New Threats To Industry As Strikes Sweep Nation

Thousands Are Idle; Vote By Others Slated

Shipyards On West Coast Hit; Steel Workers May Quit

(By The United Press)

Machinists began an unauthorized walkout in the San Francisco-Oakland, industrial area today as the number of strike-idle workers across the nation reversed the trend and began climbing again.

A new threat to industry loomed when the United Steel Workers of America (CIO) filed a strike notice with the National Labor Relations board in Washington. The board said the vote would affect 766 steel, iron and aluminum plants and would involve about 600,000 workers. The union seeks a $2 a day wage increase.

DEMAND IS REJECTED

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. today rejected the demand of the CIO United Electrical Workers for a $2 a day wage increase for 80,000 workers in 35 plants of the company and its subsidiaries.

May Affect 100,000

The walkout of both AFL and CIO machinists eventually may affect 100,000 workers in shipyards, machine shops, foundries and manufacturing plants in the bay area. The machinists seek a 30 per cent wage boost.

The number of American workers idled by strikes rose to 216,000, the highest total in five days.

AFL boilermakers and teamsters said they would cross picket lines set up by the machinsts. Meanwhile, at Akron, O., 15,000 production workers at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., were idled by an unauthorized strike of maintenance workers and engineers. All production units were shut down for lack of power.

Three Plants Shut Down

Three plants of Higgins Industries, Inc., in New Orleans were shut down when 3,500 members of the AFL metal trades council failed to report for work. Strike leaders said no organized workers were crossing the metal trades members' picket lines. They blamed the strike on the management's failure to sign new contracts with the council.

A new crisis arose in the Hollywood movie strike, originally scheduled to end this morning. Strike Leader Herbert Sorrell warned that unless all aspects of the AFL jurisdictional dispute were settled by tomorrow afternoon picketing would be resumed at the studios.

Meanwhile labor and industry looked to Capitol Hill for guidance in the growing reconversion snarl over postwar wages. Strike machinery was in motion in the automotive, steel, electrical and other industries.

CIO TURNS ON HEAT IN SEEKING RAISES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (U.P.) — The CIO turned on the heat in its wage raise drive today as President Truman prepared to address the nation by radio tomorrow night to present his long-awaited wage-price policy.

The CIO which is demanding a 30 per cent boost in basic wages, warned through its monthly "Economic Outlook" that "strikes on an ever growing scale" could be expected unless pay rates were substantially increased.

One of the CIO's most powerful units, the United Steel Workers, was preparing to file with the National Labor Relations board a request for a strike vote against 766

Lubbock Man Earns Nation's Top Award

Congressional Medal Of Honor Given Posthumously To Pfc. Herman Wallace

The nation's highest honor for military service—the Congressional Medal of Honor—has been awarded posthumously to Pfc. Herman C. Wallace of Lubbock, 19-year-old combat engineer, who deliberately muffled an exploding land mine with his own body to save the lives of two comrades last Feb. 27 in Germany.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Wallace of 2516 Elm. He was graduated from Lubbock High school in 1942 and studied civil engineering a year at Texas Technological college.

He was the first Lubbock man to qualify for the honor in World war II.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace have been informed by the War department that the commanding general of the Eighth Service command has been directed to select an officer to represent the President in presenting the decoration to them. They are to be advised further as to the time and place of presentation.

Showed Conspicuous Gallantry

Following is the official citation:

"Private First Class Herman C. Wallace, Company B, 301st Engineer Combat battalion, displayed conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity on Feb. 27, 1945, near Prumzurley, Germany.

"While helping clear enemy mines from a road, he stepped on a well-concealed S-type anti-personnel mine. Hearing the characteristic noise indicating that the mine had been activated and, if he stepped aside, would be thrown upward to explode above ground

Heavy Fighting Reported Over Northern Area

Warfare Is Growing In Intensity; Reds Blamed In Conflict

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Oct. 29.—Reports of heavy fighting between Chinese Communist and central government troops in North China pictured today a nation locked in civil war, real though not officially declared.

Warfare is growing in intensity in Shantung, Shansi and Suiyuam provinces, said dispatches received in Chungking.

The Chinese press attributed to Gen. Yen Ssi-Shan, governor of Shansi, now visiting Chungking, a statement that government forces suffered 15,000 casualties and Communist losses "also were heavy" in fighting centering around Changchih, strategic town in southeastern Shansi which Yen conceded the Reds captured.

Tracks Are Destroyed

Independent reports said that wherever the Communists were retreating along railways they were destroying tracks and blowing up bridges.

This explained the slow movement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops which are proceeding along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railroads to replace United States Marines in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Insistent reports that the Russians were supplying the Communists with captured Japanese war material continued to circulate in Chungking, but no one in authority would allow himself to be quoted.

Fight In 11 Provinces

Other reports told of bitter fighting in 11 provinces, mostly in North China but including central parts of the nation and Kwangtung province, on the southeast coast.

The New China Daily News, Communist publication, estimated 800,000 central government troops were battling the Reds. Neutral observers said they believed this figure was exaggerated, but all quarters conceded the fighting was serious.

"We cannot consider the situation represents a civil war until Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek openly proclaims it to be so and calls the Communists rebels," said an official Communist spokesman.

Sources favoring Chiang's government said they believed the only way to unify the nation was to elminate the Communists, which they said they thought Chiang could do with an all-out, well executed campaign in from three to six months.

These sources said they believed Chiang would start a smashing campaign against the Communists were he not apprehensive over the reaction from other nations, particularly the United States, and the possibility that Russia might support the Reds.

Tax Trimming Bill Near Final Passage; Spending Cut Urged

3,000 Planes A Year Asked

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The $5,920,000,000 first peacetime tax-cutting bill was headed toward final passage today, amid new demands for a slash in federal expenditures and for a balanced budget.

HOW BILL AFFECTS YOUR CHECK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Here's how the new income tax bill would reduce pay-as-you-go withdrawals from the weekly paycheck of a man with a wife with no children:

If he earns $15 a week, the government would take nothing from his pay, now it gets 10 cents; if he earns $20, the deduction still would be zero, against a present deduction of 30 cents a week; if $25, a 70-cent deduction instead of $1.10; $30—$1.60 instead of $2.20; $35—$2.40 instead of $3.20; $40—$3.30 instead of $4.20; $45—$4.10 instead of $5.30; $50—$5 instead of $6.30; $55—$5.80 instead of $7.40; $60—$6.80 instead of $8.50; $70—$8.60 instead of $10.70; $80—$10.50 instead of $12.90; $90—$12.40 instead of $15.20; and $100—$14.50 instead of $17.80.

The size of the tax reduction—almost $1,000,000,000 above the limit set by the administration—caused some members of the House budget-balancing bloc to balk, but they acknowledged the bill will pass despite their opposition.

Chairman Casnon (D-Mo) of the appropriations committee led the opposition, urging that tax paring now would contribute to inflation and deficit government spending. He told reporters it is "absurd" to cut taxes while asking the nation to subscribe to $11,000,-

Pals Of Dark Days In Java Meet Again In Lost Battalion Reunion

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 29. — The "Lost Battalion of Java," scattered by the Japanese nearly four years ago, regrouped today in joyous reunion.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 29 (AP) — Veterans of the 131st Field Artillery "Lost Battalion" voted today to make the reunion an annual affair and organized officially, electing Col. Blucher S. Tharp of Amarillo president.

Other officers named for the new organization include Lt. Col. Winthrop Rogers of Wichita Falls and First Sgt. Glen W. Jones of Fort Worth first and second vice-presidents, and Capt. Ira H. Fowler, Jacksboro, secretary-treasurer. Up until noon today, over 275 battalion members had registered for the celebration.

Veterans of the early bitter fighting in the Pacific, a losing battle against overwhelming Japanese hordes on Java, met for the first time since separation and shipment to widely spaced prison camps throughout the southwest Pacific in March of 1942.

Some Are Missing

Individually and in groups the reunions were both boisterously happy and quietly sorrowful. Buddy met long-parted buddy; but some were missing and will be forever.

This heartwarming homecoming, official reunion of men who had been prisoners of the Japanese fro 43 long months, was a two-day celebration organized by proud homefolk for survivors of the 2nd provisional battalion of the 131st Field Artillery regiment.

In November, 1941, the battalion sailed for Manila. Rerouted by war's outbreak, it saw furious action in Java until the Dutch surrendered. Then it was split up

Dr. Agnes True of the Texas Tech education faculty was principal speaker at a program and Hallowe'en party at Baker School for Exceptional Children Saturday afternoon. Lattimore Ewing gave the invocation followed by a two-part program presented by Miss Connie Wright, music instructor.

