French patrol freed

■ Three French soldiers that may have blundered across the Iraqi border were captured and later freed.

Associated Press

France said Friday that Iraqi troops captured three French soldiers on a reconnaissance patrol along the Saudi-Iraqi border this week, but freed them later. Paris indicated the patrol may have blundered across the Iraqi border.

The three were turned over to the French Embassy in Baghdad, but Saddam Hussein's government still is holding thousands of Westerners trapped by its invasion of Kuwait on Aug. 2.

On Friday, Iraq called Western governments "inhumane" for urging hostage families to ignore its invitation for holiday reunions.

Diplomats in Baghdad said four American hostages will probably be freed this weekend.

President Bush announced plans to spend Thanksgiving with the GIs in Saudi Arabia, where more than 200,000 multinational troops — including about 13,000 French forces — are ranged against about 430,000 Iraqi troops in Kuwait and near the Saudi border.

A French Defense Ministry communique said the patrol incident occurred Monday near the Saudi-Iraqi border northwest of Hafar el Batin, a city in northeastern Saudi Arabia about 50 miles from the border.

Later, a ministry spokesman said disciplinary action was being taken against the men for their "act of carelessness," indicating the patrol was captured on Iraqi territory.

On the diplomatic front, Secretary of State James A. Baker III added meetings in Moscow next week on the Persian Gulf crisis with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev and Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze. He will meet Tuesday in Cairo, Egupt, with Chinese Foreign Minister Qichen Qian.

Baker leaves Saturday for a trip that includes other meetings with leaders of Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, the ousted Kuwaiti government, Egypt, Turkey, Britain and France.

The sessions reflect an expanding U.S. campaign to pressure Iraq to end its three-month occupation of Kuwait. The Soviet Union and China are permanent members of the U.N. Security Council and their support would be essential for additional U.N.-backed economic sanctions on Iraq, or military action.

Children slain

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Relatives and neighbors sat stunned on parked squad cars Friday outside the house where four children, age 2 to 5, were stabbed to death while huddled in a bedroom.

Henry Curtis Jackson, 26, crashed through a bedroom door at his mother's home Thursday night and stabbed to death four of his young nieces and nephews, police said.

Restroom trial

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman who said she was desperate when she went to the men's room at a country-western concert was found innocent Friday of a charge of illegally using the restroom.

Jurors deliberated 23 minutes before deciding that Denise Wells, 33, was innocent. She was charged with violating a city ordinance that prohibits people from using restrooms intended for members of the opposite sex in a manner calculated to cause a disturbance.

Two other young children and his sister, 23-year-old Regina Fay Jackson, were wounded before he fled in a car his mother had loaned him, authorities said.

'Howdy!'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Humorist Minnie Pearl will celebrate her 50th anniversary tonight on the Grand Ole Opry, sharing the spotlight with country music pioneer Roy Acuff.

Pearl

Pearl, 78, has requested that Acuff be on stage with her when her golden anniversary on the country music show is observed.

"I want to start it with the curtain going up and Roy Acuff singing 'The Wabash Cannonball,' " she said.

Pearl also asked to spend part of the show sitting center stage on a stool, reminiscing and joking with Acuff, 87, known as "the king of country music."

"I love doing that, because it gives us more time with the audience," she said.

Acuff is her longtime friend and the only regular Opry performer who started on the show before she did. He started in 1938.

The anniversary performance will be broadcast live on cable TV's The Nashville Network at 7 p.m. CST.

Phillips defends TV ads

By David Morris
Staff Writer

Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Phillips this week defended his use of "60 Minutes" film clips in two campaign television commercials.

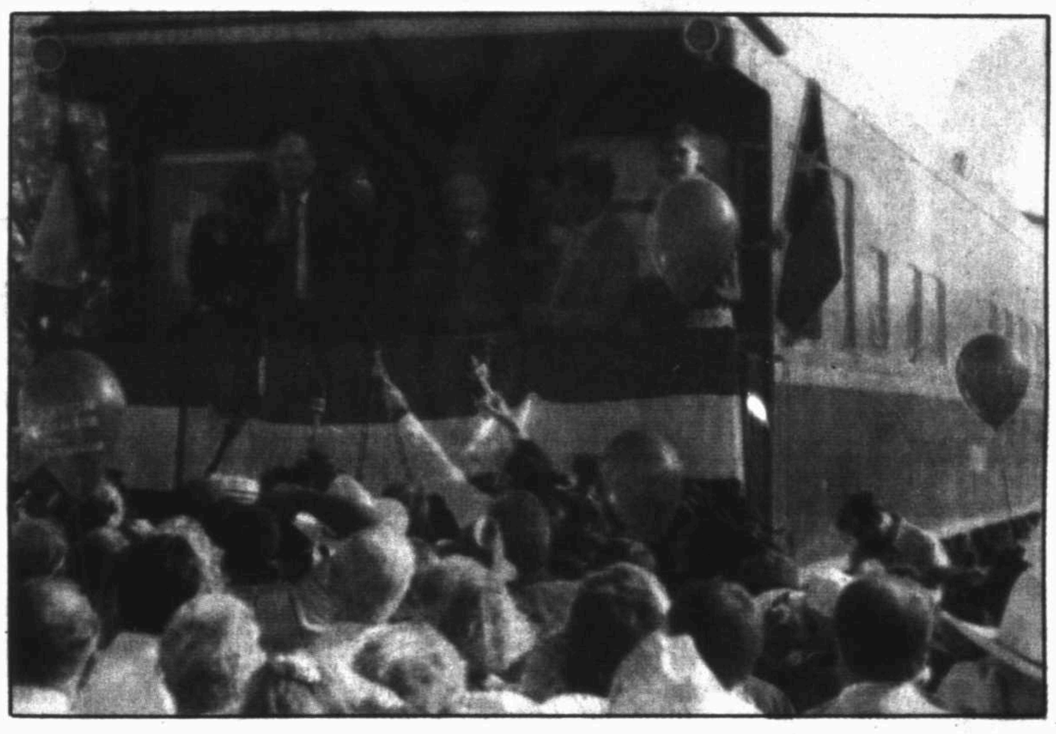

Phillips' opponent, Democrat Oscar Mauzy, recently launched a TV ad critical of Phillips' commercials. Mauzy's ad states that "60 Minutes," a CBS news program, "demanded" that Phillips take the commercials off the air.

The Mauzy ad says the Phillips commercials are untruthful and may have violated copyright laws. The ad also states that "60 Minutes" producers have described the ads as "unfair" to Mauzy.

Phillips, who was in Midland Thursday night for a private fund-raising dinner, said in a Thursday phone interview from Austin that Mauzy's ad is wrong.

"That was a fair use of that ('60 Minutes' footage) under the federal copyright law," Phillips said. "Those '60 Minutes' shows were on matters of

Williams says he didn't pay income taxes in 1986

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Millionaire Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams said Friday he didn't pay any income taxes in 1986 because of the poor economy.

Williams, who has refused repeated calls by his rival, Democrat Ann Richards, to release his income tax returns, made the remark in response to a reporter's question in College Station.

"Yes, I've paid lots of income tax, lots, lots," he said. "I'll tell you when I didn't pay any income tax was 1986, when our whole economy collapsed."

Bill Cryer, Richa..s' press secretary, said Williams' admission shows why the Republican candidate has refused for months to make public his income tax returns.

"Absolutely, it's no wonder he didn't want to release his income tax

Hutchison says endorsements give her lead in polls

By Erin Blair
Staff Writer

Kay Bailey Hutchison has appeared in Midland many times this campaign season, but the Republican's grueling cross-state campaigning may be paying off.

At a press conference here Friday, she said recent polls had placed her two points ahead of her opponent, Nikki Van Hightower, in the state treasurer's race.

Ms. Hutchison credited endorsements from 26 of the 28 Texas papers that have endorsed in the race, as well as endorsements from Midland Mayor Carroll Thomas and former Mayor Ernest Angelo, for her point gain.

"We're picking up great momentum in these last days," she said. "Midland and West Texas are important to me."

"The newspaper endorsements are significant because people look for guidance in the down ballot elections where neither candidate is known."

Ms. Hutchison said the main differences between herself and Ms. Van Hightower are their qualifications for the job and their stances on a state income tax.

The first Republican woman in the Texas House of Representatives, Ms. Hutchison was senior vice president and general counsel for a Dallas bank and has owned and managed a candy company.

Ms. Van Hightower is the treasurer for Harris County. Formerly she was the women's advocate for the city of Houston and helped establish the Houston Area Women's Center.

Ms. Hutchison said the fact that Texas Democrats, including San Saba County Judge Tom Bowden and Aus-

Andrews teen being held in connection with father's stabbing death

Staff Report

ANDREWS — A 15-year-old Andrews youth remained in custody Friday evening in connection with the stabbing death of his father, according to Andrews County Sheriff's Office officials.

The youngster's father, Ronald Wayne Hillis, 37, was found dead about 8 p.m. Thursday in the front yard of his residence just north of the Andrews city limits, officials said.

Hillis was found with multiple stab wounds to his head and body after the victim's wife summoned law enforcement officials and paramedics, officials said.

The victim was pronounced dead at the scene by Andrews Justice of the Peace Sandra Smylie.

Hillis' son, a sophmore at Andrews High School, was apprehended at the scene and was believed to be responsible for the death as a result of a domestic argument, officers said. The suspect was being held by juvenile authorities in Odessa.

The weapon apparently used in the killing, a knife, was recovered, officers said. The knife was sent to Dallas for forensic tests.

The victim's body was also sent to Dallas to undergo an autopsy as ordered by the justice of the peace.

Services for Hillis are pending at Singleton Funeral Home.

The investigation is being conducted by Andrews County Sheriff Wayne Faimer.

DEATHS

Lulubel Dobbs

Lulubel Dobbs, a former Midland resident, died Thursday in Nocona.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Ellis Chapel with the Rev. J.B. Stewart officiating. Interment will follow at Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

She was born Oct. 31, 1909 in Hereford. She was raised there and in Greenville. While in Greenville she attended Wesleyan College. She met Russell M. Dobbs in Wichita Falls. They were married June 7, 1936 in Kaufman.

The couple made its home in Wichita Falls where he was employed with Texas Electric. In 1956 the family was transferred to Midland. Dobbs died in November of 1971.

In 1976, Mrs. Dobbs moved to Temple and in 1978 to Dallas. She had lived in Nacona since 1987.

She had been a member of First United Methodist Church of Midland, the Women's Missionary Society of that church and the Midland Study Club. She also had been a member of the 20th Century Study Club in Wichita Falls.

Survivors include a son, Russell Lloyd Dobbs of Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Ben (Elizabeth) Thomason III of Burke, Va.; two brothers, Oliver C. Thomas of Lubbock and Hughes Thomas of Austin; two sisters, Evelyn Maschek of Hobbs, N.M., and Agnes Fulton of El Paso; two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Vance Price

Services for Vance Price, 29, will be held at 10 a.m. today at the Turkey, Texas, Church of Christ, with the Rev. Steve McLain and the Rev. Stewart Smith officiating. Burial will follow in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home of Turkey.

He died Thursday in Turkey.

Price was born May 19, 1961 and graduated from Valley High School in 1979. He married his wife, Lisa, on July 30, 1983. Price was a farmer and rancher and a member of the Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife, Lisa Price of Turkey; his parents, Hubert and Delores Price of Turkey; his brother, Stacy Price of Turkey; his sisters, Sherice Price of Austin and Lacy Shannon of Turkey; and his grandmother, Velma Lacy of Turkey.

Norine Bradford

Norine A. Bradford of Midland died Thursday at her residence.

A vigil prayer service will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Ellis Chapel. The funeral Mass will be held at 3 p.m. Monday at St. Ann's Catholic Church with Father Nawarskas officiating. Graveside services will be held at Fort Bliss National Cemetery in El Paso Wednesday at 2 p.m. Services are under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

James Hooper

James Hooper, 55, of Midland died in a local hospital Thursday night after a short illness.

Services are pending at Thomas Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Anita.

Eloise Wood

Mrs. J.D. "Eloise" Wood died Friday at a local hospital.

Services are set for Monday at 1 p.m. in Ellis North Chapel on Loop 250. Burial will follow at Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Gordon Cooper

Gordon Cooper, 71, of Midland died Friday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. today at Fairview Cemetery with Rev. Bob Porterfield officiating. Services are under the direction of Thomas Funeral Home.

Cooper was born March 1, 1919 in Eastland and had lived in Midland since 1955. He was a World War II veteran.

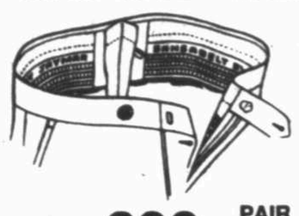

Survivors include his wife, Martha, and a cousin, Cooper Kilborn of Midland.

James Posteal

James Posteal, 44, died in a local hospital Thursday night.

Services are pending at Thomas Funeral Home.

Midlander wins $5,000 in bank sweepstakes

By David Morris
Staff Writer

"An answer to prayer."

That's how Kelly Fuller, whose 10-year-old son Franklin suffers from leukemia, sees the $5,000 she won this week in TeamBank's "Go For the Green" sweepstakes.

Mrs. Fuller, 30, said the windfall will go toward paying off Franklin's medical bills, which have been considerable.

"It's an opportunity now to catch everything up and breathe a little bit easier," said Mrs. Fuller, a homemaker who lives in Greenwood with her husband, James.

Fuller, an Energas employee, said Franklin will complete his chemotherapy treatments by the end of November.

"He's in remission, doing really well," Fuller said, adding that he never dreamed his wife would win the TeamBank sweepstakes.

"It's something you always hear about happening to somebody else and never think about happening to you," he said.

His wife said she entered the sweepstakes "five or six times" since September. Bank officials called her on Wednesday to tell her she'd won the statewide drawing.

"I was just speechless," she said. "I couldn't believe it. Then after the shock wore off, I thought, 'It's Halloween, maybe this is a trick or treat."

It was no trick.

TeamBank President Joe Andrews said the bank, as part of a 12-week promotion, has been giving away weekly $5,000 prizes since September.

Pat Ham, TeamBank financial services specialist, said bank employees were glad to see the money go to someone who seemed to need it.

"Everybody's really excited about it," she said.

Mrs. Fuller's prize was the first awarded in Midland. TeamBank has about 50 branches statewide and will give away $75,000 by the end of the sweepstakes in November, Andrews said.

Winners of the $5,000 prizes will be eligible for a $15,000 drawing later this month, Andrews said.

Mrs. Fuller received the $5,000 during a Friday ceremony at the TeamBank building on West Wall Avenue.

WEATHER SUMMARY

Weather to be colder

Staff Report

Today's forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies, with a high in the upper 60s, winds from the south to southwest at 10 to 20 mph and gusty, and a 40 percent chance of thunderstorms, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

Tonight will be cloudy turning colder with a low in the upper 30s and a 50 percent chance of rain and possible thunderstorms.

Sunday is expected to be mostly cloudy and cool with a high in the upper 50s and a 30 percent chance of rain.

Friday's high was 76 compared with the record high for that date of 85 in 1946. The overnight low was 59. The record low for that date was 27 set in 1989.

STATE

Clouds covered much of Texas on Friday while a cold front moved into the state, bringing cooler temperatures and scattered storms.

The front crept Friday evening into the Texas Panhandle, bringing northerly winds and increasing chances of rain statewide.

Except for a few scattered showers over the south plains and southeastern Panhandle, skies were mostly cloudy Friday over West Texas. Afternoon temperatures ranged from 77 degrees in San Angelo to 70 in Marfa and Guadalupe Pass.

