-old drilling supervisor for Son's Drilling Inc. disappeared October 8 as he piloted the single-engine company plane from Buffalo, Wyoming to Odessa.

CAP searchers and volunteers searched parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Texas for the aircraft.

The CAP spokeswoman said that Kruse had failed to file a flight plan with the FAA and may have encountered bad weather after he took off on October 8.

Although organized searches for Kruse have been suspended, the CAP said that its members will continue to look during practice exercises. She said that the CAP searches rarely last more than a week unless new leads develop.

Kruse's sister, Brenda Harrison of Pecos, said the family was extremely disappointed that the search was suspended, but was very optimistic. "We're doing everything we can, and we're not giving up.

Kruse is a brother of Delbert Kruse of Winters.

Sheep thieves take it 'on the lamb'

Runnels County Sheriff's officers, armed with search warrants, began an intense investigation, Saturday, into the apparent theft of several head of sheep from the Freddie Bredemeyer place southwest of Winters.

Officers indicated the sheep had been taken one or two at a time from the place and said it was not known if the animals were slaughtered for human consumption or not.

Several out-of-season furs were found at one residence and sheep skins and deer skins were found under several bridges around Winters and Parks and Wildlife officer Robert Woods was called into the investigation.

Deputies said that several persons were questioned in connection with the incidents, but that so far no arrests had been made. Sheriff's office spokesmen said that the investigation was continuing.

Bids accepted, rejected by Ballinger Council

The Ballinger City Council, in its regular meeting Monday, accepted low bids for a crawler-type tractor and an air compressor and air hammer before rejecting a bid for roofing the old Sante Fe Depot building.

The low bid of $52,800 submitted by Plains Machinery Company of Abilene was accepted for a crawler-dozer to be used at the sanitary landfill. The bid called for an International model DT-12 tractor.

Godsey Equipment Company of Abilene was the successful bidder for a portable air compressor and pavement breaker air hammer. Their bid totaled $7,875.

Antlerless deer permits to be issued

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will issue special antlerless deer tags for Runnels County on Tuesday, October 25, from 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the Courthouse at Ballinger.

The special tags are required for any antlerless deer harvested in this county during the upcoming hunting season.

To qualify for tags, a landowner must own or control acreage in Runnels County.

After the opening of the hunting season, tags will only be available through the Regional Offices located in Rockport, San Angelo, Tyler, Waco, and the State Office in Austin. The tags will not be issued by local department personnel.

Landowners or their agents are urged to pick up tags on the scheduled issuance date.

In neighboring counties the dates to get the permits are:

Coke County, Oct. 24-25, Courthouse in Robert Lee;

Coleman County, Oct. 26-27, Courthouse in Coleman;

Taylor County, Nov. 7,9,10, P&WD Office;

Tom Green County, Oct. 31, Courthouse in San Angelo;

Concho County, Oct. 24, Multi Purpose Center in Eden;

Nolan County, Oct. 28, Courthouse in Sweetwater.

Fire Prevention Week

Youngsters at the Lutheran Pre-school prepare for a ride on the fire truck as part of Fire Prevention Week activities in Winters.

The youngsters were first briefed on fire prevention before having the fire truck and its equipment demostrated to them.

The visit by the firemen ended with a ride on the fire truck for the children.

Blizzards freeze Jim Ned 10-0

The Winters Blizzards kept their perfect record in district play last week as they beat the Jim Ned Indians by a score of 10-0.

The Blizzards are now 4-0 in district play and Jim Ned dropped to 2-2 in district.

The game was a hard-fought defensive battle which was played in a high wind which a big factor in the contest.

The Blizzards first points were set up by a short offensive drive. Winters had kicked off to Jim Ned with the wind at the Blizzard's back. Winters stopped the Indian's offense and forced them to punt against the wind. The short punt set Winters up on the Indian's 45 yard line.

On a fourth and six to go, Kentt Billups got 12 yards on a draw play. from there, the Blizzard offense could not move the ball any closer. Ronnie Lujano then kicked a 41 yard field goal to make the score 3-0.

In the second quarter, Jim Ned made two good drives, but they were turned back by the Blizzard defense. Eric Belk stopped the Indians from getting a first down with a good fourth and one tackle. Lujano turned back another drive with a pass interception deep in Blizzard territory.

The score remained at 3-0 until midway through the fourth quarter when Ronnie Lujano scored on an 18-yard run to put the game comfortably out of reach. Lujano then kicked the extra point to make the score 10-0.

The Indians had set up their homecoming against the Blizzards and they played a very good game, but the Blizzards, who made several big plays during the game, kept the Indians from scoring.

