Stacy ruling holds promise of water

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

The Colorado River Municipal Water District has won the battle, but not the war, in the campaign to build the Stacy Dam reservoir, according to Joe Pickle of the water district.

Wednesday's announcement of the Texas Supreme Court's decision to remand the Stacy reservoir permit to the Texas Water Commission gives the water district "a better opportunity to seek alternate ways to clear the project," Pickle said today.

The Texas Supreme Court dealt the water district a crippling blow in November when it negated the Texas Water Commission permit to build the Stacy reservoir about 25 miles southeast of Ballinger on the Colorado River. The court said there was not enough unappropriated water along the Colorado River to justify the permit.

Basically, Wednesday's decision "leaves us time and room to work out something," Pickle said. Should the decision to negate the permit not be remanded back to the Texas Water Commission, the local water district would have lost about seven years of work on the Stacy Dam project and would have

Reagan says he'd meet Soviets to get arms talks off ground

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, expressing his willingness to attend a U.S.-Soviet summit if it would help advance the new arms control talks, says 1985 should be a year of dialogue and better relations between the two superpowers.

While celebrating a new agreement to begin fresh negotiations on nuclear and space weapons, Reagan told a news conference Wednesday night the two countries' differences "are many and profound" and predicted the new talks will be difficult.

"It's also my hope that as 1985 unfolds," he added, "this year will emerge as one of dialogue and negotiations, a year that leads to better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

He said, however, that he intends to press ahead with research on a space-based anti-missile system, although the "Star Wars" plan will be "on the table with everything else" when the bargaining begins in the new round of talks agreed to by U.S. and Soviet negotiators this week in Geneva.

Asked if now might be the time for a summit meeting with Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko, Reagan said, "To have a meeting...just to have a meeting doesn't make any sense."

But he added, "In the next month or so, we're all supposed to get together and find out when the negotiations can start and where. If, at any time, a reason arises in which a summit could be helpful in that or in any other matters and a carefully planned agenda created...I'm perfectly willing."

Replying to a question about whether the success of the Geneva meetings and the resumption of arms talks might lead to a new era of detente with the Soviet Union, Reagan said, "I think that there will be other things talked about other than just weapons... We very definitely are trying to arrive at a position in which we can settle some of the other bilateral and regional issues and trade matters that are at odds between us."

Ending his first formal news conference in six months, Reagan backed away from reporters and nearly fell off the low podium in the White House East Room before regaining his balance. In other topics covered during the wide-ranging 32-minute session, Reagan:

• Appeared to exempt Social Security cost-of-living increases from his blanket promise during the fall campaign never to reduce or alter benefits to beneficiaries of the retirement system.

• Pledged continued support for anti-Sandinista guerrillas in Nicaragua, saying the people there "are governed by a group that took over by force" and adding there is "no retreating from what we feel are obligations there in Central America."

• Dismissed long-range economic projections as inaccurate and unnecessary, saying, "Frankly, I pay no attention to them."

• Reiterated his opposition to a tax increase to bring down the deficit, saying that "would set us back in the very thing that we have accomplished in these first four years and intend to carry on, and that is an economic expansion."

The president also denied that a move by Senate Republicans to write their own budget nearly a month before he submits his spending plan to Congress showed he was walking away from his deficit-reduction effort.

"I don't mind if they want to do what they are doing... Maybe

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers, already circling the political wagons to fend off blows from education reform opponents, were on the job for only the second day Wednesday when the first wave of protests struck.

"Children are people, not computers," read one picket sign. "We will fight for rights," stated another.

Those were only two of the signs held by some 100 protesters appearing at the Texas Capitol to lobby for changes in the education reform measures approved by the Legislature in special session last summer.

Among the groups were Texans for Local Control of Education, Texans for Democracy and Citizens for Traditional Values.

The largest contingent was a busload of about 40 West Texans from Big Spring and surrounding communities. Others came from Ballinger, Abilene, San Angelo, Stanton, Sweetwater, Any effort to win changes in the education reform package became more difficult after Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby decided to remove reform critics from the Senate Education Committee and replace them with reform supporters.

"We don't have a lot of money like (education reform leader H. Ross) Perot."

Ronnie Wood
Big Spring

"We're going to have to put pressure on our representatives," said Ronnie Wood of Big Spring, shortly before meeting with his local lawmaker, state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring. "That's all we can do. We don't have a lot of money like (education reform leader H. Ross) Perot."

Shaw, who voted for the education reform package, met with group representatives for more than an hour.

Group members also scheduled visits with a representative of Gov. Mark White, Senate Education Committee Chairman Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Grant Jones, D-

Abilene, and state Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

"The only leverage we have is to threaten them, if I can put it that way, with getting re-elected," Wood said.

Maryneal rancher Tommy Stewman, a Highland Independent School District board member, said, "The real big issue is that we have lost local control of our schools."

The state, he said, has taken too much power away from locally elected school officials in determining what can and cannot be done in a school district.

In addition, he said, "This bill really takes a whack at agriculture." The new appointed State Board of Education, he said, only has two members who live west of state-splitting Interstate Highway 35.

"One's a dentist from Levelland and the other a lady from Texas Tech (University health science complex) in El Paso," Stewman said. "West Texas has very little representation and agriculture has none."

Agriculture, he said, was hurt most by the education reform bill.

Fugitive pleads innocent

CINCINNATI — Former "most-wanted" fugitive Alton Colman has pleaded innocent to charges he robbed and strangled a 15-year-old girl during a six-week crime spree through the Midwest.

Coleman, 28, and his girlfriend, Debra Brown, both of Waukegan, Ill., were arraigned Wednesday on charges of aggravated robbery and murder in the death of Tonnie Storey, whose body was found in an abandoned house here July 19.

Ms. Brown, 22, who is challenging her transfer from Dayton to Cincinnati, declined to make a plea on her attorney's advice. Common Pleas Judge Simon L. Leis entered a plea of innocent for her. The couple were held without bail.

Judge nixes deportation

CINCINNATI — A judge said he decided not to deport a 28-year-old student convicted of two misdemeanor thefts because the son of a former Iranian official would probably have faced death in his homeland.

Hamidfounooni Fard, a doctoral engineering student at the University of Cincinnati who pleaded no contest to charges he stole books and beef, is the son of a former official in the government of the shah of Iran.

