TEXAS FARM PROGRAM DRAFTED

Strong Tactics Are Promised In Texas For Sit-Downers

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 8.—Two bills aimed against sitdown strikes in Texas today bore the approval of a house of representatives committee.

One was a senate proposal which was amended to reduce a maximum penalty for violation from five to two years, provide a fine up to $500 and classify the offense a misdemeanor instead of a felony.

Picketing Permitted

The other was a house bill, which, with the senate measure, was amended to permit peaceful picketing and negotiations and eliminate possible conflict with anti-trust laws.

In a hearing before the committee last night, Wallace Reilly, secretary of the Texas Federation of Labor, which opposes sit-down methods, said the bills, as amended, were agreeable to that organization.

Representatives of labor opposed the proposals in their original form, saying the senate bill especially would endanger labor's right to enter peaceable negotiations with employers.

Governor James V. Allred several days ago said he would use every means at his command to

She got her first feature role in "The Texas Ranger" when a director noticed her beauty and gave her a part. Trial Of Negro Charged With Murder Of Sheriff Loyd Delayed At Olton Today; No Change Of Venue Will Be Sought

(Special To The Journal)
OLTON, April 8—A not unexpected obstacle to trial of Leroy Kelly for the fatal shooting March 20 at Littlefield of Sheriff F. A. Loyd was injected at 11:30 o'clock this morning when court-appointed counsel for the negro asked a recess until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon before announcing whether the defense is ready.

District Attorney Charles Dean announced the state was ready when Judge C. D. Russell called the case. E. A. Bills of Littlefield and James Gowdy of Olton, officially appointed by the court only this morning to conduct defense of the negro, announced they had not had sufficient time to study the case.

Their motion for a recess was granted.

The negro was brought into the courtroom under heavy guard. He had been whisked from Lubbock county jail at 8 o'clock, accompanied by authorities of several counties. In the two automobiles used in transferring and guarding him were Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock, Deputy Sheriff Sam Hutson and City Marshal A. A. Anderson, both of Littlefield, Sheriff Jim Cook of

Showdown On Court Bill Is Postponed

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—The senate judiciary committee today postponed until next week a decision on when to conclude its hearings on the Roosevelt court bill.

The show down—scheduled for today—was put off when Senator Hughes (D-Del) agreed to withhold his motion to end the hearings until an executive session of the committee "sometime next week."

Hughes said that at the executive meeting he would move to wind up the taking of testimony at the end of next week, by that time the committee will have concluded six weeks of hearings.

Supporters To Get Chance

The Delaware Democrat told the committee it was his proposal to let the opposition continue to present testimony through next Monday, then give the supporters of the bill until the end of that week to conclude their side.

Before the committee session today, Hughes said to reporters:

"I believe minds on the judiciary committee are made up on this question and repetition of testimony such as we have been receiving serves no useful purpose."

First Hint Received

The first hint that opponents might be willing to discontinue the hearings came after a conference in the office of Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind). But while Hughes talked in terms of days, they spoke of at least another fortnight of testimony.

Another complication arose from house passage late yesterday, by a

Crisp Weather Visits Texas

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, April 8 — Crisp, cool weather trailed a haze of dust into Texas today.

In most northern sections of the state the curtain of silt which moved out of the northwest yesterday thinned as fresh winds sprang up. The San Angelo sector, however, awaited more dust and strong winds today.

Temperatures Drop

Temperatures dropped sharply at midnight. Dallas reported a 10-degree decline in an hour. Visibility, which was shortened rapidly here yesterday evening, returned to near normal.

Yesterday's duster was called the "blackest of the year" at Coleman. Abilene and Amarillo reported one-mile visibility. Winds rose to 50 miles an hour in the latter city.

Twenty-Degree Range In Mercury Noted Here

Bracing temperatures that by noon had ranged from a low of 32 to a high of 52 degrees, were being weighted down by a 24-miles-an-hour wind out of the north.

Meteorologists at Municipal airport said the day was clear and with unlimited visibility, and that the barometer had almost steadied after a two-day exhibition of wavering.

Dust which had been scooped in the air by Wednesday's blustering northerly gales had settled.

Writer Springs Surprise On Friends; He's A "Holdout"

(By The Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 8—It was quite a surprise to friends of Writer Gene Towne today when he solemnly announced he was a "holdout" from the Chicago White Sox.

In the first place, they didn't know he played baseball, and furthermore, he earns around $3,000 a week writing movies for Producer Walter Wanger.

Yet Towne produced a regulation White Sox uniform, and more authentic, a $1-a-year contract duly signed by Vice-President Harry Grabiner of the Chisox.

"This is no ordinary salary holdout," Towne explained. "It's deeper.

"They issued me a uniform and gave me a satisfactory contract to play baseball on the one condition that I not play baseball.

"But they didn't give me any shoes.

"Now how can I be a baseball player if I don't have any shoes not to play in? It's almost

Plans For Unionization Of 150,000 Employes In Huge Ford Plant Are Pushed

(By The Associated Press)
Dark strike clouds rolled over the industrial horizon again today. While the United Automobile Workers of America pushed plans for unionization of 150,000 Ford Motor company workers, a general strike was called at plants of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., in Oshawa, Ont.

At Ways, Ga., Henry Ford, staunch champion of the open shop, said: "We'll never recognize the United Automobile Workers' Union or any other union."

Will Change His Mind

John L. Lewis, head of the Committee of Industrial Organization, meanwhile asserted at Detroit: "I have no doubt, however, that Mr. Ford will change his mind."

Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania issued a statement criticizing the sheriff of Dauphin county for not enlisting the aid of state police to prevent bloodshed at the Hershey Chocolate corporation plant.

Many persons were treated for injuries suffered yesterday when angry dairy farmers and "loyal" employes ejected between 600 and 1,000 sit-down strikers. The farmers protested the strike cut off an important milk market.

Agreement Refused

The General Motors strike in Canada, affecting 3,700 workers, was called after the company refused to sign the "Detroit agreement." Company officials expressed willingness to bargain on hours of work and wage scales, but not on the issue of union recognition.

A mass meeting of union members in Detroit cheered Lewis' mention of the U.A.W.A. compact with Chrysler corporation whose 65,000 idle workers were being recalled to their jobs gradually.

Gov. Frank Murphy at Lansing was still engaged in conferences to settle the Hudson Motor Car company strike which has kept 11,000 men idle for a month. Issues not dealt with in similar agreements signed this week by Chrysler and the Reo Motor Car company were being considered at other conferences.

Storm Sweeps Mill Village

(By The Associated Press)
TROY, Ala., April 8—A tornado killed at least one person, injured numerous others and levelled houses in a lumber mill village at Brundidge, Ala., today.

Highway Patrolman Will Tatum, who sped to the storm scene, reported four bodies had been found.

Chief Walter M. McAdory of the Alabama highway patrol, received the report at Montgomery, Ala.

Lines Are Down

"Tatum told me they knew four were dead," McAdory said, "but didn't know how many more. Telephone lines were down to Brundidge, and he had to go to Banks to call me. I've sent 20 patrolmen to Brundidge."

Fred Crowley, 12, was known to be dead.

With communication facilities crippled, the highway patrolman's report of four fatalities could not be rechecked.

Ghastly Task Of Removing Bodies To Start Today

McNARY, Ariz., April 8 (AP)—The blackened remnants of an air tragedy splotched their tale of death against the white background of a snow-covered peak 18 miles southeast of here today as undertakers started the ghastly task of removing the charred bodies of eight victims of a Douglas airliner crash.

Bodies of the pilot and co-pilot, horribly burned, rested beneath blankets placed in the snow last night.

The other six lay crushed and buried beneath the ship's cabin.

'Swing' Is Branded As Black Sheep Of Music Family And Texans Turn Thumbs Down

(By The Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, April 8 — The realm of music, according to leaders attending the State Federation of Music clubs here, is no exception to the old saying "every family has its black sheep." To them, for the time being, the wandering notes are known as "swing."

Swing music may be the thing to some people, but to officers of the federation it is just the cacophonous agglutination of all the bad points of jazz.

"A person can't have any prayer meeting thoughts while listening to that kind of music," Mrs. F. L. Carson, president of the San Antonio chapter of the association, who was designated spokeswoman of the group on the matter, said.

"Music fads" come and go, according to Miss Inez Rudy of Bowie, president of the state federation. She expressed doubt whether any action in the form of a resolution would be taken during the present convention, although four years ago the organization indorsed a campaign against "jazzing the classics."

"Why, several years ago the orchestras were jazzing such tunes as 'The Star Spangled Banner,'" Mrs. Carson said. "It's not quite that bad now."

Mrs. Carson said people will get tired of "swing music in six months and up will pop an-

Five-Year Farming Program Outlined

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8—The house agriculture committee agreed today on a five-year $695,000,000 program to help low income farm classes.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) said the committee would approve the plan formally this afternoon and dispatch it to the house.

The program followed general recommendations of President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace and a special presidential committee on farm tenancy.

Features Are Shown

Features of the measure:

The secretary of agriculture would be authorized to lend $50,000,000 a year for five years to tenants for purchase of farms. Purchasers would be allowed up to 30 years to pay loans which would bear interest not to exceed 3 per cent.

The secretary would be authorized to lend $75,000,000 a year for five years to low-income farmers for purchase of livestock, machinery, equipment, supplies, family subsistence and for refinancing debts. These loans would be payable in five years and would bear interest not in excess of 3 per cent.

Retirement Provided

The secretary also would be authorized to inaugurate a land conservation and land utilization program for which he would have $70,000,000 for the next four years. This program would provide retirement of land unsuited for cultivation.

The measure eliminated an administration proposal that the secretary be permitted to purchase farms for resale to tenants on terms allowing them 45 years to pay.

The committee divided sharply on this plan, finally rejecting it after a majority argued it would put the government in the land-buying and farming business.

Present also will be superintendents of the schools and their wives, class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Griggs and Deputy State Superintendent G. H. Holbrook. Participating will be the Cooper, New Deal, Shallowater, Frenship, Idalou and Roosevelt schools.

Judge E. L. Pitts of the 99th district court has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address, Griggs said.

Blinding Dust And Wind Are Blamed In Freak Mishap

FORT WORTH, April 8. (AP)—Blinding wind and dust were blamed for a freak accident which last night caused Mrs. George C. Nelson, 70, of Latham, Kan., to break both arms.

