SKIN WRITING HICKMAN TEST TERMED FALSE

STATE ALIENISTS SAY CONDITION IS NO INSANITY PROOF

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—The "skin-writing" test to which William E. Hickman was subjected in court Saturday in his sanity trial growing out of the kidnaping and killing of Marian Parker gave no proof of a diseased condition associated with dementia praecox, Dr. Paul Bowers, state alienist, insisted under cross examination today.

In the test Hickman was stripped of his waist and a large letter "H" marked with the alienist's thumb nail on the prisoner's chest and back. The pronounced presence of the red marks were indications of dermatographia, a skin disease often present with dementia praecox, the defense contended.

Present in Small Degree Dr. Bowers asserted, however, the marks were diffused and not present in the degree necessary to prove the presence of the disease.

Jerome Walsh, defense attorney, queried Dr. Bowers concerning the pay he was receiving from the state. The witness denied that the amount had ever been stipulated, or that he ever charged more than a nominal fee for his time in trials.

Dr. Herman Schorr of Los Angeles, physician and surgeon in the department of mental and nervous diseases of a leading Los Angeles hospital, was the next witness.

"I would say that he was sane," Dr. Schorr testified, when asked his opinion of the mental condition of the defendant. He testified he had examined the prisoner mentally and physically on several occasions, observed him during the examination in the court room and inquired thoroughly into the family history, as means or arriving at his conclusion.

Dr. Victor Parkin of Los Angeles county insanity commission, testified for the state from examination and observation of the prisoner, in "my opinion he was sane at the time of the crime and now."

Minor Damage Done In Windstorm Here

The wind storm which hit Lubbock shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday did slight damage in various portions of the city, according to reports today. A number of garages and small residences were reported damaged by the wind while several awnings were blown down in the city.

A garage at 1906 16th street was blown over by the wind.

There you will find the second installment of "The Jazz Singer," The Daily Journal's new serial story, based upon the actual life and experiences of Al Jolson, America's most famous specialty entertainer.

It's not too late to begin reading "The Jazz Singer"—and those who don't read it will be missing one of the best newspaper serials of the year. New York's ghettos, the bright lights of the theatrical district and a stirring thread of love and duty make the story one of the best. The Journal has ever printed. Turn now to "The Jazz Singer," on page 7.

AGED MAN DRINKS POISON HERE

FORMER STUDENT IN BIBLE SCHOOL HELD IN THEFTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Clarence C. Uhl, 32 year old Divinity school graduate, was held in the Evanston jail today on charges involving a long series of thefts from his alma mater.

With his arrest police said had been solved robberies over a period of several years at the Garrett Bible institute on the campus of Northwestern university. Officers who raided his rooms said they found articles and objects ranging from a gold tooth, pots, pans and aluminum ware to typewriters and cheap watches.

Uhl, although no longer a student at the institute, having been graduated two years ago with a degree of bachelor of divinity, maintained a small tool shop in the basement of the building. A coal bin near the tool shop was partly filled with a variety of loot, police said.

LABORER PENS MESSAGE THEN ENDS HIS LIFE

TOM DOWD, 70, FOUND DYING; WORRY OVER FINANCES CAUSE

Leaving a note in which he gave his name as Tom Dowd, 70 years of age, and stating that he was out of money, sick and ending his misery, an aged man was found dying near the Santa Fe tracks northwest of the city light plant by a group of small boys shortly after five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He had swallowed a quantity of poison, Police Sergeant J. T. Inman and Fire Chief W. F. Twitty discovered, when summoned by the boys. The man died several minutes later in the Lubbock sanitarium after efforts to prolong his life had proved futile.

LINDY ARRIVES IN HAITI FROM DOMINGO ZONE

NEARING COMPLETION OF TRIP TO PAN-AMERICAN MEET

PORT AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 6.—Completing a new leap of his goodwill flight that is carrying him to the Pan-American conference at Havana, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 2 p. m. this afternoon from Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic.

Lindbergh Hops Off At 11 O'clock

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 6 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, now nearing the end of his goodwill flight to the Pan-American conference at Havana, took off for Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, at 11:00 a. m. local time. The route to Port-Au-Prince, 160 miles by airplane from here, led entirely across land, unless Lindbergh in his flight should venture across the inland waters of Lakes Enriquillo and Saumatre. The path of the Lone Eagle was over a country teeming with bird life, wild duck, flamingo, herons and other shore birds.

Mountains And Forests The route passed over mountains and deep forests where voodooism was brought from Africa and practiced for many years. It led over a land where negro slaves by their own efforts freed themselves and set up a republic of which Port-Au-Prince is the capital.

Haiti is the second country to be visited by Colonel Lindbergh in his goodwill tour where American marines are present. In Nicaragua he found them engaged in an active campaign against the rebel general Augustino Sandino. In Haiti they are engaged in maintaining order until the new republic is considered capable of exercising in full its rights of sovereignty.

Tribute To Columbus Before leaving Santo Domingo, Lindbergh paid tribute to another great adventurer, Christopher Columbus, placing a wreath on his monument.

Then the Dominican republic in turn paid honor to the flyer who has followed in the footsteps of Columbus, blazing new trails. A great military parade was held in his honor and Colonel Lindbergh reviewed it to the cheering of a large crowd.

Not to Testify at Once Dudling probably will not testify at once, for the move of the defense in call prosecution witnesses to recount the crime to introduce his confessions, caused the state to reverse its plans. As a result, prosecution witnesses, first scheduled to be the last witnesses to be heard, now are being questioned at the opening of state's rebuttal.

New Record Set In School Tax Funds

Lubbock citizens paid in $120,000 in taxes to the Lubbock Independent School District during the month of January, according to a statement given out by A. C. Jackson today. This figure represents the greatest amount of school taxes ever paid into the city during a January.

Mr. Jackson estimates that approximately 85 per cent of the school taxes have been collected for the year.

Demo Meeting Fund Nearly Complete

HOUSTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—R. M. Farrar, treasurer of the Houston committee in charge of raising funds for entertainment of the Democratic national convention here next June, announced today that the convention fund "is right at $100,000."

All except about $2,000 he said was contributed in Houston. Meanwhile he added, the drive for the fund which is expected to total $200,000 has not yet actively begun.

Two Die In Riot

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6 (AP)—Two coal and iron policemen were shot and a woman was injured during a mine strike riot at Phillipsburg, near California, Pa., today.

The coal and iron men, J. D. Buttermore and P. P. Byrne, employed under state commissions at the Crescent mine by the Pittsburgh Coal company, were struck by the charge from a shot. They were not dangerously wounded.

Grand Jury Opens Session In County

After listening to Judge Homer L. Pharr's charge, urging close investigation of all lawlessness, the Lubbock county grand jury set to work in the 72nd district court this morning for the February term. They are to be in session several weeks.

Appearance and non-jury civil cases are set for next week.

VAUGHAN SENDS OFFICIAL WORD OF POSTAL SITE

Postmaster John L. Vaughan today notified the First Assistant Postmaster General at Washington of the action of the city commission the past week in offering the half-block of ground as a site for the federal building here. He also notified other postal officials of the site offer in the hope that they will aid in awarding the building for Lubbock this year.

"I am of the opinion that the offer of the city of the building site will bring concrete action from the department," Mr. Vaughan said today. It is his hope as well as many in the city that the department will see fit to allot the building this year. It will probably be considered in the next allotment of the postal budget, which will be made in July of this year, Mr. Vaughan said.

P. T. A. MEETING
The Parent-Teachers association held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday with a good attendance of patrons and teachers considering the welfare. Reports were given on finances, the benefit party and the art exhibit, all being splendid reports. The president told of the district meeting of the 8th district, to be held in Lubbock in April, and urged all members to try to attend at least part of the sessions, and to be thinking about whom they would elect as delegate at the next meeting. The main feature on the program was a violin solo by Miss Pearl Laird, who has been studying in Dallas for the past two years.