Big plays made by Ken Kvapil, Alfred Yates, Jeff McDorman, Greg Guevara, and many others kept the Jim Ned Indians turned away from the endzone.

The Blizzards travel to Anson this Friday to play the Anson Tigers. The Tigers are the biggest team Winters has played.

The Tigers, who are 0-7, have good potential but have been turn-

Poe's corner

(Indian Fighting on the Texas Frontier) by Captain John Elkins

The Battle of Marlin's Ranch

After we had outwitted and given the Indians such a battle there in the black jack timber, they fled, giving us no more trouble as we marched on.

We camped at Marlin's Ranch, a distance of five miled from the site where we had skirmished with the Indians. There we found a clear spring of water with good grass growing all around for our horses to graze over. Our company was divided into four squads of an equal number and each squad was placed 150 yards distance from anyone of the others. In this position, for the protection of the company, we were ordered to spend the night; too, strict orders were issued from the Colonel instructing us to stake our horses close to the camp where it would be difficult for thieving Indians to take possession of them before disturbing us. But we were very tired and hungry, having finished the most strenuous day of our expedition. The Colonel's orders were not well obeyed. Many of us turned our horses loose with the lariates dragging. I set my gun up against the trunk of a large tree near by, spread my blanket and lay down, falling asleep at once.

Within a few minutes, I was awakened by the yell of the Red Skins and the cry of the officers', "To arms!" On being aroused, I saw the Indians dashing up to the camp, firing upon us as they came. I sprang to the tree for my gun but it was gone. Seeing my horse some 200 yards away, I leaped toward him but the Indians were too numerous for me to attempt running through. I halted hesitating a moment; then took my six shooter from its scabbard with the intention of risking my way through to my horse, when a man came up and handed me my gun which he had mistakingly taken for his own. After repossessing my gun, I followed the ravine that led to my horse.

By this time, the majority of the savages had been repulsed with heavy loss, but I saw one approaching me from a cluster of trees. My horse led slow, as all horses do when one is in a hurry, and I tugged furiously as any boy would do who had only a shot gun and a pistol of short range when there was an Indian with a long range rifle after him, who perhaps would scalp his victim in a moment's time. The distance between us was entirely too far to reach him with a shot gun; he was advancing hurriedly. I saw him level his long range rifle on me with a deadly aim. I realized my position and was wondering where I might seek shelter from the bullets that would soon be flying at me. But fortunately a gun banged and the Indian grabbed as he crumpled to ground to die. The shot was fired by a 16 year old boy named Hawkins who had concealed himself in a cluster weeds nearby to get a shot at the enemy — certainly, he did get a valuable shot at one for which I could never thank him enough.

The Indians had been driven from the camp but they were still firing upon us with their long range guns from the mountain.

An Indian chief, dressed in finest garb and riding a beautiful white horse, undertook to ride through our camp. As he dashed through our midst, he was firing to the right and left of him, yelling wildly as he rode. Under the fire of the straight shooting frontiersmen, the chief and the horse were riddled with bullets as they went rolling onto the ground.

I was with the rear guard, which was stationed up in a post oak ridge to prevent the Indians from coming down that convenient and safe area into the camp again. Orders came from two men of our guard to report to a certain point where the force was weak and under heavy fire. It was generally known that Dick Huff, a Weatherford boy of my age, and I were well equipped with good arms, so we were selected by Captain Jack Bailey as the two to reinforce.

Dick had been telling me all that day, while the fight was in progress, that we would both be killed. He knew we would — that the buzzards would have an opportunity to pick our bones, then that would be the last of us. We would soon be forgotten — that we were too young and should have never come.

As we were passing along from the poing where the rear guard was stationed, making our way to where we had been ordered to report, there was an open prairie necessary for us to cross before reaching our objective, we hesitated a moment when we saw what danger our lives would be in when we passed out into the glade. Then we began our journey across the open where we met Colonel Baylor before we reached the timber on the opposite side.

The bullets were flying very thick, when I said to the Colonel, "They're making it pretty hot for us, Colonel." "Yes, boys, they are shooting at me — Hurry on past me or you might get hurt," replied Colonel Baylor, more concerned for our safety than his own. These words coming from the lips of this brave officer portrays the noble, self-sacrificing spirit of courage that dwelled within him.

We had hardly passed the Colonel when a minnie ball struck the butt of Dick's gun, knocking it from his hand and several feet from him. Frightened, Dick scrambled nervously for his gun, which at that moment was a "best friend."

"I - I told you, John, that we would be killed," Dick stuttered as he quickly drew his gun to position.

My sides almost burst from Dick's comical actions, but being in somewhat a hurry myself, I postponed my laughter until the next day.