"An Abundance of Meaningful and Worthwhile Experieces" was the subject of Dr. True's talk in which she commented on the success of the work done at the school. Patriotic songs and marches and Hallowe'en art and dances by Miss Wright's pupils and the home economics, arts and craft work of Mrs. Olen Crump's students made up the remainder of the program.

Colorful decorations with a Hallowe'en motif were used and refreshments, also in keeping with Hallowe'en traditions, were served. Thirty-five students, guests and faculty were present.

From out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Jackson of Afton, parents of Bobby Jackson and Mrs. Ruth Cannon of Skellytown, mother of Elbert Cannon. Mrs. H. P. Baker, director of the school and Mrs. J. W. Heffington, house mother, were hostesses.

by the Japanese and contact with the unit was lost; thus resulted the name "Lost Battalion of Java."

Groups In Meeting

Meetings were held this morning to organize a permenent organization of members of the battalion and a woman's auxiliary group.

The veterans and their families were honor guests at a barbecue luncheon for 5,000 given by the Wichita Falls chuck wagon gang.

Late today men of the "Lost Battalion" will be addressed by Capt. Leonard J. Dow, commanding officer of the Dallas Naval Air station, and by Congressmen Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls and John Lyle of Corpus Christi.

From as far away as Manila, men who for years were feared dead by their families, poured into Wichita Falls for the homecoming reunion. 1st Lt. Travis Smith of Electra arrived Sunday by plane just 36 hours after he had left Manila. Six non-commissioned officers came by chartered plane from San Antonio. They heard of the celebration for the first time Saturday upon arrival at Brooke General hospital at San Antonio. Fort Sam Houston officers promptly issued them passes and arranged the aerial transportation.

Memorial Service Held

Last night, in Memorial auditorium, erected in dedication of World War I veterans, a memorial service for those members of the "Lost Battalion" still lost opened the two-day celebration.

With head and heart, the survivors of the famed artillery unit, their families and some 4,000 Northwest Texans honored the memory of those who died in the greatest of all world struggles.

Methodist Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston and Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, former commanding general of the 36th (Texas) division, spoke the words their listeners had in their hearts.

Wise As Well As Strong

They said this nation, now a world leader, must be wise as well as strong to preserve the peace so dearly won.

"The hallmark of the cultural life is an essential obligation to the past and to the future," Bishop Smith said. "Our obligation as civilized men is to carry the load of the less fortunate."

General Walker, here as representative of Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, said that "by paying this reverent homage to the heroic dead, we accept the principle that individual desires and safety should be subordinated to the just purposes of all."

"If those we honor could speak to us now," he continued, "I think they would advise us to strive for an increasing understanding of international affairs, to be ever vigilant and at the same time to be tolerant, to be courageous and to be generous with those less fortunate than ourselves. They would advise us to practice the golden rule . . . if we all do this the sacrifice of men and women in war will be unnecessary."

Defendants To Be Tried Here

If possible the United States district attorney's office will present information against defendants in the Sept. 5 $17,700 robbery of the First State bank of Morton to the federal grand jury at Fort Worth Nov. 7, the Associated Press reported from Fort Worth this morning.

With the return of indictments, the defendants would face trial at Lubbock Nov. 18.

Under federal charges in the holdup are Ollie Oliver Melton, 38, ex-convict, who is held at Oklahoma City in lieu of $100,000 bond, and Fred Pair, 58, Cochran county rancher and farmer, in jail in Lubbock.

Two Still At Large

Cochran County Sheriff Hancock reported this morning the two additional suspects were still at large.

Pair is charged with assisting the robbers before and after the holdup. In custody of Sheriff Hancock, rangers, FBI agents and District Attorney Burton S. Burks, Pair dug up at his place a jar containing $997 in $1 bills. He had been paid $1,000 for his help, he related.

Pair, a resident of near Bledsoe, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. Commissioner here. His bond was set at $25,000. Over a decade ago, he served for a brief time as a special officer at McAdoo, a small community in northwest Dickens county. He was married, reportedly for the second time, about two weeks ago in Brownfield, it was said.

his present location. Cold frames and growing space have been added at that address and a complete new nursery display is being constructed.

To Remodel Office

The office and sales room is to be redecorated and remodeled. The front of the building will be reworked, carrying out the present architectural theme of stone and petrified wood.

A large range of greenhouses will be constructed just south of the city limits on Avenue P as soon as necessary glass and other material are available. Davis said the four large houses would represent the largest range of glass of its kind in the Southwest.

Davis said that the cost of additional construction to the present plant, along with the planned remodeling and redecorating would cost about $85,000 in the next three-year period.

To Require 100 Employes

About 100 employes will be needed to man the plant at the end of the planned work. Twenty-two of an original staff of 24 persons have gone into service and war work, Davis said. One of this group, John Lovelle, has been killed in action during the war. The remainder have announced their intentions of returning to work for the company.

All these veterans along with the present staff, and perhaps a few more new employes, will be kept on the company payrolls, Davis said.

Davis described Lubbock as the "ideal spot for a real floral-nursery establishment" and added "we aim to offer such an establishment."

Stalin's Good Health Is Important News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's report that Marshal Stalin isn't ill, as had been widely rumored, but is in good health, is big news.

They say no man is indispensable—that anyone's place can be filled. But history provides instances which disprove the general rule. As a supreme and unquestioned head of the Soviet Union, Stalin wields such vast individual power that fate most certainly would be making a rash gamble if she removed him from control at this moment of world crisis.

One doesn't have to believe in communism or even to agree with all of Moscow's actions, in order to recognize this fact. Russia has other able statesmen, but Stalin's leadership has been unique. His word is accepted by his followers as final, and so it has come about that in international affairs his voice is the voice of the entire Soviet Union.

Stalin Carries Big Load

The signs long have been that no important decision is taken without Stalin's approval. I may have mentioned in a previous column that recently I heard an internationally known military personage state that the marshal, not only in name but in fact, was the generalissimo of the Red armies. The broad strategy for the whole Soviet effort is said to have been his, and it was the opinion of the general in question (who wasn't a Russian) that Stalin is one of the great strategists of his time.

What has been true of war has been true of other things. The political strategy is credited to him. And going back a score of years to the time when he took over the leadership after Lenin's death, we find him charting the great Soviet industrial program, after ousting the fiery Trotsky who wanted to throw all Russia's energy into making world revolution

Confusion Inevitable

Well, now, you couldn't remove a captaincy like Stalin's without at least temporarily causing confusion in Russia and consequently over the globe at large. It could easily produce grave results in the midst of the critical situation which now exists throuhogut Europe and Asia, and will continue for many months.

So it's a relief to learn from Ambassador Harriman that the marshal not only is well, but appears greatly refreshed by his vacation in the Black sea region.

As President Truman said in his New York address Saturday, the present differences among the Allied powers are not hopeless or irreconcilable. However, differences are like weeds—they grow fast and strangle the good plants unless uprooted.

If the fresh exchange between President Truman and Marshal Stalin gets the Big Three back onto the straight and narrow path, it will be a great achievement of statesmanship.

Lt. Gen. Henry Eichelberger, Boss Of U. S. Eighth Army, Possesses Sense Of Adventure

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 29.—The man with the greatest sense of adventure in the American Eighth Army is the boss himself.

Tall, grayhaired Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger at 59 still has a small boy's absorbing interest in the world around him. Despite service in two wars and much closehand observation of mankind's chicanery, selfishness and bloodlust, he remains serene and unsoured.

More than any general I have ever met, he has avoided those twin blights that afflict most high-ranking officers—boredom and introspection.

Has His Own Formula

"Uncle Bob" has his own formula when days at his headquarters begin to pall—"take a rip." He climbs into his remodeled B-17 Fortress, "Miss Em, II,"—the second plane he has named after his wife—or his train, and speeds away for a visit with his men.

He finds field visits with the officers and men who have fought under him refreshing.

Any unit under his command, no matter how small, can expect periodical visits from Eichelberger. He doesn't make the usual cursory once-over inspections.

Men Talk Freely

If he thinks anything is wrong he goes directly to the men themselves and questions them. "Uncle Bob" shudders whenever anyone calls him "fatherly," but he has a way of making enlisted men forget rank differences and talk to him freely about their troubles.

He sees, too, that they don't pay for their trust in him and their frankness. Once, while he was questioning a soldier about a situation, he noticed the man's officer stiffening with resentment over his subordinate's remarks. Eichelberger's mild blue eyes chilled as he turned to the officer.

