WHAT A WONDERFUL FEELING!

Astronauts Get 'Go' For Trip Back Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 14 rocketed away from the moon Saturday and streaked homeward with 108 pounds of precious rock, some of it from a lunar hill the moon walkers tried and failed to conquer.

ON OUR WAY

Astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, tired from their adventure and yearning for home, fired the engine of their command ship, Kitty Hawk, to start a 2½-day coast toward earth and a splashdown Tuesday in the South Pacific.

"Okay, we got a good burn," Shepard reported after the spacecraft reappeared from the back of the moon following the rocket firing. "We are on our way home!"

Hours earlier, Shepard and Mitchell had thundered off the moon after 33½ hours on its surface, setting up a science station and collecting rock samples in which scientists may find clues to the moon's origin.

Although they could not climb to the top of 400-foot-high Cone Crater, they accomplished their other tasks so well scientists called the mission the most successful of man's three moon trips.

JAP TALK

Kitty Hawk and the lunar lander Antares docked smoothly on the first try — a relief to all. It had taken six attempts to dock the craft after launch last Sunday.

Antares—named for a star—was abandoned in lunar orbit and then performed its last duty for science—self-destruction against the moon's surface. The crash not far from the Apollo 14 landing site was detected by seismometers and radioed to scientists on earth.

"And we say Sayonara (goodbye) to Antares," Roosa commented as he moved the command ship away.

Shepard comes home with the record for time spent walking on the lunar surface—nine hours and three minutes in two walks on Friday and Saturday—added to his records as the first and oldest American in space.

OH FEARLESS ONE

He also has an unchallenged claim to have been the world's first lunar golfer.

As Antares left the moon, it soared straight up and streaked at 4,116 miles an hour into an orbit of 10½ by 60 miles.

"What a liftoff!" Shepard screamed as the small craft leaped into the dark lunar sky.

As Antares headed upward Roosa cried from above in the command ship:

"What are you doing way down there, oh fearless one?"

"You've lost a little weight since the last time I saw you," said Roosa, referring to the descent stage of Antares which was left on the moon.

Then they tried the docking system which was so troublesome Sunday.

SIGH OF RELIEF

"We have Capture!" Roosa called out.

"Beeeutiful!" said Shepard happily.

"There was a beautiful big sigh of relief around here," said Mission Control.

Shepard and Mitchell transferred into the orbiting command ship, bringing with them the precious rocks and the film they shot of their lunar surface adventure.

The mission's biggest disappointment was being forced to turn back, gasping and exhausted, before the moonwalkers achieved the top of the 400-foot slope of Cone Crater. They had started the walk two hours early, anxious to get it started.

The aim was to seek at the crater's rim clues to the birth of the solar system. However, scientists held out hope that the rocks picked up during the climb may have been just as fruitful as those they hoped to find on the rim.

THIRD VISIT

The blastoff ended man's third visit to the moon and his first expedition to the rugged mountain ranges which cover most of the lunar surface. The Fra Mauro region, where they landed, is believed to contain material 4.6 billion years old.

Shepard and Mitchell left behind a science station that will continue to operate for months to probe the geological secrets of the moon.

At Cone, they had no choice but to turn back.

The steep rise jammed with ragged boulders was just too much for them. Oxygen was limited and time and strength gave out.

Wrapped in their bulky suits, weighed down by their heavy back packs and tools, they struggled upward for 90 minutes, their breathing rapid and their words coming occasionally in choking gasps.

Their two-wheeled tool carrier, the first vehicle man has tried to use on the lunar surface, proved a burden on the rocky slope. Often they had to carry it up the boulder-strewn grade.

GEE WHIZ

But even so, they gave up reluctantly.

Shepard, his heart beat soaring from a normal of 84 to about 150 beats a minute, was the first to suggest they stop and turn back. They had fallen behind on their time schedule, he said. Perhaps they should give it up.

"Aw, gee whiz, let's give it a whirl," said Mitchell, his breathing hard, deep and fast. "I think we'll find what we're looking for up there."

They fought on cursing occasionally as rocks jammed the wheels of their cart and craters forced detours.

"Oh, it's hard, hard, hard," said Shepard, 47 and the oldest of the astronauts as he squeezed out the words with difficulty.

The angle of the slope increased and their struggle grew more intense.

Extortionist 'Taps' Banker For $25,000

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—An extortionist with the apparent ability to climb telephone poles and tap lines held $25,000 of a banker's money Saturday in a daylight cloak - and - dagger affair.

The victim was Guy Coffee, Gulfway National Bank president, who told officers he paid off Friday after the man on the telephone claimed he was holding Mrs. Coffee and a grandchild.

There was an exchange of telephone calls, Coffee calling his home, and the person who answered to the residence number was a man.

Two policemen later found that the telephone line to the Coffee home had been cut, and found evidence atop a nearby telephone pole that the wire had been tapped there.

Commander W. C. Tackett, political criminal investigation chief, related this story:

A woman bank employe received a call from a man Friday afternoon and was told to have the president telephone home. Told Coffee could talk to him at that moment, the man refused to talk to the banker.

Coffee dialed his home and a man answered, saying, "You know where I am at, don't you."

The man told the banker he was holding his family and ordered him to get a specific amount of cash from the bank. Tackett would only say it was several thousand dollars. Other sources said the payoff was $25,000.

Coffee, as ordered, stopped at a telephone booth near the bank en route to a shopping center and called home, and was told to go to another public booth at a service station and call again.

Calling from the service station telephone because the booth instrument was out of order, Coffee was warned to keep silent to the filling staion attendants and to park his car near a garden shop in an adjacent shopping center and leave the money on the floorboards.

He was told he would be informed where his family could be found. He left the money in the car. After an hour, receiving no instruction, he telephoned his office. He was told his family was safe. The money was taken from his automobile.

MONEY MYSTERY

Three Jailed After Austin Bank Robbery

AUSTIN (AP) — A man and his two sons, all from Houston, have been arrested and charged in connection with Friday's $20,000 robbery of the Community National Bank.

Cletus Roberts, 47, and Jack Dale Roberts, 24, were arrested in Austin Friday.

FBI agents seized Charles Lee Roberts, 27, at a Dallas motel Saturday.

The big mystery late Saturday was where the money went.

Austin police said they did not know and were awaiting questioning of Charles Lee Roberts in Dallas by the FBI.

An FBI spokesman said late in the afternoon in answer to a query about the money, "We're questioning them, but I can't say yet."

Each man was charged here with armed robbery, assault with intent to murder and possession of a bomb, and a $200,000 bond was set for each.

More than 40 shots were exchanged about 2:10 p.m. Friday between two state police officers and three men who had just fled the bank.

The two officers, Eugene DeMuth and Marshall Henderson, received minor cuts from broken glass in the volley of gunfire that came from a .308 rifle and two sawed-off shotguns.

Quake Rocks Ancient Town

TUSCANIA, Italy (AP) — A major earthquake rocked this ancient town in central Italy Saturday night, killing at least ten persons and injuring more than 80 others.

Officials feared the toll would rise as rescue workers dug into collapsed buildings.

The quake, registering six on the Mercali scale of 10, hit at 7 p.m., catching most of the town's 12,000 residents indoors at the dinner hour. Tuscania is 50 miles north of Rome.

Buildings in the center of the town, including some new structures, fell "like a deck of cards," one witness said.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The Census Bureau released the final figures for Big Spring and other Texas cities last week, and the figure we go on for the next 10 years is 28,735, an increase of 2.03 per cent over the preliminary figure and down 8 per cent (7.989 to be exact) from the 1960 total. The numerical decline was 2.495. County figures had been released a week earlier.

At last, it appears that an area Council of Governments is about to get off the ground. A meeting held here last week resulted in a decision to form an organization with Midland, Howard, Dawson, Martin, Andrews and several other area counties participating. The COG shapes up as the agency to coordinate most federal programs within a region, and without a COG participation is sharply reduced.

Registration Open Again

Voter registration was re-opened before final figures for registration in Howard County could be tabulated. At last count, which does not include Jan. 30 registrants, 10,350 persons had registered.

The deadline for voter registration has been extended until midnight Feb. 28. Mrs. Zirah LeFevre Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, received a telegram Friday afternoon instructing her to re-open registration as a result of action taken that morning by the Texas Legislature.

Voter registration applications can be obtained in the tax office, and submitted either in person or by mail. It is necessary that all applications be signed by the voter. Only blood relatives such as husband, wife, son or daughter, who are qualified voters, may act as a registering agent for another person.

Red Vietnamese Artillery Rips U.S. Post Near Laos

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese artillery opened up for the first time Saturday against the allied drive in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, inflicting the initial U.S. combat death in the week-old operation.

While the shellings were not heavy, they could pose a possible threat to the U.S. base at Khe Sanh, reactivated last week for the operation near the border of Laos.

A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese artillery bombarded the "Rock Pile," an American outpost nine miles northeast of Khe Sanh. One U.S. soldier was killed and three others were wounded.

'ROCK PILE'

Three South Vietnamese outposts in the area were hit by mortar fire and there was a slight increase in enemy shelling elsewhere in the operation area.

If the shells that hit the "Rock Pile" came from Laos, it could mean enemy artillery was being readied for further bombardments.

Texan Guilty Of Shooting

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Pfc. Matias Yzaguirre, 22, of Brownsville, Tex., was convicted Saturday of negligent homicide in the shooting of a Vietnamese teen-ager last December.

The shooting touched off two days of anti-American rioting.

The seven-officer court-martial sentenced Yzaguirre to six months in prison, reduced his rank to private and fined him $360.

The prosecution put five witnesses on the stand. Only defense witness was the defendant, who restated that the shooting of Nguyen Van Minh, 13, was accidental.

NARCOTICS SUSPECTS — Three of seven persons charged with sale of narcotics after Friday and Saturday arrests are shown as they were transferred to the city jail to the county jail. Left to right, Lorenzo Pineda, George Menchaca and Daniel Rios. Behind the desk is Sgt. Pete Stone of the city police.

Heroin Raid Net Closes On Seven In Big Spring

Several months of investigation and surveillance climaxed Friday night and Saturday morning with raids here which resulted in seven persons arrested and charged with sale of narcotics. It was regarded as the largest heroin crackdown in West Texas.

NAMES CALLED

Named in justice court action were: J. D. Moore, 37, 711 Wyoming; George Menchaca, 38, 511 NW. 7th; Lonell Banks, 33, 505 NW 4th; Jesse Banks, 35, 509 NW 4th; Lansford Woods, 32, 1106 NW 7th; Charlie Jewel Buford, 31, 310 NW 3rd; Lionso H. Jimenez, 33, Coahoma; and Daniel Rios, 28, 507 Abrams. One suspect is still at large.

Moore was apprehended in Midland and Jimenez surrendered at the Howard County Sheriff's Office.

Lorenzo L. Pinedo, 27, 509 N. Lancaster, was charged with sale of marijuana.

The suspects taken into custody Friday night were apprehended in various locations on the North Side.

Charges had been filed in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's court last week with the warrants being served this weekend. Slaughter set bond at $25,000 each Friday night.

"This is the first big narcotics roundup we've ever had in this area involving alleged heroin pushers," Slaughter said after the raid.

RAID

Detective Jim McCain explained the raid consisted of members of the detective division of the department, with regular patrol units backing the detectives. "I think it was worth the time and effort put into the raid if it slows down the hard narcotic traffic here just a little bit," McCain said.

"The operation was very successful and I think it will probably be a shock to the community that there may be quite a few people all over town using heroin," Police Chief Jay Banks said.

Banks explained most of the people involved in pushing the narcotics live on the north side "and it is likely that not all people involved with selling narcotics have been arrested."

"I think there was a big dent put in the narcotics traffic in the city," said Captain Stanley Bogard, head of the investigation.

The suspects were transfered from city jail to county jail at 10 a.m. Saturday. A local attorney posted bond for Jimenez Saturday morning and he was released.

Gov. Smith Expects To Lay Out New Tax Plan 'Soon'

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said Saturday he will recommend a new tax package to replace his spend-now, pay-later plan that the legislature rejected this week.

At least two parts of the new program, however, will be remnants of the tax-avoiding message Smith delivered to the legislature Jan. 21, an informed source said.

"We're working on one," Smith said when asked about presenting a new tax play to cover his recommended budget.

DON'T KNOW

But he added, "I really don't know" what the new recommendations will be. Smith said he would review alternatives Monday with Jim Oliver, his chief fiscal aide.

A source said at least five different packages are being considered.

But regardless of which plan he recommends, Smith intends to stick with two features of his Jan. 1 money proposal, the source said:

—Appropriate funds to operate the welfare program for only 10 months in the hope that the federal government will take over all welfare costs on July 1, 1972.

—Finance buildings at new state colleges, medical and dental schools with bonds backed by tuition. This would reduce the need for new taxes by $71 million to $100 million.

The House Appropriations Committee approved a college bond bill Thursday.

'MANY QUESTIONS'

The governor said he wanted to wait until the legislature completed work on emergency appropriations before making his second address.

Still unresolved is whether $34.9 million in emergency spending for welfare and $13.5 million for medical school construction will be financed by a quickie tax bill, deficit spending or Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' proposal temporarily to rearrange priorities for cash coming into the treasury.

Barnes' plan leaves "many questions to be answered," Smith said, including "what kind of precedent would it set?"

"If it would do the job and not be detrimental, certainly everybody would welcome that kind of solution," the governor said.

Smith said if the emergency appropriation is passed and financed next week, he probably would address a joint session of the House and Senate "the latter part of next week or the first part of the following week."

PAY NOW

Barnes' plan will get a 2 p.m. hearing Monday before the Senate Finance Committee. The House plans another vote Monday morning on whether to suspend the constitutional "pay as you go" rule to permit deficit financing of the emergency spending. The spending was approved last week, but the House was eight votes short on the four-fifths majority needed to allow red ink financing.

The lieutenant governor issued a statement Saturday declaring his plan definitely would not cut teacher retirement benefits.

Welfare would be moved ahead of teacher retirement on the priority list for cash flowing into the state treasury.

PHONE CALLS

Barnes said he has received "numerous telephone calls" reflecting "concern over the possibility that such a transfer would cause a reduction in benefits under the teacher retirement system."

"Let me assure each individual receiving benefits from the teacher retirement system that these benefits will not be cut. Should the discussed plan be adopted, a portion of the state's matching funds for the teacher retirement system would be deferred for two or three months. On Sept. 1, the teacher retirement fund would receive the remaining portion of the state matching funds," Barnes said.

JOBS ARE SCARCE, MANY CHECKS BOUNCE

Look At Killeen And The U. S. Army

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. Army has never attacked Killeen but it has changed the face of this Central Texas town just as surely.

Killeen gave birth to Ft. Hood 28 years ago but this one-time farming community is still in labor and it may be a case someday of the baby swallowing the mother.

Some of the town's natives complain of a loss of identity, overcrowding, unsavory elements, petty nuisances and a myriad of things residents of Army towns have bridled against since the first trooper was sent west.

SOME SOLDIERS retort that Killeen is unfriendly, suspicious, boring, ill-prepared to meet their needs and tends to be exploitive of GIs.

Both sides agree, however, that they need each other. Some say Killeen is an "alright place."

One instance is Joanne Hardy, the wife of a career enlisted man. To her, Killeen is a warm, hospitable town. She purchased a house and plans to make Killeen her family's permanent home.

"What impresses me most about Killeen is the friendliness of the people," Mrs. Hardy said in a recent interview. "There is always a warm smile for you . . . It's not like most Army towns where the civilians dislike the military. They are real neighborly here."

AFTON FOGLE, a local businessman, says "our business relies solely on the military. We have to cater to them or we lose business."

He says Killeen needs to end its dependance on Ft. Hood.

Sgt. Douglas Durham of California says Killeen is one of the worst towns he's ever seen. "The people take advantage of you. Businessmen don't have to be courteous to you because they know if they lose your business there will always be someone to take your place. It's an unfriendly, untrusting town."

Camp Hood was built in 1942 while the nation was gearing for war on three fronts. Killeen population: 1,300 people.

But by 1950, the population had swelled to 7,045 and there was no end — and for the time being — no room in sight.

Room in Killeen is still at a premium.

"Lots of people have to wait three or four weeks before anything in their price range turns up," Durham says of housing. "But we had to take what we could. There wasn't much choice."

"IT'S JUST TOO much for a city to handle at one time," says Dan Manfull, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. "Housing has always been a problem; either there is too little or, if troops are cut back, then we have an excess."

"We've had to learn to get along. We have our ups and downs as there is a shift in the military force," says banker C. R. Clements.

"One of the biggest problems now is social. Most of the GI's are young. They need entertainment and places to go. We have a different culture because there are so many young people," said Manfull.

Fogle says what Killeen "needs most is over-all modernization. To make the town more profitable, and right now it isn't doing so well, profitwise, we've got to enhance business and bring it to us."

"Only now are they getting around to building a shopping mall when most towns the size of Killeen have had them for several years," said Durham. "All there are are jewelry stores, men's shops, pawn shops and loan companies. There aren't any nice places to eat or women's stores."

HE SAID JOBS are scarce. His wife, Nancy, he said, was unable to find a job and those available paid but $1 an hour.

"It doesn't matter how well trained you are, they still will take advantage of you. They know that if you are military you'll work for what you can get," he said.

But Fogle says businessmen have to be tough in Killeen because there are so many bad checks.

"It's hard to collect these because lots of people write them intentionally, knowing they will be leaving soon," said Fogle.

Fogle says he takes in $100 a month in hot checks.

Mrs. Fogle says apartment tenants are not all a landlord could hope for. "With people from so many different backgrounds, it's hard to tell how they will treat the apartment. It's particularly hard in furnished apartments. Some people live in their apartment and never clean it."

REBUTTS DURHAM: "All of the apartments are overpriced. They are at least $80 to $100 for anything livable and most run to $150 if you want them with any conveniences. It's too much, yet the landlords will get it because people need housing so badly. They treat you like children rather than adults."

But for Mrs. Hardy, Killeen is heaven.

Mrs. Hardy said Killeen cares about education. "Besides the military conveniences, it's a good place to bring up my children," she said. "You make Killeen what you want it to be."

"We have too many people to place," said Mrs. Fogle. "The GIs want entertainment, nice places to go; permanent residents want good schools, safety; young couples want entertainment and cheap housing. It's been a problem and will continue to be a problem. Naturally, we want to place the permanent residents first. They'll live here forever."

Keynoting the meeting will be Warren D. Fairchild, assistant commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation. Other key speakers will be Brig. Gen. Harold R. Cosmetic Exec, Blonde Wife Slain In Houseboat

DANIA, Fla. (AP) — A dark-complexioned man was being sought by baffled police in this small Gold Coast city Saturday in connection with the bloody killing of a cosmetic executive and his blonde Christmas bride.

Victims of the brutal killing aboard a plush 60-foot houseboat Friday were George W. Beck, 51, vice president of the Revlon Corp., and his wife of six weeks, Ina Jo, 31.

"It wasn't pretty," said Police Chief Ed Baxter. "You hope and pray things like that just won't ever happen."

The Becks were married Dec. 25 in Birmingham, Ala. The striking blonde's parents live in nearby Cullman, Ala. She had worked last year for Revlon in New York as a beauty consultant.

Police said the bride had received a divorce from her first husband several weeks before. Mrs. Beck's full name was listed as Ina Jo Johnson Humphrey Beck.

Police were searching Saturday for a dark-complexioned man seen near the marina by workers on the docks. Witnesses said the man started intently at the $60,000 catamaran.

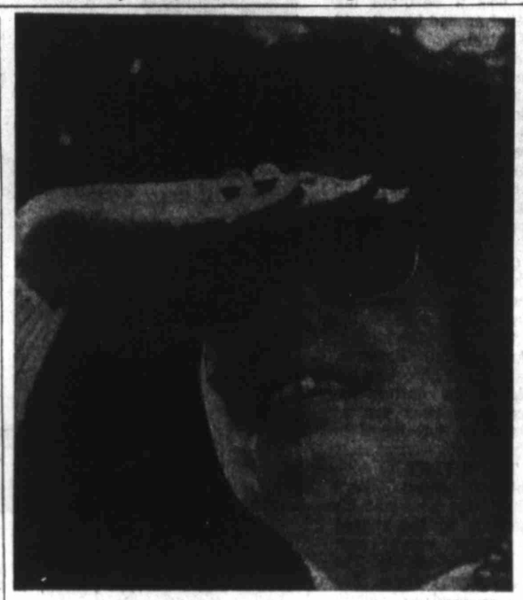

Marina owners Jim and Zell Skinner said Beck purchased the boat before his marriage and that the couple came down often from New York to spend time aboard.

Robbery was ruled out as a motive since police found numerous valuables including Mrs. Beck's three-carat diamond engagement ring on board.

Five Of Dan Blocker Singers Wreck Victims

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP) — Five members of the Dan Blocker Singers who operate the Big Piney Guest Ranch and the Mount Magazine Lodge were killed and three others were injured Friday night in a three-vehicle accident near here on Arkansas 7.

State Police listed the victims as Hart Jackson, 24, Loren Norman, 25, Sinon Ganju, 26, Tony O'Neal, 21, and Angus McMasters, 21.