Cautiously, we struggled to withing shooting distance of the log cabin at the foot of the mountains, into which we were supposed to go to reinforce the few who were under fire from the ambushed savages who now almost surrounded them. We crouched low at the edge of the woods to watch for a moment and plan our way further before attempting the open space between us and the cabin.

As we watched, we saw a man who had also been detailed to reinforce at the cabin. He also hesitated at the edge of the timber, apparently wondering how he might cross to his destination. Almost immediately after his arrival, the Indians saw him and began shooting at him. He crouched then fell behind the trunk of a big tree for protection. But, he could not stay there under the spray of bullets that were constantly flying by his ears. Figuring that it was his only chance, he sprang from behind the tree out into the open and dashed with all his might for the cabin.

He had made but a few strides until we was his hands open claw - like from the grip of his gun, then staggering a moment, his body hit the ground with a thud.

We boys looked at each other. We were thinking seriously, if ever we did. We had seen what had been the fate of one of our number who had been spied by the Red Warriors. Yet, they had not seen us; this we realized was in our favor considering the chance taken by the man who had just met his death. He had been located before he passed into the open which gave the Indians more time to accurately aim their guns at him. We believed that we should go immediately, before the Red Men detected us, that we could make our way to the door unharmed.

We darted out into the open space and with all our fleetness, which at this moment increased to the maximum, charged for the cabin. When we had passed over about half of the distance, bullets were flying. Dozens of them flew over our heads, on every side and some striking the ground at our feet. Although we had a close call, we made our way to the cabin safely.

Looking over the place inside, we saw about 12 men who were too busy to notice us. They were fighting the blood thirsty Indians who were shooting steadily from ambush against the logs of the cabin. Dick and I stationed ourselves beside a crack or loophole, so that whenever an Indian came into sight we could send him a message from our guns, thus rendering our best service in helping the few who had been fighting so long under the heavy fire which seemed gradually to grow worse.

It seemed that we might soon fell into the hands of the merciless warriors, but our Colonel's mind was working, as always it did when the lives of his men were in danger. He sent the reliable old fighter, Captain Hamner, with a Jack County company of men out to tear down the stronghold of the enemy, which they had planted at the foot of the mountain. The first charge, Captain Hamner and his men rushed into the midst of the band, giving a bloody and harmful battle to the Indians which caused their retreat into the mountain, a distance sufficient to relieve us from the danger. Even with Captain Hamner throwing the heavy charges against them, the warriors did not make their permanent retreat until darkness had covered the hills.

With the mountain side stained with blood and some of our lives having escaped such danger, we were fortunate in losing only six men and twenty head of horses.

We buried the body of one of our men about 100 yards from the spring there on the Marlin Ranch and marked his grave with a slab which had his name carved on it. Sometime later, I learned that some person had written upon the slab "Damn horse thief." That person was a depraved wretch to desecrate a soldier's grave.

We paid the Marlin Ranch a short visit, because of the friendship between the Marlin family and some of our men. Then we continued our march the next morning at sunrise.

Services held for E.J. Barthelemy

Emmett Joseph Barthelemy, 56, of Winters died Friday, October 14, in his home near Winters.

He was born October 10, 1927 in Grand Isle, Louisiana. He married Wincie Reeves on August 23, 1954 in Houston. He moved to Winters in 1969 and was employed by Dry's Manufacturing as a machinist. He was a member of the Catholic Church.

Funeral services were held Sunday, October 16 in the Mount Carmel Catholic Church with Father John Hoorman officiating. Burial was in the Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Survivors include: his mother, Mrs. Adell Barthelemy; three sons, Emmitt, John and Richard all of Winters; two daughters, Mrs. Fredia Trevino of Tuscola and Margaret of Winters; two brothers, Renois of Athens, Georgia and Alvin of Grand Isle, Louisiana; three sisters, Odett Barthelemy and Lydia Crosby of Grand Isle, Louisiana and Yintetta Barthelemy of Shreveport, Louisiana; and five grandchildren.

Pallbearers were James Brown, Pyburn Brown, Neill Brown, Manuel Vera, Mike Conner, and J.A. Henderson.

Nancy Strickland designated as professional appraiser

Nancy M. Strickland of Winters, has been designated a professional real estate appraiser by the National Association of Master Appraisers, according to Dr. Marvin T. Deane, president.

The designation Master Residential Appraiser (MRA) was conferred after completion of all the qualifying procedures of the organization. Requirements include intense educational courses in residential appraisal and the preparation of acutal demonstration appraisals.

"Each member of the National Association of Master appraisers has agreed to subscribe to the highest professional standards of conduct required by the organizations code of ethics," said Dr. Deane.

