Meditation Planned

BROOKLINE, Mass (AP)—In an attempt to prove that mind can prevail over matter - and the force of gravity - a group of psychokinesis adherents is planning a mass meditation to keep Skylab from falling.

The mass meditation, scheduled to begin May 25 at 1 p.m. EDT, is designed to prove psychokinesis works and to keep the 85-ton satellite from plunging to Earth and causing "a lot of damage," says Chris Kilham, spokesman for the Brookline Psychoenergetics Institute, which is organizing the event.

Silkwood Wins

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)-A federal court jury today awarded the Karen Silkwood estate $10.5 million in damages in connection with the plutonium contamination suit against Kerr-McGee Corp.

The jury awarded $505,000 in actual damages and $10 million in punitive damages.

Automakers Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter summoned the nation's big four automakers to the White House today to discuss a program aimed at developing a safe, fuel-thrifty and non-polluting "car of the future."

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, who set up the meeting, has called for domestic automakers to "re-invent the automobile."

Now the Carter administration seems on the verge of offering federal help in doing that.

Carter Attacked

COZUMEL, Mexico (AP)-Fidel Castro said Cuba's relations with the Carter administration were "perfectly awful," despite some improvement, and that the U.S. blockade of his Communist-ruled island was "one of the most miserable acts that I know."

"We cannot even buy one aspirin from the United States for a toothache. But this is nothing compared to trying to save the life of a child, when we also cannot buy medicine," the Cuban president told a news conference Thursday night.

Castro, visiting Mexico for the first time since he launched his revolution 23 years ago, said the "fundamental obstacles" to better relations with the United States were the blockade and the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, which the United States has refused to vacate.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News passes along this one. A frightened householder excitedly reported to police headquarters that he had been struck down in the dark outside his back door by an unknown assailant.

A young policeman was sent to the scene of the crime to investigate. He returned soon with a lump on his forehead and a glum look on his face, and reported, "Solved the case."

The chief said, "Amazingly fast work. How did you accomplish it?"

"I stepped on the rake, too," said the young cop.

The Ballinger Ledger has a report about a dog who had a taste for fiberglass bumpers. It seems that the pooch took after this customized van and after forcing it to stop, ripped apart the special flared bumper.

Which just goes to show that a dog isn't necessarily a van's best friend.

Orlin Brewer of the Vernon Record says he was in Canyon the other day and found that public school teachers there were petitioning the administration and board to lift a rule which prohibits teachers from growing beards and mustaches. He was surprised in the first place to learn that the Canyon School had such a rule, and even more so when he discovered that females as well as males on the faculty were promoting the petition.

However, they apparently were keeping things in perspective. One petition leader was quoted as saying, "This is not a life and death situation, and it does not involve an increase in pay, but it does relate to human rights."

WTC Grads Urged To Have Controlled Pride

Western Texas College graduates were advised last night to have pride without arrogance as they move along in life.

Dr. James H. Granberry, the speaker for the annual commencement program held in the central courtyard on the WTC campus, said that everyone should take pride in whatever he or she does. But he warned that pride should never extend to arrogance "because there is always someone out there who will cut you down."

Granberry, an orthodontist and former mayor of Lubbock who also was Republican nominee for Governor of Texas in 1974, emphasized that the graduates themselves would have the most control over their future. He said various factors may play roles in their lives, but in the final analysis it will be the determination of the individual that sets the course.

He urged the new graduates to set their sights high and learn to relate to their fellowmen in a manner that will enhance achievement.

"You will have it as you will," he concluded.

The courtyard was filled with relatives and friends of the graduating class. The official welcome was extended by R.C. Patton, president of the board of trustees, and Dr. Granberry was introduced by Dr. Robert L. Clinton, WTC president.

Dr. Ben Brock, WTC vice president, presented diplomas to the associate in arts degree candidates, while Dr. Gene McClurg, dean of occupational education and technology, awarded diplomas to the associate in applied science degree candidates and certificates of technology.

The Rev. Monte Jones, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, gave the invocation, and the Rev. Gary West, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, the benediction.

Merchants Plan Trades Day Event

An old fashion trades day and worthless check hot line were top items of discussion by the retail committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

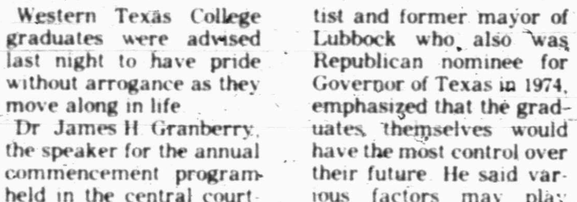
Danny Fenton and Howard Limmer are co-chairmen of the Trades Day which will be held June 16. Plans call for individual booths on the courthouse square.

Local citizens will be invited to set up booths and conduct garage sales, sell produce and fruit or to show and sell crafts.

Booths will be available to any individual, club, or church group as long as they are non-commercial.

Retail chairman Bill Dryden also discussed a worthless check hot line that will be established and operated by local merchants. The system calls for a calling tree to alert fellow merchants of check problems. In addition, a uniform check cashing policy will be established throughout the city.

The committee also discussed the possibility of requesting a city ordinance that would require itinerant merchants to seek a permit before conducting business.



SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Thursday, 83 degrees, low, 62 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today, 63 degrees, precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1979-to date, 4.14.

Graduations Tonight At Area Schools

Ira, Hermleigh and Hobbs are holding commencement exercises tonight.

Services at Ira begin at 7:30 in the gymnasium. The baccalaureate ceremony is being combined with commencement exercises. June Middlebrooks, pastor of the Church of God Church in Ira, will deliver the speech.

In Hermleigh, commencement exercises will begin at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Mickey Nunley, president of RS&P Railroad, will be the speaker.

The ceremonies at Hobbs school are set to begin at 8 p.m. Dr. Gil Fleer, associate professor of psychology and sociology at Western Texas College will address the students.

Hobby Orders 12 Solons Arrested

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby ordered the arrest today of 12 senators who failed to show up for a morning Senate session, apparently to halt action on several controversial bills.

