Ex-Snyderites Are Killed In Traffic Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray McDougald of Ingleside, formerly of Snyder, were killed at about 9 p.m. yesterday in a head-on auto collision near Aransas Pass.

The McDougalds lived here until a few weeks ago. She was the former Mira Nell Caswell.

Mrs. McDougald was killed instantly, and her husband died in a hospital shortly after the accident, which was on State Highway 35.

The driver of the other car, Jimmie Jacobs, 27, was also killed. His address was unknown.

Funeral services are pending at Bolger Funeral Home, where the bodies were returned today.

The two married Feb. 3, 1956 in Snyder. He was employed by Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. While in Snyder she was employed by Snyder Insurance Agnecy.

McDougald, 24, is survived by his father, T. C. McDougald of Snyder and Trent; two brothers, F. M. McDougald of Wichita, Kan., and Halley McDougald of Georgia; four sisters, Mrs. Bob Sims and Mrs. Harold Wilson, both of Snyder, Mrs. James Hatfield of Hillsboro, and Mrs. Herbert Jennings of Virginia.

Mrs. McDougald, 21, was valedictorian of the 1954 graduating class at Snyder High School. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil T. Caswell of Snyder; one sister, Elaine Caswell of Snyder; her maternal grandfather, W. L. Mearse of Snyder; and paternal grandfather, N. Z. Caswell of Leesburg.

GROUND HOG WAS RIGHT—Apparently the ground hog made an accurate prediction on ground hog day this year when he saw his shadow and went back into hibernation for more bad, wintery weather. Bridges and utility lines were iced up this morning, but the freezing drizzle had turned to mist by noon. (Lee Watson photograph)

Value Is Set On Property

The board of viewers appointed by county court to appraise value of property needed by the city of Snyder for widening and straightening the Big Spring highway in south Snyder set a value on one piece of the property Saturday.

The board of viewers set value on the property of Mrs. J. O. Dodson needed for the right-of-way at $27,500, Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

The city had earlier offered Mrs. Dodson a price of $20,000 for the property, and she had made a counter offer to sell the property to the city for $35,000.

Members of the board of viewers are W. J. Ely, Boss Baze and Roy Stewart.

The property is located at Thirty-first Street and Avenue S, at an "S" curve in the highway. The additional right-of-way is needed to straighten the curve.

Freezing Drizzle, Snow Cover Big Texas Area

The Snyder area was on the edge of an ice belt today, as cold damp weather gripped a major portion of the nation's midsection.

Only a trace of moisture had fallen here this morning, but temperatures hovering around the freezing mark threatened to make highway travel dangerous. A fine mist which fell last night and continued this morning froze on trees and shrubbery, and bridges on area roads had thin coats of ice.

The mercury dipped to a low 27 degrees here last night, following a maximum reading on Sunday of 33 degrees.

Forecasts indicated that cold, damp weather was likely to continue for most of the week.

Freezing drizzle and snow spread a road-blocking sheet of ice across upper Texas from Dalhart to Wichita Falls and Texarkana and over most of Oklahoma Monday.

Fog hampered air traffic.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau issued a special warning that driving conditions were hazardous over North Texas, through Oklahoma and west and south central Kansas.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 17 degrees at Perryton and 20 at Amarillo to 63 at Brownsville and Kingsville.

A road-blocking, almost unbroken sheet of ice stretched across upper Texas Monday from Dalhart to Wichita Falls and Texarkana. Fog made air traffic extra hazardous.

Intermittent freezing rain, sleet and light snow that fell all Sunday night and until daylight Monday added to the hazardous, driving conditions that all but closed busy Highway 66 east of Amarillo and west of Sayre, Okla.

Amarillo police said most traffic on U.S. 66 had halted.

"We've been issuing hazardous driving warnings," Kenneth Carter said, and most people have just taken themselves off the highways."

Carter said travel north of Amarillo was virtually impossible and that roads in all directions out of the Panhandle city were "very dangerous." Toward Lubbock, he said, Amarillo police had reports of several big trucks stranded in the ice.

Two deaths in Texas were attributed to the winter thrust.

Two Wichita Falls men, Melvin Wisdom, 39, and Roy Jones, 58, died when their pickup truck skidded on a slick road and hit a utility pole north of Wichita Falls.

Freezing drizzle fell at Dalhart, Amarillo, Lubbock and Wichita Falls before dawn. Eastward across the state, Texarkana and Greenville had had sleet and freezing rain. The Weather Bureau described the southern end of the freezing rain as "roughly along the Red River Valley."

Temperatures ranged from Amarillo's 23 to 34 at Fort Worth and 35 at Dallas.

Heavy fog was reported at Dalhart, where the ceiling was zero and visibility two miles. Childress had fog in 24-degree weather with 3-mile visibility. Texarkana reported sleet, snow and 29-degree temperatures. It was also sleeting at Shreveport.

Forecasts called for more of the same with the slim possibility that the freezing rain would move further southward.

The freezing rain was expected to continue Monday in the extreme north part of North Central Texas, over all of West Texas except the El Paso area and the Big Bend country, and in the north end of East Texas.

Hazardous driving conditions would follow, police warned. No warming trend for any part of the state was in sight.

Dickenson Asks Re-Instatement

The commissioners court this morning referred a letter from Bert W. Dickenson, recently discharged by the county hospital board from his position as administrator of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, to the hospital board.

Dickenson, in his letter to the commissioners court, asked re-instatement as administrator, claiming his one-year contract he had when he came here a year and a half ago was renewed by implication last October.

James Rosser, attorney, was present at the meeting to represent Dickenson. Rosser asked that the court honor Dickenson's demand for compliance with the one-year contract or he would seek legal remedies.

Wayland Holt, district attorney, was also at the meeting and advised the court that, while it approves bills for the hospital, including salaries, it does not govern the hospital. That is the responsibility of the hospital board, Holt said, according to law.

In his letter, Dickenson said he came here Oct. 10, 1956, on a one-year contract. When the hospital board failed to consider his contract and allowed him to continue his services without interruption until January, the board, in effect renewed the contract, Dickenson claimed.

His letter said that in September, 1956, he was advised by Nolan Watson, then chairman of the board and speaking for the board, that he was employed as superintendent of the hospital for one year at $650 a month.

"On the anniversary of my employment I continued in the discharge of my duties as superintendent of D. M. Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Due to previous actions of the hospital board, and the implications of the continued acceptance of my services in such capacity on and after Oct. 10, 1957, I was and have been induced to believe that my contract had been renewed for an additional term of one year, ending Oct. 9, 1958. In conformance with such agreement I have continued in the performance of the duties of such position without interruption until Jan. 6, 1958, at which time I was advised by the chairman of such hospital board that my employment in such capacity was terminated.

"On Jan. 27, at the insistence of Mr. Pat Falls and Mr. Lester Moore, I delivered to them all keys, records and effects belonging to such hospital and its business.

"At the same time I was instructed and advised that I was forthwith relieved of all duties and

Cold, Damp Weather Expected To Continue

DALLAS (AP) — The Weather Bureau issued today this 5-day outlook for Feb. 10-15:

East and Central Texas: Temperatures 2 to 4 degrees below normal. Cold with no important daily changes. To heavy rain during most of the period.

West Texas: Temperatures 2 to 5 degrees below normal. Cold through Saturday with no important daily changes, except mild in El Paso area and Big Bend country. Moderate to heavy rain mainly east of the Pecos most of week.

Tunisia Deliberating Appeal To U.N. Panel

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Tunisia deliberated today whether to ask for U.N. Security Council action on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village. Both the United States and Britain voiced concern over the explosive situation, but expressed hope it could be smoothed over.

In Paris, Premier Felix Gaillard came under attack for allowing military men to embroil the country in a serious diplomatic battle. He called a special meeting of his Cabinet.

Tunisian Ambassador Mongi Slim delivered to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold his government's protest against the bombing and strafing Saturday of Sakiet Sidi Youssef. Tunisia said 78 persons were killed and 84 wounded.

The envoy told newsmen his government was studying ways of placing the issue before the Security Council.

The attack aroused open concern in Washington. The State Department said the U.S. government was "profoundly disturbed." Secretary of State Dulles called in French Ambassador Herve Alphand "to express our concern and to seek further information," a statement said.

The State Department was expected to try (1) to get the French to minimize their use of "hot pursuit" against Algerian rebels fleeing into Tunisia, and (2) to get the Tunisian government to tighten border regulations so as to reduce rebel traffic into Tunisia.

The French said the attack was to wipe out an antiaircraft emplacement that had damaged a French plane. The attack was only against military objectives, they claimed, adding that aerial photographs showed that nine tenths of the village remained intact.

Nehl Ladgham, Tunisian state secretary, said at a funeral for 58 of the victims that schools and homes had been bombed. Goesta Heuman, a Swedish Red Cross official who watched from the town's outskirts as the 25 French warplanes bombed and strafed for an hour, said, "I will never forget the horrible sight of Sakiet. Women and children lay dead and bleeding."

Blaze Rakes Launch; One Crewman Dies

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—An explosives-laden launch, crippled by fire and with one crewman dead, headed for Galveston today under tow.

The launch "Connie," a 110-foot craft, burst into flames suddenly yesterday while anchored about three-fourths of a mile offshore in the Gulf of Mexico, and about seven miles from Sabine Pass. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

The crew of seven men took to life rafts. Owner Louis Des Hotel of Port Arthur identified the dead crewman as Boyd Pickell, 42, of Port Isabel.

Other crewmen were Victor Wall, James Minnick, Lee Hallbauer, James Queen, Joe Goodman, and Capt. Clifford Horn of Port Arthur.

Highway patrolmen closed beach roads running near the flaming ship which Des Hotel said was loaded with 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of high explosives plus caps and other equipment for tidelands oil exploration.

The Coast Guard, which said Pickell apparently died of shock and exposure, said the explosive carried by the Connie was nitrahmon, powerful but less dangerous to handle than the nitrate cargo which exploded and set off the Texas City disaster several years ago.

The Helen, another vessel used for offshore geophysical work like the Connie, took Horn and his crew aboard soon after they took to the rafts.

Another sister ship took the Connie in tow.

Council To Resume Meet

A meeting of the city council will be held tonight as a continuation of this month's regular council meeting started last Monday night and recessed for one week.

In tonight's meeting one main topic of discussion will be a public hearing on opening of easements in the Highland Park addition where residents now have fences across the easements.

"We are particularly interested in having as many persons as possible who live in the blocks between Highland Drive and Dalton Drive present at the meeting" Harold Bennett, mayor, said.

At present yard fences extend across the easements in many places, making it difficult to service utility lines.

"In the case of sewer line stoppups, it is almost impossible to get to the lines and unstop them," Bennett said.

The council will discuss the problem with citizens of the area with the object of working out some method of opening the easements.

UF's Annual Meet Tonight

The annual meeting of the Scurry County United Fund will follow a dinner to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the high school cafeteria.