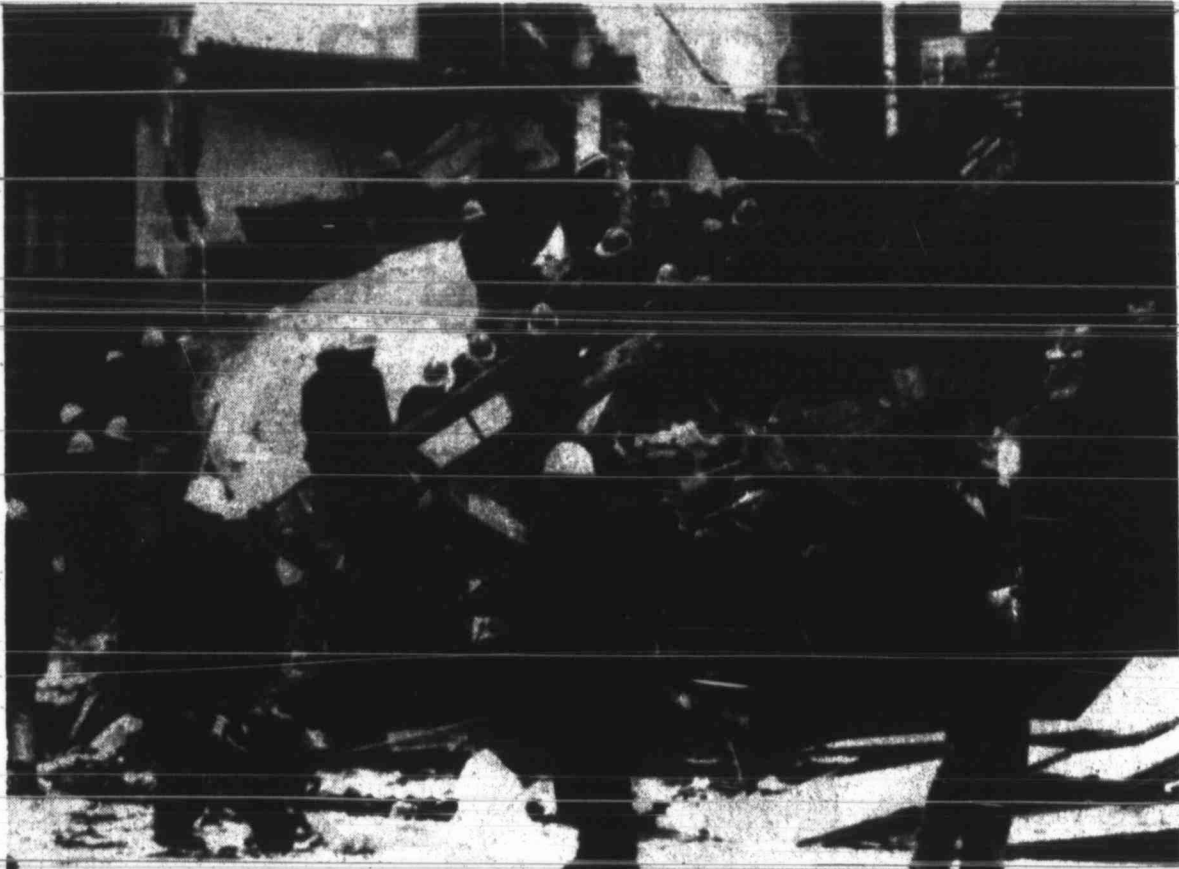

"I decided a term in the workhouse was bad enough," Hamilton County Municipal Judge Mark Painter said Tuesday after granting Fard's request over the Immigration and Naturalization Service's objection. "We didn't need to send him back to the Ayatollah (Ruhollah Khomeini), too."

Putting blacks in the back

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The owner of a small motel says a Justice Department civil suit accusing him of regularly putting black lodgers in the back "is just not fair."

Roy Blazic, who with his wife, Vera, owns the Capri Motel, said regular black guests always ask for the same rooms at his 50-room motel and said three blacks stayed in front of the motel last weekend.

The lawsuit filed Tuesday also says black guests were denied use of the Capri's swimming pool and lobby. It asks the court to order the Blazics to provide all customers equal lodging and services regardless of race.

BLAST AFTERMATH — Firemen and rescue workers search the rubble at an explosion today ripped through the flat block on the Manor Field Estate on Putney Hill, London.

Buried alive

10 people trapped in rubble following explosion

LONDON (AP) — An explosion, believed caused by leaking gas, wrecked a luxury apartment house in south London today, burying up to 14 people under the rubble.

Rescuers heard a woman's voice from under the debris, but three bodies were recovered and officials said there was little chance as many as 10 others believed trapped were alive.

One of several three-story buildings in the Manor Fields apartment complex on Putney Hill was demolished in the blast at 7:20 a.m. A spokesman for South Eastern Gas said a resident had called to report a natural gas leak before the explosion and a utility van was en route to the apartment complex when the explosion occurred.

The blast touched off a fire that burned for two hours before it was extinguished, said a spokesman for the London Fire Brigade.

Police and firefighters dug through the rubble with small shovels and bare hands in near-freezing cold, fog and snow flurries.

Shortly after noon, one of them heard a woman's voice, a London Fire Brigade spokesman said.

"The word was passed 'round for people to shut up so that rescuers could hear her better," said the spokesman, who would not give his name.

A spokesman for the London Ambulance Service, who declined to give his name, said, "The estimated figure is 14 under the rubble."

He said two adults and three children suffered minor injuries in the blast and were taken to a hospital in nearby Roehampton.

Engines were called in from nearby Wimbledon, Wandsworth, Clapham and Fulham.

Scotland Yard, headquarters of the Metropolitan Police, said a smell of gas permeated the area when officers arrived, and gas was presumed to be the cause of the explosion.

Vietnamese troops retreat

BAN SANGAE, Thailand — Vietnamese troops pulled back into Cambodia from Thai territory today, defusing a 24-hour confrontation over the location of the border that came close to armed conflict.

"There is no more problem here. As you can see, everything is quiet," Maj. Gen. Salya Sriphon, the Thai eastern task force commander, told reporters.

After Thai and Vietnamese officers met four times on a bridge west of the Thai-Cambodian border, the Vietnamese admitted they were misinformed about where the boundary was, Salya said.

Vietnamese troops had overrun and captured the Cambodian rebels' headquarters base at Ampil on Monday and Tuesday, sending the last of the guerrilla fighters fleeing in Thai-marked trucks.

After securing the camp, where more than 20,000 Cambodian refugees had lived a week ago, unarmed Vietnamese officers appeared on the bridge at Ban Sangae on Wednesday, and told a Thai sergeant that Cambodian territory extended to the eastern side of an anti-tank ditch the Thais had dug under the bridge. The Thais insisted that the ditch was well inside their territory and the border was 550 yards further east than the edge of the ditch.

Warrant issued on officer

PARIS — Lawyers have asked a Paris judge to issue an international arrest warrant for an Argentine navy commander in connection with the disappearance of two French nuns in 1977.

The French lawyers on Wednesday requested a warrant for Lt. Cmdr. Alfredo Astiz on charges of illegal arrest and detention of the nuns, Alice Domon, 43, and Leonie Duquet, 62. The nuns were arrested in Buenos Aires in December 1977 and have not been seen since.

