Rocket-Ranger Double Header here Friday

Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes will meet the Perryton Ranger and Rangerette basketball teams here Friday night in a double header that may well be one of the best evenings of action during the season.

The Wellington and Perryton girls are leading the district and the winner of this game may well win the 5-AA girls championship.

Teams of the two schools seem to be about equal in weight, height and speed, Coach E. W. Clement said.

The next scheduled games come Tuesday night, February 2, when Wellington A and B boys play the Quanah teams.

Total on Poll Taxes Reaches 1260 Wednesday

Miss Louise Fulcher, tax assessor-collector, said Wednesday morning, January 27, that 1260 poll taxes had been paid up to that time.

Miss Fulcher urged that all persons who have not already paid poll taxes do so as early as possible during the time remaining.

She estimated that the county will have approximately 1500 paid poll taxes this year.

The tax office will remain open all day Saturday for the convenience of those living on dirt roads who cannot get to town earlier, Miss Fulcher said.

Emmert in Race for Commissioner

J. C. Emmert, who has lived in Collingsworth county for the past 47 years, has authorized The Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 3.

Mr. Emmert said that he was not running on his merit and not as a candidate of any special group and that if elected he would work for the interest of the people as a whole both in Precinct 3 and the entire county. "I believe that my experience during the years I have lived here has been wide enough and varied enough to serve you in a business-like and efficient manner, and I want to assure you in advance that I will appreciate your consideration."

"I will try to see each voter between now and election time, and if I should miss anyone I would like for you to know that your vote and support will be appreciated," Mr. Emmert said.

Friday Regular Paper Pickup

The regular pickup of old newspapers will be held Friday, January 29, Mrs. John Coleman has reminded.

All persons with newspapers are urged to have them out early.

Hospital Fund Drive Now Totals $3,800

St. Joseph's Hospital fund drive this week reached $3,800, N. M. Higdon, member of the Chamber of Commerce committee conducting the campaign, announced.

This amount, which tops the original goal by $200, does not signal a close of the drive for any others who wish to make a donation, he pointed out.

The drive was made to clear up a deficit in the hospital's 1959 operation, caused by the large amount of charity work St. Joseph's has done, as no person seeking hospitalization is turned away.

Both the Dominican Sisters, who operate the hospital, and the Chamber of Commerce committee, which directed the drive, expressed

Help of Lawmakers Sought on Loans for Open Storage Cotton

Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce officials Tuesday night, January 26, wired four Texas Congressmen and Senators asking their help in securing OCC loans on 6,000 bales of open storage cotton now at Marian Airpark.

The action was announced by N. M. Higdon, chamber manager, a few minutes after the night letter was filed with Western Union here. The Telegram to Senators Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough, and Congressmen Walter Rogers and George Mahon read: "We have a situation that has affected our economy to the extent that our business is almost at a standstill. Due to the method of operation of our local compress, cotton was not shipped out prior to incoming crop of 1949. At the present time we have approximately 6,000 bales in open storage. Some of our farmers have cotton in open storage since October.

"Due to these conditions it has cost our farmers a large amount of money in interest, income taxes and other expenses. We would appreciate very much if you could get Commodity Credit to authorize sales agreement to be signed on open storage cotton so the producers can receive their money. Immediate relief would be appreciated."

The telegram was signed by L. B. Bratten, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Higdon, and Zook Thomas, chairman of the agriculture committee of the chamber.

It was pointed out, however, that due to weather conditions during much of January, it has been impossible to move cotton off the soggy airfield.

On the other hand, some farmers still have the bulk of their cotton crop stored at the airfield, unable to get their money on it and settle their year's affairs.

Miss Effie Lee Richards Dies Here Thursday

Miss Effie Lee Richards, a lifelong resident of the county, and one of its active workers in civic, political and church affairs, died Thursday, January 21, at 2 p. m., a few hours after she was hospitalized suffering from pneumonia.

She became ill the preceding Monday.

Miss Richards was a former teacher in the Wellington and Quail schools, but her range of interests touched almost every phase of the county's life. In pursuing these interests, Miss Richards gave generously of her time and her work to the community, without thought of any personal gain except the pleasure she received from the activities.