Kelly Arnold, Senate sergeant-at-arms, gave Department of Public Safety officers the home addresses of missing senators.

"Check every office in the Senate," he told assistant sergeants. "Then we'll discharge the DPS and Texas Rangers to get those members that are outside the Capitol."

"Mrs. Sergeant, you and those officers appointed by you are directed to arrest and bring to the Senate chamber those members of the Senate determined to be absent by the last roll call vote," Hobby said at 10 a.m.

Hobby has told reporters he plans to schedule Senate action on a bill critics claim could be used to pass a presidential primary measure. The lieutenant governor favors holding a presidential primary on a separate day for general party primaries.

The Senate needs two-thirds of the 31 members, or 21 senators, to conduct business. By staying away, the 12 absentees deprive the body of a quorum.

The absent senators, all Democrats, were:

Chet Brooks of Pasadena, Ron Clower of Garland, Lloyd Doggett of Austin, Gene Jones of Houston, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio, Raul Longoria of Edinburg, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, Bill Patman of Canado, Carl Parker of Port Arthur, A.R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston, Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi and Bob Vale of San Antonio.

Bostick Resigns Principal's Post

Horrace Bostick, principal of Snyder High School for the past 10 years and a former coach and athletic director, announced this morning that he was submitting his resignation, effective at the end of the school year.

Bostick said he had no immediate plans, but had been considering taking early retirement for some time. He has been associated with Snyder Public Schools since 1951 and prior to that was with the Rotan Public Schools two years, making a total of 30 years in public education.

He came here as an assistant football coach under Head Coach Speedy Moffett. He was named head football coach and athletic director when John Connally left in 1961 to join the coaching staff at Texas Tech. Five years later he became vice principal at Snyder High School and in 1969 he became principal. A native of Big Spring, Bostick graduated from high school there and then attended Texas Christian University on a football scholarship.

"Nobody could have planned a career to work out any better than mine," Bostick said this morning after announcing his plans to his faculty. "And nobody could have enjoyed their work more than I have enjoyed my duties with Snyder Public Schools. There has never been a day when I dreaded coming up here. However, some of the work as an administrator has become strenuous and increasingly demanding. I just decided that I should step down and give more attention to personal interests."

Mrs. Bostick is a teacher at East Elementary School, and she plans to continue teaching, Bostick said.

Operations Budget For School Cut

Snyder School Trustees and administrators came up with some tentative operating budget figures for 1979-80 last night, but still must await word from Austin on the biggest item—salaries.

Following a long session Thursday night, budget minus salaries was pegged at $1,459,091 (or $1,469,136 depending on a possible grant). This represents a decrease from $1,507,678 for the 1978-79 year.

Instruction costs are expected to decline from $281,948 to $272,669 and pupil transportation is budgeted for $123,000, a decline from $154,000. Other items showing decreases include school ad-

Shriners Arriving Here For Spring Ceremonial

Shriners of the Suez Temple were arriving in Snyder today to open their annual spring ceremonial.

Registration was underway at the Scurry County Coliseum, and ceremonial headquarters were set up at the American Motor Inn.

Shriners and their wives will be engaged in a number of activities which will continue through Sunday morning when a breakfast at the Towle Park Barn will conclude the event.

One of the highlights for the public will be the parade Saturday morning. It will feature sheriff's posses, the National Guard color guard, the high school band and clowns. One of the most colorful entries will be the famous Shrine Motor Patrol from Big Spring.

The ceremonial this spring honors Snyderite Jim Simpson and also pays tribute to the late Ed Schulz. Some 400 Shriners and wives are expected here for the weekend event.

Dalton Walton of Snyder is the Ceremonial Master, and Ray Robison of Sanderson is the Suez Shrine Temple Potentate.

hope for sanity

The shabby treatment the House of Representatives handed President Carter's request for standby gas rationing indicates there might be some sanity on Capitol Hill after all.

We don't mean to be too appreciative. It is the policies originating on Capitol Hill, to be sure, which have created the dislocations and shortages in the first place. It takes not a little orneriness and perversity and stupidity to be able to subsidize OPEC all these years, as Congress has mandated the government do.

The government subsidizes the international oil cartel by hamstringing the oil companies at home - who, no matter how venal Jimmy Carter says they are, have a special interest in keeping American motorists mobilized.

We may complain all we wish about the long gas lines. And it is right that we focus our thoughts on Congress as we fume and fulminate. Those lines really needn't have been but they are the entirely predictable result of the politicians getting in the way of domestic oil production.

The long lines are in fact a natural form of rationing, and they are far more just and equitable than any scheme the government can engineer. Higher prices are a natural form of rationing, too, and they are more fair as well.

Government-mandated rationing has no reliable calculus when it comes to deciding who should receive gas and who should not. Do some people, under a free market, fill up with half a tank or take Sunday drives, thereby wasting fuel for everybody else? So would they under a government plan. And they would be part of a discriminatory policy against the poor and those desperate for transportation to their jobs.

Rationing discriminates in favor of those who can afford the latest, most fuel efficient models of Detroit handiwork. It did that during the 1973 Arab boycott and will do so again, if the president gets his rationing papers.

Possibly some 1973 memories prevailed in Congress the other day. Those memories may have been a blessing for motorists, who will have a much better chance under the free market.

Besides, controlling personal transportation from a remote seat of government is a thoroughly totalitarian thing to do.

