(By Associated Press.)
McMECHEN, W. V., April 3.—Incensed because his boarding house keeper, with whom he was infatuated, threatened to return to her estranged husband, John Sebert, 50, tonight set off several sticks of dynamite in the home of Mrs. Julia Karp, 42, killing himself and Mrs. Karp's 13-year-old daughter, and wounding Mrs. Karp and three other persons.

The explosion wrecked the Karp dwelling and house next door. Mrs. Karp, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries, told Coroner D. B. Ealy of Marshall county that Sebert tried to prevail upon her to remain away from her husband, but that she refused.

When he entered the house tonight she said she noticed a battery in his pocket and a dynamite cap in his hand. Sensing what he intended to do, she said she ran for the door but did not escape before dynamite placed under the kitchen table had been set off by Sebert. Sebert was instantly killed, and his hand, clutching a dynamite cap, was found later by police. Stella, Mrs. Karp's daughter, died at a hospital, three younger Karp children escaped unhurt.

A man named McCloskey and his wife, who lived in the other house demolished, and a boy who was walking near the house at the time the blast was injured.

Mrs. Karp said she and her husband had separated some months ago. First reports were that the man killed was Mrs. Karp's husband.

'Liar' Episode Produces Retort From Moody and Explanation From Estes

(By Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, April 3.—Col. Carl L. Estes' own story of his verbal encounter with Secretary Work at Washington moved Gov. Dan Moody late Tuesday to say that "I cannot wonder that Estes resented this treatment or that Mr. Work felt the necessity of an explanation."

The statement was in a letter of thanks to Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Mayfield of Texas for upholding Estes, a member of the Governor's staff, when the dispute got to the United States senate floor.

The letters were written after Estes, of Tyler, conferred with the governor and told his story. Estes said that Secretary Work called him a "liar and a jackass" when he questioned the sufficiency of the Governor's departmental expense report while proposed judicial pay for Arkansas. One of Estes' motions at Washington was to appeal.

Peterson, former postmaster, who committed suicide last Sunday to his brother, charging that his action was due to forced contributions to the state republican organization, was threatened by the Georgia senators if the administration investigation does not satisfy them.

—THE— WOMAN'S DAY By Allene Sumner

A 16-year-old high school boy of the mid-west is missing. Airplanes and hundreds of his schoolmates are searching for him. But they expect to find the boy dead, if at all. The boy left a note to his parents saying "good-bye; this is the end." He had taken his father's car without permission, smashed it up, and was severely disciplined. But the boy's parents are heart sick and aghast. "Surely he knew that he meant more to us than the car!" say the stricken parents.

HOW COULD HE KNOW?

But how was the boy to know? Maturity sometimes forgets that youth does not have its own background; that it has no experience for basis of comparison; no emotional background with which to measure relative importance and unimportance. A parent takes his own affection for the child so for granted that he dares "let himself go" with censure. But how is a child who has never been a parent to know the passing lightness of parental wrath as compared with the infinite endurance of parental love?

We Believe in A Woman's Right To Be Beautiful

Long ago Puritan America decreed that beauty must be largely a cultivation of the inner virtues. Feminine faces, except for a dab of talcum powder, were as Nature made them. If Nature had been unkind—or forgetful—one's only hope lay in "good works" and an early demise.

Today all is changed. Lipsticks and the rouge pots are part of the modern women's rebellion against household drudgery. Once she had to bend over a hot cookstove, or a steaming wash tub six days a week. Today she presses a button and has plenty of time left over to make herself attractive.

We always smile rather happily when we pass our Cosmetic Department. It is more than just a counter where one may buy excellent toilet preparations for a modest sum. It is a visible symbol that Beauty once more has resumed her rightful place—that feminine charm and allurements are not to be banished utterly from the face of the earth.

Tech Romps Away From Shallowwater in Practice Till

Matador Hitters Drive Out Varied Multi-plies Blows

Waller, With Two Round Trip Swats, Lead Parade Of Batsmen In Game Here Yesterday.

"Don't mention it," the Shallowwater semi-pro nine retorted yesterday afternoon as they left the Tech park after having allowed Coach Grady Higginbotham's Texas Tech Matadors to enjoy a thoroughly rambling afternoon. There were some who said that a ball game had taken place instead of what appeared a lively batting practice for Tech and that the score was 28 to 2 in favor of the Bull Fighters.

Some of the Tech bats must have figured it a practice affair anyway, as frequent errors were marked up against them.

Volney (Satch) Hill, spit ball chucker of the Matador staff, started the game and worked the spitter continuously on the Shallowwater hitters advantageously. In the four frames Hill worked only one single was secured and it was credited to George Blackmon, third sacker for the visitors. Willis Gray, too, allowed but one safety in the two seasons he worked. Wilburn Edmon last moundman for the Techs, also worked effectively in the remaining frames to allow but one hit.

Were Pounding Again. Grady had his bats hitting the agate all over the lot and many of them falling for extra bases.

(Red) Waller, who worked his first game for the Matadors in the outfield, had a great afternoon in the hitting department as he clouted out two homers, a triple, and a single off the offerings of the visiting moundmen. Waller's triple would have been for the full circuit but hard luck overtook him as he fell face down after circling the third base after the swat and was checked there for the three base hit.

Raymond (Evo) Marshall, outfielder and "Chink" Taylor, first baseman, also brought out their long range clubs and counted homers with (Red) Waller.

Three chukkers were used by Barne Blackmon, handler of the Shallowwater club. Branch, lengthy right-hander, opened the game and was relieved by (Lefty) Skelton, who failed to better in the box. Sam Scott, who donned a Matador uniform in the opening year of the Tech College, came from the infield to relieve Skelton and found that he, too, was troubled by the Matador swatmen.

Team Leaves Thursday. With the two exhibition contests revealing added strength in the hitting department for the Techs, and the pitching improved considerably since the two practice contests with Sied Allen's Texans, in which a double drubbing was given the homebats, Grady will entrain for Waco early Thursday morning to meet with the Baylor University Bears on April 6 and 7, which will be the opening college games for Texas Tech.

HORNED FROGS IDLE
Working Hard, Preparing For Next Week.

PORT WORTH, April 3.—The T. O. U. Horned Frogs will be idle this week as far as scheduled games are concerned but they are due to get a week of the hardest work they have had this season in preparation for four Southwest Conference games next week.

Breaking even with Baylor here Friday and Saturday in their first two-game series, the Frogs are due to a better start in the conference race than the majority of the sport critics of the Southwest predicted for them. With only one veteran pitcher back and the infield made up entirely of first year or inexperienced men, Coach "Dutch" Every's crew have been given very little attention in the discussions of probably championship contenders.

MIGHTY BABE GETS HIS FIRST HOMER

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—The mighty Babe Ruth planted his first homer of the spring training grind today thereby breaking the spell that had shrouded his bat in the first 13 exhibition games of the Yanks.

The Yanks lost the contest, a 12 inning affair to the Chattanooga Lookouts by a score of 3 to 2.

Pitcher Bob Wilson was the victim of the Babe's drive in the eleventh inning which broke a one-all count and gave the New Yorkers a leadaway of one run.

Tunney Makes His Gesture of Peace

Amicable Move by Champion Comes Within Hour After Disapproval Placed On Heeney Bout.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Gene Tunney made his gesture of peace with the New York State Athletic commission today less than an hour after the "sacred solemn" had placed the stamp of disapproving silence on the heavyweight championship scheduled fight with Tim Heeney in July.

Perhaps annoyed by Tunney's less-than-enthusiastic attitude in neglecting to answer a "request" that he formally name a challenger from the commission list, the boxing fathers met Tex Rickard's formal announcement of the Heeney match with corrugated brows and silence. They withheld the sanction Jess McMahon, Rickard's matchmaker, confidently had expected as the first move toward selection of New York as the site for the title bout.

The commission, Chairman James A. Farley was willing to admit, was in a disconcerting situation.

But Tunney apparently solved the problem himself within an hour after the commission dissolved for the day by informing the fathers, in a conciliatory though chiding message from Miami Beach, that he accepted the challenge of Heeney. This paved the way for the situation to be cleared up at the next meeting of the board, Sunday, although the commission still has to answer the commission edict that he fight twice a year, a thing he has advocated himself since last fall.

In the regular Sunday shoot Joe Chism won first prize of $5 gold. Mr. Gooden won second, Roy Kar, third, and R. D. Rhodes fourth. J. R. Germany tied with Chism for second place and in the miss-out the former won.

Texas Champions Place at Chicago

Austin Team High Scorer In National Basketball Tournament; Middlewest Bests the East.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, April 3.—A fighting band of mountaineers from Carr Creek, Ky., a settlement so small that it isn't even on the map, rose from athletic obscurity to prominence at the University of Chicago's ninth annual national interscholastic basketball tournament today.

Wearing their first basketball suits, this team, which earned all it knows of the game alone and on a vacant lot, overwhelmed a tournament favorite, the Albuquerque, N. M., Indians 32 to 16, in the first round of tournament play.

Middlewest Beats East. Basketball played in the midwest proved superior over the true played in the east in today's games. Three fives from the midwest eliminated three eastern entries in four international games.

Only one Atlantic seaboard team, Bristol, Conn., was able to make a victory. In a brilliant last quarter finish, the easterners eliminated Miami, Ariz. 26 to 21.

Pine Bluff, Ark., rolled up the high score of the day to put out Berlin, New Hampshire, 37 to 10.

The high scoring team from Austin, Texas, eliminated Englewood of Chicago, 29 to 25 in a Garrison finish. The Cowboys trailed the city lads until the final two minutes of play when a basket by Sellers put the southerners in front 25 to 22. Chote then contributed two baskets to give the Austin five a safe lead.