"After I leave, I don't want you punishing this man for speaking out," he said crisply.

One of Eichelberger's most likeable qualities is his desire to share his enthusiasms. He is kindly, like Gen. Omar Bradley, and he has General Patton's vitality without his brusqueness.

Eichelberger is one of the ground force's most air-minded generals. During his Philippine campaign he made flying visits to frontline outfits on 72 of the 90 days it lasted, landing often before areas had been cleared of snipers.

No Army wife can boast a more devoted husband than Mrs. Eichelberger. He writes home daily—and gets a daily letter himself when the mail comes through.

PRODUCE MORE AND HAVE MORE

A PROPOSAL TO THE NATION

---To Its Lawmakers, Its Economists, Its Farmers, Its Industrial Workers and Its Business Men

"Every thinking American must realize that this country now faces a situation without parallel either during the war or before it.

"Before the war we were busy at production of all the things required by a peacetime economy. We maintained a high standard of living, supported the government with our taxes, exported to foreign countries and enjoyed imports from them.

"Then came the war. Production was stepped up to unprecedented levels and devoted almost entirely to military needs. Production of civilian goods was reduced to the barest necessities.

"Now the war is over. We turn again to supplying civilian needs, but today these needs unfilled for four long years are at the highest peak of all time. Our government's tax requirements are no longer the staggering needs of war, but they are still the enormous needs of war's aftermath—many times greater than before the war. There is also immediate, urgent need for all kinds of goods to aid the recovery and rehabilitation of a war-torn world.

"The simple fact is that we have a big job ahead of us.

"We can't get it done on the prewar basis of work."

We must produce far more now than ever before!

"Recognizing these problems, we have made the following proposal":

October 27, 1945

International Union, UAW-CIO,
411 West Milwaukee Avenue,
Detroit 2, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

"General Motors proposes that the UAW-CIO join with it in petitioning the Congress to change the Wage and Hours Act to make the standard work week 45 hours in place of 40 hours during the postwar reconstruction period. This proposal is made recognizing that the country has a big load to carry in cleaning up the aftermath of the war, and that under these conditions we can all have more only if we produce more.

The reason for this proposal to change the law is that the present law putting the penalty of overtime pay of 50% on the extra hours over 40 discourages employers and business generally from planning such extra hours of production, thereby tending to reduce the country to a 40-hour week when the country and the world are demanding more production at lower prices.

With this change in the work week, we propose that all wage rates be increased approximately 6%, so that men working 45 hours at the new straight time rates will make as much money as they do now for 45 hours of work. This proposal would increase the earnings of those working less than 45 hours and would also increase the extra compensation for any hours worked over 45, since such hours would be paid for at time-and-a-half based on the new rates.

Your first impression of this proposal probably will be that it is a reactionary idea, and not in the interest of labor. It is not reactionary any more than working longer hours in the war emergency was. We are sure that it is in the best interests of all the people of our country, and particularly in the best interests of all workmen.

If the 40-hour week was sound prewar and the 48-hour week during the war, the 45-hour week is sound for the immediate period following such a world catastrophe as we have been through. All Americans are expecting an even higher standard of living postwar than we had prewar. This can be accomplished at this time only by producing more, as we now must carry the huge additional tax burden, and other expenses growing out of the war. The simple fact is that we have a big job ahead of us. We cannot get it done on the prewar basis of work. We must produce far more than we did in the past.

The workmen of other nations will work far more than 45 hours. In any cases they will have only a bare subsistence living while they are doing it, because of the lack of good tools and machinery, like those supplied by employers in our country.

This proposal has much to recommend it.

1. It avoids a substantial reduction in weekly earnings.
2. It prevents inflation and preserves the purchasing power of war bonds, insurance, social security and other savings.
3. It does not upset the balance between agricultural workers, salaried workers and industrial workers.
4. It will produce more goods and services, and the people of our country will have more.
5. It will create more good jobs and the employment of more people. Just as many men and women will be employed in our plants on a 45-hour week as on a 40-hour week. And it will allow the use of our plants for the extra five hours when they would otherwise be idle.
6. It will stimulate business activity and create more jobs, and result in the employment of many more people in all related businesses.
7. If out plants could be scheduled to work on this basis, we would produce nine cars where we would otherwise have produced only eight. It will mean that one man out of nine will have a car who would otherwise go without.

We believe that a 45-hour week is necessary and desirable during the period of postwar reconstruction, for the following reasons:

1. During this period our country will be shipping food, materials and machinery to other countries all over the world to help them rehabilitate themselves and avoid starvation.
2. We still have one extra expense of bringing our fighting men back home and fitting them into civilian work.
3. We still have high taxes, which necessarily are a charge against industry and all producers.
4. To develop and apply technological improvements and to reorganize industry takes time—years, not months.

It is hoped that at the end of this post war reconstruction period:

1. Our relations with other countries will be on the basis of a two-way street, where we shall get back goods and services for those we supply.
2. The fighting men will be back at peacetime work, and the aftermath of the war will be over.
3. Government expense and the number of government employes will be reduced and not be such an excessive burden on all producers.
4. Technological improvements—the better ways of doing all the things that are necessary to deliver products to customers—will have become effective.

We can then have a 40-hour week with more leisure time and more goods and services, and can continue to improve the standard of living of all Americans.

Yours Very Truly,
C. E. WILSON,
President.

WHY WE BELIEVE EVERYONE SHOULD FAVOR THIS PROPOSAL:

It would help America to produce more and have more—

It would provide for higher wages without the certain necessity of higher prices—

It would help to strengthen buying power, sustain the tax requirements, and maintain the value of war bonds, savings and insurance—

It would be good for the working man, good for the employer, good for the farmer, good for the professional man, good for the housewife—

Good for "America."

Amarillo Is Rated District 1 Favorite

State Race Still Is Inconclusive

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Interdistrict games are at an end in Texas schoolboy football without having established a championship favorite.

From here on out — or at least until the state play-off begins — there will be only conference battles to decide the 16 district titles.

The last game between two of the heralded powers — that melee at Wichita Falls last week — was expected to shove a team forward as the No. 1 eleven. But Highland Park and Wichita Falls played to an inconclusive 7-7 tie.

Results Not Decisive

Previously Highland Park had beaten Waco 7-0, Lufkin had nosed out Goose Creek 7-6 and Odessa had downed Amarillo 20-13. There was nothing in any of those games to indicate one was materially stronger than the other.

Favorites definitely have been determined in the district races, however. Here's how they look:

1. Amarillo; 2. Wichita Falls; 3. Odessa; 4. Austin (El Paso); 5. Paris; 6. Highland Park; 7. Paschal (Fort Worth); 8. Crozier Tech (Dallas); 9. Brownwood; 10. Waco; 11. Marshall; 12. Lufkin; 13. Milby (Houston); 14. Goose Creek; 15. Austin and 16. Brownsville.

Pampa, Plainview Contenders

Amarillo has Plainview and Pampa to worry about in district 1. Vernon furnishes the last barrier to Wichita Falls in district 2. Sweetwater is unbeaten but hardly appears capable of stopping Odessa in district 3. Austin faces a hard battle with El Paso High in district 4.

Paris appears to have the district 5 title in the bag but must worry some about Denison. No team seems up to slowing down Highland Park in district 6. Paschal is out in front in district 7. Chief worries of Crozier Tech in district 8 are Sunset and North Dallas.

In district 9 the Breckenridge-Brownwood game Nov. 9 will decide the issue. Waco may find Cleburne troublesome in district 10 but should come through. Longview appears the toughest hurdle for Marshall in district 11. Lufkin has unbeaten Jacksonville ahead in district 12 but will be a prohibitive favorite to win.

Milby apparently got rid of its toughest foe in district 13 by edging out San Jacinto (Houston) last week. Goose Creek plays Port Arthur this week but Galveston, which trimmed Port Arthur, looks like a rugged customer for the Ganders in district 14. Austin is concerned about Corpus Christi in district 15. Edinburg and McAllen are both undefeated in district 16 but do not appear up to the task of stopping Brownsville.

New Men Strengthen Rice For Game With Tech; Walmsley Back

HOUSTON, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Coach Jess Neely put his Rice Owls, fresh from their 7-6 upset over Texas, through their paces today as new faces were welcomed to the squad.

Fleet George Walmsley, star back on last year's eleven, was slated for his first practice session today. Walmsley has just been discharged from the U. S. Naval academy due to an ear defect.