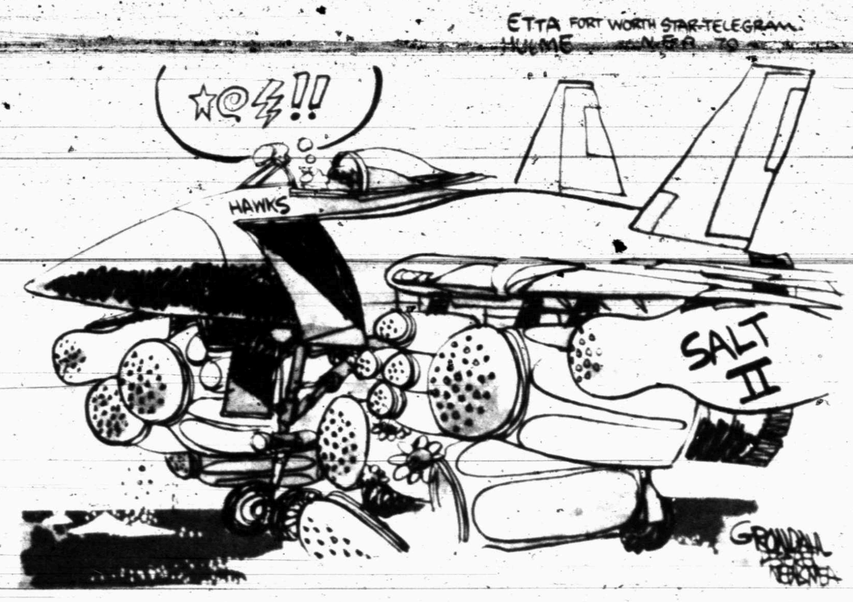
Recalling that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, by its own admission, oversees funds which have lost hundreds of millions of dollars to fraud, it is not surprising that HEW's bloated bureaucracy would squander $100,000 celebrating its 25th anniversary--and then try to claim it was only $15,000.

Thanks to energetic reporting by wire service reporters, the General Accounting Office looked into the matter and agreed that HEW credibility isn't very credible. The department did indeed go overboard on its birthday bash at the taxpayers' expense and to this day continues to hedge about accounting for the total cost.

From a $36,000-a-year HEW consultant who spent half a year preparing for the event to concerts, exhibit booths and assorted HEW functionaries who participated, the bash was considerably more involved than the usual office party. Resorting to the usual bureaucratic delaying tactics to requests for a total accounting hasn't earned HEW'S credibility any compliments. But, then, it wasn't very good to begin with.



at wits end

by erma bombeck

I think I've finally figured out why an increasing number of graduates do not want to show up for graduation ceremonies.

It has nothing to do with apathy, rebellion against tradition, or an insensitivity to what parents want.

What it does have to do with is that many graduates are ashamed to have their names revealed. As the wife of an educator, I've seen my share of graduations. It is always the same. At some point, the principal will pick up a diploma and announce into the microphone, "VERNON VALENTINE TURK." A hush will fall over the auditorium as the graduates look at one another, not daring to believe they're sitting next to a Vernon Valentine.

Finally, a macho senior with thighs the size of pier pilings, a tattoo on his tongue, who wears his letter sweater to bed, will lumber across the stage to claim his distinction. No matter what he has accomplished as "Stud Turk," it has all gone down the drain in that one Vernon-Valentine moment.

After the laughter has subsided, some of the more compassionate graduates will actually walk up to him (or her) and say something awkward like, "I didn't know. I really admire you."

Parents get carried away with names at birth. Most of them never think they're going to hear them over a loud speaker in an auditorium. Some of them say, "If you don't like your name, go with a nickname." This sometimes puts a child in a real decision-making position. Does she want to be called her real name, "Beulah," or "Go with "Fats?" Does he want to be called by his given name, "Edsel," or ride with "His Accidency?" No matter what, the jig is up at graduation.

At my graduation, I sat next to my good friend, Mary Van Dyke Jones. Thinking her name was too long for a diploma, she substituted initials for Van Dyke. She shouldn't have done that.

A few people manage to survive their names. Imagine if you will a graduation exercise where the principal calls out Marion Michael Morrison and John Wayne ambles across the state, or Vincent Damon Furnier is called and rock star Alice Cooper stands up.

If you still dread graduation this year, imagine what it will be like when Cher's daughter, Chastity Bono, or David Bowie's son, Zowie Bowie, walks across the stage.

And be strong.

Microfische To Be Boiled

WASHINGTON (AP)-A crockpot full of boiling microfiche will soon be a staple of 1,300 Social Security Administration district offices around the country.

Faced with finding a simple way to destroy thousands of bits of computer information stored on each of the little plastic cards, headquarters officials sent out the word: Put the fiche in a crockpot, cover with water and boil at least 75 minutes. Discard when done. Old microfiche files, revised four times a year, were hard to discard. They could be fed into office shredders, but only one at a time. And besides, they dulled the blades. New shredders are expected in about two years. Until then, the crockpots will have to do.

donald f. graff

"He looks like a chief justice," observed the president in announcing the appointment.

That was May 21, 1969, and Warren Earl Burger certainly did. White-haired, handsome, dignified, he could have been Central Casting's choice for the job.

He was however, Richard Nixon's, whose hope it was that the new chief justice would preside over a new era on the United States Supreme Court, one of "strict constructionism" that through narrow interpretations of the Constitution would modify if not reverse the liberal impact of the court's previous and historic 16 years under Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Warren Burger during the decade past has certainly presided over a different court. It has dealt with questions -- obscenity, capital punishment, abortion, press liberties -- no less difficult and fundamental to American society than the civil liberties oriented decisions for which the Warren court was most noted. But there the resemblance ends.

Where the Warren decisions, if often controversial, clearly stated broadly applicable principles, the current court has as often shown itself divided in opinion, limited in vision and ambiguous in reasoning. Rather than clarifying issues, it has confused them, leading to further inconclusive litigation.

The court has indeed taken a conservative course, as desired by the president who largely shaped it. But it has not done so cohesively. It has not developed and expressed a coherent philosophy and a consistent approach to basic constitutional questions.

That may or may not be desirable. A criticism of the largely cohesive, consistent Warren court was that it usurped powers, that if often was in fact not adjudicating but legislating.

There would appear to be less debate, however, about another characteristic of the present court -- the dissension that increasingly marks even its conservative majority. This is evidenced in the notable increase in the number of dissents and separate opinions on a single issue, where failure to reach a clear consensus raises problems for lower courts in applying the rulings. And in the nonconsensus the chief justice, to whom compromise does not come easily, is not infrequently at outspoken odds with his colleagues.