Englewood had a lead of 18 to 12 at the half and 23 to 21 at the third quarter.

MILBURN INJURED

This is a little story about an internationally famous man who fell off a horse and broke his collar bone, and it is not about the Prince of Wales.

Milburn

man fell at the same place the previous day Tommy Hitchcock rated with Milburn as the greatest suffered a sprained ankle when he mount went down under him.

FARRELL CUTS LOOSE

They have said for years that Johnny Farrell would cut loose and take the chances that Walter Haugen does he would be a professional. Well he cut loose with wild abandon in the $15,000 La Crosse open tournament at Miami Beach and won $5,000 first money with a sensational 63, eight under par, for his last round.

Farrell

He had to knock off six birds and an eagle with not a hole above par. And he shot every stroke like he knew it was going where he wanted it.

WANTS MORE DOUGH

After using a lot of influence to get the California ban lifted on Joe Dundee so that he could meet Ace Hudkins for the welterweight championship before summer, Ted Rickard had another setback. Dundee was finally restored to good standing in California and New York but when Rickard started talking about an early date Hudkins said his hands hurt and that he had a duty to his public to be in good shape. Hudkins probably wants an outdoor shot which would net more of a financial pot.

Hudkins

HOUSE BARRED. This is just one of a million dollars' worth of horses in the Ranococas stable that may be barred from the big Maryland tracks this year.

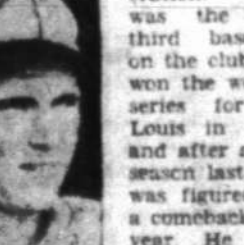

Because of the oil scandals in which the name of Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire owner of the stable, has figured the Maryland Racing Commission asked the owners of the tracks at Laurel, Pimlico, Harve de Grace and Bowie to bar the horses in the Ranococas stable. The great Zec was the most celebrated color bearer of the stable, but at present there are no champions in the Ranococas barn.

Lester Bell

BELL JOINS BRAVES. Baseball people were surprised when the St. Louis Cardinals traded Lester Bell to the Boston Braves for Andy High and a cash consideration.

He was the star third baseman on the club that won the world's series for St. Louis in 1926 and after a bad season last year was figured for a comeback this year. He may be a big star with the Braves as he will be playing with Rogers Hornsby again and the St. Louis folks think it was the Rajah who made him a player with the Cards.

COACHES ELECTED. Fred Walker Kept Cage Mentor At Texas.

AUSTIN, April 3.—Re-election of Fred Walker as head basketball coach by the athletic council, was announced Tuesday at the University of Texas.

Shorty Alderson was named head coach for all freshman athletes. W. J. James again will be line coach for the football team and Marjory Karow will be assistant.

Walker came to the university last year from Loyola university, New Orleans.

Tunney wants Fred Thompson, former army chaplain, as referee in his next bout. Maybe Gene, like Tex Rickard, fears the next affair is going to be a funeral.

Ty Cobb Belies Reports He Quit Playing Baseball

Tall Georgian Reports In Athletics Camp; Is Pronounced Fit to Play With Mackmen.

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Ty Cobb is on his job. The Georgia Peach who denied reports last week that he had quit baseball, arrived in Philadelphia today and with the other members of the Philadelphia Athletics.

As the American league star gambled about his team mates in the bright, warm sunshine of Shibe park, Connie Mack looked on and pronounced Ty fit to play.

The tall tactician said Cobb would appear in the game tomorrow against the Philadelphia Nationals in the series for the city championship.

Lubbock and South Plains fight bugs who turned out for the twenty round mill at the Landsey Theatre last evening were given a good treat in the three exhibition bouts of the four scheduled on the bill. The main bout, which was staged between Jack Denton of Tahoka, who boasts the title of welterweight class champion of Texas Panhandle and Plains and Kid Mitchell, the Douglas Flash, went to Denton by decision of Harry Meyers, veteran referee.

The fourth man was a series of clinches with neither landing effective blows. When the going soured for the fifth Denton came in fast and fought tigerly peppering the Kid rights and lefts but the Flash cleverly dodged several hard wings of Denton's right. The referee warned Denton of low body blows as Jack shot a swift uppercut to the Kid's belt.

In the sixth round the Douglas flash, bleeding and appearing quite tired, charged into Denton, chasing Jack to the ropes. The Kid looked stronger in this round than during any previous one from the opening song. Jack swung a mighty haymaker that glanced off the Kid's head but caused the Flash to slip to his knees where he remained for the count of nine.

As the bell rang for the seventh round fighters rushed to the center of the ring. Jack working on the Kid's body. The Flash slapped Jack with rights and lefts at the bell. In the eighth the Kid kept looking stronger and was laying good smashes to Denton's stomach, which began to tire the Plains champ. Jack missed frequent long swings as the Kid as the Flash fought carefully. In the ninth mill Jack kept working with the Kid's body but Mitchell hammered Denton to the ropes with rights and lefts. Just before the bell Jack landed a hard overhand to the Kid's jaw. In the final round the two were working hard on one another and the flash kept continually gained strength while Denton was appearing tired. Both peppered rights and lefts working for a knockout at the bell ended the battle.

Kawles Wins. In a three-round exhibition between Sidney Knowles and Curtis Hamilton, Knowles was given a decision over Hamilton as on two occasions Sidney dropped Hamilton to the floor with hard rights to the chin. In the last mill Knowles lifted Hamilton off the floor with a hard right and Hamilton took the count of eight.

The semi-final clash between two negroes, Cole of Tahoka, and Wills of Slaton, was the most unappreciative mix of the evening for Wills faked an injury before going into the ring and battled with Cole but one round and as the Tahoka black had rushed Wills in the second, the Slaton entry fell to the floor and took purely a count of 10.

POLITICS AND INVESTIGATION

What once was promising to the people of the country for some constructive national legislation in the way of farm relief, flood control, disposition of Muscle Shoals, tax reduction and a few other things is beginning to look gloomy. In addition to investigation of national scandals and sensational elections, outside of these things the senate does not seem to have time for anything else except some political debates which are largely to give strength to the two parties in the coming campaign. In fact it is all investigation and politics and the constructive questions that are pressing are all side-tracked. Flood control was to have been acted on last week in the senate, but something got in the way, and it now takes its place on the calendar. The farm relief bill was favorably reported five weeks ago, but that has not come up for action since. It was agreed that the work of tax reduction would start on March 15, but Congress is no more ready to start the work now than it was back in January when the 15th of March was named by the president and secretary Mellon as the time when they would like to have the question brought up. But from present indications there will be no tax reduction this year anyway. The Muscle Shoals matter was about settled in the senate and government operation under the Norris bill, but somebody threw a monkey wrench into the machinery in the House and the naval committee and agricultural committee are now writing an entirely new bill which if it passes the House will then have to go to the Senate for approval, and that seems to be a death knell to the disposition of Muscle Shoals as far as this session of Congress is concerned. It is deplorable that so little can be accomplished when so much is needed done. It is deplorable that the time of the Senate must be taken up by politics and investigation when so much constructive work was so well laid out and planned, and it is unfortunate for the nation that this game of politics must be played from year's end to year's end in Washington no matter what national disaster may follow.

SIGNS OF SPRING IN LUBBOCK

"Now Nature hangs her mantle green
On every blooming tree,
And spreads her sheets o' daisies white
Out o'er the grassy lea."

Spring—like a Romeo of old brings, with its varied melodies an inner thrill to those to whom music is the song of birds—the murmur of trickling streams. To the rest of the folks around Lubbock it is the harbinger of good business, a call to the duties of annual spring cleaning, and the things which deal with the seriousness of life. With the icy fingers of winter beginning to lighten their grip on everything around, the signs of spring are already beginning to make their appearance. Within the next few weeks the somber days of winter will have passed into history once more and everyone will begin to feel exhilaration of spring. All nature will be alive to its approach and on tree and bush will soon be seen tiny buds and fresh green leaves. Perhaps, however, the first herald of spring will be found among the shops of the city. Especially will this be true in those places of business catering to the women. Here will be found the advance showing in new dress creations with a profusion of color and decoration. New spring hats in all the leading shades, and shapes are already being placed on the display tables. With the change of season comes very naturally a change in style. Mildly must be adorned in plumage befitting the season and along with the changes in style as to dress goods, cut of the various garments, style of hat, comes also changes as to color tone for hosiery style, color and material in footwear. There must be a harmony in dress for mildly from crowns to and our merchants who keep posted well in advance of forthcoming style changes, have prepared themselves for the demands which will be made upon them. They, therefore, have full and well-selected stocks and they are anticipating a brisk business.

When one mentions style, one naturally thinks of the women; but the male portion of the city's population is not invulnerable to the darts of fashion. The average man likes to be togged out according to the latest dictate of fashion just as much so as the women of the city. Proprietors of gents furnishing stores know this better than anyone else, and they are displaying new spring styles for men in attractively dressed windows, and the bet is an even one that they will not miss the eye of male buyers hereabouts. The poets may cock their ears for the song of the muse with the advent of spring, and fashion may claim the attention of others just now, but to a lot of folks spring has a more serious meaning. Houses have been shut up, and this means plenty of work during the spring cleaning. The draperies must all be changed for lighter and more airy ones, the floor coverings must be removed, the carpets given a good beating, the floors scrubbed, and blankets packed away in the cedar chests and the like. Winter clothing must be cleaned and pressed and carefully put away for another year, and the last year's lighter weight garments taken out and given the once over.