Members, who include anyone who contributed to the United Fund will elect 10 directors for new three-year terms on the 30-member board of directors. Also, several awards will be made to workers in the 1957 campaign.

Directors whose terms are expiring are John Boren, Mrs. J. W. Greene, Dr. T. H. Hartley, Ross Hemphill, A. T. Nicholas, Myron Roe, Herman Trigg, W. H. Wimmer, Illa Fern Warren, and Rev. C. E. Strickland.

Holdover directors are H. H. Allen, Rev. Edward Chrisman, Walker Dabbs, Lyle Deffebach, Herman Doak, H. H. Efland, Herbert Feather, Ralph Geisenhoner, Ray Devers, H. A. Johnson, Jr., Sis Kelner, Claude McCormick, Melvin Newton, Stanley Noah, Mrs. J. E. Sorrels, Malven Stevenson, Mrs. Frank Strom, Mrs. Nolan von Roeder, Dr. C. L. Yarbrough, and Gilbert Richter.

After the membership meeting, the board of directors will meet and elect officers for 1958.

Present officers are Feather, president; Johnson, vice-president, Roe, secretary; and Geisenhoner, treasurer.

Young Airman Sets Record In Air Force Space Chamber

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Man's chances to conquer outer space were on trial today by a blond airman in a narrow steel cabinet at Randolph Air Force Base.

Airman Donald G. Farrell, 23, a six-footer from the Bronx, squeezed into a 3-by-5-foot experimental space cabinet yesterday morning at the School of Space Medicine for one of the most fantastic voyages in history.

For six full days he will pretend — both physically and psychologically — that he is aboard a space rocket headed for the moon.

Next Saturday morning — if everything goes well — he will climb from the instrument - jammed space barrel a weary but unharmed veteran of the mysteries of space travel.

Farrell set a record at 9:35 a.m. today when he completed 24 hours in the space chamber, longer than any American had withstood such a test.

As he climbed into the space cabin, Farrell commented calmly, "Well, here goes."

The 185-pound guinea pig wore a pair of light blue, loose-fitting hospital pajamas plus several pounds of wire taped to various parts of his body to relay his physical condition constantly to the scientists outside the steel cubicle.

The same air inside the cabin is being used over and over with chemicals removing carbon dioxide and new oxygen being added.

The heat inside the cabin is kept at 85 degrees or lower. Explorer, the first U.S. satellite, has radioed that its interior is around 85 degrees.

All Farrell's food for the six day trip is inside the cabin. Most of it is in concentrated and dehydrated forms. An electrically heated cup near one elbow will furnish hot soup.

Moisture from his breath, perspiration and other waste moisture is purified for reuse as drinking water. Other wastes are taken care of chemically. He can push a button and deodorize his space cabinet. Another button increases or decreases the humidity.

At carefully scheduled intervals the experts outside the cabin flash instructions to Farrell on a television screen a few inches before his eyes. He may be asked to twiddle his thumbs to test muscular reactions or he may be given a complicated problem in working the controls of his make-believe space ship.

A portable TV camera inside the cabin relays all Farrell's movements to monitor sets outside. In an emergency, coverings could be ripped off the portholes and Farrell could be seen directly through thick glass windows.

In moments of relaxation he hears hi-fi music piped into the cabin from a special selection of records.

Probers' Counsel Still Holding On

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) said today Bernard Schwartz, controversial counsel of a special subcommittee to investigate federal regulatory agencies, "is still with us."

Moulder spoke with newsmen after the subcommittee had met behind closed doors more than an hour and a half, presumably discussing the open row between Schwartz and members of the committee, including Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the parent House Commerce Committee.

There was no immediate amplification.

Harris had indicated before the meeting that Schwartz' connection with the subcommittee should be severed if reports about the counsel's expense accounts for trips to New York were verified.

The firing of Schwartz in a dispute over his expense vouchers could lead to a lengthy delay in the group's probe of the FCC and other regulatory agencies. This investigation has aroused considerable dissension within the subcommittee, chiefly over Schwartz's handling of hearings on the FCC last week.

In advance of the subcommittee meeting, Schwartz denied there was anything irregular about certain of his expense accounts totaling $400. But he predicted: "They are going to fire me." He said he would not resign. Two subcommittee members, one a critic and the other a backer of Schwartz, agreed he was probably on his way out.

Schwartz contended he is being ousted because he wanted public hearings that he said would go into some cases of White House influence.

The Washington Post quoted him as saying "we have actual evidence" that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, "has played a part in cases involving several (regulatory) agencies."

Without going into details, Schwartz also said the hearings would have touched on Secretary of Commerce Weeks; Col. George Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law; former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; former Undersecretary of Commerce Robert B. Murray Jr.; an unidentified FCC member; and "possibly" Vice President Nixon.

There was no immediate comment from the White House or from any of those mentioned by Schwartz.

The 34-year-old subcommittee counsel said that "powerful interests . . . will stop at nothing" to halt the probe of the FCC. He said the issue raised over his expenses is "an attempt to divert the investigation which . . . will succeed."

Many Roads Hazardous

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Department reported hazardous driving conditions today in the Panhandle and other sections. The report by districts in mid-morning:

Amarillo—Very hazardous driving. Roads covered with ice caused by freezing drizzle and light snow and conditions expected to extend through tomorrow.

Childress—Roads icy and traveling hazardous. Light sleet and snow over district. Crews salting worst areas.

Lubbock—Roads covered with thin sheet with light rain and freeze.

Atlanta—Ice and snow in isolated areas and some bridges dangerous.

Abilene—Ice on bridges north and west of Sweetwater. Bridges have been sanded.

Union May Repossess Lavish Home Of Ex-President Beck

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Teamsters Union bosses today were reported considering repossessing the lavish union-owned home that Dave Beck, the union's ex-president, occupies in Seattle, Wash.

This is one of several "cleanup moves" reported due for discussion by Beck's successor, James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters chiefs gathered here for an executive board meeting.

Beck was due here to plead against taking away his free lodgings.

The Teamsters, largest U.S. union with 1,400,000 members, were expelled from the AFL-CIO two months ago on grounds of corrupt leadership.

Hoffa, now at the trucker union helm although one of those under criticism, was reported aiming at adapting a series of reforms looking toward re-entry into the federation.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has made it clear, however, that Hoffa himself must foresake any top Teamsters post before the union will be taken back into the main body of organized labor. Hoffa apparently hasn't the slightest idea of quitting.

Another move Hoffa and his advisers were reported considering is ouster of Frank W. Brewster as chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters.

Brewster along with Beck and Hoffa were subject to Senate Rackets Committee disclosures last year. Brewster was replaced last October as an international vice president of the Teamsters, but he remained as the union's Western chief.

Einar O. Mohn, just replaced as the Teamsters' administrative vice president in charge of the union's Washington headquarters, is one of those being considered to replace Brewster as Western Conference chairman. Mohn is a union vice president.

Beck sold the Seattle home he now occupies to the Teamsters for $163,000 under a deal under which he continued to live in it rent and tax free at union expense. There was Senate committee testimony that union funds were used in part to build the home in the first place.

It was also testified that Beck got the Teamsters to buy the home because he needed funds to pay some he owed the union. Beck said he borrowed more than $300,000 from the Teamsters.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said the money was stolen and Beck was trying to cover up.

Surprise 'Rights' Bill Nearing Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unheralded civil rights fight moved to the House floor today, threatening to catch many absent members off guard.

It involves financing for the six-member Civil Rights Commission and its staff created by the controversial 1957 civil rights law. The fight could delay action on this year's first regular money bill, to finance the White House and general government matters.

Many House members, anticipating no controversy, had arranged to be out of the city for Lincoln Day speeches and other matters.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to provide $200,000 for the commission's current year activities and $750,000 for its fiscal year 1959 work starting next July 1.

The House Appropriations Committee excluded the $750,000 from a money bill which comes up for a possible vote today. It indicated that it would take a dim view of the $200,000 request unless the commission is more firmly established.

The committee noted in a formal report that the two money requests were "prepared by persons not associated with the commission," and cited the fact that a staff director has not yet been appointed.

The six commission members have been sworn in under recess appointments, but the Senate has not yet confirmed the appointments, nor even ordered committee hearings on them.

The commission is charged with investigating reports of civil rights violations and making recommendations covering the broad field of rights of minority groups.

Rep. Andrews (D-Ala), chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee that considered the commission's budget, said the committee could not justifiably recommend money for an operation that "is not even a going concern."

Bill Proposed To Speed Integration

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen senators joined today in proposing a bill designed to encourage racial integration of schools, but to compel compliance with Supreme Court rulings in that field if necessary.

The new civil rights measure also would arm the attorney general with authority to seek federal court injunctions for the protection of civil rights assembly — a proposal defeated last year after a bitter battle.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) announced he was introducing the bill with twelve other senators, seven Democrats and five Republicans, as cosponsors. He said a companion measure was being introduced in the House.

The legislation would authorize appropriation of 12½ million dollars over the next five years for federal assistance to states and local government units in developing community understanding and plans for school integration.

In addition, federal grants of 40 million dollars a year for each of the next five years would be authorized for school buildings, the employment of additional teachers and other costs incident to eliminating racial segregation.

Douglas noted that under this section funds could be made available to "local communities that wish to comply with the court's decisions, but where, as in Georgia and Virginia, the state threatens to cut off funds or close the schools."

Should efforts to achieve voluntary compliance fail, the secretary of health, education and welfare would be empowered by the legislation to draw up school integration plans in line with the Supreme Court's ruling.

If the secretary were unable to secure their acceptance from state or local officials, the attorney general would be authorized to seek federal court injunctions to force compliance.

The rest of the bill, under which the attorney general could obtain injunctions against violations of civil rights generally, would revive in somewhat altered form a section stricken by the Senate last year from the administration's civil rights measure.

Chou Attacks U. S. Policies In Big Area

HONG KONG (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai attacked the United States today for its policies toward Formosa, Korea, Indonesia, the Middle East, disarmament and Laos.

Chou leveled the multiple charges in a foreign policy speech before the National People's Congress.

In his speech, broadcast by Peiping radio, Chou said China was not bothered by U.S. refusal to recognize the Red regime.

The crucial issue, he declared, is "that the United States antagonizes the Chinese people, occupies Chines territory (Formosa) and even wants China to accept this occupation as lawful."

Denouncing United Nations refusal to seat Red China in place of Formosa, Chou said his government would never adhere to the U.S. attempt to create two Chinas.

Chou hailed the founding of the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

Chou charged the United States was attempting to supplant the Netherlands in Indonesia.

Chou reiterated support for North Korea's proposals for reunification of Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the divided country. He accused the United States of violating the Korea armistice agreement.

Illinois Man Heads Abilene State School

AUSTIN (AP) — Robert Wallace, Illinois hospital administrator, was named president of the Abilene State School today by the Board for State Hospitals.