Besides Walmsley, some four or five footballers from Louisiana Tech were expected to enroll at Rice this week. "We certainly will be around to welcome them," Neely commented.

Nemir Enters Navy

Rice Halfback Bob Nemir who kicked the winning point against Texas was commissioned in the Navy Saturday but it was not immediately known whether he would remain at Rice or not. Navy officers normally are given leave after commissioning and it is possible he will play for the Owls during his leave.

The Owls came through the Texas fray without injury and Houstonians have already started contending the Rice squad is a team to be considered when thinking about title winners.

Rice meets Texas Tech next Saturday at Houston in a non-conference tussle.

Sammy Baugh Completes 19 Of 23 Passes As Redskins Whip New York Giants, 24-14

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 — Stout Steve Owen, the ponderous pilot of the New York Giants, advised the rest of the National football league today that Slingin' Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins hasn't lost any of that old Texas aerial artistry in his ninth year on the lumps for dollars circuit.

The lean, loose-jointed Texan with the elastic arm proved that to Steve and his whittled-down Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Stepping far in front in the race for the tossing tiara, Sam completed 19 of 23 passes, two of them for touchdowns.

Getting Better All Time

"That guy," Steve moaned after the Washington-done gridders owned by Laundryman George Marshall had walked off with a 24-14 win, "is getting better all the time. And I don't mean better for us. He's the best ever."

From the stout one, an erstwhile citizen of the cow country himself, that's high praise. But it's well deserved. For Sammy, the two-time T. C. U. All-American, is far ahead in the drive for passing honors.

He now has completed 61 to 89 atempts for 767 yards and a .685 mark. Meanwhile, Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears was completing only 10 of 21 for a record of 53 out of 100, dropping his average to .530.

And after it was all over, the star of the laundry gang didn't look a bit washed up.

"I get the ball away pretty fast and then run for cover myself," he quipped.

On the serious side, Baugh admits that he's doing pretty well for a fellow whose burning ambition after leaving college was to be a major league baseball star. He was prouder in those days of being the all-Southwest conference third baseman than he was of being an all-American football star.

BAUGH

So following his graduation in 1937, he played a starring role with the Redskins that fall and then headed for the spring training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals. Manager Frankie Frisch was taken with his fielding but it was strictly a case of good field, no hit.

Baugh was sent down to Columbus and then to Rochester, but the football star couldn't face a change of pace or a fast ball. So that fall Sammy went back to football for good, and the word "good" is something of an understatement.

As of the moment, Baugh has gained 10,134 yards with his passes — pretty close to six miles — which is an all-time league record. He also has completed 838 passes out of 1,845 and, to the start of this year, has seen his receiver scamper across the goal line 84 times.

The payoff has been commensurate and Baugh now owns a 3,000-acre ranch at Rotan, Tex. That was one college ambition realized.

How does he do it, year in and year out?

"Roping calves is one reason," he explained. "It really keeps me tuned for passing. You gotta hit them calves quick, because the little old things don't wait around to give you a second shot. The same holds true for shooting that football."

Which prompted stout Steve of the rival Giants to remark:

"You must have roped an awful lot of calves this year, Sammy."

El Toro Marines Upset Skymasters

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (U.P.) — Paul Governalli, ex-Columbia university star, completed 17 out of 31 passes without one interception to pace the El Toro Marines to an upset 7-0 victory over the AAFTC Skymasters from Fort Worth, Tex., last night in the coliseum.

Governalli gained 171 yards through the air of the 212 yard total made by the Marines.

Rice's Upset Win Over Texas Puts S. M. U. On Top In SWC

(By The Associated Press)

They're playing football mighty close to the chest in the Southwest conference.

If this keeps up they're going to start talking about "overwhelming victories" when one team beats another by as much as two touchdowns.

It's only happened twice in the eight conference games played to date.

Look at the record: Three were decided by one point, one by three, one by six and one by ten.

Rice Unseats Texas

Texas, the only eleven able to roll up a respectable margin — that 34-7 thing with Arkansas — figured in a one-point disappointment last week when the Rice Owls knocked the Longhorns down 7-6 and thus removed the last undefeated, untied team in the circuit.

Arkansas kicked over Texas Christian 27-14 three weeks ago in the only other game in which the coach of the winning team didn't border on a nervous breakdown.

The conference today is in the somewhat unusual position of having a four-times loser as its leader. Southern Methodist has won only two games out of six this season but just one of those contests was a conference affair and the Mustangs took it — 21-18 over Rice.

A. & M., Arkansas Clash

Were it not for what happened at Austin Saturday when Rice, which also has lost four games, ruined Texas' hopes of an unbeaten season, the Longhorns would be favored to drop Southern Methodist from its perch next Saturday at Dallas. That is the top conference game of the day although Texas A. and M. and Arkansas meet at Fayetteville. Arkansas is virtually out of the running as the result of two beatings. A. and M. is in good shape after a 19-13 decision over Baylor last week that kept the Aggies on even terms with everybody except S.M.U.

Southern Methodist went into first place while losing an international game to Tulane 19-7. Arkansas was getting back on the winning road with a 19-0 conquest of Mississippi.

Texas Christian, which fell to Oklahoma A. and M. 25-12 last week, plays another Oklahoma team next Saturday. The Frogs will go to Norman to tackle Oklahoma university.

Rice also plays outside the conference, meeting Texas Tech at Houston. Tech last week returned to the victory column with a 12-6 decision over West Texas State Teachers.

Tech-Tulsa Film To Be Shown Tonight

Football coaches, officials and fans will get the chance to view moving pictures of the Texas Tech-Tulsa university football game, played at Tech stadium Oct. 13, at a joint meeting tonight at the Lubbock hotel of the football officials and coaches and the Matador club, Coach Dell Morgan announced today.

Many points of debate have been brought up on the game, and these points will be discussed during the meeting tonight. Coach Morgan will discuss the picture as it is shown.

One point of discussion has centered around the ruling of officials regarding a Tulsa pass interception, in which Tech backers contend it was an incomplete pass.

Another point of debate that was raised by Coach Henry Frnka dealt with his claim that Tech's scoring play was made on a forward pass to Walt Schlinkman, instead of a lateral.

A banner turnout is expected, with the meeting to be called to order at 7:30. The public is invited to attend.

Navy, Notre Dame To Clash Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (U.P.)—Navy and Notre Dame, two of the 10 major college football teams surviving with perfect records after a Saturday that saw the favorites falling like ripe plums, meet this week at Cleveland in the outstanding game of the season to date.

A crowd of 80,000 may turn out for the spectacle, which momentarily steals the spotlight from such still unbeaten teams as Army, Columbia, Holy Cross, Alabama, Oklahoma A. and M., Temple, St. Mary's and Mississippi State.

The Middies and the Irish will rate almost a betting toss-up despite the different character of their victories last week. Notre Dame rode roughshod over Iowa, 56 to 0, while Navy squeaked out a 14 to 7 victory over fighting Penn only by a desperation pass in the last half minute of play.

Leif Erikson Will Return To Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29. (AP)—Leif Erikson, now a chief photographer's mate in the Navy, has returned to Hollywood and expects to be discharged soon and resume his film career.

Erikson saw four years service in the Pacific and shot more than 200,000 feet of film for the Navy.

PROPERTY CHIEF NAMED

Nazi Menace Still Exists In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 29 (AP)—John Cabot, U. S. charge d' affaires, in a formal statement today declared a Nazi menace still exists in Argentina and said it was "properly a matter of international concern."

Cabot said the United States was obliged by treaty to refrain from intervening in the purely internal affairs of other countries and "of course intends to observe its treaty commitments."

Nevertheless, he said "the Nazi menace which still exists in Argentina is properly a matter of international concern as clearly implied by several resolutions adopted at Mexico City."

LT. MARSHALL FORMBY of the Army Engineers, formerly Dickens county judge and latterly a member of the Texas State Senate from this district, is on leave at the present time after service in the European Theater of Operations.

Lieutenant Formby ranged over five European countries—England, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany—and had a good chance to look them over, especially after hostilities ended.

He says the thing that has impressed him most upon his return to the United States is that our people do not realize how much we have of everything and how much better off we are in every respect than the Europeans.

"We don't know how to appreciate our country and the good things it literally dumps into our laps," says Lieutenant Formby. "If we did, there would be less strife, less dissatisfaction, less criticism."

Lieutenant Formby is pessimistic, too, regarding Europe's future. He doesn't believe that either England, or the Continental nations, will ever, be able to regain prewar status and he sees nothing in their future in the way of promise for future generations. "Worn out," is the way he describes Europe.