Authorities said the accident occurred when a tractor-trailer truck driven by B.H. Qualls Jr., 36, of Dover crossed the center line and hit the small bus driven by Jackson. A car driven by James Hood Jr., 33, of Jaster, hit the wreckage.

Injured were Shawn Pepper, 21; Mike Alsup, 27, and Sid Eudy, 22, all of near London.

The Dan Blocker singers moved to Arkansas to run the lodges, after appearing in several West Coast nightclubs.

A spokesman for the singers said 21 of the Singers moved to Arkansas in 1969, because it represented the life-style the Singers wanted.

The Singers, most of whom originally were from Odessa, Tex., went to Hollywood to try for a professional career as a group. While spending three years in Hollywood, they met Dan Blocker, who plays "Hoss" in the Bonanza television series. Blocker agreed to let the young singers use his name.

Webb Class 71-05 Grads

Silver Air Force wings and aeronautical ratings were presented to members of Webb AFB class 71-05 in graduating cremonies held at the Base Saturday morning.

Included among the "Bold Gold," a class which numbers 51, were 47 Air Force officers, three Marines, and one Air National Guardsman.

Class 71-C5 entered preflight Feb. 5, 1970. Seventy-one officers began training in the T-41 Mescalero Feb. 12, 1970. On March 31, 1970 the class entered primary training in the T-37 trainer, and on Aug. 6, 1970 started basic training in the T-38 Talon.

Assignments for the class were to most of the major air commands in the Air Force with Air Training Command (ATC) gaining the largest share, 12. Next in line came the Pacific Air Forces (PACAF) with 10 graduates; close behind was the Tactical Air Command (TAC) with nine. Eight graduates will go to the Military Airlift Command (MAC), four will be assigned to the Aerospace Defense Command (ADC), two will be with the Strategic Air Command (SAC) and one each will go to the Air Force Systems Command (AFSC) and the Air Force Logistics Command (AFLC). The three Marines will be assigned to Yuma, Ariz., while the one Air National Guardsman will return to his home unit.

WT Ranchers, Farmers Hire Arkansas Rainmaker

ASPERMONT, Tex. (AP) — A group of ranchers and farmers in Stonewall County have contracted with a Little Rock, Ark., rainmaker to bring at least five inches of rain to the county within the next 30 days for a fee of $10,000.

The rainmaker is retired Air Force Maj. Homer Berry.

Charles Abernathy, a rancher, heard about Berry's abilities and asked him to come to West Texas.

Abernathy and Berry signed a contract stating that Berry and his partner, R. C. Traylor, "guarantee to produce by artificial means five inches of rainfall in Stonewall County within 30 days from Monday Feb. 8 and at a minimum fee of $10,000."

If it doesn't rain, the investors get their money back.

So far, Abernathy has gotten 40 ranchers and farmers to chip in $4,000, but he guarantees that the additional $6,000 will be in the bank by Monday.

Berry says he can make rain by soaking charcoal briquettes in a mixture of what he calls "special rain - making" chemicals. He then puts the briquettes in a furnace made by lining a barrel with bricks and sets them on fire.

Eventually, Berry says, the briquettes reach 7,200 degrees at which time they turn to gas.

With the help of an air blower attached to the furnace, the gases ascend into the clouds. Berry said the chemicals form ice crystals or snow flakes in the clouds and cool off the air.

"When the humidity of the cooling body of the air reaches 86 per cent," Berry said, "precipitation will commence."

Berry said precipitation will begin in about seven days after the rain-making process begins.

"I always say seven days but I always get it in three. When I guarantee something, I want to give myself plenty of time," he said.

If it does rain in the country, Berry, with Abernathy as his agent for the state, has even bigger plans. He guarantees he can increase the average rainfall in Texas to 40 inches a year.

Turnpike Driving

NEW YORK (AP) — Turnpike-speed driving over long distances requires higher air pressure in tires. Underinflated tires build up heat at high speeds causing the tread to soften and erase itself on the road. A report from Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation recommends adding four pounds of pressure to tires for high speed, long distance driving.

MOVIE BUSINESS NOT ONLY THING IN TERRIBLE SHAPE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lana Turner says she is turning to the stage for the first time in her 33-year acting career because "the movie business is in terrible shape."

Miss Turner has been engaged for a 10-week summer tour of the Broadway hit "Forty Carats."

She said Thursday she liked to keep busy but that recent movie offers had been unattractive.

"The scripts I get nowadays you wouldn't believe," she told an interviewer. "I simply read the titles and I know how repulsive they are."

IT WAS NO MISTAKE

$7,237 Windfall From Back Social Security

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Cecil A. Hall, 68, nearly blind since a 1957 accident and suffering from arteriosclerosis, thought somebody had made a mistake when his mail brought two checks totaling $7,237.20.

It turned out that when Hall started receiving Social Security payments after he accidentally shot himself in a temple 14 years ago while cleaning a rifle, his monthly stipend wasn't set as high as it should have been.

The error was not discovered until Hall's records were checked against insurance and medical records. He underwent surgery 16 months ago at Houston, Tex., for an artery blockage in his legs.

"Some computer in Kansas City caught the mistake Wednesday," Hall quipped Friday.

One of the checks was for $4,000 and the other for "a little over $3,000," he said.

Hall, who has 10 per cent vision, had asked his son to examine the checks to see if they contained an expected 10 per cent raise.

"You got one heck of a raise," the son exclaimed. "It's for $7,000."

After Social Security workers doublechecked his records, they also informed Hall he can expect three more checks totaling $2,000.

Hall's monthly benefits now total $264.

Hall's wife works in a laundry to help support their three teenage children.

One of his three grown children by a previous marriage is a heart specialist in Houston.

Hall, a former painter, hasn't worked since the accident. "I still have the bullet in my head," he said.

Asked what he would do with the money, Hall said: I'll pay off my debts and my home. The money's nice but I'd much rather have my sight back."

Need Informers To Check Heroin

PARIS (AP) — A U.S. congressman believes France will have to start a system of paid informers in order to pinch off the American heroin supply at its Marseille laboratory sites.

Rep. James H. Scheuer, a Democrat of the Bronx, N.Y., is on a tour of five European capitals seeking more efficient international means of controling the drug traffic. Most of the heroin that ends up in the United States comes to France in raw form from the Middle East and Far East. It is transformed into heroin in clandestine "laboratories" in the Marseille area, then smuggled out in a variety of ways.

"They haven't made a single bust in the last year," Scheuer said in an interview Friday. "They're going to have to start using paid informers, which they haven't done yet."

After a round of high-level meetings with French officials and National Assembly deputies, Scheuer was asked if he believed there was any political complicity in France.

"These crime syndicates around Marseille are very tough," he said. "They are Corsican. You have to be Corsican to get into them. They are very hard to break up.

"I have no doubt that they have some political muscle here in Paris. But I wouldn't say that's the reason they haven't been broken up. I think that is just the failure of the French to push dope up on their priority list."

But Scheuer said he does not think the United States should bankroll the paid informer system.

On the other hand, all countries should help the principal poppy producing countries — Turkey, Afghanistan, Laos, Burma and Thailand — to shift into cash crops such as winter melons, potatoes, carrots and other truck vegetables, he said.

France's past "non-attention" to the dope problem probably stems from a preoccupation with alcoholism, Scheuer said.

"We have alcoholics too, about 6 million. But it is our 300,000 heroin addicts who are causing the terror. They have radically altered the quality of life in our cities."

He said in New York alone, heroin addicts probably steal between $5 billion and $10 billion worth of goods per year to keep themselves supplied.

It would be cheaper, he said, to convert Turkey's remaining 80,000 farmers who still grow poppies, from which they make only an average of $70 to $80 a year anyway.

Globe Theatre Seeks Patrons

Patrons for the Globe Theater are being sought in Big Spring so that the Globe can continue to offer its programs in this area at a reduced rate, according to Mrs. Robert Knight.

Mrs. Knight said she and Dan Shockey will be representing the theater in Big Spring in its efforts to obtain patrons locally.

The theater has been presenting road productions of its regular plays in area towns, but because of the reduced rates the road productions may have to be cancelled unless the patrons can be found, Mrs. Knight said.

The Globe's production of "Macbeth" was seen by 8,000 students throughout the Permian Basin, establishing the Globe as the number one educational theater in West Texas. The road production in Big Spring was staged at Big Spring High School.

Two productions of the Globe toured England this summer, and the Shakespearean Festival again hosted visitors in 1971 from around the world.

Air Conditioned

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The thermometer read three degrees below zero when firemen answered the call at the home of Robert Stevens in Albuquerque.

It seems that Stevens' three-year-old daughter, Sharon, had stood on a couch, reached up and turned on the air conditioner, her father said.

As a result, the band instructor said, a short developed in the air conditioner and smoke started pouring from its motor.

Texas Water—VI

State's Great Prosperity Will Be Shot To Pieces Unless.....

Editor's Note: Lack of water to replace depleinshed supplies and to care for an expanding population in Texas is sometimes called a looming tragedy. But it need not be, an extensive investigation demonstrates. The state has a great deal favoring a program of programs to make water available. This, in the last of six stories, the postive side is related.

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite the magnitude of the task, the complexities, problems and politics, Texas quite likely can meet its sweeping, long range water needs, an Associated Press in-depth survey shows

Perhaps not as envisioned in the Texas water plan, although it is a monument to its architects and remains a flexible guide for orderly development, conservation and management.

GOOD DEAL

It may well be without Mississippi River water, the proposed importing of which sparked much controversy, not all of it in Texas.

But Texas has a great deal going for it waterwise, not the least of which are:

1. The rich resources of East Texas, where some signs indicate there is an erosion of reluctance to share its surplus waters with less endowed areas of the state.

2. Gifted, capable water planners, not without some personality conflicts but with foresight of an extraordinary nature.

3. A growing awareness that water development is a statewide problem, confined to no specific area and one which must be tackled in harmony.

RECOGNITION

4. A willingness on the part of High Plains irrigation farmers to make more efficient use of their underground water—even to the point of stringent, self-imposed regulation.

5. Recognition by Gov. Preston Smith and other state leaders of the water problem, and their vigorous efforts to carry out development programs.

6 The simple fact that Texas food and fiber production is vital not only to the state and nation but, with a pending population explosion, also the world.

In the end, it may well be international needs that dictate importation of water into Texas, whether it be from the Far West, the Mississippi, Canada or elsewhere.

One of the more provocative theories on this possibility was advanced by Col. R. S. Kristofferson, who heads the Fort Worth district of the Army Engineers.

FOOD FOR BRIBES

"As I see it," he said, "the problem which we as a people must eventually face is not only how to feed, clothe and support just our own nation, but also to determine the responsibility we have in the same regard for other nations.

"I would submit that the rest of the world will not leave us in peace to enjoy our prosperity while they suffer for lack of essentials which we may have in relative abundance.

"This leads me to the thought that we will need to have every acre of arable land in production to provide food for ourselves and part of the rest of the world.

"We will probably need food to feed our friends and possibly to bribe our enemies.

MORE VALUABLE

"It seems plausible that a shipload of food may be more valuable in conducting international negotiations 50 years from now than an H-bomb is today.

"... The irrigated lands in the High Plains area are some of the most productive in our nation. It may turn out that we cannot spare their productive potential in the future and that we must import water to permit continued production.

"The real value of transporting water to the High Plains may not lie in preserving the status quo of an agricultural economy, or in providing jobs, or in resettling urban populations in rural areas, but in providing invaluable food and fiber for our long-term needs and national survival."

State agencies, the Reclamation Bureau and others are anxiously awaiting completion of an economic "in-put, out-put" study being conducted by Dr. Herb Grubb, on loan to the state from Texas Tech.

NO. 1 INDUSTRY

Grubb is seeking to determine, among other things, the distribution of the state's resources and what over-all economic impact would be if the High Plains economy was destroyed because of lack of water.

"People don't realize this," says Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake. "The majority of the people in Dallas and Fort Worth don't realize this, and certainly in Houston and San Antonio, but the No. 1 industry in Texas today, dollar volume wise, is agriculture.

"It surpassed the oil and gas industry about a year and a half ago."

The conclusion is simple enough. Without adequate water, not only in West Texas, the state's great prosperity will be shot to pieces, the economic impact affecting all Texans.

The High Plains is by no means the only area of crisis, but as one government engineer says, "The plains is the gut water problem, the toughest one and the one with the most immediate social and economic impact."

LONG RANGE NEEDS

"This state can indeed meet its long range needs," said one of the governor's consultants, Tom McFarland. "But it can not do so from water within the state. We've got to get out-of-state water."

Taking the plains and Mississippi water as an example, Harry Burleigh of Austin, the Reclamation Bureau's top engineer in Texas, posed this question:

"What is it worth to this nation socially, environmentally, economically and everything else to pay for that water? In other words, it it a national value to subsidize that damn thing? I don't know.

"Here is a little chunk of the United States that is enormously productive. Cattle. Beef. All the things that New York and Philadelphia and San Francisco need.

IT COULD BE

"That's the best feeding area in America. It's the biggest feeding area in America. In the last 15 years, that's become the beef center of America. Cattle feeding. Irrigated cattle feeding. What's it worth?

"Here's a little chunk of America that produces an incredible amount of goods—food and fiber that the country needs. But it's going out of business.

"Is it worth it to bring Mississippi water out there in the national interest? Perhaps they can't pay for it themselves."

It could be, he said, "a tragedy of our times . . . a tragedy of our history."

Civitans Sign POW Request Competition

Local members of the Civitans signed a letter Friday which will be sent to North Vietnam requesting humane treatment of American prisoners of war.

The letter, which is addressed to the president of North Vietnam, requests that the names of prisoners be released, inspection of the prisons be permitted, the sick and wounded be returned to America and that the POW's be allowed to write their families.

According to Don Morgan, Civitans secretary, the group would like to urge all Big Spring and Howard County residents to follow the club's example and write to North Vietnam requesting better treatment of American prisoners.

Same Old Story Repeated Abroad

BALTIMORE (AP) — American companies are polluting underdeveloped countries, a member of President Nixon's Council on Environmental Quality says.

Uncontrolled pollution could spark "severe political agitation," Dr. Gordon J. F. MacDonald said in a speech at Johns Hopkins University.

"When one examines most of the water resource projects that AID ... has funded, the costs almost always have outweighed whatever potential gain there might be," MacDonald said.

'72 Taxes, Trust Funds Booked For Discussion

Taxes for 1972, trust funds, and the road and bridge department are items with which the county commissioners will concern themselves when their meeting gets under way at 9 a.m. Monday.

Discussion of the tax levy for 1972 is slated as is the discussion of bonds submitted for county school and trust funds. February is also the time that commissioners will have to select a bank depository for county trust funds this year.

Commissioners Bill Crooker and Jack Buchanan are to report on the regulations they were to draw up concerning the duties and responsibilities of the road and bridge administrator and the road superintendent.

Employment policies and working rules for the road and bridge personnel are also on the agenda for discussion. Commissioner Crooker submitted a list of rules at the last meeting which the commissioners were to study and act upon at the next meeting.

The hiring of an assistant to help the county trapper rid the county of varmints is also slated for discussion. Earl Brownrigg, county trapper, told the commissioners in earlier meetings that the varmint population had risen so that he cannot control it alone.

The purchase of equipment for the recording of commission meetings is again on the agenda. The motion concerning looking into the cost of such a purchase died at the last meeting for want of a second.

Chapter To Plan Heart Sunday Canvass Effort

With Heart Sunday only a week away, the Howard County chapter of the American Heart Association will have its monthly meeting Tuesday.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the second-floor training room of the VA Hospital, said Robert Knight, president of the local chapter. It has been postponed from Monday, the original date, to avoid conflict with the Big Spring Heart Association.

Mrs. Ralph Mahoney, chairman of the general canvass set for the afternoon of Heart Sunday, will make a report of plans for this special activity.

The chapter also will elect a delegate to the meeting of the Texas affiliate of the American Heart Association.

Part of the effort in contacting the public on Heart Sunday is educational — to spread the word that heart research is succeeding (the death rate among heart attack victims under age 65 has been reduced by 20 per cent since 1950), and to make people cognizant of the signs of cardiovascular difficulty (the average time for deciding to go to a doctor is three hours after the first symptoms — the most critical period in treating the attack).

Knight stressed that heart attack still is the nation's No. 1 killer and that the fight against it cannot be relaxed.

Cowboy Star Coming Here

Old-time cowboy film star Col. Tim McCoy will bring his Country Caravan and Stage Show here March 19 under sponsorship of the Woodmen of the World, Camp 312.

Proceeds from the show will be used to equip the new Big Spring Boy's Club with athletic and sports equipment and to help turn the property at Sixteenth and Birdwell into a public park for children in that area.

Carl Albright, chairman of the ticket committee for the woodmen, said tickets will be 50 cents for children and prices for adults have not been set.

The Boy's Club has been using the Woodmen's building for the past year and a half, waiting for their building to be completed, Albright said.

The stage show features Col. McCoy who made more wild west cowboy movies than any other western star of his era.

Dawson Case Is Affirmed

The trial court judgment in the case of George T. Schryer vs. Larry T. Bishop et ux, appealed by Bishop from Dawson County, has been affirmed by the Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

The court denied a motion by the appellee to dismiss the appeal.

In the case of Donald Ray White, in his appeal from a Texas Department of Public Safety case from Howard County, the court denied the appellee's motion for a rehearing.

Water Project Moves Rapidly

Things are falling rapidly into place on the crash project of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to have an additional well supply ready for its system by June 1.

The 33-in. supply line is being strung on the right of way, and within a week the contractor is due to begin laying pipe eastward from Wickett. Shortly after that, a second crew will begin at a point in Ector County and lay east, to be followed by a third crew which will take the line in to the Odessa terminal storage.

Construction of two of the three pump stations has started, and the third will await action on a condemnation suit. O. H. Ivie, general manager, said it appeared that the district would have to file on two tracts of the 47-mile line.

Bids will be opened in Big Spring at 2 p.m. Feb. 19 for the last portions of the project — the laying of 38,000 feet of gathering lines in the Ward County well field; the construction of an electric distribution system to the wells; and the purchase of well pumps.

Ivie said that four wells have now been completed and tested, and a fifth is in process of being tested. Another well has been drilled but is awaiting casing.

More than 40 students are currently attending college on scholarships provided through the Houston event.

Attending will be Robbie Wegner, Connie Hughes, Debra Blackshear, Kent Robinson, Tim Blackshear, Kay Hunt, Jill Hunt, Ann Nichols, Martin Nichols, Kenneth Smith, Dirk Perry, Carla Perry, Summer Shaw, Cindy Shaw, Patty Peugh, Johnny Peugh, David Zant, Kelly Zant, H. City Council Faces Full Agenda Tuesday

A full agenda of 11 items will be up Tuesday for consideration before the city commissioners at 5:15 p.m.

The commissioners will be presented a claim for damages by Wayne Basden, attorney, in behalf of Bill Baker, Rt. 1, Box 111A, Big Spring. The claim is for injuries Baker claims he sustained and for damages to his truck, occurring in a collision on the Eleventh Place Extension, (Lover's Lane).

A bid award will be given to the low bidder on 10 new cars and three pickups for the city police department. Bids were opened Wednesday morning, with the apparent low bidder on the cars being Pollard Chevrolet and on the pickups, Bob Brock Ford.

Minutes of the Traffic Commission meeting Jan. 29 will be read and the commissioners will consider recommendations on improvements in the city traffic situation.

A lease form on a concessionaire for the Comanche Trail Park will be presented for the commissioners' approval. The lease draws guidelines by which the concessionaire will operate his stand in cooperation with city standards.

Vouchers through Feb. 3 will be examined in the session.

Bo Anderson, director of utilities will request permission of the commission to take bids on a 24-inch butterfly valve. The valve is to be used to replace the 24-inch raw water valve at the Water Treatment Plant. The existing gate valve has been worn by the abrasive action of the raw water until it will not completly shut off the flow of water.

An ordinance, calling the election of new city commissioners in April, will come before the commission for approval.

Recommendations from the planning and zoning commission on a new mobile home ordinance will be examined by the city commission. The long studied ordinance will provide minimum standards and requirements for mobile home and travel trailer parks.

The first reading of an ordinance for the annexation of Cosden Country Club will take place at the meeting. The ordinance provides for the extension of city limits that would take in the land that makes up the club.

The commission will also hear the second reading of an ordinance authorizing Arnold Marshall, mayor, to execute, on behalf of the city, a proffer of gift of 1,274.07 acres of land to the United States and declaring an emergency. The land is located at Webb Air Force Base.

SOARING TO A RECORD — Jan Johnson of Alabama clears the pole at 17¼ feet Friday night in the pole vault event at the Knights of Columbus track meet at New York's Madison Square Garden. Johnson last year set the world indoor record of 17 ft. 7 inches. Bob Seagren set the old record of 16 ft. 6¾ inches in 1968.

BS Invitational Starts Friday

The Big Spring High School Invitational Golf Tournament will be reeled off here Friday and Saturday with 19 teams from District 5-AAAA and around the area participating.

Coach Royce Cox of Big Spring plans to enter three teams in the competition. Odessa Permian will enter two teams; Midland Lee and Midland High will go with two teams each.

Other schools entered will be Odessa High, Abilene High, San Angelo, Snyder, Sweetwater, Seminole, Kermit, Ft. Stockton, Monahans, Forsan and one player from Coahoma, Larry Gross. All schools will compete for the championship in one classification.