P. A. L. S. CLUB
The P. A. L. S. club met Wednesday with Mrs. R. G. O'Rear in her home on Van Buren Avenue. Bridge furnished the diversion of the afternoon and two tables of players took part in the enjoyment of learning how to play this intricate game, all but two being strict amateurs. The club formerly played forty-two. Those present were Misses Nancy Hale, Maud Hackabay, Nannie Marie Pearson; Mesdames L. W. Whitfield, Pavton Fulgim, Beattie Houston, Oscar and Ernest Thornton.

NEW TOURIST PARK
O. L. Sullivan has moved here from Flowada, to open up a new tourist park just south of the highway through Lorenzo, and just east of the Magnolia oil station. He has purchased six lots from Tor Frater and carpenters began work on the cottages Thursday. Two or three cottages will be built now, and more added later, if patronage merits it. They will be equipped with water and gas, and all other modern conveniences. Lorenzo is proud of this addition to our town.

GRAND JURY IS ASKED TO ACT IN OIL MUDDLE

INDICTMENT A GAINST STEWART SOUGHT IN CONTEMPT CHARGE

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A grand jury in District of Columbia Supreme Court will be asked this week to indict Robert W. Stewart, Indiana Standard Oil official, for contempt of the senate because of the refusal to give certain information to the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon plans to give the case to the jurors as soon as possible, acting on a certification from the senate that the oil man had refused to testify whether he had any knowledge of liberty bond transactions of the Continental Trading company of Canada, now under the oil committee's spot light of inquiry.

Court Order Given
Transfer of the case to the court was voted by the senate when its effort to bring Stewart before it to face a contempt charge was frustrated by the issuance by Justice Jennings Bailey of a restraining order lifting the oil man's arrest by the senate. Thus Stewart may have to defend himself almost simultaneously in two actions designed to hold him subject to a contempt sentence of from one to twelve months in jail.

Counsel for the senate will oppose the restraining order at the hearing before Justice Bailey on Tuesday. Should the senate's power of arrest be upheld, Stewart still might for a time escape the senate's jurisdiction, however, by appealing in turn to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and the

Supreme Court of the United States. Walsh Asks Sentence

If Stewart eventually is returned to face the senate, it is the intention of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, prosecutor of the oil inquiry and prime mover in the arrest of the oil man, to request that sentence for contempt be fixed, rather than give the witness further opportunity to testify.

With the Stewart episode now out of its immediate field, the oil committee turned today to other witnesses who were hoped to give clues to disposition made of the Continental company's $3,000,000 profits. It called H. L. Phillips of Tulsa, president of the Sinclair Grade Oil Refining company, and J. R. McManis and S. S. Gano, directors of that company. Sheldon Clark, vice president of the concern and one of Harry F. Sinclair's close associates, also is under subpoena.

Another figure in the Teapot Dome story whose whereabouts are being looked into by the committee is Wayne O'Neil, son of J. E. O'Neil, former chairman of the board of the Prairie Oil and Gas company and now in Europe where he has refused to answer questions to testify in the Sinclair-Full conspiracy trial. The younger O'Neil enters the story as the man who transferred $500,000 in liberty bonds to his father to the Prairie company, at the elder's man's order, and the committee may wish to learn what he knows of other transactions.

As a side issue, Senator Walsh has written to Secretary Mellon inquiring whether the government ever collected income taxes on the bond deals and whether he could suggest legislation by which the bonds, if traced, could be taxed.

Wickersham Will Help Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, has accepted the invitation of the senate Teapot Dome committee to represent it in the habeas corpus proceedings by which Robert W. Stewart, wealthy Chicago oil executive, hopes to relieve himself of senate contempt charges.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, prosecutor for the committee, said today that Mr. Wickersham would be here tomorrow when Stewart's hearing begins before Justice Jennings Bailey in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Grand jury action against Stewart for his refusal to answer questions asked him by the oil committee is expected by District At-

GIANT GAS WELL IN LOUISIANA IS BLAZING INFERNO

(By Associated Press) RAYVILLE, La., Feb. 6.—Thompson as well as the Natural Gas and Fuel corporation at Alto, near here, is a fire, and the ground about the well is cratering.

The well, brought in Jan. 27 with daily flow of about 63,000,000 cubic feet, burst into flames late yesterday. Friction is believed to have ignited the gas.

Flames last night were visible for from 15 to 30 miles, and schools at Alto were adjourned today when students and teachers were unable to make themselves heard above the roar.

Owners of the well have ordered work rushed on an offset well to check the flow in an effort to control the fire under control and prevent further cratering. The schoolhouse and several residences are near the cratering well.

Between 25 and 30 special delivery letters are delivered in the city of Lubbock every day, it was learned in the office of Postmaster John L. Vaughan this morning from a report recently compiled for data on the new federal building here. The total will run around 30,000 special delivery letters a year, Postmaster Vaughan said.

Owners of the well have ordered work rushed on an offset well to check the flow in an effort to control the fire under control and prevent further cratering. The schoolhouse and several residences are near the cratering well.

Gordon has received the transcript of the record and intends to appear personally before the grand jury as soon as he can complete his case, probably by Friday and ask that Stewart be indicted. The criminal code provides that such a refusal is a misdemeanor and it was on this section that Harry F. Sinclair was convicted of contempt of the senate.

Action against Stewart on a warrant charging contempt of the senate could be taken to hold him for action of the grand jury. Gordon declined to say whether this line of action would be followed.

Joseph Atkins, president of the District of Columbia Bar association, will represent Stewart at the contempt hearings, assisted by E. I. Stephens of Chicago and John Barnett of Denver, Democratic national committeeman for Colorado.

TRIS SPEAKER, OUSTED BY SENATORS, SIGNS WITH ATHLETICS

VETERAN WILL FILL BIG HOLE LEFT BY COBB

SALARY ARRANGEMENT NOT DISCUSSED BY TRIS OR MACK

(By Associated Press.)—Tris Speaker has landed with the Philadelphia Athletics. The veteran outfielder who was released a few days ago by the Washington Senators came to terms with Connie Mack and as a result will report at the Athletics training quarters at Port Meyers, March 1.

Mack's signing of Speaker fills a gap made in the Athletics' outfield by the release of Ty Cobb and Zach Wheat. Last season "Spoke" it is understood, received a salary from the Senators ranging from $40,000 to $50,000 which was an obstacle this year for a renewal of contract.

Declined Reduction
Speaker declined to accept a reduction, as suggested by Clark Griffith of the Washington club. Neither Tris nor Mack would comment on the salary arrangement.

"I'm satisfied with the terms and so is Connie," Speaker said. Mack paid Cobb a huge sum last year, some reports quoting his services commanding as high as $60,000 which would be $10,000 under Babe Ruth's annual check from Colonel Ruppert.

The addition of Speaker to the Philadelphia roster will give Mack a veteran outfield with Tris at center, Al Simmons at left and Bing Miller in the right corner. Speaker commented on his stay with the Senators as a most pleasant relationship and referred to Bucky Harris as one of the greatest managers in baseball.

Speaker Greatly Pleas'd
As to his new affiliations, the "Cray Eagle" said the Athletics had fine prospects and that he looked forward to playing under Mack with great satisfaction.

Asked what he thought of the approaching pennant scramble and the Yankees, Tris replied: "Of course the Yankees are a great machine, but the Athletics and other members of the circuit are bound to furnish plenty of opposition. The Athletics were second last year and like the other clubs they will be out for the championship."

Hooks and Slides

Case of Dr. Peltzer
Delayed action of the German athletic authorities in granting permission to Herr Doctor Otto Peltzer to exhibit his world's champion half-mile legs in this country put the officials of the Amateur Athletic Union in the well-known middle.

