START WORK ON WILDCAT TEST THIS WEEK

Three Pay Stratas To Be Tested In T. A. Wilmes Wildcat

NOW AT WORK

5-Inch Casing To Be Raised; Donohue Is In Charge

F. P. Donohue, who has charge of the Claudell Development Co. well on the T. A. Wilmes ranch, 31 miles southwest of Portales, was in town Tuesday, completing arrangements for a complete test of this well.

Mr. Donohue stated that three pays had been encountered; one at 3345-67 feet, in the upper part of the San Andres lime, and again at 3580-3600 feet, in the lower structure of this lime. The third pay was in the Glorietta sand at 3626 feet.

Oil showings were encountered in the first two pays and a strong showing of gas in the Glorietta sand.

It is planned to test all pays, beginning with the first lime.

Work of rigging up the well for these tests is now under way, and the 5-inch casing will be pulled. As soon as the hole is cleared of the 5-inch casing the 6-inch casing will be raised in opening to first pay.

Pays will be tested in order from then on.

The well is financed with Eastern capital.

ART EXHIBIT FEATURED AT JR. COLLEGE

Study of Art Among Indians Is Among Collection

Francis Deldosso, professor of art at the Eastern New Mexico Junior College, has announced two art exhibits at the college which are now on display. Two distinct types of pictures are among the collection.

Art forms in Nature, one of the great manifestations forming the world around us, are so intimately related to one another that it is impossible to think of one without the other. It is the result of the creative act that distinguishes the works from those of Nature, namely, modeling of an original form, newly produced, and not the imitated or repeated form.

From the Assyrian temple to the stadium of the present day, from the Buddah absorbed in meditation to the Thinker of Rodin, from the Chinese colored wood engraving to the modern copperplate, everything created by man records the spirit of his epoch with such distinctiveness that it is easy to deduce from it the actual date of the creation. Demonstrating so distinctly the close relations between art and nature should make us grasp the deeper meaning of our present time.

Another collection is that of Portfolio of Pueblo Indian Painters. This, like the other, displays much of the original nature among the Indians of New Mexico.

These paintings are taken from the original Indian paintings of the Pueblo Indians, tracing the civilization back to Mexico, describing in a vivid way the influence of the country itself upon the life of the agricultural tribes and their art. The "Call of Water" is the dominant motive in the art of these people.

The 50 paintings reproduced in this volume are, with the exception of three, from the collection brought together by Anne Evans of Denver and represent the work of artists of San Ildefonso. Most admirably made, the reproductions are true facsimilies, excellent in color and technique, and exceptionally correct and fine pieces of printing.

Some of the subjects represented in this volume are by such artists as Awa Tsireh, who gives us the Snake Dance, The Buffalo Dance Group, Antelope, Warrior on Pinto Pony and Thunder Bird, and Richard Martines's conception of Emblem of the Universe.

Other artists who have paintings in this collection are Louis Gonzales, Encarnacion Pena, Miguel Martines, Velino Herrera, Romando Vigil, Julian Martinez and others.

Wayne Stratton, who has been in Albuquerque for the past few weeks, returned Wednesday morning to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Stratton Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Mock visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prescott, near Muleshoe, Sunday.

Portalesite Dies In Clovis Hospital

J. W. Alley, 65, of Portales, passed away in the Santa Fe hospital at Clovis Wednesday of last week. Mr. Alley had fallen from a bridge about 10 days before his death, and was receiving treatments at Clovis, and was thought to be convalescing nicely.

For 15 years he had been in the employ of the Santa Fe railroad, belonging to the bridge and building division.

Funeral services were held Friday in the Johnson Brothers parlors at Clovis, by C. A. Buchanan, minister, of the Portales Church of Christ, of which Mr. Alley was a faithful member.

The body was shipped to Albuquerque for burial.

Mr. Alley is survived by his widow and four sons, one of whom, Earl Alley, resides near Portales.

Local Resident Died Thursday

Alanson Brown Smith died at his home in Portales early last Thursday morning. He had been in poor health for many years.

Funeral services were held in the First Methodist church Friday afternoon with Rev. C. F. York officiating. Interment was made in the Portales cemetery with Wheeler and Johnson in charge.

Mr. Smith was born September 26, 1872, at Peter's Landing, Tenn. He married Miss Edna L. Kirkham of Elizabethton, Ill., in 1909. He joined the Methodist church at an early age and has been a member continuously since that time.

He leaves a wife, two brothers, J. T. and W. G. Smith, of Decaturville, Tenn.; two nephews, E. N. and W. B., of Portales, and two nieces, Mrs. Nora Winters of Amarillo, and Mrs. Wanda Spears, of Austin, Texas.

EXTEND DATE OF ENTRY IN TENNIS TILT

Many Have Signed To Play In City Tournament

Entry date for the City Tennis tournament has been extended over a period of another week. This was done in order to give those who have recently come into college a chance at entering.

Entry date will close Tuesday of next week.

Several have signed up for both singles and doubles, and a number of others have expressed a desire to do so. With the extension of the entry date, which was to have closed Tuesday of this week, it is expected that a large number of players will be in the preliminaries. To date there have been no women to enter the contests. However, much interest is being shown among the men of the city.

Arrangements have been made with J. P. Steiner, superintendent-elect of the Portales High school, to use the concrete course during the tourney. Preliminaries will probably begin the latter part of next week. The tournament is open to any one now living in Roosevelt county.

A trophy will be given the winner in both singles and doubles. Entry is being made with Jimmy Drake at the News office.

M'KAY MAKES FIRST TALK TO COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

"The Art of Living" Is Subject of Talk By Prexy

WORK STRESSED

Dean Golden Introduces Visitors at Gathering

"The Art of Living" was the subject of the talk made by President Donald MacKay at the first assembly during the summer session of the college Wednesday morning.

"To labor is to recognize a purpose for existence," was a statement made by MacKay in discussing work which is the basic concept of the art of living.

"Work provides an opportunity for developing latent talent," continued MacKay. He expressed a hope that the summer school students would gain a feeling of the dignity of work.

"Happiness is an outcome or by-product of work which comes from activity, planning and working," he stated.

Pleasure, which is the companion of work, has been provided for by organized social affairs, adventures to points of interest in the state and by recreational programs planned for three afternoon during the week during the summer session at the college, according to MacKay.

Search for beauty, another necessity in the art of living, is provided in the art, music and literature offered during the summer.

In discussing the personal traits necessary in the art of living, MacKay stressed tolerance, charity and enthusiasm.

MacKay was introduced by County Superintendent A. C. Woodburn.

Floyd D. Golden, who acted as chairman, introduced the visitors here for the rural conference. He also made announcements relative to the work of the summer term.

Other announcements were made by faculty members and Harry E. Barton, Mrs. Lillian Patton Hobbs and Harry F. Taylor entertained the group with violin, piano and vocal numbers.

Miss Thelma McCulley gave a preview of the rural conference which started yesterday afternoon.

Problems of Novelists Today To Be Discussed

Captain Paul Horgan, librarian of New Mexico Military Institute, will speak on "Problems of the Novelist Today" at the first college Book Hour, to be held at the Presbyterian church Thursday, June 13, at 7:30 p. m.

Captain Horgan is known to his fellow New Mexicans through his novels, "The Fault of Angels" and "No Quarter Given" and his short stories and articles. "The Fault of Angels" won the Harper Prize Novel Contest of 1933, and his other work is on the same high plane.

The public is cordially invited to hear and meet Captain Horgan.

Abb French was in from his ranch near Elida, Tuesday.

Few Changes In Faculty Of County Schools

According to A. C. Woodburn, county school superintendent, there will be very few changes in the faculty members of county schools next year. Only one new member, Mrs. Marguerite Fristoe, of Tatum, will be new to the county. Mrs. Fristoe will be in the primary department at Dutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Agrie Jones, who formerly taught in this county, will return next term to take up duties in Milnesand. Much changing about will be seen in the rural schools, but so far only one new member has been employed.