Wallace replaces the late Dr. Emery Alling who died Nov. 20.

Wallace has been superintendent of the Dixon State School for mentally Retarded operated by the Illinois Department of Welfare. He will assume his duties at the Abilene school, which recently was converted from a hospital for epileptics to a school for mentally retarded, on April 1.

Other board action today included a report from the new construction committee on the projection completion dates of all major buildings now under construction.

Members of the hospitals board also planned to take part in a ceremony at the governor's office when officials of Denton present the state with a deed for the site on which a new school for mentally retarded will be erected. The site, near Denton was purchased through public donations.

McMullan To Head Group

One gift was bought and one was sold by members of the Snyder Chapter of the Future Farmers of America during the weekend.

Also at one of the sales, held in Lubbock during the annual meeting of the Texas Berkshire Breeders Association, Billy Bob McMullan, Snyder agriculture instructor, was named president of the association. McMullan has been a Berkshire breeder about three years.

At the Berkshire sale, Devane Jones, Berkshire breeder and member of the Snyder FFA chapter had the top-placing open gilt in a class of 22. It was also the top-selling open gilt at $67.50.

Another Snyder FFA member, Billy Foree bought one of the top Poland China gilts at a Poland China-Chester sale in Plainview during the weekend. Foree intends to breed for local show pigs.

Fuchs Expedition Is On Last Lap

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his British expedition left today on the last 700-mile leg of their attempt to make the first overland crossing of the Antarctic Continent.

Guiding the 12 Britons is Sir Edmund Hillary, who flew to Depot 700 to join Fuchs. The party is headed for Scott base, home of Hillary's New Zealand expedition on McMurdo Sound.

No Stand-In For Portrait

LE HAVRE, France (AP) — "I used no stand-in to paint the portrait of Princess Margaret," Italian painter Pietro Annigoni declared today.

Georgina Moore, a Cockney showgirl whose stage specialty is appearing in the nude, recently claimed she posed as a stand-in while Annigoni painted the body portion of his much-discussed portrait. Margaret and Georgina were said to have the same measurements.

Princess Margaret posed 33 times, for an hour and a half each time, and that was enough to paint a faithful portrait, Annigoni asserted.

all Snyder telephone numbers will change February 16

SNYDER WILL JOIN the nationwide telephone numbering system Sunday.

At that time, telephone numbers here will be changed to include the first two letters of a central office name, "HI llcrest," followed by five numerals.

Most Snyder telephone numbers will retain the same five numerals they now have, and the change will involve only the addition of "HI llcrest" in front of the number. For example, 3-4783 will become HI llcrest 3-4783, and you'll dial H-I-3-4-7-8-3.

The central office name is needed so that telephone numbers here will conform with the needs of the nationwide Long Distance dialing network, designed to increase the speed and efficiency of your Long Distance telephone service.

NEW SYSTEM MEANS TELEPHONE PROGRESS

The new numbering system will bring even better service for our customers in Snyder. The HI llcrest central office name comes from a tested list of names which are being adopted all over the United States and Canada.

HI llcrest 3-4783

Designer Declares War On Sacks

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

NATURE'S MOST magnificent creation is the female figure, says Oleg Cassini, and he, for one, doesn't intend to hide it under a gunnysack.

Pursuing his one-man war on the current sack silhouette, Cassini shows a spring collection of frankly fitted and subtly sexy dresses, which do full justice to all curves of the feminine form. Says this Italian-born designer:

"I have too much respect for the beauties of nature to dare tamper with the lines of a woman's figure. When a fashion fad abolishes feminine curves, it's time to stamp it out."

Cassini's collection for spring goes in for well-defined waist lines, revealing necklines, soft drapery, intricate cut and his well-known peekaboo cutouts, designed to attract the male eye — the real purpose of any successful dress, according to this designer.

He employs a number of new fabrics in linen knit, cotton knit and silk-and-wool petit point, for daytime, but sticks to soft, slithery silk crepes and chiffons for evening.

Dress-and-jacket costumes usually consist of a demure cover-up jacket over a dress with daring neckline, a device fo which Cassini is fond. Says he:

"Dresses are designed to make a man look at a woman. And what man wants to look at a sack?"

Advance On New Books

Alice M. Robinson, one of the country's leading psychiatric nurses, will have her first novel, "The Unbelonging," published February 18 by Macmillan. The story is an "inside" account of how one person, young Laurie Hammond, came to be as she is. "I have walked hundreds of miles through the corridors and wards of mental hospitals," writes Miss Robinson. "I have known thousands of patients — talked with them, sat silently with them, laughed with them, wept with them. I tell of Laurie and her experience with life, and her response to a warm and meaningful series of relationships." Miss Robinson has worked with psychiatric patients for over ten years, at the Menninger Clinic, Boston State Hospital, St. Elizabeths Hospital, and other places. She is now Director of Nursing Education in the Vermont State Hospital in Waterbury.

"Nature in Abstraction," by John I. H. Baur, is on Macmillan's list for February 25. As background for his study of the essential character of our avant-garde art, Mr. Baur has questioned more than forty painters and sculptors about the relation of their work to the observed world of nature. Their generally revealing answers, along with a brief biographical sketch of each artist, are printed at the end of the book. There are sixteen color plates and forty black-and-white reproductions. The "Nature in Abstraction" exhibition which opened January 15 at the Whitney Museum of American Art was called "highly controversial" by Howard Devree, Art Critic of The New York Times. His review concluded: "Apart from analysis the show has great impact and visual appeal for the visitor with an open mind." The exhibition was prepared by Mr. Baur, Curator of the Museum.

Gals Can Turn The Tables With Proper Valentine Gift

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

TURN THE TABLES on that man. Put him in a mellow mood with a Valentine's gift. It's a thought that should soften the heart of the fiercest member of the species. It may even loosen his purse strings, and put a gift in your own mail box or vanity table.

A simple little gesture like a rose for his lapel before he takes off for work on Valentine's Day could put the married man in the "I-love-you" mood, three little words you may not have heard since the "I DOs." It may change his grudging goodbye to a big kiss.

A pot of tulips is an ideal little remembrance to the boss. Choose bright red tulips if he is the sad sack type, and needs a little livening. Yellow, the friendly color, and favorite of gregarious types, is an ideal one to choose for a warm greeting to the jolly boss. Pink will cheer him up, too, but make it a third choice. Many a grumpy employer has had a good day because a thoughtful member of his staff has placed a flower on his desk in the morning.

A man-bound gift should not be over-emphasized. An overwhelming gift will put him in an embarrassing position to reciprocate in kind, or send him dashing off in the other direction. You wouldn't want him to suspect that you are wooing him.

Take your favorite beau for instance. If you have no precedent for knowing whether he is the gift-giving type or not, then stick to the small remembrance — the buttomhole flower, a handkerchief with his initials, a bottle of shaving lotion — and present it casually when you see him on The Day. If he's a long time dater, and has made a point of fancy presents, then shoot the works in a more substantial gift, if you are in the mood.

Father has his hands in his pockets shelling out for posies and what have you all the time, so the youngsters could come through with a few love tokens of their own. A Mom with a lordly allowance might use Valentine's Day as an excuse to give the man of the house a real present as a complete surprise: golf clubs, fishing rods, sports shirts, tie clasp, cuff links, wrist watch or pocket radio.

A set of handsome drinking glasses that he can stash away for special occasions is another surefire gift. Perhaps those decorated with his favorite motif — horse, dog, bird, fish flies — may perk up his outlook on life.

A small investment in a gift for a man goes a long way to improving relations between the sexes. It's the thought that counts with him.

OUR VIEW

No Popularity For Taxes

The Texas Tax Study Commission, with one public session under its belt and another scheduled for Feb. 20, has a mammoth chore to perform.

Calculating data on taxes citizens of the state already pay would be enough to confuse any group.

Although the commission, as we understand it, is not going to make any specific recommendations, it is going to analyze the present tax structure, and pinpoint some possible new sources of revenue for the state government.

The series of hearings now under way has been set up to give everyone in the state who wishes to express himself on the subject of taxes an opportunity to be heard.

There are those who already have raised their voices, and doubtless many more will join the chorus at future sessions. During the course of the first hearing, the committee was favored with two recommendations for tapping additional sources of revenue.

One group, representing organized labor, suggested corporation taxes, while another, representing business, recommended a general sales tax.

These two recommendations likely will be in the hopper when the commission finally lays its findings before the legislature, but it is unlikely that either will meet with significant popularity in the hinterlands.

Succession Still A Major Puzzle

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Still no answer to the question: Who decides a president is disabled when he can't or won't decide himself? Congress may do again this year what it has always done before: nothing.

The Constitution simply says that if a president can't perform his duties, they shall "devolve on the vice president."

Congress and constitutional lawyers have argued the problem for years. Should the President decide if he is disabled, or the vice president, or some kind of commission?

No president in history, no matter how ill, has stepped aside even temporarily for his vice president. The word "temporarily" raises still another question.

Suppose a disabled president turns his duties over to the vice president, then recovers and wants to resume the presidency but the vice president won't turn the job back to him. What then? The Constitution doesn't say. Nor does it say anything on this: a president is too disabled to do his job but won't admit it or, perhaps, throught unconsciousness, can't ask the vice president to act for him.

What then? Does the vice president make the decision? Suppose he's unscrupulous and wants the presidency even to the point of declaring an able president disabled.

Is a commission the answer? But what kind of commission? Members of the President's Cabinet? The Supreme Court? Doctors? Members of Congress? Or members from all three branches of government?

Recently Chief Justice Warren, in a negative action, took the most positive action ever taken on this subject: he said he and the eight other justices wanted no part in passing on presidential disability.

The reason: since the court might some day have to decide on the constitutionality of some arrangement for declaring a president disabled, the justices wanted no part in making the disability decision.

This year a forward step—if it can be called that — was taken in Congress. Key Democrats and Republicans in the House agreed on this:

A commission should be created to decide presidential disability. Its members: the vice president, secretary of state, speaker of the House, president pro tempore of the Senate, and the Democratic and Republicans leaders from House and Senate. Total: eight.

But the vice president, speaker and president pro tempore should have no vote. Thus only the secretary of state and the Democratic and Republican leaders of House and Senate could vote, or a total of five.

Babysitter Unafraid Of Masked Intruder

DETROIT (AP) — A brave girl is Nancy Hope, 15.

The telephone was dead when a midnight knock at the door by a masked man interrupted Nancy's baby-sitting at a neighbor's home.

Nancy got a butcher knife from the kitchen and sat with it in her hands for an hour and a half until the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Quart, came home. The man had gone by then.

Police said they found the telephone line had been cut and a garage window opened.

Railroad Cars Are Used For Classrooms

TIBURON, Calif. (AP)—The Westminister Presbyterian church has a new use for several old railroad cars.