The housewives are going to spend many busy days putting the house in order, and the men folks are going to be routed first from one retreat to another, and some of them will finally seek refuge in the back yard, and up a tree, maybe, until all this business of spring cleaning has been brought to an end.

When it is all over Lubbock will settle down once more to a state of normal home life to enjoy the balmy breezes of the warmer season, the beauty of the flowers and the tune of the song birds. Summer will follow the spring, and then will come fall once more, and after fall, winter. The whole thing is just a continuous circle in which we keep moving round and round, year in and year out until some day we pass out of the picture and on to some other real where, maybe there isn't any spring cleaning, there isn't any change in temperature one season to another and styles in dress will make no difference.

ANY WAY THE SUN SHINES

Whatever else is bad, the weather is good.

There have been, so far, no devastating flood and the flood season is fast spent.

There have been no hard freezes since the sap rose and the buds swelled, to kill fruit, flowers or vegetation.

There has been just enough rainfall to make the ground sufficiently moist for the farmer to get an early start, and these conditions have prevailed generally over the corn, wheat and cotton belt sections.

We will make bumper crops all down the line unless the boll weevil and corn borer and other insect pests come to tackle and destroy. Anyway the sun shines now, and there has never been a finer season for agriculture in the country's history.

It will require something more than resolutions to reduce acreage and thereby reduce surplus. We will simply have to have some way to hold the surplus, because unless there is an unforeseen, unpreventable calamity there is going to be a surplus.

No use, either to tell the farmer to diversify now, because he can't plant any sort of a crop which will not show "over-production," according to the alarmists standard.

But if the Congress passes the McNary-Haugen bill and it becomes effective by harvest time with the Federal government controlling the surplus, the American farmer is going to be able to show the gamblers of the world how to raise a substantial surplus of food and raiment, and still get good prices for the crop.

As long as there are thousands in this country who are half clad and who never have enough to eat a single day in the year, how can any man truthfully say there has ever been "over-production" in either food or fabric in this country?

FLOOD CONTROL PASSES

It is good for the country that the flood control bill has passed the Senate without a dissenting vote. It will pass the House, and President Coolidge will sign it. Not all of its provisions are clear at this time, and there may yet be minor changes before it is finally passed, but it provides $350,000,000 for present work, and establishes an emergency appropriation which will become effective when we are face to face with such conditions as prevailed in the Mississippi Valley in 1927. Then it is a step in the direction of federal flood control in every section of the country. The bill levies a portion of the cost of levees and spillways on local communities, but at the same time recognizes credit for the work already done, so that in fact the work to be done now is entirely at the expense of the national government. Such constructive laws as this give rise to a hope that perfection will come at some day, and some of us may live to see the day when we have deep waterways from the lakes to the Gulf, and when the flood waters of the Mississippi may be made the servant of man in creating hydro-electric power instead of being unchecked and becoming a menace to life and property.

We are making rapid advance in this country—we are conquering the ocean and large waterways and we will yet harness the power and heat of the sun.

OUT OUR WAY—

HEROES ARE MADE NOT BORN—THE FINEST WALLOW IN TOWN RIGHT IN FRONT OF YOUR HOUSE

SO THINK WE

We think that Lindy may be a pretty high flier but there is one thing that can be said about him. He knows when to get down to earth, and he usually gets there on time.

We think that if people keep on agitating the thing, the solution of the search for International Peace will wind up with another war.

We think that if the admirals and naval officers know what they are talking about the United States needs a navy.

We think about the nearest contented man is the one that can sit and count the interest that will be due him at the due dates of a note.

We think that one great trouble with the American politics is that when one big mouthed guy talks there are a lot of other big mouthed men to take up the cry.

We think there is certainly a wide difference of opinion. One of the readers of the Avalanche said a few days ago that there was nothing in the paper while another one in five minutes said it certainly was interesting. We believed the last one. The other possibly had had a bad night.

We think the man or woman who spends half of their time apologizing for what they do are simply making time, and will never get anywhere.

We think that Mexico keeps a few rebel gangs at work all the time.

We think the old fashioned girl was not considered considerate unless she helped mother to prepare the meals, but now she is considered a pretty fair girl if she even gets to her meals on time.

We think there was a lot of mileage in the old time roller towel—the endless kind, and there was also a lot of germs, too, but still we enjoyed them.

We think that times have changed a great deal, it used to be that one was supposed to count ten before they fought, but in these modern times, they count ten thousand before they will agree to fight.

We think that people who rush for bargains do not always get them.

We think that not every bald-headed man has a great brain, and we have known some men who had a heavy head of hair that did not appear very bright or intelligent.

We think there should be a breath-holding contest put on in congress. It certainly would be interesting to the general public.

We think that the election for city officers may not create a great deal of interest just at this time, but that will not keep a lot of folks from finding fault with the way the city affairs are run after these men are in office. The best time to kick is at the ballot box with your ballot and not after the men have been elected by your defaulted vote.

OPINIONS

DIPLOMATS SALARIES.

In connection with the recent appointment of Sir William Tyrrell as British ambassador in Paris, a statement has been published regarding the pay which he will receive. His official salary as ambassador is $12,500 a year. The American ambassador to France gets $17,500. Score one for the United States! One must look further, however, to the question of "allowances." Sir William will have in addition to his salary, an allowance of more than $60,000. The British ambassador at Washington has an allowance of $65,000. This redresses the balance with a vengeance, since our ambassadors have no allowances whatever. Considering the inescapable demand on him for entertainment, both official and private, it is evident enough that nobody would be an American ambassador. But congress cannot be induced to increase the diplomatic appropriation. It will fill the air with threats to have an American navy, a party with the British, but when it comes to equalizing the pay of our ambassadors with theirs, we are asked to be content with a permanent inferiority. Mayor Thompson of Chicago ought to look into this—New York Times.

CANADA'S TERMS.

Canada is said to be willing to negotiate with the United States in constructing the St. Lawrence seaway on condition that the United States lower tariffs upon the products of Canadian farms and forests. It is evident enough that nobody would be an American ambassador. But congress cannot be induced to increase the diplomatic appropriation. It will fill the air with threats to have an American navy, a party with the British, but when it comes to equalizing the pay of our ambassadors with theirs, we are asked to be content with a permanent inferiority. YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The well-known staff of life is not yet generally accepted as the ideal food, nor indeed should it be. On the other hand, bread does contain much material that is exceedingly useful in human nutrition and it is well therefore to have a complete understanding as to just what it means.

According to V. H. Mottram, bread, white or brown, is a poor food except in conjunction with other foods. White bread contains too little or too poor proteins; brown bread contains roughage, indeed too much for some people and more vitamin B than white bread, but it is still short of being a complete food.

A French investigator named Lopicque made an extensive study to find out whether or not bread could be improved by adding to it portions of corn, rice, barley, rye, buckwheat, tapioca, or oatmeal. Rye was found to be the most suitable of all of these substances for mixture with ordinary bread in order to lower the price of bread and to make it at the same time suitable as a food.

It is important to remember that few people in America depend on bread alone for their diets. Therefore, experiments made with white rats fed on bread alone are hardly applicable to human beings.

It is quite true that young rats can be made to gain in weight on feeding them with whole wheat bread, but they gain also on ordinary sour bread, milk rolls or white bread, although not quite so much.

Milk Quits
The addition of milk to bread or of butter serves to raise its content of calcium and of important vitamins. Yeast is added to bread in the baking and should give vitamin B, but the amount of yeast added is usually so small as to be relatively insignificant.

If children are compelled to subsist largely on a diet of white bread, vitamin B must be added to the diet in some special manner.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that the Woman's Temperance Union has a new slogan. It used to read "close the saloons and save the boys." Now it reads "close the garage and save the girls." Both are very good slogans.

It is reported that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. But it looks like the mean ones are out of proportion some way or other.

It is reported that Lubbock is to have a clean-up campaign. When?

It is reported that H. D. Wood received the largest vote for mayor in the election yesterday and the people are going to be just that solidly behind him in the performance of his duties.

It is reported that Lubbock will not have as big a mayor this year as last, but it is good solid wood afloat and will make a good man in the place.

It is reported that one fellow said he would do a better job of filling this column than we. We are sure glad that the boss did not find him before we got set, or we might be thinking the same thing of him.

It is reported that since the rail accident the other day that some of the folks are beginning to realize that there may be some real danger in the crossing on Avenue H and also on East Broadway, and that possibly we have been right all the time in demanding that an underpass be put in there.

BIG BUSINESS.

There is considerable interest among cotton men upon the investigation now being made of the Anderson, Clayton & Company, cotton dealers, owners of the round bale system and operators of cotton oil mills. It is too early to predict what the outcome of the investigation will be, most likely the firm will not be convicted of the charges made.

Big business must stop unfair business tactics else the people will take action. We sometimes hear that a statement of that kind is wrong. Usually the charge is made by one who knows himself to be doing wrong and would keep doing wrong so long as the public keeps or can be made to keep quiet.

The big financial concerns have manipulated things—pretty nicely and some of them fail to show profits. This is especially true with public service corporations. The organization that is governed by law can find many ways to show that no profit is made.

A newspaperman who has been investigating a large public service corporation has made the statement that he found the corporation buying products from a manufacturing concern that was owned by a few men high up as officials, and that the price paid for the products was four or five times the cost.

In other words the public service corporation entered a competitive market for these products they could have been purchased at a big saving, which would reflect in increased profits and followed by lower rates to the public.

The business world believes in doing things honestly and ethically, and this kind of business does not meet approval of a majority of business men, big or little. The time is fast approaching when the public service companies must be fair, which we believe most are endeavoring to be.

The cotton business may not be fair. Down here in Texas we hear much about who controls the business.—Childress Index.