The National Association of Master Appraisers deisgnates those members of the real estate profession who have attained a high degree of excellence in the art and science of real estate appraisal. It also encourages specialized education in real estate appraisal through cooperating schools, to provide the industry with fundamentals courses, educational seminars and workshops. Such educational courses are deisgned to insure the public will have qualified professional real estate appraisal services when buying or selling their homes.

Services for Rev. Jack Pape

Reverend Raymond Alfred (Jack) Pape, 64, of San Angelo, died Wednesday afternoon, October 12th, 1983, at Shannon Hospital.

Services were held October 15th, at 11 a.m., Saturday at Johnson's Funeral Home with the Rev. James Andrews of the First Baptist officiating. Burial will be in Fairmount Cemetery under the direction of Johnson's Funeral Home.

The Rev. Pape was born on June 6, 1919, in Ballinger. His parents, the late Arthur and Pearl Pape, were early pioneers of Runnels County. He was a retired minister and had been a resident of San Angelo for 24 years. He was married to Verba Jones on December 24, 1936, in Winters. He attended Southwestern University in Georgetown and Perkins School of Theology at S.M.U. in Dallas. The Rev. Pape pastored churches and did evangelistic work in Central Texas and Eastern New Mexico for 25 years. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of San Angelo.

Survivors include his wife; seven children, Deloras Mauldin, Raymond Pape, Sharita Russell, Arnis Pape, all of San Angelo, Wesley Pape of Albuquerque, N.M., First Lt. Delbert Pape of California, and Eddie Pape of Plainview; four sisters, Lois Duke and Mary Ruth Wilson of San Angelo, Evelyn Reese of Lubbock, and LaVerne Baker of Plano; two sisters-in-laws, Mrs. Ethel Bredwell and Mrs. Pauline Mayhew, both of Winters; 23 grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by three brothers, Leonard Pape, Jordan Pape, and Rev. Arnis Pape; one sister, Mary Marjorie Pape; and one grandson, Shane Cheyanne Wilson.

Pallbearers were W.H. Gayle, Willie Green, Bill Haley, Tom Montis, James Moore, and Lee Puckitt.

Services held for Bill Blythe

Samuel David Blythe, 58, of Ballinger, died on October 14, 1983, at 11:45 a.m., at the Spade Ranch in Colorado City.

Services were held at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 18th, in the Rains-Seale Chapel. Burial was at the Evergreen Cemetery with Frank Wilson officiating.

Born on March 11, 1925, in Kemp, Texas, he was the son of Samuel Elijad Blythe and Adelia Henson Blythe. He married Eva Barrington in San Angelo on December 14, 1969. He was a member of the Baptist church and a Woodman of the World. He was a consultant for oil drilling.

Survivors include his wife Eva, of Ballinger; three sons, David Carroll Blythe of San Angelo, Charles Vernon Blythe of San Angelo, and Cecil Devon of Ballinger; two sisters, Lottie Fay Pyle of Cabazon, California, and Lucile Malone of Commerce, Texas; a brother, J.D. Blythe of Kemp, Texas; and nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Ello Wilde, Bobby Wilson, Terry Stennet, George Ferguson, Curtis Shelton, and Herbert Untenmyer.

Vote on November 8

Texas voters will have the opportunity to vote on eleven constitutional amendments on November 8. During the next few weeks, I will attempt to explain the amendments in a series of columns.

Amendment No. 1 would allow counties with populations under 18,000 to have only one constable and justice of the peace precinct. Counties with populations between 18,000 and 30,000 could have not less that two and not more that five precincts. Supporters of the amendment say that it would save counties money, while opponents could argue that it would be inconvenient to have fewer precincts.

Amendment No. 2 would change the urban homestead exemption from forced sale from the current provision of a lot or lots worth up to $10,000 to an one acre exemption. Supporters believe that rural and urban homesteads should be measured similarly and since rural homesteads have always been based on acreage, the urban homestead should be on the same basis. The opposing argument would be that an acre is too generous an exemption.

Leonardo Da Vinci was left-handed and he often wrote backwards. To read some of his notes you need a mirror.

Ballinger —

Only one bid was received for the roofing of the Sante Fe Depot and that bid, according to city officials was rejected by the council because it did not meet specifications.

The council tabled any action on a resolution that would authorize the expenditure of Revenue Sharing funds for landfill equipment. Such action requires a vote by all six members of the council and only three council members were present for the Monday meeting.

The hiring of Steve Dennis of West Texas Consultants was approved by the council to work with the city in the preparation of an application to the Texas Aeronautics Commission for funding of the upgrading of the Ballinger Airport. Following that action the council approved the submitting of a request to the state agency for funding for the airport improvements, which include extending the length of the runway and the addition of better runway lighting.