The church rented the Northwestern Pacific Railroad cars for its Bible school. And they were turned into classrooms yesterday.

The 50 children were more preoccupied with the seats than their lessons, prompting the Rev. Forrest Youngquist to observe:

"We'll have to put in portable chairs and tables."

John H. Nicholls, police chief on Pelee Island, Ontario, Canada, hasn't made an arrest in 15 years. He doesn't have a jail, anyway.

Probe Ups Price Of Vice In Utica

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Investigation of last November's nationwide underworld convention at Apalachin has pointed to this industrial city in the Mohawk Valley — population 101,531 — as a vice center.

Official reports portray Utica as a "wide open" city, with widespread gambling and many houses of prostitution — at least one within shouting distance of City Hall.

The chief of police, Leo Miller, told a legislative hearing Thursday that brothels had operated in the city for 20 years to his knowledge. But he said he was never able to get evidence against them.

Last Nov. 14, state police flushed 60 surprised mobsters and their friends from Joseph Barbara's palatial residence near Apalachin, about 100 miles southwest of here near the Pennsylvania state line.

They were questioned and released after identifying themselves. A dozen police agencies have sought since then to learn the purpose of the gangland meeting. Their questions have met for the most part with a wall of silence.

One trail led to Utica. State police said Joseph Falcone and some of his cronies from Utica attended the crime conclave. Falcone, 55, operator of a liquor store is reported to be the rackets king in Utica. He took the Fifth Amendment when asked about this at a legislative hearing.

Dist. Atty. John M. Liddy told the State Legislature's watchdog committee Friday that he had sent a secret memorandum on conditions in Utica to the superintendent of state police in 1956 and that Falcone learned of its contents almost word for word.

Liddy quoted Falcone as telling him: "My boys in Albany and New York took care of me."

The committee asked Chief Miller how he went about investigating vice complaints. Miller said he sent city detectives but they never managed to gain entrance.

"That was like sending a brass band, wasn't it?" asked Assemblyman Joseph Corso. Miller agreed it was a little like that.

Miller said he had a "speaking acquaintance" with Irene Burke, whom he described as "the best known madam in Utica." He said she was "almost an institution."

The price of vice in Utica is said to have risen sharply since the official investigation began. According to one report, girls in the cheapest part of town, who had been charging from $2 to $5, now are asking for $20.

Californians Seek Look At Hopefuls

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Democrats are arranging to get an advance look at a dozen possible presidential contenders between now and 1960.

National Committeeman Paul Ziffren, disclosing the plan in an interview, said results of the California primary may be decisive in the fight for the 1960 nomination.

Ziffren said he plans to organize a series of dinners, beginning this summer, at which the top men of the party will be asked to speak.

"We want to get a look at these men close up, let the people see them and hear them in anticipation of a wide open primary in 1960," he said.

"For all practical purposes, the California primary decided the nomination in 1956 and I think history may repeat itself in 1960."

In the June 1956 primary Adlai E. Stevenson defeated Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), his chief rival for the nomination for vice president. Stevenson was nominated and was beaten by President Eisenhower in the general election.

Ziffren said Stevenson, who has said he won't be a candidate again, will be invited to speak, along with others like Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who have said they aren't seeking the nomination.

"We want everybody who is mentioned as a candidate, even if they themselves say they aren't running," Ziffren said. "They won't have to sign any papers that will put them in the race if they don't want to."

Ziffren said that he has in mind as potential speakers several governors, including Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, Averell Harriman of New York and Frank G. Clement of Tennessee.

He mentioned Sens. Kefauver, Humphrey (D-Minn), Kennedy (D-Mass) and Symington (D-Mo) as among other possibilities, adding that the list will be enlarged if this year's elections bring others to the forefront.

Mardi Gras Is Underway

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The city took a breather today after launching the 10-day street parade festivities which reach a climax on Mardi Gras.

The first night parade will be staged tomorrow by the krewe of Gemini. Carnival organizations are known as krewes. They put on parades and private balls.

The krewes of Carrollton, Okeanos and Alla paraded yesterday. Crowds of people lined the streets, their hands stretching for favors thrown by krewe members on the floats.

Before Mardi Gras ends at midnight Feb. 18 and the Lenten season begins Feb. 19, the various organizations will have kept New Orleans dizzy with 24 parades.

Moon Shot Is Possible Within Year

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military missiles experts say the Army and the Air Force could shoot rockets as far as the moon this year.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., said the Army could put a satellite in orbit around the moon within months, if it got permission to try. Medaris also said on a television interview that the Army could send a manned expedition to the moon in 15 years.

Defense Department missiles specialists said the Air Force's 1,500-mile-range Thor missile could be augmented by additional rocket stages to send a payload to the moon this year. So far, the department has given no orders for such a try.

The payload in a moon rocket would include radio transmitters for sending back information on the flight and a spotter charge to mark the rocket's impact on the moon, the experts said.

The Air Force's moon rocket capabilities were discussed in a Pentagon briefing which covered various advances in American missile and antimissile missile research and development.

The Army used its Jupiter-C rocket in modified form to launch America's first earth satellite, the Explorer, Jan. 31. The Explorer still is speeding around the earth.

Medaris said he expects another satellite try sometime between now and April 1. This second satellite would be the same size — around 30 pounds — but with more advanced instruments, he said.

He spoke of future attempts to launch 100-pound and 500-pound space vehicles. Russia's second Sputnik, still aloft, weighs half a ton.

He said the timing of an effort to put up a 500-pound satellite with photographic equipment depends on "how soon they tell me to go ahead and give me the money." Engineering and other preliminary work on such a reconnaissance vehicle has been under way for some time. He said, but the project is "not at the hardware stage."

At the Pentagon briefing, one official said military scientists had the problem of building a rocket engine with a million pounds of thrust under study "for quite some time" before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee start on such a project.

Russia reportedly has built a rocket engine of more than 800,000 pounds thrust. So far, the biggest U.S. engine is believed to be one designed to develop 300,000 pounds thrust for the 5,000-mile-range Titan missile.

The missile experts discussed some space age weapons already in being and others in various stages of development.

They said the Navy is working toward a fleet of submarines each equipped to fire more than 10 hydrogen-bomb-tipped Polaris missiles. Such a sub could pack the firepower equivalent of more than 100 million tons of TNT.

One Navy missile man said a Polaris-equipped submarine, firing from under water, would enjoy "almost complete invulnerability to counter-measures of all kinds."

Newsmen were told of plans for equipping long-range, high-flying aircraft, possibly operating on nuclear or chemical power, with 1,500-mile-range missiles. It may be as long as five years before such a weapons combination is ready.

DADDY IS HOME, ALL'S WELL—Three-year-old Christine Flowers—badly burned in a home accident accepts a bit of food from her soldier-father at a hospital in Memphis, Tenn. She refused to eat after the accident two weeks ago and constantly asked for her father, stationed with the army at Bamburg, Germany. Doctors became concerned about her will to live. The Red Cross advised the army and it ordered Sgt. Gerald M. Flowers home. (AP Wirephoto)

Cave-Ins Cause Schools To Close

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A broken water main posed the danger of cave-ins or explosions today and caused authorities to close schools and industrial plants in a third of the city.

Fire Chief Thomas J. Maloney ordered the closing in an effort to keep water consumption to a minimum in the affected area while work crews searched for the break.

A total of 20 public and parochial schools in the Horseshoe, Gammonton and Lafayette sections of the city were affected by the order. The huge Colgate Palmolive and U. S. Gypsum plants were among those shut down.

More than a thousand policemen, firemen, city and county workers searched for the break in 13-degree weather through the night as thousands of others stood by.

City engineer Harold Ohland said about 1,500,000 gallons of water were being lost every hour.

When the break first developed, about 100,000 residents—a third of this city's population—were without water.

Later partial service was restored to residents and fire hydrants in the affected area by raising pressure.

Maloney said he ordered the schools and plants closed so as to keep water pressure up in case of fire.

Ohland said the danger of fire or explosion had been minimized but added that the situation was still serious.

Public Works Director August W. Heckman declared a state of emergency in the city.

Youth, 19, Undergoes 'Blue Baby' Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — A 19-year-old South Dakota youth was reported "recuperating beautifully" today after undergoing a "blue baby" operation on his heart. The surgery is rarely performed upon an adult.

Five surgeons at University of Illinois Hospital performed the operation, which required more than three hours, last Friday on James Dixon. They stopped his heart for 23½ minutes, then reversed its abnormal position.

Macmillan Ready For Talks If 'Reasonable Prospects' Exist

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan says he is willing to take part in summit talks with the Soviets — but only if they have "a reasonable prospect" of some agreement.

As President Eisenhower and other Western government chiefs have, the British Prime Minister also called for careful preparations in advance of any top-level meeting.

Laying it on the line to Soviet Premier Bulganin, the Conservative British leader replied to the Soviet leader's earlier requests for a summit meeting by saying: "There must be a reasonable prospect of achieving concrete results on specific issues. Otherwise we should run the risk of a fruitless meeting which might make matters worse and not better."

In his note delivered in Moscow Saturday and published today, Macmillan outlined two ways to lay the groundwork.

One method—and the one Macmillan said he prefers—would be a foreign ministers' conference. Moscow has regularly turned this down with accompanying blasts at U.S. Secretary of State Dulles. Only yesterday Pravda accused him of being a "mouthpiece for a handful of American billionaires."

The other method suggested by Macmillan would use "confidential diplomatic exchanges," presumably via the ambassadors in Moscow, London and Washington. Moscow radio endorsed this general idea Friday by backing the U.S. view that adequate preparation is necessary for a summit meeting.

With careful planning, Macmillan emphasized, "it ought to be possible for us to have a useful meeting and obtain positive results."

U.S. State Department reaction to the note was favorable because of Macmillan's insistence on preparations. The British Prime Minister set only one other condition: any nation which sits at the conference table must have an equal right to submit its own agenda items.

As for the agenda items, Macmillan endorsed President Eisenhower's suggestions for a discussion on limiting the U.S. and Soviet veto power in the U.N. Security Council and a Soviet-American agreement to insure the peaceful use of outer space.

Winter Chill Grips Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A winter chill clung to Florida today with little immediate prospect of relief.

The Weather Bureau said a giant high pressure system, stretching from Cuba to the North Pole, prevented low temperatures from moving out of the state.

A slight warming trend was forecast. The best expected of the mercury was a high of about 32 near the Georgia line and about 70 in the interior of the south portion.

Temperatures of about 36 degrees are forecast for tonight for the extreme north with a low of 60 along the southeast coast and the Keys.

A falling mercury was checked somewhat overnight by increasing cloudiness. The Weather Bureau said cloudiness will continue building and indicated the state will get some rain tomorrow or tomorrow night.

Sheath Of Snow Covers New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A huge sheath of snow encased upstate New York today, imprisoning farmers, stifling cities and strangling highway travel.

