Herrera named varsity baseball coach

Longtime assistant baseball coach Roland Herrera was elevated to the head coaching position by a 5-2 vote at Thursday's meeting of the SISD Board of Trustees.

Herrera assumes the post left vacant when Albert Lewis, the Tigers' previous diamond chief, retired at the end of the season.

Herrera said he is excited at the prospect of his new job, and confident he'll be able to field a competitive team for SHS.

"I feel that I deserve the job," Herrera said. "I've been here 12 years combined. I've worked hard and I know baseball.

"I have a lot of confidence in myself and I think I can sell my philosophy to the kids."

Herrera came to Snyder in 1979 and worked under Lewis until 1985 when he accepted the position as head baseball coach at Kerrville High School, a job he held until his return to SHS in 1989.

"I'll work hard," he said. "I have some big shoes to fill. It'll be hard for me to fill Albert's shoes, just like it was hard for him to follow Coach Moffett."

Lewis retired after amassing a 324-161 career won-lost record at SHS, including a state title and 11 district crowns in an 18-year stint as head coach.

"Albert is a good baseball coach and a good man," Herrera said.

Herrera said there won't be a lot of difference in the Tigers' style of play under his tutelage.

"We'll stress the fundamentals of the game, just like we always have," he said. "I do like to bunt more, but the bottom line is to get as much as you can out of the kids."

Herrera was reared in Sweetwater and played baseball at Ranger Junior College before transferring to New Mexico Highlands University.

In his last tour of duty with the Tigers, Herrera's main coaching emphasis was with the pitching staff.

During Snyder's 15-12 1994 campaign his rotation posted a 2.12 earned run average against District 2-4A teams, and a 3.88 ERA overall.

He also coaches JV football and teaches biology and physical science.

Q—Why was there such an increase in everyone's last water bill? Is this because of the remodeling at City Hall?

A—City officials said there has been no rate increase since last Octocber. The work being done at City Hall is not remodeling. It is asbestos removal.

Damage reported to Hobbs Co-op school in Fisher County

Strong thunderstorms swept through the area Thursday evening, producing at least two tornadoes, hail and strong winds.

Damage to homes and property have been reported but there were apparently no injuries.

The storms moved from the southwest across Lake J.B. Thomas, through Scurry and Mitchell counties, picking up steam and packing winds up to 60 miles an hour in Fisher County. A tornado raked the Hobbs Co-op school area, flattening about a mile of Midwest Electric power lines. Some poles were snapped. One corner of the school building roof was off and the interior suffered some rain damage. Clean-up began this morning and school was canceled for today.

"We've had extensive damage to the Hobbs Co-op school, probably four classrooms," Fisher County Sheriff Gene Pack said this morning.

A storage building at the school was damaged and a tree snapped.

About a mile west of the school, on Camp Springs road, a tree at the southeast corner of the Sam Etheredge residence was down.

Midwest Electric said some 13 poles were damaged in the area, causing a loss of power at about 7:20 p.m. Power was restored about 9 o'clock.

In Scurry County, there was the report of a tornado at both Hermleigh and Dunn. It caused no apparent damage, however.

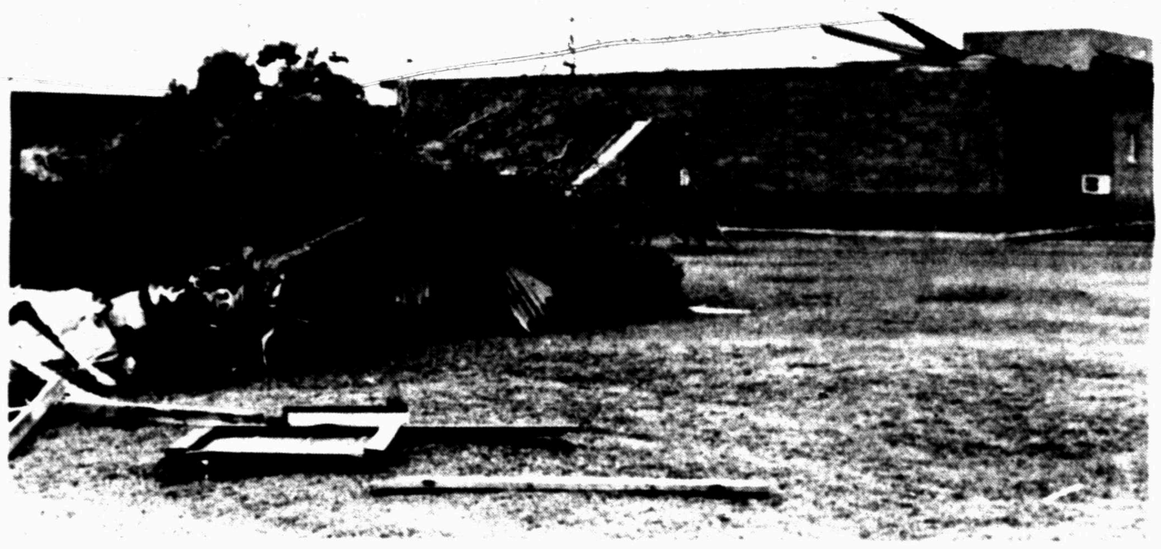

Hail reports ranged from pea to baseball-sized throughout the county. There was still hail on the ground at Camp Springs and along Round Top Road south of Snyder this morning.

The Phil Hernandez residence east of Snyder suffered hail and wind damage. Residents said two

SISD trustees elect officers, approve recommendation, 5-2

Snyder public schools trustees on Thursday settled on a new baseball coach and heard a request from a local law firm to schedule a special meeting to consider compensation for 21 teachers.