To refuse permission for the celebrated German medic to run in the United States would not be good diplomacy for the nation acting as his host and some of the good burghers in Berlin might believe that the good Americans were afraid their doctor might show them up.

To grant permission for the speedy German to run in the three meets which his native bosses limited him to would get the A. A. U. in a fine jam with about a dozen influential clubs all claiming first rights and consideration for his services.

It would be the same mess that was the result of the tours of Paavo Nurmi, Edwin Wide and Charley Hoff, only worse.

Because when those distinguished athletes were swelling the gate receipts for the favored clubs, the less favored clubs could be properly snubbed and put in their places.

Tough Luck Of Hahn
At the present time however, no club can be snubbed properly because every club is expected to kick in its share to support the Olympic expedition and it has happened in the past that the larger the fund at the disposal of the committee the more wives and members of the families of some of the committee could be taken along.

There are other good reasons, however, for the American officials to be concerned about the diplomatic results of any race in which a prospective winner of the Amsterdam Olympic 800-meters runs in this country.

They have been pointed out by Gustavus T. Kirby, one of the big college men on the committee, who knows his track lumber.

Some of the clubs promoting indoor meets watch the box office closer than the arena. It will be recalled that Lloyd Hahn, in the first big indoor meet of the season, made a new indoor record for the half-mile, but it was not allowed.

It developed that no guard rail had been constructed on the inside of the track, which the regulations prescribe. It was easier and cheaper to paint the inner boundary line and the "bug" saving kept a deserving runner from a very fine record.

Gate Is The Thing
Supposing, Kirby pointed out, that such carelessness should be used in building a track for one of the meets in which Peltzer might

COLLEGE PRESIDENT URGES STUDENTS INTO BASEBALL

MOSTIL OFFERS NEW PROBLEM TO WHITE SOX BOSS

(By Associated Press.)—CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Johnny Mostil, White Sox hero of the 1926 season, attempting a comeback after being out of the game last season, has presented the problem of too much rather than too little talent for the Sox outfield.

The Whiting, Ind., star, who has been training hard since his recovery from a suicide attempt during last year's training season, has been pronounced in better condition than ever before. He was confident that he would be able to make the grade, an opinion apparently shared by Manager Ray Schalk.

"Bib" talk in left was the only retains of the Sox outfield, but Alex Metzler also was sure to play. If Mostil can show his old form, he will return to center and Metzler to right. Otherwise Metzler will take Mostil's position and Barrett, Reynolds and Moore will fight it out for right field.

PLANS LAID FOR SIX CLUB LOOP IN ASSOCIATION

(By Associated Press.)—JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 6.—Announcing that a six-club circuit apparently was assured, officials of the Western association today planned a week of activity in an effort to perfect the 1928 organization.

Meeting here yesterday, representatives of Fort Smith, Ark., Muskogee, Okla., Independence, Kan., and Springfield, Mo., clubs, announced they were ready to proceed with a program calling for 140 games starting April 24. It was said a split season probably would be arranged.

The other two franchises necessary for a six-club circuit were expected to be taken over by Joplin, Topeka or Bartlesville, Okla.

be a competitor, that he fell through a defective board, or injured himself otherwise through faults of construction and would be ruined for the Olympic games.

Regardless of the fact that Germans are good sportsmen who would have to listen to some stories that he was trapped deliberately and imposed upon so that a dangerous rival might be taken care of, you have to think of these things.

Regardless of the claim that "track enthusiasts" are demanding that the fleet doctor run in competitive company in this country, the promoters want him chiefly for the gate receipts.

In this connection and other connections, it is to be hoped that the truth may come out some time about the experiences of Paavo Nurmi and Charley Hoff.

By BOB MATHERNE

NEA Service Sports Writer
Although it may sound like treason to the cause of higher education, there is one prominent university president who hesitates not in the least in encouraging his young men to enter professional baseball.

That is, when any of his young men show enough talent on the campus to warrant the belief that they will eventually become major league performers.

He is Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, whose football team and baseball players have advertised the state and the university more than a few hundred thousand dollars could have done.

Dr. Denny can take out his alumni record and very proudly show you that one dozen former Alabama students were connected in one or another with major league clubs last year, and at least ten were playing in minor leagues, ranging from the International league down.

And with the exception of Derrill Pratt, who has served his major league career and is now managing the Waco, Texas, league team, all of these players attended Alabama within the past nine years, and the majority of them in the past five years.

Here's the list of those who had major league connections last year: Joe and Luke Sewell, Cleveland; Reggs Stephenson and Tommy Sewell, Chicago Cubs; Ike Boone, White Sox; Grant Gillis, Jack Hays and Emie Barnes, Washington; Andy and Sydney Cohen, New York Giants; Ernie Wingard, St. Louis Browns, and Frank Chambers, St. Louis Cardinals.

And in the minors can be found a surprising number of young men who had their bit of college education under "Mike" Denny.

Only the two Sewells at Cleveland and Reggs Stephenson with the Cubs were regulars last season. The majority of the others were either bought late in the year or in the minors, farmed out by their owners with strings attached, as in the case of Andy Cohen and Grant Gillis.

Just why should one school have so many of its players go in for professional baseball?

Perhaps Dr. Denny is the chief reason. Dr. Denny attends every athletic event of Alabama teams on his campus and also most of them away. He is one of the strongest exponents of college sports to be found among the heads of educational institutions.

He is out on the field of practice every day. He knows the game, watches everything, and what he doesn't know he asks about.

Talking recently about the number of Alabama men playing professional baseball, Dr. Denny said: "I am deeply interested in the splendid records made by our former students in the professional field, and must admit that I have encouraged their entering that field when their prospects seem bright for success."

"I am glad to see any of our boys go into professional baseball for the sake of the profession, feeling that it would be a fine thing for professional baseball if the spirit and the ideals of college men would in large degree influence that field."

"When prospects seem bright, I have held the view that it was a good thing for the individual to accept the best offer he received. "I certainly hold in the highest esteem those of our own number who have gone into professional baseball."

DES MOINES CLUB IN WESTERN HOLDS BUT ONE FAMILIAR 1926 FACE WITH CLUB YET IN REORGANIZATION STAGE

(By Associated Press.)—DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 6.—The departure by trade sale or recall of most of last year's veterans of the Des Moines Demons of the Western league leaves but one familiar face from the 1926 ranks, and the team still in the process of organization two months from the season's opening.

But seven regulars of last season are available, though four of the rookies will be recalled for further tryouts. The veterans are Al Pallas and Ira Colwell, pitchers; Al Van Camp and Garde (Whitey) Gilsdon, infielders; Harry O'Boyle and William Cunningham, outfielders; and Homer Harworth, catcher.

Several to Try Again
The young players who will be tried out again are Rufus Smith and Sam Dailey, pitchers; William Pote, infielder; and Ralph Bronson, catcher.

Jimmy McAuley, a veteran infielder who will be recalled to the locals by Minneapolis, will double as manager filling the shoes of John Collins resigned. He will cover the shortstop position.

Flanking him in the infield will be Art Ewoldt at third base and John Macofel at second base, with Al Van Camp at first base. Van Camp assumed the status of a veteran by making his here last year.

Ewoldt Well Known
Ewoldt will be familiar to the local fans, having had his baseball career here during the Frank Isbell regime a decade ago. He was obtained in a deal that sent Kal Segrist to the New Orleans club.

Caepfel came here in a deal that sent Catcher Joe Sprinz to the San Francisco club. He played with Lincoln in the Western league a year ago and was credited by some as being the outstanding second baseman in the league.