This is, in fact, not a "Burger court" in the sense that its predecessor was the "Warren court." The present chief justice has not asserted leadership through either personality or intellect. Nor, at least on the evidence of his first 10 years, has he written a place for himself in history with his decisions.

These have the appearance of having been shaped less by the validity or otherwise of points at issue than according to preconceived principle. His community standards "answer to the definition of obscenity, for example has been read in some communities as writ to apply the standards of Cedar Rapids to Las Vegas, prompting a snarl of litigation on the question of how far local authority extends over material disseminated nationally.

And while Burger himself has cultivated some thing of an adversary relationship with the media the highly controversial series of press rights decisions of the last several years might well be called the work of the White court since the most crucial have been written by Associate Justice Byron White.

If the chief justice has made any historic mark to date, it is as an administrator and reformer. He has taken his role as overseer of the federal judiciary seriously. The current expansion of federal judgeships by more than a third owes a great deal to Burger's personal lobbying efforts in Congress.

Burger has also assumed the role of conscience of the legal brotherhood, pressing a somewhat reluctant profession to put its house in order and shape up its standards.

The Burger tenure may be far from over with much history still to be written. But at this point, while Warren Burger looks every bit as much the chief justice as he did 10 years ago the jury is still out on his performance as such.

use problem

NEW YORK (AP) What should American industry do after having spent in recent years $70 billion a year for office information systems, only to find that office productivity has barely increased at all?

Spend more. Yes, more, says Harvey Poppel of Booz, Allen & Hamilton. Spend more, and within 10 years the potential savings will be hundreds of billions of dollars a year. He stakes his future on it.

Laggard office productivity, he states, is not the fault of machines -- the typewriters, copiers, computers and mail and telephone devices. The problem, he says, is one of proper usage, a management problem.

Office automation, says Poppel, whose background at the big consulting firm is in both management and technology, has been applied mainly to clerical procedures, where the savings potential is relatively low.

Now, he maintains, industry must automate the professional and management areas, where savings could be enormous but where the target is more elusive, one of the reasons it has been ignored to now.

"In fact, our projections show that with better professional-level productivity, the gross savings to U.S. business could amount to more than $300 billion annually by 1990," he states.

Numbers of that size talk. Financed by technology producers and users, Booz, Allen has begun a 10-month study to document its estimates -- to make a case that will stand the scrutiny of the business executive.

Those are the words of Poppel, senior vice president, who says he has done enough limited, specific studies to feel confident in making this larger one. He would not have taken the step five years ago, he said.

Since then technology has improved. "I've watched it ripen to a point where it can do most of the things we feel need to be done," he said.

Among initial supporters of the study are American Telephone & Telegraph, International Business Machines, International Telephone & Telegraph, and Xerox, potential beneficiaries as both makers and users.

Their interest was sharpened by those earlier studies hinting at the possibilities.

That, for instance, up to 30 percent of business travel might be eliminated by "teleconferencing."

Or that professionals often don't do what they're paid for, such as to analyze and communicate, but instead spend it in search of data that should be available at the touch of a button.

So much time is also spent seeking and absorbing information from print, or telephoning, or sitting in informational meetings that it leaves only 30 percent of time for analysis, Poppel has determined.

How incongruous, he thinks, that there has been such an enormous growth in clerical systems? high speed copiers, computers, "smart" telephone systems, memory type systems, memory typewriters -- and so little for professionals.

U.N. Program Spends In U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) The United States contributed $115 million to the U.N. Development Program in 1978, but the program spent $129 million in the United States, the U.N. Association of the United States reports.

It said the development program's spending in the United States included $37.2 million for experts' salaries, $18 million for equipment, $13.2 million in subcontracts, $55.7 million for administrative and support services and $5 million for fellowships.

my turn

by john dunnam

Graduation season is here again. Once more it is time to memorize the spelling of baccalaureate and prepare to listen to speakers muse on the significance of the final rites being called commencement when the word means the beginning.

By definition, it is the valedictorian who takes care of the good-byes when, as high ranking student, he makes the valedictory or farewell speech. The salutation or greeting is charged to the second ranking student or salutatorian.

Western Texas College kicked off this year's ceremonies last night when it launched 111 graduates into a new phase of their lives. May it be as successful as the last.

Tonight, Ira and Hobbs will each graduate eight seniors and Hermleigh a dozen. Next Thursday Borden County sends ten out into the world and May 29 Colorado City confers diplomas on about 100 students. Finally on June 1, Snyder High School will march 195 seniors down the aisle in the coliseum for their diplomas.

One thing that caught my eye at Hermleigh is that the valedictorian and salutatorian in the high school and junior high classes are all boys. Way to go fellows. For the seniors it is Wesley Kruger and Curtis Tate and in junior high, David Peterson and Kevin Roemisch captured academia's highest crowns.

At Ira it is the other way around with four girls making a clean sweep. For the senior class it is Brenda Cooley and Sheila Kellner proving that beauty and brains can be packaged in the same body and in the eighth grade it is Julie Kellner, Sheila's little sister, and Kathy Bryant. What can I say? My hat is off to you ladies.

One thing curious I noticed at Ira. There are many more boys in the elementary grades on the honor roll than girls. How times change. In my day making good grades was something girls did and a trait not easily overlooked in boys. Although we realized some guys just couldn't help it, smart was almost synonymous with sissy. In that respect I was very macho. Just lucky I guess.

NEW EXHIBIT--Marcia Fuller, descendant of an early-day Scurry County ranching family, wore the gown shown above in 1961 when she was selected to represent Fort Worth in the Queen's Court for the Fiesta of San Jacinto in San Antonio. The gown is now on exhibit in the Scurry County Museum.

Fiesta Gown New Museum Exhibit

A team of steamstresses and designers worked for almost a year on the elegant costume placed on exhibit in the lobby of the Scurry County Museum for Museum Day today.

The gown was worn by Marcia Fuller in April, 1961, when she was a member of the Queen's Court in the Fiesta of San Jacinto in San Antonio. It contains approximately 40 yards of Italian velveteen, dusty rose in color, and is elaborately decorated with sequins and other ornaments.