A move is under way to erect new buildings in different parts of the county. Floyd will seek erection of a new agricultural building this year. The building was destroyed last year by fire. Causey and Dora will likely have additional buildings. Rogers, in the southeast part of the county, is seeking much needed repair work.

Federal aid is being sought in each one of the projects.

Patrolmen Making a Test of Brakes and Lights

State patrolmen were here Monday in the interest of brake and light testing on motor vehicles. A rigorous test is being made.

Drivers of one-light cars also will be reprimanded.

The first offense, according to the patrolmen, will merely be a warning, but the second offense will carry a heavy penalty.

"This is not being done to harass the people," stated one of the patrolmen, "but as a protection to the people."

ESCAPE OF 2 PRISONERS IS HALTED

Returned to Santa Fe Where They Will Be Held In Jail

What was thought to be an attempt at escape was foiled when Raymond Hoffman and Clois Eatons were taken to Santa Fe Saturday for safe-keeping. Deputy Sheriff Bob Poindexter, J. R. Bradford and Muriel Wallace accompanied the men to that place.

Acting upon receipt of a letter from each one of the prisoners, arrangement was made here for the men who offered to plead guilty to the crime in which each is charged. Eaton, who was in Clovis jail, was brought here three weeks ago when he wrote a letter to District Attorney Compton asking that he be brought back to plead guilty for theft. A few days later, Hoffman, who was being held at Santa Fe, wrote a like letter to officials here. Hoffman was returned here Wednesday, but when he appeared before Judge Patton along with Eatons, both again made a plea of not guilty.

According to Poindexter, both men made statements concerning escape while en route to Santa Fe last Saturday. However, every precaution was taken to prevent a break, and the men were safely lodged in jail at the capital city.

The escape theory was advanced when the men acted to the contrary of their letters. Authorities at Santa Fe stated that Hoffman was a tough character.

It is alleged that Eatons, while in the Clovis jail, wrote a note addressed to other inmates asking for tools or instruments whereby he might make an escape. The receiver gave the note to officers who compared the handwriting with that of Eatons. It coincided.

Hoffman is being held in connection with hijacking with firearms. He is charged with holding up men near Elida some time ago. Eatons is charged with theft of clothing from college students who were rooming over the News office last winter.

BUS SCHEDULE AFFECTS LOCAL POSTAL HOURS

Mail coming from the north by bus will not be worked until the following morning, according to Mrs. Coe Howard, postmistress. This change is being brought about following a change in the southbound bus schedule.

Heretofore the bus arrived here at 6:35 p. m. and the mail was put up that night. The bus, arriving here at 9:15 now would keep an employee at the post office on duty until late at night, according to Mrs. Howard.

Mid-West Truck in Wreck Wednesday

On Wednesday night one of the Mid-West Dairy trucks was wrecked on the Roswell highway a few miles south of Kenna.

The truck left here around 9:30 Wednesday night with a load of butter and eggs for El Paso.

A car coming from the opposite direction at around 65 miles per hour crowded the truck onto the soft shoulder, causing it to turn over.

Eggs were scrambled and some of the sweet cream spilled. The butter was not damaged.

No one was injured, but damage to the engine and cab was around $200.00.

Stories of all kinds will be given and all children are invited to attend.

QUIXOTE'S AMBITION STILL HINGES

TWO RUNAWAY LASSIES CLAD IN SLACKS HALTED HERE MONDAY MORNING; DIDN'T KNOW WHERE THEY WERE GOING!

Two young girls with the ambition of Don Quixote were halted here Monday morning before they had a chance at the "windmill." They were runaway lassies from Clovis.

Marie, 16, and Nadine, 13, were picked up here early Monday morning on the Roswell highway. When questioned concerning their destination they admitted they were runaways. Bob Poindexter brought the girls back to Portales and called Clovis. The sheriff's department there informed Poindexter that the report had already reached that office, and instructed local officials to hold the parties. Mr. Williams, Nadine's father, came for them about noon.

Cousins, the two girls spent Sunday night at a local hotel here and arising not too early Monday morning sauntered out the Roswell highway. They stated they had come from Clovis Sunday night by taxi. A check at the hotel revealed they had arrived here shortly after 12 o'clock.

Nadine, clad in slacks, pulled a sailor's cap down over her face and spoke with contempt to the questions of a reporter. "You put everything in the paper, don't you?" was her clever retort when she was informed of the reporter's presence. When questioned about her age she tossed her head freely to the ceiling with a snarl and said, "my father will be here any moment. You might ask him." Marie who appeared to be less excited, answered without hesitation. She, too, was dressed in slacks.

Each of the girls had a small bundle. They didn't know for sure where they were going, so they said.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

Vacationing in New Mexico is showing an increased demand from residents of every state in the Union. This has been exemplified by the number of tourists registered in the state last year as out-of-state vacationers.

New Mexico has worked to this objective, sending out display advertisements throughout the country which was published in several of the nation's leading magazines. The campaign will be continued this year.

According to statistics, most of New Mexico's visitors are pleasure seekers . . . and during the summer months they came here to get away from the heat waves so typical to most every other state in the Union. Fishing has been popular with these visitors, while others seek rest, solace and other forms of recreation such as horseback riding, swimming, sight-seeing such as only New Mexico could offer.

Coming from the east through West Texas, many of these visitors will enter via Clovis, pass through Portales, and incidentally, Roosevelt Park. The park, even though conveniently located and can be seen from the highway, lends an atmosphere pleasing to most recreational seekers. But, at that, perhaps the grounds will not be so enticing unless the traveler be advised as to the park's potentialities. This can, and should be done by the erection of a huge sign at the entrance of the park, calling attention to the peregrinator of what is to be expected inside the park gates.

These signs, erected with reflectors for night drivers, will be of untold value to pleasure-seekers, and of little cost to the county.

Despite handicaps, the East Side is becoming more popular with every little improvement. It's up to East Siders to make this the most interesting part of the state . . . a drawing card for the rest of New Mexico. You're paying for the advertisements placed in the magazines, so why not get returns by advertising Roosevelt Park as a recreational center?

—o—

On Thursday afternoon of last week a group of Portales business men met with a group of Clovis business men at Hotel Clovis for the purpose of discussing the future of the state park.

It developed that unless maintenance was guaranteed that the Federal government would move the CCC camp and discontinue work on this park.

The matter was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided to form a park association, guaranteeing the maintenance of this park.

A committee of seven to be selected, three from Clovis and three from Portales, and this committee to select the seventh member.

Around $150,000.00 to $200,000.00 has been spent on this park by the Federal government, and to complete the project will require the work of the CCC boys from now until October.

This park will form a great recreational center for this part of the state, and Roosevelt and Curry counties cannot afford to have work stop at this stage of the game.

Water is now being pumped in the big lake and it is holding and will soon provide boating and fishing.

This will be one of the state's beauty spots, and of untold value to this section of the state.

—o—

A modern food expert is one who can look at a calf and tell how many chicken sandwiches it will make.

NEW MEXICO TO HAVE TWO PRESS ASSOCIATIONS

Paul Dodge, president of the New Mexico Newspaper Association, has changed the meeting place of the state meeting from Hot Springs to Albuquerque.

The papers of the southern part of the state had made great plans for the entertainment of the newspaper boys, and now they are considerably peeved at the change of the meeting place and are making plans to go ahead with the meeting at Hot Springs regardless.

This will make a serious split in the association, and will result in the death of the association.

The News believes that President Dodge exceeded his authority in changing the meeting place without the sanction of the directors, and should have consulted the members before making a change.

Just why this was done remains to be seen.

If the New Mexico Association is to become an association for the printing trade, it should have the backing of the entire trade, and should be operated for the benefit of the trade.