John Schindler, a hard-hitting and fast youngster bought from the Idaho Falls club of the Utah-Iraho league; Harry O'Boyle, former Notre Dame player; and William Cunningham, veteran, who formerly played with the New York Giants, comprise the outfield at present, though some change are expected soon.

Harworth, who becomes the dean of the locals will be behind the plate, with Ralph Brandon, again slated as his understudy.

Pitchers will include Jimmy Christian, obtained from the Pacific Coast league; Andy Rush, a first-class pitcher in the Eastern league last year; and Earl Kurz, San Francisco player, rookies who will be given tryouts this year include Palsgrove, last year with Dubuque in the Mississippi Valley league; Sam Dailey, Johnny Powers, and William Pote.

Club Loses Some Stars
In the wholesale trade and sale deals begun last fall by E. Lee Keyser, president, the team lost Sprinz and Segrist, Claude Davenport, pitcher; Fritz Knothe, shortstop; Frank (Dutch) Wezel and Matt Donohue, outfielders.

In addition, Pitchers Fred Orman, Nelson Greene and Edward Kallina, who were here last year under option, were recalled by Portland, Minneapolis, and Wichita Falls, respectively. John Collins, manager resigned.

The Des Moines club will train at home this season for the first time in a decade. President Keyser will subject to prosecution. Mr. Parks stated.

HANSON'S SPEED MAKES HUGE HIT WITH YANK STAR

(By Associated Press.)—NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—When Vic Hanson, former Syracuse three-sports star, tries for a berth with the New York Yankees this spring, one of his strongest supporters will be Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth's home run rival.

Gehrig, having seen Hanson play football, saw the former Orange on the basketball court a few days ago.

"That babe is sure fast," Gehrig said after the game. "I've seen him play football and seen him play basketball and if all they say about his ability on the baseball diamond is true, he'll be a wonderful addition for the Yankees. I'm rooting for him strong."

HIGH SCORES DUE TO MUDDY FIELD FEATURE TOURNEY

(By Associated Press.)—WILLOW SPRINGS GOLF CLUB SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6.—Horton Smith, John M. professional led the early field in today's round of the Texas open golf tournament, making the turn in 34, two under par. Most of the scores were high today and Smith appeared to have a chance to pull up near the leaders.

Ed Dudley of Hollywood, Calif., whose 72 yesterday put him out in front, did not start until late today. Smith had a 77 yesterday.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6.—With 54 holes in which to make up for poor scores yesterday, contenders for the Texas open were scheduled to play the second 18 holes of the annual 72 hole open tournament today. Scores on the first 18 holes yesterday ran high in most instances, due to the muddy conditions of the fairways and sown greens.

Ed Dudley, Hollywood, California, led the field yesterday and led this second round with a one stroke advantage over Tom Lally of San Antonio, his nearest competitor. Dudley scored a 72 while Lally was making a 73 and Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., Larry Nabholz of Cleveland, Don Marlarkey of Lufkin and Bill Mehlhorn of Pittsburgh achieved 74's.

Thought For Today
Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.—John 8:12.

BE saving, but not at the cost of all liberality. Have the soul of a king and the hand of a wise economist.—Joubert

Those 423,000 Jobs
The government has 423,000 positions obtainable only by competitive examination under the civil service act.

Last year 38,777 among those who passed civil service examinations were appointed to government jobs.

Now come 2,000 prohibition agents to assert, through Prohibition Commissioner Doran, that most of them can stand the gaff—that three-fourths of them failed in civil service examinations based on the civil service commission's 45 years of experience with applicants for federal jobs and especially for prohibition agents.

Doran and his men demand that prohibition job holders be treated as a privileged class and that they be not subjected to the same sort of tests which would be government employees elsewhere.

Despite the fact of congress placing them under the civil service, they demand that new and vastly easier examinations be provided for those who have flunked or that all be forgiven and no more written examinations required.

If civil service actually is divorced from politics and if it means anything at all, why should any class of applicants be accorded such extreme favors merely to allow them to remain in the federal machine?

It would seem that if any corps of government employees should be expected to be equipped with intelligence, tact, good common sense, it ought to be the enforcers of prohibition. And it was to determine whether the candidate possessed those assets that the commission framed its simple written tests.

If the commission backs down and lowers the bars as it is being pressured to do, the prohibition enforcement service will be shown in the future among government workers as the "dunce pool" of the federal system.

Mr. Coath!
J. LEWIS COATH is president of Mayor Thompson's board of education in Chicago. The board of education presides over the school, so it is to be expected that such a group to be a body of well educated and tactful fellow-well, maybe he is.

The other day, Mr. Coath went down in New York to choose some "progressive" history text-books for the pupils of Chicago schools to study. It seems that considerable anti-Bill propaganda has been poured into the Chicago youth, and Mr. Coath wants some sure-fire progress history. Does Big Bill think he strikes fear there among sure-fire elements in Chicago which he better could look for?

Anyway, here we have Mr. Coath in New York. The reporters gather around and give him the once-over and ask him a few questions and replies. They ask him about his work, and he says:

"Mayor Thompson is the greatest outstanding 100 per cent American of the century!"

We are hoping that the school children of Chicago don't read that statement. It might make them ashamed of themselves.

For Mr. Coath has shown there is not only bragadocio, and bias, but is ungrammatical. Before public go beyond the seventh grade they know that "greatest" and "outstanding" simply do not mix at all. Like "most" and "unique," it seems to be kept apart.

Anyway, we're glad Mr. Coath didn't go down to New York to look out grammars.

Perhaps one of the reasons the "Saloon League" doesn't run the kind of dry newspapers is the sensational Record.

Some used to think the world was flat. Then it was found to be round. But it's still just a little flat in spots.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says while it may be possible for man to live 200 years on a vegetable diet it would seem to the patient like a thousand.

Three men entered the county clerk's office here the other day. Two of them were well past the threshold of manhood—the other was younger, scarcely more than 21. They wanted a marriage license for the younger man and told the deputy, who waited on them, as such.

The deputy clerk filled out the necessary papers, including a statement that the contracting parties were both of age. She turned to the young man applying for the license and politely requested, "Sign here, please."

"I can't write," the young man admitted.

The deputy turned to elder of the other two.

"You're his father, are you not? Will you please sign for him?" she asked.

"I cannot write," was the man's reply.

The clerk looked puzzled, then made a request of the other man.

He gave the same response that the other two gave. The question was finally decided by the deputy clerk, who made the necessary signatures before a notary public and the young man, who was granted the license to wed, made an "x" under the signature. That "x" was his mark.

The Plainsman was astonished when he learned of the incident. He didn't suppose there was anyone in Lubbock county under the age of 30 years, who could not sign his name. The occurrence, in this enlightened era, furnishes all of us something to think about.

Here we are living in one of the best sections of the most powerful and the wealthiest nation on the globe. We pride ourselves on our American school system—a system of public education, from kindergarten to through college, which is unequalled anywhere. The lachrymose of our thousands of school buildings are always on the outside. Yet right here among us—reading as it were, in the very shadows of a great state institution of higher learning, sit people who have passed up their opportunities. People who cannot even write their own names!

This account might be well filed away among your personal effects, to be kept until that boy or girl of your acquaintance, who you or she believes further school is folly. There is no excuse, in this day and age, for anyone missing at least a high school education. When someone does miss the rudiments of writing, the condition is a sad one indeed.

That Man on Avenue Q says a star and an actor have something in common. Both must draw well to be a success.

There are two public investments in Lubbock which are not paying good dividends. Money—money made in the stock market and while we are getting some return we're not getting as much as we might. The Plainsman refers to the gymnasium at the senior high school and the "assembly hall" which is nothing more than a gymnasium at Texas Tech.