Howard Stewart, Mark Slate, Jarrell Carroll, Mark Peters and Mark McCraney will, according to Cox, probably comprise the number one team for the Steers.

The tournament will get under way both days with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. Friday's round will be played at the Municipal Course and the final 18 holes will be reeled off at the Big Spring Country Club.

One of the big guns in the tournament will be Midland Lee's John Adams. He was the state junior runner-up last year.

Monahans' Dub Huckaby is another outstanding golfer in the field. Huckaby was the State AAA medalist last season.

Mark McCraney has posted the best round for the Steers this season in competition with a 70.

Midland Lee copped second place honors in the San Angelo High School Invitational a week ago and Abilene High and Big Spring tied for fifth.

Coach Cox announced that two freshmen would be on one of the three teams from Big Spring. They are Bennett Robb and Jimmy Stewart.

Three visiting teams in next week's action were in the Spring City Saturday getting in a few practice shots at the Municipal links. Midland Lee, Midland High and San Angelo toured the course. Cox also had the Big Spring contingent getting in a few practice swings.

Scot Expects To Triumph

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World lightweight boxing champion Ken Buchanan of Scotland has a simple explanation of why he believes he will hang on to the title when he faces California's ex-champion, Mando Ramos, Friday night.

"Ismale Laguna defeated Remos and I defeated Laguna," says the 25-year-old boxer from Edinburgh.

This will be Buchanan's initial defense of the 135-pound division title since he won it from Panama's Laguna on a 15-round split decision under a broiling sun in Puerto Rico last Sept. 26.

Laguna won the crown when he literally carved out a ninth-round knockout over the bit kid from San Pedro here last March 4. The match was stopped in the ninth round because of Mando's bad eye cuts.

Ramos watched the Buchanan-Laguna contest on television and promptly asked his co-manager, Jackie McCoy, to go after the Scot and his manager, Eddie Thomas, for the championship engagement.

Softball Meeting Called For 7:30 P.M. Tuesday

All persons who would like to see a stronger City softball league organized here have an open invitation to attend a 7:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday in the offices of Auto Super Market, 905 W. 4th St.

Four teams took part in league play last year and it is hoped twice that many can be lined up this year.

A new softball commissioner will be named at the time.

Softball play ordinarily begins in late April or early May and continues through July and into early August.

A couple of teams are already in sight for the proposed league. Costs of the operation, the player limit and other items relating to the operation of the circuit will be discussed at the Tuesday session.

A WET GOLFING HOMER — Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants puts his home run hitting form to use as he drives out of a lake during Saturday's second round of the $30,000 Astrojet Golf Tournament. Mays rolled up his pants legs and waded into the lake when the ball went into the water on the second hole. Mays is one of many professional baseball and football stars taking part in the 54-hole best ball tournament.

Sensory Buds Help Catfish

A catfish "nose" how to get around in muddy water.

In fact, a catfish has more noses than most any kind of animal.

He is equipped for smelling food better than any other freshwater fish because of dozens of sensory buds in his mouth, whiskers, head and lateral line.

The most unusual part of his ability to smell is that the muddier the water becomes, the more sensory buds are activated on the various locations on the fish's body.

Marion Toole, inland fisheries coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said experiments with radioactive substances have shown that individual catfish taken from clear water and placed in turbid is because the fish is able to rely less on his eyes to find food and is forced to use his sense of smell.

This ability to find food in muddy waters gives the catfish an advantage over "sight-feeding" fish such as bass. Therefore, when a new lake fills and remains turbid you can usually expect it will be a better catfish fishing lake than a bass lake, Toole said.

Owls Topple Red Raiders

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice Owls put together a solid second half defense and a tough stance at the foul line here Saturday to down Texas Tech 80-64 in a Southwest Conference basketball game.

It was the first victory after three losses for Rice, last year's conference champion, and pushed Tech deeper into the conference darkness.

The Owls took a six-point, 30-24 first half lead, having to score the last four points to do that.

The tempo of play speeded up in the second half with the Rice fast break offense ripping a Tech press to shreds.

In the second half, the Owls employed a zone defense to stymie the Tech shooting.

Gary Reist was high man for the Owls with 18 points but four Owls shot double figures. Steve Williams also hit 18 to make him high man for Tech.

The Owls dropped in 29 field goals to the Red Raiders' 24 and really worked out on the foul line, downing 22 of 26 opportunities. Tech shot only 16 of 24 at the charity line.

15-Year-Old Skater Wins

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Narrowly missing a world record, 15-year-old Anne Henning of Northbrook, Ill., led a strong U.S. contingent by winning the 500-meter race Saturday at the Women's World Speed Skating Championships.

Miss Henning flashed around the course in 44.6 seconds—just 200th of a second slower than the world record for a lowland course held by Ludmila Titova of the Soviet Union. Miss Titova was second here in 45.8.

Miss Henning's triumph in the 500, coupled with a 22nd-place finish in the 1,500, put her in fourth place over-all after the first two events.

Diane Holun, also from Northbrook, added to the American showing with a third-place finish in the 1,500 behind Nina Stathewich of Russia and Stien Kaiser of Holland. Miss Stathewich was timed in 2:23.2.

Miss Holun was clocked in 2:25.6 for the event and was sixth in the over-all standings. Miss Henning's time for the 1,500 was 2:33.9.

Russians held the first three places in the over-all standings with Miss Stathewich first, Miss Titova second and Tatjana Averina third.

Astros Sign 23 To Contracts

HOUSTON — The Houston Astros have passed the halfway point in signing players for the 1971 season, General Manager H. B. (Spec) Richardson has announced.

Twenty-three of the 43 players scheduled to see spring training action with the Astros have returned signed contracts, Richardson noted.

Steve Judy Is Criticized For Remarks About Blacks

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., (AP) —The father of one of four blacks who quit the Texas Christian football team said Saturday quarterback Steve Judy of the Horned Frogs "had no business saying some of the things he did."

Ervin Garnett Sr., principal at Washington Junior High School and father of former TCU defensive back Ervin Garnett Jr., said "He's (Judy) not a coach and certainly not qualified to talk about discipline and having players who have the desire to win more than the ones who quit."

Judy told The Associated Press Thursday, "I hate to see boys with talent leave and go somewhere else, but I think we have the boys who can replace them and want to win more than they did."

Garnett Sr., in an interview with Sports Editor Ted Buss of the Wichita Falls Times, said, "I do not want to be critical of TCU or coach Jim Pittman but there are a couple of things that upset me about what has happened."

Garnett Sr. said, "I recall (Raymond) Rhodes, Hodges Mitchell, Larry Dibbles all had pretty fair years. Ervin started the first four games before getting hurt. Still, he tried to play on a bad knee before his leg finally collapsed and he had to have an operation.

"As I remember, Judy didn't have the year he did as a sophomore. In a game against Rice, he threw seven interceptions . . . on that basis I can't see he has any business talking about discipline."

Another disappointment to Garnett Sr. was the manner in which he found out his son was leaving TCU. He said he was downtown shopping and got word from his wife about the story that had broken late Wednesday.

Palmer, Weaver, Shaw Deadlocked For Lead

HONOLULU (AP) — Arnold Palmer, gunning for his first victory in more than a year, rolled in a 15-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole Saturday and moved into a tie for first place in the $200,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

The 41-year-old giant of the game had a third round four-under-par 68 for 204 and was tied at that figure with second-round leader Tom Shaw and husky Dewitt Weaver.

Shaw, wearing a broad-brimmed white planter's hat to ward off the blazing sun, had a 69 and Weaver matched Palmer's 68 on the Wailalae Country Club course.

A group of four headed by defending champion Bruce Crampton tied at 206, two strokes off the pace. The others are Dave Stockton, veteran Miller Barber and big Bill Garrett. Crampton had a 68 and the other three carded 67's in the near-perfect golfing weather.

Lee Trevino, the 1970 leading money-winner, bolted into contention with 66 for a 207 and commented: "I've got to make $3,000 to break even. I've got all those crumb-snatchers with me." He explained that his wife had two children accompanying him on the trip.

Palmer, desperately hungry for his 56th tour victory to insure his spot as the game's premier attraction, was at or near the top all day.

But the all-time leading money-winner was still frustrated with less than spectacular putting.

"I made one putt all day," Palmer said. "I was close to the hole on almost all of them, but I just couldn't make a putt."

He missed seven times from 15 feet or less, twice from four feet.

Palmer reached the par five first in two and two-putted for a bird, then missed from four feet on the second hole. He put a three-iron three feet away and made the putt off number four.

Detroit Acquires Center Red Bersenson In Trade

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings, seeking to regain a respectable position in the National Hockey League following a major front-office shakeup, obtained colorful Red Berenson in a startling four-player transaction with the St. Louis Blues Saturday.

In acquiring the speedy, hard-shooting center, the Red Wings gave up Gary Unger, the long-haired, potential superstar, and veteran Wayne Connelly. Tim Ecclestone accompanied Berenson to Detroit. All the traded players are forwards.

CONTENDER

Berenson is generally credited with having made St. Louis a Stanley Cup contender the past three seasons. The Blues advanced to the finals of the post-season competition each year, winning the West Division crown the last two campaigns.

A former All-American college star at the University of Michigan, Berenson was obtained from the New York Rangers in November, 1967 when St. Louis was struggling for a playoff position. The Blues finished in third place as Berenson wound up with 22 goals. He totaled 35 in 1968-69 and 33 last season. He equaled a league record in November, 1968, by scoring six goals in one game.

Unger, 23, scored 42 goals last season. However, he managed only 13 this year for the Red Wings, who are in sixth place in the seven-team East Division.

PLAYERS ASSN.

Berenson speculated that his position as president of the NHL Players' Association prompted the trade. He said he had heard indications "that there were problems, at least towards me, involving the Players' Association more than any one other thing. I thought I had a lot of friends here (St. Louis), and I do, but I have fewer friends than I thought."

Scotty Bowman, general manager of the Blues, who are second in the West Division, said he wouldn't have traded Berenson even-up for Boston center Phil Esposito at this time a year ago. Esposito is currently setting a record-chattering pace as the league scoring leader. Berenson has 16 goals and Esposito 45.

Borden County Defeats Dawson

GAIL — Borden County hiked its record to 8-3 here Friday night with a 73-52 triumph over Dawson. Dawson now stands at 1-10.

Dawson grabbed the girls tilt, 36-32, with Terry Bearden taking scoring honors with 24 points. Vicki Newton's 28 were high for Borden County.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

No Way Clay Can Lose

By TOMMY HART

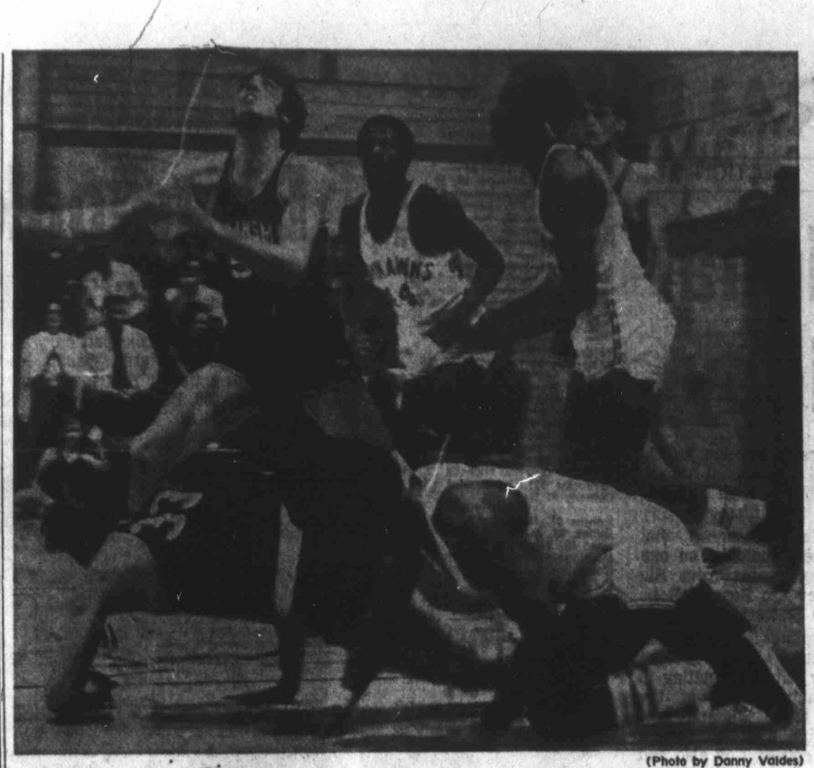

There's no way Cassius Clay can lose in his decision to defy an order to be drafted for military service . . . A $2.5 million check will be picked up by the garrulous one after his fight with Joe Frazier . . . If he goes to jail for his stand on the draft, he helps his reputation as a martyr . . . To many, he became a kind of symbol of the injustice of our draft system and even of the war in Vietnam itself . . . He could have gone into uniform without a protest and, almost certainly, been given a soft touch . . . Once in the service, he likely would have been allowed to fight from time to time . . . Had he allowed himself to be drafted, sparring in exhibitions would hardly have cast him as a hero . . . Had his request to be regarded as a conscientious objector been granted, it wouldn't have upgraded him in the eye of many . . . But because he stood up for what he thought was right, he wins both ways . . . It's disturbing to think, though, that had he been white and assumed such a pose, he might have been ostracized to the end of his days . . . How times do change . . . Herman Evans, who ran a 9.6 for Big Spring High School last fall, will get his chance at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales . . . New coach Bill Silverberg, a former distance runner in Kansas, is trying to build a track program at ENMU and needs sprinters like Evans . . . Herman was taken on the recommendation of BSHS track coach Glen Petty, who once ran in the same Kansas Relays with Silverberg . . . Louie Smith is throwing the shot ten feet farther than he did last year and is apt to do very well in the endeavor for Big Spring before he's through . . . NOBODY LOST ANYTHING, REALLY . . .

Hawks Bury Borger Quintet, 122-102

By TOMMY HART

Both baskets absorbed a lot of wear and tear as Howard County JC steamrollered Frank Phillips College, 122-102, here Friday night to retain a share of the lead in the Western Conference basketball race.

The Jayhawks are now 5-1 in league competition and 19-8 over-all. They should notch that coveted 20th win Tuesday night in Roswell, N.M., against NMMI but holding onto the lead may pose a far more serious problem when they venture to Hobbs Friday night to oppose New Mexico JC.

Coach Harold Wilder turned Archie Myers and Decell Lewis loose against the Plainsmen. Together they racked up 76 points, Myers bagging a season's high of 41 and Lewis counting 35.

The two benefitted from excellent feeds on the part of their teammates. Melvin Perez, although he scored only eight points, had an outstanding night for HC. He was the steadying influence on the floor. Perez picked off 10 caroms and wound up with nine assists, tops for the season by any Jayhawk.

Frank Phillips didn't roll over and play dead. The Plainsmen were tremendous in their outside shooting and kept within hailing distance of the locals throughout the contest.

Bob Gonnerman tallied 25 points for the visitors while Ray Coffer had 24 and Earl O'Steen had 20.

Outside of Myers and Lewis, only Shelley York hit in double figures for the Hawks. York settled for 11 points.

Lewis clawed down 14 rebounds while Myers had 13 and Perez and Lawrence Young 10 each.

All but 10 of the Hawks' points came from the field. The local had 18 chances at the penalty line and made good on only 10 of those.

The resident quintet scored 68 points the first half and left for the rest break with a 15-point bulge.

The locals hit a sizzling 70 per cent of their shots from the floor the first half — 31 of 45. The second half, they tailed off to 43, still pretty good.

Stott, Two Vets Daytona Choices

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ramo Stott, the defending champion, and a pair of oldsters whose combined racing experience totals more than 50 years, are favored in today's ARCA 300 stock car race for midwest drivers.

Stott, 37, of Keokuk, Iowa, has the inside front row position for the 1 p.m. start. Driving a Plymouth, Stott qualified at 180.908 m.p.h., best of the 50 starters.

Grandfather Iggy Katona, at 55 one of the oldest active drivers in auto racing, won the other front row spot with a speed of 180.548 m.p.h. in a Dodge. He won this event in 1965.

Andy Hampton, 45, made the second row with a clocking of 175.029 in a Dodge. The Louisville, Ky., veteran came home first in 1968.

Stott's pole speed was some 10 miles per hour off Benny Parson's record of 190.564 set last year. The 1971 cars, however, are required to run without side windows, and the strictly racing cars of last year—notably the winged Plymouth's and Dodges—have been outlawed.

Stott's winning speed for last year's 300-mile race over the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway was 142.068 m.p.h. Hampton holds the race record of 152.736.

Sunday's winner will be paid $5,900 from the $35,025 purse, making it the biggest payoff on the ARCA circuit made up mostly of short ovals in the midwest. Stott won the driving title last year.

Other favorites in the eighth running of the event are 45-year-old Plymouth driver Les Snow, a portly veteran from Bloomington, Ill., Red Farmer of Hueytown, Ala., the third best qualifier at 178.869 in a Ford, and Jim Scott of Louisville, who made the third row at 175.029 in a Ford.

Tom Bowsher, last year's ARCA rookie of the year and younger brother of Jack Bowsher, who built Ford racing cars for A. J. Foyt, starts beside Snow in the sixth row. Bowsher, from Springfield, Ohio, came in at 174.740 in a Ford.

Westbrook Wins

HOBBS — Westbrook raced to its fifth District 10-B cage victory of the season here Friday night by topping winless Hobbs, 87-68.

Hobbs' top scorer was Mike Hull with 24 points. Westbrook is now 5-8 in district play and Hobbs is 0-13.

Steer Cage Team Hitting At 86.2 Norm For Year

Just four games away from concluding one of the finest seasons in recent years, the Big Spring Steers are burning the nets for an 86.2 per game average.

Standing 13-16 on the season with four more district games left in the campaign, Coach Ron Plumlee has had the Steers running and shooting all season long and it has paid off in a bundle of points.

Richard Bullard has been the sparkplug for the Bovines throughout the season and he is racing along with a 15.3 average.

Three other steer regulars are in double figures. Mike Randle is scoring at a 14.9 per game clip, Jesse Olague sports a 13.5 average and David Carter is hitting 11.3 points per contest.

Randy Womack and Ted Smith have not seen action in all the games, therefore their per game average is not posted.

The junior varsity cagers, undefeated in first round district action, are scoring 63.7 points per outing.

Lanky Robert Wallace paces the club with a 17.1 per game mark. Larry Pierce holds down second spot in the scoring race with an 8.8 mark. Hot on his heels is Dave Gamboa with an 8.5 slate.

The Junior club is 1-2 in the second half district race.

Slowdown Basketball Draws Some Slings

NEW YORK (AP) — Adolph Rupp, Frank McGuire and John Wooden are opposed to it. Lefty Driesell is for it. And Bill Raftery is neither hawk nor dove.

And the war goes on about slowdown college basketball.

"When you take the action out of basketball, you take the action out of the gate," said Rupp, Kentucky's fabled coach.

"Any general trend to slow down will kill the game," said McGuire, the South Carolina leader who's been burned more than once this year.

"It doesn't make for good basketball, but it is within the rules," says Wooden, who has had overwhelmingly success at UCLA against every conceivable type of offense.

FREEZE HELPFUL

Driesell, on the other hand, has had remarkable fortune with the freeze-ball technique. Among his noted victims is McGuire's ranked powerhouse.

"I got the idea from North Carolina," said Maryland's Driesell. "North Carolina did such an excellent job with it, and I almost copied it directly. It wasn't original with me, but that's the way things are going."

North Carolina's slowdown yanked South Carolina out of its zone and the Tar Heels pulled off a 79-64 upset. Maryland cold-shouldered South Carolina into submission, 31-30, and the Gamecocks lost another stall to Virginia, 50-49.

"You know what's going to happen when you see a pro game," said Driesell. "Someone is going to shoot before 24 seconds are up. I don't like that. I think it takes something out of the game.

"The college game is more interesting from the spectator's standpoint and for the coach, because he's got to prepare his team for anything. We don't know what's going to happen."

Raftery, the coach of Seton Hall, doesn't mind how they play—just so they come prepared for anything.

"It really doesn't matter to me one way or the other," said Raftery, among the young blood in college coaching ranks. "If a time clock is implemented, we'll play the game that way. Everyone could adjust. But it makes no diference to me."

Other coaches who advocate a ban against the slowdown include Jack Kraft of Villanova, Harry Litwack of Temple, Press Maravich of Louisiana State and Roy Rubin of Long Island University.

CAN'T LEGISLATE

Kraft, a member of the NCAA rules committee, likes to watch the game unfold quickly—but admitted that rulesmakers are stumped in efforts to legislate against stalls.

"They don't want to make deliberate attacks illegal," he said.

He added that colleges are opposed to a 30-second clock, similar to the 24-second job used in the pros, but said they were concerned about stalling.

"It isn't the best thing for the fans," said Kraft.

Litwack, a former member of the rules committee, said he didn't know what rule could be set up to prevent stalling. But, he said, the stall-ball technique is bad for the game.

"It's bad because we all know what financial trouble college athletics are having and that we have to depend on gate receipts," said Litwack. "It's always been my philosophy that when a guy plunks down $5 for a night's entertainment he'll get cheated if he doesn't get it."