She was leaving a hotel in Mineral Wells to enter an automobile when a strong gust of wind, lashing out of the northwest, momentarily blinded her. She tripped over a telephone pole guy wire, falling into the street.

Death Penalty Asked In Case

(Special To The Journal)
DICKENS, April 8—Final argument of attorneys began in the 110th district court this morning to make certain that the jury will receive before nightfall the trial of Phillip Pair, 25-year-old McAdoo farmer, on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his 20-year-old wife, Agnes, last October 3.

County Attorney L. D. Ratliff, jr., made the opening plea for the state before the noon recess and voiced the expected state demand that Pair be sent to the electric chair.

Others To Be Heard

Five witnesses testified for the state this morning in direct contradiction of defense witnesses who declared in Pair's behalf Wednesday afternoon that they knew him as a kindly, considerate husband.

Tells Of Threat

First of rebuttal witnesses today was Robert Burks, a boarder in the Pair home for a time during 1935, who told of having heard Pair threaten to "kick hell out of" Mrs. Pair because she refused to get a bucket of water. Mrs. Grover McMellon of McAdoo community, a sister of Mrs. Pair, told of being present on another occasion when Pair grasped Mrs. Pair by the hair, hurled

Bill To Create School Land Leasing Board Still Alive

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 8.—The house of representatives kept alive a bill creating a school land leasing board and changing the vacancy laws by voting, 57 to 51, today to print it on minority report. The public lands committee had given it a 14 to 5 unfavorable report.

The bill was by Rep. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction.

The recurring proposal for a convention to rewrite the 61-year-old constitution was killed for the session when the house refused 45 to 58, to print it notwithstanding an adverse committee report.

An effort of the San Antonio delegation to reconsider the vote by which the house postponed consideration of a senate bill remitting taxes to Bexar county failed by two votes. The bill had been postponed until next Wednesday.

Broad Plan To Revive Cotton Is Proposed

Seven-Point Program Today Outlined; Government Is Blamed For Big Loss

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, April 8—Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the bureau of business research of the University of Texas, in an address before the Texas Cotton Ginners convention, today recommended a broad program to place the state's cotton industry on a sound basis.

He said study of the industry's problems was needed urgently in view of large losses in recent years in foreign and domestic markets due to post-war conditions and policies of the federal government.

Program Outlined

His program contained seven major points, as follows:

1. Placing and maintaining production on as high a quality basis as is possible consistent with yields and costs.
2. Making profits for farmers and others in the business out of lower costs due to efficient operation rather than artificially controlled prices.
3. Developing more cash enterprises to fit into a farm production program.
4. Planning cooperation in the provision of services essential to efficient cotton production, such as a good seed supply.

Community Production

5. Providing for community production.
6. Providing for classification of cotton in the farmers markets.
7. Planting varieties of cotton selected on the base largely of experiment station records.

During the five years prior to the depression cotton production in the United States averaged 15,268,000 bales and foreign production only 11,585,000 bales, Dr. Cox said.

In the past three years United States production averaged about 10,900,000 bales, whereas foreign has been 15,795,000. This year domestic production has been 12,130,000 bales and foreign about 17,800,000.

"During the five years prior to the depression," Dr. Cox said, "cotton

Efforts To Save Killers Made

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—Final efforts were pushed today by attorneys to save two young convicted murderers, Ralph Eisenhardt and Gladstone James, from dying on the gallows tomorrow in the little two story jail in Gretna, across the Mississippi river from New Orleans.

Eisenhardt and James were convicted of the murder of Vincent Bologna, a grocery collector who was shot and killed and robbed of $25 in a hold-up at McDonoghville in 1935.

Plea Turned Down

Counsel for the condemned men sought to have the verdict set aside by District Judge L. Robert Rivarde in Jefferson parish on the ground that one of the trial jurors was ineligible to serve on the jury.

Judge Rivarde turned down their plea and the Louisiana supreme court late yesterday refused writs applying for a stay of execution.

Today counsel for Eisenhardt and James announced that they would seek a writ of habeas corpus in federal court here, claiming that their clients were convicted without due process of law because one of the jurors was ineligible to serve.

Also attorneys for the condemned men together with the father of Eisenhardt and the mother of James planned to seek audience with Governor Richard W. Leche at Baton Rouge for a stay of execution.

Schiaparelli Suggests Wardrobe For Your Travels In Europe This Summer

Comfort Listed As First Item

BY ELSA SCHIAPARELLI
Written For The Associated Press Feature Service

PARIS, April 8—If you are coming to Europe this summer with ambitious plans to "do" Paris and the International Exposition that is rapidly nearing completion on both banks of the Seine, give a thought to what you intend to wear.

Remember that climate is an uncertain matter in Europe. The sun may be registering 100 degrees in the shade in New York while Paris is experiencing one of those chill summers which are as hard on the American temperament as they are on the French wine crop.

Two Suits Recommended

Two suits, one of a lighter weight than the other, are good sense no matter how far you go on a vacation. They are a necessity in Paris. So is a good three-quarter topcoat.

A warm suit will do double duty at sea and on trains. A light-weight tailleur will be suitable for city wear when the streets become extremely hot. (Although heat waves can and do take place in May and June they are more likely to arrive in July and August.)

The coat may be made of a light-weight tweed or any other material that is fairly impermeable to summer rains. Although I do not consider furs essential, if you have them by all means bring them.

Advice On Shoes

Choose the suits and the coat so that one hat, either a sports hat in felt, preferably with a brim, or a straw sports that will answer for them all. The same bag also should be made to do triple duty.

Have two pairs of easy shoes for walking. I do not say low heels because the heel must be adjusted to the foot. But if you are comfortable in low heels have them.

I do urge rounded toes, however—so that nothing will interfere with the circulation. And I urge soft kidskin because it is cool and practical. Avoid foot fuddiness at all costs.

For theater wear or formal dining have an evening dress which will not crush easily. It may have a low decolletage — which need not limit its use if a jacket is included. The jacket may be of the same material or of one of those new fancy lames which are so smart just now. Providing such a jacket makes it possible to do without an evening wrap, always a bother when one is traveling with suitcases. Sandals and a matching bag complete the ensemble.

Given this basic wardrobe other essentials are a dressing gown, slippers, blouses in silk, linen, cotton or a soft flannel, practical underwear which launders quickly, serviceable stockings for hard walking and thinner ones for evening and good sturdy gloves that are, of course, washable.

The classics, in contrast, she said, lived through the ages and are heard and enjoyed year in and year out by music lovers.

"We hope to raise the music standards through our junior work," Mrs. Carson explained. "There are 30 organized junior music clubs in San Antonio alone. They are taught all of the outstanding classics. Many of the students are so interested they miss dates to practice."

AMARILLO, April 8. (Special)—The marriage of Miss Frances Billingslea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Billingslea of Amarillo, and Howard Scott of Lubbock, son of Mrs. D. M. Scott of Brownwood, took place Sunday at high noon at the Amarillo First Baptist church with Dr. J. Howard Williams officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of gardenia satin made princess style with a train and a veil of illusion tulle caught with lilies of the valley. Her shower bouquet was of Joann hill roses and white sweet peas.

The bride's sisters, Misses Doris and Ruth Billingslea, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of Duchess lace and picturesque Elizabethan hats.

Eugene Wilson was best man and Claude Gray, jr., was a groomsman.

The couple left for a wedding trip and after April 18 will be at home in Lubbock where Mr. Scott is associated with Swift and company.

Plans For Clinic Being Approved

Response has been encouraging to Texas Technological college's invitation to journalism teachers and school newspaper sponsors to come here Saturday to organize a West Texas High School Press clinic, said Cecil Horne, director of publicity and journalism at Tech.

Although many sponsors cannot attend the luncheon here Saturday, because of conflicting Interscholastic League contests and other programs, they approved plans for a clinic.

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 o'clock in the college book store. Temporary officers and committees will be chosen, and plans outlined for the clinic, first session of which will be held next fall.

The clinic will be held for staffs and sponsors of school newspapers and will offer instruction through addresses by teachers and newspaper men, exhibits, and discussions. It will be held in the fall, rather than in the spring, as is customary with press clinics.

Aged Mayor Is Through Now

FORD, Kas., April 8 (AP)—Mayor John Small, 81, defeated for re-election after an 18-year tenure by a ticket of women set foaming by the mention of beer, said last night, "I'm through."

Two slates of men were beaten by a full ticket of women headed by Mrs. Kathlene Emrie in Monday's election. The vote in the mayoral contest was 86 to 53. Small got the biggest vote of any male candidate.

Have To Run It

"The women have the town now, and they'll have to run it," Small said. "I won't try to help them or suggest what they should do. Every time the town has gotten in a jam they've asked me to help out. I've been mayor 18 years, all told, and have paid money out of my own pocket to help the town; but I'm done now. I'm not sore, but I'm done."

"There's a lot we'll have to learn about running a town." Mrs. Emrie commented as she and the six women elected with her prepared to take over. "We are pretty proud of Ford's reputation for keeping out beer joints. There was some talk of one of the men's tickets in the election being supported by men who want to sell beer. The women didn't want that."

It was a third ticket—not Small's—that advocated beer.

To Keep Out Beer

Said Mrs. W. B. Warner, police judge-elect: "The present administration (Small's) set beer licenses so high nobody could afford to sell it. The women plan to keep it out too."

"This election began as a joke," Mrs. Emrie said, "but when we heard that men interested in selling beer in Ford intended to defeat us, our dander got up.

"We decided then we could run for office and that we would qualify if elected. If the men wouldn't protect their community against influences we believe are detrimental to the young people, we women would."

Mrs. Emrie's husband, Lyman, polled only 24 votes as a write-in candidate for councilman.

The Las Vegas quadrangle has served as training ground for several years for the Tech parties.

The first term biology course will include a trip into Colorado by the sophomore class. Doctor Studhalter will direct both biology trips.

City Manager Is Hit By Woman

KANSAS CITY, April 8 (AP)—The Kansas City Star said City Manager H. F. McElroy was hit over the shoulders with a heavy leather whip by a woman who told police she was Mrs. Mary Wyatt, wife of a fireman.

McElroy commented:

"I wasn't hurt. I wasn't even hit and I didn't even see a whip. The woman just made a verbal attack at which I must admit she was able."

Pay of firemen, and other city employes, recently was cut in half in a temporary economy move. The firemen's union protested bitterly.