The board also elected officers for 1994-95, and approved a food service management company, an amendment to the special education budget and bids on an elevator.

Board members spent over an hour in executive session discussing the baseball coaching position. Parents Jerry Owen and Wesley Key spoke with the board, as did athletic director David Baugh and high school principal Larry Scott.

After convening in open session, the board approved Albert Lewis' resignation as head baseball coach. Lewis will continue to teach high school history.

In a 5-2 vote, the board accepted the recommendations of Baugh and Superintendent Dalton Moseley to hire assistant coach Roland Herrera to head up the program.

Voting against the recommendation were Geraldine Parker and Charles Anderson. Both said their vote should not be interpreted as being against Herrera. But, they said, the job should have been opened up to other applicants.

Following that business, the board unanimously elected Anderson as president, Mark McCormick as vice president and Janet Stribling as secretary.

Dana Cooley and Ernie Armstrong, representing Rosser, Armstrong, Cooley & Hartman law office, addressed the board in regard to 21 teachers left uncompensated when the state legislature abolished the career ladder last August. Basically stated, the teachers had met all the criteria to be placed on or move up the career ladder by May of 1993. However, according to information provided to the board, those qualifying weren't actually eligible for compensation for a year. Since the career ladder was abolished in August of 1993, the teachers have not been compensated.

The lawyers' appearance was the latest move in a process going on now since the beginning of the current school year. Previously, the superintendent and board have studied actions by other school districts and legal opinions but have not been able to resolve the matter.

The board has been informed that most methods of compensation reviewed could either be considered illegal, or would open the district up to provide similar com-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some folks never get interested in much until it's none of their business."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

M.L. Cole, a former Scurry County resident and SDN subscriber who lives near Austin in Cedar Park, sent the following note.

"Due to the construction on 183, I am able to do more reading!"

Cole observed this bumper snicker:

"A city with no trees is not fit for a dog."

Up in Vernon, there have been numerous letters to the editor concerning the kid baseball program operated by one of the local civic clubs.

Reading between the lines, it was evident to see that some of the people were motivated to be coaches so that their kid could have more playing time.

It has been a classic case of adults messing up a fun activity for kids.

What did make us grin was the story about a youngster playing Little League who called his grandpa in a distant city to announce that he had hit a home run.

"You must have really smacked it," said the proud granddad.

"Oh, I didn't hit it so hard," answered the boy. "I just hit it and started to run."

"Well," said the grandfather, "it must have gone over the outfielder's head."

"Nope," said youth. "He wasn't there. He'd gone to the bathroom."

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News bemoaning the $63 billion tax bill faced by Americans, says he is reminded of two milk cows looking over the barbed wire fence and watching the traffic.

Soon a milk truck passed by with a large sign which read: "Milk."

In smaller letters were the words: "Pasteurized; sanitized, homogenized, sterilized..."

One cow turn to the other and said, "Ya know, some mornings I just don't feel up to it."

No evidence yet of bad tests in Zain's Bexar County cases

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — District Attorney Steve Hilbig says defense attorneys are going to be disappointed if they anticipate hundreds or thousands of cases in Texas might have to be retried because of purported misconduct by a former aide in the Bexar County medical examiner's office.

The work done by serologist Fred Zain during his five-year tenure has been under scrutiny since last year, when genetic tests showed a West Virginia man convicted of rape was actually innocent. The man was convicted on evidence handled by Zain.

That finding prompted an investigation into all cases Zain handled in West Virginia and Texas.

Hilbig said at a news conference Thursday that an investigation of 1,035 of the 1,073 cases processed by the medical examiner's office from Zain's tenure from 1989 to 1993 has revealed no evidence that he falsified forensic records.

Of the 1,035 cases examined so far, Zain conducted serological tests on only 193, Hilbig said.

Hilbig said the results dispute claims by defense attorneys that large numbers of cases in Texas might have to be retried because of falsification of records by Zain.

"We are trying to put out the word that it appears we are only going to have to worry about a small number of cases," Hilbig said.

The district attorney said an aide looked at two cases raised on appeal by defense attorneys and discovered that Zain wasn't even involved.

"I think you are going to have inventive defendants trying to use this as an issue," Hilbig said.

Hilbig said he has asked for assistance from the FBI's national laboratory in reviewing the final 38 cases so the investigation can be completed before a three-year statute of limitations expires.

"We are running up against a deadline. If there are any applicable felonies that might apply in terms of anyone that has falsified evidence or perjury, you are looking at three years statute of limitations," Hilbig said.

There are also 150 out-of-county cases under review.

FORT WORTH (AP) — In a story Wednesday about the city of Fort Worth hiring six gang members as youth counselors, The Associated Press erroneously reported the circumstances of a similar program in Denver.

The non-profit Piton Foundation in Denver has funded a program under which another organization, Operation Reconstruction, hired four gang members to communicate with rival factions and to visit schools and business groups. The Piton Foundation has no gang members on its payroll, according to Piton program officer Rich Rainaldi.