NATION

A foot of snow fell Friday in parts of Wyoming, Utah and Colorado. The Great Lakes region basked in summer-like conditions.

A cold front advanced across the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley overnight. Afternoon temperatures dipped 25 to 35 degrees in parts of Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska, dropping into the teens and 20s.

In contrast, temperatures were in the 60s and 70s from the Great Lakes through southern New England south through the Ohio, Mississippi and Tennessee valleys, the mid-Atlantic states and the southern Plains. Some areas in the Gulf Coast region were in the 80s.

The Associated Press also contributed to this report.

Young children stabbed to death

Associated Press

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Relatives and neighbors sat stunned on parked squad cars Friday outside the house where four children, age 2 to 5, were stabbed to death while huddled in a bedroom.

Deputies and Mississippi Highway Patrol officers used tracking dogs and a helicopter to search woods north of Eupora, about 65 miles away, for Henry Curtis Jackson Jr., the son of Martha Jackson.

Curtis Jackson, 26, crashed through a bedroom door at his mother's home Thursday night and stabbed to death four of his young nieces and nephews, police said.

Two other young children and his sister, 23-year-old Regina Fay Jackson, were wounded before he fled in a car his mother had loaned him, authorities said.

Leflore County Coroner James Hankins said he found the victims on the floor and "all had been stabbed in the neck with a sharp instrument."

"He just clicked and started stabbing," said Angelo Jeems, 24, a cousin of the Jackson family who lives across the street from the red-brick house. She said Curtis Jackson lived with his grandmother in West Point.

Webster County Sheriff Bill Middleton said Curtis Jackson was wanted on four counts of murder and three counts of attempted murder.

"We're still out there searching and we're getting a lot of help," Middleton said Friday. "There's been no sighting and the additional help we're getting is helping us spread out a bit."

Neighbors in the Rising Sun subdivision just south of Greenwood said the stabbings occurred after Jackson's sister refused to provide her brother with money for drugs.

"He came in there and asked Regina (Jackson) for some money. Regina said she didn't have any money and he went to slashing," said Anthony Mallett, a 16-year-old who lives two doors down from the Jackson home.

"He was on drugs," said Yolanda Mallett, Anthony's 13-year-old niece. "He wanted the money to buy some drugs — rocks (crack cocaine)."

Regina Jackson was in the hospital's intensive care unit in stable condition with multiple stab wounds, said Tricia Chick, spokeswoman at Greenwood Leflore Hospital. Sarah D. Jackson, 11, was listed in serious but stable condition with stab wounds, Chick said.

Andrea Alice Jackson, 1, was first treated at the hospital then transferred to the University Medical Center in Jackson, Chick said. The child operated on Friday, said Barbara Austin, a spokeswoman at the Medical Center.

Hankins identified the victims as Andrew Jackson, 2, Antonio Jackson, 3, and sisters Shumetricia Jackson, 2, and Dominique Jackson, 5. Authorities said Curtis Jackson was the uncle of all the children. Four of the children belonged to his sister Glenda Jackson of Louisiana. The children lived with their grandmother.

WILLIAMS: '86 taxes not paid because of economy

(From 1A)

(returns)," Cryer said, adding that the Richards campaign thinks Williams now needs to make all his recent returns public as the Democrat did months ago.

"It is an absolute necessity now that we know whether or not this man — who is one of the richest men in the United States — paid any income taxes like the rest of us," Cryer said.

"In 1986, I can understand he was going through some hard times. But everybody in Texas was. And we all paid our taxes then."

He said that Richards' 1986 return showed she paid $47,343 in income taxes on earnings of $154,000. That included her $68,000 state salary, capital gains, $14,000 in interest income and a divorce settlement.

Richards, speaking later at a Democratic rally at a Houston union hall, said, "I paid my taxes in 1986, how about you?

"I think the point has clearly been proved that our opponent in this campaign does not represent, nor can he understand what it is like to be among, the working people of this state ... He cannot understand what life is like for you and me," she said.

Williams' admission came during an old-fashioned whistle-stop train trip from San Antonio to Houston, during which he pledged to boost the state's economy, veto any income tax and fight a war on drugs.

Richards, campaigning with Missouri Congressman Richard Gephardt in East Texas, accused Republicans of trying to intimidate black voters and denounced the GOP as cynical.

Two new opinion polls, meanwhile, showed the race continuing to tighten as election day nears.

A Mason-Dixon poll conducted for various media outlets showed Williams at 45 percent support and Richards at 43 percent; a Texas Poll showed the race 42-35 for Williams.

Williams made seven stops in his railroad tour from San Antonio to Houston. "Thanks for comin' out today," he shouted to a cheering crowd in Luling.

"Luling, Texas, a little bit of the oil patch. I come from the oil patch. When oil was $40 a barrel and Texas was booming I was six-feet-four," Williams said, gesturing well above his head. "But now, I'm all that's left."

Williams began each stop introducing several members of his family who traveled with him, then gave about a 15-minute speech. He would then step off the train, shake hands, kiss babies and ask for votes.

LOCAL/AREA REPORTS

Gunshot wound

Staff Reports

ODESSA — A 32-year-old Odessa man remained in stable condition at Medical Center Hospital Friday evening suffering from a self-inflicted wound to his chest after barricading himself in his apartment and firing off several rounds from a handgun, Odessa police said.

Police went to the Pebblebend Apartments, 4315 Esmond Drive, about 3 p.m. in response to shots fired.

The man, whose name has not been released, was not attempting to shoot anyone when he fired four or five rounds from a .38-caliber handgun in his apartment, police said.

According to police, the gun used in the incident was recovered.

No charges were espected to be filed Friday evening, police said.

Alleged assault

Police are investigating an alleged aggravated sexual assault of an 18-month-old girl that was reported early Friday morning, officials reported.

According to reports, the 22-year-old mother of the child came home from work and when she changed her baby's diaper noticed blood in the diaper.

The woman took the child to Midland Memorial Hospital and police were notified about 1:14 a.m.

The incident allegedly occurred in the northeast section of Midland.

Police have made no arrests in the case.

Arrest warrant

A 23-year-old Midland woman was arrested Friday on a warrant for criminally negligent homicide, police and jail officials reported.

Norma Zubia Juarez was released from jail the same day on a $2,500 bond.

Ms. Juarez reportedly was involved in a car accident Oct. 28, when she was allegedly driving west in the eastbound lanes of Interstate 20 near the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum.

Odessan Mike Lee Henry, 39, died as a result of the head-on collision.

ADS: Phillips defends use of '60 Minutes' film clips

(From 1A)

public concern: The image of the Supreme Court in the mid-1980s."

Phillips describes that image as one tainted by the influence of big-money campaign contributors. He said Mauzy, as a member of the court, was the "target" of a "60 Minutes" segment which aired in December 1987.

It was from that show that Phillips took the footage for his ads, which began running Oct. 10 in Midland and concluded Oct. 31.

Phillips said he did not pull the ads because of pressure from "60 Minutes." He acknowledged that the show's lawyers wrote a letter requesting that the ads be taken off the air for copyright reasons.

Mauzy, reached at his Austin campaign headquarters, said "60 Minutes" interviewed him about the issue of appointment versus election of judges in Texas.

"I went voluntarily, I wasn't the target of anything," he said. He added that "60 Minutes" producers have said he should be "complimented" for agreeing to be interviewed.

Despite Mauzy's claims to the contrary, Phillips said, the "60 Minutes" segment in question was critical of Mauzy's behavior on the Supreme Court.

"60 Minutes" producers were not available for comment Friday afternoon.

Phillips was elected to the Supreme Court in 1988 from the 280th State District Court in Houston. A 1974 Harvard Law School graduate, he claims wide bipartisan support in Texas.

Polls released by the Phillips campaign this week show him far ahead of Mauzy among lawyers, 75 percent of whom voiced support for Phillips. Only 20 percent supported Mauzy, and the rest were undecided.

Some 63 percent of state judges polled, meanwhile, supported Phillips, compared with 22 percent for Mauzy.

Mauzy dismissed the poll results.

"That's the oldest trick in the world, to do a phony poll, then trot it out and claim it's representative," he said, pointing out that members of minority bar associations were not questioned in the poll.

Besides, Mauzy said, "I'm not running to be the chief justice of just the judges or just the lawyers...I'm running to be the chief justice of the people of Texas."

Mauzy, who has been practicing law for 35 years, was a Texas State Senator representing Dallas and Tarrant counties from 1967 to 1987. He has served as a justice on the nine-member Supreme Court since 1987.

POLLS: Hutchinson says endorsements helped in consultant Armando Gutierrez, both state treasurer Democrat primary runners-up, have endorsed her proves Ms. Van Hightower's lack of qualifications.

(From 1A)

She said her Democratic opponent favors considering a state income tax.

"She thinks a state income tax is fair, but it's not. A state income tax hurts the working people and those on fixed income and it hurts economic development," Ms. Hutchison said.

Although the Legislature, not the treasurer, would be responsible for implementing a state income tax, Ms. Hutchison said she would oppose the tax.

Since the Legislature will show a $2 billion surplus at the end of the biennium, Ms. Hutchison said a well-planned package of budget cuts and increases could be crafted without the need for a tax increase of any sort in 1991.

She would also like to see the state bond debt coordinated and consolidated. Although Texas is required by its constitution to balance its $180 billion budget, Ms. Hutchison said the state had a debt of $3 billion in bond issues.

"We don't ask if we should spend the state credit on a project," she said. She advocates a "truth in advertising" clause to let voters know that they're voting to increase debt when they approve a bond.

Ms. Hutchison said she is trying to stick to the issues in the campaign, but would be releasing a television ad answering her opponent's charges.

"She is running a shoddy campaign," she said of Ms. Van Hightower's ads alleging Ms. Hutchison's misconduct while she was a bank officer.

"Her negative ads indicate the type of person she is," she said. "There is no impropriety. The bank president says I had nothing to do with those loans."

Joe Gorton, Ms. Van Hightower's campaign manager, said his candidate was "sick and tired of the negative campaign" and had made no allegations.

He questioned what poll Ms. Hutchison used to say she was ahead by two points.

"The Mason Dixon Poll released Thursday shows she's three points behind," he said.

Gorton also contested Ms. Hutchison's assertion that Ms. Van Hightower supports a state income tax.

"That's absolute garbage," he said. "Nikki opposes it and Kay knows it. Kay spews forth misleading information and no one knows about it."

"A lot of this race and others this year comes down to funding. The question is, is this office for sale to the highest bidder?"

Gorton said Ms. Hutchison has spent $1.2 million on her campaign so far, compared with $600,000 spent by Van Hightower.

GULF: Bush planning to visit American troops

(From 1A)

ing visit to Saudi Arabia to rally the troops and also will stop in Egypt.

While campaigning Friday for Ohio Republican candidates, Bush promised to drive Saddam from Kuwait, while holding out hope the United States could bring its troops home "without a shot being fired."

Bush said, "Saddam Hussein must get out, and he must get out totally, and the legitimate rulers must be returned."

It was the fourth straight day Bush had castigated the Iraqi leader.

Saddam has refused to let many foreigners leave Iraq and Kuwait, trying to deter an attack.

State Department spokeswoman Margaret Tutwiler said Friday that with the onset of cooler weather in the gulf, U.S. officials have been trying unsuccessfully for Iraqi cooperation in supplying clothing and blankets to American hostages.

Iraq has said relatives of the hostages could visit them over the holidays, but Western governments have responded skeptically and advised citizens not to travel to Iraq.

The Iraqi Foreign Ministry on Friday criticized that reaction, saying the United States and Britain "have no respect for human values." Information Minister Latif Jassim said these governments "are totally inhumane."

The British Foreign Office asked relatives not to go, but 10 wives of British hostages said they will fly to Iraq next week to seek their husbands' freedom. Other relatives welcomed Iraq's offer to let them visit at Christmas.

In announcing plans to free four sick Americans, Jassim denied the captives were being treated badly.

A U.S. official in Baghdad on Friday identified the four to be freed as Randall Trinh, 49, of Hacienda Heights, Calif.; Dr. Abdul Kangi, 50, of Glencoe, Ill., a Chicago suburb; Raymond Gales, a diplomat stationed in Kuwait and now in Baghdad; and Michael Barnes.

Trinh, a Vietnamese-American, is suffering from an acute ulcer and Gales had unspecified medical problems, the official said on condition of anonymity.

No details were given on Barnes and it was not known whether Kangi, an Indian-American, was sick.

Thousands of foreigners, including about 1,000 Americans, remain in Iraq and Kuwait. Iraq has selectively freed hundreds of them. The latest mass release was of about 300 French nationals this week.

Wells innocent, 'relieved'

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman who said she was desperate when she went to the men's room at a country-western concert was found innocent Friday of a charge of illegally using the restroom.

Jurors deliberated 23 minutes before deciding that Denise Wells, 33, was innocent. She was charged with violating a city ordinance that prohibits people from using restrooms intended for members of the opposite sex in a manner calculated to cause a disturbance.

Ms. Wells faced a maximum $200 fine if convicted of the misdemeanor.

Ms. Wells, 33, and her lawyer and sister, Valorie Wells Davenport, laughed and hugged each other when the verdict was read Friday evening.

"I'm relieved. I'm elated," Ms. Wells said. "The jurors told me, 'You had us all the way.'"

Testimony in the trial, which began Thursday, ended Friday afternoon.

Some of the jurors said that they had asked if they could comment on the validity of the law in their verdict, but the judge refused.

Juror Cindy Stephens said the jury wanted to say "that the statute is very important and is not to be made light of."

"It was important we all understand that there are cases where the ordinance could have been broken, but there was no proof or evidence that she entered in a manager calculated to cause a disturbance," added jury forewoman Frieda Felton.

Ms. Wells testified that she saw the line outside the women's room at the July 7 concert by George Strait was so long, "I felt I was in a situation where I had to be in a restroom. I took the only option I felt was available."

The legal secretary said she covered her eyes and apologized to men already in the restroom at The Summit. A loud remark she made about leaving the toilet seat up was "more of a nervous reaction than a cocky remark," she said.

AP Laserphoto

Denise Wells, left, and her attorney sister, Valorie Wells Davenport, embrace after a Houston jury found her innocent Friday of illegally using the men's restroom at The Summit.

Ms. Wells was arrested and removed from the concert, for which she paid $125 to attend.

"I was devastated. I felt I was being harassed for doing something I felt I had no choice but to do. I entered the men's room to go to the bathroom and that's all," she testified.

Earlier Friday, police officer Steven Andrews said he was not offended by Ms. Wells' presence in the men's room.

"It didn't bother me one way or the other," said Andrews, a vice officer for nearly two decades who was involved in Ms. Wells' arrest.

Ms. Wells' lawyer and sister, Valorie Wells Davenport, said the state failed to prove she had no permission to enter the men's room and that she entered with the intent to "raise a ruckus."

Assistant City Attorney Karl Rosette said he didn't think he needed the Summit management to testify whether Ms. Wells had permission.

Ms. Davenport asked Municipal Court Judge Francelia Totty to declare Ms. Wells innocent, but said she wanted her sister to rebut some of the testimony offered by police.

Two police officers have testified Ms. Wells left the stall in the men's room and announced: "There — I left the lid up just like y'all like it."

The defense's case focused on the lack of adequate facilities for women at such public places as the Summit.

The case has made Ms. Wells a celebrity of sorts. Her bathroom trip has been the subject of national news coverage and she has made appearances on the talk shows of Johnny Carson, Geraldo Rivera and Joan Rivers.