McElroy said he had asked officers not to arrest Mrs. Wyatt.

Federal Grants Are Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Officials of a half-dozen states urged a senate committee to approve federal grants of $150,000,000 in each of the next two years for highway construction in the states.

Pointing out that rapidly expanding highway systems have in most cases absorbed all available state revenues for maintenance, debt retirement of construction of non-federal systems, the officials told the senate post roads committee that federal contributions are needed to carry on new construction.

National Problem

Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama contended construction of roads had become a national rather than a local problem.

Other witnesses who said their states could no longer match federal funds were F. P. Vanstorey, secretary-treasurer of the Georgia highway commission; J. H. Dowling, chief highway engineer of Florida; M. O. Allen, chairman of the Tennessee state highway commission; W. W. Zass, chief highway engineer for Arkansas; James Ryan, Arkansas road director; and H. H. Houk, Alabama state highway engineer.

The committee had before it a bill by Senator Black (D-Okla) authorizing appropriation of $150,000,000 during each of the next two fiscal years. The bill provides that states would not be required to match the previous federal grants which they have not received because of lack of local revenue.

Alabama In Arrears

Governor Graves said Alabama had eliminated diversion of motor vehicle taxes for purposes other than road building but was in arrears in matching federal road grants because state revenues had gone into new construction and into the purchase of a number of toll bridges.

T. H. Cutler, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials and state highway engineer for Kentucky, urged the proposed appropriation but said he questioned the advisability of giving federal funds to the states to match federal funds. He expressed fear this might encourage diversion of state motor vehicle and gasoline taxes for other purposes.

Although most of the witnesses endorsed the appropriation as a means of providing jobs, Senator Hayden (D-Ariz), a member of the committee, warned them there would "probably be so many strings" on an unmatched gift that the highway officials would not find themselves in "a very happy situation" if they were to receive the money.

He charged diversion of motor taxes was responsible in most cases for the inability of state to match federal road aid.

Sally Rand And Gypsy Rose Lee Seem Destined Never To Meet

INDIANAPOLIS, April 8 (AP)—It seemed today that America's two leading merchants of feminine pulchritude, Sally Rand and Gypsy Rose Lee, would never meet, even though their stage doors are only separated by a "strip" of an alley—and it's all because of the bad old publicity department.

The two young ladies, using a slightly different technique, are both appearing here this week, Miss Rand in her own show at the Lyric theater and Miss Lee at the English in the "Ziegfeld Follies." The stage doors of the two theaters face each other across an alley.

Ben Atwell, publicity seeker for the "Follies," arrived in town and said "no" when asked about the picture.

It seems Gypsy Rose leaves the Follies this week for Hollywood. The "Follies" wanted Miss Lee's understudy, who will replace her in the cast, to pose with Miss Rand, but Sally said "no" to that—so that was that.

Relief Bill Is Being Sought

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP) — Seven representatives who said they spoke for a bi-partisan bloc of 100 proposed today that work relief be made permanent.

They suggested also that $2,400,000,000 be appropriated to give 3,000,000 men jobs at about $67 a month in the next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Their recommendations were announced after a meeting attended by Representatives Maverick (D-Tex), Fries (D-Ill), Hildebrandt (D-SD), Voorhis (D-Calif), Coffee (D-Wash), Allen (D-Pa), and Eicher (D-Ia).

More Than Planned

The appropriation they proposed would be about $550,000,000 more than the amount mentioned by the president in his budget message for recovery and relief.

To make up the difference the group proposed that "additional taxes be levied on the basis of ability to pay and benefits received."

Congressional leaders said so far as they knew President Roosevelt still was planning on holding the recovery and relief appropriation for next year to $1,853,154,000, despite efforts to state and city officials and the house bloc to obtain a larger sum.

Maverick said "we believe our ideas represent the co-ordinate beliefs of a large group of people. There is nothing radical in it. It is simply a question of establishing the permanent responsibility of the government to keep the country going and the people working."

Says Varicose Veins Can Be Reduced At Home

Prove It At Small Cost

If you or any or friend is worried because of varicose veins or bunches, as good advice for home treatment as any friend can give is to get a prescription known as Moone's Emerald Oil.

Simply ask Mark Halsey Drug or your druggist for an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you should notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are no longer burdensome. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that it helps simple swellings due to strain to disappear.—Adv.

"Miraculous," Says Of Gly-Cas Action

Health A "Wreck" For Years; Constipation, Stomach Disorder Made Him Miserable, Rheumatic Pains Unbearable; Gly-Cas Again Unfailing

"Little did I realize any medicine could be as wonderful as this new Gly-Cas has been for me," said Mr. Abran Costante, 3015 San Agustin Ave., Laredo, Tex., "For years

MR. ABRAN COSTANTE

I had been badly constipated, system filled with poisons and my stomach simply refused to digest foods properly. After every meal I ate my stomach would sour, gas formed in abundance until I bloated dreadfully. I became terribly nervous, could not get a good night's sleep and felt miserable all of the time. I was so worn-out. Then rheumatism settled in my arms and limbs often crippling me until I could hardly get around. Of all people I was most miserable and could find no way in this world to get relief—until I was finally persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial—it went to the very source of my health troubles as if made for me alone."

"Never was there a medicine like this new Gly-Cas before," he continued. "It is the first medicine that did not disappoint me with the results it gives. I am now feeling fine in everyway, my stomach and bowels are regulated, eat and sleep good and feel as if new strength and energy have been given me. Even those dreadful rheumatic pains have been eliminated. After what this new remedy has accomplished for me is it any wonder I say Gly-Cas' action is "miraculous"."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Suggestions For Safe Driving
(Talk Number Two)
OUR BRAKES

One of the most important things in Safe Driving is to be able to stop when necessary.

Constant or regular checking of your brakes is absolutely necessary to make your brake service always dependable.

Everybody knows this—but somehow don't attend to it regularly and systematically.

Brakes give you plenty of notice when they need adjustment—the responsibility is YOURS.

Drive so you won't need to use your brakes too often or too suddenly. That breaks them down and causes frequent adjustments.

Dog Put To Death And Will Be Buried Beside Its Mistress

LAWTON, Okla., April 8. (AP)—Jackie, 11-year-old pet dog, was put to death here today and cremated for burial beside his mistress, Mrs. Charles H. Thayer, 67, California woman who gave an estimated $250,000 to charity in her lifetime and willed the balance of her fortune, approximately $40,000, to her chauffeur.

Mrs. Thayer, who died of heart disease in a hotel here last week, requested before her death that her body be cremated and buried with the ashes of her husband, New York newspaper man who died eight years ago, and her dog.

Dr. J. F. Rowell, Medicine Park, Okla., Mrs. Thayer's nephew, said the ashes of her husband were being removed from a burial place in San Diego, Calif., to Whitefield, N. H. He said he would accompany the ashes of Mrs. Thayer, who was cremated in St. Louis, and her dog to Whitefield.

Funeral services for Mrs. Thayer are scheduled to be held in Whitefield April 20, after which the ashes will be placed, with those of her husband and her dog, in the family mausoleum.

Mrs. Thayer's death came one week after she arrived here from San Diego. Her will revealed she had left her entire estate to William Bodie, chauffeur and handy man, who accompanied her to Lawton.

Lawton Burton, attorney who drew up the will, said it would probably be filed in San Diego.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES. . . . WINFORD "WINNY" BAZE, graduating Texas Tech fullback from Robert Lee who will make a stab at professional ball with the Cleveland club this fall, did not go unrecognized by the powers last season. . . . He has received a "Card of Merit" issued by the All-America Board of Football, certifying that he has received All-America rating for "exceptional playing during the season of 1936." . . . The card bears the official seal of the Board, and the signature of Christy Walsh, head of the Christy Walsh Syndicate. . . . Members of the board are Pop Warner, Frank Thomas, Howard Jones, Elmer Layden and Walsh. . . .

Mac Saxon's Texas College of Mines football team, which comes here the night of April 30 to play Texas Tech in a spring exhibition game, may be a club to watch in the 1937 Border conference race. . . because on the team is one Ken Heineman, "who right now is the best passer in the entire Southwest," says a clipping recently forwarded to us. . . . That's taking in a lot of territory, but we've heard rumors about this Heineman before. . . .

Saxon says he's the best chunker he ever saw, and Mac has seen quite a few. . . . The clipping further describes Heineman as "a tight-knit lad who does a nice job of kicking, and displays a fast, tricky brand of running. . . . can fling 'em fifty sixty yards and nary a miss" . . . The game features the annual spring fiesta that Dean Bo Williams promotes. . . .

THE "REAL" CHAMPION

The Cal Farley-Dutch Mantell-Sled Allen wrestling trust has extended its field to Wichita Falls, which for some time has been an off and on wrestling town. . . . Big Jim Wakefield, who used to promote at Abilene, is the head man at Wichita Falls. . . . The town was "opened up" last Friday night. . . . Rod Fenton meets Ace Freeman in the main event this week. . . . Other boys familiar to local fans are doing turns on the card. . . . The trust no doubt will have the support of the Wichita Times sports editor, Frank Tolbert, the Gus Axcelwush and later salaried scribe for this department. . . .

A blazing circular informs us that the world's heavyweight wrestling champion is not Dean Detton or Strangler Lewis or Everett Marshall or Steve Casey or Yvon Roberts or Daniel Boone Savage or Danno O'Mahoney or Oscar Whoozis—but the one and only Dr. Len Hall, of Paris, France, and San Francisco, Calif. . . . In no uncertain terms does the circular point out that Dr. Hall is rightly the champion, on account of he has beaten the champs of all other countries. . . .

Dr. Hall wants to meet the American title claimants, winding up with Dean Detton (Dory's older brother) who is generally recognized as tops in this country. . . . There are so many title claimants that we're dizzy trying to keep up with them. . . Hall recognizes but one claimant of any worth, and that is Detton. . . .

TRAINING GRIND TOO TOUGH, THUS HOLDOUTS

A possible, and not altogether illogical, reason for baseball holdouts in the spring is advanced by Charles Grumich of the A. P. Charley suggests, since most of the stubborn boys come around just before the trainingseason ends, that they hold up the works in order to dodge the stiff spring training grind. And it really is tough, as you shall see. Put yourself, for a moment, in the place of a baseball prima donna and see what the terrific grind is like:

First (according to Charley's description) you receive transportation from home to the camp—in Cuba, Mexico, Florida, Texas or California where the warm breezes blow in late February and March. Upon arrival you are furnished a hotel room with all expenses paid, even laundry.