Your Birthday

Saturday, May 14, 1994

Family business involvements in the year ahead could turn out reasonably well for everyone concerned, provided all look out for the other's interests.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Have fun and enjoy yourself socially with friends today, but make it a point not to participate in any form of gossip regarding other pals who aren't present. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It might be wiser today to do business with established firms than with new companies who haven't as yet built a formidable reputation. There could be a reason for their anonymity.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll have sound ideas today regarding ways to get what you want, but there is a strong possibility you could completely ignore them when the chips are down.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to be a good investigator today you must be prepared to probe well beneath the surface of issues and matters. If you don't, your discoveries might be of small worth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be impulsive today when making business or financial commitments, especially if there are elements of chance involved. You may be inclined to back the wrong horse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Success in your affairs is indicated today, provided you are prepared to finish what you start. If you lack staying power, you might quit just when the end is in sight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be shocked later if someone you like has some unflattering things to say about you. He/she may just be getting even for things you might say today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your earning powers are strong today, provided you operate along traditional lines. In situations where you knowing take a gamble, your wallet could suffer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Promises you make to outsiders are likely to be kept today, but commitments you make to family members could conveniently slip your mind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This may not be a good day for discussing your material affairs with persons who are not directly involved. Their well intentioned advice might prove harmful.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If your budget can't handle it, perhaps you should avoid a shopping spree today with a friend who is a big spender. You might be induced to buy things you can't afford.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're the type of individual who tries to keep accounts in balance by doing more for others than they do for you. Today, however, getting might have more allure than giving.

Woman seeks GOP chair

AUSTIN (AP) — The race for the chairmanship of the state Republican Party grew more crowded as two-time congressional candidate Dolly Madison McKenna said she wants the job.

Mrs. McKenna, 45, joins two others seeking the GOP's top spot: U.S. Rep. Joe Barton of Ennis and Dallas lawyer Tom Pauken. The next chairman will be chosen at the party's state convention in June in Fort Worth.

A Houston businesswoman, Mrs. McKenna said she wanted to offer Texas Republicans a more moderate message.

Enron to build gas pipeline

HOUSTON (AP) — Enron Corp. plans to build a 357-mile pipeline in Colombia under a contract with the Colombian state-owned oil and gas concern.

The 15-year contract between Ecopetrol and Centragas, an Enron subsidiary, limits Enron to moving gas, the company announced Thursday.

Ecopetrol, the pipeline's customer, has agreed to a 15-year commitment to buy enough gas to run the pipeline at full capacity.

The 18-inch-diameter pipeline, which is expected to cost $190 million, will have capacity for an estimated 100 million cubic feet of gas per day. It is scheduled to go into operation in late 1995.

Compared with other Enron deals overseas, this one is relatively small.

"It serves as a beachhead to other projects in Colombia," said Diane Bazelides, an Enron spokeswoman. Other projects could include building or operating pipelines or supplying gas.

The pipeline will stretch from Ballena on Colombia's northern coast, to Barrancabermeja in the center of the country.

Sheriff doesn't think tents are practical

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Using tents to house overflow jail inmates may sound good in a campaign speech, but it's expensive and unsafe, according to some Texas sheriffs.

Not one of the 26 counties participating in the $25 million recently approved by the state's leadership for temporary jail space is erecting tents with the money, the San Antonio Express-News reported Thursday.

"I was really for using tents at one time, and I know the public is for it, but we need to explain the serious problems with tents," said Cameron County Sheriff Alex Perez, a member of the State Commission on Jail Standards.

"They're expensive, and they're not safe for the guards or the inmates," Perez said of tents. "Tents do not provide safety in case of sudden storms, like the kind we've been having lately. If you get a hurricane, it'll blow. ... We'll never see the prisoners or the tents.

"Fire ... is the favorite pastime of our inmates here. Can you imagine in tents? Fire-resistant isn't fireproof," he said.

In recent weeks, George W. Bush, the Republican candidate for governor, has used tents as a campaign issue, saying the settlement of the Ruiz prison-reform lawsuit prohibits their use to relieve overcrowding in the state prisons.

Bush says tents should be used regardless.

He has advocated violating the settlement's terms so the case will be returned to federal court, where, he believes, the state could negotiate a better deal.

Gov. Ann Richards and Attorney General Dan Morales, both Democrats, immediately fired back, saying tents can be used legally for various housing purposes, albeit not specifically to ease overcrowding at the state level. Tents may be used at the county level for any reason, as long as they meet the necessary standards.

But tents aren't in any county's corrections game plan, the Express-News reported.

Tents have been used in pilot programs in only two counties, Travis and Jefferson. Austin's program has been abandoned altogether as too expensive; Beaumont uses tents as boot camps, where 48 to 60 inmates are housed for just a few weeks at a time for special programs before they're moved indoors.

Dan Richards, assistant chief deputy in charge of Travis County Jail, said the county isn't using tents at all anymore and that its $380,952 share of the $25 million is being used to erect plywood or metal structures.

"We can do the deal cheaper and better by using plywood buildings and by purchasing and constructing a metal building that we have the frame for already on hand," Dan Richards said.

The Travis County tent-housing pilot project didn't work at all, he said. The tents were used for less than six months last year, and no one has been housed there since October.

"Oh, they work out all right for a short time," he said.

What's a short time?

"Well, weeks, as a matter of fact," he said. "Operational costs is what hurts you on tents because you have to have so much supervision of inmates. It doesn't take long for that additional staffing to add up."

Gov. Richards said it didn't bother her if the counties erected tents or other facilities.

"We thought that was completely up to the counties to make the decision of what was best for them," Richards said.

Thousands of years before Spanish expeditions brought horses to the New World, earlier horses had roamed the continent, only to vanish with the last glaciers of the Ice Age.

The black cat under the ladder

By Phillip Alder

How do you view luck? As an integral part of life? Or like Jean Cocteau, who said: "We must believe in luck. For how else can we explain the success of those we don't like?"