Perhaps you haven't noticed it, but the boys of Lubbock are being forced into the street for their sports and amusements. Streets are all empty, do not prove to be the best playgrounds. Lubbock has within its gates, two gyms lacking in equipment, which, if properly furnished might solve our boy problem and be instrumental in bettering the youth of our city.

The Plainsman wishes there were some way to equip these gyms, pay one of the high school or college athletic directors to oversee play hours and thus furnish good amusement and fine, expertly directed, exercise. It wouldn't cost us much and it would surely be an investment worth while.

Turn, these gymnasiums open to the boys of our city on three afternoons each week—between the hours of four to six. Make provisions where play hours would be afforded lads of equal ages, with a great extent the problem, which every city in America faces today—that of training its boys in body and mind, so when they become men they will make better citizens. It seems to be the The Plainsman that there is an opportunity for Lubbock to be civically inclined to do something practical and constructive, for the boys who some day will succeed them as Lubbock's leading citizens.

He never had a puncture though. He'd traveled near and far. The reason was, he went on foot. And didn't own a car.

Geraldine Farrar says youth is largely in the mind. We've noticed that, too.

250,000 Apply For 39,000 Vacancies On Uncle Sam's Big Payroll In A Year's Time, Dutcher Writes From Capital

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING AND BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The other morning they found a beautiful young Russian singer dead in a gas-filled Brooklyn bathroom. She had made her New York debut a few nights before. The critics curtly and briefly recorded that she could not sing—at least she could not sing well. She had spent many years studying with great teachers. She thought her hour had come. It had taken a few hundred dollars—perhaps all she had— to make the gesture of a public appearance in a public forum. After that, it seemed, to her there was no use going on.

And there you have a typical "little tragedy" of Manhattan. Perhaps one of the most sinister reactions of the great city is this destructive effect upon vanities and hopes.

To be a "success" in New York seems to be the beginning and end of so many dreams. To get "good notices" in New York seems such a magnified achievement. To fall in New York seems to sound the death knell of any hopes. New York is looked upon as the goal: If one is to achieve anything, tradition says that New York is the place that must stamp its O. K. on the performance. And so little struggling humans come to get their values all mixed up.

Heartbreak, heartache, despair, despond and even suicide follow in the wake of the immasurable efforts made to crack this city's hard shell. Individuals wrapt for so many years in themselves—a perfectly natural consequence when one is training toward some end—seem to forget that tens of thousands are consistently doing the same thing. For every one that wins the applause of the city a thousand go unnoticed or, what is equally bitter, barely noticed.

They come trooping to New York from every hamlet and city—all the great army of youngsters who have plugged long hours at their piano exercises or at their fiddling. Perhaps they have even gone to Europe and studied with a recognized master. Perhaps the master has told them he was proud of their work. And then they come to New York for an appearance.

Scarce a day passes but the desk at which this is written is piled fairly high with notices of this one and that who will make his or her "first New York appearance." Out of the stack of mail leaps an unfamiliar name. On a dozen other desks the same thing is happening. Whatever the name may mean to the individual or the trainer, it means nothing to the man who opens the mail. And this man is a bit disillusioned. He has had so many letters telling him of young folk of high talent. Hopefully he has set out only to find mediocrity or something just a little bit better than the commonplace. And it is because he may prove the exception—because others have—they will keep coming.

And there will come other mornings when the reviewers have not been kind. And there will be other young women who think the world theirs. And this column will perhaps carry a few more paragraphs of heartbreak and tragedy.

PLANS FOR FAIR SHOULD BEGIN NOW

That a free county fair cannot be successfully operated annually in the state of Texas is the opinion of seventy secretaries, presidents and executives of state, district and county fairs who met in Dallas last week for their annual meeting, and those cities now attempting to hold a fair free of any admission are wasting money that should be invested in permanent buildings and grounds. This, in the opinion of Ed Bishop, secretary of the Floyd county fair, was the most interesting thought brought out at the meeting which he attended.

County and state fairs in the state of Oklahoma receive state aid and are enabled to build suitable buildings and carry on their fairs with the money received from concessions and show, but in this state there is no aid permitted and according to present constitution there can be no financial assistance from the state, although every fair receives the endorsement of state officials, Mr. Bishop said.

These fairs that are dependent upon financial support from the citizens in the town where they are held are continually meeting with the problem of properly financing the fair each year. When a fair has missed one season there must be a redoubled effort to get it started the following year and as is very often the case, it is discontinued for several years, it was declared at the meeting.

Mr. Bishop is of the opinion that now is the proper time to begin plans for the 1928 Floyd county fair and that the first and most important thing is the selection of site. In order to secure a large gate each year the location should not be too far from the city and should if possible be located not far from one of the main thoroughfares. This is important he thinks, because of the fact that the same person will very often pass into the gates more than once during the event.

"Floyd county should without doubt, have buildings that will justify asking our citizens to bring their most valuable articles in to be shown," Secretary Bishop said. "It is unfair and unjust to ask that cloth and other valuable articles be placed on display where they are likely to be damaged on account of weather conditions."

"At the present time we do not have a fair because it has been impossible to exhibit that important asset to every farm, livestock. Purebred livestock cannot be exhibited in the open as owners of stock should not be asked to expose their stock to the weather in order to make a success of the fair."

The Floydada chamber of commerce will begin plans for the coming fair immediately and suggestions as to be appreciated. It will be your fair and you will be expected to give it your financial and moral support."—Floydada Hesperian.

It takes a great deal of hard work and many weeks and months to build up a creditable fair exhibit, of agricultural products. It cannot be done in a few weeks, as many people seem to think. We should begin the next day after the fair each year to build an exhibit for the next fall, and this is the only way that a successful fair exhibit can be gathered.

The county fairs of the South Plains can be made a great success if the farmers will become interested enough to begin early to make their exhibits. Now is the time to begin by making your plans for the next year crops.

John C. Kellar, state highway license inspector, began his work in Lubbock county this morning and before 8 o'clock had already made one arrest for violation of the state highway law. The man was fined $11.70 for operating a car with an Oklahoma 1927 dealer's license.

Mr. Kellar spent last week in Brownfield where he made numerous arrests on the license violations. One man was charged with operating a tractor on the highway with lugs greater than 1-4 inch, he said today.

Golden yellow chiffon underwear, edged with gold lace, is a concession to Milady's vanity that vindicates it.

During the World War veterinarians found a way to make mules quit braying. Would it be too much to ask one of the political parties to nominate some veterinarian for vice president?

An animal that was half skunk and half cat was exhibited at a cat show in Boston the other day. We always have been great admirers of the skunk's facial contour.

When the armistice was signed there were 918,000 civil service employees. By June 30, 1922, the number had been cut to 560,000; since then the number has been as low as 544,900 and as high as 564,000 as compared with the present 560,000.

In 1916 there were only 438,000. In the past 11 years, as the Civil Service Commissioners explain, new governmental activities have been established such as the Shipping Board, Tariff Commission, Veterans' Bureau and several others which have a total of 28,000 employees.

Meanwhile the postal service has gained 58,000 employees since 1916, so that insofar as the other older government establishments are concerned the increase of employees is less than 35,000—easily accounted for by the expansion of government activities on every hand.

WHAT does the government pay its workers? Well, President Coolidge said in his last budget message that the 1927 average wage of the worker in Washington was $1886 a year. Of course, many get less, including about 80 percent of the women; some get all their're worth and perhaps more, but many are notoriously underpaid, a condition affecting especially the technical and scientific experts above the $2500 and $3000 a year class.

Eight classified civil service employees were discharged last year for political activities and 65 percent were warned and reprimanded; three others were suspended or reduced in salary and some resigned when removal was recommended.