You arise around 9 o'clock and are driven to the ball park at 10. There you engage in calisthenics and run around the ball park a bit to loosen up, take three or four swipes in batting practice, play catch with one of your pals, shag a few fly balls, take a turn or two in the sliding pit, engage in a fielding practice and pose for the various photographers sent down by the syndicates and hometown papers.

If there is an intra-club game, you have to go to the clubhouse and change your sweatshirt for a regular one. The manager changes pitchers every three innings and shifts his lineup so often that no one is overworked, either in a club game or an exhibition with another major league outfit or Class AA club.

If your fielding footwork is not so good, you have to chase fungoes knocked out off a light bat by a coach who is expert at putting the ball just beyond your reach. . . . Another jog around the field, a shower, lunch and the afternoon is yours from about 2 o'clock until sundown—for fishing, golf, a nap or whatever you want to do. The evening is yours, too. Beer is not forbidden, but you'd better be in by midnight.

And you get paid for it!

There's quite a large difference between that description and one that would have been made in, say, John McGraw's heyday as a ball player. . . . There's quite a large difference in the brand of baseball, too.

Bennett Defeats Yaqui Joe Here In Main Event

With very little show of monkey business and before a very small but appreciative crowd, George Bennett exhibited skill and courage to defeat the aging Yaqui Joe last night in the main event at the Auditorium.

Bennett and Joe did a lot of scientific grappling, applied and broke numerous holds, but individual honors of the evening went to young Ace Freeman of New York.

Freeman didn't win his semi-final fight with Gorilla Pogi, the Argentine who seems to have improved with use and age, but the black-thatched husky applied more real wrestling holds during the 30-minutes spasm than the rest of the show combined produced. He kept after the hairy-bodied apeman from South America, and when he wasn't jerking away from a Pogi hold, he was applying very vigorous and very tortuous, although legal, holds. Pogi demonstrated a well-conditioned body and the ability to take. Less courageous grapplers would have folded up under any one of several torture holds Freeman applied.

Newcomer Looks Fair

The newcomer, Tex Hager, who says he is from Eugene, Ore., withstood a test most valiantly when he stayed with the dangerous Rod Fenton for 20 minutes. Youngish, rather handsome, fast on foot, clever and clean, Hager carried the fight to Fenton most of the time, worried him with a forceful headlock, showed a neat drop toe hold and a snappy kangaroo kick.

Yaqui Joe won the first fall from Bennett with three terrific anchored shoulder blocks and a body smother. All the breath was blasted from the Bennett body by the blows, which followed 20 minutes of slower grappling. The Indian tried the same trick in the second fall, but Bennett was "on to it." He ducked under the blow, bowled Yaqui over, then followed with three bruising flying tackles, a smother, and that was all, in 6 minutes.

The third fall lasted 12 minutes, George winning with a smother after tumbling Joe through the ropes and off the platform with flying tackles.

Braddock Is After Biggest Gate

Peanut Pitcher To Bigger Leagues

SUTAK: Goober Circuit To Grapefruit League

Sutak Develops A Peg Slingin' 210,000 Goobers To Buyers

BY BOB GEIGER

DENVER, April 8. (AP)—Sutak probably would make more money tossing peanuts than baseballs but the "big league itch" has got him. He is off to the training camps.

Sutak (Sutak—two sacks, no sales tax—with Sutak) can throw a 5-cent bag of peanuts from the basketball floor to the second gallery of the city auditorium and land it in the lap of a customer.

He charges 5 cents for the peanuts and a nickel extra for putting a curve in his pitch.

The curve is as perfect a one as ever cut the corner of home plate.

Nope, No First Name

Sutak, who says he has no first name (the boys call him Jack) would have you believe the scouts signed him up when they saw him pitching peanut bags to the top row of the Denver university stadium last football season. Probably they saw him in a Colorado college baseball uniform last spring. He was an all-conference centerfielder.

The peanut-vending business will lose a colorful figure if he makes good with Winston-Salem in the Piedmont league, but baseball will hear some wisecracks.

"Nuts to you, for a nickel," says he to sports audiences. "Delivered by air express, collect."

At the A. A. U. basketball tournament in the city auditorium his biggest profits came from the second gallery, but Sutak never left the main floor.

"It's tagged for the gent in the black suit," he would shout as he shot a fast one upward.

Invariably the sack of peanuts would land in the customer's lap.

He Lost A Nickel—Once

Once there was a customer who held his hat over his face.

"Hit it," he said.

Sutak was a little slow with his pitch and the customer pulled his hat away to see what was causing the delay. The bag of nuts hit him on the nose.

Customers throw nickels and dimes from the top gallery to the main floor.

"In three years I lost only one nickel," Sutak claims.

Frequently he catches a nickel in each hand simultaneously.

There are about 35 peanuts in a bag. Sutak sold 6,000 bags, 210,000 peanuts, at the week-long A. A. U. tournament.

"Those 6,000 pitches put my arm in good shape," he avers.

After this workout he left for his tryout with the Winston-Salem team, a Detroit Tiger farm.

No Preference In Regard To His Enemies

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 8. (AP)—Whom would James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, rather fight—Joe Louis or Max Schmeling?

It makes no difference to him.

"Frankly," Braddock said today as he sunned himself in a big wooden lawn chair, "the man I want to meet is the one who will draw the biggest gate, and that's Louis. I'm sure we'll be in the ring in Chicago June 22. My manager, Joe Gould, told me to do the training, and let him do the worrying over threatened court action. That suits me."

Has Their Number

Which fighter would be the easier opponent?

"I have studied the styles of both, and I am convinced I've got their number," the champion smiled.

Braddock is disappointed in the lingering winter weather conditions which have made road work impossible on the dirt roads leading to his camp on little Lake Sissabagama.

Trainer Ross Lippman put the clamps on road work for fear Braddock might sprain an ankle.

As a result Braddock works for two hours daily swinging his double bitted axe on hard maples.

Dizzy Wants To Be Friends

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 8. (AP)—Dizzy Dean was "sorry" last night, he said, "about what happened last week" in a Tampa hotel lobby—a fight with two baseball scribes.

"It's the first time I ever had any trouble with a sports writer," declared the vociferous Cardinal hurler, "and you can take it from ol' Diz, it'll be the last time.

"I believe in the ol' saying about the 'pen bein' mightier than the sword,'—yesser—an' I want you boys to be my friends."

Dean engaged in a brief fight with Jack Miley, New York sports writer and Irvin Kupcinet of Chicago last Friday, after complaining of stories written by the New Yorker. Other Cardinal players broke it up.

Six Players Are Lopped Off Dallas Club's Roster

DALLAS, April 8. (AP)—Six players were lopped from the Dallas Texas league baseball team Wednesday.

Al Annunziato, catcher, will return to Panama City, Fla., whence he was obtained on option. The Vicksburg club of the Cotton States league will get four of the players: Bob Schang, nephew of veteran Wally Schang; Lester Rock, first baseman, George Hackney, second baseman, and Bob Terry, right hand pitcher. Frank Casson, young second baseman, will be sent to the Longview club of the East Texas league.

CHEAP SOIL IMPROVER

MARION, N. C. (AP)—Farmers of McDowell county are finding the state highway department's plant for the production of road materials an aid to agriculture. The plant crushes limestone for highways and in the course of process limedust, a soil improver, accumulates. The state sells limedust for about one-fifth the price of similar commercial material.

TEN-EARED CORNCOB

MARLIN, Tex. (AP)—A freak corncob with ten ears grew on the farm of J. F. Dulaney. It was almost circular, about the size of a grapefruit, and the 10 cobs bore well-developed kernels.

The first hair-curling method consisted of winding the hair about a cylindrical stick, moistening it with a chemical solution, enclosing it in a metal tube, and then heating it.

Yank Batting Power Is Said Too Strong

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, April 8. (AP)—A country boy's afternoon with the New York Yankees:

Joe DiMaggio—Swaggering, self-confident . . . bored with it all in pre-game fielding and batting drills. . . . not a twitch in his publicized "deadpan."

Lou Gehrig—Genial, hustling and worth his $36,000 . . . attentive and concerned when a wild throw to first zipped past him and cracked a batboy on the head . . . the youngster's tears glistening on a broad grin when Gehrig hurried to him, rubbed his head and directed him to the dugout for further treatment. . . Gehrig not so genial when trapped between first and second on a hit-and-run ball, dumped by Les Mallon, Dallas second baseman, and made the first out of a clever double play.

Goofy Gets Hits

Vernon (Goofy) Gomez—Eccentric, as advertised . . . full of quips directed at amazed teammates on the bench after he had punched out three successive singles—more blows than he bagged during the entire '36 season . . . plenty of speed, a cunning change of pace and a dipping curve ball . . . flabergasted when touched for ten hits in six innings by the minor leaguers.

Tony Lazzeri—Quiet, serious-minded . . . terrific batting punch with a short, Dempsey-like jab that sent one ball sailing deep into the left field bleachers for the longest home run of the day . . . No. 1 money player of the majors.

Frank Crosetti—Smooth, peppery . . . keen batting eye and perfect leadoff man . . . four clean base-hits and a sensational stab at a burning grounder over second made him tops for the day.

Earl Coombs—Silver-thatched but still sprightly, veteran former outfielder still in the midst of all the hustle as coach and fungo specialist.

Marse Joe McCarthy—Seemingly squinting at every Yankee at the same time . . . not missing anything.

Babe Ruth, or the lack of him—four thousand fans dotted the stands for the exhibition . . . noticeable was the lack of shrieking youngsters . . . a few years back, 15,000 jamming the same park when the Yankees came to town with the bulging master of swat aiming at the right field fence and mobbed by boyish admirers after the game.

The New York Yankees—there ought to be a law against such batting.

Quarter Finals Are Launched At Houston

HOUSTON, April 8. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, veteran Davis cup campaigner and former national champion, was up against an unexpected but strong foe in his quarter final match in the River Oaks tennis tournament today.

The opponent was bespectacled Wilbur Hess, Houston star who yesterday disposed of Joel Hunt of Los Angeles, third seeded player in the meet.