In today's deal, on the only Friday the 13th this year, if you play well, you will win 10 tricks.

Against your contract of four hearts, West leads the club four: queen, eight, five. How do you continue?

North's bid of three hearts is questionable. With such a good club suit, he should raise to three no-trump.

Declarer won the first trick and naively assumed that West had led from the 4-3 doubleton. At trick two, he finessed the heart queen. Then he cashed the ace, luckily dropping East's king. South drew West's last trump and led his remaining club. When West discarded a spade, South let out an audible groan. There was no way to recover and win 10 tricks.

At another table, South started the same way: club queen, heart to the queen, heart ace. But now he led his remaining club. West wasn't fooled. South could have drawn the last trump, so it couldn't be right to ruff. West discarded a spade; once more, one down.

As West must have led a singleton, you should play a low spade from the dummy at trick two, planning to insert the nine. You must organize a spade ruff in the dummy as your 10th trick. (If East plays an honor, win with the ace and continue with the spade 10, hoping West must win the trick.) Later, when the heart king tumbles in two rounds, you receive a cigar or coconut, according to choice.

Former A&M lobbyist faces 1 felony count

AUSTIN (AP) — A charge of official misconduct against a former lobbyist is the latest setback to rock the Texas A&M University System.

A single felony count was filed Thursday in College Station by the Brazos County district attorney's office against Timothy Shaunty, who is accused of misusing roughly $6,000 reimbursed to him by the A&M System.

Shaunty, 49, was with the A&M System for 23 years in areas of teaching and research and served as a lobbyist in Austin during last year's legislative session before being fired on March 31.

Shaunty waived indictment as part of a plea agreement and is expected to have a court hearing as early as next week in College Station.

The charge carries a punishment of up to 10 years in prison and up to $10,000 in fines.

"This is a hypertechnical case. Mr. Shaunty did not knowingly violate any criminal law," said Gaines West, Shaunty's attorney.

West said his client would have no comment and declined to say where Shaunty could be reached. A&M officials said Shaunty had moved out of College Station and is living in New Mexico.

Thursday's action comes amid a sweeping nine-month investigation by the Texas Rangers and FBI into A&M business practices.

But Brazos County District Attorney Bill Turner said the charge against Shaunty wasn't connected to that probe. Turner said the allegations against Shaunty were tied to an internal audit by the A&M System that then was investigated by the Texas A&M University Police Department.

The charge against Shaunty is the latest development in a series of actions that have rocked the A&M System since last September.

Earlier this year, two secretaries for the system were indicted on charges of falsifying vouchers used to purchase alcohol for A&M regents.

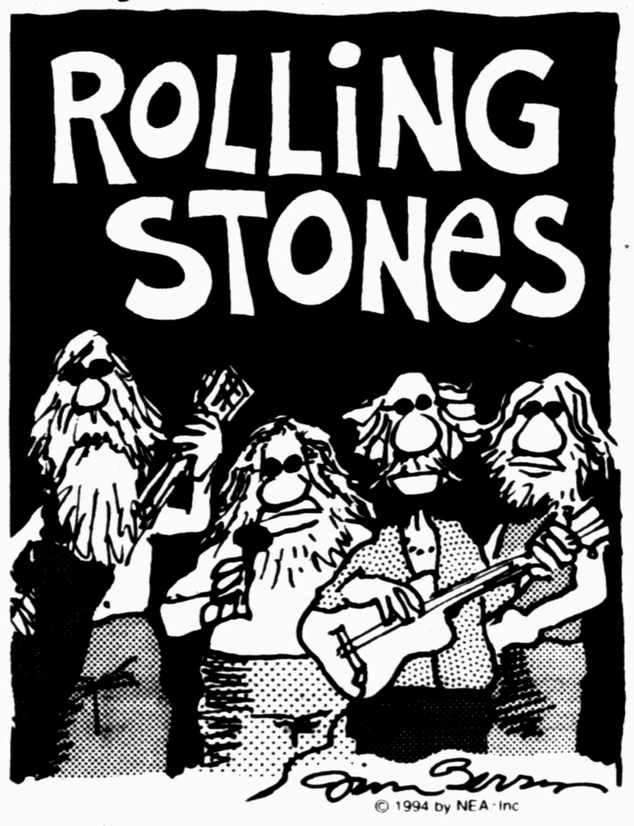

That was followed by the resignation earlier this month of regents chairman Ross Margraves, who said he was stepping down to try to steer negative attention away from the school. Margraves had been appointed to the board by then-Gov. Bill Clements in 1989 and was elected chairman in 1991.

Dallas banker Gerald Ford was appointed by Gov. Ann Richards to replace Margraves last week.

In a related development Thursday, Mary Nan West, a Batesville rancher who was appointed to the regents board by Richards in 1991, was elected by the nine-person panel to succeed Margraves.

During World War II, the Italian fleet surrendered to the Allies in 1943.

SHS girls fire 6th-place 342 during first round in Austin

AUSTIN — Snyder's Lady Tigers hopped into sixth postition Thursday, with a team-total 342 in the opening round of the girls' Class 4A state golf tournament.

The District 2-4A champions, led by junior Brooke Lowrance's 77, led A&M Consolidated by one shot and eighth place El Campo's 383 by 41 heading into today's final round.

Bastrop, paced by Amanda Workman's 67, shot a red-hot 302 on the Jimmy Clay Golf Course Thursday to lead the eight-team field.

Austin Westlake's 323 was second with 18 holes to play. Dallas Highland Park was third with a 326, Longview Pine Tree's 335 was fourth, and Andrews was in fifth with a 336.