Dealers on the take

LONDON — Unscrupulous record dealers around the world have deprived Ethiopian famine victims of hundreds of thousands of dollars in aid, according to an international recording industry group.

In a statement Wednesday, the International Federation of Phonogram and Videogram Producers said many dealers had overcharged for the Band Aid record "Do They Know It's Christmas?" instead of selling it without profit, as they were supposed to do so proceeds could go to famine relief.

Energy secretary to head Interior Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he "ain't talking," but administration sources say he has chosen Energy Secretary Donald P. Hodel to head the Interior Department and wants to merge the two agencies.

The Hodel choice already is final, and White House personnel director John S. Herrington is "the only name on the list" to move into the Energy Department post, administration sources said Wednesday.

Reagan, however, has not made a final decision on Herrington, one source said. And the president was playfully mum Wednesday night when asked to confirm the Hodel report at his nationally televised news conference.

"I ain't talking," Reagan said in answer to a question. "I'll tell you when we've made a decision."

The 49-year-old Hodel, a former utility executive and undersecretary at Interior for the controversial James G. Watt, would succeed William P. Clark, who announced last week that he would return to his California ranch in March.

Word that Hodel would assume the Interior post followed by a day Reagan's announcement that Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, would switch jobs with White House chief of staff James A. Baker III.

One senior White House official insisted Wednesday that Reagan had not chosen successors to Clark or T.H. Bell, who resigned last month as secretary of education. The appointments, however, were likely within a few days, the official said.

Reagan probably would try to make the merger idea more marketable on Capitol Hill by portraying it as a way to cut the burgeoning federal budget deficit, according to an Interior official who spoke on condition that he not be identified. Others who mentioned the upcoming changes also asked to be anonymous.

Another Interior official said nuclear weapons manufacturing and a few other responsibilities of the Energy Department probably would not move with Hodel to the new post but would be parceled out instead among other agencies.

Stacy reversal is reason to rejoice

Perhaps logic and reason will rule after all on the Stacy Dam issue. The dam, proposed on the Colorado River near Ballinger, has been tied up in legal lassos since 1979 when a permit was issued for its construction. The latest setback, rejection by the Texas Supreme Court in November, has been partially cured by the same court. And for that, there is reason to rejoice.

The court ruled Wednesday that instead of having to start all over on the permitting process (which took six years the first time around), Colorado River Municipal Water District can look to the Texas Water Commission to fine tune the existing permit. That means the project — important to water needs for West Texas — may be back on line as early as summer.

The court rejected the Stacy permit because they said the state gave permission to tap water which was already spoken for by downstream users. In theory, the water is accounted for by downstream users; in practice, there's water available. And West Texans aren't magicians, they can only obtain supply from conventional means like reservoirs.

If the court had not consented to withdraw its earlier judgment that blocked Stacy Dam, a long legal battle over water would have been in the offing for the Texas Legislature. Water rules may still need work by the lawmakers, but we'd rather not see Stacy suspended and hanging in the balance while the kinks in water law are ironed out.

Projects for dam construction take long enough as it is. If permit tangles are straightened out, there is still much to be done before Stacy Dam is a reality. The court's action Wednesday wasn't the green light that a reversal of the earlier decision would have been. But it was a far sight better than starting back at square one.

Who's running Ethiopia?

WASHINGTON — In past columns, I have reported on the fanaticism and savagery of Ethiopia's Marxist dictator, Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam, who has picked the country as clean as the bones of a slaughtered calf. He has diverted supplies to his army and has squandered money for political hoopla while his people starve.

Mengistu has blamed everyone except himself, particularly the United States, for the disaster he is presiding over. He has escaped the international reprehension he deserves, in part, because he has been able to operate in the shadows. Neither news organizations nor intelligence agencies have been able to provide much reliable information on what's really happening in Ethiopia.

Even biographical details on Mengistu are sparse, beyond the obvious fact that he's diminutive (5-foot-4) and apparently a dedicated Marxist. U.S. intelligence profiles also agree that he is ruthless and humorless, that he probably has taken part personally in executions and that he has used chemical weapons against his own people.

I had my reporters Dale Van Atta and Scott Barrett review the best U.S. intelligence available on Ethiopia — a series of secret and top-secret CIA and Pentagon reports. The documents are full of caveats, with words like "probably" and "most likely" betraying how speculative the information is.

Three top-secret reports referred to particularly hot "intercepted messages," but they gave precious little hard data on what's really going on in Ethiopia. One report actually concluded with a paragraph on "rumors (that) are widespread in Addis Ababa."

The intelligence agencies know, in general, that Mengistu, like Josef Stalin 50 years earlier, has waged a disastrous, ideologically inflamed campaign against the productive farming techniques that might have reduced, if not prevented, the human cost of the current famine.

And the CIA has reported that "many peasants" have joined the Eritrean separatist rebellion, led at first by "landlords and former aristocrats," because they believe Mengistu's land-reform policies have jeopardized their livelihoods and their food supply.

But the CIA has little idea of how many people are source said "several hundred thousand" a year; another guessed the figure was merely in the "thousands."

The intelligence reports agree that the rebellions in Eritrea and in Tigre provinces are costing the Mengistu government at least $420 million a year.

The agencies also agree that the Eritreans are currently winning or holding their own, but that Mengistu, wary of a nationalist coup by fellow officers, has shown no sign of being open to negotiations.

The agencies cannot agree how much it cost Mengistu to celebrate his 10th year in power last September. Of course, any extravagance was unconscionable while his countrymen were dying a few hundred miles north of the celebrating capital.

Reagan administration officials used the most extravagant intelligence estimates available and put the cost at $150 million. An administration critic — using the same intelligence data — put the cost at $25 million, much of which was paid for by the Soviet bloc.

Despite repeated attempts, U.S. intelligence has also been unable to confirm reports that Mengistu has used nerve gas against insurgents. After an apparent solid report that nerve gas was used in February 1982 at Turukrum, near the Sudanese border, the United States called for a U.N. investigation. But there was little support for the suggestion, and the CIA has been unable to come up with evidence on its own.

As for possible Soviet involvement in Mengistu's alleged use of chemical weapons, a CIA report is characteristically wishy-washy: "There are numerous allegations of Soviet participation in the planning and supervision of chemical operations, but confirmatory evidence is fragmentary."

• STRICTLY PERSONAL:

Bruce "The Boss" Springsteen, the media-shy rock star, managed to evade the eager embrace of either presidential candidate last fall, despite obvious fishing by both the Reagan and Mondale camps for Springsteen's endorsement.