Fear of Tomorrow

"One can never tell what the morrow will bring," said a woman, friend appreciatively quoting the proverb. "No, one cannot," replied her companion, "but why be so doleful about it since it is so likely to bring you unheralded joy and opportunity as it is to bring trouble?"

How true that is, yet how prone we are to dwell on the unpleasant uncertainty. If we could but form the habit of expecting betterment instead of failure, or if, like a woman I encountered recently, we could be philosophical about it, resigning tomorrow to the will of fate, at least a measure of satisfaction would be ours.

This woman I mention has unusual serenity which is the outgrowth of an unshakable faith both materially and spiritually. "I plan life as best I can," she said, "but I do not try to accomplish the impossible; I leave that in the hands of God. People stubbornly persist in trying to elude higher authority. They deviate from the natural order, they defy fate by disobedience, but they eventually pay. How much better they would fare if they paid as they lived, day by day, instead of having to meet the vast debt all at once."

She is a spiritual woman and it isn't easy for the worldly creature to understand her, but I am sure she meant that being true to oneself is the better way, that determining one's duty and performing it regardless of the sacrifice entailed is the only way of realizing happiness in this world and the next.

How timorous we all are. How we cower at responsibility and inconvenience. How prone we are to make bugbears out of the natural laws that govern us. Disciplinary they are to be sure, but nothing worth while can be accomplished without system and order or with out subordination of self.

The trustful, confident attitude promotes happiness, because it features the fact that it is by bringing the better things of life to the foreground that we create a propitious atmosphere for daily living as well as a finer pattern after which to fashion our efforts and ambitions.

There is much good in the world, much actual beauty and splendid strength, and where are strong things like that? The unfavorable things into the background, improved conditions result.

Our environment means much. The child eagerly craves about for fit subjects to emulate; the plastic adult mind seeks examples of achievement and incentives for increased zeal at labor. Where these inspirations are lacking, the child's growth is stunted and the adult's interest dies and he deteriorates.

Instead of being afraid of tomorrow, we should face it bravely. Though that is not always easy, it is facilitated by putting one's best into today. That is the safest insurance against failure.

THE NICEST MOTHER
By Douglas Maclell

A lot of mothers may be fine,
I know that none's as nice as mine.
Though some folks say,
"All children do,"
I know a way.

To prove it's true,
A way to prove, of all the rest,
That my own mother is the best.

For often mother takes me out
Where other mothers are about.
They call my name.

They pat my head,
They say the same
Things mother said.

But not a one I ever meet
That ever makes it sound as sweet.

WHO BENEFITS BY PROHIBITION?

The following answers are compiled by the Buffalo Citizens' Committee of 5,000 for Enforcement.

Wage earners—whose wages were $8,000,000,000 more in 1926 than in 1918, which is an increase of 25 per cent, while living costs are reduced 18 per cent since 1920.

Employers—who benefit by increased production and a reduced labor turnover, by sober workmen, fewer accidents and no more "blue Mondays."

Farmers—who buy three times as much farm machinery and who sell 45 per cent more milk than in 1920 and who rarely have a drunken farm hand.

Bankers—twenty-three million new deposits since 1920 have increased deposits in the savings banks by $9,000,000,000, an increase of 60 per cent.

Insurance men—who have sold $51,000,000,000 of new insurance since 1920. Which is a 130 per cent increase. Sixty million persons now hold life insurance.

Real estate men—who have sold an average of 741 new homes every day last year and who find rents and payments easier to collect.

Manufacturers—manufactured products in 1923 and 1926 reached $62,000,000,000 in value, which is more than the peak of after war-time production.

Merchants—who get much of the $2,000,000,000 formerly spent in drink and who have thousands of buyers where they used to have hundreds.

Everybody's wife—who shares in all this increased prosperity and rejoices in all it means to her family. Probably she has one of the 612,000 washing machines, surely she has one of the 1,000,000 vacuum cleaners or some of the $900,000,000 worth of furniture which has been sold each year since 1924. A million farmers' wives are enjoying the 1,000,000 bathtubs which were put into farmhouses last year.

Everybody's family—there is one passenger automobile to every one and a quarter families and one radio set to every five homes in our country. Colleges have doubled their attendance in a few years, and schools of every kind are full to overflowing.

This splendid condition the committee does not claim is due solely to prohibition, but states that leading financiers and economists attribute to the Eighteenth Amendment a "very large share" of our present prosperity.—Christian Advocate.

Split Over Farm Relief Is Wider

Brookhart, of Iowa Speaks In Opposition and Mayfield Defends McNary-Haugen Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The rift in the ranks of western senators over farm relief stood out in bolder relief today when Senator Brookhart of Iowa, one of the independent republicans, launched his expected offensive against the McNary-Haugen bill and put forward as a substitute a government subsidy bill of his own.

Senator Brookhart and Senator Mayfield, democrat of Texas, a proponent of the McNary-Haugen measure, were the only speakers of the day, the agricultural measure giving way in the afternoon to the "ending District" of Columbia appropriation bill.

Mayfield Favors Bill. Mayfield declared the proposal would go a long way toward putting the farmer on a permanent stable basis. Brookhart contended it was inadequate and would fail in its purpose.

The Iowa advocate of his measure which would have the treasury bear the cost of marketing surplus crops up to a limit of $600,000,000. This limit, he said, equaled the subsidy given by the government to railroads after they were returned to private ownership. In fact, he declared that if the government went as far for the farmers as it had for the railroads since 1920, it would pay out $3,000,000,000.

Brookhart's Plan. Brookhart would establish a farm board, nominated by farm organizations, with power to fix a price for products when surpluses arose. He would have this price based on cost of production plus a return of five percent to the farmers on capital invested.

His bill does not include the controversial equalization fee provision and Senator Brookhart made it clear that he had no sympathy toward this feature of the McNary-Haugen bill, which also is opposed by President Coolidge. He branded the fee as "unsafe and unsound."

Brooks and Kibbey, on 21 miles of No. 16 from Palmaria to Riviera, W. L. Pearson company, Corpus Christi, $52,946.

Awards for five other counties: Bexar, Colorado-Brazos, Montgomery, Robertson—were not made because the counties had not furnished sufficiently wide rights-of-way. The commission agreed to allow them until April 24, next meeting date, to make that provision which it said was necessary.

TRUSTEE NEEDS TOLD

Qualifications Explained by Pevchouse

Qualifications of voters and candidates in the election of trustees for county school board districts were explained yesterday by County Superintendent W. M. Pevchouse, following a controversy which arose in the county superintendent's office.

Candidates must have been residents of their district for six months prior to their taking the oath of office if elected, and must be able to read and write.

Voters must be legally qualified by payment of poll tax, but are not restricted by time of residence in the district.

Opinions from Attorney General Pollard and State Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs were quoted by Mr. Pevchouse in support of these statements.

HEAVY RAINS

Torrent In Fort Worth; Other Places Benefit

DALLAS, April 3 (AP)—One of the heaviest rains in years fell at Fort Worth Tuesday night. At 7 p. m. 2.54 inches had fallen, accompanied by a 26-mile southeast wind. Many residential streets were pouring streams for a time. A severe electrical disturbance accompanied the rainstorm.

Heavy rains fell also at Paris, greatly benefitting crops, especially truck and corn. Dallas had nearly half an inch of rain. Austin had a light drizzle all day Tuesday and San Antonio reported a drizzle continuing from the night before.

Showers were forecast in other parts of the state, particularly the coast.

Sinclair Counsel Hoping for Delay

Effort to Postpone New Trial of Oil Magnate Seen In Manipulations of Yesterday.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—An effort to postpone the new trial of conspiring criminally with Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, to defraud the government through their celebrated lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve was initiated today by counsel for the wealthy oil operator.

A motion was filed asking that instead of beginning tomorrow, scheduled, the opening of the trial will be set for Monday. Simultaneously notice was given that the motion would be called to the attention of Justice Jennings Bailey, who is to preside, shortly after court convenes.

An accompanying affidavit by George P. Hoover of Sinclair's counsel, reviewed developments since the cases of Fall and Sinclair were separated, stressing particularly the disposition taken from the former cabinet member last week at El Paso, Texas. Taken upon the petition of the defense, the deposition is being rushed here for Hoover's use by Daniel Thew Wright, associate counsel.

Hoover declared the earliest possible moment at which Wright could arrive here was at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, which is an hour before the trial is scheduled to start.

Declaring it "imperative" that he and Martin W. Littleton, another defense member, should have an opportunity to confer with Wright "respecting the matters and things developed in the taking of the deposition," Hoover contended that it was "in the interest of justice" that the trial be postponed until Monday.

CHARGE CONSPIRACY

Political Plot Led to Civil Suit, Alleged

WAXAHACHIE, April 3 (AP)—Questions asked prospective jurors to try the civil suit against County Attorney L. J. Woods of Navarro county here Tuesday indicated that the defense will try to show that the civil suit is the outgrowth of a political conspiracy. The jury was completed at adjournment and introduction of testimony will begin Wednesday morning.

Attorneys for the state quizzed talesmen as to whether they had received letters from anyone concerning the case, or whether they had had any communication concerning it. The defense on the other hand, inquired if prospective jurors were informed on the political situation in Navarro county. Trial of the case is expected to occupy about 10 days. Defense attorneys were excused until Friday by Judge Tom Ball.

AIRPLANE CARNIVAL

Prizes Totalling $3000 To Be Given

FORT WORTH, April 2 (AP)—Prizes totalling $3,000 will be posted for competitive events held at the air carnival to be sponsored at the Fort Worth municipal airport during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention Jan. 18, 19 and 20.