Politics should have no part in this association, as its members are made up of those of different political faith.

Unless the publishers of the state can get together and work for their mutual advantage, then the association had better disband.

—o—

TOURIST DEVELOPMENT WILL EXCEED ALL STATE RESOURCES

A well directed advertising campaign of the scenic attractions of New Mexico will bring tourists to New Mexico to an extent that this business will gross more than that of all combined resources of New Mexico.

The spending of $40,000.00 for advertising is only a drop in the bucket—and means of providing from $100,000.00 to $500,000.00 annually should be considered.

It is conservatively estimated than there are hundreds of thousands of wealthy people in the United States who send their families to winter and summer resorts.

They build expensive winter homes in Florida and California and it is possible to interest them in building summer homes in the mountains of New Mexico.

It is true that Portales is not a tourist town and has very little to offer in this line, but being situated on one of the main arteries of travel, thousands of tourists passing through will buy gas, patronize the restaurants and stay over night, if proper accommodations are provided.

Five hundred thousand tourists in our mountains will mean that the farmers of this section will have a ready market for their farm products, as these tourists must be fed.

It is poor business for New Mexico to overlook this business, and in spite of all the criticisms of Governor Tingley, his farsightedness in the development of this business is worthy of commendation by every citizen of the state.

—o—

JEFFERSON'S GREAT DREAM

The more closely you scan the trend of affairs in the United States over the past century, the more you must be of the opinion that the present era is the forerunner of a great transition in our these of government. This nation was founded, and Thomas Jefferson visioned it as such, on the theory that the average man would own his own land, and also that a majority of the population would remain in agricultural centers.

But this dream of Jefferson's has not materialized; most people work for others, and they do not depend upon their own land for sustenance. The result is that we now have a generation of voters, the majority of whom are products of city industry; they do not know the feel of an ax as it clears farm land in a forest; they do not thrill to the turn of a furrow as they sow crops; they have no recollection of the beat of wind and sain and snow and sleet upon their bodies as Winter tried to drive them from the conquest of Nature's elemental environment.

The net result of all this reveals a majority of American citizens unable to appreciate the priceless heritage of free self-governing privileges; the resulting citize napathy and disinterest therefore leave the way of government open to the demagogue, the predatory and mercenary politician; and, unless human beings reform, you can figure out for yourself how and when some form of State piracy and dicattorship will eventually become sovereign in our beloved America.—Eccentric, Bermingham, Mich.

—o—

In principle there is no difference between those who want to do a half week's work for a full week's pay and those who demand full pay for doing nothing.

—o—

We better give up the things we can't keep for the things we can't lose.

—o—

Money buys only the cheaper things.

"Don't Quote Me"

By United Press

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In the view of the some 1,200 folks who work for the NRA, conditions seem to be going from bad to worse.

Working for the Blue Eagle, they point out, never has been a cinch. In the early days of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson the staff worked until all hours of the night and seven days a week to get the code system to functioning.

And since then they have been worrying about their jobs.

These worries reached a high point about the time of Johnson's resignation. In an effort to restore morale, Johnson assembled all the workers and gave them a vigorous pep talk. He told them that their jobs were assured for a long time. That helped for a while.

But this talk about NRA abolition and temporary extension brought on another set of nerves.

Many obtained transfers to other departments or started looking for jobs in private business. In the press section alone there have been about eight resignations in recent weeks, the last contingent having just left to join the new works drive.

Finally the present NRA chairman, Donald R. Richberg, decided to adopt Johnsonian tactics and invite everyone in for a straight-from-the-shoulder talk.

He gave a fine, forceful and reassuring talk, but the net result appeared to be to stir up fresh apprehension.

Richberg spoke of the "folly" of temporary extension of the NRA. That remark aroused Senate critics of the NRA afresh and brought a new storm of denunciation and attack. Now NRA workers are more worried than ever about their jobs.

Visitors to Washington should not be misled by the hurried erection of scaffolding and apparent barricades on Pennsylvania avenue and in the vicinity of the White House.

Washington is not going in for any of the realistic mock war demonstrations currently so popular in the capitals of Europe nor is there any fear of an uprising.

The rapidly rising frameworks are grandstands being built in anticipation of the convention of Shriners here next month.

Postmaster General James A. Farley will probably be looking for a tin hat and a bombproof shelter when he hears about this one.

The postoffice department has started to turn out a great deal of free publicity for Henry Ford.

What with the Ford controversy with the NRA, now Farley's own department is turning out a free advertisement for the motor magnate as fast as the presses in the Bureau of Engraving roll.

The new stamp commemorating the San Diego exposition is the trouble spot this time.

The stamp, a snappy purple number, shows a view of the exposition grounds. Right in the center foreground is a large white building of modernistic architecture.

The structure—about the most prominent thing in the picture—is the Ford building, although, of course, the name does not show on the stamp.

The size of the stamp makes it a particularly good representation, the issue is almost twice the size of the usual commemorative and is one of the largest stamps the department has ever printed.

Farley already has had some difficulty with the San Diego stamp.

Elaborate ceremonies were arranged at the Bureau of Engraving to start the presses on the issue. The postmaster general was to throw a switch and deliver an appropriate address, all to the accompaniment of cameras.

When Farley arrived at the plant, the presses made so much noise that he had to give up the idea of making an address, and he almost didn't get the presses started.

In the confusion and clatter, the wrong switch was pointed out to him. He threw it but nothing happened. The pressed stood idle and unmoving. Just as the situation began to get embarrassing, a pressman with ink-stained hands and greasy aprons came along.

He took in the situation, walked up and pulled another switch and to Farley's great relief this time the presses actually started to turn. The matter of the speech was taken care of by Farley's press department. They issued it just as though he had delivered it.

DELTA, Colo., June 5.—A Delta man was very much embarrassed recently. He excitedly telephoned Sheriff Ray Lockhart that someone had stolen his automobile which had several sacks of potatoes in it. Sheriff Lockhart investigated and discovered that the man had driven home someone else's car. When he reached home the man found that his potatoes were gone and so he told the sheriff that his automobile and potatoes were stolen. He returned the "borrowed" automobile.

GALLUP, June 5.—The third pair of twins to be born to Navajos living in the Two Wells district near here arrived recently. The twins, girls, are the daughters of Frank Cadman and his wife. Twins are believed to be a sign of ill omen, according to orthodox Navajo superstition. The ancient Navajos believed that there were allotted only a certain number of births before the world came to an end. Twins, thus, would hasten the end of the world.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 5.—Saturday is not the popular bath night in Cheyenne. A recent study of water consumption figures showed that 89,000 gallons of water less are used on Saturday than other days of the week.

ALBUQUERQUE, June 5.—Who said that all persons on relief are loyal Democrats? A relief client here who was ill recently asked that he be transferred from his brother's care to the care of a nephew. An investigator found that the client desired the change in custodians because his brother was a Democrat and he didn't care to live with him for that reason. The change was made.

ALBUQUERQUE, June 5.—A group of 45 children from the Laguna day school recently had a picnic in this city. It was the first time most of the children had been off the reservation. They displayed extreme interest in the TWA airport, the huge Douglas liners which they had never seen before on the ground. The children also were interested in the zoo ,motion pictures and the cafes.

New Mexico Farmers Study AAA Program

During the first part of 1935, farmers in New Mexico counties having major agricultural adjustment programs, have studied and discussed the different phases of AAA work, including the clarifying amendments (H. R. 7088) to the Adjustment Act. The various crop control associations in these counties, in oocperation with the extension service, have encouraged discussion meetings where farmers have had the opportunity to inform themselves about the purposes and objectives of the adjustment programs.