We see by the papers where the Navy bigwigs are opposing a unified command of American defenses.

Maybe the admirals will be willing to trade. Maybe they'll agree to the plan, providing they are permitted to keep their pretty gold braid—and the APS, meaning, of course, the "Annapolis Protective Society."

ANENT the downtown traffic problem, concerning which we asked suggestions from readers after numerous letters and phone calls about the problem, an anonymous citizen puts his finger on one reason for the dissatisfaction. Says he:

"The main trouble is, we were spoiled for years when Lubbock wasn't as full of people as it is now and has grown to during the war years. We had gotten used to driving up in front of, or right alongside of, almost any place we wanted to go. We didn't have to walk 50 steps, usually.

"What we Lubbockites have to realize now is that we are citizens of a town that is rapidly becoming a city and we will have to use our legs. We can't expect to find a welcome parking space right in front of any store where we may be going.

"Take any growing, busy city and you will find it that way. When we get used to walking a block or two, or three at the most, we will forget about the crying we are doing now about downtown parking."

The guy has got something there. No doubt about it.

We recently came into temporary possession of a $5 bill, printed in 1925. It was almost as large as one of those special-issue postage stamps, turned loose on the land by the millions at precisely the same time there was the biggest howl about a paper shortage!

IT seems to us that the populace is fairly evenly divided about whether the drafting of 18-year olds should continue, now that the shooting phase of the war has passed into history.

Some people think it is fair and just for 18-year olds to be drafted to take the places of men who have served for two, three and four years and who naturally want to get back to civilian life. Some people think that to do so will be harmful to the nation in the future, what with disturbing the youngsters' educational routine, taking them away from the watchful eyes of parents, etc.

It is a knotty problem, all right, in which there is certain to be a continued difference of opinion.

But the question was made even knottier the other day by action of an Ohio draft board, which said to its 18-year olds something like this:

"The country is broken out in a rash of strikes. Numerous of those men who are striking, and fighting on picket lines, have military draft deferments because they were adjudged essential to industry. They were permitted to stay out of service in order that they might work, but now they decline to work—morally cancelling any reason for their deferments. You youngsters go home and stay there until such time as strikers with military deferments are put into uniforms, or go back to the jobs for which they were deferred."

At first blush, that looks fair and just. Undoubtedly, if a man has a right to a deferment in order that he may work—and then doesn't work, another man has the right to continued civilian freedom. It is not incumbent upon him to take the place of a deferred man who doesn't live up to the terms of the deferment.

BUT there's another angle to the whole situation—an angle likely to be overlooked. That is the angle of men who have been in uniform for two, three, or four years—perhaps much of the time spent under fire. If replacements are not made available for some of them, how are they going to be able to get back into civilian life, as they deserve to do at the earliest possible moment?

If the 18-year olds are being wronged by those who do not live up to the terms of their deferments (and as we see it, they are thus being wronged) aren't the men already in uniform being wronged, too—not only by the defrred who violate the terms of deferments, but also by the Ohio draft board's action?

It seems to us that this is true. We can't see any argument about it and thus far in life we've never been able to see where two wrongs make a right.

There is a possibility, however, that the whole mess may result in future improvement in law and government policy regarding management-labor rows.

If enough service men get boiling mad over the way they are being shoved around, they may very properly take it into their heads to do something about the situation when they get back into civvies and go to the polls at the next election.

They may make up their minds to lay the lash of the ballot on the backs of the vacillating politicians and supplant them with others who will make fairness and justice, rather than political expediency, the basis of statutes and policies applied to labor-management relations.

If that is the result, the present muddle will not have been in vain.

MEMBERS of the American Business club are both proud and happy that their leadership in the Lubbock Boys club has brought them national recognition. The October edition of "National Notes," the official publication of the ABC all over the nation gives the Lubbock club a whale of a write-up—and in the most conspicuous place, too. Funny thing, the article quotes at length from some Lubbock newspaper columnist writing under the caption of "The Plainsman." After perusing the article we decided the feller shore is a good writer!

All kidding to one side, the story of the Lubbock American Business club is likely to cause other ABC units in other parts of the country to adopt programs similar to that of the Boys club here. If so, that's going to be beneficial to a lot of towns and a lot of boys.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

IN a recent divorce case that received considerable newspaper publicity the wife charged that in her opinion her husband had a "dual personality."

MILLETT

Don't most husbands give that impression?

The clothes Jim encourages his wife to buy are quite, sensible and practically guaranteed never to turn a masculine head.

But, "Not bad; not bad at all," he says when a girl in an eye-catching little number walks by.

Good old Bob thinks woman's place is in the home. At least that is what he tells his wife. He also says he doesn't know what he would do without his gem of a stenographer—who just happens to have beauty as well as brains.

Charlie puts up a good line about how he is going to miss the little woman when he goes to a convention in a far-away city. But he never misses one—and never has had the happy thought that he might take the little woman along.

WHAT! MEN GOSSIP?

JOE says he doesn't see why women like to get together and gossip at bridge parties. But he never misses his weekly poker game.

Dick is a genial host and a free spender away from home—but at home he doles out money with a reluctant hand and his wife doesn't dare say "It's a nice morning" until after he has had his second cup of coffee.

Herb says "Why did you let us in for that?" when his wife tells him she has accepted a dinner invitation—and then says "What's the hurry?" when the tries to get him to go home.

Dual personality a cause for divorce? Why there is something about marriage that makes a husband feel he has a perfect right to at least two personalities—one for outsiders and one for the little woman.

PETTENGILL HITS WHERE IT HURTS

Samuel B. Pettengill, former congressman from Indiana who now writes "think" pieces for the papers, says, in a recent stint, it is high time for the American people to place the blame for current labor troubles where it rightfully belongs.

The ex-solon declares that the men chiefly at fault are neither in labor nor capital. "This unholy mess," he asserts, "traces directly back to the politicians . . . who, to build up their own fortunes, have for years played on the sour chords of prejudice and class feeling."

"It is the administration—or rather, the politicians, who have been or are in office—who have built up industry-wide bargaining, thus putting the throats of millions in the reach of a few hands, who have refused to write any semblance of fairness into the Wagner act . . . who have dimmed the hope of industrial justice in our federal courts by packing them with persons of their own stripe and kidney, who have abdicated the first responsibility of any government, which is to maintain law and order—in short, to govern."

He charges the federal government of the last 13 years with having corrupted the thinking of millions with European ideologies and the hatreds of class struggle." . . . they have laughed off the growth of debt, have written tax laws deliberately designed to punish one class and bribe another, have taught labor that if it just puts enough pressure, it can get anything it wants. . . ."

Control of labor-management relations, Mr. Pettengill claims, has been confused under the jurisdiction of a half hundred quarreling bureaus.

Mr. Pettengill writes straight, tough talk. With a little reasoning, one can grant that he is hitting where it hurts.

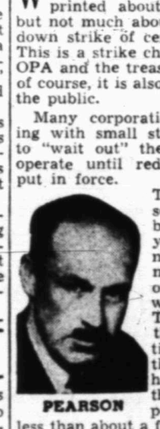

Manufacturers Stage Sit-Down Strike

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—A lot has been printed about labor strikes, but not much about the silent sit-down strike of certain employers. This is a strike chiefly against the OPA and the treasury. Ultimately, of course, it is also a strike against the public.

Many corporations are operating with small staffs determined to "wait out" the OPA and not operate until reduced taxes are put in force.

PEARSON

That is one reason why it may be months before you can buy your new radio, your new automobile or your new washing machine. The makers of these commodities, realizing that they cannot hope to sell more than one machine per customer in less than about a four-year period, want to sell at their own terms, and at the highest possible profit. That's why they're waiting for OPA ceilings to be removed. That's also why they want to wait until excess profits are voted down.

If they don't sell goods between now and Jan. 1, they keep their 1945 profit levels as low as possible, and if the 1945 profit does not exceed the average profit for the 1936-1939 period, they will receive large tax refunds from the government.

That's why practically no radios for the American public are being produced at RCA's Camden, N. J., plant, or at the General Electric plants in Bridgeport, Conn., and Syracuse, N. Y., or in the several large radio plants in the Chicago area. Although there has been time since V-J day for production of at least 3,000,000 radios by Christmas, not over 500,000 will be on the market.

In the field of housing, real estate dealers are concentrating on high-priced housing, and will continue to do so until OPA rent controls are removed. Then they can charge whatever rentals they want for the lower-priced housing; also, for the housing they already have.