The Juliet type headdress is a face framing crown with a starburst of French rhinestones.

Area residents who have visited the museum in Colorado City in years past may have seen the costume displayed there. That museum is being revamped, and the directors of the museum presented the costume to the Scurry County Museum since its original owner was the descendant of an early-day Scurry County family.

The Scurry County Museum, located on the south side of the Western Texas College campus, is open each weekday and from 1-5 p.m. on Sundays with no admission charge. Group tours may be arranged by calling the museum office at 573-6107.

Opening lead ♣3

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South explained his pass at two spades had been made because he just felt unlucky. Actually, he would only be able to make nine tricks if West held both the queen of diamonds and king of clubs. As both those nice cards were held by East, South was sure of 11 tricks if he played carefully.

The game was match point duplicate and West made one of those back in doubles. He just didn't want to let his opponents play at two spades. East bid his clubs and South accepted the push and bid three spades.

When this bid came around to East, he committed the unpardonable sin of punishing his partner for being aggressive. He doubled three spades!

East should have been delighted with the three-spade contract. If he could beat it one trick he would get a very good score because his partner's double had pushed South too high.

Of course, South made those easy 11 tricks for plus 1130 and a top score instead of a bad score for missing a game.

An Illinois reader asks what we rebid after partner responds two clubs to our one-spade opening.

We rebid two hearts. A two-spade rebid might shut out the heart suit in case partner also holds four hearts.

It's Safety First For 4-H Cyclists

Half a million people are seriously injured in bicycle-related accidents every year. And a majority of them are children under the age of 14.

Two leading causes of bicycle accidents are poor "bike driving" skills and faulty equipment. For these reasons the 4-H bicycle program encourages young people to improve their bike handling abilities and their knowledge of safety and maintenance procedures.

4-H cyclists from 9 to 19 learn-by-doing to practice some basic safety rules:

-Observe all traffic laws and signals, just as automobiles must do.

-Drive near the curb in the same direction as traffic. Girls and boys should not drive bikes in traffic until they can understand and obey traffic rules.

-Walk--don't drive--a bicycle across busy intersections and leftturn corners.

-Don't carry a passenger or try stunts.

-Avoid driving in wet weather. When wet, hand brakes may require a long distance to stop.

-Don't wear loose clothing or long coats that can catch in pedals or wheels. Leg clips or bands keep pants legs from tangling in the chain.

-Keep all bicycle parts properly adjusted and in good operating condition.

Bicycle safety checks, skill driving contests and trouble-shooting events are educational and fun for 4-H members of all ages.

Six national winners received $1,000 scholarships donated by Goodyear. The company also provides medals of honor for four 4-H members in each county and a $50 U.S. savings bond for one 4-H'er per state. Fourteen sectional winners receive a week expense-paid trips to the 58th National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

All interested youth should contact the Scurry County Extension Office or the Texas Highway Patrol before the next meeting of the Scurry County Bicycle Project on Saturday, May 19, at 10 a.m. in the Scurry County Jail.

The following day Mark whispered confidentially to his mother that he'd looked through his telescope and seen God.

"What did he look like?" Mrs. Paster asked.

"He kinda looked like my dad," replied the youngster.

Women Are Considered For Rabbinate

NEW YORK (AP)—At the request of the faculty of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, chancellor Gerson D. Cohen has postponed until 1980 action on proposals to admit women as candidates for ordination as rabbis in Conservative Judaism.

A commission set up by Cohen, after exploring the issue for a year, reported it found no reason in Jewish law barring women from the rabbinate. But the faculty - both those opposing and favoring the step - asked more time to consider the change.

The Reform Branch of Judaism already admits women to the rabbinate, while the third branch, Orthodoxy, does not.

Novel Beef-Potato Combo Makes Dinnertime Harmony

The beef and potato man presents a menu planning problem to the wife who wants to serve exciting varied meals. The answer demands ingenuity.

Round steak roulades stuffed with potatoes and dry onion soup mix are one tasty and novel beef-potato partnership that solves the problem, according to meat cookery authority Reba Staggs, National Livestock and Meat Board. The flavor-packed rolls brim with high-quality protein, iron and vitamins for your man.

Beef-Potato Roulades

1½ to 2 pounds beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 envelope (1⅜ oz.) dry onion soup mix
1½ cups grated raw potato (about 2 medium-sized)
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 cup water
Flour for gravy

Combine flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Pound seasoned flour into meat. Cut meat into 5 to 6 serving-sized pieces. Combine dry onion soup mix and raw potato. Place approximately 2 tablespoons of potato-onion mixture on each piece of meat. Roll as a jelly roll and fasten with small wooden picks. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ to 2 hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat to heated platter. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 5 to 6 servings.

Erma Bombeck Tells Why Socks Go AWOL

How many times have you put three pairs of brown socks into the washer — and only got two-and-a-half pairs back? If Erma Bombeck's mailbag is any indication, it's more commonplace than the common cold.

In a recent "At Wit's End" column, Erma described one of her losing battles of the socks. Thousands of readers wrote in, sharing their experiences. Now, in a special three-part series starting May 27, Erma tells some of the ways the washing machine socks it to us.

It's a delightful romp through the "funny" room. It's Erma Bombeck's special "At Wit's End" columns.

Sonics Clinch Finals Berth

SEATTLE (AP)—Power, poise, balance, a good bench and luck.

The Phoenix Suns agree that Seattle has all those ingredients and that's why the SuperSonics are in the National Basketball Association finals - and not the Suns.

"It just shows you it takes more than one or two men to make a basketball team. If you have 11 men playing in harmony, you can be successful," said happy Seattle forward John Johnson after the Sonics edged the Suns 114-110 Thursday night to win their second straight Western Conference title.

The triumph gave the Sonics a 4-3 edge in the best-of-seven series and sends them into the NBA final series against the winner of tonight's Eastern Conference championship game between the defending champion Washington Bullets and the San Antonio Spurs.

In their first appearance in the championship finals last season, the Sonics lost to the Bullets in seven games.