Now he's given the same polite stiff arm to the adoring Pennsylvania House of Representatives, which passed a resolution praising Springsteen's "belief in the young people of America and in their individualism." Springsteen had no comment on the honor, according to CBS Records. Maybe he was turned off by the resolution's chief sponsor, state Rep. Cory Stevens, who said the move was not unusual. "Like, we'll do something on Groundhog Dog," Stevens explained.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., hasn't given up his hope of unseating Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., as Democratic Party leader in the Senate. Though Byrd trounced him decisively, 31-11, in a recent vote, Chiles has two years to marshal support, instead of the single week he had this time.

La guerra de ideas

Por LUIS RIOS
Escritor del Herald
Mi abuelita, Maria Larez, se llevo a la muerte recuerdos graficos de la segunda guerra mundial cuando perdio su hijo mas chico, Tomas Larez de diez y ocho anos.
Como muchas madres de esos tiempos y cualquier de tiempo cuando hay guerras, mi abuelita vivia en temor de que su hijo no iba a regresar de la batalla. Y tristemente asi fue.

Hace mas de doce anos que murio mi abuelita. Pero nunca se olvido de mi Tio Tomas. Antes que muriera ella, le dijo a mis tios que queria que en su cabeza le ponesen la bandera de los estados unidos que le habia dado el gobierno cuando enterraron a su hijo.

Unas de las tragedias mas feas que hay en el mundo es la guerra. No hay nada bonito, menos precioso, de algo tan horrible y cruel como un acto de violencia asi.

Los gobiernos del mundo nomas se preocupan nomas con las vidas que se quedaron en el otro lado del mundo. Pero que hacen y piensan de las familias de estos muchachos? Que hacen de las esposas y hijos que se quedaron solos en el mundo?

Pero mas feo, es cuando un soldado regresa a su casa sin un brazo, una pierna o las dos piernas. No hay nada precioso de cosas asi.

Pero los gobiernos de muchos de los paises glorifican su guerra o lo que les interesa a ellos. El gobierno de los estados unidos gasta mas en la defencia que en todos los demas programas federales.

El gobierno tambien gasta mas en anuncios de television que las companias mas grandes nacionales. Cada dia salen anuncios del ejercito, de la marina, fueras aereas y de la infanteria de la marina.

Y nomas piden por muchachos. Pero para que? Nomas para que se preparen a pelear y morir en cualquier guerra. Pero quien volvera de la guerra que espera a este pais?

Una persona que dice que es tan dulce y bonito morir por su pais, anda perdido en lo que el militar quiere que piense.

No es que no creo lo que dice el gobierno; pero diga, muchos de los oficiales son una coleccion de embusteros.

Y por esa razon muchas vidas fueron perdidas por un caso que no valia la pena.

The Magnificent 7-Eleven

After noting the positive reaction of citizens to the shooting of four thugs by a vigilante in the New York City subway, a bunch of us in Washington decided to form our own vigilante organization to see that justice was served in the nation's capital.

There are tough gun laws in the District of Columbia so we drove over to Virginia where you can buy anything you want, from a .22 Saturday night special snub-nosed revolver to a Uzi semiautomatic machine gun.

I chose a .38 Smith & Wesson because it fits snugly under my coat and reminds me of the old westerns when the good guys constantly drove the bad guys out of town.

Our vigilante group didn't have long to wait. Schneider had been mugged the night before and he said he could identify the guys who did it. We went with him to a Georgetown bar and he pointed them out to us.

"Are you sure they're the ones?" I asked him.

"Of course I'm sure," he said. "The big guy is wearing a raincoat just like the one I owned."

That was good enough for us. So we took the three men out of the bar and shot them.

The police were furious that we had done their jobs for them. But the public was delighted and we became folk heroes overnight.

The next time we went out was when a 7-Eleven in the neighborhood was held up.

The clerk in the store said the stickup men wore a Halloween mask, but he had a hunch it was a taxi driver who lived down the street.

We routed the cabbie out of bed and brought him down for identification. The clerk said, "It could be him."

"Wait a minute," Pester said. "We have to be certain because as vigilantes we don't want to hurt an innocent man. You said the guy was wearing a Halloween mask. What kind of mask was it?"

"It was a Darth Vader mask."

We sent Pittman to get a mask at the costume shop. Then we put it on the cab driver.

The clerk said excitedly, "That's the guy."

"You're sure?"

The clerk replied, "I never forget a face."

So we took the cabbie out in the alley and broke his legs.

After that we were dubbed "The Magnificent 7-Eleven" and more people were rooting for us than they were the Redskins.

The liberal press wrote bleeding heart editorials accusing us of being nothing more than hoodlums, and the mayor went on television to condemn us. It didn't matter, because the criminals were now more afraid of us than they were of the police.

Christmas night Alvin told us, "I just got a tip that there are a bunch of drug dealers holed up in a house in Northwest Washington. Let's burn it down to teach all the drug dealers in town a lesson."

We hopped in our van with 10 gallons of gasoline and drove to the address the tipster gave Alvin. We threw the liquid all over the house and set it on fire. A father and mother and three children came pouring out of the front door. The father screamed, "What the hell are you doing?"

"Teaching you drug dealers a lesson."

"I'm not a drug dealer! I'm a postman."

"Is this your address?" Alvin asked, showing him the one the tipster had written down.

The postman looked at it and said, "No you dumb SOB's. That's in Southwest Washington, not Northwest. You guys burned down the wrong house!"

"Don't get all shook up, pal," I said. "Even vigilantes make a mistake once in a while."

In search of relatives

To the editor:

I am writing you this letter hoping you will be the answer to my problem. My name is Phillip Chambley. I am a white male. At this unfortunate time, I am incarcerated in prison here at Reidsville, Ga.

My family and I were born in Big Spring, Tex. When I was 5 years old, my family and I moved from Big Spring to Atlanta, Ga.

When I was 12 years old, my family was killed in an automobile accident, at which time, I was placed in a foster home until I was 17 years old.

My mother's maiden name was Smith; she was a Christian that attended church every Sunday. I am hoping you will publish this letter in your newspaper, so that maybe someone who knew my parents might read the article and help me locate my relatives who live around Big Spring or maybe some of my relatives will read the article and write me a letter.

Since I've been in prison, I haven't received any outside mail, and a letter from a relative or any one that could help me on this matter would be appreciated very much. Since the death of my family, I haven't heard from any of my relatives. I am 28 years old now; I would like very much to get in touch with them or someone that knew my parents.

All I am asking you to do is help me locate my relatives or someone that might of knew them, that lives around Big Spring, Tex.

Don't confuse the Rehabs

To the editor:

I would like to tell the people of Big Spring and surroundings that Rehab '85 is a benefit for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center of Abilene with a satellite center in San Angelo. Any money given through Rehab '85 goes to Abilene and San Angelo to treat patients there.