Feature Of Busy Day

The Allison-Hess match was the feature of a busy day of 26 contests, including second rounds in men's doubles, women's singles, veterans' singles and junior singles, and the Atlanta tourney men's doubles title play.

Robert Riggs of Los Angeles was paired with Walter Senior of San Francisco in the only other quarter final match.

Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, seeded favorite from Atlanta, will play Hal Surface of Kansas City and Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., will meet Wayne Sabin of Hollywood in the quarter finals tomorrow.

Rained Out Sunday

Grant and Sabin were teamed against Hunt and Riggs in the Atlanta tourney finals, called for 4:30 p. m. That match was rained out at Atlanta Sunday.

Fourth round results which placed all the favorites except Hunt in the quarter finals were:

Allison, Austin, defeated Martin Buxby, Miami, 6-1, 8-6.

Surface defeated Elwood Cooke, Portland, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Hendrix defeated Marvin Kantrowitz, Austin 6-0, 6-3.

Wilbur Hess defeated Hunt, 6-1, 6-3.

Sabin defeated Marion Reece, Atlanta 8-6, 1-6, 6-3.

Grant defeated Junior Coen, Kansas City 6-3, 7-5.

Riggs defeated Frank Guernsey, Miami, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Senior defeated Jake Hess, Houston 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Long-Dead Practice Of Herding Cattle On Trails Is Revived

KANSAS CITY, April 8 (AP)—Livestock dealers here heard today that a Texas cattleman was reviving the long-dead practice of trail-herding cattle into Kansas.

The experiment was attributed to Douglas Patton, veteran cattleman and owner of large herds with headquarters at Nacogdoches, Tex.

The first trail herd of 504 head was expected to start moving north from near the Oklahoma line Monday, and to travel about 100 miles to Blue Stem pasture in western Greenwood county, Kas.

Patton, livestock men here said, planned to take another herd of 840 over the same route in the next few weeks.

Commission men here said it would be the first trail movement of a considerable herd in many years.

In the late 1800's it was common practice for cattlemen to spend weeks trailing cattle up from Texas to Dodge City for shipment to eastern markets or better pasture.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking those acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, illness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Supplemental Funds Being Urged For Rural Area

Senators and representatives from rural legislative districts are "at bat" for increased supplemental appropriations, Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock county superintendent, said late Wednesday.

Griggs and five Lubbock county rural school superintendents were with a delegation of 36 from the 119th representative district who joined with similar delegations from all parts of Texas in appearing before legislative committees at Austin early this week to urge that the supplemental appropriation be boosted from $560,000 to $1,080,000.

Griggs said the increase would mean $100,000 more for 16 South Plains counties adjacent to Lubbock.

Money will be used to pay salaries in full this year and high school tuition deficits for last year up to 87 per cent. It was pointed out it will affect Lubbock Independent School district in the amount of high school tuition due it.

Opinion at Austin is that the measure has passed its hardest fight and will have little trouble in passing the senate, school men said.

Copies of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, among other articles, were placed in the cornerstone of the Washington monument.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — B. K. Jackson, shoe clerk, will vouch for this one.

A customer who needed a size 8 right and a 6 1-2 left sat down next to one who needed an 8 left and a 6 1-2 right. "You're the fellow I've been waiting for," said one to the other and they forthwith split two pairs of shoes.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Like the three wise men of Gotham in Mother Goose—who started to sea in a bowl—three young navigators began an ocean voyage in a wash tub.

The three, the oldest 12 and the youngest 8, had successfully negotiated the shoals of Mission creek and were paddling out to sea with palm branches as oars when they were unwillingly rescued by a life guard.

They said they were heading for Anacapa island for provisions before continuing their journey to New Zealand.

A Rail Shot

Dentists Of South Plains In Meeting In Lubbock

Dentists from several towns of the South Plains and nearby towns of New Mexico attended the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Lubbock County Dental society at the Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, reported Dr. J. B. McCorkle, secretary.

Dr. K. W. Ray of Minneapolis, Minn., director of research for General Refineries, was the main speaker and used as his subject "Dental Golds." He discouraged the use of dental and gold substitutes.

He also showed a 20-minute film showing the processing and refining of gold.

Approximately 25 dentists attended the meeting with a good out-of-town representation, Dr. McCorkle said. Five dentists from Clovis, N. M. were in attendance.

Dr. Bradford Knapp tells this story and swears by all that's good and holy it's absolutely true.

During one of our infrequent (oh, SO infrequent) sandstorms the other day, a Tech kid plunged from the sally port into the administration building after what evidently had been quite a struggle with the elements.

"Whew!" he ejaculated. "This makes me homesick!"

"Homesick?" asked another student. "What do you mean?"

The kid in question licked his lips. "Tastes just like it does at home," he said.

NOT long ago The Plainsman noted in this column that an eclipse of the sun always begins on the west side and an eclipse of the moon on the east, and finished up the comment with "why is it Dr. R. S. Underwood?"

Doctor Underwood, a real shark on mathematics and astronomy, both of which he teaches out at Tech, has sent in the following reply:

"In your column last week you asked why an eclipse of the sun always begins on the west side, and one of the moon on the east. The answer is that while the sun takes a year to make a complete west-to-east circuit of the sky against the background of fixed stars, the moon does it in a month. Hence, the latter works eastward from day to day faster than the sun, and comes in front of the sun from the west side. It likewise enters the shadow of the earth from the west side, thereby plunging its own east side into the dark and starting an eclipse of the moon. That's an easy one to explain, but not many people would notice it in the first place. What time are you getting in at night? (Oh, well, scratch out that question if you want to!)

"Incidentally, the moon, like some of our fellow citizens, is a rip-snorting speed-demon when 'full.' In its annual trip around the sun it goes about one mile per second faster during its 'lit up' period than it does in the dark days of sobering up between carousals. Figure that one out, and I'll give you an 'A'. Yours very truly, R. S. Underwood."

This column is highly appreciative of Doctor Underwood's explanation, and we are sure the information therein contained will prove interesting to many a reader.

As to the speed record of the Man in the Moon when he's 'full,' that's easy to explain to get the coveted 'A.' Everybody knows that exhilaration calls for acceleration! . . . See Mister Webster's best seller.

IT begins to commence to look like once again the public comfort station is about to be passed up.

Although both county and city authorities recently have shown interest in the project and have talked about it at some length, apparently action is still far in the future.

The city is waiting to hear from the county; the county is waiting to hear from the city while at loggerheads over the location of the station it and when built—and both the city and county are hanging onto their pocketbooks in the hope that the other will offer to put up the greater part of the funds.

Eventually, Lubbock will have a downtown comfort station, but not until officials begin to think more of its worth than of its cost, which is nominal, indeed, in comparison with the need.

'Eve's Orchard'

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfield goes back to her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut after working five years in New York. She plans to rent, marry gay, slim Denny and return to Manhattan apartment life. Uncle Henry, an old family friend, moves in to help Eve run the place. George Cleveland, her calm, practical neighbor, wants Eve for his wife, but she loves Denny. Peter the penniless artist, his wife Marylin and their serious young son Judge join the menage as boarders. Eve's friend Ellen Walton and Uncle Henry raise the finance question.

Chapter 21

Signing A Paper

When Eve returned, Ellen was talking.

"I was telling Eve that you'd better get your finances straightened out," she said resolutely. "Then there won't be anything to come up and be a bother."

"Just my idea," said Peter cordially. "Let's go."

"Let's go."

"It's about the expenses," Eve began bravely. "I think we'd better prorate them."

"Swell," said Peter sunnily. "Can you prorate? I can't." He turned the coffeepot upside down again, shook his head sadly, and said: "Well, after all, two cups are enough at eight p. m. I'll tell you Eve, how it is. We haven't a penny right now. We get our money in a lump twice a year, except what I pick up by my work. I thought that if you could carry us from now until June first we could turn over the trust money to you then. You said you had enough savings to manage with till fall."

"I wouldn't blame you," said Peter earnestly, "if you didn't want to do that. It's horribly unbusinesslike. And I know you'll find it a nuisance keeping track. But at least we'd lay every penny at your feet when it comes, we wouldn't chaffer, would we, Marylin? You can tell us exactly what you think we ought to pay and we hand it over like gentlemen the minute the old firm comes across. I'll tell you—we'll sign a paper." He brightened at this.

"And if she can't do it that way" asked Uncle Henry from the back parlor, "what then?"

Peter laughed and shook his head. "Frankly, Mr. De Remer, I don't know. You see, we can't get on relief because we do have this money twice a year from old Judge Allaire's estate. Neil Martin, throwing us out of the apartment, rather put us out our beautiful. I've read about all sorts of things—you build a tar paper shack in Central Park, or you throw a stone through a plate-glass window and they put you in a nice warm jail. We'd have to throw three stones," said Peter whimsically, "through three windows."

Judge looked up, scared.

"Oh darling, don't talk like that, even in fun," said Marylin, shivering in her pretty rose-colored wool sports frock.

Peter pushed aside the little table, and sat down against Marylin's knees on the hearth, one hand in hers. He squeezed the hand and said: "It won't be as bad as that, sweet. We both know how wonderful our friends are; and what a splendid friendly lot of people we've always run across in the world, through no luck of our own except just believing in them and loving them."

Ellen Figures

Ellen had a pencil. She began figuring. There was a silence, broken only by Judge's oblivious, eager questions about the book he and Uncle Henry were busied over, and by the crackling of the logs. Eve thanked her stars for Ellen. She was beginning to feel rather like a pig. She wished for Denny, to handle the things for her; and then hastily unwished. Denny never had much patience with the Featherstones, though he enjoyed them. . . . Denny was going to telephone tomorrow, he'd said. She told him to be prudent and put the money in their painted pig bank, but she hoped he wouldn't. He'd said he wouldn't; he'd said: "Five minutes of your voice is cheap at the price, and we'll hear no more about pigs or prudence, miss!"

She came back from a long way to hear Ellen's deliberate, clearly rounded voice.

"I've figured on what Eve has saved; and on what Mr. De Remer is doing to help out expenses with the milk and eggs and butter. I don't suppose you want them to do more than share actual expenses, do you Eve?—laundry and a cleaning woman and light and heat and telephone and table?"

"You're wonderful, Ellen," said Marylin admiringly. "I wish I was as businesslike as that!"