In the counties of Colfax, Eddy, Harding, Quay, Roosevelt, San Miguel, Union and Dona Ana, a total of 223 meetings, with total attendance of 6,633 have been held sinve January 1, at which the AAA was discussed in general. A total of 24 meetings, with attendance of 778 have been held for the express purpose of discussing the Amendments to the AAA Ace, now pending before Congress. Recently a series of educational meetings was held in the wheat counties to consider the proposed continuation of the wheat adjustment work.

Farmers in ten of the counties mentioned above have gone on record supporting the AAA Amendments. This expression of sentiment has been accomplished by resolutions at three district meetings held at Tucumcari, Clovis and State College, and by sending representatives to Washington where resolutions supporting the amendments were adopted.

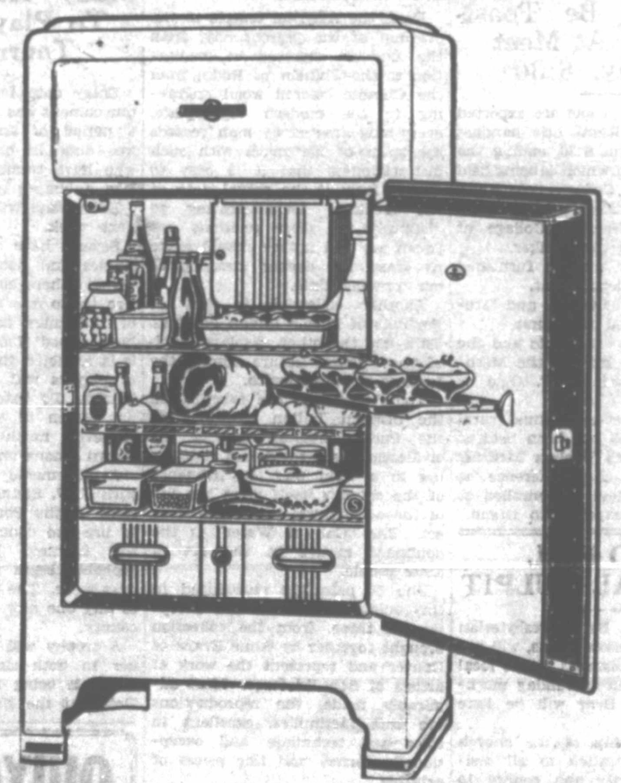

Dona Ana county has gone on record both opposing and supporting the clarifying amendments. Its county allotment committee supported the amendments and a meeting of its farmers voted in opposition.

In the eleven major counties, where the above described activity has taken place, are found 97 per cent of all wheat allotment contracts, 90 per cent of the state's corn-hog contracts, and 96 per cent of the cotton contracts.

Lincoln County Organized

At a meeting in Capitan Monday evening, May 27, of men from Carrizozo, Fort Stanton and Capitan, plans were made to offer the Scout and Cub programs to boys of Lincoln county. At present there are troops at Capitan and Mescalero, and there are possibilities for about ten Scout troops and as many Cub packs.

T. E. Kelly of Carrizozo, long associated with the Scouting movement, was elected chairman of the Lincoln county district committee of the Eastern New Mexico Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. Bill Lumpkins, of Capitan, has been appointed commissioner for the district. Mr. Lumpkins is an Eagle Scout and has had a great deal of experience. In addition to Mr. Kelly and Mr. Lumpkins, the following men were present: Edward Smith and J. F. Macari of Fort Stanton; W. H. Nickels of Carrizozo; J. R. O'Malley and Vasser L. Thompson of Capitan, and P. V. Thorson, Scout executive for the Eastern New Mexico Area Council. Another meeting will be held before school opens this fall at which time the organization will be completed.

New Units

New units registered during May are Troop No. 15, Clovis, George R. Bloodgood, scoutmaster, with eight boys, sponsored by the Presbyterian church. Pack No. 10, Hobbs, sponsored by the Methodist church, Robert Prater, cubmaster, with eight boys. Pack No. 11, Hobbs, sponsored by the Baptist church, Robert Prater, cubmaster, with eight boys. Pack No. 12, Hobbs, sponsored by the P. T. A. of the New Hobbs school, Robert Prater, cubmaster, with eight boys. We are glad to welcome these and wish them the greatest of success.

Summer Camp

June 16th to 26th, ten full days of camping, fun, adventure, hikes and good eats. That's what is in store for Scouts of this Area at Camp We-hin-ah-pay in the Sacramento mountains. All this at the very low cost of 65c per day. Where can a boy have such a wonderful time at such a small cost? Think of the physical value alone, to say nothing of the good times, fellowship and opportunity to make new friends.

Jamboree Notes

Registration for the National Jamboree at Washington, August 21-30, is still open and any Scout who can qualify as to requirements is eligible to attend. Twenty-nine Scouts and four officials are now registered and four more Scouts are wanted to make up a full troop. The registration fee of $25, which is included in the total cost of $85, should be sent in as quickly as possible to Area headquarters. August 5, 6, 7 and 8 have been set as dates for the Jamboree preliminary training camp at Roswell.

Executives Report

January 1, 1935 to May 28, 1935. Total miles traveled, 5,010.

Number of communities visited, 21, as follows: Artesia, Carlsbad, Hobbs, Clovis, Portales, Tucumcari, Capitan, Grady, Roswell, Dexter, Hagerman, Hollywood, Mescalero, Texico-Farwell, Loving, Otis, Malaga, Elida, Chaves, Olive and Lovington.

Conducted financial campaigns at Carlsbad, Hobbs, Roswell, Dexter, Portales and Clovis.

Conducted rural leaders training course at Eastern New Mexico Junior College with 25 enrolled representing 11 communities in Curry and Roosevelt counties.

Held the first Area-wide district commissioners all-day conference at Portales, with five districts represented by eight commissioners. Held "On to Washington" committee meeting in conjunction with the commissioners' conference.

Conducted Area-wide Camp-o-Ral at New State park with 474 Scouts and 56 Scouters in attendance. A total of 530.

Nine new troops have been registered and three new Cub packs; 370 new Scouts and 32 new Cubs have enrolled and registered since January 1, a total of 402 new boys. We have a total Scout membership of 904 and Cub membership of 133, total boys, 1037. This is by far the largest registered membership since the Council has been organized.

Senator Hatch Award

The Senator Hatch Award was won by District No. 2, Clovis, with a total of 17,514 points. District No. 1, Roswell, came second with 13,852. District No. 3, Carlsbad, took third place with 9,650, and District No. 7, Portales, placed fourth with 8,950. It was recommended by the district commissioners that the Court of Honor count 500 points instead of 200.

There have been 24 Courts of Honor reported with the following advancements: Tenderfoot, 370; second class, 76; first class, 24; star, 13; life, 8; merit badges, 177.

Our general condition is good. There is a good Scout spirit over most of the Area and the fact that over 400 new boys have joined our movement during the past five months indicates that conditions are being maintained so that boys want to become Scouts and Cubs. Our chief weakness seems to be in not holding boys and units long enough and this is probably due to the way the programs are administered.

P. V. THORSON,
Executive.

By The Drake

That softball in Portales is going to be a thrilling event this summer was exemplified last Friday evening when a double-header was played under the strong lamps—six 1500-watt bulbs. Although the games were non-conference, considerable interest was shown by the throngs out to witness the melee.

The first tussle opened between the Fireboys and Independents which resulted in favor of the former. The score was 14-13. Next was the contest between Cheatum Street and Odd Fellows. Although the inception of the game indicated there would be much ballyhoo concerning the Streeters, they came out of the kinks in the second inning and rallied to a heavy pounding. The score ended 11-13 in favor of Cheatum.

The lights, which arrived here Friday morning, were placed in the sockets Friday afternoon. Much adjusting had to be done during the game, and possibly a few more will improve the illumination. A strong south wind swept the diamond early in the first melee and added disgust among the spectators. It is being advocated that the field be humidified preceding each game to alleviate the extent of blowing sand.