Wellington high school athletic department probably never had a better friend or more enthusiastic supporter than Miss Richards, and in appreciation for this, the 1959 Skyrocket football team and members of the coaching staff attended her funeral in a body.

She was keenly interested in the work of the Democratic Party and attended not only the local conventions, but also the state and national party conventions.

There was another facet to her life, and that was her interest in the town's study clubs. She was a charter member of the Excelsior Club. She had been a member of the Methodist Church since childhood, and for many years sang in its choir.

During World War II, Miss Richards served in the Woman's Army Corps.

In recent years, she traveled widely over the United States and Canada.

Miss Richards was born here November 7, 1902, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Richards. Her parents were among the first to settle in the county, and her mother, the former Miss Emma Cooke, taught the first school in Collingsworth.

Miss Richards was graduated from Wellington High School and Clarendon College, then returned here to teach.

Following the death of her mother she lived in Galveston and LaMarque for a short time, but returned to Wellington during the last year.

Funeral services for Miss Richards were held at First Methodist Church at 10 a. m. Saturday, January 23, with the Rev. Frank Weir, pastor, and the Rev. J. F. Michael, officiating. Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery by Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Jimmy Cochran, Bob Barton, Bus Barton, Zook Thomas, Billy Hatch and Judge Luther Gribble.

Miss Richards is survived by a sister and brother, Mrs. Ray Wall of LaMarque and Dick Richards of Wellington. There are two nieces, Mrs. Ed Harrison of Denver, Colorado, and Mrs. Bill Lowe of Samnorwood.

Reunion Planned

Norwood Ex Students to Organize Feb. 8

Organization of a Samnorwood Ex-Students Association will be worked out at a meeting called for Monday, February 8, in the school gymnasium. It will begin at 7 p. m. and anyone who has attended that school, whether he graduated or not, is urged to attend.

W. L. Green and Billy Waters, both of whom still live in the Samnorwood school district, are taking the lead in the organization. "Everyone who has been a student at any time during the 24 years the school has been in operation is eligible for membership in the Association," Green said.

Officers will be selected in the February 8 meeting and the groundwork will be laid for a reunion, the first on a school-wide basis ever held for Samnorwood exes.

Chamber of Commerce Sets Up 1960 Program

Work on the Salt Fork Dam is the No. 1 project of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, Manager N. M. Higdon announced this week, following a meeting of the 1960 committee chairmen.

John Coleman, who is also chairman of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District, is chairman of the water resources committee, which will spearhead the work for the Chamber of Commerce.

While the Chamber work covers a wide range of activities, it was the consensus of all chairmen that the proposed Salt Fork Dam is the biggest thing facing the county in 1960, Higdon declared.

Most projects of the program are a continuation of work begun last year, although most committees have at least one new project.

Increased membership, both in the Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will receive major emphasis.

A show barn to house the livestock division of the county fair is another new goal, and ground work has already been laid.

Support of improved television facilities for rural areas is slated by the public relations committee.

The following work program is the one adopted by the Chamber's committee chairmen:

Civic Beautification

A joint committee of civic improvement, headed by Mrs. John Coleman and Mrs. James Sullivan, and a community beautification committee with Mrs. A. J. Fires chairman, has as a new project sponsoring of a golf practice range course for adults of the county. Coupled with this is sponsorship of a county-wide recreation program for youth in conjunction with the VFW canteen.

These committees also slated a clean-up campaign, of which one phase is due in February, and they will seek more equipment for the community building.

Transportation

Projects of the highway and transportation committee were announced by Judge C. C. Bishop. Topping the list is continued work to have State Highway 203, the Quail-Mangum road, designated as US 366. Other projects are: promote erection of "Welcome" signs at the approaches to the city; encourage better farm-to-market roads, especially on school bus routes, and work with the Highway department to create a roadside park at the northeast corner of the town section, where US 83 and State Highway 203 intersect.