The general convention committee will offer $1,500 of the sum and a similar amount will be raised by the aviation committee of the association of commerce, according to an announcement by Byron B. Buckenridge, industrial manager of an association of commerce.

A banquet, barbecue and stage smoker were tentatively selected as entertainment features for visiting aviators.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Eddie Stinson, George Haldeman and other noted fliers will be invited to attend the air carnival. Leading manufacturers of airplanes in the United States will be invited to send representatives.

NOT WORTH THE RISK

The abandonment of hope for the ultimate safety of the latest pair of trans-Atlantic aviators, Captain Hinchelbide and the Honorable Elsie Mackaye, again prompts admittance, but probably futile, comment upon the real for such exploits. It is true that some substantial and lasting renown may accrue to the first woman to cross the Atlantic in an airplane. The profitable popularity of Ruth Elder, who only tried, but didn't succeed, would seem to indicate that the game was worth a part of the gigantic risk. But the scales are too heavily weighted on the other side. The odds are too great. Already three women have created the Atlantic flight, and been lost to human ken. The same mystery shrouds the fate of a fourth who entered the tragic Dole Derby from California to Hawaii. Mildred Doran, Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Mrs. Frances Grayson and the Honorable Elsie Mackaye, daughter of Lord Inchcape, were estimable women, who made a sadly unfortunate appraisal of human values. All had much to live for and usefulness far greater than personal renown. All of them took chances out of proportion to the rewards possible even in the event of success. All paid a tragic penalty for their daring. The game was not worth the candle. It is to be hoped, though the hope is a fragile one that their fate may deter others from similar foolish adventures until aviation has developed far beyond its present stage.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Interesting Disclosures Made At Teapot Investigation But Little Light Given To Lost Liberty Bonds

Hearing Reopened Tuesday At Washington; Testify Hays Was Concerned About Fall's Status.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Some interesting disclosures of events following the case of Teapot Dome were made today before the senate oil committee, which reopened its hearings for an hour and a half but no new light was shed on the missing Continental Trading company bonds.

Former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, revealed that Will H. Hays, one time postmaster general had visited him here late in 1923 to discuss the status of Albert B. Fall about the time Lenroot, then chairman of the oil committee, and Senator Smoot, of Utah, a member had called on the former interior secretary to urge him to tell all in the oil investigation.

Helm's Protested Lenroot.

Birch Helm, a New York banker, but a Texas oil operator when Teapot Dome was leased to Harry F. Sinclair April 7, 1922, disclosed that he had protested to President Harding and three of his cabinet officers—the late John W. Weeks, Harry M. Daugherty and Herbert Hoover—against the lease, but without avail. Helm said he had protested because his company—the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company—had sought an opportunity to bid for the Wyoming naval oil reserve months before the lease was granted, but had been given to understand by Fall as well as by Edwin Denby, then secretary of the navy, and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., then assistant secretary of the navy that there was no intention of making a lease. The protests to Harding and some of his official family were telegraphed from Texas after Helm had read in the newspapers that a lease had been made.

That sent to President Harding asked for an interview on April 25 of '24, but the president's secretary replied that an engagement could not be made for either day because on the first there was a cabinet meeting and on the second the chief executive was to leave for Ohio.

Weeks replied that no doubt the president would see Helm, adding for himself:

"For good reasons I can not become involved in the controversy. Daugherty made no reply, Helm said, but telegrams and letters placed in the record showed that Hoover did write Fall about the matter and received a reply from E. C. Finney, then acting secretary of the interior, saying that the matter had been closed.

Airplane Stocks Go To High Point

Wright Airplane and Packard Air Stock Top List As Wall Street Resumes "Bull" Market.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, April 3.—Wall Street's celebration over the resumption of the "bull" market on the New York stock exchange today, which was featured by the creation of new all-time records by the airplane stocks, was suddenly cut short after the close by the announcement of an unexpected increase of $317,593,358 in stock exchange member loans bringing the total to a new high record of $1,640,174,172 March 31.

The gain in loans was about twice as large as most earlier estimates and its probable effect on the market tomorrow overshadowed every other interest in the financial district today. The weekly loan statement by the New York Federal Reserve bank has shown a gain of only about $120,000,000,000 in the four weeks of March, indicating that large loans had been placed either outside the federal reserve district or through banks or corporations the loan figures of which do not appear in the New York federal reserve totals.

Reviving activity and strength of the railroad shares, particularly those of roads in the eastern district, was accompanied by reports of a decision by eastern executives on the trunk line consolidation plan which has long been in a deadlock. Reports were persistent that L. F. Loree had agreed to abandon his ambitious plan for a fifth trunk line and work with other executives for the concentration of the eastern roads in four large systems. For this action Mr. Loree has been offered the chairmanship of the Nickel Plate.

The plan, which is expected to come before the executives at a meeting next Friday, assigns the Lackawanna to the New York Central, The Baltimore & Ohio is to be given the lines of the Washington & Annapolis, and the Reading.

Color was given the report by the strength of Reading stock, which advanced $6.25 a share to a new high for the year at $111.50, and closed less than a point below its top. New York Central advanced $1.00 to $175.87 1/2 and Baltimore & Ohio reached $117.75, up $13 1/2-1/2.

more conservative faction as to whether the state's delegation of 26 to Kansas City should support Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of the independents in the senate, or be instructed.

In New York, 83 district delegates were chosen in a republican primary which lost its spice through a dearth of contests. The voting completed the ramification of the state's delegation of 90 which will go to Kansas City uninstructed.

Republicans in the sixth Kansas district named two delegates today, thus completing the Kansas delegation of 23 that is solidly for Senator Curtis of that state.

Contest Between Two Factions Is Close

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 3 (AP).—Scattering returns from 88 precincts out of 2,746 from the primary election showed a close contest between the two factions in the republican party for control of the state's delegation to the national convention at Kansas City.

Walter J. Kohler, and Andrew La Follette and Blaine, heading the opposing progressive slate, for the four seats in the convention as delegates at large. Blaine led with 2,242 on return from 88 precincts followed by La Follette, Kohler and Kreutzer.

Senator Norris whose name stood alone on the ballot for the preferential vote had 2,104; with Herbert Hoover, 320; Lowden 101 and Davies 210. The names of the others had been written in on the ballot. Twenty-six delegates to both democratic and republican conventions were being elected by the state.

The fight in the democratic ranks for delegates-at-large appeared to be between the two factions of Al Smith delegates, on the basis of returns from 25 precincts. Candidates pledged to Senator Thomas J. Walsh were far outdistanced. Candidates aligned with the so-called Callahan faction led the state conference delegate slate. John Callahan, national committee man, led all the candidates with 448 with his three running mates following close behind. Senator Reed had 227 votes for presidential preference to 102 for Governor Smith.

Maine To Stick With Smith All Way Through

WATERVILLE, Maine, April 3 (AP).—Maine's 12 votes in the democratic national convention will be cast as a unit for Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York on every ballot so long as his name shall be before the convention as a candidate for the nomination for president.

Delegates favorable to Governor Smith were so instructed at the biennial state democratic convention today by a vote of 489 to 174. The vote followed an hour's exciting debate, and a prolonged demonstration for New York's chief executive.

The platform of principles, the adoption of which was the final business of the convention, contains a prohibition law, which says: "we stand for the eighteenth amendment, and for the efficient, vigorous, honest and sincere enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder as well as all other laws."

Boll Worm

borer or the boll worm should assume the greater importance.

For a brief time the committee turned into pandemonium as Chairman Haugen and other middle western members flung questions at Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chief of the entomology bureau, on the provisions for proposed reimbursement of the cotton planters for the destruction of their crops to control the pest in comparison with the plans to aid the corn farmers. Southern members of the committee defended the plan in the Buchanan bill which was under consideration for reimbursement of the planters.

No Split Looms. The controversy, however, did not result in any definite indication by the members that there would be a split later on the measure's approval. One Southerner, Aswell, a Louisiana Democrat, declared that the committee was "frittering away its time and not displaying any intelligence."

Dr. Marlatt and W. E. Hinds, of Baton Rouge, La., entomologist of the Louisiana experiment station who were witnesses, advocated the bill as an effective means of stopping the spread of the pest.

Hinds said that cotton growing was moving west into West Texas, Arizona and New Mexico and any serious infestation of the boll worm might endanger successful development of the product in the Southwest.

Urges Non-Cotton Zones. He urged that eradication of the pest be effected through establishment of "non-cotton zones."

These zones in which farmers totally discontinue their cotton crops, Dr. Marlatt declared, can be eradicated of the boll worm within one or two years.

The main cotton belt of the South was protected against the boll worm through embargoes on seed shipments, Hinds asserted, unless the pest should spread from West Texas into the eastern part of that state.

FEDERALS CONTROL

Hold Upper Hand In Row With Chicago Police

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP).—Federal authorities tonight maintained the upper hand over Chicago police in a clash over efforts by federal agents to clear up the turbulent atmosphere before the primary election on next Tuesday and make preparations to avert violence at the polls but did not think or act quickly enough to prevent outbreaks in an election in the suburban municipality of Chicago.

In that city, several democratic poll workers were slugged by persons said to be aligned with "Scarface Al" Capone, who has been a leading beer baron around Chicago ever since he came west from New York City.

Fess Chosen To Be Republicans' Temporary Head

Will Sound Party Keynote When Convention Opens At Kansas City This Next June.

(The Associated Press.) KANSAS CITY, April 3.—Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, one of the stalwarts of the Coolidge administration, today was chosen to sound the party keynote as temporary chairman at the republican national convention here in June.