Added to the popular game of soeball will be the tennis tournament which is worked up here. Entry is open to anyone in Roosevelt county. A small entry fee will be charged. It is planned to hold both men's and women's contests. A number have already registered for the tourney.

Golf is another feature among sports this season. An effort is being made to instigate a tournament in this popular game also. Plans have been discussed for placing of a course at Roosevelt Park, or have the old course on the Floyd road re-worked. Nothing definite has been announced as yet, but enthusiasts are eager to get started in this move. Cooperation is needed.

We had the honor of being among those invited guests to attend the Gas Company picnic at San Jon last Sunday. And do they do things in up-town style. Every consideration was shown each guest, and our hat goes off to the local force here (even Horace Echols) in their efforts to entertain. To say we had the time of our life would be putting it rather mildly. If you failed to fill out the wrinkles in the abdomen (stomach) it was no fault of those in charge. Drinks, as well, were in order. Cool, golden clear, effervescent, stimulating, and how refreshing. What? Certainly not! Lemonade!

With the advent of another holiday in Portales, July 4, business men and individuals should begin making plans for a big celebration. A little initiative on the part of everybody concerned could net returns in ample quantities.

Heretofore Portales has sit idly by and watched the younger set of the county go to towns adjacent to Portales for their recreation. A little time and energy exerted at this time will keep our younger set here, and older ones as well can derive the benefits therefrom.

Already Portales is coming to the front in the way of entertainment. With the organization of softball, tennis tournament and other forms of recreation, local citizens are finding plenty to do right here in our midst. At a recent dance held in an adjoining town more than half the attendance was Portales residents, which, incidentally, is a sure sign that Portales people are going to have their own pleasures, even if they have to go to other towns. This is not a suggestion of the writer, btu a matter of vital importance to furnish amusement for those concerned.

1935 Cotton Checks Sent Out to Farmers

First rental payment checks to farmers taking part in the 1935 cotton production adjustment program are moving out much faster than in 1934, as announced by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Cotton checks are dated three days in advance of the day they are normally mailed from Washington. Through May 20th, 319,999 checks, representing payments totaling $10,925,495 had been prepared for mailing. As of the comparative date a year ago, only 117,109 checks, totaling $4,739,857 had been prepare dfor mailing.

"Our experience in conducting the cotton program is paying dividends in the form of smoother and faster operations and better results generally," says C. A. Cobb, director of the cotton division. "Cotton farmers are better acquainted with the provisions of the contract and other details, consequently, we are able to save much time in the field and in Washington.

The rental payment on each of the acres rented under the program is 3½ cents per pound on the average yield of Ent cotton per acre, with a maximum rental of $18 an acre. In 1934, with the rental payment at the same rate, the average rental payment per acre under contract was $6.12 an acre. The rental payment is made in two installments, one of which is going out now. The second installment will be paid in the fall after compliance with the contract is proven. A parity payment of 1¼ cents a pound will be made on the farm allotment for each farm uner contract. The farm allotment is approximately 40 per cent of the adjusted average production. The rental and parity payments for the entire 1935 cotton program are expected to total approximately $125,000,000.

America Now Importing Cottonseed Oil Supply

NEW ORLEANS, La., —American business has begun to import cottonseed oil instead of buying it in this country, assertedly because of federal cotton crop reduction prices. Shipments arriving here have steadily increased during the last six months. The largest quantity received was 2,000 drums from North Brazil.

Locals dealers explained that because of cotton crop reduction not enough cottonseed oil is manufactured domestically to supply the need.

STATE TAKES FIRST PLACE PARIS PACT

In a special letter to the State Chairman of the National Student Forum on the Paris Pact, Mr. Arthur Charles Watkins, Director, has complimented the work of New Mexico, which made the greatest percentage of increase (717%) of any of the states. Approximately 100 high schools enrolled to study international relations by means of student projects developed in the light of the Pact.

More significant is the fact that New Mexico also ranks first in the percentage (90) of enrolled schools which participated in the study. Puerto Rico is the only territory whose improvement displayed keener interest in the Pact than New Mexico.

The next highest percentage in membership increase is 520 for Utah, and in participation is sixty for Tennessee.

The work of New Mexico's committee and the assistance given by superintendents, principals, and teachers of social science, have been referred to by Mr. Watkins as being parts of one of the best executed plans in the six years of the Forum's history.

Mr. Watkins has asked the same committee to function during next school year in order that improvement may be superimposed upon the work already established by this year's committee, and former state committees and chairmen. Irvin P. Murphy, Superintendent, Grenville Schools, is Chairman for New Mexico.

"G-3" RETURNS TO OHIO TOWN

AKRON, OHIO, June 5. - One of the most unusual and spectacular surveys ever conducted by an American manufacturer has just come to an end in New York City with the arrival there, following a two-months' "tire hunt", of Joesph A. Faurot, one time Deputy Police Comhissioner of that city and the who first used fingerprints as evidence in an American courtroom.

The famed detective's inquiry has revealed overwhelming national approval of the new "G-3" All-Weather Tread tire made by Goodyear.

Setting out from New York with James Cannon, ace Manhattan newspaper man, Faurot visited parking lots, gas stations, garages and back yards from San Francisco and from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, to Detroit. Wherever he paused, "third-degreed" car owners for tire clues. They interveiwed thousands of tire users and the results of this inquiry produced evidence of the outstanding performance of the "G-3" in all parts of the nation.

"I have been gathering evidence for a long time," Faurot stated on his return to New York. "I guess I have worked on every kind of case that comas into a big police department's jurisdiction. But never have I seen a clearer case than that in favor of the 'G-3'. My notes contain cold facts I gathered in Whitesville, W. Va., Kansas City, Mo., Royal Oak, Mich., Alburquerque, N. M.-and hundreds of other places. I say they are cold facts. That's the truth. Every leaf out of my notebook shows satisfaction in the ownership of G-3's."

In the aggregate, patients were admitted to the 6,500 hospitals in the United States on an average one every 4.41 seconds throughout last year for a total of more than 7,000,000.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 5 (Special)—Towns and cities throughout West Texas are being invited to send cowgirl sponsor to the Sixth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held here July 2, 3 and 4. Letters urging that the sponsors be selected at once are being mailed to chambers of commerce by H. G. Andrews, chairman of the sponsors committee. Sixty-five towns were represented by sponsors at the reunion last year.

FLOYD HOME MAKERS' CLUB

On last Friday, May 24, the ladies of the Floyd Home Makers' club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Haragan for an all-day meeting. The day was spent quilting for the hostess, two quilts being finished.

This ended the time set for giving presents in secret to our club friends, and it was announced to all who our secret friend or "peanut" was. This proved to be successful in our club, each member appreciating very much the many gifts received in the past three months.

It was decided the next event of our club would be a "grab-box," each member bringing some useful gift to place in a box, then each member draws her gift.

It was decided that we meet Wednesday afternoon in the cemetery and do some work, also put another coat of paint on the windmill that was ereted a few weeks ago through contributions of the people of the community and those outside who felted interested in the cemetery. We take this method of expressing our appreciation to each and every one who helped us in this.

There were 18 members and 8 visitors present at the club meeting, all of whom enjoyed the day and good dinner served at the noon hour.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clyde Hattox, Friday, June 7. Everyone is invited to come ,especially those with small children as the County Nurse and Doctor are expected to be there to give advice on the care of preschool age children.

SOCIAL ANNEX

By THE BOSS

H. H. Green spent the week-end at Forest, and rumors have it that he practiced up to compete with Tom Mix as a western feature star and rodeo performer.

There was a traffic jam on the Clovis highway Sunday afternoon. A cow started across the road, dragging a long chain and then a rope. A string of cars from each direction were held up until the moo cow decided to make the crossing.