Maravich wouldn't mind a time clock.

"If they did bring in the clock," he said, "then maybe they'd get rid of 10-second rule and five-second rule and abandon the zone defense.

"While we're on the subject, I'd also like to see three-point goals (as in the American Basketball Association). Those shots take more skill. Why, my grandmother could make layups."

Gubin favors a clock, too. The 30-second type.

"A lot of coaches are afraid of it," he said. "But they really haven't thought about it. They could still keep the score low but you wouldn't have any halftime scores of 4-3 (Maryland led South Carolina by that score at the half)."

Sterling City Blasted, 71-47

BLACKWELL — The homestanding Blackwell Hornets put the stinger to Sterling City here Friday night to the tune of 71-47.

Kenneth Crane was top man for the winners with 13 and Charles Kilpatrick notched 15 for Sterling City.

Blackwell won the girls game, 51-34.

Kentwood Winner Over Foe, 19-18

Kentwood hustled by Park Hill-Marcy, 19-18, in a Gra-Y Basketball league game here Saturday morning.

In other action, Airport-Cedar Crest decisioned College Heights, 17-11, Lakeview-Bauer trounced Boydstun, 36-13, and Washington upended Moss, 31-23.

Top Local Bowler Has Six Perfect Games In Career

Most bowlers spend a lifetime looking for the coveted and hard-to-come-by perfect 300 game. In the short span of 12 years Tom Davis has realized the dream six times.

Davis, a staff sergeant with the Air Force at Webb, started bowling 12 years ago and is recognized as the best of the lot in local circles.

In his own words, Tom said, "I've won so many tournaments that I can't remember them all." Some of the victories that did come to mind were titles in the Southwest Classic at Midland, the Ragtime Doubles in the Spring City and the All-Air Force singles and all-events crowns at March AFB, Calif., in 1964.

Tom has been in Big Spring since May, 1970 and is active in three bowling leagues. He participates in the Industrial League, where he carries a 215 average; the Scratch Trio, with a 223 average; and in the intramural league at Webb, where he carries a 195 average.

Tom says the thing you must do to be a successful bowler is practice. "You should practice every day. I admit I haven't been practicing that much lately, but to maintain proficiency, its a must."

Five of Tom's perfect games were not sanctioned. The one that was came in the Mid-West Bowlers' Tournament in Chicago in April of 1970. That 300 was, of course, his high game, and his high series came just last weekend when he rolled a 768 series in the Southwest Classic in San Angelo.

Davis used a 16 pound ball and it seems to work perfectly for him. "I have bowled against many professionals and most of the time I win," he offered. "The one I remember that I didn't win was here against Jim St. John. He beat me by 10 pins."

TOM DAVIS

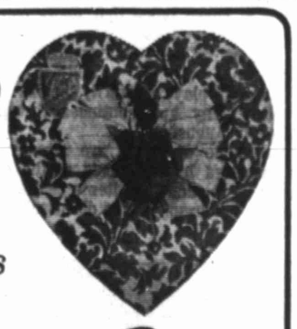

The native of Smyrna, Tenn., has this advice for novice bowlers. "You've got to like the game. You must be dedicated and you must practice, practice, practice. It's a lot of hard work becoming a good bowler, but if you love the game, its worth it."

Both Forsan Teams Win 11-B Crowns

GARDEN CITY — Forsan's boys and girls basketball teams picked the same night to clinch District 11-B basketball titles.

The victim in each instance was Garden City and the games were unreeled Friday.

Forsan's boys had a fairly easy time measuring the Garden City Bearkats, 71-58, but the girls had all sorts of problems before they won, 56-51. The Buffalo Queens got in foul trouble early and the Kittens made them work for everything they got.

GEORGE WHITE

The win marked the 11th straight district championship Forsan's girls have won. The boys were in the playoffs last in 1969. They lost to Miles in bi-district competition then.

The girls likely will play Wall in bi-district this year while the boys are due to face Miles. The date of the girls' playoff is due to be either Feb. or Feb. 16.

George White coaches the Forsan boys while Don Stevens is the girls' mentor.

In added games, Garden City B girls' team won, 43-16, in a game that saw Debra Plagens score 19 points for the Kittens and Darlene Rister nine for Forsan.

In boys' B play, Forsan won, 53-22. David Crooks had 17 points for Forsan while Floyd Schwartz tallied 12 for Garden City.

In boys' A team play, Mike Murphy had 19 points and Jeff Williams 17 for Forsan but Garden City's Richard Schafer was tops for the game with 22.

The Forsan boys are currently 13-8 on the year and 9-0 in conference.

Gloria Dodd again paced the Forsan girls with 39 points while Lisa Hirt counted 25 for Garden City.

The Forsan girls are 18-7 over-all and 9-0 within the league.

Matson Wins But Effort Far Short Of His Goal

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson settled another score with Al Feuerbach Friday night at the Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games in their continuing shot put feud, but the distance was still far short of the goal the Pampa, Tex., ace wants.

The massive Matson flipped the indoor shot — bigger and softer than the regular outdoor variety — 68-feet, 4-inches to easily take the first place medal.

Feuerbach of Los Angeles, who set a world indoor record of 68-11 in San Francisco in January, could propel the shot only 66-7½.

Matson, the Olympic champion and a former star at Texas A&M, wants to hit the 70-foot mark indoors. He holds the world outdoor record of 71-5½.

Matson said there was more pressure on him than usual at Fort Worth.

"I would've hated to get beat in Texas and Fort Worth," he smiled. "I'm disappointed I didn't get 70-feet."

There are a number of spotlight events tonight including a duel between John Pennel and Olympic king Bob Seagren in the pole vault; Dick Fosbury in the high jump; the Mills brothers, Curtis and Marvin, vs. Joe and Gene Pouncy of Southern Methodist in the 60-yard dash, and Tom Van Ruden in the mile.

The only meet records set in Friday night's preliminaries was a 30.6 in the 300-yard run by Robert Mitchell of the University of Houston and a 43.1 by Jimmy Evans of Dallas Baptist in the 400.

Mike Branch, a Fort Worth Southwest High School student, set a new indoor state record in the high jump with a leap of 68-¼.

Matson's series started at 65-10, increased to 67-3, dropped off to 67-1 and 66-6¾. He climbed to 67-8 before he made his winning toss.

In the only other open division final event, Oklahoma State went to a victory in the two mile relay in 7:35.7.

Tony Conigliaro Scoffs At Stories Of Problems

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, comfortably adjusted to his trade to the California Angels, still is bitter about reports his trade by Boston was hastened by personnel problems.

The mod outfielder, competing in the $30,000 Astrojet Golf Tournament for baseball and football players, took time between holes to refute allegations in a recent magazine article that he was a "club house lawyer" and was more interested in a career in acting than in baseball.

"I'm going to cut another recording in two weeks," Conigliaro said. "But I'm not planning any serious career in entertainment. It's just an off-season thing."

He said to other suggestions that he contributed to a lack of team harmony were "completely untrue."

Conigliaro, who said he was at first "shocked" with his trade to the Angels, said he is now comfortably settled in Newport Beach, Calif., overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

"I had a long talk with Jim Fregosi (Angels' captain) and I'm ready to play," said Conigliaro. "We can win it all this year, but only if we play together.

Conigliaro, the Red Sox leading RBI producer last year with 116, hopes to make it a brother combination at California. His younger brother, Rich, is going to try out for the team this spring, "and I think he has the stuff to make it."

Last Half Comeback Pays Off For Cats

By GENE NORTON

A fighting band of Big Spring Steers gave league-leading Odessa Permian all it could handle for two periods here Friday night before falling, 85-63.

Permian, setting the pace in District 5-AAAA, saw a fired up Steer squad jump off to a six-point advantage in the opening minutes before the Panthers could counter on a pair of free throws by Charles Swedberg.

A tenacious Steer defense held the hot-shooting Panthers to just two field goals in the opening eight minutes. Odessa's first bucket came midway the quarter and its second came just seconds before the end of the period. At the end of the first quarter, Big Spring was on top, 21-9.

Big Spring kept the pressure on in the second stanza and went to the dressing room with a six point bulge, 37-31.

The third period proved to be the downfall for the Steers as Permian came out running and shooting and they couldn't seem to miss the basket. At one stretch, Odessa connected on 10 straight shots from the field. The Panthers shot a torrid 72 per cent from the floor in that third quarter and went into the final period of play with 58-48 margin.

Odessa continued to pour it on in the final stages and won going away, 85-63.

All five Panther starters hit in double figures for the evening with dapper guard Bill Wirwahn showing the way with 20 points. Swedberg added 16 and Jeff Jamison and Terry Crews hit 13 each. Steve Lang counted 12 for the winners.

Mike Randle led Big Spring scorers with 18 points on nine baskets and Richard Bullard contributed 15 on seven field goals and one free throw.

The Steers return to the hardwood Tuesday when they travel to Midland to engage the Midland Lee Rebels.

Big Spring will be taking a 13-16 season record into that action. The Steers stand 0-3 in district play.

In the junior varsity game Big Spring romped, 84-53. David Gamboa and Rondel Brock were top point men for the Shorthorns with 16 points each. Ric Gordon led Permian with 14.

Sub-4 Minute Mile May Be Run In Astrodome

HOUSTON — Although the State of Texas long has been strong in track, it never has seen a sub-four-minute mile.

That drouth may end during the third annual Astrodome-Federation Track and Field Meet, coming up Feb. 12-13 in the Astrodome.

Three runners who have bettered four minutes head up an outstanding field for the Astrodome meet's mile run. And one, or maybe more than one, of them could break the so-called four-minute "barrier."

Two-time NCAA champion Marty Liquori of Villanova has to be the top man in the classy field. Liquori was the seventh-ranked miler in the world last year and has a top effort of 3:54.1.

It was Liquori, then a junior at Villanova, who dethroned the fabled Jim Ryun of Kansas as the NCAA mile champion. Since that time, he has been among the elite in the world. Liquori ranked second to Arizona State's Chuck LaBenz in 1970 as the class of American milers.

Liquori's bid for supremacy on the boards in the Astrodome will be challenged by his Villanova teammate Chris Mason and Bowling Green's Dave Wottle.

Mason, who teams with Liquori to give Villanova a tremendous one-two distance punch, has run a 3:59.9, while Wottle has recorded 3:59.0.

There's still an outside chance that Ryun will be in the field for the Astrodome meet. The world record holder in the mile with a clocking of 3:51.1 started his comeback bid three weeks ago and his presence in the field would make a tremendous race.

Nebraska's Greg Carlberg brings a 4:02.2 effort to the indoor action and, along with Wisconsin's Don Vandrey (4:02.8), Kansas' Mike Solomon (4:03.8) and Bowling Green's Sid Sink (4:04.1), gives added class to the star-studded mile field.

Cardinal Ace, B. Robinson Get Big Pacts

By The Associated Press

Lou Brock, who stole 51 bases, and Brooks Robinson, who stole a World Series, have made two more big hauls in the 1971 baseball salary sweepstakes.

Robinson, Baltimore's brilliant third baseman, signed for the coming season Friday at a pay increase of about $20,000 that put him in the elite $100,000 per-year bracket.

Brock, St. Louis' swift outfielder, accepted a Cardinals contract calling for an estimated $95,000.

Robinson batted .276 during the 1970 season, hit at a .583 clip in the Orioles' pennant playoff sweep of Minnesota and then personally flattened Cincinnati in the World Series with a .429 batting mark, two home runs and half a dozen amazing fielding plays.

The 33-year-old veteran joins Frank Robinson in the Orioles' $100,000 club — a figure first baseman Boog Powell and pitcher Dave McNally are expected to shoot for in salary negotiations.

Brock batted .304 for the Cardinals and set a modern record by stealing 50 or more bases for the sixth consecutive season.

The Chicago White Sox signed six players, including shortstop Luis Alvarado, obtained in the winter trade that sent Luis Aparicio to the Boston Red Sox.

Boston superstar Carl Yastrzemski, meanwhile, predicted that he'll become the highest paid player in the game when he comes to terms with the Red Sox. Yastrzemski reportedly received $130,000 last season, when he socked 40 homers, delivered 102 runs and hit .329.

Rico Carty, Atlanta's hard-luck slugger, landed in a hospital again. The National League batting champion, recuperating from a December knee operation after he suffered torn ligaments and muscles in a Winter League collision, was stricken with pleurisy in the Dominican Republic.

The Braves said the ailment has no relation to the tuberculosis attack that sidelined Carty for the entire 1968 season.

In other baseball developments, San Francisco owner Horace Stoneham rejected a New Jersey state senator's suggestion that the Giants relocate in Hackensack, N.J., and the opening games of the Caribbean championship series in Puerto Rico, attended by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, was postponed until Saturday because of heavy rains.

Snyder Coach Resigns Post

SNYDER — Snyder's head football coach and athletic director, Wayne Tyrone, resigned Friday afternoon. He had served in this capacity at Snyder over the past four years.

The resignation was announced to Supt. Bill Hood and a formal letter will be presented to the school board Monday evening.

Tyrone indicated he has several coaching opportunities but said he is not ready to announce his plans for the future.

He is a graduate of Texas Tech and coached at Sweetwater Junior High and Snyder Junior High before becoming head man for the Tiger varsity.

Klondike, Sands Vie Tuesday Evening

ACKERLY — The biggest basketball crowd in the history of Sands High School is likely to view the crucial District 8-B test here Tuesday night between Sands and Klondike.

Visitors are expected from as far away as Abilene and El Paso for the renewal of the rivalry, which could determine the outcome of the conference race in both divisions of competition.

A prelude to the action takes place Monday evening when junior high teams of the two schools square off here. The Sands Junior High boys, already zone champions, will play Coahoma for the district title in the HCJC Gym at Big Spring at 7 p.m., Feb. 15.

Sands High School set the stage for the Tuesday night action by bombing Flower Grove here Friday night, 82-34.

The Sands boys have lost only once in 23 starts this year (that time to Klondike in Klondike). The Cougars' final margin of victory was 73-67. At that time, Klondike made 19 of 25 free pitches, Sands 9 of 11.

In 8-B standings, Sands is 10-1 while Klondike is 11-0.

Against Flower Grove, Felix Robles banged in 21 points and Johnny Peugh 17 for Sands while David Pribyla led Flower Grove with 10.

Cynthia Richter led the Sands girls to a 61-41 victory in the opening game, scoring 27 points. Jackie Cave tallied 25 for the Dragons.

Fastest Train

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The fastest passenger train in the regular service of the West German federal railways is the Porta Westfalica, which travels the 179-mile distance between Cologne and Hanover in 2 hours, 29 minutes for an average speed of 72 mph. It makes five stops on the run.

cash is the ultimate credit card.

Truth in spending. When you buy with a credit card, it can cost you much more than the price-tag price. First of all, if you don't pay off your credit card bill within a month, you start paying substantial bank interest. (After all, that's what the credit card business is all about.)

Save now, buy later. Just put off your purchase for a few months, and save up instead. Pay into your own Savings Account as systematically as though you were paying a credit card debt. You'll be saving the credit card markup, and your money will also be earning money, too.

(Open a Savings Account—or call it a "Spending Account", if you prefer. You'll save twice!)

Officers Kill Man To End Wild Spree

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) — A man sought in the killing of a child went on a two-state rampage Friday, killing two persons and wounding two others before he was shot dead by police in a chase through the Southwest, authorities reported.

"I think he wanted to die," said Grants Police Chief Jay Woodward who, along with four of his officers, shot and killed 38-year-old Bertram Greenberg of West Covina, Calif.

Woodward said Greenberg apparently tried to commit suicide by slashing his wrists before he was killed.

Authorities in California said Greenberg was a former mental patient and was being sought in connection with the strangulation of a 13-year-old girl Thursday.

The shooting climaxed a rampage that left an Arizona highway patrolman and a young Missouri man dead and the man's wife and another patrolman wounded.

Killed were James E. Brown, 24, of Springfield, Mo., and officer Jim Keeton of Holbrook, Ariz. Brown's wife, Karen, 23, suffered minor gunshot wounds of the head and Patrolman Dan Beckstead, also of Holbrook, was hospitalized in serious condition.

Keeton was shot after stopping a car Friday afternoon four miles west of New Mexico on Interstate 40. Officers said Greenberg's driver's license was found in Keeton's patrol car.

The car later was intercepted by Beckstead, who also was shot and radioed for assistance.

Police quoted Mrs. Brown as saying a man flagged down their car west of Gallup, said his car had broken down and asked for a ride.

Mrs. Brown was quoted as saying her husband's hands were bound behind him, then he was pistol whipped and shot twice in the head.

She said the assailant then shot her in the head and left her for dead.

She managed to make it back to the highway for assistance.

CARD OF THANKS
Somehow it is very hard to find the right words to express our appreciation for the many acts of love and concern shown our family. We feel grateful over the numerous contributions made in memory of Gary to the American Cancer Society, Boys Ranch, Big Spring Gideon Camp, Y.M.C.A. and the Big Spring High School Library. The cards, food, and other acts of kindness were overwhelming. Gary had excellent care while in the hospital here and our sincere thanks go to the doctors, nurses and staff of Malone-Hogan Clinic and the Medical Center Memorial tinue to be that progress will Hospital. Our prayers will conbe made in the field of cancer research through the doctors and staff at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Clinic in Houston, Texas. We shall be able to walk the "rough places" as Gary walked, with strength and courage. The concern and prayers of friends will bring us much encouragement in the days ahead.
Sincerely,
Lynn Hise Family
Mrs. L. J. Hise, Falfurrias
Mrs. A. B. Gates, Houston

F-111 PRODUCTION NOT AFFECTED

Air Force Won't Speculate On Cause Of Crash

FORT WORTH (AP) — The U.S. Air Force won't speculate on what caused its newest F111 to spin into a swamp north of New Orleans, but there's no halt in production of the planes here.

"Production has not been held up because of the crash and our program is not affected," said a spokesman for General Dynamics.

The plane, object of a massive search in six states by land, air and sea, vanished on an acceptance flight out of Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth Jan. 8. Its battered, scattered wreckage was finally located only last Wednesday three miles north of Lake Ponchartrain in Eastern Louisiana.

The crewmen—Lt.-Col. Bruce D. Stocks, the pilot, Maj. Billy Gentry, the navigator—were in the muddied escape module, the liferaft wnich should have saved their lives. In the words of one of the investigating team it was "pretty well cracked up."

So was the fuselage, discovered later in a water-filled hole nearly a mile away. It went in "at a fairly steep angle and hit pretty hard," the Air Force spokesman said.

And he added:

"The way I understand that area, you can drop something on the ground and stand back and watch the hole fill with water over the top of it."

That was apparently what happened to the fuselage. Rain on Thursday added to the misery of the men engaged in recovering it. There was a problem getting heavy lifting machinery into the area.

A spokesman for the Air Force Plant Representative's Office at General Dynamics here said the plane was on a routine test flight before being accepted by the Air Force. It was the fourth such test in a series, he said. There was nothing in the earlier tests to indicate any trouble with the plane.

The orange parachute which is supposed to break the descent of the crew module after ejection was found partly wrapped around trees near the scene of the crash. That seems to indicate that it was used, although there may be some question whether it streamed instead of billowing out as intended. The Air Force is not talking about that angle either.

Air controllers in Houston were the last to have contact with the ill-fated F111 on Jan. 8, when it was streaking eastward out of Texas into Louisiana. There was no indication anything was wrong. Then the blip vanished from the controller's radarscopes as they were transferring control of the flight to the Lafayette Air Route Traffic Control Center.

Col. Stocks, who lived in Fort Worth, flew F105s in Vietnam and held the Air Force Cross, the nation's second highest military decoration. He was a native of Burley, Idaho, and had accumulated more than 200 hours flying F111s since being assigned to the Air Force Representative's Office at General Dynamics in 1968. He is survived by his wife and three boys and a girl ranging in age from seven to 13.

Gentry, a native of Grapeland, Tex., was a member of a Strategic Air Command operations evaluation team assigned here. He worked primarily on a missile being tested on the FLF111. He is survived by his wife of Burley, Idaho, and had accumulated more than 200 hours aged five to nine.

When the bodies were recovered they were first taken to Keesler Air Force Base at Gulfport, Miss. They were released Friday—Stocks to be returned to his birthplace in Idaho, and Gentry to a Fort Worth funeral home.

Keesler base is providing security and transportation for investigators at the scene of the crash, who are working under the direction of Col. Morris Swindle, from Air Force Contracts Management Division of Air Force Systems, Los Angeles.

LUCKILY, CHILDREN HEAL VERY QUICKLY

In an eldery person any broken bone can be a cause for alarm for it heals so very slowly. On the other hand,, in the very young, broken bones heal so quickly and easily that there is often no need for a cast.

Perhaps the most common bone broken in a young child is the "Clavicle"or collar bone. If the break is not very bad a shoulder strap for 3-4 weeks is often sufficient. The child is usually unaware and unconcerned that he is wearing it. If it should start to rub a bit your physician can recommend an ointment that will help. It is important to contact a physician quickly if there is any possibility of a broken bone.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge acounts.

Hair Makes Headlines

By JO BRIGHT

"Hair Is In. Make It Beautiful!"

This is the theme being proclaimed for National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 14-20, sponsored by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

According to Gary Don Carey, president of Big Spring Affiliate 24, there are more than 60,000 members of the association.