"Well, you might try to be." Ellen had fended for herself since she was 16. She continued. "Eve can manage it, but I think you had better sign a paper about the money, Peter. Here's what it will come to, proportionately for the three of you. I'm counting in two tons of coal, Eve, and if I know anything about houses, repair money."

"And now we'll sign away our souls, Marylin lamb," said Peter gaily. He drew up a formal statement of the bargain with his fountain pen, on the sheet of paper Judge found for him; and added of his own accord that he would accept Eve's account of what the expenses were without any questioning. He bordered it with Indians and settlers and firewater bottles and insisted on sealing it with yellow wax from the candle on the mantel.

"And now you have us in your power!" he added blithely, lifting his pen from its neat artist's signature of "Peter Featherstone and Marylin his Wife!" "But you're going to have to prorate, I can't. Just dumb, that's the Featherstones. . . . Seriously, Eve, this is a heavenly thing you're doing, the sort of thing that makes one feel friends are worth while and the world a pretty darn fine place."

"And Eve just one of the finest!" added Marylin. "Never mind, darling, when our ships come in we'll remember it of you. And they will come in," Marylin ended gallantly, "and you and I'll be glad we wouldn't do potboilers, Petesweet."

Mitzi And Marriage

They began to plan about the work then. Peter said he was magnificent about sweeping.

"And Judge is practically the perfect housemaid," Marylin added.

"And we must all be adamant about company," said Peter sagely. "Weekends are devastating."

"Nobody admitted under two chickens or a whole ham!" Marylin added joyously. "Dillard will want to get in on gin, and drink it all before he goes, like the stories of old-fashioned donation parties."

"Girl, if you think old-fashioned donation parties included gin, I can only say you sound irreligious to the last degree." Her husband ruffled her hair affectionately.

"Dillard went too far with Mitzi this time, if you ask me," Marylin add irrelevantlyy. "One thing you mustn't tell Mitzi is that she couldn't get married three times a day if she wanted to. I call it a siren complex. Probably some secret inferiority; somebody may have jilted the poor darling when she was seven. And I know pood Dill was hoping to get another loan from her; he needs it badly. They both have such silly baby tempers, bless their darling hearts!"

"Oh, well, all she has to do to prove it isn't true is to get married again," Ellen said idly from her half of Eve's love seat.

Marylin objected. "I don't think our Mitzi would be happy married. I'd hate to see her tied down, and we mightn't like him or he us, and our crowd would miss Mitzi."

"Just the same," Ellen persisted, "I wouldn't put it past Mitzi to marry now, just to show Dillard. I don't like her, as you know, but she interests me a lot, and I've watched her."

"Well," Peter said, yawning, stretching his long tweed-clad arms above his head in a smoky dimness, "let's hope that the happy man fits into the gang and especially that he isn't the latest pretender, the Kilian lad with the pink cheeks and black mustache, illustration by John

MAKING UP FOR MICHIGAN'S MESS

It would interesting to be able to read the thoughts of Michigan's Governor Frank Murphy upon his reading of the way other governors handle the sit-downers. We would like to get his reaction to Governor Allred's warning that Texas will tolerate no lawlessness on the part of strikers; we would like to know how he felt when he read how doughty, ain't-saying Clyde Tingley, of New Mexico, routed sit-downers from his reception room and the New Mexico capitol as easily as he might fall off a log.

Of course, Governor Murphy didn't have as much chance to act for himself as did Governors Allred and Tingley. His course in Detroit was charted in the White House and, in fairness to Murphy, his situation was much harder and fraught with more dire possibilities.

Yet if he is at all like the average man, the Michigander must feel that in bowing to the will of mob spirit, in permitting the laws of his state to be openly flouted, he presents a very distasteful picture of a high public official who permitted his hands to be tied and who was unable to cope with a situation which arose before him.

The examples set by Governors Tingley and Allred, and by fiery little Fiorello LaGuardia, mayor of New York, must be heartening to other high officials who have been wondering what they can and should do when the sit-down problem faces them.

As for the rank and file of American citizens who believe that laws should be upheld and that property-owners are entitled to protection from the state and national governments, they cannot help but cheer the governors of Texas and New Mexico and the mayor of New York.

By being firm and by upholding the American principles of government, they have more than made up for the disgraceful proceedings in Michigan.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Holywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Movie in the making: A good set to visit these days is "The Deep South," which Mervyn LeRoy is producing and directing. Things happen on a LeRoy set; you seldom see more than three or four takes on a scene. Also the scenes are likely to be pretty long, thus giving a visitor an idea of what's going on. LeRoy is not a fellow to mar action by switching to new and arty camera angles every few seconds.

Today I heard Claude Rains' address to the jury. The set is a complete interior of a courtroom. It is filled with 350 extras as spectators. LeRoy picked every one of them himself, and the result is a typical courtroom crowd. On the witness benches and at the counsel tables are about 40 principals.

There are only seven actors on the jury. The director became disgusted after trying to find 12 men who didn't look like actors, so he went out on the street and found five ordinary-looking men to complete it.

Rains is the district attorney at this trial, and he has a long and difficult speech. Following his final rehearsal of it, the entire courtroom applauded in one of the few concerted tributes given to screen players while they are acting.

Surprise!

Then they shot the scene, and everybody got a surprise. Toward the end of Rains' denunciation of the defendant, Elizabeth Risdon rose and screamed: "No, no! Not my boy! He couldn't! Not my boy!"

This was a typical LeRoy trick. Only he, Miss Risdon herself, and the cameraman knew what was going to happen. He wanted Rains and the other principals actually to be startled by the hysterical interruption of an anguished mother. Also he wanted a genuine reaction of excitement from the spectators.

He got what he wanted, and of course, that ended the take. The players were too surprised to have continued with their lines. A few of the women spectators began to cry.

This is one of the few pictures ever made in which the southerners will talk pretty much like southerners. For some reason Hollywood has been afraid of a Dixie accent, permitting it only in the speech of lovable old character actors while other supposed southerners in the same casts have jabbered like exiled Bostonians.

He's Teachuh!

"The Deep South" has a diction coach. Prof. Dalton S. Raymond, who in Baton Rouge is head of the opera department of Louisiana State University. He is out here for a sabbatical year of study and just stumbled into the job. And it has been quite a task teaching players accustomed to stage diction to drop their r's and g's and to use the right tonal inflections.

"We'h not tryin' to make it broadly south'n," explained the professuh. "Some people might find that funny—kind of Amos-'n'-Andy. We'h just tryin' to coveh up the stage accents of these actuhs."

Rains was the biggest problem because the English player ordinarily is quite broad-A. It took some practice before he was able to drawl through his long speeches without inserting a rawther instead of "rathuh" or a "bean" instead of a "bin." Midwestern accents also are a great trial to the professor. Indeed, he has discovered only two southerners-by-birth in the entire cast, and these have been on the stage so long that they've forgotten how to speak natchully.

All Pay, No Work

Male lead in the picture is Edward Norris, little-known youngster who has been under contract to M-G-M for three years but who has been given almost nothing to do at that studio.

He's pretty bitter about his lack of opportunity. "I never go near the place," he says. "My agent picks up my checks. But I'd rather work for nothing if I could get a break."

This is the third time he has been loaned to other studios, and there are several companies and individual producers who would take over his contract if Metro would let him go. LeRoy is one of these.

The feminine lead, Gloria Dickson, is facing a camera for the first time in her acting career. LeRoy also has filled important roles with three other Hollywood newcomers—Lana Turner, Allyn Joslyn, and Elisha Cook. The latter two did very well on Broadway.

Many Feel Supreme Court Will Lose Power Even If FDR Fails To Revamp It -- Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Witnesses appearing before the Senate Judiciary committee in opposition to the President's judiciary plan have warned the country against accepting a reform which might open the way either to the German type of non-parliamentary fascist government—or the English system of parliamentary government.

Dutcher

Some of the clearest thinkers on the other side agree with them as to the latter possibility, without admitting that adoption of the Roosevelt proposal would in any way bring the country nearer a dictatorship.

Successively within the next decade, certain New Deal strategists would like to see:

Adoption of the Roosevelt plan in the near future—followed by a decline in the prestige and power of the court as an institution.

Ten or 15-year terms for Supreme court justices, instead of life tenure as at present.

A constitutional amendment such as has been proposed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, permitting Congress to override Supreme court negatives of its legislation.

Eventual removal of the court's power to declare laws unconstitutional.

Theoretically, that would leave Congress supreme in the field of government aside from the executive branch and its veto power. It would result in a parliamentary form of government more similar to the English than the present system. No English court can declare an act of Parliament invalid.

Such predictions are all the more interesting because of the fact that you can find leaders on both sides who agree that the principle of the Wheeler amendment will eventually get into the constitution. Most conservatives oppose that principle, although some may pretend to favor it as a means of diverting support from the President's plan. Some liberals fear it, believing congressional discretion is not a sufficient safeguard against abrogations of civil and religious liberties.

Didn't Mean Wheeler

Recently this writer mentioned the case of an unnamed senator who was understood to be ready to deliver his own vote and that of his colleague from the same state for the President's plan if he were given a certain circuit court judgeship for himself.

Some of Senator Wheeler's political enemies in Montana are said to have whispered the story that the senator described was Wheeler. That rumor is untrue and absurd.

If Wheeler has any personal ambitions in the court fight—say concerning the presidency of the United States—certainly no one can say they have motivated his course. For one thing, Wheeler's record as a fighting liberal stands out over a long period of years. And, for another, Wheeler probably isn't improving any 1940 chances by assuming leadership in the battle against the Roosevelt plan.

Some critics of Wheeler have whispered that he harbored jealousy and dislike of Roosevelt. But the Montana senator denied that vigorously when he appeared before the Judiciary committee to attack the plan. He pointed out that he was the first senator to come out for Roosevelt's first nomination and had preserved "an exceedingly friendly relationship" with him.

Most Effective Senator

Wheeler led off for the opposition at the hearings because he was the most effective, if not the ablest man the opposition could put up. Especially is he a tower of strength because most of the Democratic senators who make up the backbone of the opposition—such as Burke, Bailey, Copeland, Glass, Byrd, King and Connally — always have been known as conservatives. Wheeler, on the other hand, has led some of the hottest battles for New Deal legislation. He was in an excellent position to point scornfully to a lot of New Deal liberals who have left or are going to leave to take fat jobs in Wall Street." And Wheeler was emotionally effective when he said he had suffered for his liberalism and wanted to have the court preserved as a bulwark against laws arising from hysteria.