Agriculture-Livestock

The agriculture and livestock committee, headed by Zook Thomas, will have these projects in addition to securing a show barn: work to expand the hog and cattle industry in Collingsworth county; continue support of the youth project show, county fair and annual rodeo; work for increased materials and prices on locally produced farm products; and assist in any way needed with securing adequate cotton storage and compress facilities.

Water Resources

Coleman listed one other point in addition to the Salt Fork Dam: assisting in setting up permanent records of all wells drilled.

Retail-Wholesale

A major activity of the committee on retail and wholesale development, announced by Chairman Mack Saied, Jr., is sponsoring of the sales training course offered through the Extension Department of the University of Texas. This is scheduled April 11.

Other projects are: encourage Dollar Day and an apprentice program for young people of the community; continue the program on solicitation control; to work with city in determining holidays set up by the city council and give publicity to same; sponsor a Trade-at-Home campaign.

Sober Look at Steel Settlement Leaves Grave Doubts for Future

Settlement of the 116-day steel strike under the terms we are given to believe were reached may prove to be of dubious benefit to the country. Certainly it is an immediate advantage that 500,000 men in an industry which is crucial in our economy will not again be thrown out of their jobs. However, there are signs that the settlement could have a long-range harmful effect on the nation as a whole.

To begin with, anyone who believes the settlement will not touch upon inflation is unrealistic. Roger M. Blough, board chairman of United States Steel Corp., said the settlement would cost industry $1,000,000,000 and then blandly added it "could hardly be regarded as noninflationary." The great danger is that this compromise—if it be compromise—could set the pattern for negotiations with other industries, the railroads, the coal miners, the auto workers, and in the upswing of prices that would follow where would be the advantage to the workers in their forced increase of wages and fringe benefits?

Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell are being hailed as the heroes in negotiating the settlement. It is quite natural that Nixon should wish to be identified with an agreement which satisfies both sides, particularly in this election year which means so much for him. But it will could prove a boomerang because, in spite of an announcement that there will be no immediate boost in the price of steel, it is difficult to see how any industry could absorb a $1,000,000,000 increase in its costs without the guaranteed increase in proportionate productivity which labor has not made in lifting its strike.

The American people are frequently being told by our generals that Soviet Russia is rapidly overtaking us in military armament. We should not forget that in our two world wars we entered combat against vastly superior military machines and were able to win in the end because of the adaptability and the efficiency of our industry. Industry is a part of armament and cannot be allowed to deteriorate and be priced out of existence by costs too much above the world level, and short-sighted tariff policies as we have done to such industries as watch and optical manufacturing in our country.

For the present and the near future we can expect to see an increase in steel imports simply because foreign mills are not loaded down with the heavy labor costs nor are they dominated by labor-controlled work rules. In foreign mills, management or the government—but never organized labor—has the sole right to set labor rules. The best we can hope now is that the steel industry in the United States has not been coerced into a pact it cannot sustain without greatly increasing costs. Otherwise there has been no victory for labor and a massive defeat for the American people as a whole.

Education Aid Not Federal Job

One of the first orders of business when Congress reconvenes Wednesday will be the highly controversial proposal for federal aid to education. Northern Democrats are behind one measure — S-8 — which calls for $500,000,000 a year for two years while another—HR-22 —would pour out more than $1,000,000,000 a year for four years. An administration measure would give out federal funds not exceeding $85,000,000 in one year to assist local school districts pay off school construction bonds issued for periods of 20 to 30 years.

This is an election year and the taxpayer, reading of maneuvers in Congress over these giveaways to the homefolks, must keep this fact in mind. The senators and representatives who are lending their support to the school aid resolutions are looking to the ballot box in November, not to the welfare of the nation and the soundness of its economy.

For more than half a century, ever since the historic Smith-Towner act, the American public has been confronted with federal aid to education proposals. In the past we have successfully resisted them on the theory that federal aid means federal control. History has demonstrated time and again that once the federal government gets its purse strings tangled in the latch, the door never can be locked.

These measures are critical in the upcoming session of Congress because certain demagogic elements among the Northern Democrats are trying to get a school construction aid bill through the Congress and then dare President Eisenhower to veto it.