Vast wind-whipped plumes of snow blinded rescue forces, snuffed out at least 13 lives and erected towering dunes that sealed off countless hundreds of motorists.

The Weather Bureau said the blizzard would continue in some parts of the state today, particularly in the Great Lakes area.

The 275-mile stretch of the state thruway from Albany to Buffalo was opened again to traffic.

Syracuse and Utica, prostrate under the three-day fall of snow, proclaimed emergency measures.

Syracuse had 34 inches of snow on the ground, including 12½ inches that fell yesterday. The Weather Bureau said it was the worst storm there since 1925. More was forecast.

Zero temperatures emptied the streets, closed schools and left office buildings deserted.

Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Batavia, Rochester, Elmira and Jamestown, in the western part of the state, were buffeted by blizzard-like conditions but managed to keep streets open. Just beyond the suburbs, however, great veils of snow formed 15-foot drifts that staggered snow plows.

Small knots of piled-up cars dotted the state. Motorists banded together for food and warmth. Some were lucky enough to make marooned farm houses or hotel hearths.

Near Frewsburg, in the southwestern part of the state, a motorist was rescued after his car had been stranded for 12 hours in a drift. He was only 300 feet from a farmhouse but was unable to see it through the blowing snow.

Thirty boys and girls from Syracuse were snowbound in a camp about 15 miles southeast of the city. Leaders of the group made their way out by bulldozer and obtained food for the youngsters.

In Oneida, cots, blankets and sandwiches were provided in the state armory for dazed travelers.

Mystery Projectile May Be Old Shell

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Artillery experts surmised today that the mystery projectile which plowed into a Naples suburb was an old German World War II shell that someone found and fired.

The mystery missile was found in a four-foot crater after a loud explosion Friday night. The story spread that the city had been struck by a long-range ballistic missile or a piece of a space rocket.

Purged Reds Show Up For Meeting

BERLIN (AP) — Three Communists, purged from their high party positions by East German party boss Walter Ulbricht, showed up at a parliamentary meeting today to hear a speech by their triumphant opponent.

The three were Karl Schirdewan, former No. 2 Communist; Ernst Wollweber, a former security minister; and Fred Oelssner, the party's chief ideologist. Schirdewan and Wollweber were removed from the party's Central Committee and Oelssner from the Politburo.

They appeared just after the West German Berliner Zeitung had reported Schirdewan and Wollweber were under house arrest.

Oelssner apparently has been fired from his job as deputy premier. He failed to take his usual place on the front government bench. Instead, he sat in the sixth row.

An unidentified man in civilian dress appeared to be accompanying him, but no guards were spotted with Schirdewan and Wollweber.

Ulbricht, their spade-bearded Stalinist opponent, made an hour-long speech without mentioning the purge.

He presented a bill patterned after the economic decentralization measures of Nikita Khrushchev in the Soviet Union. The three downgraded party leaders had opposed the decentralization program.

There was a possibility the three ousted leaders were being put on show for the benefit of the diplomatic and press galleries.

FOR DINING OUT or for take-home orders, Little Mexico Cafe, just off the courthouse square north on Avenue R, has the best in Mexican dinners and specialities. Crowds such as these are not uncommon in the popular cafe.

Little Mexico Is Popular Eating Spot For Large Area

Carlos Mijares' Little Mexico Cafe is the most popular speciality eating establishment in this area, but it is also popular for its take-home orders.

While hundreds of residents of this area dine weekly at Little Mexico, there are many who desire the specialty foods the cafe has which can be prepared for eating at home. These specialities supplement the meal at home, provide the entire meal, or provide the foods needed for parties.

Little Mexico is located at 2401 Avenue R. Ramirez said the firm can easily prepare take-out orders and have them ready to be picked up if the customer will call 3-9192 about 30 minutes ahead of time. Little Mexico will prepare anything on its menu for take-home orders.

Among the more popular items customers order to take home are chili, which Little Mexico offers at $1.25 a quart or 65 cents a pint, and jalapeno peppers, which are 35 cents a pint, 60 cents a quart, and $1.65 a gallon. Many customers like to order tamales to go, usually by the dozen.

Everything in Mexican foods, as well as other dishes, such as steaks and "children's plates," are on the Little Mexico menu.

Still the most popular dish at Little Mexico is the Mexican dinner, a dish which includes a wide assortment of Mexican foods, including enchiladas, tamales, chili con carne, fried beans, Spanish rice, beef tacos with combination salad, and dessert and drink.

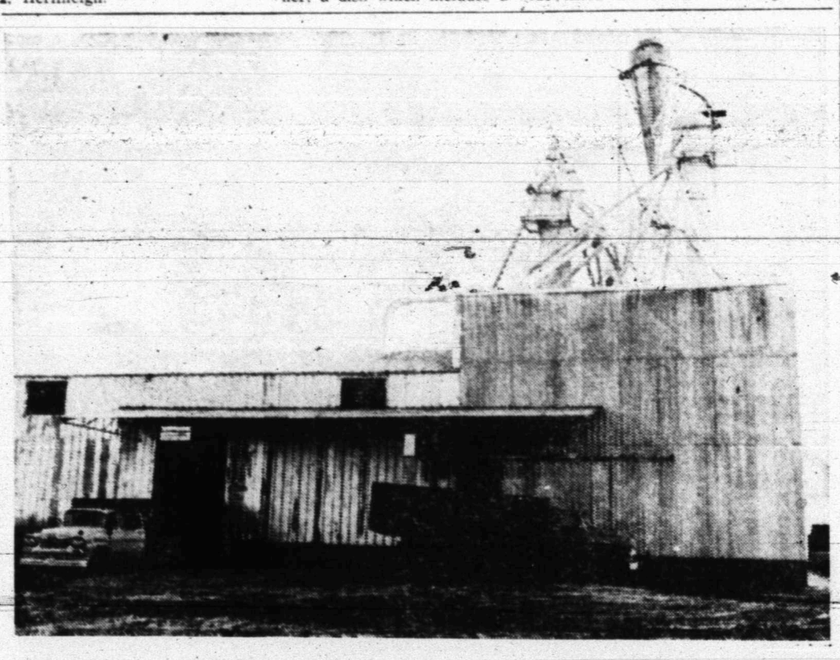
The Mexican dinner, like all foods at Little Mexico, is prepared fresh, with special care, and served hot.

The Mexican lunch, lower in price but with almost the same food as the dinner, is about second in popularity. For those who like to eat plenty of Mexican foods, there is the deluxe Mexican dinner.

Also very popular at Little Mexico are the combination plates. There are five special combinations. Both those and the dishes on the a la carte menu include many which have half orders for those who wish a smaller meal. Very popular with the ladies is a combination plate which includes one enchilada, one beef taco, and one guacamole taco. The No. 1 combination plate has two enchiladas with two beef tacos, while on No. 2 two enchiladas are combined with three tamales with chili. On the No. 3, there are two beef tacos and three tamales with chili, and on No. 4 are one beef taco, one cheese taco, and one enchilada.

Lent is coming up right away, and Little Mexico has many delicious dishes which are especially fitted for those observing Lent. They include Carlos' special combination with toasted tortilla and guacamole salad, toasted tortilla spread with fried beans and melted cheese, and nachos appetizers. Another is the Guadalajara special with guacamole salad, toasted tortillas spread with fried beans and melted cheese, and then there is the a la carte order of enchiladas with sauce. There are many others suited for observence of Lent.

Whatever the occasion or weather, Little Mexico has a dish on the menu which is well-suited. The Little Mexico dishes include enough variety to suit almost any taste and any size appetite.



EZELL-KEY EXPANDS FACILITIES—The modern Ezell-Key Grain Co., plant above is only part of the major expansions being completed by the firm here now. Large feed lots are also being installed so that custom feeding of cattle can be conducted as part of the firm's complete service to farmers and stockmen of this area. (Lee Watson photograph)

Major Expansion Underway At Ezell-Key Grain Firm

One major expansion has just been completed and another is nearing completion at the Ezell-Key Grain Co., Inc., located on the Sweetwater highway just south of Snyder.

Just completed is a new feed mill which has a capacity of 120 tons of finished mixed feeds or 2,400 sacks, in a nine-hour day.

Already the firm has underway cattle and swine feeding projects designed to check the advantages of controlled feeding methods for finishing cattle for market.

Six new feed lots are being built with truck driveways between the automatic feeders along the sides of the lots, so that a truck loaded with feed can drive between the lots and fill the feeders on both sides at one time — making it possible for one man to tend several hundred head of cattle with a minimum of effort.

In the new feed mill portion of the Ezell-Key Grain Co. plant any type of feed can be ground and mixed to the individual ranchers specifications in any size orders in two-ton batches.

The mixing equipment includes a molasses mixer with feeder and percentage guage to thoroughly mix molasses with dry ingredients accurately. The molasses is heated by steam.

The new feed mill, pushbutton controlled, is highly efficient in design and feeds can be delivered either sacked or in bulk.

"It will provide large savings to cattle and poultry raisers and give them a bigger return on their investment," M. C. (Com) Ezell, manager of the firm, said.

In addition to the plant facilities and grain storage at the plant, the firm has a modern and complete feed and seed store located on Twenty-fifth Street two blocks east of the Snyder square where all types of feeds and seeds are available.

"We invite farmers, ranchers, poultry men and anyone who is intereste in feeds of any type to call on us at either the plant or the downtown store," Ezell said.

Feeds will be mixed and processed from the customer's own grains or from high quality feeds at the plant and according to the individual's own formula. The firm offers the services of grinding, crimping, mixing and pelleting.

New Navy Procedures

Navy recruiters for this area have announced that the Navy Department has issued instructions on procedures to follow in applying for enrollment in the Navy's new scientific education program.

Enlisted Navy personnel under 30 years of age on July 1 and who have completed recruit training or the equivalent, whether male or female, in the Regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, may make application to participate in the scientific education program.

Chief Roy G. Treadaway, recruiter for this area, said selected enlisted personnel, 500 each year, will be enrolled in civilian institutions of higher learning for four consecutive years of scientific education.

On completion of education to baccalaureate level, persons otherwise qualified will be eligible for commissions in the Navy and must serve on active duty for the same number of years they have been in College, Treadaway said.

Youth Hurt By Rocket

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Michael Newey, 13, was in a Sacramento hospital today because a homemade rocket blew up in his face.

The boy, a junior high school student, and a companion were stuffing match heads into a metal cylinder yesterday when the device exploded and scattered pieces of metal.

Two of young Newey's fingers had to be amputated. He also suffered body cuts. He is the son of Ray C. Newey, Sacramento.

Police said Newey and Robert Langner were loading the rocket in the latter's garage when the explosion occurred. The Langner boy was not hurt, police said.

Bulgy Picks New District

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin will stand for re-election to the Soviet Union's Parliament from a district out in the sticks instead of from his usual Moscow constituency.

In an open letter in Moscow papers yesterday, members of the Communist Party Central Committee listed the districts where they would run unopposed in the March 16 elections.