On Thursday, Officer Daniel B. Ramsey said he was working as a security guard at the Summit when he answered two men's complaints that women were in the men's room.

Ramsey testified he removed three women from the men's room. When he returned, he saw Ms. Wells coming out of a stall.

But unlike Andrews, Ramsey, a vice officer for 18 years, said he was offended by the women's presence in the men's restroom.

Texas cattle rustling flourishes

HOUSTON (AP) — Cattle rustling, still thriving in Texas, cost ranchers more than $3 million in losses last year, according to the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Don King, the association's general manager, said that during 1989 more than 4,000 head of cattle, 56 horses, 216 saddles and 23 trailers were filed as missing in Texas and Oklahoma.

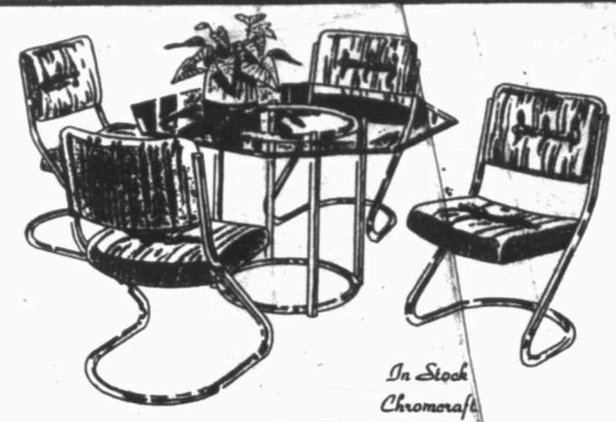

The missing property is worth more than $3 million, he said. Although some of the missing livestock have strayed, King said most of it has been stolen.

"Sometimes you get an organized group running and they really eat your lunch until you get them caught," Davis said.

Davis said it's important that ranchers take steps such as branding to protect their livestock. Brands are checked when cattle are taken to market.

They also should vary their schedule of checking on their livestock, he said. Rustlers often familiarize themselves with a rancher's schedule and take the livestock when they know no one will find out about it.

STATE IN BRIEF

Geter settles for $50,000

GREENVILLE (AP) — A $28 million civil rights lawsuit filed against the city of Greenville by Lenell Geter, an engineer who was wrongly convicted of armed robbery eight years ago, is to be settled for $50,000.

After meeting for two hours in executive session, the Greenville City Council voted unanimously Friday to settle the case, which has haunted the East Texas town for eight years.

"The city contends that its actions never violated the rights of Geter and the other plaintiffs," said Dianne Callander, city attorney. "But this situation ... has created, to my understanding, a schism in the community."

Geter, who is black, was sentenced to life in prison in 1982 for the armed robbery of a Balch Springs Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant, even though his coworkers at E-Systems, a defense contractor, testified he was at work that day.

An all-white Dallas County jury convicted Geter and he served 18 months before he was exonerated.

Voter turnout forecast

AUSTIN (AP) — About half of Texas' 7.7 million registered voters will cast ballots in Tuesday's election, the state's chief elections officer predicted Friday.

Secretary of State George Bayoud forecast that the turnout would hit 3.85 million voters as Texans choose a U.S. senator, governor, 27 congressmen, and hundreds of other statewide, legislative and local officeholders.

"I'm hopeful that this year's turnout rate will eclipse the 50 percent mark. If it does, it will mark the first time since 1970 that more than half the state's registered voters turned out for a gubernatorial general election, he said.

Bayoud said he based his projection on estimates from the state's 254 counties, turnouts in past gubernatorial elections and the number of Texans who already have ballots under the "no excuses" absentee voting law.

Absentee voting ended Friday, and officials said that as many as 20 percent of the registered voters will have cast ballots before election day.

Industry faces fines

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Federal investigators spread out across southern New Mexico and El Paso this week for another crackdown on the chili industry and found many violations that could yield thousands of dollars in fines.

The violations of laws that protect farm workers participating in the chili harvest ranged from transportation violations to substandard housing.

A team of 15 U.S. Department of Labor investigators found 142 violations of the Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Protection Act, the agency said Friday in a news release.

The act, which became law in 1983, requires agricultural employers, agricultural associations and farm labor contractors to comply with federal labor standards.

Labor officials expect to collect about $48,500 in fines from the violations, the agency said.

Luis Diaz, assistant area director for the Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division in New Orleans, said Friday the violations that were found proved there was a need for enforcement.

Chili is New Mexico's leading cash food crop and has gone from a backyard garden vegetable to a $42 million industry in the past 25 years.

But this year's chili season has been marked by workers' strikes and demonstrations to protest conditions.

Radio pioneer dies

MULESHOE (AP) — West Texas broadcaster Gil Lamb, whose news program titled "Muletrain News" aired on different radio and television stations over 36 years, died Friday of complications from emphysema. He was 83.

Lamb's first job in radio was with KICA-AM in Clovis, N.M., in 1954. He worked from his home in Muleshoe, where he transmitted news reports and pioneered "Muletrain News."

Lamb started KMUL-AM on July 26, 1956, and served as its general manager until retiring in 1980. He won an Associated Press broadcasting award in the late 1950s for his coverage of a West Texas snowstorm.

Killer bees top agenda

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Africanized honey bees were the unavoidable dominant theme Friday at the Texas Beekeepers Association's annual convention.

The first known swarm of killer bees to reach the United States was discovered in South Texas last month.

Beekeepers said they had resigned themselves to the fact that more bees will infest at least the southern tip of Texas. Many beekeepers attended the convention to learn how to live with the ill-tempered Africanized bees, said Glenn Mace, president of the association.

"It's not a scare so much any more," said Mace, who operates a pollination service from Edinburg. "It's going to happen. They want to know what to do about it."

Killer bees earned their nickname because of their habit of attacking intruders in swarms and chasing their prey for long distances.

No new swarms of Africanized bees have been found in Texas since the swarm of about 3,000 bees showed up in a U.S. Department of Agriculture trap Oct. 15 near the border city of Hidalgo.

Mattox married quietly

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox and former television journalist Marta Karpan were married last week, it was announced Friday.

Mattox, 47, and Ms. Karpan, 35, were married Oct. 25 at a private, family ceremony performed by Texas Supreme Court Justice C.L. Ray at Mattox's home.

Ms. Karpan is a former journalist for KHOU-TV, Channel 11, in Houston. She was born in Waterloo, Iowa, and is a 1977 graduate of Hollins College in Roanoke, Va.

It was the first marriage for both.

Mattox said he delayed announcement of the marriage until he completed campaign appearances for Democratic gubernatorial nominee Ann Richards.

Richards defeated Mattox in a runoff last spring.

Mattox has not said what he will do when he leaves office in January. The couple has not determined where they will live.

TRRC to appeal allowable order

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission voted Friday to appeal a judge's order that allows oil to be produced in the East Texas Field at 100 percent of potential.

The 2-0 vote was taken after the railroad commissioners met privately with Assistant Attorney General Diane Morris, according to commission spokesman Brian Schaible.

Commissioners John Sharp and James Nugent voted to appeal, and Commission Chairman Kent Hance did not vote, Schaible said.

The commission, which regulates oil and gas production, had been asked to increase Texas oil production after Iraq invaded Kuwait in August.

It agreed to allow the production of approximately 20,000 more barrels of oil per day but refused to boost the East Texas field's output, with commissioners saying they feared higher production might deplete the field's oil reserves too quickly.

Production in the field, which is located in Upshur, Gregg and Rusk counties, has been at 86 percent for years.

On Oct. 19, state District Judge Will Wilson Jr., of Austin, issued a temporary injunction at the request of Oxy USA Inc. The order prevents the commission from setting a production for the East Texas Field at less than 100 percent.

Wilson also set a trial date of Dec. 14 on Oxy's lawsuit seeking higher production.

Death toll rises as religious dispute spreads

WORLD

AYODHYA, India (AP) — Police killed at least 12 Hindus attempting to storm a disputed Moslem mosque Friday, and more than 40 others died in violence as the religious dispute spread across India to neighboring Moslem countries.

Ten consecutive days of clashes between majority Hindus and minority Moslems have left nearly 280 dead in India and at least three dead in predominately Islamic Bangladesh.

The unrest could also weaken Prime Minister V.P. Singh's chances of surviving a Nov. 7 confidence vote. Singh lost his majority in Parliament after Hindus withdrew from the 11-month-old coalition to protest government handling of the mosque dispute.

Fundamentalist Hindus seek to destroy the hilltop Babri Mosque and build a a Hindu temple on the site in Ayodhya, 300 miles southeast of New Delhi.

Hindus say the 460-year-old mosque was built on the foundation of an early temple marking the birthplace of Rama, the much-worshiped warrior god. Moslems dispute the history and say relinquishing the mosque would jeopardize hundreds of other Moslem sites.

Police have fired twice this week on Hindus attempting to overrun the mosque. On Friday, a top district official said witnesses' estimate of 12 dead was "nearer to the truth" than reporters' tally of 10. The official spoke on condition of anonymity.

Doctors at a hospital in the nearby town of Faizabad said they treated 64 injured people, including 48 wounded by gunfire. Several policemen were also treated, they said.

Reporters saw three buses and several jeeps torched by the mob. Some homes were also burned.

At least 25 deaths were reported in related riots across the Uttar Pradesh state, where the mosque is located, the Press Trust of India news agency reported.

Thirteen more died Friday in the western state of Gujarat, the news agency said. Other deaths were reported from Karnataka, Bihar, Rajasthan and Andhra Pradesh states.

At least 279 people have died in India in recent violence linked to the dispute, police and news agencies report. Last year, about 900 people were killed when a Hindu group first announced its intention to take over the site by force.

Most of those killed near the mosque recently were Hindus, but authorities refuse to identify the faith of other victims out of fear of exacerbating tensions.

In Bangladesh, which has a Hindu minority, two people died Friday of bullet wounds suffered during anti-Hindu protest earlier this week in the capital of Dhaka.

At least three people have been killed and 350 wounded in three days of rioting in Dhaka and in 12 other cities. Two of those killed were Moslems, and the religion of the third victim was not immediately known.

In Pakistan, India's predominately Islamic western neighbor, several demonstrations were held to protest the violence and some Islamic leaders called for larger pro-Moslem rallies.

Pakistan's caretaker prime minister, Ghulam Mustafa Jatoi, said the Indian government was half-heartedly protecting Moslem shrines.

"It was the moral duty of the Indian government to protect the places of worship of Moslems," Jatoi said in a statement published in the Pakistan Times. "India, which pleads herself the champion of secularism, has failed to give protection to holy places of Moslems."

Some newspapers and political commentators have called the Ayodhya dispute the greatest threat to the country's secularism since India gained independence in 1947.

India's 880 million people are 82 percent Hindu and 12 percent Moslem. The others include Sikhs, Christians and Buddhists. India's constitution pledges tolerance of all religions and secularism.

Moldavian troops fight separatists

KISHINEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Ethnic tension exploded into violence in eastern Moldavia on Friday when Moldavian troops clashed with Russians and Ukrainians. At least three people were killed and nine wounded, officials said.

Russian and Ukrainian separatists seized a government building in the city of Dubossary, set up road blocks and announced elections for an independent parliament, according to legislators in the Moldavian republic's capital, Kishinev.

The republic's parliament announced formation of a new national guard to try to re-establish order in the area east of the Dniester River, where the separatists already had declared their own republic.

At about 5 p.m. Friday, troops from the Moldavian Interior Ministry opened fire after the separatists threw stones and other objects from behind a barricade on a bridge in Dubossary, said Moldavian Interior official Lt. Col. Yevgeny V. Zaporozov.

Zaporozov said he was told by hospital official that three people were killed and nine wounded by gunfire.

The official news agency Tass reported earlier that six people were killed in fighting between Dubossary and the village of Lunga. It gave no other details and the discrepancy could not immediately be clarified.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Iraq allows hostages to be interviewed

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq on Friday permitted interviews with several American, British and Japanese hostages, who said they eagerly want to go home and denied reports they were being mistreated.

The Iraqi Ministry of Information took a group of Baghdad-based reporters to different strategic sites to discount recent reports that foreign hostages are maltreated.

"I love freedom. When I get out of this and go home, I'll go to the beaches and have a nice swim," said a man who identified himself as Clem J. Hall, an educator from Takoma Park, Md.

Hall said he was in Kuwait until Sept. 19 and was moved to a Baghdad hotel before he and others were taken to vital economic and military installations in Iraq.

He and nine other foreigners at a site about 60 miles north of Baghdad said they received adequate food and denied any mistreatment by their unarmed guards.

Officials insisted the exact location or the name of the site should not be mentioned.

Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, prompting a U.S.-dominated military buildup in Saudi Arabia. Iraqi officials responded to the buildup by refusing to allow Westerners to leave the country.

They later allowed women and children to leave, but took some 600 Western and Japanese men to strategic sites as "guests" to try to prevent an attack on Iraq.

In recent days, there has been an escalation of claims in the West that the foreigners were being mistreated. Iraqi officials have denied the claims and said that all the foreigners were given adequate food and medical treatment.

Information Minister Latif Jassim said President Bush was using claims of mistreatment as a pretext for an attack on Iraq.

The visits on Friday were meant to demonstrate that the hostages are well treated.

All 10 foreigners seen said they had been given good treatement. But they disputed the wisdom of Iraq holding them to deter war, saying that neither Bush nor British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher would be deterred.

Briton Frank Graham said Mrs. Thatcher would fight a war despite the fact that hundreds of British citizens were taken hostage into a number of strategic sites in Iraq.

"If she wants to bomb, she will bomb, whether we are here or not," said Graham, 49, who was working as an engineer for more than four years for the Kuwaiti Minsitry of Electricity and Water.

The foreign hostages said they received messages from their families over the BBC and the Voice of America radio.

Iraqi officials at the site said that they arranged for the hostages to send and receive letters from their families, and accused authorities in Britain and the United States of blocking the mail.

The Japanese hostages said they receive food and medical supplies from their embassy in Baghdad and expressed hope that former Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone might be able to release some of them when he visits Baghdad over the weekend.

Sercho Saisso, regional manager of Japanese Airways, said he was arrested in Kuwait and moved to Baghdad with about 200 other Japanese who have been relocated at different strategic sites.

Saisso said his embassy sends Japanese food for fellow nationals being held.

Holiday mail should be sent early

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Families and friends of soldiers in the Persian Gulf must start their holiday countdown early if they want to be sure that cards and gifts reach the servicemen and women by Thanksgiving and Christmas, said the founder of the Desert Shield Pen Pal Network.

"These packages are important to our soldiers," said Al Rhode, a U.S. combat marine veteran. "You cannot imagine what a morale booster they are."

Rhode, the network's "Postmaster General" said in a release Thursday the Postal Service will be coping with tons of holiday mail in a few weeks Consequently, he's set a Nov. 16 deadline for packages and Nov. 26 for letters.

He said his Desert Shield Yuletide "Remember Me" Mail Lift will add tons of additional mail over the holidays. The operation is already averaging 100,000 pieces of mail daily.

Rhode said in addition to even more letters, the best package items to send the troops include: nuts, hard candy, gum, popcorn, pretzels, powdered drinks and beef jerky for food needs; holiday decorations for mess halls and tents, AA and AAA batteries, board games, playing cards, frisbees, baseballs, footballs (deflated with the needles for inflating), and video tapes of home and motion pictures are good gifts.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Saddam always to be at center of power, expert says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three months after seizing Kuwait, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein has what he always has wanted — a place "at the very center of power, commanding world events, with the entire world's attention focused on him," according to an expert on Saddam's behavior.