SHORTEN THE TIME (A Talk To Business Men)
IN BUSINESS, one thinks and talks a great deal about money. But money is not the real currency. Time is the real currency.
How much does it cost to construct a building or to make a suit of clothes or a pair of hosiery or an automobile?
If you can reduce the number of DAYS in manufacturing—you reduce the cost. In selling, the same thought holds true. If you can reduce the number of days required to sell a piano or a suite of furniture or a can of baked beans—your turnover is increased and your profit enhanced.
Unsold merchandise occupies space—and you pay rent for that space. If the merchandise remains unsold for one month, you must pay one's month rent for the space it occupies. If the merchandise is sold within fifteen days, you have saved a half month's rent on the space that merchandise occupied.
How long does it take to establish a business on a firm foundation? Three Years? If you can reduce that time, your profits come all the quicker.
It is possible for a business to exist without advertising. But advertising is the great time saver. It enables you to sell merchandise quicker. Advertising speeds up selling.
Advertising is therefore an investment. As Herbert N. Casson says:
'I advertised I got a new customer, That was an investment. I served him well. He came a second time That was a dividend.

TWO CALLED IN SENATE PROBE OF OIL AFFAIR

CLARKE AND PHILLIPS DENY KNOWLEDGE OF QUESTIONED BONDS

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Two additional witnesses were examined today by the senate Teapot Dome committee in a futile effort to throw light on the famous Continental oil deal which Senator Walsh of Montana described as fraught with suspicion at every turn.

Having appointed George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, to represent it in the court tangle growing out of the refusal of Robert W. Stewart of the Standard Oil company of Indiana to answer questions about the subject, the committee sought without success in a short session to obtain evidence as to the disposition of the huge profits of the concern. It is charged that Albert B. Fall received $233,000 in Liberty bonds through the Continental Trading company after he leased Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair.

Clark and Phillips, Sheldon Clark of Chicago, vice-president of the Sinclair Refining company, and H. L. Phillips of Tulsa, president of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, were today's witnesses, the questions dealing mainly with the deal whereby the crude company owned jointly by the Standard of Indiana and the Sinclair interests bought oil from the Continental at $1.75 a barrel almost simultaneously with the latter company's purchase at $1.50. Neither could give the committee any greater amount of detailed information.

Finally, Senator Walsh of Montana, the committee's prosecutor, brought the session to a close with one of the questions which Stewart refused to answer, even in the face of a contempt charge.

"What, if anything, do you know about the disposition of the bonds of the Continental Trading company?" he asked.

"I know nothing about them," Phillips, who was on the stand, replied. Describing the meeting of the directors of the Sinclair Crude Oil company which the contract with the Continental was approved, Phillips said that both Stewart and Sinclair were present. Stewart represented the Standard Oil of Indiana, which owns one half of the Sinclair Crude Oil stock and Sinclair represented the Sinclair Consolidated which owns the other half.

Stewart testified that he, as a director of the Sinclair Crude Oil, recalled the meeting. He could not recall whether the board met before or after the supplemental contract by which the companies purchasing the oil from the Continental—the Sinclair Crude and the Prairie-Oil and Gas company—guaranteed to the late A. E. Humphreys that the Continental would fulfill its agreement to purchase and pay for the 33,333,333 barrels of oil.

Stewart will be given a hearing tomorrow on the writ of habeas corpus by which he was snatched from the custody of the senate. Meanwhile, it is expected that the action will be sought against him during the week by the office of the district attorney.

BOARD REFUSES TO INTERFERE IN NURSES' MUDDLE

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—The state board of control refused to intervene Monday in the dismissal of two nurses who testified against Superintendent A. W. Taber of the board of their services as "unsatisfactory" and the board agreed to restrict women's labor to nine hours a day.

Appearing before the board, the nurses, Mrs. J. V. Haase and Mrs. Dick Burford of Austin, contested the superintendent's action in discharging them. They claimed it grew out of their testimony against Superintendent Taber. He told the board their services were "unsatisfactory" and the board agreed to its originally announced position that the "hiring and firing" is up to the superintendent. Dr. H. H. Harrington, former chairman and member, said the state labor department filed the complaints against Taber.

Rail Earnings To Fall, Storey Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—W. B. Storey, president of the Atchafalaya & Santa Fe, does not expect earnings for the first half of 1928 to be as large as last year, when the road was then carrying wheat and oil, which, he thinks, it is not likely to get this year. Indications pointed to a normal wheat crop this year in the road's territory, he said, and while prospects in western Kansas were not good, those in eastern Kansas were very good. Cattle and wool prices were favorable and the feed situation good.

BOATS TO TAKE TUT TO HEAVEN FOUND IN TOMB

OTHER EQUIPMENT FOR TRANSPORTATION OF DEAD IS LOCATED

(By Associated Press) CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 6.—Eighteen boats intended to carry King Tut-Ankh-Amen to heaven have been found in his tomb.

These and other discoveries in the third and fourth chambers are described in a report, just made public, of Howard Carter who is in charge of the work of exploring the tomb.

The flotilla is a reminder of the ancient custom of providing the dead with means of transport to the other world thus making them independent of the services of Charon. (Charon in Greek mythology was a morose old man whose duty was to ferry the souls of the deceased over the Styx. The Encyclopedia Britannica says as ferryman of the dead he is not mentioned in Homer or Hesiod and in this character is probably of Egyptian origin.)

Carved Figures Found Another discovery in the third chamber, where the boats were, was a number of beautifully carved figures of human beings. These were to serve as substitutes for King Tut-Ankh-Amen in case Osiris, ruler of the dead, should impose tasks of penitence upon his new subject which would not be benefiting to the dignity of one who was a king upon the earth.

The report also describes the canopic jar of carved alabaster containing the Egyptian ruler's viscera, and an elaborate canopic chest enclosing the jar. The chest, also of alabaster, is guarded at each corner by a lifelike statuette of the tutelary goddess.

Inside the chest, four receptacles, each containing a reproduction of the great gold coffin of the king, were found. The king's head, finely sculptured in alabaster, was on each cover.

Other Heirlooms What were supposed to be heirlooms were in another nest of coffins. One of them contained a gold statuette of Amen-Hotep, a predecessor of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, and a lock of hair of Queen Tyti. The fourth chamber was found by Carter to be in extreme disorder, evidently due to robbers seeking gold. Apparently intended for the storage of oils, wines and foodstuffs, for the use of the king in the lands beyond the grave, it also contained an overflow of funeral paraphernalia.

The contents of this chamber are still to be thoroughly examined. In the meantime work on the tomb has been suspended and it is now open to the public.

THE JAZZ SINGER

Novelized by Arline De Haas
Taken from the scenario 'The Jazz Singer' starring Al Jolson.
Copyright, 1927, By Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
The New York Ghetto sees with the activities of Yom Kippur, a most important Jewish holiday. Cantor Rabinowitz, a man revered by all the lower East Side for his religious fervor and his knowledge of Hebrew music, has called his choir boys to the Orchard street synagogue for a final rehearsal before the services. To his disgust he finds them listening to his greatest abomination, jazz music. He scolds for his son, Jakie, and at that moment a baseball strikes the window and Jakie appears, trembling in fear of his father's wrath.

"Jakie!" The Cantor's voice vibrated with anger. "I-I couldn't help it, papa," the boy stammered, hitting in fear. "I didn't mean to do it so hard. Honest, I didn't!"

The old man raised his hand as though to strike. The students on the benches looked expectantly from father to son, hoping for the added diversion of punishment for Jakie, and thus a prolongation of the beginning of their lessons. As Jakie saw his father's menacing attitude he ducked. But the hand dropped. "Go!" The Cantor waved the boy to his seat. "I fix you good next time!"

Jakie stared at his father, but the scholars were already being lined up for their singing lesson, and the child took his accustomed place among the others. Cantor Rabinowitz called them to attention. He walked over to the piano and struck a note. A sour sound issued forth. The master sniffed disdainfully—sorrowfully, even. From his inside coat pocket he produced an old fashioned tuning fork, struck it on the side of the piano, and held it to his ear.