More than 100 districts asked for the honor of having Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev represent them. He picked the Kalinin district of Moscow for a seat in the Council of the Union, the more important of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet.

Aztecs are the founders of the pre-Hispanic civilization of Mexico.

CAA Probes Plane Crash

HOBART, Okla. (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Administration tried today to determine the cause of a civilian plane crash near here yesterday which killed two Air Force officers.

One victim was identified by Walker Air Force Base at Roswell, N.M., as Capt. Theodore Bowdish, 40, of Waldorf, Md.

The other was tentatively identified by Walker officials as Capt. Eber Neeley.

Maj. Ed Linda of Walker AFB said Neely was stationed at Reese AFB at Lubbock. Reese officials said they had no record of an officer by that name.

Both men were believed en route to an Air Force school at Chanute Field, Ill. The CAA said they left Lubbock yesterday at 2 p.m. on a flight plan to Springfield, Mo.

The plane crashed in a pasture about nine miles south of here in a snowstorm. Mrs. Walter Jackson said the plane was "turning over and over" shortly before it crashed. Wreckage was scattered over a ¾ mile area.

Snyderite Is HPC Guest

Kenneth Steele of Snyder was among about 150 high school students from Texas and New Mexico who attended a guest weekend held at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, Friday through yesterday.

The program is held each year, with invitations to attend extended to students who have expressed interest in the college. Activities started Friday night with a supper and "sock Schlidgen," an all-school game party.

On Saturday, events included a breakfast, campus tours, lunch, noonspiration worship service, meet the president party, musical program, supper, HPC-Southwest Texas State basketball game, and an informal reception.

On Sunday, in addition to breakfast and lunch in the college cafeteria, the visitors attended Sunday school and morning worship services in Brownwood churches.

Tigers, Ponies Share District 3-AAA Lead

The district 3-AAA basketball warfare heads down the home stretch this week with only two of the five teams still in contention for the championship.

Snyder's surprising Tigers and the pre-season favorite, Sweetwater, are deadlocked for the district leadership with identical 4-1 records.

The other three teams in the district, Colorado City, Lake View and Lamesa have been mathematically eliminated from the title picture. Each owns a 2-4 District 3-AAA record.

The three tail-enders, however, will have much to say on who will emerge with the title. The Tigers must yet meet Colorado City and Lake View while Sweetwater has to face Lake View and Lamesa.

The two leaders, themselves, will get together Friday night at Sweetwater in what may well decide the district title.

Lamesa's pressure-less Tornadoes rose up to hand the Tigers their first conference defeat at Lamesa Friday night 46-45, that enabled idle Sweetwater to pull even with the Bengals.

In other games last week, Sweetwater stayed in the thick of the pennant race with an 84-71 win over Colorado City; Lake View upended Lamesa, 60-57; and Colorado City jolted Lake View, 69-66.

In games tomorrow night, the Tigers will host Colorado City and Lake View journey's to Sweetwater.

The Tigers defeated the Mustangs, 58-47, when the two clubs met here and the Bengals will be out to sweep the series.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE 3-AAA CAGE RACE has now boiled down to two teams and one of em still in the running, the Tigers, weren't given much chance of staying in the race this long in the pre-season forecasting.

Sweetwater, the other team still in contention for the flag, was among the pre-season favorites.

No one, however, figured the race would boil down to two teams 10 days before the end of the season.

The five district teams, though, are more evenly matched than what the standings show.

Standings Misleading

Tomorrow's game with Colorado City here is going to be tougher than one might think. Some are judging from the 16-point Tiger win over the Wolves at C-City that the Bengals should win in a walk.

But the Wolves have been playing the kind of ball in recent games that the experts figured they would in the pre-season forecasting.

Colorado City laced Lake View, 69-66, in her last start Friday night.

Of the two teams still in the title picture, Sweetwater is in the best spot, mainly because she will have the home court advantage against the Tigers in their next meeting.

And the way it looks now, the Tigers are going to have to beat the Mustangs Friday night to get in.

It doesn't appear that any of the other teams are going to "help" the Tigers by beating the Mustangs.

Wonder when they started calling a "layup" shot with as much as 1:25 minutes left in the game a "desperation" shot?

That's what the writer of the Tiger-Lamesa game in the Lamesa paper said of Wayland Holladay's game-winning bucket against the Tigers Friday night.

Writer Overlooks Reed

The Lamesa writer, of course, buttered up the Tornado win from a local angle but he could have mentioned that the Tigers' Leon Reed scored 23 points in the game and that Reed fouled out with 7:40 minutes left in the game.

Reed's name, however, wasn't mentioned in the entire writeup.

Congratulations are in order to Coach Charlie Sparks and his 7th grade basketeers who captured the Colorado City tournament over the weekend.

These youngsters must have learned something from the Tigers in this business of not "giving up" when you hit a bad streak.

For in the two games preceding the C-City tournament, the Blue Devils scored only 15 points in losing both games.

But the Blue Devils came back strong over the week to win the C-City tourney. And one of the teams the locals defeated enroute to the tourney title, Sweetwater, was one of the teams that had beaten the Blue Devils just prior to the tournament.

Texas League Adopts Sked

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas League is set for the 1958 season, a 154-game schedule approved and its eight clubs predicting an attendance of more than one million.

Plans for the campaign were completed here yesterday. The schedule will be played in 142 days, without an off day, with 12 doubleheaders for each club. There will be three trips around the circuit and the all-star game will be played July 18.

The season opens April 18 and closes Sept. 7. Victoria will hold spring training at Vero Beach, Fla., Houston at Daytona Beach, Tulsa at Austin, Corpus Christi at Sanford, Fla., Fort Worth at Mesa, Ariz., Dallas at Seguin or Fredericksburg, Austin at home and San Antonio at home. Victoria will be the first club to swing into action, starting its training March 8.

The club owners were optimistic and forecast combined attendance would be 1,255,000 provided there was no prepetition of last season when 59 games were rained out in the first 52 days.

Dallas and Houston predicted 200,000 each. Victoria looked for 125,000, Corpus Christi 150,000, Austin 125,000 to 150,000, Tulsa 150., Fort Worth 13,000 and San Antonio 175,000.

The directors solemnly decided that the club with the smallest opening day attendance would have to throw a steak dinner for the other seven and the owner of the losing club would have to eat crow.

New League Is Organized

MIDLAND (AP)—Backed by six major league clubs, the West Texas-New Mexico 6-club "sophomore" league has been organized to operate during 1958.

Formation of the circuit, which includes Carlsbad, Hobbs and Artesia, N.M.; and Midland, San Angelo and Plainview, Tex., was completed at a meeting here yesterday.

Final details, including player and salary limits and setting a classification, will be worked out at Columbus, O., Thursday when league president Grady Terry of Midland and vice president Charles Montgomery of Carlsbad meet with George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, and farm directors of the major league clubs.

Milwaukee, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, St. Louis and Pittsburgh are the big league clubs backing the circuit. They will furnish the players and managers. The league members will retain receipts, pay the cost of operating and pay a certain amount each month to the big league clubs. Players with less than two years experience will be used.

The league is expected to be Class C and will play 120 games.

Texas Open Next On Tourney Trail

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Winners of four of six tournaments along the winter trail plus the men who set three PGA records here will be in the field this week for the storied $150,000 Texas Open.

Jay Hebert, the Louisianan who won last year over a toughened Brackenridge Park course that withstood a record onslaught, heads eight former champions who will seek the thirty-first championship of this the oldest big money tournament on the winter tour.

Frank Stranahan, winner at Los Angeles; E. J. Harrison, who took first money at Tijuana, and Ken Venturi, champion at both the Thunderbird and Phoenix tournaments, will try for the title. Harrison has won this tournament twice before—in 1936 and 1951.

Also appearing will be Bill Caper champion of the Bing Crosby, and Lionel Hebert, who yesterday won the Tucson Open. And also there will be no Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald or National Open and World winner Dick Mayer. Jimmy Demaret, always a top contender here, also may not play this time.

But most of the other top names in golf will be moving in today for tuneups over the 6,400-yard Brackenridge Park course. Tomorrow the hotshots of the tournament trail will fire in a pro-amateur invitational at Oak Hills Country Club.

Leaders Clash In City League Tilt Tonight

Boys Club and Canyon Reef Sports Center, currently tied for the City League lead, clash tonight in the feature game of a two-game card at Junior High Gym.

Both the Boys Club and Canyon Reef have a 4-2 league record. Tip-off time for their game tonight will be 8:30 p.m.

Brooks Oil and D&H Grocery will meet in the first game at 7.

Following are the standings:

TEAM	W	L	PCT.
Canyon Reef Sports Center	4	2	.667
Boys Club	4	2	.667
Brooks Oil Well Service	3	3	.500
D&H Food Store	1	5	.166

Pancho Ends Loss Skein

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pro tennis champion Pancho Gonzales and Australia's Lew Hoad headed for New York today to resume their American tour Wednesday night. If their meeting in Madison Square Garden is anything like the two donnybrooks in San Francisco and Los Angeles, then look out!

Gonzales whipped Hoad at Pan Pacific Auditorium yesterday to end a string of seven straight setbacks at the hands of the 23-year-old Aussie. An old pro at 29, Gonzales had to win the hard way, too. He lost the first set, 3-6, and seemed on the way to a quick defeat when he suddenly rallied, won the second set, lasting 1 hour, 50 minutes, 24-22, then breezed through the third, 6-1.

The night before in San Francisco, Hoad won in straight sets, 6-4, 20-18.

Gonzales was elated after his comeback and predicted that he would win the American leg of the tour. He now trails, 9-6.

IN TORRID SWC RACE

Three Teams Trail Hogs By ½ Game

By The Associated Press

Southern Methodist, which beat Arkansas at home, will try to do it on the road Tuesday night and this game should have far-reaching effect in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The campaign rolls down the stretch with Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Rice in a virtual tie for the lead. Arkansas is a half-game to the good over SMU and Rice because it has played one more conference game.

Rice gave the race a 3-way complex Saturday when the Owls did the unbelievable—they felled Arkansas 63-59 on the Razorbacks' home court. It indicated that Rice finally had arrived.

Texas pulled a startling upset when it knocked over Texas Tech 71-59 to shove the latter down to fourth place.

But Tech is only a game and a half away from Arkansas and Texas' A&M and Texas still are in the race. Texas Christian has an outside chance. Baylor, loser of eight, can be considered out of the race but still capable of upsetting somebody.

That might come Tuesday night when Baylor hosts Texas Tech.

Rice gets Texas A&M at Houston. It's the last chance for A&M.

Wednesday night, Texas tries to cling on in a game with Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

A lot of things happen Saturday night with Arkansas playing Texas Tech at Lubbock in the feature. Southern Methodist will engage Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Texas and Texas A&M get together at Austin and Baylor entertains Rice at Waco.