Workman and Kelli Kuehne of Highland Park each came in at 5-under to share medalist honors after one round.

Other SHS scores include an 83 from Kayla Drain, Brooke Kubena's 88, a 91 by Kelli Lacik, and Mandy Baker's 93.

In boys' first-round action Thursday, Austin Anderson shot a combined 301 and Rockwall registered a 305 to lead the pack.

District 2-4A champion Plainview carded a seventh-place 316, trailed by Andrews' 322.

Bay City's Brandt Kieschnick posted the day's best individual score, a 1-under 71 at Morris Williams Golf Course.

Boys' and girls' final-round competition began this morning at 7.

Utah's playoff victory keyed by Malone's 32

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Scoreless in the first quarter, Karl Malone found the road to recovery led into the key — and over Denver's shot-blocking Dikembe Mutombo.

After starting 0-for-6, Malone hit 14 of his next 17 shots and scored 32 points as Utah claimed a 2-0 lead over the Nuggets in the Western Conference semifinals with a 104-94 victory Thursday night.

The best-of-7 series now goes to Denver for games Saturday and Sunday. Game 5, if needed, will be here Tuesday.

Utah coach Jerry Sloan said he never lost confidence in Malone.

"I've seen him play for nine years. I've seen him struggle and I've seen him come back strong," Sloan said.

But Mutombo — who finished with eight blocked shots, 13 rebounds and seven points — was more impressed with Malone's shooting from 15 to 18 feet, where Utah's All-Star forward hit six of his field goals.

"He just made his shots. That was his day. There's nothing you can do about it. That was the type of shot we want him to take," Mutombo said. "There was nothing we could do."

Jay Humphries, David Benoit, Tom Chambers and John Stockton each had 12 points for the Jazz.

Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf had 23 points for Denver before leaving the game with a bruised right tibia with 3:34 remaining and the Nuggets down by nine.

Nelson shortened by rain, storms

DALLAS (AP) — Payne Stewart's comeback attempt from the golfing doldrums is, at this point, one day behind schedule.

It is up to the weather, a traditional problem at the GTE Byron Nelson Classic, as to whether it will be further delayed.

Rain and thunderstorms, just like those that wiped out Thursday's first round, were forecast for this morning, raising the possibility the already shortened tournament format could be further reduced.

Single rounds now are scheduled for today, Saturday and Sunday.

Stewart, making his first start after a four-week break, was among the 156-man field waiting in vain for first-round starting times that twice were postponed — from the 7:30 a.m. (CDT) start to 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. — and then canceled.

The former PGA title-holder has been in a deep slump all season and hasn't won since the 1991 U.S. Open.

He hit the bottom of the slump, he said, after taking a pair of 78s and missing the cut in the Masters.

Area playoff games set for today

Rain postponed Thursday's scheduled Class 4A bi-district baseball playoff game between Estacado and Borger.

The contest has been slated for today at 6:30 p.m. at Jaycee Park in Plainview.

Estacado, 18-11, enters the playoffs as District 2 runner-up. Borger sports a 17-8 overall record and the District 1 championship.

In other area playoff action, District 2 champ Frenship is slated to open a best-of-three playoff series with District 1 runner-up Hereford at 4:30 p.m. today at FHS.

Frenship, a state semifinalist in 1993, carries a 17-10 record, while Hereford is 12-11-1.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Utilities Electric Company (TU Electric), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA), publishes NOTICE of its Statement of Intent to implement proposed Rate WPC1 - Wholesale Power Service - Cap Rock. The only customer that will be affected by the proposed tariff will be Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. This is not a "major change" in rates within the meaning of the PURA since the charges under the proposed tariff are less than the charges that would otherwise be applicable under TU Electric's existing Rate WP - Wholesale Power Service, the tariff under which Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., presently receives service from TU Electric. The proposed effective date of the proposed tariff is June 10, 1994, or as soon thereafter as permitted by law.

A complete copy of the proposed tariff and TU Electric's application is on file with the Commission and at each of TU Electric's business offices.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is 45 days after the date the application was filed with the Commission. The application was filed with the Commission on May 6, 1994.

Iran link confirmed by official

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Iran smuggled material for making weapons to Bosnia's Muslim-dominated government in violation of a 1991 U.N. arms embargo, a senior Bosnian army source confirmed today.

The Bosnian army also received a large shipment of anti-tank rockets delivered to Croatia by a Brazilian ship, said the official, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The official could not confirm whether the rockets came from Iran or another source. He said further weapons shipments were expected.

Four convoys carried the rockets and explosives to central Bosnia in the past few days after Bosnian Croats took a one-third cut of the arms, he said.

He said the Bosnian army previously lacked good anti-tank rockets in fighting Bosnian Serb troops, who received heavy weapons from the Yugoslav army when the Bosnian war broke out more than two years ago.

Families not consoled by Clinton's remarks

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an emotional Oval Office meeting, President Clinton told relatives of soldiers killed in Somalia he was surprised and angry that subordinates had ordered the ill-fated raid in downtown Mogadishu that left 18 Americans dead.

The family members said they felt the statements showed Clinton was out of touch with his own military chain of command.

White House Press Secretary Dee Dee Myers said Clinton's remarks Thursday in the closed-door meeting conformed with his earlier statements on the Oct. 3-4 raid in the Somali capital. But they came as news to the fathers of three Army rangers killed in the raid.

In identical accounts of Clinton's remarks, the fathers said Clinton told them that by September 1993 his focus had shifted from capturing Somali warlord Mohamed Farrah Aidid to finding a diplomatic solution to the fighting in Somalia.