Those who hope that Saddam will retreat meekly from Kuwait in the face of moralistic pronouncements from abroad won't find much comfort in the analysis of Dr. Jerrold M. Post, a George Washington University expert on political psychology.

"In pursuit of his Messianic dreams, there is no evidence he is constrained by conscience," says Post, who during a long prior career in the U.S. government founded the Center for the Analysis of Personality and Political Behavior.

"When there is an obstacle in his revolutionary path, Saddam eliminates it, whether it is a previously loyal subordinate or a previously supportive country.

"In pursuing his goals, Saddam uses aggression instrumentally. He uses whatever force is necessary and will, if he deems it expedient, go to the extremes of violence, including the use of weapons of mass destruction."

That view of a penchant for heavy-handed rule is substantiated by David Korn, who has written about Saddam's human rights performance for a rights monitoring group, Middle East Watch.

Political killings, Korn says, have become "a hallmark of the Baath regime" that Saddam heads. Both Korn and Post have said that in 1982, Saddam's health minister was arrested after suggesting that Saddam step down.

They said that after the minister's wife pleaded with Saddam for permission to see him, his body arrived at her doorstep in a sack, chopped to pieces.

Judging by the results, Post believes the politics of mass terror at home and abroad have served Saddam well.

"He clears his throat and the Dow Jones average drops 60 points, he smiles and it goes up 60 points," says Post.

Post says the major influence on Saddam's life was a maternal uncle who imbued Saddam with a hatred of foreigners and notions of Arab nationalism. The uncle's world view was summed up in a pamphlet he wrote years ago: "Three Whom God Should Not Have Created: Persians, Jews and Flies."

Post praised President Bush's handling of the Persian Gulf crisis, and said he believes that Saddam is prudent enough to realize when retreat might be his wisest course.

Post points out that Saddam showed flexibility last August when he returned 700 square miles of territory to Iran after vowing he would "never" take such a step.

"Never is a short time when revolutionary pragmatism dictates, important to remember in evaluating Saddam's vow never to relinquish Kuwait," Post says.

At the same time, Post says any such retreat probably would only be temporary.

"If in response to the unified demonstration of strength and resolve he does reverse his course, it is a certainty he will return at a later date, unless strong measures are taken to contain him," he says.

Diplomats show resourcefulness

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A handful of resourceful U.S. and British diplomats are holding out in their besieged embassies in occupied Kuwait, the only Western diplomats still defying Saddam Hussein.

The Americans have discovered a brackish well on their compound to help conserve drinking water, and the Britons have supplemented their diet with vegetables from a backyard garden.

Forty embassies have been abandoned since Iraq conquered the emirate in an invasion Aug. 2. Most of those closed after Iraqi troops surrounded missions that rejected Saddam's order to move to Baghdad by Aug. 24.

The French held out until Monday, when the last seven diplomats left.

Daniel Bernard, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman, said at the time that the French diplomats in Kuwait had fulfilled their mission by helping the departure of more than 260 French citizens who had been held hostage.

The British and the Americans are doggedly holding out to stress their government's rejection of the Iraqi annexation of Kuwait.

President Bush said Wednesday that Americans in the U.S. compound are "getting starved out." Iraq responded that Bush was using the issue as a pretext for war.

Iraqi troops have cut off the embassies' water and electricity. Diplomats inside cannot leave and no supplies are allowed in.

Conditions inside the U.S. Embassy compound are rough. An undisclosed number of American citizens also are holed up inside, sharing the diplomats' limited resources.

For much of the time, the Americans have boiled swimming pool water to drink. Their food consists mainly of canned tuna fish, stocked up in the embassy.

The Britons, too, are feeding on tuna.

U.S. Ambassador W. Nathaniel Howell, a portly man, who is in contact with U.S. embassies in the region by satellite was quoted as joking during one telephone call that "it was good that the Iraqis picked a fat ambassador to try to starve."

Howell said the water shortage was overcome partly from a surprise source — a shallow well dug in the embassy backyard.

He said the brackish well water was used for long overdue baths and to launder clothes.

"To show the Iraqi guards that they can manage and are very resourceful, they washed their cars," said Secretary of State James A. Baker III's spokeswoman, Margaret Tutwiler.

The British Embassy has been reduced to just two diplomats, Ambassador Michael Weston and Consul Larry Banks, to save on limited supplies.

There is not a dimes worth of difference between a Republican or Democrat.

Rebs hoist playoff flags

■ Midland Lee scores just 14 points — all in the second half — on 373 yards rushing to squeak by Abilene High 14-0.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

Midland Lee limped into the state's Small School Class 5A playoffs at Memorial Stadium Friday night with a less-than-impressive 14-0 win over 1-7 Abilene High.

Yes, Lee is going to football's glory yard for the eighth consecutive season, but that wasn't much consolation to Rebel coach Earl Miller.

"Well, I'm just glad that we are in the playoffs, but that's not going to help much if we don't get back on station.

"I really feared this. Any time we lose a big game like we did to Odessa High last week, we don't come back very well. We'll have to play much better to beat San Angelo next week."

Lee rolled out some impressive rushing numbers with 373 rushing yards against a small Eagle defense, but still had to get long touchdown drives in the second half to pull out the win.

"Every time I looked up, we had to go 80 or 90 yards to score," said Miller. "Abilene High had a great kicking game. We were our own worst enemy. We made a lot of offensive mistakes and we shouldn't be at this stage of the season.

"It's not like we have a complicated offense. We basically only had six plays on, but we still shoot ourselves in the foot."

Abilene High punter Barry Reese punted six times for a 45.2-yard average and pinned Lee in a hole time after time. Lee had to march 85 yards for one score and 66 yards for another when Reese missed a 52-yard field goal try to give the Rebels its best field position of the night.

Junior Brett Sullivan, who had his best night as a Rebel, rushed for 128 yards and broke an early third quarter 55-yard scoring jaunt to give Lee the points it needed to make the playoffs.

Joe D. Williams/Reporter-Telegram

Midland Lee's Bernard Oden puts pressure on Abilene High quarterback Marcus Kaufmann during District 4-5A game at Memorial Stadium Friday night where the Rebels earned entry into the state playoffs with a 14-0 victory.

Sullivan, was hit at the line of scrimmage, but broke loose, veered to the sidelines and raced home with sprinter speed. Lee kicker Todd Meade missed on two extra point tries when AHS gave him an extra try and Lee held to a 6-0 lead with 9:05 left in the third period.

A Lee fumble set up Abilene High at the Lee 37-yard line, but couldn't move and Reese missed on a 52-yard field goal effort. It was long enough, but wide.

Lee turned that miss into eight points with a 66-yard drive with Derrick Turner getting the final four. The quarterback had 136 yards rushing on the night. Reggie Webb ran for the two-point conversion with 10:02 left in the game and that was it although Lee got to the AHS one-yard line as the clock began to run out

Bulldogs salvage season with 6-2 win

■ Abilene Cooper holds MHS to a mere 158 total yards and nine first downs — but it was the '6' at the top of the scoreboard that counted the most.

By Bill Price
Staff Writer

ABILENE — All Abilene Cooper head football coach Larry Peel could say was "I guess we picked on the wrong guy."

The wrong guy was Midland High defensive back Matt Jones, who relied on scouting espionage to intercept Cougar quarterback Mike Schriever four times as the Bulldog defense made Cooper's run-and-shoot offense fire blanks in a 6-2 MHS win here Friday night at Shotwell Stadium.

The victory gives the 'Dogs a 5-4 overall record (2-4 in District 4-5A) to close the season, while Cooper carries a 1-8 and 0-5 mark into its season-ender next week at Odessa Permian.

The MHS win also saw tailback James Lee end his senior year with 1,246 yards in nine games, as Lee fought for 87 yards on 27 carries.

But it was Jones, who entered the game tied for the district interception lead with four, who was the brightest star from the MHS defensive effort.

"Our scouting report said every time they pass one of their tackles moves his hand back (in his stance), so I knew when they were going to pass," the 170-pound junior cornerback said. "But the line was also able to put a lot of pressure on their quarterback. Defense did it for us tonight."

As a matter of fact, defense was pretty much the word of the evening. While the Bulldogs held Cooper to 209 yards total offense and forced six turnovers, counting a pair of fumbles by Cougar running back Tont Tate (114 yards on 31 carries), Cooper was possibly even better.

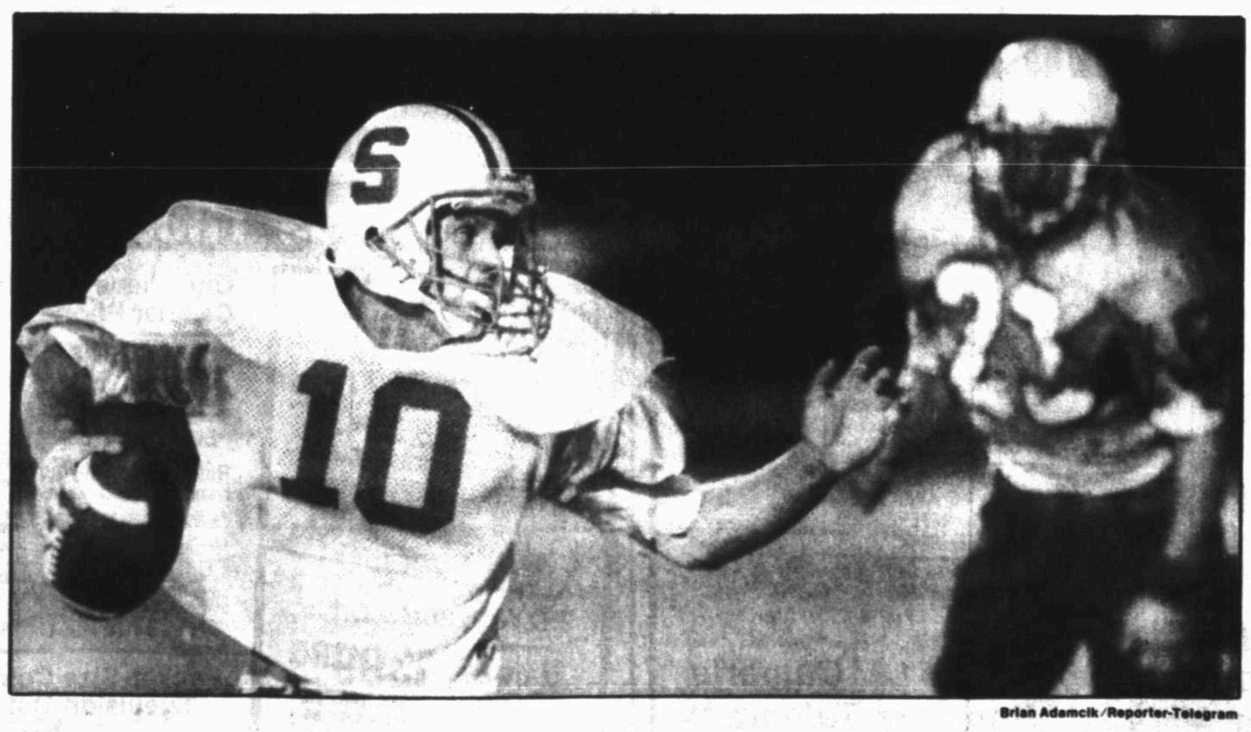

The Coog defenders not only were able to hold Lee to only his second sub-100-yard game of the year, but stymied the MHS offense entirely. The Bulldogs, who played a banged-up and patch-worked offensive line, held MHS to 158 total yards and nine first downs.

"I knew it would be tough to score points on their defense. But we made some good hard runs and got some good holes when it counted," said MHS head coach Davis Corley.

When it counted was in the third quarter. After battling the Cougars to a scoreless first half, Cooper's Jon Spiker blocked a 29-yard field goal attempt by David Worley but saw his offense commit three turnovers. The 'Dogs got their chance in the second half.

Facing about a 25-mph wind from the south, Cooper punter John Lewis got a 25-yard kick off from his own 35. But Worley fielded the ball and returned it 29 yards to the Cougar 31-yard line.

Rangers kayoed from chase

By Bill Grimes
Staff Writer

GREENWOOD — "It's just a game."

That's all Greenwood coach Bob Purser could say after his Rangers were knocked out of playoff contention after Friday's 25-21 loss to Sonora in a District 6-3A showdown at J.M. King Memorial Stadium.

The Rangers' demise was complete after Colorado City upset Reagan County 17-14 to knock the Owls — and consequently Greenwood — out of the playoff picture. After losing to Sonora, the Rangers needed Reagan County to win each of its last two games to force a possible — though not certain — three-way tie for second. Greenwood would have had the advantage under the point system used in 6-3A.

Purser doesn't deny that his staff and players are disappointed. But the Ranger mentor said there are more important things in life.

"...the kids put a lot into it, but in perspective, it's just a game," Purser said.

Greenwood's playoff chances were gravely wounded when Sonora shut

Andrews remains in contention

By Joe Wyatt
Staff Writer

MONAHANS — Two vastly different philosophies clashed on the gridiron here Friday, where the Andrews Mustangs countered the 174-yard, three-touchdown passing performance of Monahans quarterback Steve Ward with 329 rushing yards to take a pivotal 34-26 win over the Loboes.

Andrews, now 3-1 in District 3-4A, did not try a pass in the game. What the Mustangs did do was stay alive in the hunt for a playoff berth.

Monahans did not. The Loboes fell to 3-2 in 3-4A, a league where two losses are fatal.

"I guess you only pass when you need a pass, and we didn't need any tonight," said Andrews quarterback Kevin Nichols, who accounted for a game-high 129 yards on 16 carries, including a 51-yard touchdown dash in the third quarter. "Our line came off the ball real well tonight, and the backs ran hard," he said.

"I don't think we punted either, did we?" questioned Andrews head coach W.T. Stapler after the game.

They did not need to. Oscar Bueno returned a punt 88 yards for a touchdown to give the Mustangs a 7-0 lead before they'd even run off a play from scrimmage, and that was the beginning of Andrews' dominance on the ground.

"I was going to let it roll," said Bueno, who scooped up the bouncing ball amidst a throng of would-be tacklers.

DOGS: MHS goes out a winner

From 1B

From there, MHS gave the ball to Lee five straight times to get to the 1-yard line, where Brent Noisette carried the last three feet to score with 3:59 left in the period.

After that, though, the Bulldog offense was continually stuffed, earning only one more first down after the touchdown.

But the defense maintained its harassment of the Coogs. Not only did Corley devise a plan with extra defensive backs, but he still got pressure on Schriever from the Bulldog linemen. Defensive end Matt Wyatt recorded two sacks that dealed the Cougars 18 negative yards.

"We put in a fifth defensive back (with Worley and Marcelino Marroquin alternating at the position) and that left our cornerbacks and safeties in good shape. We also blitzed a lot.

"We were bringing the linebackers up the middle and left the ends clean. That's why Matt Wyatt got a couple of sacks," Corley said.

"We wanted to come out and end with a winning season and knew we had to pick it up this week. I'll have to admit our attitude wasn't very good after losing to Odessa Permian (31-7), but we really pulled it together tonight," said senior offensive tackle Mark Monroe.

and David Sullivan was tossed for a nine-yard loss on a fourth down play.

In the first half, Lee had drives consuming 15, six and six plays, but the Eagles didn't give up any points. In fact, it was the Eagles who threatened to score first, but junior quarterback Marcus Kaufmann fumbled into the end zone on a third down scoring drive and Lee's Mike Lambert recovered with 1:07 left in the half.