Southern Methodist whipped Texas Christian 87-67 last week to run its home winning streak to 25 straight conference games.

Arkansas beat Texas Christian 54-46, Rice swamped Texas 102-68 and Texas A&M beat Baylor 60-51 in other conference games during the week.

Ronnie Stevenson of Texas Christian became the first player to go over the 300-point mark for the season. Stevenson, with 318 points, leads the scorers in season play and with 133 tops in conference competition.

Tempe Leads Border Race

By The Associated Press

Arizona State College at Tempe is the newest leader in the Border Conference basketball race.

The Sun Devils have rallied in the past three weeks for four consecutive victories and a slippery grip on first place.

Defending champion Texas Western, predicted a threat, has skidded to a tie for fourth place.

The league is still so closely bunched any team—except maybe last place West Texas State—could take command this week.

Arizona State will put its title hopes on the line this week with a two-game road trip. Friday, the Sun Devils face West Texas State and Saturday second-place Hardin-Simmons.

In its only conference game last week, Arizona State tripped up New Mexico A&M 60-56.

Hardin-Simmons, with its 3-2 record, was idle in conference play and stayed in second. Arizona, tied with Western for fourth, rallied in the fading seconds to nip Texas Western 60-59 and then dropped an 80-49 decision to West Texas.

In addition to Arizona State's road trip, this week's games include Arizona at Hardin-Simmons Monday; Texas Western at New Mexico A&M and the San Diego Marines at Arizona, both Saturday night.

Hebert Wins Tucson Open By 2 Strokes

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Conservative golf gave Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., the championships of the $15,000 Tucson Open and sent him to the San Antonio Open this week richer by $2,000.

Playing his shots with caution after taking the lead on the second hole of the final round, the PGA champ came home with a 66 for the par-70, 6,434-yard El Rio layout. He had a 72-hole total of 265, 15 under par.

Putting played a big role in his first medal play win of the PGA circuit. For several weeks before, putting had been troubling him.

Don January, Eastland, Tex., one of the bumper crop of promising youngsters, lost the one-stroke lead he held at the start of the final round when Hebert took a birdie 3 on the first hole. January went two over par on the No. 2 hole. He finished with 69 for the round and a total of 267, 13 under par, for $1,500 second-place money.

Three bogies didn't rattle big John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich. Six birdies, including one on the 18th when his approach was behind a heavy clump of trees, brought him home with 67 and a 72-hole total of 269, good for third-place money of $1,200.

Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., the winner's older brother, birdied five of the last nine holes to finish with 65 and a total of 272. Ken Venturi, San Francisco, winner of the recent Palm Springs, Calif., and Phoenix opens and the pre-tourney favorite; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., the defending champ, and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., were also tied at 272. Each earned $862.50.

Hebert, playing in the three-some ahead of January, took a par for the 450-yard No. 2 hole.

"For three days I hadn't been near a fence," January said afterward. "Then I drove off the second tee and 'wham,' it went into the fields. Right then I got scared. In a few holes it got so I couldn't control the ball."

College Quints Battle For Loop Titles, Tourney Berths

Major college basketball, given a lift by the three-way scrap for the individual scoring title, plods deeper into the now-or-never stage this week in the run for conference championships and postseason tournament berths.

Cincinnati's Bearcats figure in both angles in a pair of games. Oscar Robertson is bidding to overhaul leader Elgin Baylor of Seattle in return bouts with Bradley and Oklahoma State.

The Bearcats, whose only defeats in 18 games came at Bradley and Oklahoma State, get the home break in these two. A victory over Bradley Wednesday would go a long way toward clinching the Missouri Valley Conference title and an automatic NCAA Tournament berth. Cincinnati is 8-1 in conference play.

Bradley, 6-1 in the Mo-Valley and 13-4 over-all after Saturday's 64-52 defeat at Oklahoma State, figures to defend it's NIT crown if it places second in the conference race.

Oklahoma State is a nonleague foe, shooting for an at-large tourney spot.

Neither game figures to be an easy-scoring night for Oscar, particularly the Saturday meeting with Oklahoma State's ball-control bunch.

Oscar warmed up with 43 Saturday as Cincinnati whipped St. Joseph's 100-78 at Philadelphia. That gave him 593 points in 18 games and a 32.94 average.

Baylor counted 46 in a 107-71 Seattle breeze past Gonzaga, upping his average to 33.72 on 607 points in 18 games.

All America Wilt Chamberlain stayed a close third notching 46 points, a Big Eight record, as Kansas walloped Nebraska 102-46. Wilt is averaging 32.86 with 460 points in 14 games.

Baylor has just one game this week, against Regis Thursday. Chamberlain shoots against Colorado tonight and Iowa State Saturday.

In other conference races, Rice hustled back into the Southwest title picture by upsetting first-place Arkansas 54-46. Southern Methodist pulled into a second-place tie with Rice, a half-game behind Arkansas, by eliminating Texas Christian 84-67. SMU is at Arkansas tomorrow night.

The Big Ten continued its hectic pattern with Michigan jumping back into first place on an 83-81 victory over Illinois while Indiana was dumping Michigan State out of the top spot 82-79 and Purdue was bouncing Ohio State 83-63. Michigan is at Minnesota tonight, and could have trouble.

In the Pacific Coast, California regained a share of the top with UCLA by beating the Uclans 61-58.

Kentucky is 8-1 in the Southeastern after whipping Mississippi 96-65.

Top-ranked West Virginia is unbeaten atop the Southern Conference after defeating Richmond 72-60 and can clinch the regular-season pennant by beating William & Mary tonight with Virginia Military Wednesday.

The Atlantic Coast Conference follows the same fomula, with Duke coming along fast as a dark horse bet. The Blue Devils made NCAA champ and seventh-ranked North Carolina their seventh consecutive victim, 91-73.

Alston, Among Other Things, Banking On Rookie Brigade

Seventh of a series written by major league managers evaluating their 1958 pennant prospects.

By WALTER ALSTON

DARRTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Our team has a good chance to be stronger this year if some of the regulars return to normal form and some of our young, promising rookies come through as we expect them to.

The loss of Roy Campanella was a tough blow. He was a fine team player and we were looking forward to an improved year from him. At present I figure on giving Al Walker first crack at Campy's job. If Al doesn't make it, we have some good-looking rookies in Johnny Roseboro and Joe Pignatano.

It is no secret that our pitchers carried us last year. On the other hand, there was a pronounced decline in our defense. This year I'm hoping the pitchers get some help from the hitters. I expect the pitching to be even stronger than it was last season.

It's reasonable to believe we'll come up with more power from a sounder Duke Snider. The doctor who operated on his damaged left knee said Duke must have been hiding something there for some time. The knee was pretty well ground up. Duke has assured me over the telephone that he will be as good as ever.

Carl Furillo's second half surge last year may indicate he'll have another good one this season. Then there's Don Demeter, a good slugger, who might be ready to step into a regular job.

If Gino Cimolo has as good a year as last, we'll be satisfied. We may have something in this kid Dick Gray at third. He has good power and, above, good RBI history. I want to see a lot of him as well as Bob Lillis at short. I'm hoping we can move Charley Neal from short to second. He is a natural double play man. This would make Junior Gilliam available elsewhere.

We didn't make any trades but I'd like to say that few pennants are won with traded players. They're won usually on players you develop in your farm system and the Dodgers have an exceptional rookie crop coming along.

In addition to Demeter, Lillis and Gray, we have youngsters like Jim Gentile and Norm Larker first base; George Anderson, second base; and Stan Williams, Rene Valdez, Fred Kipp, Bill Harris and Larry Sherry, pitchers.

Pee Wee Reese's early season injuries were crippling blows and I expect him to come up with a real good year. I've said all along to watch Neal with the bat. I think he will continue to show improvement at the plate and he's likely to become one of the better hitters in the league—power-wise.

As I said earlier, our pitching should be even better. I expect Don Newcombe, Clem Labine, Don Bessent and Roger Craig to bounce back. Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Dan McDevitt should continue to improve. Ed Roebuck should pick up where he left off. They tell me that this Kid Williams really has it. I'm also counting on Jackie Collum, the little lefty, to help out in the bullpen.

I expect Milwaukee, St. Louis and Cincinnati to be our toughest competitors.

GREETING:

You and each of you are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to plaintiff's petition before the Second 38th Judicial District Court of Kendall County, Texas, in the Courthouse in the City of Boerne, Kendall County, Texas, at or before ten o'clock a. m. on the Monday next following the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this citation, said Monday being the 17th day of March, 1958, and then and there to answer the original petition of Dolores Mooers, a widow, as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 30th day of January, 1958, against H. B. Fuqua as Independent Executor under a purported will of Clifford Mooers, deceased, and in which suit the other named defendants are those persons first named in this writ and to whom it is above directed, and other defendants to be cited personally are:

American Cancer Society, Inc., a New York corporation, and American Cancer Society, Texas Division, Inc., a Texas corporation, and Betty Nuss, Chester Green, R. J. Kelly, Mrs. Gladys Van Pelt, Genevieve Conroy, Ralph Dahlstrom, Swen Lundahl, Russell Bauchman, Charley McClaskey, Allan H. Ellingson, Paul S. Oles, and Mrs. A. G. Koenig, as executrix under the will of A. G. Koenig, deceased, and the said Mrs. A. G. Koenig, a widow, and Elizabeth Koenig, a feme sole, as the only heirs of A. G. Koenig, deceased; John T. Claybourne, Frank Demus, Mrs. C. W. Farley (and husband, C. W. Farley), Tom Walters, Leonard Ward, Bruno Brandt, W. B. Davis, and John W. Clark, individually and as constituting and representative of that class of five-year employees given cash legacies of $500.00 each under the terms of such purported will of such decedent.

Said suit styled "Dolores Mooers, A Widow, v. H. B. Fuqua, Independent Executor, et al," being numbered 1525 on the docket of such court and a brief statement of the nature of the suit being as follows:

Plaintiff seeking equitable review asks to set aside a settlement made with her husband, Clifford Mooers, dated May 1, 1956, and this Court's decree of approval entered the next day in cause No. 1464, styled "Ex Parte: Clifford Mooers and Wife, Dolores Mooers," recorded in the minutes, Vol. 6, p. 636, and asks an accounting and for a declaration fixing the identity of the residuary devisee under a purported will of such husband as admitted to probate December 10, 1956, in which suit it is claimed that plaintiff as the wife of such decedent for 27 years before his death was induced to consent to such property settlement and decree by the fraud of her husband and his agents, consisting of false representations and concealment of material facts as to the nature, extent and value of the community property and of plaintiff's true interest therein at such time, and because of further false promises to bequeath and on account of mistake induced by fraud of her said husband and coercion; and it is claimed that a fraud was also practiced by such decedent on this Court, and that the proceedings did not comply with Article 2624a.