"M-m-m-m!" he hummed, giving the boys the key. "Nu, follow me!" The cantor poured forth a wailing chant in his deep, resonant voice, imitated by his pupils. But he caught suddenly that all mouths opened and sang lustily. And when one child looked longingly toward the window his reward was a cuff on the ear.

"Oh! Don't I say yet you should sing—not make monkey business!" The Cantor bellowed. The boys who had been grinning and nudging each other, shuffling their feet and wriggling about, quickly turned their eyes front as they heard the Cantor's words and took up the chant with renewed vigor. But as unwilling as the spirit was the flesh. The students turned again and again to look out the window. They could hear faintly the outside sounds, the shouts of their playmates, the bustle of the streets.

The Cantor shook his head impatiently. "Stop! Stop!" he called, raising his fists and shaking them in the air. "Go!" you sound like crazy cats, crying already!"

The erstwhile scholars scuffling noisily, made for a bedline for a moment, relieved. Jakie snatched his cap and began a hasty exit. But his father was quicker. The Cantor grabbed the boy by the shoulder, and held him firmly. Jakie followed the disappearing figures of his playmates with tearful eyes. When the last one had closed the door the father faced his son about.

"For why should you be playing so?" The irate parent pointed to the broken window. The child backed away, shaking his head miserably. But the Cantor's anger was already changing to sadness.

"A fine Cantor you should become—smashing synagogue windows yet!" The boy looked up at his father, debating as to his answer. To him the future of cantor in a synagogue so carefully planned out, and so hopefully looked forward to by his father, held no essence of pleasantness for the young singer.

"But papa," the child finally managed to blurt out, "I don't want to be no cantor." "What! No cantor!" The bearded singer gasped, unwilling to believe that his ears had heard aright. Why, this was pure blasphemy. He swallowed hard, and then smiled sarcastically.

"So! And you didn't want you should be cantor, what'll you going to be?" He waited for an answer to a question which he regarded as unanswerable.

Jakie decided to take his stand. He looked up at his father courageously. "I want to be a singer!" in a theater," he proclaimed, ducking again as though expecting the wrath of the ancients to fall upon his head.

The Cantor stared at the boy in amazement. He raised his hands in horror at the very thought. A Rabinowitz a singer in a theater! "For five generations has been a Rabinowitz a cantor," he burst out. "I teach you to be one! And you should be a common actor in a lowlife theater!"

His beard bristled. He rushed for his son, shaking his fist excitedly. But the boy stood his ground, gazing steadfastly at his father. The older man halted suddenly, looking down on the child. Then his arms dropped to his sides. He turned away, shaking his head sorrowfully.

His son—an actor in a theater. His son, with the voice with the cry in it—a voice that could even now chant the prayers and songs that generation after generation had beat upon the hot stones of the Walling Wall of Jerusalem. A voice that, with his teaching, could grow with glory all the five generations of the Rabinowitz Cantors. He sat down heavily on the hard bench, his body swaying backward and forward, his hands clenched on his breast. Sackcloth and ashes on his bowed head. Mourning and suffering in his heart.

CHAPTER II

For several seconds Jakie stood silently regarding the bent figure of his father. He realized, young as he was, that he had severely wounded "the cantor," had struck with a knife that twisted brutally in the old man's heart. But with the logic of the Ghetto child, reared amid the cruelty of the city street, old even in his youngness, he had formulated only one idea; had come to hold only one tenet—state your cause, choose your side, and fight for it. And so, in this instance, he had followed his philosophy; he knew what he wanted and get it he would.

Awkwardly, as though fearful of disturbing a sleeper, the boy tiptoed over to the benches and picked up his cap. He opened the door softly, looking back on the aged figure on the bench and, as it did not move, stole out into the cool hallway and down the steps to the street. He gazed up and down the bustling thoroughfare and took a deep breath, as though throwing all his cares and sorrows to the wind. Then, with eager, hurrying steps, he bolted through the crowd of shoppers without stopping until he had reached his destination.

At last he halted before a pair of swinging doors, beneath which he could glimpse a number of shifting feet, easing themselves on a fat brass rail. He could hear the sounds of heavy bottomed glasses sliding and thudding deftly on a mahogany top. The fetid odor of stale beer, intermingling with the pungent fumes of many cheerful glasses, assailed his nostrils. From the side door, marked "family entrance," issued forth a buxom matron, a small tin bucket in her hand, "rushing the growler." In her wake came the sound of laughing voices and the thrum of a squeaking piano, blatantly shrilling the uneven rhythm of a rag-time tune.

LEGAL NOTICES

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are Herby commanded to summon E. L. Hursey by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 19th Judicial District Court of Lubbock County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1928, the same being the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1928, then and there to answer amended petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of January, A. D. 1928, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 3136, wherein Geo. E. Benson and Sam C. Arnett, are Plaintiffs, and E. L. Hursey, is Defendant, and petition alleging that on the 14th day of April, 1926, defendant, E. L. Hursey executed and delivered to the plaintiffs his two notes, one for $116.07, and one for $118.66, whereby he promised to pay to the plaintiffs on or before eighteen months after date the sum of $116.00, with interest on both notes from date until paid at 8 per cent per annum.

That on November 29, 1927, the defendant executed and delivered to plaintiff, George E. Benson, his note for $117.90, payable thirty days after date, with interest at 10 per cent per annum, and all of said notes provide for 10 per cent additional attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. That all of said notes are secured by liens on Tract or Lot No. thirty-two of the Arnett & Benson Subdivision of the South Half of the Northeast Quarter of Survey No. Twenty, Block "A" in Lubbock County, Texas.

That default has been made in the payment of the above described notes when due, therefore Plaintiff prays for judgment for debt, interest, costs of suit, attorney's fees, foreclosure of lien, etc.

Herein I do Not, and have you before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this 25th day of January, A. D. 1928.

SLOW MOVEMENT AND INACTIVITY HAMPER COTTON

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Feb. 6.—Although estimates of world cotton consumption would justify an increase in price, a further recession in prices resulted in slower movement and greater inactivity in the industry during the last half of January, the American Railway association announced today.

The heavy shrinkage in the value of cotton stocks in the southwest, due to these lower prices, has produced an important disturbing factor to all business related to the cotton industry.

The Garbise service estimated world consumption of American cotton for the five-month period, August to December, inclusive, at 6,926,000 bales as compared with 6,186,000 bales for the same period in 1926. This record apparently would justify an appreciable increase in price and a strong demand rather than the lower prices and apathetic demand which obtain at the present time, the association declares.

FRANCE HERALDS ANNIVERSARY OF U.S.-FRENCH PACT

(By Associated Press) PARIS, Feb. 6.—The Paris press today heralded the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the first treaty of friendship and peace between France and America.

This, the papers observed, will lend special lustre to the signing today of a new pact which virtually renounces war as an instrumentality ever to be called into play between the two republics.

Many papers printed photographs of the original document of February 6, 1778, which now stands as No. 1 in the archives of the American state department. Portraits of King Louis XVI of France and Benjamin Franklin and others concerned in its negotiation and signature were also printed along with articles tracing the history of the document.

Shingle sets, consisting of small folding case of lizard or crocodile containing short comb and hand-les brush, are a new necessary.

Flashes Of Life (By The Associated Press)

Real Dumbbells?

NEW YORK.—It would appear that football players are the real dumbbells among college athletes. Intelligence tests of athletes conducted for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching reported as follows: Tennis players 67.16; fencing 61.30; wrestling 60.91; golf 75.25; non-athletes 79.91; football 72.47.