"We haven't been able to put a lot of wins together this year, but you can't say anything about the pride and courage of this team," said Abilene High coach Larry Pullin. "They've played this way all year.

"I told the kids that when you play a great team with superior talent like Lee, you have to take advantage of the opportunities you get and we just didn't do that. We got down there twice and didn't get points. That was a big part of the game."

Lee's injury riddled defense did turn in a shutout and that did please Miller.

"We had one big letdown on defense when we had Abilene backed up inside the 10 and let them get out and a first down, but we are riddled on defense right now and the kids did play hard."

Lee entered the game without defensive end Chris Posey, who had a death in the family, and defensive tackle Dale Wall, who is out for at least three more weeks with a bad knee. Wall's replacement, Mark Seidenberger, was then injured in the Abilene game and Lee was then playing sophomore Bernard Oden, who isn't even listed on the roster.

Lee now travels to San Angelo Friday and can win at least a share of the District 4-5A championship with a 5-1 loop mark with a victory. San Angelo is also playoff bound and tied Odessa Permian, 14-14, Friday. The tie didn't really surprise Miller.

"San Angelo is really playing great right now and this doesn't take anything away from them, but Permian's kids had to have had a hard time in that game realizing that they aren't going to be in the playoffs after the court decision. Those kids are human and they know what's going on."

MC Tennis

ABILENE — Three Midland College singles tennis players advanced to quarterfinal action Saturday while three were defeated in first-round play at the Fairway Oaks Collegiate Indoor Invitational in Abilene Friday.

In addition, MC's No. 1 doubles team advanced to semi-final action.

The wins were impressive in that they all came against Division I opponents.

Greg Muller and David Draper, MC's top two singles players defeated competition from the Universities of Arkansas and New Mexico.

Muller and Jerod White teamed for their first flight doubles victory over a pair from New Mexico.

Eight colleges are represented, including Arkansas, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist from the Southwest Conference.

Saturday matches begin at 9 a.m.; play concludes Sunday.

Results from first day action at the Fairway Oaks Collegiate Indoor Invitational Friday in Abilene:

Malone's TDs lead Iraan to 6-0 mark in district

Staff Report

IRAAN — Riley Malone had 34 carries for 216 yards and a pair of touchdowns as Iraan galloped to an 18-0 win over Ozona Friday night. The Braves moved to 8-0-1 overall, 6-0 in District 6-2A with the win.

Malone scored first on a 17 yard run in the first quarter and followed that up with a 19 yard trot in the second quarter.

Jason Hollifield completed the Braves' scoring for the night with a three yard run in the fourth quarter.

Iraan had 293 yards rushing and 26 yards through the air for 319 total offensive yards. In comparison, Ozona was held to 199 yards total offense.

Quarterbacks for both teams each completed three of seven passes. Only difference was Iraan intercepted a pair from the Ozona signal caller.

Ozona was penalized only once and received a five yard punishment.

Ozona falls to 4-5 overall, 4-2 in District 6-2A.

Mojo, Bobcats tie at 14

Staff Report

ODESSA — Tie was the key word at Ratliff Stadium Friday night as the Permian Panthers and San Angelo Central Bobcats finished 14-14 in the District 4-5A contest.

Not only did they tie on the scoreboard, but the knotted finish also resulted in the two teams putting up identical 3-1-1 district records and 6-2-1 overall marks. The two, however, are not in a tie for second place in district. That position belongs to Central all alone as Permian continues to remain in a disqualified state for the state playoffs due to University Interscholastic League rules violations.

The Permian defense limited San Angelo quarterback Shea Morenz to a mere 90 yards passing, but the Mojo defense had trouble holding the Bobcat running game which tallied 308 total yards.

Lonnie Jones opened the night's scoring, running from 27 yards out to allow Permian a 7-0 lead.

Morenz' highlight of the evening came on a 40 yard touchdown pass to Ryan King for the Bobcats' first score to tie the game at 7-7.

Permian jumped to a 14-7 lead when Larry Serrano hauled in a 28 yard pass from Stormy Case.

Central tied the game and completed the nhight's scoring when Damon Carroll trotted in from 19 yards.

Garrison reaches semifinals

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Defending champion Zina Garrison overcame Marianne Werdel's power game and converted her opponent's mistakes into a 6-7 (3-7), 6-1, 6-2 victory in a quarterfinal match Friday in the Virginia Slims of California.

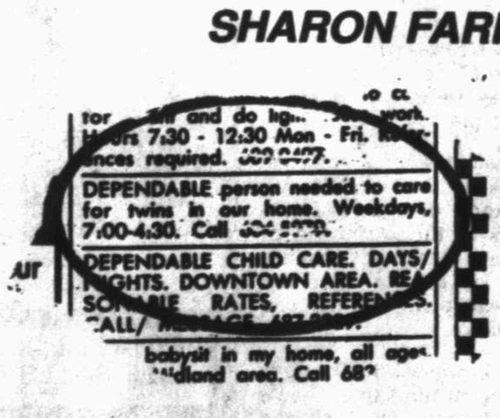

Werdel, a 5-foot-10 baseline specialist, controlled the pace in the opening set, sending Garrison, the third seed, scurrying from corner to corner to run down volleys.

"I felt if she could play that well after the first set, she deserved it," Garrison said. "Basically, I just got the ball back."

That strategy paid off in the next two sets.

Cambridge impresses in first show

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Longhorn basketball fans got their first look at highly touted junior college transfer Dexter Cambridge in the Orange-White men's basketball scrimmage, and the figures were impressive.

Cambridge, a 6-foot-8-inch transfer from Lon Morris College, scored 36 points and had 12 rebounds as his Orange team lost, 117-111, before 2,792 onlookers Thursday night.

Senior guard Joey Wright also scored 36 for the Orange.

TCU tries its luck at regrouping

Associated Press

The Horned Frogs storybook season is at stake Saturday afternoon in the Astrodome.

Texas Christian charmed the collegiate football world with its 5-1 start, but Baylor's 26-21 upset last Saturday slapped the Frogs back to the reality of Southwest Conference warfare.

SWC Today

So the question looms whether the Frogs can shake out of the doldrums long enough to defeat the nation's sixth-ranked team on their home field.

"Houston is awesome," said TCU coach Jim Wacker. "We'll have to play close to a perfect game to beat them, but stranger things have happened. I think we'll give them a heckuva game."

The Cougars are averaging 41 points per game against league opposition. Last year Houston beat the Frogs 55-10 in Fort Worth.

Undefeated Houston rated a 21-point pick over TCU.

"It's homecoming for us, but it will be a challenge to beat a very, very fine football team," said Houston coach John Jenkins. "There should be a lot of passes thrown with their triple shoot and our run and shoot offenses."

In other SWC matchups, oddsmakers picked Texas A&M by 31 points over Southern Methodist in a 1 p.m. game at Ownby Stadium; Texas was a 11-point selection over Texas Tech in a noon (Raycom TV) game in Jones Stadium, and Arkansas, who has allowed more than 200 points in four straight losses to league opposition, was a 5-point choice over Rice in a 7 p.m. clash at Little Rock.

Since Houston can't go to the Cotton Bowl because of NCAA probation, the Texas Longhorns have the best league mark at 3-0. Baylor, which is idle this weekend, and Texas A&M are next with 1-1-1 ledgers.

Baylor returns to action against Arkansas at noon Nov. 10 in a regionally televised game (Raycom) from Waco.

Houston's David Klingler leads the nation in total offense with 420 yards per game. The Frogs are hopeful Leon Clay's bruised arm will heal in time for the clash of two wide open offenses. Clay hurt the arm in the loss to Baylor last week.

Arkansas has won nine straight games over Rice, but the Hogs are off to their worst league start since 1958 when Frank Broyles was the coach. Rice last won 17-16 at Little Rock in 1980.

Arkansas coach Jack Crowe said he knew the Hogs would have problems before the season began but "the way we've lost is something that has shocked me."

"Nobody has stopped Arkansas' offense yet," Rice coach Fred Goldsmith said. "We still respect them and we know they are ready to explode at any time with their tremendous speed. You look at their offense and wonder how in the world they lost a game. Then you see their defensive breakdowns and say you might have a good chance."

Texas A&M's Darren Lewis will be trying to lead to his SWC career rushing total. Lewis passed SMU's Eric Dickerson last week and stands at 4,453 yards in a rush to the 5,000-yard marker.

Texas coach David McWilliams returns once again to the town he jilted. McWilliams left Texas Tech to return to Austin in 1987 as coach of the Longhorns. Texas is off to its best start since the 1984 team went 6-0-1 out of the starting gate.

"Tech played very well early in the year," McWilliams said. "That's what scares you. We're worried they might hit their stride again."

A&M coach R.C. Slocum feels the Aggies are still in the SWC although they will need some help to catch Texas.

"There's a lot of excitement left in the season," Slocum said. "We've fallen back into the pack a little bit. We can still have a good season."

Tors cut swath through Dunbar

By George Brzezinski
MRT Correspondent

LAMESA — Linebacker Sparky Clark's interception return on an ill-advised attempted pass sealed the victory for his team as the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes escaped with a 26-14 win over Lubbock Dunbar in District 2-4A action Friday.

Clark's unusual pickoff and subsequent return came with 4:25 remaining in the third quarter and ended a Dunbar drive. On a thrid and short situation, Panther quarterback Lee Roy Danford dropped back to pass and immediately became swamped by Tor defenders. As Danford began to release the ball, his throwing hand was hit and the ball sailed two yards into Clark's unsuspecting hands. Taking advantage of the ensuing confusion, Clark trotted untouched into the end zone to give Lamesa the commanding 26-14 lead.

Lamesa began the game determined and managed to score on its first two possesions. Tor sophomore Tony Brown's 26-yard run set his team on the Dunbar 13-yard line. Three plays later Brandon Sheppard plowed one yard and gave Coach Earl Overton's team a 6-0 lead. Donny Parra added the extra point.

Sheppard started for Senior Jamie Seago, who was injured in last week's game.

After the Tor's defense held the Panthers in check, Sheppard found junior Jason Blake wide open on the first play of the drive and Blake scampered 29 yards for the score. With 6:46 remaining in the first quarter, Lamesa found itself with a comfortable 14-0 lead.

Dunbar managed to scrape its way back into the game, utilizing an effective ground game. Panther halfback Typail McMullen led all rushers with 142 yards on 23 carries.

Capitalizing on a Lamesa clipping call, Dunbar marched 67 yards in seven plays to bring the Panthers within seven. Danford used an excellent fake to McMullen and pitched to Jackie Forster, who bounced 19 yards in for the score.

The teams traded possesions until McMullen became tired of knocking out runs of five and ten yards. With 3:04 remaining in the half, he took a pitch from Danford and sprinted 70 yards up the sideline, silencing the enthusiastic crowd and knotting the score at 14 as the teams headed into the locker room.

Overton made a change at the start of the second half by inserting Seago in at quarterback, attempting to awaken his offense. Seago wasted no time and marched his squad 52 yards on Lamesa's first drive of the half, capped by his one yard dive into the end zone.

The ensuing Dunbar drive was halted by Clark's interception and the Tor defense kicked into high gear.

The Panthers' three remaining drives were all stopped on fourth down situations.

The win was Lamesa's first in the district and ups its overall mark to 4-3-1. The Tors host Snyder next Friday in its season finale.

Pistons open with what else — a win

Associated Press

NBA

The Detroit Pistons began their bid for a three-peat with a 115-104 opening-night win over the Milwaukee Bucks as Joe Dumars scored 19 points Friday night.

Bill Laimbeer and James Edwards each had 18 for Detroit, hoping to become the first team since 1966 to win as many as three consecutive championships.

Ricky Pierce scored 12 of his 31 points in the fourth quarter for the Bucks.

A three-point play by Fred Roberts narrowed the Pistons lead to 65-61 with 8:02 left in the third quarter. But Dumars hit six points in an 11-4 Detroit run for an 11-point Pistons lead with 4:42 left in the period.

Pierce scored nine points the rest period for the Bucks, but Dumars had three more, and a steal and layup at the buzzer by Vinnie Johnson gave Detroit an 88-77 lead at the end of three quarters.

In pregame ceremonies, the Pistons were presented their championship rings by NBA deputy commissioner Russ Granik.

Timberwolves 98, Mavericks 85

Tyrone Corbin, Randy Breuer and Pooh Richardson ignited a 31-12 run over the final 9:34 as Minnesota christened its new arena with a victory over Dallas.

Dallas, a favorite to win the NBA's Midwest Division, missed six straight shots as the Timberwolves snapped a 77-all tie with a 10-0 spurt.

76ers 124, Bulls 116

Charles Barkley scored 37 points and Johnny Dawkins added 25, leading Philadelphia over Chicago.

The 76ers led most of the way and held several 20-point leads before the Bulls made a last-ditch run in the fourth quarter. It was a small measure of revenge for the 76ers, who were knocked out of the playoffs by the Bulls last season.

Michael Jordan led the Bulls in the season-opener with 34 points.

Celtics 125, Cavaliers 101

Reggie Lewis scored 32 points as Boston, with a new fastbreak offense and new head coach Chris Ford, routed Cleveland.

The Celtics led 56-46 at halftime and closed the third quarter with a 7-0 run that made the score 94-79.

With Boston leading 105-92 with 6:11 left, Brian Shaw hit two free throws that began a 16-1 spurt that turned the game into a rout.

Hawks 115, Magic 111

Dominique Wilkins had 32 points, nine rebounds and seven assists as Atlanta used late free throws to down Orlando.

The Hawks, who twice led by 20 points in the opening quarter, trailed 111-109 with 1:26 to play, but scored the last six points in the game on two free throws each by Wilkins and rookie Rumeal Robinson and one each by Kevin Willis and Duane Ferrell.

Pacers 100, Nets 81

Rik Smits scored 24 points and LaSalle Thompson had 20 rebounds as Indiana, outscoring New Jersey 20-11 in the third period, defeated the Nets.

New Jersey, which trailed early by 12 points, pulled within seven at halftime before the Pacers' rebounding and inside play of the 7-foot-4 Smits, the 6-10 Thompson and Detlef Schrempf broke open the game.

Heat 119, Bullets 95

Willie Burton scored 25 points in his NBA debut, including seven in a 41-second third-quarter span to break the game open for Miami against Washington.

The victory was the Heat's first in an opener and put the third-year franchise over the .500 mark for the first time ever. Last season, Miami won only once by more than 21 points.

Knicks 134, Hornets 130

Patrick Ewing scored 38 points and Maurice Cheeks made a key steal and hit four free throws in the final seconds as New York beat Charlotte in overtime.

Gerald Wilkins added 25 points for the Knicks, while Jackson scored 22.

Penalty-ridden Red Devils gun down Sanderson, 27-7

Staff Report

SANDERSON — Rankin shrugged off 105 yards in penalties to defeat Sanderson 27-7 Friday night in a District 8-1A conference game.

Kirk Kennedy was in on three of the four Red Devil touchdowns as Rankin raised its season record to 6-2, 3-0 in district. Sanderson fell to 4-3, 1-1.

After Kevin Braden's one yard run to open the second quarter, Kennedy took most of the attention for the remainder of the evening. The Red Devil quarterback ran from one yard out to push the Devils ahead 14-0 at halftime.

Then, in the third quarter, Kennedy connected with Francisco Gonzales for a 27 yard touchdown pass. Kennedy tacked on another 1 yard run to push the Devils ahead 27-0.

Chris Hall's five yard run accounted for the Eagles' lone score.