It is further claimed in such suit that all or substantially all property in decedent's name at the time of such settlement and at the time of his death was community property, and that had the wife received those properties awarded to her in such settlement, such were greatly less than her share at such time, and such contract was grossly unjust and disadvantageous to her. But that there was further material fraud and deceit practiced on her as to those properties which it was recited she was to receive under such settlement because of failure of title and of consideration in material part and inability to deliver and failure to deliver personal property of the kind and value which it was represented such wife should receive.

Plaintiff offers to do equity and makes a continuing tender to restore that which she has received and asserts that due to her situation, inexperience, ignorance and deception she could not sooner have discovered such fraud and brought this action.

It is further claimed that since such husband's death the defendant H. B. Fuqua, acting as Independent Executor under the purported will of such husband, has come into possession of but has not distributed all of those properties which the husband wrongfully took under such settlement and decree and in which plaintiff had a continuing equitable ownership, and interest, and that the other defendants are claiming to own or have some interest in such properties and estate as the respective cash legatees and residuary devisee under such purported will; and that among such properties are lands and interests in lands within the State of Texas including those described, listed and identified in such petition, including the following:

1. A 1/128 royalty interest in all the minerals in the following described land:

9.173 acres of land out of the North part of Sec. No. 653 in Blk. No. 97, H&TC Ry. Co., Cert. No. 45/6069, situated in the County of Scurry, State of Texas, and more particularly described as follows:

To The Sheriff or any Constable of any County of the State of Texas, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to serve the foregoing citation by making publication thereof in some newspaper, of legal circulation, published in the County of Scurry for four (4) consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least 28 days before the return day of the citation.

Herein Fail Not, but on the return day hereinabove named, have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Issued and given under my hand and seal of said court in Boerne, Texas, this 30th day of January, 1958.

Explorer Aid To Mapping

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The satellite Explorer is giving map experts a big hand in correcting errors of distance on the earth surface.

Over vast areas such as the Pacific there now may be a large variation between the actual distance of two points and that shown on the most accurate maps.

A department of the Army release discussed the use to which the satellite is being put. Map experts will improve their calculations by using the Explorer as a reference point instead of the moon. The satellite was launched Jan. 31 from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Dr. John O'Keefe, Army Map Service geologist, is working with Dr. Charles A. Lundquist, missile agency physicist.

O'Keefe said the Explorer will help reduce mapping errors in the Pacific region from three quarters of a mile to 300 feet and ultimately will lead to precision "on the order of 30 feet throughout the world."

Producer LeBaron Dies In California

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — William LeBaron, 75, pioneer moviemaker who produced the Mae West films, died in St. John's Hospital yesterday. He had been under treatment for a heart condition.

The veteran producer-director, one-time managing editor of Colliers magazine, worked for three major Hollywood studios — RKO, Paramount and 20th Century-Fox —before forming his own company in 1945. It was called Federal Films.

State Violence Claims 21 Lives; Traffic Heads List

By The Associated Press

Violence in Texas took at least 21 lives over the weekend with traffic again leading the list of causes with 12 deaths.

Three persons burned to death and six died in other forms of sudden death.

In Ingleside, a couple was killed Sunday night in a headon automobile collision on State 35. They were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray McDougald. Mrs. McDougald, 21, was killed instantly. Her husband, 24, died soon after in a hospital. Also killed in the collision was Jimmie Jacobs, 27, home address unknown.

Another couple was killed in San Antonio Sunday night when struck by a hit-and-run driver. The middle-aged San Antonio victims were Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDonald.

At Kingsville, Police Sgt. Gene Christopher, 26, was shot dead with his own gun Sunday night when he engaged in a scuffle with a man following a cafe disturbance. Kingsville police chief D. D. Condron said he would file murder charges Monday against Pablo Lomas, 33.

Lawrence Eugene Lucas, 14, Houston, was killed Sunday when a shotgun discharged and struck him while on a hunting trip northwest of Houston.

Unrequited love presumably was the cause, police at San Antonio said, in the suicide death of Lee Honts, a man in his early 40s.

Police broke into the bank clerk's apartment and found him dead, a record player playing the song "San Antonio Rose," and his telephone off the hook. Detectives said he had been dead at least 24 hours when they found the body. The county medical examiner said it was suicide.

Boyd Pickell, 42, Port Isabel, died of shock and exposure Sunday when an explosives-laden launch on which he was a crewmember caught fire in the Gulf off Port Arthur.

The body of 1st Lt. Fred Carlton Stanley Jr., 27, was found hanging from a chinning bar in the back yard of his home in Bryan Saturday night. He was stationed at Bryan Air Force Base. A justice of the peace's verdict was pending.

Melvin Lloyd Wisom, 39, and Roy Jones, 58, both of Wichita Falls, were fatally injured Sunday when their pickup truck skidded on a rain-slick road near Wichita Falls.

Linda Sue Watson, 3, Paris, died Sunday of burns suffered Saturday.

J. D. Yarborough, 85, was fatally burned when fire destroyed a house near Newcastle Sunday.

Albert Graham, 58, was killed Friday night when struck by a loaded grain truck while walking along a street in Fort Worth.

'Crash' Plan Urged To Nip School Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman has called for a crash program to cope with juvenile crime in the city's schools.

He said he was willing to help devise one with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the Board of Education. The mayor was receptive to his offer.

Last Friday 644 pupils were suddenly suspended from the schools by the Board of Education.

The action followed a series of rapes, knifings and other disorders involving both white and Negro students in or near schools.

James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education, upheld the legality of the suspensions. He pointed out, however, that the board is still responsible for educating all children under 17.

Other new developments in the school situation included:

A call for a "real survey of the educational system from the top to the bottom to see what's wrong" by State Sen. Walter J. Mahoney (R-Buffalo). Mahoney is majority leader of the Senate.

An attack on Wagner and top school authorities by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY), who denounced the suspensions as "a form of naziism forced upon the people of New York City." Powell, a Negro, is also pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church.

A denial by Stanley Lowell, a Wagner assistant, that racial tensions are the basic cause of troubles in the schools.

The geographical center of the North American continent is near Rugby, N.D. A monument marks the spot.

Arab Union Beats Drum For Mergers

CAIRO (AP)—Backers of the new United Arab Republic beat the drums over the weekend for more national mergers in the Arab world.

Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly urged Lebanon, his next-door neighbor, to join Syria and Egypt in the U.A.R. In an address broadcast by Damascus radio, he declared such a move would be the "best guarantee of Lebanon's borders."

In Cairo, Hassanien Heikal, editor of Al Ahram, which often reflects the thoughts of President Nasser, called on the Hashemite kingdoms of Iraq and Jordan to join together under one ruler as "a great and blessed step" toward Arab unity.

Kuwatly's invitation met a chilly response from Lebanese President Camille Chamoun, who declared that his country is "very anxious to preserve its independence." Speaking at a Maronite Christian church in Beirut, Chamoun advised the Arab state not to meddle in Lebanese affairs. The country is half Christian.

Proposals for a union of Iraq and Jordan are not new, but one from an Egyptian source close to Nasser was startling in view of Egyptian-Syrian hostility to the pro-Western governments of Iraq and Jordan.

Iraq belongs to the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact, a fact that has been particularly galling to the Cairo-Damascus axis, and Jordan has been leaning heavily on U.S. financial and military aid since King Hussein kicked out a pro-Egyptian government.

Teen-Ager Shoots Three Witnesses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A gun happy teen ager who wasn't taken seriously as a robber shot down three witnesses yesterday and then remarked, "If I had a machine gun, I really would have cut loose."

Curly haired Jerry Haynes, 18, was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital to see his victims but even that apparently did not affect him.

At jail he remarked: "I saw 'em laying there. Who knows if I should have felt something . . . Anyway I didn't."

All the victims of this 10-minute, two-stickup spree were reported in good condition today and in no danger.

Haynes, of Renton, Wash., walked into the Short Stop Tavern at about 1 a.m.

The adolescent drew a pistol and told patrons to "walk to the back of the place." Earl Russell, 31, asked: "What for?" Police said Haynes dropped Russell with one bullet to the upper thigh and then turned the gun on Clement Hunt, 61, who had walked over from the bar. Hunt went down with a slug in his stomach.

Haynes told police: "I don't know anything about it, but there was this one old lady. . . She got on my nerves. Then somebody started pushing me and some other guy tried to rush me. So I started shooting. That's all."

Without getting any loot, the gunboy ran four blocks to the Senate Hotel where he pulled his gun on Alexander Chapman, 61, a clerk. Chapman handed over $45 from a cash drawer and $1 of his own.

Haynes ordered him then to "Turn around and don't look this way." After that the youth shot Chapman three times in the back, police added.

"I got mad at him," Haynes said in his cell. "He was acting kind of smart, so I shot him. He acted foreign. I don't like foreigners, so I let him have it. . . . That's all."

Blonde Robs Dallas Store

DALLAS (AP)—A shapely, blonde woman held up a drug store in east Dallas last night, took $150 cash and a pair of nylon hose at pistol point and escaped.

Miss Jewel Humphreys, 36, the manager, and a customer, Larry Arnold, 33, described the cool outlaw as "attractive" in her cream-colored raincoat and black, high-heeled shoes. She was about 35.

Miss Humphreys said the woman entered the store across the street from Baylor Hospital about 30 minutes before the holdup, sat alone in a booth and sipped three beers and played Elvis Presley records on the jukebox. Arnold, sitting in the next booth, said the woman aroused no suspicion, even when she left the booth and glided to the cashier's counter.

Miss Humphreys said:

"She pulled out a big, shiny pistol. I looked at it, then looked up at her. 'She said, 'This is it. LOOK down this barrel. This is a gun.'"

Policeman Is Slain In Cafe

KINGSVILLE (AP) — Police Sgt. Gene Christopher, 26, was shot to death with his own gun last night in a scuffle at a cafe.

Police Chief D. D. Condron said Christopher had been summoned by the cafe manager who said he wanted to eject some customers.

Condron said he drove up and saw Christopher scuffling with a man. He said he heard a shot and rushed over to find the officer shot in the chest.

He said police took the gun away from the man, who Condron identified as Pablo Lomas, 33. Christopher is survived by his widow and a child, 2.

Reward Up For Slayer

MARLIN (AP)—A $250 reward was up today for information leading to the slayer of a Negro woman.

Sheriff Brady Pamplin offered the reward yesterday because, he said, there were no clues in the death of Mrs. Carrie Sims, 21, of Round Rock.

Her nude and mangled body was found Friday in a ditch nine miles south of here in Central Texas. The woman last was seen alive Thursday in Austin.

Pamplin said Robert Sims, about 23, the woman's estranged husband, had volunteered to take a lie detector test and was helping in the investigation.

Safe Crackers Have A One-Track Mind

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Burglars who tore open a safe at a Tampa business firm during the weekend must have been mighty keen on their work.

They ignored the combination written on the door of the safe. Police said they got $225.