BOMBS FOR CONGRESS

SIX members of a congressional committee sailing to Europe last August were nearly scared out of their wits while on the Queen Mary. Headed by Representative Louis Rabaut of Michigan, a subcommittee of the House appropriations committee had debated whether to fly or to go by boat. Finally they decided to sail—but they wished they hadn't.

The group which decided to enjoy some relaxation on steamer chairs included Dean Gillespie of Colorado, Robert Jones of Ohio, Butler Hare of South Carolina, Thomas O'Brien of Illinois and Judge John Kerr of North Carolina. Kerr had argued for the boat trip and finally convinced his colleagues.

The congessmen were just beginning to relax on their first night out from New York when an Army officer came to Chairman Rabaut with a disturbing message.

"The skipper thought you gentlemen ought to know," he said, "that we have just received a code message from the FBI. They report they have discovered there are a number of incendiary bombs on the boat scheduled to go off at midnight.

"There are several companies of Japanese-American troops on board," the officer told Rabaut, "and Japan is still at war with the United States."

Rabaut called his colleagues together and told them the news. Judge Kerr's first comment was: "I wonder if the skipper has ordered airplanes to hover around the ship."

All were alerted the entire night while the ship's crew searched unsuccessfully for the bombs. No trace of them was ever found, but the restful relaxation the congressmen had hoped for was not achieved until they set foot on solid ground once again.

JAP REPARATIONS

U. S. Reparations Commissioner Ed Pauley will leave for Japan early next month to study the situation there. However, policy on reparations will be determined, not by MacArthur, but back in Washington after Pauley's return.

Along with Pauley will go two excellent advisers — Owen Lattimore, former adviser to Chiang-Kai-Shek and leading expert on the Far East, plus Joseph De Bois of the treasury, who was with Pauley in Europe. Both Lattimore and De Bois have definite convictions on rooting out Jap militarism and building up a Japanese democracy. They are strong supporters of Justice Byrnes' broad-gauged policy for Japan.

James Angell, former Columbia university professor now with the Foreign Economic administration, will be named to carry on Pauley's work on European reparations. Angell is a sound, progressive economist.

Another excellent choice to be announced by the White House is that of the treasury's Harold Glasser, who will head a special economic and financial mission remaining in Japan to advise MacArthur.

PACIFIC BASES

DESPITE Army opposition, the Navy is not delaying a bit about getting its foothold in the Pacific islands. On the theory that possession is nine-tenths of the law, it is recruiting young men with families to live on these island at once.

The Foreign Economic administration, part of which was transferred to the reconstruction finance corporation, is working with the Navy on this program.

An enticing picture is laid before prospective recruits, featuring prefabricated, air-conditioned houses, fresh meat and vegetables flown in by air, and a network of commercial airlines between islands which the Navy plans to operate. Salaries are good, as government salaries go.

These men will be commercial representatives of the RFC, which will become the trading corporation for the islands. Every effort is being made to get the men signed up and on their way this month.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

EUGENE O'NEILL, America's leading dramatist, has long since completed his brilliant new play entitled The Ice Man Cometh, but has forbidden its production until he is on the scene to check every detail.

He has a sound reason for this decision. Only once in his career was a play done without his personal direction. That was Dynamo, in 1929, and, says Mr. O'Neill bitterly, "The only thing anybody seems to remember of the entire production is that Claudette Colbetr wore a red dress and had beautiful legs."

The Ice Man Cometh is based on that period of Mr. O'Neill's turbulent youth when he lived in a grubby little rooming-house over a saloon just off the Hudson river water-front. Those were the days when he sailed before the mast, and underwent the experiences that were poured into The Long Voyage Home and his other early plays of the sea. A little later they were produced by the Provincetown Playhouse and success began.

O'Neill never could stand the ordeal of his own first nights. On the memorable occasion of the premier of Strange Interlude, he wandered unrecognized down Broadway. Unrecognized, that is, by all but a single passerby, who clapped him on the back and boomed, "Eugene O'Neill, by all that's holy! Haven't seen you since we shipped together on the Southern Cross! What on earth ya been doin' with yourself since?"

What Can One Do in a Case Like This?

Administration Believed Heading For Severe Criticism

Rumor Says Pauley Will Get Navy Post

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The rumor has finally found its way into print that Edwin Pauley, the big, ham-fisted oil operator from California, who was formerly treasurer of the Democratic national committee, is to be named secretary of the Navy.

CHILDS

Pauley is a man of great capacity. He has made a fortune at a fairly early age in life. In government, too, as witness his skill in reorganizing tanker routes during the war, he has demonstrated his ability.

Nevertheless, his appointment as secretary of the Navy would subject the administration to severe criticism. His own oil interests, even though they did not connect in any way with government, would seem to disqualify him for an office in which oil reserves and their protection for our national security play such a part.

Has Direct Interest

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch is currently publishing a series of articles by Edward A. Harris showing that Pauley has a very direct interest in decisions which the government must take on tide-land oil reserves. The articles show that he lobbied actively in Congress for passage of a bill which would forever end the claim of the federal government to any of the oil or minerals in the tidal belt around the shores of the U. S.

His own oil company has a substantial financial interest in extracting this tideland oil. The House, with little opposition and not even a record vote, has already adopted the bill, which would lodge sole authority over a treasure worth billions of dollars in the states. A similar bill drawn up by the California attorney general's office has been introduced by Senator Pat McCarran, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, who says he favors its passage.

THIS has been made an issue of states' rights, with 46 of the state attorney generals on record in favor of the bill. Just before he left office, at the request of President Truman, former Attorney General Francis Biddle filed suit for the federal government claiming the mineral and oil rights in the tidal strip.

Apparently there is more politics behind all this than meets the eye. One politncal faction, which is said to include several prominent New Dealers, is determined to thwart Pauley and assure federal rights. Whether their motive is to insure a reserve of oil for the nation or whether they are merely serving another set of oil producers and speculators is a question which perhaps only a Senate investigating committee can answer.

Discussed With Roosevelt

President Roosevelt at one time discussed with Pauley the possibility that the latter would become undersecretary of the Navy. This was put up to James Forrestal, who became secretary following the death of Frank Knox.

Forrestal countered with the suggestion that Pauley came into the Navy department in the first instance as a special assistant. Then, later, he could be moved up to the undersecretaryship. President Roosevelt's death came before any steps were taken in this direction. Now Forrestal is said to want to resign.

Pauley would have the backing, if he desires the office, of his good friend, Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic national committee. Hannegan is a strong believer in party loyalty and Pauley, in his term of treasurer, did a phenomenal job of money raising.

AT the Chicago convention Pauley, working alongside Hannegan, helped to bring about Truman's nomination as vice president. He never succeeded, however, in delivering a majority of California's delegation for the Missourian. Partly, this was because of the crusading zeal of Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, a devoted follower of Henry Wallace.

From independent voters the criticism is beginning to come that the Truman administration is "too political." It is beginning to take on air or Harding normalcy. This charge comes in part, at least, from political partisans.

But there is enough surface evidence to lend some coloration of truth to it. Assuming that Pauley is ideally equipped in every respect to be secretary of the Navy, his appointment would nevertheless tend to confirm this impression.

United States-Soviet Cooperation Termed Key To Future

Fate of the years ahead lies in understanding and cooperation between the United States and Russia and if we fail to cooperate we'll be heading for trouble, Dr. H. C. Gossard, dean of Eastern New Mexico college at Portales, N. M., declared in a talk before the Methodist Men's club today noon at Lubbock hotel.

"Suspicion and distruct must be thrust aside," Dr. Gossard said, pointing out that for years we have been fed a propaganda aimed at creating both against Russia.

Traveled In 24 Countries

The New Mexico educator, who has traveled in 24 countries of Europe, declared that Americans need a greater understanding of how other people of the world think. "We need to know their customs, their culture, their aspirations and their philosophy of life. . . . We need to learn that there are many different practices on this earth and one has as good a standing as another. . . . We need to learn that there are many cultures besides our own and that the common people of all countries are very much alike.

"They are mostly good sturdy people, who want to raise their families and be left alone to live their way of life," he continued. "All the brutalities of war come, not from these people, but from their leaders. . . . When wou come to know these people, you like and admire them and you begin to build a broader viewpoint yourself."

Would Banish Suspicions

He declared his belief in the U. S., Russia and China growing into the three great powers in the next hundred years and said Russia wants to cooperate with us if we but cast aside our suspicions and distrust.