During our vacation we left the oil well entirely in the hands of Bill White, with instructions to "bring it in" while we were gone. Bill failed to do his part, and the well had to wait our return.

We are going ahead and finish it now.

T. A. Wilmes has laid out a townsite near the well, to be known as Wilmes City.

Here is hoping that it will have a population of over 10,000 by Christmas.

Mack Stanton tried to steal the well being drilled in the northeast corner of the county by moving it six miles over in Curry county. But it is still just 16 miles northeast of Portales in Roosevelt county.

According to Will McDaniel, city marshal, any person or persons violating the order will be subject to a heavy fine for violation of the traffic regulations.

WIN EMINENCE

Word has come from Big Spring, Texas, that Pat Patterson and Levin Harris, both students at the college last year, won considerable eminence in baseball at that place. Pat, out of five times up, connected for a homer and a single. Harris took two hits out of five times at bat. The game ended 16 to 4 in favor of Big Spring. The contest was between Coahoma and Big Spring.

Men's deepest concern is business; but no novels are written about business; probably because business is too uninteresting for those who write novels.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Steiner and little daughter, Julia Anne, will leave tomorrow for Winfield, Kansas, where they will attend the anniversary of Mr. Steiner's father, Lewis Steiner, celebrating his fortieth year as teacher in St. Johns college at that place. Producers Opposed to Advertising Pictures

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America recently completed its annual meeting, which had been adjourned from an earlier session on March 25th.

Among the various matters discussed at the session was the subject of advertising on the screen. In this connection, Will H. Hays, president of the Association, made the following statement:

"Much concern is felt over the reports that various projects are now under way, aimed at injecting advertising films into entertainment programs, and the Association will conduct a study of the matter. A report and recommendations will be presented to the Board at a later date.

"The motion pitcure theatre is and should be reserved exclusively for entertainment. The motion picture threatre screen is not a proper medium for advertising, whether this be by direct presentation of outright advertising films, or by some indirect effort to present advertising films under the guise of entertainment."

SHEEP SANITARY BOARD OF NEW MEXICO
Albuquerque, New Mexico

April 1st, 1935.

Dear Sir:

The State Legislature in this year's session passed a law to the effect that all sheep marks and brands must be re-recorded.

This new law states in part:

"Every sheep owner, owning or having sheep in the State of New Mexico shall record in the office of the Secretary of the Board the mark and brand which he may use in marking his sheep, and the said Secretary shall enter and record said mark and brand in a book kept by him for that purpose. That the Secretary shall refuse to record in the name of any person, firm or corporation, any mark or brand which may have been previously recorded in the name of any other person, firm or corporation."

The record book of the Sheep Sanitary Board has not been revised since 1923. During this time many sheep owners have gone out of business and quite a few are deceased, consequently, there are a number of duplications and obsolete brands and marks on the record book. We are always short of earmarks for the sheep and it is necessary to have a re-recording of marks to clear the record books.

The Sheep Sanitary Board at its meeting March 27, 1936, adopted the following resolution:

"THAT all marks and brands must be re-recorded."

It is not the intention of the Sheep Sanitary Board to deprive you of your ear mark and brand, therefore, we are sending you this notice for the purpose of ascertaining if you want your mark and brand re-recorded.

If you are still in the sheep business, pease notify this office within (90) ninety days allowed by law, so that your mark and brand can be re-recorded or cancelled according to your wishes. Failing to notify this office within the given time your brand and ear mark will be cancelled and may be used by another.

Yours truly,
SHEEP SANITARY BOARD
OF NEW MEXICO.
By Tom Snell, Secretary.

Dust Storm Hits Colorado Crops

SPRINGFIELD, Colo., June 5.—Striking from two directions simultaneously, a thick dust storm engulfed Southeastern Colorado Sunday night.

While residents in other parts of Colorado east of the Rockies counted victims or estimated damage from floods, farm folk in this region gazed upon the all-too-familiar black, swirling clouds.

Ralph Williams, Springfield newspaper man, said a high wind from the north and another from the south swooped dust upon the harassed little town almost at the same moment.

"The storm looks almost as bad as the one we had April 14, which was the worst of them all," Williams said.

The sudden storm turned the twilight of an ideal June day into blackness and traffic was completely halted.

The dust gales swept through Lamar, 5 miles northwest of Springfield, an hour earlier. Visibility was reduced to 100 yards and automobile travel ceased.

Worst Yet Seen

Louis Morgan, newspaper publisher, called the storm the worst Lamar has seen this spring.

What damage the new storm will inflict on crops farmers in the dust areas have been able to plant was conjectural. Williams said there was danger listed soil will be blown over newly-planted seed and prevent its sprouting.

When rains terminated the Springfield area's dust siege about a month ago, farmers were hopeful of growing feed crops and even producing enough broom corn to provide a little additional income.

Williams said the storm appeared to cover an area at least 100 miles wide. Morgan said it was 10 to 20 miles wide at Lamar an dappeared to have blown from Nebraska or parts of Eastern Colorado which escaped recent torrential rains in other sections of the state.

The dust storm hit Portales Sunday night and prevailed throughout a good portion of Monday morning. The dust was high in the air, and very little soil blowing in this section was reported.

Travelogue

By J. G. Greaves

(This is the third of a series of giving brief sketches of his trip through the Southern states to as far east as Florida, returning through Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle, thence to Portales. Another article will appear in next week's issue of the News.)

Leaving Fort Myers on the morning of the 25th of April, we drove through the Everglades over the Tamiami trail. The Everglades was one of the most interesting sections of Florida from a nature point of view.

The Everglades are swampy, waste lands, covered with swamp grass and a growth of scrub cypress and palmetto palms. The cypress trees contained many orchids, and as in the entire state of Florida the trees were draped with Spanish moss.

The trail through the Everglades was built by digging canals for road material, leaving a deep canal on the sides of the road. Small boats are plying in many of these canals.

Very few settlements were in the Everglades. Mostly Indian villages and filling stations.

We were told that alligators were to be seen in this section, but the entire trip was made without seeing a single 'gator. The canals were filled with fish, and in places where the canals had dried up there were tons and tons of dead fish. Most of these fish were gars, some of large size.

Decayed vegetations form a rich soil in this section, many feet in depth, and when it catches fire it burns for months at a time.

Where drainage canals have been built, truck farms were in evidence. To a dry-lander, this section looked as if it might become the garden spot of the state.

Arriving at Miami, the city was entered through Coral Gables, a beautiful subdivision.

Driving through Miami, we saw the great winter resort Biltmore Hotel. We drove through on Biscayne Boulevard, crossing over the causeway to Miami beach, where we took lunch at a restaurant facing the ocean. On this trip the madam insisted that I wear a coat at meals to conform with a particular south, but at this restaurant many of the diners were in bathing suits.

On Miami beach we found a comfortable apartment on Alton Road, only four blocks from the ocean.

That evening Mr. Ross Burton, a friend of Mrs. Pearce, called and showed us over the city of Miami. The city by night was very attractive and the shore sky line was brilliantly lighted. We visited the yacht wharves, where many seagoing yachts were docked. Here was also accorded the great fishing fleet, said to be the finest in the world. For a moderate sum these fishing boats could be chartered for a day's deep sea fishing.

One of the Kaiser's ships, captured during the world war, was used as an aquarium.

On the fishing wharves were a great display of deep sea fish, mounted. These included man-eating sharks, giant rays, and many other species of the deep.

Miami is on the Indian river, which separates the city proper from Miami beach and the ocean.

While at the docks at Miami, a submarine destroyer docked and we had the opportunity of seeing this fighting ship at close range. It was swaming with sailors and gobs.

The streets of Miami and Miami beach were lined with giant Royal palms and cocoanut palms, and many tropical flowers.

On Friday morning the wife and I took our first dip in salt water, on Miami beach. Here the temperature of the water is 72 degrees the year round.