Larry Joyce, whose son, Casey, a sergeant, was killed in the nighttime operation, asked Clinton why the raid was launched if it ran counter to White House policy.

In one possible explanation, Clinton told the families he had been trying to avoid micromanaging the Somali conflict, as President Johnson had done in Vietnam.

The meeting placed Clinton, an opponent of the Vietnam War who had avoided the draft, opposite three Vietnam veterans who had now lost their sons in a mission Clinton ultimately directed.

Choking with emotion, Joyce told the Senate Armed Services Committee later in the day, "I told the president today that Casey did die in vain ... betrayed by a system that gave them a no-win mission and didn't provide them the resources and moral support they desperately needed."

James Smith, who lost part of a leg in the Vietnam War and whose son, James, a corporal, was killed in the Somali raid, said Clinton was sympathetic, particularly when their wives wept. But Smith said Clinton's comments showed that the White House had lost its grip on the Somalia mission.

"He listened intently," said Smith of Long Valley, N.J. "He drank a lot of coffee, he was very polite. I think he said all the right schmoozing things. But I got the idea that he didn't have the slightest idea what was going on in Somalia, and that's scary."

Ben Pilla of Vineland, N.J., said Clinton "just confirmed he didn't really know exactly what was going on over there." Pilla's son, Dominic, had been promoted to sergeant the day he was killed.

windows were broken, shingles were damaged, paint was stripped off the house and the mailbox was dented. Vehicles at the residence had windshield and body damage from golf-ball-sized hail and trees were stripped of their leaves.

There were also reports of hail damage at Dunn, Ira and Lake Thomas.

Midwest Electric officials said there were isolated power outages, about 40 in all, with service to customers restored about 1:30 a.m.

Rainfall reports varied. Lake Thomas received about an inch while the Hermleigh area received seven-tenths.

Fluvanna reported half an inch Thursday for a total of 2.3 inches since Tuesday.

Dunn received three-quarters of an inch along with golf-ball-size hail which fell briefly, apparently without causing significant damage.

Since earlier in the week, areas north and east of Snyder have received two inches. The Polar Community in Kent County reported one inch.

Snyder received three-quarters of an inch in a 45-minute period Thursday evening. The city has received 3.79 inches this year.

Anti-abortion groups condemn bill barring blockades of clinics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-abortion groups say court challenges are likely against legislation forbidding blockades, violence and threats against abortion clinics.

The Senate gave final approval on Thursday to the measure, which abortion rights activists sought in response to more than 1,000 violent incidents at clinics since 1977. The bill, which President Clinton is expected to sign quickly, will take effect as soon as he signs it.

The legislation makes it a federal crime to block access to an abortion clinic or use force or threats against people using such facilities or working there.

The Senate sent Clinton the measure on a 69-30 vote. Fifty-two Democrats and 17 Republicans voted for it, while three Democrats and 27 Republicans voted no. The House approved the measure last week on a 241-174 roll call.

Judie Brown, president of the anti-abortion American Life League based in Stafford, Va., said the day Clinton signs the bill, "American Life League will be in court seeking an injunction to prevent the new law from going into effect," she said.

Jay Sekulow, chief counsel for the anti-abortion American Center for Law and Justice in Virginia Beach, Va., also said a legal challenge was likely.

"This measure goes beyond the issue of violence," said Sekulow, whose group represents Operation Rescue, which blockades abortion clinics. "This legislation crushes the free speech rights of pro-life demonstrators."

Supporters said the issue had less to do with free speech than with physical protection of the people who use and work in abortion clinics.

They said that since 1977, there have been at least 36 bombings, 81 cases of arson, 131 death threats, 84 assaults, two kidnappings — and the killing of Dr. David Gunn, who performed abortions in Florida.

"The anti-abortion terrorists must now answer to federal law," said Eleanor Smeal, president of the Fund for the Feminist Majority.

Opponents countered that such violent acts are rare and are already crimes. They noted that there are no similar federal constraints against protests involving labor unions, environmentalists or animal rights supporters.

Lawmakers began work on the bill after a January 1993 Supreme Court decision that states could not use an 1871 civil rights law, aimed originally at the Ku Klux Klan, to halt anti-abortion protests. The use of that law was successfully challenged by Operation Rescue.

Under the legislation approved Thursday, violent offenders would face up to $100,000 in fines and a year in prison for a first conviction and up to $250,000 in fines and three years in prison for subsequent offenses.

Nonviolent offenders could receive up to six months in prison and a $10,000 fine for a first conviction, and 18 months and $25,000 in fines for additional offenses.

pensation to all teachers, at the cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

Cooley and Armstrong said they have a plan by which the 21 teachers can be legally compensated, based upon performance criteria. They requested the board to call a special meeting to hear the plan.

Cooley noted that a local teacher's organization had asked that the issue be placed on the business agenda for Thursday's meeting, but that it was instead listed as a non-action, informational item. Supt. Moseley responded that the item was listed as informational at the advice of the district's attorney.

A special meeting to address the issue has been scheduled for 6 p.m. May 24 in the administration board room.

Trustees accepted the resignation of high school computer instructor Burnell Hargrove, who is retiring, and of Northeast elementary teacher Teresa Madore, who is moving from the district.

Trustees Stribling and Glenn Clarady were selected to represent the board during Snyder High School graduation ceremonies, set for May 27.

The board also voted to amend the special education budget due to receiving $100,000 more than expected from the state. Business Manager Lee McNair noted that 85 percent of the funds must be spent for special education, or can be requested back by the state. The funds will be spent for four multi-sensory computer labs, a 19-passenger bus and assessment supplies.