It took a pair of Jack Sikma free throws with two seconds remaining Thursday night to preserve Seattle's win in the rugged and emotional series finale, before a Kingdome crowd of 37,552 the second biggest in NBA playoff history.

"Wow, what a nightmare that would have been if we lost it," said Sikma, the Sonic's 6-foot-11, second-year center who finished with a game and career-high 33 points and 11 rebounds.

Sikma was referring to a seemingly insurmountable 103-83 Sonic lead with 6:04 left in the game that dwindled to just two points before it was over.

An 8-0 Suns run cut Seattle's lead to 105-101 with 2:07 to play. Dennis Johnson followed with seven straight free throws for a 112-104 Sonic cushion with just 20 seconds left.

Walter Davis hit a basket for Phoenix and then stole the ball from Sonic reserve Joe Hassett and fed Paul Westphal for a jumper with eight seconds left. Another Seattle reserve, Wally Walker, lost the next possession, again to Davis. Westphal scored again to cut the lead to two points and was fouled by Walker.

Westphal had two chances to make one shot. He intentionally banged his first shot off the backboard, and then missed the second again on purpose hoping a Sun player would grab the rebound. But Sikma came up with the carom and was fouled by Don Buse.

HOUSTON (AP)—San Francisco Giants right-hander Ed Halicki finds it hard to explain why he pitches so well in Houston's Astrodome.

"I don't know what it is," said Halicki after hurling his second consecutive two-hitter in San Francisco's 3-0 triumph over the slumping Astros Thursday night.

"I used to like to pitch against them because they had a lot of right handed hitters in the lineup, but they've got players who can swing the bat from the left side now," said Halicki, 4-3.

The 28-year-old veteran, who has notched nine of his 11 career wins over the Astros in Houston, has refined his delivery during the past few weeks.

"I've started striding more toward the hitters," he said. "I've found that has given me more velocity on my fast ball and better control of my breaking pitches."

Halicki allowed only one hit through the first eight and two-thirds innings, a fourth inning single by Cesar Cedeno, before Enos Cabell singled in the ninth.

The Giants scored all their runs in the seventh inning against losing pitcher Ken Forsch, 4-3.

A one-out single by Darrell Evans and Larry Herndon's triple brought home the first run of the inning. Roger Metzger's RBI single and a bases-loaded walk to Terry Whitfield accounted for the Giants' other two runs.

Halicki, who has compiled a 1.11 ERA in 72 innings against the Astros in Houston, escaped injury when Art Howe bounced a line drive off the pitcher's head. The ball popped 20 feet in the air and was caught by second baseman Rob Andrews for the second out of the seventh inning.

NAIA Meet In 2nd Day

ABILENE (AP)—The decathlon and four individual events were to be decided today in the second day of the 28th NAIA track and feild championships, which wraps up Saturday on the Abilene Christian University campus.

Long jumper Carl Williams of Abilene Christian and hammer thrower Harold Willers of Simon Fraser, Canada, grabbed two of the titles Thursday, defending championships they took a year ago. For Williams, it was his third straight title.

Sammy Maritim of Azusa Pacific, Calif., won the 10,000-meter run, upsetting Garry Henry of Pembroke, N.C., in 29 minutes 1.09 seconds. Henry won the 10,000 and 5,000 meter run last year.

Concludes At Burkburnett

Series Decided Today

BURKBURNETT — Sometime between 4 and 7 o'clock this evening a bunch of Cats or Dogs will be celebrating a bi-district championship. For either it would be the second such crown in three years.

Snyder's Tigers and the Burkburnett Bulldogs were to complete their best of three playoff series here today, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The Tigers, which edged out a 3-2 victory Tuesday with a Mitch Mackey RBI single in the seventh inning, went into today's action a game in front of the Bulldogs. A victory in the second game would give Snyder the crown, but if Burk should win the contest, a third would follow immediately.

Both teams have been in the winner's circle before - as well as the loser's pit. Snyder won a bi-district series from the 'Dogs in 1977, while Burkburnett returned the favor in 1978.

While the 2 p.m. game here is a must-win for the Bulldogs, Snyder Coach Albert Lewis will be pressing his Tigers just as hard.

"We want to finish it with the first game. We're prepared to go two games (here), but we're giving it everything we've got in the first one," the coach expressed earlier in the week.

Starting on the mound for Snyder was to be left-hander Mackey, 7-3, with relief help if necessary from fire-baller Tony Degrate. Sid Everton, who pitched a two-hitter against the Bulldogs on Tuesday, will be given the nod for a third game if needed, but Lewis added that the senior right-hander would go in earlier if that's what it took to beat the 'Dogs.

Smoky Burgess was expected to start for Burkburnett in the opener today. Burgess gave up eight hits Tuesday, and the three runs.

Winner of the series will advance to bi-district play. A three-way tie for the district 2-AAA crown was trying to be broken between Monahans, Pecos and Odessa Ector this week. The eventual winner of that tangle was to play Borger (District 1-AAA) in a best-of-three bi-district series next week.

Stars Fall At Regional

BRECKENRIDGE—Snyder Girls Little Dribbler All-Star teams lost all three games here yesterday, knocking the Major League team from the Region Tournament.

The Junior League can remain in the running for the crown by defeating Haskell at 6 p.m. today.

Snyder Major League lost its opener to Haskell, 18-16. Jackie Parham led the Snyder team with 7 points. Haskell's Holly McBroom scored 9.

In the second Major League game, Snyder fell to Cleburne, 26-21. Shanna Hart scored 7 for Snyder while Sue Goddard led Cleburne with 9.

Snyder's Junior League girls stumbled to Cleburne here yesterday also, 25-23, and were to play this evening against Haskell. Melanie Smith and Stephanie McKnight scored 9 and 6 points respectively for Snyder. Diane Russell led Cleburne with 8.

The tournament is a double-elimination meet.

Virgin in Mind If Not in Body

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old high school junior. A year ago I was raped on my way to school. I believe I have dealt with the situation very well, but my problem is this: Am I still considered a virgin?