On entering the ocean the sea was quiet and it was great fun riding the waves. It is too rough for swimming, and surf bathing is the year round sport.

The sea soon became rough and a heavy rain storm was predicted, which made the bathers scurry for shore.

We were told that there need be no fear of sharks on the beach, or at any place where porpoise were found. These sea animals grow from five to eight feet and it is said that one five feet long can whip a shark 10 feet long. They drive the sharks out of the bays, making theme safe for bathers. One has never been known to attack a human. One can see them jumping out of the water in every direction.

The rain storm cut the Miami stay short and we drove up the beach to Palm Beach, HolliWood, Fort Lauderdale and on, where a number of snap shots were taken of the Royal palms and flors.

The night was spent in West Palm Beach at a tourist cottage. While there we had the pleasure of picking a cocoanut from a tree.

Palm Beach is a millionaire colony, where many palatial homes have been provided for the winter.

Leaving the ocean drive, we drove up the Indian River drive to Daytonia Beach, arriving at 6:00 p. m. on Saturday. Spending the night at Daytonia Beach, Sunday morning we visited the beach, picking up a number of sea shells.

Daytonia Beach is one of the prettiest beaches seen on the trip. It is here that the world's record was made in auto speeding. The beach is 13 miles long and at low tide 300 feet wide, the sand packed as hard and smooth as concrete.

It is a wonderful drive at the water's edge, and is an all-year resort.

Leaving Daytonia Beach Sunday afternoon we took the shore drive to St. Augustine, said to be the oldest city in America.

St. Augustine is a quaint city and has great tourist attraction. Here we visited the largest alligator farm in America, where 6000 alligators are kept, ranging in age from a few months to 900 years old.

Crossing the bridge from Anastasia Island, St. Augustine proper was reached, and a visit paid to Fort Marion. This fort has been under three flags and has never been taken. It was used in the late Spanish-American war.

The Fountain of Youth was also visited, and near by is an old Indian burial ground, where hundreds of Indian skeletons are exposed. We all drank at the Fountain of Youth, and became "childs again."

The oldest house in the city, the old city gates, the old Spanish cathedral, were also visited.

Like Santa Fe, St. Augustine is a city of narrow streets.

Leaving St. Augustine, the start back to Gainesville was made, stopping at Palatka for supper, where we met a gentleman from Albuquerque.

The tour of Florida from Gainesville and back was 1097 miles and 55 gallons of gasoline was consumed on this trip.

This tour covered practically the entire state of Florida, revealing the man-made beauty and the jungles of nature. The trip was made much more enjoyable by Mrs. Pearce, a cousin of J. G. Greaves, who was able to guide us to the beauty spots and worth-while points of interest.

Order Issued Against School

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The United States Civil Service Commission calls attention to the following fraud order issued by the Post Office Department against Bureau of Public Service Instruction of Philadelphia, Pa., on May 17, 1935:

"It having been made to appear to the Postmaster General upon evidence satisfactory to him, that Bureau of Public Service Instruction, and its officers and agents as such at Philadelphia, Pa., are engaged in conducting a scheme or device for obtaining money through the mails by means of false and fraudulent pretense, representations, and promises, in violation of sections 250 and 732 of title 39, United States Code, and by authority vested in the Postmaster General by said laws the Postmaster General hereby forbids you to pay any postal money order drawn to the order of said concern and parties and you are hereby directed to inform the remitter of any such postal money order that payment thereof has been forbidden, and that the amount thereof will be returned upon the presentation of the original order or a duplicate thereof applied for and obtained under the regulations of the Department.

"And you are hereby instructed to return all letters, whether registered or not, and other mail matter which shall arrive at your office directed to the said concern and parties to the postmasters at the officers at which they were originally mailed, to be delivered to the senders thereof, with the words 'Fraudulent: Mail to this address returned by order of Postmaster General' plainly written or stamped upon the outside of such letters or matter. Where there is nothing to indicate who are the senders of letters not registered or other matter, you are directed to send such letters and matter to the Division of Dead Letters with the words 'Fraudulent: Mail to this address returned by order of Postmaster General' plainly written or stamped there, tobe disposed of as other dead matter under the laws and regulations applicable thereto."

The Bureau of Public Service Instruction is one of the so-called civil service correspondence schools.

To safeguard the public, the United States Civil Service Commission has called attention many times to the misleading statements of many such schools and has advised persons interested to consult it regarding the probability of examinations being held before making contracts or paying money for courses.

Information regarding examinations may be obtained from the Commission's boards of examiners at first- and second-class post offices.

MATANUSKA VALLEY OF ALASKA INFESTED WITH CALIFORNIA TRANSIENTS

Colonists Avoid Contact with Men Recruited From Camps; Far North's Chambers Protested Invasion; Fear Continuance

(Editor's Note: One of the most interesting phases of the federal colonization project in the Matanuska valley of Alaska is the organization of a construction corps recruited solely from transients who applied to California relief authorities for assistance. A United Press staff correspondent who visited the project records his impressions of these men in an article concerning the colonization.)

By JAMES A. SULLIVAN,
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Five hundred men recruited from the federal transient camps of California form the backbone of the federal colonization of the Matanuska valley of Alaska.

Homeless themselves, they are building the homes in which 200 families from the midwest will be housed before November in a valley rimmed by snow-clad peaks and lighted by a sun which shines almost 24 hours a day at the beginning of summer and not at all in the winter.

The construction corps is a group apart. The colonists avoid contacts with the men. Alaska's chambers of commerce protested their coming, fear their continued presence. Misunderstood and maligned, they are held together by a single desire—the desire for work.

The erect little man who wears the chin-strap of his army campaign hat along the line of his lower lip is Allan Perkins, assistant chief of the corps. Trained in engineering at the University of Illinois, Perkins served in the army engineering corps, supervised many construction projects.

Uprooted by the depression, he drifted to California, where he met Frank U. Bliss, a former sales engineer for the General Electric company and now superintendent of construction in the Matanuska. Bliss made Perkins a labor foreman in the transient camp at San Luis Obispo, Calif.

One night two cliques of the men sheltered in the camp began fighting. Bliss went into the room to quiet them. When he finished exhorting the men, he turned. At his side was Perkins, waiting to throw his 140 pounds into the defense of his chief should trouble develop. Perkins has been at Bliss' side ever since.

E. F. Sedille is another assistant supervisor. In former years he designed bank buildings in Detroit, built houses in Philadelphia. An accomplished architect, he is one of the hardest working men in the construction corps.

Even the rank and file—the carpenters, the mechanics, the tractor operators, the pick and shovel men—have stories which challenge the pen of a fiction writer.

Bliss and Perkins personally picked their corps from 15,000 applicants. It is a matter of great pride to the 500 that they were selected from this large group.

It hurt this same pride a lot when Alaskans protested they were "riff-raff" and feared that when the Matanuska job is finished the transients would remain in Alaska to glut an already over-crowded market for common labor.

Federal authorities took one precaution to insure their departure from Alaska when the job is done. None of them will be paid off until they reach Seattle. In the meantime they will be given $2 a week spending money, and they'll have difficulty spending that in a valley where there are no entertainment facilities and where the only business enterprise is a general store which handles only foodstuffs, candy and tobacco.

The construction corps is quartered in a tent city two miles from the colonists' camp. They have their own mess and their own work duties. Theirs is the heavy work of the project—the building of the townsite with its community buildings, the fashioning of the logs from which the cabins will be built, construction of highways to replace the muddy roads now winding aimlessly through the valley.

N. M. Farmers Favor Continuing Program

The balloting in connection with the wheat referendum, which took place on May 25, showed an overwhelming vote in New Mexico in favor of continuing the wheat adjustment program.

Farmers in nine New Mexico counties which produce wheat, registered the following vote: Contract signers voting in favor of continuing the program, 1300; those voting against the program, 73; non-contract signers, those voting favorable, 248, those voting against, 26.