Announcement of the selection of Fess by unanimous vote of the subcommittee on arrangements of the republican national committee was made late today by William M. Butler of Massachusetts, national chairman.

Butler would not discuss what went on behind the closed doors at the subcommittee's session, but it was understood the Ohio senator's name was presented by the national chairman, who was requested by the committee members to name his choice.

Prior to the vote, Butler declared no political significance could be attached to the selection, adding that the committee were interested only in choosing the best man available for the role of keynote speaker.

That Panhandle-Plains farmers have been giving their time and money to the buying and raising of pure bred stock is shown in the remarkable exhibits now on display. The striking feature of the show is the fact that this number of highly bred dairy stock has been assembled under the restriction that none of the so called professional exhibitors of Texas could show.

Prominent visitors at the show are: A. B. Jolly, director of the agricultural department of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; D. T. Simmons, secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle club; R. L. Holden of Indianapolis, representative of the Guernsey Cattle club; B. H. Cunningham, manager of the Taft ranch Jersey farm; Dr. D. P. Judging of the Jersey class will begin on Wednesday morning upon the arrival of J. J. Rodgers of Ft. Worth, who will have charge of the judging. The Guernsey and Holstein will be judged Thursday morning, O. C. Cunningham will judge these breeds.

LINDY OFF AGAIN

Takes Sudden Leave Of Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 3 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who startled Santa Barbara last night when his plane made a surprise landing here, took off again shortly before noon today and had not been heard from at 2 p. m. Although his destination was supposed to be another field near Carpinteria, 12 miles distant, he did not land there.

The flier showed irritation at the presence of newspapermen and it was believed that he had flown to the San Simeon ranch of William Randolph Hearst, where it was understood he had been invited. Col. Lindbergh was accompanied by Harry Hall Knight who was a passenger with Lindbergh when he arrived last night.

"Liar" Episode

before the public lands committee in behalf of the bill to create Ouachita national park.

Estes Was Surprised

"Naturally," Colonel Estes said in a statement here Tuesday, "I was dumfounded to be thus outraged by a member of the cabinet of the President of the United States, whose personal and political friends had sent me to him. Later in the conversation he contemptuously referred to Texas and said that he knew all about Texas and Texans, that he cared to know, and knew what to expect of Texas."

"I had been insulted and felt that his contemptuous reference to Texas and Texans was an insult to my state and its people. I did not hesitate to make known to Secretary Work that I resented such treatment, and like about 5,000,000 other Texans, I resented such a contemptuous reference to one of the sovereign states of the union and its people."

"I have read the press accounts of Secretary Work's letter of explanation addressed to Senator Phelps of Colorado. Whatever demands Secretary Work may enter and whatever explanations he may offer the fact still remains that he forgot his good manners and called me a liar and a jackass and spoke in contempt of Texas and Arkansas and their people."

Moody Thanks Senators

Governor Moody told the Senators, and Senator Caraway, that he was grateful to them for defending Estes.

"I have read the reports of the letter addressed by Secretary Work to Senator Phelps and Estes' statement," he said.

"Those of us who know Estes have every confidence in his integrity, truthfulness and sterling character. Your defense of him is typical of the loyalty and confidence which his friends received from him and to which he is entitled."

Explains

Telling how the incident came about, Colonel Estes said in his statement:

"I went to Washington on a two-fold mission. First, I went as the representative of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce to present official invitations to Secretary Hoover, inviting him to the annual convention of the chamber I had joined from the officers of the chamber of the cities of Dallas and Houston, the governor of Texas and various other representative citizens of Texas, inviting Mr. Hoover to Texas. My other mission was to appear before the public lands committee in the interest of the bill creating Ouachita National Park."

"An adverse report had been made upon this bill by the department of the interior and through the secretary of commerce office I arranged an appointment with Secretary Work, it being my purpose to ask for consideration of the establishment of the proposed park before he spoke against it."

Boosted Park

"I felt that I was justified in making this request of Secretary Work, because the investigation which had been made of the location by a representative of the interior department was superficial in that the investigation lasted only one-half day, and it was utterly impossible for him to see the whole territory comprising an area 33 miles long by 11-12 miles wide in a half day. I am interested in this park because of its natural beauty and because of the people of Texas and especially of East Texas are concerned in preserving it for posterity as one of nature's beauty spots in the south. The establishment of this park is advocated by many people of Texas, Arkansas and other southern states, and it has the support of the Texas Park commission."

"Probably Secretary Work had been advised of my previous appearance before the house committee and knew of my severe criticism of the report of his department before that committee, for when I got to this point and had said that the report did not tell the whole story of the park's possibilities, he called me a liar and a jackass."

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP).—A telegram testifying to the character of Colonel Carl Estes of Tyler, Texas, whose recent conference with Secretary Work has been the subject of senate controversy over the secretary's action was read into the Congressional Record today by Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas.

The message included statements from bank presidents and ministers of Tyler testifying that Estes is a faithful, upright citizen and that you may depend on what he says as being the absolute truth.

Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, said Estes told him that Secretary Work had called him a liar. Mr. Work replied that he had not but that Estes had called a department of interior official, a liar and had apologized for it when confronted by the official.

MASSIE SUMMONED

Texas Bankers Secretary Is Called to Grand Jury

FORT WORTH, April 3 (AP).—W. M. Massie, vice president of the Fort Worth National bank, was served Tuesday with a summons to appear before the Upton county grand jury at Rankin, which is reported to be probing charges by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer on a "bank reward ring" in Texas.

The summons directs Massie to appear at Rankin Wednesday and be served by Deputy Sheriff Mark Chambers.

Massie, as president of the Texas State Bankers association, has sponsored the noted reward of $5,000 for dead bank bandits. Recently, Captain Hamer has charged that there was a "ring" in Texas organized to collect such rewards by having innocent persons slaughtered in supposed bank robberies.

Youth Confesses

In the garage at his home they found torn parts of a coat, identified as belonging to the girl.

In his alleged confession the youth said his automobile had been forced off the road by another machine in which four intoxicated men were riding. He said he could not avoid striking Alice. The machine dragged the girl for more than 200 feet before he could stop it, he said.

"The girl was lying in the road back a little way," he related. "I picked her up and her heart wasn't beating. I did not know what to do. I was so frightened I carried her into the field and laid her down in the snow. Then I left."

Was Cold Night

Weather records show that the temperature on the night of the accident fell to 4 degrees above zero. No autopsy has been held yet to determine whether Alice froze to death or succumbed to the injuries she had suffered.

Rabshaw said he was not satisfied with the youth's story and planned to question him further. Groogood admitted he knew Alice but was unaware that it was she whom he struck.

Senate Faces Big Tax Slice Measure With Trepidation

Mellon Warns Reduction Be Limited Probably To $182,000,000 and Not Over $201,000,000.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Faced with a warning from Secretary Mellon that tax reduction must be limited probably to $182,000,000 and not more than $201,000,000, the senate finance committee started work today with some apprehension on the $290,000,000 measure passed by the house.

The $182,000,000 limit must be adhered to, Mr. Mellon said, if flood control legislation is enacted. It has already passed the senate by unanimous vote and soon will be acted on by the house. Before going to the senate, he laid the treasury position before President Coolidge, who agreed that $190,000,000 was the outside limit of reduction which the administration would sanction.

Income tax collections and other government receipts will hold up next year, on the basis of present indications, the secretary informed the committee, but increased expenditures necessitate a saving down of the original limitation of $225,000,000 set by the treasury last fall.

Chairman Smoot of the committee, leader of the republicans who have a slim majority in the tax fight, accepted the figures, and went a step farther than Mr. Mellon to point out his program did not take into account prospective appropriations involved in farm relief and Boulder canyon dam legislation.

Mr. Mellon said that without flood control legislation, which probably will require a $30,000,000 appropriation for next year, a total slash of $201,000,000 was possible but there seems no doubt that congress will go through with the flood measure which was speeded through the senate in less than two hours last week.

Unconvinced by the gloomy tale of Secretary Mellon, however, Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, leader of the democratic minority in revenue warfare, sharply questioned under-secretary Ogden Mills who presented the treasury outlook to the committee with Mr. Mellon.

Senator Simmons revealed to Mr. Mills that when the last bill was under consideration congress went far beyond treasury limitations and warned of deficit, but that the next year a surplus of $400,000,000 was found in the treasury. Mr. Mills replied that this surplus was attributable to the unusual prosperity of that period.

Until the committee gets down to work tomorrow on the bill and decides whether to have hearings, Senator Simmons will have no definite program but he is still of the view that a tax cut of $200,000,000 would not be dangerous to treasury conditions.

Highway Session To Be At Snyder

Annual Meeting and Choice Of Officers Of Dal-Paso Highway Will Be Held In Scurry County Capital

SNYDER, April 3.—Announcement has just been made by Secretary William A. Wilson of Lamar, of the Dal-Paso highway association that the anniversary meeting and election of officers will be held in Snyder, Thursday, April 19, the meeting to start at 9 o'clock in the morning. The association in a year's time, has done a great deal of constructive good, among other things operating two huge motor-cades that traversed the entire route west from Dallas and Fort Worth with a visit to the Carlsbad caverns. The road west from Carlsbad caverns has received a great deal more attention than the eastern terminus for Hudepeth and El Paso counties recently voted bonds to construct 144 miles of cement highway from the caverns to El Paso.

Bonds To Be Voted.
Definite announcement has come out of Fisher county by County Judge Connel that that county is ready to vote the bonds for a hard surfacing program. Scurry county has already declared its interest in completing it across this county which would then place the matter up to Burden, Dawson and Ochs counties to complete it to the New Mexico line.