The Ballinger Council also approved the employment of Eckert, Ingrum, Tinkler, and Oliphant to conduct the audit of the City of Ballinger for the end of the current fiscal year.

Three requests for building permits were approved by the council. Those permits included the construction of a carport at the Ben Parish residence at 204 Pou Street, a barbecue pit behind a restaurant at 917 Strong for Wayne Cole, and Olan McMinn to build a carport at his residence at 703 Seventh Street.

The Ballinger Council adjourned their meeting after a brief executive session that delt with property acquisition at the new lake.

President Chester A. Arthur, while in the White House, actually held a garage sale on the White House lawn. He sold twenty-five wagonloads of furniture for a total of $8,000.

Total Teens Organized in Winters

The Total Teens, a new organization for high school girls, held its organizational meeting on Monday evening, October 10th, at 7:00 p.m. in the Robert Pruser home.

Refreshments of finger sandwiches, cookies, and punch were served from a table appointed with the red, white, and blue color scheme of the organization, to 34 members and guests. Those present included member of the "parent" organization, The Literary and Service Club, and the young ladies to be inducted into membership together with their parents.

A warm welcome was given all by the sponsors of The Total Teens, Janice Pruser, Mary Jane Blackshear, and Nancy Michaelis.

The Constitution, the By-Laws, and the Standing Rules that will govern The Total Teens were read and clarified. Special note was given to the purpose and motto of the organization. The purpose of The Total Teens is self-improvement through study, growth through education and participation, and pride through involvement in home, church, community, and school activities. The organization's motto is contained in the letters of their name: Trustworthy, Helpful, Educated; Tolorant, Obedient, Truthful, Alert, Loving; Tactful, Enthusiastic, Empathetic, neat, Spiritual. It was also emphasized that the membership will be limited to 25 and any girl of good moral character in the 9th through 12th grades will be eligible for membership consideration.

A very impressive Induction Ceremony for the sponsors and girls followed. Mrs. M.G. Middlebrook, president, and Mrs. Charles Kruse, Jr., vice-pres. of The Literary and Service Club officiated. They reminded the girls and sponsors as they were "chained," that their ideals and standards should always be as true and lasting as the 14 karat gold heart and chain that they were receiving. Those inducted into membership, as charter members and sponsors were: Daylor Bays, Deedra Blackshear, Marci Caffey, Jill Connor, Beverly Halfmann, Lucy Lugo, Robin Michaelis, Rebecca Moore, Michelle Polston, Leslie Pruser, J'Lynn Russell, Ketta Walker, Donna Watson, Mary Jane Blackshear, Nancy Michaelis, and Janice Pruser. Accompanying the girls and signing the Constitution with them were their mothers and two fathers.

Janice Pruser gave a quick, light-hearted preview of the programs that are being planned for the rest of 1983 and part of 1984. Special attention was given to the activities planned for the rest of October. They will include helping with The Literary and Service Club's Annual Turkey Dinner on October 28th and The Total Teens' "Trick or Treat for REHAB" on October 31st. An invitation was also extended to all present to attend the Junior Culture Club's Rape Crisis Program on October 20th. The girls were reminded that they will elect officers at a business meeting, which will follow their "Trick or Treat for REHAB" in the Educational Building of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Guests present for this organizational meeting and Induction Ceremony of the girls and sponsors were Rae Dean Kennedy, Carolyn Caffey, Pam Connor, Lorene Halfmann, Josie Lugo, Marthiel Russell, Bennie Walker, Alene Watson, Gary Moore, and Robert Pruser. Members of The Literary and Service Club present were Mrs. Richard Brewer, Mrs. Michael Connor, Mrs. Calvin Helm, Mrs. Mel Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Kruse, Jr., Mrs. Elo Michaelis, Mrs. M.G. Middlebrook, Mrs. Robert Pruser, Mrs. Jake Smith, Mrs. Barry Sullivan, Mrs. E.E. Thormeyer, and Mrs. J.S. Tierce.

Any eligible girl interested in learning more about The Total Teens or applying for membership consideration may contact one of the members or sponsors.

Jan Hatler won Tech Scholarship

More than 150 Texas Tech University students enrolled in the College of Agricultural Sciences have been awarded scholarships for the 1983-84 school year. These students will be recognized at the college's annual Pig Roast Nov. 17.

Pre-schoolers fingerprinted

Children of St. John's Lutheran pre-school learned a lot of things Wednesday, October 12.

The Winters Police Department represented by L.C. Foster and Winfred Reel under the sponsorship of the Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary 9193 fingerprinted the children. Lois Osborne of the auxiliary helped in the project.