The salvation of the taxpayer remains with that coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans which, in the past, has spared the nation irresponsible enactments which would have cost uncounted billions. These measures, despite the present ominous outlook, will probably be defeated, as they should be. It is typical of American politics, however, that they will fall through parliamentary ruses and not through an honest yes or no vote on the principle that federal interference with education is morally wrong.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the Senate's anti-trust and monopoly committee is going to hear some more about the high price of drugs.

My people-wise neighbor says if the Senators do manage to coerce these prices down it will set medical science back 20 years.

On account of no real smart doctor would try to trouble-shoot our high-status, two-car society with just little old cheap pills.

My trend-alarm neighbor says he has been reading the Help Wanted ads in the papers and now sees why so many high school citizens are getting married.

Says these youngsters are far-sighted and they're just making their arrangements to fit in with the new emphasis on youth.

Says they are smart to get an early start in order to raise and educate their children before they reach the 40-year age limit for getting a job.

I see where more professional people, such as dancing teachers, well diggers, etc., want to operate with state licenses the same as barbers, plumbers and doctors.

My unlicensed bum neighbor says licensing laws help to keep the unskilled from working at a trade, and knock off competition, so he is in favor of same.

In special, he thinks store clerks ought to be licensed, on account of only trained people have that delicate touch with insolence which raises a customer's blood pressure just enough to prod him into busting his budget.

I see where some people claim with a slumber party.

Mr. Bell of Childress, expects an oil boom here and has opened a new restaurant on the East side of the square.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dysart entertained a host of friends of newly weds Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cook.

Plymouth — Miss Hattie Vernon our ever efficient central girl, has recently purchased a victrola.

voters ought not to consider a man's religion when making up their minds about electing him to some office.

And my free-will neighbor says it is none of his business what church a candidate goes to or holds absentee membership in.

But says he will vote for or against whoever he pleases, for whatever reason suits him, whether it's because the candidate is a Methodist, a Republican, a Yankee fan, or rides a bicycle.

I see where a Senator wants to stop all labor disputes and strikes by setting up a parity price for labor like we have got for farm products.

My benchwarmer neighbor says he notes parity is a fair price for a man's work which the government sets and then hires people to see that he don't get but 60 to 75 per cent of.

Says what the country really needs is a parity figure on taxes, and Secretary Benson to moralize Uncle Sam's living standard down to about 60 per cent of parity.

I see where it's prophesied that lots of new conveniences will be brought out for homes in the 1960s which will plumb out-date the cabins we live in now.

But my lagging neighbor says even these new people-pamperers will be out of date before 1980 when he gets his present primitive shelter paid for.

Says whatever he buys is always out of date before he gets the last installment paid, like the encyclopedia he still owes on, and already nearly everything in it has been revised, added to or proved false, including a lot of the history.

Alaska in Throes of Record Heat Wave as Panhandle Shivers

While Wellington people were shivering in freezing weather, the Donald Noreds of North Pole, Alaska — a short distance from Fairbanks — were sweltering in what they called shirt-sleeve weather. It was 36 degrees in Fairbanks shortly after noon on January 4 and was an all-time high for that date.

The Noreds, chuckling over the accounts of the continued sub-freezing days in the Panhandle of Texas, published in The Fairbanks News-Miner, sent The Leader an envelope of clippings all about the weather.

A tropical blast, sometimes called a Chinook wind, swept over all of Alaska south of the Brooks range bringing unseasonably warm weather. Kotzebue, which is above the Arctic Circle, enjoyed a mild temperature of 25 degrees and the temperatures that were above freezing were: Anchorage 38, Cordova 25, Juneau 42, Ketchikan 43 and Sitka 41.

The headlines in The News-Miner read like a battle between the California and Florida press. One read: "Nation gripped by Arctic Air While Alaska Is Sweltering." There was a picture of a man in front of The First National Bank in Fairbanks. He was in his shirt-sleeves and had paused from shoveling snow to mop his brow with a handkerchief. The News-Miner claimed that their photographer just happened along at the time Vic Brown paused to wipe the sweat from his forehead. (They have more corn than Kansas.)