The speaker was introduced by Doyle Jordon, program chairman. Honored guests at the luncheon, service men and those recently discharged, were: Lt. Wm. C. (Billy) Jones, Hubert L. Burgess, jr., Rm1/c, Wendell Morrisset, S1/c, Lt. Newton H. Foster, Monte Page, jr., John H. Wheeler and Quanah P. Maddox. Sixty-three men attended the luncheon.

City Manager

salary has been approximately $7,500 a year, including a cost of living bonus paid city employes during the war.

The new city manager is 41 years old and a native West Texan. He was born at Merkel and in his early youth moved to Fort Worth where he graduated from Paschal High school there.

He attended Texas A. and M., where he received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering in 1925. Following his graduation he was associated with the late John B. Hawley of Fort Worth, consulting engineer for 13 years.

Massachusetts Tech

In 1931, Hunter went to Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he received a master of science degree in civil engineering. Returning to Texas he was engineer for the Fort Worth Housing Authority two years before joining the Dallas city organization nearly five years ago.

He served as superintendent of the water department at Dallas four years before being named to the assistant city manager's post there. The Dallas water department has a staff of more than 300 employes and handles more than 85,000 accounts. He has served as assitant city manager the past six months.

Hunter is married and has one son, eight years old.

"Gentlemen, I appreciate the confidence you have expressed in my ability to assume the responsibility of your municipal management," Hunter told the commission Friday night. "I believe Lubbock offers an excellent opportunity for an expanding-municipal government. First, I want to ask you gentlemen if my selection was unanimous, for I don't believe in going into a positon like this if there is any question as to the choice of a man."

Assured that his selection was unanimous, Hunter requested that he be allowed to confer with "his boss," Dallas City Manager Smitham before accepting the post.

Hunter said he planned to move his family to Lubbock as soon as he can find living quarters and dispose of his home which he owns in Dallas.

Hunter's selection came after the commission had considered and interviewed seven other applicants for the post from that many Texas cities.

City Manager Smith resigned Oct. 2 to enter private business after serving as manager the past three years. Sixteen years prior to being named manager, he had been city engineer.

He will be associated with G. W. Parkhill, former Lubbock man now serving with the Army in the Philippines; and S. C. Cooper, Big Spring city engineer, in a consulting engineering firm

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Persistent strength in wheat futures, with prices up more than a cent a bushel at times, buoyed other grains today.

Buying by commission houses and professionals, and an upturn at Kansas City strengthened wheat. Rye climbed to new seasonal peaks at the start, then oats and rye weakened, but later steadied somewhat with wheat.

Wheat held up fairly well but other grains slumped again near the close. Wheat closed ½ to ¾ higher than the previous finish, December $1.77½, corn was down ¼ to ½, December $1.18¼, oats were ¼ to ¾ off, December 85¾-⅞, rye was ⅝ to 1⅛ cent lower, December $1.61⅜, and barley was unchanged to ¼ off, December $1.17¾.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — Cotton futures declined under pressure of hedge selling and some commission house liquidation in distant months, which met only scale-down mill and local buying. Many traders held to the sidelines pending further developments on the administration's price policy and action on pending parity legislation. The trade generally expected that the mild-October parity price due tomorrow will be unchanged from the September level.

Futures closed 20 to 65 cents a bale higher.

Stock Market

STOCKS SUFFER SELLING CHILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — Stocks, led by steels, rails and motors, suffered a mild selling chill in today's market.

Widening labor rifts in the most important industries helped inspire a certain amount of bearishness and numerous customers trimmed accounts on the idea more of a reaction might be witnessed before the list was ready to resume the upswing. Caution also was the watchword in brokerage quarters pending tomorrow's scheduled announcement of the President's new price-wage policy. Bolstering factors included imminence of tax relief, earnings, Dividends and inflation psychology were helpful.

Dealings slowed at intervals but transfers for the full proceedings were around 1,300,000 shares.

Among prominent casualties the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, General Electric, American Can, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone and Dupont. Occasional improvement was shown for Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Woolworth, American Water Works and Standard Oil (NJ).

Bonds were narrowly irregular.

"Private Wallace was fatally wounded when the charge detonated, but his supreme heroism at the cost of his life confined the blast to the ground and his own body and saved his fellow soldiers from death or injury."

Pvt. Wallace's battalion was attached to General Patton's Third Army.

CIO Board To Meet

The CIO executive board was called to meet here Thursday to discuss progress of the two months' old fight for higher wage rates. It will also map new strategy in the light of the reconversion wage-price guide posts that Mr. Truman outlines tomorrow night.

The President speaks at 9 p. m. (Lubbock time). His address will be broadcast by the major networks.

Mr. Truman was expected to emphasize labor's need for higher rates to compensate for loss of wartime take-home pay so that national purchasing power may be maintained. He will probably discuss industry's ability to pay without increasing prices. In this regard, he is expected to point out that business will make a large saving with repeal of the excess profits tax next Jan. 1, now virtually assured by Congress.

Economists under Reconversion Director John W. Snyder estimate that repeal of this tax will save industry 10 per cent of its earnings. They contend this savings should be distributed in higher wage rates.

Bloody Orgy Of Japs Revealed

MANILA, Oct. 29. (AP)—Four Japanese sailors in Lt. Gen Tomoyuki Yamashita's Philippines command killed or wounded 100 women and children in a bloody orgy in a Red Cross aid station, a pretty survivor testified today as the general's trial on war criminal charges opened.

The heavily medaled, bullet-headed Yamashita, defeated at every turn in legal skirmishing which opened the hearing, took a keen interest. He followed legal arguments carefully with the assistance of a personal interpreter, but appeared to understand considerable English.

All Were Bayonetted

Patricinia Abad, 26, testified that four Japanese sailors savagely bayoneted and shot the 100 women and children here last February. The orgy continued more than an hour although there was no resistance.

Her arm in a sling, Mrs. Abad testified that: She cowered behind a cabinet with her 10-months old daughter in her arms. She was shot through the elbow and bayonetted nine times. Three thrusts went through her body and fatally injured her baby.

The four Japanese slaughtered more than 50 of the women and children, Mrs. Abad told the military commission of five U. S. generals trying Yamashita for his life on a charge that he was responsible for crimes committed by his command.

Tax-Cutting Bill

000,000 in victory bonds. He called for economy in federal expenditures, to bring them in line with revenues and a balanced budget.

Knutson Hails Reductions

On the other hand, Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, senior Republican on the tax-initiating House ways and means committee, hailed the tax reduction as a boon to business enterprise. Future reductions, he said, "will depend on full production and elimination of wasteful spending by the administration."

Here's what the "quickie" tax-slashing bill would do in 1946 for individuals:

1. Reduce their payments $2,644,000,000.

2. Sweep 12,000,000 low-income taxpayers off the rolls completely, and assure 10 per cent or more relief for millions of other persons earning up to $50,000 a year, with smaller cuts—down to 5 per cent in the highest bracket—for persons with incomes above $50,000.

Vets To Get Relief

3. Set up special treatment for veterans of World War II by forgiving enlisted men all federal income levies on their service pay during the war years and giving officers a three-year time extension for paying their back taxes:

For corporations:

1. Cut business levies by $3,136,000,000.

2. Repeal outright, effective January 1, the war-imposed 85.5 per cent excess profits tax; eliminate the capital stock and the declared value excess profits tax; and remove four percentage points from the graduated normal and surtax rates for firms with incomes up to $50,000 and two points for those earning above $50,000.

Excise Levies Unchanged

No definite date is set for a cut-back in the high wartime excise levies on such things as liquor, furs, luggage, jewelry and cosmetics. But the legislation has these other provisions:

Social security—the tax against employe's pay and employer's payroll is frozen at 1 per cent. Without this "freeze" the tax would jump to 2.5 per cent against each on January 1.

Automobiles—the $5 a year use tax is repealed, effective next July 1, at a saving of $140,000,000 to automobile and truck owners.

The tax cut, which becomes effective next January 1, applies to next year's taxes. It will amount to an increase in "take home pay" for millions of persons on wages and salaries. The pay-as-you-go deductions from wages and salaries will be adjusted to reflect the reduced rates.

U.S. Woman Aided Dutch Underground

By TRUDI McCULLOUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Patricia Van Delden, a 37-year-old American, has come home from five years as a leader in the Dutch underground

She and her husband—a Dutch electrical engineer who died in a German concentration camp—and General Wilhelm Roell were among a half dozen men and women who organized Holland's Orde Dienst. Of the original 175 members, only seven survive.