Of all those who voted in the referendum, both c ontract signers and non-signers, 94 per cent voted favorable; 82.5 per cent of all contract signers registere votes in the referendum.

The question voted upon was a simple one, "Are you in favor of a wheat reduction adjustment program to follow the present one, which expires with the 1935 crop year?" However, this simple question had a bearing on matters of vital policy, affecting the country's agriculture. On account of the general controveray which has recently surrounded the activities of the AAA, the results of the wheat referendum are particularly significant at this time. In reality, the wheat farmers voted not only upon a continuation of the program of wheat acreage adjustment, but also upon the AAA structure as a whole. It is clearly evident that this interpretation of the results has been placed upon the vote by both supporters and opponents of the adjustment programs.

Once numbering 19,000 members, the Kansas G. A. R. reported the number slumped in 1935 to 367, with only about 50 able to attend state meetings. The "youngster" is H. I. Merrill, Wichita, who is 85.

5 District Credit Meetings to Be Held

A party of officials from the Farm Credit Administration of Wichita, Kansas, will speak at a series of farm credit conferences to be held in New Mexico June 10 to 14.

The State Extension Service and the Farm Credit Administration of Wichita are cooperating in holding educational meetings on farm credit. The object of these meetings is to help farmers and ranchers more fully understand the services offered by the Farm Credit Administration and how these services may be used to the best advantage.

In addition to the set-up of the system as a whole, the Wichita officials will discuss short time production loans, land bank loans and loans to farmers' cooperative associations.

Officials from Wichita who will probably attend these meetings include Dudley Doolittle, general agent, Wichita Farm Credit Administration; W. E. Fisher, secretary of the Federal Land Bank; A. W. Hockenhull, vice-president, Production Credit Corporation; Frank M. Butcher, president, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank; Ralph Snyder, president, Bank for Cooperatives; P. H. Stevens, statistician, Farm Credit Administration of Wichita.

SOFTBALL SEASON OPENS WITH DOUBLEHEADER HERE

Fireboys Whip Cheatum Street In First Game of Season; Non-Conference Game; Attendance Is Heavy

Softball got under way here last Friday night, following arrival of six 1500-watt light bulbs to illuminate the new field at the city park, located just south of the high school gridiron. The season opened with a doubleheader between the Fire Boys and Cheatum Street and Odd Fellows and Independents.

Although the games being played this week are merely practice games, much interest is being taken among local residents. When the game opened Friday night more than 300 spectators were present to witness the melee. One or more games will be played every night during the tenure of the summer schedule.

Monday night found the Fire Boys and Fields & Bonner on the opening card. The Firemen beat their opponents to the tune of 10 to 4. However, this was the first time the victims had played this season. With a little more practice they are expected to give the Firemen a run for their money. Last year the Fields & Bonner club won the championship.

Kirksey, tosser for the clothing store, did well in his first attempt. The infield showed a weakness which could be blamed for the loss.

The Independents met the Odd Fellows in the second contest. The score was 5 to 2 in favor of the Independents.

The Elida team met Cheatum Street here Tuesday evening in one of the best games of the season. The locals rapped the invaders to the tune of 2 to 1.

Although a strong wind swept the field, raising much dust and adding an extreme cold wave, forcing several into their overcoats, a large crowd was in attendance to watch the two games.

Following was a game between the Firemen and the Junior College. The foxy Firemen were somewhat subdued at the strength of the JC's. The score ended 10 to 9.

At the end of five innings, at which time the game was to have ended, the score was tied, 9-9. The next inning was three up and three down. However, the second inning saw much tossing and running but both sides failed to score.

The Firemen nosed in another run to cinch the game.

Although the Fire Fighters have shown superior strength and ability this season, the college 10 gave them a run as well as a scare and possibly took some of the fire out of the lads.

This was not a scheduled game.

Among the collection are such well known subjects as "Automat Aristocrat," "Digging Pit," "Wedding Bureau," "Monkey," "Fence Builder," "Chow," "Circus," Lithograph and Construction Work.

MEMORIAL DAY IN PORTALES

He dealt with his subject in a manner that left no doubt as to the need of world peace and the elimination of need for wars.

Prayer by Rev. Frank York.

Arthur P. Jones introduced the Gold Star Mother, Mrs. McDurmott, paying a fitting tribute to this grand mother, who had pioneered in this county, and had given her son at the call of the nation.

"Taps" was sounded by Billy Schumpert, and the echo by Robert MacKay, after which three salutes were fired by the firing squad.

Immediately after the program, the audience accompanied the American Legion to the cemetery where the graves of the soldiers were decorated.

TINGLEY URGES MOVEMENT STATE TAX COLLECTION

"Under a law of the last legislature taxpayers of New Mexico were given until June 15, 1935, to pay their 1934 taxes without interest and penalty," Governor Tingley said in a statement Monday. "I hope that full advantage will be taken of this concession. I believe that if it is generally known that payment of 1934 taxes before June 15 will permit payment of 1933 and prior years' taxes before December 1, 1935 without interest and penalties, many taxpayers will make special efforts to meet the conditions.

"I am informed that there are taxes unpaid in New Mexico to the amount of $10,000,000. If a substantial part of this large sum can be collected, we can meet all our budgets on a 100 per cent basis this year and next, and put every fund on a cash basis. It is incumbent on tax collecting agencies and taxpayers to cooperate in a general effort to clear the tax rolls of these delinquent taxes. This can be done only by their payment in full as to principal. Our state constitution does not permit their elimination otherwise.

"If 1934 taxes are paid as suggested above before June 15 next, our state and local governmental agencies will reach the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1935 with all bills paid and with balances instead of deficits.

"I suggest that the week beginning next Monday, June 10th, be 'Pay Taxes Week' in New Mexico."

48-Page Pioneer Edition Issued By News-Journal

The Pioneer Edition of the Clovis Evening News-Journal, issued on the 3rd of this month, was a well written issue of 48 pages.

It gave a fair history of the early days of Clovis.

As a Clovis pioneer, the Portales Valley News editor could claim a little part.

In 1909, he was employed on the Clovis Post, edited by Harry Armstrong, and this paper went through some of the real pioneering trials.

It was from the office of the Post that Clovis, first daily newspaper was issued.

Just what date is not recalled, but the rumor was that Arthur Curren of the Clovis News was going to start a daily paper, so Armstrong decided to beat him to it.

After getting out the weekly edition, the start was made on the daily, the entire crew continuing work on through the night, so that the following morning the city might awaken to the realization that Clovis had a full fledged morning newspaper.

The composition was by hand and the size of the paper was four pages, 11x17 inches. The news print being in the express office C. O. D., it could not be secured in time for the "daily," so it was printed on bond paper.

It was designated as the "Pony Post."

As we quit the employ of Armstrong about that time, we cannot recall how many issues it lasted.

About that time we joined with J. E. Pardue in a job printing plant and shortly after, early in 1910, took a vacation to the homestead in then Chaves county, and were gone several weeks.

On returning, found that Pardue had signed a contract with T. E. Mabry to print a daily paper from this small job office.

As it tied up all the equipment and left no time for job work, we sold out to Mabry and returned to the homestead.

To my best recollection, this daily was the Clovis Journal.

It operated as a daily for a short time and was the beginning of the Clovis Journal as a weekly paper.

In those days competition was keen and every method was used in order to secure "scoops."

Just after the first daily was off the press, around 5 o'clock in the morning, the writer was eating breakfast at the Blue Goose restaurant when the fire alarm was sounded, and a section of the block where the Clovis Hotel now stands was consumed by fire.

The Pony Post failed in a "scoop" on this occasion.

Not only did the Portales Valley News editor "hand pike" type for Clovis' first daily paper, but he was also in on the birth of the Amarillo Daily News, again working double shift on this paper.