I realize that technically and physically I probably am not, but since this was done without my consent and cooperation, in another way of looking at it I'm still a virgin. (I never "gave" myself to anyone. My virginity was taken from me.)

This question has bothered me a lot and I hope you can give me an answer since I respect your opinion very much.

I am signing my real name, but if you print this, please sign it . . .

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Putting the physical and technical aspects aside, you are as virtuous as a virgin. And you certainly may consider yourself virginal.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman, expecting my first child in three months.

Last month my husband's grandfather died. He was loved and respected by all who knew him. The entire family felt a tremendous loss.

My husband's family has let me know that our child is to be named after Grandpa Albert. If the baby is a girl, she will be named Alberta, I am told.

I, too, loved Grandpa Albert, but I hate that name. If offered a compromise, saying I will use Albert or Alberta for the child's middle name, but not for the first name.

My husband and his family insist that it has to be Albert or Alberta.

Can you help me?

EXPECTING

DEAR EXPECTING: It appears to be you against your husband and his family. I think they are unfair to demand that you give your child a name that you dislike. Your compromise seems fair enough to me. Stick to your guns. If you lose, your child will bear the name of one of the world's most brilliant scientists.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday our 4 year-old daughter disappeared suddenly. One minute she was beside me in the kitchen, and the next minute she was gone. I nearly went crazy looking for her in the yard, in and out of the neighbors' houses, searching frantically with tears in my eyes and a lump in my throat.

Finally, just before sundown, when I was nearly exhausted and hysterical, a neighbor spotted an old refrigerator stored in the corner of our garage! He opened the door and out tumbled my daughter, blue and practically lifeless. With the help of a quick thinking neighbor and the fire department, the child was revived, and thank God, now she is all right.

Abby, please urge parents to position discarded refrigerators with the doors turned toward the wall so kids can't open them. If anything had happened to my child, I'd never have forgiven myself.

THANKING GOD

DEAR THANKING: I appreciate the timely reminder. Parents, please REMOVE the doors from stored refrigerators, cabinets or other potential "coffins" for curious and adventuresome children.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Don't jog too fast

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you please tell me something about triglycerides? My husband has it. The first time it was 390 and now it's 230 and the doctor put him on Clofibrate. What kind of diet can we use so he can get away from the pills?

DEAR READER - Triglyceride is just a chemical name for the common forms of fat. The blood examination in your husband must have shown that the amount of fat in his blood was too high.

With the initial enthusiasm about triglycerides as related to heart disease, many doctors thought that the proper diet was to cut down on carbohydrates. That has a lot to do with some of the really wild things that are said about sugar these days, particularly as related to heart disease. A more discriminating look at the problem and some careful studies showed that the big problem was obesity from too many calories of almost anything.

Of course sugars and starches and concentrated carbohydrates are excellent sources of large numbers of calories so eliminating these substances in the diet tended to decrease the calorie intake. When the calorie intake is decreased enough to eliminate obesity, many patients have a significant decrease in triglycerides. Your husband's diet should eliminate any of the obesity that he has.

He should increase his exercise GRADUALLY until his body composition is changed. It doesn't matter so much what a person weighs as long as it's all muscle. But even if you don't appear to weigh very much and have a lot of fat under the skin, that's not so desirable.

If a person is in top-notch physical condition so that he can exercise rather extensively at least every other day, the exercise is a good way to lower the triglyceride level. If your husband has not been doing any exercise, he should start gradually with a simple, daily walk and slowly build up his exercise capacity. He should be able to walk an hour at a fairly good rate without getting excessively tired before he tries to do anything more strenuous.

At that point he could start jogging a few steps at a time in the middle of his walk and then gradually build up the number of steps he jogs at a rate of 10 jogging steps a day. This gradual build-up will slowly develop his capacity to exercise.

Because men are so competitive, I find it necessary to continually remind them that when you talk about jogging, you're not talking about speed. Most of the people who get into trouble jogging are the ones who are trying to jog or run too fast. A slow, gentle jog that covers a lot of distance is worth a lot more to your body than an all-out effort to beat your previous time or to beat your buddy. Speed and kill.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis, as a guide to dietary management for your husband. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

A sensible dietary and exercise program that eliminates high cholesterol, high triglycerides and elevated blood pressure could drastically reduce the incidence of heart disease and strokes.

Hati Passport Law Rescinded

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Pressured by tourism interests, the Haitian government has rescinded a law requiring Canadians and Americans to have passports to get into the country.

A spokesman said the regulation was requested by the security forces. He said Canadians and Americans now will be required to produce proof of citizenship only.

Indian Troops To Lose Rum

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian mountain troops will have to keep warm on coffee, tea and dried fruit instead of rum when the government's goal of total alcohol prohibition by 1981 is achieved, the minister of state for defense told Parliament.

Sher Singh was replying Tuesday to members who said ending the rum ration, a tradition inherited from the British, would weaken the resistance of troops exposed to the severe cold of the Himalayas.

Missionaries To Speak Here

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Norton, missionaries to Southwest Indian School near Phoenix, Ariz., will speak during the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School hour and the 10:55 a.m. worship service Sunday at Trinity United Methodist Church.

The Nortons serve with World Gospel Mission, an interdenominational missionary organization with 335 missionaries and homeland staff working in 18 areas around the world. The international headquarters is in Marion, Ind.

Norton, a native of Montgomery, Ala., was converted at the age of 12 and Mrs. Norton at 21. To prepare for missionary work by taking training at Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., they sold all of their possessions, except those that would fit into a station wagon and trailer, and moved to their new home. It was there that they first heard about Southwest Indian School and felt led to work there.

Southwest Indian School, a boarding institution with elementary and secondary grades, has served 34 tribes since its inception in 1952. The student body now has 180 from several southwestern states. A christian staff gives individual counseling, Bible classes are taught, and revival meetings are held each year.

The Nortons began their work there in 1974. He coached junior high sports and high school football and baseball, and also served as athletic director. He also directed the Christian education program and taught a 12th grade Bible class. In 1976, he became assistant field director, serving in this capacity as school superintendent.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Norton served as sponsorship director for the students and both worked as dorm parents. They plan to return to Southwest Indian School as soon as support funds are in.