An important part of the activities of the week will be the free beauty care given to a chosen group of women in the community. This year, local members will provide hair stylings for a number of residents of Big Spring Nursing Inn. In years past, the hairdressers have provided the service for patients at Big Spring State Hospital.

Last year, on a national level, association members visited more than 2,500 institutions throughout the country, and women were given permanent waves, hair coloring, haircuts and sets and other services.

Other local affiliate officers are Barry Bolding and Miss Zonell Sharp, vice presidents; Mrs. Jimmie Daniels, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Clearance Hawkins, styles director; Mrs. Mike Moore, parliamentarian; and Mrs. J. D. Rowland, historian.

The national hair fashion committee says there is a fancy-free look in styles for spring that foretells a carefree and happy ease in coiffures. The choice is freer than in many years. The important thing is to "keep it feminine, keep it soft, keep it as natural-looking as possible."

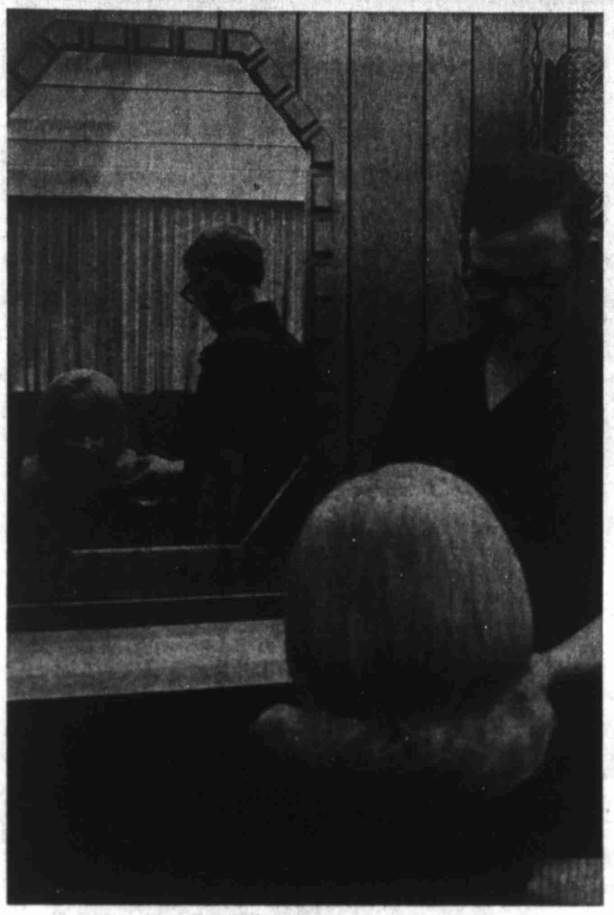

A phenomenon of the past several years has been the rapid rise in the popularity of hair pieces and wigs as a supplement to a woman's natural hair beauty. A veritable coiffure "wardrobe" can be created with the full wigs, wiglets, toppers, cascades, clusters and falls of varying lengths, colors and styles.

The number of women who own more than one hair piece accessory is growing daily. The working woman appreciates their convenience when she is rushed for time, and the socially-minded enjoy the "instant glamour" or change of pace (and face) which often produces a more sparkling personality.

Increasingly, hairdressers find themselves styling a head of hair that their customer tucks under her arm when she leaves the shop. Surprisingly, it costs more for a woman to have her hair piece styled than her own crowning glory. This is due to the special products and processes required. Too, the styling will last longer than a woman's natural coiffure.

Shown today are four local women, who have become "attached" to their hair pieces, as Carey creates their new coiffures.

BEING THE WIFE of a hairdresser does not assure Mrs. Gary Don Carey, below, of always having an "appointment." In fact, she feels she needs the hair pieces more than ever since her husband's customers come first. She has three falls, three wigs and two wiglets; her favorite being the shoulder-length fall, left, which is human hair.

THE SHORT and care-free hair style usually worn by Mrs. Ed Mills, above, is quickly changed to a different mood with the addition of a mini-fall in warm brown with contrasting braid. Mrs. Mills also owns a short, curly human hair wig which comes in handy when she is rushed for time.

A CASUAL COIFFURE is worn by Mrs. James L. Anthony, left, as she attends classes at Howard County Junior College. However, for special occasions she dresses her ginger-red hair with a cascade of curls, below, which Carey combs to perfection. Mrs. Anthony began using hair pieces about eight years ago and now has a wig, two wiglets and a fall.

LETTING HER short hair grow long was a problem for Mrs. Alan Fox, above, until she began wearing a wiglet to give it a more "finished" look. Now she wears the hair piece all the time. At right, Carey adds a large dome wiglet of matching human hair and separates some sides curls for a more glamorous style.

MR. AND MRS. P. G. YATES

Observe Anniversary At Reception Today

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Yates will be honored on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a reception today from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in the Cap Rock Electric Building in Stanton.

Hosting the affair will be the couple's children and their families. The children are Marshall Yates, Lamesa; Mrs. Joe Latty, Stanton; Mrs. Lee Lawdermilk, Big Spring; and Sammy Yates, Tarzan. There are 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Yates, the former Sudie Hancock, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hancock. She was born in Abilene and reared on the family ranch east of Lawn. Mr. Yates was born in Walnut Spring, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Yates, and was reared close to Tuscola where his family farmed.

The couple was married Feb. 6, 1921, at the Jim Ned community in south Taylor County, moving to Elmdale in the eastern part of the county where he worked on a ranch. They moved to Big Spring in the fall of 1927 and he worked at the Richardson Refinery. In 1929, he went to work for Cosden Petroleum Company, remaining with them until 1937. He then bought a farm in the Valley View community in Martin County and farmed there until retirement in 1962. They built a home north of Stanton where they still reside.

Mr. Yates has been a farm bureau member since it was organized in Martin County and served on the Valley View school board for 11 years, helping consolidate and build the Grady School. He served as a county school board trustee at large for 18 years. As a board member for the Martin County Fresh Water District, he served as president for 11 years. He also managed the Co-Op Gin until it was destroyed by a tornado in 1945, and is still active in the cattle business.

Mrs. Yates was a member of the Valley View Home Demonstration Club and is a former member of the Stanton Club and Stanton Garden Club. While presently employed at the Martin County Hospital, she has various hobbies including painting, ceramics and knitting.

Mr. and Mrs. Yates are still active in community affairs and are members of the United Methodist Church at Stanton.

For the reception, Mrs. Yates will wear a white dress with high neckline and long sleeves. She will be presented a white orchid corsage trimmed with gold, and her husband will receive a white boutonniere. The house party will wear gold corsages.

The refreshment table will be covered with a white floor-length cloth and appointed with crystal and gold. The centerpiece will be a gold and crystal candelabrum arranged with gold mums and greenery. The granddaughters will serve and register guests. The registry will feature a white cloth and gold mums in a crystal vase.

The entire family will be present except for a granddaughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Veal of Peoria, Ill.

XYZ Club Has Dinner, Games

The XYZ Club (Extra Years of Zest) met for a salad supper and games Thursday at the First United Methodist Church. The club meets at 5:30 p.m. on the first and fourth Thursdays of each month, and everyone is invited to attend.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Did you think you'd ever live to see the day when a salespitch of 'It will wear forever' would be to the product's detriment?

With the pollution problem so firmly facing us, those products that don't wear out are getting to have a bad name . . . like "Polluntants." I had never given it much thought so far as there being a problem of doing away with something that was well-worn, obsolete, faded or whatever. We're beginning to look at things differently if at the supposed end of their usefulness they are just not disposable. Things such as all that plastic that we toss away in eating utensils, tablecloths, wrappings for vegetables, etc. We may throw it away but it doesn't decay.

Which brings me up to the point of synthetic materials that we women have grown to love. Some of us have even taken up sewing because it is easy to work on and take care of. We throw caution to the wind when it comes to soiling because we feel free to toss the garments into the washer, knowing they will come out without wrinkles and still pretty.

But where do the garments go when they have filled their days of usefulness with the owner? To another person, perhaps, who will get more wear . . . but these garments don't become threadbare and go back into dust. So herein lies the problem.

The only solution I have is to make hammocks out of them . . . ours always splint and finally wore completely out and it hardly took any time at all. But they always ripped out, and maybe this type of wear is what would be effective in doing away with synthetic materials.

Nicest affairs socially following the recent Chamber of Commerce banquets have been the receptions at the home of the current president for board member, officers, special guests and their wife or husband, as the case may be.

Following the Monday night banquet, MR. and MRS. PAUL MEEKS opened their home for a delightful reception which also honored the banquet speaker, Sen. John Tower. One of the guests who enjoyed it immensely was MR. J. B. THOMAS who came out from Fort Worth for the evening. The CHAMP RAINWATERS came down from Lubbock and seemed as glad to see everyone as everyone was glad to see them . . . The three charming Meek daughters were a decided asset to the affair as they assisted their parents.

There probably isn't a chamber in the state that has as attractive a vice president as our MRS. HAROLD DAVIS, or as capable a one . . . no one looks as pretty in bright green as MRS. PAUL MEEKS . . . MRS. KEN PERRY and MRS. JERRY JENKINS were modishly attired in high waisted midi dresses as they helped in the house-party at the C of C reception.

Houseguests of MR. and MRS. BILL GRIESE the past week have been MR. and MRS. HARRY GRIFFIN who were to have left today for their home in Stockton, Kan. Expected here Thursday for a visit of several days in the Griese home are MR. and MRS. MARION DOME who make their home in New Braunfels.

Miss Greene Weds Lt. M. B. Fitzhugh

Miss Brenda Greene became the bride of Lt. Max Bryans Fitzhugh in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greene, 2305 Cindy Lane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh of Lamesa, formerly of Big Spring.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Ellis Langston of Levelland and the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church. Nuptial selections were performed by Mrs. W. W. Grimes, organist, who accompanied the vocalist, Miss Annelle Fitzhugh, Lamesa, sister of the bridegroom.

The altar setting was enhanced with 15-branched candelabra flanked by baskets of white gladioli and fern trees.

The bride was attired in a white faille formal gown with a band of Venise lace tracing the high neckline, Empire bodice and hemline. Covered buttons adorned deep cuffs on bishop sleeves and the back of the gown which swept into a chapel train. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a satin band with Dior bow. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and cymbidium orchids entwined with English ivy and showered with streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Repps B. Guitar Jr. of Abilene, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven Maloney, Lubbock, and Miss Fitzhugh. The bride's niece, Miss Lesli Guitar of Abilene, served as junior bridesmaid. They were identically attired in gowns of mint green chiffon with high roll collar, Empire bodice and long, sheer sleeves. Their headpiece was a Dior bow, and each carried a nosegay of mint green carnations and babies'-breath tied with green satin ribbons.

Lt. Mark Alexander of Manhattan, Kan., served the bridegroom as best man, and groomsmen were Chase Holland of San Angelo and Jody Thompson of Evanston, Ill. Junior groomsman was Mark Bryans of Dallas.

The ushers were Jimmy Newland, Austin; Vance Newland, Crane; Lt. Jeff Lockwood, Manhattan, Kan.; and John D. Bryans, Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh are both graduates of Big Spring High School. She received a BA degree in journalism at Texas Tech University in 1969 and has been employed as a reporter for the Abilene Reporter-News. Fitzhugh graduated from Texas A&M University and is now stationed with the Army at Fort Riley, Kan. After a wedding trip to Cloudcroft, N. M., the couple will reside in Manhattan, Kan.

RECEPTION

The couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church immediately after the ceremony.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Bob Coleman, Mrs. Marshall Cauley, Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Joe Pond, Miss Elizabeth Moore, Mrs. Ben Costin, Mrs. Ernest Boyd and Mrs. W. O. Moore.

The refreshment table, appointed with crystal, was covered with an illusion cloth, bordered in Chantilly lace, over satin. The tiered cake was separated with columns and topped with confection roses. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white carnations, chrysanthemums and babies'-breath.

Local Youth Selected For Merit Who's Who

Jeffry Dale Vaughn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vaughn, 1408 11th Place, has been selected for recognition in the fifth annual edition of "Merits' Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1970-71."

This distinction was earned due to young Vaughn's achievements in a highly competitive field. Less than 2.5 per cent of the junior and senior class students from the nation's 23,000 public, private and parochial high schools are selected for the honor.

Earlier this school year, Jeff was awarded a Letter of Commendation honoring him for his performance on the 1970 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Young Vaughn was among 35,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper 2 per cent of those expected to graduate in 1971. He ranked just below 14,750 semifinalists announced last September by NMSC.

Jeff is a member of the Big Spring High School Honor Band and also holds memberships in the National Honor Society and the Latin Club.

He plans to attend Texas Christian University in the fall and has been accepted for membership in the TCU Horned Frog band.

IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Doctor Lists Methods For Sex Education

Sex education, and the schools of thought concerning it, were discussed Tuesday by Dr. M. W. Talbot for the Moss Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. He was introduced by Mrs. Fran Bordofske.

"There are four principal opinions about how sex education should be taught," said Dr. Talbot. "Some people think the subject should be taught at home and some think a doctor should be the one to approach a child about it. Still others believe sex education should be taught in the schools and some believe it should be taught by the church."

Dr. Talbot said that those who don't feel it should be taught in the schools, don't think the teachers have had the training to qualify them to teach sex education.

"In the future, I think that public opinion will be such that sex education will be introduced in grade school," Talbot said.

Mrs. Bill Reynolds presided over the business meeting, and Louis McKnight gave the devotion. Elected to the nominating committee were Mrs. Larry Knight, Mrs. C. A. Ross and McKnight.

The school principal, M. A. Barber, thanked the association for the work they have done in the past years, and for the purchases they made for the school.

The second and third grade class of Mrs. J. B. Cushing won the room attendance award.

HD Clubs Emphasize Family Communication

Mental health and personal relationships continued to be the topic at most Howard County home demonstration club meetings during the past week.

ELBOW CLUB

"Good family communications begin from birth and go through adulthood," said Mrs. Ross Hill Thursday to the Elbow Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Stewart Anderson, 3611 Calvin.

"Communication depends on your showing consideration to others," continued Mrs. Hill. "You have to stop and listen to what is being said, you must show patience and you must relate good values to those around you. The three most important words in family communications are 'I love you.' "

In the second part of the program, Mrs. R. B. Covington Jr., originally from Germany, told about family life in her native country.

"The German people live in a very formal society," Mrs. Covington said. "Visiting is only by invitation or a formal telephone call."

She said the children have compulsory education from the age of six through 17. Girls begin dating at 18, and by the time they are ready for marriage, they have their linens, china, silver and furniture. At the age of six they begin learning various types of handwork such as crocheting and knitting and are quite skilled by the time they marry.

Mrs. Lewis Soles presided, and the devotion was by Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. R. P. Morton, recreation chairman, led the group in games.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 18, in the home of Mrs. Covington, 2405 Carlton.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

"Family Life Communications" was talked about by Mrs. E. A. Turner and Mrs. Mary Riddle Tuesday, for the Fairview Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Glen Earhart.

The women said that three very important words necessary for effective family communications are "please" and "thank you."

Mrs. E. A. Williams presided, and Mrs. Glen Earhart gave the devotion.

Mrs. Williams was named as a representative to the district home demonstration club convention in Muleshoe, April 1, and it was announced that Mrs. Alden Ryan is the Texas HD Association Council delegate.

The next meeting is at 1:30 p.m., Feb. 16, in the home of Mrs. Shirley Fryar.

AIRPORT CLUB

"Just in Case You Think You're Normal" was the program presented Tuesday to the Airport Home Demonstration Club by Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent.

Meeting at the county HD agent's office, Mrs. Crawford played a record by Dr. Murray Banks of New York, a former professer, who listed the basic attributes of a well-adjusted person.

"Happiness depends on a person's attitude toward life," Dr. Banks said. Members followed with a discussion about the record.

Mrs. Billy Gaskins was hostess and also presided. The next meeting is at 1:30 p.m., Feb. 16, in the home of Mrs. F. B. Jones, 810 Andree.

COLLEGE PARK

Mrs. Delaine Crawford played a recording by Dr. Murray Banks Tuesday for the College Park Home Demonstration Club in the First Federal Community Room. Mrs. R. B. Robinson was the hostess.

The recording, "Just In Case You Think You're Normal," listed the primary requirements to be a well-adjusted person.

"Happiness depends on your attitude toward life," said Dr. Banks. "You must learn to live each day of your life as if it were the last on earth. A well-adjusted person is never a perfectionist, and he knows how to laugh at life."

Mrs. J. C. Williams presided, and she was elected as the club's nominee for a delegate to the District 2 meeting in Muleshoe on April 1. In other business, Mrs. Bobby Richardson was elected council delegate.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 16, in the home of Mrs. Dwain Leonard, 1517 Eleventh Place. Walter L. Widger will present a program on mental health.

ENGAGED — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Milini Woods to Airman 1.C. Randolph Terrell has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Bertha Jolley, 1006 N. Gregg, and Leon Woods, Houston. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Terrell of Cleveland, Ohio. The couple plans to be married May 8 in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

Newcomer Club

Mrs. Randall Spurrier and Mrs. Henry Bell were high scorers at the Newcomers luncheon and bridge meeting Tuesday at Furr's Cafeteria. "Bridgo" was won by Mrs. Robert Nourse, and the attendance prize went to Mrs. Bob Hudson. Hostesses were Mrs. David Dill and Mrs. James Newton. The next meeting is at 9 a.m., Feb. 17, in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

AWARDS OF APPRECIATION
. . . Jack Powell, Jack Alexander, Maj. Phillip H. Raign

VA, Webb AFB Furnish Leadership

Representatives Given Special Citations

One of the first acts of Jack Alexander as the new chairman of the Lone Star Boy Scout district was to present special citations to representatives of two institutions which had furnished examplary leadership to Scouting.

These went to Jack Powell as manager of the Veteran Administration Hospital and to Maj. Phillips H. Raign, representing Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, wing commander at Webb AFB.

"Scouting relies on community affiliations to carry out its objectives," said Monty Stokes, district executive," and we are grateful for the support these two fine institutions provide for our total Scout program.

Last year units sponsored by the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB (Pack 46, Troop 146 and Post 146) had a total of 147 boys in them. This included 76 Cubs, 52 Scouts and 19 Explorers.

Within the past eight years, the base-sponsored units have averaged 128 boys, (with a peak of 163 in 1966.)

Annually, an average of 40 adults have served as adult leaders — unit leaders, committeemen, etc. The number of base-connected personnel working in Scouting is much higher than that, although there are no separate records on this. Besides helping with units and the district, Webb has furnished spot help in facilities, judges, manpower, etc. for many events, such as the Buffalo Trail Council Explorer Olympics spot help in facilities, judges, manpower, etc. for many events.

Webb also furnished one district chairman, Col. W. C. McGlothlin (who was succeeded temporarily by Col. Chandler B. Estes). Gen. Harrison Lobdell Jr., and Col. Atkinson, wing commander, have served as vice chairmen of the district. District committeemen and commissioners included Maj. W. D. R. Lund, Capt. J. F. Fisher, Capt. D. G. Scarborough, Capt. P. C. Clark, Capt. R. J. Berry, Lt. R. H. Anderson.

Unit leaders currently are Lt. Col. James D. Malone, Cubmaster; Capt. James C. Hohlt, scoutmaster; Lt. Phillips L. Jackson, Explorer advisor.

Until recently when it took on medical Explorer Post 236, the VA Hospital did not directly sponsor units, but it has been long on supplying leadership for district and unit programs.

For instance, Jack Powell, hospital manager, took hold of the Lone Star district as chairman last year, completely reversed trends and got the program rolling on all fronts. The council gave him a special award for his achievement.

Among hospital personnel working at the district level are Dean Lagerstrom, commissioner; Bill Brooks, training chairman; Chaplain A. C. Hicks, organization and extension; C. E. McDonnell (recently transferred to California) advancement; Leon Miller, Cub training chairman; Dene Sheppard and Juanita Seitzler, secretaries.

Among those serving on individual units are Max Black, assistant scoutmaster Troop 14; James Pedigo, institutional representative for the (Boydstun PTA) troop and pack 11; Chaplain David Northcutt, IR Pack 45; Leon Millier, assistant scoutmaster Troop 179, leader Webelos Pack 179; Shirlee Carlile, den mother Pack 137; Pilar Yanez, assistant scoutmaster Troop 7; Chaplain Bob Knutson (recently transferred), committeeman Post 146.

Among those working with the new medical post (which incidentally has 10 girls as well as 11 boys) are Powell, Danny Bonnett, advisor; Bill Bell, Jack Pierce, Elizabeth Anderson, Gene Sturdevant, Julian Patterson, Bob Reaves, and Powell.

Area Troops Also Active

Not all Scouting in the Lone Star district takes place in Big Spring and Coahoma, for Sterling and Glasscock counties are just as much a part of the district as is Howard, the most populous.

There are vigorous units operating at Sterling City and Garden City. At Garden City Troop 13 has Marck Schafer as scoutmaster, succeeding Rufus Fowler, a tireless worker with boys. Denis W. Calverley is the assistant scoutmaster. The troop has its own hut on the courthouse square.

Glen Kingston is cubmaster of Pack 13, a fine unit for the younger boys. Harry Calverley is commissioner, and the institutional representative is Royce Pruit. The pack and troop are sponsored by a group of citizens.