M. W. Stanley of the Gateway club, El Paso, has promised to be present at the Snyder meeting, and will bring Secretary Victor L. Miner of the Carlsbad chamber of commerce with him. General Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas chamber of commerce will also attend, and officials of the Fort Worth and Dallas Automobile clubs will send delegates to the meeting.

The Scurry county chamber of commerce and the Snyder Lions club will join in providing entertainment for the visitors.

BLEDSON WINS MEET
Makes Sweeping Victory In Literary Events

BLEDSON, April 3.—With a sweeping victory especially in all literary events Bledson won its first regular county meet of the interscholastic league. The entries were confined to three schools, one of them being a rural school, while the two others were B. class high school.

In the latter contest Morton won 22 1-2 points, while Bledson won 177 1-2. In the rural school division Lehman won 30 points with two contestants.

The Parent Teacher association of Bledson served all visitors with good, cheap lunches. The proceeds of the latter work went to help defray expenses of the new school for the year.

"INSULT" DEPLORED

Mistreatment of Estes Ires Governor

Col. Estes related the circumstances of his call on Secretary Work at Washington as a representative of Texas Chamber of Commerce supporting a national park sought for Arkansas.

Both the governor and Col. Estes were understood to be preparing statements about the affair today.

LIVE AT HOME

Big Spring Farmers Are Prosperous

BIG SPRING, April 3.—Farmers of Howard county are fast adopting a live at home program. Growing their meat, producing cream, butter, eggs and poultry, in paying quantities.

Among such farmers is N. H. Montgomery who lives 12 miles northeast of Big Spring and who came here from McLennan county. Mr. Montgomery declares that during his four years farming in Howard county he has outstripped any corresponding time spent in central Texas where the land requires such intensive cultivation. During the month of March, Mr. Montgomery set 100 dozen eggs in his incubator, sold enough eggs and cream to add $72 to the family income, which was approximately $2.50 per day, this paying the operating cost on his farm during the month. Seven hogs were killed for family meat, each averaging 180 pounds dressed. During the year 11 hogs were sold to the butchers at prices as high as 15 cents dressed. The entire meat production figured at market price would have netted $656.25.

Check Flu-Grip By Using Vicks At First Sneeze

Health Authorities Urge Precaution to Prevent Epidemic

If all colds were checked at the beginning, influenza, pneumonia and grip would be greatly reduced. It takes quick action to get ahead of the germs of these dread diseases. Many cases of flu start from germs breathed in. The effective way to attack them is direct— with vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to keep Vicks VapoRub ready at all times for instant use.

Private Life Of Fair Helen Shown

Intimacy of Film Based On Erskine's Famous Novel Is Background of Its Widespread Humor.

We can, by a far stretch of the imagination, see President Coolidge harassed by servant problems or vexed because he is served herring twice in succession.

We can even imagine the Prince of Wales disgruntled because the laundry hasn't come back or because his shirt studs are missing.

So says Carey Wilson, producer of First National's "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," the picture which opens at the Lindsey theatre beginning Wednesday.

But, he adds, even the most vivid imagination can hardly picture the stately heroes of mythology fretting over domestic problems. And therein, he points out, lies much of the humor and charm of John Erskine's "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," the brilliant novel on which the picture is based.

The beautiful Helen, having returned home after her elopement with Paris, frets about the odd ideas of her high-minded daughter, as does any flapper's mother of today.

Menejos, her not-to-intelligent husband, is constantly in a turmoil over the changing fashions of the world and eternally finds himself in a strait because his family retainers—in common with so many cherished servants of today—insist upon advising him upon personal affairs.

The Private Life of Helen of Troy, as a picture, retains all the humor and satire of the book. Maria Corda, Lewis Stone and Ricardo Cortez share honors in the three featured roles.

Legion Minstrel Plans Complete

Arrangements Being Finished for Presentation Of Entertainment Here On April 30, May 1.

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the Legion minstrel to be presented on April 30 and May 1 at the high school auditorium and prospects are that the entertainment will be one of the best in the city's history.

The show will include much humorous dialogue and a great variety of music, including solo, ensemble, chorus, quartet and trio numbers.

Improvement and decoration of the legion hall is to be made at once, and the improvement will be climaxed with a "housewarming" on April 16, it was stated.

Selection of a delegation to the division convention at Plainview April 21 and 22 and to the national convention at San Antonio in October was deferred.

Twenty members of the Lubbock post will journey to Slaton next Monday night for a regular meeting of the post there.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"Don't worry, Miss. I've got a strong leash on him."

Holloway preached a very inspiring sermon on the qualifications, work and history of the deacon's office. The church was filled and a very attentive hearing was given by all present. This is the first time in several years that the Slaton church has ordained new deacons.

L. A. Wilson is well known in Slaton, coming to this city about four years ago as educational director of the Slaton church, and then serving as editor of the Slatonite, and at present is engaged by the chamber of commerce as their secretary.

O. W. Bounds has made his home at Slaton for the past two years, and has been connected with the First State bank since his moving here. He has served as a member of the finance committee of Slaton church since the organization of that committee 18 months ago.

Always Tired; Appetite Gone?

No Need for You to Suffer Here Is the Way to Health

The reason so many people think they are working too hard is because they find it difficult to work at all. They feel tired and worn out—their old time "pep" is missing—their vitality sapped. Their brain cells are drugged with poison.

How is it with you? Are you of the fortunate ones who enjoy perfect health, or do you, too, long for the days when you were young and strong, healthy, buoyant, active and alive with ambition?

Your body may be organically sound but if your system is clogged with poisons you are not getting much out of life.

Gordon's, the discovery of a well-known Dallas Pharmacist, will make it possible for you to eat what you like, and as much as you want, without any distressing after effects. It will tone up your digestive organs so that your appetite will again be normal. It will quickly relieve you of that awful tired feeling. A few doses should convince you.

Gordon's is sold by good drug gists everywhere, $1.50 per bottle of sixty-four doses—less than three cents per dose.

DUNLOP'S 40 YEARS

"WHAT OF IT?... Even if Dunlop has had the longest experience in tire-building, does that affect my car?"

No. Not the mere fact of 40 years' experience. That might mean nothing. But, there is big meaning to you in the success of Dunlop's 40 years.

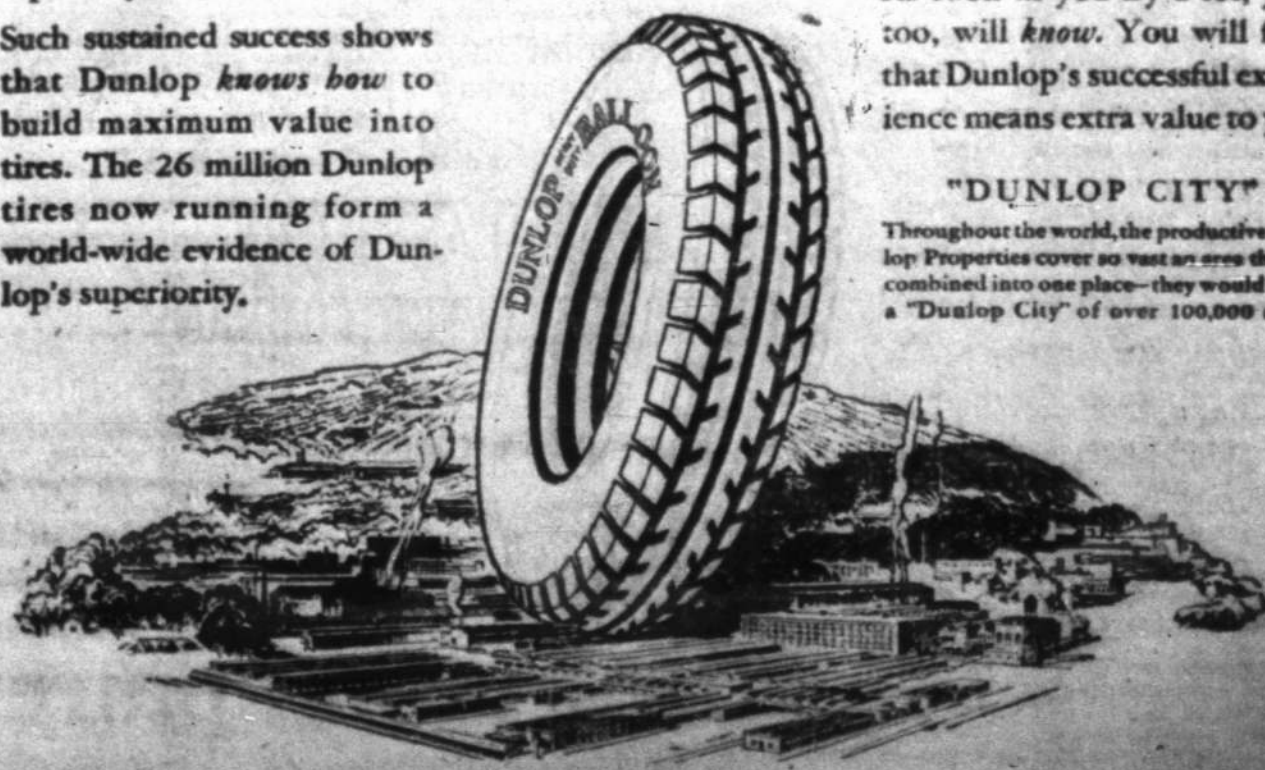

Such sustained success shows that Dunlop knows how to build maximum value into tires. The 26 million Dunlop tires now running form a world-wide evidence of Dunlop's superiority.