Also the Winters Fire Department represented by F.J. Malicoat brought the truck to the school. After a talk on fire safety the children were allowed to look at the truck, squirt water out of the hose and ride in the truck complete with the sirens.

The three-year-old class participated in the morning with their teacher Jeanne Laird present. Four-year-old class and teacher Mary Kurtz were treated in the afternoon.

Wranger Belles honor sponsor

Homecoming 1983 at Cisco Junior College will be especially memorable for all former Wrangler Belles. Mrs. Pat Owens, director of the precision drill team for 15 years will be honored during homecoming festivities. All former belles are invited to a reception in her honor October 29 from 10:00 to 11:30 in the Texas Room of Maner Memorial Library.

Any former belles unable to attend are encouraged to send cards and messages to be presented to Mrs. Owens during the reception. These may be mailed in care of Nickie Harle, Cisco Junior College, Cisco, Texas 76437.

Goal Diggers work for Cystic Fibrosis

The Goal Diggers held their meeting Monday, October 17, in the home of Michelle Wheeler. The next meeting will be hosted by Laura Parks.

Those present at the meeting were Donna Abernathie, Laura Parks, Penny Cowan, Tracy Danford, Libby Bedford, Karen Davis, Tammy Greer, Jill Traylor, Michelle Wheeler, and sponsors, Lisa Griswold, Erma Ray Hicks, and Kandy Sheppard.

The Goal Diggers have collected approximately $200 for Cystic Fibrosis, thus far. We have extended our deadline through out this week so we will have a chance to collect contributions from everyone in the community. We appreciate everyone's contribution, but more is needed to research this lung disease.

Thank you for all of your support.

PRO BRAND WHEAT 817
Northrup King's PRO Brand Wheat 817 is a medium maturity Hard Red Winter Wheat. It is resistant to leaf and stem rust. Moderately susceptible to soil borne mosaic virus. 817 has resistance to Hessian fly biotypes commonly found in the Great Plains region. This allows planting prior to fly free dates. One of the best winter hardy semi-dwarf wheats available that also has excellent stem and leaf rust resistance. 817 has better winter survival than Vona. Much better lodging resistance when grown under good growing conditions than taller varieties such Centurk.
PCNB Terra-Coat® LT-2* seed treatment has been applied to 817 Wheat seed at 2 oz./bu. This fungicide is designed to control common smut or bunt plus damping off by Rhizoctonia. (*Registered trademark of Olin Corporation.)

Blackwell

By Savannah Thompson

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bounds of Wink are the proud parents of a daughter born October 7th at 11 a.m. She has been named Amanda Le'Ann and weighed 6 pounds and 13 ounces. She was welcomed home by a sister, Jennifer, who will be 2 years old in November. Maternal Grandmother is Carólyn Johnson of Kermit and the maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Bess Vest of Blackwell.

Mrs. Nellie Frances Hanson of Abilene, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Raney of Bronte and the late Oxford Raney has returned to a Dallas hospital for further treatment. We pray that her condition will soon take a turn for the better.

We have learned that an aunt of Tinker Parsons, Mrs. Winnie Lola Leavitt of Sweetwater, passed away over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Tinker Parsons and son Doyle Lee attended the funeral Monday afternoon and Tinker served as a pallbearer.

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Oden received word last Saturday that Mr. Oden had lost a great-nephew, Dustin Williamson of Snyder last Friday night. Mr. Oden attended the funeral Monday afternoon in Snyder. We were sorry to hear of his loss.

Blackwell is having some nice, cool weather, now very cool nights, but did have two very hot days this week, but, still no rain yet.

The United Methodist women of the Blackwell United Methodist Church met Monday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church will 11 members attending with Mrs. Weldon Tucker as hostess.

Mrs. Esther Smith presided for the meeting in the abscence of the president, Mrs. Winnie Oden, who was ill and unable to attend.

Mrs. Smith called the meeting to order with prayer which was voiced by Fern English.

A short business session was held, then Mrs. Gracie Spence showed the stuffed animals, which had been bought for the Bazaar.

Then Mrs. Smith adjourned the meeting and turned the program to Mrs. Juanita McRorey, which was entitled 'The Pacific Islands-Pacific People Sing Out Strong-Study.'

Mrs. McRorey opened her program by reading a prayer from the program.

It was a very interesting program and she will continue 'The Study' at the next meeting, which will be October 24 in the home of Mrs. Margaret Stout with Mrs. Stout as hostess.

Mrs. McRorey then closed the program with Mrs. Gracie Spence voicing the closing prayer.