Rankin's triple-digit penalty yardage came on nine flags. Sanderson was penalized for an additional 50 yards.

Rankin ends its regular season next Friday against Fort Davis.

Steers nip Pecos, 25-15

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Steers were darn near butchered in the second half of their District 3-4A outing with the Pecos Eagles here Friday night, but it was the meaty running attack of Jermaine Miller that enabled Big Spring to pull out a 25-15 win.

The Steers entered the game ranked ninth in the state and unbeaten in loop play. A fourth quarter score, however, insured them of their fourth consecutive district win.

Before that touchdown, Big Spring had held a commanding 18-0, first half lead, only to see the pesky Eagles rally back to make things very interesting in the seconf half.

In the first two quarters, the Steers did what they do best, give the ball to Miller. He had 121 yards on 21 carries for the half, including two touchdowns.

The first came on a six-play-37-yard drive with 1:13 left in the opening period. On the TD play, Miller dove over from four yards out. Miller cashed in another score in the second quarter when he zigzagged 34 yards untouched into the endzone to culminate a 13-play-80-yard drive.

Then just before the half, Big Spring converted a Pecos interception into their 18th point of the game.

Beginning at the Pecos 41, the Steers moved three yards on three plays. Facing fourth and seven from the 38, quarterback Gerald Cobos found Neal Mayfield on a 4-yard screen. Mayfield then did the rest by himself, by shaking off three would-be tacklers and rumbling 38 yards for the score.

Big Spring, however, failed to tack on all three attempted extra-points.

For the half, the Steers piled up 199 total yards of offense, while the defense surrendered only 9 yards to the Eagles.

The defense forced Pecos to quick kick on third down on their first two possessions of the game. Pecos also punted three times and were intercepted once.

Things seemed like smooth sailing for the Steers, that was until the second half.

Before the game, Pecos coach David Whitehurst had commented that his troops were going to come out fighting mad. Just a week earlier, they had dropped a 14-10 loss to Monahans and two weeks before they suffered a 22-21 setback to Andrews.

The Eagles first keyed on halting Miller. They did that by forcing him inside into the heart of the defense.

Pecos also used Myron Jenkins to score their first TD. Jenkins scored from one yard out midway through the third period to finish off a 5 play drive. The extra-point made it 18-7.

Then with 3:27 left in the period, Brian Gonzales hit Jason Chandler with a 19 yard TD pass, to make it 18-15 with the two-point conversion.

But the Eagles would get no closer as the Steers came up with a 92-yard 7 minute fourth quarter drive to seal the win.

Things don't get much easier for the 6-1-1, 4-0 Steers when they host Monahans next Friday night.

RANGERS: Greenwood enjoys early success down the Rangers' option attack with a makeshift defense necessitated by injuries to three linebackers.

The Rangers pummeled the Broncos for 302 first-half yards, 299 on the ground, en route to a 14-0 lead at one point. But the hosts could manage only 127 yards after the break, and 72 of those were on Greenwood's only scoring drive of the second half.

Meanwhile, Sonora stayed in the hunt on two second-half touchdowns by tailback Eric Espinosa before taking their only lead of the game on a one-yard sneak by quarterback David Mirike with 4:52 left. Mirike's score came two plays after a 54-yard punt return by Larry Chalk got the ball down to the Greenwood four-yard-line.

Sonora coach Bob Bellard, son of wishbone inventor and former college head coach Emory, implied that his familiarity with Greenwood's preferred formation was not a factor in the Bronco's second-half success.

"It wasn't by design," Bellard said. "We had no choice but to go to a goal line defense. We had two or three kids playing positions that they had never played before."

Greenwood guard Mike Bradford said the Rangers simply couldn't adjust to the new scheme, which featured almost constant pressure on Ranger quarterback Cody Mebane, who gained only 14 of his game-high 172 yards in the second half.

"They were shooting the gaps, and that's hard to block when you run the option," Bradford said. "Instead of pulling both guards, we could only pull one."

After both teams showed an ability to move the ball on their first possessions, Greenwood drew first blood on a 43-yard option run by Mebane with 1:39 left in the first period. Mebane's first TD of the night capped a seven-play, 73-yard drive.

Sonora again drove into Ranger territory before the drive stalled. Mirike's punt pushed Greenwood back to its own 5 at the beginning of the second quarter, but Mebane torched the Bronco defense for a 90-yard scoring run on the Rangers' second play. The senior cut back behind a key block by tight end Quincy Carlisle and was untouched thereafter.

Sonora got its first score on a 33-yard run by wingback Adam Youngblood with 5:12 left in the half. The Broncos cut the Ranger lead to 14-12 on Espinosa's 54-yard dash on the third play of the second half, but Greenwood immediately put together a 72-yard drive that right half Jerry Gay capped with a 7-yard run with 5:51 left in the third.

But Gay's run was the Rangers' last gasp. Greenwood's last four possessions ended in two punts, a failed fourth-down play, and an interception.

Greenwood, 7-2 overall and 2-2 in district play, ends its season at Colorado City, while Sonora, 6-3 and 2-2, hosts Crane for a possible share of the 6-3A title.

El Paso Riverside cancels game

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Riverside High School canceled its Friday night game with Bel Air High after the district suspended 13 Riverside players involved in a bench-clearing brawl last Friday.

The game was supposed to be Bel Air's homecoming game, said assistant principal Juni Mathews.

"This (a cancellation) has not happened in this area since the Kennedy assassination," Ms. Mathews said.

She said several activities were planned for Friday night's game, including presenting the homecoming court and honoring a Bel Air alumnus.

"It's disappointing, because being a senior, and having a lot of seniors in our ball club ... it's one of the things we all look forward to," said Gustavo Renteria, a guard on the Bel Air football team.

ANDREWS: Late Monahans rally short

(From 1B)

"But I saw all my guys blocking, and I just went ahead and got it."

Andrews upped the ante to 14-0 with 4:07 left in the second quarter when Zach Miller scored the first of two TDs, this one coming on a two-yard run to cap a 14-play, 80-yard drive.

The Lobos, who captured four Mustang fumbles in the game, benefited from a fumbled punt return by Andrews that them new life at the Andrews 28-yard line with time running down on the first-half clock. Four plays later Jeff Judkins cracked the plane on a 14-yard pass from Ward, and Andrews had to settle for a 14-7 lead at the half.

And Monahans closed the gap even further by taking the first possession of the second half 68-yards. Joey Munoz' six-yard blast did the damage, but the kick-after was batted down leaving Andrews with a 14-13 advantage. Just 1:11 later it was 20-13 thanks to the 51-yard sprint from Nichols.

Ward, who completed 15 of 26 passes, got the Loboes untracked in the fourth quarter, firing TD strikes of 10 and 11 yards. But the effort came too late.

Andrews got TD runs from Chris Garrett and Miller early in the fourth quarter, and both of Ward's aerials came with less than three minutes to play.

"This was a real big game for us," said Stapler, who had not gotten the better of the Loboes in his previous three tries at Andrews. "What is important is that it was a big win for the program. We needed to win a big game like this."

Buffs get first win

By Charlie Dowd
MRT Correspondent

FORSAN — The Stanton Buffaloes, riding the shoulders of Gary Don Thompson, surged to their first victory in 1990, 27-13, in the battle of the District 6-2A have-nots. Stanton entered the game at (0-8, 0-5) while Forsan limped in (1-7, 0-5).

Stanton jumped out to an early lead after a poor punt by Forsan's Stephen East gave the Buffs the ball on the Forsan 43. (In all fairness to East, a gusting wind played havoc with both teams' kicking games.) It took Stanton all of three plays to score as Allen Prough went over from the three. It was the second time that Stanton had been inside of Forsan's 10. They had squandered an opportunity on their first possession as their weak passing game failed them.

Forsan answered with a touchdown of their own early in the second quarter. Like Stanton's first touchdown, the Buffs began their scoring drive deep in Stanton territory as a result of a poor punt.

Gilbert Rodriguez was the workhorse of the drive as he carried on all 6 plays as Forsan drove 28 yards for the score. Rodriguez would finish the night with 151 yards on 31 carries.

Stanton wasted little time in breaking the half-time tie. Gary Don Thompson took a handoff from John Eric Wyckoff, went off right tackle and proceeded to go 76 yards for the score, leaving a trail of frustrated Forsan defenders behind.

Thompson's touchdown run seemed to knock the wind of out Forsan's sails. Their offense was sputtering and they were having trouble controlling Thompson and company.

The Buffs struck for two additional touchdowns in the fourth quarter as Wyckoff snuck over for a score and Thompson completed a fine performance with his second touchdown, a five yard jaunt.

Nostalgia available at school

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — From live reports on the invasion of Europe to the medical advice of the goat-gland doctor, it's still all there for anyone to hear. And the good thing is, anyone can hear it.

The history in sound, dating back to the 1920s, is available through more than 3,800 radio broadcasts on file at Memphis State University.

While the collection is not the largest of its kind, it's certainly one of the most accessible. Unlike most radio archives, it isn't just open to broadcasting students and researchers. Any radio fan can drop by to listen to a little Abbott and Costello or perhaps a bit of "Inner Sanctum."

"Not only can you hear it — if you bring an audio cassette with you, they'll high-speed duplicate it for you," said Marvin Bensman, founder and chief overseer of the collection.

An associate professor of broadcast history, Bensman began putting the collection together in 1969 while working at the University of Vermont.

His students, he said, had little access to early radio broadcasts except through such sources as the National Archives in Washington.

"That's sort of ridiculous, to ask a college student to pay his way to Washington to listen to some old radio programs for a course," he said.

From a variety of sources, including former broadcasters or their families, Bensman has put more than 1,200 radio hours on tape.

There's a 1949 pilot of "Gunsmoke" starring Mark (that's right, Mark) Dillon and world-saving battles between "The Shadow" and various forces of evil. Fibber McGee and Molly build a doghouse or search for lost keys while J. Edgar Hoover warns of creeping communism.

The collection includes several hours of live coverage of the Allied invasion of Europe when the outcome of World War II and the fate of the world was very much unsettled.

"Everyone was hanging on their radios to see were we going to make it," Bensman said.

It also includes a series of shows by Dr. Jospeh R. Brinkley, an almost-governor of Kansas who broadcast medical advice in the 1920s and '30s. Brinkley picked up the nickname "goat gland doctor" because of claims he could improve the sex lives of his male patients with animal implants, Bensman said.

"He did a 90-minute program where you would write him and describe your symptoms. He would then diagnose your problem and prescribe to you over the air," he said.

Raising the ire of the American Medical Association and the Federal Radio Commission, Brinkley lost his broadcasting license in Milford, Kan. He moved to Mexico and set up a hospital straddling the U.S.-Mexican border.

"He was a real pioneer," Bensman said. "His voice is wonderful on the radio. I've listened to the stuff and his advice is not bad."

A stack of 16-inch recording discs of Brinkley's show were recently found in the attic of his widow, Bensman said.

While academic researchers and biographers of radio personalities often use Bensman's radio collection, it can also come in handy for such people as the daughter of the "Silver-Masked Tenor."

The tenor, whose real name was Josh White, performed on a radio show sponsored by a tire company in the 1920s. To promote "silvertone" tires, program managers staged a yearlong contest featuring an unnamed singer said to be wearing a silver mask. Listeners were urged to guess his identity.

White's daughter contacted Bensman looking for a recording of her father's voice and a performance by the "Silver-Masked Tenor" was found on one of his tapes.

"We sent a tape and she was overjoyed," Bensman said.

The older programs in the collection are on 16-inch discs which can hold up to 15 minutes on each side. The broadcasts are put on reel-to-reel tapes and then on the cassettes that are made available to the public.

The collection continues to grow as more old programs are located and as modern ones are added to keep up with the evolution of radio.

Bensman said he has a list of 60 to 70 programs he still seeks from the early days of radio.

The sought after shows include such programs as "Eyes Aloft."

"It's a program about air travel or being in the Air Force, I think," Bensman said. "It's hard to say. Nobody has heard these programs in years."

Saturday
Psalm 131:1-3

A brisk breeze chases downy clouds through bright blue skies. The sunshine is deceiving on this cool November day, as young mothers enthusiastically push babies in strollers past elderly couples sitting on park benches.

Scampering, chattering squirrels forage through crackling leaves in search of acorns, hoarding them for the cold winter ahead, when food will be scarce and snow covers the ground. They know instinctively to prepare for the future while food is plentiful, not waiting till frigid winds blow through bare branches.

We also can ensure nourishment for our soul as we worship God in His house each Sabbath. Visit Him and invite Him into your heart. God's love will brighten each day, and will strengthen you when the cold winds of adversity are threatening.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Church planning choral program

The St. Luke's United Methodist Church choirs will present Carolyn McDowell's musical celebration "Celebrating the Church Year" at 5 p.m. Nov. 4 in the church sanctuary, 3011 W. Kansas Ave.

Ms. McDowell is the associate director of music at the First United Methodist Church, Decatur, Ga. Choristers Guild International published this work in three monthly editions of their magazine. More than 130 singers, four of the nine choirs from the church's music ministry, will be participating, singing music representing the seasons of the church year from Advent to Pentecost.

Dramatic readings, vignettes and choral readings also will be used to explain the seasons of the liturgical year as they relate to the Christian church. Music from all styles and periods will be sung including "Lift Up Your Heads" from the "Messiah" by Handel, a setting of "How Far Is It To Bethlehem" by Geoffrey Shaw, to anthems by contemporary composers such as John Horman, Natalie Sleeth, Eugene Butler and Allen Mahnke.

In addition to the choral selections and drama, several new hymns found in the recently published United Methodist Hymnal will be sung by the choirs and congregation. Bert W. Bostic, minister of program and music at St Luke's UMC, is in charge of the program.

The church's senior minister, the Rev. Jarrell H. Sharp, invites the public to attend.

Skinner speaks Tuesday

Carol Skinner will speak to the Midland Outreach Aglow Tuesday at the Royal Inn, 3601 W. Wall Ave.

Skinner

Ms. Skinner is the founder and president of New Beginnings Retreat, an interdenominational ministry for wome based on scripture in Ezekial 35:25-28 — "I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my Spirit in you."

Ms. Skinner is a member of greenwood United Methodist Church. She has taught Sunday School, ladies Bible study groups and with her husband, Otis, has discipled others through home groups. She plays keyboard for the worship services at her church and is a team member of "Stirring the Flame," a ministry for small group renewal in the United Methodist Church.

In addition, she plays the piano and helps lead the praise and worship for Midland Outreach Aglow.

Women's Aglow is a non-denominational group. The women meet at 6:30 p.m. for dinner. Cost is $6.50. The meeting starts at 7:15 p.m.

For more information call 683-8386 or 1-756-3688.

Program successful

Midland congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses, along with some 21 congregations from the West Texas area, met in October at Midland College's Chaparral Center.

Neal Baker, spokesman for the group here, said 2,527 delegates attended this one-day program of instruction and fellowship. Theme of the program was "Become Holy in All Your Conduct," based on the Bible text found at 1 Peter 1:15.

The principal address of the special assembly was delivered by Charles Molohan, a representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society. The subject of his address was "Expanding Activities of Jehovah's Holy People."

"The discourse provided highlights of the tremendous expansion of the worldwide preaching activity of Jehovah's Witnesses," said a release from the Midland congregations.

For example, Mexico was noted as recently having reached a new peak of 304,756 active ministers, the release said. "They conduct on the average 467,000 Bible studies each month with interested persons."