Narrowly Missed Death

For five years Mrs. Van Delden never lived at one address longer than three weeks. She was picked up by the gestapo many times, was formally arrested once, and narrowly missed death three times.

Pretty and intensely earnest, her good humor and delight in the almost forgotten comforts of America make her own last five years seem quite unreal until she begins to speak of them.

She and her husband were in the south of France when the war began.

The invasion of Holland sent them back to the Hague. To cross the frontier they hid in the engines to two empty munition trains.

It was soon after that General Roell's adjutant came to call. Mrs. Van Delden remembers the three of them sitting on the bed in the back of a hushed house to talk. That was the beginning of their organization.

Clumsy At First

"At first we were clumsy," she says. "We had to learn how the gestapo worked. Through trial and tragic error, we learned never to go more than three times to the same house, never to write anything down, how to place people in such important spots as the registry bureau."

More difficult were such jobs as getting thousands of legitimate ration cards (issued monthly) for Dutchmen who have "underdived" and had no legal existence and no means of getting food.

A forgery bureau was set up to prepare identity cards but the ration cards had to be legitimate. The wehrmacht printing plant in the Hague used special superimposed dyes that defied imitation.

"Knockout" gangs were the answer. In villages where the gestapo's habits could be watched closely group of men were sent to "stage old fashioned holdups."

Panic Struck Her

Once captured, the cards had to be distributed. It was on such an assignment that Mrs. Van Delden first missed death. She was to take a briefcase full of these cards to the house of a doctor in the Hague. Just outside the door panic struck her. "It was inexplicable," she says. "I had seen nothing, had no clues, but I was suddenly so afraid I crossed the street and stood in the shadow of a doorway. In that moment the doctor was brought out by two gestapo men."

In underground language one never says anything so crude as "stolen." Things are "organized out." Special paper was "organized out" of the wehrmacht printing plant for use in the ID forgery bureau: A secret room in the heart of the Hague. Twice this particular house was raided by the gestapo but they never discovered the room.

The key to forging paper lay in having a man at the registry bureau who could "organize out" cards of men and women recently dead. Papers were desperately needed against the threat of the German labor draft. Roundups on the street were impromptu and chronic. "To escape being shipped away," says Mrs. Van Delden, "you had to show you were necessary to the German war effort."

It also was a moment of unexplainable panic that saved Mrs. Van Delden when she left a house ahead of another worker who refused to be hurried. Two minutes later, the gestapo appeared and the second woman was caught.

Played Highly Indignant

On another occasion she was arrested, searched and questioned for 10 hours after meeting another operative and receiving an umbrella from him. From the way the questioning began, she said, she knew the gestapo were not very sure of themselves and she played highly indignant. She determined she would not look once at the umbrella. So successfully did she forget its existence, she realized at the door, as she was being released, that she didn't have it. She turned to the gestapo man at her side and asked if he would mind getting it for her. He did and her messages were safe.

Once for three months she was concealed in a building which had a secret switchboard and served to coordinate underground activities in southern Holland. During that time her chief was killed in the bombing of the Hague, and Mrs. Van Delden, though so weak from lack of food (she lived for six weeks on tulip bulbs) that she was unable to leave the building, kept up the flow of information and instructions until a new chief took over.

A native Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California, Mrs. Van Delden studied bacteriology in German universities before she was married in London in 1939. After the war started she, as an American citizen, was able to keep the American consul informed of underground resistance plans. When America entered the war, she had the chance of repatriation. But not until the current request for her aid in the relief for Holland movement, did she return to America.

There is one thing set firmly in her mind as she embarks on a speaking tour: The final message given to her by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. "I want you to promise me you won't ask for charity for us, but if you can, make it clear the Dutch would be most appreciative of an opportunity to help themselves."

Army Was Ready To Use Mighty Mortar

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Army had ready for the projected invasion of Japan a giant ordnance piece, a mobile 36-inch mortar firing a shell weighing nearly two tons.

This was announced in the annual report of Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of Army service forces.

The mortar, comparable in size with some of the huge pieces reported used by Russian forces in the European war, was completed, tested and ready for use against the "Japanese citadel," the report said.

Of the weapons actually used, Somervell said: "Together with the VT fuse, the recoil-less guns were the most startling developments of the war until the moment the atomic bomb exploded." The VT fuse bursts a shell when within the most damaging range of a target, acuated by ultra-high frequency radio waves.

The recoil-less gun was produced in 37 and 75 millimeter sizes. The conventional recoil mechanism weighing hundreds of pounds was eliminated, making it possible for two men to handle and fire the guns from a light tripod.

SUTTON OVERSUBSCRIBES

SONORA, Oct. 29. (AP) — Sutton county citizens today bundled up $227,293.75 and sent it to the Federal Reserve bank in Dallas to be counted among the first over-subscribed quotas in the eighth war loan starting Monday.

Clemence Dane, English novelist and playwright, was born Winfred Ashton and took her pseudonym from the famous church of St. Clements Dane in London.

Skipper Seeking To Aid Men With Pets

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — The plight of a dog who saved the life of his American doughboy master, and then was left shivering on a pier as the soldier returned to the United States, moved a Navy skipper today to try to aid other men overseas who are devoted to their pets.

The skipper was Capt. Logan C. Ramsey of the Aircraft Carrier Lake Champalin which arrived today from Southampton with some 3,700 servicemen.

The dog was a wire-haired terrier named Schnapps and his owner Sgt. Andrew L. Freese of Bangor, Me.

Freese, who had to leave Schnapps on Southampton, England pier, when he sailed aboard the carrier wrote the skipper how the dog had saved his life, and how devoted he had become to the animal.

He told how the dog, who learned to bark at German soldiers and civilians, detected a Nazi who had slipped past the guard and into an American camp near Heidelberg, Germany, with a club and a wire garrote.

Schnapps, wrote Freese, set off the alarm with growls and barks, then flushed the German, who was killed by a sentry.

As a result Capt. Ramsey suggested today to newsmen establishment of an organization to ship pets home.

REDS ERECTING MONUMENT

MOSCOW, Oct. 29. (AP) — The Red army newspaper Red Star said today that workers are laboring day and night to complete a big Red army monument near Brandenburg gate in Berlin, to be ready by Nov. 7, the twentieth anniversary of the Russian revolution.

Okinawa Bottleneck For Homebound GIs

OKINAWA, Oct. 29 (AP) — This typhoon-battered island where some of the bitterest fighting of the Pacific war raged has become the bottleneck for United States service men frantic to return home.

Already it has been labeled by some as "the island of despair."

As the war ended, Okinawa had become a huge staging base preparatory to invasion of Japan. The collapse of the Japanese left the island heavily populated with troops.

Then, on Oct. 9 and 10, a fierce typhoon swept in from the sea, flattening quonset huts, smashing shipping, ripping grounded airplanes. An already serious transportation problem trebled overnight.

Men there agree the typhoon not alone was the cause of their troubles, but it was obvious it greatly aggravated the entire situation. The food qestion became acute. Parachuted rations were only a temporary alleviation. Loss of mail was considered an especially hard blow by men anxious to hear from their wives and families.

Food transport still is the biggest problem facing harrassed authorities. At this base where hundreds of ships may be seen offshore, troops complain they are not getting enough to eat.

The men aboard the ships are not faring too well, either. They are subsisting mainly on monotonous diet rations.

DRAFT BOARD RESIGNS

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Oct. 29. (AP)—The draft board resigned today because, an announcement said, "we can not conscientiously induct more men into the armed forces while those who have been deferred during the entire war are allowed to strike."

PAC Pledges Fight Against Texas Solon

DALLAS, Oct. 29. (AP) — C. A. McPeak, field representative of the CIO's Political Action committee, said here today that the PAC would go into Rep. Ed Gossett's district next summer "to show the voters the record."

The congressman from Wichita Falls told a luncheon club here last Thursday that the PAC was the most dangerous pressure group in America.

"PAC has not been interested in Ed Gossett," McPeak said, "but when he came out of his own district and assailed the right of common citizens to express opinions we decided to look at his record.

"PAC will make certain that voters in his district know his record. Then the voters will decide."

STANDING UP TO A BIG JOB

Long distance is still handling a heavy volume of calls—servicemen calling home, businessmen arranging for peacetime needs, personal calls of every kind.

While 7 out of 10 calls go right through, others—principally those to more distant places—may experience delays.

A construction program costing millions of dollars is now under way to ease this situation and help all calls get through quickly. Meanwhile, until new circuits and equipment can be put into use, we'll do our best to complete your calls without delay.