A refreshment plate was served to Mmes. Smith, English, Spence, McRorey, Seale, Oden, Lanier, Pate, Stout and Thompson by the hostess Mrs. Weldon Tucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Oldham from Brady visited with Mr. and Mrs. Don Lewis last weekend.

Don Lewis has returned home from the Shannon West Texas Memorial Hospital where he was a patient for several days; undergoing tests.

Gerald Watts from Houston attended the wedding of a friend in San Angelo, on Saturday afternoon where he was also the best man.

After the wedding he drove to Blackwell and spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Shewmake. On Sunday other visitors in the Shewmake home was their daughter and her husband, Gerald's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Shewmake from Lake Sweetwater.

Beulah Chapman is at home after spending several weeks in the Rolling Plains Memorial Hospital from a broken hip which she suffered from a fall on August 21 and is reported to be improving nicely.

Joe Conradt is a patient in the St. John Hospital in San Angelo where he is in just for tests.

Alan Shaffer and Dana Ware attended college day at Texas Tech in Lubbock on Monday. They both plan on attending college at Texas Tech next fall.

The Blackwell community has started up their volleyball nights again. They play in the old gym on Monday night at 7:30 p.m. (which is mixed teens) and on Thursday nights at 7:30 (which is ladies night).

We would like to invite everyone to come and join us on these nights.

The Senior Citizens of Blackwell met Tuesday, October 11 at 10:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Blackwell United Methodist church for their regular meeting for their Fun Day of dominoes, 42 and cards, and a covered dish luncheon at noon with 33 attending.

The Rev. Weldon Tucker (paster of the Methodist Church) voiced the Invocation.

Those attending were: Rev. and Mrs. Weldon Tucker, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Rhynes and their little granddaughter, Paula, Rev. and Mrs. Kay Corley from Shep, Rev. Eddie Freeman (from the First Baptist Church in Bangs, who is holding the Revival at the Blackwell First Baptist Church this week) and Rick Son (song leader for the revival. Others were: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Seals, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ware, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Jones from Oak Creek Lake, Mr. John Sparks, and Mr. Sam Sissom of Bronte. Mmes: Willie Burwick, Ninnie Kinard, Thelma Smith, Eula Nabors, Margaret Stout, Ida Oden, Josie Craig, Florine Van Zandt, Juanita McRorey, Bess Vest, Savannah Thompson and Miss Bertha Smith.

PRO BRAND WHEAT 812

Northrup King's PRO Brand Wheat 812 is a short, stiff-strawed variety that produces excellent grain yields and exceptional winter pasture grazing. Ideal for most of Texas and Southern Oklahoma, 812 has superior plant vigor that promotes rapid regrowth. Growers have reported 812 to have been the best grazing wheat they had ever planted. Early-maturing 812 has a significantly wider leaf than most competitive varieties. Plus it has resistance to most currently known leaf and stem rusts and soil borne mosaic virus. The early maturity of 812 makes it a good variety for doublecropping ahead of soybeans or sorghum.

PCNB Terra-Coat® LT-2* seed treatment has been applied to 812 wheat seed at 2 oz./bu. This fungicide is designed to control common smut or bunt plus damping off by Rhizoctonia. (*Registered trademark of Olin Corporation.)

St. Luke Church shows new renovations

by: Charlsie Poe

Services were dismissed at the First Baptist Church Wednesday night for a joint service of dedication and fellowship with the St. Luke Church in their newly renovated building at the end of Tinkle Street.

the improvements in the auditorium include the many windows covered with panel board, new light fixtures, ceiling fans and fresh paint. A glass panel in the entrance door, new cushions for the pews and a wheelchair ramp add to the comfort of the surroundings.

Plans for the spring include painting the outside of the building and renovating the educational facilities.

The Sunday school was started as a mission of the First Baptist on October 21, 1979, by Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Watkins who had taken a census and found between 45 and 50 black people living in Winters at that time. On the first Sunday they had 27 in attendance.

The St. Luke Church had been inactive but was reopened on Easter Sunday in 1966 when Jim Gehrels, a newly ordained preacher, became pastor. He also taught the adults in Sunday school and Louis Johnson taught the teenagers. They carried on this work for five years before it was discontinued. Jim returned as pastor on December 19, 1979.

In addition to Jim and the Watkins, their son, Richard, helps with the handwork, making four full time workers. Joyce Krause and Ivy Wood have alternated in playing the piano for services. Peggy Grenwelge has also assisted.

The Wednesday night program was one of prayer, praise, and appreciation. Pastor Gehrels expressed his appreciation for all that had been accomplished. Rev. Glenn Shoemake led in prayer, including the ill and those in special need.