Because of increases like this, Molohan said, 46 branch offices worldwide are either in the process of expansion, or they are planning for expansion in the near future.

Dedication Sunday

Abundant Life Worship Center, 4801 Princeton Ave., will hold a dedication service at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The church was started in February of 1990 when a group of people came together desiring to establish a men's fellowship under the leadership of pastors Zane Haun and Jerry Rotan. They began meeting in a home. Within six weeks they moved to a small office building to serve better their growing group.

"With no advertising except word of mouth, the congregation continued to grow," said a release from Abundant Life Worship Center. The name of the church was decided and established as Abundant Life Worship Center.

"Within four months of its beginning the congregation had doubled in size and was able to purchase property," the release said.

By July a new sanctuary was under construction and the first workship service was held in the sanctuary Oct. 7.

"We believe God has given us a vision to reach out to hurting people in our community with the gospel of Jesus Christ who is able to heal all hurts," said Haun.

The public is invited to attend the dedication service. Child care will be provided. For more information call 689-7833 or 682-8811.

Anniversary Sunday

Calvary Baptist Church, 1001 S. Main St., is holding its 50th anniversary celebration Nov. 4.

Years ago, the Rev. Fred McPherson, now pastor of the South Side Baptist Church, Lubbock, dreamed of a church to serve south Midland. His dream came true when a church was organized in a tent at 700 South Main St. Dec. 1, 1940, with 70 charter members. Within a few weeks, the church was meeting in a new cottage at 105 South Main St., which today serves as a home for its pastor.

McPherson was the church's first pastor. In 1943 the present educational building was completed, and in October of 1945, the auditorium was finished under the direction of the Rev. A.W Smith, who was the pastor at the time.

From its beginning, Calvary Baptist Church has been affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Big Spring Baptist Association.

All present as well as former members and pastors are invited to this special celebration. A music service and history of the founding of the church will be presented.

Revival services set

The Rev. Kevin Taylor will be holding revival services at Church of God, 5300 Thomason Drive, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday.

"After only five short months at his present pastorate, attendance more than doubled," said a release from the church. "The growth of the churches he has pastored has been attributed to his dynamic approach to presenting the gospel in pure form, challenging those who hear him to believe that the scriptures in the Bible are still for us today and encouraging those who hear it not to compromise with the world and what it has to offer."

Taylor lives in Houston with his wife, Diana, and daughter, Andrea.

"His ministry will remind you of the brush arbor days where the gospel was presented in a way that every man could understand it, apply it to their own lives and know that it was real."

The church's pastor, the Rev. M.R. Thomason, invites the public to attend.

Garage-bake sale today

The youth of Ranchland Heights Baptist Church are hosting a garage and bake sale today at 2111 W. College.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to the youth activities and trips. They also will be selling the Ranchland Heights cookbook, produced by the women of the church. Proceeds from the cookbook sales will benefit the annual Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions.

In addition, the church will conduct a deacon election Sunday in the worship service to nominate two new candidates fro ordination deacons.

Members have received a list of all the men of the church from which to choose. From Sunday's nominations two men will be set aside to be ordained at a later date.

Mission Festival planned Sunday

Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, 3000 W. Golf Course Road, will conduct a Mission Festival Sunday.

Gaertner

The festival, celebrated on All Saints Sunday, will this year be dedicated to the memory of Don Neujahr, who recently died. Neujahr served many years as chairman of Grace's Mission Board.

"Mission Festival is celebrated on All Saints Sunday when we give thanks to God for all the saints who have gone before us and whose example encourages us to greater faith and service to the Lord," said a release from the church.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Carl A Gaertner, pastor emeritus of Zion Lutheran Church, Dallas. His message will be "God's Busy Saints" based on Revelation 14:12.

Gaertner is a graduate of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, where also he received the doctor of divinity degree in 1966. He began his parish ministry in 1934 at St. Paul Lutheran in Plainview. Since his retirement in 1976, he has served as interim pastor for a number of congregations in Texas.

He has held several Texas district positions including first vice president and secretary for evangelism as well as synodical positions. He has also served synod as a representative to several international conferences.

The author of articles and sermons in theological journals and books, his latest book, "The Communion of Sanity in a Chaotic World," is yet to be published.

The festival worship service begins at 1:30 a.m. and will include holy communion. Following the service will be a congregational pot luck dinner.

The public is invited to attend.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

(From 4C)

week as part of the Single Adult Ministry of Bellview Baptist Church.

The seminar's four sessions are being presented in the church's new Christian Life Center, 1710 N. Big Spring St., from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. This week's session is "Divorce, Grace and Forgiveness."

"Suddenly Single: What to do When Divorce Strikes the Home" is based on author and former pastor Clyde Beeson's personal experiences. Areas that are covered include dealing with feelings, divorce and the Bible, leaving the past behind and reaffirming self-worth.

The sessions end Nov. 18.

Child care will be provided. The public is invited to attend.

Stanley to speak Sunday

Pat Stanley will be the guest speaker Sunday at the Unitarium Universalist Church, Neely at Midkiff.

Ms.Stanley, who is past president of the League of Women Voters of Midland, will address the trend in political campaigns to bypass issues of concern to voters in favor of media manipulation and media consultants.

She has been active in the League since 1960, has served on the board of the League for 20 years and has moderated numerous candidate forums.

Her talk will begin at 9:45 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

50th anniversary planned at church

Calvary Baptist Church, 1001 S. Main St., is holding its 50th anniversary celebration Sunday.

The worship service begins at 10:45 a.m.; however, the day's activities begin at 9:30 a.m. with fellowship for adults in the gym. Guest speaker will be Barney Whatley. Special music will be provided by Vivian Robbins Susil of Oklahoma City, Linda stewart Smith of Midland and Eric Seay.

During the morning worship service, all guests and charter members will be recognized by Jean Friday. A brief history of the church will be given by the Rev. Jim Brown, pastor.

A covered dish dinner will be served beginning at noon. After lunch fellowship will be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the gym. Training Union is at 6 p.m. and the evening worship at 7 p.m. Presented by Vonnie McLeroy, the evening service will emphasize missions.

From its beginning, Calvary Baptist Church has been affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Big Spring Baptist Association.

All present as well as former members and pastors are invited to this special celebration.

Games of chance spreading across Bible Belt

BOYDTON, Va. (AP) — At the Ridge Grocery here, Jack Ricketson's behind-the-counter observations confirm what polls and pundits say: Southerners want lotteries just like everybody else.

Ricketson and his wife Doris, whose tiny store sits on a hilltop five miles from the North Carolina line, sell livestock feed, groceries and chances in Virginia's state lottery.

Most players spend a dollar or two on the games. But folks passing through from other parts of the South typically bet more — as much as $20.

"It's 'cause they don't have it," Ricketson says, meaning a lottery.

It appears much more of the Bible Belt will have it in the aftermath of this fall's elections. Georgians will elect a lottery backer, whichever gubernatorial candidate they pick Tuesday. Louisianans last month repealed a constitutional ban on lotteries.

A pro-lottery initiative in Arkansas was favored in opinion polls but was knocked off Tuesday's ballot by an Oct. 26 state Supreme Court decision.

Only three Southern states — Virginia, Florida and Kentucky — are among the 32 sponsoring lotteries now. But traditional opposition, even in fundamentalist areas, shows signs of eroding.

Will every state in Dixie eventually offer the games?

"I think so," says Duke University economics professor Philip Cook, an authority on lotteries. "The polls as a rule show strong support."

Carolyn Shaw hopes such predictions are wrong. She's with the Georgia Council on Moral and Civic Concerns, which is using speeches and mass mailings to try to slow the momentum for a lottery.

"It's as bad as having an illegal numbers racket in your state," she says. "It's wrong to have the state doing that."

Besides, she said, lotteries can become addictive, can victimize the poor, and can discourage the public from supporting needed taxation for the functions, such as education, that the games often support.

The moral stigma attached to gambling can still be felt.

Only three Southern states — Virginia, Florida and Kentucky — are among the 32 sponsoring lotteries now. But traditional opposition ... shows signs of eroding.

At Ross' General Store in the Florida Panhandle town of Century, many of the cars which crowd the parking lot when there's a big Lotto jackpot bear license plates from neighboring Alabama. Yet even while laying down a wad of bills for tickets, some customers swear they're against the game, says Loretta Hawthorne, the store manager.

"They'll come in here late at night and buy 'em and tell you they're for somebody else," she says with a smile.

Louisiana voters in October overturned a lottery ban prompted by a notoriously corrupt game a century ago. Opponents decry the new version as "a bloodsucker," but supporters say it will add tens of millions of dollars in revenue to the economically depressed state.

In Georgia, surveys of voters have found as much as 72 percent support for a lottery. The candidates in Tuesday's gubernatorial election, Democrat Zell Miller and Republican Johnny Isakson, debate how, not whether, Georgia's lottery should operate. Proceeds will go to education, both say.

The fight moves next to the legislature. The Atlanta Constitution has editorialized, "A lottery is a poor way to raise public money. ... Clearly, however, Georgia is going to have a lottery."

Arkansas came close to a lottery vote. Opponents challenged its constitutionality, and the state Supreme Court less than two weeks ago struck the ballot proposal, ruling its wording was incomplete.

In Mississippi, Gov. Ray Mabus backs a lottery to help pay for a $180 million package of school reforms. In the last legislative session, the state Senate turned down a House-passed bill to let voters decide on a lottery.

North Carolina's state Senate passed a lottery measure for the first time in the last session, but the House never voted on it. Lottery bills have gotten nowhere in Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina.

Professor Cook says historic opposition to lotteries, in the South and elsewhere, has been led mainly by governors and legislative leaders who were "resisting the will of the majority in taking that position." Cook is co-author, with Charles Clotfelter, of the book "Selling Hope: State Lotteries in America." Both teach at Duke in Durham, N.C.

Recalling the lottery referendum in Florida, Cook says, "They do have their fundamentalist region, but every region of the state voted for it. ...

"People see it as innocuous," he says.

"Mores of society change," says Bruce R. Smith, publisher of Gaming & Wagering Business, a trade publication. "Sincere people in their beliefs who were opposed to gaming in any form 30 years ago are probably still opposed to it today. Whether they have the same kind of strength ... I really wouldn't know."

Support for lotteries is documented in dollars. For the fiscal year ended in June, state lottery sales totalled $20.2 billion, according to Smith. About half goes to payouts, and, after administrative costs, roughly 37 percent on average is state profit.

Double Suicide

This was the scene Friday morning at the La Mondrian Hotel in West Hollywood, Calif., where two men wanted for questioning in the slaying of an 18-year-old University of Texas student died after they jumped from the 12th floor, police said. The men were identified as Matthew Michael Novatny, 22, and Jason Smith, 19.

Unemployment steady despite job losses

NATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's unemployment rate held at 5.7 percent in October after rising for three straight months, but big new job losses still cut across the U.S. economy, the government said Friday.

For the third month in a row, more industries lost jobs than gained them, the Labor Department said in a report analysts took as new evidence a recession is taking hold. Dramatic falloffs in construction and manufacturing jobs pushed non-farm payrolls down by 70,000, the agency said.

The jobless rate held steady rather than rising again only because the labor force, which had been growing slowly, shrank by 183,000 workers in October. Students' return to school probably explained much of that drop, economists said.

"This is strong evidence that the economy really has lost its footing now and slipped into recession," said Robert Dederick, chief economist at the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago.

The numbers "point to a worsening employment picture ... the employment situation continued to deteriorate in October," said Janet Norwood, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"It clearly shows a downturn ... I think you'd have to be pretty starry eyed to think otherwise," said Peter Radford of National Westminster Bancorp in New York.

In other discouraging news Friday, the Commerce Department said its Index of Leading Economic Indicators dropped 0.8 percent in September for its second straight decline. Three consecutive drops in that index are generally considered a sign that a recession is imminent.

Before October, the nation's unemployment rate had risen three months in a row, increasing half a percentage point from June's 5.2 percent rate.

Analysts have expected the nation's jobs outlook to continue to darken, partly because of the turmoil in the Persian Gulf. The oil price shock and the threat of war have left American businessmen skittish about adding employees, analysts said.

"They buttoned up the overcoat, put on the scarf and the galoshes, too. Businessmen really are preparing for the worst," Dederick said.

In addition, analysts add that the economy had shown little sign of life even before Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Many expect the jobless rate to continue climbing in coming months, possibly up to as much as 6.5 percent by next summer. Just in the past week, several major corporations announced large-scale job layoffs, and on Friday General Motors announced that it would idle 27,000 workers.

The nation's 70,000-job loss in October followed a September payroll decline of 52,000 jobs, the government said. A year ago, the economy was producing nearly 200,000 new jobs a month.

Construction lost 80,000 jobs last month to reflect a continued deterioration in the housing market. Over the past five months, that industry has seen jobs tumble by 185,000 and its unemployment rate surge from 9.7 percent to 13.2 percent, the government said.

In manufacturing, payrolls fell by 60,000 in October as that sector continued on an 18-month downward spiral. Since reaching a post recession peak in January 1989, the manufacturing sector has lost 580,000 jobs, the government said.

In another sign of weakness, the average work week for private businesses fell to 34.2 hours from 34.7 in September. That half-hour drop was the largest decline since the 1981-82 recession, when the work week dropped six-tenths of an hour in January 1982, from 35.0 hours to 34.4 hours.

The average manufacturing work week was down, too, registering at 40.8 hours in October, compared to the 41.1 hours in September.

"We got a double hit — we lost workers and in addition we lost average hours worked. This is consistent with the forecast that output is falling," said Laurence H. Meyer, who heads a St. Louis economic forecasting firm.

The service-producing sector added 74,000 jobs. But within the sector, retail trade lost 48,000 jobs and wholesale trade lost 11,000 jobs. Job cutbacks in department stores have totaled about 80,000 since May 1989, the government said.

Most of the service sector growth came from health services, which continued to show robust job growth, adding 60,000 new jobs last month.

Labor costs were unchanged, as the average hourly worker made $10.13 an hour in October, just as in September.

Overall, total civilian employment was about 117.7 million in October while the jobless numbered just over 7 million.

In a separate calculation of unemployment that counts members of the armed services stationed in the United States, the October jobless rate was 5.6 percent, unchanged from September.

Klan leader calls Gantt 'crooked black politician'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A national Ku Klux Klan leader said Friday that Democratic Senate candidate Harvey Gantt was "another crooked black politician" whose victory over Jesse Helms would help boost the group's membership.

Imperial Wizard J.W. Farrands told The Associated Press in a telephone interview that Gantt should be elected "so they can see what a black politician can do."

Farrands, who heads the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, one of numerous klan groups, was asked to explain his group's announcement of its "endorsement" of Gantt's candidacy.

"If they elect him, they'll find out we've got another crooked black politician," Farrands said. "He'll tax everybody equally as long as they're working people and give all their money to the poor and downtrodden.

"God help the state of North Carolina," he said. "That's what they need."

Gantt did not return numerous telephone calls the AP made Friday to his Charlotte campaign office. Campaign officials would not comment on Farrands' statements. The election is Tuesday.

Helms, the incumbent conservative Republican, was en route to a rally late Friday and could not immediately be reached for comment.

Gantt, who was the first black mayor of Charlotte, has accused Helms of trying to make race an issue in the campaign through television advertisements that discuss hiring quotas for minorities.

Helms has defended the spots as raising legitimate issues about hiring quotas and Gantt's background.

Earlier Friday, Gantt vowed to stay on the "high road" in the campaign's final days.