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center here in Big Spring gets no funds from their fund-raiser. If local people want to help pay for services for people in Abilene and San Angelo, that is their right, but I'd like them to understand where their money is going.

Contributions to our local center, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center of Big Spring, should be sent to our Center at P.O. Box 2213. Questions should be addressed to either Larry Bristo, executive director, or Jane Ray at 267-3806.

Our Center is located at 306 West 3rd Street here in Big Spring, and we do need the support of local people.

Dr. Donohue

Some don't feel heart attacks

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband was told he had a heart attack, which was news to us. He has always been in excellent health and never had chest pains. The closest to pain was an occasional gas pain, which could always be linked to something he'd eaten or some exercise he'd done around the house. When could such an attack have happened? Is it possible to have an attack and not have an indication at the time? — Mrs. J.E.

Yes, it is possible, and we are finding that there are many more "silent" heart attacks taking place around us than we once thought possible. It has been common knowledge, incidentally, that diabetics are more likely to have suffered such an attack without indication of it.

Silent attacks also happen to otherwise healthy people. While there are factors that explain the absence of symptoms among diabetics, we are not sure why others don't have chest pain. Fortunately, most of us do.

I say fortunately because angina (heart pain) for most is a protective sign, a warning that we have to do something about our lives to avoid having a really severe attack. Many times what may seem to be an innocent gas pain is actually angina pectoris.

An EKG doesn't lie in such matters. It often tells the doctor whether there has been damage to heart tissue from an attack, silent or otherwise. So the advice for your husband is to heed the signal and to begin chipping away at all the risk factors — smoking, cholesterol, and untreated high blood pressure, for example.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My elderly father is being treated with diuretic pills for high blood pressure. I have a feeling he should be on potassium supplements, but his doctor doesn't say anything about it. Isn't this common in such situations? — F.V.

Not unless he has a low potassium level in his blood as determined by tests. That does occur more readily in older persons, so it is something to guard against. Any bout of diarrhea can quickly lead to low levels.

What about symptoms? Low potassium might cause heart palpitations or a general muscle weakness. Diuretic pills can cause loss through kidney elimination of potassium.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "You Can Control Angina." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.25.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Club installs new officers

Officers were installed during the Center Point Extension Homemakers Club meeting and covered dish luncheon at the Kentwood Center, Jan. 8.

Myrl Soles of the Howard County Extension Homemakers Council installed the officers. Her program in the installation was "Keys of the Offices." Each officer was given a "key" with their title and duty. New officers are: Lucille Petty — president, "Key of Leadership"; Jen Davidson — vice president, "Key of Support"; Ireba Griffith — secretary/treasurer, "Keys of Service and Loyalty"; and Bettie Cordes — reporter, "Key of Communication."

Yearbooks were presented and dues paid. The By-law changes were approved.

Helpers for the Jan. 18 stock show were named. Helpers are: Mrs. Petty and Hazel McCrary, Jan. 18; Mrs. Davidson, Frankie Petty and Mrs. Petty, Jan. 19.

The next meeting will be at the center, Jan. 22.

Santa Claus visits Mu Zeta Chapter

Santa Claus arrived early this year to help members of Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi celebrate Christmas. He distributed secret sister gifts in the home of Peggy Payne, Dec. 17.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas" was read by Brenda Carr, followed by the Cajon version of the "Night Before Christmas" presented by Carla Lyons.

Final plans were made for the delivery of the Christmas food basket prepared by the chapter for a needy family. Decorations for the Valentine Charity Ball were discussed. The ball will be Feb. 16 with entertainment by "Nightshift."

Dear Abby

Problem child reflects his parents

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and her husband have two sons, ages 6 and 8. The 8-year-old (I'll call him Bobby) is constantly being spanked for throwing temper tantrums, talking back, hitting, not doing as he's told, etc. I strongly object to this kind of punishment and have told my daughter and her husband so. They resent my outspoken criticism and have asked me to stop interfering.

That's not all. They favor the younger boy and always have. He never gets punished when he clearly has it coming, which creates hostility between the boys.

When I visited the boys' school for parents' night, Bobby's teacher told me that he is well-liked and very well-behaved at school. She was amazed that he was a problem at home.

I know the parents love both their children, but I think they need professional help in raising them. How do I get this across without being told to "butt out"? Don't use my name. I'm already in the dog house with them. Sign me...

DOGHOUSE GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Since you have visited the boys' school, it would not be inappropriate were you to share your legitimate concerns with Bobby's teacher. She could involve the parents in some kind of dialogue and recommend professional counseling.

DEAR ABBY: Is it more important for a father to run every morning or have breakfast with his son?

SHEILA IN DEL MAR

DEAR SHEILA: A father who runs every morning will probably live to have more breakfasts with his son than one who doesn't exercise. He will also be a more vigorous and healthy husband for you.

Why are you setting up roadblocks when you should be cheering him on?

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter signed "Hurt in Los Angeles." The writer was a woman who was being honored at a dinner given for her in appreciation of her many years of volunteer service to an organization that meant a lot to her. She asked her son to attend, but he refused, saying, "Those affairs bore me." She said her son was over 50, married and had a nice family.

I am also over 50, married and have a nice family. Abby, if the affair has not already taken place, I would be happy to escort the lady. Being an orphan myself, I would consider it an honor and a privilege.

JOSEPH N. FEINSTEIN, SHERMAN OAKS, CALIF.

DEAR MR. FEINSTEIN: Beautiful! Your letter made my day.

She says she would talk all night before she would bring a conversation to a close if the other party had called her.

This is what she taught me, and I can remember countless times I have been late because of this. What do you think, Abby?

ANXIOUS IN KENTUCKY

DEAR ANXIOUS: This old "tradition" is news to me. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: Is it an old tradition that the person who makes the telephone call should be the one to end the conversation? My mother says it is.

About Bulls & Bears & Savings Bonds.

The stock market says that bulls are good and bears are bad. But if you buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, you can get the most out of both markets.

Rates are high during bull markets, so the variable interest rate you get on Bonds lets you share in those higher returns.

But if the bear takes over and rates fall, don't panic; you're protected by a guaranteed minimum of 7.5%.

Just hold your Bonds 5 years or more, and you can ride the bull and beat the bear.

Notes

By Charlie Alcorn

The first week's 4-5A boys' basketball statistics are out after being totalled for two district games. Big Spring currently ranks second in team rebounds and eighth in points scored.

Sophomore guard Benard Williams is the Steers' leading scorer and ranks 20th in the league with a 10 point average. Senior forward Mike Leuschner currently ranks eighth among the leagues rebounders with a 7.5 average per game.

National Bowling Week is set for January 6-13, to kick off the new year for the nation's most popular participant sport. For information on local activities call your nearest bowling center.