Trustees approved ARA as the food service manager at McNair's recommendation. McNair noted that ARA serves Lamesa, Colorado City, Frenship and Lubbock schools.

The board also approved a bid of $22,950 from Otis Elevator Company for an elevator and installation at the high school, contingent upon receiving acceptable bids for a hoistway.

Doug Hutchinson, executive director of the Development Corporation of Snyder, spoke briefly to trustees, asking for their assistance in a city-wide effort toward economic development.

Prior to Thursday's executive session, the oath of office was given to Parker and Richard Chambers, elected in Saturday's school board election.

All board members were present, to include Stribling, Parker, Anderson, McCormick, Clarady, Chambers and Luann Burleson.

FD responds to two blazes

Snyder Fire Department responded to calls involving a pickup and an abandoned house Thursday and early this morning.

This morning at 6:46, firefighters responded to the report of a fire 14 miles northwest of the city in a vacant house owned by A.W. Scrivner. The building, which was being used as a barn, was destroyed by the time firemen arrived. Lightning is expected to have caused the fire.

At 9:08 p.m. Thursday, firefighters responded to a pickup truck fire at Pride Petroleum. The 1988 Ford received severe damage to the engine and cab. It is also believed to have been caused by lightning.

Officers note three arrests

Snyder area peace officers made three arrests, investigated a theft and worked two traffic accidents Thursday.

Officers were called to the Minute Market at 7:40 a.m. in reference to a juvenile shoplifting. The 13-year-old male was taken into custody and transported to the Law Enforcement Center where he was later released to his father. A report for Class C theft was filed.

At 9:11 a.m. Thursday, officers arrested an 18-year-old man at the county courthouse for misdemeanor revocation of probation.

At 4:50 p.m., officers arrested 38-year-old Servando Charles in the 2300 block of Avenue H for parole violation.

Mona Pierce contacted officers at 11:25 a.m. Thursday in reference to her billfold having been stolen. A report for Class A theft was filed.

Wilson Motors employees contacted police at 8:21 a.m. Thursday in reference to a subject test driving a 1991 Ford and returning it damaged. A report for hit-and-run was filed.

Police worked an accident in the 3500 block of Avenue C at 7:05 p.m. Thursday. Involved were a 1990 Ford driven by Chuck Green of Round Top Road and a 1985 Chevrolet pickup driven by Kenneth Gibson of 218 36th St.

Dr. Gott by Peter Gott, M.D.

How often are blood tests needed?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a senior on medication for hypertension and osteoarthritis. I brought down my high levels of cholesterol and triglycerides through diet. My question is, how often should blood work be done to keep track of any potential problems from the medications and to keep abreast of other significant chemistry levels?

DEAR READER: This is an excellent question, but because you don't mention the medicines you are taking, I cannot give you a precise answer.

For example, some drugs used for hypertension deplete potassium, a vital mineral. Therefore, if you were prescribed such drugs (hydrochlorothiazide and others), you should have potassium blood tests performed every two or three months. Also, many anti-arthritis medications (Feldene and others) have the potential to cause stomach irritation and gastrointestinal bleeding; consequently, a blood count every three or four months would be a prudent way to check for anemia.

Finally, because you have had high cholesterol and triglycerides, an annual blood-fat analysis would be appropriate.

You should ask your physician how often blood checks are necessary; he best knows your general state of health and the drugs he has prescribed for you.

I am content to obtain blood tests on many of my elderly patients once a year, especially if they are taking drugs that don't disrupt their body chemistries. On the other hand, for some patients who have problems (such as the tendency to lose excess potassium), I'll order chemical analyses at more frequent intervals. Your doctor can advise you.

To give you more information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Understanding Osteoarthritis" and "Hypertension." Other readers who would like copies should send $2 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title(s).

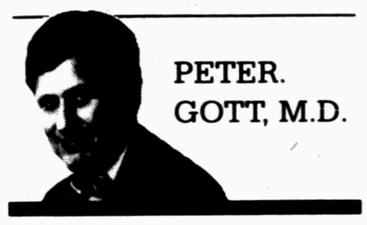

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm concerned that members of my household bathe their dog in the bathtub. What about fleas and mites? Can humans contract them through this means?

DEAR READER: Parasites, such as fleas and mites, are ordinarily killed by a good dunking and soaping. Those that survive the shampooing would be washed down the drain.

If the tub is cleaned and rinsed after the dog's bath, I do not believe that any parasites would be left to find a new home. But even if they were, the human soaping and cleaning should leave them no doubt that they're unwelcome.

Dear Abby

Cats Should Stay at Home And Not Be Free to Roam

by Abigail Van Buren

1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I feel compelled to write regarding the letter from "Zelda D., Hesperia, Calif.," who wrote concerning the death of her cat Princess, who had been killed by an unchained, unfenced dog from the neighborhood.

I have a question for Zelda: Where was her cat when that dog killed her? Obviously, Princess was outdoors — roaming free — neither fenced nor leashed.

Abby, I have owned both cats and dogs all my life, and at no time were any of them allowed out of my house — or yard. A cat will not stay yard-bound. It is therefore obvious to me that a cat should be considered a house pet only.

I have no pets at this time because I work and don't feel I can give an animal the attention it deserves. I am, however, providing a sun deck (without my permission) to at least five neighborhood cats even as we speak. They are not my responsibility, but their love lives — and quarrels — are being played out for me daily.