Bill Watts is scoutmaster of Troop 12, sponsored by the First United Methodist Church in Sterling. George Millsap Jr. is cubmaster of Pack 12. The commissioner is Jack Pool and the institutional representative is the Rev. Harold Orr.

Boy Scout Week Observance Begins

Today marks the beginning of the observance of Boy Scout Week, which is keyed to the anniversary date of the beginning of Scouting in the United States in 1910.

It is interesting that Big Spring has had an active Scouting unit for everyone of those years, except the first. Troop No. 1, still sponsored here by the Rotary Club, was founded in 1911, and from this original unit have sprung more than two score others. Instead of a handful of boys trying to figure out a program just beginning, there are today more than 1,500 boys in the movement here.

There will be little formal observance, and the highlight will be for many units to attend church as a group, particularly in churches which sponsor units.

The Exposition, traditionally held during Scout Week, will be March 13 in Highland Mall.

Some of the local units may take to hikes and camps this weekend to mark the special week.

Part of the anniversary observance is the rededication by the boys, at their regular meetings, to the Scout oath (and the Cub and Explorer promises).

The oath, which is still the heart and soul of Scouting sees each boy pledging himself: 'On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country; to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." (The Law calls for a boy to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, cheerful, obedient, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.)

Boypower '76 Objective Is One-In-Three

The Lone Star District is making headway in its effort to meet the Boy Scouts of America Boypower '76 goal ahead of time.

Among other things, the target of Boypower '76 (keyed on the 200th anniversary of the nation) is to have at least one in every three boys of Scouting age in some phase of the Scouting program.

Last year, the district had 36 per cent (or better than one in three) of available boys registered. There was a weak spot in this picture, however, for only 5.9 per cent of the senior boys (14 years and up) were in the Explorer program. This was offset by 56.5 per cent of younger boys (8-9-10) in Cubbing and 44.8 per cent of boys 11-13 in Boy Scouts. The district was 5 per cent above the nearest district in the percentage of boys reached.

The district reported 210 Scout advancements, or 36 per cent of boys on this level of program; 284 Cub advancements, or 37.1 per cent.

The district had 51 per cent of its leaders trained — 50 per cent of its Cub leaders, 59.0 per cent of its Scout leaders, and 28.5 per cent of its Explorer leaders.

Units (Cub packs, Scout troops, Explorer posts) averaged 1.2 per each 100 available boys, which meant that boys weren't kept out of Scouting because of no place to go. The district had a net growth of two units during the year.

Forty-seven per cent of the boys in some phase of Scouting (or 602) subscribed to Boys' Life, the national magazine.

Fourteen units satisfied requirements for long-term camping last year, and the district had 229 boys who met this criterion. The district also produced 17 standard units (or 36.1 per cent of the total) and was one of five in the council to meet all seven measuring sticks in this respect.

More Than 1,000 Boys In Scouting

The Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America which includes the counties of Howard, Glasscock and Sterling completed the year of 1970 with the following:

18 Cub Scout Packs with 764 Cub Scouts plus 196 adults, 22 Boy Scout Troops with 583 Boy Scouts plus 154 adults; seven Explorer Scout Posts with 71 Explorer Scouts plus 28 adults, a total of 47 units with 1418 boys and 378 adults.

SILVER BEAVERS AWARDED

Local Men Honored For Service

For the first time, the Lone Star District has had the Silver Beaver Award presented to three of its members in one year. This is the highest award the council can give for service to boys.

Those honored at the recent Buffalo Trail Council banquet were Dr. Clyde E. Thomas, Lee Roy Wright and Jack Alexander.

In 1965, C. Eugene Campbell and his brother, the late Don Campbell, were so honored, and their brother, Carl N. Campbell of St. Louis, Mo., received his council's award here.

Since the council was activated in the late 20's, the Lone Star district has produced 18 Silver Beavers.

Dr. Thomas is one man who cuts the ground out from under people who say they want to work with boys but are too busy. He is a surgeon and chief of staff at Hall-Bennett Memorial Clinic, besides keeping a full slate of clinic hours — yet he serves as a scoutmaster and as vice president of the Buffalo Trail Council. He also is a member of the First United Methodist Church official board, is a Mason and Shriner, twice head of the Permian Basin Medical Society and of other regional groups. He also has served as district and council health and safety chairman, as a Sea Scoutskipper for several years. He has been in Scouting for almost 45 years, 31 of them as an adult leader.

Wright has been an adult leader for 19 years, all as a scoutmaster. He is active in civic affairs and is a charter member of the Sand Springs Lions Club. His troop is one of the top ones in the area, and is noted for its emergency and rescue program. He has worked to bring minority races into the program and helped establish a troop for boys at Big Spring State Hospital. He is the father of four Eagle (highest award) Scout sons (C. Roy, Wesley, Marvin and Jimmy).

Alexander this year is serving a second time as district chairman. He, too, is the father of four Eagle Scout sons (Capt. Don, Lt. Roy, Lt. Mark and Mike). He has served in virtually every phase of Scouting, from Cubmaster and scoutmaster to district commissioner, chairman of several committees, vice chairman, etc. He is a past president of the Kiwanis Club and the district lieutenant governor; active in the First United Methodist Church; a graduate of Texas Tech in chemical engineering.

Among those who have received the award from this district (with deceased noted by x) are:

C. S. Holmes x, Dr. W. B. Hardy, Carl Blomshield x, Nat Shick, Charlie Watson x, Joe Pickle, George Melear x, Sam McComb x, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Garrett Patton, R. L. Tollett x, C. Eugene Campbell, Don Campbell x, Burton Andries, and O. B. Bryan, Stanton, who formerly was in this district.

Answer Is Readily Available For People Who Want To Help

W. H. (Bill) Brooks, leadership training chairman for the Lone Star Scout district, has the answer for people who really mean it when they say:

"I'd like to help in some phase of Scouting, only I don't know what to do. I never had experience working with boys."

Well, Brooks is not only ready but anxious to solve that little problem. If an individual loves boys, Brooks and his training specialists can offer training.

His panel is responsible for training in the Cubbing and Scouting fields, and for keeping records on Explorer training, which is done by the Explorer committee.

Capt. Jim Hohlt heads up the training corps for Scouters. His aides are Don Meyers, Garrett Patton, Bill Priebe, Ray Thomas, Dr. Clyde E. Thomas and Garner Thixton, all experienced in troop operation.

The past year Leon Miller headed the Cubbing staff, but a successor is being sought. Staff members were Mrs. Gina Allen, Mrs. Ruby Bruns, Sandra Braun, Mrs. Janice Rosson and Monte Robinson.

"We have two primary goals," explained Brooks. "The first is to get all scoutmasters and cubmasters and as many assistants as possible trained. Our second objective is to try and train leadership before a unit is chartered.

'Another phase of our program is to send a training team to every new unit or reactivated unit to give some basic training on the spot."

Last year there were 11 sessions for Cub leaders, attended by 87 and with 12 completing all requirements for the key. There were three sessions for Boy Scout leaders, attended by 46, and with 13 completing all requirements. As other makeup sessions are made, more will complete the work. Three Explorer leaders completed training.

The complete training programs are offered at least twice a year, and as many makeup sessions are given as needed.

In Cubbing, leaders get orientation (philosophy, nomenclature and mechanics of the program), planning the program, the den meeting, Webelos den operation, the pack meeting, etc. At noon, they also stage a model Blue and Gold banquet. Afternoon sessions usually are split into sections for pack administration and for den meetings. Usually the sessions are crowded into one day, with makeup sessions on specific topics.

Scouter training is similar with orientation, the Boy Scout program, patrol method, training, boy behavior and outdoor program (which, incidentally, is held outdoors.) Afterwards, the Scouters must attend the council Show and Do session.

There also is a training course for all Scouters other than unit leaders, and they earn the Scouters Training Award.

Brooks keeps records on all adults taking the work, and he issues appropriate keys and awards when all requirements are satisfied. Materials are taken from the national staff of Boy Scouts of America, augmented by experiences gained in action.

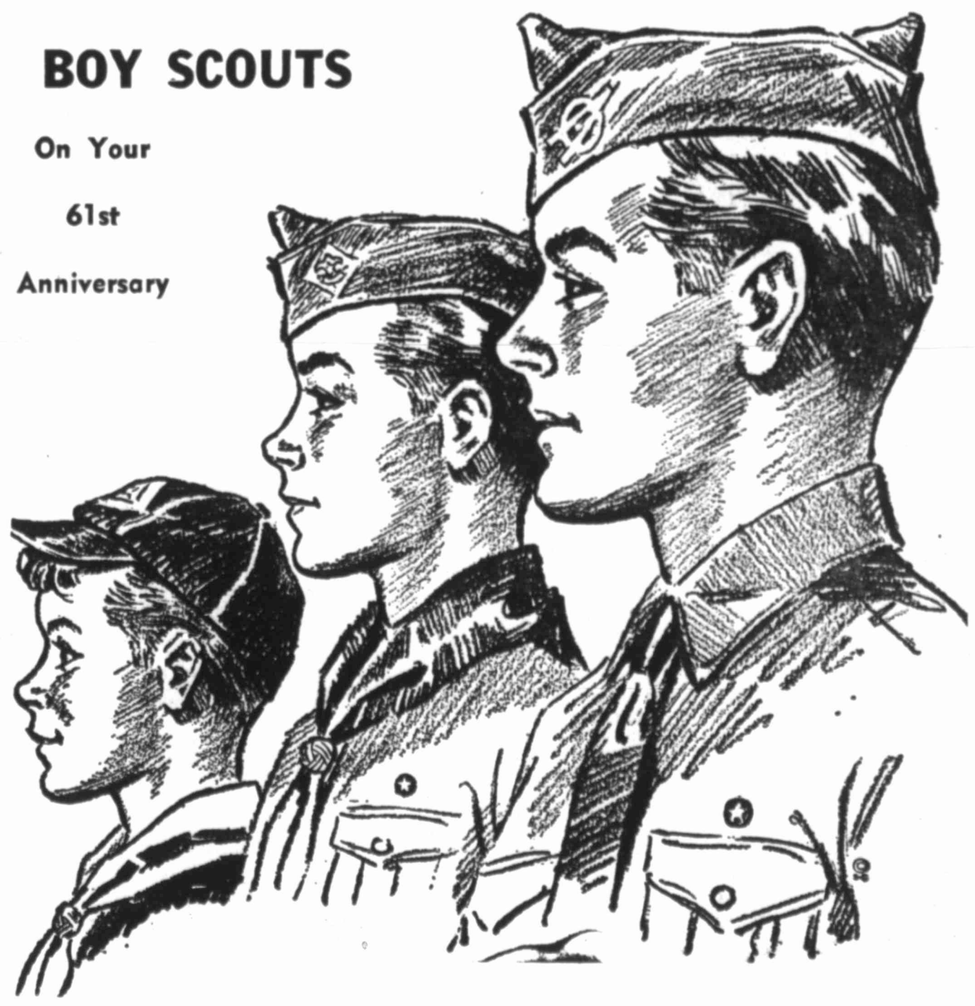

Congratulations

ORGANIZATION, TRAINING AND SERVICE TO UNITS IS THEIR JOB
Clayton Hicks, W. H. (Bill) Brooks, Dean Lagerstrom key men

Sponsors For Scout Units Are Local Responsibilities

Clayton Hicks is the man whose job is to bring boys and Scouting together. He does it by finding institutions which will sponsor units where boys can get into Cubbing, Scouting or Exploring.

The reason is that Boy Scouts of America doesn't have a single unit of its own — all it has is a program, developed and proven by three-score years of experience, for developing character and training boys for citizenship. The institutions own the packs, troops and posts.

This is why Chaplain Hicks is on the constant lookout for churches, lodges, businesses, groups of citizens and others who think enough of boys to sponsor a unit. He welcomes calls at his office in the VA Hospital by those interested or by those who have suggestions.

As chairman of the Lone Star district organization and extension committee, he first contacts the head of the institution, the president, pastor, etc. If there is an interest, he asks that a group of men (and now women) from the institution be brought together to talk about it

He and Monty Stokes, Scout executive, explain the objectives and ideals of Scouting, the need for sponsors so boys can have this program, responsibilities of sponsors (primarily to provide leadership and a meeting place).

The first thing is to get a committee, five or more individuals in the institution who are interested in seeing that boys get scouting. Once the committee is registered, then it begins to look for leadership — a cubmaster, scoutmaster or advisor. Preferably these should come from the ranks of the sponsoring institution, but sometimes Chaplain Hicks helps locate outside leadership. Always this is done with the idea that the institution will bring in some of its own people to learn to become unit leaders.

Once unit leaders are obtained (and trained by the leadership training committee), boys are registered, the charter application sent in. When the charter comes back, Chaplain Hicks presents it to the sponsor at an appropriate ceremony.

He keeps a map of the city and district handy to see neighborhoods where scouting units are needed. There always are boys and a need; but it takes units to serve them.

During the past year Chaplain Hicks has organized two entirely new units — Cub Pack 187 at the Church of the Latter Day Saints and Medical Explorer Post 236, sponsored by the VA Hospital. Three others have been rechartered after lapses and given new sponsors. They are Troop 14, Airport Baptist, Troop 17, Mount Bethel Baptist Church; and Cub Pack 11, sponsored by Mt. Bethel Baptist Church.

Heart-Assist Device Funded

HOUSTON (AP)—Baylor College of Medicine is one of 10 hospitals and universities jointly awarded a $223,942 grant to study a heart-assist device.

The device was developed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, director of surgery at Sinai Hospital in Detroit.

The device, a balloon pump, aids the functioning of the heart during the first crucial hours following an attack. Last fall it sustained a patient at St. Louis' Barnes Hospital for 30 days, the longest period any person has been kept alive on a mechanical circulatory assist device.

The one-year grant was made by the John A. Hartford Foundation of New York. Baylor investigators are Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and Dr. Edward Diethrich.

DOUBLE DUTY — This sapling serves double duty for these Boy Scouts. It fits into their new emphasis for conservation of natural resources and in a few years will make an attractive tree shading and protecting an area. At the moment, it is serving the more prosaic function of something on which they can pracice knot-tying.

Order Of Arrow Shows Results Of Scout Life

Proof of the pudding is in the tasting, and in Scouting it is the product. Nowhere is this exemplified quicker and better than in the Order of Arrow.

Those who become members are nominated by their units at summer camp. After a ceremony, they spend a night in the rugged countryside for their "ordeal." By service and making a three-piece Indian costume, they may advance to brotherhood. Only through exceptional service of all types for three years may they attain the high rank of vigil.

They have all sorts of projects. Foremost is the Boy Scout Ranch camp, where they have had a leading hand in building a new lodge. They clean and repair the camp before the summer season, then return to put it in "moth balls" for the winter. They have mid-winter meetings at the ranch, have contests between district chapters.

At the annual Scout exposition here, they always put up a booth to encourage summer camp attendance. They also tidy up the Scout Roundup grounds here prior to camporees. AO boys assist as judges and perform many other good turns.

One of their specialties is the Indian dance teams. Each boy makes his own colorful ceremonial costume, drums, etc., staging authentic Indian dances.

Heading the chapter here is Carl Johansen, chief; Denny Young, vice chief; Eddie Young, secretary; Jerry Mason, treasurer. Adult leaders are D. W. Day, advisor; Dale Young and Austin Ferguson, dance team; Tim Gaylord, communications.

LIVING UP TO OATH IS BASIC KEY

Duty To God And Country Is Promised

No matter how high a boy goes in Scouting, the most basic key to his advancement is living up to the oath or promise.

Not long ago there was a story on the national wires that a boy had been awarded the Eagle badge without affirming his belief in God.

This was not the case, said Monty Stokes, Scout executive for the Lone Star district.

The boy's father was an asserted atheist but the boy affirmed his personal belief in God and attended church. First reports came from the father, then the boy was put between loyalty to his father and his own convictions and the result was confusing. The national council, however, reinvestigated the case and was satisfied that the boy did indeed believe in God.

"Boy Scouts of America makes no attempt to tell any individual what it must and must not believe," said Stokes, "but a part of the oath or promise at all levels is a statement to do one's duty to God. If a boy is not able to make or live up to this portion of his oath or promise, he simply is not eligible to be a Scout, let alone an Eagle Scout."

A Scout subscribes to this oath: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

The Cub subscribes to this promise: "I promise to do my best to do my duty to God and my country, to be square, and to obey the Law of the Pack."

The Explorer subscribes to this: "I believe that America's strength lies in her trust in God and in the courage and strength of her people. I will, therefore, be faithful in my religious duties and will maintain a personal sense of honor in my own life. I will treasure my American heritage, and will do all I can to preserve and enrich it. I will recognize the dignity and worth of my fellowmen and will use fair play and goodwill in dealing with them. I will acquire the Exploring attitude that seeks the truth in all things and adventure on the frontiers of our changing worlds."

Boy Scouts of America does not define what constitutes belief in God or the practices of religion, but it states that it expects "a member to subscribe to religious principles . . . belief in God, reverence toward God, fulfillment of religious duties and respect for the convictions of others."

For the highest of all awards, the Eagle, a Scout must give examples and express his convictions about the Scout oath, and this includes "duty to God," said Stokes.

Boy Scout Leaders Play Many Roles

Trouble shooters, couriers, liaison agents, inspectors, father confessors — these are some descriptions of the commissioners staff in Scouting

Heading up this responsible and sensitive assignment for the Lone Star district is Dean Lagerstrom, in charge of business services at the VA Hospital. He is an experienced Scouter.

He first obtains a group of assistant district commissioners, each of whom heads a staff of neighborhood commissioners assigned to specific areas of the district.

The neighborhood commissioners are the servicemen for the units — Cub packs, Scout troops or Explorer posts. They are charged with regular visits to see how things are going to help with program suggestions, head off trouble, see that vital information from the council and district committee gets to the unit leaders.

And just as important, they get the message about problems, suggestions, complaints going back up the ladder so that the unit leader is not left way out there somewhere by himself with a bunch of boys on his hands.

All charter registration is handled through the neighborhood commissioners so that there won't be any slip ups, and that this will be done on time if possible. Commissioners also conduct what they call a charter review of the unit at that time.

Commissioners also work closely with the institutional representative — the individual responsible for the sponsoring institution's Scouting program.

To make certain that everyone is abreast of the situation the entire commissioners staff meets with Lagerstrom at 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday evening at the VA Hospital. The staff also sees to it that monthly Roundtables are conducted for Scouters and Cubbers so that these people directly dealing with boys know all about what's going on or coming up.

Lone Star District Can Claim No. 1 Position

Although the Buffalo Trail Council, comprised of 18 West Texas counties from the Colorado to the Rio Grande in the Big Bend, does not announce a first-place district over-all, the Lone Star district could lay claim to this in 1970.

The districts are rated on six categories — advancement, top leaders trained, percentage of available boys in the Cubs, Scouts and Explorers program, units per 100 available boys, national standard units, Boys' Life (magazine) subscribers, and long term camping record.

The Lone Star district (which includes Howard, Sterling, and Glasscock counties) was first of available boys registered, in units per 100 available boys and in the percentage of Boys' Life subscribers. It ranked second in the percentage advancement by Scouts; third in net unit growth, in national standard units, and in long term by boys; fourth in advancement by boys in Cubbing; and fifth in unit leaders trained and in the percentage of units in long-term camp.

The aggregate of these places put the district two points ahead of the nearest of six others in the council.

On the basis of the district's showing, Monty Stokes, the district executive, was presented with a special award at the recent council banquet in Midland.

Scouting's 12 laws play an important role in the shaping of the character of all Boy Scouts. Living by these laws and the Scout oath mold boys into men of high ideals later in life, the kind of men that become civic and business leaders. To the Scouts, we say "well done" in this fine role.

We are pleased that many Cosden people are involved in all phases of Scouting. Proudly we salute them and their fellow volunteers for their unselfish work.

Support That Counts

Well over 500 individuals turned out last week for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. This was a fine gesture of respect to Sen. John Tower the speaker, who was making his first appearance here in a purely community role. We should like to think, also, that this was an expression of support for the Chamber of Commerce and for what it is attempting to do in Big Spring.

After all, these annual gatherings are for the purpose of taking inventory on what has been attempted and accomplished, and on what remains to be done, and the best way to tackle the problems which are within our reach.

Paul Meek, who is beginning an unprecedented second term as president of the Chamber, looked upon 1970 as a good year — and it was in spite of unstable nat;onal conditions which had their effects on th loecal situation. We stayed on the pac during the first part and finished with a burst of speed during the last part.

He looked with confidence to this year, predicting that we will really get moving in 1971. The president has more than just pep talk to back him in this forecast. The stage has been set for going ahead; some seeds have been sown which could bring a harvest.

None of this can come about, however, without the continued support and enthusiasm of the community. We have our foot in the door industrially, but the opening needs to be opened wider. We need to constantly bolster and improve our transportation facilities for accessibility of people and products. We need to tackle the steady expansion of our educational and cultural institutions. We need to keep pushing for a more attractive and healthful city; to expand the creative and recreational opportunities; to advertise effectively the assets of our town and area.

Finally, it gets down to this: If we are to do these things, we will have to give financial backing to the Chamber. It doesn't matter really how many turn out for a once-a-year banquet if they treat the Chamber like a neglected orphan the remainder of the year.