Time for some late Tuesday night basketball results. The Sterling City girls defeated Forsan 44-33 in non-district action. In other action Klondike and Borden County split wins.

The Klondike boys, 16-1, downed BC 81-48. Tim Cope and Lane Turner scored 23 and 18 points respectively in the win. Chris Cooley BC with 13 points. The Cougars are ranked No. 5 in the state.

In girls action the No. 6 Borden County girls downed Klondike 49-29 behind Teri Billington's 25 points. Tami Snell led Klondike with 12 points. Borden County is now 16-1 for the season.

A volleyball tournament to benefit the United Way will be held at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp on the weekend of January 25 and 26. The proceeds from the tournament will benefit the local United Way fund. For information on the tournament call Sherry Bordsoske at the United Way or John Branham at the Professional Fire Fighters Local #2922 station on 18th and Main.

Dr. H.C. Burrus, ex-Big Spring High School star athlete who attended Hardin-Simmons University will be honored Feburary 1-2 at HSU.

Burrus is one of two people who will be inducted into the Hardin-Simmons University Athletic Hall Of Fame.

In local basketball action this week both the Goliad A and B teams got wins from Snyder Monday.

The A team raised its record to 2-3 with a 34-32 double overtime win. Chris Cole led the way with 10 points, 7 rebounds and 4 assists. Keith Renteria and Junior Lopez scored 10 and 8 points respectively.

Their next game is Friday at 7 p.m. versus Snyder B in the opening round of the Big Spring junior high tourney. Goliad also took the B game by a 22-15 count, raising their record to 4-1 for the season.

Thomas Hernandez, Jeff Ruthledge and Chad Freeman all turned in stellar performances for the winning team.

The Goliad B will play the winner of the Lamesa-Sweetwater contest at 10:30 a.m. in Goliad Gym.

The Coahoma Youth Basketball Association will have late registrations for all youths in grades 4-6 in the Coahoma school system lasting until Friday at the Coahoma Insurance Agency.

Saturday tryouts will be held for respective teams, according to league President Eddie Read. The tryouts will begin at 10 a.m. at the Coahoma Junior High Gym.

The final state ranking recently came out for Six-Man football play and Borden County's Chris Cooley was the second leading rusher in the state with 2,008 yards and fourth in scoring with 209 points.

Grady junior quarterback Luis Gonzales was 11th in total yards and the number two rated quarterback with a 62 percent completion ratio. He connected on 61 of 97 passes for 939 yards in only five games. Grady wide receiver Terry Deatherage ranked second in receptions with 44 catches for 756 yards.

Now for some late football news that was inadvertently left out of the New Year's edition.

For the second consecutive year the Steers have placed a defensive lineman on the All-West Texas Super squad. Last year it was Danny Arista, who was later named to the All-State squad. This year it's defensive tackle Doug Walker, a 5-11, 225-pound senior.

Colorado City quarterback Doug Chitsey and tight end Don Randle were also named to the squad. Who knows? Maybe All-State honors are ahead for these three gridgers.

Four tied in Hope golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Defending champion John Mahaffey, playing with former President Gerald Ford as one of his amateur partners, birdied his last two holes for a 6-under-par 66 that placed him in tie for the first-round lead Wednesday in the Bob Hope Classic, the kickoff event on the 10-month PGA Tour.

Mahaffey, a two-time winner of this five-day, 90-hole marathon, scattered eight birdies across his card at Bermuda Dunes, one of four desert courses used for the first three rounds of this $500,000 tournament.

"It was an enjoyable day, I had fun," said Mahaffey, whose group of the former President, the host comedian and John Curci attracted one of the largest galleries of the day.

"There was a lot of confusion and a lot of cameras, but it helps having been there before. I knew what to expect," Mahaffey said. He said Mr. Ford, with a 17 handicap "helped the team three or four shots." Individual scores for the amateurs were not kept.

Mahaffey shared the lead with former Hope winner Craig Stadler, Doug Tewell and Gil Morgan. Stadler and Tewell played in warm sunshine at La Quinta, while Morgan was at Tamarisk.

The group at 67 included Lanny Wadkins, Mark O'Meara, Calvin Peete, Fred Couples, Tim Simpson, Chip Beck and Bob Wrenn.

Hawk Classic

Hawks blow out Aggies

By STEVEN BELVIN

Staff Writer

Indicative of their play in last night's 91-64 win over the Murray St. Aggies, the Howard College Hawks are primed and ready for Western Junior College Athletic Conference play to resume.

Coach Ed Sparling's crew got their act back together again as they romped over the Oklahoma school in the final round of the Hawk Classic. The Hawks open conference play Monday against New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, N.M.

The Hawks worked their game plan well, getting the ball inside to the post players, a subject Sparling has been stressing to his team. For the second straight night Howard post players Bernard Bell, Walt Reynolds and Marty Jenkins had productive outings.

Bell hit a shooting streak that started in the first half and never ended. His next seven shots swished the nets as he ended the night with 17 points. Reynolds and Jenkins combined for 20 points but more importantly, pulled down 10 and 9 rebounds respectively, which led Howard to a 39-37 rebounding edge.

The trio got all the battle they wanted underneath from 6-6, 230-pound Murray St. forward Eddie Fillingame, who almost single-handedly kept his squad in contention. Fillingame used his big frame to grab 19 rebounds and score 20 points.

The story of the win was the Hawks pressure halfcourt defense which completely took control midway in the first half. In a three minute span Howard outscored Murray St. 15-7 to take a commanding 37-19 lead with 4:20 remaining.

Bell keyed the charge with three baskets including a three-point play. Michael Porter had a hand in the act by collecting two of his five steals in the spurt. Porter was in his All-America form as he connected on 9 of 16 from the field to lead all scorers with 25 points. He also pulled down seven rebounds and dished out six assists.

Porter wasn't the only Howard guard lighting up the scoreboard. Bruce Kimble and Joe Burney damaged the Aggies man-man defense. Kimble got most of his 12 points from the inside, including two vicious slam dunks.

Burney got most of his 18 points from the outside, connecting on 9 of 14 attempts.

The final 20 minutes of play was all Howard as a sticky Hawk defense caused 16 Murray St. turnovers, many which Howard turned into breakaway slams. The contest was all over when the Hawks ran off a 14-7 spurt that put the Aggies down 59-37 at the 14-minute mark.