The Noreds were more realistic in the clipping they sent from the January 14 paper. It follows: Button up. It's more of the same for the next several days. IT'S THE LAW in Texas A Public Service Feature by the State Bar of Texas

Division of Estates

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding columns we have investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survive, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants).

All five lodges in the district will be present for the school and take part in the work. A new deputy will be elected at Grand Lodge which will be held in Fort Worth in March.

Ten members from the Wellington lodge plan to accompany Mrs. Cummings to Memphis for the school.

Trio to Funeral in Lyons, Kansas

Mrs. Boright died Tuesday, Jan. 12, and funeral services were held the following Friday.

Joe Sanders accompanied the group to drive, and much of the return trip was over icy roads.

who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where there are no surviving parents, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

JAMES DENTON ANNOUNCES FOR COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS

LUBBOCK.—Judge James G. Denton today announced candidacy for his first elective terms as Chief Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, Seventh Supreme Judicial District. Judge Denton was appointed to the office last October following the death of Chief Justice E. L. Pitts.

He will run in the May 7th primaries as a candidate for the Democratic party's nomination for the office.

Denton was judge for the 99th Judicial District (Lubbock county) at the time of his appointment to the Court of Civil Appeals. He served as District Judge for six and one-half years. Before that he served nearly two years as judge of the Lubbock County Court of Law. He has also served on the Executive Committee of the State Judicial Conference.

Chief Justice Denton was born in Bonham, Texas in 1917. Following graduation from high school there, he entered Texas Technological College and graduated with a B.A. degree in Government in 1938. He then entered the University of Texas law school. In 1941 he was licensed to practice law. He enlisted in the U.S. Navy shortly after Pearl Harbor. For more than four years he served aboard minesweepers in both the Atlantic and the Pacific. Early in 1946 he received his honorable discharge and began practicing law in Lubbock. In 1950 he was chosen the first judge of the Lubbock County Court.

While living in Lubbock, he was active in the First Baptist Church, Lubbock Kiwanis Club and Boy Scouts. He is now a member of the Executive Committee of the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts. He is also the present lieutenant governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International. He has been president of the Lubbock Kiwanis Club.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Denton have two boys and two girls, ages 14, 12, 9 and 7.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cook has been their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jerry Cook. She had remained here while Jerry was at Fort Bliss for two weeks National Guard training. They returned to their home in Perryton Sunday. Also visiting in the Cooks home during the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fields and their children, Jimmy and Margaret Ann of Stinnett.

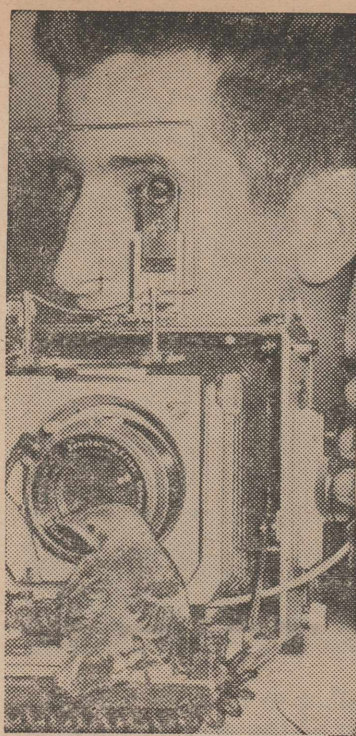

District Office for 1960 Census in Amarillo

Establishment of a district office for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing at 616-19 N. Polk street in Amarillo, was announced today by Director James W. Stroud of the Census Bureau's regional office at Dallas.

Clyde Cook will be supervisor of the district office. He will direct a force of 24 crew leaders and 346 census takers in the following counties: Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallas, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Motley, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, and Wheeler.

Taking the 1960 census nationally will require the services of 160,000 enumerators, 10,000 crew leaders, and 400 district supervisors, all temporary workers. The district supervisors, working under the general direction of the permanent regional field directors, are responsible for all phases of the census in their districts. Duties of the district supervisor include the recruiting of the crew leaders, obtaining space for crew leader training, recruiting and training a small office staff, reviewing the completed questionnaires, and direct supervision of all field canvass which begins on April 1.