It takes the muscle of money to carry on programs, and the way the Chamber gets that muscle is through your membership. Give us enough people who will give the Chamber their membership dues, and we won't have to worry about manpower, volunteer service, or positive outlook. It's the pushers, and the pokers, not the riders who make a community.

No Time To Relax

Sixty-one years ago this week, the Boy Scout movement came to this country. Since then millions of boys have been exposed to its lofty principles; several million adults, committed to these ideals, have been brought into an interpersonal relationship with boys.

Although our national standards have been under challenge in recent years, perhaps more than ever before, we are persuaded that the foundations are still intact despite surface upheavals.

We might relax and ask: "What would it have been like without the influence of movements such as Scouting? It is more practical, however, to recognize that this is no time to let up. Some of the positive answers to these challenges can be found in Scouting. We need its aim of character that exhaults integrity and the search for truth; we need its appreciation of and obligation to the heritage that has made us a great and free people; we need the stability and unshakeability that comse from a reverence to God and a regard to our fellow man.

On the contrary, this is a time when both time and money are needed to sustain and strengthen our most precious treasure; a time to invest in the future of America.

Around The House

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

This corner resolved long ago not to enter wittingly into controversial topics. It is no pleasure to receive irate phone calls on a Sunday morning, particularly to be challenged on a topic one knows little about.

But the results of another poll have arrived, called "a survey of the attitudes of women and their role in American society," and believe me this could lead into the paths of controversy.

THERE ARE such chapters as "women and the men they live with," "coping with a man's world," and "women as citizens." We will not touch these. Personally I like women and accept what is called liberation, but put the two together and we are in a new world.

But let's get down to the basics of what this poll found, among other things:

MORE THAN a third of American men believe that they shoulder their share of dishwashing chores; just one-fifth of the women support that contention.

Let's demonstrate this:

Wife Melba asks husband Harry: "Honey, would you do the dishes tonight? I have some things I just have to do." Harry: "You crazy or somethin'? I helped with the dishes two weeks ago. Besides, there's a basketball game on in just a few minutes."

MELBA: "I knew it. I knew it. Did you know 80 per cent of the American women feel that husbands do not do enough of the dishwashing chores."

"Where'd you get that wonderful piece of intelligence?"

"I read the results of a poll. Here it is."

He looks: "Uh-huh, I also see that 36 per cent of American men think they are doing their fare share. It just so happens I belong in the 36 per cent. What do you make of that?"

Melba retorts: "I make of it that the dishes are here in the sink, waiting for you."

THE POLL continues with the finding that eight out of ten men believe they do a substantial amount of "fixing things around the house", but less than three-fourths of the women agree.

There comes the day when Melba reminds Harry that one of the stove burners is not working. Harry responds to this one, and after an hour or so not only has the burner in bits and pieces, but has a section of the stove broken off.

MELBA FINALLY shows her patience, poll or no poll, and says, "just leave it alone, darling. I will gladly give up a new pants suit for a call to the appliance man."

Melba also reminds Harry that the windows are badly in need of washing.

"You must be kiddin'", he says. "I can see through 'em."

"But other people think we're living in a pig-sty."

"CLOSE THE curtains, and they won't know. There's too much light in the house anyway."

Says Melba: "Do you want to know the results of the women's poll?"

"Awright, awright!" says Harry. "I'll do the windows Saturday — if it's not too cold, or if there's not a good golf tournament on."

Melba sighs. She wonders who WAS questioned in the poll.

No Communication

WASHINGTON — When Secretary of State William P. Rogers returned to his office after a four-hour closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he expressed his pent-up frustration to staff assistants. You just could not get through to those people.

AS HE REPORTED his experience to his associates, he had begun by proposing to read a prepared statement on the expanding air war in Cambodia. Chairman J. William Fulbright broke in to say it would be unnecessary to read the statement and it should be put in the record. Rogers protested that he was afraid it would not be read in the committee record and he wanted members to hear what he had to say in the hope their questions would be based on his presentation.

HIS PROTEST was in vain. During the four hours he was interrogated Rogers observed that three committee members were sleeping. The interrogation proceeded along the lines covered so often as the war has expanded into Cambodia and Laos.

The frustration on both sides of this committee table is such today that these encounters are becoming a dialogue of the deaf. The sense of futility of top men in government is matched, if not exceeded, by that of senators and the more aware members of the House when they confront the concerted power of the executive branch of government.

THEIR CASE is that with such vast issues as the Indochina war the executive holds all the cards and the hand is not revealed except to the degree that partial disclosure serves a particular purpose. The $76 billion budget of the Department of Defense conceals mysteries beyond the reach of any outsider, including members of Congress.

The Secretary of State and his principal lieutenants come to the Capital with knowledge contained in an array of intelligence reports denied to the Congress. They have what are presumably the facts about an expanded air war in Cambodia and a secret war in Laos, and they are able in testifying to feed out as much or as little of this background as they choose.

FROM THE executive-witness side of the table the complaint is that members of Congress do not do their homework. They come to a session such as that with Rogers repeating charges out of the past, bent on getting testimony to support a long-fixed position. "Have you stopped beating your wife?" is the form most of the questions take.

A FURTHER CAUSE of Congressional frustration, particularly among those who try to cope with foreign and military policy, is executive privilege. Henry Kissinger and his highly organized little State Department occupy a privileged sanctuary in the White House. Since they are the servants of the chief executive, they cannot be questioned by a Congressional committee. As the Kissinger apparatus is credited in a widely publicized view with shaping foreign policy, Congress feels barred from the real source of executive power.

A Busy Embassy

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Word from Cambodia is that U.S. military teams assigned to check on American military aid will be dressed in civilian clothes and attached to the U.S. Embassy at Phnom Penh. It has been made perfectly clear that these military teams are not advisers and that they are not violating the "spirit of the law" of the Cooper-Church Amendment.

If things continue the way they're going, Cambodia may soon have the largest American embassy in the world. I would not be surprised to read the following dispatches from this part of the world.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, February 12—Five-hundred commercial attaches arrived here today at Phnom Penh airport. U.S. Ambassador Emory Swank explained to reporters that trade with Cambodia has reached an all-time high and he needed the extra personnel to negotiate tariff agreements with Cambodian officials.

The 500 commercial attaches, all carrying brief cases and wearing identical seersucker suits, marched the 5 miles from the airport in double time, led by the U.S. commercial attache band.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, March 5—One-thousand USIA employes were flown in to Phnom Penh last night to beef up the 500 commercial attaches that were assigned to the American embassy last month.

An American spokesman explained that the USIA was stepping up its information activities for school children in Cambodia, and that the 1,000 new employes would all be assigned to the new USIA library which was being built underground on the outskirts of the capital.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, April 30—Five-thousand cultural affairs officers were airlifted into this Cambodian capital today. On hand to greet them were Ambassador Emory Swank and Premier Lon Nol. The cultural affairs officers, all carrying violin cases, were lined up on the runway and reviewed in a jeep by Premier Lon Nol.

Phnom Penh, July 12—The State Department has broken ground for the largest U.S. Embassy building ever constructed. The embassy will comprise a 5,000-acre complex and the main building, shaped like a pentagon, will be able to accommodate 50,000 American embassy employes now working in Cambodia.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, November 13—A U.S. Marine guard detail composed of 100,000 men and officers was landed in Phnom Penh today.

Secretary of State William Rogers revealed the increase in the Marine guard detail was needed after two Cambodians had broken into the embassy PX and stolen three Japanese cameras.

He believed the new security measures would discourage any such thefts in the future.

He told reporters "The security of a U.S. Embassy is the first consideration of this country and as long as I am secretary of state I will see that our brave diplomats have all the protection they need."

The Laos Operation

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Again the administration is being subjected to widespread criticism, this time because an American Force has been concentrated near the Laotian border. The accusation is that another country is to be invaded. The Defense Department refused to make any comments, and irresponsible critics are saying that there's a plan afoot to "expand the war."

ACTUALLY, the South Vietnamese army is engaged in an important operation against Communist bases and supply lines in Laos, and a large number of its men is being used. This makes it necessary for certain lines at the border to be protected against a sudden crossing by enemy troops into South Vietnam and the creation of a dangerous situation for the American units which are stationed well within South Vietnamese territory.

There are many delicate questions involved, and it is understandable why Defense Secretary Melvin Laird doesn't wish to discuss them in public or even to explain them privately to a lot of people. For this is the sort of problem in which the utmost secrecy must be preserved so that the other side doesn't find out the purpose of the American-South Vietnamese action.

THE WHOLE maneuver is very complex and not something that can be explained in advance. It is the type of operation that has to remain secret for a while, which is only another way of saying that the enemy must be kept guessing.

Nevertheless, the criticisms in Washington are almost unprecedented. The political opposition is saying that a "news blackout" is intolerable. This ignores the fact that in a war military movements cannot be publicized beforehand.

IN WORLD WAR I and World War II as well as in the Korean War, the American press accepted a code of voluntary censorship and never published the details of any important military operations without the approval of the government.

Today in South Vietnam, where many Americans are risking their lives, a military plan to assist the South Vietnamese army may be worked out, and be withheld from the press. Large numbers of American troops might be sent to the border to prevent a sudden invasion by the North Vietnamese. There are other reasons why a concentration of forces can be of help to allied troops undertaking an operation without any participation by the American divisions.

WHEN THE WHOLE movement has been completed, the Defense Department will, of course, make known just why it was thought necessary to defend the border line while South Vietnamese troops went into Laos. The fullest information will then be revealed. It is just a question of timing.

To military men the current episode is being handled in the customary way, but the politicians want it to be disclosed ahead of time, which could mean disaster.

Talk Has Ebullient Effect

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's budget forecast made its impact on the financial community with the breadth of its predicted increase for the gross national product and the sharp decline it foresaw in the unemployment rate and inflationary spiral.

The $229.2-billion budget Nixon sent to Congress envisioned a gross national product of $1.065 trillion this year, a rise of 9 per cent. The gross national product is the total output of private and governmental goods and services.

Economists and other observers had further ebullient predictions to savor from the President's manual Economic Message to Congress and the more detailed report of his Council of Economic Advisers. These messages given this week set a new goal for the nation's economy: a decline in unemployment to about 4.5 per cent and in the rate of inflation to about 3 per cent by mid-1972.

Unemployment currently stands at about 6 per cent of the labor force while prices rose last year at a rate of about 5.5 per cent.

Most private forecasts for the gross national product foresaw a figure of only about $1,045 trillion. Working on this basis the fiscal deficit for 1972 would be closer to $30 billion than the adminstration's predicted $11.6 billion, one economist noted.

In 1970 the gross national product grew 4.9 per cent to a record $976.8 billion.

MONEY SUPPLY

Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the money supply would have to grow at least a 6 per cent rate in 1971 and perhaps at 8 per cent in order to achieve the growth predicted by the President in the gross national product. During 1970 the nation's money supply grew at an annual rate of 5.4 per cent.

The President said with "the stimulus and discipline from the budget I have put forward" and with the Federal Reserve System responding to the monetary needs of the nation "we can look forward confidently to a vigorous and orderly expansion during 1971."

The President again declined to impose wage and price controls, but emphasized he would continue to intervene in private wage and price decisions where needed.

He said his administration would be "relentless" against inflation, especially that perpetrated by misuse of "market power" by powerful industries and unions.

"OVEROPTIMISTIC"

Walter W. Heller, former economic adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, commended the change in direction in Nixon's economic plans but said the program did not go far enough to stimulate the sluggish economy. He criticized the gross national product forecast as "overoptimistic" and said there was a danger of reigniting inflation unless the President adopted additional measures.

As for the restoration of full employment, generally assumed to mean an unemployment rate of no more than 4 per cent, he said "we can't get there from here without reigniting inflation" until 1973.

OIL TROUBLE

In other developments, a major crisis loomed before the oil industry as 10 oil producing countries issued an ultimatum for the world's oil firms to accept their price demands voluntarily be Feb. 15 or see them unilaterally imposed by legislation after that date.

Iranian Finance Minister Amuzegar said the delegates of the meeting of the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries OPEC in Tehran agreed to adopt "very strong sanctions" if the companies refused to accept the proposal.

Earlier tax negotiation talks between 22 oil companies and the Persian Gulf oil producing states, members of OPEC, collapsed.

The 10 OPEC nations provide 85 per cent of Western Europe's oil and almost all of Japan's. U.S. companies are heavily involved in the oil business in that area, but almost none of the oil is consumed in the United States.

NOT SLOWING

Government economic indicators released this week dealt a blow to the administration's contention that the pace of inflation is slowing. The Labor Department reported that consumer prices accelerated in December and in the full year 1970.

For all of 1970 prices were 6 per cent higher than during 1969 when the rise was 5.4 per cent. In December the consumer price index rose at a seasonally adjusted 0.5 per cent or at a 6.6 per cent annual rate.

Observers noted the consumer price report followed other recent reports showing wholesale prices accelerating in January and inflation increasing during the fourth quarter of 1970 as measured by the gross national product.

Week's Business

- President forecasts GNP of $1.065, some think it high
- Goal is to reduce unemployment to 4.5, inflation to 3 pct.
- Critics say Nixon over optimistic, $30 billion deficit seen
- Program success calls for money supply to grow steadily
- Foreign oil countries issue ultimatum to oil industry

Drinkers' Joy

LONDON (AP) — Round-the-clock drinking in British pubs may soon come into effect under planned licensing changes. Each pub will still be compelled to close at some time during the day but publicans may choose the hours. The parliamentary proposals will also apply to restaurants and cafes.

My Answer

Billy Graham

How can a person be a Christian and not be a member of Christ's church? M.B.

To be a real Christian is to be a member of Christ's church. The Bible says, "Christ loved the church, and gave himself for it, that he might sanctify it and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word." Eph. 5:25, 26.

What church did He mean? Did He mean the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian or Catholic? Christ's church is not a denomination — it is the body of real believers, regardless of their earthly identification. It is a spiritual body and only He knows who the real membership is.

When a person receives Christ, he automatically becomes a member of that one, true, triumphant church, against which the gates of hell shall not prevail. It is natural for every denomination to believe they are nearer right than others, but any manmade, humanly organized denomination, no matter how fine it may be, is not the true church of Christ. Now, many of its members may be in Christ, and affiliated with the body of Christ. But, no earthly organization can say: we are the one, true church.

Who then is a member of the church of Christ: Jesus said, "Im am the vine, ye are the brnches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit." John 15:5. When we abide in Him, when we live in Him and His life flows through us, then we are members of the one and only church.

A Devotion For Today...

I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in me, and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing. (John 15:5 RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, be my vine that I may bear fruit, for apart from you I can do nothing. And thank You for teaching us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

CAMPING AND ACTIVITIES SHAPED FOR BOYS BY THESE SCOUTERS
Aubrey Bryans, Ralph Beckham, Lt. Don Berry, Jimmy Ray Smith

Buffalo Trail Council Tide Is Turned Toward Growth

The year 1970 will go down as the one in which the Buffalo Trail Council turned the corner.

For three years, partly because of a population loss in all of the council territory, the number of boys in the program had not only fallen under goals (the local district did this but once), but also under the figures of the previous year, said Dr. B. N. Shaw, Odessa, council president.

But in 1970, under the leadership of a new executive, Steve Odom, Midland, the tide was turned. The council experienced a 4.3 per cent increase in 9,268 boy membership (4,739 Cubs was 111.3 per cent of target; 3,952 Boy Scouts represented 102.9 per cent of goal; 577 Explorers were 107.6 per cent of goals).

These boys were being served in 317 units, which was just a hair over the target set in this respect. There were 196 top leaders trained, which was 134 per cent of the goal set. There were 89 standard units (which reached goals on all seven fronts), or 112.6 per cent of goal.

Another encouraging development was some improvement in council finances under leadership of Charles F. Caliga, Midland. The net gain was $7,983, making a total operational budget of $157,718. But with a complete staff, the council will have to do better than that this year to avoid going into the red.

During the year 48.3 per cent of all top unit leaders were trained, a gain of 3 per cent. There were special council sessions for Cub, Scout and Explorer training, plus two for (Woodbadge) adults.

Under Dr. Clyde E. Thomas, Big Spring, the Boy Scout Ranch was checked for safety and sanitation each week during the camp season. Doctors also volunteered to check in all Scouts and leaders at camp.

Young men in the Order of Arrow (a camping-service fraternity) undertook the building of the Buffalo Lodge at camp and almost completed work on this combination activities structure to house also the offices, trading post, leaders meeting room, visitors center and rest rooms. Also started in 1970 was an expansion of Moss Hall, the camp dining room and kitchen. Last year there were 1,376 boys who attended long-term (mostly the Scout Ranch) camp. This was 43 per cent of the boys registered.

Scouting Cuts Across Lines

The Scouting program cuts across all lines, economic or otherwise.

Boys in areas where the average income is less have access to the program as do those from higher income areas.

In the northwest part of town Troop 17 is sponsored by Mount Bethel Baptist Church with Ivory Harper the scoutmaster; the Rev. Robert Parramore the institutional representative and Milton Isiah, chairman of the committee. Cub Pack 11 has Leroy Perry as its cubmaster. In the same area, Lakeview PTA sponsors Cub Pack 40, Robert C. Jones, cubmaster.

One of the oldest troops in the city is No. 7, led by Bert Andries, scoutmaster, which serves in the Kate Morrison sector.

In the western part of the city the Salvation Army sponsors Troop 6, which meets in the former Kiwanis Scout Hut at 11th and Aylford. Tim Gaylord is scoutmaster of this extremely active troop.

Airport Baptist Church has become sponsor of Troop 14 and Harvey Hooser, assisted by Dr. Max Black, are leading the unit which meets at the church. What it needs is more boys.

Efforts are being made to organize still more troops in areas where they will serve boys in greatest need.

District Aids In Planning

The Lone Star District committee, which helps plan the over-all program of the Buffalo Trail Council and then carries out this program in the district, consists of the following:

Chairman, Jack R. Alexander, vice chairmen Jack D. Powell, Col. A. W. Atkinson and Jeff Brown; commissioner, Dean Lagerstrom; advancement, Harvey C. Hooser, organization and extension, Clayton Hicks; health and safety, Wiland Brown, camping and activities, Jimmy Ray Smith, conservation Dr. Paul Koshi; exploring Bill Fryrear; leadership training, Bill Brooks and public relations, Joe Pickle.

Each of these sub-committees have enough men to accomplish the work of their committee.

There also is an institutional representative from each institution that sponsors one or more Scout Units.

District Staff Serves Units

The Lone Star District Commissioner Staff, whose major responsibility is to give Unit Service to the 47 units of this district, consists of the following men:

District commissioner Dean Lagerstrom and assistant commissioner Capt. Dennis G. Scarborough, Dearl Pittman, Paul Sheedy and Rev. David Northcutt. Neighborhood commissioners Dale Ditto, Capt Phillip Clark, Lt. Rollie Anderson, James Balios, Kenneth Carter, Thurman Randle, Dick Denton, Lonnie F. Anderson, Johnie Wright, Kenneth L. Peel, Harry L. Calverley and Walter Trim.

Among their many responsibilities of unit service are: Helping units to re-charter each year, conducting the autumn membership Round-Up, conducting the monthly Round-tables for the Cub Scout Leaders the Boy Scout Leaders and the encouragement of unit committees to meet each month with their unit Leaders.

A commissioner helps the sponsoring institutions, the unit committees, and the unit leaders give still better program of Scouting to more and more boys.

The Commissioner Staff meets on the second Tuesday of each month in Room 28 of the V. A. Hospital, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Health, Safety Important Items In Scout Program

Health and safety are two important things in Scouting, and chairman of the committee charged with responsibility of maintaining these two qualities is Weiland Brown.

The committee is required to make an inspection of all meeting places and to appraise the sanitation and safety of these places, also to observe about safe conduct of the unit.

In February, the committee is responsible for staging the district first aid meet, which this year will be under direction of Paul Soldan, former committee chairman. He will be assisted in this Feb. 15 event by Frosty Robison.

When district camporees are held, it is the duty of the committee to inspect the grounds prior to the camp, then inspect the campsites, the sanitary facilities, to see that a first aid station is manned.

When summer camp time rolls around, the committee aids in seeing that all boys going to camp first have a physical check up. (The council committee is on hand at camp to recheck every boy and man arriving in camp.)

The panel is available to help various units on any problems during the year.

'If Unit Isn't Advancing, It's Dying,' Leader Says

You can look at a Scouting unit's record of advancement and almost tell what kind of a unit it is.

"If a pack or troop isn't having advancement," said Harvey Hooser, chairman of the district advancement committee, "it's dead or in danger of dying."

Consequently, his committee examines the monthly advancement report from the council. Where there is little happening, they offer help to stimulate more advancement. They are represented also at the monthly Round Tables for Scouters and Cubs, emphasizing the importance of advancement — for this is the way boys master Scouting skills and maintain interest.

Another function of the committee is to enlist a corps of counsellors who will help boys with merit badges. This is difficult because of the changing list of badges; also because men are supposed to be counsellors, not just test passers. One aim is for the committee to counsel the counselors.

The district committee also offers to assist in holding or establishing boards of review and courts of honors (for award recognition) in the units.