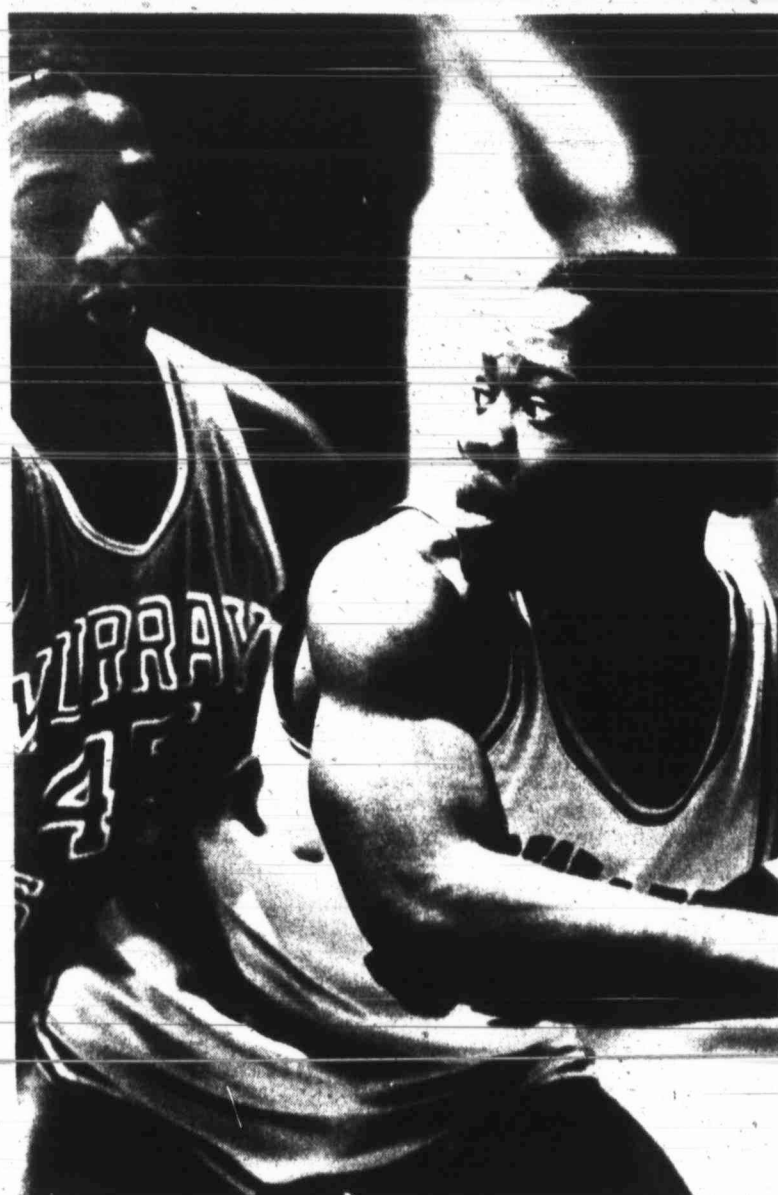

HC coach Sparling smiled when he talked about his team's performance. "I've been preaching patience on offense and the kids did it tonight, we ran some beautiful plays with poise on offense. We'll still keep using pressure defense, but we'll start it after they cross the 10-second line."

Howard is now 7-7 for the season and 1-3 in conference play. Murray St. is now 3-14 for the season.

In an earlier game Midland College downed the Permian-Basin Globetrotters by a score of 115-62. MC broke a close 50-40 contest wide open in the second half.

Tevin Binns led the winners with 26 points while Chuckie Graves added 18. Elroy Green led the

Lewis named Top Male Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Now, Carl Lewis says, "It's time to go out and have some fun this year."

"Last year, there was a lot of preparation, a lot of pressure, a lot of tension," Lewis said, referring to the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics. Despite all those concerns, Lewis was ready for the quadriennial Games. He was entered in four events — and he won them all. That accomplishment not only enabled him to match the late Jesse Owens' modern-day Olympic track and field record for golds, but it helped earn Lewis The Associated Press' Male Athlete of the Year award, which was announced Wednesday.

It was the second successive year that he had won the award — only the third athlete to receive it two consecutive years. The others were golfer Byron Nelson in 1944-45 and tennis player Don Budge in 1937-38.

Lewis was an overwhelming choice. He received 46 votes in balloting by a group of national sportswriters and broadcasters.

Lewis will receive the award at the Tampa Sports Club banquet at Tampa, Fla., Feb. 21. Mary Lou Retton, the heroine of the United States women's Olympic gymnastics team and The AP's Female Athlete of the Year for 1984, will be honored at the same banquet.

The 23-year-old Lewis, winning the same events as Owens did in the 1936 Berlin Games, captured the 100-meter dash in 9.99 seconds, the 200-meter dash in 19.80 seconds, the long jump at 28 feet, one-quarter inch and anchored the U.S. 400-meter relay team to a world record clocking of 37.83 seconds.

Before the Games, Lewis' adviser, Joe Douglas, had predicted that if his client won golds in all four events, he should be able to cash in as much as Michael Jackson, the millionaire pop singer.

Despite his success at the Games, however, Lewis' image was tarnished somewhat when he took only two attempts in the long jump, and was booed by the huge crowd in the Los Angeles Coliseum. So the kind of money that Jackson — or even Retton — has earned since the Olympics has not flowed toward Lewis, but he is not upset by it.

"I'm not in a rush to make a lot of money," he said.

"I want to work on my acting career, my future," said Lewis, who has signed for only one commercial endorsement since the Games, with Suntory, a Japanese drink company. "I'm not worried about making money now."

Ponies rout Baylor, 95-63

DALLAS (AP) — The next Southwest Conference test for the No. 4 ranked Southern Methodist Mustangs comes Friday night in College Station against a rapidly improving Texas Aggie team and Coach Dave Bliss just hopes guard Butch Moore will be ready.

Moore, the catalyst of the 11-1 Mustangs, fell hard to the floor and was stepped on by teammate Larry Davis Wednesday night in a 95-63 rout of Baylor.

Mustang trainers at first feared broken ribs. A later diagnosis revealed a painful bruise.

"Doctors say he should be able to play by Friday," said Bliss. "He has a painful swelling in the ribs."

SWC

The Aggies served notice they are ready for the Mustangs by whipping highly respected intersectional opponent Marquette 77-69 in Houston at The Summit.

In other SWC games Wednesday night, Houston defeated Texas Tech 83-74, Texas downed Rice 65-53, and Arkansas beat Texas Christian 67-59.

Bliss got more than one injury scare. His other guard, Carl Wright, had to be helped off the floor.

"Carl hurt his knee but was able to come back and played well," said Bliss. "When two guys like that go down, your heart stops."

SMU made the Bears pay dearly for their freshman-dominated lineup.

"We've got more experience than Baylor and we took advantage of that," said Bliss.

It was Baylor's worst defeat ever in Dallas and tied the all-time biggest margin.

Jon Koncak, Terry Williams and Carl Wright each scored 14 points for the Mustangs. Freshman Eric Johnson had a game-high 17 for the Bears.

"(Baylor Coach) Jim Haller is just a little inside help away from having a really neat team," said Bliss. "He's got some good athletes and they create a lot of excitement."