I sympathize with the death of a pet. I hope when Zelda meets Princess crossing that famous "Rainbow Bridge," her pet confronts her with the death caused by her negligence. Maybe in the future Zelda will be aware that cats require a set of rules for care every bit as tough as those for dogs.

PEGGY IN PORTLAND

DEAR PEGGY: You cite a point that I failed to consider concerning Zelda's cat, who was apparently in her ninth life when she was killed by a dog roaming the neighborhood freely. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Zelda D.'s" letter regarding the loss of her cat, I express sympathy to her in the loss of her pet.

However, I must ask, Where was your cat to experience such a demise? Was she in your home where she should be? Or was she out loose, prowling the neighborhood, teasing fenced-in dogs, or digging in yards and leaving her excrement for others to clean up?

I have long been in favor of a leash law for cats, and have learned that cats do quite well on a leash. It is the lazy owners who need to be trained.

BONNIE BAUER, GLENDALE, ARIZ.

DEAR ABBY: You printed my letter about Asta, my little female Yorkie. I wrote it after 10 agonizing days of looking for her. I finally found her little body lying in the grass near the highway not far from my home. She had been gone 17 days, but it was evident that she had only recently been killed. Her collar and tags were missing.

I brought my beloved Asta home and buried her beside our house. I can forgive the driver who ran over her; I am sure the person did not see her, or could not stop in time. But I cannot forgive the person who might have kept her for the 17 days she was missing.

I now have another female Yorkie, born on the day we buried our precious Asta. She will fill the void in my heart, but can never replace the memory of that very special pet that comes along only once in a lifetime.

I guess I'm just a foolish woman for taking Asta's death as hard as I have. I am still — as I signed myself — "Heartbroken in Garland, Texas." Perhaps in time this hurt will heal, too.

SHARON

DEAR SHARON: Thank you for letting me know the ending to this sad story. My heart goes out to you. I hope that in the future, you and your husband find a way to keep your pets safely confined on your property.

Formula One banned in Texas; suit filed against manufacturer

AUSTIN (AP) — A popular diet supplement, Nature's Nutrition Formula One, has been banned in Texas, and its manufacturer has been sued on grounds it failed to warn consumers that the product contains the powerful stimulant ephedrine.

"This product is suspected of causing illness in adults, and even children, across Texas," State Attorney General Dan Morales said Thursday. "It is suspected of a death in Austin."

Morales sought court-ordered destruction of all Formula One stock at the manufacturer's expense.

Nature's Nutrition Formula One, commonly called Formula One, is one of the best-known products on the market that contains ephedrine.

Texas Health Commissioner Dr. David Smith banned the product from the market and also prohibited the sale of any other ephedrine-containing products in Texas to persons younger than 18.

The lawsuit was filed in state district court in Dallas.

Officials said the restriction includes all popular over-the-counter ephedrine-containing medications such as Primatene Mist, a bronchial dilator, and diet, or pep, pills with such brand names as Mini-Thins.

These "perhaps unpopular but absolutely necessary actions" are "to protect the health of Texans," Smith said.

Formula One's distributor, Alliance U.S.A. in Richardson, did not respond to calls left by The Associated Press on a recorder. But a spokeswoman said previously that ephedrine's negative effects were removed during the manufacturing process.

The Texas Health Department has been investigating incidents of alleged overdoses of products that contain ephedrine that have occurred in Austin, Longview, Amarillo and other cities.

At least one death, that of an Austin woman last month, may have been associated with the use of ephedrine, the Health Department said.

"Although our investigation is not yet finished, we have found that the unrestricted sale and use of ephedrine and related chemicals pose an immediate and serious threat to human life and health," Smith said.

The investigation into the products followed reports of illness in adolescents, teen-agers and adults who have taken the drugs either to lose weight or experience a "speed-like high," Smith said.

Smith and Morales said Formula One failed to list ephedrine and caffeine as ingredients. The label also fails to warn consumers about those stimulants, they said.

In addition, the promotional literature for Formula One makes unproven claims of health benefits, such as lowered blood sugar, reduced cholesterol, lowered blood pressure, normalized thyroid function and strengthening the heart, officials said.

Ephedrine is a common element in over-the-counter cold medicines, but requires warnings for users suffering from asthma, high blood pressure, thyroid disease, diabetes and some prostate problems.

If humans had evolved on the moon, with one-sixth of Earth's gravity, they might be double their height but too spindly to play basketball; on Jupiter, they might look like pancakes with short legs.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SAFETY IN FORTIFICATION

IN BIBLICAL TIMES PEOPLE ONLY FELT SAFE WHEN THEY HAD THE WALLS OF A TOWN STRONG ENOUGH TO WITHSTAND THE ONSLAUGHT OF RAPACIOUS ATTACKERS. WALLS SOMETIMES SEVENTY OR A HUNDRED FEET IN DEPTH WERE KNOWN TO EXIST. GATEWAYS WITH STRONG TIMBERS THREE FEET THICK WERE NOT UNUSUAL. ALSO DOUBLE WALLS WERE QUITE COMMON. ONE CAN IMAGINE THE CHAGRIN OF THE ATTACKING FORCES WHO HAD FINALLY MANAGED TO PUNCH A HOLE IN THE WALL ONLY TO REALIZE THAT A SCANT FIFTY FEET MORE THERE WAS ANOTHER WALL TO BE PENETRATED! NO WONDER, WHEN MAKING AN OATH, PEOPLE OFTENTIMES WOULD SWEAR BY THE TOWERING WALL OF THEIR NATIVE HOMESITE.