It also is responsible for organizing and conducting boards of review for Eagle Scout candidates. Here adults really conduct an intense examination of boys to make sure they not only know Scouting skills, but more particularly how they are living up to the oath and law and the spirit of Scouting.

MANY FIELDS

No Need To Grow Out Of Scouting

Once upon a time it was said that boys grew out of Scouting, but there's no need for that now.

No longer are Explorer posts units for older Boy Scouts; they are or organized usually for specific vocational or special interest. For instance, there are Air and Sea Explorers. In this district there are several specialty posts. One is the medical post for boys and girls who are interested in learning about various careers in medicine; another is an agriculture post for those wanting to learn about opportunities in this field. Some have been organized around automobiles, communications, etc. Any legitimate vocational field is good for a post.

Heading the program in the Lone Star district is Bill Fryrear. He urges any boy 14 years or older, or any adult, or any potential sponsor to contact him for help in seeing if another post can be organized.

The program now is open to girls as well as boys. Girls participate in all activities, although they are not listed as members of BSA. Sometimes boys and girls acquire distinctive blazers or other sharp identifying dress.

Explorers have their own socials andsp ecaliteneen vO.s cials and special events. One coming up March 26-27 at Webb AFB will be the Buffalo Trail Council Whing Ding with the local district as Explorer host. Jimmy Wright is chairman for this. He will assist Capt Dennis Scarborough. Boys from all over the council will come here for the two days of contests and fun, and medallions will be awarded to the top three individuals in each event, and to each member of the winning volleyball team. A dance will climax the rally the final evening.

Conservation Is Emphasized

One of the newest emphases in Scouting is on conservation.

Long associated chiefly with plants and soil, this function has been broadened to embrace conservation of all resources.

"We operate under the title of SOAR — Save Our American Resources," said Dr. Paul Koshi, district chairman. He pointed out that results of pollution, etc. are not so manifest in West Texas, but there is much of this going on.

He has contacted unit leaders through the leaders' Round Tables to offer help from his committee so that each unit will undertake a conservation project this year. This is the month that this work should be started.

The project may be important, but what is more important, boys will have a means to work toward their conservation badges, Dr. Koshi pointed out

He has a backlog of materials which he is eager to share with cubmasters, scoutmasters, den mothers and others. He urged them to call him and make their needs known.

Camping, Activities Life Of Boy Scout Program

There is a saying that if you take the "out" from Scouting, you don't have much left.

At any rate, camping and activities are the life blood of a vigorous program, and it is the job of Jimmy Ray Smith, district chairman, to see that boys have this opportunity. He is assisted by Aubrey Bryans, Ralph Beckham and Don Berry.

The committee works through the units, usually by contacts at the monthly Round Tables for leaders.

There are several special events. One is the Exposition, which this year will come up in March at the Highland mall. Aubrey Bryans heads up this work, and he has several subcommittees under him. Usually several thousand witness these booths depicting phases of the Scouting program.

Another activity is the district spring and fall camporee. These draw several hundred boys and men to the Scout Roundup grounds south of town for a weekend of camping. Ralph Beckham heads up this job.

The committee also promotes attendance at the Scout Ranch summer camp in the Davis Mountains. Units are contacted and urged to make reservations months — sometimes a year — in advance. The committee visits units, tells about the Ranch, projects films at the camp and otherwise stimulates interest in this highlight event.

THE FUN IN SCOUTING — Here is part of the fun of being a Scout — setting up camp at the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains in the summer. Each troop must mainain a neat camp (which is inspected daily), and engage in activities which include learning scout skills, swimming, horseback riding, and hiking over the vast, rugged expanse of this wilderness camp which is being preserved almost as it was before the time of the white man.

Big Sacrifice

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend told me I shouldn't expect to see him between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday because he was giving me up for Lent.

I told him I was terribly disappointed and asked him to please reconsider and give up movies because that's what I had planned to give up. He said, No; movies wouldn't be a big enough sacrifice.

Now I don't know what to think. I'd like your opiniin.

KATHY

DEAR KATHY: If your boy friend, gives you up for Lent, you'd be ahead to give HIM up for Lent instead of movies.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I recently built an "office" for myself in our home, which I find very convenient because I can now spend more time at home than in my downtown office.

My wife's apparent annoyance with this new arrangement has become obvious, and that is my problem.

It is very depressing to be asked the first thing in the morning, "What is your schedule today?" (what she means is, "Are you going to stay home all day and get in my way?")

Due to the emotional tension of my work, I often jog in the morning and nap in the afternoon and this displeases my spouse no end. I figure that this will keep me in good physical condition and possibly increase the number of years I will be around, which I suspect is another source of annoyance to her.

I thought of a solution: Suggesting that she go back to work, teaching school. Or have you a better idea? We have been married for 19 years and have three lovely children.

SENSITIVE

DEAR SENSITIVE: Quit guessing, and ask your wife some pertinent questions: "Why are you unhappy with my home office setup? Why do you object to my jogging in the a.m. and snoozing in the p.m.? Would you like for me to just drop dead and get out of your way entirely?"

Don't fight fire with fire by trying to get Her out of the house. You two need a good healthy truth session.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is engaged to marry a young man she went with all through high school. He went overseas, but was sent home before his hitch was up because he had been having "blackouts." He spent several months in the hospital under observation, was then discharged, but he still sees a psychiatrist once a month at the V.A. hospital.

He has struck my daughter several times. Once I saw him slap her hard across the mouth and I really gave him a good piece of my mind. What worries me is that after they are married they will be living in another state and I am afraid of what he may do to her.

How can I get her to postpone her wedding until I am sure he is all right? Or should I just leave well enough alone and hope for the best. She told me herself that he is no more the boy she used to go with than the man in the moon, and she's afraid of him at times.

I don't like to interfere, but I can't sit and let my daughter make what could be a serious mistake. Do you think I should contact the boy's doctor and ask him some questions? WORRIES

DEAR WORRIES: I think your daughter should postpone her wedding until after SHE has talked to the boy's doctor. In fact, she should ask to go with him on his next visit to the doctor, and together they should get an honest report on his condition. No girl should marry a man of whom she is afraid.

'Orphan Disease'

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

A bit ago I remarked that I didn't know of any organization or foundation devoted to psoriasis, that baffling, prevalent, annoying, although not deadly, skin disease.

Because it wasn't deadly, I said, the disease apparently had not inspired any group dedicated to combatting it.

In this I was wrong — and I'm glad to find it out. There is such a group, founded in Portland, Ore., in 1966. This last fall it began a drive to organize chapters all over the country.

The group — National Psoriasis Foundation — itself calls psoriasis "the orphan disease," because it has not loomed as large in the field of medical research as many other diseases have. The foundation uses as a sort of slogan the phrase, "The 'P' is silent — as are its victims."

I can't help agreeing that there is room for such an organization, because a vast number of folks are troubled with psoriasis, sometimes even being hospitalized because of it. The estimated figure is that 8 million have it in the United States, and 150,000 new cases appear each year. That's a lot of people, and the total amount of misery is, truly, enormous.

Copies I have seen of a bimonthly publication put out by the foundation are excellent. The foundation also has a distinguished group of dermatologists, nearly a score of them from all over the country, on its advisory board.

Psoriasis often looks like some dreadful or repulsive disease (which, actually, it isn't) so appearance alone is enough to make it a serious matter for people, but it can (not always will, though) bring with it other problems: chills and fever, arthritis, loss of hair, invasion of the nails, cracked skin, scaling of dried skin. And itching. How it can, at times, itch.

And there is no sure cure for it — at least, none that is reliable and also safe. Drugs that can stop it are too toxic to use, and other treatments are a "maybe" proposition.

I get enough inquiries about it to convince me that some readers would be interested in getting the Psoriasis Foundation's publication, both to learn more about the diseases and, if they are able, to contribute to funds for further research.

The foundation's literature says there is no membership fee, and anyone can get a free copy of the Psoriasis Bulletin by writing to National Psoriasis Foundation, Suite 250, 6415 S.W. Canyon Court, Portland, Ore. 97221.

Yeah, What About The Slow Nights?

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Curious about her husband's job, Liane Butler went to work with him—on his rounds as a policeman driving a patrol car.

"I didn't realize he was working so hard," she said after a two-hour early morning ride with her husband William Butler, 27.

It was part of a new Palo Alto program of allowing interested citizens to go along and see what policemen really do.

During the tour, Butler, 14 months on the force, assisted a mental patient from the Veterans Hospital, found a lost child and issued a traffic citation

'RIO LOBO' AT RITZ
. . . starring John Wayne

John Wayne Film Is Action-Packed

Big John Wayne, fresh from his Oscar triumph, heads the cast in action-packed Western, "Rio Lobo." It is a role uniquely tailored to Wayne's talents, a tough, brawling ex-Civil War officer who frees a Texas town of carpetbaggers and settles an old score with a wartime informer.

All the ingredients that have made Wayne the box office champion of all time are intact — lots of hard riding, an explosive train robbery, nerve-shattering gun fights and a few fist fights for good measure. "Rio Lobo" opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

It was director Howard Hawks who made stars out of then-total unknowns Lauren Bacall, Rita Hayworth, Carole Lombard and Paul Muni, and he has given two unknowns a clear shot for stardom in "Rio Lobo." Hawks cast Mexican star Jorge Rivero, already the top romantic draw throughout Latin America, as Wayne's friend in the film, and he says Rivero "will become one of the most important international stars in the industry." Ruggedly handsome, Rivero has created a frenzy in his native land unknown since Valentino.

Hawks is also betting that "Rio Lobo" will bring stardom to striking brunette Jennifer O'Neill, one of New York's "top five" photographers' models. And in a major casting coup, Hawks chose Chris Mitchum, Bob's second son (who has appeared in "Chisum" and "Suppose They Gave A War and Nobody Came"), for the juvenile lead.

War Comedy Cast Includes Top Actors

"Suppose They Gave A War and Nobody Came," opening tonight at the Jet Theatre is a wild comedy with an all-star cast led by Tony Curtis, Brian Keith, Ernest Borgnine, Suzanne Pleshette, Tom Ewell, Bradford Dillman, Ivan Dixon, Arthur O'Connell and Don Ameche.

The film pits Uncle Sam's peacetime Army against a group of townspeople in an hilarious battle of wits. The movie was filmed in color on location at Fort Huachuca in Arizona.

Starring as a trio of veteran Army buddies who find themselves keepers of the peace as "community public relations officers," are Tony Curtis, Brian Keith and Ivan Dixon.

Curtis, long one of the top box office stars of the past two decades, adds another off-beat character to his long list of film credits which include "The Defiant Ones," "Some Like It Hot," "The Great Imposter," and "The Boston Strangler."

Both Brian Keith and Ivan Dixon, TV stars in their own right, took some time off from their busy schedules to star in the film. Keith who makes a point of alternating screen roles with his highlv successful TV series, "Family Affair,' has recently been seen in the Cinerama adventure "Krakatoa, East of Java," "Gaily, Gaily," and "Reflections in a Golden Eye." Dixon, known by millions of TV viewers as Sgt. Kinchloe of "Hogan's Heroes," has appeared in "Nothing But a Man," and "A Patch of Blue."

Ernest Borgnine, one of the screen's favorite character actors, returns to comedy as Sheriff "Fat" Harve. He is perhaps best remembered as the sadistic soldier Fatso in "From Here to Eternity," and for his Academy Award performance as "Marty."

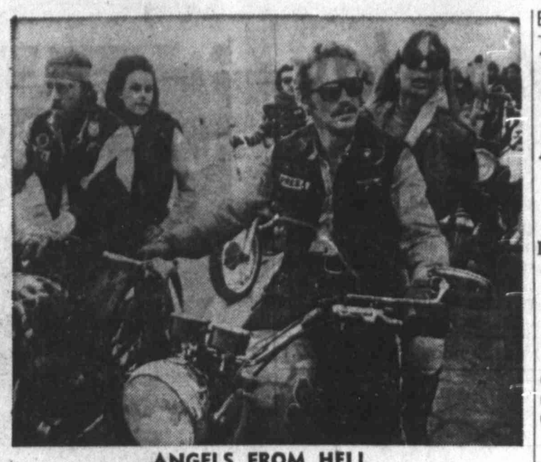

Suzanne Pleshette, it seems, goes from one film with a long unusual title to another. Last season she starred in "If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium."

Veteran performers Bradford Dillman, Tom Ewell, Arthur O'Connell and Don Ameche, making a welcome comeback in his third film in 21 years, round out the stellar cast.

Goldie Named Woman Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Goldie Hawn, star of "There's a Girl in My Soup," was named a 1970 Times Woman of the Year by the Los Angeles Times. Miss Hawn was one of ten women singled out by the newspaper.

For her first film, "Cactus Flower," Miss Hawn won an Academy Award. The same picture earned her the Special Council Prize and the Permanent Jury Prize of the David of Donatello, Italy's equivalent of the Oscar.

ANGELS FROM HELL
. . . Tom Stern, Arlene Martel

Newest Movie Star Is On Third Career

Believe it or not, young and virile Tom Stern, star of "Angels From Hell," coming on Wednesday to the Jet Theatre, is already on his third career.

Stern, who portrays the role of a Vietnam war hero on the loose with a gang of motorcycle outlaws in "Angels From Hell," started out as an insurance agent. Next he went to big league professional baseball and ultimately wound up with his current profession, acting.

In his new starring role, young Stern appears with Arlene Martel, Ted Markland, Stephen Oliver, Paul Bertoya, Jimmy Murphy and Jack Starrett.

"Circumstances and fate merely took a little time to decide what they wanted me to do," comments Stern, in inumerating his multiple careers.

These circumstances began in Manhattan on Nov. 24, young Tom's birthdate. Schooled at Oakhurst Grammar and Asbury Park, he enrolled in the engineering department at the University of Connecticut.

Tom wasn't exactly the picture of bliss, however. Something was lacking in his life. Being an all-star athlete he wanted to bust out! He tried the insurance business but that wasn't for him.

While vacationing in Vero Beach, Fla., Tom won a tryout with the Dodgers and then and there decided to change professions from insurance to "assurance." It all ended too soon, when Tom suffered a smashed nose during a workout. About that time the Army beckoned.

Tom Stern . . . ex-insurance agent . . . ex-professional baseball player, was sent to Germany as a member of the Army's special services. It was here that career No. 3 was born. Appearing in "Twelfth Night," "The Moon Is Blue" and "Detective Story" convinced him that it would be an actor's life for him!

Returning to civilian life brought its problems, mainly making a living. Tom went back to insurance and for two years he was a shining light at the New England Mutual Insurance Co., and at night he was a "star" in Stella Adler's School of Drama. This was followed by sessions at Lee Strasberg's famed Actor's Studio. More study followed until he got his first professional acting job as "The Chesterfield Man" for a series of TV commercials. This led to an understudy booking for Alan Arkin and Gabe Dell in an off-Broadway production of "Man Outloud; Girl Quiet." The play ran for three weeks, but Tom Stern hasn't stopped yet.

Next came the role of Charles in the Florida Company of "Never Too Late."

After "Never Too Late" Stern landed a television lead in "Espionage," which led to Hollywood and a two picture contract with the Mirisches, starting off with "Hallelujah Trail." More TV followed until the part of Lt. Cardwell in "The Devil's Brigade" with William Holden and Vince Edwards sent him back to Europe for his next feature motion picture. His third movie, "Angels From Hell" was shot in California and his fourth, "Can Hieronymus Merkin Ever Forget Mersey Humppe" was made on the Island of Malta off the coast of Spain.

Odessa Artist Exhibits Works

ALPINE — Non-objective art works by Odessa artist Delmos L. Hickmott are on exhibit in the Sul Ross State University Art Gallery through Feb. 26. Hickmott is on the Odessa Junior College art faculty.

The 28 watercolors and acrylics on display are "minimal art" works characterized by color, shape and texture, according to Miriam A. Lowrance, chairman of the SRSU art department.

Hickmott's works are in numerous private collections in the United States and Puerto Rico. Since 1965, he has won more than a dozen first, second, third, Best of Show and Purchase Awards in exhibitions in Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Austin and Hobbs, N.M.

'Fiddler On The Roof' Now On Midland Stage

"Fiddler On The Roof," the happiest of musicals which is still packing them in on Broadway, opened Friday at the Midland Community Theatre for a run of several weeks.

The Midland production is one of the first community theatre presentations of the world-acclaimed musical.

The action takes place in Anatevka, a peasant town in Tsarist Russia. The story centers around Tevye, the diaryman — a pious man who has reared his five daughters with the aid of quotations from the Scriptures, most of which he invents himself

The people of Anatevka are simple and close to earth. Their lives are governed strictly by the age-old laws of tradition. Even when they finally are driven from their homes, they can see the bright side of beginning life anew in other lands.

"Fiddler's" music reflects the happiness and humor of the story: "Matchmaker, Matchmaker," "Sunrise, Sunset," "If I Were A Rich Man" and "Do You Love Me?" are among the show's memorable songs.

The musical drew its title, as Tevye explains in a kind of prologue, from the saying that "our lives are as shaky as a fiddler on a roof," and there actually is a "fiddler on the roof," played by Jack Rozman, concert master of the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

Theatre Centre box office is now open to accept seat reservations from the general public. Single ticket prices are $4 for week night and matinee performances and $5 for Friday and Saturday evening performances.

Area students may attend "Fiddler On The Roof" at the discounted price of $1.50 on the evenings of Feb. 9 and Feb. 23; curtain time 8 p.m. Reservations should be made in advance by calling Theatre Centre box office at 682-7976. Organizations and teachers with large groups are encouraged to attend and to make ticket arrangements in advance.

Famed Guitarists Here Monday

Third Concert Series Program On Stage

Two Indian boys who found a guitar in a jungle of Brazil and picked their way to international fame come here Monday evening as the third offering on the Big Spring Concert Association season. Curtain time is 8 p.m. and admission is by membership. The program is on the HCJC Artist series.

Their virtuosity is as remarkable as their fairy-tale story of self-taught musical genius. From the moment that RCA brought them to America for their first recording, "Maria Elena," Los Indios Tabajaras have been widely in demand.

There is hardly a major city or university in the country where they have not played, and in between they have had smashing tours on four continents. Their array of recording successes has numerous additions, including "Songs of the Islands," "Casually Classic," "Twin Guitars — In the Mood for Love," "Sweet and Savage," etc.

Their style and sound based on primitive rhythms have developed into a popular art form, and their repertoire ranges from the tribal music of Latin American rhythms to popular songs and classics by composers such as Tchaikovsky, Chopin and Albeniz.

They have appeared on several nationally televised shows, including those of Ed Sullivan, Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, Arthur Godfrey.

Natalico and Antenor Lima, the sons of a Tabajaras Chief, Mitanga, were born in a remote and primitive area of Brazil. One day they found a guitar, apparently abandoned by a white man in the forest, and taught themselves to play accompaniments to native songs.

The boys, and part of their family (which numbered 16) walked 3,000 miles to Rio de Janeiro where they continued to teach themselves and perform wherever they could.

As their unique style and sound evolved, their fame spread. They spent some time in Europe and in Mexico in serious study on fundamentals of music. Their tours have taken them to most parts of the world, including the Far East.

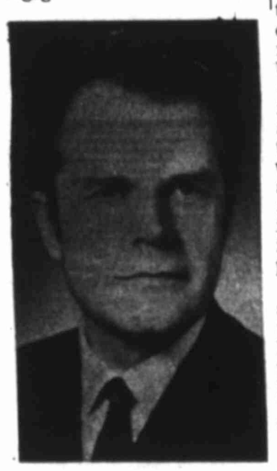

PUBLIC INVITED

Russian Expatriot Schedules Talks

A former Russian tank commander who refused repatriation after World War II will be here Monday and Tuesday for a series of addresses under the sponsorship of the Big Spring YMCA.

He is Dr. Nicholas T. Goncharoff, a member of the national council of YMCAs staff as a specialist in international affairs. This is a return appearance for the world traveler who was the speaker at the annual Y banquet several years ago when James M. (Bobo) Hardy, now associate director on the national council staff, was general secretary here.

Dr. Goncharoff is to appear at Howard County Junior College at an assembly at 9:45 a.m. Monday, and the public is invited. That afternoon and Tuesday morning he will be at the Big Spring High School to engage in student discussions. Monday night he speaks to the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs, and Tuesday noon he climaxes his visit with an address to the Rotary Club at the Settles.

DR. NICHOLAS GONCHAROFF

A native of Kiev, Russia, he was captured by the Germans in World War II but refused repatriation. He entered Munich University as a teacher and student, studying in comparative theology both at Munich and Tuebingen prior to earning his Ph.D. from Munich in 1952. He did post-graduate study in international law and relations at Columbia.

He first came in contact with the YMCA in a refugee camp and later became president of 19 Russian YMCA student groups in West Germany, simultaneously serving as secretary in Germany for the Russian student Christian movement.

He directed the Y's leadership training program in the American and French zones of Germany before coming to the United States in 1952. He has authored numerous publications in the field of education, sociology and national and international affairs. His specialty with the national council is to stimulate a greater awareness and understanding of the basic issues and conflicts, beliefs and ideologies that form the complex pattern of today's world.

Last August Dr. Goncharoff served as director for the Institute for World Leadership and Development. With 34 participants, he travelled in Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, India, Lebanon, Turkey and Greece, talking with heads of government, members of parliament — both leaders of ruling parties as well as those in opposition.