Haller said the Mustangs simply outmuscled his Bears.

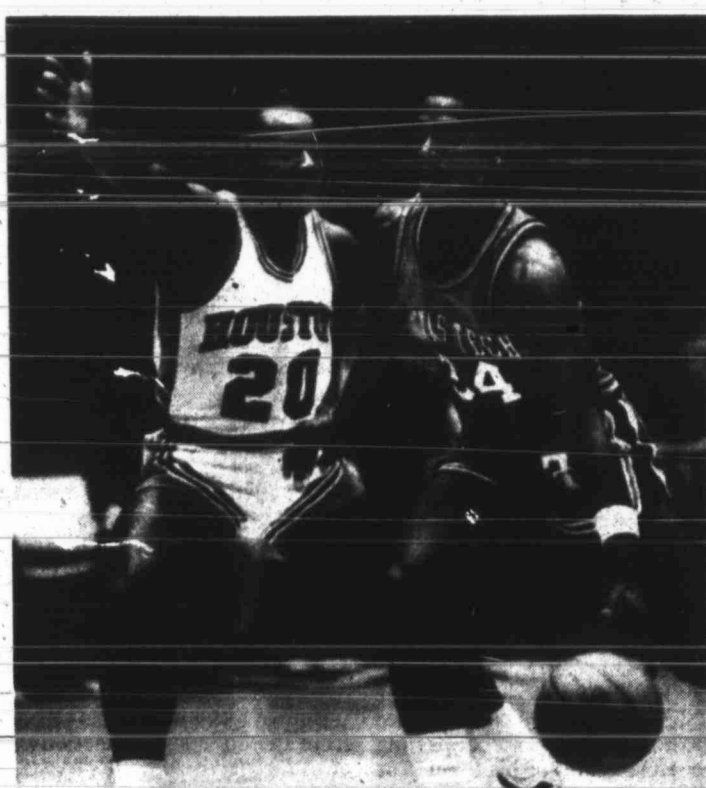

"We just got a good licking by the No. 4 team in the nation," said Haller. "SMU just destroys you when you take the ball to the basket and that's been our game. We've got five brand new players as starters."

"We have some young people who I think were in awe of Mr. Wright and Mr. Koncak."

Koncak had four blocked shots and seven rebounds as SMU extended its SWC record to 3-0. Baylor is 0-2.

After meeting the Aggies in G. Rollie White Coliseum, SMU travels to Greensboro, N.C. to play the North Carolina Tarheels in a nationally televised game Sunday afternoon.

bury scored 19 points to lead the Aggies over Marquette.

Also in Houston, center John Brownlee came off the bench to score 29 points as the Longhorns defeated the Owls.

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich said Brownlee "gives us a big lift off the bench. I'm not programmed to distinguish between bench players and starters. We like to play a tough inside game, and this year with the size we have we have the chance to have an inside game."

Houston's Alvin Franklin scored 24 points as the Cougars won their SWC home opener 83-74.

Tulsa upsets Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Steve Harris poured in 35 points and ex-Midland High star Herbert Johnson added 24 as Tulsa upset No. 8 Oklahoma, 104-89, in a non-conference basketball game Wednesday night.

The win upped unranked Tulsa's record to 10-2, while Oklahoma fell to 10-4.

Harris scored 25 points in the first half as Tulsa shot over Oklahoma's zone defense to take a lead it never lost.

Tulsa held a 26-21 lead at 8:48 of the half and then scored 24 points to Oklahoma's nine in the following four minutes for a 50-30 lead with 4:49 left in the half.

Tulsa controlled Oklahoma's offense with an aggressive full-court press, forcing Oklahoma into turnovers and into taking low-percentage shots. Oklahoma ended the half shooting 43 percent from the field.

Despite the inaccuracy, Oklahoma narrowed Tulsa's lead to 60-47 at the half.

Tulsa's defense collapsed on All-America center Waymon Tisdale whenever the 6-9 junior received the ball, holding him to 13 points in the half, six of them from the free-throw line.

He ended the game with 26 points. He needs six more to become the Big Eight's all time leading scorer.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 11, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today and tonight are beneficial for considering what will aid your work in a detailed fashion, and then to get busy and organize your duties so they are easily and efficiently completed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Whatever your line of work may be, it can be handled very efficiently today. Be very cooperative with fellow workers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You find it easy to make appointments with congenials for the social and recreational activities that most please you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your property well and see what it really needs in order to make it more functional and comfortable.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Fine day to sit down with associates and work out new arrangements with them and improve routines.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Study your practical affairs wisely and know what should be done to enhance them. Go to a monetary expert for any advice you may need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know what it is you really want in your personal existence and make plans to gain such. Enjoy any spare time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get a plan working that can bring you the benefits you desire and be more active. Today's labors could bring excellent results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go over your list of friends and pick out the ones who can most assist you in both business and personal affairs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can make a fine impression on bigwigs today if you show you are an expert at your work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into those activities that fascinate you and make the future brighter. Get in touch with clever and wise individuals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some particular thought for one you like very much can bring excellent results. Your gains should be great.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get together with those whom you want in your life in the days ahead and state your aims. Get into public work. Be active.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will know the right words to say at the right time and should have the benefit of a good education to make the most of this fine trait. One who will be precise in all things and expect others to be the same, so early teach to make allowances for those who are not similarly endowed.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. (AT&T Communications) gives notice to all of its Texas customers that a new procedure for long distance billing was made effective on an interim basis on August 6, 1984 in Docket No. 5800.

The procedure referred to is "Rate Period Specific Billing" and it applies to all message telephone service (AT&T Long Distance calls) including non-REACH OUT Texas calls within the State of Texas. This new procedure effects all AT&T Long Distance customers. All intraLATA long distance calls and all interstate long distance calls are currently billed using this procedure.

Under this procedure, customers are billed a specific charge for long distance calls according to the rate or rates in effect throughout the time of each call. If a call begins in one rate period and extends into a different rate period, the customer will be charged whatever rate is in effect for each portion of the call.

For example, if a customer places a call at 4:58 p.m. on a week-day and talks for ten minutes, the first two minutes of the call would be charged at the full weekday rate which extends from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The remaining eight minutes of the call would be billed at the evening rate which extends from 5:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. and includes a 25% discount. If Rate Period Specific Billing were not in effect, the entire call would have been billed at the higher day rate. Calls which extend from the evening rate period (25% discount) to the night and weekend rate period (40% discount) or from the night and weekend rate period (40% discount) to the day rate period (no discount) would also be billed according to the actual minutes of use during each rate period.

AT&T Communications anticipates a minimal increase of approximately .02% in its revenues or approximately $250,000 annually.

A complete copy of the "Rate Period Specific Billing" tariff is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