Once when he was trying to oust Attorney General Daugherty, Wheeler accused the Department of Justice of trying to "frame" him in Montana. Wheeler hasn't forgotten. Attorney General Cummings is one of his pet dislikes, and he loses no chance to say that "we don't need a new Supreme court; what we need is a new attorney general." It's a good bet that Wheeler derives renewed ardor for the fight from the thought that Cummings might be one of Roosevelt's six new justices.

NYA Continuance Being Predicted

Optimistic belief that the National Youth administration is virtually certain of continuation after the fiscal year ends June 30 and that it will become a permanent agency eventually was reported today by A. V. Bullock, district supervisor for northwest Texas following his return from a conference with similar officials at Austin. Mr. Bullock is one of four holding similar positions in the state.

He explained, however, that uncertainty necessarily must surround the future of the NYA until congress has acted on pending appropriation bills. Unless those measures are enacted or unless some other provision is made, the administration will come to an end with the fiscal year. That, however, is regarded as an extremely unlikely probability.

Reports to the conference, he added, were that 19,000 youths now are receiving school aid and 10,000 work aid in the state, with a prospect that the number might be further increased. Particularly, he said, is there some promise that rules will be relaxed to include more of the so-called "borderline" cases, of which there are many in the Lubbock district.

Specific purpose of Mr. Bullock's visit to Austin was to hear an address by, and to confer with, Richard R. Brown of Washington, D. C., executive assistant of the national organization.

Invitations Being Sent To Officials

Personal invitations to every city and county superintendent and every high school principal in the Lubbock territory to attend the ninth annual engineering show at Texas Technological college April 16 and 17 were mailed from the chamber of commerce this morning, according to J. D. Hassell, jr., president.

Mr. Hassell added that if any such official fails to receive his invitation, it will have been due to oversight, and he is to consider himself invited.

The invitation includes all faculty members and students, and interest already shown led to the prediction today that delegations will be present from almost every school in the South Plains.

The invitation's opening paragraph reads:

"The various engineering departments at Texas Technological college are having more calls for graduate engineers for positions than they can fill—virtually every engineering graduate of Tech now has a good position, and commercial, industrial and business institutions, as well as the government, are crying for more graduates to fill positions."

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 8. (AP)—Stocks jumped from pillar to post in today's market but generally managed to recover portions of their yesterday's sharp declines.

The list pushed up fractions to 2 or more points at the start, then was hit by a heavy selling wave that put the ticker tape as much as 5 minutes behind. Offerings quickly dried up, however, and near the fourth hour leaders had regained their balance.

Gold price rumors continued to flit about the boardrooms, despite denials any change was contemplated by the treasury, and many traders seized on rallies to shelve commitments.

Tilting higher were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, American Rolling Mill, Yellow Truck, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Du Pont, Deere, Woolworth, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Loew's. Some of these gave ground subsequently.

Reports On March Fees Are Being Announced Today

Reports that the county treasury was enriched $900 by fees from three official offices during March were contained in formal statements to County Clerk Ed D. Allen today.

The county clerk himself accounted for $576.80, more than half the total, from revenue in county court during the month. Jury fees there were $30, trial fees for $35 and fines for $520.80.

Justice of Peace S. E. McMillan reported a total of $242.20, represented by $164 in trial fees and a net of $78.20 in fines from 40 criminal cases convictions during the month. Two defendants in misdemeanor cases were unable to pay fines and were committed to jail, the report showed.

Receipts from the office of Justice of the Peace Walter Davies totaled $81 including a net of $17 in fines from 16 pleas of guilty.

Routine Business Is Being Faced By Commissioners

City commissioners, faced with "routine business," were to open a regular semi-monthly meeting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in their room of City hall.

Shacktown building requirements, tax adjustment on pieces of property and several other minor reports were slated for discussion, said City Manager W. H. Rodgers.

Mayor Ross Edwards and all commissioners were expected to be in their places.

A record increase in the use of telephones in Great Britain is attributed to the improved purchasing power of the British public.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 8. (AP)—Prices recovered 14 to 19 points of Wednesday's losses in early trading on the New Orleans cotton market today, an upturn attributed to better foreign markets and a return to the buying side of speculative forces.

The advance carried old crops back across the 14 cent a pound level. May sold at 14.14 and July at 14.01 at the first call. Oct. opened at 13.50.

Liverpool came in better than due and this encouraged buying at the opening of domestic markets. The recent shake-out was thought to have improved the technical position of the market and removed some of the vulnerable long interest.

Overnight news offered little. Word from strike centers was more discouraging than favorable, but the wave of labor disturbances was having little affect on cotton prices.

Most of the early buying came from ring professionals. The trade bought some cotton in the later months. Domestic mills fixed prices in the old crops.

The demand tapered off for old crops during the first half of trading and prices slipped off a few points, but still managed to maintain net gains of 50 cents a bale.

May sold at 14.05, July at 13.94, and both Oct. and Dec. at 13.55 in the late morning.

Long liquidation developed on the early bulge, but sufficient support developed to hold prices higher.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Apr. 8. (AP)—Cotton futures opened very steady, 9 to 17 higher, in response to improved Liverpool cables, commission house and foreign buying. May 14.18; July 14.04; Oct. 13.53; Dec. 13.44; Jan. 13.43; March 13.52.

Offerings were considerably lighter following the heavy liquidation of yesterday and owing to limited hedge selling. Scattered liquidation continued in later positions and there was some far eastern selling. Foreign orders were on the buying side on balance. The trade bought nearby positions. Wall street and replacement buying appeared in the forward deliveries.

Denial any change was contemplated in the treasury gold policy seemed to have a reassuring effect.

July rallied from 14.04 to 14.14 and later sold at 14.08 with prices generally 13 to 20 points net higher.

Liverpool cables reported selling pressure lighter. Rallies occurred on local, Bombay and London buying.

The market weakened late in the morning under increased Wall street selling prompted by a decline in the stock market and weakness in the French franc. Prices reacted about 18 to 23 points from the early highs but early in the afternoon recoveries of about 4 to 6 points from the lowest were recorded.

July, which reacted from 14.14 to 13.91, was at 13.97 with prices generally 2 to 8 points net higher.

Muleshoe, W. C. Alder and Weldon Lawson, members of the Lubbock office of the state highway patrol, and Sheriff J. L. Parker of Tahoka.

His entrance at 9:30 o'clock caused no significant attention of the crowded courtroom or from the large crowd standing about the building's entrance. Olton was crowded with persons from numerous South Plains towns and cities, but the atmosphere was not surcharged with excitement, said reliable sources.

When Kelly was removed from the courtroom officers who held him in custody did not leave Olton with their charge, it further was explained.

A special venire of 60 men stood about waiting to be called.

Everyone rushed through luncheon, hoping to return to the courthouse in time to find a seat.

Gowdy said there will be no motion for change of venue.

"Kelly will be tried in Lamb county," he said. "We can get a jury here all right."

Gowdy said the town was "peaceful and quiet."

Mrs. Loyd, comely successor of her husband as chief enforcement officer of Lamb county, was in the courtroom this morning. The mother of eight children, seven of them unmarried, maintained composure.

Swindling Case Nearing Close

Permission to introduce additional prosecution testimony was sought by County Attorney Robert J. Allen in county court this afternoon after both state and defense had rested during the forenoon in the trial of Ned Baum on one of six charges of theft and embezzlement in connection with a town lot development project near Presidio, Texas.

The county attorney said he wished to attempt the impeachment of testimony given on Baum's behalf by three Presidio residents Wednesday afternoon.

The motion delayed the delivery of the formal charge by Judge J. J. Dillard and the argument of attorneys, but indications were that the trial will be in the hands of the jury by late this afternoon.

Irrigation Reported

The defense witnesses had testified that extensive irrigation development near Presidio was in the vicinity of the land development site which figures in charges against Baum. The prosecution alleges that the land site is desert, cactus studded terrain distant from the town and unsuited for habitation. One rebuttal witness called by the state this morning was Roy Bacon, vegetable and fruit dealer at Presidio, whose estimate of 800 as the population of the town was less than half of that by defense witnesses.

Various charges against Baum allege that he secured sums of money ranging from $2.46 to $35 from Lubbock county residents by representing to them they had drawn town lots in a lottery, and that they could obtain clear title to the property by paying to him what was represented as being the cost of abstract and title. The complaint on which he is being tried names Mrs. H. L. Weems, farm housewife, as having paid $2.46 to the defendant.

Two new complaints were filed against Baum late Wednesday and were served on him at the end of the day's proceedings. He gave bond of $50 in each case. Those named as complainants in the new cases were Mrs. T. J. Wages, who said she paid $35 to Baum, and W. H. Long, who testified his payment was $30.

Farm Program

production in Texas was about one-third of the United States total and one-fifth of the world's. This year Texas production is little more than one-tenth of world production."

During the three years prior to the depression, he continued, Texas farmers received on an average $407,000,000 in cash each year for lint cotton, while in the past two years the average has been only $156,000,000, a decline of "astounding sum of $237,000,000 per annum."

Dr. Cox commented "it must be clearly understood that the policies of the federal government have been the major causes of the losses of foreign cotton markets and not the cotton growers themselves or the state of Texas."

"This is a very important fact because the recapture of these markets is going to be a very costly process and the agency that caused the loss should pay the cost of recovery," he said.

If all the artificial handicaps were removed so that the cotton growers could sell their cotton and buy their supplies in freely competitive markets of the world, he said, the facts indicate the markets could be recaptured, but he expressed doubt this would be done.

her to the floor and beat her with a shoe. Mr. McMellon corroborated his wife's testimony. Cecil Perry, brother of the slain woman, and Mrs. Perry said they were witnesses to numerous instances of mistreatment of Mrs. Pair, telling specifically of an instance when they said Pair threatened to "stomp the hell out of" his wife.

Mrs. Perry was the last witness called and soon after, Judge A. J. Folley delivered his charge, which followed the routine in murder cases.

Woman Not Located

Sheriff's deputies reported this morning that they have been unsuccessful in their efforts to locate Miss Reba Kirby, 30, resident of Afton community, who was subpoenaed as a state witness and who was mentioned in testimony Wednesday as having been seen with Pair on various occasions, including the forenoon of the day Mrs. Pair died of a shotgun wound. Judge Folley ordered a bench warrant for Miss Kirby and placed a fine of $100 against her.