DON NORTON

HERE SUNDAY NIGHT--Rev. and Mrs. John Goodwin, shown with their daughters, Cherisse and Karen, will be guest speakers in Sunday evening services at First Assembly of God.

First Assembly To Host Missionaries

John and Sue Goodwin, newly-appointed missionaries to Cameroon, West Africa, will be guest speakers in a special Sunday evening service at First Assembly of God, according to the Rev. James R. Jackson, pastor. The service will begin at 7 p.m.

The Goodwins, both children of missionaries, grew up in Ghana, West Africa. During the service here Sunday evening they will discuss African culture and customs and will display native artifacts. Mrs. Goodwin will also minister in music and Rev. Goodwin will deliver the sermon.

A native of West Texas, Rev. Goodwin received a master of arts degree in sociology at West Texas State University in 1978. He had earned a bachelor of arts degree earlier with a double major in theology and sociology at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla.

He was ordained by the West Texas District of the Assemblies of God while serving as co-pastor at First Assembly of God in Hereford. He was an instructor at Evangel College in Springfield, Mo., for two years before receiving his mission appointment.

Rev. and Mrs. Goodwin have two children, Cherisse 2, and Karen 4.

The public is invited to attend the service Sunday evening, said Rev. Jackson.

Soil Stewardship Week To Be Observed Here

Soil Stewardship Week, which had its origins more than 1500 years ago, will be celebrated in the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District and throughout the United States and its territories on May 20-27, according to Carl Williams, district chairman.

The theme for the 1979 observance is "Interdependence," a concept endorsed by President Carter in his foreward to the descriptive Soil Stewardship Week Booklet.

A number of churches in the district are scheduling soil stewardship services.

During the past week the district hosted a breakfast for ministers serving churches in Borden and Scurry Counties. Soil Stewardship Bookmarks were also distributed to all elementary school students in the district.

The district, provided local churches with the descriptive Soil Stewardship Week booklet designed for the observance. The material was prepared by the Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The advisory committee is composed of churchmen of various faiths.

This is the 25th consecutive year that the National Association of Conservation Districts, along with almost 3,000 local districts throughout the nation, has sponsored Soil Stewardship Weeks.

The concept of Soil Stewardship had its origins in the special Rogation Days set aside by the Bishop of Vienne, France, following bad weather and earthquakes that brought crop failures and widespread hunger to much of France some 1500 year ago.

While not faced with the immediate prospect of famine or hunger in the United States today, the reasons for Soil Stewardship commemorative activities hasn't changed very much, the sponsors believe."

"We still need to pause each year to express our thanks for the natural resources of soil, water and air which nurture our people and provide us the daily food and fiber necessary to carry on our daily existence," said Williams.

County Judges Jim Burkett of Borden County and Preston Wilson of Scurry County have both issued proclamations designating May 20-27 as Soil Stewardship Week in their respective counties.

'Macbeth' On For Closing Show Tonight

"Macbeth," presented by Snyder High School drama students and directed by Jerry Worsham was finally viewed by its home-town audience last night in the high school auditorium by a full house.

It was evident that the local audience was in agreement with the high praises of the critique judges as the as the scenes progressed.

Following an outstanding dissappearing scene, the audience applauded their approval before the play could proceed.

To get "Macbeth" into a 50 minute one-act play and for each part to be done so beautifully by the cast, speaks well for Director Worsham. This year's state winning play was his seventh such success.

The classic drama by Shakespear will be presented for the last time tonight at the high school auditorium, curtain time 8 p.m.-J.N.

BROWN DECISION ANNIVERSARY--Mayor John Fagin signed a proclamation Thursday calling attention to the 25th anniversary of the 1954 Supreme Court Decision in "Brown V. Board of Education," which held that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. The landmark case formed the basis for enactment of Civil Rights Acts of 1964, 1965 and 1968. The proclamation calls for rededication to principles of equality and justice. On hand for the signing were Mrs. M.L. Bullocks, left, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; and Mrs. Hulen Malone, secretary. (SDN Staff Photo)

Trip Put Off

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Donald Coggan, has put off a long-planned trip to Poland so as not to interfere with the visit by Pope John Paul II to his home country.

Coggan, spiritual leader of the world-wide Anglican Communion, including U.S. Episcopalians, had been scheduled to arrive in Poland on the same day as the pope next month, but Coggan said in a letter to him:

"There are some occasions when a family must celebrate together and guests, however welcome, do well to remain outside the family circle."

Profits Continue At Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Business profits continued at record levels in the first three months of the year, with much of the gain attributed to inflation, the government said today.

But when adjusted for taxes and inflation, profits from current production actually showed a 6 percent drop in the first quarter to an annual $166 billion total, a Commerce Department statement said.

"That's the first decline since the first quarter of last year, when weather was awful and there was a coal strike," said department spokesman Kenneth A. Petrick.

At the same time, the Commerce Department reduced its estimate of the nation's first-quarter economic growth from 0.7 percent to 0.4 percent. "The slowdown was attributable to sales," said a department statement.

Before-tax profits for the first quarter were at an annual rate of $226.9 billion, up 0.9 percent from the fourth quarter of 1978, the statement said.

The new total eclipsed the record $224.9 billion in profits at an annual rate in the last three months of 1978. Profits were $54.8 billion, or 32 percent, ahead of those of the first quarter last year.

The department attributed much of the increase to a higher valuation of inventories because of inflation.

Fourth-quarter profits last year, adjusted for taxes and inventory inflation, had been $166 billion on an annual basis.

The Commerce Department also reported that the nation's gross national product, the total value of output of goods and services in the economy, grew at an 0.4 percent annual rate, down from an 0.7 percent rate estimated previously.

The lower figure showed the economy dipping close to the recession level, although economists expect a rebound in the second quarter. A recession is said to occur when the economy shows negative growth for two consecutive quarters, and there are widespread predictions of a mild recession beginning later this year.

Every year, it takes the moon .002 seconds longer to circle the earth than the year before.