John Kennedy Jr. passes bar exam

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — John F. Kennedy Jr., who twice flunked the New York bar examination, passed the Connecticut bar exam Friday, allowing him to practice law in the state.

Kennedy, 29, took the Connecticut and New York exams last summer. The New York results were expected next week.

Kennedy, a graduate of New York University Law School, was among 1,081 people who passed the Connecticut test out of 1,489 people who took it.

If Kennedy fails the New York bar, he will lose his job as a prosecutor in the office of Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau, who allows assistants three shots at the test.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1990

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: A complicated situation will come to a head by the end of December. Making a fresh start in January will increase your financial security. Give your loved ones plenty of emotional support. They need your encouragement more than you realize! Seek the spotlight at work next May. A move to another city will put you in touch with valuable new allies. A romantic fling adds glamour to your social life.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Charles Bronson, comic Dennis Miller, boxer Larry Holmes, quarterback Phil Simms.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Keep your goals in proper perspective and you will do just fine. Act greedy, however, and you may be the one who ends up shortchanged. A chance meeting could spell romance this evening.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Try to be more careful with your money. Accept an invitation only if certain that someone else will foot the bill. A prominent person bestows a personal favor. There may be strings attached.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It may be time to clear the air with your mate or partner. Try not to make specific plans until you feel on more solid ground. A child could be obstinate. Back off; use a softer approach.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Young people play a more important role in your plans now. Do not take on more responsibility than you can handle. Someone close to you feels competitive. Avoid indulging in power plays.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Serious matters may require legal attention. Catch up on odd jobs. A conservative friend makes some changes that surprise you. Watch what you eat.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Someone's words could be misinterpreted. Do not let your friends' problems sap your strength. If you get caught up in their dreams, you will not be free to pursue your own objectives.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Although you receive credit for effort and determination today, others may question your accomplishments. Time will prove you right. Singles should be cautious about dates tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be generous when assessing other people and they will probably return the favor. Restless energy may make it hard for you to concentrate today. Join a large group tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your high intelligence makes it easy for you to solve other people's problems. Unfortunately, you may not handle your own affairs quite so well. Relax at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A good day for household chores and self-improvement projects. Pay more attention to your personal appearance, especially if in the market for a new romantic partner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): If you feel confused about the general direction of your life, talk things over with a close friend. Then set specific goals and work toward them. Enlist the cooperation of your family.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Conclude the week by going over your financial situation. Making up a new budget will not do any good unless you stick to it. Charitable acts will pay off handsomely in the near future.

TODAY'S CHILDREN rarely accept people or things at face value. Born skeptics, they want to demand proof of assertion. Resourceful and charming, these Scorpios are usually able to get answers to the many questions they ask. In school, they tend to give their attention only to those subjects that interest them. Encourage them to broaden their interests a little. Strong nesting instincts lead many of today's children to marry and become parents in their early 20s.

Cruise, Fox, Sununu top list of best-dressed short men

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Stern, the 5-foot-2 president of Short Sizes Inc., wanted to show that short men can dress for success, so four years ago he started developing the list of the "10 Best-Dressed Shorter Men in America."

Cruise

Fox

At the top of the clothier's list this year: actors Tom Cruise and Michael J. Fox and White House Chief of Staff John Sununu.

Cruise and Sununu are the tallest on the list. Both are 5-foot-9, the maximum height for the list.

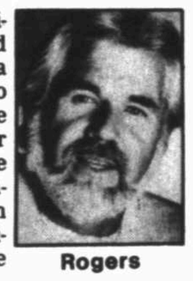

Stern said Cruise is a trendsetter who has turned black sunglasses and black silk shirts into a national passion, while Sununu "never beats around the bush" in both politics and dress.

Fox, 5-foot-5, was named to the list for the third consecutive year for "charmingly combining a tux jacket and shirt with washed jeans and tennis shoes," Stern said.

Others listed, in "descending" order, are novelist Tom Wolfe and the former host of television's "This Old House," Bob Vila, both 5-foot-8; singer Billy Joel, Broadway actor Robert Morse and Cleveland Mayor Michael R. White, 5-foot-7; gymnast and television sports analyst Bart Connor, 5-foot-6; and actor-director Danny DeVito, 5-foot-1.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Kenny Rogers broke his rule against honoring requests at concerts because someone offered to donate $25,000 to a charity in the country singer's name.

Rogers

Rogers told the audience Wednesday he had received a letter from a man asking Rogers to sing "Through the Years" as a surprise for the man's wife on the couple's 11th anniversary. Rogers wrote the man — Jeff Burd, 31, of Edison, N.J. — that he doesn't honor requests.

But Burd, a financial consultant, persisted. His second note included an offer to give a check for $25,000 to a charity in Rogers' name.

Rogers said he was moved by the gesture. So he sang "Through the Years," and performed a bonus number, "You Decorated My Life."

He said the donation would benefit a shelter for the homeless in Athens, Ga., where Rogers lives. So far, he has raised about $150,000 to build the shelter.

Burd and his wife, Louvette, flew to Rochester for the concert. Backstage at the Rochester War Memorial, where Rogers was appearing with Dolly Parton, Burd gave his check to Rogers' road manager, Gene Roy.

Was the serenade worth $25,000?

"Definitely," Burd said. "Kenny did more than I could ask. I had requested the song from me to my wife, but he sang it for both of us. He did it better than I asked."

NEW YORK (AP) — Maureen O'Boyle will succeed Maury Povich next season on the syndicated "A Current Affair" program that Povich has anchored since 1986, a spokesman said Friday.

O'Boyle, a Charlotte, N.C., native who began her career at WECT-TV in Wilmington, N.C., currently serves as anchorwoman of the program's weekend edition. She has been anchoring the show's weekday version the last four weeks.

Povich, whose contract with the series expires in June, is leaving to co-produce and star in his own talk show.

The 51-year-old anchorman is married to CBS News star Connie Chung, who earlier this season decided to postpone her scheduled "Face to Face With Connie Chung" series because she wanted to try to have a baby. She is continuing to do "Face to Face" specials.

OOLOGAH, Okla. (AP) — Four of Will Rogers' classic comedies from the 1930s will be released on video early next year, officials said Friday.

James Griffiths, senior vice president for 20th Century Fox, announced the plans in Oologah, where residents of the humorist's hometown were celebrating Will Rogers Days.

Rogers, who was born 111 years ago Sunday, made 20 talking movies. He died in a 1935 plane crash in Alaska.

The four movies are among 2,000 old classics stored away in a California movie library.

Griffiths said the release, a joint project of 20th Century Fox and CBS-Fox Video, was prompted by Jimmy Rogers, the humorist's son.

"He is never remembered as an actor," Rogers said. "I asked dad about his career once and he said he thought of himself as an actor. This is why we are happy to have these come out."

The four movies — "Ambassador Bill," "A Connecticut Yankee," "Mr. Skitch" and "Doubting Thomas" — were picked as a representation of Rogers' works.

NATION IN BRIEF

Boycott urged over appointee

MIAMI (AP) — Blacks and Cuban-Americans are at it again in this city where bad ethnic relations seldom get a rest.

This time, blacks are outraged at the appointment of a Cuban school superintendent in the nation's fourth largest school district.

A 53-year-old veteran black administrator who twice served as interim chief was passed over to promote 39-year-old Octavio Visiedo. Dade County Superintendent Paul Bell died of a heart attack Oct. 16 after eight months on the job.

Some blacks reacted to the appointment by calling for a county-wide boycott by black students and workers on election day, hoping to draw attention to charges of inbred racism in the city's power structure.

"Miami is the Selma (Ala.) of the 1990s," said Ray Fauntroy, head of the Miami-Dade Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "It deserves the negative publicity that it gets."

Black leaders called Friday for the black community to vote on election day. Some were afraid a black boycott might be misinterpreted as a call to stay away from the polls.

Remains may be sacred

NEW YORK (AP) — Skeletal remains were found Friday that were believed to be those of a former Haitian slave under consideration for sainthood, a medical examiner said.

"I'm sure we have his body," said Dr. Millard J. Hyland, chief medical examiner for Westchester County.

Roman Catholic Church officials hesitated to say whether two days of digging at a small cemetery in the Little Italy section of Manhattan succeeded until the remains of two adults found in the grave of Pierre Toussaint can be studied.

"They didn't come out of the ground in one piece," Hyland said.

No caskets were found in the grave, which is believed to contain the bodies of Toussaint, his wife and his niece. It is believed they were buried in wooden caskets, which would have disintegrated.

Toussaint was buried at Old St. Patrick's Church Cemetery after his death in 1853 at age 87.

As a preliminary part of the church's inquiry into his life so that he can be considered for sainthood, his skeletal remains were sought and will be moved to St. Patrick's Cathedral. They eventually would be distributed in Haiti and prominent churches if the church makes him a saint.

On Friday, workers, sometimes digging with their hands, found two slightly overlapping skeletons 8 to 9 feet beneath the ground.

Fraud warning issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission on Friday issued a warning to the public about clever salespeople who try to switch consumers' long-distance companies without their permission.

"Unauthorized switching sometimes happens as a result of unfair sales tactics," the FCC said, noting that some long-distance companies hire sales groups known as telemarketers to sell their services over the phone.

"The telemarketers can provide you with useful information about special promotions and reduced rates. Telemarketers may also misinterpret any agreement on your part to let them send you information about their company to mean that you are ordering their service," the FCC said.

"No one has the right to switch you to a company you don't want," the commission added. People who do get changed can switch back or to another company. Consumers who agreed to the first switch must pay a small charge. Those who didn't agree don't have to pay.

"However, you must pay for any long-distance calls you made using the unauthorized long-distance service," the FCC said.

State and federal authorities and local phone companies have received tens thousands of complaints about unauthorized switching, particularly in the wake of recent advertising wars between MCI, AT&T and US Sprint.

An AT&T official told a congressional hearing last month that 90,000 of its customers had been switched to another long-distance service against their will in the past six months. Most complaints have been against MCI, but there also have been complaints about US Sprint and AT&T itself.

Brando out of coma

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marlon Brando's daughter, a central figure in her half-brother's murder trial, regained consciousness Friday at a Tahiti hospital after slipping into a coma from a drug overdose.

Brando flew to Tahiti to be with his 20-year-old daughter, Cheyenne, who was taken to the hospital Thursday night after taking an overdose of tranquilizers and antidepressants, said Robert Shapiro, the lawyer for Miss Brando's half-brother, Christian.

Christian Brando, 32, faces a murder charge in the fatal shooting of his sister's Tahitian lover, Dag Drollet. His trial, scheduled to begin Monday, was postponed Friday until an appeals court can review Miss Brando's role in the case.

"It really puts a damper on every thing," Shapiro said of the overdose. "The concern of everyone now is for her health and recovery and the criminal case seems less important."

Deputy district attorneys Steven Barshop and William Clark said Friday they had no immediate comment on the developments.

Miss Brando left the United States a month after Drollet was slain and gave birth to Drollet's child in Tahiti. She refused to return to testify in the case and was accused by French authorities in Tahiti of being an accessory to Drollet's murder. She has not been allowed to leave the island.

Court blocks some Louisiana elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court on Friday blocked some judicial elections scheduled for Tuesday in Louisiana.

The court, by a 7-2 vote, granted an emergency request by blacks in the state who said the elections would violate the federal Voting Rights Act.

The court order barred elections for trial judges in 10 districts and appeals court judges in two districts.

The blacks said the districts — as well as the election date — are invalid because they have not been approved by the Justice Department as required by the voting rights law.

Some judges in the districts already were elected in an Oct. 6 primary. The blacks said they should be barred from taking office.

Friday's high court order also suspends any run-off elections for the affected districts.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Anti-drug pact to cover globe

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A new global pact that provides for seizure of drug traffickers' bank accounts and property means "there is no place for them to hide throughout the world," U.S. Attorney General Dick Thornburgh said Friday.

The accord also commits nations to extradite accused drug traffickers to the countries where they face charges.

"It aims to hit the drug traffickers where it hurts the most; that is to say, in their freedom of movement and their liberty," said Margaret J. Anstee, coordinator of all U.N.-drug control activities. Both she and Thornburgh spoke about the new pact at a news conference at the United Nations.

Adoption leave awarded

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The Supreme Court on Friday granted paternity leave to a man seeking to adopt two children and ruled his employer's refusal to grant the paid leave violated Swiss laws guarateeing sexual equality.

The state-run hospital where the man works provides for 16 weeks of paid leave to pregnant women and to women who adopt children who are under 10 years old.

The man, a computer engineer who was not identified, applied for paternity leave in 1984 to travel to Peru to adopt two children. His request was rejected although the children were under 10.

The court upheld the man's contention that failure to grant leave to both men and women violates Swiss laws guarateeing sexual equality at work.

Gas-proof kennels sold

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israelis worried about what might happen to their pets during a chemical-weapons attack can rest easier. A Tel Aviv company on Friday began advertising gas-proof kennels.

The Jerusalem Post carried a front-page ad for the kennels, marketed by a company that already sells gas-proof tents for babies and special gas masks for Otrhodox men whose beards and side curls interfere with the fit of a standard mask.

The Israeli government has so far distributed more than 3 million gas masks.

WATER WHEEL
The soft splash of water tumbling over a water wheel creates a cool and rustic retreat right in your own backyard. There's a full-size traceable section for the wheel and the base is an easy-to-build box made from marine-grade plywood. Your plants will love the mist created by the slowly turning wheel. Drainage holes allow the water to return to the recirculating pump (available at most hardware and home centers).

PART-TIME INCOME AVAILABLE

The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several routes which need to be re-filled with qualified, responsible individuals. Now is one of the best times ever to obtain a route in your area!

Often asked questions:

Is it worthwhile for adults also?

Yes! Our current carrier force is already 65% adult and 35% youth. Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:
- ADULTS who have full-time jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
- MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a carrier, you do not need daycare!
- COLLEGE STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
- YOUTHS who are involved in afternoon school functions, but want to work!
- SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors, and friends.

How much money can I make as a carrier?

Depending on the size of the route(s) from $200 to $600 monthly! Some motor routes make even more. Although no motor routes are expected to be available, depending on your service record, you may qualify to move up to a motor route later!

How long does it take?

The actual delivery takes 1 - 2 hours Monday - Saturday, and 2 - 3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the route(s). Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many carriers choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subscribers' papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!

When do papers have to be delivered by?

6 AM Monday - Friday
and 7 AM on Saturday and Sunday

Do I ever get a day off?

The job requires a 7-day a week commitment. However, carriers do take days off by finding a friend or family member to substitute for them!

RESERVE YOUR ROUTE NOW!

Thinking of leasing a new apartment?

Consider the comments of this Rental Expert.

Initially, I thought all rental agents were the same - they just wanted to lease apartments.

Yet, at Polo Park they really did try to help me find just the right apartment to suit my needs. Plus, they helped me get familiar with the area and made my move a pleasant experience.

But the final factor affecting my decision to lease my new apartment from Polo Park was the "We Care" Attitude of the entire staff and the service and attention I received personally. I really felt like my concerns were important and when it comes to making a decision about moving I feel thats important.

Thinking of leasing a new apartment?

Consider the comments of this Rental Expert.

Initially, I thought all rental agents were the same - they just wanted to lease apartments.

Yet, at Polo Park they really did try to help me find just the right apartment to suit my needs. Plus, they helped me get familiar with the area and made my move a pleasant experience.

But the final factor affecting my decision to lease my new apartment from Polo Park was the "We Care" Attitude of the entire staff and the service and attention I received personally. I really felt like my concerns were important and when it comes to making a decision about moving I feel thats important.