Filful Reminder

MIAMI.—Another long count for champion Gene! The matter of proper payment to Uncle Sam of taxes on the million or so made in the United States and elsewhere last year has forced Mr. Tinsley to interrupt the chase after brides and other pleasant pursuits with in order to make a trip north.

Double Ceremony

NEW YORK.—Marriage, happiness, prosperity and longevity! The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Buchman and the silver jubilee of Mr. and Mrs. J. Louis Buchman were celebrated jointly with a ceremony involving renewals of vows before a rabbi. Louis is Joseph's son.

Limit Two Ways

WASHINGTON.—It is taboo for visitors to go too high as well as too low. Army fliers must keep at least 75 feet above persons on the ground. Without oxygen equipment they must not go above 15,000 feet. With it the limit is 35,000.

Bitter Memories

ATLANTA.—A bedspread that kept one of Sherman's men warm in the winter through Georgia has been returned with sincere thanks. It was sent to George M. Brown, Jr., son of the war governor by Major E. L. Siver, of Chicago, who is father-in-law of it when the governor's home at Canton was burned.

Unknown's Honor

ALEXANDRIA, Va.—On Washington's birthday the body of an unknown soldier of the revolution will be buried. It was discovered during excavations for a church. The American Legion has arranged a service.

Frank About It

NEW YORK.—Count Felix Von Luckner, noted sea raider loves the country that a few years back was warring against him. "America is the heart of the world," he says. "It is here I want to live." After a trip to Germany he's coming back.

Both Sides Erred In Strike Is Claim

MADRID, Feb. 6 (AP).—Noticero Del Lunes today printed an interview with Frim De Diversa on the strike at Barcelona, in which he was quoted as saying that both employers and laborers erred.

The employers erred, he explained, by their obligation not to alter wages, and the workers by failing to have confidence in the government which would settle all problems of the working classes.

WILSON CHARGE ON VARE DENIED AS WHOLLY FALSE

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Charges of a conspiracy made against him by William B. Wilson, Democrat, in the contest over the Pennsylvania election in 1926, were declared today by William S. Vare, Republican senator-elect, to be "wholly false, wilfully made, and without the slightest foundation in truth or in fact."

"It is a cowardly attack without any justification," Mr. Vare declared in his answer filed with the senate elections committee.

"It is a wanton assault upon me and made solely for the purpose of securing a recount to which the complainant was theretofore not entitled, and the oath attached thereto averring the truth thereof is a wilfully false declaration, not based on any information as to my conduct theretofore, for such information does not exist, and this complainant well knows."

As Vare filed his answer, the sub-committee of the elections committee was organizing to start later in the day the recount in the six counties contested by Wilson.

White and pink corals are the accepted beads for the young girls of France. Sets comprise necklaces, bracelets, buckles and earrings.

Black glove silk fashions a lacy new underwear set of gown, slip, bandeaux and panties, with lavender lace inserts.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The Doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are to get sick unless you eat your food, digest it properly, and keep your bowels regular.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles of every kind, even those of many years' standing.

Mrs. Albert B. Greer, 729 W. Markham St., Little Rock, Ark., says: "Since taking two bottles of Tanlac, I can eat anything without indigestion and put in a full day's work without a bit of trouble."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, it's a sign you need Tanlac. It's good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks—nature's own remedies. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Now say "Good-bye" to your scrubbing brush If your scrubbing brush and pail are on your list of daily household drudgeries, cross them off. Housewives today have discovered a new secret in keeping floors bright and shining. The secret is, of course, Armstrong's Linoleum. If you've ever wandered down our aisles of these new linoleum patterns you'll agree, too, that they should cut the day's work in half. Easy to clean? Yes, indeed. Just a simple dust-mopping cleans them and a waxing every few months makes them look like new. And best of all there's no refinishing cost. Once down these floors are laid for a lifetime. Won't you let our experts estimate a new floor in your home? Remember that every floor we lay is cemented over builders' deadening felt—the approved way. Call on us or phone 1675.

EIGHT NATIONS ATTACK RIGHT TO INTERVENE

FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS AND STATE DUTIES HOLD INTEREST

(By The Associated Press)
HAVANA, Feb. 6.—The attack of eight Latin-American republics on the right of one nation to intervene in the affairs of another dominated the atmosphere of the Pan-American conference today. Preliminary conversations among chiefs of delegations were held to determine the attitudes they would assume in the special sub-committee appointed to pass upon the subject of the fundamental rights and duties of states.

Attack Is Sudden
The attack came suddenly Saturday after Charles Evans Hughes, chief of the United States delegation, had promised the report of Dr. Victor Maurtua of Peru the full and unconditional support of the American government. Dr. Maurtua's report expounded the principle that the independence of countries is co-related with their duty not to "interfere with or violate the rights of other states."
This was attacked as too vague. The Rio Janeiro jurists' report saying "no state may intervene in the internal affairs of another" was urged in its stead.
Led By Argentina
The attack of the Maurtua report was led by Argentina while Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, San Domingo, Honduras, Colombia and Uruguay joined in assailing it. The United States delegation was optimistic today that a final agreement would be reached, but other delegates were wary in predicting

PUBLIC WEAHER W. H. 'BILL' MEEK WILL MAKE RACE

After serving the cotton raisers of the Wolfarth community for the most of the past two seasons, W. H. (Bill) Meek, blacksmith resident of the community, wants to continue as public weaher in Precinct Number 8.
This was his statement to the Journal today as he authorized this publication to announce his candidacy; subject to the action of the Democratic voters in their primary elections, July 28th. of this year.
Mr. Meek has resided in Lubbock county for the past three years. Last season he weighed 1,350 bales at Wolfarth.
The final outcome of the sub-committee's work would be.

Many Executions Reported In China

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6 (AP)—Dispatches from Canton state 270 out of 600 persons arrested there as communists have been executed. The roundup of Reds was made by the government of General Li Chai-Sun, who ousted the communists from the city six weeks ago after they had executed a coup d'etat. In the coup and subsequent executions and fighting some 5,000 persons were slain.

Scots Pay Tribute To Field Marshal

EDINBURG, Feb. 6 (AP)—Throongs of Earl Haig's fellow Scots took advantage today of their last opportunity to pay him tribute as his body continued to lie in state in St. Giles cathedral. It was estimated that 15,000 persons will have paid the late Field Marshal homage

SHIP NEGOTIATES PERILOUS CLIMB IN GATUN LOCKS

(By Associated Press)
COLON, Panama, Feb. 6.—Having climbed a narrow flight of three steps from the Atlantic Ocean, the giant, aircraft carrier Saratoga, today rode at anchor in Gatun lake 85 feet above sea level. Because of the great width of the ship it was considered that its voyage through the Gatun locks was the most difficult operation ever tried in the canal.
The anti-aircraft standard, part of the superstructure on the port side of the ship, peered several feet before the coffin is taken tomorrow to Dryburgh Abbey. Haig's last resting place.

FRENCH PLAN TO HOP OFF TODAY FOR MONTGOMERY

(By Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—Pleasant memories of a cordial welcome from a city over which once flew the flag of their country, lingered with Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrun, daring French aviators, today as they faced the east on the first leg of their tour of the United States in their plane, the Nungesser-Coll.
Their plans for today consisted of a hop to Montgomery, Ala., to land at Maxwell field and spend the night in the former capital of the confederacy. Tuesday they were scheduled to fly to Washington.
The aviators arrived here late Saturday from Mexico City, after a non-stop flight. Their route from

Sub Abolishment Rapped In Britain

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The London Times commenting editorially on Secretary Kellogg's proposal to abolish the submarine takes the view that it is a very attractive proposition, but under present circumstances, quite hopeless.
Not only, the paper says, do France and Italy still regard submarines as indispensable, but also the smaller maritime nations are increasing their submarine strength since they rely on submarines to do the work for which richer countries build cruisers.