Defense testimony required about half of Wednesday afternoon, having been confined almost wholly to character witnesses who said they had known Pair as a law abiding citizen. Pair, himself, did not take the stand.

School Session

members from those colleges will attend the association meeting.

This year's executive committee has attempted to salvage the "tremendous amount of valuable information which is being swept out of offices" and which becomes "less and less tangible and available" yearly, Dean Jones said this morning.

Theme of the program will be "A Study of Some Phases of Progress in Higher Education in Texas Since 1900," which serves as a sequel to last year's theme, "A Centennial of Higher Education in Texas."

Principal address of the meeting will be given by Dr. L. B. Cooper, director of research for the Texas State Teachers association, at a dinner to be given by Tech for visiting educators and their wives at 6:30 o'clock Friday night in Doak dormitory.

Doctor Cooper's address will give consolidated information, gained through cooperation of Texas colleges, of higher education since 1900.

Campbell To Speak

An out-of-state speaker was recruited by the junior group for its session tonight. Dr. Doak S. Campbell of Peabody college, Nashville, will speak.

Dean H. E. Jenkins of Tyler Junior college will preside at tonight's session. The program will be opened with 20 minutes of music. President Bradford Knapp of Tech will welcome visitors and Dean Jenkins will give the president's address.

The junior group will conduct its second and final session at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. The Friday morning program follows:

Program For Friday

"Observations from State Department of Education," W. A. Nelson, college examiner; "Testing in the Junior College," Dr. H. T. Manuel, University of Texas; "Summary of Prevailing Types of Socio-Recreational Programs in Approximately Sixty Per Cent of the Texas Junior Colleges," President L. W. Hartsfield, Hillsboro college; "The Case for Football in the Junior Colleges," President J. R. McLemore, Paris Junior college; discussion; "Some Major Difficulties in Junior College Football," Col. C. Williamson, Texas Military college; discussion; "Can A Satisfactory Basketball Program Be Carried Without Football?", President J. F. Mead, Amarillo college; discussion; business session.

Several officials of Texas colleges and the state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. L. A. Woods, will appear on the program of the main association, which will hold three sessions, at 2 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. Friday and 9 a. m. Saturday. A trip to Carlsbad caverns will be taken if a sufficient number of visitors are interested, said Dean Gordon.

Entertainment Planned

Entertainment for college representatives and their wives is being planned by Tech officials and faculty.

In addition to the dinner, entertainment will include a luncheon given by President Bradford Knapp Friday at Lubbock hotel for college presidents, a tea by Mrs. Knapp from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the president's home on the campus, and coffee from 9:30 to 11 o'clock Saturday morning in Horn hall by the Faculty Women's club.

Pre-registration indicates that the University of Texas will have the largest representation here. President Dr. H. Y. Benedict and five other officials plan to attend.

Breakfast Schedule

A breakfast-conference of extension directors of the Association of Texas colleges has been scheduled for 8 a. m., Friday at Hotel Lubbock. Other extension workers also will attend.

Dr. J. O. Marberry, head of the bureau of extension teaching at the University of Texas, will be chairman of the conference. Papers will be read by Alfred H. Nolle, director of extension at Southwest Texas State Teachers college, San Marcos, and Dr. G. O. Clough, who has a similar capacity at Southern Methodist university, Dallas.

Reports On WPA Work Over This District Received

Reports indicating that "activities are moving smoothly" summarized those from all parts of the Lubbock WPA district to J. O. Jones, district director, as he resumed active direction of work today after a brief vacation trip with Mrs. Jones to Mineral Wells.

Reports showed, he said, that a total of 3,065 persons now is employed on 39 projects exclusive of sewing rooms and water conservation in the district. Most of the projects involve highway improvement. Of those employed, 2,156 are men, 554 are women and 355 are in the NYA.

The immediate problem to confront Mr. Jones today was the attempt, thus far unsuccessful, to locate a caliche supply with which to complete the surfacing of highway 24 westward from Lubbock to the Cochran county line. Half the work, from Lubbock to a point beyond Carlisle, has been finished. Unless another supply is found, Mr. Jones said, it will be necessary to haul from present pits which will add very little to the job.

"However," he continued, "if any one knows of a promising caliche supply nearer, preferably west of Carlisle, we shall appreciate the information."

Insane Persons Said Never To Harm Flower In Room

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8 (AP)—Dr. E. L. Bagby, superintendent of the northern Oklahoma hospital, Enid, said today an insane patient might destroy everything else in the room "but he will never touch a flower."

"It's surprising, the psychological effect of flowers," he commented. "We raise them in our own greenhouse and there are potted plants now in every room and all about the institution."

Chicken Thefts Are Reported

Precipitated by a man's report early Wednesday, "I've got 18 heads of chickens—but no chickens," and a series of thefts throughout the city, police held a 40-year-old negro for investigation today and there was likelihood grand jury action might be directed into his case.

Arrested Wednesday, the negro was booked by S. O. Boyd and Charley Chase of the police as having taken chickens "all over town."

Youth Is Arrested

Developments in recent forgery here took two trends this morning. A 19-year-old youth of 10 miles south of Lubbock had been arrested in connection with the forging of a $20.15 check to which the name of S. D. Pate had been signed. Grand jury investigation was hinted by Don Reeder, police identifications officer. Two other persons are held for questioning in connection with the same alleged offense.

Treatment was given two persons, R. L. Johnson of 2405 Fourteenth street and Howard Bumpass of 1510 Texas avenue after a wreck, but they were released soon afterward from West Texas hospital. Both cars, light coaches, were overturned when the machines collided at Fourteenth street and Avenue V at 7 o'clock Wednesday night. Investigators wrote into their report, Elton Osbourne of 1600-block Avenue G was riding with Bumpass but was not injured. Jess C. Levens, Lubbock attorney of 2208 Seventeenth street chanced by and transported victims to the hospital.

Trailer Is Stolen

Police said a trailer had been stolen from 1609 Eighth street.

Officers "scattered a fire in an alley and boys who had built it," after a call from 2400-block Fifteenth street Wednesday night.

The sheriff's department released a man who had been detained after a disturbance complaint had been telephoned by a Lubbock woman. He said he had come here from another town to locate a ring stolen from a relative. He said a man who had driven for his grandfather had stolen the ring, which had mounted a $250 diamond that had been a family heirloom many years, and had given it to another person, who had sold it for $1. He was allowed his freedom to conduct an investigation by which the ring might be returned to his family.

Court Bill

vote of 122 to 14, of the Sumners bill to allow the attorney general to intervene in private suits attacking the constitutionality of federal laws.

It is designed to speed an appeal to the supreme court when lower judges invalidate a law.

Might Seek Delay

Indications were that the administration leadership might seek to defer senate action on this section of the president's program in the hope of having the program voted on in its entirety.

Senator Burke (D-Neb), opposed to the proposed revision of the supreme court, wanted the judiciary committee to act first and separately on the Sumners bill.

"They want the bad to be acted on with the good," he said of the president's supporters, "but we shall try to get action on this bill on its own merits."

Strong Tactics

prevent sit-down strikes in the state.

Two days ago John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial organization started a drive for unionization of the oil industry in Houston.

Rep. Fred Knetsch of Seguin, sponsoring the senate bill before the committee, said "I'm willing to give the laborer some advantage over the employer but it certainly should not go to the length of allowing him to take over the employer's property."

Opposing representatives of labor organizations questioned the necessity of a law to prohibit sit-down strikes. W. H. Gallagher of Denison, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, asked "do the oil companies need help? If their employes are satisfied, the companies have nothing to fear, and if not, the employes ought to be organized."

Senior classes are being invited to select a representative for the queen's court.

Game Is Highlight

Coronation of the queen, a marching band contest by 20 bands, and physical education and military science demonstrations will be included in the Fiesta program, highlight of which will be the Texas Tech and Texas College of Mines football game. The event will be held at the Tech stadium.

Five thousand complimentary tickets are being printed. Alumni, faculty, and students of Tech with activity tickets will receive complimentary tickets.

President Bradford Knapp will crown the queen, who will be chosen in voting at Tech soon. Campus clubs may enter candidates for queen.

Doctor Knapp is sending the invitations to superintendents.

Fifty promising athletes from schools throughout the state will be special guests of the Tech athletic department, said Williams.

Mrs. George Langford and Miss Zella Riegel will direct the physical education demonstration, which will be given by several hundred students. Cecil Horne is in charge of publicity, H. C. Pender of the coronation plans, Capt. Frank Pettit of military science arrangements, and Claude Thompson of plans for inspection of the campus by visiting students. Others are assisting in arrangements.

Tech students will serve as escorts for the high school students who will be in the queen's court.

Held."

"Time you went to bed, son," came Uncle Henry's voice from the back parlor. "Your mother said she'd rather you slept in with her, so we put you up a cot. Take the candle and run along now."

"I said that what Judgie needed was somebody who possessed his own fine old republican virtues," Marylin said sleepily. "Simply swelling with delight at being ordered to go to bed at a proper hour, aren't you, darling child? Well, I may even go myself, now I think of it."

But Judge scarcely heard her.

"I think Belle is a very handsome cow," he was saying as he followed Uncle Henry out of the room.

Eve sings happily at breakfast, tomorrow.

ing medicine than Mrs. H. J. Andersen, of Rural Route No. 6, Box No. 532, Houston, Tex.

VAN-TAGE is the Great Mixture of Nature's Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Ingredients that has recently created such a sensation here and which is being introduced in this city at Mark Halsey Drug Store. Following is Mrs. Andersen's Remarkable Statement about this Wonder Compound:

Gassy, Belching Attacks Kept Her In Misery

"For 7 years I had been a victim of a gassy, upset stomach, with attacks of belching that were simply horrible," wrote Mrs. Andersen. "These spells of belching got so bad at night that I would wake up the rest of the family. I couldn't sleep, and felt terrible from lack of rest due to this gassy belching. I began to read in the papers about Van-Tage. I investigated your medicine and went and inquired of different parties who were taking it and they all praised it highly so I started taking it myself. Will say that now I am relieved of that awful belching and gassy stomach condition. I can sleep all night without being disturbed. So I give you my statement and hope what I write here will help somebody else."

Jack Sorrell, Spencer's room mate and boating companion who swam approximately 400 feet to shore to obtain help, said he left the boy clinging to the canoe.