"Amazing Grace" was sung as the Blacks sing it with all entering in. Lucille Dairy directed the special music. She and Jerry Renfro sang a duet. Jerry's daughters, Patricia and Melon Commie also also sang a duet. L.C. Dairy concluded with a solo.

Watkins gave a progress report of the work. highest attendance was on April 3 of this year with 30 present. A revival was held in June. There have been three professions of faith and one death. The enrollment has dropped from 37 to 27 due to decline in population. Esther Johnson gave her testimony.

Mary Watkins expressed her thanks to the Bill Russells for the floral arrangement at the front of the Church. To Craig Gehrels and John Bedford for helping to remodel the building, and to the Taylors for feeding the preacher during the revival.

Those helping with special music and programs have been Carl and Betty Grenwelge and Louis Wade at Christmas; Carolyn Slaughter, Lillian Cooper, Laura Brown, Audine Webb, Teresa Osborn, Betty Graham, Gloria Issacs, Debbie Suddath, Verda Smith, Mida Colburn, Freda Robinson, Kathy Grenwelge and Darlene Sims.

The Missions Committee of 1979, who helped establish this work included Mrs. Loyd Roberson, Bill Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Traylor, Tucker Duncan, and Charlsie Poe. Pat Simpson has been faithful in ordering material and keeping books for the mission.

During the fellowship hour when refreshments were served, several of the young adults present recalled that they had attended vacation Bible School back in the 1950's. When it was carried on by the First Baptist Church.

Lillian Roberson and Charlsie Poe directed this school. Girls who assisted were Marilyn Jones, Janice Colburn, Janice Richie, and Genie Lou Compton.

At that time the Blacks had their own school with one teacher for all grades. These children were helped to bridge the gap of going into the public schools, for some dreaded it. The transition was made in the fall of 1956.

A number of these young people are carrying on the work today in their churches. Lucille Dairy now lives in Abilene and conducts the choir for her church. She is president of the Missionary Society, Jerry Renfro of Abilene is also a faithful worker. Willie Belk's children now attend, Brenda and Eric. Many others have gone on to a life of service, Louis Johnson was a director of the Chamber of Commerce while in Winters. His twin sister, Louise, is a registered nurse in Dallas.

Adults helping with the fellowship were Rosalie Johnson, Ella Lee Grant, Monk Johnson, and Esther Johnson, Stella Grant, the invalid, was also present.

raw water from the City of Winters for oil field related uses. The council tabled the request for further study by the city staff after the city administrator said that it would be advantage to the city to sell the raw water to large users through a metered location at the same rate charged for treated water inside the city limits.

A request for an extension of city water lines was made by American Supply who is considering building a new facility on FM 53 between the Wallace-Murray Corporation offices and the Bishop and Son's offices. The city administrator said that the location was in an area designated for service by the North Runnels Water Supply Corp. and also that the city had approved an ordinance earlier this year concerning the extension of city services to areas outside the city limits.

If the area were to be annexed to the city the services would then be provided, according to the city official.

In their final agenda item, the council discussed the possiblity of further development at the park at the new city lake. The council agreed that goals needed to be set along with a course of action to be followed. One of the main items is housing for a lake attendant and the employment of a lake attendant.

The council is planning a work-shop meeting next Monday to further discuss the park development program.

Hearing set on Alcoholism

The Regional Alcoholism Services Division of the West Central Texas Council of Governments will hold a public hearing on October 19, at its Administrative Offices, 1025 E.N. 10th at Judge Ely Blvd. for the purpose of hearing testimony on alcohol-related concerns within the nineteen-county region prior to the beginning of the next year's planning cycle.

Regional Alcoholism Advisory Committee members will preside at the hearing which will be held from 10-12:00 in the large conference room of the Council of Governments.

For further information concerning the hearing, contact Sue Smith, Regional Alcoholism Services Director at WCTCOG, 915-672-8544 or P.O. Box 3195, Abilene, Tx. 79604.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this time to thank everyone who had given to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. So far, we have raised $200, which is not our goal, but everyone has been eager to give. Every little bit helps. If you haven't given at this time and would like to contribute, you may come by Springer's Pharmacy and do so. I would also like to thank the Goal Diggers for their eagerness and for taking their time to collect door-to-door. They are always very eager to raise money, even when it's not for themselves. Also a special thanks to the three Aggies, Tammy, Michelle, and Karen.

P.S. girls: As long as there are dogs on front porches, ya'll have got it made.

ing the ball over too many times each game.

If they do not make turnover mistakes this game will be another close contest.

The Blizzards are the only undefeated team in District 9-AA, but Cisco and Albany are only one game behind. It's still a close district race and the Blizzards need to win all their games to insure themselves a playoff position in the state playoffs.