Prior to the start of the census, all households will receive in the mail an Advance Census Report form, a new census-taking device which is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics. Distribution of this form, which contains the basic population and housing questions, gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit.

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the Impala Sport Coupe!

GO '60
GO CHEVY!

NOW- THE CAR THAT STARTS THE SIXTIES
WITH SO MUCH THAT'S NEW,
SO MUCH THAT'S DIFFERENT
...AND SETS THE PACE WITH LOWER PRICES!

Chevrolet speaks of the Sixties like no other car—with a broad accent on spaciousness, stirring new concepts in styling and strong emphasis on spirit and thrift.

Step inside this superlative '60 and look at the worlds of room around you: head room, hip room, shoulder-squaring room. Note how Chevrolet's engineers have further flattened and narrowed the transmission tunnel to give the middle man more foot room. Chevrolet's greater roominess is inside where you want it—not outside in useless body overhang.

You'll find economy teamed with performance in a new standard V8, engineered to deliver up to 10% more miles for every gallon, or the strapping Hi-Thrift 6.

And riding comfort in the new one is a never-ending treat, thanks to Full Coil spring suspension. There are also thicker, newly designed body mounts that filter noise and vibration to the vanishing point, more rigid frame and many other engineering advances.

But you'll have to drive the Sixty sizzler yourself—that's the clincher.

Why not see your Chevrolet dealer now—for a drive and the happy details on Chevy's new lower prices.

See The Dinah Shore Chevy Show in color Sundays, NBC-TV—the Pat Boone Chevy Showroom weekly, ABC-TV.

—By Deskins Wells

A delegation from Brownfield was here Tuesday to investigate the working of the unit road system in Collingsworth county. They are thinking of trying the plan in Terry county. First, they met with the Commissioners Court and then talked with other people who have been interested in the working of the Optional Road Law of 1947. They also plan to visit at least one other county where the unit system is working smoother than it is in Collingsworth due to the fact that it has received 100 per cent cooperation from the Commissioners Court.

The Canadian Record also had an editorial on the unit system as practiced in this county and winds up with the conclusion that it might be a good thing to try in Hemphill county. Because of controversy our use of the Optional Road Law has attracted more attention than in counties where the plan is working smoother. This may not be good for us, but it may do some good in advertising the plan and its potential merits.

January 31 is the last date to pay your poll tax, but since it comes on Sunday you had better keep Saturday, January 30 in mind as the last date. This is also the last week for candidates to file.

This years poll tax receipts will have a place to be stamped with the holder's party affiliation. A person who votes in the Democratic primary will have his receipt stamped Democratic. If so stamped he can't go to the Republican convention. If he does not vote and his receipt is not stamped he will not be admitted to the Democratic convention.

It seems strange to read in The Hollis Weekly News that the political bees have not started to buzz in our neighboring county across the state line. Formerly the Oklahomans held their election a month earlier than Texans, but now we are over a month ahead of them.

The earlier date seems like a good thing, but the worst mistake the people of Texas have made recently was when they voted for the terms of county officials to be increased from two to four years. Four years is just too long to wait for some officials to give an accounting of their stewardship and receive a new mandate from the people. If we vote on Congressmen every two years, why isn't it just as practical to vote on a county official every two years?

We have been enjoying the birds since the snow as well as a lot of other people. Mrs. W. R. Orr mentioned a bird with a lot of white on it and a day or two later one like she described appeared in our yard. The nearest Louise and I could come to identifying it was a Bobolink. In addition there have been the usual assortment of Cardinals, Blue Jays, Slate Colored Juncos, and many others.

Out on the plains they are now pumping lake water back into the ground. In one place they pumped 26,181,600 gallons of water, which amounted to 80 acre feet. This water flowed by gravity from the lake through an irrigation well with a pipe inlet from the lake. Pumping the well for one hour in 24 prevents silting. With more of this sort of thing they may have underground water on the plains for many more years.