For 40 years... year after year... old friends have been sticking to Dunlop and new friends have been turning to Dunlop. These millions of motorists must be right. They have had experience in using Dunlops. They know.

As soon as you try a set, you, too, will know. You will find that Dunlop's successful experience means extra value to you.

GIRL ALONE

THIS HAS HAPPENED

The summer she is 16, Sally Ford, orphan, is "famed-out" to Glen Carson, farmer and severe taskmaster. There she meets David Nash, handsome student of scientific farming who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. David likes Sally and shows her the little orphan to Pearl, Glen's daughter. David is so enraptured by Carson's instructions about him and Sally that he strikes him, sending him crashing to the ground. Not knowing whether Carson is dead or not, Sally and David decide they must get away as quickly as possible. All that night they tramp through fields toward the town of Stanton. At daybreak they come to a railroad track and find a carnival train on the spur, Sally is overjoyed to see her friend, Eddie Cobb, a former orphan who ran away to join the carnival. She tells him their plight and he asks Winfield Bybee owner of the carnival, to make a place for them. Bybee agrees and sends David to the cook's car. Mrs. Bybee, the real manager of the show, gives Sally the role of Princess Lalla, crystal gazer. Sally makes her first bow on the carnival platform. She is terrified to see Ross Willis, friend of Pearl Carson, come forward to have his fortune told.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

While Ross Willis, awkward and embarrassed, shuffled to the canvas chair which Gus, the speller, whisked forward, Sally reflected that there was no need for her to remember any of the multitudinous instructions with which Mrs. Bybee had primed her for her job of "seeress."

She curved her small, brown painted, gilded hands over the crystal and bent her veiled face low. In a seductive, sing-song voice she began to chant, bringing some of the words out hesitantly as if English had been recently learned and came hard to her "Turkish" lips.

"I see a beeg fields—wheat fields, corn fields—see it not?" She raised her shaded eyes coyly to the face of the young farmer. The crowd pressed close, breathing hard, the odors of their breath and perspiration coming up on hot waves of summer air to the gaily dressed little figure on the platform.

"Yes, I mean, sure, Princess," Ross Willis, stuttered, and the crowd laughed, pressed closer still. Two or three women waved quarters to attract the attention of Gus, the speller, who stood behind her to aid her if necessary.

"You are—that you call it?—a farmer," Sally went on in her seductively deepened voice. Oh, it was fun to "play-act" and to be paid for it. "You vary reach young man, vary beeg farm, you have mother, father, I'll seester." Thank heaven, her ears had been keen that night of Pearl's party, even if she had been inarticulate with shyness! "You are in love, I see a gir-ri, a beeg, pretty gir-ri with red hair an' blue eyes. Bees it not so?" Her little low laugh was a gurgle, which started a shout of laughter in the crowd.

"Yeah, I reckon so," Ross Willis admitted, blushing more violently than ever.

"Oh, you Pearl!" a girl's voice shrilled from the crowd. "You mar-ry with thees gir-ri have three va-ry nize childa." Sally went on delightedly. After all, why shouldn't Pearl marry Ross Willis, since she could not have David?

"Zoe! That ees all I see," she concluded with sweet gravity. "Zee creestle she go dark now."

Ross Willis thanked "Princess Lalla" awkwardly and dropped from the platform to the grass-strewn ground, entirely unaware that the marvelous seeress was little Sally Ford.

Confidence and mirth welled up in Sally. She began to believe in herself as "Princess Lalla," just as she had always more than half-believed that she was the queen or the actress whom she had impersonated in the old days so recently ended forever, when she had "played-acted" for the other orphans.

The next seeker after knowledge of "past, present and future" was not so easy, but not very hard either, for the applicant was a girl, a pretty, very urban-looking girl, who wore a tiny solitary ring on her engagement finger and who had been clinging to the arm of an obviously adoring young man. For the pretty girl Sally obligingly foretold a happy marriage with a "dark, tall young man, va-ry handsome," a long journey, and two children. The girl sparkled with pleasure, utterly unconscious of the fact that "Princess Lalla" had told her nothing of the past and very little of the present.

Quarters were thrust upon her thick and fast. Because of the brisk demand for her services, Sally gave only the briefest of "readings," and only a few muttered angrily that it was a swindle. To a middle-aged farmer she gave a bumper wheat crop, a new eight-cylinder car, a prospective son-in-law for the girl whom Sally had unwarily picked out as his unwelcome daughter, and the promise of many splendid grandchildren.

To a freckled, open-faced, engaging youngster of 10 thrust upon the platform by his adoring mother, she grandly promised nothing less than the presidency of the United States, as well as riches and a beautiful wife.

Some of her prophecies, such as twin babies for the newly married couple, brought shouts of laughter from the crowd, and some of her vague guesses as to the past went very wide of the mark, as the applicants did not hesitate to tell her—the old maid, for instance, who looked so motherly that Sally lavishly endowed her with a husband and three children, but nearly everyone who paid a quarter for what "Princess Lalla" could see in the magic crystal went away wondering only once in her life and during the first lull between performances, Sally slipped out of the "Palace of Wonders" and daintily mingled with the crowds outside. It was all beautiful and wonderful to Sally, who had been to a circus only once in her life and never to a carnival before.

Before the tent which housed the big glass tank into which "bathing beauties" dived—and in which they ate bananas and drank soda-pop under water, she encountered Winfield Bybee, enormous, majestic, benign, for it was a good crowd and a fine day, and money was pouring into his pockets.

"Well, well," he grinned down at her. "I hear from Gus that you're knocking 'em cold. Better run along in now, and you might see how many of the rubes you can make follow you into the Palace of Wonders. We don't want to give 'em too much of a free show. And remember, girl, for every quarter Princess Lalla earns a nickel for herself. Don't take many nickels to make a dollar."

"Oh, Mr. Bybee, I'm so happy I'm about to burst," Sally confided in him in a rush of gratitude. "But—do you think it's very wrong for me to pretend to be a crystal gazer when really I can't see a thing in it to save my life?"

Bybee bellowed with laughter, so that the crowd veered suddenly toward them. He stooped to whisper close to Sally's ear. "Don't you worry sister. As old P. T. Barnum used to say, 'There's a sucker born every minute' and old Winfield Bybee knows that they like to be fooled. You just kid 'em along and send 'em away happy and I reckon the good Lord ain't going to waste any black ink on your record tonight. It's worth a quarter to be told a lot of nice things about yourself, ain't it?"

As she tripped swiftly across the dusty lot toward the Palace of Wonders, the crowd following her grew larger and larger. Becoming bolder because she felt that she was really "Princess Lalla" and not timid little Sally Ford, she deliberately flirted with the men who pressed close upon her, even waved a little brown hand, invitingly toward the big tent.

When she reached the tent door, the Barker leaped down from his booth, behind which was set a small platform, and beckoned her to mount the narrow steps. Smilingly she did so, and the Barker introduced her.

"Here she is, boys—the Princess Lalla of Con-stanti-no-ple, prettiest girl that ever escaped from the Sultan's harem! Princess Lalla, favorite crystal-gazer to the Sultan of Turkey before she escaped from his harem, will tell your fortunes, la-dees and gen-tle-men! Princess Lalla sees all, knows all! Just one of the scores of attractions in the Palace of Wonders! Admission 25 cents, one quarter of a dollar, two bits!"

Sally bowed her little brown hands spreading in an enchanting gesture, then she skipped down the steps, the great ropes of black hair wound with strands of imitation pearls, flapping against the vivid green satin tunic.

She was very tired when the supper hour came, but the thought that she would soon see David again lent wings to her sandaled feet. She was about to hurry out of the Palace of Wonders, released at last by the apparently indefatigable speller, Gus, when a tiny, treble voice called to her.

"Princess Lalla! Princess Lalla! Would you mind carrying me to the cars?"

Sally, startled, looked everywhere about the tent that was almost empty of spectators before it dawned on her that the tiny voice had come from "Pitty Sing," the smallest woman in the world, sitting in a child's little red rocking chair on the platform.

All of Sally's passionate love for little things—especially small children—surged up in her heart. She skipped down the steps of her own, particular little platform and ran with outstretched hands, to the midge. "Pitty Sing" was indeed a pretty thing, a very doll of a woman—the flaxen hair on her small head modelled meticulously, her little plump cheeks and pouting, babyish lips united with rouge in her miniature hands she was holding a newspaper, which was so big in comparison with her midge size that it served as a complete screen.

"Of course I'll carry you. I'm so glad you'll let me," Sally glowed and dimpled. "You, little darling, you."

"Please don't baby me!" Pitty Sing admonished her in a severe little voice. "I'm old enough to be your mother, even if I'm not big enough." And the tiny, plump hands began to fold the newspapers with great definiteness. Sally's eyes, abashed, fluttered from the disapproving little face to the paper. Odd that so tiny a thing could read—but of course she was grown up, even if she was only 29 inches tall—

"Oh, please!" Sally gasped, going very pale under the brown powder. "May I see your paper for just a minute?"

For her eyes had caught sight of a name which had been burned in to her memory, forever indelible—the name of Carson.

(To Be Continued)

Sally gets a kind offer from Mrs. Bybee. In the next chapter.

NO CHANGE SEEN

Business Conditions To Continue As Usual

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Secretary Mellon foresees no material change in business conditions during the balance of the calendar year from those which have prevailed during the last two years.

His views were enclosed in a prepared statement on tax reduction submitted today to the senate finance committee in which he predicted little difference in income tax receipts for next year.

"It would take a mighty wise man," Mr. Mellon said, "to prophesy the course of business during the next months. There is nothing to indicate that business conditions will differ materially during the balance of the calendar year from those which have prevailed during the last 24 months."