Bernice Welch, the irrepressible newsstand dealer, and I have one other thing in common besides liking to sell Wellington Leaders and we think it stems from the same cause. Both of us are so scared of high places that we get butterflies in our stomachs simply by looking at a picture of a man climbing a mountain. And the reason is that each of us was knocked off or partly off a windmill when we were boys.

There is a story in this week's issue of the paper based on newspaper clippings sent us by the Donald Noreds of North Pole, Alaska. They are all about the hot spell they had while their old home town was freezing. One clipping is not included in the story. It follows: SOUR DOUGH JACK SEZ: Can't understand how that blanket of hot air moved over Alaska so soon. Elections is still several months away.

This was published about the same time that shivering Ed Crawford was saying in Wellington: Somebody cut that last strand of barbed wire.

"This is the opportunity for all farmers to get together to work for our own farming interests," Dee Burba, farm bureau manager, declared. "It is your chance to be affiliated with the biggest farm organization in the United States."

The latest accomplishment of the Farm Bureau on a national level was the retention of skip-row planting in the 1960 farm program—a practice heartily endorsed by Collingsworth county farmers.

Wichita Meeting Set on Red River and Tributaries

The Red River Valley Association, the Wichita County Water Improvement Districts 1 and 2 and the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will hold a public meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday, February 3, in the auditorium of Mid-Western University.

This meeting affects Collingsworth county, since it concerns the future of Red River and its tributaries, of which Salt Fork, Elm Creek and Buck Creek are the three in this county. It seeks improvement of future supplies of municipal and industrial water, and so far, all efforts have been concentrated downstream from here.

On the program will be leading representatives of the Public Health Service and the Corps of Engineers of the United States Army, according to a news release from the Red River Valley Association headquarters at Shreveport, La.

For the past year the Public Health Service has been engaged in making studies and surveys on the natural salt pollution of Red River and its tributaries and is now in a position to outline sources of the pollution and possible methods of reducing the natural saline content of the waters. The Corps of Engineers of the Department of the Army has been authorized by Congress to implement into construction the recommendations of the Public Health Service.

The Red River Valley Association and the Wichita County Water Improvement District 1 and 2 of Wichita Falls have jointly appeared before Congress in support of the appropriations for the survey and study which is scheduled to be completed in the calendar year of 1961.

The meeting is a public meeting and the public is urged to attend.

McInnis Promoted by N. M. Bank

Durant McInnis was promoted from cashier to vice president and cashier of the First National Bank in Las Vegas, Las Vegas, N. M., at the annual stockholders meeting Tuesday, January 12, according to Chas. E. Crews, executive vice president.

He also was re-elected to the board of directors for the year 1960. McInnis went to the Las Vegas bank in August 1958, from the Wellington State Bank, having also served with the First National Bank here.

"Mr. McInnis came to us highly recommended and has shown nothing but improvement in the banking field since being employed here," Crews stated.

Crews also formerly was with the First National Bank.

Former County Man Burned

Daryol Keith, former county man, was seriously burned in an explosion that ripped his apartment at Canyon Monday afternoon, January 18.

He received second and third degree burns on his hands and face and was hospitalized in Canyon.

The explosion apparently occurred as Keith attempted to light a hot water heater in the bathroom and gas that had accumulated in the attic ignited.

Except for a plastic shade and curtain in the bathroom, there was no fire except the one that burned Keith. Clothes hanging on a line in the bathroom were blown into the attic and a partition two rooms away was moved 8 or 10 inches. Windows in three rooms were blown out.

Keith's family was away from home when the explosion occurred. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keith.

Cultivating a Rich Field calls for

DEPTH OF PENETRATION

The Strongest Force in Business Today Is Newspaper Advertising

UNLESS you are using your local newspaper as a regular part of your advertising program, you are very likely doing little more than scratching the surface of the important and rich market which it covers. Your newspaper commands the attention and respect of the community and will carry your sales message with force and dignity.

Your local newspaper has the "depth of penetration" that gets beneath the surface interest of its readers, down to where the sales action really starts. Your business will profit from a program of planned newspaper advertising.
